Possible Kidney Transplant For 15-year-old Local Youth

JUDGE PRITCHETT HOSPITALIZED
I have heard of the old phrase, reportedly often times used by some judges, "I'm gonna be step-pin on your toes . . .", and if this proverbial statement should happen to be used or become a reality in Ruidoso Magistrate Judge Austin A. Pritchett's court in the next several weeks, someone is sure to get a lot of pain.
Truth is that Judge Pritchett was hospitalized Tuesday night of this week following injuries he received after he had fallen in his home. The good Judge, in addition to a back injury sustained a broken foot resulting in doctors' building, constructing and installing a mucho heavy cast on the Judge's right foot that extends nearly to his knee.
The overall judicial outcome could, if you should happen to appear before Judge Pritchett in the near future and you are out in left field regarding some legal violation, may just decide to put his foot down on some of your future activities by step-pin on your toes. Best you hope that the right foot for you is the judge's lighter-weighted left foot.
We were extremely sorry to learn of Judge Pritchett's accident and trust that he will be up and at 'em in the very near future.
We did learn that the "Here com the judge" of this mountain resort community had to crawl from his inside locked garage into the house to telephone for help. The Judge's plight required the assistance of several neighbors, Ruidoso Police Department officers and an ambulance.
Ironically, neighbors and friends endeavoring to help the Judge in his predicament soon found that the Judge was locked inside his home and was unable to unlock the door to let in the help. It was a very serious situation but as in most instances has a humorous side as well. In that a newspaper headline might misconstrue the story by stating . . . "Police and Neighbors Break Into Local Judge's Home."

A fifteen year old Ruidoso youth and resident of the area for around one year, who like most All-American type boys (who live in abundance in the Ruidoso area), likes dogs, horses, baseball, football, hunting and all outdoors, but is not too much for school but really likes his school buddies and friends, reportedly has a rare type chronic kidney disease which very possibly will require a kidney transplant.
The youth, Monty "Mut" Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Ulatowski, is currently on a special diet and medical treatment, according to his mother, and is scheduled to report to the Albuquerque Presbyterian Hospital Center, Albuquerque, early in December for additional tests.
Students and faculty members of the Ruidoso School system and Ruidoso area residents responded to "Mut's Needs" in an All-American type fashion, a repeated characteristic of Ruidosians, and by Wednesday had made definite plans to have a part in the tremendous samaritan and friendship opportunity.
First to respond was Mut's school, who, according to school officials, will have a Special Monty "Mut" Smith Assembly at 2:40 p.m., Thursday, Dec. 7th, with all proceeds from the special school sponsored event to be placed in the "Monty Smith Trust Fund" of the Ruidoso State Bank.
School officials, reportedly were unaware, during the planning of the special assembly, that December 7 is also Mut's 16th birthday. The assembly will feature Francisco and His Guitar, popular Teddi Sullivan, vocalist and pianist, and comedian Pat Healy, all of Ruidoso.
It was also announced late Wednesday afternoon that the Graham Boys, country and western band, will host a special Benefit Dance, Dec. 9, at the Ruidoso Elks Lodge for the youth with all proceeds from the dance also to be placed in the trust fund.
It has also been reported that several Ruidoso area civic organizations have expressed tentative plans to participate in the drive for funds to assist the youth and his family.

POSSIBLE KIDNEY TRANSPLANT SURGERY — Monty "Mut" Smith, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Ulatowski, Ruidoso, and a victim of a rare chronic kidney disease, which reportedly in all probability will require a kidney transplant, is scheduled to enter Presbyterian Hospital Center, Albuquerque, early in December. A special "Monty Smith" Trust Fund" has been established in the Ruidoso State Bank for the youth to assist in defraying the tremendous cost of the overall surgical involvements. Wednesday afternoon, "Mut", at home in Ruidoso and under a special diet and medication, readily agreed to pose for the Ruidoso News camera, naturally with one of his pets, Lady (Ruidoso News Photo)

The Ruidoso Police Department in its current modernization, updating and officer training program has a real pace setter in the person of none other than Chief Paul M. Lukens, Jr.
For example, in keeping with the current above mentioned program within the department, at least six of the officers employed in the Ruidoso Police Department have attended special training schools held at the New Mexico Law Enforcement Academy, Santa Fe, with all of them receiving excellent grades. Only one, Chief Lukens, naturally, received a grade of 100 percent correct on his comprehensive examination, regarding a recent school he attended on Criminal Investigation.
The pace setter's pace doesn't end with the training school example as the Chief, as of this week, has also earned the title of "Block Buster". The title doesn't refer to a campaign to bust a number of people in a given municipal populated block.
It is in reference to his literally busting cement blocks with a sledge hammer while in the process of removing a block partition in the jail section to provide additional space for a now underway expansion and remodeling of the police department facilities.
Was wondering if applicants for employment within the Ruidoso Department had to qualify as block buster before hiring was possible. Seems to me that busting rocks with sledge hammers is in many cases a talent mastered only by a few who have served time in capacities other than law enforcement.

Jerry Myers Gives Rotary Program
Jerry Myers, administrator of Fort Stanton Hospital, and John Genta, Staff Psychologist for the facility, were guest speakers at the regular weekly meeting of the Ruidoso Rotary Club Monday at Mack's Cafe.
Myers explained the remodeling program and told of expansion of the staff at the facility. He noted that additional training programs had been begun at the hospital and that the success of Fort Stanton could be gauged by the number of students returned to their home. He reported that title to the facility would revert to the state in 1976 from the federal government.
Genta told of testing of students and stated that further tests were being developed and evaluated at this time.
Visiting Rotarians were Bill Castorena, John Sheffer, Dave Newell and Travis Stovall of Alamogordo, and John Gaume of Las Cruces.

A representative of Fluid Stabilizers of Amarillo, Texas was a visitor at the meeting and explained the operation of a water conditioner for the village municipal water system. ### Area Officers In High Speed Auto Chase

A high speed auto chase, reportedly reaching speeds in excess of 100 miles an hour, originated in Ruidoso late Friday night, Nov. 24, involving a Ruidoso area resident and municipal, county, state and Indian law enforcement officers in two counties and the Mescalero Apache Indian Reservation before terminating early Saturday morning around 70 miles from Ruidoso at a roadblock 14 miles south of Carrizozo on U. S. Highway 54.
Apprehended by New Mexico State Police units and Lincoln County Sheriff Department officers, reportedly on 3 Village of Ruidoso warrants and a Village of Tularosa warrant was Raymon M. Griego, 23, Ruidoso. A juvenile, whose identity was not disclosed, was riding with Griego during the cross-county-reservation chase, according to law enforcement officers.
The apparent wild auto-law enforcement chase, according to a report filed by Ruidoso Police Department Sgt. Truman McBride, began at approximately 11:20 p.m. Friday, when RPD Sergeant saw Griego's car spin several times on Sudderth Drive in front of the Ruidoso Municipal Park and then proceed east at a high rate of speed on Junction Road, behind the Gateway Shopping Center.
Sgt. McBride reported that he went in pursuit of the vehicle and observed that the vehicle spun around several additional times on Junction Road and went backwards down the side of an embankment on a church parking lot in the Gateway area. The officer stated that Griego's automobile stalled in the church parking lot but by the time the officer arrived Griego had "got his car started" and eluded the officer and headed east towards the Nob Hill area.
The officer's report revealed that while in pursuit, Griego's vehicle returned to Junction Road and the church parking lot, jumped a ditch near the Nob Hill Lodge and Restaurant and eventually headed west towards the Mescalero Apache Indian Reservation on U. S. Highway 70.
The chase also included Griego reportedly going around a road check point on the reservation set up by Mescalero Apache Bureau of Indian Affairs Law Enforcement officers because of information radioed them by the Ruidoso Police Department.
The ensuing chase in addition included a chase by New Mexico State Police officer Roger Tompkins who over took the speeding vehicle as it approached Tularosa. The chase then proceeded north onto U. S. Highway 54 with Officer Tompkins joined in the pursuit by Tularosa Police Department officer Norm Oliver.
With both officers in pursuit, the chase reportedly paused briefly at Three Rivers when officers said the suspect turned into the Petroglyph area in an apparent attempt to shake off the officers.
Following the brief detour the chase resumed north again on U. S. 54 until meeting a roadblock manned by New Mexico State Police officers and members of the Lincoln County Sheriff's Department.
Griego was returned to Ruidoso early Saturday morning charged with speeding, careless driving and eluding an officer and was held in custody of the Ruidoso Police Department until he posted bond for the Ruidoso charges and the charges issued by the Village of Tularosa. Additional charges as a result of the chase are pending, area law enforcement officers reported.

The acid conditions produce the reds, copper, orange and gold shades while the alkaline produces the blues and purples. All these colors can be seen in the fall of the year in the leaves of the sumac, American ash, oaks, aspen, sweet gum, maple and others.

Mrs. Ray Littlefield displayed a Thanksgiving arrangement of the shades mentioned in Mrs. Sanders' talk.

BITS OF BLUE AND GOLD

This is the first week of competition for the Warrior basketball team. Tuesday, Nov. 28, they faced Tularosa here, and Friday, Dec. 1, Socorro in Socorro.

There are many top flight teams on the Warriors' schedule this year. Goddard, Roswell, Riverside, are just a few of these. Also on the schedule is the Ruidoso Invitational Tournament which features Dexter, Clayton, Hondo, Corona, Ft. Sumner, T. of C., Canutillo, and the host team, Ruidoso. In the first game of the tournament for Ruidoso, they face Hondo.

Coach Gary Giannoni commented that this year's squad is lacking in depth but has some outstanding talent. In the starting line-ups, Giannoni has 6' 7" Gordon Howell, 6' 3" Ken Perryman, 6' 2" Blane Miller, 6' 0" Mel Patton and 5' 7" Reeves McGuire.

The Ruidoso High School Wrestling team started their workouts Monday. The team is coached by Coach Darrell Stierwalt and Coach Phil Yost. An additive to the team grapplers this year will be a few wrestling mat, and new uniforms. The date for the first meet has not been decided yet, but according to Coach Stierwalt a large number of meets will be held. The team wrestlers conduct workouts after school in the R. H. S. gym.

Hunters Information?

Ellsworth American
Ellsworth, Maine

The opening of the deer season suggests the urgent necessity of presenting deer hunters with a simple, quick and easy visual, auditory and olfactory method of distinguishing the presumed object of their exercise from innocent bystanders.

The deer, perhaps, is the point at which to begin. Now the white tail deer is from 1 1/2 to 4 feet high at the shoulder and up to 4 feet long. It has four feet. The males have antlers. Both male and female have ears. The white "bat" tail is the chief identification. While the deer inhabits woods, it is also found in fields adjacent to woods. It has no odor detectable at a distance by man. It moves through brush with barely noticeable noise.

The hunter, at this season, is to be found in much larger numbers. He is usually around six feet tall. He has two feet, no antlers. He has dishpan ears instead of pointed ears. When traveling through the woods, he sounds like a threshing machine. Branches snap and crackle, he stumbles and staggers through the underbrush. Sometimes, he can be detected by a pungent aroma of sweat, Old Granddaddy, Copenhagen and Edgeworth from a down-wind position.

A cow more resembles a deer than a hunter does and is more of a tax on visual identification. It is less likely to be found in the woods than a deer. It is usually higher at the shoulder and longer from head to rear. While there is a myth that a cow can jump over the moon, a cow is not as agile as a deer. It presents a more stable target than a deer and is not very good at dodging. A ewe doesn't look much like a deer, but at the end of a day, it presents an attractive target. Farmers seem to get very annoyed at hunters who shoot sheep; but the game wardens couldn't care less, and you don't have to tag sheep. (Besides, lamb is better eating than venison).

A dog sometimes looks a lot like a little deer. This is especially true of golden retrievers, golden laboradors, setters, boxers and border collies. It probably explains why so many of them get shot. The hunter should bear in mind that dogs (1) never have antlers (2) never have pointed ears like those of the deer and (3) do not have that white bat of a tail that is the deer's giveaway.

The horse — especially a bay horse or sorrel horse, is hard to distinguish from a deer. Its notable differences: it has no antlers, no bat tail, solid hooves instead of split hooves, and it neighs sometimes. If you see a large four-footed animal between shafts of a buggy, you can be quite sure it is not a deer. If a man is mounted on the animal, it also is quite certain that it is not a deer. These are helpful distinctions on which you can rely.

None of these directions is of much help for the "sound" hunter — that is the fellow who shoots at any noise. Man is the biggest noise of all the species enumerated here and the louder the sound of breaking branches, the more likely it is that you hear the approach of a hunter; and the less likely it is that a deer is at hand. Of course, if you haven't hit anything all day, these fine

STRUCTURAL STEEL IN PLACE — The recent construction of the structural steel for the current major expansion and remodeling project of the Security Bank, Ruidoso, above gives every indication that when completed the local banking institution will have one of the most unique and contemporary designed building in the entire Ruidoso-Lincoln County trade area. The 6,000 sq. ft. bank structure, expected to be completed in mid-March, 1973 at an approximate cost of $200,000, will include an enlarged customer service area with a 24 feet high exposed ceiling with a special selected decor. (Ruidoso News Photo) points begin to be unimpressive. There is always an off chance that that rumpus in the brush is a sloppy deer who doesn't care where he puts his feet down. What it comes down to is simply the old question, "Is it worse to let a deer get away or to get a near-miss on a hunter?" On a strictly mathematical basis, there are at least 5 million deer in the woods of North America and there are probably more hunters. Let's say it's a fifty-fifty chance that the noise is deer or that the noise is man. There are odds about as good as those of a weekend driver on the turnpike.

In addition to determining the between species of animal in the woods, there is the problem of considering the targets beyond the hunter's immediate vision. Some people in built-up areas have a notorious objection to having birds whistle around their ears. They make a big deal if a few windows are shot out of a farm house. They fuss over chickens killed in the barnyard. They are people who would support gun-control legislation challenging a citizen's constitutional right to bear arms. To quiet them, it is just as well not to shoot straight at a farm house — if it can be avoided.

It is about time that people who do not like the hunting season get wise to the fact that they can get from the Civil Defense Administration papers for an underground shelter in which they can be perfectly safe throughout the hunting season, while their neighbors enjoy a healthy and legitimate sport. The shelter should be equipped with a few recognition signals that can be used a few days after the season is over. Mount a fire alarm mounted on a high pole in the roof will be a good idea. If it does not have a barrage of rifle fire, the road is clear and it will be safe to emerge until another hunting season.

GREEN FOREST, ARK., TRIBUNE: "It is often difficult to maintain faith. Yet, in today's fast-moving world, faith in our moral principles, in the future of our country; in the goodness within our fellow-men, and in ourselves, is a most vital character asset. For peace of mind, happiness and an understanding of life and what is to be accomplished with it, faith seems to be a key. If you have none, or very little, do something about it."

Tribe Wins-Tues.

By HUGH STILES

The 1972-73 Ruidoso High School Warrior Basketball season invaded Warriorland Tuesday night with the local Tribe's varsity, under the leadership of RHS new Head Basketball Coach Gary Giannoni, easily chalking up their first victory, in as many starts, as they dumped Tularosa, 71-60, before a packed house in the Warrior Gym.

In the pre-varsity game action, the Ruidoso Warrior Junior Varsity ran out of time as the visiting Tulie JV's outlasted the Warrior JV's and came out on top by a four point margin, 37-33. The Warrior JV team is coached by Truman Sanchez.

The Warrior varsity roundballers were in complete command throughout their non-district contest with the Tulie Wildcat's and, with one exception, never lost their lead over the visitors. The one exception was midway in the third period of play when the Wildcats led the Tribe by one point for less than five seconds.

The Tribe appeared to have put the game on ice less than one minute deep in the final quarter of play as they jumped to a ten point lead over the visiting Tulie Wildcats. The visiting five were never able to get within ten points of the Warriors throughout the remaining JV's, play Socorro Friday night seven minutes of play.

The threesome scoring combination of Warrior seniors, 6' 2" Blane Miller, 6' 3" Ken Perryman, and 6' 7" Gordon Howell, all in the double figure scoring column, mixed with the Warrior Barrons of the Backboards, Howell and Perryman, proved to be too much for the visitors. Together Howell and Perryman pulled down well over two dozen rebounds and to add to the woes of the Wildcats, Howell blocked six Wildcat field goals.

The game leading scorer was 5' 7" John Marants, Tularosa forward, who found the hoop eleven times from the floor and dropped in two charity throws with a game total of twenty-four. Behind Marant's was Warrior 1971-72 New Mexico All State Team Member Blane Miller with 23, followed by Perryman's 21, and Howell's 14.

Both Giannoni and Sanchez reportedly stated that they were well pleased with the Tribesmen's performance. Tuesday night is 14th of the fact that they had only eight days of practice in which to prepare for Tuesday night's season opener because of the extended Warrior football season.

The Warriors, Varsity and in Socorro and then Tuesday, Dec. 5, are hosted by Roswell in Roswell. The next home game for the Tribesmen is Friday, Dec. 8, with a return encounter with Socorro. Warrior District 5-AA play begins Jan. 6 at home against the Capitan Tigers.

THE BUNKER PUNCH—Ruidoso High School Warrior Ken "Bunker" Perryman, 6' 3" senior, No. 44, had little problem out jumping Tularosa's Ron Rhodes, No. 31, in the last quarter of play here Tuesday night as RHS Head Basketball Coach Gary Giannoni's Warriors wiped out the visiting Wildcats, 71-60, before a packed house. Others in the picture are Warrior senior, No. 22, Mel Patton, and Tulie player, No. 15, John Marants. (Ruidoso News Photo)

A WARRIOR ZIP! — 6' 7" Ruidoso High School Warrior senior Gordon Howell, No. 42, hit the Warriors' circular target seven times during the Warriors' 71-60 win over Tularosa here Tuesday night. Warrior teammates ready for the rebound are Mel Patton, No. 22, and Ken "Bunker" Perryman, No. 44. Tulie player, No. 41, James Stanfield eventually realized that there was a small reason to jump as Howell zipped a ringer for two points! (Ruidoso News Photo)

Some time ago I mentioned reading Elbert Hubbard's 'Scrap Book'. Well, I also read his 'White Hyacinths', but I feel it deserves a column all its own. Even though it is a very small book it is large and rich in thoughts and words. I am afraid my vocabulary is not adequate to describe it. Since it is truly a book of the heart—and I do not think any two people have the same thoughts—therefore I will have to use some of his own beautiful phrases.

He sets these words down before 1907, but they seem to be talking to the present generation. He says he has everything in which to enjoy life: 'Paid up insurance; money in the bank; I owe no man; have ample income; a saddle horse; a Howard watch and a fur lined overcoat, so why shouldn't I enjoy life?' It seems to 'take a great deal more for us today.

His words about writing: 'Placing ourselves in a receptive mood and from the Unknown the ideas come'. This I fully believe.

And his lovely words in the chapters describing his 'friend and wife' are his very own and are not to be used by a mere person like me. They are from his heart and will remain so. He ended his endearing words by: 'She has the faith that gives all, and therefore receives all.'

Then he has a chapter on the opposite. He knows a 'woman can sink to the lowest depths of sin. Though they are in the deepest quagmire they may be lifted up, by a gesture, a token, a dream or a flower—a 'white hyacinth'.

Most of his thoughts can be used today, as: 'To give people that which they do not earn is to make them think less of themselves and of you. The only way to help people is to give them a chance to help themselves.'

And so long ago he had quite a lot to say on women's rights, and said: 'as long as a woman is treated like a child—she will be one'. Also he believed: 'women are more honorable in money matters than the male'.

All youngsters should read his chapter on 'Opportunity'. He said: 'The best educated men are those who get their brain development out of their daily work, or at the time they are doing the work'. Then he used a phrase of Socrates, 420 B. C. 'If I had my say, I would set all young folks to work and send the old ones to school'.

Hubbard had very definite ideas about teaching and felt honored when he was called 'teacher'. He said: 'To be a good teacher demands a high degree of altruism, for one must be

WARRIOR VICTORY AFTERMATH — Two weeks prior to the New Mexico Class AA High School State Championship football game between the Ruidoso High School Warriors and the Jal High School Panthers, RHS boosters painted victory slogans on most Ruidoso area business store front windows. The Warriors wiped out Jal, 12-6, to rightfully claim the state 1972 crown. These same Warriors, K.S. Dand members and Warrior cheerleaders, returned to these same businesses last week, and in an "honorable and dedicated fashion" washed the windows and cleaned same. Among the large senior contingent in the clean-up project were, left to right, Filbert Montes, Eileen Posey and Craig Horton. (Ruidoso News Photo) akin to motherhood. Every true mother realizes at times that her children are only loaned to her—sent from God—her body and mind are being used by some power for a purpose'. He quoted: 'in 1906 in time of peace, we appropriated four hundred million dollars for war, and the sum was double the cost of the entire public school system in America'. We are still at it and simply are not enlightened.

And parents would do well to read his chapter on 'Kindergarten'. He quoted Froebel, 'the founder of Kindergarten, "—the plan is a system of life, not merely a system of school teaching". He called the children 'Little souls fresh from God—and to use these willing 'tides' of our nature, will lead us on to the Good, or if you prefer, to God'. He (Froebel) led his little band of pupils out into the woods and fields and collected

"Topping-Out" Event Held by Bank Group

The American Bank of Commerce Complex, 13 story bank-office building in downtown Albuquerque held its "topping-out" ceremony Friday, Dec. 1. The "topping-out" of a building means that the building super-structure has reached its highest point. The ceremony was attended by dignitaries from throughout the state. Speakers at the event included: Malcolm Petree, President of American Bank of Commerce; Ted Bonnell, President of Bank Securities, Inc., the holding company which owns American Bank of Commerce; and Thomas Morris, President of Security Realty Corp., another subsidiary of B.S.I. The new structure located one block from the new Convention Center in Albuquerque's downtown urban renewal area is due to be completed in July, 1973. The American Bank of Commerce, plus several other B.S.I. offices will move into the building in August, 1973.

Hubbard describes a hundred point man as: 'One who is true; who keeps his word; who is loyal to his work; who does not listen for insults or slights; who has a civil tongue; polite to strangers; considerate to servants; moderation in food and drink; willing to learn; who is cautious and yet courageous'.

He had much to say as to science and the church; and quoted Pope Lee XIII as saying: 'The real enemies of the church have been those o'er zealous who have sought to stamp out error by violence, forgetful that man is little and God is great—and His wisdom has provided that evil left alone shall soon exhaust itself, and right shall soon prevail'. Hubbard said: 'Man's only enemy is himself, and this on account of his ignorance of this world, and his superstitious beliefs in another—the age of enlightenment will not be here until every church has evolved into a schoolhouse and every preacher is both a teacher and a pupil'.

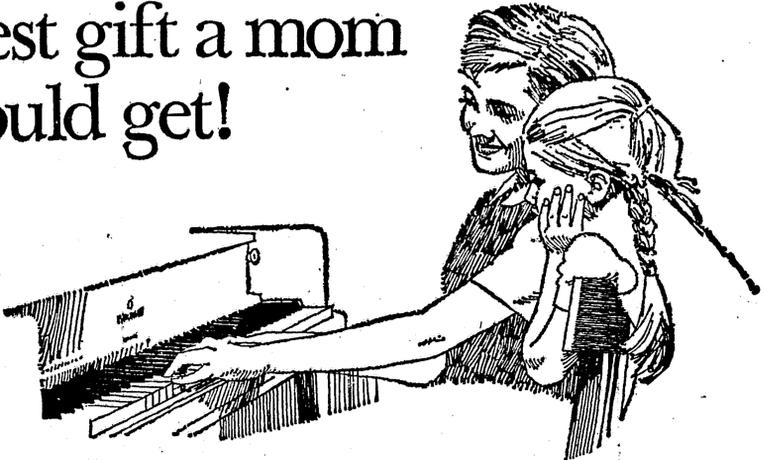

So on and on the inspiring words flow, ending with Thoreau's words: 'Man is only the fool or vehicle—mind alone is immortal—thought is the thing'.

Just get 'White Hyacinth' and read it. You will discover some great words of wisdom under the cover of this small volume.

Jehovah's Witnesses

Circuit Assembly Set Dec. 2-3 In El Paso

Jehovah's Witnesses in the Ruidoso area are now making plans for their semi-annual Circuit Assembly which will be held in El Paso, Texas, December 2 and 3.

According to Mr. Gary Sims, local presiding overseer, these gatherings provide detailed instruction in God's Word, the Bible and emphasize the importance of spiritual matters in this day when man is puzzled over present happenings on the earth and problems of government, pollution and over-population continue to mount. All assembly sessions will be held at the El Paso Coliseum, 4000 Paisano Drive.

Mr. Sims noted that entire families will attend together since features of the program are arranged to benefit all age groups and this helps to overcome any generation gaps that mark our day. The assembly theme, "Let Us Serve Jehovah Whole-Souled", adds emphasis to the value of each one's putting the Creator first in their life.

The assembly program will be climaxed with the address, "Is This Life All There Is?" to be delivered by Mr. F. D. Malaspina, district overseer for the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society on Sunday afternoon at 2 p.m. Also, of special interest will be a public baptism on Sunday morning.

Applications Now Being Taken

Charles B. Romero, Area Manager of the U. S. Civil Service Commission in Albuquerque announced today that applications are again being accepted for 1973 summer jobs with Federal agencies throughout the United States. Average pay for these jobs is approximately $2.48 per hour.

A written test is required for most jobs. Candidates are urged to apply early for maximum consideration since the number of jobs available will be extremely small in proportion to the number of competitors. Applications will be accepted until January 26, 1973. Tests will be given on February 10, 1973 and March 10, 1973.

Complete instructions for filing and information on opportunities available are contained in Announcement No. 414, Summer Jobs in Federal Agencies, which may be obtained from the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Federal Job Information Center, 421 Gold Ave., S. W., Albuquerque, New Mexico 87101. Albuquerque residents may call 843-2557. Residents of New Mexico outside Albuquerque may call toll-free 1-800-432-6837. The Federal Government is an equal opportunity employer and jobs are filled without regard to race, creed, color, national origin, sex, political affiliation or any other non-merit factor.

Clinic will be held at the Capitan School 10:30 a.m.-2:00 p.m.

Inside The Capital

By FRED BUCKLES
(John L. Augustine, executive director of New Mexico Farm and Livestock Bureau, discusses a Farm Labor Act and rising food prices in this provocative guest column for Fred Buckles.)
by John L. Augustine

LAS CRUCES—At its recently concluded annual meeting, the New Mexico Farm and Livestock Bureau policy was debated and acted upon in the form of resolutions to guide the organization in the coming year.

Some of the major topics included in this year's resolutions are keys to issues which are of vital concern to farmers and ranchers who comprise New Mexico's largest agricultural organization.

Dealing with farm labor, the policy-making body called for a state Farm Labor Act to protect agriculture workers and the producer.

The farm labor problem has been growing nationwide. Legislation similar to that called for by the resolution has been the source of controversy in neighboring states of Arizona and California. Experts feel it will just be a matter of time before New Mexico agriculture will have to face the problem head-on.

Farmers should be willing to give workers the right to organize, but farmers also need strict safeguards against crippling labor strikes and market boycotts.

Another resolution which generated a great deal of discussion for Farm Bureau members is a call for a state farm credit program which would allow farmers to obtain credit on more favorable terms than are available through other financial institutions.

Members were urged to do this by specific designation of personal contributions and by pressure brought on individual churches to withhold such support to the National Council of Churches and similar organizations within the Catholic Church's national structure.

We in Farm Bureau applaud the concept of financial and other aid from such private sources as churches and benevolent organizations to individuals or groups deemed in need of assistance.

However, in the zeal to upgrade the much-publicized "migrant" farm workers, many facts are frequently ignored. And in so doing, some churchmen have unjustly maligned farmers and thoughtlessly promoted certain professional labor organizers.

These efforts have seriously damaged churches' credibility among a group that has traditionally been identified with the nucleus of organized religion—the nation's farmers.

Another resolution requested the State Employment Security Commission to give more aid in recruitment and placement of agricultural labor within the state.

Dealing with the environment, the group asked that the Environmental Improvement Agency be separated from the State Health and Social Services Department and placed under the State Environmental Improvement Board.

Members also urged enactment of more effective programs in predator control, arguing they have a right to protect their property.

In the area of taxation delegates endorsed the "Green Belt Law," saying that farm property should be taxed on productive value instead of speculation value. They also urged a uniform probate code for the state.

In the area of zoning and land use planning, the group stressed that maximum authority should be allocated at the county and local level and that agricultural people should be represented on zoning committees.

Now that the elections are over, let's take an objective look at the "soaring cost of food" in America. The facts just might change your mind about the farmer's role in your rising food costs.

In 1930, the consumer spent 21 per cent of his income on food. By 1960 this figure had dropped 4 per cent to 20 per cent of the total income. But within the last 12 years it has dropped almost another 4 per cent. Today consumers spend only 16.3 per cent of their income on food.

Food prices are rising — there's no question about that. But look at the farmer's role in this situation: In 1952 the farmer received 49 cents of each dollar spent on food. Today he receives 33 cents of each dollar used to feed your family.

If you still think you're having a hard time making ends meet due to inflation, consider this: During the years when in-

SOCIAL SECURITY

"We have been receiving many inquiries concerning Medicare for the disabled," Mrs. Christine Graves, social security field representative stated today. "The Social Security Amendments of 1972 (signed into law last month) included such a provision, but it does not take effect until July 1973. Also, no Medicare benefits will be available for an individual until he has been entitled to disability benefits for 24 consecutive months.

"Beneficiaries covered by this come for labor rose a total of 130 per cent, farmers' prices for food products rose a total of 5.4 per cent.

How would you like to work for wages only 5.4 per cent higher than grandfather received for the same job?

Despite the facts, we still hear that the way to curb the rise in food prices is to put a ceiling on the price of food at the farm.

That's about the equivalent of cutting off your toes to prevent dandruff — it's the wrong remedy applied at the wrong location.

new provision would include disabled workers at any age; disabled widows and disabled dependent widowers between the ages of 50 and 65; and disabled people aged 18 and over who receive social security benefits from a parent's social security number.

"Since the law does not become effective until July, 1973, no action need be taken now. Additional publicity will be given to this provision as the effective date approaches.

"Until the new law goes into effect next July, only individuals 65 and over are eligible for Medicare benefits," Mrs. Graves concluded.

Mrs. Graves may be contacted at the Council Room in the Ruidoso City Hall the second Wednesday of each month from 10 to noon and 1 to 2.

The SILVER LINING

By DANIEL A. STORM

Quite a while back I remember talking to Mrs. Henry Hale about how we need to preserve the natural beauty of our out-of-doors. Mrs. Hale's thoughts were beautifully expressed and impressed me deeply. As near as I can remember the main idea was like this:

"When I am in a beautiful spot in nature's woods and mountains, a feeling of reverence comes over me. Sometimes this feeling is so strong that I have an impulse to fall on my knees and pray."

I have been through this wonderful experience not once but many times. I am sure all of us can say the same.

And just the other day a little thought came to me. I was out on the hillside on a still and sunny afternoon not long ago. I began noticing the shape of the young pinon trees and the young cedar trees. I wandered through the natural archways of the woods formed by the branches overhead — with the shafts of sunlight coming down through from the Heavens. Then I drifted down along the creek amongst the oak, walnut and box elder — all bare of leaves now, with the last of these floating down the stream like little boats.

All at once it came to me that the hillsides and vales and mountain tops are all one vast out-of-doors cathedral with Gothic Arches of every size and kind everywhere.

Away in the back of my memory I thought I could remember somewhere and some time that the early originators of Gothic architecture got their idea from nature, from the forests.

You know what a gothic arch is. These are the archways coming to a point at the top. They are seen everywhere in the windows and doors of our churches — and are therefore a part of our earliest and most treasured memories.

I went to the Encyclopedia Britannica to see what they had to say, but although there was a long article on Gothic Architecture, there was nothing I could find about taking the idea for the arch from the forests. Still I feel sure that the beautiful archways of the wilderness must have inspired those gothic architects of long ago. Don't you?

The Blue Bird Tree
Did you ever notice an old cedar tree standing by itself out in a little grassy flat all weather beaten, and looking as if it could not last another year? And yet it stands there year after year.

Just south of the house here, standing alone on a little grassy clearing that goes sloping gently toward the pinon fringed mountains beyond, there is one of these old trees — with a big trunk and small crown, with grey dead branches extending out of the top, full of mistletoe — there it stands looking as if it is making its last stand.

There is one thing striking about these trees that has always set me to wondering. Why is it always by itself? Why do not a hundred small trees come crowding into the clearings? Why does the tree — as soon as it has the ground all to itself — begin to get old and slip backward?

Farther up on the hillside, the pinons, cedars and junipers are just as thick as they can stand, fighting, elbowing, jostling and shouldering each other for a foot hold on Mother Earth and a place in the sun. And for all their bitter struggle, these trees, large and small, far and wide, remain green and thriving full of life.

Yet this ancient cedar down on the little sloping knoll — after battling it out against all comers — surviving the driving sleet and hail, the summer heat, coming through "carta quake, flood and fire" — And then as soon as it has won the field and has the ground all to itself, then it right away begins to fail.

The dead branches soon appear among the olive green, like the grey hairs of fast-approaching age; the pink-berried mistletoe appears, thick among the bronze colored branches.

I love this old tree. It is a landmark, not much changed from the days of my early youth. Tiny shrubs have grown tall and broad, out of all recognition, while this old friend is just the same.

What part does it play in the great plan of things, standing there year after year?

This question does not enter the minds of the Blue Birds. This is their tree. Year after year they come here at different times of the year. Their blue coats can be seen flashing in the air about the old cedar, and they fly around it, building their nests in hollow places in branches, feasting on the pink berries of the mistletoe. (Don't you try this!) — Keeping watch on top of the grey branches extending out of the top.

Why do they not pick a younger tree? Just yesterday I noticed while a strong wind was blowing down the vale, that all the younger trees near and far were swaying, whipping, lashing in the wind. Yet the Blue Bird Tree was steady as a rock. The blue birds were there, some of them up on the tops of their dry branches.

The younger trees have no hollow places for nests; they sway too much to make good look-out places, and they are too thick to afford good vision to watch for enemies, and there is no mistletoe to eat.

On the Safety of Our Pets
In a letter from my beloved cousin, Marguerite Kennedy Stevens of Escondido, Calif., I learned that my friends, the Harley Barleys of Cedar Creek Valley are grief stricken over the death of their little Dachshund Fritz. Little Fritz somehow ate some poison which caused his death. My heart goes out to the Barleys for I know how they must feel.

There is a lot of poison being put out — but not for pets — and yet, our dogs are in danger of eating this poison.

So there is something we must do. We must be careful of our pets; watching at all times where they go and seeing that they do not eat anything that we do not give them ourselves. And also let us be careful where we put poison — not to put it where some innocent pet or child might get it.

On this subject, dear Shady Logan, would like to say a few words.

I was very sad indeed to learn of the tragic death of the beloved Fritz of the Barley family. I knew Fritz well, and during the brief space of time that I knew him, I learned to like and respect him. He was a devoted and steadfast little fellow always cheerful, always kind. Always ready to welcome Mr. and Mrs. Barley home with a wag of the tail and a glad look of the eye.

And now, alas, his little life on earth was cut all too short. I do not know all the details of his death, but I wish to say — with all the sincerity at my command — that little Fritz will find his place in Heaven.

The two great dangers to dogs are being run over and poison. I beg and pray of you drivers, in all humility and respect — calling upon your sense of mercy and kindness, asking you to remember the heartache and sorrow that will be saved. To drive carefully, always vigilant, always watchful, always considerate. And about poison, new here is something dreadfully serious. Poison. The very mention of the word sends a chill all through the marrow of my bones.

How, oh how, can I bring the message home — how to warn you of this dire danger! Children as well as pets are in danger. We cannot be too careful. Watch your child and your pet at all times. And if you must use poison, be sure, be sure, and do not put it where the innocent victim will suffer and die.

I hate to bring up unpleasant things. But we must do this at times to save suffering, death and sorrow.

Surely I will meet all of you, friends, here and there up and down the way, in winter, spring, summer or fall — and until then I wish you all the best of everything, and I most humbly beg to remain, yours, ever the same, in sunshine and in shadow,

—Shady Logan
