As I See It

By Lloyd P. Bloodworth

I have really covered the territory the past week and yet have not been outside New Mexico. On Monday I headed north and after visiting a short time in Carrizozo I made my way on to Socorro. It was nice to see many friends there and enjoy a cup of coffee at the Pete Felles Cafe. Pete is president of the Chamber of Commerce and quite a man about town.

Arriving in Albuquerque late in the afternoon I found a nice room at the Franciscan Hotel. Jack Chaney, Jr. is a grand host and it was good to visit with him. His father was president of the El Paso C. of C. when I was connected with that institution and I was one of the "liver wires" El Paso ever knew. At the present time he owns a beautiful farm just a short way from Dallas where he and his good wife live the "Life of Riley". Jack has always been a fellow who believed that anything could be done if you tried hard enough.

While in Albuquerque it was my pleasure to see many old friends. It was good to see Clyde Tingley and to learn that he and his gracious wife are feeling so well. You may not agree with Clyde politically but it still stands that he did as much, or more, to pull New Mexico out of the mud than anyone else. And incidentally he has done a pretty good job in helping to make Albuquerque a beautiful and prosperous city. I might add that Clyde is an enthusiastic reader of the Ruidoso News and handed me his subscription for another year.

It was also good to see Senator Clinton Anderson while in Albuquerque. He had been home for several days getting a physical checkup. He looks fine and is ready to hold up well under the tremendous strain that must be on him in Washington. I am making no wild predictions but the next vice president might be from New Mexico. Of course the Senator would laugh at such a prediction. But—let's just see what happens.

Santa Fe is and has always been, a most interesting city. It is different from any other city I know. It is thriving and busy but one feels that he is in the very cradle of history. Its missions, museums and streets point a finger backward. It is a mecca for writers and artists and the La Fonda Hotel seems to be the crossroads of the West.

Heavy drake took time off from his duties in the legislature and we visited a number of people. Had a few minutes with Governor Mechem and found him fit and looking the part. He has youth and energy and a square jaw that indicates he will play his own hand. The governor impresses me as one who is rather easy to get along with but who could be hard to push around. He was indeed courteous and I appreciated it very much.

It was also my good pleasure to meet Gen. H. G. Corlett for the first time. The general is head of the department of revenue and has waded into his duties as if he knew what they were about. We found that we had many common friends in the Army where he served so long and where I served in two wars. General Corlett is an interesting man and I was deeply appreciative of his kindness.

Johnnie Miles is looking good and seems to have fully recovered from the wear of the long political campaign of last year. He was defeated but don't sell Johnnie Miles short in New Mexico. He still has thousands of followers. I learned that Ray Anderson had suffered a heart attack and was in the hospital. Ray was Adjutant General for several years and a leader in the American Legion. Hope he is better by now. I also enjoyed a nice visit with Lulu Richards used to live in Ruidoso but now is at Los Alamos.

The latter part of the week I attended the winter convention of the New Mexico Press Association at Truth or Consequences. A large crowd was present and the convention was one of the best. Bill Hooten, editor of the El Paso Times was present and delivered a stirring address on the performance of the press. He was critical of the administration in Washington and urged his hearers to have courage as newspaper men and women to do what they could to correct the "ills" in which we find ourselves. Bill received a tremendous hand when he concluded his address. He and I sat up most of the week hours talking and talking of old times. Bill has been from police

Interest Shown In Coming School Board Election

Noon Tuesday was the deadline for filing of candidates for the three board members to be elected to the School Board of the Ruidoso-Hondo Municipal School District Tuesday, February 6th. Parnoll of Green Tree and Dr. Don Snyder of the Palmer Gateway Addition are the candidates to succeed themselves in these long terms.

Ralph McGuire of Glencoe and Mrs. Wynema Tully, from the same community, have both filed for a place on the ballot for the two year term. Mrs. Bob Coe was appointed to the board to serve until the next election in this vacancy created by the death of her husband, Will T. Coe. She is a candidate to succeed herself.

The Bunnings and Professional Women's Club, made homemade cakes and pies to be sold at the various places along with the coffee. The three schools in the district have over $60.00 to turn in. There is some money in all of the miniature iron lungs put out. The Woman's Club contributed. The Wednesday night dance, sponsored by the Circle 8 Dance Club and the Beta Sigma Phi Sorority will net a large sum from ticket sales, cake auctions, snack bar, etc. A large crowd attended and in spite of the way below zero temperature stayed to enjoy dancing to music by Slim Skillet's Western Band.

Outgoing and incoming key officers of the New Mexico Press Association are pictured here after their election Saturday at the association's convention in Truth or Consequences. They are Frank Pfeiffer, publisher of the Raton Daily Range and outgoing president; Orville Priestly, Las Cruces, incoming first vice-president; and Murray E. Moran, co-publisher and associate editor of the Alamogordo News, newly elected president.—Sprouse Photo, T or C

Winter Sun Shines In New Mexico As Much As In Florida

Albuquerque—Old Man Sunshine favors New Mexico with as much of its warming rays in winter as it does Florida but favors the southwestern state with considerably more sunlight in the summer, according to a study just completed to determine the need for alleviating sky glare affecting motorists.

Ranch Hands Dance Schools Here In Summer

Fine Group Ruidoso and Valley Citizens Meet For First Aid Courses At Local Fire House

Monday night this week a group of forty interested citizens met with the Ruidoso Volunteer Fire Department at the fire hall for the purpose of organizing First Aid Classes for this area.

Col. H. M. Graham, Civilian Defense Coordinator, opened the meeting at 8:15 p. m. He then turned the meeting over to Dr. D. E. Snyder, instructor, who noted local and world conditions and pointed out the need for first aid training. He also pointed out that several of the adults present had already had some training taken during World War II and several of the Boy Scouts were trained to some degree.

At present no manuals are on hand but they have been ordered and should be here in a very short time. The "Beginners Course" will be started soon and the following are the instructors: George Trimble, Elmo Winfield, Eric Bruce, H. W. Dutton, R. D. Lawrence, R. H. Hedgecock, Elmer Estes and Jim Pickering.

Blood typing for this area, an important project, was discussed with Dr. Snyder asking for volunteers for typing and those who would consider offering services as blood donors to help at the hospital or in any local emergency. Twenty seven of those present offered their services. The donors have appeared at the Ruidoso-Hondo Valley General Hospital every day this week, not more than six per day, to be typed.

Bob Branson, Gene Nelson, Clayton Scott, Wade Hedgecock, Earl Wright, Jack Scott, J. W. Peterson, Bill Knox, George Westall, Elmo Vaughn, Elmer Estes, Jim Pickering, Frank Barajas, Gene Gay, O. Keller, R. D. Lawrence, Mrs. Nell Parks and Joe Dryden.

Many Visitors Last Weekend

Although the "weatherman" did not see fit to provide snow for winter sports at Cedar Creek last week one of the largest crowds in some time came to the "Year Round Playground of the South-west".

Collectors were between terms and several groups of youngsters from El Paso, Las Cruces and Lubbock came up to play. In addition to the "college crowd" high school teenagers from Lubbock, Roswell, El Paso, etc., had fun riding their hotrocks, boxing and just being their best. Many adults were among the visitors, too.

Courts and judges throughout the canyon had up no vacancy signs Saturday night and although some of the larger places were not full up everyone enjoyed a fair share of the fun.

EDITORIAL

On next Tuesday the patrons of the Ruidoso-Stetson Municipal School District will go to the polls to elect three trustees. Two of these trustees will be elected for six years and one for two years.

This will be the most important election to held in Ruidoso this year. Our schools are a big business; not only because they handle a lot of money but because they deal with the lives of our boys and girls. Our concern for the management of our schools should be greater than any other.

The Ruidoso News is not trying to tell the people who to vote for. But we are saying that it is our duty to study the qualifications of each of the candidates and we should mark our ballots for those whom we think could render the best service to our school system regardless of their political affiliation or sex.

We as a school district, are comparatively young and our schools have made remarkable progress since their beginning. However, there is a building program ahead of us and those who render all of the people on the school board should be especially qualified to help work out plans for these buildings with out school officials, that will give to our system the highest degree of efficiency.

Let us urge every voter to find his way to the polls on next Tuesday and vote for the best interest of our school system.

Range Fences Built On National Forest

Albuquerque, N. M.—Nearly 1800 miles of range fences have been built on the national forests of the southwestern region of the U. S. Forest Service during the past four years, assistant regional forester Clifford E. McDuff said. McDuff is in charge of range management activities in the region, which embraces Arizona and New Mexico and contains 13 national forests.

The four year period, ending June 30, 1950, also saw 617 new watering places for livestock developed and 8,128 acres of deteriorated range land reseeded to grass.

A considerable part of the improvement work was done by National Forest grazing permits at their own expense, McDuff said. Of the 1,783 miles of fences the Forest Service constructed 1,094 and the ranchers 688. Of the watering places 383 were developed by the government and 234 by the permittees.

All of the reseeding work was done by the Forest Service. It is a relatively new activity, McDuff said, carried on under the reforestation and revegetation act sponsored by Senator Anderson of New Mexico and Representative Mansfield of Montana and known as the Anderson Mansfield Act.

"The purpose of fences and watering places is to improve the grazing capacity of the national forests," the range manager said. "They are designed to obtain better distribution and management of livestock on the range and thus relieve overuse where cattle are inclined to congregate. The grass reseeded areas provide excellent supplemental forage for livestock, in addition to preventing soil erosion and the silting of main stream channels."

McDuff warmly praised the stockmen for the amount of improvement work done at their own expense and said it is particularly welcome in view of the large amount of range improvements urgently needed.

NEWS FROM—

LINCOLN

(By Mrs. Jeff Dockray)

Lincoln has been rather quiet this week. Those on the sick list include Benavides Esmel Salas, Joe Escobedo, Dixie Dockray, Red Ramey and Mrs. Hulbert. As far as I can find out almost all of them are "up and going" once again.

Miss Priscilla Maes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ramon Maes, is employed at the Ruidoso Hospital. She received her training at Hotel Dieu in El Paso and at St. Mary's in Roswell.

The Gordon Dockrays of Capitan visited the Jeff Dockrays Saturday.

Jo Amastae and son, Johnnie were visiting Jo's sister, Ruth Penfield in El Paso. Good time!

The Chester Womacks of Albuquerque were in Lincoln last week end. Dewey, that's the dog, also made the trip.

Christobal Zamora was in Albuquerque last week at the Veterans Hospital. I believe.

Trinidad Gameros and family were visiting his folks recently. Trinidad is employed in Mexico and always enjoys a visit home.

A number of people from Lincoln attended the professional basketball game in Capitan. All reported "Good" with an added chuckle.

In the near future there will be a Lincoln School News addition to this column. These news items will be written by the students and will be a big help to this column.

As in all Lincoln County communities there will be a school election in Lincoln, February 6.

For those kind people who pass through Lincoln in those large trucks and fast cars. We do have our school cross-marked on the highway.

We have children in school. Our children cross the highway. And, last of all, we want to feel that they are safe and we do not appreciate "speed hogs" roaring through our calm little village.

As I have said before, these people who speed through Lincoln are not tourists. The tourist drives much slower because he is usually interested and wants to take his time and look around.

Stanley Ramey of Ruidoso visited Kaye Dockray Saturday. The two boys had a good play. Stanley was visiting his grandmother, Mrs. Annie Ramey last week end.

Lincoln Ditch meeting was held January 19. E. G. Minton, Jr., of Roswell was a welcome visitor.

Received a letter from Eileen and Tom Wright recently. They say "If and when we get out of service, we're coming back to New Mexico and try it again." They are residing in Jacksonville, North Carolina. Tom is stationed at nearby Camp Lejeune.

Mr. Ernesto Maes is now working for Smith Machinery in Roswell and was home last week end for a visit with his family.

The Ventura family are most certainly enjoying their new Studebaker.

The Luna family have all had slight colds but are okay now.

The W. A. Wilsons are building their house. It's going to be very nice.

Ray Taylor has been going to work bright and early this week. He's drilling in or near the Capitan Mountains.

Develop Sampler

Development of mechanical cotton sampler which automatically collects lint during ginning and packages a cross section of the bale into a true sample has been accomplished by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Marshall Thompson, extension cotton marketing specialist of New Mexico A & M made this announcement recently and added that one such sampler has already been installed in a New Mexico gin. Samples are being used for classification and marketing.

Samples taken are not only of uniform size and preparation, but are favorable to accurate classification. They are long enough, and contain enough cotton to permit division into duplicate samples.

A report giving a complete account of the mechanical sampler may be obtained from the Information Branch, Production and Marketing Administration, Washington, D. C. It is entitled "The Sampling of Cotton Bales as Related to Marketing."

NEWS FROM—

MESCALERO

(Evelyn Pellman)

At their first regular meeting of the year, the Mescalero Business Committee elected Wheeler T. Smith as president, Andrew Little, vice president; John Allard, secretary and Bernard Little, treasurer. Among other matters of importance discussed, the Plan of Operation for the "Mescalero Soil Conservation Enterprise" was approved by the committee. Subcommittees within the committee were also set up. In token of appreciation for the services rendered by the reservation by Superintendent John O. Crow, the committee extended an unusual and rare courtesy namely a life hunting and fishing privilege on the reservation. This unusual consideration is the first extended to any reservation by the tribe. The regular meeting of the committee is scheduled for the second Saturday in every month.

USDA MEASURES CALVES FOR MILKING ABILITY

Here's the latest answer to the old question: Does the body build of a heifer calf show how she is likely to produce as a milking cow?

The dairy specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture have found that there is high correlation between some of the body measurements and the highest production records. Measurements of Holstein calves at three, six and twelve months of age which seem to most consistently indicate future producing ability are body depth, body circumference, and length of head. With Jerseys, body height, and width and length of head give the closest correlation with production in Jerseys.

Calves averaging less than 50,000 feet per unit. All lumber on these units will be manufactured in the local area mills. The minimum price is $1.00 per thousand and sealed bids will be opened at 10 a. m. February 18 at the Agency office. While sales of this type are primarily salvage, they will enable the mills in the local area now facing close down due to lack of logs to operate on an interim basis until the large sales proposed for advertising in the near future are approved by Washington.

Successfully completed was the burning of approximately 5,500 acres of logging slash throughout the reservation and primarily on the South half Whitetail and Southwest Unit timber sale areas. Burning was done under the direct supervision of Rangers Quant and Shields with the assistance of Lumber Co., J. C. Harris Lumber Co., and C. A. Denton Lumber Co. furnishing the men.

Mrs. John O. Crow was called away to Oklahoma City on account of her mother's illness. No word has been received as to how her mother is progressing. Meantime Mr. Crow and Emily have been "spreading beans" at the Quetta and Sarlin's residences. Other farewell parties were temporarily postponed due to Mrs. Crow's absence but final arrangements will be made upon her return.

Word has been received recently that Miss Yvonne Hubbard was married to Richard Sunrise in Apache, Oklahoma. Yvonne is the youngest daughter of Mrs. Amelia Hubbard of the reservation.

CAPITAN

Basketball seems to be the most interesting event around Capitán at this time of the year. Monday night of last week the Globe Trofers and the Swedes played a very spectacular game on our court. This game was sponsored by the Senior class. The seniors came out with around $110.00. Friday afternoon the grade children from the Santa Rita school in Carrizozo played our grade team, Capitán won by a few points.

Friday night Carrizozo and Capitán teams played here. This was one of the best games we have had this season. Both teams played some very good basketball. Capitán won both the A and B games. The A game was any ones game to Hagerman. Our A team fact by 3 points and the B team won their game.

Saturday night both our teams went to Hagerman. Our A team fact by 3 points and the B team won their game.

Capitanites in the Carrizozo hospital this week were Mrs. H. R. Jackson, Howard Jones, Roy Morgan, Jr., Orville Ruppell's boy and "Butch" Hampton.

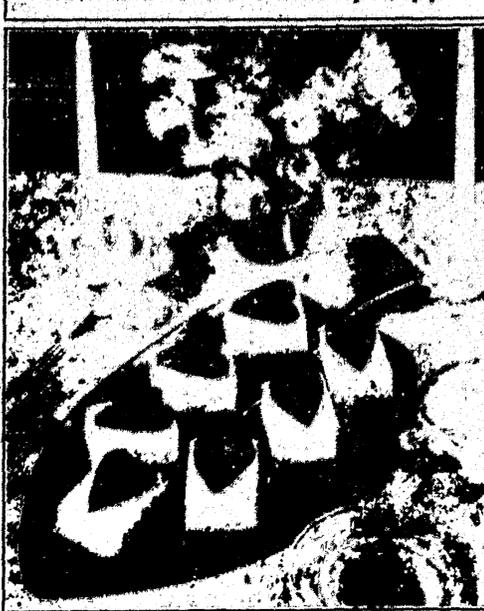

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Bancroft have had as guests the past week Mrs. Shutz of Kansas City, and also Mrs. Bancroft's mother from Tucson. Mrs. Ausbrook of Dayton, Iowa is here visiting her sister, Mrs. Laramie and her father, Mr. Lantau. Mr. Lantau celebrated his 81st birthday Saturday.

Mrs. Joe Evans and children of Roswell were up over the week end visiting her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Ferguson.

Heard Mr. W. B. Payne of Abilene, Texas is in town. Did not get to see him, so do not know how or why. But could be just visiting his children.

According to the USDA, this country has the grass resources to run over 30 per cent more sheep than we now tally—an increase of 9 million head. Perhaps cattle numbers would be decreased in some areas, and authorities probably plan for more sheep to go back to the farms in the Midwest and East.

Hearts and Flowers with Eye Appeal

By BETTY BARCLAY

Without a doubt, the most sentimental day in all the year is Valentine's Day—the day of "hearts and flowers." So let's set our party table accordingly, with a gay bouquet and a delicious holiday dessert that's both appealing to the eye and easy to prepare, highlighted as it is with glairy hearts in any of the popular Valentine-red flavors—raspberry, cherry or strawberry.

St. Valentine Hearts

- 1 package fruit-flavored gelatin (any red flavor)
- 2 cups hot water
- 1 sheet cake

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Pour into shallow pan to a depth of 1/4 inch. Chill until firm. Cut hearts from gelatin with cookie cutter or sharp knife using paper pattern. Cut cake into oblong pieces, about 2x3 inches. Place gelatin on top of cake. Serve with custard sauce or whipped cream, if desired.

Forest Products Essential For Defense Efforts

Albuquerque, N. M.—"World War II proved that wood is just as essential to victory as steel, aluminum or coal." That declaration is contained in the annual report of Lyle F. Watts, Chief of the U. S. Forest Service.

Though 31 1/2 billion board feet of timber were cut from the national forest last year, Mr. Watts points out that three quarters of that amount is privately owned and that the nation must look to private timberland owners for the bulk of wood production.

The Chief Forester voiced the thought that the country is probably facing a long period during which heavy demands will be made on its resources for defense purposes. That will require that forest management plans be directed toward obtaining the greatest possible annual growth of wood rather than merely providing greater harvesting facilities for an emergency.

Wood is not the only important product of forests, Watts said. Fibers and resins and vital water supplies reduce flood danger, produce wildlife and provide valuable recreational areas. In the West forested lands also furnish grazing for millions of head of livestock.

In addition to better management methods to assure sustained yield of wood the national forests also need better protection from fires and the ravages of insects and diseases, the forester believes. The fire prevention campaign waged for the past several years by the advertising industry is getting excellent results, though there are still too many man-caused fires.

Insects and diseases are often more destructive than fire and forestry agencies are waging a constant battle to keep them under control. Mr. Watts reports that last year two large control projects were carried on in the West. One was the aerial dusting of 940,000 acres of Douglas fir in Oregon to control spruce budworm and the other hand spraying of 800,000 Engelman spruce trees in Colorado to destroy beetles.

Two smaller projects were carried on in New Mexico against tent caterpillars and spruce budworm.

Timber cutting on the national forests is increasing steadily, the report reveals, with the average price also advancing. One thing that restricts faster development is lack of sufficient roads into the timber stands. Mr. Watts believes that if the necessary access roads were built the annual cut on national forests could be increased by two billion board feet over the present cut which would bring in to the Federal Treasury an additional $15,000,000 annually at current stumpage rates.

Despite the gains that have been made in forestry over the years, Mr. Watts points out that saw timber is still being removed from the country's forests as a whole faster than it is being produced and that the quality of the timber growth is deteriorating. Production is only about half what it could and should be.

"If our responsibilities to our own generation and our obligation to future generations are to be met," he maintains in the report, "destructive practices in the forest must be stopped. Our forest growing stock must be built up. The bulk of this job will have to be accomplished on private lands, since three fourths of our commercial forest land is in private ownership."

Too many salesmen are willing to take orders from anyone but their wives.

Don Hart, Bill McCarty and Wesley Lane seem to be keeping the home folks pretty well informed of their activities. Don wrote home and said "They are either treating us better or we're getting used to it!" "If we go through the chow line twice we get pretty well filled up!" "at least it's a clean racket!" was his comment after telling how many times a day he has to bathe, shave and change clothes.

Bill has been in the hospital with a sore throat and cold and after he was better they allowed him to get up in a wheel chair and gave him the privilege and honor of giving shots to recruits.

The recent bull sale in Roswell last Friday was very satisfactory. Being the highest average of any previous sale held there, the average was six hundred dollars, including all animals sold.

Willie Hale brought home a good bull from the Curtis Hill herd. A hundred and fifteen animals went through the sale ring. The American Legion Auxiliary served a nice luncheon at 12:00 and coffee and cakes all afternoon. Also home made candy.

Had the pleasure of seeing Marshall Sellman in Roswell. He hurried home to be in Roston next day. Miles don't count any more.

Don Perry was home this week for a short visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris' McClendon came over to attend the sale and returned to their home Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur F. Coe left Saturday for Mexico City, where some friends from Indiana will join them. They plan to go on to Acapulca by plane. Usually stay a month.

Soil Conservation Meeting In Okla. City Feb. 20th

Oklahoma City—More than 2,000 farmers and ranchers will converge on this city February 20 for a three day conference devoted to the one interest common to all of them—conservation of the nation's soil and water resources.

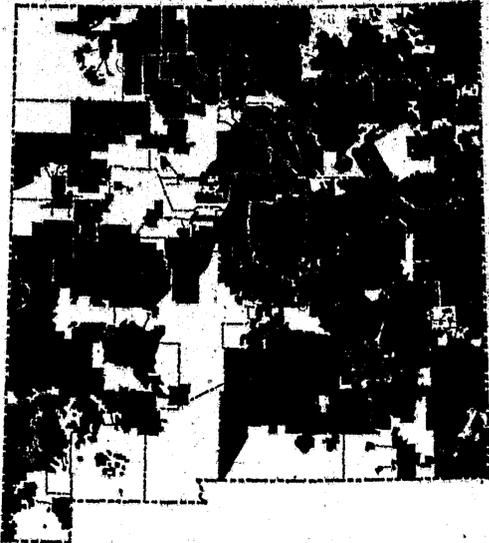

The occasion is the annual convention of the National Association of Soil Conservation Districts expected to attract the elected leaders of soil conservation districts in all parts of the nation and from its territories.

least 500 persons. Davis, South Texas cattle rancher and other officers have arranged a varied and comprehensive program which includes speeches by Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan on the convention's opening day, and Dr. H. H. Bennett, chief of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service, on February 22.

The program also includes meetings devoted to regional soil and water problems, panel discussions led by nationally recognized conservationists, presentation of achievement awards, election of new officers and directors and a full round of entertainment for delegates and their wives.

Slated at a time when the American citizen is openly concerned about the prospect of world conflict and what it could mean, the convention promises to be a brass tacks, "do something" affair.

Commented President Davis, "I am counting on every delegate to roll up his sleeves and help us plan working policies. With the present international situation, these policies will help gain recognition of soil conservation districts and their program as one of the most important elements of our long range national planning."

Steady progress in the conservation of New Mexico's soil and water resources was made during 1950, according to J. V. Taylor, state conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service, which is assisting cooperators of soil conservation districts in getting conservation work on their land. Two new districts including approximately 303,000 acres were organized in the state during the year. This makes a total of 60 districts in New Mexico which include $2,806,000, or approximately 68 per cent of the state's area. Supervisors of the districts made plans for their 1951 conservation program at their fourth annual meeting at Las Vegas on January 12 and 13.

LINCOLN COUNTY TO RECEIVE $7,640.97 OF NATIONAL FOREST REVENUES FOR ROADS

Albuquerque, N. M.—New Mexico's share of national forest revenues amounted to $136,841.69 in the fiscal year ending last June 30, the U. S. Forest Service regional office at Albuquerque reports.

The amount is the largest ever paid the state in a single year. It exceeds the previous year's payment by nearly $13,000.

The payment is made in accordance with a law passed in 1908 which provides that 20 per cent of national forest receipts go to the states for the benefit of schools and roads in the counties in which the forests are located.

An additional 10 per cent of the revenues are earmarked for use by the Forest Service in building and maintaining roads and trails

Strange Gift Is Most Interesting One Says Dad Gough

Herbert Gough of Nob Hill who has been in bed healing broken bones from a wreck several months ago, received a post card about ten days ago from the Express Company in Alamogordo saying "Box of live ants".

Mr. and Mrs. Gough were expecting no package . . . and least of all something alive . . . and immediately thought "they made a mistake". In a day or two the package was picked up . . . and sure nuff . . . it was "live ants".

Their daughter, Betty Slado of Longview, Texas had sent her Dad an "Ant Village". Now Herbert says "This is the idle gift for sick folks who have to stay in bed. Its the most fascinating thing I've ever had to watch or play with".

The ant village is built with two sheets of glass and a wooden frame allowing about two inches of space between for the sand, ants and wooden block "village". Live ants are living before your very eyes. You can discover for yourself that the any colony has workers, guards, engineers, soldiers, etc. You can watch as they build their tunnels and perform unbelievable feats. As you study them much is learned of their busy underground life.

In every colony the hard labor and menial tasks are performed by the worker ants. Then there are the trained nurses, the messengers, the guards, the feeders and the soldiers. Ants believe in the division of labor and so some are appointed engineers, some are farmers and others are street cleaners.

One of the most interesting things to see is that when an ant in the colony dies his companions tenderly carry his body to a special burying ground, which is selected as soon as the new colony is organized.

Anyone interested in seeing Mr. Gough's new hobby is welcome to do so . . . and will stay longer than they intended to . . . because you too will become fascinated "watching the ants". He has ordered two more cans to add to the family as some died when one cold morning he was going to help them waken up by applying the heating pad.

The Goughs have also said this would make a wonderful side show for school carnivals, etc., and they would be glad to loan their ant village for this purpose.

THANKS TO ALL

Several days ago word went out that the two and a half year old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Trimble was "lost" and had been missing for about two hours. In a very short time most of the men and teen age boys in town were out looking for the lost child. Finally the mother, decided to look once more in the home . . . although she had gone through every room calling him . . . and found the child under the bed sound asleep.

Dorothy and George Trimble have said "Since it is impossible for us to know or contact all those who helped us hunt for the baby last week, we wish to take this means of thanking all of you."

"Honeymoon Club"

Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Borum, honeymooners, were the guests of the Douglas Cabins last week. They were married in Clovis on January 18th and will make their home in Lubbock, Texas . . . under remarks they said "Having a Wonderful time."

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. T. Collingwood of 605 E. Rio Grande, El Paso spent two days at Forest Home while on their honeymoon. Mr. and Mrs. Gene E. Hinkle of 1805 E. Delmar, Springfield, Mo., are spending two days of their honeymoon at Forest Home.

Mr. Henry Robinson suffered a severe accident as he went about to connect a disk to a tractor. The clutch on the tractor went out and pinned Mr. Robinson under the tractor. At this writing I do not know the extent of his injuries, but he is resting as well as can be expected at St. Mary's hospital in Roswell. All of his friends wish him every good "get well" wish in the world.

S. W. Livestock Show
And Rodeo in El Paso
February 14th to 18th

Brand new acts new livestock and the top rodeo talent of the cowboy world promise to make the Southwestern Livestock Show and Rodeo one of the most notable ever held in the Southwest. Woody Wilson, show secretary said today, "Wilson, well known among cowmen from all over the southwest added that he expected a top turnout for every performance of the rodeo. "We have booked some of the finest acts in the world for this rodeo." Wilson added. He pointed out that the world famous Hendricks family, Byron, Lee and Ann would perform for the first time in El Paso Rodeo. He explained that Byron and Lee, the world famous Hendricks twins and their jumping horses perform the world famous cross fire leap over an automobile that went over the top of Madison Square Garden in New York.

Entries for livestock competition in the famed Southwest Livestock Show are flooding show headquarters. It has been necessary to get extra help processing the entries and the many other duties necessary in putting on a show of this size.

Over 44 Sheriff's Poses, in the Southwest, have been invited to enter the parade on Wednesday, February 14th that will spark the beginning of the festivities. Mayor Dan Dink of El Paso has invited the mayors of 40 communities of the southwest to a luncheon at noon on February 14 and to attend the livestock show and rodeo with him. All the school bands of the great southwest, mounted organizations, and novelty vehicles have been invited to march in the parade on Wednesday, Feb. 14.

Butler Brothers, Elk City, Okla. who put on the highly successful show last year will again produce the rodeo in El Paso. Show authorities have been notified that the sell for the first performance of the rodeo season for the Rodeo stock, which will be fat and easy and full of fight. It has been stated that although prices have not gone up for admission over last year, a much better show will be put on.

Menhillo, in El Paso, rodeo committees are organized and all are invited with that old western spirit. Merchants, city employees and just plain citizens are vying with each other in their contributions of time and talent to the Southwestern Livestock Show.

Civic organizations are giving of their time. The whole city will bloom out in western attire, the like of which has never been seen before and El Paso will once again be "wild and woolly and full of fleas."

Stunts to please the kids from 8 to 16 have been planned. Some are circus and some are delight all spectators, regardless of age or size. All participants in the Southwestern Livestock Show extend their invitation to their neighbors from a great southwest to don their jeans, boots and stet hats to fork, buckin on saddles and ride into El Paso for the great Southwestern Livestock Show and Rodeo on February 14 to 18. All entries in the livestock show must be in on or before February 13th.

I have announced as CANDIDATE for a SIX YEAR TERM for the RUIDOSO STETSON SCHOOL BOARD for several Reasons:
