Plague patient is 'OK' Fund drive underway here

"There is no plague in Ruidoso," E. V. Stalzer, M. D., attending physician, said to The News Saturday night, "and as of right now, Mrs. Linda Scott is out of isolation."

"She still is, medically, in serious condition but is making steady, slow progress."

Mrs. Scott's present condition, Dr. Stalzer said, "is due to expected complications, an aftermath of the plague, but I repeat, we have no plague in Ruidoso." Dr. Jonathan Mann of the NM Health and Social Services Department notified Roland Walsh, administrator of the Ruidoso Hondo Valley General Hospital, Thursday: "If there are no additional cases by Sept. 26, there is no danger of cross infection."

Walsh said, "What this means is that you will not get the plague if you come to, or live in, Ruidoso."

Mrs. Scott, a divorcee, is not without her problems. She has three children, ages 13, 7 and 6. She has no hospitalization insurance and her bill is rising to near astronomical proportions.

The Security Bank of Ruidoso has established a trust account for Mrs. Scott to accept contributions to assist her in her time of financial need. All you have to do is mail to or leave, your contributions to the Mrs. Scott fund at the bank.

VILLAGE BOARD FACING BOND MARKETING PROBLEMS

Dam progress satisfactory; annexation facets vexing

Tom Mann of Mann Engineering, Roswell, reported to the Ruidoso Village Council Thursday that all preliminary phases of the construction of the 1,100 million gallon water reservoir, to serve Ruidoso from the ski road dam, are underway.

Mann noted: — Reports on the new service road from Hwy. 37, past the dam and on to the ski area have been delivered to the USFS office here and that the USFS in conjunction with the NM Highway Department will ultimately decide the road's location. "I hope," Mann said, "that the Highway Department and FS can settle on a route sooner than expected, to save not only a year's time but to have the road located before the impact statement comes out."

— The archaeologist will begin his study Monday (today). — "Data for the salvage water situation is in the mill for final adjudication in February."

— "The road will take three working seasons, from May to October. We will fix the base one season and complete the road during the next two."

— After the environmental impact statement is prepared, "We'll be about ready to start acquiring property at the dam site."

— One problem facing the village in road location, is the distance from the dam and shore as well as access lanes to the lake area. "This will have to be determined by the village at the FS, after receipt of the environmental impact statement."

— Core testing at the site is completed and the cores are to be analyzed to determine the slope design for the dam, with the Forest Service, State Engineer and the geologist making this final determination.

Ray S. Page, USFS Smokey Bear District Ranger, said, "The environmental impact statement will be completed by spring of 1976. As to the road, the Environmental Protection Act requires several possible road sites be selected before the exact location is determined."

Mayor Lloyd L. Davis Jr., at the end of the presentation, directed Mann to, "Prepare a schedule of target dates on the time of possible completion of the phases now underway, that we can inform the public and set up the required joint meetings, in this connection."

Atty. Mel O'Reilly presented a petition from residents of the Second Supplement to Paradise Canyon, relative to the proposed annexation of that subdivision to the village.

Methods of providing water, sewer and paving in the addition were discussed at length. "At this time," village Atty. John Thompson said, "special assessment procedures seem necessary, instead of a bond issue. What we need are estimates on the cost of putting sewer and water into the area."

A. D. Fowler, of Stern Brothers of Albuquerque who are handling the sale of the $5 million General Obligation Bonds for the water reservoir project, said, "A water and sewer special assessment must be strictly against the property, which is the only protection for the bond buyer. They'd be awfully hard to sell and you can't proceed until you have engineering estimates on the cost of water, sewer and paving. The paving is no problem, because it is guaranteed by the gasoline tax."

O'Reilly said, "Annexation would promote the interests of Ruidoso. We can apply for village services by self-imposed assessment."

"You can't proceed," Fowler said, "until the engineering is completed almost to the holding of the first protest hearing."

Mayor Davis then directed that an engineering report on the proposed annexation be prepared, "to decide whether it's go, or no go, at the October 30 meeting. We'll study the report to see if we can't do it, or if we can run with it."

Fowler said, "After you determine from the preliminary engineering analysis if the project is feasible, you can annex and then proceed."

The problem of adding Ponderosa Heights to the present sewer system was briefly discussed, but no action was taken. The capacity of the present sewer lines is a prime factor and the council hasn't yet tackled the problem of increasing the size of the mains to handle the anticipated increase in demand.

In other business, the council:

— Received a report from Murrell Holbert on the receipt, and non-receipt of furnishings from Design Interiors of Albuquerque. Mayor Davis ordered that Rem Alley, architect of the library building, be instructed to determine delivery dates of the balance of the furnishings from

Design Interiors. Monese Barron, librarian, presented figures on the use of the library facility. "We enjoyed an excellent summer and lately our coverage has started spreading throughout the county."

— Set Oct. 9 as the date to give final consideration to 12 ordinances covering offenses of a punitive nature.

— Heard Fowler say, "Gentlemen, it's a lousy bond market," in connection with the upcoming sale of $2 million in GO bonds for the water project. Fowler outlined several avenues of approach that will be employed by Stern Brothers to sell this new issue at the most favorable interest rate with the final decision to be reached at the October 9 meeting of the council. One possible alternative to the rising interest rate, Fowler said, could be a complete restructuring of the debt. These, and other alternatives, will be aired Oct. 9. Fowler was authorized to act on the village's behalf.

— Authorized an engineering study of the present airport, to determine the extent of repairs necessary to taxing and storage areas and the most feasible method of accomplishing them.

— Instigated action, by resolution, to establish a Joint Powers Agreement with the NM Highway Department on improving Gavilan Canyon and Cedar Creek roads. The resolution calls for a 50/50 cost split, with state money not to be available until the 1976-77 fiscal year.

— Directed that the study of the mechanized garbage pickup be continued through Oct. 6 and that a decision be reached concerning incorporating the new method in the village operation at the Oct. 9 meeting. Village manager Jim Hine said, "I've received nothing but compliments on the system." The pickup method, involving a special truck and heavy steel storage containers, requires but one man to operate it.

— Authorized Boyle Engineering to proceed with design and construction plans on the new water treatment plant and renovation of two existing ones and also on water mains to be installed from the new treatment plant down Hwy. 37 to the five million gallon tank and from Gavilan Plant to the Gateway area.

— Accepted the bid of $200 from Lloyd Aboher to purchase the Mechem Water Tank.

— Noted that the trial to settle the Baker Construction litigation involving the recent water project will be held Oct. 1 in Las Cruces.

No opposition voiced to airport site selection

No opposition to the first priority site for the proposed regional airport was voiced at the public hearing Wednesday night, conducted by the Sierra Blanca Airport Development Committee.

Site B, located on the old Ft. Stanton Airport, just south of the present Ft. Stanton Mental Retardation and Training School, offers, the committee decided and will recommend, air traffic advantages, expansion possibilities and easier compliance with environmental factors than Site A, which has been given second priority.

The final decision, however, once the committee has completed all facets of the study, will be vested in the five governing bodies and the governmental agencies involved.

Upon submission of their findings and recommendations to the village of Ruidoso, Ruidoso Downs and Capitan, the Mescalero Apache Tribe and the Lincoln County Commissioners, the committee will be discharged.

Remaining portions of the study include environmental and archaeological assessments, physical aspects of the airport and projections on the financial feasibility of the project.

Jan. 31, 1976, was announced as the tentative date for completion of the study by the committee, with two public meetings, one on the environmental study and the last to explain the entire plan yet to be held.

The final wrapup, by the committee, will include their recommendations, cost factors, the whys and suggestions as to implementation of plans to construct the proposed regional airport.

Bob White of the State Aviation Board, relative to the construction of the proposed airport said, "The present municipal airport requires that visual flight rules be observed and there is no way to carry out night and instrument operations in Ruidoso now."

While no opposition to the plan, at this point, was voiced, concern was expressed over the tentative location of the ingress and egress road to the site. No decision has been reached by the committee on this matter, though chairman Fred Heckman indicated that negotiations to acquire right of way will possibly have to be entered into, should the airport plan be approved.

The question of noise, and its effect upon Ft. Stanton, was raised and it was pointed out by Earl Cook, consultant with Herkenhoff and Parsons of Albuquerque, that the flight pattern would be "three miles or more" from the school.

White also said, "The village (of Ruidoso) is growing up around the airport. Larger planes and business jets now have a one-shot approach, there is no second go 'round. There have been no real problems to date, but we could have a major tragedy due to the housing buildup around the airport."

Nick Pappas of the Southeastern New Mexico Economic Development District, charged with developing many aspects of the proposed airport, said, "The archaeological reconnaissance could be the last element of the study to be completed and that a land use plan will be developed."

Cook said, in regard to the direct economic impact of the airport in this area, "There will be many job openings for area people, and young people entering the job market, that will be filled, not by people from the outside coming in, but from people living right here."

Heckman, in announcing that the committee would continue in their present direction, said, "Our problems are now money and procedural."

Cook said that the 1980 requirements call for 8,600 feet of main runway, 6,500 for crosswind runway and 29,300 square feet of terminal buildings, which is projected into a main runway of 12,900 feet and 87,100 square feet of terminal building by 1995.

"At this point," Cook said, "the proposed airport is economically feasible, but not necessarily financially feasible."

Leathernecks to drum and bugle in Aspencade parade

Special musical entertainment will be a highlight of the annual Aspencade parade down Sudderth Saturday.

If you like music, the 4th Marine Aircraft Wing Drum and Bugle Corps may be of interest to you. Some of the best drummers and buglers in the Marine Corps make up this unit which plays everything from rock-and-roll to country and western music, dixieland jazz and traditional marches. And all selections are committed to memory.

The New Orleans' based unit is one of the busiest of the seven Drum and Bugle Corps in the Marine Corps. Last year its members traveled a distance equal to twice around the world, performing at more than 300 events. It is also one of the few musical units to be awarded the Meritorious Unit Commendation.

These musical Leathernecks entertain an array of spectators at Atlanta's Peach Bowl Parade, the Cotton Bowl in Dallas, and many other professional, college and high school events. New Orleans' own Mardi Gras celebration is also on their agenda.

The range of audiences and repertoire of music seems unlimited; they play at youth-oriented concerts, make nationally televised appearances, and perform ceremonial music for ranking state and military officials and visiting foreign dignitaries. Numerous performances to children's groups, civic and service organizations, welfare associations, and more are places you might find the 4th Marine Aircraft Wing Drum and Bugle Corps.

It's no doubt they know their music. But that's not all. Each man is a trained Marine infantryman. After recruit training and infantry training, and a rigid audition, each member attends the Drum and Bugle Corps School of Music at Parris Island, South Carolina for three months.

Some of the Marines' "few good men" are with this elite, professional musical unit — the 4th Marine Aircraft Wing Drum and Bugle Corps.

He was named director of the Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory in 1945 when the facility was a closely guarded, temporary wartime installation. Under his guidance Los Alamos has become an outstanding modern center for research and development where basic scientific concepts are translated into practical instruments of national security and peacetime uses, including biological and medical applications.

Dr. Bradbury joins a distinguished list of individuals who have been honored by the Presbyterian Hospital Center Foundation.

Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg — 1969
Dr. Ralph Bunche (posthumously) — 1970
Senator Clinton P. Anderson — 1971
Greer Garson — 1972
Peter Hurd — 1973

The Foundation will also honor Reverend J. Denton Simms with its Special Recognition Award. A pioneer whose family located on the Mescalero Apache Reservation, he has played a leading role in religious, civic and health activities for over sixty years. Reverend Simms came to New Mexico in 1904 and spent 25 years with the Jicarilla Apaches where he established a church and a school and led a campaign in solving critical health problems of the tribe.

He moved his family to Albuquerque in 1939 and began a new career of service. He continues to be active as the associate pastor of Immanuel Presbyterian Church which he helped organize in 1948. He served as member of the Presbyterian Hospital Center board of directors for over 20

Magistrate, Municipal Court cases
Appearing before Magistrate Austin Pritchett recently were:
Stephen Ackley and Danny B. Perry, giving Texas addresses, charged by Tim Barraclough of the NM G&F with possession of Chickaree squirrels and hunting without a license. Upon entering guilty pleas, both were fined $200 on the possession charge, $100 on not having a license plus seven days in Lincoln County jail. The jail sentence was to be suspended upon payment of the fine which was reduced to $150 each.

BSI employees donate $5,000 to help finance NM Boys Ranch
Boys Ranch, privately funded home to fifty New Mexico boys from probation, welfare department or private citizens, recently gained over $5,000 toward completion of their new BSI dorm, according to Ted Bonnell, chief executive officer of Bank Securities, Inc. The money was raised by the BSI employees.
The thirty-one year old Boy's Ranch, funded to provide a healthy Christian home to fifty boys of all ages comprises 2350 acres south of Albuquerque. It is wholly dependent on private donations, not being affiliated with any church or civic organizations.
"This $5,000 is just what we needed to help complete the BSI dorm for little boys, and you know what that means to sixteen little boys ranging from six to eight-years-old who will be living there," according to Mr. Kull.
This $5,000 handed to Mr. Kull by American Bank of Commerce Senior Vice President, Bill Hunter, brings to just under $100,000 contributed to the ranch by Bank Securities, Inc. employees, officers and directors during the last two years. More than 15,000 square feet of buildings have been built by BSI people.

Obituaries
C.V. Cunningham
Funeral services for C.V. (Heavy) Cunningham were held in Clarke's Chapel of Roses Mortuary Monday, September 22. The Rev. Elvis Worden officiated. There was a Masonic service at graveside.
Mr. Cunningham died September 19 at home in Tularosa. He and his wife had lived in Ruidoso for thirty years before moving to Tularosa a couple of years ago. He was active in the Ruidoso Lions Club, was a member of the Baptist Church, and a veteran of World War II.
He is survived by his wife, Dorothy (Dutch), and daughter and son-in-law, Sidnia and Ridley Gardner.
Palbearers were Paul Jones, Albert Jay, Delbert Posey, Norman Wheeler, Joe Baldonado and Weldon Garner.
"Even though a child has no work credit under social security, he may qualify for SSI benefits if he is statutorily blind, or if medical evidence proves that even if he were an adult he would be unable to work for a year or more.
"The child's income must be less than $177.70 if he lives alone or is under 18. His resources must be no more than $1,500. However, his possession of a home, car, and life insurance of reasonable value would not disqualify him", Hassen explained.
"If he is under 18 and living with his parents, their income and resources would affect his eligibility. However, parents' income and resources do not affect the eligibility of a child over 18 who is no longer in school, even though he continues living with his parents. His own income after age 18 must be less than $125.14 for him to qualify if he remains in fall within certain limits," his parents' home," Hassen concluded.

Our Southwestern Heritage
By MARCUS COOPER
To foster a feeling of continuity in our experience as a people; to impart a sense of the past as a living reality conditioning the present in which we live.
Fred Harvey, an immigrant Englishman who reached the United States in 1850, conceived and established his restaurants and hotels for the rapidly expanding Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad. It was in 1876 that he became the restaurant and hotel concessionaire for this railroad. He established his lunch rooms, restaurants and hotels to give the best service and serve the finest meals to the traveler and town resident alike. In 1888 when the first dining cars were put in operation, it was Fred Harvey who managed them. Through his efforts and his demanding management, he brought untold pleasures to the patrons of his Harvey Houses. His surprise visits insured him that his farflung establishments along 12,000 miles of Santa Fe track were operated to the satisfaction of himself and his customers. When the travel folders of the Santa Fe stated that "The dining service under the management of Fred Harvey is the best in the world" it was no idle boast. The tens of thousands through the years enjoyed his accommodations with lasting regards.

possibility cannot long continue." Buchanan said "History is replete with instances of societies that explode and collapse due to inflationary fires fueled by government deficits. In the minds of the citizenry, old-fashioned norms of fiscal responsibility have been replaced by Keynesian activism, and this has profoundly altered the constraints under which our elected politicians operate."

If adopted, the Curtis proposal for a constitutional amendment would compel the U. S. government to limit spending to revenue income. If it fails to do so, the amendment provides for an automatic surtax to balance the budget.

Sen. Herman Talmadge (D-Ga.) is the author of a proposed constitutional amendment with the same objective as the Curtis proposal. The subcommittee took testimony on both resolutions.

In addition to Buchanan, Curtis and Talmadge, other witnesses appearing for the hearings include Sens. Paul Fannin (R-Ar.), James McClure (R-Id.), Strom Thurmond (R-S. C.), and Jake Garn (R-Ut.); and Dr. William A. Niskanen, recently of the University of California at Berkeley and Rep. David M. Halbrook, of the Mississippi House of Representatives.

Senate hearings on U. S. Balanced Budget

"Budgets will tend toward chronic deficits until and unless politicians are constrained by some constitutional rule which requires that the taxing and the spending sides of the fiscal account be balanced," according to Dr. James M. Buchanan, Prof. of Economics and Director of the Center for Study of Public Choice, Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University.

Dr. Buchanan was one of several witnesses on Tues., Sept. 23, when the Senate Judiciary subcommittee on Constitutional amendments began hearings on a proposal by Sen. Carl Curtis (R-Nebr.) for a constitutional amendment to compel the federal government to go on a pay-as-you-go basis.

Buchanan, one of the chief economists who testified, told Curtis "A continually growing body of evidence indicates that prevailing fiscal practices and institutions are inadequate for ensuring fiscal responsibility."

"Budgets for the federal government show deficits whether the economic weather is fair or foul, and these deficits get larger with each passing year. It takes no technical economic wisdom to suggest that this pattern of irres-

Inside the Capital

BY FRED BUCKLES

The annual payroll for Gov. Jerry Apodaca and his staff of 19 has climbed to $287,048.

After Apodaca's legislature set $35,000 the highest paid aide is Bob Sanchez at $23,652. Richard de Uriarte, Lee Witt and Bob Cooper follow at $22,536. All three will move up Jan. 1 to $23,652. All were raised July 1.

The lowest paid Apodaca staffer is Julie Trapp at $7,704, a new receptionist. Salary of another receptionist, Stella Kelly, is $8,916. Ed Tinker, Apodaca's campaign pilot, was boosted July 1 to $11,952. His pay will rise to $12,540 Jan. 1.

Besides governor payrollers, others are on Apodaca's staff but paid from other sources. Allan Pearson, the governor's cultural liaison, receives $10,000 a year on a federal emergency employe program. He was raised to the maximum on the program.

Allan arranges art shows in the governor's big reception office and other cultural events. The $287,048 does not include governor's citizens service center payrollers.

Bruce Rolstad, deputy administrator for service center, is paid $16,008 a year. The Albuquerque center staff: Joan M. Allen, manager, $12,540; Carol S. Elias, Spencer F. Stopa and Terrie Gonzales, $8,496, and Marilyn B. Salas, $7,704. Gloria Flores, manager, and Judy LaPointe staff the Las Cruces center, opened last Friday. Their salaries were unavailable.

Lt. Gov. Bob Ferguson's staff payroll is $59,784 a year. Chief aide Lee Pittard is paid $21,456. Office manager Marcia Ullbarri receives $8,496. They are on the lieutenant governor's payroll.

Four others labor for Ferguson on the federal emergency employe program: David Fernandez, $7,200; Olivia Pacheco and Bill Ortiz, $7,440, and Charlotte Capling, $7,752. Pittard says all are caseworkers. Fernandez, formerly of Taos, also doubles as publicity aide and speech writer for Ferguson.

Pittard says Ferguson fills a busy speaking schedule. Six slots were assigned to Ferguson's office initially on the federal employe program last winter. Five of the initial six employes were placed in other state agencies in permanent jobs.

The Commission on Aging annual payroll is $137,844 for 12 employes. Ex-Lt. Gov. Robert A. Mondragon is boss at $17,652. Barbara Strelke at $9,084 handles publicity chores.

The Commission on Aging staff counted 13 payrollers last Jan. 1. Among the current top-salaried hands: Jeanne F. Roth, Arthur E. Baca and Gertrude Dodds, $14,100; William S. Vigil, $14,808; Edythe M. Pierson, $13,416.

No prospect for new state Democratic chairman has emerged from a cluster of possibilities. The prospects: Drew Cloud and Harold Volden of Albuquerque; Jack Daniels of Albuquerque and Hobbs; Sen. Gladys Hansen, Las Cruces, and Sen. Connie Kitzes Burrell, Santa Fe. Sen. Burrell is state Democratic Chairwoman. Sen. Hansen is Dona Ana County Chairman. Cloud and Volden are ex-state chairmen.

A successor to Ben Alexander of Hobbs will be elected Nov. 8 in Albuquerque. Alexander has been an effective state chairman.

National Education Association — New Mexico (NEA-NM) will drive for a $45 million boost in state funding for public schools in the 1976 Legislature. NEA-NM also stands on this position: "Require school districts to provide increases in the combination of teacher salaries and economic benefits of at least the same percent as their revenue increases."

NEA-NM also wants a 3 per cent annual increase in teacher retirement benefits. Despite declining enrollment the legislature will be pushed hard to hike state money for schools sharply.

NEA-NM will rely on Gov. Apodaca for help. Apodaca enjoyed heavy teacher support in his winning campaign last year.

Will Harrison Schmitt be a John Glenn or a James L. Hughes? Ex-astronaut

Schmitt, 40, seeks the GOP U.S. Senate nomination. Former astronaut Glenn is a Democratic senator from Ohio. Hughes, a retired Air Force Colonel, finished a distant third in the 1974 New Mexico GOP governor primary.

Schmitt hasn't lived in New Mexico for 22 years. He says this will exert little effect on his campaign. Schmitt's primary opponent may be Lincoln County rancher Joe Skeen. Skeen lost a close race to Apodaca for governor last year, a tough year for Republican candidates.

This sign is on the Health-Social Services Department deputy director's door: "Please don't knock without first clearing with Clara Garcia."

Environmental poster contest is expanded

All age groups are invited to participate in the Smokey Bear and Woodsy Owl Environmental Poster Contest this year. The National Council of State Garden Clubs, sponsor of the contest, especially encourages youth and senior citizens to enter the competition.

Any member of the community-at-large is eligible to design and submit a poster with an environmental theme. Posters may show Smokey, Woodsy, both or neither, but must include both picture and slogan.

Judging will be based equally on originality, design, slogan, artwork, and message effectiveness. Competition divisions are: Kindergarten-2nd grade; 3rd-5th grades; 6th-8th grades; 9th-12th grades; and a new category, above 12th grade.

There are no restrictions on art materials to be used as long as the poster is basically two-dimensional and no larger than 12 x 18 inches. All entries must be identified by the artist's NAME, GRADE OR AGE, AND HOME ADDRESS on the poster back. Entries must be in the mail to the State Poster Chairman no later than November 30, 1975. Chairman is: Mrs. James P. Ballog, 4717 Comanche Road, NE, Albuquerque, New Mexico 87110.

State winners will have their entries forwarded for Regional and National competition. Winners will be announced and prizes awarded at the 1976 Regional Meeting of National Council Garden Clubs.

For further information, contact your local garden club, a Forest Service field office or the Office of Information, Forest Service Southwestern Region, 517 Gold Ave., SW, Albuquerque, New Mexico 87102.

A spark plug that is doing its job will have a nice chocolate brown color. Upon removal, if the plug is black, it either is not firing or has been running too cold, according to the Automotive Parts & Accessories Association.

Land-Use problems
Editorial
The problems of land-use, land-use management and control of same should concern everyone on this globe, because there's strictly a limited supply of land. Unless we drain the oceans, which'd pose another problem. Now muddling its way through Congressmen is a bit of land-use legislation, "Land Resource Planning Assistance Act" that deserves more attention than it's getting. It appears that this bill, innocuous though its title may be, is a vehicle, pure and simple, to invest the federal government with the powers to establish a red tape confusion system to control land use to the point where the regulations would be impossible to follow. The bill would provide for seven cabinet departments and three other agencies to review all land-use proposals — with each of the ten to review each instance separately. And ten times the number of bureaucrats in each reviewing body just isn't a management proposal to instill confidence in anyone who has ever had to deal with bureaucratic processes. The control of land-use is of vital importance to every living thing on this earth — but it seems that the local political entity most directly effected by any land-use program in their jurisdiction, should be given a voice in drafting control proposals. —CD

On the ivy trail
Guard the house plants! Sleuths from the Federal Trade Commission soon may be scouring the country to see if consumers are being given adequate information about, of all things, plants. It's no joke. Someone at the FTC discovered that people like plants. A survey was made, in fact, which uncovered the fascinating statistic that of the adults quizzed, 73 percent said they had at least one live plant in the house. Progressing along, it was discovered further that the average family which admits keeping plants has an average of 10 of them. At that point the FTC decided that keeping plants has become fashionable and may even amount to big business. Aha! But has the consumer been told adequately how to care for his plants? That burning question has caught the attention of the regulators and the investigation is on. If the FTC comes calling, it is best to admit maybe the African violet is a bit wilted and the little cactus in the kitchen is being watered too frequently. They'll find out anyway. — Daily Sun News, Levelland, Tex.

SCHOOL FUNDS
Those charged with providing Ruidoso and area children with the best education tax money can provide... basically that's the school board, per se... want to keep on providing... and they're asking the property owners to provide $1.6 million... thus, you give that others may receive. What this election is all about... other than $1.6 million... is to provide classrooms... new classrooms, suitably equipped, in which to impress upon eager young minds many and several facts to equip them for the serious business of tackling the world's problems... single-handedly or en masse. And while the children's brains are being nourished, their bodies must not be neglected... so a physical education facility is indicated. And to inspire and instruct said eager students, there must be furniture and supplies and materials. That... outside of what you've read in The News... or heard as "news"... is it. Except for dropping into the HS library Oct. 7 and exercising your right of franchise. Also, there's Dave Parks... he heads up the school board and wields the gavel and keeps the meetings moving... he offered his time... the time of the other board members... of Supt. Pat Valliant... and the school principals... to chit-chat with you relative to any questions you might be harboring. And you can't hardly beat a deal like that, if you feel like chit-chatting... about... say... $1.6 million worth.

It is inevitable that some form of National Health Insurance will sooner or later be authorized by Congress. But hopefully this increased government involvement in the health care system will continue to be underwritten and administered by private carriers in "... a mandated minimum level program..." According to a Blue Shield publication, "Under this approach, carriers would compete to enroll the overwhelming majority of the population— those who are employed and members of their families... this type of competition among carriers meeting certain qualifications is good because it will foster efficiency and innovation." As in the past, the private health insurance industry should be valued and retained as the central moving force in the development of methods to monitor and control medical costs and quality of health care provided, and to help make the best of health and medical care available to ever-growing numbers of citizens without financial hardship. It's a rare privilege to have been reared in New Mexico before self-righteousness and self-pity became national hazards. You can still stand in the middle of the prairie and imagine that those distant, blue mountains were put there to keep you from falling off the edge of the earth, if you could run fast enough. Or, you can look to the protecting arms of a nearer mountain and appreciate its ever-changing beauty, its water and its wild life. You can climb to the top of that mountain and see "the ends of the earth" in every direction. Or, you can walk into the forest and be surrounded by pines, firs, junipers and pinons forming a majestic backdrop for wild flowers and the bright leaves of oaks and maples. You can breathe the pine-scented air and listen to the calm flutter of birds as they go about their business, their contented chirps and cheerful songs — and it peace doesn't fill your soul — you're not listening. Then, there are the people. When I was a child, I thought a man could do anything. Sure enough — he could — almost. In those days, the government and woman's lib didn't tell him he couldn't. He couldn't pick up a telephone and call a policeman or fireman or civil rights lawyer to solve all his problems. He had to take care of them himself; and he made no apologies. Once, on the way to Three Rivers, we were flagged down by some very well dressed businessmen from El Paso, who had managed to hang two wheels of their very expensive car off the side of the road. It looked like a problem only a wrecker could solve. But there was no wrecker for miles. An empty school bus stopped. The driver, who proudly called himself a Spanish American (when he thought about it), and who had no more than a grade school education, got out and calmly took command of the situation and showed those highly educated men how to get their car back on the road. No one had told him he was underprivileged. There is a story about one of my uncles when he was young and single. He was said to have "bought" the bar in Tularosa for a day. He and his friends put kegs of beer in the middle of the dusty street; and he did his best to get the rest of the town as "happy" as he was. It didn't help that his father was district judge at the time. His father "threw the book at him." There was no recriminations and no self-righteous sermons; and Uncle Jack's love and respect for his father diminished not one iota. In fact, his respect increased considerably. Today, he probably would have had a court appointed lawyer to disqualify the judge and demand a change of venue and break everyone's heart over that poor young man who was uninhibited because his family didn't understand him. After that, perhaps it would seem logical to go join a group to "liberate the oppressed" by trying to drag EVERYONE down into a mire of misery. Somehow, to me, it seems better to stand on a rock and try to pull others up into the fresh air and sunshine. E.C.J.

exercising the brain produces any deleterious effects upon the mind of the exerciser. Now, if'n you like problem tackling... what'd you do if you were? — The judge who must decide whether to free Patty Hearst on bail, or to keep her snug and safe where he knows where she is? — In charge of protecting the life of the President of the United States and twice in two weeks it wasn't of your doing that no one done him in? — Charged with developing a taxing system in which there are no loopholes, even for yourself? — The guy who had to decide if selling wheat to the Soviets would be a good thing for the wheat farmers? — A Congressman who had to justify raising his own pay? — A ski shop owner in the Sinai desert? — A judge who had to look into the eyes of a defendant who stole food only to feed his starving family, just before sentencing him to a prison term? — A doctor who had to tell a patient his affliction was terminal? Any of these situations pose problems... problems to cause the brain to spin its wheels... but for a real challenge, one that'll have you climbing the wall, talking to yourself and knowing that deep down feeling of frustration, take pen in hand and write, without illustrations, a set of instructions that any literate person could read... and follow... to correctly tie a pair of shoe laces... with the stipulation that the direction reader had never seen a pair of shoe laces. And if this exercise in futility won't put your command of the English language to the test supreme, nothing, outside of following directions any kid can follow will. BRIEF BIT: Gadzooks... be thankful all those motorcycles that'll be cluttering up the streets the latter part of this week ain't horses... CD

Interesting to note that the Tulsa, Oklahoma, newspaper is now sponsoring a "chuckhole of the week" photo in their area. Seems that each week a choice chuckhole is picked to be featured and described. We can imagine the possibilities of headlines — "Semi Lost in local chuckhole," "Oil found in bottom of Chuckhole", and "Chinese heard issuing from Chuckhole." Just goes to show the lengths that a publisher will sink to fill a paper... You will be pleased to know, that a couple of years ago, the Virginia Polytechnic Institute received a $19,600 grant for development of a "genetic stock center" for German cockroaches. This grant was to supplement an earlier funding of $17,000. Officials say the grant will enable the "preservation of 55 mutant types of the German cockroach." Seems we can't use the good ole American stock for anything anymore... Legal speeds save tires as well as lives. Sustained high speed can increase tire temperature to the point it shortens tread life and prematurely wears down strength of tire fabric.

When the Mescalero Apache Indians hold their annual fall cattle auction Monday next week, Oct. 3, there will be from 1,200 to 1,500 cattle for sale, according to Frank Burris, manager for the Indian Cattle Growers Association, Inc. The sale will start at 10 a. m. with Joe Simms of Capitan as auctioneer. Burris said the cattle are good quality Herefords, all from registered Hereford bulls, that the cattle are excellent for ranchers who want to stock or restock; and for farmers who want small lots of 20 or so. Cows and calves will be sold separately, he said. There are some yearling steers and heifers and heiferettes in the bunch, along with some wild maverick bulls, Burris added. A chuckwagon dinner will be served free to the buyers after the sale. Truckers are invited to be on hand, for their services may be needed, Burris added.

Famous Rodeo Folks Are Great Home Folks

The other evening, my friend and neighbor, Dude Browning, brought some famous rodeo folks over across the creek to visit the Ridge Runner and Shady Logan.

Chuck Dent and his wife, Sparkey have been performing in large rodeos in the U. S. and Canada for years. They make their home now in Florida, but they like Lincoln County best of all places they have been, and come back here whenever they have a chance. Chuck and Sparkey say they have never seen this country looking so beautiful.

Chuck worked on the Mesquero Reservation back in the 1940's leaving there in 1947. From that time he has been in the rodeo world, taking part in different features of this profession.

His feature now is a very colorful and unusual act with a large white Brahma steer. You would think from watching the rodeos that the Brahma would be the most difficult animal in the world to teach to be an actor, and yet this is what Chuck has done.

Briefly describing his part of the show, Chuck said: "I come in and ride the Brahma around the arena on a lope. Then I step off, and the Brahma takes a bow on both knees. Then the Brahma holds up his right foot on cue. Then I back him up with hand signal. He backs up on his knees. Then I put him on a pedestal and sit in front of him and he puts one foot over my shoulder. Then I back him off the pedestal.

"Then we are tired at the end of the day. We take blankets and bed down as if out on the range. In the night he hears a coyote and gets to his knees, then puts his head across my body to feel safe.

"Then we get up and take a bow and I jump on his back and we ride out.

"We begin this act with a little narrative of how this little doggie was found starving out on the range and surely would have died; but with kindness, and patience we made him one of the family."

Sparkey's Trick Riding

Sparkey, who raised the actor Brahma "Practically on a bottle" has been doing trick riding in the rodeos since she was fourteen years old. She does vaults, double vaults and cart wheels with the horse running.

A colorful feature of Sparkey's is her Roman team of two black horses. Riding the two horses by standing with one foot on one and one foot on the other, she puts them through the walk, trot, canter and fast run. Then she runs them through the figure eight. And for a feature act of the show Sparkey rides the two beautiful blacks in a jump over a hurdle.

Chuck and Sparkey are the kind of folks that you feel you have known all your life. They love animals and you can tell at first meeting them that they are people of great kindness. All in all, they are good, lovable home folks.

They plan to follow the rodeos a year or so more and then come back to live here in Lincoln County. We wish them every success wherever they go, and will welcome them back here whenever they return to Lincoln County.

John Christopher

Services were held Saturday, the twentieth for John Christopher, one of Ruidoso's most beloved citizens. With his flowers and shrubs and vegetable plants that he raised in his nursery, John made many people happy. During his long stay in Ruidoso among us, he has lent a hand to all in need of his help through the years to countless people.

Now John is in Heaven with Our Lord and all his loved ones who have gone on before. And the glorious flowers of Heaven will be blooming bright and fragrant to welcome our dear friend, John.

A Little More About Mexico

Last time we brought out a little bit about Mexico and its Independence Day, the sixteenth of September. This all brought my memory back to Mexico and my boyhood there. And I am sure it was my destiny to live down there among the Mexican people. I am grateful for the experience. I learned to talk Spanish, and I learned the great qualities of the people. They have the quiet pride, the good manners and courtesy, the reverence and courage, and many of the other sterling qualities of the Spaniard. And they have the fire, love of nature, the great endurance under adversity of the Indian.

The blood of the Mexican is Spanish and Indian. Mexico was inhabited by numerous Indian tribes, many of them of high civilization, when the Spaniards came in the Fifteenth Hundreds. The Indians are still there, many of them practically pure native strain.

Mexico has been called the largest American-Indian country in the world.

As I remember the Mexicans, they are the most gifted people in many different ways that you could find anywhere. Especially in music. A Mexican far out in the country that can not write his name (this was in the old days, like I say) - this man with practically nothing but a pocket knife could make a guitar, and then on his home made instrument, he would compose a song, perhaps a "Corrido" (ballad) that would become famous all over the world.

I will never forget the first time I heard the Mexican men and boys singing together in the plaza. I could not understand the words, but the harmony and the beauty of the music had a language all its own. This music goes straight to your heart; it captures you like the Spanish language.

The Mexican people of the small villages and the country are great lovers of their families. Motherhood and the child are sacred to these people. And they hold their grandparents and old people in general in great respect, consideration and affection. They, and the Hispanic-Americans here in New Mexico oftentimes refer to God as "Mi Tata, Dios" (My Grand-Daddy, God). This is probably handed down all the way back from Spain. And as they say this they surely must feel a kindred emotion in thinking of God and their grandparents; for they do hold their old people in fond reverence and love.

The adult Mexican men and women looked upon my brothers and myself as their own children. As a boy of twelve, I and my three younger brothers circulated freely in the plaza in Copala on Saturday nights in the celebrations of the men who worked in the smelter, and the nearby mines. While they sang and drank tequila, they showered us with "dulces, Gorditas" (candy, and fancy tortillas full of good food) and "Agua Gasiosa" (soda water) in flavors of pineapple, vinella, quince, guayava, wild apple.

Sometimes on Saturday nights I would help some of the men home who had celebrated a little too much, one in particular. I can see him now, a great giant named Manuel. What was his last name? Something like La Jarsa. Manuel La Jarsa.

The little cobble-stone streets wound, around on the hillsides where most of the town nestled, and street lighting was only in the main part of town and the plaza. One time as I took Manuel home along a small dark winding little street, suddenly Manuel went down. I had failed to steer him clear of a deep hole near the street. I felt terrible about this and apologized to Manuel. But he only laughed and said, "No es nada, Danielito." (It is nothing, Little Daniel or Dannie).

My brothers and I were like somebody from another planet. The people, none of them, and some of them nearly a hundred years old had never seen any "Gringos" (Little Gringos) in their lives. They hated to see us leave, and begged us to come back some time.

I left Mexico able to speak Spanish and this gave me a running start in making friends with my many Hispanic-American neighbors here in the vale. I am very grateful for my Spanish-American friends. Through the years I have kept speaking Spanish, singing the Mexican and Spanish songs which have a charm not found in any other music, learning their folk tales, fairy tales, and their "Dichos" (Proverbs), and their stories of the old times.

Learning another language and becoming acquainted with another people - especially Spanish and especially the Spanish people - you learn what is meant by the Brotherhood of Man.

Here in the Western Hemisphere we have the largest group of English-speaking people in the world in Canada and the United States. And we have far and away the largest group of Spanish-speaking people here, in Mexico and all the South American countries except Brazil, which is Portuguese-speaking, and Portuguese is the next thing to Spanish.

We do not like to brag; but we have here certainly two of the greatest languages in the world. These languages, and the people who speak them have a great destiny in the world.

Here we are with the Mexican people just next door; and the American of Spanish descent for our neighbors. It is ordained that we have a special part to play in that great destiny. And this is to bring the day of harmony, peace and good will among all peoples.

Here in the Southwest there is a little vest-pocket Spanish lesson in the names of the towns, rivers, mountains and other land marks. We are lucky. It is fun to know both Spanish and English. It would be nice to know more of the Indian languages also.

A. C. Kemp

Sunland Park — A. C. Kemp, a longtime racing official in the Southwest, passed away in an El Paso hospital following a prolonged illness. He was 51.

In recent years, Kemp served as steward at both Ruidoso Downs and Sunland Park.

"A. C. Kemp was one of the most knowledgeable and most respected officials in southwest turf history," said Al Rosa, General Manager of both Sunland and Ruidoso Downs Race Tracks. "His background in racing goes back to the very beginning in pari-mutuel racing in New Mexico. Over the years, A. C. Kemp has earned tremendous admiration from all segments of the industry. He was regarded, without question, as a turf authority of unique stature."

At one time or another, "Ace", as he was generally known, worked in almost every racing department, but he began his career at the bottom of the ladder. His first jobs were those of groom and hot-walker. With his father, Jess, and his brother, Kenny, he campaigned throughout the bush track circuit of Texas and New Mexico, and through various parts of the country in the mid 1930s.

Later, Ace became an exercise rider and jockey. In 1939, he rode at the State Fair meeting in Albuquerque. When he became too heavy to ride, he became trainer. As a track official, he served as a clocker, handicapper, odds-maker, a member of the mutual department, racing secretary, steward, among other posts.

He was the racing secretary at the New Mexico State Fair for a ten-year period, through 1974. He also held similar posts at Sunland Park, Ruidoso Downs and Lamesa Park.

Kemp's Sunland Park career began during the inaugural meeting in 1959. His first post was that of a clocker. In 1960, he was promoted to Assistant Racing Secretary. At the conclusion of the 1974-75 Sunland meeting, Kemp was named recipient of the annual Bob Haynsworth Sportsmanship award. The award goes to

Warriors defeated 19-0

The Warriors of Ruidoso High didn't contain the speedsters Friday night at Canutillo where they dropped a 19-0 decision in a hard fought game that was much closer than the score indicated.

The Big Blue received the opening kick-off and completely dominated the first quarter as they marched from their own 20 yard line to the Eagles 27. There they allowed the Canutillo team to have the ball for one offensive play as the Warrior defense forced a fumble and again started their move downfield. Warrior QB Williams on a keeper moved the ball to the Eagle 10, then Danny Brown and Hector Agullar took turns for short gains to the 5 yard line, but an incomplete pass stopped the drive short of the goal line when the Red & White Eagles took over. Canutillo's Running Back Worden blasted through the Blue defense for 12 and 20 yards, but a 15 yard penalty, an incomplete pass, and trouble from the Warrior defense forced the Eagles to punt. Blue & Gold again was knocking at the goal line door as they moved to the Eagle 15 where a fumble closed the door. The first stanza ended with no score but had seen Coach Howell's Blue Warriors keeping all the action deep in Eagle territory.

The second quarter opened with the Eagles in possession after the fumble recovery on their own 13. QB Gomez and HB Worden teamed up against the Warriors to move the ball past mid-field into Blue ground for the first time. The Eagles could only get to the Ruidoso 27 as Mellon, Tate and the rest of the Big Blue defense held and took possession on their own 30 but the offense just couldn't seem to put it together and was forced to punt. Minutes later after two complete passes and the running of FB Gomez and HB Worden, the Warriors found their backs to the goal line as the Eagles moved to the Blue 5 yard line. From there Gomez hit over right tackle and with Ruidoso tackles hanging on, fell in for the score. The P. A. T. was blocked and with 3:16 left in the first half the Red & White Eagles led 6-0.

WARRIOR RUN — This Warrior run was to no avail as the Big Blue went down in defeat at Friday night's game with Canutillo. The Warriors held well but experienced some heart-breaking tough breaks during the game. The score of 19-0 did not truly reflect the exciting game.

The Warrior offense saw only short gains and incomplete passes as time expired in the first half. Canutillo's band and drill squads entertained with patriotic half-time performances.

The sparse crowd from Ruidoso watched fine running by the Ruidoso backs and delightful defensive plays by the Big Blue defense but neither team could move. With only 1:08 left to play, the Warriors elected to run with 4th down and 3 on their own 15 but came out 1 foot short of a 1st. Canutillo took over. HB Worden gained 10 yards in 2 plays and once again FB Gomez punched in from the 5. The point after failed and the Warriors trailed 12-0 with only 1 minute to play. Gaston returned the kick-off for the Warriors to their 36 but passing was not the name of the game for the boys in Blue as on their second attempt defender Gomez of Canutillo intercepted a Williams toss. Eagle QB Acolla faked a hand-off and reversed the field and moved to the Warrior one foot line. Three seconds left to play the big fullback Gomez was again called on and fell in for his third TD of the night. This time the kick was good. Time had expired and the Eagles of Canutillo had a 19-0 victory.

10 Years Ago

Oct. 8, 1965
Everytime we drive through Alpine Village, Sun Valley, Ponderosa Heights and some of our other larger subdivisions, we are amazed to see how many new homes have been built. Have you toured them lately? Right now there are four new homes underway in the Indian Hills, South Country Club Estates and Highwood Estates Area. And, the big potential of Lakeside Estates makes you ponder on the growth that yet is in store for this place.

Pfeiffer has written an enthusiastic, lavishly illustrated article praising the Land of Enchantment. The story includes skiing at Cloudcroft, Sandia, Santa Fe, Taos and Red River as well as Sierra Blanca.

In addition to the color cover there are two shots of Sierra Blanca included with the article. Pfeiffer describes the unique lodge and the unbelievable vista from Sierra Blanca and calls the area a fun spot to visit.

A hail storm of considerable proportions swept over a part of the Hondo Valley last Sunday afternoon. Considerable damage was done to the apple crop. Although many farmers had gathered their fruit there were many who had not completed their picking.
Motorists who were in the area at the time reported that the hail was a foot deep on the highway and that it was most difficult to travel. The most damage was done over a stretch of territory extending from the Wilbur Coe farm and San Patricia. At the time this paper went to press it was not possible to get a fair estimate of the damage done the orchards.

Oct. 13, 1950
During a recent meeting of the Volunteer Fire Department of the Village of Ruidoso, discussion came up regarding the need for a "blood bank" at the Ruidoso Hondo Valley General Hospital. To answer this need, seventeen firemen volunteered to have their blood typed for a permanent record at the hospital to create a "Walking Blood Bank."

The Ruidoso Lions Club and the three Parent Teacher groups of the School District plan a Halloween Fun Festival and Parade night October 31st to culminate at the gym where there will be a total of eighteen booths and food stands to keep the youngsters busy all evening.
They have ordered 3,000 prizes to be given away that night, some to be door prizes for the dance to start in the middle of the evening. During the evening a queen of the Festival will be crowned. She will be chosen in the Queen's race sponsored by the Senior class of the High School.
