Monday, October 27th, is the date set by Ruidoso school teachers to solicit Ruidoso business places for bingo prizes according to high school principal, M. B. McGuire. The annual activity by the teachers is to provide prizes for the school's yearly Halloween Carnival. (By the way it's not a teacher's trick or treat.)

Looking over the roster for the new Ruidoso Chiefs, Ruidoso Jaycoes sponsored semi-pro football team, couldn't help but notice the extreme amount of beef. For example, tackles Paul Crown and Jack Kennedy each weigh 226 pounds, little Robert Beavers weighs 215, Bobby Bradley, playing center, hits the scale at 220 and also hitting the 200 pound mark are guards George Perry and Travis Lee. The team will play their first game against the Carrizozo Jaycoes tentatively set for Nov. 2. Others on the local squad include Leon Puckett, Jim Clements, Jerry Kennedy, Tommy Oodens, Wayne Wood, Rick Stevenson, Mike Payne, Charles (black eye) Perry Dale Perry James Fitzgerald, Jerry Reynolds, Chuck Hall and Douglas McClellan. Coaches are James Fitzgerald, Roger Marshall and Wayne Erics. Sure hope those of the team who are not covered by Medicare have other arrangements.

With all the wonders in the world, with the multitude of magnificent technical advancements, with the walk on the moon, with the medical achievements, with the new speed of jets, and the tremendous number of other mechanical and human phenomena—are you really surprised that last week's Ruidoso News was on time? To add to the ever increasing list of changes in this generation—the News' staff got out a second paper in the same week. When you read the news this week the News staff, with the exception of young, beautiful—Elsie Williams, will be on vacation.

Elsie will keep things percolating here while we're gone. The back shop crew, bless them, are looking in several directions—geographically speaking that is. H. M. Fitzgibbon is going to Oklahoma, and Johnny Jay is going to Houston. The front office crew, although still not positive, has indicated such places as Florida, Columbia, Lincoln, Las Cruces and a few foreign places like Dallas, California, Saudi Arabia, or the Gulf Coast.

Celebrated 103rd Birthday Recently

Albert M. Crain, of St. Ann's Home for the Aged at Pecos, Texas, who is the grandfather of Dave Parks of Ruidoso and father of Mrs. Nell Crain Parks, Dave's mother and a long time former resident, now of Pecos, celebrated his 103rd birthday last month on Sept. 13. Special guest at the birthday observance was U. S. Congressman from Texas, Bob Frico.

Oct. 24 Is Date For Lions' Ball

The Lions will hold their annual Halloween Masquerade Ball Friday, Oct. 24, at the Chaparral Motor Hotel in Ruidoso Downs. Club members say they will have a good band and that door prizes will be awarded. Charge will be $6 per couple and this amount will include breakfast. The date was announced incorrectly in last week's Ruidoso News—sorry about that.

Bank Construction Project Is Nearing Completion

The staff of the Ruidoso State Bank moved into its new quarters this week although the bank will not have its formal opening until December 7.

The new addition adjoins the old building on the east and includes about 2700 square feet of floor space.

There are now two drive-in windows available. Originally, construction was started in March. New furnishings are nearly complete and the landscaping is hoped to be ready by the formal opening time.

The exterior of the building is decorated in royal blue and lime green. The walls are covered with a burlap type papering and the wall to wall carpeting is in the lime green.

Private and semi-private offices are now available for bank officials and the bookkeeping department is located in a sound proof area. All records are kept in a fireproof room or vault.

The director's conference room will be available for use by individuals or groups wishing to meet in the bank building.

The lobby contains several deep chairs, upholstered in gold plastic, clustered around a massive Spanish style coffee table. The grouping is arranged in front of a natural rock fireplace.

Board of director members are: Dr. James A. Beall, Raymond Buckner, Bruce Guthrie, Dr. W. D. Horton, W. A. Hutchesson, H. Jack Stevens and Ed Wimberly.

Warriors To Host Lordsburg Saturday

The Ruidoso Warriors, following their 13-0 loss last week to the Tularosa Wildcats in Tularosa, entertain the Lordsburg Mavericks here in the Warrior Stadium this Saturday. Tularosa remained the No. 1 team in the state among the Top Little Ten of the Associated Press.

Lordsburg has played but one District 2B game, losing to Tularosa 23-0. To date the Mavericks have a 1-5 won-lost record and come to Ruidoso hungry for their first conference win.

The Lordsburg eleven's crowning victory of the season to date was their 13-0 upset over highly favored Cobre in Edyard. The Mavericks, upsetting the Cobre's homecoming activities, gained a total of 237 yards with all but 50 being gained on the ground. Both touchdowns came in the last half of play and were for long yardage.

The Warriors, number 6 in the state among the small schools have a 4-3 season record.

District 2B standings to date give the Tularosa Wildcats an undisputed championship with Hatch and T. or C. tied for second place, Lordsburg third and Ruidoso in the cellar. Last week's District scores include: Tularosa 15, Ruidoso 6; T. or C. 12, Hatch 6; and Lordsburg 12, Duncan, Ariz. 14.

EXPANSION PROGRAM NEARS COMPLETION—The Ruidoso State Bank announced this week that December 7 is the date set for the formal showing of their current expansion program. The interior phase of the expansion program is nearly ly completed and exterior improvements are expected to be finalized by the December 7 public showing. —Ruidoso News Photo

Tribe And Cats In Defensive Tilt

The Ruidoso Warriors lost their second District 2-B conference game Friday, October 17, to the strong Tularosa Wildcats in a "defensive" contest at Tularosa, 14 to 0.

Playing their best defensive ball game of the season, the Warriors were not able to push nearer than the Wildcat 14 yardline offensively, but served notice to the Wildcats with matching defensive strength. The 13 points was the difference in the ballgame.

The Wildcats, undefeated, unscathed against, and allowed only 11 yards in scrimmage play for the second saw a few of these statistics: 111 by the way-side as the Warriors marked up four first downs and gained a total of 39 yards offensively against the number one ranked Wildcats. The 'Cats' have but one game remaining in conference play standing between them and the 2-B championship.

Ball control was the story in the first half of the contest with the Wildcats executing 38 plays for a total of 88 yards rushing and 25 yards passing as compared to 17 plays netting 30 yards rushing and five yards passing for the Warriors.

The second half saw the Warriors with a minus two yards however, to pull their total gain back to 39 yards.

Highlights of the game came this way: The first play from scrimmage the Tribe fumbled the ball and the Cats recovered on the Warrior 25.

Four plays however, added up to a minus six for the Cats and the Tribe got another chance.

Midway through the period the Wildcats put the ball in play at the midfield mark. Six plays netted 25 yards to the Warrior 25. On fourth down and eight needed the Wildcat quarterback pined out to Billy Candelaria, fullback, who rolled to the right, found Ralph Diaz open on the 10 and bang, the 26-yard aerial saw the Wildcats out in front 6 to 0.

The conversion attempt was no good.

Late in the second period the Warriors lost another fumble deep in their own territory and again the defense held, this time on the three yard line. Halftime the score was Wildcats 6, Warriors 0.

The third period saw both teams unable to move the pigskin. The fans witnessed some vicious blocking and tackling by both the Warriors and the Cats. The ball wasn't just fumbled on five occasions in the second half by the Wildcats. It was hard hitting and alert team defensive action on the part of the Warriors.

Late in the third, the Warriors did, however, take the ball on their own 30 and in five plays moved to midfield before having a pass intercepted to stop the drive.

Again early in the last period the Wildcats punted to the Warrior 30. The punt, taken by Nelson who cut to his right evaded one tackler, picked up a driving block by Latham, got inside the wall of blockers formed down the sideline and raced 61 yards before being hauled in on the Wildcat 14 yard line. Four plays netted a loss of 23 yards to again halt the drive.

Later in the same period the Wildcats intercepted a pass at midfield and returned it to the warrior 30. On the next play Vigil handed to Ornelas who found a hole in the right side of his line and raced 30 yards to score the final score to give the Cats the 13 to 0 victory.

Outstanding for the Warriors were Nelson, Horton, Stagner, Donham, Latham, Bell, Williams, Conkey and Farrar. In fact the TEAM WORK was the best for the year. Congratulations should go to the student body as well as the fans for their support and teamwork in the cheering section.

Also hats-off to the fine effort of sportsmanship week at Tule and Ruidoso alike.

Benefits Will Go To Unremarried Veterans' Widows On DIC

The recent increase in the base pay of members of the Armed Forces will mean an increase in dependency and indemnity compensation (DIC) payments only for the 180,000 unremarried widows of the DIC rolls.

Dependent parents and children receiving DIC monthly payments from the VA did not receive an automatic increase in their payments as a result of the military pay raise.

Payments for these parents and children are fixed by the Congress, Crow said.

Benefits for unremarried widows relate to military pay scales, with the formula for determining the amount of monthly payments calling for $12 a month, plus 12 percent of the monthly basic pay now being received by a serviceman whose rank and years of service are the same as those of the deceased veteran.

Thus a raise in military basic pay, such as that which went into effect recently, automatically increases DIC payments to eligible widows.

Chuck Wagon Is Still Used By C. G. A.

by Dorothy Sullins

Fast becoming extinct along with the Whooping Crane, the Aleutian Canada Goose and the Black-footed Ferret is that descendant of the nomad gypsy's home-on-wheels - crossed with the lonely shepherd's pasture - the old-time chuck wagon.

The use of the chuck wagon probably reached its zenith during the late 1880's when ranches were unenclosed and working cattle involved months of labor away from headquarters. Trail drives from Texas and New Mexico into Kansas and other railheads were dependent upon the chuck wagon.

Today the chuck wagon adapts itself to dude ranches. Bar-B-Q socials and a day, and the exciting chuck wagon race held at the Canyon Lodge each year. The chuck wagon has been cured, civilized, and immortalized in song and fiction by the cowboys who sleep beneath it and the tourists who watch it and the cowboy sleep beneath it.

Modern ranching methods have made the chuck wagon for the most part obsolete. However, you will find the modernized version of the old-time chuck wagon still pulling out where there is livestock to be moved over distances of five to ten miles, or where the cowboy has to be worked on large ranches where the cattle camp may be as many as 50 miles or more from headquarters.

A ranch still depending on the chuck wagon is the huge cattle operation, owned and operated by the Meccaleiro Apache Cattle Growers. The Cattle Growers ranch on over 700 sections. This represents over 440,000 acres which is a good sized piece of real estate.

Over four thousand head of other cow, graze high prairie country surrounding Sierra Blanca. In the fall the cattle are traded into the lower rolling plain country where they can be fed supplements from the back end of a pick-up during the grazing winter.

Spring rains signal that green grasses will soon be sprouting and, at this time, the cattle are gathered out of the low country pastures and the move is on to the high country. The cowboys throw the herds together and, holding the animals against a convenient fence, brand the calves. The pastures average 50 sections and often four or five drives are necessary to locate the strays.

A few days before all this work begins the bunk house cook and his helper start cleaning and loading the chuck wagon. No longer mule-drawn, the wagon is an 8' by 10' box mounted on a two-ton flat-bed truck chassis, and is actually a mobile kitchen. The truck runs on butane which also serves as fuel for the two gas stoves that provide the cook with 8 burners and 2 ovens. Wooden cabinets containing cupboards and drawers hold the two stoves in place. Folding shelves offer safe transport to pots and pans and other utensils.

Dinner ware is enameled plates, cups and bowls. These unbreakable dishes are washed in a huge dipper in water heated upon the stove. There is no refrigerator and the cook tries to have no leftovers which makes his meal planning difficult especially since the wagon is a drawing card for guests, packing tribal members, visiting kin, cattle buyers and/or inspectors. The wagon has a hinged fold-down table mounted on the side and a canvas fly that is propped up for shelter. Sliding windows provide a space for the cook to reach through and place food on the table.

The day before the wagon is to leave, the cook and his helper load groceries from the ranch commissary. A typical loading for a two-week supply when twenty men will be working is: 400 lbs. potatoes, 100 lbs. beans, 50 lbs. lard, 2 cases each of canned tomatoes, green beans, corn, spinach or other greens, and peas; 5 cases of fruit (pears, peaches, apricots); 2 cases canned milk; 100 lbs. onions, 1 case each of macaroni and spaghetti; 10 haps chuckling while recalling the night when the pressure cooker exploded, blowing a hole in the roof of the wagon and raising hot heavy disaster over all those that were close by.

Another hand, flashing a white toothy smile from behind a hedge of whiskers, might recall the day the cook's helper (reinforced with a bottle of wine picked up in Mesquero) drove the chuck wagon off a cliff.

The Apache Indian's fondness for chili is second only to the Mexican's. The chuck wagon cook seems to believe that pepper will cure any ailment. Some member of the crew might tell again the story of an unpopular wagon boss, of the past, who fell out with the cook with the result that the two were not speaking.

The wagon boss, host to a reviving ulcer, was soon suffering from near starvation due to the cook's unique revenge. In trying to avoid the cook's unvoiced challenge the wagon boss was reduced to eating canned peaches, pears and apricots. On cold mornings his only reprieve was his morning bowl of hot oatmeal, a bland island swash in a sea of canned milk, frosted with sugar. On successive mornings he was dismayed to find green chili fried with the steak, cut up in the gravy, beat into the eggs and finally, mixed into the biscuits. His surrender was signaled in a respectful plea, "Please don't chill in the oatmeal." The cook had won his point.

The fall work means preparing for shipment to contracted buyers. Snow and ice are constant companions, retarding the work pace, drifting into bedrolls and cascading down inside shirt and jacket collars when a careless head or hand brushes against a snow-laden pine tree.

The story-type, sing-around-the-campfire is limited to listening to music and news on portable transistor radios. For a while radio-borne music might cover the camp with a romantic aura, but soon, the shifting smoke will fill the eyes and beard of the men standing close by; bedrolls will begin to be a temptation and while the cook's helper is still washing the supper dishes, most of the men will be crawling into their bedrolls.

On days when the work has been completed early, the men shoe their assigned horses, play cards and re-tell chuck wagon tales, per-

LETTER TO EDITOR

Dear Mr. McClellan and Mr. Kathman:
 I would like to thank you for printing such a nice paper and for sending it to us Ruidosians away from home.
 While here in college, with no other people from home, the Ruidoso News helps keep me up to date on things around home.
 I know all of the college students who were in the Class of '68 at Ruidoso, really appreciate it, because I have talked to a lot of them.
 It is really great, and keep up the good work in letting people who live here know how wonderful their home is. I didn't realize it until I left.

 Dear Sir:
 Thank you very much for sending me the Ruidoso News this year. It is really nice to read about things that are going on in Ruidoso while I am away.
 This year is going to be quite different from my first year. Being in the upper division courses now I can see that it won't be fun and games as last year. But, now that I am settled and know my way around, it will also be a lot more fun and excitement. The work is much harder, but now I see a purpose in it all. Again, thanks a lot.

Mental Health Today

by Medical Director SWMHS
 (Editor's Note: This column is one of a series prepared by personnel of the Southwest Mental Health Center in Las Cruces and presented as a public service by the Ruidoso News. The column is part of the consultation and education services offered by the center in its effort to contact persons who counsel or advise the mentally disturbed.)

Questions or comments should be addressed to: SWMHS, Information and Education, 535 E. Melendres, Las Cruces, N. M. 88001.)

Why treat mental illness in the hospital rather than the state community? This question is asked many times by various people. It is a good question and one that deserves much space in this column.

Mental illness is a leading public health problem and has ascended in rank during the past decade. It has ascended to this position due to the decline of infectious diseases, increased public awareness, and probably more stress in our time.

It was pointed out in an earlier column that our mass media bring us into contact with international, national, as well as local problems. Sharing the problems of the world is a tremendous stress.

In the "good old days" mental illness was less of a problem to any community because they ejected the ailments to a distant state hospital. In terms of the community, this was desirable as mental illness was erroneously considered a dangerous condition, and, after all, wasn't this the most humane thing for the individual? The fallacy in this reasoning was that the state hospitals offered custody but not treatment due to overcrowding and understaffing.

Even if they had the staff to treat the patients and work with the family, which is necessary to bring about proper conditions for improvement, they were too far from the community to be effective. Therefore, the mentally ill "withered away" in the institutions, and the communities became more apathetic. "We have no mental illness here, you don't see any crazy people on our streets." This apathy has been shattered by several recent developments. Our population has grown larger, and with this, the number of mentally ill have increased. Yet the number of mentally ill has grown out of proportion to our population growth. Eighty percent of our population has symptoms of mental disorder. Twenty-three percent of our population are in need of treatment for these symptoms. These numbers are too large for any conceivable state hospital system to handle. A community approach at treatment and, more importantly, prevention, seems necessary—and soon. All the causes of mental disorder are not known, and treatment is still in its infancy. What can we do about it? While we mull this over in future columns, I wish to say when it hits me, I want to live in a community where they are doing something about it and not be rejected or ejected. Don't you?

Veteran's! Here's Your Answer

Q—I will be released from service this month—How soon must I begin training under the GI Bill?
 A—Veterans released from active duty after June 1, 1968, have eight years from the date of release from active duty in which to complete their GI Bill education and training. There is no deadline for starting training, nor are there any restrictions against interruption.

Q—My husband, a World War II veteran, died in 1958. We did not have any children. My application for a widow's pension was denied at that time because I had been married to my husband for only three years.
 I am now unable to work because of a disability. Will this be a consideration if I should reapply for a pension?
 A—In itself, your disability would not be a consideration. However, a law passed in 1967 liberalized the five-year marriage requirement in effect at the time of your husband's death. Now a widow needs to have been married to the veteran only one year before his death to meet this pension eligibility requirement.

For information and assistance in reapplying for a pension, contact your nearest VA regional office.

Q—My wife and I are being divorced so I am changing the beneficiary of my government life insurance to my sister. Must I notify my wife of this?
 A—As the insured, you may change the beneficiary at any time without the knowledge or consent of a previously named beneficiary, and you may elect to have the policy paid in a lump sum or monthly.

Jack Daniels Visits Here

Jack Daniels, 1970 gubernatorial hopeful from Hobbs, visited in the News office recently. A look at Daniel's business and political record, coupled with his firm handshake and direct manner makes you wonder if this could be the Democrat's boy in '70.

Currently Jack is a member of the State Legislature where he is chairman of the House Education Committee, and is serving as a member of a special legislative committee studying the state's universities.

Daniels and his wife Elizabeth (Lobby) have three college-age children: Dana, Diane and Bobby. Daniels is a veteran of World War II where he served on a destroyer in the Pacific. He is a member of the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Jack said he's visiting around in different areas of the state in an attempt to familiarize himself with local problems and situations.

After all the fall rains we've had you wouldn't think the forest would ever again be in a fire danger condition. However, due to low humidity and drying conditions we are entering into a danger period. The late rains caused a tremendous growth of tall grass and other inflammables and now since we've had killing freezes we have a potential fire hazard. These growths would provide fine fuel.

Starting last weekend our fire organization was manned by patrolmen who are working in the forest observing. They will be talking to people if they observe any irregularities and will be trying to correct the irregularities.

"Dirty Air" Not Wanted In N. M.

Because "dirty air" contributes significantly to the rise in respiratory diseases, the Board of Directors and Executive Committee of the New Mexico Tuberculosis & Respiratory Disease Association have unanimously adopted the following resolution at their quarterly meeting in Albuquerque.

"The air in New Mexico is good to breathe and the water is good to drink. New Mexico is truly the 'Land of Enchantment' because of our quality environment. People from all over the United States visit our state to enjoy its natural beauty, clean streams and distant clear vistas and many people move to New Mexico for health reasons. Industry is also eyeing our open lands as possible sites for their factories and the people of New Mexico must protect our natural resources. We must not allow our environment to be degraded, despoiled, scarred, and polluted with the attendant effect on our citizens' well-being, comfort and health.

- 1) That no potentially noxious or polluting industry be recruited or allowed anywhere in New Mexico until adequate legislation and regulations have been adopted to require all necessary control measures to eliminate present and future pollution of all types, and
- 2) That such legislation require that control measures and equipment be operative at all times and vacates are made, and
- 3) That adequate financial appropriations be made by state and local legislators to rigidly enforce aforesaid regulations."

DOOMED?—Lindy's Country Store, location of the Alto post office since the 1920's may not survive the '60's. Aileen and "Lindy" Lindmood purchased the property where the 45 year old building stands in June, 1953, from Barney Luck who had lived at Alto for about 35 years. "Lindy" said this week there's been a post office at Alto since 1901 but not in this store until the '20's. Lindy believes that Finco, Inc., of El Paso, purchasers of the property, intend to level the old building. He said he's seen lots of changes at Alto and figures he'll see a lot more.

NOT FOR LONG — Mrs. Aileen Lindmood, postmaster of the post office at Alto, which will be gone soon. She is proud of the miniature painting of the post office which Mrs. John Hall presented to her.

HAFB Explains Low Flights

The citizens of the Holoman area may have noticed that a number of the F-4D Phantom aircraft of the 48th Tactical Fighter Wing have been flying rather low lately.

The aircraft have been flying a new, low-level flight route approved by the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA). According to Major Victor D. Copeland, 9th Tactical Fighter Squadron, the route is a "good weather" route and will be flown only when weather conditions permit.

The route starts approximately 15 miles south of Clovis where the aircraft on the mission rendezvous. They then fly in a north-northeasterly direction to Bluewater where they will turn to a north-northwest. Then it's a straight shot to a point 10 miles east of Duran where the aircraft will make a left turn and once on the west side of the town, head due south to a point approximately 15 miles west of Escondido. At that point, the aircraft turn in a south-westerly direction and the pattern ends directly over Three Rivers, where the pilots will resume normal flight over the Ocurra Range area.

however, in accordance with FAA regulations, these can be no lower than 50 feet and can be flown only on day-visual training missions. All night missions must be done at altitudes of at least 1500 feet.

The route is the latest Holoman route to be approved and is a permanent route. Major Copeland commented that from September through November, there will be an average of 12 aircraft nightly flying the new route. He stressed that these flights would only be taking place if weather permits and that all night flights would be above the 1500-foot minimum.

Further FAA regulations require that the aircraft be kept within a three-mile corridor, either side of the basic route coordinates. Coordinates set forth by the FAA require the aircraft to maintain a distance of at least three miles from all airstrips and forbids their flying over incorporated towns or villages.

Reliable Sitter May Avert Tragedy

Few parents can afford a Mary Poppins to mind the kids when they wish to have an evening out. But employing a responsible baby-sitter who has been given adequate instruction in child care can provide to be the next best thing, advises the Insurance Information Institute.

The sitter should be someone you know well, who likes children and is dependable.

Be sure she has had written instructions as to what you want her to do and include the phone number where you can be reached. Most important, post near the telephone the number of the fire and police department plus the name and number of a friend or neighbor who could take charge in an emergency.

Provide her with a flashlight in case of a power failure. Express upon her the importance of getting the children out first in case of fire, then calling the fire department. Only after the children are safely outside and the fire department is notified should she try to locate the parents.

With hurried mornings-off to school and off to work, are you skipping breakfast? If you are skipping breakfast, you are missing what is considered by many to be the most important meal of the day.

GI Bill Students May Not Be Paid

Several thousand veterans in college this fall will not get the G. I. education check they expect in November from the Veterans Administration, Administrator Donald E. Johnson said today.

It would make him very happy if the college G. I. Bill veteran proved him wrong this fall, he declared.

The fact is, Johnson said, many who were enrolled in college last semester have failed to send in their end-of-term Certification of Attendance card, and cannot be paid in the upcoming school term until they do.

Administrator Johnson said the VA is also holding nearly a half million dollars worth of June G. I. Bill checks, which cannot be mailed either until the attendance card reaches VA computers.

G. I. Bill college students who did mail in their attendance cards in June will get paid the new term allowance on time—but those who skipped mailing to VA the required card certifying that they had completed the spring term will not get paid until they straighten out their accounts with VA.

This can be done, Administrator Johnson said, by mailing in that 3x7 white card with a blue stripe across the top to the VA immediately. If the veteran has lost this Certification of Attendance card he should get in touch with the VA office which has his records, and ask for another.

Administrator Johnson said thousands of delays and thousands of lost man-hours are encountered on college campuses and in VA offices each year—all avoidable if campus G. I.'s and college registrars perform on time the few necessary chores to certify veterans' attendance.

Some of the notorious breakfast skippers think they can lose weight by cutting out breakfast. The fallacy here is that by lunchtime they are so hungry they eat more than they normally would. And then there are the members of the family who say they just don't have time to sit down and eat breakfast, or maybe they're just too sleepy.

Pre-First Students Get Good Start

You'll see their art work when you walk into the entrance at Nob Hill Elementary School. Tacked on a bulletin board are brightly colored pictures of flowers with the student's names printed underneath. They read: Irene, Sylvia, Ronald, Lelana, Phyllis, Calvin and Adelle.

The pre-first grade children are proud of the lobby display and will talk to you about it if you'll sit still long enough and listen. Their school room resembles a playroom in a well organized nursery. There is an outside playground area that opens off the first class room and when the gates are closed it could be a private playground.

A bathroom and shower are available in the classroom. There is a closet stocked full with freshly laundered little dresses, blouses, shirts and pants. Clothes and shoes are donated and handled by the Xi Alpha Rho chapter of Beta Sigma Phi and other interested persons. These are to replace torn, outgrown or dirty clothes when necessary. This is a home away from home to seven students this year. The students range from 4-6 years of age and six are Mesquero Apache Indian children. One is a Spanish speaking child. All of these children would start the first grade with a language and understanding barrier were it not for the pre-first program which attempts to remove the cultural and environmental differences that tend to stigmatize the Indian or Spanish speaking child in the first grade.

Education in the public schools today is designed for the English speaking child and children with communication problems suffer without pre-first preparation.

Teaching pre-first for six years, in Ruidoso, has been Mrs. A. J. (Kathleen) Thompson. She says of her charges, "They are attractive children, well behaved and obedient. They have lots of love to give and they absorb all the love you can give them." Mrs. Thompson has had, this year, her first Apache Indian aide. Her name is NAPTIME—Pre-First grade students nap with cuddly friends while Mrs. Kathleen Thompson prepares the afternoon games and studies.

Bernadine Scott and Mrs. Thompson said she has found Mrs. Scott's ability to speak Apache to be very useful.

In the past when classes were much larger, Mrs. Thompson has had a full time aide. Now, however, Mrs. Scott spends two days a week at Nob Hill school, and three days a week at White Mountain helping with all Indian students.

Mrs. Thompson said the pre-first children love color and love to paint. They have a play kitchen, a cardboard stove with play money, and they learn while they play. Toy telephones are an attraction and Mrs. Thompson said if she must discipline a child she does so by play telephone and that she finds the child accepts this type of rebuke much better than a personal one.

Proceeding on the premise that you cannot educate a hungry child, children who do not receive a morning meal before coming to school, are fed breakfast in the school cafeteria. The pre-first grade is handled by Mrs. Thompson or her aide. Other hungry children from all classes in Nob Hill or White Mountain Elementary Schools receive milk, cereal, toast, bacon, fruit and sometimes eggs. The school receives 15¢ toward the expense of this meal and the cafeteria employees are not reimbursed any extra money for their work and service.

In class, Mrs. Thompson attempts to teach the children their primary colors, numbers 1-10 and introduce them to simple geometry (triangles, squares, circles, etc.) She feels the small class may show great progress this year.

She stated that the children do not seem as frightened when first attending, as they used to be, and credits this to the older children who have been in pre-first. There is also a "get acquainted with little sister or brother" day in the spring. On this day students invite their little brothers and sisters to attend school with them.

In lieu of a formal report card, periodic interviews are requested with the parents. Mrs. Thompson said the Indian children are very intelligent about nature and the outdoors, and are very independent about taking care of themselves. However, their world has been limited in scope and she tries to make them aware of the rest of the world and what is going on in it.

It is generally agreed that in about the sixth grade the Indian children seem to withdraw from school activities and become disinterested. This is attributed to lack of interest on the part of, and non-involvement, of Indian parents.

The pre-first program has been in operation for about 12 years and although changes have occurred, as experience dictated them, the basic concept has remained the same. The object is to prepare 4-6 year old children who have cultural, communicative or other problems that can be helped, to enter the first grade on the same footing with the predominately English speaking children.

Original pre-first pupils who have attended the Ruidoso schools are now graduating and it has been suggested a study might be made to see if these pupils, who were prepared by the pre-first program, have become more proficient students than their predecessors.

Interstate And Defense Highway System

87% of the National System of Interstate and Defense Highway are now open to traffic. The massive project to build 42,500 miles of dual-lane, controlled access super highway began in 1956, and will be completed in the mid-70's. The System will permit coast-to-coast driving without stoplights or congestions. New Mexico ranks among the leading states in completing work on the Interstate System.

Gun Club Sets Annual Sighting In Day Nov. 2

The Ruidoso Gun Club will hold its annual sighting-in day at 10:00 a.m. Nov. 2, at the Ruidoso Gun Club Rifle Range, announced R. H. Hedgecock this week.

There will be experienced personnel on hand to aid in sighting the rifles in and no charge will be made for this service.

In connection with this event, a turkey shoot will be held in which the running deer target will be used.

The range is situated on Cedar Creek. Travel on Highway 37 to Cedar Creek Road, turn left, north of the Forest Service Office, go one-half mile turn right, and you will be at the range, Hedgecock said.

JIM COOPER

Named Columnist On Student Newspaper

Jim Cooper of Ruidoso has been named as a columnist of New Mexico State University's award-winning student newspaper, The Round Up.

A sophomore majoring in general business at NMSU, Cooper is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie P. Cooper of Ruidoso. He is a 1958 graduate of Thomas Jefferson High School in San Antonio, Texas.

Santa Rosa Hatchery Is On Stand-By

The Santa Rosa National Fish Hatchery has been placed on standby for the remainder of fiscal year 1970, it was announced by Regional Director William T. Krummes of the Bureau of Sports Fisheries and Wildlife.

Mr. Krummes said the Bureau's decision was prompted by the relative inefficiency of the operations there, compared with other National Fish Hatcheries. This condition is attributed largely to the quality of the water available for fish culture use. He further stated that although he regrets the necessity of this action, there will be no curtailment of the Bureau's contribution to sport fishing and farm pond stocking in New Mexico or elsewhere due to the inactivity at Santa Rosa.

Walter J. Hickey, Secretary of the Interior, has praised the "Johnny Horizon weekend public lands cleanup campaign." Hickey said the cost of removing litter from public lands, parks and highways is about $500 million annually.

Permits Are Available For Deer Hunt

A number of either sex entry permits for special deer hunts in the San Andres-Organ and McGregor areas are still available. The Department of Game and Fish has a drawing and these were the only area that were undersubscribed.

Applications will be accepted by mail only in the Santa Fe office of the Department of Game and Fish. They will be issued on a first-come-first-served basis until the number of permits authorized has been reached. Application blanks, Number D-4, are available at license vendors and Department offices.

The hunt areas located near Las Cuevas still have 900 permits for the San Andres-Organ hunt and 200 permits for the McGregor area. The McGregor season is November 29 and the San Andres-Organ hunt is for November 29-30.

Successful hunters who applied for other special hunt areas should have been notified by Oct. 10. These are successful in the drawing and will not be notified, but can apply again for some of the later special hunts. The deadline for the applications is Nov. 23.

New Mexico has shown a 206 percent increase in deaths from emphysema and chronic bronchitis during the past ten years.

Hunters Can Be Reached In Emergency

Emergency messages to deer hunters will be delivered via radio due to a program between many of the state's radio stations, State Police and the Department of Game and Fish.

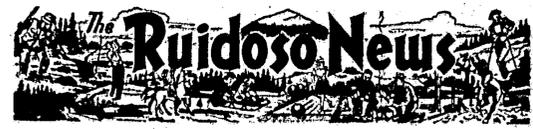

The state agencies will take the calls, determine if a true emergency exists and then call the radio stations in the area where the hunter is located. These needing this service may call the Department of Game and Fish during working hours and the State Police after hours and on weekends.

Hunters are encouraged to fill out the form on page 4 of the hunting proclamation so that they can be more easily located should an emergency develop while they are away.

The cooperating stations and their broadcast times are listed and most programs are set for early morning and mid day.

CORONA MAVERICKS—Mounted group representing the Coronas Mavericks 4-H Club in Saturday's Lincoln Fair Parade. In this group Coygirl.

A while back I happened to be in the little village of Mayhill over Cloudcroft way. In the village store I was talking to an old timer. He was telling me he lived over on the Air Chikeet.

I told him I could not place this location. And the store keeper offered his help. "He is trying to say he lives on the Agwee Chikeety," he said.

The old timer shrugged his shoulders and gave a look at the store keeper half of apology and half of defiance and said "Well, I never was no hand to talk Meekin."

The place they were talking about was a stream named by the early Spaniards "El Agua Chiquila". Which means The Little Water or The Little Stream.

Here in Lincoln County and in all New Mexico we are talking a little Spanish all the time. When we say San Patricio, Las Cruces, El Paso, Platoro, Sierra Blanca, Mesa, Pajaritos, Rio Grande, Corral, Arroyo, Mesquite, Chilli Con Carne, Tortillas, Rio Grande and Ruidoso—we are talking the language of proud Spain whether we are "any hand to talk Meekin" or not.

Some of our Lincoln County words are on the half-way ground between Gringo and Spanish like larkit rope, Neckley, Dymee, Dale Hueke, Mustang, and so on. So a new blended language comes into being as the years go by.

The Spanish language with all its great charm, color and history, is part of the spirit of New Mexico and of Lincoln County.

Many of you remember Johnnie Davis, formerly of Lincoln County and now of Albuquerque. He played the part of Billy the Kid in the Lincoln Pageant in 1949 and 1950. Johnnie told me this little yarn.

Back in the covered wagon days a pioneer and his family arrived, from Tennessee or somewhere, at the little Lincoln County settlement of Jicarilla. Is the post office still there — does anybody know?

After a little while this pioneer asked his neighbors, "Where do you get fire wood around here?"

"We go out and dig for mesquite roots," he was told. So the pioneer whirled in and grubbed up mesquite roots for his Dutch oven and boiling pot and coffee pot, etc. "Where do you get water around here?" he asked a neighbor.

"Oh, you have to go up the mountain to the spring," he was told. So the pioneer hitched up old Dummy and Grey and took the barrels up to the spring and filled them and came on down to his Large or small...

...your business can't afford unanswered phone calls

To stop being calls that send business to your competitors, you need an Electronic Secretary® telephone answering set. When you're out, it answers the phone with your message, and then records up to two hours of incoming calls. When you return, you can play back the messages, never missing a call or an order.

You could use your Electronic Secretary to take customers' orders during the day, and then, by simply changing the message, record out-of-town salesman's reports in the evening. After hours, professional people use the set to let patients or clients know where they may be reached. Or, the Electronic Secretary may be used to announce everything from the weather report to a grocery store sale to the subject of your club's next meeting.

With an Electronic Secretary you never miss a call and keep in touch with customers or clients even when your office is closed. All this convenience for just pennies a day. There's no capital investment and maintenance is free. For more information, phone our business office today.
