AROUND TOWN

By Nose Waters

The writer of this column saw with his own eyes a freak of nature Sunday that should have been recorded with a photo for some museum. We rescued a six-inch trout that had been caught in the back by a 14-inch brown water snake. The pair had evidently thrashed about and fought and struggled for some time for both were pretty pooped when we lifted them with a stick out of a crotch of two rocks in the North Fork of the Rio Ruidoso in the Indian reservation. As we lifted the pair the snake never let go its hold. Neither struggled very much as we tossed them on a bank. I'm still waiting to hear that 6-inch trout... What's happened to our squirrels? We just don't see near as many as we used to in town and in our woods, either. We saw cat tracks, coon tracks, deer tracks and several beaver dams (one with a beaver lodge in the center of a big pool) on our hike Sunday—but only one squirrel.

The Franz Alford have shut down La Fiesta Cafe until Sept. 8. Bingham is taking off for about a two week vacation which will include a visit with Tom's mother north of Capitol, and some camping out on some feedings grounds while Tom rounds up and brands some calves.

Elizabeth Collins says for goodness sake's her phone number (Pack Drug) won't be the Western Union number after Sept. 11. That's when the wire service is moved to the C. O. office, and the number there is 2695.

Mrs. Dan D. Swearingin says she thinks it would be a good project for the Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, or some group in Ruidoso, to take steps to preserve the main building of the Elmer C. Creer, early day rancher and landowner who once owned many acres where Ruidoso is now situated, including the area now occupied by the airport, golf course, and adjacent acreage. The Elmer C. Creer Catholic Church, built in 1908, being operated in downtown Ruidoso in the former Star Cafe building, donated by Yolanda Manley, has cleared about $600 for the new church building fund. The women of the church take care of the church in every way from books to furniture to clothing, or what have you.

A cafe operator and his wife here were fined for a disturbance one night last week. In Judge Herbert Smith's presence the man, 31, and the woman, 25, were each fined $100 for disturbing the peace in the village limits, the woman $250 for drunk and disorderly. State Police Sgt. Bill Driggers said officers are investigating a poker party held here one night this week, and then reported on another case in which a firearm was hidden in the trunk of a car. The driver, Dan D. B. Herbert Smith on a charge of discharging a firearm in a settlement when he allegedly fired a gun through the windshield, trunk and into the headlights of a car owned by Richard Smith of El Paso. He pleaded guilty at the hearing and Smith bound him over to District Court for his September term after he made a cash bond of $500.

G. N. (Pee Wee) Taylor of Ruidoso is customizing the furniture for use in the Mescalero Apache Summit Lodge units. Regional Forester Kennedy and Engineer Huber of the U. S. Forest Service headquarters in Albuquerque were here Tuesday this week at the invitation of Dan D. Swearingin to tour the Mon Jean lookout road. They also were to fly over the lookout area in a Brown Air Service ship. They were invited here to see condition of the route and to be informed of the need for its improvement and of the need for Ruidoso and environs.

Conferring with C. of C. Pres. W. A. Hart, Manager Evan Mahaney, and with Rotarian Dan D. Swearingin, whose club is urging improvement of the Mon Jean Road, the two Forest Service officials said there was a possibility of Forest Service participating in part of the cost of an improved road next year. They were enthusiastic in their opinion of the White Mountain Park as a potential ski and winter sports area.

Ruidoso Boy Scout Troop entered a watermelon "bun" at its last regular meeting, Scoutmaster C. A. Culver reported.

The S. & H. Green Stamp truck will be at Long's Hollywood Mart Friday to redeem books.

Ben Peeler, columnist for the Odessa American sports page, gave Ruidoso Downs a lengthy plug Wednesday, Aug. 22, which several of our readers have told us about.

Not long ago we were fortunate to secure the services of Mr. Aileen Lindamood of Alto, a pioneer Lincoln County resident, as our reporter for that vicinity (and some Ruidoso news, also), and now we have added another pair of reporters, Rev. and Mrs. Carl Moore, Captain. He is the minister at the Church of the Nativity there, and says he's going to prepare for us a very interesting history and report on the big Church of the Nativity, which won't be very recent, but which is growing in leaps and bounds. Cathedral In The Pines Proposed For Hillside Near Ruidoso

A suggestion by Mrs. H. M. Graham of Ruidoso is meeting with favorable response with almost everyone with whom she talks. She proposes that an open-air Cathedral of the Pines be constructed, possibly on the hillside from which a wonderful view of this valley and of Old Baldy is available on State Road 87, about three miles northwest of here.

The idea came to her from reading of a similar installation in New Hampshire, near the village of Rindge, and which has begun to attract national attention. An article with pictures appeared in the recent Sunday magazine supplement, Parade, in the El Paso Times and other newspapers across the nation. Other magazines also have carried stories and pictures of the New Hampshire attraction. The cathedral is simplicity in itself, with a masonry altar, a cross on the altar in stone, and a cross on the pulpit. Since it will be first built there have been additions to the original Cathedral of the Pines by those desiring to establish memorials, such as a flagpole, from which Old Glory flies, flower beds, shrubs, etc. She suggests the spot should be studied by a landscape artist and the proposed installation follow such an expert's plan.

Cost of the project should not be more than $1,000—and it can be used for many special occasions, such as Memorial Day services, Easter Sunrise services, etc. It can be used by all denominations. For instance, one at Rindge has had ministers of 38 different denominations conduct services. People of all creeds, colors and all walks of life from all parts of the world could visit there—an estimated 60,000 a week now stop at the Cathedral of the Pines.

It started with only a cross and has grown as a lectern, pulpit, baptismal font, choir mound, an electric organ and a rustic boundary fence have been added. Some of the additions were memorials—some for whole crews of lost submariners.

Countless civic, fraternal, patriotic and youth organizations have held religious and public programs there. It is to be designated shortly as a national monument. She has been so encouraged from her discussion with several here over its possibilities that she says she would like to hear further from others who might want to assist in such a project—and suggests that donations for same could be sent through the Ruidoso News. She is hoping to have volunteer help, too, in planning and supervising its construction. A sketch of the one in New Hampshire will appear in the Ruidoso News in a few days. Date Buckner, Lubbock advertising agency owner, was here staying in his summer cabin last week-end. The Weldon Garner family is vacationing in Colorado.

DOWN BETTING PASSES $5 MILLION TOTAL

Ruidoso Downs cracked the $5 million dollar mark in the first race Labor Day, Monday, to set an all-time high for pari-mutuel handle in the pine-surrounded oval on Highway 70. When the total for the gigantic Labor Day weekend, Saturday, Sunday and Monday, was topped up stood at a neat $5,189,904.00. Sunday's card ended exactly $2,250 short of the five million—at $4,997,750—and as the betting windows closed on the first race Monday, the new high record had been reached. That figure was racked up in 37 days of racing, with two more to go this weekend. Total last year in 32 days was $4,284,868. The last week-end of racing brings out a well-balanced field of quarter horses throughbred races featuring the "Ruidoso Consolation Handicap" for quarter horses and the "Hensley's Horse-shoe Purse" for thoroughbreds at Ruidoso Downs Saturday and Sunday, concluding the 1956 meet. The vastly improved horse, King Lad, attempts to carry the heaviest load at the meet with the burden of 180 pounds in the Consolation Handicap Saturday. Doll Up, winner of four at the present meet, should furnish strong contention along with Breeding Johnny, Breeding Johnny, owned by Elmer Henley, a favorite at the Downs and could outrun this band. Also to run is Nettie Lou, Easter Rose, Flight Deck, Little Nippy and Skippy's Baby. The eleventh and feature race Saturday is named in honor of the Secretary-Treasurer of Ruidoso Downs, Mr. Gene Henley. The Henley's Horse-shoe Purse brings together a field of the top thoroughbreds on the grounds to go the distance of five and one half furlongs. Princess Margo gave indications of returning to her best form and should have no trouble in turning back the field. Monday War will be ridden by the current sensation of the looney wheel at Ruidoso Downs, Bruce Brinkley, and should prove to be tough in this field. Chaparrita gifted with a world of early speed, could have a upset the field by beating out the field in Deported Eye, Beau Tidaloria, Little Lolly and Good Medicine.

THE SILVER LINING

By Daniel A. Storm

Editor's Note: How serious is a college youth's thoughts upon returning to "the halls of ivy?" Paul Matthews, young printer for the Ruidoso News this summer, put some of his ideas on paper—and they fit very well in the vein of writing of our columnist, Dan Storm. Dan says for us to let him use this column once this week.

"The Call of Democracy"
 And so comes the end of another summer and some of us will be going back to school. Some for the first time and some of us will be returning to our old stumping grounds. Whichever it will be, we must be ready and willing to help out where and whenever we are called on.

Our inheritance as American citizens is the priceless treasure of liberty and democracy. We have the advantage of living in a comparatively new country—a country of social equality, of personal freedom, and of unlimited opportunity; but liberty is always bought on the installment plan, and every generation must pay its payment. As college students, we realize that within a few years the task of keeping America strong will fall upon the shoulders of today's youth; and the world today is in a critical condition. Never before has our nation faced so great a crisis. Parents are confused; teachers are perplexed; congressmen and statesmen disagree; military personnel argue as to the size of the armed forces and the speed of mobilization. Authority is being questioned, old modes of life are being replaced by new and unfamiliar ones, and the world is on our doorstep. We have no authority to which we can turn for the security and order we so much desire. We have only ourselves and our God.

We, the younger generation, must build for ourselves the framework of a greater world. We must keep America strong in order that she may lead the world into peace.

How can we strengthen and sustain our nation? We can do it through loyalty and devotion and patriotism; and if we would be true patriots, we must make our lives worthwhile.

All of us, perhaps, have a desire for greatness; but truly great people never follow the crowd. Instead, they blaze new trails, always pushing onward in the pioneer spirit. We can leave no footprints for the future if we travel the beaten path; the footprints which will be remembered are those that lead, perhaps, into uncharted territory. When our frontiers were open, men went west for new opportunities; now, that a day of spreading out, we must go deeper.

We must show greater initiative and perseverance than ever before. The frontiers have not changed; they have merely changed their form. In order to face these new frontiers courageously, we must keep our individuality. We must learn to investigate every side of every question. We must train ourselves to question everything and accept nothing at face value until we have proved to ourselves its worth. We must learn to adapt our surroundings to ourselves, and never to adapt ourselves to the world. The only reason the United States is the leading nation in the world today is that her people have accepted and improved existing conditions. If George Washington, facing a large and well-trained British army with a poorly-led, scattered force of American patriots, had given in to public opinion and surrendered his forces, how different would be the history of our nation? If early inventors, such as Fulton, Edison, and the Wright brothers, had been dismayed by the jeers of their fellow citizens and their own doubts in the world might have few of today's time-saving inventions. Hundreds and thousands of such examples could be given, and all would have one central theme—a strongly individual personality, breaking away from custom and convention to find higher paths of service.

In order to achieve success as individuals, and thus as a nation, we must have a singleness of purpose to make, not only a living, but a life. In this hurried world of ours we run the risk of becoming over-aimed by speed that we don't have time to consider direction. Then, too, we are apt to become so engrossed in trivialities that we narrow the scope of our thinking. The foremost need of America today, I believe, is citizens who are tolerant—citizens who face life with an open mind. Too many of us have forgotten that all men are created free and equal—that new ideas are not necessarily wrong, or absolutely true. How much greater this nation could be if the squabbles and disputes among the various religious, racial, and social groups could be settled, once and for all. But the only way to achieve this goal is to develop in our own mind a sense of tolerance and a regard for the dignity of mankind.

All of these things are important; but one thing is lacking,

Four Girl Guides From Britain Visit Playground Of Southwest

 On Friday, Aug. 17, representatives from the Ruidoso Senior Girl Scout Troop entertained the four Girl Guides from Great Britain, on a good will tour of the United States. The four girls, named are 17 years of age, Miss Robinson is 18.

The young ladies from Great Britain were a part of a caravan of 35 Senior Girl Scouts from the British Isles, on a good will tour of the United States, sponsored by the National Council of Girl Scouts of America. The four visiting in Ruidoso were assigned to this council for the American tour.

The entire party sailed from Southampton, England, June 19 and upon arriving in the U. S. were divided into groups to visit the various areas of Scouting. The party assigned to the Southwestern New Mexico area visited every unit in the area. The week they visited Ruidoso, they were in the area where the spring wheat first did such spectacular damage. At lunch, a picnic was spread at the camp area on Cedar Creek. In the afternoon, the entire group visited the New Mexico Crippled Children's Camp, convened at Carrizo Lodge. Here, the Girl Scout units of the area, the club members, a suitable program. The outstanding feature was a Scottish Sabre Dance performed by the overseas visitors.

Finally, Ranger Fred Sweatnam directed them on a tour on Monday.

Girl Scouting in Ruidoso has grown considerably in the past two years, and now has a membership of over 400. This year, plans are being worked out for a large increase in membership and service to the young ladies in the Ruidoso area through Girl Scouting. The Ruidoso area includes Hollywood and Green Tree.

Program For Year Is Outlined At Meet Of B. & P. W. Club

Members of the Business & Professional Women's Club met last Wednesday at the home of Pearl W. Carter to outline the program for the year.

Suzanne Pitts presided and asked the group for additions or suggestions to be submitted to the club at any time.

The first meeting Sept. 17 will be at 8 p. m. at Mrs. Edith Johnson's residence.

Inez Bonal, program leader on membership, will be in charge. The club president requires all members to be present and all business women are invited to attend.

Dr. Collins Observes 88th Birthday

Dr. and Mrs. T. M. Collins of Ruidoso and Big Spring celebrated the doctor's 88th birthday with a few friends on hand, and a barbecue luncheon at Old Smokey Bar-B-Q Pit last Sunday, Sept. 2.

None of the couple's children were present due to business, school and distance, but friends on hand included Mrs. O. T. Arnold, Homer Johnson and sister, Mrs. Lois Garland, all of Big Spring, and Mrs. and Mrs. Claude Whitlock, Ruidoso.

Dr. and Mrs. Collins will be leaving soon for their home in Big Spring and a warmer climate.

WRATTEN RETURN

Dr. and Mrs. V. E. Wratten have returned to their cabin on the upper Ruidoso after having spent two weeks on the West Coast where they visited Disneyland, then up the coast to the redwood forests, returning via Death Valley and the Hoover Dam. Mrs. Wratten, who is quite a souvenir collector, was presented a white kitten at Santa Rosa, Calif. The kitten's playfulness and antics enlivened the return trip, they report.

Mrs. Pauline Sjator returned to her home in Odesa this week after spending the summer here.

Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Johnson are moving to Texas from here.

and without it, life would be meaningless. That is, of course, the joy and hope with which we must fill our lives. The most loyal American, the most conscientious Christian, can live a full life if he lives joyfully. America has never been a nation of long faces; let's not change that trend. If we face the problems of tomorrow with a light heart—with hope and joy based on faith in God and service to our country—nothing is impossible.

A REAL COOL DESSERT!

JEAN PORTER
 Cool, refreshing desserts are the perfect answer to any meal. With the tree-ripened peaches in abundance now, you can make desserts that are completely out-of-the-world. This Lemon-Peach Chiffon Pie, we know, will get special acclaim and will please the eye as well as the taste.

Lemon-Peach Chiffon Pie
 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
 1/2 cup cold water
 5 eggs, separated
 1 cup C and H pure Cane Granulated Sugar
 1/2 cup lemon juice
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 1 cup finely chopped (or mashed) fresh peaches
 1 baked 9-inch pie shell

Soften gelatin in cold water; set aside. Put egg yolks in saucepan or top of double boiler and beat slightly. Add half the sugar; continue beating until well mixed. Stir in lemon juice. Cook on medium heat or over boiling water until thick, stirring constantly. Add softened gelatin and stir until dissolved. Remove from heat. Cool. Add salt to egg whites and beat until stiff, but not dry. Gradually add remaining 1/2 cup sugar and beat until very stiff; set aside. Peel and chop very fine enough fresh ripe peaches to make 1 cup. Stir into cooled lemon gelatin mixture and then gently fold in egg whites. Carefully pile into baked pie shell. Chill until firm. Just before serving top with whipped cream and garnish with sliced fresh peaches.

"THERE IS NO MOMENT LIKE THE PRESENT"

Your future health can be good or bad, depending on what you are doing now to protect it. If, when illness strikes, you delay seeking the skilled advice of your physician, you expose yourself to complications that later in your life may torment you.

Nature sends you pain or discomfort to warn you that something is wrong. Self treatment drugs that temporarily relieve that pain or discomfort, may hide a trouble that can become serious. Be wise. At the first sign of illness get your physician's advice and let him treat the real cause of your trouble.

God commendeth His love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us. (Romans 5:8).

One of the greatest social reformers was Lord Shaftesbury of England. He fought for the emancipation of the factory worker, the miner, and the chimney sweep of the nineteenth century. His concern was for the children who were forced into labor. His heroic fight is one of the noblest chapters in the story of man's struggle for freedom.

He was asked on one occasion in the House of Lords why he was so concerned with such people. He replied, "I have undertaken this task because I regard the objects of-it as being created like our-

PROGRESSIVE BUSINESS AND CIVIC-MINDED PEOPLE OF ALAMOGORDO AND VICINITY

This department has been worked up largely as a reflection of public opinion. No person has written of themselves on their business. All articles have been compiled by a representative of the Ruidoso News as they are. These people are leaders in their various lines of endeavor and the co-operation of these citizens in Alamogordo who helped make this department possible is sincerely appreciated.

Earl and Lucille Earp

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Earp of the Alamogordo Hotel, and the Southwestern Music Company, are two of those progressive type of citizens upon whom the community depends for a great deal of its leadership in business or other matters. They are also civic-minded and have, in the past, no doubt will continue in the future to give more of their time and energy for the welfare of others than themselves. They are the kind of people who make friends and acquaintances once formed by them are never broken by an unfriendly act on their part, and they spare no efforts in order that their services to the surrounding area shall be more dependable.

Joe and Maurine Bowlin

We desire in this Alamogordo review to call the attention of our readers to the work of a couple which Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bowlin have reached in the business life of the city. They are progressive and have a long record of service to the community. They have been successful in their business and have many personal friends as well as having earned the good will of their associates for the past several years. They have conducted their business affairs.

William Boynton & J. M. Barbero

Due to the efforts of a group of wide awake business and professional men, the city of Alamogordo has attained a dominant position in the commercial life of this section of the state. And two of the men who have earned credit for being progressive members of that group are William Boynton, the owner and operator of the City Merchant Patrol, with offices throughout the state, and J. M. Barbero, the District Manager of the Younger generation who are business is recognized through New Mexico. And their furtherance of civic activities and support of those organizations whose main objectives are directed along lines of civic betterment and community progress is well known to their immediate associates.

Irvin A. Menger

To those progressive business men who have also taken a part in civic affairs we owe a debt of gratitude that we very often find difficult to repay. However, we can do so in part by publicly acknowledging their many services and we take this opportunity to pay a brief tribute to Irvin A. Menger of the "Menger Agency" who is also Executive Vice President of the Alamogordo Federal Savings & Loan Association. In doing so we express the sentiment and feelings, not only of the community, but also those people who have been actively associated with him in business or civic affairs. Mr. Menger's line is almost wholly occupied by his own affairs. Yet there has never been an occasion when he has been called upon by the people of Alamogordo and vicinity to assist some civic project, that he has not responded with the best of his ability and energy to further that project. This he has frequently sacrificed his personal interests to promote some worthy cause.

Weldon O. Wade and Jim Wilson

Two of the more progressive business men of Alamogordo who deserve the respect and good will of a great many residents of the city are capable, energetic, Weldon O. Wade and Jim Wilson of the Alamogordo Sheet Metal Works, whose wide knowledge and long experience in the sheet metal contracting business have raised them into positions of prominence in their line.

Harold Guthrie & Virgil Nappier

It is because of the unflinching optimism and faith which they so prominently display toward the future of Alamogordo and vicinity that we are prompted to call the attention of our readers to the work of Harold Guthrie and Virgil Nappier of the Alamogordo Taxi Cab Service, Inc. Like the Limousine Taxi Cab Company, perform in the successful conduct of their business.

B. A. Vinson Sr. & Jr., & Sam Vinson

When a city like Alamogordo has gained recognition for being progressive centers for many square miles of the surrounding country, it is because of the foresight of those men of earlier days who had the vision to realize the possibilities of their city and who also had the ability to carry out that vision. It is the fulfillment of that vision, and Sam and B. A. Vinson Sr., are two men who belong in that category.

P. B. and Jimmie Hendricks

When a man gains recognition for the progressive and straightforward manner in which he has managed his business affairs and also for his generous contributions to civic projects, he is to be commended for his achievements. A man belonging to the younger generation who is carrying on so ably in the footsteps of their fathers. And one who certainly deserves such credit is James Hendricks who now shoulders his full share of responsibility in the management of the real estate business established by his father. It is because of the efforts of such men that, year after year, Alamogordo continues to grow and prosper and to become an even better place in which to live.

Cecil Covey

Cecil Covey, the manager of The Food Mart, is a man of the highest respect and good will of the people of Alamogordo and the surrounding country for the progressive manner in which he has kept the Food Mart in the forefront of the business and civic life of this city. He is a man of the highest character and friendly willingness; he has displayed in accepting his share of responsibility in aiding civic projects.

Al Rowland

Al Rowland has proved his progressiveness by constantly adding to the services of the city which the Alamogordo Courts Service has extended to the people. The large volume of business handled by his Texaco station proves that "service" to him, is not "just a word" but something to be rendered to the motoring public to the highest extent of his ability.

Evelyn McBride

A restaurant operator of Alamogordo who has based her success upon the belief that the good, well prepared and appetizing served, is Evelyn McBride of the Seventy-Six Cafe, whose many friends and customers by their daily patronage of her popular eating place, attest to the soundness of her policy.

J. I. Miller

J. I. Miller, who just a few months ago assumed the management and operation of the Alamogordo Maytag Appliance Center in Alamogordo, quite readily demonstrated his unusual ability by his quickness to appreciate the obligations and responsibilities of his new endeavor and to conduct his affairs accordingly.

Lonnie L. Anderson

In making this review of progressive Alamogordo business men, it is fitting that we should not overlook an individual word of praise for being more than just successful. He is a consistent and enthusiastic booster of the community, and in his way has done much to advertise the city.

N. N. McCrary

The progress of any community hinges to a great extent upon the activities of its progressive men in the world of business. This is as true in this locality as in any other sector and local leaders are to be congratulated for their part in the general advancement of this section of New Mexico. And one of the more progressive businessmen of Alamogordo who should thus be congratulated is N. N. McCrary of the Alamo Lumber & Supply Company, who is widely known and universally liked.

John and Betty Goetter

In singling out some of the more progressive business people of Alamogordo, we would be censored should we fail to include Mr. and Mrs. John and Betty Goetter of the Gregg Trailer Court. They are two people who have earned credit for themselves in their participation in both the business and civic activities of the city.

Elmo K. Dale

To serve the motoring public honestly, efficiently, and cheerfully is the basic foundation many progressive business men of Alamogordo have found to be the shortest route to success. In making this statement, the man we have in mind is Elmo K. Dale of the Sande Motel. The popularity and patronage enjoyed by his many services accentuates the ideals of courtesy and efficiency which he has consistently applied in the management of the motel and in the servicing of its patrons.

J. L. and Jess Hudman

J. L. and Jess Hudman of the Rocket City Service, have well-earned reputations for progressiveness because they have consistently forged ahead in their business, never letting up in their efforts to make the service they render to the people more valuable. This invariable policy has made the Rocket City Service, outstanding in its field, a fact that is well known to the public in the Alamogordo area.

Albert "Al" Guebara

In compiling this review of progressive Alamogordo business men, we have endeavored to select those men who have distinguished themselves and their businesses, have earned for their position of leadership in their various fields of activities. Such a man is Albert "Al" Guebara of Al's Grocery & Market, who is well known and has many friends and customers throughout this entire district.

H. A. Thomas

It is appropriate that we include in this review of progressive Alamogordo business men, H. A. Thomas of the Service Grocery & Market, who has many friends and business associates throughout this entire area. Furthermore, he is a man who is not only progressive, but also the added one of being a willing supporter of many community affairs, when time permits him to take an active part.

Earl L. Shannon

Every progressive and successful business man in Alamogordo contributes in some manner to the growth and progress of the city. And a man who is always willing to give of his time and energy to business activities is Earl L. Shannon of the Henry Thygesen & Company, who is well known and has many friends and business associates throughout the entire area.

La Velle Hoket

A city grows and prospers by reason of the public-spirited men and women who take an active part in its development. Alamogordo has its share of these progressive and civic-minded people, and one who is deserving of recognition is La Velle Hoket of the Diamond L Trailer Court.

Wayne Luttrell

Logically a man who has served the community of Alamogordo in the position of a business leader and civic leader, Wayne Luttrell of the Luttrell Truck Company, who has many friends and business associates throughout this entire district.

Fay Walker

In critical times such as these, it takes business men of more than average ability to carry on their operations successfully. In making this statement, we have selected those men who have distinguished themselves and their businesses, have earned for their position of leadership in their various fields of activities.

A. L. Anderson

It is not always the kind of a business which determines its importance to the community. But, more or less, the methods used in its management. The services rendered to the public. And the way in which it meets both business and civic obligations.

Youths From North And East Aid Missionary Work Among Navajos

(Editor's Note: Youths of several states in the North and East, for a summer project, came to New Mexico and assisted ministers, nurses and doctors in administering to the Navajo Indians in the northwestern part of this state. The Rev. Eugene Botelho, director of the Episcopal San Juan Mission, which receives mail out of Farmington, sends a mimeographed report on the mission on the occasion of contributors and his most recent bulletin was written by one of the youths who helped at the mission. The report should prove interesting to anyone, regardless of church affiliation.)

Although not all of us arrived at the same time, we all entertained approximately the same thoughts as we approached the place that was to be "home" for the summer. We were filled with wonder at the sights we beheld, and not quite calm in administering to us—could we fulfill our job?—Were we worthy of such an undertaking? Now that the summer is half over we still have these questions but their heaviness has been lightened by the understanding and patience of all those who direct us, Miss Huff, Father Hartman, and Father Botelho. And also there is Mrs. Botelho, Father's mother, lovingly called "Mom" who is always there—a firm foundation, feeding and caring for us in her waiting calm manner.

At this point we are all "full." "Full" not only with "Mom's" excellent cooking, but also with the excitement of all the new doors that have been thrown wide open for us. "Full" with overflowing excitement at the beauty of the desert, the crimson sunsets bathing the desert in search of a little nourishment. All these things we see and drink into our inner selves.

Yes, this summer has been an education, and we are learning, aside from the routine jobs, how in order that we might see a few of the monuments of this "land of enchantment."

Our first trip was to Aztec. Here we saw what was left of a Pueblo Indian city. We were stumped with wonder when we realized how very advanced these people were. It was exciting to walk through their city, knowing that many years ago they had carried on their life functions from the very place we were standing.

Next we visited Mesa Verde. Here we saw a different kind of ruin. These Indians had lived in houses or dwellings, as they are called, built into caves. To our eyes they seemed to be especially advanced. The dwellings, some of which were two stories high, and always divided into rooms, and always each dwelling contained a kiva or two in order that they have a place close by to carry on the religious ceremonies which were so much a part of their lives. We salute you Cliff Dwellers!

We went through Shiprock Boarding School for the Navaho. It is a beautifully planned school containing all the modern equipment anyone could dream of. To this modern establishment the Navaho children, with little or no understanding of English or how the white man lives, go. One wonders at the influence these signals have on a little child straight from the primitive surroundings of a hogan. Here the child is thrown with six hundred other children after having been used to seeing only his family and a few occasional friends who drop in. When the simple, innocent mind of a child is presented with all these wonders, what must he think?—factly would not we ourselves be a trifle bewildered?

Another trip was to Silverton. Silverton, as we learned, is an old mining town. It can't be called a ghost town for a few people live there but it is quite deserted. As you walk down the streets you see many of the original buildings making it very interesting. We were all impressed at the beauty of the country as we drove from Farmington to Silverton. (We had planned to take the narrow gauge railroad from Durango but we were unable to secure tickets.) It was very refreshing to see actual forests and lakes after the endless stretches of sand and tumble weed.

Aside from daily trips there is of course the daily routine that is an always exciting adventure. There is the recreation program at St. Michael's during which time we have a chance to meet and get to know some of the children as we play games with them. There is always the fun of finding out how differently they think and trying to place yourself in their moccasins.

For two weeks two Bible schools were carried on—one in Fruitland at St. Michael's and the other at St. Michael's Trading Post, which is about thirty miles from "home." The group was split, half going to St. Luke's the first week and the others remaining at "home" to carry on the St. Michael's Bible School. At the end of the week we traded places. Both experiences were interesting but perhaps the adventure at St. Luke's the first week was a little more unusual. Every morning two of us were dropped at each hogan and from then on it was up to us. At this moment the question which arose in most of our minds was again—were we worthy? Often the people we were assigned to talk to were still out herding their sheep, so we would sit under their shade trying to calm the butterflies that were flying around inside us. At last the family would return and very often we would discover they spoke no English. Many of us were lucky enough to have at least one member of our group who could speak a little English. At night we were given instruction for the next day's adventure and every day was a new adventure. We even had the experience of hiking miles across the desert in the middle of the day looking for help to pull the station wagon out of sand. All in all the summer was one never to be forgotten. The things we all felt can best, yet inadequately, be summed up in the statement that all of us would like to have stayed.

The next week the groups switched, and the group that had been at St. Luke's during the first week, was home again, going each one to his hogan to carry on with orange juice and sandwiches. Here we held Bible School in a more formal manner. We had more materials for teaching, making it easier. Most of us felt that our experiences at the hogan stood us in good stead as we again faced a group of children wondering if we might be able to give them a little something—a little knowledge of what our love of God means to us and that inspire them to seek Him out for themselves. True success was a familiar feeling but once again the staff is there to try the right thing at the right moment and to point out to us that even if we have given them just a taste, that is much better than nothing at all.

Some have indicated in past days that we have a chance to help out under the weekend and patient care of the people, who have also been to see our friends. Some have been given a very carry home with a very good and we will be glad to see you all again.

though they may not speak English, seem to be cheered by our presence and somehow to know that here is a friend. There was the beloved Snickie-Fritz, a teen-month old baby, who often came over to amuse and to be amused. Snickie-Fritz is now in a foster home and all our thoughts go with him and our prayers that he will have a good home.

In the hospital there is a chapel, small and beautiful in its simplicity. Here every afternoon at five-thirty the summer family gathers for even song. One of the boys leads the service except on Wednesday when Father Botelho says the Litany with us. On Wednesday evenings at seven-thirty there is a service called Intercession. In this service we ask for God's help in making us better people and ask that He be with all sick and troubled people everywhere to give them courage to bear their burden. Also every morning at seven Holy Communion is celebrated. In these services one senses a definite feeling of oneness within the family.

As in any organization there are always the unexpected things that happen. When the grave digger is not available the boys pitch in and dig. And there are the times when we hear the now too familiar groaning of the pressure pump which always sends the boys charging up the hill to look into the water tanks and to return to say—"We are out of water!" As a result water must be hauled in from town and we measure how much we use almost with a teaspoon, always keeping in mind that the hospital needs it much more than we do. Just now the boys are down in the tanks trying to clean them out, before water is hauled from town. Every time Father Botelho buys groceries for us, the delivery boys ask—"Is Father running a restaurant?" Eleven people from the Youth Group in Santa Fe came to spend the night and to look the situation over. They slept in or should I say on, every available space. We all went up to the mess for a campfire that night, which as luck would have it, was perfectly beautiful. The next day they returned to Santa Fe after a service at St. Luke's.

When we consider the visitors who come to the Mission—individuals, families, groups—we understand why the Navaho boys call the house Father Botelho's Motel. But all are welcomed—whether they are children temporarily abandoned and homeless or whether they be travelers passing through the Southwest. The latch-string is out for you, too.

Also there were Mr. and Mrs. Morgan and their two children, Pat and Jimmie. They were here for about three weeks during which time they lent many a helping hand and served as chaperones for the groups who went out to St. Luke's for Bible School. Much of the maintenance here at St. Luke's is done by Mr. Morgan during his stay. Before we came and again during August, young people from the diocese of New Mexico will work at the Mission, too.

Also pleasant was the surprise party for Miss Turnbull, who has been working at the Mission for twenty-five years. There was decorated cake and best of all—the people to whom she has endeared herself during many years of an unflinching service. There was also the excitement of Bishop Kinsolving a visit in July at which time many were baptized, confirmed, and the fifth anniversary of the consecration of St. Michael's Chapel was celebrated.

As for the people who make up this happy and we pray, prosperous summer family, they are all wonderful. Each has something to give and each gives willingly of his talent. We have fun and lots of it. There are the Friday night campfires up on the mesa and the walks and climbs over the hills. There are many laughs especially when Bill and Gil turn monkey and put on a floor show. Why "Sho-o-r-re."

There are also the Indian boys who live with Father and the other Indian children who are always around. Each has wormed his way into our hearts where he will remain always—unforgotten because he is unforgettable.

These experiences while they lose something when put into words, are engraved in all of us. We can never forget. The beautiful simplicity of the nature surrounding us gives us food for thought. When we see how the Shepherd has provided for all His sheep we wonder why man continues to strive for the unwholesome things in life, and when we gaze at the beauty of a sunset or a moonlit night we wonder how man, when he could feast his eyes on such beauty, can continue to try to make a device which will blot all his kind from the face of the home God has given us.

We are grateful for such an opportunity and pray that we will be given strength and courage to do our job to the best of our ability. We pray that God will "speak to us and then through us."

If your child rebels at doing his homework, the cause may be tired eyes, due to poor lighting. Try using a 150-watt bulb in his study lamp and watch how his attitude toward his work improves. The lamp should be tall enough to spread light over the work area and properly shaded to conceal the light source. A diffusing bowl is recommended to soften the light and prevent glare. There should be some general room lighting, too, to prevent eye-tiring contrasts of bright light and deep shadows.

THE PARABLE
Therefore speak I to them in parables; because they seeing see not; and hearing they hear not, neither do they understand.
(St. Matthew 13:13)

THE PARABLE is the basis of all religious education. From infancy through adult life we learn spiritual truths only as they are interpreted for us in terms of every-day experience.

OUR CHURCHES follow the example of the Greatest Teacher. Simple precepts or more complex doctrines are brought to us in vivid illustration. Lessons, sermons, hymns—even church architecture and ritual—are full of human narrative, word pictures or traditional symbolism to help us grasp and apply God's truth.

SPIRITUAL MATURITY must come to us through the effective teaching and practical guidance our churches provide. Our souls cannot grow simply by seeing a church on the corner, or hearing folks talk about religion. Worshipping and learning every Sunday, we will understand Christian truth in living terms and use our understanding to serve God and man.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor in the building of character and good citizenship. It is a schoolhouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church: (1) For his children's sake. (2) For the sake of his community or nation. (3) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. (4) To go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Visitors Increase At Gran Quivira

Visitors to Gran Quivira National Monument during the month of August totaled 1,078 persons in 371 vehicles, representing an increase of 59 percent over the same month last year, according to Superintendent Channing Howell. The camp grounds were used by 281 picnickers and campers.

As one of the best known of the early Franciscan mission chain in New Mexico, Gran Quivira, in its preservation for present and future generations, signals a great and memorable era of American history. The national monument contains the ruins of 18 Indian dwellings and ruins of two mission churches. The Indian village, originally known as "The Village of the Humanoes" was founded about 1300 A. D. The Spanish missionaries chose this village for their mission because it was the largest village in the area. The first mission church, San Isidro, was built by Father Letrado in 1629. Construction of the larger mission church, San Buenaventura, was started in 1659 by Father Santander. The Indian village and the missions were abandoned about 1675 because of frequent attacks by the Apache Indians. The missions and Indian ruins were rediscovered by Benjamin Wilson in 1835. The national monument was established on Nov. 1, 1909.

There is no admission charge to visit the national monument; it is located approximately in the geographical center of the state and can be reached by traveling north on Highways 64 and 10 from Carrizozo, or south on Highway 10 from Mountainair.

LAFF And You'll Live Longer

A second floor tenant called the party below and shouted, "If you don't stop playing that blasted saxophone I'll go crazy."
"I guess it's too late," came the reply. "I stopped an hour ago."
Tom: "Say, Bill, how did you get that swelling on your nose?"
Bill: "Oh, I bent down to smell a rose in my garden."
Tom: "You mean a rose don't you? There's no 'b' in rose."
Bill: "There was in this one."
A woman calling the music shop

dialled the wrong number. A man answered and the woman thinking it was the music shop asked, "Do you have 'Eyes of Blue,' and 'Love Me Too'?"
"Why, no ma'am," answered the man. "I have a wife and 12 children and four sets of twins."
"Is that a record?" the woman asked.
"I'm sure, but I think so," said the man.

Letter To The Editor

Whose Can We Get? "Amesbury, The Land of the Free and The Home of the Brave, home of my ancestors, keeper of my destiny. What is to become of my people?"

This is the silent cry in the heart of many an American Indian. This was very forcefully brought to my attention recently by one of the kindest ladies I have ever had the privilege of meeting. I shall call her Mrs. X. She is gentle, well educated, widely traveled and well known and respected in her community. She has raised a family and is a prominent member of the Methodist Church and a very active worker in civic affairs. She is an Indian. Her heart was heavy with concern for her fellow countrymen, and she talked with me at some length about their plight. She made it specifically clear that she was NOT looking for sympathy, only justice. I could write a book on different incidents she mentioned about how the Indian people are discriminated against right here. One incident particularly remained in my mind. Mrs. X had some very prominent guests from another state recently and took them to a leading restaurant in Ruidoso for dinner. After she and her guests were seated, the hostess came back to their table and very pointedly asked Mrs. X if she were Mexican. (Mrs. X feels that it isn't a person's race that counts so much as the ability to conduct himself so that anyone for meals will know how proud he is to be a member of that race.) Needless to say, the dinner was ruined and Mrs. X very humiliated in front of her friends. She is very proud, and justly so, of being an American Indian. If these people were unable to serve Mexican and Indian people why didn't they have a sign to that effect displayed outside their establishment and Mrs. X would have taken her guests elsewhere?

Fellow citizens, WHERE CAN THEY GO? After all, this was originally THEIR country. People from other countries come to America and are treated with the utmost respect. The American Indian has no place to go. This is his home. Of course we find ignorant, illiterate people among them just as we do in all races. Why do we malign, belittle and judge the whole Indian race because of this? Why make them feel inferior? I, for one, feel that we should be proud of them and something should be done to help them rise above the depressing position some of them hold in American society. Ruidoso is chiefly tourist country, and our Indians could be a drawing card. Let's be thankful to them and remember, "We are ALL white under the skin." (Name Withheld).
