Salad Day Slated At Woman's Club Monday, Oct. 26

A salad day will be held at the Ruidoso Woman's Club on Monday, Oct. 26, instead of the regular luncheon. There will be no hostesses, and those attending should bring a salad or a covered dish of some kind. Coffee and tea will be provided at the club house. After the lunch, card games of bridge and canasta will be played.

All area women interested are invited to participate in these weekly events, which are held in the Woman's Club building, located just one block north of Suddorth Drive on the Carrijo Canyon Road.

Mizar-Ross Wedding Held In Ross Home In Ruidoso Oct. 12

Miss Kathryn Mizar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Mizar of El Paso, Texas, and Alan Ross of El Paso, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ross of Ruidoso, were united in marriage in a double-ring ceremony performed by Rev. Charles Churchfield, pastor of the Community United Methodist Church in Ruidoso, on Monday, Oct. 12, at 4 p.m. in the home of the bride's parents in Ruidoso.

The bride was given in marriage by Dr. Chester C. Christian, a friend. Mrs. Christian served the bride as matron of honor, and best man was Kenny Fernandez of El Paso, a friend of the bridegroom.

A reception was held in the Ross home after the ceremony with close friends and relatives attending. Wedding cake and punch were served and the bride's bouquet of white carnations was placed on the refreshment table.

The bride will make her home in El Paso while the bridegroom is stationed at Baltimore, Md. on a tour of duty in the U. S. Army. The bridegroom attended Ruidoso schools and attended the University of Texas at El Paso where he majored in accounting. He was employed by the George Angeles Accounting firm in El Paso before going into the U. S. Army, and will return to his work with that firm after his tour of duty.

The bride has a B. A. degree in Spanish from University of Texas at El Paso, and is now employed at the Inter-American Institute at UTEP.

Local Composer's Song To Be On Records Soon

Mrs. Minnie Mae Everett of Ruidoso and Odessa, Texas who has composed many songs which have been introduced over national television networks and sold in large numbers as recordings and sheet music in years past, has another song which has not been published as a recording before, and which is expected to be recorded and on the market by Christmas time this year. The song is entitled "Old Fashioned Christmas".

Mrs. Everett began composing songs as a hobby and later submitted her songs to the recording companies which offered her contracts to publish her songs on records.

In the early 1950's her song "Texas Millionaire" was featured on the Tonight Show when Ekeve Allen was the emcee and Skitch Henderson was the leader of the Tonight Show orchestra. A clipping in Mrs. Everett's scrapbook reads: "Mrs. Minnie Mae Everett of Lubbock, was hostess to Steve Allen and his Tonight Show at a midnight breakfast at the Town Club of Hotel Texas in Ft. Worth. The Allen troupe was in Ft. Worth for its first appearance in "Cowtown" to do a show from Will Rogers Auditorium, originating from WRAP-TV and was piped across the nation on NBC. Mrs. Everett's new Decca recording of "Texas Millionaire" was introduced to Allen and Company. The "Texas Millionaire" recording is to be released currently by Decca in New York". Mrs. Everett is also the composer of "In Lovely Old New Mexico", "Why Oh Why", "I'm In Love For Always" and "Baby Angel".

The song "Texas Millionaire" recently was published in a book of music called "Sonigo from the Hills" by the Valley Publishing Co. of New York. This song was recorded by Terres Brower with Lawrence Welk's orchestra as an album number and also was published as sheet music in the 1950's.

In 1956 Mrs. Everett was in Hollywood, Calif., to appear on national television on the Arthur Godfrey Talent Scouts program where she introduced "The Coronado", a vocal trio from Albuquerque who was formerly known as The Grain Trio. Reuben, Anita and Steven. This group earlier had sung several of Mrs. Everett's songs in their appearances. They had appeared in Las Vegas, Nev.; New Orleans, Miami, Hollywood, Calif., and in New York at the Waldorf Astoria and the Copacabana. The Coronado sang Mrs. Everett's song, "Spanish Blues" as their Talent Scout program presentation. The title to this song was later changed to "No, No Blues" when it was recorded on Victor Records.

Mrs. Everett said in the later part of the 1950's the song trends were changing. Elvis Presley, The Beatles and Rock and Roll were becoming more and more popular and Mrs. Everett's and similar songs were not heard as much. Recently however, Mrs. Everett wrote the companies who have her contracts and received a reply that "although the contracts had expired, they hoped she would let them keep the songs because they expected the trend to change again before long."

Mrs. Everett and her husband, S. A. "Gus" Everett have three married daughters and a number of grandchildren. "Gus" Everett has now retired after some 60 years in the oil field business. He began his oil field work at Burk Burnett, Texas and also worked in Oklahoma and California as a driller, later becoming a tool gusher. Everett built up quite a reputation for unclogging "stuck" pipe. Although now retired, he has been called upon a number of times for consultation and trouble shooting jobs.

In addition to Mrs. Everett's accomplishments as a song composer, she has also written a large number of poems and was offered a contract by Hallmark Card Co. but declined because it would have required that she would have to write a tremendous amount of poems and to meet a certain deadline. She says she prefers to write her poems when she has the inspiration to do so.

Graves-Ford Vows Slated For Nov. 7 In Farmington

Announcement was made this week of the engagement and forthcoming marriage of Miss Deborah Graves, daughter of Mrs. Betty Graves of Farmington, to Gary Lee Ford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Ford of Ruidoso. The wedding will be held on Saturday, Nov. 7, at 2 p.m. in Kingdom Hall in Farmington. Friends of the couple are invited to attend.

The bride-elect is a junior in the Farmington High School. The prospective bridegroom is employed in building maintenance in Farmington.

Extension Club To Meet Oct. 28 In OES Hall Here

The Ruidoso-Hondo Valley Extension Club will meet at 12:30 p.m. on Wednesday, Oct. 28, in the Eastern Star Hall in Ruidoso for a covered dish luncheon and meeting. The program for the afternoon will be on "Gifts From the Kitchen". Hostesses for the luncheon will be Mrs. Ed Sanders, Mrs. Wiljo Lila, Mrs. Reuben Larson and Mrs. Laura Halladay.

Wes Russell of Ruidoso is a patient in Eastern N. M. Medical Center in Roswell where he recently underwent surgery. He is in Room 218.

Grassroots Opinion

LURAY, VA., PAGE NEWS AND COURIER: "It may be some small comfort to our readers to realize that the high cost of living was not invented in the 20th century. In 1776 the wife of President John Adams wrote a letter in which she complained about the price of corn, $24 per bushel; meat, average of $2 a pound; potatoes $10 a bushel; and sugar, tea and coffee at about $4 a pound. Now do you feel any better?"

Duplicate Bridge Games Scheduled Friday, Oct. 23

The regular duplicate bridge games will be held Friday, Oct. 23, beginning at 1 p.m. in the Ruidoso Woman's Club building. Anyone interested in participating in these games can phone Mrs. Mary Muhn for more information at 257-2052.

Announcement was made Wednesday night by District Judge W. T. Eggstein of the appointment of T. L. Thompson of Ruidoso as probation officer for this area. He will have an office in the Ruidoso Municipal Building.

Under the leadership of a college trained former minister, Wendell Chino, the Mesquero Apache Indians have begun a self-instilled tribal development program which their top men hope will make them economically and socially independent.

Miss Billie F. Clark, daughter of Mrs. Lobe Chubbuck, has been picked by a committee of the Ruidoso Chamber of Commerce to serve as this city's Sun Princess at the annual Sun Carnival in El Paso. She graduated with honors from Ruidoso High School and attended Oklahoma University and New Mexico Western at Silver City. She is now employed at Holston Air Force Base near Alamogordo.

There is good hunting for bear in the Lincoln National Forest this year in the area around Bonito Lake. So far 16 bears have been killed, some with bow and arrow, under guidance of Sammy Jones of Carlsbad, noted Southwestern New Mexico hunter.

Rehearsals have already begun by several different groups for their presentation of special numbers in the star-studded third annual Beta Sigma Phi Variety Show to be presented in the local auditorium Nov. 5.

The Ruidoso-Hondo Valley Rotary Club has put up the first of a number of signs to be posted up and down the Rio Ruidoso to help keep our river clean.

Sorority Group From Texas Tech Visits Ruidoso

A group of 75 members of the Alpha Chi Omega sorority from Texas Tech College at Lubbock spent last weekend at Paso Monte Ranch at AKO and also enjoyed various recreational activities in Ruidoso. One of the chaperones with the group was Mrs. Jack Ryan of Houston.

NEWS 'N NOTES

By MARY ELLEN FAYNE (Lincoln County Home Agent)

If your autumn meals have taken a turn for the ho-hum, they can be perk'd up with thrifty cuts of beef. New Mexico State University offers a publication to help you with your planning. The booklet called "Treats From Thrifty Cuts of Beef" gives buying suggestions, recipes and directions for cooking the less tender cuts of beef. It also discusses meat tenders and how they work. An alphabet of taste testers is also included. The booklet is available at the County Extension Office.

Christmas giving is not too far away to start thinking of useful gifts. Is there anyone on your list who would welcome a basic cookbook? There are 10 very good suggestions outlined in the leaflet "Selecting a Basic Cookbook." This leaflet is a part of the Family Living Series from New Mexico State University and is also free for the asking at the County Extension Office.

Extension Clubs around the county have been active in many programs in the last several weeks. The Anna de Casa Club in the Ruidoso area, decorated a float for the Aspenacle parade. The Coronado Junior Homemakers met to make tuffed pillow tops and plan programs for the coming year. The Corona Extension Club will hold their regular monthly meeting on October 22nd and discuss new Christmas ideas. A group of Captain women met for their first Extension club meeting in the home of Judy Bunnerville. Eleven members were present to share in a lesson on "Onts from the Home Kitchen."

Home Rule Amendment Information

Limits on Home Rule Power—The adoption of a home rule charter would not give the residents of a municipality unlimited power to govern themselves. The proposed amendment, Constitutional Amendment Number 1 which will be voted on at the November 3 general election, imposes certain limits on the powers of home rule municipalities.

There are three basic types of limitations provided for in the amendment. A municipality which adopts a charter would be able to exercise all legislative powers and perform all functions not expressly denied by the constitution, state law or the charter.

The home rule amendment itself places certain restrictions on the powers of home rule municipalities. Perhaps the most important of these involves the power of a municipality to tax.

The proposed amendment provides that the voters of the municipality would have to approve any tax imposed by the local governing body except those taxes authorized by state law.

If the legislature authorized municipalities to impose a certain tax, imposition of this tax would not have to be approved by the voters. However, the charter of the municipality could require voter approval of any tax, even a tax authorized by the legislature.

If a charter municipality wanted to impose a tax not authorized by the legislature nor prohibited by it, voter approval would be required before the tax would become effective.

In addition to the constitutional limit on the taxing power of municipalities, the proposed amendment also provides that a city does not have the power "to enact private or civil laws governing civil relationship except an incident to the exercise of an independent municipal power." In addition, a charter municipality could not provide for a penalty greater than the penalty provided for a petty misdemeanor.

The legislature would be able to set limits on the powers of home rule municipalities by passing laws prohibiting cities from exercising certain duties.

The proposed amendment does not require the legislature to pass laws limiting the power of home rule municipalities, but it does allow it to impose prohibitions.

For example, the legislature could prohibit home rule cities from exercising certain taxing powers or from performing certain functions.

The power of home rule municipalities could be further limited by language in the charter itself. The charter could prohibit the city government from performing certain functions or it could limit the exercise of powers not prohibited by the constitution or state law.

Depending on the wishes of the residents of a municipality, the charter could place stricter limits on the powers of the municipal government under home rule than it would have without home rule.

Home rule would allow residents of municipalities to govern themselves within the limits imposed by the constitution, state law and the charter.

The next article in this series deals with the effect of the proposed home rule amendment on the citizen.

Meat Inspection in New Mexico Meets Standards

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has certified the New Mexico meat inspection program is equal to the current federal one, under provisions of the Wholesale Meat Act.

As a result, the New Mexico Livestock Board now has full responsibility for inspection of meat slaughter and processing plants doing business wholly within the state.

W. A. Lundahl, extension livestock specialist at New Mexico State University, approximately 45 intrastate plants now operating under the Livestock Board will be affected by the certification, he adds.

To earn "at least equal to" status, New Mexico had to develop laws, regulations, sampling and staking, as well as actual inspection, matching the federal program conceived by USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service.

The New Mexico inspection budget for fiscal 1971, which began July 1 of this year, totals nearly $200,000, including federal matching funds.

New Mexico joins three other states in having "at least equal to" meat inspection under California, Texas and Maryland. These three states were so certified in November, 1968.

Cost of Raising Family Is Noted

Many a parent, bouncing an infant on his knee, has stated—"My child is worth his weight in gold." This is nearly the literal truth, says Miss Jackie M. Pinson, extension family finance specialist at New Mexico State University.
To prove her point, Miss Pinson cites Institute of Life Insurance figures that estimate it costs a family $30,000 to raise a child to the age of 18. This figure varies widely depending on family circumstances.
Breaking this price tag down, Miss Pinson reports that about $3000 goes for the expenses of birth and then medical care throughout the 18 years. The infant does not consume much food, but food costs grow as the child grows, to a total food bill of $8000.
Clothing accounts for almost $4000, and the child's share of family housing expense, are $3000. Another $400 goes for transportation. Personal care, recreation, and education are responsible for about $2600.
Add all this up and it's almost $30,000. Miss Pinson points out that this doesn't include the cost of a college education, which may easily cost another $15,000 at a four-year institution.
Any way you look at it, that little bundle of joy may truly be worth his weight in gold!

Tularosa Wildcats Dump Warriors 14-0 On Snow Covered Field

On a cold night with snow covering the playing field, Ruidoso's Warriors dropped a 14-0 decision to their arch rivals, the Tularosa Wildcats here Friday night.
The game, which still leaves a question in the minds of Warrior backers as to who had the better team, was a game of fumbles, sliding and treacherous footing for the ball carriers and would-be tacklers as well.
Neither team could mount a scoring drive that carried but a few yards. Most of the yardage gained was either by a fumble recovery or a long penalty called by the referees.
Tularosa drove to the Ruidoso 10-yard line and the 15-yard line in the first quarter, both penetrations coming from the results of recovered fumbles. The Warriors drove to the Wildcat 14-yard line in the third quarter after Tularosa tried to pick up one yard on fourth down from their own 20 yard line. Ruidoso's defense held, allowing the offense to take over.
Tularosa scored both their touchdowns with less than 9 minutes showing on the scoreboard clock. Eddie Ray Telles' Wildcat quarterback, rolled to his left and found some good footing and raced 43-yards for the first Tulle TD. David Webb, Wildcat tackle, intercepted a Blaine Miller pass minutes later and raced 44 yards for a 12-0 lead for the Wildcats. A pass was good for the 2-point conversion that wound up the scoring for the night.
Don't worry if a rival imitates you. While he follows in your tracks he can't pass you. —William Halboester, Jr., The Home (Bath, Pa.) News.

Lindamoods Recall Early Lincoln Co.

By LOIS LANE
Mrs. Alleen Lindamood, postmaster of the Alto Post Office near here, recently talked to the News about her recollections of some very colorful and historically significant members of her family who were influential in building Lincoln County to what it is today.

John A. Haley—
Mrs. Lindamood's father, John A. Haley, who first came to Lincoln County in the 1890's from Texas, was a respected and well-known newspaper man in the county, editing and owning papers in both Capitan and Carrizozo during his lifetime.

She remembers that the newspaper business was entirely different in those days; particularly in the style of writing utilized. More time went into the writing, and it was of a more beautiful, "flowery" style than she says.

As an example she showed us the Feb. 17, 1906 issue of the "Capitan News" which her father edited containing a write-up of her aunt's wedding. The ceremony was performed by Mr. Haley who was the judge at the time.

The story reads,
"At the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. A. E. Lesnett, Sunday at 4 o'clock p.m., George Dinwall and Miss Bessie Lesnett were married in the presence of a few friends, Judge Jno. A. Haley performing the ceremony. After the ceremony a light repast was served, and the young couple left for their home at Coalora accompanied by the well wishes of their friends.

"The bride was born and grew to womanhood among the mountains of Lincoln County, and her charming, modest deportment has made for her a wide circle of friends.

"The groom is a young man of integrity and enjoys the confidence of business associates. He holds a position of trust with the Southwestern Mercantile Co., and his western dealings have won the respect and esteem of his employers and customers.

"Best wishes are extended."

The Haley family often traded out advertising for goods with merchants in town, as they did with Zigler Brothers in Carrizozo, and the children always had free passes to all the carnivals and shows that came through town in exchange for advertising in the paper.

One item in the 1905 Capitan paper was particularly interesting to Mrs. Lindamood, showing that people were complaining about the mail service even 65 years ago when the mail came by stage-coach!

"Our mail reaches us with regularity, and as long as we can expect nothing else; or, at least, until a change is made to the train from the rawhide."

Haley was born on Oct. 24, 1868 in Johnson County, Texas and attended college at Howard-Payne in Brownwood, Texas. Mrs. Lindamood still has the receipt for her father's check for "tuition and incidental fees for one term" at Howard-Payne in the amount of $18.50.

After teaching school for a time in Texas, Haley moved to White Oaks where he taught school from 1893 until 1895 and then again from 1901 to 1902.

He met Miss Jennie A. Lesnett, a young school teacher and music teacher in Lincoln, and married her on May 5, 1897. His wife died in 1914, leaving him two children.

In 1908 Haley purchased the "Capitan News" and later moved the paper to Carrizozo where it became the "Carrizozo News."

In 1913 Haley was appointed postmaster of the Carrizozo Post Office, which was an accounting office for all of Lincoln County at that time. At the time he assumed charge of the office he was busy engaged in publishing a year book about Lincoln County, a copy of which Mrs. Lindamood still has in her possession. The book contains pictures of scenes in Lincoln County and of its leading citizens, a brief history of the county and articles about each community all of which become more interesting as time goes by.

Haley was extremely active in the county organization of the Democratic party and in community affairs. He served as judge for a time while he lived in Capitan and was also the county superintendent of schools. In that capacity he was required to make periodic visits to the schools in the county, quite a trip considering that he had to make the journey in a horse drawn surry.

"Dad never owned a car or learned to drive one," Mrs. Lindamood says. "He just never was interested in them."

In his "Leading Facts of New Mexico History" Ralph Emerson Twissell writes that Haley was "the recognized leader of the Democratic party in his county and has exerted much influence in its behalf through editorial work . . . In his capacity as newspaper owner and editor he became widely known making his paper, an attractive journal well worthy of public support."

Frank and Annie Lesnett—
Mrs. Lindamood's grandparents on her mother's side, Frank and Annie Lesnett, first settled in Lincoln County in 1877 when they bought 1/2 interest in the Dowlin Mill in Ruidoso from Will Dowlin. In 1882 they bought Dowlin's interest in the mill and became sole owners.

Annie Lesnett came to Ruidoso

Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Lindamood

from Chicago after her husband had bought the mill and settled things for her. She came to the old mill by way of train and stage-coach arriving there the day after a man named Jerry Dalton had killed Paul Dowlin and escaped. Mrs. Lesnett has told her granddaughter, Alleen Lindamood, that Dalton was never captured after the incident.

Mrs. Lindamood says that her grandmother was at first frightened by the wild animals and Indians out here, but soon adjusted and became very friendly with the Indians who came to the Mill to visit, one of which was Geronimo. One of her Indian friends presented her with a beautiful buckskin dress, moccasins and beads which she wore to a masked ball on one of her trips back to Chicago and won first prize.

The Lesnetts lived at the Mill all during the Lincoln County War, but it was Frank Lesnett's wish that they take no sides in the dispute. Mrs. Lesnett, however, was friendly to Billy the Kid and fed him often when he visited the Mill (unknown to her husband).

In 1907 when Annie Lesnett was 82 years old she wrote of her memories of her life at the Mill, and of Billy the Kid and the Lincoln County War.

She described the Kid's escape from McQueen's store in Lincoln after the famous 3-day battle in which Alexander McQueen was killed: Many bullets were wasted, for the Kid, jumping from side to side as he ran, was a very elusive target. Each gun was aimed with care and each bullet winged with hatred as it sought to find a way to his heart as he crossed that space of thirty feet.

"But not one touched his body, though they ripped his clothes to shreds."

Mrs. Lindamood wears Mrs. Lesnett's engagement ring which Frank Lesnett presented to her grandmother in 1876. She is the third generation to wear the ring.

Frank Lesnett, Mrs. Lindamood's grandfather, was the first postmaster in Ruidoso in 1882, a fact which coupled with her father's postmastership of the Carrizozo post office in 1913, makes Mrs. Lindamood a third generation postmaster. She and her husband, F. B. Lindamood, operate a store in connection with the Alto Post Office much the same as the first postmaster there did in 1801.

Conway Speaks Before Ruidoso Rotary Club On Amendments

John E. Conway, Republican candidate for State Senator from Lincoln and Otero Counties, spoke Tuesday to the Ruidoso Rotary Club on the constitutional amendments which will appear on the Nov. 3 ballot. Conway discussed the fact that not a great deal of publicity has been given to the amendment, and that several of them, if approved by the voters, will have a considerable effect on State government. Conway pointed out that Governor Cargo recently announced that he felt the third proposed amendment, which covers four-year terms for the governor and other major State officials, would be unconstitutional because, if passed, it would go into effect on Jan. 1, 1971.

The candidate in discussing the amendments gave arguments both pro and con. Conway stated, "I hope that all of the voters will make every effort to acquaint themselves with the amendments before the Nov. 3 election."

SLASH AREA—Shown above is the slash in Kraus Canyon that the Forest Service will be burning soon if fire conditions permit. The loggers on this permit were requested to skid the trees with all limbs remaining on the trees to the slash area to prevent disturbing the soil any more than necessary. This method seems to be working out even better than the service had hoped, a forest service spokesman said. (Ruidoso-News Photo)

Your Social Security

Moving soon? There always seem to be a hundred and one things to do when a family is getting ready to move.

"And one of the things that social security beneficiaries should remember is to notify the Social Security Administration of their new address," said Bill Riggs, social security Field Representative.

"It's an easy enough thing to do," Riggs continued. "Just telephone the nearest social security office. The people there will need to know the name and social security claim number

Lincoln National Forest Soils Are Among Most Fertile In Nation

Representatives of the Forest Service here say that the soils in the Lincoln National Forest are among the most fertile under the sky that appear on the monthly check, and the new address including ZIP code.

By doing this promptly the monthly benefit checks will continue coming without any delay or interruptions. In addition, the post office should be notified of the new address.

direction of the Forest Service and therefore are destined to be among the most richly managed in the nation. Under the almost ideal conditions in our area, it is necessary that timber stands be periodically thinned and harvested to keep the forest in a healthy condition.

Loggers are required to skid the trees with all limbs remaining on the trees to the slash area for burning to prevent disturbing the soil any more than necessary.

The forest service is now in the process of trying many new methods of slash clean-up to prevent air pollution. Among the methods being tried are chipping and lopping.

In the chipping process, all of the residue is run through a chipping mill and reduced to chips about 1 1/2 inches, and scattered so that they will disintegrate as soon as possible. This is a fairly expensive process at the present time although work is being done to perfect a system that is more efficient.

The lopping process seems to be very effective and can be done at a fairly reasonable cost. Lopping consists of cutting the residue of the logging operation so that nothing stands over two feet high. This not only leaves a neat appearance but also gets the residue to the surface of the soil where it will break down much more quickly.

The Forest Service will keep the public informed about projects in progress in the area and asks them for their support in maintaining and preserving the forest for the best use of the most people.

1971 Draft Sequence Is Announced

Mrs. Elizabeth Jackson, executive secretary of Local Board No. 14 of the Selective Service, has announced the new order of induction for 1971, to begin in January. This 1971 Draft Sequence applies to registrants in classes I-A, I-A-O, and I-O.

Order of Call—

First Aid Pamphlet Available To Public

In a family medical emergency, how many parents have even basic knowledge in giving necessary treatment?

Leo Yates, extension family life specialist at New Mexico State University says an easy-to-read guide on "First Aid in the Home" has been published nationally and is available to those wishing copies.

"Included is information on what to do for poisoning, bleeding, burns and scalds, shock, broken bones and eye contamination," Yates says. "There are also illustrated instructions on the mouth-to-mouth breathing technique of artificial respiration."

The 9-by-10 inch guide also has space for emergency telephone numbers and contains self-adhesive backing for easy fastening to the inside of the medicine chest or other handy surface in the home.

It was produced by the Council on Family Health, a non profit organization, in cooperation with the American Medical Association, the American Academy of Pediatrics, and the American Association of Poison Control Centers.

Single copies may be obtained by sending 15 cents for handling and mailing to: Council on Family Health, Department FA, 495 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y. 10022.

CONTEST

☆ EXCITING FUN! ☆ ANYONE CAN ENTER! ☆ NOTHING TO BUY!

All You Do Is PICK THE WINNERS . . .

One Game Will Be Found In Each Sponsor's

Ad . . . Just Circle Your Choice and Guess Score on "Tie-Breaker" Game!

Instructions:

- Contest will run for ten consecutive weeks. Each week is a separate contest, with $42.50 in prizes offered each and every week.
- There are TWENTY games to pick each week. One game will be found in each participating merchant's ad appearing on this page. On nineteen games all you do is circle the winner. On the one game designated as the "tie-breaker", guess the score of the game.
- Anyone can enter (over age 12). Only one entry per person. More than one entry will disqualify all your entries.
- Entries must be turned in to designated places not later than 5:00 p.m. the following Thursday before the games. Entries may be mailed to the Ruidoso News, but must be postmarked before 9:00 a.m. Monday.
- Be sure entry is correctly filled out, and signed with your name and address. Incorrect entries will be disqualified. In all instances, decision of the judges will be final.
- In case of a tie, contestant guessing closest to the correct score on the "tie-breaker" game will be the winner. In case of identical scores, prize money will be divided.
- Employees of the News and their families are not eligible to enter. Owners and employees of participating merchants may enter.

Watch This Space Each Week for instructions on where to turn in your completed entry . . . "turn-in" spots will change each week!

Third Graders Write Thank You's

(Editor's Note: These letters were received from members of Mrs. Susan Miller and Miss Linda McCloskey's third grade class at the White Mountain Elementary School which toured the Ruidoso News Office in October. We enjoyed reading the letters so much, we thought some of our readers might like to see them, too.)

Dear Mr. Lane,
I enjoyed looking around. It was fun to learn how a newspaper was printed. Thank you very much.
Sincerely,
Bob Brunton

Dear Mr. Lane,
I liked the field trip that you let us take. I liked the press very much. The press makes the papers. Enjoyed the press. I like the paper to see the press the most. Thank you very much.
Sincerely,
Name is Chuckey or Charlie, Box 50.

Dear Mr. Lane,
Thank you for showing us the newspaper office. I like it. There is a lot of ink over there. Do you get dirty there? It was fun. Why do you have so much ink there?
Sincerely,
Regina Miranda

Dear Mr. Lane,
Thank you for showing us the news paper office. It was fun. I liked the printing press.
Sincerely,
Rhonda

Dear Mr. Lane,
I enjoyed going to your news paper office. I liked the printing press.
Sincerely,
Karrri Sears

Dear Mr. Lane,
I liked the news paper office, printing machine and the copy maker. That pig was heavy. I'd like to come again.
Sincerely,
Troy Parker

Waterfowl Season Opened October 17.

Waterfowl seasons opened in the Pacific Flyway portion of New Mexico, Saturday, Oct. 17. That portion of the state which lies west of the Continental Divide is in the Pacific Flyway.

The duck season will be open through Jan. 17, with bag and possession limits of six and 12. Limits of five and 10 on mergansers will be in addition to duck limits. The merganser bag limit may not include more than one hooded merganser and the possession limit may not include more than two.

The goose season also will be open through Jan. 17, in that portion south of U. S. 90. The Pacific Flyway portion of the state, north of 90 is closed. The limit on geese will be two per day or in possession.

Shooting hours on waterfowl in the Pacific Flyway will be one-half hour before sunrise to sunset.

Students Learn Arts and Crafts At Fort Stanton Jewelry Workshop

In a small room at Fort Stanton School a young man bends attentively over a piece of copper shaped like a roadrunner. With a small piece of sandpaper he carefully polishes the surface of the metal bird.

Across the table from him sits a young girl who deftly paints and powders another animal-shaped piece of copper in preparation for firing in the oven. Still other students in the same room are busy loading the ovens (kilns) with the coated copper pieces, or attaching various pins and hooks to them.

The workers in this room are all mentally retarded students enrolled at the state training school in south central New Mexico. They are involved in a sheltered workshop program to make ceramic jewelry.

The jewelry class began as an experiment last November, according to Director of Education, Horace Cordova. Since then it has mushroomed into a nearly self-supporting program consisting of four other craft workshops. Ceramics, weaving, bead stringing and sewing are now being offered to the students as a source of training and limited income.

Jewelry making has proved the most successful workshop to date, Cordova said, since the products are easily marketed. At least six shops in Ruidoso, Roswell and Capitan are now selling the jewelry, which ranges in price from $1 to $5.50. Plans are underway to expand sales to Albuquerque and Santa Fe.

With the five teachers in the education department, Cordova has spent the past year trying to determine which students belong in what type of training. Not all students are in workshops. Some are strictly in academics, others are in both.

"In the beginning I developed a form for grouping the students," Cordova recalled, "but later I found the best approach was to work with them on various projects to see what they actually were capable of doing, with some it was a long process."

Cordova is of one Indian girl who would come to workshop classes and refuse to work. "She learned as I praised other children in the class for their efforts that she got more attention by working than by sitting. One day she just walked in and started weaving."

The basic philosophy of the workshops is to give the students as much choice as possible to develop their own interests at their own pace.

"I don't believe in forcing them into any situation," Cordova said. Success is very important to the mentally retarded. They may fail, but the chances of their being successful is much greater if they choose their own interest."

He said at first it isn't important what they do, but just that they do something. This can later be used as a base for developing an entire individual training program, which is the ultimate goal.

"For example," Cordova explained, "some students I start out by having them rolling clay into balls. Later they learn they can put a hole in it. Still later they are shown that the object can be strung."

The sheltered workshops at Fort Stanton are particularly effective in training the profoundly retarded, who work best in routine situations. They can direct all of their energies to one constructive task, such as bead stringing, and enjoy it. At the same time they are involved in a group activity.

In jewelry making, as in all other workshops, one-third of the money made from the sale of Fort Stanton products is used to replace materials. The remainder of the profits are divided among the students proportionately to the time they spend in the workshops. The students use their money to buy personal items in town or at the school canteen.

At present about 75 youngsters, or one-third of the Fort Stanton students, are involved in workshop training. "Eventually I would like to see this program used as a starting point for vocational training for most of our student body," Cordova said.

He said he foresees the possibility of permanent sheltered employment being available at Fort Stanton for the most severely retarded.

Clean Air Week Set For October 25-31

"Creating better understanding of problems related to the protection of clean, fresh air; promoting cooperation in solving these problems; and encouraging individuals and groups to coordinate their efforts in seeking control measures are the major objectives of the 'Cleaner Air Week Advisory Committee,'" Rod H. Doll, State Chairman, announced today.

Doll said a statewide advisory committee has been formed to call attention to the 22nd Annual Cleaner Air Week set for Oct. 25-31. Organized on both a functional and area basis, the state committee includes: Ward Belmer, New Mexico Press Association; Mrs. H. L. (Gloria) Barker, Junior League; Victor Bickel, Albuquerque Environmental Health Department; Dick Burgard and Harry Davidson, New Mexico Department of Environmental Health; Air Pollution Control Program; James D. Kennedy, Chammas Rio Grande Sales and Service, Inc.; Jim Fisher, New Mexico Automotive Dealers Association; Dr. Martin J. Mack, Public Service Company of New Mexico; Mrs. Louise Greenhouse, League of Women Voters; Mrs. Ruth Bush Jones, Woman's Club of Albuquerque; Erwin Kolusa, Western Wood Products Association; Mrs. Marilyn Klett, American Association of University Women; Captain Henry McDermott, Kirtland Air Force Base; Jack Osmen, New Mexico Petroleum Institute Committee; Edwin L. Pigeon, New Mexico Broadcasters Association; Bill Roller, Whorick Merchants' Association; G. E. Reyes, Coronado Shopping Center; and Gerald Uglund, Air Quality Control Unit.

Doll said local community leaders already have been appointed, with all New Mexico Mayors and City Commission Chairmen named as Honorary Local Chairmen and Chamber of Commerce Managers named as Honorary Local Vice Chairmen.

At a recent coordinating meeting of the state committee, two sub-committees were formed. Chairman of the Balloon Project, which is the planning for the releasing of helium-filled balloons throughout the state with cards attached and prices offered for their return, is Mrs. Gloria Baker. Other committee members were Jack Osmen and Dr. Jim Dick. A second committee was also formed to develop, with the assistance of Dr. George Fishbeck, KINEM-TV, a lesson plan to be distributed to schools throughout the state. This committee will also work with the Environmental Health Department and State Department of Education. Headed by Mrs. Louise Greenhouse, the committee consists of: Mrs. Ruth Bush Jones, Mrs. Marilyn Klett, Victor Bickel, Harry Davidson and Rod H. Doll.

Other plans, Doll said, include proclamations, poster displays, speeches before civic and service clubs, and other special events upon the initiative of community committees.

Employ Handicapped Support Urged by Vets Administration

Donald H. Crow, Director of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Albuquerque, reminds employers during National Employ the Handicapped Week, that veterans who have been disabled in the service of their country may be handicapped, but they should not be counted out. They are strong, steady, and willing to work, but they need the chance.

There is something about military service that strengthens a person's character. Give them the chance to show what they can do. The Veterans Administration has a special interest in observing this week because many handicapped veterans have been trained to become outstanding workers, and the Veterans Administration's handicapped employees are service-connected disabilities.

Crow said the Veterans Administration has always been a front runner in employing the handicapped. At present, it employs nearly 15,000 handicapped persons in some 300 occupations. For each of the last two years, a Veterans Administration Regional Office, named as the Federal Government's Handicapped Employee of the Year in competition with personnel of other agencies. In the Albuquerque Veterans Administration Regional Office alone, 23.6% of its employees are handicapped. These people are not just good employees period, who, when given the chance, have demonstrated to be as productive as the next person. Employers should give the handicapped a chance to prove his worth. Many a man who is proud of his right to say what he pleases wishes he had the courage to do so. —Wm. R. Davis, The Three Forks (Mo.) Herald.
