Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Halst took me on a tour of their fine new business building and home they have been working on themselves for the last four years. They have a one-range "do-it-yourself" project there—hoping to have it completed in about ten years. One of the features is a magnificent, long and large studio for their art work. Interior design and even the exterior is planned so that columns, stairways, etc. can be used as props in pictures they may take. Glass brick, round corners, circular fluorescent lighting tubes and other modern building ideas have been incorporated in the structure, which the Halsts are quite proud of. "When we get it finished we are going to stage an open house to be heard about 'round the country,'" Mrs. Halst stated.

Odorless Cleaners this week joined Gateway Food Market in giving Prudential Savings Stamps.

We've seen proofs of the color reproduction plates for the Carson-Pictorial Ruidoso and they are something out of this world. The magazine will be out early in '57 and what we like about it most is that although it's almost twice the size of the one he published a few years ago, it will still be the same—52¢. That's the way to battle inflation, boy. Incidentally, the final proofs went to the printer in Aurora, Mo., this week, Phil said.

Comes a note from Roy and Butch Anderson down in Guaymas, Mexico, saying they are enjoying fishing and visiting with the Ruidoso vacationers there. Dr. and Mrs. D. E. Snyder and Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Anderson are also mentioned. The Andersons were busy during a big fish dinner for all of them. We're catching lots of fish as usual, she says, and then adds: "We miss all our friends up there."

A note from the Andersons says "Today we caught 156 kilo of fish—about 350 fish—Roy Anderson will swear to it. Tomorrow we're going to another good fishing spot. Will report later." What are they trying to get me to do—commit just "cause I can't be with 'em?"

The cover of the current November issue of New Mexico Week magazine was painted by John W. Hurd, Jr. It is a reproduction of a full color scene showing a windmill and tank on a ranch in this part of the state. Speaking of cover pictures, Hurd has painted several in the last few months for the well-known Time magazine.

In the postoffice late Monday Mamie Badillo, president of the Band Boosters Club, said she owes $20.00 on the balance for our new band uniforms and we have $288.37 on hand—lacking $2.53. So we handed him the five dollars the Roswell Daily Record sent us for this fund and he said: "Now we have $293.87—a surplus right now of $2.47."

Suzanne Pitts is still telling about what a wonderful trip she and Mr. Pitts made to Guaymas when they visited Ruth and Roy Anderson recently. They managed to pack an ice box full of fish, they report. And, now, they're getting ready to take off for a business tour through West Texas and into Oklahoma. Mrs. R. A. Bennett says she's getting her parents visiting them here from Arkansas about Christmas time. "Hope we have a snow for them," she's praying.

Ruby Buckner says she's glad to see the Rotary Club wants to do something about taking down all the out-of-date candidates' posters on our trees up and down Main Road. Each election year she gets plumb in the candidates for taking our trees for this purpose, and vows she won't vote for anyone who does it wholesale. About the only candidate I can remember who took his placards down after the voting was over was L. S. "Heavy" Drake. Gets a thank you from us for that.

Ecker's Pit Bar-B-Q will close Thanksgiving Day, they told us this week.

Winners of prizes at Baker Pharmacy's third birthday party last week-end included: Travis McMin, camera; Mrs. A. A. Gilliland, Mrs. Frank Best, Edwina Loveta of Glencoe, all an electric blanket each; Mrs. T. A. Blawlock, Sally Christian, L. D. Davis, M. M. Thomlinson of El Paso and James Gayden, each a box of candy. At Tucker's Ruidoso Food Mart, winners of free turkeys were Ruth E. Bach, Mrs. F. B. Davis, Mrs. Graham, Mrs. Perry, Bates, Mrs. Franz Alford, C. D. Weems, Truett Shults, Horace Carter, Virgil Stanley and Ernest R. Blood.

Pack's Drug will offer home folks something free for Thanksgiving and Friday. The Christmas report, with each $1.50 in trade he will give the customer a free quart of his fine home-made ice cream, value 55¢.

The voting precinct of Bonito did itself proud in the last general election—voting 100% of its registration except those who had moved away or were not in the community that day. Congratulations!

Sunday at noon we were dining at the Apache's new Summit Lodge and there was a house full of people.

Postmaster Urges Early Mailing For Christmas

Launching his annual "Mail Early for Christmas" campaign, Postmaster Jack Hull said today that now is the time to prepare and plan the mailing of Christmas cards and gifts. "Get out your Christmas list and be sure you have the full name, street and number, city, zone and state for everyone," he said. "Remember that first-class friends deserve first-class mail and they get it when you use three-cent stamps. Now is the time to lay in a good supply along with plenty of heavy wrapping paper, corrugated cartons and strong cord for your Christmas gift packages. Right now is not too early to start your gifts to the most distant points and try to have them all mailed by the first week in December."

The postmaster said he especially requests that you do not mail all your Christmas cards at the last minute. There are out-of-state addresses should go by Dec. 10 and all others should be in the mail by at least a week before Christmas. "Most important of all be sure that each Christmas card and parcel is clearly and accurately addressed. Your cooperation will make it a merrier Christmas for everyone," he concluded.

SIMMS-MECHAM AGREE TO SET APRIL 2 ELECTION

Gov. John F. Simms announced Friday that he and Gov.-elect Ed Foy that he and Gov.-elect Ed Foy have agreed on calling a special election Tuesday, April 9, 1957, to select the successor to the late U. S. Rep. Antonio M. Fernandez. Their agreement was reached at a personal conference the two held in Simms' office Thursday.

A Ruidoso man was being questioned in the stabbing death of his Las Cruces deer hunting companion Friday night on Capitan Mountain, about 10 miles from Capitan. Ernest Burgess, 53, a rock mason, is in Lincoln County jail, Chief Deputy Sheriff S. M. Gallegos said.

Burgess' son, 13, was held as a material witness Saturday but had returned home Sunday.

An autopsy was to be performed on the slain man, Leo Martin, 31, who was employed at White Sands Proving Ground.

Martin was stabbed to death with a hunting knife about midnight, it is believed.

Martin and Burgess had been on hunting trips together before, Burgess told officers. Burgess said they and Burgess' young son went up Capitan Mountain Wednesday night.

Friday night, according to the account he gave officers, he and Martin had been drinking. An argument developed, according to his account, when Martin asked him to take him to Capitan in his truck to see his (Martin's) wife, who was waiting there until the hunting trip ended.

Burgess told officers he refused. He said he jumped out of the truck and Martin followed him. He told officers Martin then stabbed himself to death.

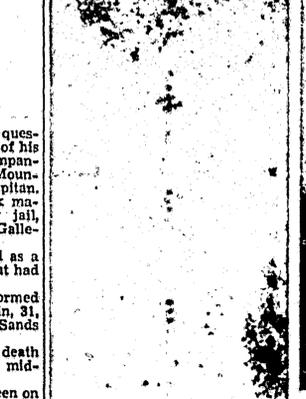

Martin apparently lived for some time, officers believe.

Burgess left his son with the body and rode into Capitan where he telephoned Lincoln County Sheriff Bradley about 1:30 a. m. Saturday. The sheriff, Chief Marshal Ray Province went to the stabbing scene and brought the body and young Burgess to the county jail in Ruidoso.

Monday morning Sheriff Glen Bradley told the Ruidoso News he was to accompany Burgess to Alamo for a lie detector test.

"No hearing has been set at this time," he added, "and likely won't be set until after results of the polygraph test."

A friend close to the family told the News that Burgess had told his wife Martin fell on his knife, which he had been brandishing in the vehicle, as he stepped or stumbled and fell as he got out.

FOR T. V. SERVICE—Two photos here are of the 105-foot tower at the site of the investigation housing the equipment for the new Ruidoso Television Service, Inc., which will be ready shortly after the first of the year to supply local residents with a choice of three network TV programs. Built by Melvin Knox, the tower and equipment have been tested thoroughly, and they receive signals clearly from El Paso, Albuquerque and Roswell. Five miles of cable from the tower throughout the central part of Ruidoso will be installed and television service will soon be available to those areas where it has not been received satisfactorily. Knox has two Texans as partners in the corporation which will operate the TV service system.

Seven Try Out For All-State Band; Two In Choral Group

In the All-State band try-outs in Roswell recently, seven members of the Ruidoso School Band were Barry Swanson, who played a trombone; Jerry Currie, trombone; Ray Dean Carpenter, alto saxophone; Carol Ann Harris, alto saxophone; Ann LeGrand, clarinet; Jane Parrnell, bass clarinet; LeRoy Gooch, school music instructor, said Saturday.

Gooch said out of 900 youngsters trying out for parts in the all-state band, only 475 will be picked on this year. An increase in Albuquerque the last week-end in January next year.

He said Jean Marie Matthews and Dixie Capps had been picked to sing in the all-state choral group, which also will perform in Albuquerque at the same time as the band. They were picked after attending the try-outs in Las Cruces recently.

Bud White Changes To Conoco Products

Bud White Auto Service this week is announcing a change over in petroleum products to Continental Oil Company motor fuels and lubricants. The firm, located in downtown Ruidoso, formerly handled Union 70 products. New pumps and signs proclaiming the change over were to be erected early this week, Owner Bud White said.

Two Movie Stars, Well Known Here, Star In Same Show

Two motion picture stars who have visited in Ruidoso frequently, are teamed in a show, "Dakota Incident," booked for Friday and Saturday this week at the Pueblo Theatre.

Linda Darnell owns a ranch at Tinnie, and has shopped in several of Ruidoso's stores in recent years. The other star, Dale Robertson, owner of a ranch near Stillwater, Okla., has attended numerous racing programs at Ruidoso Downs.

A dramatic story of frontier violence and romance during a furious Indian uprising, "Dakota Incident," is filmed in Trucolor.

"Dakota Incident" is not only a story of action and suspense, but of vital people caught up in a veritable whirlpool of fast-moving, historic events.

A strong romantic triangle forms the nucleus of the plot which revolves around a frontier locality. Any of the players in the dramatic sequences which follow. A third party, Carter Hamilton, portrayed by John Lund, is the cashier tracking down the bank robbers, but nobody is aware of his mission.

And there is Senator Blakely, played by Ward Bond, a smooth-talking politico out of Washington, who is trying to quiet a Dakota Indian uprising with loud-mouthed political tactics.

These four people are brought together at the town of Christian's Flat following an attempted assassination of Banner by his brother Frank.

Then, frontier violence breaks out as Amy, the Senator and John embark in a stage coach for a western outpost, with John driving the horses and the incognito bank cashier riding along with guns loaded, to prevent Banner's escape.

An accident forces the group to embark at a waterhole, already marked with the evidence of Cheyenne Indian attacks and in a protective gully the small group makes its stand, fighting for their lives in a series of tense, dramatic and hard-hitting scenes as the Cheyenne attack. The last Cheyenne, who is spared from death by John Banner, finally loans Amy and John two horses to escape, since they are the only survivors following the carnage. As a result, Amy forgets vengeance and John relinquishes his lawless career for a promising future with Amy.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Starr have returned from a visit on the west coast. Accompanying them here was Miss Edna Pacheco of San Diego.

'Ferdinand' The Bull Is Being Raised In Cage Here

Ferdinand, a week-old Jersey bull, is being raised scientifically as a test here in a cage in Travis Hicks' Lincoln County Feed store. The youngster is being fed Purina's milk which he gets from a nursing bucket. The powdered milk is mixed with water, and is said to have more of the necessary ingredients than the calf's own mother's milk would have. After two months of the processed milk, Hicks said some dry feed would be added to the calf's diet and then at the end of four months, he'll be taken off the milk and fed calf starters. Hicks invited local ranchers and others interested to watch the calf's growth, and also to watch a chart showing the costs of the scientific feeding as the Jersey matures. Hicks brought the calf from Tularosa last week. He added that he might work out a guessing contest in connection with the test, and may award prizes to those guessing nearest the calf's gain in weight, or on the cost of the feeding program.

Perry Brothers Are Well Bidders On Wells In Area

The Perry Brothers, George Lloyd and Don, of Glencoe and Flagstaff, Ariz., were low bidders on two water wells for the city of Alamogordo, they have been informed, and also were low bidders on six test wells at Three Rivers for the Corps of Engineers. The jobs will take about 90 days. At present the brothers are at work drilling five wells for the Navajo Indian reservation near Flagstaff.

More Than 100 Hit Forest Fire In Reservation

More than 100 fire fighters, most of them Mesalero Apache Red Hats, who were joined with members of the Ruidoso, Hollywood and Green Tree volunteer department members, brought a raging forest fire under control within a matter of hours Sunday shortly after the first alarm was sounded that a fire was out of control in the Carrizo community on the reservation at about 10:30 a. m. Sunday.

An estimated 400 acres was damaged by the fire, whipped by a wind of from 30 to 35 miles an hour. Some heavy timber was lost in the area that measured about half a mile wide and a mile long. The fire stopped at the Carrizo community rodeo grounds about six miles south of Ruidoso. Fire fighters contained the blaze within the half mile limit, keeping it from spreading through superhuman efforts.

Paul Clements, reservation forester, was in charge of the campaign, and he said the fire was brought under control at about 4:30 p. m. He was quoted as saying the fire was caused by three small Indian boys who were playing with matches at a settlement a short distance south of Carrizo. Their fun turned into a serious fire when one of the boys lit a match and a high wind whipped the blaze into brush and the woods to the east. Ralph Brown of Brown Air Service flew over the fire on a frequent scouting trips for the fire fighters. Brown said he believed that many men responded quickly in fighting the fire helped prevent it from developing into a very serious conflagration.

Mrs. W. B. Belcher, Roswell, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Carmen Phillips, and doing some deer hunting in the area.

Forest Service Renews Campaign To Push Pinon Christmas Trees

The U. S. Forest Service for the second year straight is urging people of the Southwest to use pinon trees for their Christmas trees instead of spruce, fir or pine. The pinon is just as beautiful as the live evergreen, but it is more readily decorated and is beautiful and the family that secures a pinon instead of any of the other type evergreen tree is doing the country a real service in conservation.

Pinon trees usually grow like weeds on rangeland and many thousands have been destroyed in recent years to aid in improving pasture and to conserve moisture and insure the growth of grasses. The pinon never reaches any great size and it cannot be used in any way except for fuel. It is a native tree and it is one of our evergreen trees and it is one of our native trees.

A note from the Forest Service says that the pinon tree is just as beautiful as the live evergreen, but it is more readily decorated and is beautiful and the family that secures a pinon instead of any of the other type evergreen tree is doing the country a real service in conservation.

Chapel In Pines Proposal Given Check For $25

Mrs. H. M. Graham recently received a check for $25 towards a fund being raised by interested persons here in the construction of a chapel in the pines. A plan for worship prepared among the evergreens on a site beside State Road 37 from Ruidoso to Alto. Articles concerning the project and pictures, too, have been printed in the last few weeks in the Ruidoso News in aid of the project. Further interest in the idea, sponsored by Mrs. Graham and a volunteer committee. The $25 gift will be added to one for $1 given earlier this winter and now on deposit in Ruidoso State Bank until it is needed.

Grade 8-A—Mr. Newton
There were several boys in Mr. Newton's class who went hunting. Carl Wilson killed a 10 point deer weighing 228 pounds. Mr. Newton killed a 6-point deer weighing 100 pounds dressed.

Mr. Newton's class had a math test and three pupils made 100. They were Ronald Weindorf, Jennie Evans and Ann Wilford. The class was very proud of their scores. In history, the class is discussing about having a play on one of the chapters in the history book.

Celedonio Salas broke his leg about three weeks ago. The class will be happy when he is well.

Reporters—Mrs. Hunt, 8-A and 7-A—Mr. Shultz
The school lobby was decorated this week by Virginia Hunt. She drew pictures of the road runner, the state seal, the state flag and other New Mexico symbols. They helped the school's appearance greatly.

We also had some additions to our class room New Mexico display. They were pictures, post cards, a map, and booklets on the White Sands National Park, Aztec Ruins and other places in the state. We have been making reports on

Easy Turkey Dinner for Live-Alones

If you live alone and like it... every day of the year except family holidays... don't feel too sorry for yourself! You may be spending Thanksgiving Day quietly by yourself or with just a few guests, but you can most certainly feast on the traditional Thanksgiving bird.

Come Thanksgiving Day, you'll be giving thanks for those wonderful good, frozen turkey dinners. Each includes generous slices of delicious roast turkey with home-style dressing, rich turkey gravy, whipped sweet potatoes, and buttered green peas. Imagine, after just 25 minutes in a 400° F. oven the entire main course of your Thanksgiving dinner is ready to be enjoyed!

While the frozen dinners heat, slip this Ginger-Grass Cocktail, it's chilled ginger ale poured over seedless grapes; provide toothpicks to spear the fruit. With the dinners, serve Malted Cranberry Salads. (Your grocery has them packaged in small plastic containers, ready to serve. You add a salad greens.) Dessert is pumpkin pie, of course! But see how festive it becomes when made as individual Pumpkin Pie Tarts. We've made our tart filling in a petal shape using enough pastry dough for 2-crust pies.

For Pumpkin Filling, measure 1/2 cup brown sugar; combine half the sugar with one envelope unflavored gelatin; add 1/4 teaspoon salt, dash each of nutmeg, cinnamon, ginger and ground cloves. Beat 1 egg yolk; stir in 1/2 cup evaporated milk (undiluted), 1/2 cup cold water, 1/2 cup canned pumpkin and gelatin mixture. Cook over boiling water, stirring constantly for 10 minutes. Refrigerate mixture, stirring occasionally until thick and syrupy. Beat 1 egg white until almost stiff; slowly add remaining brown sugar, beating until very stiff; fold into pumpkin mixture. Spoon into tart shells and refrigerate until set. Serve with whipped cream topping. Bakes about 8 tart.

MAKE CHAFING DISH SPECIAL

Hope you're having company when you make this delectable turkey-pumpkin dish. You can cook and serve it in a chafing dish or electric table skillet. This is the way: Melt 2 tablespoons butter or margarine; add 1/2 cup chopped onion and 1/2 cup sliced mushrooms. Stir in 3 cans (8-ounce size) boned turkey, 1 can (1 1/2 cups) condensed cream of chicken soup, and 1 small can (about 3-1/2 ounces) crushed pineapple, drained. Cook over low heat for 15 minutes. Serve over hot, fluffy rice to 4 or 5 hungry people.

Home-made candies, cookies, pies, bread and cake will be on sale. A committee to receive the donations for the bazaar and dinner is composed of Iva Coleman, Mrs. Joe McLaurin and Mrs. Cy Leland, Sr.

JANZEN CATCHES BIGGEST TUNA ON BOAT TOUR

The Janzens visited a daughter in San Francisco, and also toured Colorado, Oregon, Utah and Nevada on their junket. They returned last Friday evening after being gone a month.

God's Greatest Gift to Mankind Is His Faith in Humans

Democracy's Stress Of Material Gains By Individual Not Too Different From Communism Promise Of More 'For The People' When Christianity Lost Sight Of

(Editor's Note: Among the many thought-provoking sermons given by the Rev. Charles L. Conder, Episcopal minister in Lincoln County, was one he delivered this month in the three churches in his charge. With his permission, the Ruidoso News has reproduced the sermon below, and we invite your comment.)

God's Faith in Man
 Forty years ago, as a child growing up in the North of England, I will remember looking up from playing in the streets to watch the darkening of the night to search out the distant Zeppelins. And on Saturdays we would climb up to the hills where behind the barbed wire entanglements we could see not only the miraculous lights which could search the heavens, but also the anti-aircraft guns with their searchlights and their lonely outposts hoped to shoot down the enemy.

It seemed miraculous that man could learn to fly. It was an occasion of wonder that he could make a light bright enough to shine up into the sky and beyond the clouds. But the greatest wonder of all to me will always be that man can not only make airplanes and searchlights and anti-aircraft guns, but that he has a mind which is capable of thought and invention and speculation.

Whenever I look up into Heaven on a starry night, and see the North Star and the Milky Way and watch Mars or Venus or Saturn, I am impressed not so much at the vastness of the heavens of which our universe is said to be but a small part, but with the marvelous fact that we tiny human beings can catch the splendor of it all through those miraculous organs we call eyes and relaying the reflections of uncountable numbers of heavenly bodies in millions of miles away to our brains can ponder upon and wonder at the glory of creation.

I am impressed with the Faith which God placed in man when He gave him a mind to think with. When God gave man the power of thought, He stamped him with a likeness to Himself, for thought is the source of creative power. From the first stirrings of man's mind when instead of a crude stick dragged through the soil to make a furrow for the planting of seed, he learned to fashion a crude metal plowshare up to our present development of mechanized farming and factories in the fields, man has been using his mind in creative fashion.

That man has a mind and can subdue the animals, and pry out of the earth her secrets is the result of a great act of faith on God's part.

He might have made us like the animals creatures of instinct. He might have made us like the vegetable world, subservient to natural law without comprehending it. He might have made us like the mineral world, precious but powerless of ourselves. Instead He made us intelligent beings with minds a little like His own, capable of creative effort, capable of reflection and never contented with a thing similar to His own faith in us.

And not only did God's Faith bestow a mind upon Man, but He gave us also a Will to carry out the dictates of the Mind. A mind to think with, without a will to act with would be like an automobile engine running smoothly but never connected by a driving shaft to the wheels. The will is the connecting link between thought and action.

Unless thought affects action it is not very fruitful thought, it becomes day-dreaming and locked up within the mind. It becomes merely a self-centered thing. As God Himself expressed mind and thought through acts of creation, and whole universes came into being at the command of His will so He has dared to believe enough in Man whom He has made by choosing between good and evil, bestowing him with the power of will that man too might express thought in action.

How strong that power is in each of us we well know. Every parent is aware of the will of his child. Every child quickly becomes aware of the will of his parent. The conflict present in all human relationships is the conflict of our wills. One wills this and another wills that and so are produced the irritations and frustrations of life. But the deepest frustrations arise when we will things that are contrary to God's will. The art of being a parent lies not in subduing the will of a child, but in setting such an example of behavior that the child is encouraged to will the things that are good and true and wholesome.

The glory of God is that He does not seek to bow man to His will, but that He has given man free will, and then through the Law and the Prophets and the Gospel and the Church, has thrown around man every encouragement to will of his own free desire, a way of life which, because it is in

That is the crowning glory of God's Creation, that He made a being not only with a mind to think and a will to act, but with a Soul to Love. For it is in Loving that we come closest to God.

When Jesus said "Be ye therefore perfect, as our Father in Heaven is perfect" He was urging His followers not to possess the world nor to rule the world but to fill the world with spirit—the spirit of Love.

It is a caricature of the Christian Gospel which thinks that the Kingdom of God will come by increased congregations and finer buildings and greater, more efficient organizations, unless there is with the growth of numbers, a growth in the practice of love between us and towards all men everywhere.

Often when men talk of the Christian religion they speak of saving souls. What they really mean is that through Christ's giving of Himself in Love upon the Cross for us men and for our salvation, men respond to the purpose of God's Creation, and begin to act in the spirit of true Love.

All of us have been given power to love. Our moment of Salvation comes when that power to love is set free from loving ourselves to an outgoing love—when we begin to love other people, and to love God.

Many years ago I attended a school where some of the students were very boastful of their Christian conversion. I noticed, how-

C. C. Cooke, advisor with Gene Hensley on the various improvements made on the track the last several years, said last week-end that the old track was approximately 24 feet lower on the east end than on the west. He said the east end would have to be built up about 16 feet high and that the west end of the oval would be about eight feet lower than the ground level to keep the entire track on a perfect level. He added that the infield at the track is being lowered two feet below the track. The oval will be a giant wheel in shape and will be 1,100 feet in diameter. The wider track will allow for a ten-horse field in all races in 1937.

Tales From The Woods
WITH THE RED SHIRTS

Fair weather favored the annual big game hunting season last week in this area. The regular season ended Sunday at sundown. A record number of hunters combed the Sacramento, the Sierra Blanca and the Capitán Mountains for their deer, bear and turkey. Below are a few reports received by the News on the luck of some hunters. It was estimated between four and five thousand hunters took part in the season this year, and that approximately 200 or more head of deer were slain.

Ralph Brown and his brother from Plainview, Tex., and a friend from there were returning from Corona with their bucks in Ralph's Cessna plane Sunday morning when they spotted the fire in the woods near Carrizo Needles to the south, who started here last summer at Casa Blanca Canteen, got a 10-point buck early Sunday.

Some more lucky hunters: Claude Peterson, who had to look three days before he got his buck; Charlie Hitting, with a 4-pointer; Ted Hitting, Manuel Corallo each getting a buck, and Dorsey Bon-Hedgecock, Jack Denton of Ft. Worth, Ari Hall, formerly of Ruidoso but now of Ft. Worth, Elmo Carter and Larry Packard, Green Tree. The sixth hunter, not shown with his buck, was Billy Tucker, student at E. N. M. U. Portales.

Some bear tales: Mrs. Bill Hutson was surprised to watch a cub bear fish in Halcob Trout Lake up Carrizo Creek one night recently—successfully catch him a fish with Charlie Hitting, his paw, and amble off with his Ted Hitting, Manuel Corallo each getting a buck, and Dorsey Bon-woke up one morning to see a bear, a buck, and Gravelle Richardson, outside their window. The bear, who got turkey, took a long time wandering around outside the house before he walked off into the woods.

While her husband, Elton, was getting an 8-point buck, Mrs. Clara Guthrie, Green Tree, shot a bear, and her father, Wesley Young, Las Cruces, also got a bear.

Hunters of San Patricio getting game have included Mike Gonzalez, Bufino Herrera, Frank Randolph and Bill Creek, who all got S. W. Stout, formerly of Green

We hear Glen Wheeler, Roswell, who has been hunting with Pat and Leon Farrar, got his turkey in a foot race—without a shot being fired.
Judge W. S. Campbell, Green Tree, brought home a bear from a hunt on Monjeau early in the season.
We hear Chief Mauldin got a buck—haven't seen him yet to confirm this but some friends reported he had.

The best was plentiful—that first Thanksgiving. And the future looked bright. But the gun and powder born guarding the table served as a reminder of the dangers still present.

This Thanksgiving finds our harvest beautiful beyond imagination, but dangers still exist. And family security today lies in a comfortable backlog of savings instead of gunpowder.

Ruidoso Couple Hit High Spots In Motor Tour Of Scenic West

(Editor's Note: The News asked Dr. Bram Vanderstok to write a story of a trip he and his wife made throughout the scenic west and his compact report proves very interesting, since he views it as a visitor from another country. The Vanderstok family came to Ruidoso about four years ago, shortly after they landed in the U S from Holland.)

TRAVEL
In my opinion there is no better way of relaxation than a complete change of the daily routine of life and work. There are, of course, many ways to accomplish this and one way is traveling with your eyes wide open enjoying the beauty of nature which can so easily be found in this country. We started one morning very early from Ruidoso and covered quite a few miles to arrive in Grand Canyon, Arizona, where we once again gasped at the beauty of the dam itself but it takes some nerve to look down, more than 700 feet of concrete construction. This enormous landmark of technical civilization is situated in the most barren country of dark red rock, just masses of hard rock as far as one can see without a speck of green or any vegetation at all. But then we continued our drive on the winding road a few miles only to hit the cleanest and greenest little town of Boulder. An amazing contrast of naked rocks and vividly green park-like vegetation in this neat and charming little town.

Still going north, say another 20 miles through desert country, we heard a rattling noise and I stopped the car to see what the trouble was but the noise went on even after I had stopped the engine. Yes, sir, you guessed right, we were in Las Vegas, Nevada. The noise came from the slot-machines, every place, every filling station, every drug store has the slot-machines lined up not to speak of the regular gambling places where one can see the slot-machines in operation, hundreds of them at the same time. Of course I had to try this (and I did) and with a hand full of dimes I started to donate my money to the owner of my machine. Actually I was more interested in the faces of the addicted gamblers all around me until suddenly the woman next to me almost fainted. Of course the first thing I thought was that she might have lost her last penny or something, but that was not the case at all. She just stared at my machine and really had her jaw open a jackpot, without noticing it. Simple comme bonjour, it almost paid our Las Vegas expenses.

Las Vegas is famous for its luxurious hotels, motels and gambling places and every architect or interior decorator really had his chance to let his creative inspiration go places like The Sands, The Sahara, the New Riviera and many others are indeed very artistically designed. They all have entertainment in the form of floor shows, magicians, however, some floor magicians have less famous entertainers if you see what I mean. Coming back to our hotel at 3 a m the slot-machines, Bingo, Roulette and what not was still in full swing, only the sun went to sleep, nothing else.

The next morning we started early, about 7 a m (the Las Vegas rattling still) as loud as ever, of course) and we headed for Death Valley. I don't blame that first pioneer for giving the name to this valley, certainly the most desolate place I have ever seen and ending at the bottom of the valley was a strange thing here in Death Valley, it is namely, the lowest spot in the United States, 282 feet below sea level, and just a few miles to the north we see the majestic massive of the United States' highest point, Mount Whitney with an elevation of 14,933 feet above sea level.

Continuing on highway 395 to the north we traveled along the eastern rim of the Sierra Nevada, beautiful and already snowcapped, and we hit one of the most beautiful lakes in the country, Lake Tahoe. Here we had our first foot of snow which made the scenery even more impressive. This large crater lake with its crystal clear blue water is surrounded with high mountains heavily wooded with pure trees clear down to the water with hundreds of little bays and beaches ideal for watersport vacationing, and every suitable slope is equipped with some sort of a lift or rope for skiing in the winter. Five miles east of Tahoe village we visited Squaw Valley, the site for the Olympic winter games in 1960. This is an immense natural bowl with its concave facing north. The snow conditions in Squaw Valley are very constant and reliable, at least 3 to 6 feet of good snow from November until April. Also the other climatological figures are very constant and favorable and in addition to the almost perfect possibilities for long ski runs in all grades of steepness, they have the biggest chairlift in the world. No wonder this site was chosen for the next Olympic winter games. But don't think you can get into this place very easily. Real estate business here is all in the hands of one company and a lot of 100 by 100 costs $3,500.00 and building a house costs at least $10.00 per square foot. Somebody is going to do well over there.

From Squaw Valley we continued our trip to San Francisco, normally a 4 hour journey but not our case. After crossing the beautiful Donner Pass we ran into traffic. It was Sunday evening, hunting season, and there had been a big football game somewhere in that region, so we crept along on the six lane highway for hours together with thousands of other cars.

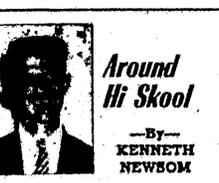

San Francisco is a fascinating town, built on steep hills around the San Francisco Bay with its narrow entrance, The Golden Gate. The bay has four bridges, two of them, The Golden Gate Bridge and the Bay Bridge, are large suspension bridges, the Golden Gate Bridge has the largest span in the world and believe it or not they swing when the wind blows hard, up to two feet each way. Both bridges have enough clearance to the water that any ocean steamer can pass under the bridge without the bridge, namely, Alcatraz Island, just time to start all over again almost as monotonous as the life of the boys that spend their time on a little rock which one looks at from the point off with the mast. By the way, to paint the Golden Gate Bridge takes a year, just time to start all over again almost as monotonous as the life of the boys that spend their time on a little rock which one looks at from the point off with the mast.

To name only a few of the places of interest in San Francisco, I have to mention Fisherman's Wharf, where the sea food is excellent and from where one can send a live turtle home by mail, the Presidio, a large military base in the middle of town, Golden Gate Park, the Dolores Canyon, the Cliff House with the sea, The Top of the Mark, a magnificent bar on the top floor of a hotel where one has a full view of San Francisco, the bay, Oakland, etc. Especially at night this view is fantastic. The fact is, at least the cable cars running up and down the steep streets to Nob Hill, the hotel and business section of San Francisco. We took the cable car, in front of the Saint Francis hotel to the top of Nob Hill and another one to the Pantheon. There had a good Chinese dinner and visited several Chinese places such as the telephone exchange, a Chinese temple and an art center, frequently used by the Hollywood film industry for Chinese scenes.

Leaving San Francisco we took highway 101 along the coast as far as Halfway where we turned east to Yosemite Park, which is again one of the world's beauty spots, a relatively narrow canyon with towering walls, waterfalls, majestic granite formations, simply an eldorado for nature lovers. Also in Yosemite Park we visited the big trees in the Mariposa Groves. One has to see these trees to believe the size of them, some have a diameter of more than 15 feet at the bottom and of course one had the tunnel through which one can drive the car.

On way again on a six lane highway to Los Angeles where we only visited one day because of lack of time. We had to see Hollywood and Beverly Hills and we spent the night in a motel on famous Sunset Boulevard, visited the Beverly Hilton Hotel, saw some studios, but what really appealed more to us was Farmers Market with its clean and charming booths where one can buy anything from socks, suspenders, bananas to golden Cadillac. On our way out we drove through Beverly Hills residential area and saw some of the beautiful houses of the higher paid movie stars. Fascinating to see the Geraniums and other plants grow like weeds and bloom the year around which gives the whole city a well groomed park like appearance. We did not get mixed up in the six lane freeways and to our surprise the road signs did take us without complications to the desert oasis Palm Springs where again the contrast of dry rocky country and a velvety green luxury village struck us. Palm trees, swimming lawns, swimming pools, modern Character Scholarship Leadership! Service! Five students who passed these qualities were installed into the National Honor Society Monday morning at the "tapping" ceremony. Carlyn Ross, John Fuchs, Barry Swanson, Charles Butler and Royce Lackey are the new members. Old members Jo-sette Brooks, Joan Matthews, Jo-nell Nooker, Nadine Peterson, Ray Marie White and Lynda Redman. Newsom told the new members what the National Honor Society stood for, and explained the four traits which each new member was judged on. Congratulations new members!

Newsom, last year's FTA president, installed the new officers of the FTA club for this year in the same assembly. New officers of the Gladys Knox FTA club for this school year are: President, Mary Lee Soto; Vice-President, Marie White and Lynda Redman; Bill Mills; Treasurer, Bobby Watkins; and Historian-Reporter, David Vance. After the officers were inducted into their offices, new members were installed into the club. New members are: Ben Donahue, Dick Bryden, Carl Soto, Marie White and Lynda Redman. After these two organizations had presented their part in the assembly, Mr. Milton Hooper, a representative of the Curtis Publications Company, gave a talk to the student body about selling magazine subscriptions sold by students, the Student Council will get 50% on all sales, and on the Ladies Home Journal, Holiday, and Saturday Evening Post, the student council gets 50%. All the money from the Student Council magazine subscriptions will go towards fixing up the Hideaway Club.

The band played several numbers at the assembly. Names of the numbers are: Sun Maid, Pretend, March Fantasy, and Design for Architecture, girls in Bikini's, fat men in shorts and sun glasses, Cadillac and Continentals and lots of people who need an expensive rest cure.

The next 1,000 miles was a little bit of desert, but who cares, the desert has its beauty too, as long as you don't have to walk it and it took us to another beautiful spot, Ruidoso, New Mexico, and we decided to plunge back into work again until our next crouting trip in this fabulous country.
Bram Vanderstok.

Laff and You'll Live Longer

A mother, asked if she had yet decided to make the long trip across the country to visit her son and his new wife, replied: "No, I've been waiting until they have their first baby!" The friend said: "You don't want to spend the money for the trip until then?" The wise lady replied: "No, it's because that I have a theory that grandmas are more welcome than mother-in-laws."

A sign in a store window reads: "Fishing Tackle." Noticing the error, a customer asked: "Hasn't anyone told you about it before?" The store owner said: "Oh, yes, many have dropped in to tell me, and they always buy fishing tackle!"

Joe said to Jim: "That was a pretty girl I saw you with last night?"
Jim: "Yes, that's Birdie Nest."
Joe said: "And why do you call her Birdie Nest?"
Jim: "I call her Birdie because she's pigeon-toed, has crow's feet, her mother calls her a goose, while her father feathered her nest."

A small boy's head bobbed up over the garden wall and a meek little voice called: "Please, Mr. Thompson, may I have my arroyo?"
"Certainly," the neighbor said. "Where is it?"
"I think," replied the boy, "it's stuck in your cat."

WATER OUTLOOK FOR NEW MEXICO IS POOR
The water supply outlook for 1957 for New Mexico is extremely poor, according to Robert L. Guice, extension soil conservationist at New Mexico A&M College. Well above average snow pack and rainfall will be required to provide even a reasonable supply because of low carryover storage and dry soils.

Guice says a recent soil conservation report shows that stream flow in the Rio Grande and its tributaries during 1956 was among the lowest of record. Reservoir storage on the Rio Grande is the lowest of record. Water supply conditions in the Carlsbad Project were good due to carryover storage which is now exhausted. Circumstances in the Pecos has been extremely low.

Water supply for the Arch-Harvey Conservancy District has been fair to good with limited stream flow. Storage in Conchas Reservoir is low.

Autumn. The chorus sang Ever Onward accompanied by the band. The Junior Class had a slave sale this past week at which the bid on and the highest bidder got the person. This past Tuesday, all the slaves were at the service of their master.

voit is 37,000 acre feet, which is relatively low for this storage facility. In pump irrigated areas, the ground water levels in general continue to decline, Guice adds. Some irrigation wells along the southern Rio Grande have been abandoned because of the increasing salt content.

Mrs. T. B. Hood left early Tuesday morning for Douglas, Ariz., after receiving word that an uncle Mr. Eustace Piper, had died. He had been in ill health for some time, and passed away Monday, Nov. 19. Mr. Hood will leave here Thursday to bring Mrs. Hood home.

Nephew Of Ruidosoan Helped Make First A-Bomb Test

(Editor's Note: The letter below—notice the date—was written by a man who assisted in the first atomic bomb blast—Trinity in New Mexico 11 years ago. He is now a professor at Yale, and his name is Mackinley Hull, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Mackinley Hull, Sr., Hastings-on-the-Hudson, N. Y., a brother of Jack Hull of Ruidoso. The letter is historic as well as telling a gripping story of that frantic last-minute job of assembling the mechanism for the first such explosion in the atomic age.)

12 August 1945
Dear Dad and Mother:
The event of the dropping of the atomic bomb is now a week old. Since then Russia has made her bid for a place in the far east peace conferences, and another Japanese city has been devastated. The Japanese, from reports we get, consider our bomb as the final straw rather than the entry of the Russians into the war. That gives us a real feeling of accomplishment.

tell you that last minute changes in the material made it impossible for my work to be completed and methods standardized until Saturday night. We had to deliver Monday morning, the week before Trinity. I hadn't been in the barracks for a week. I was dirty, unshaven, and must have looked like hell. However, when, on Monday afternoon, my boss told me our part of the job had passed final inspection, the fatigue fell away. All of my boys joined me in a feeling of relief which nothing later could touch.

All of us who could handle the necessary mathematical tools made theoretical calculations as to the effect of the bomb; that is, the equivalent tonnage of TNT. We here in the so-called Atomic Bomb Lab have been privileged to know most or all of the details of the bomb, and were therefore in a position to make some theoretical estimate of its force. My own calculation was about 5000 tons, and as the newspapers have told you, I was a little low. Most of us made the same error; that is, we included too many pessimistic factors. The ten dollars according to me through a bet made on 5000 tons or better was the least of the feeling of jubilation when the calculations from the blast gauges came in.

The site of the shot was on a desert-like area southwest of Albuquerque. It was used as a bombing range for nearby Kirtland Field (a B-29 base), and thus was completely desolate of human life. Construction of the site and installation of instruments had gone on for several months before the shot. I was there as an observer, and had no instruments to watch. There were several observation points: at 30,000 yards, 15 miles and 22 miles. You may guess that I was at "North 10,000" as the 5-mile point was called. There was a shelter there, and we had instructions to lie down with feet toward the blast when it came. A weather observer was with us, and was predicting weather for areas as small as a square mile around the bomb. He had barrage balloons up and calculated wind velocity from the angle of the rope holding the balloons.

While I was talking to a couple of fellows, someone started the mechanism which would set off the bomb. Every few moments another piece of equipment would become active. For the last five minutes one of the fellows read off the time: "minus 5 minutes, minus 4 min. 30 sec.—minus 3 min. minus 50 sec., minus 40 sec." I decided that at a time like this, a shelter was no place for me, so I went outside. I sat down on the sand and looked at a mountain side away from the bomb. I had on welder's glasses, but we had been told not to depend on them. A breathless hush descended on us, and then the mountain I was watching suddenly changed from a hazy blue in the dim pre-dawn light to a well defined assembly of trees, rocks, crevices, and peaks. Every detail stood out. Protecting my eyes with the dark glass, I turned to the spot where the "pillar of fire" rise slowly from the spot, increasing in size until it became the only thing to see in the southern sky. Thirty seconds or so after the detonation the shock wave hit us. It was unbelievable that at 5 miles we should get such a tremor, but we did. The cloud of dust, containing vaporized sand and vaporized metal (the tower on which the bomb had stood had vanished) rose several thousand feet, and the hues of red, purple and green played about it. It is estimated that the cloud attained a diameter of over 5 miles and rose to some 10 miles before dissipating. The geyser counter (to tell of any radioactivity in the vicinity) began to go wild, and in 5 minutes we had to leave. I had forgotten to roll down my sleeves, and my forearms began to tingle. I guess I got a fair dose of radiation, but I'm told that it wasn't too much. If we had stayed, we would no doubt die of leukemia, as no doubt the Jap rescue squads did when they went into Hiroshima.

That's about all there is, except to tell you that our bomb was better than we had thought. We were a success, and so on Monday morning, 16th July, the first successful experiment with atomic power was completed. I was pretty sleepy, and slept nearly 16 hours when I got back to the barracks. We had now only to wait for the consumption of our work in another experiment—on a Japanese city. As has been told, we had two kinds of bombs. Those dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki represented one of each type. The bomb dropped on Nagasaki seems to have justified our faith in it, for according to newspapers last night, it makes the first type obsolete. I hope the Japs give up today, for the bomb cannot distinguish between people and buildings. When we hit Hiroshima we destroyed 5 major industries—and 50,000 people. The Nagasaki raid were probably not much less as far as personnel damage was concerned.

Let me know how Chicago takes V-J day.
Love,
Mac.

TAKE HOME SOME LIGHT BULBS TODAY!

You may need them tonight!

It's smart to keep a good supply of spare bulbs handy. Then you won't have to rob one socket to fill another and risk eyestrain from a "borrowed" bulb that's too small. Buy enough bright new bulbs of the right size to fill all your empty sockets... plus a carton of two of spares. See your light bulb dealer or our office, for the bulbs you need... today.

State's Apple Production In '56 To Top Last Year

The state's commercial apple production for 1956 will top last year's crop by about 105,000 bushels, Harold A. Bauman, extension economist in fruit and vegetable marketing at New Mexico A&M College, said. Although late spring frost caused some damage, production will be above the 1945-54 average of 586,000 bushels. Apple prices in New Mexico fluctuate widely. Prices are usually better in areas where grading and packing facilities are available. The economist said one of the big marketing drawbacks in the state is lack of storage facilities. Without adequate storage, growers are obligated to sell their crop at harvest time or shortly afterwards, and take whatever they can get. In some years, it might be more profitable to store and hold the crop, Bauman explained. This, in fact, is a year in which prices are apt to go higher because of the shorter crop. Movement of apples into storage for fresh market sale in 1956-57 will probably be much lighter than last year, Bauman added, yet there are prospects for a continued strong demand for apples this fall and winter.

Local Insurance Man Hears Of Formation Of Big New Company

The North America Insurance Group claims to be the nation's oldest and largest stock fire and marine insurer, with the 1956 business expected to reach the $270,000,000 mark. Warren Barrett, local insurance agent, who has completed 20 years as representative of the insurance Co. of North America at Ruidoso, has received a bulletin concerning the organization of the new big company. Scope of present operations includes marine and aviation insurance, accident and health insurance, fire and other insurable risks; in addition to the usual fire and automobile business, he said. The North America, he said, has become famous in insurance circles for its having initiated many new insurance policies and features, such as the annual installment plan for fire insurance, now in use in most companies. The popular homeowner policy, introduced by the North America and recently publicized by the Dave Garroway Radio-TV program, is another example. Barrett said the 165-year-old company's life insurance facilities of the North America are expected to be available in New Mexico sometime during 1957.

Sweeping Changes Are To Be Found In '57 Oldsmobile

Oldsmobile for 1957 has completed the most sweeping model change in the past 20 years, with distinctive styling innovations and mechanical improvements in every one of the 17 body styles in three series of cars. The body is completely new, creating a fashion-new exterior appearance with deeper bumpers and a redesigned grille. Mechanical and structural advances include a new wider and heavier chassis, new "pivot-pole" front suspension of a design that resists dipping, improved rear suspension, a new 277-h.p. "Rocket" engine, known as the T400, due to its high torque throughout the driving range, and new 14-inch wheels. Outstanding styling note is the accent stripe, an Oldsmobile exclusive, that runs more than half the length of the car's side panels between narrow chrome moulding. This marks the first new style trend in exterior color application since Oldsmobile introduced two-tone color styling in the body in 1954. The accent stripe permits a new two-tone effect, with the car painted one color and the accent stripe in a contrasting color. However, the conventional two-tone styling is still available as an optional extra. The new 1957 Oldsmobile is on display at Powell Chevrolet in Ruidoso for the Tulare dealer is Clayton Bennett.
