Clipping from The Plains (Kans.) Journal mailed to us has an article about Ruidoso Downs and the Kansas Quarter Horse Futurity which originated at Meade, Kans., and mentions that Q. H. Demmitt of that city, with other horsemen of the area, should receive credit for starting the annual race. The Kansas QH Futurity was moved to Ruidoso Downs several years ago. Demmitt had an entry in this year's Futurity race.

There may be some historians hereabouts who'd like the following information to clip and save. These are the men who have served Ruidoso as mayors: Owen Waldo McElhane was elected and installed in December, 1945, when the village was incorporated. In April, 1946, he was re-elected for a two-year term, but died in office and was succeeded by George McCarty who served from July, 1946 until April, 1948. John Christman was elected and installed in April, 1948. He died in office and was succeeded by the Wingfield who filled the unexpired term until 1950. Wingfield was re-elected in 1950, but an election contest filed by his opponent Dick Ratliff was decided in Ratliff's favor, and Ratliff held office until April, 1952. In 1952, Ratliff was re-elected, but resigned while in office and was succeeded by Raymond O. Buckner, who filled the unexpired term until April, 1954. Dan D. Swearingin served the first full two-year term from April, 1954 to April, 1956. He was re-elected, Dr. D. E. Snyder in 1956 was elected to serve almost a full term, but resigned in 1958 to be succeeded by Jack Little who filled out the unexpired term, Jack Little, unopposed, was elected in 1958, and served a full term. Robert Pearson was elected in 1960 and served a full term, to be followed in 1962 by Warren Tucker, who also served the full term. Elected this year was G. H. (Shorty) Stinson who is Ruidoso's 13th mayor in 20 years.

Dan Storm sent $105 to Alaska this week... here since the earthquake several weeks ago. Dan was disturbed over the need to help and he and his wife and son, Valdez, and his wife and son, started the fund. Of the amount, $115 was sent the governor's reclamation fund and $50 to the city of Valdez for use by the mayor for some need. "Thanks to everyone who helped, including the bank employees, members of the student council and all who contributed money. More than money, however, I think letters of encouragement are needed more by the folks up there than anything," he said.

The News this week received a letter from Tom Mann, engineer of Roswell, who forwarded to us a clipping from Westways, official publication of the Automobile Club of Southern California, 2001 So. Figueroa St., Los Angeles, Calif., 90064. The clipping had several photos and a very fine article on the tourist attractions of the Ruidoso country, and is an excellent piece of promotion for the Playground of the Southwest. Tom's brother, Went, who has an advertising company in Los Angeles, sent the article to the Roswell man, sent him a letter to the auto club from our C. O. thanking them for this fine report, would be in order.

Jah Clayton, Tularosa's own movie queen, who appeared in the Lassie weekly TV series for many years, was a visitor here last Friday evening. She was on hand to cheer for Jane Nelson, Tularosa entrant, who won the 1964 Maid of Cotton title in New Mexico at the cotton ginners convention at the Chaparral. The News has a copy of the 1964 New Mexico State Fair catalog if anybody wants to look at it.

Homes claimed all three days of racing last week-end here included: Miss Virago claimed in the 11th Friday for $3,000 by Southside Stable Blues, trainer; Tag Play, claimed by A. P. Frazzini from Irene and Joe Wade for $1,000 in the 8th; Rupert, claimed by W. C. Campbell from Estes & Alkinson, Wade Johnson, trainer, for $1,000, also in the 8th, and Sunny Cider, claimed by C. E. Trumble from W. J. Westaway, C. D. Wooten, trainer, in the 12th for $1,250, all three on Saturday; and on Sunday, Cheryl Nan was claimed by Geo. H. Williams from Black & Johnson, R. D. Hay, trainer, for $2,000 in the 7th on Sunday.

Someone who just doesn't know about a state law that prohibits the firing of a high caliber rifle within the limits of an incorporated town, or who just doesn't care, is risking the lives of folks in Ruidoso in the area above South 2nd and 3rd streets, the last few days. Bullets from such a gun can travel far, and also ricochet quite a distance.

Ruidoso First Christian Church will observe its 10th anniversary Sunday with a sermon from one of the men who helped found it—Rev.

Long Hoped For Project Realized By Mrs. McKay

By ELSIE WILLIAMS (Ruidoso News Staff Writer)

A project which Mrs. Donald (Betty) McKay has been planning and thinking about for several years, is now about to be realized with the opening of the "Blue Door Foundation". The Blue Door is the name for her long cherished dream of opening her Ruidoso home as a retreat for families with exceptional or emotionally disturbed children members. Mrs. McKay will have one family at a time staying with her for one or two week periods. For these parents who are able, a nominal sum will be charged. Other parents can work on small projects on the place if they are not able to pay. Mrs. McKay has already had two families here and several more are scheduled for this summer. The guests can spend their time just reading, relaxing, quiet talks, resting and enjoying Ruidoso's scenic beauty. Mrs. McKay is building up an inspirational library for the enjoyment of her guests. She will take referrals from churches and from doctors and she said her Blue Door retreat vacations are particularly for those who need to get away from every day cares but cannot afford a vacation.

By next summer she hopes to have her present facilities enlarged some and also plans to incorporate her Blue Door Foundation.

In order to finance the Blue Door, Mrs. McKay is opening on August 1, in her home, an art exchange which will be named "Todas Cosas", and which in Spanish means All Things. Many lovely, useful and interesting arts and crafts can be bought at this shop. Among New Mexico artists whose products can be bought are: Evelyn Curb, Albuquerque, candles; Douglas Dean and Dora McLean, Albuquerque, stationery and silk screen work; Eca Robinson, Albuquerque, dolls; Worth Long, Albuquerque, dolls; Lou Burkman, Albuquerque, tile, paintings, stationery; Ann Rutschenko, Placitas, jewelry; Elizabeth Chapman, Santa Fe, oil paintings; Frances Wade, Placitas, fabric wall hangings; Carmen Espinosa, Albuquerque, decorated bottles;

Mrs. McKay and her husband, Dr. Donald McKay who is now teaching psychology at St. Joseph's College in Albuquerque were full-time Ruidoso residents in the late 1940's and the early 1950's. They had the Arts Colony of the Southwest here in Ruidoso in 1948 and 1949. A notice of the first meeting of creditors in the case of the filling of bankruptcy by Ice-O-Rama, Inc., developers of the huge ice arena constructed near Chaparral Hotel in Ruidoso Downs, has been mailed to creditors by Jethro B. Vaughn, Jr., referee in bankruptcy, Albuquerque.

The meeting is set for June 9 in Roswell at the Chaves County District Courtroom, at 9:50 a.m. In the meeting, to which creditors are invited to approve their claims and appoint a trustee and a committee of creditors, they are also to examine the bankrupt and transact other business that may have to do with the case.

A petition of reclamation by Holmsted Refrigeration, Inc., is to be passed on in this meeting. Original operators of the Ice-O-Rama were Mr. and Mrs. Lee Glover of Ruidoso and Roswell. The building which housed the large ice rink may be converted into a large auditorium for holding conventions, Harry Whipple, owner and manager of the Chaparral, said recently.

FIRE IS CONTROLLED ABOVE BONITO

A small forest fire near Bonito Lake, north of Ruidoso in Lincoln National Forest, was brought under control last Thursday. The blaze covered less than one acre but was in such a remote area near the high mountain fishing haven that food packages had to be dropped to the three-man crew fighting the fire in the one day battle Wednesday.

Justice of the Peace H. M. Graham, Wednesday morning postponed the case of G. D. McCarty who was charged July 12 by State policeman Corn Brown with reckless driving, resisting arrest and DWI. ARMS LONG ENOUGH?—Dan Storm, director of the annual Last Escape of Billy the Kid Pageant, set for three performances this year on Aug. 1-2, after 15 years reading the script of the outdoor pageant at Old Lincoln, has to stretch his arms to get the fine print. He shouldn't have to read it, he should have it memorized by now after playing the role of Buckshot Roberts so many times. His dog, Shady Logan, almost as famous as Dan, isn't helping much.

COLORFUL EARLY DAYS TO BE RECREATED AUG. 1-2 IN OLD LINCOLN PAGEANT

With its country's old dressed up in new green by the recent rains, the historical and peaceful little village of Lincoln is making ready to welcome folks from near and far on the first and second day of August.

This will be the annual Day In Old Lincoln and is to honor the pioneers of this region and to bring back the colorful times of early-day Lincoln County.

A feature of this celebration is the historical pageant, "The Last Escape of Billy the Kid", starring Johnny Thomas of San Patricio, who plays the role of the outlaw. He will be supported in the show by some 200 or more of his friends and neighbors, many of them descendants of those who figured prominently in the early history of Old Lincoln County. Old Lincoln County once comprised the entire southeastern corner of New Mexico and took in seven present day counties.

The historical pageant, in a class all by itself among theatrical performances, is now nationally famous. Mark Storm, Western artist and author from Houston, Tex., and Clarence, will be on hand to start the show with the Billy the Kid gang and will do rope tricks and background music.

For the first time, a daytime performance is planned. This will take place at three or four in the afternoon of Sunday, Aug. 2. Two other performances are Saturday, Aug. 1 at 8:00 in the evening and again Sunday evening at 8:00.

Sunday afternoon, Aug. 2, will be filled with children's contests, quadrille dancing, introduction of old timers, and music of pioneer times. A cordial welcome is extended to one and all.

First Meeting of Bank Stockholders In Summer Session Next Week

Since voting in the last board of directors meeting, held in January this year, to change the date of the annual stockholders meeting of Ruidoso State Bank to July instead of January—the first such session for stockholders is called for Tuesday next week, July 21, at 4 p.m. at the bank.

Election of officers, including one director to fill the vacancy of J. C. Powell of Roswell, who sold a large block of stock he held to two other directors, is on the agenda, along with action to be taken on a resolution offered by the board regarding a stock split. Under the resolution, if passed, $100 par value of the bank stock would be reduced to $10 per share, and the number of shares would be increased from 1,625 to 16,250.

A letter to the stockholders reporting on the meeting, and signed by Bank President T. B. Hood, says that the board of directors feels the proposed stock split would benefit all stockholders by making the stock more flexible. The letter also said there will be no additional stock involved and the capitalization in dollars will remain the same. The resolution must be approved by two-thirds of the stockholders if passed, the letter concluded.

Joiner-Lawrence Nuptial Vows Read In Ruidoso

Wedding vows of Miss Ruth E. Joiner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo A. Joiner, of Hondo, and Edward L. Lawrence, son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Lawrence of Madisonville, Ky., were solemnized on July 10, at 6 p.m. in the First Presbyterian Church in Ruidoso. Rev. Dwight A. Sharpe, pastor of the church, officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Tall baskets of sheela daisies and fern with candelabra holding ice blue tapers decorated the chancel of the church. A bouquet of blue carnations stood on the altar. Mrs. Richard Phillips sang "True Love," "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Mrs. Edgar Phillips at the piano. Mrs. Edgar Phillips also played the traditional wedding music for the processional and recessional.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and wore a floor length gown of silk tulle with front panel of peau de soie embroidered with seed pearls and rhinestones. The dress featured long sleeves and scoop neckline. Her elbow length veil of silk illusion fell from a crown of pearls and rhinestones. She carried a bouquet of white roses on lace. She carried out the bridal tradition of something old, something new, something borrowed and something blue, in her accessories.

Maid of honor was the bride's sister, Miss Edith Joiner, who wore an ice blue brocade sheath with white accessories and carried a bouquet of white feathered carnations. Best man was Mr. Terry L. Racher, friend of the bridegroom and brother-in-law of the bride. Ushers were David Bonnell and Paul Cook, nephews of the bridegroom.

The bride's mother wore an aqua silk sheath dress with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations. The bridegroom's sister wore a beige sheath dress with white accessories and wore a corsage of blue carnations.

A reception followed the wedding in the fellowship hall of the church. The bride's table was covered with lace over blue, and the theme of blue and white was carried out in the bouquets of sheela daisies and blue carnations and blue tapers which decorated the table and reception hall. The three-tiered wedding cake was decorated with white roses and bells with touches of pale blue and was topped by a miniature bride and groom. Helping at the serving table was an aunt of the bride, Mrs. Edith Incoe, and a cousin, Miss Betty Ann Bond, also Mrs. David Bonnell and Mrs. Dimmitt Bond. Mrs. Terry Racher presided at the guest book.

For being away the bride wore an embroidered linen sheath dress, which was made by her mother, with blue accessories and a white rosebud corsage from her bride's bouquet.

After a two weeks wedding trip to the Grand Canyon in Arizona, Las Vegas, Nev., Sequoia National Park, Los Angeles and Disneyland, the couple plan to make their home in St. Charles, Mo., where the bridegroom will be employed by McDonnell Aircraft Corp. as a technician. Among 'out-of-town' guests were Mrs. Dimmitt Bond, Betty Ann and Larry, Corona; Mrs. A. L. NEW TROUT LAKE—Developed recently is this new commercial trout lake on the Johnny Thomas farm in the Ruidoso valley.

Marshy Field Recently Developed Into New Commercial Trout Lake

By JERRY GORDON
(Soil Conservation Office, Captain)

Johnny Thomas of San Patricio has a rather unusual situation. Whereas many Ruidoso valley farmers do not have enough water for their crops, especially during periods of drought, Thomas has a three-acre area on his farm with a water table so near the surface of the ground that it has drowned out all apple trees in the area. The high water table is apparently due to an impervious layer of rock originating in the hills north of the farmstead stretching southward coming almost to the ground surface just above the marshy area. Water from a spring located in the same hills runs along the impervious layer of rock causing the high water table as it comes close to the surface.

Thomas decided to investigate the possibility of converting this marshy area into fishing ponds for his personal use and if everything worked out satisfactorily, open the area for public fishing as a means of supplementing his other farm income. If everything goes well, Mr. Thomas may also develop a picnic area adjacent to the main pond.

There was considerable preparatory work to do before actual pond construction began. Soil Conservation Service technicians assisted Mr. Thomas in measuring his spring flow, check the water temperature from the standpoint of trout production and evaluate a water analysis made by New Mexico State University. This analysis was to determine the suitability of the water for trout production.

Thomas then constructed three ponds, the largest measuring 300 feet long and 75 feet wide. An underground drain was installed to carry the excess water to the Ruidoso river. Five thousand rainbow trout

Hondo Farm Is Part

Of Great Plains Conservation Program

Participation in the Great Plains Conservation Program is steadily increasing in Lincoln County. One of the most recent contract signers in the Upper Hondo Soil and Water Conservation District is Ernest Booky whose farm is located approximately one-half mile east of Hondo.

Booky plans to convert approximately 12 acres of irrigated cropland to permanent pasture. The pasture will contain a mixture of alfalfa, tall fescue and orchard grass. The farm contains a small amount of native range which will be used in conjunction with the permanent pasture. The native range will be deferred during the growing season and used as winter pasture.

Planned conservation work, in addition to the conversion of cropland to irrigated pasture, includes: land leveling, underground irrigation pipeline, fence construction to protect seedling and cross fencing to set up rotation grazing system, proper pasture use, and proper use on native range.

The objective of the Great Plains Conservation Program is to assist farmers and ranchers in developing and carrying out, on a voluntary basis, a plan of operation that will bring about greater stability through grazing and cropping systems and the application of enduring soil and water conservation practices. To carry out this program, Public Law 1021, 84th Congress, provides for assurance of continuing cost-share assistance to ranchers and farmers who present a satisfactory plan for their entire unit including a time schedule for establishing conservation practices.

Any landowner in Lincoln County desiring further information regarding the Great Plains Program or assistance in preparing a conservation plan for his ranch or farm is invited to visit the Soil Conservation Service Office in Capitan.

James Bonnell, who ranches north of Capitan, became the 22nd Great Plains Conservation Program contract holder, in the Upper Hondo Soil and Water Conservation District recently. The ranch, a cow-calf operation, is located approximately four miles north and two miles east of Capitan.

Planned conservation work consists of brush control, range seeding, range deferred grazing and range proper use. Bonnell expects to complete the contract in a three year period; however, good range management is planned year after year.

Thomas and a son-in-law, Mr. Ford, reported they hoped to be open for public fishing on or about July 1.

That's Why — They're Darn Good Reasons Why

Clean, safe areas where families may enjoy the cool clear waters of a mountain stream, or the wooded mountain slopes, are a part of the Playground of the Southwest's attractions. Litter is out of place here. It contaminates water, and also makes it unsafe for the little tots to play in, where they might cut themselves or find other harm. Litter also is a major fire danger. Cans and bottles discarded carelessly can, AND DO, cause serious injuries. Discarded paper makes an eyesore out of nature's handwork, and helps feed any flame. Your help is needed in the fight against litter so that our attractions won't be lost. It's a fight every realtor and salesman, every motel and cafe operator, every package store operator and employee and all others who make their home here need to enter to help preserve our wonderful way of life.

Your Minister Writes...

By JAMES G. SAYLOR
 (First Christian Church)
 Prophets Are Disturbing!

The patriarchs, judges, kings, priests, prophets were all disturbing. Jesus is still disturbing. All of this is true because Prophets, Priests, Kings and Saviors raise questions. And the questions that are raised are not merely rhetorical, nor are they the ones that bring answers simply to satisfy curious-minded people. They are questions that find answers for men who question the conditions by which we live. When we are in danger of oblivion as individuals, when the personal values are being forgotten, when the creeping into everyday living, man is sitting on the surface of life and fears the winds of change, and saddest of all, man's roots are weak, being tossed by the inclination for formulas, quick mixes and pre-cooked clichés by which he tries to stem the storm.

Not every man knows his way. Not every man has depth of convictions, and not every man knows or even accepts the impulse to act definitely as the artist moves toward the execution of the picture that pushes itself into his eye.

Whatever creeps into a man's life to keep him from thinking, is dangerous, and could be compared to areas in the wheat field. Stagnation, satisfaction with the possession of things, the tendency toward escapism, need the application of the divine remedy in the likeness of the urge in man to dig, to uncover, to sow and to discover the reality of God.

The Mood of Interrogation

This mood is as old as Man, but it still disturbs countless multitudes. The Old Testament figure discovered it in "The Voice in the Whirlwind." It was far more than the hearing of the ear. It was coming to know the Eternal One by spiritual interrogation and experiment. It was digging and uncovering, discovering and knowing. Whatever the cost, whatever the labor and trial of intellect and anguish of spirit, we shall never know the depth of life until we have come to be familiar with the voice of God in the whispering gallery of the soul.

LAMB STEW . . . by jim

We're still marveling over Yellowstone and everywhere we went. You really must see Yellowstone. We just couldn't get over all the wildlife. If you go be sure to take lots of movie film and your binoculars.

I would suggest taking the trailer and parking it in one of the many campgrounds and then taking off each day from there for a different part of the park. We camped out three nights—two nights actually were spent in what are called campers' cabins—four walls, a roof, a bed (no bedding) and a wood burning stove. It kept the rain and snow off us for $2.75 a night. There's plenty of firewood if you're industrious and pick it up. In the national parks you can't disturb rocks or flowers but it's o. k. to pick up dead wood from the ground for firewood. Every time I stopped I picked up a stick or two and kept it in the back of the car. It came in handy, because it rained so much.

We didn't get to see much of Glacier National Park. The Parks Department was still repairing damage from the floods in May. We saw one tiny glacier (tiny compared to the ones we saw in Canada).

We fished in Yellowstone, Glacier and Banff. No licenses required in Yellowstone or Glacier and only a $1 was required in the Canadian Parks. We each caught a nice trout in Banff.

We were quite impressed with Utah—a very interesting state. We didn't get out to Great Salt Lake—apparently there's only one side where there are brackish. The side we passed by was mostly marshy. We stopped and walked out, but couldn't get within 100 or so yards of the lake proper.

The Canadian Rockies look like they were built for calendar photos. Lake Louise, and nearly all the lakes and rivers in Banff, looked like copper sulfate solution—a turquoise blue. I guess the blues come from the melting ice.

The first two and a half days of the drive home was pretty dull—the plains of Canada are just as boring as the American mid-west. Once we got to the lake country, though, it was again interesting. I almost ran into a moose standing in the middle of the road one night. We came back to the United States at Niagara Falls. The spray looks just like a silver bridal veil," I said. "How would you like a drink on the head?" said Nancy who thought I was making sport of the honeymooners. We put on heavy raincoats and rubber boots and walked under the falls on the Canadian side, but still got

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

An Open Letter To The Public:
 "A Thing of Beauty is a Joy Forever"—Apostle wrote many years ago. The statement is still true in this day and age. Ruidoso and its environs should be "a joy forever" with its scenic beauty and physical amenities. Left by picknickers, during our natural beauty by becoming a litter-bug.

On any given day, evidence of man's desire to mar our beauty is evidenced by the trash thrown from automobiles, left by picknickers, careless garbage can depositors, etc. The Village of Ruidoso does not have the necessary employees to pick up the huge amount of litter which is growing in volume with our population—permanent and seasonal. Therefore, the Village Trustees are requesting that all people using the facilities in and around Ruidoso please co-operate in a concentrated effort to keep our "thing of beauty a joy forever."

Any person found guilty of being a litter bug is subject to a $100 fine; however, a few days of picking up litter is the more applicable fine.

Jim Hine, Village Manager-Clerk P. S. The Village has no objections to any property owner cutting weeds on his property and/or abutting street right-of-way.

Is City Zoning Necessary?

By ART LEIBSON

Is zoning really necessary in cities?

Each week property owners or potential buyers come before El Paso's Plan Commission seeking zoning, from residential to apartment, or to commercial, or to special-office. With each application the City Planning Department investigates, and makes its recommendations. The commission approves or disapproves the zoning and the matter goes up to the City Council.

More than half the council's time these days is taken up with zoning matters, and many disgruntled property owners are convinced they have been discriminated against.

Is all this necessary? Houston, a city second only to Los Angeles in size, says no. With a population of well over a million, Houston has no restriction on the type of construction you may build. If you have the money, and the inclination, you can build a skyscraper in a residential area.

Of the 23 organized city governments in Harris County, where Houston is located, nine have zoning laws. Houston is the only large city where the matter of zoning has been put up to the people and been turned down at the polls.

In 1949, a straw vote restricted to property owners resulted in a defeat of zoning by about two and a half to one. In 1952 a referendum again was held, with every eligible voter entitled to ballot on the question. The big turnout, at a general election, turned back zoning by 72,000 to 55,000.

And Houston contends it is no worse for the freedom to do as you wish with your property so long as you do not create a nuisance. The city claims that zoned cities still have their slums, even more than Houston despite its large Negro and Latin American population; that they have mixed business and residential areas; that Houston is as attractive as zoned cities; and that Houston does not have the corruption and pay-offs that result from zoning controls in many cities. The courts, Houston said, offer little or no relief from the arbitrary zoning actions.

Instead of zoning, Houston has preserved its residential areas with deed restrictions. These are used also in El Paso, where some developments legally bar any construction other than single family residences, effective against any attempted zoning encroachment.

Houston opponents also contend that ridiculously cumbersome restrictions are placed on residential lots by zoning and that it is a slow process providing commercial uses in areas that have long since ceased to be residential.

The fight goes on. And El Paso goes right on zoning. Has this made El Paso a more attractive city than Houston, among the non-zoned communities? This is highly debatable.

Dear Mr. Lamb,
 My wife and I should like to express our appreciation to the people of this community and to those of all faiths for their prayers and expressions of friendship during Mr. Saylor's illness.

We are sincerely grateful to our physician and his family, the staff of the Ruidoso-Hondo Valley General Hospital for many days of quiet rest and compassionate care. The flowers, gifts and cards Mr. Saylor received from our many friends, lifted us during the most difficult days.

To the dedicated members of the First Christian Church who have assumed extra duties to maintain an effective church program, we say a heartfelt "thank you".

Mr. Saylor is now recuperating at home. After several days of quiet rest and convalescing, advised by our doctor, Mr. Saylor looks forward to seeing his friends again.

Sincerely,
 Juanita Saylor

Moscow, Russia

Dear Mr. Lamb:
 We have been in Russia seven days—Leningrad and Moscow. Tomorrow, we fly to Stockholm, Sweden and on around the world. We will spend only two days each in Stockholm, Sweden; Copenhagen, Denmark; Berlin, Germany, and fly to New York from Paris. We will spend four days in New York visiting the World's Fair, then fly to Roswell, N. M., and Wilbur, my husband, will meet me there to go on to Glenwood, and home to Coe Ranch.

The more I travel abroad, the more I like the Ruidoso Valley, and the more I realize that Mexico and the United States have everything. Highest standard of living—freedom and opportunity unlimited.

My sister, Mrs. Inez Wilcox of Roswell and I have enjoyed this trip around the world. We flew from Roswell to El Paso—to Los Angeles—on May 7, 1964—then to Honolulu—Japan—Hong Kong—Thailand—India—Nepal—Lebanon—Estanbul, Turkey—Austria and Moscow, Russia.

We have just returned to Moscow by Russian jet plane from Leningrad where we spent two days. Leningrad, formerly St. Petersburg, was the capital of Russia until 1918 after the second revolution and the overthrow of the Czar. The city is very beautiful—built on the Gulf of Finland—and the Nivo River and Nivo Delta that makes many canals upon which the city is built, and Leningrad is the "Venice of the North"—3 1/2 million people.

We found the people there more friendly than in Moscow—more progressive—perhaps because Moscow is busier, much larger—6 1/2 million people. Leningrad is a large industrial city—precision steel works—machinery manufacturing as well as textile and shoe factories. Much electric equipment, such as transformers, etc., manufactured there. There is a large university and 48 colleges in Leningrad. Every fourth person goes to college, we are told.

We visited a Children's Park. It had been the estate of a nobleman, big mansion—now used for a restaurant—large gardens—many people were in the park, some boating, swimming, as the day was lovely and warm—others picnicking or walking enjoying the flowers—peonies, Oriental poppies, pansy beds, lots of wild flowers in bloom—all kinds of playground equipment, even a ferris wheel—and a roller coaster was being built, copied from America, the guide told us. We found that the guide knew a great deal about the United States—more than we knew about Russia.

We have gone to the theatres every night in Russia—music and concerts, ballet and opera—universal language. There is a new theatre here in Moscow called "The Palace of Congress." It is similar to Radio City Music Hall in N. Y., and seats 6,000 people—very lovely—all air conditioned. We will go there again this morning at 11 o'clock to see the ballet "Swan Lake". Tonight we will hear the opera "Eugene Onegin" in the Bolshoi Theatre.

We visited the university here in Moscow—32,000 students, includ-

Upper Hondo Soil Conservation District Tells of Service Offered

(By S. C. D. Reporter)

I have heard of the Upper Hondo Soil and Water Conservation District for several years now, but I would like to know what a soil conservation district is and how can I benefit by becoming a cooperater with the district. In everyday contacts with ranchers and farmers in Lincoln County over the past several years, this question has been asked several times.

A Soil and Water Conservation District is a group of ranchers and farmers who are interested in preventing further soil and water waste and in learning to better manage the resources upon which they make their living. A District is created after public hearings and a referendum show that the landowners of a county, community or certain area want a local agency to assist them in dealing with their conservation problems. A certificate of incorporation is issued by the State of New Mexico creating a Soil and Water Conservation District as a governmental sub-division of the State.

As soon as the district is officially organized, the local farmers and ranchers in the area elect five following landowners to serve as supervisors of the district. The first step the supervisors take after a district is organized, is to develop a district-wide program and decide on a plan of action. As soon as this is done they request assistance from public and private sources to carry out this program. The five supervisors then manage the affairs of the district by assisting the landowners in developing a plan or program whereby better use of the land is made, surface water is managed properly, soil erosion is controlled and soil fertility is maintained. Note here that the Soil Conservation Districts are operated and controlled by the landowner in the area and not by the agency assisting them. The responsibility of carrying out the wishes of the landowners in a district is set squarely on the shoulders of the five men who are selected as supervisors. These elected supervisors serve without pay. Their reward lies in the knowledge of widespread acceptance of the conservation ranching and farming by you, their neighbors. These men devote many hours of their time in the interest of furthering the conservation program.

At the present time our local Upper Hondo Soil and Water Conservation District supervisors are A. T. Pfingsten, Peter Hurd, Ernest McDaniel, Ralph Bonnell and Charles A. Jones. These men have arranged for help to the landowners in the district by entering into a memorandum of understanding with the Soil Conservation Service in which the Service agrees to furnish, according to a schedule of assistance, the technical personnel and other assistance necessary to meet the district's objective.

Now that we know what a district is, the next question is, how can you, a landowner within the district boundaries, benefit by becoming a cooperater with the district. You don't have to be a large land owner to receive assistance. If you only have an acre or two which you need conservation assistance on, the district stands ready to help you.

When a landowner enters into a cooperative agreement with the district, he receives technical help in first preparing a plan as to what, when and how he plans to conserve and build up his soil. The district provides him with a map of his land, prepared by the Soil Conservation Service technicians, showing him the kinds of soil in each field or pasture and what it is capable of being used for. The Soil Conservation Service personnel assigned to the district will explain to him various ways he may use the land and measures that can be taken to prevent further soil and water waste. What the landowner decides to do is then written down and becomes an agreement between him and the district. When Mr. Rancher, Farmer or small tract owner decides to go to work carrying out the things he has planned to improve and conserve his soil and water, which he may do as fast or slowly as he pleases, Soil Conservation Service technicians will assist him with applying the planned practices. In most instances, there is Federal cost sharing available to landowners in carrying out conservation work. For example, under the Great Plains Conservation Program, the Federal government will cost share 60% of the total costs of erosion control work.

Landowners who are not as yet cooperaters in their soil conservation districts are invited to join in combating further soil and water loss. Drop by the home of one of the supervisors mentioned for the Upper Hondo District and have a talk with him. I'm sure you will find that he will have plenty of time to talk over your conservation problems and assist you in starting on a program to stop further erosion. If you find it more convenient, stop by the Soil Conservation Service office in Capitan; you will be welcomed and every effort will be made to assist you with conservation problems.

I'm sure that you will benefit by becoming a cooperater with the Upper Hondo District and that in the end conservation farming or ranching will PAY for your generation and those to come.

Tourism Dollars Should Total $11 Million For Ruidoso Playground

The economic value of such mountainous recreation districts as the Bandia Mountains, Cimarron, Red River, and others, to their surrounding areas will no longer have to be estimated by guessing.

A yardstick has been developed and used in the Ruidoso Ranger District by James R. Gray, of the New Mexico State University Agricultural Experiment Station. An article on the study was published in the May issue of "New Mexico Business," prepared each month by the University of New Mexico Bureau of Business Research.

Gray and his staff of five dignitaries interviewed a large sample of Ruidoso campers, fishermen, cabin-owners, picnickers, and race track patrons, to obtain information on their expenditures.

The data collected was then analyzed statistically by a combination of elements of the Concentric Travel Zone and Trice-Wood techniques of the Consumers' Surplus Method, the Cost Method, and the Gross National Product Method.

The study was undertaken because of the current interest in outdoor recreation as a method of revitalizing lagging state economies. Tourism, in New Mexico and other western states, is potentially a multi-million-dollar business.

The article noted that the 177,500-acre area near Ruidoso, has an indicated annual potential—at the 1962-use level—of $61.11 per acre, for a total annual potential return of nearly $11 million.

The Ruidoso Ranger District, in the Lincoln National Forest of south-central New Mexico, was selected for the study because it is relatively small, its resources have been highly developed for recreational purposes, and many data on its resources were already available.

The area has a large potential for use as five million people live within one day's drive of the district. In 1960, nearly 300,000 of them visited the area, and the Forest Service estimates that by the year 2000, two million persons will visit the area each year, the article said.

In their interviews, investigators obtained data on transportation costs, lodging and meals, food, license and other fees, equipment and horse rental, bait and lures, equipment depreciation, and other miscellaneous costs. The investigators not only asked how much the tourists had actually spent on their trip, but the maximum that they would have spent willingly.

The tourists were divided by the distance they lived from Ruidoso, and whether they were picnickers and campers, fishermen, cabin-owners, or race track patrons.

The 1962 total expenditures of local general recreationists and fishermen were estimated to be about $5.5 million, while those for non-local groups came to $3.7 million, for a total estimated annual expenditure of $9.2 million. The value was increased when hunting, skiing and cabin-ownership were included. Hunters and skiers added $1.8 million, and cabin owners added $22,000.

The total gross annual recreation value for the Ruidoso Ranger District, excluding spending by race track patrons, was $10.8 million.

Water Use Up 7-Million Gallons

Metered consumption of water used by the Village of Ruidoso for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1964 totaled 91,055,147 gallons, Village Manager-Clerk Jim Hina reported this week. For the previous year ending June 30, 1963, the metered consumption was 84,436,233 gallons and for the year ending June 30, 1962, the metered consumption was 73,150,637 gallons. These figures show that Ruidoso's metered consumption of water is increasing substantially each year, Hina said, and since 1962 the consumption is considerably above the 72 million gallon allowance from the Rio Ruidoso Water from Eagle Creek has made up the difference.

Tom Mann, Roswell engineer, and Darrell Fowler of Albuquerque, representing Stern Brothers Investment Bankers, were in Ruidoso this week meeting with the members of the Eagle Creek Inter-Community Water Supply Association. ## Frank, Helena, Coe Room To Be Opened In Lincoln Museum

The dedication of a new exhibit at the Old Lincoln County Courthouse, Lincoln, New Mexico, will take place on Sunday, July 19, with the opening of the Frank and Helen Coe Room. Theme of the exhibit is "A Frontier Parlor." All of the furnishings of the room had been used in the Frank Coe Ranch home at Glenoco.

Included among the items comprising the exhibit are an antique Lyon and Healy pump organ; antique library table and chairs, and a hand made side board, which had originally been made for cavalry officer's quarters at nearby Ft. Stanton, during the time it served as a military garrison. It was purchased by the Coes at a sale of furnishings held by the Cavalry Quartermaster in 1868.

Another item on display is Frank Coe's cap and ball single barrel shot gun, which saw service during the Lincoln County War, when Frank rode with Billy the Kid, his friend and companion.

Frank and Helena Tully Coe settled at Glenoco, in the Ruidoso Valley, in 1862, following their marriage at Farmington in 1861. They raised a family of seven children. In separately settled Lincoln County, the family early learned to make its own entertainment, with music the important ingredient. Each of the children learned to play a musical instrument. Besides the organ on exhibit, the Coe home boasted a piano, a violin and a zither, all of which were used frequently to provide music for square dancing at pioneer gatherings.

Guests of honor at the dedication will be five of the Coe children: Wilbur Coe, of Glenoco; Edith Coe Rigaby, of Alamogordo; Helena Coe LaMay, of Nogal; Annie Coe Tils-

To recommend steps necessary to set up a permanent arts and crafts association, a committee composed of Mrs. Kathryn Hall Travis, Mrs. Bertha Baird, Mrs. L. E. Anderson, Mrs. R. C. Buckner and Mrs. Dick Bennett was named. It is to report back to a meeting of those who attend this week's preliminary gathering, and anyone else interested who wishes to attend, called for Monday next week, 7:30 p.m. at the Kathryn Hall Travis art center opposite the city park in the Gateway. Dues, by-laws, etc., will be proposed.

Another committee, to plan for the arts and crafts show, suggested proposed exhibit fees, classifications, rules, etc., was named, with these members: Mrs. Howard Bell, Mrs. David Travis, Mrs. Ruthford Goodwin, Mrs. Mary Winkler and Mrs. Vio Lamb. They will also report back at the meeting next Monday, particularly on whether the telephone building is available.

Among several matters discussed was the prospect of the association sponsoring two such shows a year—one in the summer and another at the time of the Aspenade in October.

Extra Mid-Week Race Days To Start

Added Races Set Six Weeks

Extra race days on the Ruidoso Downs 1964 calendar begin next mid-week with a Thursday program, the first of six extra days each Thursday from July 23 through August 27.

This week-end there are three packed programs, starting Friday. Mike London, bewiskered (main title), of Albuquerque wrestling circles, will let the horses do the grunting and groaning here Sunday in the seven and one-half furlong feature race named in his honor. Though a horseman himself, Mike's only interest, next to doing the winner's circle honors, will be in striving to cash a ticket on the victor in a seven-horse field that poses no simple problem.

The race shapes up as more of a seven-way battle royal than a horse race, with no holds barred, as the likes of Joe Wade's Divine Flo, W. O. Ferguson's Better Eye, A. P. Frazzini's Net Man, Ray Stealy's King Noon, Scottsdale Stable's Miss Virago, Pat Sawyer's Doodie Gal, and the M. E. Presbridge Stable's Texas Bloo match strides.

A particular "grudge" battle will be the rematch between Divine Flo, to be ridden by Irish Billy Rock at 117, and Better Eye, in with the same impost and D. W. Whited. Better Eye outspurred Divine Flo on the fourth of July, knocking off six and one-half furlongs in 1:20 2/5, after the latter had chalked up three successive victories here at a mile or more.

The 7 1/2-furlong distance of Sunday's feature might prove just the compromise that could find Better Eye and Divine Flo battling to a "draw". Sharing high weight of 117 with this pair will be Texas Bloo, which has been "closing gamely" to some shifty sprinters here and may be hard to hold with Pete Moore, leading rider at the meeting, in the saddle.

Two others, Miss Virago, with 100 and Apprentice Johnny Cox, and Net Man, 115 and Lou Meaux, will be going for new owners this trip, both having been claimed last out. They join Doodie Gal, 112 and (Continued to Page 2—Sec. B)

Giants Take Lead In Little League

The Little League Giants downed the Dodgers Tuesday this week to take the top spot in the summer game, 6-4, and then squeaked past the Braves last week in a real close Little League program. The Giants have won four and lost three.

Pitcher Larry Reynolds starred in both contests, striking out eight in Tuesday's game and retiring 14 by strike-outs in Tuesday afternoon's game. Reynolds also pushed across the winning run in the seventh inning of the battle Tuesday. The game was tied at the end of the sixth stanza and went into an extra inning.

Carey Horton was the losing pitcher for the Braves Thursday and Chuck Whipple was the loser for the Dodgers in Tuesday's contest.

Kenny Hunt of the Giants was the only player to hit a round-tripper in Tuesday afternoon's fracas. Hunt's home run came in the third inning with no men on base.

Wednesday this week the Braves take on the Dodgers and Thursday afternoon the Braves will try to knock off the top spot in the league. All games are played at Denton Field in Ruidoso Downs.

The Braves currently are in second place with three wins and three losses while the Dodgers are close behind with a 3-4 record for the season.

Six Games Remaining In Softball League

With only six more games remaining of the summer schedule for the softball league the JayCees still hold a one game lead over Foster's team. The JayCees sport a 6-1 won and loss record while Foster's is close behind with a record of six and two.

Foster's closed the gap this week with a close 5-4 win over Keeth Gas on Monday night at Denton Field.

The Keeth Gas crew, winless in seven outings, picked up their first victory of the season over C. & L. Lumber Wednesday last week, 12-6. C. & L. Lumber came back last Tuesday night to dump Nob Hill, 22-3 to stay in fourth place.

WINDBLOWN SEXTET—These six women golfers entered the Ruidoso Downs links competition Thursday last week at Cree Meadows, and reported they had problems with the wind. From left, Kay Hughes of Junction, Tex.; Beverly Mitchell, Midway City, Calif.; Pat Farris, Los Alamitos, Calif.; Doris Roberts, Carol Roller and Glenna Lambert, all of Hollywood, N. M. are caught by News camera on No. 5 fairway.

JOCKEY SHERMAN WINS RACE TRACK TOURNEY

Joe Sherman a jockey, playing with a cast on his left foot, shot an amazing score of 78 last Thursday to win the annual Ruidoso Downs Race Track Golf Tournament at Cree Meadows.

Sherman's score did not include a handicap which made the score even more fantastic. John Kantis used his handicap to take second place in the championship flight also with a 78. Damon Pollard shot an 88 to tie with Ky Sorenson for third place.

In the Jockeys, Agents and Valets division Felix Turner fired a handicap 82 for first place trophy while Tom Ellis came in right behind Turner with an 83 for second place. Bill Rock picked up third place and Floyd Knates was the fourth place winner.

Clifford Lambert took advantage of his handicap to turn in a score of 78 to win the Open, Horsesmen and Trainers flight. Following in second place was Don Wooler with 77 and third place winner was Don Behrins

West posted the lowest score of the flight to take the first place trophy. West's net score was 79. Allen Kelly won second place and Tom Curry captured third place.

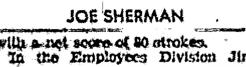

Nineteen ladies played in a nine hole flight with Pat Sawyer winning top honors with a net score of 55. Bobby Sherman, wife of Joe Sherman, took second place with a 61 and Jerry Shaw came in third with a 62.

Following the tourney all players and wives were treated to a cocktail party and dinner.

A total of 68 entries took swings at the ball in the one-day tourney. The number included 50 men and 19 ladies.

Forty-six merchants of Ruidoso, Hollywood and Ruidoso Downs contributed toward cost of the prizes to make the tournament possible.

Clayton Bennett, The Trader, says the store is bigger and the trades are bigger. Come and see the money saving bargains of Gambles, the family store with the big yellow roof in the Employees Division Jim in the Gateway.

JOE SHERMAN

The league leading JayCees take on (third place) Shier's Wednesday night this week in a very important battle. Should the JayCees be upset in the contest, Foster's will move into a tie with the JayCees.

1942 — These were the war years—grim, worried, proud. American fighting men added new battle honors to the nation's history: Bataan, Corregidor, Guadalcanal, the Battle of the Coral Sea. St. Louis' Cardinals shocked the mighty Yankees in the World Series . . . A fire at the Coconut Grove nightclub in Boston took a toll of 491 lives. . . (Continued from Page 1—Sec. B) EXTRA RACE DAYS—John Summerow, and King Noor, essaying a comeback at 115 with Elbert Minchey, in rounding out the starters.

Mom For Sure After 4th For Mrs. Marjorie Wallace of Sugarland, Tex., nothing could be sweeter than to see her Mom For Sure romp to his fourth feature race victory at the meeting here Saturday in the five and one-half furlong "Bob Harris, KROD-TV, El Paso" purse.

Never worse than second in six starts at the meeting, Mom For Sure will be seeking to improve his rating average Saturday at the expense of each other worthy challengers as Phil and Dorothy McLaughlin's Jungle Dancer, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gambella's Quick Mist, Pat Sawyer's Performance Boy, M. R. Prosser's estate's Chocole, and Toy Outback's Mena.

Marked by body in the Inaugural handicap, Mom For Sure then streaked to three straight victories before running afoul of up-set-minded Performance Boy and Bob-O-Link in his last two starts.

Since assured by Trainer Jake Jascio that "ya shoulda won all six of these starts," Mom For Sure comes back this time to pick up high weight of 122 pounds and Jock-jockey Pete Moore, leading rider of the meeting with seven 40 winners in 64 days of racing.

Of his conquerors here Performance Boy will be back to prove his victory was no fluke when he packs 119 pounds and John Summerow at the abbreviated sprint distance that should find him hard to hold at the wire.

Fashionably-bred Jungle Dancer, which narrowly missed holding off Mom For Sure a while back, will try to turn the trick with 115 and Irish Billy Rock coming off a five-day layoff.

Marked by a tough contest, Quick Mist, in with 112 and Appetitive Johnny Cox was swift 1 07 flat winner over this same distance last out. Chuk Carbolic, packing 115 and D. V. Whitted and Mena Depph, 112 and Brother David Whitted, could add to the excitement with one of their better performances.

In another well-matched thoroughbred feature, the "George Tomlinson, KAYE-TV, Carlsbad" purse will hardly warrant an "Elmer" name. Prince De Oro, and Ironhorse have a go at it.

The win, place and show biz keeps up with the times as Ruidoso Downs moves into the second half of its 32-day summer racing season Friday with a couple of aptly named feature races.

The 250-yard El Paso Times purse, which Publisher D. D. Roderick, Jr. will be on hand to do the winner's circle honors, breaks out to see how many of the speediest quarter horses on the grounds, headed by L. V. Casey, P. R. Beckham partner, El Paso's Oddy Gill, Shana in ranch's Pined Bar, Hugh Huntley's uts Change and R. C. Jones' Little Baron.

RUIDOSO DOWNS RUIDOSO DOWNS

STAR VISITS DOWNS—Linda Darnell, motion picture actress, and formerly owner of a ranch in the Honda Valley east of here, was in the winner's circle to present a blanket to winner of a race named in her honor Friday. ### ELBERT MINCHEY 'JOCKEY OF THE WEEK'

While Pete Moore continues to lead the riders here, "under a smug hold" veteran Elbert Minchey enjoyed one of his best week-ends of the meeting here last week to be awarded a "split decision" as "Jockey of the Week". In a tight fight with Curt Ferner, whose agent is Larry "The Kosher Kid" Machin, the "poor man's Monte Gilbers".

TERRIFIC CHICK SNARES FASTEST SCHOOLING RACE

Trainer Jerry Norwood sent Terri Chick and Jockey Ken Chapman out to win the fastest of Tuesday's three weekly schooling races here, winning impressively in 19.1 for 350 yards over "slow" racing strip.

Gene Chambliss saddled Win Em All, with Robert Adair up, for a 19.2 victory, matched by Zed Walker's Lena Van and Jockey Donald "Bill" Allison in the remaining dash.

Pokey Bar after picking up a nasty infection following her smashing victory in the trials.

"Spence" reveals that Bunny's Bar Maid since has been bred to the fabulous Go Man Go, resulting in a most promising filly, that he has named Four-Forty Queen, in recognition of the "name of the game."

His returns on quarter horse racing haven't his like crazy yet, but with such good stock as Top Deck, Key Deck, Merlize Deck, Lady Gates and Tiny Kid to set up an assembly line, it shouldn't be too far in the future.

An indication was an impressive Fourth of July victory by Browne's good 3-year-old filly, Liz Gates, in 18.3 for 350 yards. But whether he was here to see this swift trick win or what makes Ruidoso Downs tick might be the big question.

PLANS DEMONSTRATION

A talk and a demonstration portrait drawing of a local resident is planned Tuesday evening next week by Sara-soia, Fla., artist Rutherford Goodwin, above, here at Kathryn Hail Travis Art Center. Goodwin will sketch Bob Walker, local C. of C. manager, beginning at 7:30 p. m. The public is invited to attend the demonstration.
