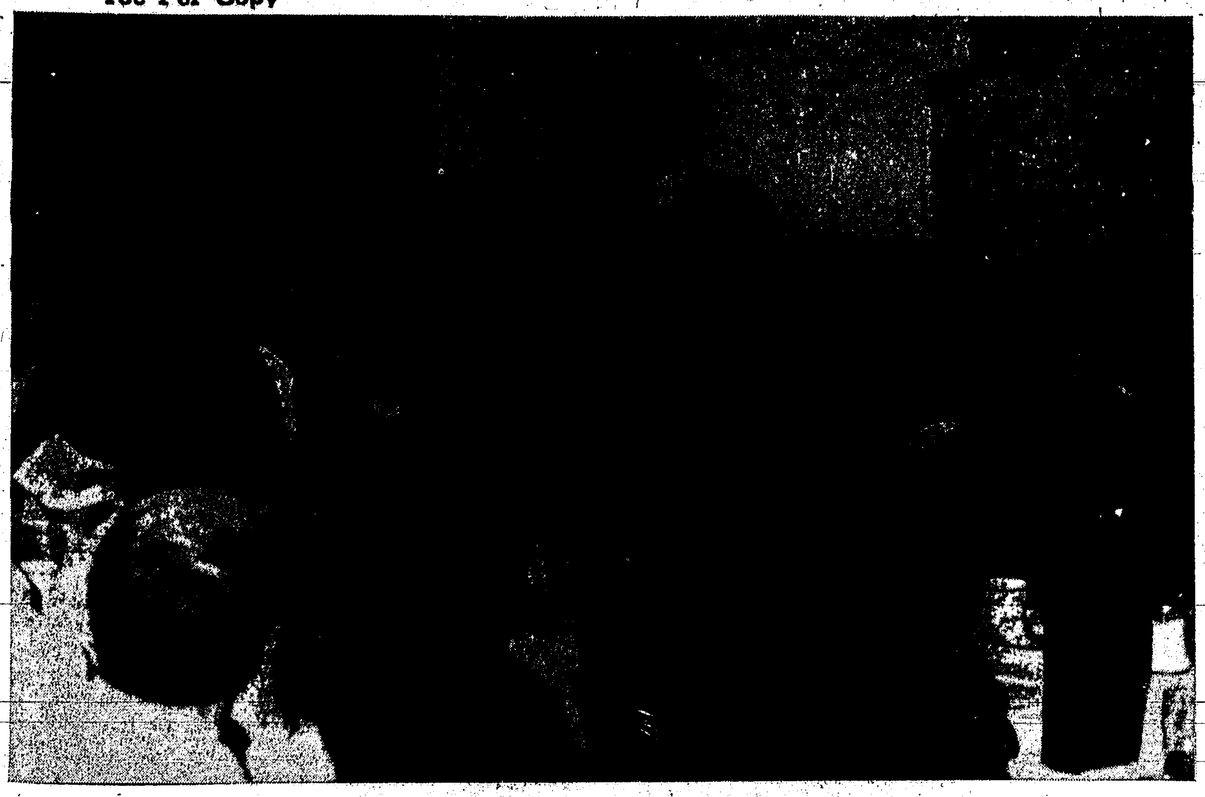
NUMBER 32, IN OUR 28th YEAR — Ruidoso, Lincoln County, New Mexico — 88345 — FRIDAY, JANUARY 18, 1974



SENATOR DOMENICI VISIT — U. S. Senator Pete Domenici, freshman Senator from Albuquerque, was in Ruidoso Monday and addressed about 125 Ruidosoans in a no-host luncheon at the Holiday House Restaurant. Domenici told the audience that Congress did not yet have enough information to predict the severity of the energy crisis but that he was against excessive and arbitrary government controls as a solution.

Sen. Domenici Speaks to Ruidosoans

"To treat everyone the same is the most severe injustice we could do."

U. S. Senator Pete Domenici told this to about 125 Ruidosoans at a luncheon in the Holiday House Restaurant Monday while speaking of the oil crisis and rationing.

Senator Domenici was in Ruidoso for about five hours Monday as a part of a nine-day tour of the state before returning to Washington to resume the congressional session. He had chosen Ruidoso and Taos because of the possibility of severe economic damage to these areas by the present crisis.

"I am not among those who believe that the government can equitably ration fuel," Domenici said.

Domenici noted that he does not think the energy crisis is a frivolous one. While he does agree that there is a problem, he personally does not feel that it is going to be as bad as the 30 to 40 percent shortages predicted by some experts.

"I won't apologize for not telling you just how severe the problem is," he said, "but I am sorry that we in Congress don't really know."

He did note that the crisis had caught even the auto industry off guard, and they are supposed to be one of the most powerful in the world. He said that they are now stuck with thousands of cars they can't sell.

Domenici said that when Congress re-convenes, one of the highest priorities will be given to the development of a mechanism to learn the facts.

"With the complex relationship that exists today between the world and American markets, I am convinced no one can any longer keep these facts to themselves for business purposes," he said.

Domenici complimented William Simon, head of the Federal Energy Office, for his approach to establishing a rationing program should it become necessary. Of particular note is the fact that he has put the program together and released it for review by the public and Congress before it is implemented.

He noted that in a handout from Simon, the cost of rationing is estimated at about $1,412,000,000. The program would require about 500 employees in Washington and five more in each of 3,000 offices across the nation.

With this in mind, Domenici called for a try at self-rationing before this is imposed on all of us.

He did note that if rationing should become a reality, he would favor a program with at least a 10 to 15 percent flexibility built in for states such as New Mexico which have almost mass transportation to fall back on if supplies are grossly limited.

"In the long haul, there is no energy crisis," Domenici said. "If we live through this crisis, we will see the development of at least four other sources of energy so we can stop the waste of petroleum."

Domenici said that the first we will see is a "coal era". He stated that there is enough readily available in this country to last us about 300 to 500 years.

In the future, economical ways will also be found to extract oil from shale to last us for a number of years, he added.

Programs are also underway to insure the safety of nuclear energy for the future. He noted that this form would become a big part of the energy picture in the future, and uranium, from which it is derived, is plentiful in New Mexico.

The fourth source of energy Domenici spoke of is solar energy.

"Solar energy is new and exciting and it won't ever run out," he said. "And when it does, the whole world will die."

Domenici noted that solar energy will not be practical now but rather a part of our year 2000-and-after energy strategy.

He apologized for the inactivity of Congress to effect a solution but pointed out that they are learning more about the situation every day. Their aim is to make sure that the America of the future is not a petroleum oriented society.

Domenici called the current crisis the challenge of our times. He called on Ruidosoans and New Mexicans to avoid pessimism — even though our lives and businesses are now — and think of New Mexico and the economy in the future.

He noted the bright future of New Mexico with rich uranium deposits and potential for coal gassification and the sulphur-free coal of the Four Corners area. He also said that two-thirds

Humane Society, Municipal Judge Get Raise From Ruidoso Council

The Humane Society of Lincoln County, sponsored by the village of Ruidoso, will establish a petting zoo for the deer Bambi and Bo-Peep at the society's building in Hollywood.

The petting zoo was made possible last Thursday night when the Ruidoso council voted to increase the monthly payment to the Society by $200 to pay for the materials and erection of the two pens. The action increased the payment to $700 per month.

The council, with an eye toward the March 5 elections for municipal judge, also voted to double the salary for that post.

The entire council, police chief and several spectators at the meeting spoke in favor of the increase, noting that they didn't feel that the present compensation of $250 per month was in line with the time Judge Sam Nunnally was required to spend hearing and processing cases. The pay boost is not effective until after the election.

Seeking the increase for the Humane Society, approximately seven Ruidoso residents and representatives of civic groups attended the meeting. They spoke in favor of the work that the society is doing and supported Joe Truitt in his plans for the zoo and request for additional funds.

Mrs. Fred Berger, representing the Ruidoso Garden Club, supported the zoo plans and also told of plans by the club to beautify the society building with plants and flower boxes since the lease has been extended two years. She noted that the petting zoo will attract even more people to the building and it should be presentable.

Several of the others attending spoke of plans by their civic organizations to help in making the building more attractive as well as praising the work of the society and plans for the zoo.

Truitt told the council that the Humane Society had picked up more than 800 dogs and cats since Aug. 1. Eighty-seven percent of these had been put to sleep because no one would adopt them. He reminded the village council that the society would no longer be able to enforce the village ordinance by picking up these dogs after March 31 if the subsidy was not increased.

The council agreed that the Humane Society was providing the village with an extremely important service, and in view of the increased cost of feeding the animals, along with other increased expenses, they voted unanimously to raise the payment by $200, effective this month.

The council opened bids on a 1974 four-wheel drive Chevrolet Blazer to be used by the Ruidoso Sewer Department. They tentatively accepted the low bid of Valley Chevrolet in Roswell of $4,449.21 for the vehicle.

Final acceptance of the bid is pending acceptance of the specifications by Blair Halladay, department head.

The council also approved an 82.8 acre tract of land for subdivision near the village limits.

The proposal, already approved by the Ruidoso Planning and Zoning Commission, was presented by Rupert Madera, owner of the proposed subdivision. The subdivision will be called Juniper Hills and will contain about 127 lots located a short distance north of the airport and just outside the village limits.

Though the subdivision is not located within the limits of Ruidoso, council approval is required for subdivision since it is within three miles of the village.

In other business, the council approved payment of the bills to date, and accepted the cumulative operating statements of the village to date. They noted that the finances of the village appeared to be in good shape.

Mayor Leon Farrar recommended that the council approve the police department hiring of Detective Lieutenant Jerry Foster and Bill Young to serve as a patrolman and dispatcher. The council agreed.

The council acknowledged a rainfall report from airport manager Frank Potter calling their attention to the fact that the village rainfall of just over one inch for the last four months of 1973 was about four and one-half inches below the average.

Trustees Warren Tucker and Earl Allison also called attention to the problem with the landfill that is currently being used by the village. They noted that trash is not being covered soon enough to keep it from blowing around the area and that the highway to the landfill is always lined with trash. They recommended that the operator, Bill McCarty, be contacted to try to work out a solution and that the covered vehicle ordinance be more closely enforced to eliminate the trash from the highway.

Ruidoso Downs Annexes Property; Sets Denton Field Issue for Ballot

A portion of Las Lomas Subdivision was annexed to the Village of Ruidoso Downs Monday evening with the stipulation that, if the present village water pump could not handle the increased water needs, the subdivision would provide a new, larger pump. Jack Kannady, engineer for the project, stated that he felt that the present pump would be more than sufficient for water to the area and that water lines and mains had already been installed by the developer, Bruce Griffith.

Mayor Jake Harris announced the appointment of Jack Horton as village attorney but no action was taken on the appointment. He then asked if there were any other suggestions for the position. No suggestions were made.

The council adopted state holidays for village employees.

A letter of thanks from Mr. and Mrs. Jack DiPaolo was read to the council thanking the village volunteer fire department for their action in a recent fire at their home.

A map was presented from Daniels Engineering showing the proposed layout of the regional sewer system and the council noted that the preliminary application had already been filed.

A discussion of election judges and other officials for the March 5 municipal election was held and the board decided to contact several village residents before making the appointments. The trustees agreed to use the voting machine.

A lengthy discussion of re-investment of sewer bond monies was held and, following a motion that the funds be placed in cashbook savings until bids could be called and the funds placed in a certificate of deposit, Mayor Jake Harris noted that he would call for a legal opinion before making changes and would call a special council meeting for final action. The funds had inadvertently been re-invested before the meeting for a term of one year. Noel Mullins of Security Bank asked for a chance to bid on the certificate of deposit and Trustee Ken Geaslin noted that about $60,000 of the funds would probably be needed in about 6 months.

The village had been carrying the $254,731.38 in certificates of deposit since the bond election last year.

In discussion of presenting the issue of the purchase of the Denton Field property on the ballot, Mayor Jake Harris noted that the issue had carried in a referendum held during the last municipal election and that it would have to appear on the ballot in this election. Charles Denton will be contacted to ascertain if the quoted price of $50,000 will still hold and the ballot will probably call for general obligation bonds in that amount. The property would be used as a recreation area for the village and an existing irrigation well on the property would probably be used to supplement the village water supply, if the bond is passed.

Ruidoso Downs Man Charged With Felony After Bar Ruckus

Two Ruidoso Downs men appeared in Ruidoso Municipal Court this week after an incident in a local bar where allegedly one police officer was assaulted and another kicked.

Henry Padilla was found guilty of interfering with the duties of a police officer and resisting an officer. He was fined a total of $50 on the two charges. Another charge of assault or battery on a police officer was dismissed.

Three charges against Padilla's brother Leonard were dropped by the authority of assistant district attorney Charles Shaw.

Leonard Padilla was arraigned Tuesday in Magistrate Court in Ruidoso by Judge Austin Pritchett. He faces charges of aggravated assault and battery. The latter, a third degree felony, carries a possible sentence of 2 to 10 years in the state penitentiary.

The charges filed in Magistrate Court allege that Padilla took a swing with a pool cue stick at Ruidoso police Cpl. Guy Bowers and kicked Ptlm. T. C. Bedford in the legs when they responded to a complaint at the bar.

School Board of Trustees Change School Hours; Slate Ski Program

The Ruidoso Municipal School Board of Trustees voted Tuesday evening to move the opening of the class day up ½ hour beginning Thursday, Jan. 17 but to dismiss classes at the same time as before. A reduction of about 4 minutes per class will gain the half-hour per day. It was noted that, if the entire schedule was moved the half-hour, some students would not complete their PE in the high school gym until almost 10 p.m. It was also pointed out that the schools would still be well within the state required time for classroom studies under the new program. Superintendent Pat Valliant stated that the schools had received several calls from parents of elementary students complaining about the early hours and that the earliest pick-up by school buses had been about 7:10 a.m. The earliest pick-up would now be about 7:50 a.m. Teachers will be required to come to school at the regular time and spend the extra half-hour in preparing for classes.

The board also voted to hold the regular ski program to begin at noon Jan. 22 and to continue through Feb. 22. The program will be held each Tuesday and cost to students will be $2 for the ski area with students required to rent skis from ski shops in Ruidoso. For beginner skiers, two lessons will be required at a cost of $1.00 per lesson. Ski shop rentals to students will probably be $1.00. Adults accompanying the students to the Sierra Blanca Ski Resort will be allowed to purchase half-day tickets for $5.00. Ski lessons, this year, will be given by instructors of the Sierra Blanca Ski School.

Bids were opened for duplicator and mimeograph paper for the 1974-75 school year and the bid of the Ink Well, Alamogordo, was accepted. The bids were called early because of the paper shortage.

The board approved the hiring of another 5th grade teacher for Nob Hill School. Three teachers in that grade now have a total of 104 students in their classes.

Supplemental contracts with bus drivers were also approved and Francis Weiland was approved for part-time janitorial help at the Nob Hill School.

A reduction of prices for the school lunch program was approved and Valliant pointed out that federal assistance in the lunch program was not from the poverty program but was set up in such a way that even some professional people's children were eligible for reduced rates. He also noted that a number of applications under the program had already been received.

A report by Valliant was given concerning prospective state funds now being considered by the state legislature. He stated that it was almost a sure thing that the schools would receive more funding but that the funding would probably be earmarked for special programs and less for general education.

Valliant also reported that the new 60-passenger bus, ordered last year, would be delivered sometime this month.

A list of needed repairs and accomplished improvements was given for the various schools and Kathy Travis, a member of the faculty advisory committee, gave a recommendation from the group on needs for added classrooms and buildings.

A letter from the State Board of Education was read stating that the Ruidoso Schools were all accredited and complied with state standards. Another letter was read concerning the testing for vocational training, which was pronounced satisfactory, with minor recommendations made for safety.

The board went into executive session to discuss teacher evaluation and the superintendent's contract and returned to vote changes in the school handbook calling for all certified personnel (superintendent, principals, and teachers) to be hired at the regular April board meet.

All Loose Dogs To Be Picked Up Starting Monday

According to officials of the Humane Society of Lincoln County, Ruidoso animal ordinances will be strictly enforced beginning Monday, Jan. 21. All loose dogs found will be impounded until registration of the animal and kennel fees are paid.

All dogs must have rabies shots, a city registration tag and either be tied or kept in a fenced enclosure.

SHERIFF'S DEPUTIES — Lincoln County Sheriff Leandro Vega this week announced the appointment of two new deputies to serve the Ruidoso and Capitan areas. They are Orlando S. Montes (l.) and Dennis R. Cleaver. Sheriff Vega has announced that he will create a civil division and appointed Montes to head this division. The division will serve and process all civil documents, summonses, writs, executions, etc. Vega stated that the civil process service has become too numerous, thus the need to create the division for this purpose. Montes has 14 years in law enforcement, mostly in the Ruidoso area, having served as Chief of Police in Ruidoso from 1964 to 1972. Cleaver will be stationed in Capitan and replaces Jerry Russell who was transferred to Ruidoso in December. Cleaver is married to the former Alice Fleming of High Rolls. They have two children, James, age 8, and Shanaa, age 7. Before joining the sheriff's department, Dennis was self-employed in construction work. A beautiful silver tea service, purchased by the Beta Sigma Phi in Ruidoso almost ten years ago, is a gift to the community for whatever social use it might be needed for, and was bought as a memorium to the late Frances Rogers. The service is kept under lock and key at the Community Methodist Church.

Ole Smokey's Bar-B-Q Cafe in Hollywood had a good crowd for its re-opening Monday, serving 125 plates of barbecue in the first hour and a half, it was reported. The place has been remodeled and a portion of the building raised to the new street level, made necessary by the highway improvement there.

Mrs. Virginia Klinekole was named president of the Mescalero Tribal Council during an election meeting of the new council. The new president succeeds outgoing president, Wendell Chino and will serve a one year term.

This will be the third term in the same state office for Will T. Coe, State Representative of the 16th District. He is a rancher and orchard owner at Glencoe, N. M. and a native of Lincoln County.

Mr. Coe serves his area, not only in the State Legislature, but is on the Ruidoso-Stetson School Board, and has been serving on school boards for many years. When asked for a statement regarding this opening session, he said, "I'm going to oppose any increase in taxes until they show me where the money they have, has gone. I am against gasoline taxes or any raise in liquor or cigarette taxes.

The reception and dance at Bonnell Ranch two weeks ago for Mr. and Mrs. Henry Latham was well attended by relatives and friends and they received many nice gifts. About fifty people walked into their home and surprised them with a charivari and then blindfolded them . . . put them in different cars and brought them to the dance, a surprise too.

On the table they found a beautiful cake waiting to be cut and later coffee and cake was served.

Harold Coe and family are moving back to the valley from Albuquerque and will live on the old White Mountain Inn Farm, just below Green Tree. He will operate the farm with Jones and Miller, who purchased it last year.

This coming Thursday morning, men of the Community United Methodist Church will organize a United Methodist Men group for the Ruidoso area. It will be a breakfast meeting at the church, beginning at 7:30, and should be far enough along for men who need to be at work at 8:00 a.m. to be free to leave by that time.

Membership in the UMM will not be limited to members of the local Methodist congregation. It will be open to any man who is interested in the fellowship and the service organization it will present.

Methodists Postpone Early Worship

Community United Methodist Church will not have the regular early Sunday morning worship service for the winter months. It will be resumed on Easter Sunday morning, April 14, and continued through the summer.

Chatter from the Lanes
by Gutter Gus

It seems the women really got it together this week, with several women shooting games of over 170. Among the women shooting very good games were Jan Bergeron, 171; Betty Rupe, 170; Dee Von Rosenberg, 178, 187; Barbara Click, 195; Walt Hughes, 198; Kathy McPherson, 182, 184, 230; Phyllis McCarty, 180; Georga George, 201, and Dovey Prowell, 173.

Good shooting girls, keep it up.

For the men the accent was on splits, with three tough splits converted on Thursday night. Bernie Baur with the 4-6-10, Dick McEneny the 6-7-10, and Steve Day picked up the extremely hard 7-9. Dick was given his patch Thursday night and we have one for Steve. We are checking to see about your split, Bernie.

Spotlight sponsors this week are Winners Circle of Alamogordo. This sponsor has been here in Ruidoso for about three years. This year they are sponsoring two teams. They sponsor in almost every bowling house in southern New Mexico.

Ruidoso State Bank has been a very good sponsor for many years, sponsoring in leagues as well as tournaments. Ed Vimberly is justifiably proud of his team, for the many trophies they have won are on display in the bank.

John Phillips and Kathy are good bowlers and the good sponsors of the John's Standard teams. Sponsors every year, this year they sponsor two teams.

Stansell Jones of Jones Construction Co. has been sponsoring teams every year since he put in the Holiday Bowl.

This week meet your teams. On the Monday Nite Mixed League Team No. 9, sponsored by the members. They are Lydia Candelaria, Willie Beasley, Sonny Candelaria and Jerry Gallagher.

On the Tuesday Ladies' League, Team No. 9 is as yet unsponsored. Part of these women come from Mescalero to bowl. Members are Jill Miller, Cora Blazer, Marge West and Jan Strobeck.

On the Wednesday Nite Mixed League, Team No. 9 is sponsored by Tuffy's Ski Chalet. Members are Molly Stierwalt, Darrell Stierwalt, Gail Larkey and Mike Larkey.

On the Thursday Men's League, Team No. 9 is sponsored by the Ruidoso District Jaycees. Members are Garry Virdon, Richard McEneny, Steve Day, Bob Miller and Wes Aldrich, Jr.

Flames of the Lanes

MEN — For the men this week we have a new flame. George Brooks, a 244 game and a 586 series on the Thursday Men's League, bowling for Jones Construction Co.

WOMEN — Kathy McPherson had a 230 game and a 596 series on the Tuesday Ladies' League, bowling for Apache Music of Alamogordo.

Many splits picked up this week. Wes Aldrich the 3-10 (2), Art Struve, Phyllis McCarty and Cora Blazer, all with the 3-10. The 2-7 by Dianna Ballard and Weaver Ballard (also a 3-10). Dee Von Rosenberg and Gerald Tully each a 5-7. Gerald also had a 5-6. The 5-10 by Jim Rowin, Elaine Sneathen, Barbara Dickinson, Dianna Ballard, David Krezer and Kim (no last name on the sheet), bowling for Ballard's on Tuesday.

Molly Stierwalt cleaned up a mess with the 3-6-7-8-10. Good shot.

Special credits to Sue Reeves for the 6-7-10, Joann Hall for the 3-7-10, Dick McEneny, Steve Day and Bernie Baur for the splits we mentioned earlier.

See you with more Chatter next week.

Free Throw Winners Crowned Saturday

Elmo Silva, a sixth grader at Nob Hill School, was the big winner in the Annual Elks Free Throw Contest Saturday at the Ruidoso gymnasium.

Silva hit on 18 of his 25 chances to win the 12-13 year-old boys division of the contest. Ricky Mound was runner-up in that division hitting 17 of 25 for the close second.

James Wimberly narrowly edged Scott Annala out of the 10-11 year-old competition with 10 buckets out of 25 attempts. Annala sunk nine for second. Christopher Wynn, an eight-year-old from Nob Hill School took an easy first place in the 8-9 division with nine of 25 against eight-year-old Paul Jaramillo's four of 25.

In the girls division of the competition, Sharon Allison took first place in the 12-13 bracket with a score of eight out of 25 attempts. Tonya Campos was the runner-up in that division with six buckets.

Lisa Richardson topped all of the girls in winning her 10-11 division. Miss Richardson made nine of her 25 attempts count in beating out runner-up Kelly Richardson who only hit eight.

Kody Taylor won the 8-9 year-old girls division with five hits. Kelly Borland was runner-in this class.

The top boys in each class will now travel to Roswell Saturday to compete in the district tournament there. There is no further competition for the girls this year but Jim Dickinson, coordinator of the contest for the Ruidoso schools, said that statewide competition for the girls is planned for next year.

Jehovah's Witnesses To Hold El Paso Circuit Assembly

Jehovah's Witnesses from throughout Southern and Eastern New Mexico will be gathering in El Paso for their semi-annual circuit assembly according to Jerry Reece, presiding overseer of the Ruidoso congregation. Approximately 2,000 persons are expected for the two-day meet set for January 19 and 20 at the El Paso Coliseum.

Reece stated that Bible readers have long noted that "critical times hard to deal with" were foretold for the "last day" (2 Tim. 3:1) and since these are in evidence all around us the Bible takes on added meaning and importance. He pointed to the main public address of the assembly, "Act Wisely as the End Draws Near" as timely for our day. Speaker for this address and other key sessions will be Mr. Frank D. Malaspina, District Overseer of Jehovah's Witnesses in the Southwest. Mr. Joseph Meek, Circuit Overseer in sections of New Mexico and El Paso, Texas, will oversee assembly arrangements.

Also featured on the program on Sunday morning will be water baptism. Reece noted that throughout the world in 208 countries and islands where Jehovah's Witnesses carry on their work there were 193,990 baptised during the past year. These "are individuals who have studied the Bible thoroughly and understand what is expected of them before they qualify for baptism. This makes the step more meaningful," spokesmen added.

All sessions of the assembly are open to the public.

Bob Ford (left) and Gary Sims check final plans for the first Circuit assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses scheduled for 1974. The El Paso Coliseum in El Paso, Texas has been selected as the site for the assembly which will host congregations from Texas and New Mexico. Dates for the two-day meeting are Jan. 19, 20. Both Ford and Sims are with the Ruidoso Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses.

"NOW THEY KNOW." Valuable new and very important Mind Control discoveries have appeared in the news in the past few years. October 1971 — COMPANION — "Mind Control — To Bring Out the Best In You." September 3, 1972 — PROVIDENCE SUNDAY JOURNAL — "Mind Control When You Create Images In Your Mind, Your Whole Body Chemistry Responds." October 1972 — MADEMOISELLE — "How To Think Yourself Thin With Mind Control." November 1972 — HARPER'S BAZAAR —"Mind Control Something for Everyone." Also articles in LIFE, NEWSWEEK, NATIONAL OBSERVER, NEW YORK TIMES, LOS ANGELES TIMES, SALES MANAGEMENT and many others.

One of the reports that won admittance of the Para physical Association to the American Association for the Advancement of Science as reported by a computer scientist was "That corporate executives using ESP and involving millions of dollars doubled their company's money." SILVA MIND CONTROL COURSES have had tremendous success throughout the nation in teaching practical applications of controlled ESP. This is the first and only method in history known to be effective in developing controlled ESP.

The "Silva Method" as the method is known was scientifically researched by Mr. Jose Silva from Laredo, Texas, a research scientist and pioneer in mental training and researching since 1944. He is the discoverer of the new Science Psychorientology and the creator of the MIND CONTROL Program. Mr. Silva states, "The discovery that Human Intelligence can learn to function with awareness at the Alpha and Theta frequencies of the brain will go down in history as the greatest discovery of man."

This discovery, he adds, "is sure to change our concept of Mind, Psychology, Psychiatry, Psychoanalysis, Hypnoanalysis and the Subconscious."

Mr. Silva explains that there are four principal brainwaves. The Beta Wave, associated by some to be the outer conscious levels, physical activity, anxiety, tension, etc. and the Alpha Wave also associated with inner levels of mental activity, tranquility, inspiration, creativity, concentration, ESP, accelerated healing process, memory, learning and other phenomena. The Theta Wave, related to deeper levels of meditation, concentration, and potentially even greater learning and recall capabilities; and finally the Delta Wave, associated with deep sleep now known as unconsciousness.

Mr. Silva continues, "In just hours of classroom instruction, students can learn to function with awareness at Alpha Theta levels." This is accomplished with the use of the Silva Method of Mental Training without the use of Bio-Feedback equipment. MANY benefits are now known to exist for those who learn to function with controlled awareness at Alpha and Theta levels. Our students report better memory, high grades, less tension, less anxiety, faster revitalization and healing, release and rejection of Psychomatic problems, control of sleep, and headache problems, control of smoking, weight loss, and some report correction of drug habits, and also maintenance of health habits. Mr. Silva adds that these abilities are just side benefits and that the real benefit is that the student, when at these levels, seem to sense information impressed on the brain cells of others at a distance.

Mr. Silva believes that this is what some call ESP or Extra Sensory Perception, but he calls it Subjective Communication. The MIND CONTROL program has changed the meaning of ESP which was uncontrolled, erratic and very evasive, to Subjective Communication which is controlled and effective. He adds that perfecting the means to communicate at this dimension will be the second phase of human evolution on this planet.

Subjective Communication is being used to become aware of information for problem detection and solving. Mr. Silva states that we somehow have unconsciously learned to interfere with the body's healing function and that this effect is known as the psychomatic health problem. It appears that by learning to function with the awareness of the Theta-Alpha levels, we automatically cease to interfere, allowing the body's internal organs and glands to return to their natural rhymatic self-healing function. Nature takes care of that when we do not interfere. The Silva Method is dedicated to help humans become healthier, more productive and better problem solving agents. For references ask any of our graduates in the United States, Mexico, Canada, Central and South America and Europe.

Domenici Visit

of the oil in each well is still underground awaiting the technology to economically remove it.

Domenici told the crowd that he believed that things would be a little tough for a while, but with study and sacrifice, the future is bright.

In a question and answer session following his talk, Domenici was asked if the U. S. is still selling oil overseas. He confirmed this situation but noted that our imports exceed exports many times over and that in refuting agreements for a small amount of exported oil, we could jeopardize some agreements for a great deal of imported oil.

With sellers selling all they can produce, this is no time to run the risk of a great loss for a small gain. He said that it is important that Americans don't "overreact" to these situations.

Domenici was also asked about accelerated exports of American products leading to higher prices and shortages at home.

To this, Domenici noted that the major problem is that for years, the American farmer was living only from bank note to bank note, earning the same for his crop while expenses continued to rise. With the increased world demand for American farm products, the farmer has gotten the chance to get out of his rut and pay off some of his debts.

To this reply, Domenici received a "hear, hear" from the audience and applause.

He warned that the government not try to arbitrarily slap controls on these products that reach prices greater than we think we should pay. He cited examples of bailing wire, large nails and construction rebar as examples of this kind of control which has now created a needless shortage of these materials.

Domenici expressed sympathy for small businesses being unnecessarily harrassed and driven out of business by federal controls and regulations designed for large companies and arbitrarily applied to businesses which can't afford them.

He was also asked about his interest in the problems of senior citizens, having asked for and been appointed to the Committee on Aging. Domenici said that New Mexico has a great number of retirees and senior citizens who do not make a great deal of noise but need help just the same. He felt that he should get in and be a part of helping them.

Following the luncheon, Domenici spoke with and signed autographs for the Nob Hill School Language Arts Class of Mickey McGuire.

He also told The News that he felt that the tourism industry, on which as many as 40,000 New Mexicans depend directly, has considerable support in Congress.

He noted that the tourist areas of the East and West have been heard from and he is confident that tourism will not be arbitrarily eliminated by any future national energy policies.

SKI WINNER — John Hall of Ruidoso was the winner of a complete ski outfit from Ray Heids' Ski Shop in the drawing by the Ruidoso Jaycees Dec. 30. Hall (l.) stopped by the shop this week and was presented the skis, bindings, boots, poles, jacket and trousers by Heid (c.) and Ross Schwarz, president of the Jaycees.

Fire Report Given On Recent Alto Fire

Twenty-four units are now under construction and work is in progress, and expected to be completed within 120 days, on the units recently lost by Alto Alps Resort Condominiums.

Clubhouse, playroom, tennis courts, swimming pool and putting greens are now complete.

The official report of the state fire marshal's office on the recent fire has now been released and reads as follows:

"On January 7, 1974, the undersigned conducted an investigation into the possible cause of a fire that occurred in Alto, New Mexico on January 6, 1974. The property involved was a unit of the Alto Alps, Inc. Housing Project. The unit consisted of 6 (six) separately owned units."

"Due to the total burning of the structure, it was not possible to determine the cause of this fire from the debris. However, judging from the debris, this fire appears to have originated in the area of Unit No. 4. Also the trees in this area show indication of heavier burning than in any other area around this complex. Interviews with Mr. Jim Wimberly and Mr. John Hall indicate that this fire may have originated outside the complex. If in fact this fire did originate outside the unit, this would account for the intensity of the fire before the heat sensors, inside the units, reacted. Another factor in the delay of the fire being reported, is the fact of numerous fireplaces in this area and a small amount of smoke or light odor does not usually attract attention.

"Other units, both completed and under construction in this complex, were inspected by the undersigned and none of these units showed any fire hazards. All electrical wiring appears to be properly installed with sufficient circuits for the number of outlets and lights.

"The building materials (to include paints, insulation, wood, and sheeting), were all of an approved class for this type of structure.

"Several factors contributed to the total loss of this structure. Some of them being the delay in alarm, water supply, the high winds, and the fact that the main use of the fire equipment was concentrated on the forest and adjoining structures, which was necessary to avoid a much greater loss than occured.

"Further interviews will be conducted at a later date to attempt to determine the cause of this fire and will be filed with this report."

/s/ Dave Gentry,
Fire Prevention Specialist

All previous reports on the fire were purely speculation.

Real Estate

By KEN BUCKLEY

HESITATION CAN BE COSTLY

Once you put your home on the market, you have to make up your mind to move when the right offer comes. Your asking price should come pretty close to your selling price if you have priced your home realistically. The right offer may be your first offer, and if you turn it down, you may never get another as good.

However, the offer should be a written one — the only kind that has any real significance and one on which you can depend.

Just remember that a legitimate offer should be accompanied by a good-sized check depending on the price of the house. Never accept a verbal promise and take your house off the market. The next day, a good sale may be lost if you are tied up in this type of questionable transaction. You'll never have to worry about this situation arising if the sale of your home is in the hands of a Realtor.

The SILVER LINING

By DANIEL A. STORM

Twelfth Anniversary of the Arrival of Shady Logan

I am writing this on Jan. 14. Exactly twelve years ago to the day, a tiny white and golden puppy — with both tame and wild blood in his veins — arrived at the door step of the Storm Ranch house.

The snow was more than a foot deep, the river frozen over in most places; and the night before had been sixteen below — the coldest I can remember here.

Today, you would think it was summer outside except for one thing — instead of summer's green, the grass is winter's golden amber. There is not a cloud in the deep blue sky; and far and wide amongst pinon and cedar not a speck of snow is to be seen. A bee or two is humming around the yard. Outside the thermometer says sixty-two, and it is just a little after noon.

I take it back. There is one more tip-off that this is winter time. The Snow Birds can be seen outside feeding and drinking with their companions the Blue Birds.

Lying contentedly on the cot, while the sun shines upon him through the little sun room window, Shady Logan has not changed a bit from what he grew into a year or so after he came here.

The white stripe in his golden forehead is just as white as ever — giving him the appearance of an Indian Brave with his one feather. His golden-colored coyote eyes are still full of good humor.

Dozing happily, he suddenly snaps at a fly awakened from its winter sleep by the warm sun. The sound of the typewriter is music to his ears; for he knows that in due time there will be a trip up the creek to the office of the Ruidoso News. The slightest move I make to get up and go outside, and Shady is on his feet like lightning, ready to get out the door. He is not going to miss the ride up the creek. His love of car riding keeps growing with the years.

Not the slightest trace of age shows in Shady. His endurance in walking, running and dog-trotting is endless. After he gets through gnawing on his bone, he challenges me to a game of touch football; running past me with his bone in his mouth, dodging and darting with the reflexes and coordination of a mongoose. What, oh what, is the secret of Shady's youth?

Shady's Rules of Health

Shady Logan goes by the old rule:

"Early to bed and early to rise makes a man healthy, and wealthy and wise." Hardly is the sun down than he is ready to go to sleep. And sleep he will, wherever he is; Riding in the pick-up or lying in front of the fireplace. At daylight, he hits the floor with all four feet. And if he is still inside before sun up, as soon as the sun begins to turn the pinon trees on the hill top into trees of fire and gold, he is pounding on the door to get out so he can begin collecting the life-giving rays of the sun on his sun-colored coat.

In sunshine and shadow while resting in winter or summer, he likes to lie on the ground. Surely he knows there is health in Mother Earth.

If he can he drinks either running water, or else water that has been out in the sun a long time in a stone container such as a metate.

Without fail he takes exercise, running foot races with me and always making a little circle about the place by himself morning and evening without fail. When it snows he will roll in the snow and eat a few mouthfuls.

These are the main rules of health of Shady Logan that I can think of for the time being.

Does Your Beloved Dog Know How Much He Means to You?

Shady Logan, in the twelve years we have been together has taught me many things. And for every one thing he has taught he has left many other things a great mystery.

I still wonder how it is that a dog can know so many things — and yet we cannot see how he can know them. People living close to nature have always felt that a dog—especially a dog that is part coyote — is in touch with the world of things unseen. These people have often shed great light upon many mysteries. And many of us have experienced the unexplainable knowing of dogs. Here is a whole new world yet to be known some day.

I used to wonder whether or not a dog realizes how much he means to his human companion. Now I do not wonder, for I have the feeling that he does know.

Last Saturday on TV I saw one of the best moving pictures of my life: "The Adventures of Mark Twain." Some day I would like to go over with you a little sketch of the life of this beloved American, and I will bring in some of the points in this picture.

Mark Twain's two most famous works were "Tom Sawyer" and "Huckleberry Finn" — both stories of boyhood. Somewhere Mark said something unforgettable about the bond between a boy and his dog. I cannot find it now, but will bring it in later when we have a little sketch of Mark Twain.

In last Sunday's El Paso Times, Norman Vincent Peale quoted from Lord Chesterfield: "Make the other person like himself better, and he will surely like you."

Now. This is something like what our dog does for us. Deep down in ourselves we say: "Surely there must be some good in me to be deserving of this great devotion." And so our dog helps us to keep looking for the good in ourselves and in all men.

Shady Logan asked me to pass on this little message.

Dear friends of the golden years,

Do not let this get to the Ridge Runner.

First let me say that I am no great shakes at poetry. However, here is a little vest-pocket rhyme that will let you know why I guard my health over the years — also why all beloved dogs and other pets try to keep their health:

"I keep my health
Because I see
How lost and helpless
He would be."

"Yours, ever the same, for better and better days,

—Shady Logan

NMSU Regents Vote Land for Hall of Fame

New Mexico State University board of regents voted recently to make available 45 acres of land for the Alamogordo International Space Hall of Fame following a strong recommendation from Dr. Gerald Thomas, university president.

For use as a site for the Hall of Fame, it would revert to the Bureau of Land Management, and then go to the Hall of Fame commission. Dr. Thomas said the facility would not only be a great thing for the state of New Mexico tourist wise and as an attraction for those interested in the space program, but would be an educational project.

Pioneers in man's efforts to unlock the secrets of space will be honored in the International Space Hall of Fame.

OUTDOOR LIGHTING:
Energy Saving Tips
A Nite Liter is one of the most efficient ways to provide safety and security around your property. A 175 watt mercury vapor Nite Liter provides about 60 lumens per watt of electricity while the incandescent light provides about 20 lumens per watt. In other words . . . mercury vapor lighting gives about 3 times as much light for the same amount of electricity so it's three times as efficient as conventional incandescent lighting. When you use electricity . . . use it wisely so there will be plenty for everyone.

By FRED BUCKLES

SANTA FE — Rep. John Bigbee, R-Encino, says the legislature should remove the state gross receipts tax from prescription drugs and medical services.

A rancher, Rep. Bigbee represents Guadalupe, De-Baca, Lincoln and Torrance Counties. The legislature opened a 30-day session Tuesday dealing mostly with state spending and revenue.

Headed by Sen. C. B. Trujillo, D-Taos, the Legislative Finance Committee sent a $357.2-million recommended fiscal 1974-75 state budget to lawmakers, up $29.8 million over the current budget of $327.4 million.

Gov. Bruce King was expected to recommend an executive budget of about $363 million plus some $17 million in capital improvements.

Rep. Bigbee urged caution on state spending increases because of an uncertain outlook for New Mexico's economy in the energy crisis. He said tourist-related businesses have already felt adverse effects in his district. Bigbee favors handing cities more revenue by transferring all of the 12-cent-a-pack state cigarette tax income to municipalities.

Rep. Bigbee says cities and other government levels will receive less state gasoline tax revenue because of the energy problem. Bigbee also says: "Campaign expenditures must be limited. It's difficult to do but the public will insist on it." The legislature will consider election campaign reforms.

The Legislative School Study Committee recommended a $26.1-million increase in state support for public schools next fiscal year.

Rep. Hoyt Pattison, R-Curry-Lea-Roosevelt, is on the LSSC.

The LSSC proposal, subject to legislative action, would produce these state support increases for school districts: Springer, up $34,290; Cimarron, up $54,204; Maxwell, up $11,794; Raton, $118,083; Clovis, $688,688; Texico, $31,437; Melrose, $54,519; Grady, $44,925.

Also, Fort Sumner, $12,190; Santa Rosa, $12,537; Vaughn, $10,111; Lordsburg, $68,761; Animas, $158,599; Eunice, unchanged at total state support of $606,097; Jal, unchanged at total of $675,126; Ruidoso, up $6,931. State support for 22 school districts would be unchanged.

Carrizozo, unchanged at total of $395,570; Corona, up $15,620; Hondo, up $24,294; Capitan, $21,980; Deming, $354,440; Tucumcari, up $239,290; Bernalillo, up $161,861; Cuba, unchanged at total of $877,671; Jemez Springs, unchanged at total of $513,397.

Truth or Consequences, up $80,255; Taos, $500,413; Penasco, $146,656; Ojo Caliente, $81,729; Questa, $141,942; Clayton, $113,896; Des Moines, $16,868; Belen, $529,338; Los Lunas, $234,042, and Grants, $263,424.

Four educator groups recommended a $30-million hike in state support for public schools next fiscal year — National Education Assn.-New Mexico; the State Education Board, the governor's task force on public school finance and Albuquerque Classroom Teachers' Assn.

Sen. Odis Echols, 43, of Clovis entered the Democratic governor's race. Echols ranks in the top three primary candidates in recent polls. He has gained strength in recent weeks.

Echols has been campaigning for months statewide. Other announced Democratic governor candidates are Senate Majority Leader Tibo Chavez, Belen ex-State Rep. Bobby Mayfield, Albuquerque; Sen. Jerry Apodaca, Las Cruces, and former Atty. Gen. Boston Witt, Santa Fe.

State Racing Commission Chairman Drew Cloud, Albuquerque businessman, is expected to enter the Democratic governor race Jan. 26.

Sen. Echols called for investment of state permanent fund money in New Mexico instead of outside the state in his announcement. He authored a law permitting this but the law has not been implemented.

Sen. Anthony A. Lucero, D-Albuquerque, and six others were indicted by a Santa Fe County grand jury. Sen. Lucero was charged with four counts each of bribery and conspiracy.

The charges related to alleged bribes of employes of the State Construction Industries Commission to insure that prospective contractors would pass a state license examination.

Sen. Lucero said the charges stemmed from a political conspiracy against him. He said the charges are unfounded. Lucero is a 10-year legislator. Indictments allege the violations occurred in January and July, 1971, and March, 1972. Lucero, 52, is Senate Finance Committee vice chairman.

Gov. King discussed proposed major reconstruction and repair of the 68-mile San Isidro-Bloomfield stretch of NM-44 with an Albuquerque - Farmington delegation and State Highway Department officials and division chiefs.

State Highway Engineer Lowell G. Boles said estimated cost to rebuild the 68 miles is $19 million at $280,000 a mile. He said four other projects are under way or planned in the 149-mile Bernalillo - Bloomfield NM-44 stretch. The legislature will be asked to fund major improvements on the highway.

State Planning Officer David King and Corrections Commission Chairman Ray Davenport recommended to Gov. King keeping Los Lunas Correction Center spanning 1,700 acres intact and in state ownership.

MRS. B—

By CECELIA BARRON

I wonder if I should donate my writings to something or other, if I would get a tax refund or exemption? We will see over so many donations, since the revelation of the "higher ups". Most of us have things we do not want — even if we thought we needed them at the time. Maybe this would do away with so many garage sales. If the millionaire does not get by one way, he will another; and he is more able to pay than the poor man. We are carrying the burden of our country and the rich man also. I think that is why Jesus said, "For the poor always ye have with you" — John 12:8. He knew we would be made poor by the rich.

This energy saving is getting the best of me. Oh, I do not mind the saving, as I have saved all my life and I did not see how I could save any more but found I could when I tried. Though with all the modern contraptions it is difficult.

Being reared in the country, I always got up with the first crow of our old red rooster; and since the time has been pushed up, I catch myself stumbling around in the dark. I even put my dress on wrong side out one morning. I never flip lights on at night if I should happen to get up; but one night I stumped my toe on a chair and almost broke it (my toe). I am so hungry for hot biscuits; but I don't dare use the oven, as it takes so much more energy than making one piece of toast in the toaster. But when I do use it, I want to leave the door open after it is cut off, to let the heat out in the kitchen; then I see that the light comes on, and I have to close it. See what I mean?

I suppose it is just what a person gets accustomed to gradually. I can recall, back in my childhood days, we had only a bachelor stove with four eyes to cook on and heat the house of two or three rooms. It had a drum above, that the pipe ran through, to bake our bread. We burned grubs and cow chips; then later when they were gone we managed for some coal. But one winter there was a coal strike and we had to burn father's maize and corn. Then once father piled cotton in a room. We children picked the cotton out and we burned the burrs for heat. We only had boxed houses setting on blocks; with the north wind whistling through the cracks and under them. We had only one coal oil lamp that we carried from one room to the other. We children all had to get our lessons at the one table in the kitchen, living, dining room by this one little stove and lamp. My, my, we have come a long way, haven't we?

Then in the summer I would play over in the plum thicket with my pieces of broken dishes and corncob dolls (not the lovely dolls they have today); and sweep out my playhouse with a broom of umbrella weeds. Sometimes I would have a carpet of half acre moss. Or I would sit under the old cottonwood tree, on the banks of the creek and pin leaves together with sticks, to make hats for my dolls or myself. Then like the song: I would hear my mother's voice, "Come home. It's supper time". I can almost hear her now. Then I would pick up my play things and trudge toward the house; as the golden sun was sinking in the west and mother was lighting the lamp. Seems now she was lighting my way through life, even though it was only a dim light.

It was so nice to visit with Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Hinkle. They brought me some magazines, apples and delicious apple butter—I know I will just have to bake those hot biscuits. Mrs. Hinkle also gave the recipe for Weight Watchers' stew, which sounds yummy and nutritious. She is an expert with her canning and candy making. They brought along their little furniture that Mr. Hinkle makes as a hobby. They are just lovely little settees and chairs made of tin boxes and cans. They have trouble finding the tin boxes; and if any of you have square boxes, such as cocoa and tin cookie or candy boxes, I know they would appreciate them. They live up Sun Valley way.

Mrs. Riddle and Mrs. Sadler dropped by and brought me some magazines to read. It was good to see them.

Mrs. Keeler brought me some of her delicious fruit cake. I enjoyed it very much.

Mrs. B

Start orchard pruning now until spring. It can be started during cold weather, but is good practice to work on the hardiest trees first.

Early pruning can involve some hazards from winter injury, but in many instances an early start will be necessary to complete pruning of large orchards before spring. By confining early work to the hardier trees, fruit growers keep injury low.

Apple and pear trees are the hardiest of the fruits, with plums and sour cherries next in order. Because peach and sweet cherry trees are most tender, delay their pruning until March 1, if possible. To get an efficient and uniform pruning operation throughout the orchard, the operation should be well planned. This includes confining earliest pruning to those trees in protected locations wherever possible.

Learn How To Use Chain Saw: Chain saws are becoming more popular as homeowners turn to wood stoves this winter.

The chain saw is a handy tool for cutting firewood. But all chain saws — including the popular light-weight models — can be dangerous machines. On direct-drive saws the chain is running at a speed of 45 miles per hour.

When changing your cutting position or carrying the saw, the engine should always be turned off. When changing, grasp the saw firmly in one hand and carry it at your side with the cutting bar facing backwards.

Stay alert while you're running the saw. Be on the lookout for wires, nails, or other metal in the logs. Do not refuel chain saws when the engine is hot. It is equally dangerous to spill fuel or to smoke while refueling.

Make sure your footing is secure before starting the saw. Place the saw on the ground or on another firm surface before starting and don't wrap the engine cord around your hand when you start a saw manually. If you're a newcomer to chain saws, don't attempt to cut down larger trees. Leave the big jobs for professionals.

Don't operate a dull chain saw. Buy a file and guide, and sharpen the chain frequently. Be sure that the chain is getting enough oil. Overheated saws wear out rapidly.

When cutting up branches and limbs, be alert for flying sticks and twigs from the turning chain. When cutting upfelled trees, stand to one side behind the saw and watch for tension in limbs and saplings. If you must stand directly behind the saw, keep your feet apart for good balance.

Did you know that for every week that a cow is late in calving she looses two per cent of her efficiency? This was the information in the Better Beef Business magazine. Also an 800 pound cow producing a 400 pound calf is as efficient as a 1200 pound cow producing a 544 pound calf.

Cattle growers should consider the overall situation before they decide on what they want to stress in their cow herd.

A department store clerk sneezes as he asks you if you need help, you are standing next to a friend as he coughs, or your boss sneezes as he leans over the desk to give you some papers. Congratulations! You are now a prime target for a common cold.

Colds probably have been man's enemy as long as time, and although they aren't usually a serious threat to a person's health, they are nuisances to everybody's well being and expensive in terms of time lost at work.

Most people know that colds are caused by viruses which are spread from person to person during close contact. Viruses are found in the nose and mouth of a person with a cold, and a cough or sneeze spreads droplets containing the virus for a considerable distance. If your nose happens to be in range, your chances of getting a cold are increased.

Many people believe that going out in the cold without a coat, sitting in a draft with wet feet, going in and out of an air conditioned room and all sorts of changes in the weather will also result in a cold. Actually, none of these things cause or contribute to a cold since colds are caused by viruses getting into the nose and mouth.

It could be argued that things like wet feet cause colds by lowering a person's resistance. If this were true, then wet feet should also make people catch other viral illnesses such as smallpox or polio. There is no evidence that this occurs.

Experiments have been done to directly test whether physical conditions can cause or influence colds. In one study, a large number of volunteers were divided into two groups. One group conscientiously did everything that grandmother says you shouldn't. The other group carefully avoided all drafts, wet feet and exposure to cold. After several weeks of observation, the number of colds were counted and found to be the same in each group.

Recently some volunteers who already had colds were divided into two groups and treated similarly to the groups in the other study. The average length and seriousness of colds in each group were the same. It appears that wet feet, drafts, and the like don't cause colds, and apparently don't make them worse either.

Will you "catch your death from pneumonia" if you go into the cold without a coat? Will your little boy get sick if he plays with wet feet in the snow without a hat? The answer to these questions is a hearty "no." This doesn't mean you should go out without being warmly dressed in freezing weather. You may not catch a cold, but frostbite is no fun.

What about vitamins? Are they of any value in prevention or cure of colds? Quite simply, there is no evidence that vitamins are in any way effective against colds. First of all, any adult who is otherwise healthy and eats a fairly normal diet, doesn't need extra vitamins. (And incidently, vitamin pills are no substitute for a good diet.)

There has been a flurry of excitement about vitamin C and its effect on the cold. The theory is not new and findings of experiments done over the years to show some beneficial effects of vitamin C against the cold have been inconclusive. One problem with the use of vitamin C is that no one knows what potentially harmful effects it may have when taken in high doses over a long period of time.

The regular use of mouthwashes and gargles to prevent colds is ineffective because most cold viruses enter the body through the nose. Even if mouthwashes could kill viruses inside the body, a cold might well be preferable to pouring your favorite gargle into your nose. (Prepared in co-operation with Dr. William Mitchell.)

A sign of the times? We understand that the Fordham University ram (the mascot) now has a lamb. The school has had the animal for two years and was very surprised when their ram turned out to be a ewe. As liberal as some of our institutions of higher learning are getting, we are really surprised that they cannot tell a male from a female, although we have seen cases here in Ruidoso where it's not too easy. . . . Stormy Edwards at Cree Meadows Golf Course doing more work on his second nine holes for the course. We don't know of any other place in the U. S. where you can go golfing and ski on the same day, as you can here in Ruidoso. We have had some beautiful golf weather lately. George Marsh now making plans for the Ski-T early this spring. . . . The boys at the Donut Shop have decided to stay open all day on Saturdays and Sundays during the winter. . . . Another proof that Ruidoso has some of the best weather in the country — Roswell Saturday afternoon had a 23 degree reading while in Ruidoso it was a balmy 57 degrees. . . .

Displays Secured for Space Hall of Fame

Securing of exhibits for the International Space Hall of Fame to be constructed at Alamogordo has already started.

Louis Purnell, assistant curator of Spacecraft, National Air and Space Museum, Smithsonian Institution, has told Dr. John Stapp of the Hall of Fame committee that the Alamogordo project may have Mercury, Gemini and Apollo Missiles and gantries "on our own terms." The missiles were scheduled to be sold by the Smithsonian, but the sales were stopped and the space units were made available to the Hall of Fame in Alamogordo.

Dr. Stapp also was advised that a "Little Joe" Missile can be shipped to Holloman Air Force Base for shortage until opening of the Space Hall of Fame, scheduled July 4, 1976.

Chief goal of the International Space Hall of Fame is to honor pioneers in the space field. An "Avenue of (Space) Missiles" will lead to the hall.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Proving Poverty

How poor does an accused person have to be in order to qualify for free legal counsel? This question is arising more frequently now that the courts have broadened the rights of the indigent to have a lawyer provided at government expense.

To begin with, he need not be absolutely penniless. Take the case of a man arrested on a felony charge. He had $100 in cash, but no other assets or income of any kind. A court ruled that he was entitled to have a lawyer appointed for him.

"It is not necessary that an accused person be utterly destitute," said one judge. "Indigence is a relative term, and must be measured in each case by the service to be furnished. It connotes a lack of resources which, in the light of everyday practicalities, prevents the employment of competent counsel."

However, cash on hand is not the only test of poverty. In another case, a man charged with drunk driving had just $50 in his bank account. But he also had a steady job, two cars, and an equity in a house.

Rejecting his demand for free counsel, the court said "it stretches the imagination" to think he could not find a private attorney ready, willing and able to take his case.

"The Constitution does not require," added a federal court, "that gratuitous services should be extended to persons who can afford to pay."

Suppose the accused himself is broke but has friends or relatives with money. In most cases, that won't matter. Thus:

A college student, arrested on a charge of theft, had no financial resources. He did have a married sister who could afford to hire a lawyer for him, but she refused to do so.

The court thereupon decided that the student was entitled to have a government-paid attorney. The court reasoned that money in someone else's pocket did not make him any richer.

In The Wind

By HARLAN EVERETT

It's almost election time again and the collective village curiosity is running high. Most of the offices are up for grabs and all of the important ones, if you consider the mayor and the municipal judge the important ones.

Ruidoso's one day filing period really adds to the suspense. I guess its the usual for around here that no one lets on that they are going to run until they have to file, leading to a lot of speculation, and no one seems to know for sure. Mayor Farrar won't commit himself and neither will the rest of the incumbents with the exception of Sam Nunnally, who is going to give it another try.

Perhaps the incumbents just can't decide whether they want another four years or not, but it looks different to me in the case of the challengers.

I figure there are two reasons for keeping it a secret, either skeletons in the closet, or fear of competition.

The first reason keeps the candidate in the background until the last minute so the opposition has less time to collect ammuhition against him, or start nasty rumors.

I guess no one in town can claim that he has no enemies, and I kinda think that a candidate will hold off declaring, so someone who does not like his candidacy won't have time to throw his hat in the ring against him.

It takes a little more confidence and courage to declare, when you don't know your opponent, and I sure wish we would have had a few step forward by now. With the breakneck development Ruidoso has had recently, this is the kind of leadership we will have to have.

I sure have been noticing a lot of dented fenders around town in the last month, some of them on the cars of Ruidosoans who have been here for a while.

I don't know if it has been slipperyer(?) around town than usual or just more so than the drivers have thought. But I guess it's never too late to learn respect for a street that has ice and snow on it.

Last Thursday through Saturday nights were hard times for Ruidoso High varsity athletics. The basketball team lost three straight and the wrestlers one. Unfortunately, Ruidoso was never really in contention for most of the contests.

It might be worthwhile to note that while the round-ballers' 3-9 record to date is less than impressive, none of the losses have been to a school the same size or class as Ruidoso. They've been playing some big, tough schools and learned many lessons the hard way.

Coach Giannoni said while the Deming Tourney didn't help their record much, the team learned from the bigger schools and some of these lessons have been put into practice in the Warrior offensive and defensive attack.

The wrestling team was in much the same boat against Carlsbad Friday.

Though they battled only freshmen and sophomores, the Warriors were up against one of the strongest wrestling schools in the state. In every match, Ruidoso was outclassed in experience if not age.

Besides lacking in experience, Ruidoso coach Phil Yost was not even able to get one wrestler for each class to compete against a school that is said to have about 100 boys competing for the few matches each week.

Yost said that the Carlsbad coach was glad to get the match with Ruidoso even though it wasn't his toughest. He has trouble finding co'ches willing to tangle with his talented squad.

Speaking of sports — please don't confuse with Howard Cosell — I was not a great deal more than an average high school athlete but this competition is among the fondest memories of my life.

When I remember this, it sure bugs me to see some of Ruidoso's athletes, good athletes, with nothing to do but drive their cars around after school while sports like wrestling and track struggle and can't even fill all of their events.

High school sports are among life's great experiences for a boy and it's a shame that for so many Ruidoso youths, only football is important enough to warrant their effort and time.

C'mon kids, get out of those cars and play now, before you're too old and have to work for a living like me.

Motorists beware!

If the slick streets and dented fenders aren't enough, some have already learned the hard way of the increased police activity on the streets of Ruidoso.

The cops have a new radar device that gets you coming and going and are also finally starting to come down heavy on parking violations in the village, primarily on Center Street.

Judge Sam Nunnally notes that he recently passed the 2,000 case mark in his career as municipal judge and his cases are now running about double last year's.

If you haven't already been caught either by the ice or the police, it might be wise to take heed.

Orchard Pruning May Be Done Early

Orchard pruning need not be delayed until spring, reminds M. Douglas Bryant, extension horticulturist at New Mexico State University. It can be started during cold weather, but it is a good practice to work on the hardiest trees first, he adds.

"Early pruning can involve some hazards from winter injury, but in many instances an early start will be necessary to complete pruning of large orchards before spring," Bryant explains. "By confining early work to the hardier trees, fruit growers keep injury low."

Apple and pear trees are the hardiest of the fruits, with plums and sour cherries next in order. Because peach and sweet cherry trees are most tender, delay their pruning until March 1st, if possible, says Bryant.

To get an efficient and uniform pruning operation throughout the orchard, the operation should be well planned, Bryant says. This includes confining earliest pruning to those trees in protected locations wherever possible.

First A-A Derby Taking Shape

The All-American Derby will be run for the first time during the '74 meeting at Ruidoso Downs, and track officials couldn't be more pleased about the way the race is shaping up.

"Originally, we had projected a purse of about $200,000," said General Manager Al Rosa, "but the response has been just tremendous. We're now looking at a purse of about $500,000. This would, of course, make the All-American Derby the world's richest three-year-old race."

The 440-yard spectacular is scheduled to be run on Sunday, Aug. 25, and already holds the distinction of being the world's second richest race. The $1,030,000 All-American Futurity, a Labor Day classic at Ruidoso Downs, is the only race anywhere to offer a bigger purse.

Under the current format, all money in excess of $1,030,000 is diverted from the All-American Futurity into the following year's Derby. The '74 All-American Futurity actually topped out at a thumping $1,425,290—which meant $395,290 went into the kitty for the '74 Derby.

The Derby eligibles are those two-year-olds which were entered in the All-American Futurity trials the previous year. The '73 All-American Futurity trials attracted 223 head. Of these, 144 were kept eligible for the Derby when the first payment came due on Dec. 1.

"It was an excellent response, both in terms of quality and quantity," remarked Nominations Secretary Liz Devine. "Each of the 10 finalists from last year's All-American Futurity are represented. So it looks like the Derby will be absolutely first-rate in every respect."

Timeto Thinkrich, who won the '73 All-American Futurity, heads the list of Derby eligibles. The valuable colt is owned by the Vessels Sallion Farm of Los Alamitos, Calif. He won the dramatic dash by a length and earned $330,000.

Go Fartherfaster, who finished fourth in the All-American, also cleared the first Derby payment. The colt is a stablemate to Timeto Thinkrich.

Flaming Jet, the second-place finisher in the All-American, and Coca's Kid, who came in third, were also kept eligible. Flaming Jet is owned by Joe Kirk Fulton of Lubbock, Texas. Coca's Kid is the property of Dr. Edward Allred of Los Angeles.

Here are the other Derby eligibles, in order of their finish in the All-American Futurity: 5th — Mr. Hay Bug, 6th — Azure Teen, 7th — Dancer's Queen, 8th — Calcutta Deck, 9th — Gotta Go Too, 10th — Go Benny Go.

Eligibility payments were also received from the owners of Mr. Gobar, Smooth Flite, and Pat's Moon — the winners of the First, Second and Third Consolations of the All-American Futurity.

Pass Over, an early-season sensation in 1973 who earned nearly $230,000, is another Derby nominee.

One of the biggest nominators is the Circle S Ranch of Terre Haute, Ind., which submitted eligibility payments for Miss 747, Easy Me, Kitty Boone and Baby Boone.

Another four-head group, consisting of Quick Rockette, Decka Roses, Bonne Jo and Jeff's Rockett — were kept eligible by Dr. Jack Frost of Centralia, Ill. S. F. Henderson of Odessa, Texas, also has four head in the running. The group consists of Dial A Rocket, That's Gone, Straitaway and Sparkle Eyes.

Total cash in the '74 Derby now stands at $415,150. Some 135 head are expected to be kept eligible via the $250 payment due on Feb. 1, and the owners of about 75 head are expected to shell out a $600 entry fee into the trials.

The track will chip in $10,000 in added money. That, plus interest, will push the grand total up to the half-million-dollar mark.

The '74 racing season, pending approval by the New Mexico State Racing Commission, will get underway on May 18 and extend through Labor Day (Sept. 2).

High Country Wheels

By KENNETH SHOWS

Everyone's been told one or more reasons why we are currently in the midst of an energy "crisis" and a petroleum "shortage". We've been told that Americans are using more and more gasoline, heating fuels and other petroleum distillates, and that the Arabs have ceased to sell us crude oil, thus greatly reducing our supply.

However, for those of you who follow the news media, as most concerned citizens do, it seems that the "experts" are having trouble with their arithmetic.

The item which seemed to trigger the petroleum shortage was the Arabs putting the clamp on their oil exports. Shortages of heating oil were predicted by a Senate committee to run as high as 40 percent. But the White House informs us that the Arab oil accounts for only 12 percent of America's oil supply. Incidentially, this 12 percent Arab oil import cut-off has since been matched or exceeded by imports from other countries. Somehow, though, this non-existent 12 percent shortage has mushroomed to 40 percent. I wish I knew the mathematical formula for deriving that figure.

A number of "experts" in the field of economy claim it's a lack of refining capacity. Oil executives agree and quickly push the probervial "monkey" to the backs of the environmentalists, who have blocked new construction. However, a Senate investigation reveals that refineries east of the Rockies operated at 87.5 percent of capacity in 1972. The reported percentage of capacity for 1973 runs in the 90's. The first of 1974 reveals two major oil companies with supplies of crude and refined petroleum products as high as 17 percent higher than last year. We've also been told that gasoline and heating oil consumption is down as much as 25 percent. All this, and still they claim a shortage. The price is also drastically higher. The only thing apparently not in shortage is profits. The Senate investigation also revealed that the five largest oil companies showed profits 25 to 48 percent higher for the first six months of 1973 than for the same period in 1972. Two oil companies, incidentially, have pleaded guilty to illegally contributing a total of $225,000 for re-election of a certain president. Hmmm. . . .

Then comes the mindless proposal to ban auto racing. Even for the cars that do burn gasoline, the total amounts of fuel used in a season by all race cars wouldn't be enough to supply a decent-sized gas station for a month, according to the Union Oil Co. Some individuals are quick to point out that the way to save fuel would be to stop the fans from driving to the race tracks. But, to be democratic, we would have to take things in the order of their gas consumption, and auto racing is presently rated a number seven from the top according to the Motor Sports Marketing Corporation. The top six fuel consumers include such "non-mentionables" as vacation travel, general aviation, theatre going, football, basketball, and horse racing. I'm not suggesting curtailing any of these activities, but before you think of banning auto racing, just look again at items number 1 and 6.

Use The Foods In Your Freezer

Now that your freezer is filled to the top after the harvest season, don't try to store foods indefinitely. Use them.

Your freezer is not a safety deposit box. All foods have a maximum storage time; after that they begin to lose flavor.

Don't keep fruits and vegetables longer than 12 months. You should use most meats, fish and poultry within nine months; eat cooked foods within four months and ice cream, sandwiches and leftovers within one month. After this length of time they're still fine as far as food safety goes, but food value and taste are beginning to decline.

Since the most efficient way to run a freezer is to keep it well stocked at all times, replace the foods you take out with others. Also, to be sure you're using up foods that have been frozen longest, always label everything with a date as well as a kind of food. Wrap all foods carefully so they'll keep properly.

Home freezing has become so popular because it's such a simple way to do an excellent job of preserving foods. Keep up the good work by serving the foods while it's still at peak flavor and food value.

A few blustery days in Lincoln County and you will know if the caulking in your home is doing its job or not.

I would like to remind homeowners that moisture and cold pass through caulking that has shrunk, cracked or fallen out. Heat loss and expensive repairs can result.

Window and door sills are particular problem areas. Other likely spots for caulking problems are join's between masonry and wooden siding.

Of the 5 steps (types) of caulking available, oil-based products are least expensive. However, these tend to dry out and become brittle sooner than most others. Oil-based caulking compounds require priming if used on unpainted wood, and must be covered with oil-based rather than latex paints.

Latex caulkings are less likely to shrink, and can be applied over dried-out-oil-base caulk, must not be loose. The latex The colder material, of course, products need not be primed, but should be painted for longer seams in gutters, or around metal windows. It will retain its flexibility through extremes of life.

The rubber compounds — silicone and butyl—are best where maximum flexibility is desired. Butyl is a good choice for heat and cold. Waiting a week to ten days before painting over butyl caulking.

Silicone rubber is the most expensive caulking. It can be used for cementing and bonding as well as for sealing, and stays flexible indefinitely. Black, white, gray, and clear silicone rubber compounds are available.

The clear silicone caulking is best for forming a tight seal around picture windows. However, silicone will not coat of paint.

Another expensive sealant is polyvinyl aceta fective both indoors and is especially suitable for tub, shower, and sink in tion.

This synthetic compou highly adhesive, mildew ant, and requires no pr After selecting the produ suited for the job, read t structions carefully. All ings require a clean, dr face in order to perform erly. And, be sure the te ture is above 50° when doing any outdoor sealing

Warriors Lose First Loop Game

The Ruidoso Warrior varsity launched district basketball play Friday night with an 81-68 loss to Cloudcroft in the Ruidoso gym.

The Warriors just couldn't seem to get going against the aggressive Bears and a number of turnovers and missed shots left them 12 points down after the first eight minutes of play.

At the start of the second period, Cloudcroft was beginning to make the game look like a rout until Ruidoso finally started to generate some offense in the closing minutes to close the gap a little at 42-28.

The Warriors came back from the break aggressive and with full-court press, forced Bear mistakes and managed to outscore them for this one quarter.

The final period was almost all Ruidoso until the final two minutes as the Warriors again used their scrambling press to force Bear mistakes and begin closing the 13 point gap at the start of the quarter.

About midway in the quarter, Joe Bob McGuire, game high scorer with 24, broke loose hitting on two driving lay-ups and a 20 footer. Thane Williams, Collie Parks and Dick Underwood also followed rebounds with two-pointers.

Cloudcroft could only manage six points in the midst of the Ruidoso charge and then Clyde Reynolds was fouled while driving for a lay-up. Reynolds hit on both chances, pulling the Warriors to within five points of the Bears at 68-73 with more than two minutes left, the only Ruidoso threat since early in the first quarter.

Following Reynolds' free throws, the Bears decided to slow the game down as Ruidoso didn't score again and the Bears hit on eight free throws to give them the final 13 point margin.

Ruidoso committed six fouls, including a technical call and fouled out four players in the final two minutes. David Stiles had been the first to go with more than five minutes to go and he was followed by Underwood, Harlan Butts, Figgy Griego and Britt Beal, leaving Ruidoso with their last five men on the court.

The only bright spot of the evening came when the JV's extended their winning streak to two with a win over the Bears' B team.

FOULED DRIVE — Ruidoso guard Clyde Reynolds is ambushed by a crowd of Bears as he drives for a lay-up in the closing minutes of their game. He missed the shot but his two good free throws brought the Warriors to within five points of Cloudcroft with about 2:30 remaining. Energy Crisis Solved By Holloman Family

by Maj. Glenn Pribus

I don't like the energy crisis. Inconvenience. Expense. Extra work. Shivers. It is definitely not fun. In spite of all that, the energy crisis has had some serendipity.

Our family uses our fireplace more often to save electricity than to heat. I'm too cheap to buy wood. So we have been cutting it ourselves. In the process of cutting it ourselves, we have cleared out a section of our small woods from dead fall wood. A job long overdue. Twigs and sticks for kindling. Larger pieces sawed and split for the fire. Lynn, Dan and Nick all pitch in. It is fun. It is also togetherness. We chop and saw by hand. Good exercise. The idea of harder muscles appeals to the kids.

Now that winter and the energy crisis have entered in full force, we are using the wood quite regularly. Lynn and the boys get the fire ready to light during the day. As soon as supper is over and the dishes are done, we turn the furnace way down, shut off all the lights except one in the living room, close the living room doors, and light the fire — not a great roaring blaze, but small and "romantic" (Lynn) and it keeps the chill out.

If there is a good TV program scheduled, we plan to watch it. If not, we don't turn the thing on. Color TV takes a lot of electricity. Mostly it's off which is fine with me. I see enough drama, mystery, and situation comedy at work anyhow! The evenings without any TV are particularly pleasant. Like the "olden days" — you know — before TV.

We discuss what we did during the day. Make plans. Lynn plays her guitar. She sings — the boys sing. I can't sing, so I listen. I like it. We play a game — parcheesi is a family favorite. Nick and Dan struggle over chess. We read.

Reading? We are all getting to those books we have always wanted to read. Reading has become the high point of the kids' evening. Lynn's reading aloud especially. She has selected a group of good books we all enjoy, i. e., Black Beauty, Tom Sawyer, Treasure Island. Lynn is currently reading Treasure Island aloud, a little bit each night. The scene may sound corny. Lynn sitting on the raised hearth, fire flickering softly behind her. Dan and Nick totally attentive, identifying with Jim in his struggle with Long John Silver. Me, I'm happy and relaxed. Treasure Island, not the book, the time — the place — the family. Treasure Island, a fortunate discovery made accidentally — one good thing about the energy crisis.
