Needed Water System Assured For Village of Ruidoso Say City Dads; Construction To Start

The Board of Trustees of the Village announced following the last regular meeting of the Board, that the New Water System for which this Village has been striving for a period of five years since incorporation, will become an accomplished fact in the near future...

The Board has concluded all arrangements for construction and financing of the system and engineering work is now underway. Wilson and Company of Albuquerque, New Mexico, are the engineers in charge of the project and their preliminary feasibility report was accepted as of Feb. 16, 1951 and the engineers were authorized to proceed with the plans and specifications of the system...

Plans and specifications are now being prepared in advance of date of call for bids on construction. Bids to be called in approximately two weeks and the bids to be started immediately upon Village acceptance of construction bids. Work will probably take the better part of a year for completion and as much local labor as possible will be used during the construction period...

The Village has purchased the White Mountain Inn property near Green Tree and water rights of approximately 60 acres will be transferred from that property to the upper canyon securing a river supply of soft water. The system will consist of 73 hydrants for fire protection and each piece of property in the Village limits will be within 500 feet of a fire hydrant which should result in quite substantial insurance savings for many who heretofore were not included in fact insurance reductions...

An infiltration gallery will be used in the upper canyon together with a clear well of 50,000 gallon capacity, which will supply water to an 8 inch main for service to approximately the second bridge. The main will be reduced to 6 inches. A 50,000 gallon reservoir will supply storage for this upper section. Another 8 inch main from another 50,000 gallon reservoir will supply from the vicinity of Alto Hill to the main and lower sections of town...

The whole system will be built for gravity flow with pressure during heavy rains. The pressure caused by rapid fall to a safe level for each section of town. There will be practically no expense for pumping, water will be treated and chlorinated at a central station near source and the entire system will be metered. The financing will be carried out in the following manner: Water rates to remain as they are at present...

A ready to serve charge of approximately $1.00 per month will be placed on each service. This charge to be paid on every tap regardless of the time and number of months used per year (rates under this table will show as follows: $2.00 per month for minimum bill for water and $1.00 per month ready to serve charge - total minimum bill $3.00 per month). It will be noted that there is no charge for 12 month customers but that partial time customers who have not previously been helping bear the load will now help at the rate of $1.00 per month if their taps are on or not on. The present water rate in use will be $2.00 an $1.00, if not in use bill will be $1.00. It must be noted that this new system will cover only inside Village limits. This is due to the Village being limited in amount of revenue bonds above mentioned. When revenues to be gained were compared with the large amount of area to be covered it was found by the bonding company that it would not be feasible to purchase an amount of revenue bonds larger than that shown above and in fact the bond company will try their best along with he engineer to shave the overall considerably. Also it has been found that it would be illegal for the village to expend any portion of the $25,000 tax levy for outside improvements. This tax money is a direct obligation against property inside and those outside are not obligating themselves for payment of these bonds. Portions of the system where the Village Water Department now owns the lines outside will be served from the new system...

The entire system will be a winterized system and all services based upon 12 month operation. Mains and large laterals will be buried to a three foot depth. Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Calvert have returned home from a two months visit to Denton, Texas with family and friends. They came driving a new green Plymouth.

EDITORIAL

Running a weekly newspaper is not unlike any other business only that the job is never done. Even before one paper comes off the press the staff is busy on the next issue. In fact there is never a minute that the newspaper is not on the job. You may close the office after dark and go home but before you go to bed a half dozen people will call you to give you an article that to them is greatly important.

While it is true that your job is never done, yet there is a fascination about the work that makes it ever new. There is a sense of responsibility that one feels to his community and everything that happens in it. The newspaper is the voice of the community and that voice must speak every week regardless of what happens. The old saying in the theatrical world that "the show must go on" certainly applies to the weekly newspaper. No matter what kind of weather we have, or what the business conditions are, the paper must come out on time. The very thought that hundreds of readers are waiting for the paper gives the necessary urge to the staff to do the very best possible job.

Not only are the residents of Lincoln county waiting for the Ruidoso News each week but hundreds of people all over the United States are watching their mail for the paper that brings them the happenings of this great area. Into more than 40 states the paper makes its way every week. It goes to practically every town in West Texas and to most of the towns in New Mexico. In addition to our regular subscribers the News is mailed each week to more than sixty chamber of commerce organizations in the Southwest. This has been done every week since the paper was started in 1946 with the exception of the time the present ownership was not in charge of the paper. Taken as a whole the newspaper fraternity is made up of the finest people to be found on the face of the earth. They have many common problems and in most cases are quite cooperative toward their brothers of the press. Had it not been for this spirit of cooperation there have been times when the News might have had a hard time coming out. For such a magnanimous spirit we are deeply grateful.

Yes, the weekly newspaper business is a tough grind but the payoff comes when we see business conditions improving, new buildings being erected in our community, and a general feeling of optimism among the people. A weekly newspaper should be a general clearing house for the entire area. In order to render the service to which our readers are entitled we must continue to have the close cooperation of the people. When you know any news of interest give it to our office, or if you live in one of the other towns in the county, give it to our reporter. It is impossible for the reporters to see everyone in their community but they are anxious to get the items of interest and are always glad to send in the news.

As we approach the summer season when many thousands of visitors will visit with us we appeal to everyone to help in selling our community to the world. Remember—the Ruidoso News is the only newspaper in the nation that is boosting Ruidoso.

TRAINED MULES TO JOIN SKILLET'S ACT

Two weeks from this Friday night, the date of March 9th, Slim Skillet, entertainer at the Davis Bar and Club in downtown Ruidoso, will add "trained mules and dancing burros" to his act. Slim has been working with the critics for the past six weeks and assures the public that this will be a show for the whole family and that they "surely act up to the great amusement of anyone with a good sense of humor."

In addition to the "mule-show" on that Friday night Slim plans to show some 16 m. film of trained and trick horses he has had in show business. Again he says "This interesting film is another reason that this particular Friday night show is one for the whole family."

LEGISLATION

With the legislative session having passed the half-way mark, no bill reaching the Game Department one way or another have yet passed. The Game Department is sponsoring six bills as follows: Senate Bill 26, giving juveniles at the Industrial School at Springer the privilege of fishing on their own school lands without license, has passed the Senate and is pending in the House.

Senate Bill 27, making cottontail rabbits a game animal, is pending in the Senate Wildlife Committee. The Health Department is as much interested in seeing this bill pass as sportsmen.

House Bill 65, authorizing the State Game Department to participate in provisions of the Dingell-Johnson Bird and Federal Aid in Fish and Wildlife.

House Bill 193, revising the law relating to appointment of Deputy Wardens, clarifying the search and seizure statute and other matters.

House Bill 194, making it illegal to handle or discharge a firearm in hunting areas in a careless or reckless manner or with wanton disregard of life or property. Also providing for withholding license privileges for ten years from anyone wounding another hunter and forever if the so called "accident" is fatal. This bill should by all means pass.

House Bill 321, makes it illegal to cut the rays of a spotlight in any game area or on any range where livestock might be, while having firearms in possession or under control. Officers of the law and landowners on their own property exempted.

House Bill 322, provides for regulating the storage of game and fish in cold storage and locker plants by requiring accurate records to be kept.

House Bill 323, is not sponsored or favored by the Game Department. This bill would permit men in the armed services who have been stationed in the state two weeks to buy resident hunting and fishing licenses. We think the impact on the state's game resources would be too great, and while sympathizing with the servicemen, we feel our first obligation is to preserve our wildlife for our boys when they return.

There have been too many state and private posting land bills introduced to attempt to analyze them at this time.

On The Farm Vets Must Report Income

Veterans taking GI Bill instructions on farm training were reminded today by the Veterans Administration that reports of their 1950 earnings must be submitted to their VA regional offices by March 1, 1951.

Failure to submit the reports by the deadline, VA warned, may result in suspension of subsistence payments until such time as the reports reach VA.

The earnings reports—covering only income from productive labor for the calendar year 1950—serve a double purpose, VA said.

First, they are used by VA as the basis for adjusting each veteran's subsistence for the current year (1951).

And second, they are part of the veteran's course of instruction in farm accounting, thus giving him the opportunity to put into practice what he learns in the class room.

In the case of a veteran operating a farm for himself under the GI Bill training program, income from productive labor is computed by deducting from his yearly net farm income the two items: (1) interest on his capital investment and (2) an amount for unpaid family labor. He then adds an estimated value for items of family living furnished by the farm.

Not farm income is derived from the difference between inventories at the beginning and end of the year and from a detailed account of all receipts and expenditures in connection with the veteran's farm business.

Farm trainees received necessary VA Forms (Form No. 7 1922) early this year.

Generally, farm trainees will receive assistance from their instructors in closing their books for the past year and in transferring data to the VA form.

Nearly 300,000 veteran farm ers, all currently in training, will be required to submit the reports, VA said.

NEWS FROM—

SAN PATRICIO

By Nellie Ruth Lucas

Miss Betty Lou Taylor became the bride of Bob Underwood on Sunday, February 18, 1951, in a quiet ceremony held at the Methodist Chapel in Roswell. Only members of the family were present at the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Dow Robinson stood up with the couple. Miss Taylor is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Shelton Taylor of San Patricio. The couple will make their home in Midland, Texas, where Mr. Underwood is employed.

San Patricio was well represented in El Paso at the rodeo. Tom and Louise Babers went down Friday and returned Sunday. Nellie Lucas, Margie Fitzworth and Dan Lucas were also down there. Betty Lou Taylor went down Friday and returned Saturday. Will Latham went down Saturday. Everyone reports having had a good time and the rodeo being the best ever seen.

Pvt. Emiliano Villescas was home on leave for a week. He is to be sent overseas upon his return to the base.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Babers went to El Paso Monday to take in the polo games.

El Paso seems to be the popular place this week for Mrs. Helena C. Lucas went down Monday, also.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Rigby left Tuesday for Fort Worth. They are to meet Buddy Boyce there and he will accompany them home. Betty Lou accompanied them.

Bennie and Berlin Marrufo were in Ruidoso Sunday visiting.

Dan Lucas returned from El Paso with a new Plymouth. It is really a good looking car. Now that he has a Plymouth, he can give Will Latham some competition.

Ben Sanchez was a business visitor in Roswell recently.

Pablo Montoya drove Tom Babers' school bus for him while Tom was in El Paso.

Henry Latham and Mickey were business visitors in Roswell Friday. We were sorry to hear that Muriel is sick—hope she is feeling better now.

SPORTSMEN URGED TO COOPERATE IN SURVEY

The Game Management Division of the State Game and Fish Department has started its 1950 survey for big game and birds. E. M. Lang, Game Technician, reports that in the next few weeks the division's seasonal questionnaire will be in the mails to 2,000 random picked hunters.

The information gained from the returned questionnaires will be the basis upon which season, big limits, and management practices are formulated. Each sportsman selected will be asked whether or not he hunted deer, elk, turkey, quail and waterfowl during the 1950 season; what his bag was and other questions relating to bags, hours spent, etc. This information will be correlated with field and checking station reports and from this material a complete analysis of the 1950 hunting season, including a breakdown by counties, will be made.

Mr. Lang said: "In order to obtain an accurate record, useful in many ways to both conservation agents and hunters, it is imperative that all sportsmen answer all the questions correctly and return the report to the Department." A stamped self-addressed envelope will be provided for each questionnaire.

ASSIGNMENT NEW MEXICO

Spring is almost here, says the Hobbs Flare, with girls beginning to feel more buoyant and boys becoming more gallant.

And with spring just around the corner, we all get a bit poetic. Of all things, Dorothy Baird, proof reader for the Carlsbad Current, writes poetic about type howlers. She sent me this poem last week.

"The typo error is a slippery thing sly
You can hunt it 'till you're dizzy but it somehow will get by Till the forms are off the press
it is strange how still it keeps.

It shrinks into a corner and it never stirs or peeps.
That typographical error, too small for human eyes
Till the ink is on the paper, then it grows to mountain size.
The boss he stares in horror, then he grabs his hair and groans.

The copy reader drops his head upon his hands and moans:
The remainder of the issue may be clean as clean can be,
But the typo error is the only thing they see.

Describe a new house, the Lubbock Avalanche Journal had a nice little typo: "The party has a vent at the floor and one in the ceiling. During warm weather the floor vent can be opened. Cool air rushes in and forces the warm air out."

The Las Cruces Sun News quoted Paul Dugan as saying he "had been promised by Governor Mecham that inquiries would be made in the case."

And in the Tucumcari News "a volunteer fireman and two boys lived up to Boy Scout Week by doing a good deed."

Occupational hazards, we suppose. Others last week included the Hobbs Flare's "break and light stickers" and the one in the Gallup Independent where it promised to let its readers hair how a certain affair came out.

Where typos were not in abundance poetry was, last week. Tucumcari's NMU student, Troy Kemper ran an article in the New Mexico Magazine on state towns and "frontier journalism."

"Albuquerque's a dingy burg
Las Vegas windy and sandy,
And Spring is a sleepy town
But Raton is a dandy.
Old Santa Fe puts on haughty airs
Socorro looms up grandly,
But none can come up to Raton
For Raton is a dandy.

New Mexico is the place to go,
Raton the place to grow in
Gato City opens wide her portals
In Kansas it is a snowin'."

And A. L. (Pete) Best of the Artesia Advocate took his pen in hand to celebrate the split-the-county feud:

"Roses are red,
Violets are blue
Carlsbad is mad,
And we are too."
And that's all this week except the one Col. Marcus Griffin tells for the truth in the Tucumcari American. A Tucumcari nurse watched while a father admired the new son. "Don't you want to see your wife?" asked the nurse. "Her? Huh, I haven't spoken to her for three years."

Cake of the Month

By BETTY BARCLAY

Wintertime seems especially appropriate for a rich chocolate layer cake—with snow-white coconut-flavored vanilla pudding as a contrasting filling. The sugar topping, which gives the effect of powdered snow, fits right into the winter picture—all contributing to a cake that tastes as delicious as it looks.

Chocolate Coconut Cream Cake

- 2 cups sifted cake flour
- 1 1/2 teaspoons soda
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup shortening
- 1 1/2 cups granulated sugar, or 1 1/2 cups firmly packed brown sugar
- 2 eggs, unbeaten
- 3 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted
- *Buttermilk or sour milk (see below for amount)
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

*With butter, margarine, or lard, use 1 cup buttermilk. With vegetable or any other shortening, use 1 cup plus 2 tablespoons buttermilk.

Sift flour once, measure, add soda and salt, and sift together three times. Cream shortening, add sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each. Add chocolate and blend. Add flour, alternately with buttermilk, a small amount at a time, beating after each addition until smooth. Add vanilla. Turn into two deep 9-inch layer pans which have been lined on bottoms with paper, then greased. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) 30 minutes, or until done. When cool, split layers in half and spread with vanilla coconut filling.

For design on top of cake, cut a piece of paper into a scalloped pattern and place on the cake. Then sprinkle on confectioners' sugar. Carefully remove pattern.

Vanilla Coconut Filling. Prepare 2 packages vanilla pudding powder as directed on package, reducing milk to 1 1/2 cups for each package. Chill. Fold 1/2 to 1 cup cut shredded coconut into chilled pudding and spread between split cake layers.

New Serval Has Greater Capacity Yet Takes Less Space in Kitchen

"Bigger inside but smaller outside" is the 1951 Serval motorless refrigerator. Behind its full-length door is room for 9 1/2 cu. ft. of food yet the cabinet requires less space in the kitchen than old-type 8-ft. models.

Refrigerator designers have succeeded in "doing the impossible" in the Serval models for 1951. They have given the new motorless refrigerators extra capacity but made the cabinets more compact.

The Serval Royal Model BR-917, shown above, provides 9 1/2 cubic feet of food storage space, yet the exterior of the cabinet is over 2 inches shorter and 2 inches narrower than older type refrigerators with only 8 cubic feet capacity. Other models in the Serval line are similarly "bigger in side but smaller outside."

Each of the eight models in the Serval line carries a 10 year guarantee—the longest of any refrigerator.

The new Serval models for 1951 are now on display. home-makers generous storage capacity clear across freezer compartment. It has an "Odds & Ends" basket for small miscellaneous packaged foods, adjustable shelves that move up or down to seven different levels, extra space for tall bottles and bulky foods, cubic feet of food storage space, two "dew action" porcelain fresheners for fruits and vegetables, and quick release ice cube trays.

 We received a card through the mail last week just addressed to Ida and Mary Nell Ruidoso, and to think we got it... thanks to our post office. The card was from Lois and Paul Mayer in Arizona at Buckhorn Hot Springs near Mesa. They are having a wonderful time enjoying the sunshine... and asked that we mail them several back copies of the News. Listen here, Lois you don't have anything on us we are also enjoying sunshine.

"Spring is here" . . . Pop Simpson was seen on the street in a silk shirt without a coat . . . and a funny thing about it . . . the sky was so cloudy looked like snow every minute . . . I just can't understand Ruidosians . . . wonder if the tourists can.

Edith Brown returned from Memphis, Tenn. this week where he attended a school on dusting and spraying. Grace Sutton visited with her son Stanley Sutton in Artesia a couple of days last week. . . For his contributions to aircraft safety, Roscoe Braham, research meteorologist at New Mexico School of Mines, Socorro, has been honored by the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences in New York City. He received the Robert M. Lasey Award—acertificate and cash honorarium— at the Institute's Honors Night Dinner on January 29.

Roscoe Braham, Meteorologist Receives National Recognition

Knowing what goes on inside a thunderstorm is very important to the safety of aircraft. To learn facts about the weather inside clouds, the U. S. Weather Bureau, and the U. S. Air Force and other Federal agencies organized "The Thunderstorm Project" and spent some ten million dollars studying storms in 1940 through 1949. Over and over, pilots flew airplanes and soared and planes through storms to find out as much as possible about this little-known vital factor in aviation. The work was considered dangerous, but the risk and the expenditure may prove to have been worth it in future airplane safety.

For his part as one of the key figures in the Thunderstorm Project, meteorologist Roscoe Braham recently was presented an award "in recognition of outstanding contributions to the science of meteorology as applied to aeronautics" by the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences in New York. Braham, who is now research meteorologist at New Mexico School of Mines, served as research analyst for the government Thunderstorm Project. He is co-author with Dr. Horace Byers, chairman of the department of meteorology at the University of Chicago, of the book "The Thunderstorm," which summarizes the findings of the project.

Dr. Byers directed the Thunderstorm Project, aided by a staff of eighteen advisors. Fifty five weather stations and ten radar units were set up for the studies. The radar alone represented an investment of a million and a half dollars. Ten airplanes—P-61s and AT-6s—operated from a special air base. For two years the planes were flown through thunderstorms in Florida and Ohio, studying turbulence, up and downdrafts, temperature and other factors.

"Perhaps the greatest contribution of the Thunderstorm Project," according to Braham, "was the recording of sufficiently detailed and numerous measurements to sort out fact from fancy." There are many myths about thunderstorms among airplane pilots, but until this project was undertaken, little actually was known about thunderstorms except their electrical aspects, which had been studied by Dr. E. J. Workman, S. B. Reynolds, and other scientists at New Mexico School of Mines.

It is hard to convince some pilots that the best way to fly a plane through a thunderstorm is to let it fly itself. The project studies showed that heavy gusts of wind occur at 10 to 12 second intervals within a thundercloud, and that these gusts occur statistically in opposite directions. That is, a swift upgust will be followed a few seconds later by a swift downdraft, in the normal pattern. An airplane flying through a thundercloud at 180 miles an hour may be forced up as much as 5,000 feet by a violent updraft, only to be forced down as much as 1,400 feet by an equally violent downdraft.

The pilot's natural impulse is to hold tight and try to keep the plane level on its course. Actually, Braham suggests, if the pilot were cautious about correcting the effects of the upgust, the downdraft which he may expect in a few seconds might correct it for him.

To try physically to hold a plane on its course in a storm is something like trying to control bumps on a rough road by holding rigidly to the steering wheel of your auto," the meteorologist said. If the plane is reasonably let alone, it will adjust automatically to alternating gust. As witness to the soundness of his theory, not a single plane was damaged in the Thunderstorm Project experiments.

In the studies, the airplanes themselves served as instruments to measure thunderstorm turbulence, the effect of gusts of wind upon the position of the plane being recorded.

The most dangerous altitude for flying into thunderstorm is between 15,00 and 25,000 feet—an altitude at which many of the newer planes are flown. With radar, however, planes may detect thunderclouds at a distance and avoid them.

Braham flew B-24s as a U. S. Army pilot between 1942 and 1946. He served as Commanding Officer with the Western Flying Training Command, his duties taking him to various air fields in New Mexico—Carlsbad, Hobbs, Albuquerque and Roswell.

Braham expects to receive his Ph. D. degree from the University of Chicago in the near future. His graduate thesis is a study of the water and energy relationships in a thunderstorm. He served as a research meteorologist in the University of Chicago Department of Meteorology before coming to New Mexico School of Mines last September.

Braham's job at the School of Mines consists of research on weather problems important to the programs of the Aeronautics and Thunderstorm Laboratories of the college's Research and Development Division. These laboratories have gained national importance for their contributions to the knowledge of weather.

Guy Tom Howard was home last week end. He earned a spot on the Dean's list by virtue of having maintained a certain high scholastic average and so was granted some special furlough time. Guy Tom is in the New Mexico Military Institute, Roswell. We hope to see you often.

Dr. Poporyn should be back here by the time you read this. He has been in Washington the past ten days or so.

A few people have reported seeing a few small wild animals acting as if they were sick. Better not handle any such animals, we never know what they might have. This item is unauthorized and unsolicited but it is better to create a false rumor than to have someone get sick. Report these things to your local Health Authorities, if you see something that doesn't look right to you.

Henry Sanchez told me his boy, Alfred is to be in San Diego this week, or is planning on it. These Navy boys get around.

While mentioning that, it has occurred to me that many people have told me in great detail about the movements of their relatives in the service and wondered why nothing was said about it. Perhaps it is unnecessary to do so but as long as I write the column nothing will be said about movements of organizations or individuals.

At the time of this writing Mrs. Ed White is planning to entertain the USPHS Bridge club on Wednesday the 21st. As you read this, it has already happened. More information is not available because I am writing in the future about an event already past. Follow me?
