WEATHER

Table with weather forecast data including date, high, low, and precipitation.

For washed him when he was born, trying to find out what color he was. We doubt if he's had a bath since. We say Fred clean shaven only once—when his whiskers got burned off in a prairie fire.

We took time one day here in Ruidoso to keep a record of Fred's daily activities. We found he worked 14 minutes that day—the rest of the day he spent running other people's business over domino games up and down the canyon.

That vacant stare Fred wears comes from drinking that asphalt he makes and sells as coffee. After three swallows, he passes into a kind of dead, dream-like state.

It was only after Fred had lived in Abernathy, Texas, for a spell that the city council passed an ordinance requiring him to endorse all $1 bills that he tried to spend.

When Fred was a boy, he went 18 years without shoes. The first pair of shoes he put on left him thinking he was tied to the floor. He stood in the same place two hours before he found a cord to move.

Another special law they passed in Abernathy when Fred lived there was that he couldn't comb out on the streets in the daytime for he frightened women, little children and horses.

Roy Anderson, who knew Fred Riley back in Abernathy when it did, can verify most of the details of the election Fred was in. Fred ran for mayor of Abernathy, and out of 344 votes, Fred got two.

For the benefit of the more than 800 News subscribers to the Ruidoso News, advise you Texans not to forget to pay your poll tax before Jan. 31.

Civil War Drama In Color Film

Drama and danger and desperation in Georgia, tied in with romance, during the Civil War form the basis of "Drums in the Deep South," the exciting new Technicolor Frank King production which shows tonight and tomorrow at the Pueblo theatre in Ruidoso.

James Craig, Barbara Payton and Guy Madison have the starring roles, with the two men as a pair of West Point classmates who find themselves on opposite sides when the war begins, and Miss Payton as the wealthy plantation belle in Georgia. A daring Confederate plan to cripple Sherman's march on Atlanta by smashing his supply line from an impregnable fortress motivates the stirring plot.

of this most dreadful scourge, and I want to thank the Woman's club for choosing my tea room for the start of the drive, and I also want to thank them for the fine cooperation shown in carrying this project thru. Every member, I think, came thru with flying colors. Every one wanted to help with the serving and so much nice food was donated. I just was amazed, for usually with most projects that are started, there are only a FEW that will even offer to help and as for the food they will tell you they come from the kitchen and the time comes they food is conspicuous by its absence. But in this case I think every one that said they would bring food did so, and it was very gratifying to know that we have that kind of women that belong to our Woman's club, and some sweet souls that were not members brought in cakes and pies and both of our bread boys came thru with flying colors on the bread and doughnuts. My everlasting thanks go for this fine support of this tea room drive.

Well, the tea room is a thing of the past now, a dream come true, and such a wonderful dream. . . Have preached it for years but could not tell any one on the idea—my contention by doing it myself and if any one like me with practically no experience in such a venture could successfully promote and make a success of a tea room or safe, how much more could some one do, if they had the real "know how" to run one. But, again I thank everyone for the participation, good wishes and friendships that have existed in the atmosphere of my tea room, and I am really going to miss all the people who that I won't get to see and talk to them every day or so, and all the activity that has centered around the tea room. I just want to thank the paper for the space they have given me for my column and if I have brought any one fun, information or entertainment, I am also thankful and I think that I have accomplished much, and may God bless every one of you, and make all your dreams come true. Sincerely, Iva Colonan.

Sparkling Musical Stars Dancer, Vera-Ellen

Laid against a background of Edinburgh on sets for its Festival of Music and Drama, "Happy Go Lovely," a time-filled, sparkling musical, in color by Technicolor, co-stars David Niven, Vera-Ellen and Cesar Romero and will be seen Wednesday and Thursday of next week at the Pueblo here.

The merry tale of romance and hilarity concerns a zany trio made up of a bemused millionaire, a modish chorus girl, and a worried theatrical producer. What happens when the millionaire turns from a romance-haunted male into a girl finds her career suddenly soaring toward fame, fortune and a mysterious type of luck—all makes a joyous comedy of errors!

David Niven as the millionaire returns to his popular portrayal of sophisticated light comedy; Vera-Ellen as the modest chorus adds incomparable dancing to the happy proceedings; and Cesar Romero is happily cast as the producer.

CORONA OBSERVES 50TH ANNIVERSARY THIS YEAR

By EVELYN WEST
Corona, N. M.—Mail is picked up by small crane as ultra-modern Golden State Limited and other track examinations of the Southern Pacific Railroad strafe through Corona, a small community in the extreme northern part of Lincoln county.

But passenger service is limited to a slow midnight train, and riding this train is almost as much an adventure as was traveling along the old stage coach road more than 50 years ago.

At the beginning of the century and in pre-diesel days, most trains stopped some of them for many hours while undergoing repairs. And, it wasn't too unusual to send out a call for another engine to come and haul the crippled train on its way.

Many Changes
Corona and the railroad came to historic Lincoln County in 1902. Fifty years has seen many changes in both, and the actual development of Corona began when the railroad was completed and the station established.

In 1900 the old El Paso and North Eastern Railroad was constructed from El Paso to Carrizozo, and that was the end of the line for about three years. The line was later extended to Santa Rosa to connect with the Rock Island, and now a part of the Southern Pacific System.

Corona is located in the foothills of the Gallinas Mountains at an elevation of 6866 feet. This is the highest point on the Southern Pacific Railroad from New York, via Chicago, to Los Angeles.

Highway 54 passes through Corona, which is between Carrizozo and Vaughn.

Overlooking the village is a crown of pine-studded mountains. Their forested beauty makes Corona truly a crown city.

In the state game refuge of the Lincoln National Forest, numerous deer, wild turkey, and other game abound. An Eastern resident was thrilled this past year to see 23 deer on a drive through the reserve.

Cattle, Sheep Country
The surrounding country is noted as one of the best cattle and sheep sections in New Mexico.

It was in 1899 that Corona began its development as a cowtown. It developed from an earlier settlement located on the Cook and Greathouse Ranch a few miles to the southwest of the present town-site.

This consisted of a relay station in the Red Cloud Canyon on the stage route from Las Vegas to the mining town of White Oaks, located near Carrizozo.

Mail was left at the relay station, and later a post office was built at Holloway. Following the stage coach days, horses were used to carry mail over the route.

Freight was hauled to the mining camp at White Oaks over this same line.

Walter B. Bryan, who was born in Red Cloud Canyon and has lived in that area all of his life, recalls that his father and uncle walked over the route in those days, coming from Albuquerque to White Oaks.

Col. Frank A. DuBois, Sr., came into the community in 1901 and helped to develop the area. He established a homestead on 160 acres of land covering what is now the village of Corona.

Here he opened the first store and brought about the first post office. He made the original plot of the townsite of Corona.

Today, his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Frank DuBois, and his grand-daughter, Mrs. Archie Perkins, operate a drug store in the village, and carry on his ranching interests in the community.

A friend of the late Colonel DuBois is Mrs. L. A. Simpson, one of the oldest residents in Corona. Mrs. Simpson, who is 83, claims to be the first white woman to come to Corona. She was there when work began on the railroad, and she saw the first passenger train come thru the village.

A Texan, she drove a hack and pair of horses from a ranch in Crosby County, Texas, to Lincoln County, arriving in Corona Sept. 10, 1900.

Covered Wagons
She recalls that there were three covered wagons, and she helped drive because the men and older children drove the livestock.

"The land was green, and we built a ranch house three miles from the present site of Corona," said Mrs. Simpson. "The nearest American ranchers were 85 miles from us."

"There were railroad camps for men and equipment located every few miles along the survey line where the railroad was being built. The railroad had been surveyed in 1890 and work was begun early in 1901. One day the children and I were invited to ride on one of the work trains to the nearby town of Vaughn. The thrilling trip took all afternoon even though the town was but 35 miles from Corona."

"Colonel DuBois had been driving the three miles from his store to our ranch for his meals. Just before the railroad was finished he persuaded me to bring my family and live in a lean-to at his store so that I could cook for the railroad men."

Cooked For Crews
"I did the cooking for several months in 1902, and then returned to my ranch. The first passenger train stopped in Corona for about 30 minutes while I prepared a meal for the crew."

Mrs. Simpson was determined that her children should receive an education even though there was no school. The first governess in that part of the country was hired to live in her home and teach her children.

In the early days private instruction was the first and most practical form of education and was taken up by other families coming to the community.

Donnie Franks who lives in Corona today was one of the first teachers, coming in the early part of 1904. She taught the Simpson children and Elwood Bond, still a Corona resident, who walked three miles from his ranch to the school room in the Simpson home.

Miss Franks joined the faculty of Corona school when it was built and taught there for 24 years until her retirement.

She lives with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Callie Thompson Franks, who came to Corona from White Oaks soon after 1900.

Taught 16 Years
She taught in the Corona schools, being on the faculty for 16 years, although not consecutively.

When it became necessary to have a public school, Colonel DuBois donated a plot of land and the citizens contributed enough money to build the first school house. It was a one-room school, having four windows and one door; it was heated by an old fashioned box heater.

Other schools have been built over the years as needed. The newest addition is a gymnasium built this past summer which is one of the finest in the state of New Mexico.

L. Parker is the present superintendent of schools at Corona, and has done much in the way of improvement since he came in May, 1945. Prior to his move to Corona he served as superintendent of schools of Dexter, N. M., for 11 years and has been a faculty member at Highlands University.

"We have 360 to 400 students enrolled, and there are 16 members on the faculty," said Superintendent Parker.

Husband-Wife Team
Included in the 16-member faculty are four husband and wife teams, including the Parkers.

"There are 11 school buses, some traveling more than 50 miles each day, bringing students from parts of Torrance and Socorro counties which are attached to Corona for school purposes."

"In former years snow often prohibited bus transportation; however, in recent years the roads have been clear. When the buses can't get through, the schools are closed because over 50 per cent of the pupils live on farms or ranches," stated the superintendent.

Corona is proud of the school hot lunch program. Mrs. Zelfa Atkinson, a life long resident, is supervisor of the lunch room and in charge of the home economic department. "We serve approximately 240 students each day," said Mrs. Atkinson.

The old rule that small town schools turn out good students holds true in Superintendent Parker's schools. Corona has a high scholastic record. In a recent state examination given to juniors, the Corona students ranked high.

Miss Burrow has been active in various community projects and is a very popular member of the younger set here.

The community has four churches, the Presbyterian, Baptist, Catholic and Church of Christ. The Presbyterians' beautiful new church has an interior of native woods which is a long way from the early beginnings of religion in Corona. Two Presbyterian missionaries, Roger Sherman and Ralph Hall, called the cowboy ministers, brought the first religion to Corona, and baptized the early settlers with water from a tin cup.

(Editor's Note: The story above was the first part of two articles on Corona. Another will appear in a later issue of The News.)

NEWS FROM—LINCOLN

By Mrs. Jeff Dockray

While our reporter, Mrs. Dockray, is ill I'll try to fill in a little if I may with bits of news from Lincoln and I'd prefer to remain just an anonymous reporter, if you please.

Welcome home, Barbara Armstrong, and glad to see you looking so much better. But do take things easy for a while so you won't have to make a return trip to the hospital.

Now occupying the bed left vacant in the Port Stanton hospital by Barbara's returning home is our Lincoln reporter, Mrs. Jeff Dockray. Dick was feeling quite "rough" when she first entered the hospital, but even though she reports she still feels "rough", she does look a little better. All of us here in Lincoln wish her a speedy recovery.

And not to be outdone by the ladies, Joe Gomez, home on leave from Uncle Sam's Navy, is also in the Port Stanton hospital. Same disease too. All of Lincoln also wishes him a speedy recovery.

And folks—if you've been exposed to this infectious hepatitis—you might try going to bed just a little earlier and don't forget to eat regularly and well. That's the best advice my physician could give to guard against being the next prey.

Saw my neighbor, Dan Gilles, out planting fence posts over the week end. What do you expect to raise, Dan? Or is it only spring fever?

Frank Chavez has been visiting the doctor lately—seems he has quite a stiff neck. We wish him better health in the future.

Also on the slightly ailing list are Arthur and Robert Esias. Do hope it's nothing more than colds as reported. We'll certainly keep our fingers crossed for you at any rate.

Saw Carmen in town visiting her family over the week end. (Used to be one of the Romero girls. Sorry, Carmen, but your married name has slipped my mind. I'll not admit to getting older and more forgetful, though.

Barbara McGrew is back in school after a week in the Carrizozo hospital. Chillun, let this be a lesson to you to always wear a jacket when you go outdoors to PLANE DROPS HOWITZER . . . United Nations ground forces in Korea which find themselves in a tight spot can request delivery by air, of practically any weapon they might need. Here is a 105MM howitzer being released from a C-119 flying boxcar. Attached to three 100-foot parachutes the 5,000-pound artillery weapon will be gently lowered to the earth where the United Nations troops calling for it will be waiting to put it to use against the Chinese Red forces they face.

STRANGLER . . . Donna Isbell, Los Angeles, was strangled to death by her baby sister who explained she was watching a better film on television and started day-dreaming. She said she had a vision of Donna with a green necktie around her neck.

AGONY AT SEA . . . Mrs. Bolva Hall, Norfolk, reads note tossed in sea, in battle in 1942: "This is the end . . . middle of nowhere . . . Lost compass . . . God, O help us . . . Goodbye to our loved ones . . . Thomas Gowan EM2"

CABINS ARE ENTERED
Local officers have been investigating the breaking into and entering of several summer cabins here. In four such cabins, nothing was reported stolen, but in that owned by the Walter Scotts, bedding, food and other items, were stolen. It was suggested that all Ruidosans who are watching cabins for friends who live elsewhere, be on the alert for any unwarranted visitings in cabins in the canyon.

CLAIMS CANCER CURE . . . Dr. Calais Jolley Faust, Reno, announces that she has isolated cancer virus, found a test and developed a specific cure. She claims to have cured 88 patients successfully after 24 years of experiment and study.

To those of you who visited Lincoln to view the new art exhibit on display in the museum—no new best four new additions to the collection. So come back and have another look—believe you will enjoy it.

Barbara Armstrong and Caroline Davis buzzed down to Roswell Saturday — business or monkey business, they sure made it a quickie.

Never see Priscilla Mae any more since she went to work in Carrizozo hospital. Just thought you folks might like to know she still belongs to us—even though she has deserted us for the city lights. Hear she enjoys the hospital very much.

If there's been any more scandal in Lincoln, sorry but it hasn't reached my ears.

HIGH RATING FOR NEW MEXICO BONDS
After careful study of all available information in connection with the highway debentures of the State of New Mexico, the Rating Committee of Moody's Investors Service of New York has increased the rating of such debentures from A to AA, with this comment: "In view of the progress made by the State in adding to the indirect security of the bonds, as well as the increase in applicable revenues, we feel that the rating increase was warranted." There is only one higher rating by this agency—that of triple A, carried by a very few municipal securities and by U. S. Government bonds. The Taxpayers' Association of New Mexico is given some credit in connection with the rating of New Mexico bonds, as in-

COMPLETE PARK PURCHASE
TAOS, Jan. 16. — The State of New Mexico has completed purchase of land in Taos for the Kit Carson Memorial Park. Climaxing months of work by interested parties here and elsewhere, formal transfer of the land from the Taos Foundation, Inc., to the state was made early this month. The purchase price was $40,000. The purchase was announced in a letter from Mr. Victor H. NEWS FROM MESCALERO
(By Mrs. Reine Sarlin)

A baby son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Lee Comanche Jan. 25.

A dinner was given in honor of the newly elected members of the Consistory of the Reformed Church last Sunday evening. Those honored were Whelan Gayton, Solon Sombroero, David Kazhe and Walter Scott.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Shanta celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary on Sunday. A big dinner was prepared, followed by dancing.

Visiting here is Harold Peabody's father from Oklahoma.

Miss Kate Ritter entertained with dinner Sunday for Mr. and Mrs. Ray Quast and Supt. and Mrs. Lonnie Hardin and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Spradley and children had dinner with Sarlins Saturday evening.

A car driven by Liza Coonle tangled with a logging truck Monday morning near the Whittell school. Although there were no fatalities, both the car and truck were badly damaged and Mrs. Coonle was taken to Alamogordo for X-rays and treatment. The logging truck was owned by the Harris Lumber company of Green Tree.

Approximately 16½ million board feet of timber were logged on reservation lands in 1951. The estimated revenue from stumpage amounted to $205,000. There are two active sales in progress at the present time.

Marshall Woodward and Chuck Spradley attended the Sod Conservation meeting in Roswell Friday.

Mr. Malcolm of Madison, Wis., and Mr. Kotok of Tucson, were in this area last week on a survey of forest product potentials in the Southwest. Reine Sarlin accompanied them on a visit to various saw mill and wood-working businesses in El Paso and Juarez. They were especially interested in possibilities of establishing wood-using industries in the reservation-Ruidoso area.

up and going again after her spell of the flu.

Believe it or not, the state highway engineers are here working on Tinnie canyon getting ready to start construction work on the road soon as the contract is let.

The correspondent's sister, Mrs. Efran Pacheco, is leaving for California to join Efran who is working in the ship yards at Long Beach.

Jack Jones had to take his baby to Roswell to the doctor this last week. He has been very sick with this sickness that is going around but is much improved at this time.

Mrs. Karl Radcliff was rushed to the hospital in Portales last Tuesday morning early for emergency treatment.

Loran Counts was up visiting this last week and says he is sure enjoying life these days—just taking it easy. Wish we all had a little of that easy life medicine.

Just as everyone is feeling good over our promised road improvements here comes the county assessor along to take all the joy out of life again (just when you hook a fish the line always breaks). So goes life.

We the people think the Rev. Oldham and Frank Titsworth and this deal all cooked up about going to Albuquerque by themselves. Looks funny the jury and ministers' convention happened the same time. Hope they have a good time and get home all together.

Mrs. Britten says she is sure getting her fill of corn bread and milk now that she is taking care of Radcliff's cow (don't know how anyone can eat that stuff). Wish she wouldn't talk about it.

Mrs. Oldham is sure kept busy these days helping at school and nursing every one who is sick. She says she wishes there were two of her so she could get more done. (But we say there will never be but one Mrs. Oldham.)

The Case brothers brought their drill rig in from the Palmetto ranch where they drilled two wells this winter and are now busy drilling here in the valley.

REMEMBER THE LION OF AFRICA? Marshall Rodolfo Graziani was known as the Lion of Africa when Mussolini was posing and roaring during the Fascist regime in Italy. He was commander of Il Duca's northern republic at the war's end. Later he was sentenced to prison by the allies. Now he has returned to public life and here addresses a national meeting of the Federation of Republican Veterans in Ronto and gives the Fascist salute. He is president of the club.

Pioneer Lincoln Resident Is Called By Death Angel

(Editor's Note: Friends of the pioneer mentioned in this news story received the clipping only recently telling of the death of a long-time Lincoln resident during the holidays. The clipping is from a Roswell newspaper.)

Mrs. J. V. (Nellie) Thornton, one of Roswell's oldest residents, died at her home at the age of 92 years.

Mrs. Thornton had lived in Roswell continuously since 1895 when she and her late husband moved here from Lincoln. She had occupied the home where she died, at 209 North Pennsylvania, since 1897.

The mother of four daughters, two of whom died tragically of scarlet fever in 1892, Mrs. Thornton was regarded as a foster mother by many girls and young women who at times made their home with her after the death of Mr. Thornton, a widely known Roswell businessman in 1910.

At one time Will Robinson, the New Mexico newspaper columnist, wrote of Mrs. Thornton that she was one of the "main reasons for rejoicing and celebrating Mother's day in Roswell."

Born Nellie Leahy, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Leahy at Monroe, Wis., Oct. 15, 1859, Mrs. Thornton came to New Mexico in 1884 to teach in the women's school on the Mescalero Indian reservation near Ruidoso. She took the job partially to recuperate from the after effects of pneumonia.

During a dance at the Old Mill at Ruidoso, she met Mr. Thornton, who had joined the army at Ft. Stanton in 1877 to help fight the Indians. The two were married on Feb. 15, 1886, and became the parents of four girls, Mabel, Eva, Kitty and Dola. The daughters, Mabel and Eva were the two scarlet fever victims. Their graves are in the old Fritz burying ground on historic Oil Spring ranch, 18 miles south of Ft. Stanton.

At the time of his marriage Mr. Thornton was part-owner of a hotel in Lincoln. The building still stands.

Mrs. Thornton became a member of the first Catholic church established here and continued her church activity throughout her long life. She was a member of St. Peter's Altar Society, and also had held membership in the Roswell Woman's club since 1911.

Survivors include the two living daughters, Mrs. O. B. Brookshier and Mrs. R. V. West, both of Roswell; three sisters, Mrs. J. J. Shields and Mrs. C. E. Whitney, both of Duluth, Minn., and Mrs. Madge Gordon of Moberly, Mo., and by seven grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Asher are visiting in Ruidoso this week. They operate a cafe here in the summer.

Mrs. Nora B. Pistole returned from Los Angeles, Calif., where she spent the holidays with her son and family.

NEWS FROM TINNIE
(By Alma Rogers)

Well, I guess winter is here as everyone is down with colds and flu. Our teacher, Miss Foster, has been in bed for a week but is much improved now.

Mr. Rinfro, the Honda basketball coach, is in bed with the flu as well as his oldest boy.

Little Cathvlin Casey is confined to bed with rheumatic fever but is reported getting along very well at this writing.

Mrs. Jonnie Hodges is reported

NEMOELLER GOES TO MOSCOW . . . The Rev. Martin Nemoeller (right), with daughter Herta and Prior Heinrich Gruber, arrives in Berlin en route to Moscow where he was greeted by Archbishop McCary on behalf of the Russians. There is speculation that his visit may have some bearing on the expectation that the Russians may start releasing a large number of Germans held in the Soviet for various reasons since the end of the war. His wife and daughter went with him.

Mr. and Mrs. Dutch Collins were in El Paso early this week.

Letter from Hugh Avery in Akron, Ohio: "Hugh and Jennie Avery are so sorry to have to give up their little business in Ruidoso among the tall pines, but must do so due to serious illness of Hugh's mother. They hope to come back some day and settle permanently and enjoy the wonderful climate, eastern climate being mighty severe these days with blizzards, sleet, snow and no sunshines."

Mrs. Oscar Samelson says that although they have sold their Texas Pines courts here and although she is employed in Carrizozo as County School Superintendent, she and her husband have not moved from Ruidoso, and she's getting mighty tired of folks passing up the chance to visit them here, thinking they've moved away.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Brown flew to Plainview, Texas, last week-end. They were accompanied by Benny Vaughn, Ernie Miller of Plainview flew back with the Browns in another plane.

Frank Barajas and Coleman Joyce of Ruidoso were scheduled to be called as character witnesses for the defendant in the trial in Alamogordo of Earl Tesson, former New Mexico state policeman, charged with an attack on Tez-Mecallero Indian women. Tesson's

NOT A PARTNER

The Ruidoso News' source of information was incorrect in listing Leo Pagle as a partner of Joe Hawkins, Ruidoso Gas Co. operator and manager for Sacra Bros. in the article last week concerning Hawkins' bid for the Carrizozo gas system. Hawkins has since withdrawn his bid there, he told the News.
