Warrior All Sports Honor Banquet set for May 17

Nearly 100 Ruidoso High School varsity athletes in seven sports will be honored May 17 at the annual All Sports Banquet.

Sponsored by the Ruidoso Warrior Booster Club, the banquet will begin at 6:30 p.m. at the Chaparral Convention Center in Ruidoso Downs.

"This year, in lieu of a speaker, we're going to devote more time and personal comment on each athlete," Booster Club member Charles McClellan said. "Last year we had former Dallas Cowboy running back Don Perkins speak . . . although he was tremendous, we felt we were taking away some of the attention from the athletes we were supposed to be honoring."

According to McClellan, there are 96 varsity honorees, both boys and girls, for this year's banquet.

Awards include varsity letters for 1976 and the naming of the Most Valuable Player in each sport — tennis, track, football, volleyball, golf, basketball and wrestling.

Climaxing the evening will be the announcement of the Greatest Warrior award.

Selected by the coaches, the Greatest Warrior must be a senior who has lettered in at least three competition sports during the year. Chosen on the basis of ability, personality and attitude, the Greatest Warrior award is the highest honor an RHS athlete can receive.

Tickets for the buffet dinner are $5 per person and are available at the Ruidoso State Bank and Security Bank, The Ruidoso Printing Co., Nob Hill School, the High School or from any Booster Club member.

"This year we're asking ticket purchasers to buy a ticket for an athlete as well as themselves," McClellan said.

In former years the Booster Club has picked up the tab for an athlete's meal, but fund-raising was kept to a minimum this year because of the slow winter season and its funds are depleted.

"Several of the service clubs in town have donated funds to help with the cost of the banquet, but it's still not enough," McClellan said. "We would greatly appreciate the community's help in making this year's banquet as successful as the ones in past years . . . the athlete's sure deserves it this year."

McClellan asked parents and Booster Club members to purchase tickets as early as possible so the chefs at the Chaparral can get an estimate of those to be served.

Those Booster Club members wishing to sell tickets should pick them up from Mickey McGuire at Nob Hill School or Freda Brown at the High School.

Girl, 11, hit by car

An 11-year-old Ruidoso girl was reported to be in critical condition Friday at Provident Hospital, El Paso, after being struck by a car on Sudderth near the Hwy. 37 intersection Wednesday afternoon.

Michelle, daughter of Mrs. Gerda White, was treated at Ruidoso Hondo Valley Hospital by R. L. Annala, M.D., and then transferred by MAST helicopter to El Paso.

She was suffering, Dr. Annala said, from a compound fracture of the left leg, concussion and was in a coma. She suffered respiratory arrest, was resuscitated and her condition stabilized prior to the MAST flight.

The automobile was driven by Rocky Burrows, 18, of Ruidoso.

Ruidoso Police Department patrol officers are continuing the investigation, and no charges had been filed Friday.

the field of 17 candidates entered in the 1976 Lincoln County Lovely Lady Pageant to be presented from the stage of the Ruidoso High School gymnasium the evening of May 15.

Alto Village water rates set

Water rates that Alto Villages Service Corporation (AVSC) may charge village residents were established by the NM Public Service Commission in a decision handed down May 3.

This decision ends a PSC investigation launched Jan. 13 after AVSC's proposed rate schedule was protested by an Alto Village delegation at a PSC hearing that date.

The rate structure will be: —$10 for the first 4,000 gallons for domestic use. —$1.45 per 1,000 gallons for the next 6,000 gallons. —60 cents per 1,000 gallons for each 1,000 gallons thereafter. —50 cents per 1,000 gallons used by Alto Lakes Golf and Country Club.

AVSC's request for a standby charge of $5 per month for domestic users was disapproved by the PSC.

The protested rates proposed by AVSC in January were $25 for 0-10,000 gallons monthly and for $2.50 per 1,000 gallons. Opposition to the $25 rate was based on the probability that part time residents could pay a $35 disconnect fee and save money.

AVSC approached the Lincoln County Commissioners Nov. 7, 1975, to request a franchise to charge for water. The franchise, over the objections of the District Attorney, was issued Nov. 21 to "form and operate a water district".

"We're happy to get these rates established by the PSC," Don Blaugrund of AVSC said Tuesday, "so the water company can start charging for water which we've given away for 10 years. These rates will permit maintenance of the more than 20 miles of service lines now in use."

Red Cross training available in county

American Red Cross training courses are available in Lincoln County, Mrs. Truman Spencer Jr., county chairman, Carrizozo, has announced.

First Aid courses are given in all schools, fire departments and to ambulance drivers, Mrs. Spencer said, and there are courses for water safety, ski patrol, bus drivers and forest service personnel.

"Cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) is another course offered by the Red Cross," she said, "and is presented at regular intervals in the county."

CPR techniques, a combination of mouth-to-mouth respiration and compression of the mid-chest area, are taught to be performed by one or two persons.

"The importance of dealing with heart arrest immediately is that if the heart stops for longer than four to six minutes, irreparable brain damage occurs," she said. "The point of CPR is to keep the victim's lungs and heart working artificially until treatment can be initiated."

Information on all courses is available from Mrs. Spencer by telephoning her at 648-2314.

Summer tennis action scheduled

The newly formed Ruidoso Tennis Association kicks off the summer with an organized tennis league and a tennis week of tournaments, lessons, strategy sessions and social events beginning in mid-May.

League play will open Tuesday, May 18 at 6 p.m. and run for six weeks with a maximum of six teams per league.

Teams will consist of five players, three men and two women, and all competition will be in doubles play.

Play will be run under the California Scoring System, whereby each player serves eight times and the team which accumulates most of the 32 points in a match wins.

"This system will allow players to judge approximately how long each match will take and mean that all teams in the league will rotate at the about the same time," RTA president Jim Isham said.

Entry fees for the league are $25 per team. Balls will be provided and the first place team in the league will receive a travelling trophy as well as warm-up suits for all members.

Teams wishing to participate in the leagues should contact Isham, 378-4427; Ray Heid, 257-7357; or Morgan Clough, 257-4695.

May 21-23 the RTA opens a week long tennis extravaganza with the Ray Heid-

RTA Junior Invitational tournament for the 18 and under crowd in Southern New Mexico.

With divisions for 12 and under, 13-14, 15-16 and 17-18, the tournament will sponsor singles and doubles competition for both boys and girls, with medallions awarded to the first and second place finishers in each class.

Deadline for registration is May 17 and entry fees are $4 per person, per event.

Anyone wishing to assist with the tournament, provide room and board for the visiting juniors, or register, should contact Randi McGuinn, 257-5595, after 5 p.m., or 257-4001.

Adult tennis players get their chance on the courts May 24 with the start of the five day, Ray Heid-RTA Ruidoso Closed tennis tournament.

Women's doubles and singles, men's doubles and singles and mixed doubles categories will be open to participants in both A and B classes.

The tournament will be run in conjunction with a week of social activities and special free tennis clinics to introduce citizens to the RTA. The agenda for the tennis week will be announced at a later date.

For further information about the tournament, contact Heid, 257-7357.

Grab that camera ... focus on Sierra Blanca's snow

BY CALE DICKEY
News editor

K-RRR ramrod Ed Hyman came a cropper of an idea Wednesday.

Ed, you see, sets Wednesday aside as idea day.

Seems Ed was ogling the rain and snow and clouds. Further seems he just happened to be staring off into the distance usually dominated by 'Old Baldy's' omnipresent grandeur.

Suddenly, almost between blinks, the misty atmosphere cleared and Ed beheld the peak of Sierra Blanca, but only for a moment.

During that moment Ed's brain conjured up an original thought. "Why not photograph that White Mountain?" He blinked. Sierra Blanca was again hidden by snow, rain, sleet, mist, fog and clouds.

Again Ed thought. "Someone should photograph 'Old Baldy', all buried under May snow. — I don't think it's ever been done before."

Ed thought some more. "Why not have a picture contest? With real prizes — like money? Let all the shutterbugs click their little shutters." Ed closed his eyes. Stopped thinking. Opened his eyes.

Ed thought fresh thoughts. "Good thinkin', Ed old' boy. 'Bout time something happened here. Before racing. Gotta talk this over with News publisher Ken Green and see if I can get some page one ink. Rules? I'll dream some up. Judges? No sweat. Glen Pike of the Ruidoso Magazine, Green, Cale Dickey of The News can judge the pictures. — Wait a minute . . . that'd be too easy. Two could outvote one. Think I'll complicate matters. I'll be the fourth judge. That should cross those print media phots up. Besides, what do I know about prize winning . . . what is that they call them . . . saloon photos . . . no matter . . . I know what I like and, if nothing else, I can add to the confusion at judging time."

So . . . a photo contest is underway. All you need is a camera, film and inspiration. And a clear shot at 'Old Baldy'.

You have to have Sierra Blanca in your picture. 'Cause that's what this contest is all about.

You can photograph it in, under or over pine trees . . . with or without cheese cake . . . through wagon wheel spokes . . . from the air . . . black and white or color.

Just take 'Old Baldy's' picture, like it was Mockingbird Hill, or Old Smokey. No size limitations on the print.

First prize is $50. Second $25. Third $15. You figure what your time's worth. No way the winners can lose. And the losers win, because they'll have proof that there's snow on the mountains in May. Which goes to prove something.

Something's missing. Oh, yeah, Entry deadline. Your picture must be ready for judging by May 24. May 24 is the last day you can enter. Enter your picture with any sponsor. The list of sponsors appears somewhere in this photo contest announcement.

Judging? The three photographers and Ed'll get together May 25 and pour through all the entries. And make their selections. And determine the winners. And establish who gets what, moneywise. And this'll take place May 25. After which K-RRR and The News'll make appropriate announcements. Ed says he's not about to broadcast the prize winning pictures. Muttered something about "technical difficulties".

Now, as to the sponsors putting up all that loot . . . out of a driving desire to promote Sierra Blanca and photography and Ruidoso and snow in May. . . which doesn't mean another club is being formed . . . anyhow, the benefactors include: Nunley Drug, Don's Prescription Pharmacy, Old Mill, Mint Mart, Gibson's, Dave Wilson Photographics, Midtown Mart, Safeway, Bennett's Shur-Sav and H & J Food Basket.

About those rules. Mentioned somewhere. Don't let them bug you. Just take a picture of the mountain. Include the snow. Get your film developed. It's hard to make a print if you don't. Then take your print to one of the sponsors. No later than 5 p.m., May 24th.

What'll happen May 25, during judging, is anybody's guess. But there'll be three winners named. Money winning winners.

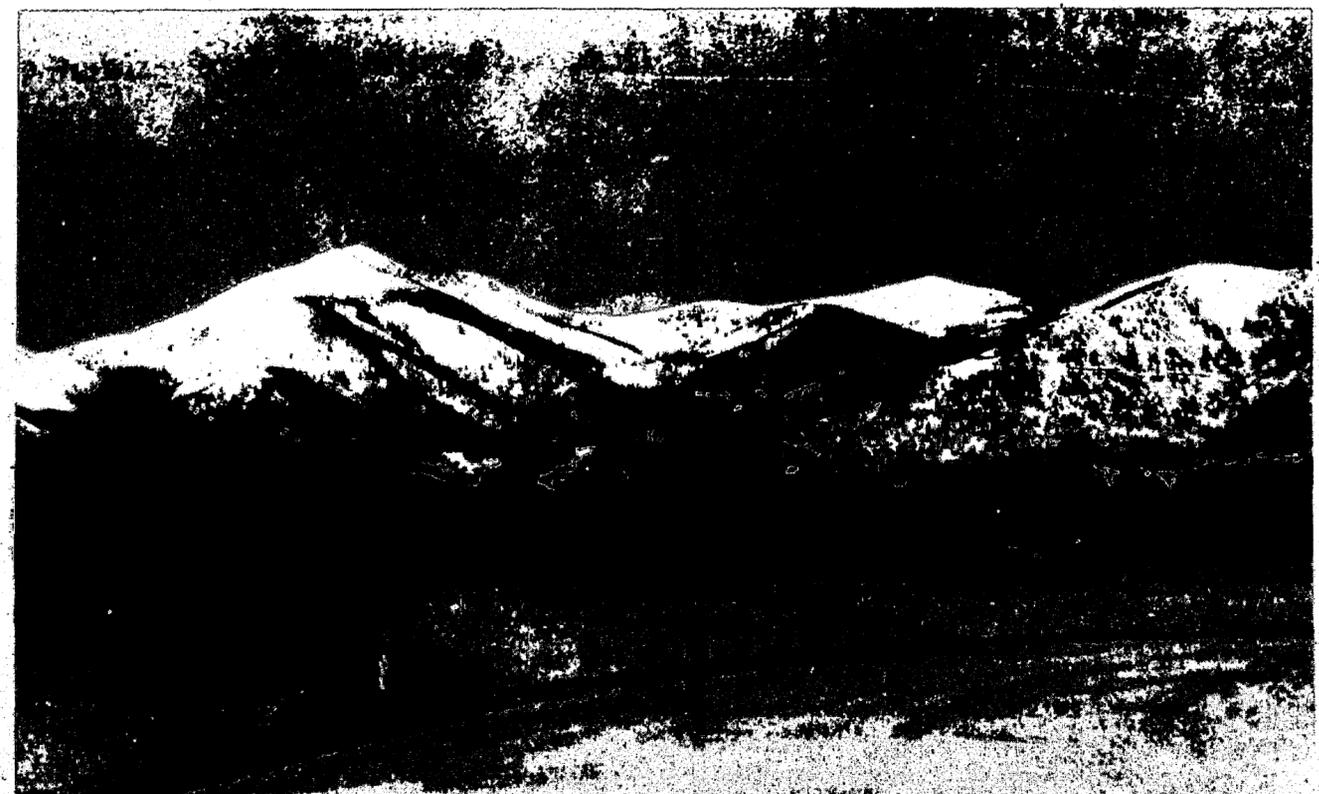

Which won't, incidentally, make you change your amateur fotog status to professional.

And above all, you'll have a claim to fame. Locally. At the very least. As a picture-taker-par-excellence of seldom photographed Sierra Blanca. Seldom photographed with snow in May. And you can have your photo framed. And brag a little. And, why not?

So . . . get going . . . fast. That snow's not about too last. And there's long green up for grabs.

One last thing. Any questions . . . bug Hyman.

Designed around a "4-story" garden.

This natural-cedar custom home provides separate levels for each of 4 basic family activities. But its most striking feature is a large central atrium — a 22'-11" high year-round garden court which faces the entry-level foyer, but can be seen and enjoyed from every level.

This entry level also includes garage, large game area, storage room and full bath. Four steps up are the dining area, kitchen, laundry and family room. Level 3 is devoted to a formal living room, located in the center of the illustration above; 4 bedrooms and 2 baths occupy the 4th-level quiet zone. Containing more than 3,000 sq. ft., plus garage, this made-to-order plan is a dramatic example of the design flexibility inherent in our pre-cut, engineered homes. MR. AND MRS. GEORGE BURNS celebrate 50th wedding anniversary.

Burns celebrate 50th wedding anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. George Burns, former residents of Ruidoso, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on May 1 at Chimney Rock, Colorado.

They were married May 1, 1926, at Haynesville, La. They moved to Hobbs in June of 1937 where Burns was in the welding business for many years.

They moved to Ruidoso in 1962 and bought the Star Liquor Store. They moved the license to the Old Pack Drug Store building May 1, 1962. The building burned on May 30, 1963, and the store was rebuilt and opened for business in November 1963.

Later the Burns sold their liquor store and are now retired making their summer home at Piedra Store Trailer Park, Chimney Rock, Colorado and their winter home in Apache Junction, Arizona.

George and Frieda have seven children, Virgil of Odessa, Texas, Charles of Arlington, Texas, Jackie of Okland, Oregon, Linda of Slaton, Texas, Mike of Gig Harbor, Washington and Maxine of Henderson, Texas. They have eighteen grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

JANE DEYO prepares one of her quick and easy dishes.

Happenings

by Jerry

Cece and John Sudderth returned recently from Rio de Janeiro where they spent ten days in that beautiful city. They joined nineteen other couples from the Albuquerque Country Club for the trip.

Cece told us that the city is beautiful and the people are nice. The Brazilians seem less excitable than the people in Mexico or Italy, she said.

We asked Cece if there were any bargains there and she laughed and said, "Inflated prices are the world over." An interesting shopping experience while there was to Sterns Bros. Jewelry of Rio and Amsterdam. They send buses to your hotel to take you there and even give a guided tour of the processes involved in the cutting, polishing, etc. of a stone. The least expensive aquamarine ring there was over $900.

Rio is a city of four and one-half million people. There seemed to be no discrimination there among the people, according to Cece.

One exciting experience of the trip was getting to see the Concord twice on the trip. They saw it in Caracas and also saw it land in Rio. After the 23 hour flight back to the states, they all wished they were on the Concord.

John and Cece have traveled extensively and are collectors of keys from the hotel rooms where they have stayed all over the world. They now have over 500 keys in their collection. They have them displayed in their den and many of the keys are most unusual.

Although they both enjoy traveling and have seen much of the world, it is good to be home and as Cece says, there is a lot to be seen right here in the United States. And especially this year — our Bicentennial year!

Hats off to the Ruidoso Hondo Valley Hospital for making my recent stay there a most pleasant one! Having to go to the hospital was always an experience I had dreaded and hated, but the staff of the Ruidoso Hospital has changed my "outlook" by giving me such great services, good food and many "kindnesses" — like back rubs — juice between meals — and all the little things that mean so much and that I never experienced before on hospital visits. So if you have to go — it's nice to know that "our hospital" will make your stay a pleasant one!

Jane Deyo and her husband, Alden, came to Ruidoso about three years ago. They came here on a visit and decided that they would like to live here and build a retirement plan.

Jane had always dreamed of having her own gift shop. They bought an existing candle shop and made it into a gift shop calling it The Aspen Tree.

Jane says she is a New England Yankee and Alden is from New Jersey but they spent most of their married lives in the Southwest. They lived in Dallas, Texas for many years where Alden was City Planning Director. They lived in Lubbock for five years before moving to Ruidoso where Alden was Regional Planning Director.

Now the gift shop and an Amway Distributorship is their joint effort.

They have a married daughter and six month old granddaughter who lived in Madison, Wisconsin, and a son who is a MD in his first year residency in San Antonio, Texas.

Jane stays busy with the shop and teaching piano. She is the organist at the Episcopal Church. She is incoming president of Altrusa Club here and a member of the local chapter of PEO.

For the past 28 years she has been active in girl scouting as a consultant. She lists tennis and golf as her hobbies when she has time for them.

When it comes to cooking, Jane likes quick and easy dishes because of her busy schedule. Here is her recipe for a quick and easy shrimp curry.

Quick Shrimp Curry

- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 1 lbs. margarine
- 1 can cream of shrimp soup
- 1 cup sour cream
- 1 or 2 cups boiled shrimp
- 3 cups rice

Heat soup until smooth, add other ingredients. Serve over a hot bed of rice. Garnish with paprika or parsley. Serve with a fruit salad and poppy seed rolls.

Girl Scouts attend camp

Girl Scout Junior Troop 4 and Cadette Troop 5 attended a Camp Out April 1, May 1 and 2 at Camp Mary White in Cloudercroft.

Cadette Scouts attending were Susan Travis, Ronda Ratcliff, Veronica Montes, Leslie Greggerson, Julie Johnson and Corrine Montes.

The leaders were Jacki Worley, Jerri

Rowden, Cathy Wagenfehr and Charlene Greggerson.

Although threatened by a snow storm, all scouts participated in wide games, flag ceremonies, Scouts own, songs, treasure hunt, cooking and clean-up chores.

The troops announce that their bake sale held April 21 was successful due to the participation of the community. The money made at the sale enabled the girls to go on their Camp Out.

The troops also wish to thank the Woman's Auxiliary of the American Legion for a recent contribution they gave the Ruidoso Girl Scouts.

Woman's club to install officers

Ruidoso Woman's Club will hold their installation of officers on Wednesday, May 12, at the Woman's Clubhouse following a noon luncheon.

Mrs. Paul House, of Albuquerque, immediate past president of the State Federation of Women's Clubs will be the installing officer. Mrs. House will be a house guest of Mrs. J.C. Hughes while in Ruidoso.

Incoming officers to be installed are

Mrs. J.C. Falls, president; Mrs. W. R. Knott, first vice-president; Mrs. J.C. Hughes, second vice-president; Mrs. E.M. Sanders, recording secretary; Mrs. Conrad Keyes, corresponding secretary; Mrs. R. K. Knox, treasurer; Mrs. E.D. Vickers, assistant treasurer; Mrs. Les Crews, parliamentarian; Mrs. Ike Kennedy, historian; Mrs. Dwan Phillips, musician and Mrs. Fred Berger, scrapbook.

SALUTE TO CHAMBER MEMBERS

This is a regular feature in the Monday edition of this newspaper to introduce the members of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce

THE LARGEST RETAIL FOOD chain in the world opened its Ruidoso store and became a Chamber member in June of 1975. Safeway Stores, Inc. boasted sales last year of $9.7 billion dollars, through 2451 stores in the U.S., Canada, England, West Germany and Australia. The local manager, Larry Scarborough, came to Ruidoso with wife and daughter from El Paso.

BRUNELL'S, a family name in Ruidoso since 1946. Founded 30 years ago by Herb Brunell, Sr., the store is now owned and operated by Herb, Jr. Shown with Herb is Marge Garner who has been with Brunell's for 26 of it's 30 years. Herb says they have been a member of the Chamber of Commerce since it was first organized.

DAV Field Unit here Wednesday

A Field Service Unit of the Disabled American Veterans (DAV) will offer free service to veterans and their families Wednesday, from 10 a.m. — 6 p.m., in Gibson's parking lot in Ruidoso.

DAV National Service Officers will be available to assist in filing claims for federal and state benefits, disability compensation, pensions, employment, job training, education, hospitalization and medical care, social security and death claims.

The local DAV Chapter is assisting with arrangements and add that Vietnam Era veterans should take this opportunity to investigate benefits in the areas of education and vocational rehabilitation to which they are entitled.

Widows of veterans are urged to bring any problems they may have for entitlements to the service unit.

Sunspot open for tours

The Sacramento Peak Observatory of the Air Force Geophysics Laboratory, located at Sunspot, N.M., has announced the beginning of its regular summer guided tour program.

Tours are conducted every Saturday at 2 p.m., barring closure of the facility due to forest fire danger. The program will continue under the auspices of the Air Force until July 1, 1976, at which time the facility will be transferred to the National Science Foundation. A new schedule will be announced at that time.

In addition to the guided tour program, visitors may take self-guided tours everyday of the year from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Sacramento Peak Observatory may be reached by turning south on State Highway 24 at Clouderoff. After approximately two miles, turn right onto the paved Sacramento Peak Road, and follow the signs for 18 miles to Sunspot. For further information call (505) 479-6511, Ext. 2311.

EARLY INDEPENDENCE?

During the second week in May two hundred years ago Congress took two steps that might be considered by some as an actual declaration of independence from Great Britain. It was not a formal declaration, but some people at the time felt that it amounted to the same thing. For months the steps toward independence had been following one another in quick succession. A major leader in the movement was John Adams, now fully committed to an independent course. Gradually, individual colonies had moved closer to self government and were openly advocating independence. Adams and other radical leaders in Congress were not content to allow the individual colonies to move at their own pace.

On May 10 Congress adopted a resolution urging that each colony adopt its own local government that would serve its needs. Unspoken but understood was the fact that these governments would be free from British control.

On May 15 a preamble to the resolution was adopted that spelled out that Britain must be superseded by local governments. While the resolution of May 10 had passed with little opposition, such was not the case with the action of May 15.

Many of the opponents felt that it was really a declaration of independence. John Adams agreed, but with much pleasure. He wrote to James Warren: "This Day the Congress had passed the most important Resolution that was ever taken in America."

Therefore, for some the extreme step had been taken. They now believed that a reconciliation could never be accomplished. For many, such as Adams, this was a move they had been waiting for; for others it was a very unhappy event.

Even so, there was sentiment for a formal action and document. Referring to the May actions Adams said, "I thought it was independence itself, but we must have it with more formality yet." Thus, the stage was set for a formal vote and formal document.

Meanwhile, in Spanish New Mexico, the people were more concerned about less exciting, but just as vital, issues. For example, there was the recurring problem of the attention given to New Mexico by the home government. Residents often believed that they were forgotten or ignored except when the government took strong measures to enforce its policies. If the residents felt they were mistreated they avoid the regular as best they could. Although they were not as vocal nor as organized, the Spanish New Mexicans sometimes found themselves faced by the same dilemma as their American counterparts. /Donald W. Whisenand, history professor, Eastern New Mexico University.

The Dreamer

BY DANNIE STORM

George, The Barber
Last Friday I was in George Romero's Barber Shop getting a hair cut. I have known George and his family all his life. They are a fine family. And I was glad when George set up his barber shop in Ruidoso Downs because that way I would get to talk with him while getting my hair cut.

Also, like many of George's countless friends, I used to go by the barber shop just to visit. A barber shop is a traditional American institution, like the Village General Store, The Village Post Office, the Courthouse and other centers where folks gather to hear the news, talk things over and find out who needs help and so on.

George and I talked and joked in Spanish a while and then in English. He always bragged on my Spanish in the gracious way with people of Spanish blood.

As I left to go, I thought to myself, next time in my Silver Lining or The Dreamer I am going to write a little sketch entitled "George, The Barber". I would tell how all of us are cheered and uplifted when we visit George's Barber Shop, how we exchange ideas and learn the news, tell stories of the old days and have many a laugh a smile, maybe even a song.

Monday, May 10, 1976

I was going to bring in Bob Hollis, a barber friend of many years in Ruidoso. For Bob is a friendly and helpful fellow; and you leave his shop with your step and your heart much lighter. I was going to make mention of Bob in telling about George, and then later come back and have a sketch on Bob.

Something told me that I should do this soon — this sketch of George — and not wait. I would have a little talk with him and go back a ways through the years. I remembered I had almost named The Silver Lining "Flowers to the Living." The thought came to me that I should follow the advice of brothers Mark and Lynn and bring you more sketches about people.

The Telephone Rings
Monday night the telephone rang and Pappy Johnson gave me the news that the kind and happy spirit of a young friend I have known since he was an infant had flown to the arms of Our Lord who had called George to Heaven.

This message is being written on Wednesday May 5. It has been raining all day, and Shady and I have been in doors by the fire most of the time. It is late evening now, and the rain has ceased. I look up the vale towards George's Barber Shop. The silver lining is shining through the evening clouds. I think of George's great wealth of loved ones and friends. And these loved ones and friends may take comfort in knowing they were fondly appreciated by George for the happiness and cheer they have always given him. Our friendship for George will continue on, unbroken.

And we know that George wants us to have faith remembering that he is safe and happy in that joyful and blessed place where he will live forever, together with Our Lord.

Senior free phone line is operational

The Commission on Aging toll free line: 1-800-432-6217 has served nearly 200 persons since services began Mar. 15.

Information and help has been made available to the aging on nursing and boarding homes, employment, nutrition and senior citizens activities.

Persons 60 and over, in need of help or information, may call free of charge from anywhere in New Mexico between 8 a.m. - 5 p.m., Mondays through Fridays.

State's hunting, fishing license reasonable

New Mexico's hunting and fishing license fees are considerably below the average charged by the other ten Western states, a study of the N.M. Game and Fish Department has shown.

"When we compared our license fees for the most popular species with those charged by other states," said Department Director William S. Huey, "we found that a resident hunter and angler pays 58 per cent of the norm paid by his counterparts in other states, and nonresidents pay 55 per cent of the average."

Fees for hunting elk and antelope are also higher, on the average, in other states, both for residents and nonresidents, Huey said.

A resident general hunting and fishing license with trout stamp costs $15.75 in New Mexico, including vendor fees which are not income to the department. The average paid by other Western state residents for the same privileges that the license accords is $27.

In addition to fishing for trout, salmon and humpback warm-water fish, the holder of a general hunting and fishing license, with trout stamp can hunt deer, bear and squirrel, and birds including turkey, grouse, dove, quail, band-tailed pigeons, pheasants, prairie chickens and sandhill cranes.

With the addition of a federal waterfowl stamp, which is a $5 fee charged in all states, he can also hunt ducks, geese, mergansers, teal, coots, and gallinules.

The fees charged for the same hunting and fishing privileges, not including the federal stamp, vary from $18 in Arizona up to $33 in Wyoming, $36 in Utah and $38 in Colorado.

"One of the more striking differences in license structures is that most states do not include bear and turkey in their big game license," Huey said. "About a half-dozen states require a basic hunting license, usually for small game and birds, be purchased, then stamps or permits for big game such as deer, bear, turkey, elk or antelope are added on separately."

The average costs for a resident elk license in the other states is $21.25, ranging from a lot of $9 in Montana to a high of $35 in California, compared to $15.50 — 73 per cent of the norm — in New Mexico. The average nonresident pays $142.82 in the other states, but $76.50, 53 per cent of the average, in New Mexico, Huey said.

"For antelope, the resident fees range from $6 in Montana, a state with a high antelope population, to $27 in Arizona, and an average of $17.77. Here, it's $10.50, or 59 per cent of the average," Huey said. "A non-resident pays an average $72.00 in other states, $50.50 here — 70 per cent of the average."

For most New Mexico sportsmen, Huey added, the two most popular outdoor activities are deer hunting and trout fishing, which can be had in New Mexico for $15.75, or 87 per cent of the average $18 resident fees in other states. Nonresidents buying season licenses pay $5.19 for the same deer-trout privileges elsewhere, but pay 88 per cent of that, $4.50, in New Mexico.

"Don't smoke. This place might blow up!"

Inside the Capital by Fred Buckles

SANTA FE - Hospital institutions Secretary Dan Croy will recommend reorganization of New Mexico State Hospital at Las Vegas to the big agency's board here Friday.

Dr. Croy says: "Wards and buildings will be utilized under managers for each program. Managers will be directly responsible to the hospital chief executive officer. We plan to completely utilize NMSH, including the budget. Management will be decentralized somewhat. The purpose is to provide for more accountability."

Resignations of Dr. John McCormack, a psychiatrist, as NMSH chief executive officer and Leonard Nuckolls as administrator will be effective May 14. Dr. McCormack will become director of Vista Santa Hospital, Albuquerque, June 15 after three years at NMSH. Nuckolls, a retired Army officer, will retire from NMSH after 11 years. DHI Deputy Secretary William Anderson, an Apodaca administration appointee, will be acting chief executive officer while a nationwide search for a McCormack replacement is under way.

Dr. Croy, a psychiatrist, says: "We want to get utilization firmly established before we bring someone in." He met with Sen. Ray Leger, D-Las Vegas; Reps. Sam Vigil, D-Las Vegas, and David Salzman, D-Buena Vista, and President John Aragon of New Mexico Highlands University on NMSH problems. Dr. Croy says: "There will be absolutely, both within the hospital staff and the Las Vegas community, no politics of any kind played in that hospital." NMSH with 600 to 650 patients has been a political football in some past administrations.

Sen. Leger and San Miguel County Democratic Chairman Donald (Tiny) Martinez have expressed strong dissatisfaction with NMSH. Dr. Croy says: "As far as I'm concerned, the only politician in the state is Gov. Apodaca."

The state will pay $300,576 annual rent for Santa Fe's Crown Building that was sold last Friday by First Northern Savings and Loan Association of Santa Fe to Shannon Corp. of Los Alamos.

The family corporation dealing in industrial, commercial and rental apartment properties. C DeBaca also is president of Central Beverages Inc. which operates a Los Alamos package liquor store. C DeBaca said the price paid for the Crown Building "is confidential." The state will pay $5.05 a square foot a year on a 3-year lease. Four Health-Social Services Department units will occupy nearly all of the 60,000 square feet: The Environmental Improvement Agency; health agency, quality control division and child support unit.

A bill by Rep. Julian Grace, D-Santa Fe, for state purchase of the building failed in the 1975 Legislature.

New Mexico Regan headquarters claimed Ronald Reagan had won 295 delegates to the state GOP convention until Tuesday. Gerald Ford counted 110 and six were undecided. Regan coordinator Ernie Leger predicted Reagan will carry the New Mexico state convention 5-3 over Ford June 26, about 6000 delegates to 300. The state convention will have 803 delegates. It will pick a 21-vote Kansas City delegation in this order: Four men four women at large; seven others at large; three from each U.S. House district.

Leger predicted Reagan will score heavily Saturday at county conventions with these state parley votes: Chaves, 49; San Juan, 42; and Lea, 33. Ernie Leger of the GOP is Sen. Ray Leger's brother. Ex-Rep. Don King's door-to-door campaign for the Democratic nomination in Senate District 25 (Santa Fe-Torrance) is a king family effort against incumbent Consuelo Kitzas Burrell, D-Santa Fe. Brother Bruce, who was governor in 1971-74, and nephew David accompany Don on neighborhood tours. David was Bruce's state planning officer. Don was bounced in the 1974 Democratic primary after only one House term. The heated campaign is a test of King family comeback ability. It may also be a 1976 governor warmup for Bruce.

Ironically, Sen. Burrell was a Bruce King Santa Fe County leader in the 1970 governor campaign. Bruce swept the county.

Wealthy escape income tax

Two segments of our population — the poor and the rich — pay no federal income tax. The poor can't. The rich could.

The Internal Revenue Service announced that 244 Americans with $200,000 or more in adjusted gross income paid no federal income tax for 1974. Five of the 244 were millionaires.

In an magnanimous gesture, IRS has said they'll review those 244 returns to determine if an audit is indicated.

Balderdash! The odds against one of those 244 attempting hanky-panky on their returns, with the legal methods available to escape tax payment, is so remote as to be laughable.

Why is the IRS making like they want to save face? Say that these free-riding 244 paid federal income tax at the same percentage as a working couple, without dependents, earning a combined income of $18,000. The national coffers probably wouldn't swell by enough to pick up the tab for Dr. Henry Kissinger's junkets for three months.

The only body that can arrange for these 244 non-taxpayers to contribute their share toward the cost of government that makes their tax-free way of life possible is the Congress, who knows "fat cats" are no more.

The taxpayer who is forced to live with withholding supports the government. And as little as the total from the 244 would amount to, the tax-withheld taxpayer might feel a little better if he knew that everyone with an adjusted gross income of $200,000 or more had to pay, say, 15 per cent on that gross. For the simple reason that it'd hurt. And the little guy'd feel better, knowing that the wealthy were feeling the pinch — even though it'd be barely more than an annoyance. —CD

Stuph & Junk

... by Cale Dickey

SADDLE PRIZES

The running of the eighth annual Pony Express Race from White Oaks to Lincoln ... a rugged 40 mile junket through mountainous terrain ... Aug. 7, brings to mind the beautiful saddles that have been presented to the winners.

These saddles cost a bundle and are obviously worth the risk to the horse ... not to mention the rider.

Seems there's some misunderstanding as to who has been picking up the tab for these saddles ... and some clarification is in order.

The Lincoln County Development Association provided them for the first two races.

Mrs. Dessie Sawyer was the donor for the next three events.

For the sixth race, no donor stepped forward. The committee was in a quandry. Seems they have no funds. Word of their plight leaked out ... leaked out? ... phooey ... more than likely it was shouted from the roof of the courthouse more or less made famous by Billy The Kid in his escape. Anyhow ... wouldn't you know ... in answer to the clarion call ... with the high-pitched appeal of those appealing approaching the intensity of a trumpet's blast ... "Anonymous" did step forth ... and said anonymous did provide a saddle for the sixth and seventh race ... and that's how it is.

And Stuph & Junk's "Dirty Sox Award" ... for good guys, only ... is hereupon bestowed upon good of anonymous. You just can't hardly beat community spirit like that ... and anonymous isn't about to take any bows.

Don't fret about anonymous ... anonymous gets the job done ... steps into the breach ... and all such things ... without the least desire for recognition ... and you just have to know that anonymous feels good about making possible those beautiful saddles for the riders that are continuing to keep "Old Lincoln" alive and functioning as a western-flavor town.

TRUE BLUE HEADLINE

Ocasionaly a newspaper headline writer comes up with a jewel that should, but doesn't, win a Pulitzer Prize.

Thursday's issue of The El Paso Times is the most recent example of pure genius ... not to mention professional serendipity (which breaks down to mean 'Chick Sale' luck) ... that's rolled off the presses in some time. This absolutely beautiful headline ... and large ... across the top of page one read: "Ford Looking For Better Idea" ... and in view of the shellacking his ribs has been receiving from Reagan in recent primaries ... those five words say it all.

REAGAN'S TRUISM

Remember that college joker that pointed a water pistol at Ronald Reagan in Florida? His name's of no importance. The pistol pointer's act is.

Seems Reagan came a cropper of a slip of tongue, in answer to a query regarding his feelings on limiting U.S. presidents to a single term ... "There has been some talk about a single six-year sentence ... and the ensuing laughter from his audience gave him time to come up with the easier-outer: "You can see that I don't have any illusions about the job."

That one word — "sentence" — is no joke. And as long as there are crackpots rambling around the country ... they'll make "sentence" have real meaning for our presidents.

There is apparently no means of protecting a president ... or presidential candidates ... from an assassin's bullet, knife, bomb ... whatever.

Maybe all incumbents and candidates for the world's most influential office will be forced to live as though they were incarcerated ... and wouldn't that make mockery of ... "The land of the free."

My Side of the Mountain by Randi McGinn

MOVIE THEATER

If Ruidoso wants it the area may soon have its own walk-in movie theater.

That's the word from Ruidosoan Bill Randolph who is considering construction of a theater here, if interest warrants it.

Randolph already has the equipment lined up for the theater and is currently negotiating on a site. After the project goes to bid, Randolph hopes to begin construction immediately and try to open for business before the end of the summer.

"This is quite an investment and I'd like to be sure the community is in favor of a theater before I go ahead with it," said Randolph, who is requesting feedback and ideas from the general public.

Ruidoso hasn't had a walk-in theater since the 1940's, when the small show closed because lack of customers. Open on summer weekends, the small population of Ruidoso at that time just couldn't generate enough business to maintain a theater.

Needless to say, the area has grown considerably since that time. With its expansion the cries for a theater have also markedly increased ... Oh, to be able to hold your date's hand over a theater seat rather than a stick shift ... to have something to do at night besides cruise Sudderth and talk on the CB ... to be able to know what Robert Redford looks like without a windshield wiper or rear view mirror across his face.

The opportunity for a theater here has been offered ... all Ruidoso has to do is accept by letting Randolph know of its support.

The prospective theater builder can be reached at 257-2062 or by writing Box 3477, Hollywood Station, Ruidoso, N.M. 88345.

SWINGING RACQUET

Tennis bums unite! Under the auspices of the newly formed Ruidoso Tennis Association, local tennis players are finally getting it together with the area's fastest growing industry.

In an area where 80% of the tennis courts are owned by private individuals, condominiums or clubs, the RTA gives the average citizen an inexpensive, organized way to get involved with tennis.

Offering its members an intra-association ladder, league play and numerous tournaments and social activities, the RTA will hopefully bring together all levels of players and provide a way to get a court and a partner to play with year round.

With the two public courts near the swimming pool reserved from 5-9 p.m., Monday-Thursday, the RTA will mean a way for tennis players to be guaranteed a court at least once a week after the summer rush hits and the courts are swamped.

Until the Village of Ruidoso can come up with enough money to build an adequate number of courts for the many non-club members, non-condominium owners in the area, the RTA provides the best solution possible for the local resident or visitors who wants to get on a court.

FINANCING LOBBYISTS?

When adopted the proposal for federal financing of presidential campaigns through an income tax return checkoff was hailed as progressive legislation that would help prevent large contributors to such campaigns from controlling the candidates.

Through the plan, if the taxpayer approved and so indicated on his income tax return, one dollar would be placed in a fund which would be doled out to candidates periodically throughout the campaign.

Ideally, this would allow underfinanced candidates to present their views and perhaps even win the nomination.

But there is going to have to be some changes made if the plan is to serve its purpose. There must be some method of giving federal money to legitimate candidates only.

An example is the candidacy of Ellen McCormack who describes herself as a right-to-life candidate for the Democratic nomination. Her only platform and reason for running is to present her anti-abortion arguments.

These views she is entitled to, and should be allowed to express them, but we don't think the federal government should finance her campaign to expound them. She is not a serious presidential candidate and does not discuss or present a broad range of views on the variety of issues and problems we expect presidential candidates to discuss.

She is a lobbyist against abortion and the anti-abortion people should finance any campaign she launches. But the federal government has given her at least $100,000 so far and she may be eligible for more money.

Single issue candidates are not serious candidates and should not be qualified to receive tax dollars to conduct their lobbying. Some changes in the law are necessary immediately. — The Rio Grande Sun, Española

Reading is 'fun' at White Mountain

Reading "just for fun" is an added attraction for the students at White Mountain School. The extracurricular activity started as a learning center fun time last year and was continued into the first grade during the current school year. The program proved to be so successful that Principal Mike Gladden appointed a committee of teachers to collect books for each room of the White Mountain School. Now everyone (janitors, teachers, aides and kids) reads the books of their choice during this FREE reading time.

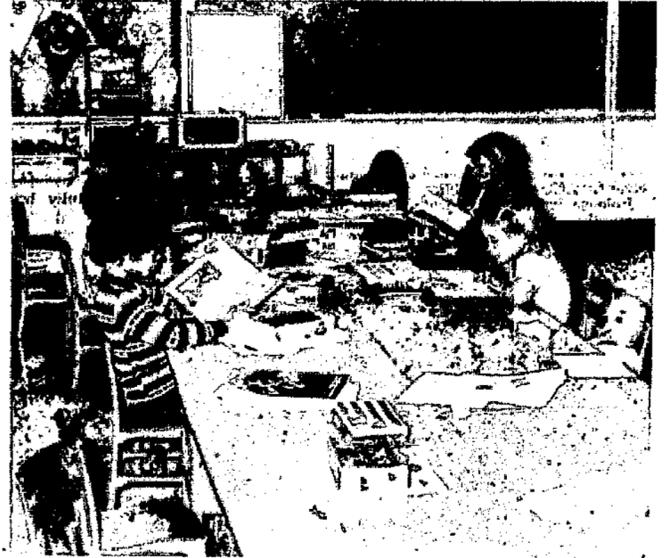

Teachers report the kids seem to enjoy this reading so much that they are usually reluctant to have the period end. Through observation, it is important for kids to see adults reading and enjoying books "just for fun" and with the program as set up, the children are learning to read for pure enjoyment rather than assignment. They are not required to report or answer any questions on what they read but may, if they desire relate the story to the class.

'Lamanite Generation' show at Mescalero

Romero benefit dance tonight

A special benefit dance for the family of George W. Romero, 16 year Ruidoso Downs resident, will be held tonight at the Chaparral Convention Center from 9 p.m. until 1:30 a.m. Romero died May 3 in an El Paso hospital after a respiratory arrest. He had worked as a barber at the Chaparral. Music for the benefit will be provided by the Martin Music Co. No fee will be taken at the door, but contributions will be accepted and the Chaparral will donate refreshment profits from during the dance to the Romero family.

The dance is part of a fund drive underway since last Tuesday. Contributions to the effort may be made at the registration desk of the Chaparral or with Maxina Richardson at the Ponderosa Mobile Home Court in Ruidoso Downs. The family requests checks be made payable to Delma Romero.

The "Lamanite Generation," a song and dance troupe of Brigham Young University Indians backed by a smattering of Polynesian and Mexican-American talent, will appear at the Mescalero Community Center May 15 at 7:30 p.m.

Drawing on top Indian talent from over 600 BYU Indian students representing over sixty tribes, the student group will present a program of contemporary music and dance intermixed with traditional Indian, Polynesian and Mexican numbers.

The show will include pop songs like "You Gave Me a Mountain" and "Cherokee Nation" as well as selections of contemporary Indian numbers written by BYU Indian students such as "I Walk in Beauty," "Desert Flower," and "Go, My Son."

It also features humorous novelty numbers including a spoof on Indians and Cowboys, where the Indians finally win and highlights "Big Al" Armenta, a Mexican-American student, singing a medley of sunshine songs to an affectionate donkey.

Since its inception in 1971, the "Lamanite Generation" has performed in thirteen separate tours to a combined live audience of over 230,000 people in 206 different shows. The national and international television audience viewing the group is estimated at over 100,000,000 for the same time period.

Tricentennial Century

The Case For Future Hope
Though these columns have to dwell on the coming tribulations of the human race, I try to close each one on some optimistic note. Since a few readers have questioned these bits of cheer, I want to explore the basis for hope.

True enough, we must prepare ourselves to face manifold disaster. Nuclear weapons will no doubt be used again. The population explosion seems sure to end in world-wide famine. Our most precious personal freedoms will probably be savagely curtailed.

But, except for the rare happy instants of history, war and oppression and catastrophe have been the normal condition of man. As a species, we seem to thrive on trouble. Our greatest danger, it seems to me, is the loss of our hope we need to keep us going. Our current crisis of faith in ourselves and our future could be fatal in itself.

Apparent causes for our loss of nerve lie all around us. Abroad, there is our failure in Vietnam. Nationally, there is Watergate. In every city, there is too much inflation, too much pollution, too much crime. Even more alarming, at least to me, is the spreading fear of our own technology, most recently manifest in the campaign to outlaw nuclear power.

Science fiction, I suspect, is at least partly to blame for this growing fear of science. Fear of knowledge has haunted modern literature, since Jonathan Swift wrote "Gulliver's Travels" to ridicule our pride in human reason. This pessimism has reached a peak in all the current fiction in which scientific progress leads only to some hideous end of the world.

Optimists, of course, write fiction too. Such able men as Arthur C. Clarke and Isaac Asimov and Robert Heinlein have written fine novels in which machines truly serve their makers, in which we survive and even thrive. Too often, however, such books are lost in the clouds of gloom.

There is a purely accidental bias in favor of literary pessimism that I first noticed when I set out to write an optimistic answer to Aldous Huxley's "Brave New World." My own book is "Bright New Universe." I wanted to show new technologies making a better world, but I had to have dramatic conflict. Without some sort of struggle, a story lies down to die. In search of drama, I invented the Monk family, people who like our world the way it is because they own it. The Monks in the story became so powerful that they reversed the theme I planned. The finished story seems to say that real progress is impossible, without some unlikely invention from outside the Earth.

In real life, I think we ought to give the optimists a chance. We are dealing, after all, with self-propelled predictions. We ought to keep in mind that expectations of disaster can cause disaster. In cold fact, most of our problems are in our own control because we ourselves have created them. So long as we wallow in imaginary terrors, there is danger that actual terror may overtake us. But we are not yet lost. Hopeful predictions about our tricentennial century will tend to fulfill themselves. /Dr. Jack Williamson, English professor, Eastern New Mexico University.

your national parks

Right Around Home

BEN MOFFETT

If you are planning a vacation Right Around Home, write the National Park Service, P.O. Box 126, Room S-7, Santa Fe, N.M. 87501, for a trip planning guide to those parks within an easy drive of your home.

Every day is a great day for a hike at Carlsbad Caverns National Park.

Let the temperature climb above 90 degrees under a hot summer sun. Or plunge below freezing on a windy, winter day. You can always take a three-mile stroll at Carlsbad Caverns protected from sunstroke, frostbite or windburn.

This is an underground hike, of course, but somehow, after you've walked for awhile you don't feel like you're underground—especially when the Cavern opens up into a room that is big enough to set the Houston Astrodome in.

The cavern is naturally air conditioned at 58 degrees, which might make for a cool day at the beach, but it's perfect for walking if you're wearing a light sweater.

The complete walk-in trip begins at the Cavern's natural entrance near the visitor center and usually takes two and a half to three hours. But if you'd like, you can linger here, admiring the delicate formations, until the departure of the last elevator. Everyone must depart by elevator.

The visitor center is located seven miles west of Highway 82-100 at the end of State Route 7, 27 miles southwest of Carlsbad, N.M. and 150 miles east of El Paso, Tex.

The park is a Designated Fee Area and the visitor center is the place to pay the daily entrance fee of $3 for private non-commercial vehicles or $1 per person for those arriving by commercial carrier. Golden Eagle and Golden Age passports are honored.

Start your walk-in trip anytime between 8 a.m. and 3:15 p.m. daily during the winter and for a longer period during the summer, depending on the availability of staffing. And if you don't think you can handle the walk-in, go down in the elevator for the Big Room tour.

The first mile and a half of the walk-in features an 850 foot descent, then an 80 foot ascent known as Appetite Hill before reaching the Underground Lunchroom where the elevators are located.

The second part of the trip starts at the lunchroom and is a relatively easy, level walk of a mile and a quarter around the Big Room.

Be sure to bring low-heeled, rubber-soled shoes for the climbing and don't forget your camera. Photography, including use of flash and time exposures, is permitted.

In the caverns, which is part of one of the largest underground cave systems in the world, there are dozens of mind-boggling formations with such names as Hall of Giants, Queen's Chamber, King's Palace, Frozen Waterfall and Bashful Elephant, that you will enjoy.

As you enter, you'll be given a radio receiver and along the way, you can pick up messages that tell you about the features you are near.

You may set the receiver on any of three channels—one in English, one in Spanish and one especially designed for children.

There are rangers stationed strategically along the trail to answer questions or to help you in any way.

While the main cavern is the principal attraction of this national park, it's not the only one. There's plenty more, including spectacular bat flights and backcountry beauty which we'll investigate in another article.

To The Voters Of Lincoln County:

Too often the courts of this county have favored law violators to the detriment of the general public.

This attitude has served to undermine the fundamental principles of government.

I believe in the strict punishment of those who decide to violate the laws governing society.

In some cases it is necessary to temper this action with compassion in order to maintain our standards of justice for all.

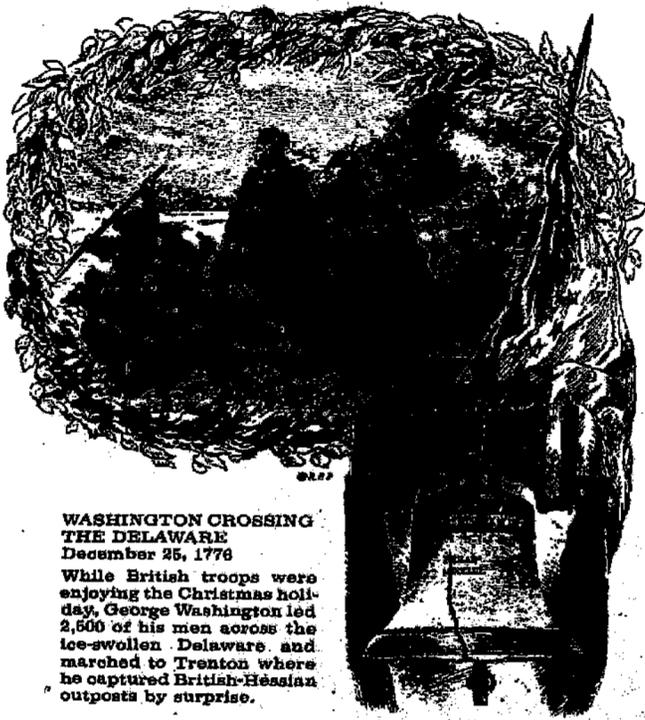

With my broad experience in business plus a thorough understanding of the problems of Lincoln County, both urban and rural, I am conscious of the importance of ranching, farming and catering to tourists.

With this in mind, I have dedicated myself to serving the public in the capacity to which I was appointed and I trust you will see fit to elect me to a two year term as your Magistrate.

Sincerely Yours,
W. A. (Bill) Hart

Presiding Magistrate Judge seeking election to Division III, Ruidoso.

The Story of America

WASHINGTON CROSSING THE DELAWARE
December 25, 1776

While British troops were enjoying the Christmas holiday, George Washington led 2,500 of his men across the ice-swollen Delaware and marched to Trenton where he captured British-Hessian outposts by surprise.

NEVER again need you or your family be devastated by the cost of an emergency. Because you can begin today to build a savings reserve that grows with your regular deposits and with our high compounded interest. You... and your money... will be safe with us.

Three Lincoln County 4-H Members attended the state-wide 13-14 Year Olds Conference sponsored by the State 4-H Council. The theme of the conference was "4-H - Your Tomorrow." Sandra Morales, Mona Payne and Philip Payne attended the conference held April 30, May 1 & 2, 1976 at the University of Albuquerque campus.

Charles Horn, State 4-H Council President welcomed all of the 48 delegates on Friday evening. The young teens attended a skating party Friday night.

On Saturday the delegates attended the following workshops:

"Mounting a Picture" - Demonstration by David Corgan. Introduction given by Susan Head, Grant County.

"Creating Fm For All" - Keith Austin

"Are Your A Leader?" - Elizabeth Coalman

"Reach Out - It's For You" - Tom Paterson

On Saturday afternoon the delegates took a ride on the Sandia Peak Aerial Tramway. Saturday night was highlighted by game-time and presentation on "What is State 4-H Council". This was followed by a dance.

After an evaluation session, goodbye's were said on Sunday morning. These teens will be giving leadership to several projects in Lincoln County during the coming year.

LEGAL NOTICE

HOUSING ASSISTANCE PAYMENTS PROGRAM NOW AVAILABLE FOR RENTAL UNITS RETURNERS - Are you having trouble paying rent? You may be eligible for Housing Assistance Payments.
LANDLORDS - Do you have vacant units or tenants or Applicants unable to pay your rents? You may be interested in this program.

The Council Housing Authority of Region VI is administering a new program. The Housing Assistance Payments Program is provided by Section 8 of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974. This program is available to low income families and elderly, disabled, handicapped and displaced tenants. The Regional Housing Authority is responsible for providing financial and other assistance in securing, locating, and securing housing. The amount of financial assistance is based on the annual family income.

Families who are now living in federally subsidized housing or on waiting lists for such housing may apply for Housing Assistance without losing their place on the such waiting lists.

The Landlord (owner) is to provide needed, safe and sanitary housing at a reasonable rent. The dwelling unit must meet the housing quality standards and must be maintained to these standards. The rental unit would also include a range and refrigerator.

The Regional Housing Authority will submit a check of the funds and issue that a receipt. The receipt must be submitted to the Regional Housing Authority. For further information call 287-2821.
