

County Is Best Equipped For Search-Rescue

The fact that Lincoln County is reportedly the best equipped county in New Mexico for search and rescue operations, including personnel and equipment, received additional confirmation this week, according to Lincoln County Sheriff Ernest Sanchez.

Sheriff Sanchez reported that Lincoln County Sheriff Department Dispatcher Mrs. Pat Moore, Carrizozo, upon returning recently from attending a Law Enforcement Radio Dispatcher School at the New Mexico Law Enforcement Academy, Santa Fe, told him, "Academy instructors inform their students that Lincoln County is in fact the best equipped county in New Mexico for search and rescue."

To give additional verification to the Law Enforcement Academy Instructor's claim, Sheriff Sanchez stated that he wanted to publicly recognize, and at the same time express the Sheriff Department's sincere appreciation, to the many individuals, private businesses and civic organizations within the county and local, county, state and federal agencies who have constantly given their complete operation and assistance in search and rescue operations.

The Lincoln County Sheriff expressed high praise for all of the organizations and agencies who "personally volunteer to go beyond the call of duty in search and rescue operations."

Organizations within the county who participate in search and rescue work include the White Mountain Jeep Club Search and Rescue Organization. This organization, headquartered in Ruidoso, has as its disposal two-way radios for communications in mountainous terrain as well as with the Ruidoso Police Department Radio Dispatcher. The membership includes, many of whom who are commissioned Sheriff Deputies, those who utilize four-wheel drive vehicles for rough terrain. The club also is equipped with special search and rescue equipment and promote periodic training sessions on search and rescue procedures.

Sheriff Sanchez also expressed appreciation for the Lincoln County Civil Defense Program and the serious efforts and success of the county civil defense leaders in securing search and rescue equipment and supplies for Lincoln County.

Other agencies who cooperate with the Sheriff Department include the New Mexico Mounted Patrol Troop Five, who are also commissioned as Sheriff Deputies; the U. S. Forest Service personnel and their equipment, including a helicopter and a number of first aid equipment supplies; the New Mexico State Game and Fish Department; the Sierra Blanca Boys Camp at Fort Stanton, "who always are willing to assist"; and several local pilots who on many occasions have spent many hours in search of downed aircrafts or in endeavoring to spot lost individuals in our rugged mountain areas.

In addition Sheriff Sanchez expressed noted appreciation for the cooperation of the New Mexico State Police stationed in the Lincoln County area and also for the Holloman Air Force Base personnel who have assisted in search and rescue operations on a number of occasions in Lincoln County.

The Lincoln County Sheriff also expressed his appreciation for the news media who photographs, free of charge to the Sheriff's Department and to the taxpayer, needed search and rescue scenes and criminal investigations.

Sheriff Sanchez concluded, "All in all we have the finest team and equipment effort for search and rescue in the state, it is a team that is really unbeatable and one that all residents of Lincoln County can be extremely proud."

The team, currently assigned to the Ruidoso Ranger District of the Lincoln National Forest, which involves 185,000 acres of forest lands, participates in a continuing training program sponsored by the U. Small Forest Fire Quickly Extinguished

A Lincoln National Forest fire fighting crew, stationed in Ruidoso, was called out early last Saturday, April 22, to battle a small fire in the Cedar Creek Campground area of the Lincoln National Forest.

Forest officials at the scene stated that although the fire was confined to a relatively small area and was quickly extinguished, it was an extremely hot fire located within three hundred yards of a new Ruidoso subdivision and had the potential of destroying a large area of the forest and privately owned property.

Officials also reported that the fire was started by campers who had failed to completely extinguish a campfire.

A partial closure currently exists in all Lincoln National Forest lands which prohibits smoking except on paved roads, designated and controlled camping areas. Special fire permits for other camping areas can be issued only by the U. S. Forest Service, Ruidoso Ranger Station.

Saturday the fire index was recorded at 74, an extremely high potential fire condition. It was reported that any index above 20 is considered to be dangerous.

A special highly trained and organized fire fighting crew has been assigned to the Ruidoso U. S. Forest Ranger District as a part of the Lincoln National Forest fire fighting team. Local officials were highly complimentary regarding the complex of twenty fire fighters stating, "They are one of the best we have had."

In addition a local heavy equipment contractor, with equipment for immediate use in cutting emergency fire lanes, is on a twenty-four hour week end standby.

Forest Officials reported that the Ruidoso District of the Lincoln National Forest will be patrolled constantly and will issue legal criminal citations to violators regarding unlawful burning.

Ruidoso Downs Council Names Harold Willingham As Marshall

Harold Willingham has been appointed by Ruidoso Downs Mayor Jesse Harris to serve as village marshal to fill the position vacated recently by the resignation of Jerry Russell. The village council approved the appointment Monday evening at the regular board meeting of the village ruling body.

HAROLD WILLINGHAM

The trustees also approved the appointment, on a trial basis, of Charles Welland to head the village water department. Welland will assume his duties May 1.

Village clerk Hazel Lawing announced that a final budget hearing would be held June 21, at 11:00 a.m. in the village hall with state officials. Mayor Harris also noted that Darrell Fowler, village fiscal agent, would attend the next regular meet of the board with suggestions concerning the recently passed sewer bond issue. He stated that the village attorney would also be present at the meet.

The board heard complaints of poisoning of pets within the village limits and noted that seriousness of the matter. The question of livestock in the village was also raised and Harris stated that the ordinance dealing with livestock would have to be studied and revised to meet present needs.

Several members of the Ruidoso Downs Ladies Auxiliary attended the meet to learn more details of the State Librarian's request for use of the auxiliary hall as a base for the local bookmobile. It was noted that repairs would be necessary to make the building suitable for the library and that a meeting with state officials would be arranged to learn more of the proposal. Two or three new families would be moving to the village if the proposals were accepted.

Discussion of the Green River Ordinance was held and Mayor Harris stated that the ordinance had already been adopted by the village and that the village marshal would be instructed to enforce the ordinance. The ordinance requires licensing of peddlers but exempts farmers selling their own produce.

Discussion was held concerning the bridge across the Ruidoso River near Thompson's Trailer Park and the council decided that timbers running in the direction of the road would be necessary to complete the job.

Ruidoso/realtor Bill Pippin requested information concerning subdivisions in the village and noted that a mobile home subdivision was being studied for the village. The board of trustees referred Pippin to the village planning and zoning committee. Ruidoso Downs Postmaster Dorothy Parnell expressed concern with the traffic hazard at the entrance to the post office and asked the trustees' assistance in posting stop signs in the area. The board stated that the highway department had been contacted and indicated that a safety engineer would be sent to study the problem.

In answer to a request that vacant lots be burned in the village, the trustees noted that the State Environmental Office would no longer allow burning of trash and weeds.

A complaint was also heard about disposal of garbage in the Turkey Canyon area and Mayor Harris stated that this was also a matter for the local environmental officer.

The next regular meeting of the board will be held at the village hall May 8.

Oktoberfest Group Holds Cloudfcroft Meet

The Cowboy Oktoberfest committee held a meeting Monday noon at the Roadrunner Koeber Kitchin in Cloudfcroft to make further plans for the annual event scheduled in October.

The group decided that the State Fiddler's Contest would be held in one of the mountain communities (either Ruidoso or Cloudfcroft), and set the date for the event Saturday afternoon, Oct. 14. Awards for winners of the contest will be presented at the final event of the celebration that night, the Aspencade Ball. Discussion was held on what name dance band could be obtained for the ball, and chairman Bill Ward noted that he would contact bands and get prices.

Ward suggested that a special showing of the "Billy the Kid Pageant" might be arranged as the opening event for the two-week-long Oktoberfest celebration and that the kick-off dinner might be held at the Wortley Hotel in Lincoln with Governor Bruce King present.

The advertising committee, composed of Walter Henn, Welcome Armstrong and Layne Preslar, recommended that the committee have pamphlets printed to be inserted in utility statements and other letters mailed out to advertise the event. The board agreed to have rubber stamps made to stamp outside of envelopes mailed boosting the celebration. Gunmed stickers will also be ordered. The committee also noted that the State Department would publish and distribute a schedule of events for the Oktoberfest.

Ward stated that the Oktoberfest committee was attempting to contact the Budweiser brewery to get the famous Clydesdale matched team for the Aspencade Parade.

The committee OK'ed a request from the 5 Aces Lounge that the finals in the beer drinking contest be held there Oct. 13.

Mescalero will be the site of the May meeting, slated for the third Monday in May and the June meet will be held at Alamogordo.

News 'N Notes

By MARY ELLEN PAYNE (Lincoln County Home Agent)

While it's true that food prices have increased, consumers need to know how much they have increased and why the increase is necessary. The concerned housewife knows that the prices of hogs, cattle, calves, broilers, oranges and coconuts must have gone up because she is paying more for the item derived from these products. What she may not have noticed is that food items that come from milk, lettuce, eggs, tomatoes, strawberries and potatoes should have gone down since the prices that farmers received for these products have decreased.

Now, if these price increases and decreases are put together, the index of prices received by farmers advanced by two per cent as of February 15. This increase, plus past increases, means that farm prices have moved up 7.8 per cent over the past 20 years—not a very large increase.

On the other hand, the cost of the items bought by farmers to produce the nation's food has increased 52 per cent over the same 20 year period. These figures answer the question about why food prices have increased at the farm level. It is only because farmers have become more efficient and produce more products without using more production inputs that they have been able to stay in business. Remember, the farmer only gets 38 per cent of the consumer's food dollar. So if the other industries such as processors, handlers and retailers who are involved in putting food on the table were as efficient as the farmer, food would be even cheaper than it is. In this country we spend only 16.5 per cent of our income for food, making our food the cheapest in the world.

An early American tradition is fast disappearing. When our country was struggling for its existence, most Americans awakened early and started the day with a long, substantial meal that gave the family enough energy for a full morning of physical labor.

Now, morning consists of a mad rush to get to work, to catch a bus, or arrive at school on time. When most of the day's work is done behind a desk, many adults have a cup of coffee and call that breakfast. Children are also likely to skip, or skimp on, food as they hurry off to school.

"Nutritionally, the case for a good breakfast is quite clear," points out Miss Louise Garrett, extension nutrition specialist at New Mexico State University. "Even though we don't labor as hard as we used to—or, at least we don't expend as much energy physically—adults and children still need a good wake-up and a make-up meal to get them through the morning at top efficiency and through the day properly nourished."

"Morning is the time when most people face the day's peak demands," continues Miss Garrett. "And, it is also the time of lowest energy reserve." When you get up in the morning, it has been at least seven hours, and more likely 10 or 11, since your last meal. The body's supply of glucose, or blood sugar—the basic fuel for the brain and central nervous system, is at its low point for the day.

"The body needs food to produce glucose, and after a long night's fast, there is not much raw material left for the glucose-making machinery to

A FEW MORE WORDS ABOUT ZANE GREY

I do not know whether or not you remember it or not, but this January 31 was the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Zane Grey. All over the world there is a renewed interest in this humorist American writer and his stories.

Much is being written about him; and one book in particular on his life and writings, "Eve Ball" learned me this book and I am enjoying it greatly.

Many people during this anniversary year are trying to explain Grey's greatness—the powerful spell he cast on his readers.

Of an evening now I am reading one of Grey's best-loved books, "Wildfire", the story of a mustang stallion and Lin Sloan the wild horse hunter who captured him. I bought this book—and it is a first edition—from Ira Mae Smith at her antique store at Ruidoso Downs. Mrs. Smith has many treasures in the way of books, by Zane Grey and other American favorite authors. These books, many of them first editions, are very popular; and it is great to find so many of these old favorites in Ira Mae's store.

To get on with the story of Wildfire, I was at the part where a partner stalked the mustang for days and finally made a forty-foot leap from an embankment, but fell short of the wary wild horse and gave up.

This brought my mind back to Arpel Rummels and his panther ravel. And I remembered that Grey himself tried his hand at this kind of stampeding, and many another risky adventure.

And here, I think is one of the secrets of Zane Grey's popularity. He was a robust and adventurous fellow himself. And this vitality and excitement finds its way into his stories.

There are many reasons for Grey's greatness of course; and some of these are beyond explaining. One thing is that he loved the country and the people about which he wrote. And another thing is that, although many of his books were made into movies and TV shows, some of the best part of his stories are some that you can get only through the printed page. As an example of what I mean here is a paragraph from his masterpiece, "Riders of the Purple Sage."

"Therefore he climbed swiftly. The trees were farther apart than he had estimated, though he had from long habit made allowances for the deceiving nature of distance in that country. When he gained the cover of cedars he paused to rest and Kelt, and it was then he saw how the trees sprang from holes in the bare rock. Ages of rain had run down the slope, circling, eddying in depressions, wearing deep round holes. There had been dry seasons, accumulations of dust, wind-blown seeds, and cedars rose wonderfully out of solid rock. But these were not beautiful cedars. They were gnarled, twisted into weird contortions, as if growth were torture, dead at the tops, shrunken, gray and old. There had been a bitter fight, and Venter's felt a strange sympathy for them. This country was hard on trees—and men."

One thing that makes the books of Zane Grey live through the years is that they are the inspiration of a true American. His stories are good because they are written by a good man—with a heart as pure as his beloved desert air—truly the "breath of life" for our beloved story teller.

What Good Is Wind?

Since childhood, I have always liked the wind. In those days the wind was just what I needed to fly my kites; and to sail my toy sail boats on the ponds. That's the beauty of childhood: A child finds something to enjoy in all kinds of weather—snow, cold, hail, rain, sleet, heat and wind.

Do you remember that bit of childhood verse?

Who has seen the wind
Neither you nor I,
But when the trees
Bow down their heads,
The wind is passing by.

Do the trees need the wind to get all limbered up in their coat of bark so that the sap can rise better? Is there something about the blowing of the wind that has something to do with strengthening of branches and trunks of trees? Is it to give our disposition and our nerves a work out? Quien sabe?

But surely the wind must have some part in the show or else it would not be here. Well, whatever work the wind has cut out for it; it has not been shrinking its job here lately—has it?

Sometimes it seems these spring winds spells are a sort of advance assault for the summer to come sneaking in. Here are most all the signs of summer: The robin's song, the song sparrow, the first cricket chirping in the tall grass, the cheerful after moon song of the mourning dove—but in this cold driving wind it does not seem like summer at all.

Then, the minute the windy spell quits, lo, and here we are in summer.

THE SWALLOWS

The swallows do not let the wind bother them when they get ready to come here from Mexico. Or, come to think about it, maybe they hop on it and ride part of the way up.

Anyway the Friday of April 7 there was a little pair of cliff swallows waddling out on the power wires in front of the house. They moved into the clay nest over the door that they made last year. The next night two more came and moved into the nest at the back of the house.

A week later I happened to look up in the evening and there was the whole colony—a couple of hundred circling in the sky. This colony has a lot of their homes in a culvert near by. And this is a kind of meeting place for the whole tribe.

On the evening of Sunday, the 16th, I drove home through the wind, and there on the REA wires in front of the house the whole colony of swallows was lined in close formation like a regiment. They had gathered from all up and down the vale, and perched there on the wires calmly down much as to say, "Yes, this is the same guy as last year and the years before. The grape vine had it that he might not get back here to the house."

They from one end to the other of the close-packed rows on the wires there was a little fluttering movement, and it seemed they said, "Well, just wanted you to know we are back."

And with that the whole band, as one bird were in flight and gone.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

COMMON LAW MARRIAGE

Like baseball and hot dogs, the common law marriage is a particularly American institution. Never widely known in Europe, it began to flourish in our colonial days when preachers and marriage license bureaus were few and far between.

And, even though not allowed in most states, it continues to flourish today to a surprising degree. Almost everywhere, a common law marriage is recognized as valid if it was valid in the state where it took place.

But there is a big difference between a common law marriage and just a "temporary arrangement."

The essence of a common law marriage is an agreement between the parties to be man and wife, usually followed by a period of "holding themselves out" as a married couple. Merely living together, even for a considerable time, will create the legal relationship.

As one court put it: "Consent to concubinage does not constitute marriage."

Once a common law marriage has come into existence, it is as permanent as any other marriage. Thus:

A common law wife, becoming bored with her husband, packed up and left. Several months afterward, she married another man in a regular ceremonial wedding.

But her second marriage was later held to be null and void. The court said that since she had not bothered to get a divorce from her common law husband, she was still his wife.

There are other reasons, too, for not entering lightly into a common law marriage. All too often, legal complications arise from the sheer difficulty of establishing whether there really was a marriage in the first place.

These complications may involve not only the parties themselves (alimony? social security rights? workmen's compensation benefits?) but also their children (legitimacy? inheritance rights?). In view of such possibilities, there would seem to be little reason for choosing a common law marriage in this day and age.

"The covered wagon days," commented one court, "are over."

T. or C. Fiesta Will Feature Liars Contest

If anyone in the Ruidoso area has a real "far out" story about the Old West passed down in their family, or if they have a lively enough imagination to make up their own, it could be worth money plus a free trip to Truth or Consequences, New Mexico, for the annual Fiesta May 9-14.

Three top "story tellers," selected as finalists on the basis of their entries in the Henson & Hedges Tall Tales Contest, will be brought to Truth or Consequences to appear along with top Hollywood and TV entertainers in a big stage show emceed by Ralph Edwards and Bob Barker on Saturday, May 13. The winner will receive $300 while second is worth $200 and third $100. They also will enjoy attending other events scheduled for the Fiesta celebrating the city's name change to that of the popular TV show 27 years ago.

Anyone 18 years old and above can enter as many Tall Tales as they like. They may be typewritten, up to 500 words, or recorded on tape, not to exceed two minutes speaking length. Mail entries to Fiesta, Inc., Box 31, Truth or Consequences, N. M. 87801. Entries must be postmarked no later than May 46-1p. 1.

GRASSROOTS OPINION

LAMBERTVILLE, N. J., BEACON: "A new method of soaking up oil slicks and converting them into useful material has been patented by a Hazelton, Pa., chemical engineer. In addition to the interesting aspects of the invention, this system will also get rid of used tires. The Naience brothers tell us that this is a growing problem. Well worn out tires are shredded to make a mixture that absorbs oil and forms a jelly-like mass. This mass can be converted into a mixture similar to asphalt for making roads, floors, roofing and other products. There is always something new and exciting being developed."

"Free speech can be expensive, if the other fellow is bigger than you."

Highway Safety Film Shown For Rotarians

Lorenzo Chavez and Clyde Anderson, both men employees of the New Mexico State Highway Department, gave the program at the regular weekly meeting of the Ruidoso Rotary club held Tuesday noon at Joe's Cafe. The program was a film prepared by the Highway Department stressing highway safety for juveniles. The film, entitled, "Saturday Place", has been shown to numerous schools and organizations in the state.

A donation was made by the club to Camp Sierra Blanca for their help with the Earth Week clean-up this week in Ruidoso.

Visitors to the meet were George Brittain and E. E. Callaway of Ruidoso.

Visiting Rotarians were Mike Glover, Alamogordo; Bill Wolf, Roswell, and Clyde Nichols, El Paso.

BY CECELIA BARRON

Do we ever take time to go down memory lane and recall the scents and sounds of long ago? I know it is difficult to bring back "yesterday" when there is so much alien and foul confusion; but there are still some delightful memories if we just take time to reminisce. It is said a blind person sees with their nose and ears — "seeing" and smelling much more than we do.

If we walk in the woods there is a mélange of exciting scents — breaths of air spiced with the sun drenched cedar or pine; smoke drifting up from someone's chimney fills the air with an oriental scent. I once read somewhere that: nature dissolves pretense and it takes only some trees to bring a man down to size.

Oh, but the sweet smell and beauty of a rain—the flutter of a meadow lark settling on the garden fence or the "coo" of a dove down back of the aura fill orchard.

But the memories I love most are: the sounds and aroma in the early morning, when I first awake. My father pottering around the kitchen; frying ham — big thick slices—the sound of the sizzling red gravy and mother sifting the flour to make "mouth watering" biscuits. Then after the day's work: the crinkling of the newspaper as father began to read and mother picking up her darning basket—the squeaking of her rocker; while we children are outside on the steps listening to the katydids or a far off screech of an owl and breathing in the wonderful odor of strong ozone after a thunderstorm. I wonder what became of that scent? It always reminded me of freshly turned sod.

Was there ever any better smell or taste than mother's fresh baked bread? She always had a roll or thick slice with real sweet butter melting on it, when we got home from school. And the home-made ice cream we had on Sundays — mother made it and we children took turns at the crank. Sometimes she put luscious strawberries or peaches in it and I remember waiting a while to breathe in the sweet aroma of berries before I tasted mine; then took tiny bites to make it last longer.

As I grew older there was the smell of leather of my saddle and the acetic odor of sweat on my horse; as I herded the lowing cows along the grassy lane.

The melodious sound of the old dinner bell and the clink, clink, clang of the blacksmith's anvil is heard no more and the peal of the shrill clarion church bell is hushed by the roar, boom, crash and clatter of the automobile, motorcycle and jet planes. How sad—now I must brush away my tears.

—Mrs. B.

Hondo Fiesta Dancers Schedule 20th Annual Dance May 5 and 6

The nationally known Hondo Fiesta Dancers will present the 20th Annual Hondo Fiesta Friday and Saturday, May 5 and 6 at 8:00 p.m. in the Hondo Gym. The fiesta is the annual presentation of the extremely colorful performance of Spanish, Mexican and New Mexican folk dancers. Over 60 junior and senior high school students beautifully costumed will perform the many graceful and difficult dances.

These nationally famous dancers have traveled and danced at the Festival of Arts in Tucson, Ariz., in 1951, the National Folk Festival in Nashville, Tenn., in 1959, Mexico City and Acapulco in 1965, Disneyland and San Juan Capistrano in 1966, The HemisFair at San Antonio, Texas in 1968, Chihuahua City and Los Mochis in 1970 in addition to their extensive travels throughout New Mexico and Texas. The dancers reluctantly turned down an invitation to the National Folk Festival in Washington, D. C. in 1960 due to the students' school commitment.

HONDO FIESTA DANCERS — Ray Sianeros and Yvonne McTeigue are shown above in one of the most popular of the Mexican folk dances performed by the Hondo Fiesta Dancers in their annual dance program slated for May 5 and 6. 'Culpepper Cattle Co.' Booked by Mt. Vue
"The Culpepper Cattle Co." a gritty, hard driving, realistic Western in the highest traditions of the genre, with psychological overtones, starring Gary Grimes, who rocketed to stardom in "Summer of '42", has been booked to play at the Mt. Vue Drive-In Theatre beginning May 10. It was reported today by Joe Yates.

The engagement will be among other openings in the 5 Prairie States area that will be the first of the 20th Century-Fox Western in the entire country, said Yates.

Directed by Dick Richards, the story revolves about a 16-year-old boy yearning to be a cowboy, who signs on as a "Little Mary", or cook's assistant, on an arduous and often violent cattle drive under a tough trail boss. Portrayed by young Gary Grimes, the youth undergoes a swift transition from boyhood to early manhood.

The booking of "The Culpepper Cattle Co." as a "first" said Yates was one of the biggest coups he has accomplished in the business.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

COMMON LAW MARRIAGE
Like baseball and hot dogs, the common law marriage is a peculiarly American institution. Never widely known in Europe, it began to flourish in our colonial days when preachers and marriage license bureaus were few and far between.

And, even though not allowed in most states, it continues to flourish today to a surprising degree. Almost everywhere, a common law marriage is recognized as valid if it was valid in the state where it took place.

But there is a big difference between a common law marriage and just a "temporary arrangement."

The essence of a common law marriage is an agreement between the parties to be man and wife, usually followed by a period of "holding themselves out" as a married couple. Merely living together, even for a considerable time, will create the legal relationship.

As one court put it: "Consent to concubinage does not constitute marriage."

Once a common law marriage has come into existence, it is as permanent as any other marriage. Thus:

A common law wife, becoming bored with her husband, packed up and left. Several months afterward, she married another man in a regular ceremonial wedding.

But her second marriage was later held to be null and void. The court said that since she had not bothered to get a divorce from her common law husband, she was still his wife.

There are other reasons, too, for not entering lightly into a common law marriage. All too often, legal complications arise from the sheer difficulty of establishing whether there really was a marriage in the first place.

These complications may involve not only the parties themselves (alimony? social security rights? workmen's compensation benefits?) but also their children (legitimacy? inheritance rights?). In view of such possibilities, there would seem to be little reason for choosing a common law marriage in this day and age.

"The covered wagon days," commented one court, "are over."

BY CECELIA BARRON

Do we ever take time to go down memory lane and recall the scents and sounds of long ago? I know it is difficult to bring back "yesterday" when there is so much alien and foul confusion; but there are still some delightful memories if we just take time to reminisce. It is said a blind person sees with their nose and ears—"seeing" and smelling much more than we do.

If we walk in the woods there is a melange of exciting scents—breaths of air spiced with the sun drenched cedar or pine; smoke drifting up from someone's chimney fills the air with an oriental scent. I once read somewhere that: nature discloses pretense and it takes only some trees to bring a man down to size.

Oh, but the sweet smell and beauty of a rain—the flutter of a meadow lark settling on the garden fence or the "coo" of a dove down back of the aura fill-orchard.

But the memories I love most are: the sounds and aroma in the early morning, when I first awoke. My father pottering around the kitchen; frying ham—big, thick slices—the sound of the sizzling red gravy and mother sifting the flour to make "mouth watering" biscuits. Then after the day's work: the crinkling of the newspaper as father began to read and mother picking up her darning basket—the squeaking of her rocker; while we children are outside on the steps listening to the katydids or a far off screech of an owl and breathing in the wonderful odor of strong ozone after a thunderstorm. I wonder what became of that scent? It always reminded me of freshly turned sod.

Was there ever any better smell or taste than mother's fresh baked bread? She always had a roll or thick slice with real sweet butter melting on it, when we got home from school. And the home-made ice cream we had on Sundays—mother made it and we children took turns at the crank. Sometimes she put luscious strawberries or peaches in it and I remember waiting a while to breathe in the sweet aroma of berries before I tasted mine; then took tiny bites to make it last longer.

As I grew older there was the smell of leather of my saddle and the acetic odor of sweat on my horse; as I herded the lowing cows along the grassy lane.

The melodious sound of the old dinner bell and the clink, clink, clang of the blacksmith's anvil is heard no more and the peal of the shrill clarion church bell is hushed by the roar, boom, crash and clatter of the automobile, motorcycle and jet planes. How sad—now I must brush away my tears.

—Mrs. B.

Hondo Fiesta Dancers Schedule 20th Annual Dance May 5 and 6

The nationally known Hondo Fiesta Dancers will present the 20th Annual Hondo Fiesta Friday and Saturday, May 5 and 6 at 8:00 p.m. in the Hondo Gym. The fiesta is the annual presentation of the extremely colorful performance of Spanish, Mexican and New Mexican folk dancers. Over 60 junior and senior high school students beautifully costumed will perform the many graceful and difficult dances.

These nationally famous dancers have traveled and danced at the Festival of Arts in Tucson, Ariz. in 1951, the National Folk Festival in Nashville, Tenn. in 1959, Mexico City and Acapulco in 1965, Disneyland and San Juan Capistrano in 1966, The HemisFair at San Antonio, Texas in 1968, Chihuahua City and Los Mochis in 1970 in addition to their extensive travels throughout New Mexico and Texas. Ruidoso Jehovah's Witnesses To Attend Alamogordo Meet Jehovah's Witnesses in the Ruidoso area are looking forward to assembling in Alamogordo for their semi-annual circuit assembly according to Pat G. Coor, local Overseer.

According to Mr. Coor, these assemblies serve to keep the witnesses strong spiritually and looking to the future with confidence. "They are not designed to work on the emotions so much as many religious revivals but rather to promote deeper study of the Bible and the applying of Christian principles in everyday life," Coor added.

State Forestry Office Urges Fire Safety

The New Mexico Department of State Forestry District Office of Captain, Ray Polasky, has made the statement that we are approaching an extreme fire season that has the potential of surpassing last year in the number of wild fires and the damage caused by wild fires.

We have already reached extreme fire danger in most of our grass lands and are rapidly reaching extreme danger in our forest areas. If anyone spots a fire, they should make an attempt to contact this office at 354-2231 or contact any of the following personnel in the rural areas to report the fire: Benny Satz, Duran; Lee Higbie, Cloudercroft, phone (home), 622-2401 (work), 473-6511, ext. 2295 or ext. 2234; Dallas Golden, Artesia, phone (home), 746-3714 (work), 748-1011; Frank Tisworth, Hondo, phone Tinnie, 2, and Gerald Dean, Jr., Capitlan, phone (home), 354-2453 (work), 354-2216.

I for one, hate to think I will always have to look at, and live by a dumping ground (illegal) that is evidently open to anyone who doesn't want to have their clean-up (?) refuse hauled off to a legal designated area out of the city limits. I understand some of these people have been given permission to use this natural water-way for this purpose!

I would like to ask them how they would feel having trash dumped within seeing and smelling distance of their homes? How can our village ever progress or be a decent place to live with conditions like this? We enjoy living near the river, the hills, and in general, we enjoy and appreciate all the natural beauty of this God-given Land of Enchantment. However, there is a feeling of disenchantment when every time I proceed from our drive way and see car bodies, etc., etc., silted up against the sky, distorting what could be a beautiful view of mountains, and spoiling our lovely sunsets! How about getting on the ball "Ruidoso Downs" (?) and having a real clean-up campaign? Don't you care?

Oratorical Winner Is Guest Speaker

Miss Nancy Griggs of Alamogordo Senior High School was the speaker at the District 5 Spring Conference of the American Legion held Sunday, April 23 in the home of Chaplain and Mrs. Alfred S. Kline in Capitlan. Miss Griggs was the New Mexico state winner of the American Legion Oratorical Contest. She spoke on "We, The People", based on the constitution of the United States. She received a standing ovation from the 62 registered delegates. District 5 is composed of Alamogordo, Carrizozo, Capitlan, Ruidoso and Tularosa.

Miss Griggs has been invited to attend a 3-day "Salute to Excellence", sponsored annually by the American Academy of Achievement and to be held July 8-8 in Salt Lake City. More than one hundred outstanding high school students have been invited. The Reader's Digest Magazine is paying all expenses of this trip for Miss Griggs. A donation of $22 was given her by those present at the meeting.

Members of the Ladies' Auxiliary served food prepared by Capitlan woman in the V. F. W. Hall at noon. Auxiliary reports were given on the upcoming Poppy sale, by the five units of District 5 during the week before Memorial Day, May 29. Proceeds benefit disabled veterans. Alternate National Committeeman Al Montoya from Albuquerque pointed out several serious threats to the national security, and ways needed for people to be more alert and prepared to counteract those who attempt to turn people against each other. Department of New Mexico Commander Bob Durand complimented District 5 on being one of the most harmonious and winner producing districts in the state.

Hondo Valley 4H
Set April 30 Meet
For Church - Picnic

Quarter Horses, Thoroughbreds Again Headed For Ruidoso Downs

April 30 the Hondo Valley 4-Hers will attend church services at 11:15 a.m. at St. Eleanor's Church in Ruidoso, followed by a picnic and games. Members were instructed to bring a light jacket or sweater and a sack lunch. Parents who can help with transportation please notify Mrs. Paul Pacheco.

Bill Thompson, the runaway leader in Sunland Park trainer standings and the defending champ at Ruidoso Downs, is included among the "name" trainers who'll be back at Ruidoso Downs this season.

This is the report from Dean McKinley, Ruidoso racing secretary, who's been busy sifting through some 2,000 stall applications for the upcoming season.

(Approvals for about 1,500 head will go in the mail this week, McKinley reports. He's being aided in the task by his assistant, Tom Dawson.

The new season, covering 63 race days and offering an estimated $3 million in purses, gets underway on Saturday, May 20, and extends through Labor Day. The season's top event, as usual, is the All American Futurity, which is expected to offer a whopping purse of about $925,000.

This puts the main attraction in the remarkable position of dishing out nearly one-third of the season's gross purse distribution on one race alone. The All-American is by far the richest event in the history of racing.

Last season, Thompson easily grabbed the Ruidoso trainer championship by saddling 57 winners out of 290 starts. Currently, he holds 46 wins at Sunland, 14 more than his nearest rival.

Thompson got the green light for 35 head, and figures to again offer a strong stable. The list includes such stalwarts as Callimbo, Nergor, J's Bloomed, Juliet's Doll and Like I Say. Nergor is one of the top 870-yard horses in the Southwest.

"Judging from the stall applications, the quality of horses—both thoroughbreds and quarter horses—will be even better than last year," McKinley said.

Included among the trainers who'll be getting approval is Paul A. Smith, whose contingent includes Fast Gas, one of the premiere sprinters in this part of the country. Last summer, Fast Gas won the Inaugural, Mesquite and Apache and Governor's handicaps at Ruidoso, carrying top burdens each time. He then shifted over to Santa Fe Downs to win stakes events there under high imposts.

Also approved for Ruidoso stalls was Bubba Caselo, a leading quarter horse trainer whose lineup includes Ragtime Chick, holder of the world 870-yard record, and Rocket Wrangler, who picked up a first place check of $178,488 for his win in the 1970 All American Futurity. Caselo also has such top quarter horses as Some Kinda Man, and the standout juvenile prospect, Callmemyon. Caselo was approved for 35 stalls.

Stall approvals will also be going out to such top trainers as J. B. Montgomery, George Till, Howard Gathright, Gerald Pearce, Clifford Lambert, Bob Arnett, Buffalo Wooten, Jake Caselo, G. W. McClanahan, Walter Merrick, Gene Howe, Joe Welch, Chuck Mattox, Harold and Richard Nolen and Monty and Jack Brooks.

The Ruidoso barn area opened April 24. About 200 horses are expected to be on hand. The equine headcount is expected to zoom up to around 1,200 by opening week.

A massive remodeling program, begun the day following the end of the '71 season, is now better than 95 percent completed. The project, which included considerable expansion of both the All American Turf Club and the Jockey Club, required an outlay of about $670,000.

The two-level All American Club now sports luxurious surroundings. First-rate dining facilities will be offered. Season memberships to the All American Turf Club are available at $200 per seat which includes track admission and valet popular at Sunland.

Guest Editorial—Too Much Concern

(From The Minidoka, Idaho Co. News)
Congresswoman Edith Green of Oregon asked the Library of Congress to compile the total amount of funds a family could receive if that family took advantage of all public assistance programs available. On the basis of two hypothetical families — one a mother with four children ranging in age from pre-school to college level and the other a mother with eight children ranging from pre-school to college — Mrs. Green was advised that the first family could collect a total of $11,513 a year under various programs of federal aid ranging from health care to scholarships. The second family, if all available federal programs were utilized, could have an annual income of over $21,000. Commented Mrs. Green, "New for these people across the country who are saying this is a government that does not have any concern for the poor... I urged they look at these programs."

A lot of taxpayers are also looking at the programs and do not like what they see — a country that is being overwhelmed by the adverse ratio between producers and non-producers.

Your Social Security

People working for wages in private homes are covered by social security. Mrs. Christine Graves, social security Field Representative, says coverage of domestic workers is a little different than coverage of regular industrial or business employees. Close family relatives are generally excluded, and the wages paid must be $50 or more a quarter from each employer to be covered.

Just as in business, the employer must report to Internal Revenue Service covered wages of each employee at the end of each calendar quarter. The first quarter of 1972 has just ended. Wages paid in January, February, and March must be reported before the end of April.

Anyone with a question about household workers should contact the nearest Social Security or Internal Revenue Service Office.

Mrs. Graves may be contacted at the Council Room in the Ruidoso City Hall the second Wednesday of each month from 10 to noon and 1 to 2; or at the County Commissioners' Room, Lincoln County Court House in Carrizozo, the fourth Wednesday of each month from 10 to noon.

Cub Scouts Have Circus Theme For Pack Meet

Dens 1 and 2 of the Ruidoso Cub Scouts held their regular monthly Pack Meet Wednesday, April 19, at 7:00 p.m. in the Lions Hut. Pack Master Dale Wynn conducted the meeting, with Den 1 in charge of the opening ceremonies.

In keeping with the April theme "Circus", Den 1 presented their version of "The Greatest Show on Earth." The show consisted of head stands, tumbling, a hula hoop, a human cannonball and an animal act.

Den 2 presented their version of the circus theme with "the world's greatest dancer", a clown, a tightrope walker and a trained dog.

Don Waltrip was awarded first place in the costume judging.

The Cubbie Award was presented to Den 2, who had 80% attendance of Cubs and parents.

The closing was directed by Den 2, with all Cubs present reciting the Cub Scout Promise. The May Pack Meet will be a trip with the Patrol Service and a weiner roast in the park.

SANTA FE - Hopefully, the squabble over candidate filing fees will be settled this week and voters will know who is running for public office.
The issue was before the U. S. Supreme Court early this week. A U. S. District Court at Albuquerque expanded an earlier ruling. It held none of the candidates for U. S. Senator is required to pay the $2,550 filing fee.
The State Supreme Court ruled all candidates for salaried, elective office - federal, state, district and county - are required to pay the fee of 6 per cent of the annual salary.
The U. S. Supreme Court ordered a temporary stay of the State Supreme Court ruling. Meanwhile, many candidates paid filing fees anyway before the 5 p. m. Friday (April 21) deadline set by the State Supreme Court.

TOUR DENTON SAWMILL-The junior high 7th grade social studies class toured Denton Sawmill Tuesday and saw the mill in full operation. School classes were invited to visit the mill all this week and, according to Paul West, the mill will be open for the public to visit Saturday and Sunday from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. (Ruidoso News Photo)

Reuben Pankey of Monticello, Sierra County, paid the $2,550 fee as a candidate for the Republican nomination for the U. S. House in District 2. Howard M. Overstreet of Truth or Consequences had not paid the fee when the secretary of state's office closed Friday. Overstreet is a Pankey opponent in the primary.
Ed Presson, 29, of Silver City, also in the GOP U. S. House District 2 race, paid the filing fee. Joe A. Duran, Corrales, Democrat, Sandoval County, withdrew from the primary race for district judge in the 13th District - Valencia and Sandoval Counties. Duran had paid the $1,620 filing fee.
The incumbent is District Judge Filo Sedillo of Belen, former Valencia County Democratic chairman. Valencia County Assessor Clovis Herrera of Las Lunas tendered the $2,550 filing fee for U. S. senator. Secretary of State Betty Fiorina, following the federal district court's order, refused the fee. Herrera is a Democrat completing his second term as county assessor.

Democrat Jack Underwood of Ruidoso paid the $1,620 filing fee for the primary race for a 4-year term on the State Court of Appeals.
New Mexico Democratic Council, the liberal Grass Roots organization, endorsed Santa Fe attorney Gene Gallegos, formerly of Tucuman, for the nomination for the U. S. House in northern District 1. The council has no official standing in the Democratic Party.
The council also endorsed Atty. Gen. David Norvell, formerly of Clovis, in the Democratic U. S. Senate primary. Norvell was also endorsed by the Committee on Political Education (COPE) of the New Mexico AFL-CIO.
COPE also endorsed Columbus Ferguson of Taos, Democratic incumbent on the State Corporation Commission. Ferguson is in a primary race with 10 opponents. He paid the filing fee April 4.
The University Study Committee of legislators and Legislative Finance Committee split over methods to examine finances and budgets of state universities. So the interim legislative committees will conduct separate studies.

Sen. I. M. (Ike) Smalley, D-Luna-Hidalgo-Sierra, is USC chairman. Rep. Richard Carbajal, D-Belen, is a USC member. Sen. C. B. Trujillo, D-Taos, is LFC vice chairman.
Dr. Chester C. Travelstead, vice president for academic affairs of the University of New Mexico, told the USC the method of financing state universities should be changed. Universities are funded by fees, tuition and state appropriations now.
Dr. Don Roush, academic vice president of New Mexico State University, told the legislative committee a 2-year voluntary technical school should be established on the NMSU campus. Sen. Smalley said steps should be taken to guide students into fields that fit their aptitudes in view of overcrowding at state institutions.
Rep. Carbajal asked Dr. Travelstead to access the effect of the U. S. buildup in Vietnam at UNM. Dr. Travelstead said classes will continue as usual but students may discuss the Vietnam issue and express themselves.
Under Sen. Smalley's questioning Dr. Roush said state universities are trying to avoid more duplication in courses and programs. He said some programs have been canceled.
U. S. Rep. Harold Runnels, D-Lovington, said a Nixon administration proposal would cut New Mexico's share of federal impacted area funds $3.2 million.

Runnels said Capitan, Jal and Ojo Caliente are among 10 school districts that would receive no Public Law 874 funds under the proposal. He said Belen is among 6 districts that would undergo a 90 per cent decrease in funds.
The State Highway Commission opened bids on stabilization of Interstate 25 from 2 miles north of Wagon Mound north and from French Corners north in Mora and Colfax Counties. Apparent low bidder was Environmental Erosion Control Division of Toro Sales Co., Puyallup, Wash., at $166,473. The Highway Department engineer's estimate was $210,465.
An attorney general's opinion held Penasco Valley Telephone Cooperative Inc. is subject to State Corporation Commission jurisdiction to regulate rates.
The State Banking Department received an application for a charter from Rio Grande Savings and Loan Association at Valencia. A hearing was set May 18 on the request.
The new Legislative Committee on Aging elected State Sen. Odie Echols Jr., D-Clovis, as its chairman. The lawmaker panel will meet again May 11-12 in Santa Fe.
Crisoforo Gallegos, Questa grocer, was among 8 Republican U. S. Senate candidates still in the running early this week. The deadline for candidates to withdraw was Tuesday (April 25). As the week began 26 Democrats were still in the U. S. Senate primary. Ex-Sec-pering hunters there. The Ruidoso area seemed to be best. Hunters were scattered in the Sacramento Mountains.

In the Mount Taylor area, in the northwest, pressure was light and kill was low. Hunters who got off in the deep American and Colorado Canyons on the east side of the mountain had the best results.
The story was a little different in the northeast area where a snowstorm opening morning pushed the gobbler out of the areas they had been using and made them difficult to find, but there were some turkeys taken on the opening weekend. Hunting is expected to be better there for the remainder of the season than it was opening weekend.

Embrey points to the Willow Creek area at the edge of the wilderness as one of the better spots for hunters to try for the remainder of the season. Also the area north of Lama to the Arizona state line should be good.
In the southeast, there were more hunters, but the kill was low with the same winds hampering hunters. Ernestine Evans withdrew from the Senate Democratic primary.

Spring Turkey Hunt Marred by Weather

Gusty winds and extremely dry conditions in most areas hampered hunters and got the spring turkey season that opened Saturday, April 15, off to a slow start. All areas reported light hunter pressure and low hunter success.
