

Physician's seminar opens Monday at Inn

Some 200 physicians are expected to attend the 19th Annual New Mexico American Academy of Family Practice Seminar July 19-22 at the Inn of the Mountain Gods, according to outgoing New Mexico Chapter AAFP president, Dr. Edward V. Stalzer.

"The anticipated attendance this year is almost double that of last year," Stalzer said. "We have a very effective and efficient team from the University of Arizona College of Medicine presenting the program. For the first time in the 19 years Ruidoso has hosted this seminar, we will be having evening workshops to study what confronts us, as doctors, every day in our offices."

Doctors from New Mexico, Colorado, Arizona, Texas, Canada and abroad have registered for this seminar, Stalzer said.

"The seminar is an approved course for prescribed credit and, in New Mexico, it is also a prescribed course required by the Board of Medical Examiners for physicians to recertify their state licenses," Stalzer said.

Dr. Nelson A. Smith, Alamogordo, has been named president of the New Mexico Chapter of AAFP and his president-elect will be named July 21. Smith served with Stalzer as president-elect for the past year.

DR. E. V. STALZER

In addition to the four-day scientific program, social activities and tours have been planned for the members and their families.

County okays continuing tax

The Lincoln County Commissioners Tuesday voted unanimously, upon the recommendation of treasurer Veta Allen, to continue present minimum penalties imposed on payment of delinquent taxes.

State law permits a penalty of one per cent of the delinquent taxes for each month, or portion of a month, they remain unpaid, with the total penalty not to exceed five per cent of the delinquent taxes.

The commission approved the penalty act of 1975 providing for a minimum penalty of $5 for delinquent taxes, even though the $5 exceeds five per cent of the delinquent taxes.

The commission also instructed Allen to keep the public informed of this penalty for delinquent tax payments through regularly published notices in Lincoln County newspapers.

Treasurer Allen advised the commission that revenues at the end of the 1975-76 fiscal year, June 30, were $97,796.22 above the approved budget.

In accepting the treasurer's report, the commission noted that the Farm and Range Fund, for predatory animal control, is $4,476.48 under the budgeted $24,900, as receipts only total $20,423.52. The commission will ask state officials to meet with them July 27 to discuss the budgeting problem.

In the matter of Tort Claims Insurance, bids were erroneously opened at the June 29 meeting. Bids were to have been opened at Tuesday's regular meeting. The commissioners, due to possible advance knowledge of a bid opened June 29 that might have influenced bids received for opening Tuesday, voted to reject all bids and readvertise for Tort Claims Insurance bids, with all bidders to be advised of the reason for readvertising.

In other business, the commissioners: - Accepted, to take under advisement, bids opened Tuesday for the Solar Collector to power the county's radio communications system. Bids were received from Southwest Communications, Roswell, $9,405; Sigma Energy Products, Albuquerque, $6,900 and Southwest C & E, Ruidoso, $9,875.

- Approved a highway right of way abandonment request by Tinnie Mercantile Co., on a segment of road near the Coe Ranch that was previously declared land surplus and abandoned by the NM State Highway Department. This action merely opens this section of road for private use and releases the county of responsibility in case of accident.

- Set July 27 as the date to receive a Bicentennial plaque from the county Bicentennial Commission.

- Granted J. J. Di Paolo of Ruidoso Downs permission to make a change in the road on 40 acres purchased by Di Paolo five miles south of Capitan. The permission calls for 50 feet of right of way from Di Paolo and 26 feet of right of way from adjacent property owners for road relocation.

- Accepted an insurance appraisal on the cab of a county truck that was damaged in a mishap of yet to be determined cause, in which the vehicle rolled down an embankment and sustained $4,800 in damages. The county has the option of making the repairs in the county shop. There were no injuries to county personnel in the accident.

- Approved the hiring of John Militzer and Michael Farley, both residents of Otero County, as deputy patrolmen for the Village of Carrizozo under CETA funding. The commission restricted their action, in hiring non-county residents under the CETA program, to this one instance in Carrizozo.

- Were advised by Guy Henley, county road superintendent, that weekly safety instruction courses are now being held for road crews.

- Approved the request of Sun Valley Sanitation District to continue the district's present 18 mill tax levy.

School awards milk contract

The Ruidoso Board of Education awarded the milk contract for the 1976-77 school year to Clardy Dairy Company at their regular meeting Tuesday night. Bids were also received from City Dairy, 1975-76 supplier, and Price's Dairy.

The Clardy bid was 0.096c per half-pint of white milk and 0.106c per half-pint of chocolate milk. City Dairy bid 0.1025c for white and 0.110c for chocolate. Price's Dairy bid was 0.105c for white and 0.113c for chocolate.

The board approved payments to the contractor on the new schools additions upon receipt of certificate of payment by the architect. The first payment of $139,050 was approved.

Maude Crockett was hired as diagnostician for the coming school year, and Janice Eldridge was hired as typist diagnostician. Crockett will be shared by other schools in the district and will spend four-tenths of her time in the Ruidoso system. Both she and Eldridge will have their offices in Capitan.

The board approved the issuance of a call for bids on three copying machines.

Adjournment came after a 25 minute meeting. Board members present were Dr. Howard Tate, Bones Wright and Stormy Edwards and Superintendent Pat Valliant.

Downs trustees fill vacancies

The Ruidoso Downs trustees Monday approved appointments to village positions vacated by recent resignations, including:

Jack Whorton, Alamogordo, village attorney;
Virginia Spall as clerk-treasurer;
Louise Meyers, assistant clerk; and Trustee Albert Richardson as mayor pro tem.

Still to be filled are one vacancy on the village council and one on the Planning and Zoning Commission.

In other business the trustees:
- Voted to take legal action against any business now operating without a current occupational license.

- Tabled consideration of building permit fees.

- Received a report on the Regional Wastewater Project from trustee Don Clark.

- Approved all occupational license applications submitted.

- Expressed official appreciation to Police Chief Lynn Martin and police personnel for their peace keeping efforts during the current racing season.

- Set the next regular meeting for July 26 at 7:30 p.m.

CABLEVISION GRANTED CHANGE IN OWNERSHIP

Ruidoso trustees adopt gross receipts sales tax

The Ruidoso trustees Tuesday, with one abstention, approved the adoption of Ordinance 78-6 to impose the one-fourth of one per cent gross receipts tax on village sales effective Jan. 1, 1977.

The trustees will, as soon as possible, put the question of adding an additional 1/4% tax, putting the total at 3/4%, to the voters. The referendum must be approved by the electorate to enable the village to obtain this added revenue.

The council has deferred action on imposition of this tax, authorized in Chapter 16, Special Session, of the Laws of 1975, each time the question has come up.

Trustee Sherman Atwood explained the board's position: "We felt that we're paying all the taxes we could stand and have turned this tax down every six months."

"By passing this ordinance adding the 1/4% tax on sales, then, in the form of subtle coercion from the state, we must vote in an additional 1/4% because monies available to the village can get awfully tight if we don't vote to give us the 1/4%."

"What it amounts to is that we're being pushed into it, because if it is not put on, some agencies have hinted that if the village is in such good financial shape, that we don't need this added tax, we might find it harder to get some badly needed project funding."

"All revenues from this tax," village manager Jim Hine said, "are returned to the village. By not having this tax, the village is losing an estimated $80,000 during the upcoming fiscal year."

Mayor pro-tem Ab Gunter, presiding in the absence of mayor Lloyd Davis Jr., said: "We've lost more than $100,000 in revenues by not enacting the gross receipts tax."

Hine, before the vote, added: "Ruidoso is one of only a handful of municipalities in this area of the state that has not imposed the tax."

"Everyone involved in the collection of this tax will be notified, well in advance of Jan. 1, by the IRS on procedures for collecting."

Atwood introduced the ordinance and moved for final adoption with the second by trustee Don Driver. On the call for vote, trustee George White requested the record to show he "abstained."

The trustees, without dissent, approved a request for change in ownership of Cablevision of Lincoln County, Inc., to Cablevision of Lincoln County, Co., a partnership, following the reading of a letter, signed by company president William L. Schloss, requesting the change.

The letter stated: "Permission is hereby requested to transfer ownership of the Cablevision of Lincoln County, Inc., franchise to operate a cable television system in the Village of Ruidoso to Cablevision of Lincoln County, Co., a partnership."

"The present stockholders of the present corporation wish to continue to operate the cable television business in the form of a partnership instead of a corporation and that is the reason for this request."

"Your consideration and approval of the transfer of our cablevision franchise from the corporation to the new partnership will be appreciated."

Prior to Tuesday's council meeting The Ruidoso News contacted Cablevision manager Carl Kelley seeking clarification of the change in ownership.

Kelley said: "It does not have anything to do with change of ownership—we are changing tax structure due to limited partnership; however, I want nothing in the paper due to slanted articles against us. We have $200 worth of advertising we are putting in the Roswell paper today as we want nothing to do with The News, Mr. Green or his writers."

Kelley's remarks pertained to a report of the June 8 village trustees' meeting in which, as Cablevision manager, he was summoned to appear before the council regarding "not stationing flagmen at hazardous points on Paradise Canyon Road" and to answer TV service subscribers' complaints, registered to the trustees, about "faulty reception, not properly packing ditches, water draining problems and travel inconveniences" resulting from the company's efforts to lay new cable ahead of road improvement work.

Kelley, in explaining the company's hasty work, said: "We could have had 3,000 customers without TV for from two to three months," if Cablevision hadn't installed the new lines as they did.

Following Tuesday's action on the TV ownership change by the board, John Winfield cited "removal of surveyor's stakes and other problems caused by Cablevision's installation work" and asked the trustees if there was a "possibility of the company being liable for this damage," which he pegged "at $50 a lot." Winfield was advised that there "might be legal recourse" in this instance by village attorney John Thompson.

In other action, the trustees:
- Were advised by administrative assistant Frank Potter that negotiations for land to use as an Animal Control Center and for future landfill site are pending and "look favorable" and he expects a solution to be reached "quite soon."

- Approved increasing coverage on Tort Claims Act insurance to the maximum to protect village employees and officials against law suits.

- Were advised that the television inspection of the sewer mains will be completed next week.

- Officially recognized village manager Jim Hine for "service rendered" the village.

- Authorized Boyle Engineering to call for bids, to be opened Aug. 10 at 5 p.m., and to be reviewed by the council at the regular meeting that date, on installing 10-inch water mains in Gavilan Canyon prior to hard surfacing of the road. "There will be 22,000 feet of mains installed," Jerry Campbell of Boyle said, "and the village can save a lot of money if the work is done before the road is blacktopped." Campbell was instructed to divide the bids into (1) labor and services and (2) materials, so that the village might realize a savings in sales tax. The engineer's cost estimate of this project has been pegged at $350,000 plus $14,000 in sales tax.

- Were advised by Boyle that the Comprehensive Plan for Ruidoso will be presented to the trustees at the July 27 meeting, "pending receipt of final figures on money involved and traffic count results."

- Denied a request from village librarian Monese Barron for an additional 40-hour week employee, because there were no provisions in the budget to enable the hiring.

- Directed Atty. Thompson "to see what can be done" to correct an alleged violation of residential restrictions in Town and Country North as reported by John Winfield.

- Directed Hine to advise the Chamber of Commerce, by letter, that future Arts and Crafts Shows are not to be located at School House Park or at any location adjacent to Highway 37, within the village limits, due to the traffic hazard created.

Indian dances set this weekend

The second annual Mescalero-Ruidoso All American Indian Dance Championships open at Mescalero Friday and continue through Sunday, with $10,500 in prize monies in 10 different dance categories.

Contest dancing begins at 1:00 Friday and continues through the afternoon and Saturday and Sunday the dancing will begin at 1:00 and 7:00 p.m. All dancing will be in the new Mescalero arena, with a covered grandstand providing seating for 3,000.

Other attractions include:
- Princess contest Friday with the winner to be the Head Lady Dancer at the Pow-Wow.
- Mescalero Apache Invitational Six Mile Run at 10 a.m., Saturday with three age divisions, 10-20, 21-35 and 36 years and over.
- Gourd dancing in the arena.
- Indian arts and crafts exhibits.

Tribes from across the nation have registered for this championship competition.

Spectators are advised to inquire at the admission gate for restrictions on taking photographs and on recording the singing groups.

Ruidoso Little Leaguers enter district playoff

The Ruidoso Little League All Stars will meet the Artesia nine at 7:30 p.m. July 22 as District Tournament playoff action gets underway at Alamogordo.

The curtain-raiser Thursday will be Lions-Hondo-Roswell meeting the Noon Optimist-Roswell at 5:30.

Friday's action pits Alamo Optimist vs. White Sands at 3:30 p.m., with Lions-Sierra-Roswell meeting East Side Optimist at 5:30 and Carrizozo against Sertoma-Alamogordo at 7:30. Silver City is to meet Hurley Friday, at a time to be announced.

First round byes were issued Dexter-Haggerman and Byard.

Thursday-Friday winners will meet in games Saturday at 3:30, 5:30 and 7:30 p.m.

District finals' playoffs will be Friday and Saturday, July 30 and 31, with the champion to advance to the state tournament.

This is the first year Ruidoso has been sanctioned by the National Little League, thus making the local All-Star team eligible to advance toward the Little League World Series scheduled this year at Williamsport, Pa.

Members of the Ruidoso All-Star team are: Chris Lopez, Kody Taylor, Steve Zimmer, Kenneth Burgess, Kelly Wood, Don Nunley, Billy Woodul, Marcus Salcido, Lionel Gonzales, Mark Mobley, Brian Richardson, Russ Flor, Wade Wilson, Marc Delhotel, Philbert Smith and Mike Dale. Billy Carnes was named as manager with Eddie Espinosa as the coach.

TROPHIES AND AWARDS were presented to Ruidoso Little League sponsors, coaches and teams at a Tuesday banquet at the Elks Club. Dick Mound, Little

Temple, Wayne Wood, Anna Brown, Bobby Dominguez, Eddie Nichols, Billy Carnes, Mike Hardwick and Betty Burgess.

State Fair offers prizes totaling over $1 million

ALBUQUERQUE — More than a million dollars in prize money is being offered to winners of various competitions at the forthcoming 1976 New Mexico State Fair in Albuquerque.

This is the second year in a row that the premium and prize money for the annual exposition has exceeded a million.

This year, the total premium/prize money totals $1,089,631, a nice increase over the $1,011,539 offered last year.

Again this year, the bulk of the prize money will be in the form of racing purses at the track, at $870,300. This compares with $783,200 last year.

Rodeo purse money, too, took a jump to $34,700, from $30,750 in 1975. A total of $184,631 is being offered for the regular fair competitive departments. This includes $159,287 in open departments and $25,374 in junior sections. The total is a decrease from the 1975 total premiums of $197,589, due primarily to the dropping of the open swine competitions.

Open swine was eliminated this year, due to declining interest in the department and lack of entries.

Most of the open departments are about the same as last year, although strong increases are shown in two areas. Indian exhibits have been upped from $2361 to $3292 and the fine arts section has been increased from $7145 to $8795.

Largest premium offering in the open section is for horses at $44,500. Second highest is beef cattle at $33,721, and third highest is dairy cattle at $28,080.

The biggest offering for juniors is dairy cattle at $6592. Second highest is beef cattle at $5802, and third is sheep, $3575.

Other open class premium offerings: milk goats, $2936; sheep, $8328; wool, $665; poultry, $10,600; rabbits, $7500; agricultural products, $3890; women, $2500; county booths, $750; contemporary crafts, $800, and hobbies, $3100.

In the junior departments, the other premium offerings: swine, $2352; poultry and rabbits, $775; agriculture, $275; Boy Scouts, $157; Girl Scouts, $144; FFA farm mechanics, $1950; 4-H, $892; and 4-H and FFA booths, $830.

The 39th New Mexico State Fair — The Biggest Show In New Mexico — will be held in Albuquerque Sept. 15-26, with the pari-mutuel horse racing meet to get underway Sept. 11.

New Mexico State Fair officials have reported that Thursday, Aug. 19, is a key date in the preparation for the 1976 exposition.

Entry Superintendent Joan Hillman noted that Aug. 19 is the deadline for entering all livestock (cattle, horses, sheep, rabbits, goats and chicken) plus wool in competition for this year's fair.

At the same time, she also announced the other entry deadlines for this year's fair.

Aug. 21: international photography salon.
Aug. 27: contemporary crafts.
Aug. 28: all art.

Sept. 4: twirling.
Sept. 5: ladies lead class, sheep shearing.

Sept. 7: amateur photography.
Sept. 11: women's center, chile day activities.

Sept. 12: Indian exhibits, all hobbies.
Sept. 15: queens.
Sept. 16: homemade wine.

Sept. 17: all agriculture, horseshoe pitching.
Sept. 18: junior baking.

Sept. 20: bread.
Sept. 23: cakes.

She said that entry forms and premium lists may be obtained by writing the Entry Department, New Mexico State Fair, P.O. Box 8546, Albuquerque, N.M. 87106, or by stopping in person weekdays at the fair administrative offices in Albuquerque.

The 39th annual New Mexico State Fair — The Biggest Show In New Mexico — will be held in Albuquerque Sept. 15-26, with the pari-mutuel horse racing meet to get underway Sept. 11.

Creley caught

Patrick Creley, 38, who escaped from a Sierra Blanca work detail at Carrizozo July 8 was captured at 8:35 this morning at the upper end of Cedar Creek in Ruidoso.

Camper in the area identified Creley, who had built a fire to dry his clothes, from photographs distributed in a road block to all drivers stopped.

The campers notified the Ruidoso Police Department of Creley's whereabouts this morning by telephone. The local police contacted undersheriff Ralph Romero and Romero was assisted in the arrest by Sgt. Fred Sweeney, Sgt. T. J. McBride, and Patrolmen Ron Heintges and John Layher of the Ruidoso police.

Creley who will be charged with escape from Camp Sierra Blanca, was taken to Lincoln County jail at Carrizozo today to be held for arraignment. It was not announced by officers this morning if additional charges would be filed against Creley.

P & Z to name new commission

The Ruidoso Planning and Zoning Commission will form, following last night's meeting, an "Extraterritorial Commission" to deal with zoning matters within the three mile buffer zone of the Ruidoso village limits.

The six-member commission will consist of three members of the Ruidoso P&Z and three members living outside of the village limits to be appointed by the Lincoln County Commissioners.

The need for the new commission developed following a request for a zoning variance in Fawn Ridge, outside of the village limits. Fawn Ridge is not zoned and is governed by deed restrictions.

Horse sale nets $467,450

Total sales for the fourth annual Select Summer Sale of Thoroughbreds and Quarter Horses at Ruidoso Downs came out to $467,450.

According to Sale Manager Richard Thompson, that was the highest figure in the four-year history of the sale. The two-day vendue wrapped up over the weekend at the All-American Sale Arena on the track grounds.

All together, 162 head passed under the gavel of auctioneers Tom Caldwell and Bill Tackett. The average was $2,885.80. Last year, the gross receipts amounted to $455,850 as 137 head were sold.

The sale topper was Mindi San, a sorrel quarter horse mare consigned by G. B. Howell of Sunland Park, NM. The eight-year-old mare brought $13,500 from Luis Bocaloto of Sao Paulo, Brazil.

The second-high price of $13,000 was paid for Foxy H.K., a thoroughbred filly by the great stakes-winning sire, Colorado King. Foxy H.K. — whose recent six-length win at Ruidoso obviously caught the attention of the buyers — was picked up by Grady Hopper of Dallas. The two-year-old filly was consigned by Sam E. Stevens of Lamesa, Texas.

Samir Jubran of Sao Paulo submitted a winning bid of $13,000 on Scirocco, a two-year-old quarter horse by the famed sire, Rebel Cause. Scirocco was consigned by George Watts of Athens, Texas.

The fourth-high price of $11,500 was paid for Miss Jahn Dial, a quarter horse mare by Johnny Dial. The buyer was Forest Niccum of Chicago, Chris Cox of Austin was the consigner.

Jay Childers of Borger, Texas, paid an even 10 grand for Countess Blade, a juvenile quarter horse filly by Blade out of Cook Countess.

Other highpoints include the $8,900 paid for Lady's Moon, a four-year-old quarter horse, by Fernando Muniz of Brazil; $8,500 paid by Samir Jubran for Top Magic, a quarter horse mare; $8,000 paid for a Truckle Feature colt (out of Top Magic) by Jubran; and $8,000 paid for Trouble's Maid (a quarter horse mare) by Jubran.

An interesting aspect of the sale was the fact four buyers — Muniz, Jubran, J.R. Atalla and Bocaloto — had traveled all the way from Brazil expressly for the Summer Sale. The four accounted for purchases totaling $123,000. They were primarily interested in quarter horse running and breeding stock.

The open session of the sale put 79 head through the ring and brought $220,450. The second session accounted for 83 head and $247,000.

On Sept. 2-5, the All-American Sales Arena will be the site of the All-American Yearling Sale. That's the largest quarter horse sale in the world. Last year's vendue set an industry record as sales totaling $3,618,500 were chalked up.

Basketball camp set here

The Ken Hayes Basketball Camp opens Sunday in Warrior gym, with players between the ages of 10 and 18 registered from throughout the southwest.

Included among Warrior cagers at the camp are Kirk Eubanks, Tim Nelson, Borde Williams, Jeff Elliott and Jeff Wohlgenuth, coach Thurman Sanchez said.

"The camp will teach basic drills and shooting form," Sanchez said, "with teams playing each night through Thursday. We're fortunate to have this camp in Ruidoso and I certainly hope that local cage fans will take in these evening games."

Competitive divisions include players in the seventh grade and under, eighth and ninth graders and the final bracket, 10th through 12th grades.

At the end of the camp a most valuable player and all-star team will be named in each division, with trophies and medals to be presented. Also to be named will be the best rebounder, best defensive player, best ballhandler and best sportsmanship award in each division.

The staff includes Ken Hayes, New Mexico State Aggies coach, Weldon Drew, assistant NMSU coach, Greg Berry, assistant Aggie coach and Bobby "Bingo" Smith, Cleveland Cavaliers star and former college All-American.

House plants can be moved to outdoors

Are you tired of playing nursemaid to your house plants? Does the lure of outdoor gardening have more appeal for you than the care of potted plants indoors? If you are troubled with questions like these, move your house plants outdoors for the summer, says Ricardo E. Gomez, Extension horticulturist at New Mexico State University.

Your potted plants need a vacation in a cool, partially shaded location. Plunge them outdoors in your flower border. Select a location which receives sun for part of the day, and which is not exposed to strong wind.

House plants which are placed outdoors for the summer should have the pot set deep in the ground so the soil covers the rim. Moisture will go through the side of your porous clay pots, Gomez says.

If your plants are in plastic or glazed containers, knock them out before setting in the flower bed. They may be put in new pots with fertile soil next fall.

Check your plants regularly to be sure they are receiving enough moisture. You will need to water them occasionally during dry weather.

Wootton-Underwood Vows

In a June ceremony Camille Wootton became the bride of Richard Underwood in the Cannon Air Force Base Chapel. The bride is the daughter of Col. and Mrs. Louis A. Wootton of San Antonio, Texas, formerly of Clovis. The groom is the son of Mrs. Tola Underwood of Ruidoso.

Chaplain Claude Farris officiated at the double-ring, candlelight ceremony. Blanche Oaks was organist and Neema Morganti and Ann Butler sang the "Hawaiian Wedding Song" at the beginning of the ceremony and the "Wedding Prayer" at the close.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an original gown of imported silk organza trimmed in Venice lace and heavily encrusted with beads on the bodice and chapel length veil. She wore a Juliet cap beaded in the same design as her dress. She carried a cascade of phalaenopsis orchids, English ivy and baby's breath.

In keeping with tradition, the bride wore, for something old, a gold watch belonging to her maternal great-grandmother, Melinda Martin. Something new was her wedding ensemble. Something borrowed was a pair of pearl earrings belonging to Jan Everitt. Something blue was blue hose given her by Mrs. Marvin Parkhurst of San Antonio. For good luck, she carried an old coin given to her by Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Edwards of Farwell, Texas.

Jan Everitt, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor and Theresa Stokes of San Antonio was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Debbie Gutherie and Onnie Rees of San Antonio, Pam Ashcraft of Phoenix, Arizona and Teresa Horton of Clovis. They wore identical gowns of chiffon with caplet sleeves of embroidered Venice lace, high necklines and flowing skirts in shades of lime, lemon and café au lait. The attendants carried matching nosegays of yellow daisies, English ivy and baby's breath with velvet streamers.

Joey McGuire of Ruidoso served as best man. Groomsman were Marshall Warren, Harlan Butts, Mark Garrity, Mel Patton and Frank Everett. Ushers were Louis Wootton Jr., Brett Covington and Kenneth Cooley.

The mother of the bride wore a peach floor-length gown and the groom's mother wore a mint green floor-length gown. Both mothers wore corsages of mixed spring flowers. The groom's grandmother of Ballinger, Texas, wore a turquoise gown and white orchid corsage.

A wedding reception followed the ceremony at the Cannon Air Force Base Officers Club. A champagne buffet supper was served. The bride's table was covered with a handmade floor length silk organza cloth made by the bride's great aunt, Mrs. Alvin George of Portales.

The tiered wedding cake was decorated with fresh spring flowers. The top was adorned with a sterling silver wedding bell engraved with the bride's and groom's initials and wedding date. Music for listening and dancing was provided by the "Continental Trio."

Courtesies extended to the couple prior to the wedding included showers given by the ENMU cheerleaders, Zeta Tau Alpha, Mrs. T. L. Gutherie, Mrs. Thomas Dunlop and Theresa Stokes at the Randolph Officers Club; a bridesmaid luncheon given by Mrs. Rosa Ann Jones at the Gazebo Los Patios, San Antonio; and a miscellaneous shower given in the home of Mrs. Roy Whitmore with Mrs. Jake Moberly, Mrs. Jim Horton, Mrs. Cleveland McKinney, Mrs. Shelby Jersig and Mrs. Hugh Edwards as hostesses.

A rehearsal dinner was prepared by aunts of the bridegroom, Mrs. Wayne Smith of Portales, Mrs. Bill Snyder of Clovis and Mrs. Underwood.

A patio buffet to entertain out of town guests and friends was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Eagling and hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Foy Wicker, Mr. and Mrs. Shelby Jersig and Kenneth Cooley.

Sue Kelley - Paul Anthony Vigil Jr.

Sue Kelley of Ruidoso became the bride of Paul Anthony Vigil Jr. of Las Cruces at 2:00 p.m. Saturday, June 26, in Las Cruces.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Mary Dell Kelley of Ruidoso. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. John Cemmelch of Hoquiam, Washington.

The setting for the wedding was a white wedding arch placed under an apricot tree and entwined with green and white wreaths. On either side of the arch were white baskets filled with green and white flowers.

The bride who was given in marriage by her brother, Carl Kelley Jr., wore a white heavy silk gown with lace trim on the bodice and shoulders with a lace Chinese collar. The princess styled gown featured bell sleeves with lace trim which covered the top of the bride's hands and silk designs on the front panels. The back of the gown extended into a long train. Her lace trimmed veil extended from a heavily laced cap decorated with pearls and netting, covering the train. She carried a bouquet of minuetta pink and red roses with baby's breath.

Something old was the bride's baby ring and for something new she carried a new testament. Something borrowed was a white lace handkerchief belonging to a neighbor, Mrs. William Baldwin. Something blue was the traditional blue garter.

Mary Patricia Kelley of Ruidoso, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. Norma Silva of Las Cruces, cousin of the groom, was bridesmaid. They both wore white dresses with red polka dots. They were trimmed with red, white and blue ribbons at the waist lines. The ribbons were also featured on their white straw hats. They carried red, white and blue carnations in white baskets.

Ben Silva, of Las Cruces and cousin of the groom, was best man. John Patrick Cemmelch, brother of the groom, from Bellingham, Washington, served as groomsman.

The mother of the bride wore a street length dress of red and white. Her corsage was of red sweetheart roses with red and white trim. The groom's mother wore a long blue gown with long sleeves. Her corsage was of sweetheart roses with red, white and blue trim.

Out of town guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Armando Chavez and daughters of Juarez, Mexico, Mrs. Lambert Silva, Albuquerque, Peter Cemmelch, Hoquiam, Washington, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Silva, Mr. and Mrs. Leighton Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Rinaldo Silva and Mrs. Johnny Angel, all of Los Angeles; Mrs. Isabel Samaniego, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Sanchez, Montebello, California and Mr. and Mrs. Del Boltz, El Paso, Texas.

Champagne party held

A champagne party was held at 4:30 p.m., Friday, July 9th, by the staff of the Ruidoso News. A jeroboom of champagne was sent to the News office by Woody of the Wild Snail. After icing down the champagne in the sink of the dark room, it was served in the center of the building on a table covered with baskets of copy, ads and classified pages.

Presiding at the serving table were Mary and Ken Green. Delicate blue dixie solo cups were filled with the bubbling champagne and Willard Arnold, production manager, then gave a long toast — "Here's to the press."

Mary and Ken dressed casual for the occasion. Cale Dickey dressed up for the occasion and wore his cap. George Hansell wore a red pencil behind his ear to go with his ensemble of blue pants and white shirt lending a bicentennial touch to the party. Carmen Edwards and Bill Wilson rushed in for the celebration, ads in hand, not taking time to put them down before grabbing their glass of champagne.

Sharon Bentley wore her maternity shorts and no shoes which has been her attire for the week due to a 4th of July sunburn. Jeans of various colors were worn by Jo Bishop, Billie Surmick, Walt Green, James Green and yours truly.

Missing the party was Hal Yoder who brought a centerpiece of tidily winks two days later which now adorns the front of our office.

A special guest was Ernie Phillips from Arizona who is the man who put the press together and made this bells ring.

After the bottle of champagne was emptied, the guests departed, more relaxed and grateful to Woody for his contribution after many hectic days of getting the press installed for printing Monday's paper.

Myers to conduct course

Gary Myers, noted southwest watercolorist and illustrator will present a two week workshop July 28 through August 6 at the Carrizo Art and Craft Courses at Carrizo Lodge. Frequently handled as a "colorist", Gary Myers approach to watercolor has gained international attention. Recently, Myers has shown in the American Painters in Paris, the Marlboro Western Artists in Germany and twice this year in the National Cowboy Hall of Fame in Oklahoma City, including the Royal Western Watercolor competition.

His watercolor entitled "Racing Saddle" won the 1975 New Mexico State Fair, first prize for watercolor and appeared on the Stallion Register Cover of the Quarter Racing World Magazine.

Myers was head of the art school at Oklahoma State Tech for five years and an illustrator in that state for seven years before coming to Ruidoso in 1975 where he paints full time. He is represented by the Dargre Gallery of Phoenix and attends six annual shows including the Best of the Southwest at Austin.

COOKING WORKSHOP AT SHORT COURSE — Sara Roets, cook manager in Shiprock, and Nell Jaramillo, cook in Ruidoso Downs; take hot rolled Mexican food from the school ovens used during the School Food Service Short Course. The short course, held at New Mexico State University July 6-10, is an attempt to provide school service workers with advanced training.

Garden club to meet

The Ruidoso Garden Club will meet Tuesday, July 20, at 2:00 p.m. in the multipurpose room of the public library. The program will be illustrated slides of Williamsburg Gardens and will be narrated by Mrs. George Luck. Arrangements will be exhibited in the Victorian manner. Hostesses will be Mrs. A. C. Abbott and Mrs. J. E. Riddle.

Agency of Aging sets meeting here

The Area Agency of Aging for District 6 will hold its monthly meeting July 21 from 1:30 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. at the home of Charlotte Jarratt. Representatives from Otero, Lincoln, Eddy, Lee and Chaves counties will discuss senior citizens programs after a luncheon. Clyde Baker, Alamogordo, is chairman of the group. Serving on the advisory committee from this area are Barney Waldrop, Roy Shamburger and Amelia Maes.

Womens' clubs luncheon

Some 75 members of the Carrizozo and Ruidoso Women's Clubs will meet for a covered dish luncheon at noon Monday in Charlotte Jarratt's home. The ladies are meeting as a combined group "to see how they can help the Good Sam Nursing Home project," according to Mrs. Jarratt.

Desert lawns use farmer's tricks

Desert lawn owners can use a new agricultural trick called drip or trickle irrigation. This system is relatively inexpensive and saves labor and water, says Charles Hohn, Extension agricultural engineer with New Mexico State University.

Originally developed for irrigation of orchards and shallow-rooted crops, drip irrigation saves water on predominantly rock-covered landscapes.

Drip irrigation requires emitters placed only in green areas. Water flows continuously at a very low rate, one gallon per hour, and under low pressure, less than 20 pounds per square inch.

The largest initial cost is underground filters, ranging from $20-$30 each. Emitters range from 10 to 60 cents each, and the underground pipe costs five to seven cents per foot.

THE RUIDOSO-HONDO VALLEY Rotary Club was visited by F. C. Williamson, District Governor, of Carlsbad this week. Williamson addressed the club at its regular Tuesday meeting and

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

For five years I have lived across the street from the annual so-called Ruidoso Arts and Crafts Fair.

With very few exceptions it was anything but arts and crafts. Most of the booths were nothing but junk. Only six of the listed one hundred and sixteen booths were manned by Ruidoso people.

I cannot see much contribution to Ruidoso from this effort since the park was filled with travel trailers, campers and motor homes. I would guess that they also brought their own food.

Ruidoso has a monumental traffic problem on Sudderth Drive without compounding it by hosting a fair on it. I watched police cars and ambulances work their way through the congestion with considerable risk to pedestrians and motorists as well as the officials trying to serve Ruidoso.

Please, in the future, let's hold this event in a pasture somewhere around town and let it be seen for what it is — nothing but cheap competition for Ruidoso's established businesses.

James C. Hall

Dear Editor:

During the weekend of July 3-4 we were among many out of town visitors in your city. I called my good friend John Jarratt, and he and his lovely wife, JoAnn, came to our motel, picked us up and showed us a portion of your city, which we enjoyed very much.

Tickets were then a question, so they took us to the Downs and introduced us to a Richard Thompson, one of the nicest fellows you would want to meet. Thompson furnished my wife and I and Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Stewart, our guests, with tickets to the races, at no charge to us.

Without the help of these friends and Thompson we probably would not have seen the races, so thanks to them and the Chamber of Commerce for the courtesies shown us while there.

With kindest regards to Ruidoso folks.
Fred McCright
Ranger, Texas 76470

Dear Editor:

My family and I had planned a trip to Ruidoso for the weekend beginning July 8, and a week earlier I called the Chamber of Commerce to arrange reservations. I was told that there were no vacancies for those dates, due to the Arts and Crafts Show, Horse Sale and trials; that I might call back the next week, in case there were any vacancies or cancellations; also that I might check with surrounding towns and find vacancies.

Later, I saw a friend of mine here in Snyder, and he suggested that I call some of the places myself, that he had been able to get accommodations that way. I called the Locke Inn and made reservations.

Upon arriving in Ruidoso, I found that most every place in Ruidoso had vacancy signs. This leads me to believe that the Chamber is hurting the Village of Ruidoso by giving out this information.

Being told that there are no vacancies certainly discourages many people from coming, if they have to drive back and forth from a surrounding town.

Donald W. Powell
Snyder, Tx. 79549

'Red Flag Alert' fire danger sign

The National Weather Service and the Federal land protection agencies have jointly developed a new device to advise the public of extreme forest fire danger. Called the "Red Flag Alert," it is a public warning of predicted or actual high winds plus critically dry conditions in the forests and rangelands.

The agencies will advise the public prior to each "Red Flag Alert" day, and ask their cooperation by not using fire or smoking while in or traveling through the forests. A Forest Service spokesman said that many of the State's recent large forest fires started during high wind conditions or were fanned out of control by the daily winds. More than 29,000 acres of timber, brush and watershed lands in Arizona and New Mexico were destroyed or seriously damaged by 13 such fires in the past 20 days.

The spokesman said that fires and smoking are severely restricted on all public lands in New Mexico and on the National Forests in Arizona. Fireworks are permanently banned from forests and rangelands.

George Leonard holds forth on:

Hanging in there . . . tough

BY BILLIE SURMICK
Staff Writer

Fate knocked him out and held her foot on his throat, but she couldn't keep him down.

George Leonard, 56, had a thriving practice as a trial attorney for years in Texas. "I had trial cases all over hell and half of Georgia for railroads, big corporations and whoever staggered in my office. I loved my work and was the only lawyer in town who went to the office before seven in the morning. I couldn't wait to get there," George said.

In 1967, he had to "wait to get there" after a car wreck that left him unconscious for over two months. Upon returning to work, he found his partners had "turned their backs on him". He made changes in personnel and took up where he left off.

"I used to drive over 70,000 miles a year. Many times a phone call might have done the job, but I would drive hundreds of miles to interview a witness. I wanted to look him straight in the eye.

"I remember one case I had where a truck had hit the side of a freight train, overturning the engine. I cried all the way to the bank over that settlement," George said.

One day in September, 1970, George had already put in several hours at the office by mid-morning and was on his way to a town near Abilene. He had no indication anything was wrong and no premonition that the course of his life would change drastically that day.

As a massive stroke hit him, he crashed into an approaching car.

Nine weeks later, he had recuperated from the injuries received in the wreck. The stroke had left his left side paralyzed and he was unable to walk. Doctors told him he could not return to law practice. His long journey of rehabilitation began.

his caustic wit and no-nonsense attitude traveled with him.

George reflected, "My law license ended at Bronco, Texas (the state line) and we relocated here." George and his wife Maurine, who is a teacher at Hondo, manage the River Ranch Campground for their son, a Dallas lawyer. They have a daughter who also lives in Dallas and works for an advertising agency. Their eight and ten year old grandsons visit in the summer "and help us considerably with running phone messages and such," he said.

The former barrister said he met a lot of interesting people who came to stay at their campgrounds, he avoided cooking and housecleaning, he read books on contemporary history, missed golf and particularly missed going to University of Texas (his alma mater) football games. "I got tired of sitting out there looking at the same rocks all day long," George declared.

Upon the advice of his therapist to "get involved", George did. He makes two or three weekly trips to the Ruidoso Senior Citizens Center and "offers his services." "I tell people I am not a New Mexico lawyer," he said, "and I help them with tax forms and that sort of thing. I don't go there on ladies' days or for the belly dancing. I don't believe in the biblical sense of being my brother's keeper, but I help when I can. I think if a fella is able, he should take care of himself."

George can now walk, assisted by a cane, but he is unable to drive. When his wife is teaching, Ernest Silva of Glencoe "babysits" him and drives for him. "He's a real nice fella," George said.

He has plans to write a book. "I'll call it 'Never Trust a Loudmouth'. I think there are a lot of things I can still do in a law firm. I hope one day to go back to law. Maybe I can find a cool spot in Texas—like Alpine or Marfa."

A central core with moveable wings.

This single-story cedar-home design is as roomy as it is versatile—a welcome respite from today's mass of confining split-levels. Ideal for the family that enjoys entertaining, its core or "center stage" features a spacious sun-kissed living room with exposed beams and a huge fireplace wall (including a kitchen pass-through for hearthside snacks).

"Off-stage," one wing is occupied by an inviting entryway, a den and garage, while the other is devoted primarily to bedrooms. And both wings (the entire plan, in fact) can be tailored to suit individual needs. They might, for example, be joined at a sharper angle to accommodate a narrower lot.

Table Policy running in Friday's feature

Table Policy, a filly who hauled in over $32,000 last year, looks like a prime force in Friday's feature at Ruidoso Downs. The four-furlong sprint, which salutes the well-known actor Michael Parks, offers a $3,000 purse and tops a 12-race agenda which gets going at 1:30 p.m. The excellent lineup also includes four trial aces for the upcoming $75,000 (est.) World's Championship Classic at 440 yards. Weekend turf action in the cool pines extends through Sunday. Saturday's card will spotlight five final elimination heats for the forthcoming $300,000 (est.) Rainbow Futurity—the second leg of quarter horse racing's Triple Crown. On Sunday, top-level handicap talent will be mixing it up in the Billy the Kid Handicap at seven furlongs. A purse of $8,500 will be on the line.

Bushfire (Jerry Burgess), 121. Kerry Hancock comes off a smashing win against much easier company. The gray filly faced a maiden group on July 5 and she scooted into an early lead, opened a three-length gap at the midway point of a 5½-furlong spin, then romped under the wire with a 2½-length lead. Sonet Bird comes off a sparkling performance as a longshot. The colt was tabbed at 16-1 on July 2. He flashed plenty of early speed while hanging on for a second place finish against seven-grand claimers.

Table Policy, owned by the Beddo and Miller partnership of Anthony, N.M., made 11 trips to the post last year and constructed an excellent tally of 5-2-0.

Earlier this month, Table Policy ended a one-year vacation for a 5½-furlong spin. The fans made the filly a 9-2 shot. She got off to a quick start, stayed in second place until the upper stretch, then weakened a bit and faded to fourth. But with that tightener under her belt, she figures to come out swinging this time.

Here's how they'll line up for Friday's feature: 1-Table Policy (Billy Burress), 113; 2-Star Burner (W. R. Hunt), 116; 3-Leading Flash (Willie Lovell), 113; 4-Green Fashion (Wayne Gee), 116; 5-Sonet Bird (Carlos Rivas), 116; 6-Kerry Hancock (Jerry Nicodemus), 116; 7-Misty Mermis (no boy named at entry time), 111; 8-Miss Beau Key (Tony Trujillo), 111; 9-Clemenistic (Stuart Dolphus), 106; 10-

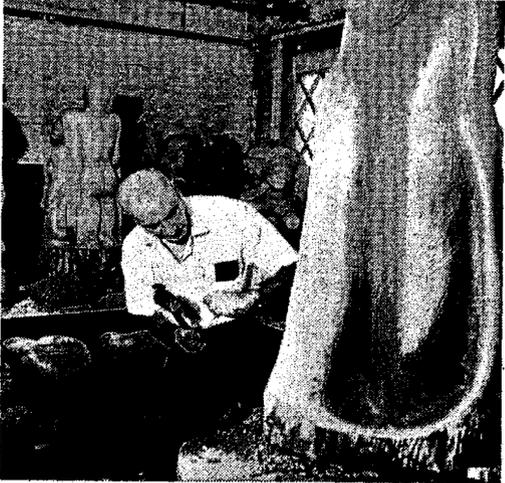

The trials for the Championship Classic are booked in the seventh through tenth slots. All together, 33 head will be taking part. The heat which figures to draw the most attention comes in the fifth race. That one brings out Bugs Alive in 75, the All-American Futurity winner. Larry Wilson will guide The Bug out of the rail slot.

The horses chalking up the 10 swiftest times will advance into the finale on Sunday, July 25.

Portrait of the Artist as an Older Man

If persistence and patience are measures of greatness, 77-year-old Stephen Sacklarian of Philadelphia is a prime example of this point of view. Now a prominent artist and sculptor, Sacklarian didn't achieve any measurable success until he was 66.

For most of his life, Sacklarian worked at more conventional jobs: telephone lineman, lighting engineer and salesman. "The creative impulse was always in me, though," he says. "I come from a very artistic family."

After he retired, Sacklarian began painting and sculpting in earnest. In 1967, a curator from the Smithsonian Institution's National Collection of Fine Arts in Washington, D.C.

looked at Sacklarian's paintings and bought one for the Smithsonian's collection.

"That was the beginning," Sacklarian says. "Other museums heard about me and began buying my paintings."

To date, 15 major museums have added Sacklarian's paintings to their collections, among them, the Philadelphia Museum of Art, the Kettering Foundation and the Utah Museum of Fine Art. He was also artist-in-residence at Notre Dame University last year.

Sacklarian's paintings are bringing high prices—currently around $10,000—due to his recognition as a major American artist. Because he realizes the struggle many painters have to make a living from their work, Sacklarian is establishing a foundation which will provide scholarships and awards for young art students. "As Robert Frost said, 'If you want to be a real hero, choose a life in the arts,'" Sacklarian told a writer from The National Council on the Aging.

Most of Sacklarian's waking hours are spent painting but he often finds time to shoot 36 holes of commendable golf before breakfast. Years of exercise and hard work have left him with the body of a much younger man.

Stephen Sacklarian is a truly exceptional man who fills every minute of every day and still wishes for more time. "Before I die, I want to use every last bit of energy in my body," he says. "That's the only way I can ever repay all the nice people who have been so helpful to me."

As for achieving so much success at an advanced age, Sacklarian says, "What's strange about that? After all, fine wine and champagne improve with age, don't they?"

In 1952, when Mrs. Virgil Garrett's husband died, she honored his last request by taking over Southwestern Brass Works, the business she inherited from him. Most of the same crew still works in the foundry, including plant superintendent Claude Shutter, who is 65 and has no plans for retiring. Shutter's feelings regarding retirement echo the 87-year-old Mrs. Garrett's, who goes to the foundry every day unless she's away at a bridge tournament.

Mrs. Garrett was born in Guntown, Mississippi in 1888, grew up in Kentucky and graduated from the University of Kentucky with degrees in history and mathematics. After marrying Virgil Garrett in 1914, she taught history at Texas Christian University, but soon quit to keep house and play bridge.

It wasn't until almost 40 years later that she found herself in the alien world of business. Mrs. Garrett credits her employees with making the foundry a continuing success, but perhaps she's too modest.

FASTER THAN LIGHT

A rocket must move five miles a second to climb into orbit, seven miles a second to escape Earth's gravity completely. With speeds of this sort, we can explore most of the planets and moons of our own solar system. If we want to reach another star, however, rockets will never get us there.

We use the speed of light, about 186,000 miles a second, to measure interstellar distances. Light takes a little over one second to reach the moon from Earth, but more than four years to reach the nearest star. Our Milky Way is about 100,000 light-years across, and our nearest neighbor galaxy is two million light-years away.

Science fiction writers invented faster-than-light spacecraft a long time ago. In my own novel, "The Legion of Space," published in 1934, the legion of cruisers are driven at many light-speeds by electromagnetic geodesic deflectors. Einstein, however, says we cannot do that. According to his theory, mass equals energy. When we move an object faster, we give it more energy. This equals added mass, which then makes it harder to push the object still faster. All the energy in the universe would be required to push any object to the speed of light.

Recently, serious scientists have been looking for ways around this energy barrier. One of them, Dr. Gerald P. Feinberg of Columbia University, has worked out the math for a hypothetical particle he calls the tachyon, whose slowest speed would be that of light; its fastest would be infinite.

"Faster Than Light" is the title of a remarkable new book edited by Jack Dann and George Zebrowski for Harper and Row. The opening chapters by such people as Isaac Asimov and Arthur C. Clarke survey the scientific problems. The human meanings are explored in fiction by such scientist-writers as Poul Anderson and Hal Clement.

One notable item is Harlan Ellison's "Phoenix Without Ashes," his original teleplay for the "Starlost" TV series. It borrows an idea of Heinlein's, the idea of a huge spacecraft carrying a whole human colony on a star voyage that takes many generations at something less than the speed of light. Harlan's script won awards, but he says the producers ruined the series.

(The Einstein limit is utterly ignored in another and more popular TV series, "Space 1999," in which it seems that our moon or anything else goes as fast as anybody wants. The producers are spending a fortune on fantastic special effects, but nothing, apparently, on scientific advice.)

THAT'S POLITICS

There have been inferences that Republican supporters of Ronald Reagan were unfair in not choosing Sen. Pete Domenici and Rep. Manuel Lujan as delegates from New Mexico.

When you consider that the party's presidential nomination could be at stake on the turn of these two delegate positions, you might be able to understand the hard-nosed position of the Reagan backers. After all, Domenici and Lujan made their own endorsements for president months ago. Their choice was their own decision. They apparently preferred to support the incumbent, Gerald Ford.

It seems easy to understand that Ford has used all the power of the presidency to win the nomination. He certainly hasn't given anything to Reagan. Why would Reagan's backers possibly hand the nomination to Ford on a silver platter when they have the political muscle to retain all the delegates they can muster?

Ford may still win the nomination. But it is unreal to expect his opponent to hand delegates to the President out of sentiment only. We suspect neither Domenici nor Lujan are surprised or disappointed. As public officials, they are not that naive, even though some of their admirers may be.

The game of politics is never played that way, and certainly not with the nomination for president at stake. —The News-Bulletin, Belen

THE MAN WITH THE PLAN

Jockey Victor Escobar communicates with mounts

His English is a little broken and he sometimes has trouble making himself understood. But when 18-year-old Victor Escobar climbs on a thoroughbred at Ruidoso Downs or Sunland Park, there's solid communication between animal and rider, and that leads to the winner's circle about 25 percent of the time.

With about a third of the current Ruidoso meeting under the bridge, Victor stands fourth in the jockey standings.

The feat is pretty outstanding—considering he's still an apprentice. The fact he'd never been on a horse until 1½ years ago makes the story even better.

Victor was born and raised in Mexico City. His mother owned a restaurant across the street from the Hipodromo de las Americas.

"I watched the horses working out everyday," says Victor. "The whole operation fascinated me and I used to dream about becoming a jockey. They made it look so easy and the jockeys around there were idolized by kids."

The break came and Victor took advantage. "Every so often the jockeys held schools for young boys wanting to become riders. The schools are similar to some I've heard about in California. Classes lasted about two months. They taught everything from the ground up—equipment care, mounting, handling tough situations—everything."

But Victor didn't become an instant jockey on graduation. There was a breaking-in period, working under a trainer, to learn the fine points about riding. "More like mucking out stalls, brushing and feeding the horses and general clean up chores," he says.

But eventually he got that first chance to ride in a race at the Hipodromo. "I'd worked horses, been to school and felt pretty confident until they loaded me in the starting gate. When you work horses from the gate there's rarely more than two horses going at the same time."

"In that first race I looked around and just the sight of all that power on both sides made me nervous. I was so tense I dropped my whip. That didn't help much. The best I could do was hand-ride the whole mile. He was a good horse with a chance to win and I finished fifth."

As time went on Victor gained confidence and impressed some important people. Antonio Otero, a top Mexican jock, was one. Antonio was in Juarez riding for Owner-Trainer Gabriel Gracida. He just happened to mention that he knew this up-and-coming apprentice in Mexico City. Gracida was interested and sent for the boy.

"It was the first time that I'd ever been away from home," says Victor. "and I was a little scared. It was completely new surroundings. This man had gone to the expense to bring me to Juarez. What if I didn't do well?"

His fears were dispelled the first time up for Gracida. He won going away on Carthusian. The rest of the meet was successful and Gracida planned to take Victor to Sunland Park in the fall.

Everything was set and Victor was ready for his introduction to racing in the United States when his immigration papers hit a snag. "There wasn't much I could do but sit it out and worry whether those papers would ever come through. I got a job at a public stable as an exercise boy. Luckily I was cleared for entry in about two months."

His Sunland career wasn't exactly a brush fire—he scored 19 wins over the winter—but it was good experience and an extended learning period.

"I learned how to win through skill, not by relying on luck. When you work with a horse to get that win, it's an accomplishment. As time went on, I could actually 'feel' a horse. I also learned to spot an opportunity and take advantage of it before it was lost."

"I think what helped me more than anything were tips and pointers from other jocks. It's important for anyone just getting started to listen. You could get into a lot of trouble if you didn't—maybe even hurt."

"Even now I'm learning and will probably continue until the day I quit riding. I feel if I don't I won't improve. Even when I lose and it's my fault, I've learned from my mistakes."

"There's a goal I set for myself when I started riding—to be as close to the best as I could. I think riding at Sunland and Ruidoso helped me toward that goal. They're both tough meets and you're competing with some of the best around."

He'll lose his apprenticeship in August, and eventually wants to try his hand on the West Coast. Right now he's close to his goal of being at the top—at least in the Southwest. That's what you call success—even in broken English.

Inside the Capital by Fred Buckles

NEW YORK — Democratic National Convention delegates were set to battle over Hatch Act repeal and 50 per cent representation for women in Madison Square Garden.

National Democratic Committeeman Rudy Ortiz of Albuquerque said: "There will be an effort to get a 50 per cent women delegate quota system. We can't have that but we don't want to make the women angry." Repeal of the Hatch Act, named for the late Carl Hatch of New Mexico, was in a minority report of the platform committee.

Right to Life Committees fought the abortion plank in the platform. The platform draft said: "It is undesirable to attempt to amend the U.S. Constitution to overturn the Supreme Court decision." Albuquerquean Mary Burke, New Mexico's member on the platform committee, said: "I don't know that I like to see a plank on abortion at all. I've never felt a doctor or woman should be prosecuted for abortion."

New Mexico delegation chairman Ben Alexander of Hobbs said: "There is room for a meaningful place on the Carter bandwagon for all New Mexico Democrats, including supporters of other Democratic presidential candidates." Alexander is Carter's New Mexico campaign chairman.

Among New Mexico delegation members were Rio Arriba County Democratic Chairman Emilio Naranjo, Espanola; State Rep. Jerry Sandel, Farmington; Andy Vigil of Rancho de Taos; Gloria White, Clovis; Lucy Keys Brubaker, Belen, and Caren Kershner, Los Alamos. The delegation was topheavy for ex-Governor Jimmy Carter. The pre-convention count was 13 or 14 for Carter and four or five for Arizona Rep. Morris Udall.

Mrs. Dessie Sawyer of Tatum was set to complete 24 years as New Mexico national committeewoman. She attended the convention with her daughter, Fern Sawyer of Nogal, Lincoln County. Mrs. Zora Hesse, Albuquerque, succeeded Mrs. Sawyer at the end of the convention. Gov. Jerry Apodaca was among five co-chairpersons of the convention.

The New Mexico delegation was the strongest for Carter in Carter's weakest area, the Rocky Mountain States and West. Ortiz said: "What we need to do is to leave that convention with everybody in accord and a platform that everybody can be comfortable with." U.S. Sen. Joseph Montoya, Santa Fe, hosted a cocktail party Sunday night for the New Mexico delegation. Montoya was delegation honorary chairman.

State Police Capt. Charles Anaya said his officers were being evicted from office space in the Rio Arriba County courthouse at Tierra Amarilla and an angry Sheriff Emilio Naranjo was behind the move. Capt. Anaya said State Police were asked to vacate the courthouse office in a letter from Rio Arriba County Commission Chairman Archie Medina "due to the future expansion of the Sheriff's Department at Tierra Amarilla."

Gov. Apodaca named Dr. Carl E. Zimmermann of Espanola to the State Board of Optometry.

Sen. Montoya introduced a bill to place range caterpillars in the same "dangerous" category as chinch bugs to try to get more aid to combat caterpillars destroying New Mexico grasslands. Montoya said the prime purpose was control of "emergency outbreaks."

A new club liquor license was issued by the state liquor agency to Espanola Valley Fraternal Order of Eagles No. 3695, Espanola. The liquor agency approved these transfers: Caballo, Sierra County, from Pinkney C. McNutt, doing business as Caballo Tavern, to Jim McNutt, dispenser's permit; Abiquiu, from Fred J. and Lola G. Valdez, doing business as Los Caminos Package Store, to Lola G. Valdez; dispenser's.

Also, Aztec, from 44 Lounge Inc., doing business as Bill's Place, 416 N. Main, to Carroll R. Hopper and Marylee Hopper, doing business as Hopper's Lounge and Package; Red River, Taos County, from Sandra M. Twitty and John A. Manchester Jr., doing business as Lazy H Guest Ranch, to Archie Kenneth Weatherford and Sandra M. Twitty; Ruidoso, from PiRaCo Inc., doing business as Hollywood

Inn, to Hollywood Inn Inc.; Capitan, from Dalton W. and Nell R. Ross, doing business as Branding Iron Saloon, to Lewvanco Inc., doing business as Capitan Outpost; Belen, from Manuel A. Chavez, doing business as Hi-Lonesome Club, 830 N. Main, to Safeway Store No. 939, 102

Caldwell; Bill R. Ward and Dessie Sawyer, doing business as Bank Exchange Saloon, moved at Lincoln from George Curry Building to Old Brenton Place, east end of Lincoln; Taos County, Rutilo Alex and Stella G. Martinez, doing business as Acapulco Club, moved from Vadito to Rio Lucio, doing business as Rio Lucio Package.

Gov. Apodaca reappointed Taos banker Arthur L. Ortiz to the State Personnel Board and Reuben E. Nieves of Clovis to the Corrections Commission.

The State Water Quality Improvement Commission set a meeting Tuesday (July 13) to weigh failure of the federal Environmental Protection Agency to approve a recent change in boundary between two sections of the Rio Grande Basin. The change, voted earlier by the board, moved the boundary between two sections on the Red River a mile upstream. The effect allows Molybdenum Corporation of America to discharge effluent from its tailings pond into Section 14, the "wild river" part of Red River and the Rio Grande, instead of Section 15 in which irrigation is a "beneficial" use.

State Engineer Steve Reynolds was set to announce his course of action, Thursday (July 13) at Roswell on a Pecos River call for water by Carlsbad Irrigation District.

TOUGH BATTLE WON

For a while Monday morning it began to look as though we'd get Monday's Ruidoso News off the press along about Tuesday... or so... 'cause things were busier around here than a one mandible grosbeak trying to crack a black walnut.

The consternation was occasioned by the newly installed 12-page Goss Community printing press... on which Monday's run-of-the-mill miracle was to be printed. The miracle bit is that it's always viewed as something of a monumental miracle whenever we finally succeed in getting another issue put to bed. Bed means putting the pages on the press for printing the paper. Or so I've been told.

Anyhow... once ye old news editor finally got the last four pages pasted up... with the problem being there's no paste jar... which does complicate matters... the time came... and only a measly 90 minutes late... and you could hear production manager Willard Arnold snarling clear on the thumb hand side of Old Baldy... for the mighty presses to revolve... and by jinkies, revolve they did.

You may have noticed a bit of smudge here and there as you perused the fruits of our labors... but considerin' that Arnold hadn't had the pleasure of running this press before... outside of printing four pages Friday... which only used one unit... leaving two untried... by jinkies, it was a pretty creditable looking newspaper... and it'll get better... 'cause Willard wasn't too happy with the results... but I gotta say this much for publisher Ken Green... he didn't get any more nervous over getting this issue out than Nixon was the day after Watergate broke.

But we won the first battle... and I'll win a lot more... and The Ruidoso News will one day soon be another credit to our lively community.

BICENTENNIAL BLUES

An epistle from one John W. Warner, administrator of the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration, reached my desk... and Warner did note that his "agency will start phasing out rather rapidly after the July 4th weekend"... which must mean that for all intents and purposes the Bicentennial blues have overtaken Warner's staff... 'cause, by jinkies, they've up and worked themselves right out of a job... 'cause, Warner said, his administration has "accomplished the mission set by Congress."

Somehow that doesn't sound quite right... everyone has heard of commissions and/or committees formed by Congress that keep that old pork barrel pay roll going on and on and on... and what'd be more logical... seeing as Warner's crew performed yeoman service in the Bicentennial observance... than to start his workers working on the Tricentennial... which'd give 'em almost 100 years to build up whole bunches of patriotic fervor amongst the masses... and make the Tricentennial an event that'd make the Bicentennial observance only a trite observance of something that happened 200 years before.

And I don't think there was anything wrong in planning big things to note this nation's 200th anniversary... but it does seem a shame that so many quick buck artists were able to turn the celebration into a deal whereby hard earned money was exchanged for trashy mementoes.

But... and it's a case of the buyer not being forced to buy... in this land of opportunity, why shouldn't there be opportunists? And if there hadn't been, we'd possibly all be British subjects.

BRIEF BIT: Then there was the editor who talked a group of church ladies into sponsoring a bizarre party... CD

Reflections...

by billie surmick

As No. 2 son, 14-year-old Larry, shot past the six-foot mark, noticed we kept colliding on the blind corners and passageways in our small house. Considered taking a number and getting in line for admission to our one bathroom or sending mom to camp for the summer or setting up a rent-a-kid business. Instead, we decided to build on... which direction took some brain strain. We could go to the west and be very close neighbors or east and watch the other neighbor's TV through our window or south and run through a chain link fence or north—toward the river—and step off into eternity. We took the eternity route.

Contractor John W. Howden and sidekick Jim De Angelo worked out a great system whereby the existing pine trees were left uninterrupted in their majesty. They built a deck around them and put the addition on piers. They're real craftsmen, these two, and take pride and enjoyment in their work. Maybe we can have room-warming before the month has ended.

Stopped by a deserted school playground the other day and watched a swing move in the breeze. Echoes of children's laughter still seemed to float on the air. Even the merry-go-round looked lonesome. Guess now that summer is full blown, those giggles are being spread all over town, hills and streams...

Interesting to note that four of the six residents interviewed for the "What's Your Opinion?" slot in Monday's paper mentioned traffic-flow as a necessity for our town. Just finding a turning-around-place seems to be a major event as most drivers tend to hug the center lane in whichever direction I need to travel. I found out (the hard way) that the speed limit on Carrizo road is 30 mph (as the one sign attests) as it is on most of Paradise Canyon Road. So why the boosted limit in the Gateway area and beyond? The arbitrary reduction from 70 to 55 mph on our highways has proved that speed does kill. Do we need to give ole speed a nudge on our main street?

Our beloved Stuph 'n' Junker has had his hand called by one of the best. Paul Vance was high school principal in Ruidoso for many years and a math teacher for more than that. His trigonometry class way-back-when convinced me to major in journalism. Paul's mathematical ability is exceeded only by his chess strategy which is exceeded only by his character.

The Silver Lining

BY DANIEL AGNEW STORM

July Keeps Its Promise
Every year during the warm, dry days of June, the world is waiting for the promise of July. It is in the great plan of God for this part of the world for June to be warm and sunny. There are a thousand and one reasons for this. Birds, squirrels and many other creatures need dry weather to raise their young. The cactus, river trees and many other growing things need the June sun with its warm rays shining straight down upon the earth.

There are untold other reasons for the dry, warm June here in the land of the pinon and pine which we do not yet understand except to remember the words from the scriptures:

"The Lord works in mysterious ways His wonders to perform."
Our Good Old Friend

The East Wind
Then along about in the last days of June and early July — just when the drought is reaching deepest into the ground and the summer heat is rising highest in the air — the world begins to feel that this kind of weather has done its work and Mother Earth and all her children begin to look longingly into the east. And then, as if in answer to many anxious questions, there is a stirring in the still, warm air; as if rousing from their dreamy waiting, every bush, tree, herb and thirsty blade of grass is suddenly alert. There is an old familiar whisper all through the land. This is the east wind saying: "I am here."

How good to see the old apricot tree and the young Lombardy poplars bending in the east wind, their leaves turning to silver in the sun! How the breath of rain coming from afar over the hills and from out on the Texas plains — fills your lungs and spreads new life all throughout your body and your spirit.

The Rain Bringer
For, you see, the east wind is the rain bringer. Never yet have I seen it fail. This reminds us of the old Mexican saying:

"Dios tarda, pero no olvida." (God may wait, but He never forgets.)

All day on Sunday July eleventh, the east wind blew steadily and clouds gathered from all directions. The thunder boomed and the lightning flashed. Still the rain passed us by here in the vale.

Evening came on and the clouds withdrew beyond the horizons on all sides. The setting sun colored the clouds in the west and in the peaceful gloaming they lulled to a stop, the whole world took a rest. From the shadows of the hillside came the evening chirping call of a robin.

Before darkness could move in, the golden full moon shone over the winter sunrise mountain to the southeast. Then the world was almost as light as upon a very cloudy day. Crickets began their night time serenade. This early in the summer this music is a sign of approaching rain.

One wondered if the crickets could be mistaken this time. Could it be that the east wind after blowing all day could have made a mistake this time?

The Clouds Come Back
Inside the house I began remembering the old saying that rain comes on the changes of the moon, very often right on the full moon. So outside I went and the clouds had quietly moved back into the sky, especially heavy in the east. The moon was not very high above the mountain and the clouds passing before its bright face formed swiftly moving shadows on the lighted hills across the vale to the north.

Then the tiniest drops of mist — you could feel them on your face although the sky overhead was clear. The mist was being blown by the east wind from the cloud moving in from the Texas plains.

The Sound of Rain
On the Roof
In the middle of the night I was awakened by one of the most welcome sounds in the world — the rushing tattoo of a lively shower beating its host of raindrops on the roof. Silently and without announcing itself it came out of the quiet night. There was no thunder, no lightning and very little wind. What a soothing lullaby the rain drops played with the cool breeze coming in the window!

Next morning the world was all silver beads shining on every bush and tree. The birds were singing for joy.
And today, July 12th, the east wind has been blowing. And now in midafternoon, all the world is blue clouds up the vale and the voice of thunder echoes following the flash of lightning.

A dove calls from the hillside and all the world is welcoming the gathering clouds carrying the life-giving silver and crystal rain drops of the sky.

The faithful and beloved month of July, as always, is keeping its promise.

A MODERN PARABLE

Here is a man who knows what he wants. He wants his wife to have breakfast at 6:16, and to keep the children from making any noise when he gets home at 5:28. He wants the men under him to do what he says — and fast — and like it! He wants the school to do his job of rearing his children. He's so busy in knowing what he wants that he doesn't know what he has. Blessed are you — if you know what you appreciate as well as you know what you want. Join the Presbyterians of Ruidoso Sunday at 11 a.m. as they seek the help of God, no matter how busy, to obey.

Women expanding their roles

BY JEANNE GLEASON
Associate Agricultural
Editor
New Mexico State University

Women have always been important to agriculture. As farmers' wives, women are traditionally farm-business partners, home managers, bookkeepers, assistant decision makers and helpers with the chores. However, today a new breed of agricultural woman is emerging into professions once considered to be "for males only."

Today, women students are majoring in almost every agriculture-related department at New Mexico State University. A quick check of recent female graduates shows that these women are working as conservation officers, county agents, college professors, vocational agriculture teachers, zoo co-directors and loan officers. Still others are finding work here and abroad as researchers, lab technicians, plant production specialists, horse trainers, conservation directors, research analysts or in veterinary-related fields. Many are completing post-graduate work.

One such woman, Melly Cook, is conducting special production research for Mountain Pass Canning Co., El Paso. She is a NMSU horticulture graduate student from Albuquerque. Being from an urban area with no farming background, Miss Cook at first shyed away from agriculture and planned a career in biology.

"After my first horticulture class, I knew that it was for me!" Melly explains.

"I love this work so much, I don't think I could separate myself from my role as a horticulturist. In fact, I just can't imagine my life without a career in horticulture."

Melly is working at NMSU on a grant from Mountain Pass Canning Co. She is evaluating single harvest tomatoes for the processing industry. She is also trying to determine why New Mexico's tomato yields are below California's, even though both areas work with similar varieties and weather conditions.

However, this research is not a white-shirt, supervisor's job. Although she does have some field laborers to assist her, Melly spends many hours in the field irrigating, fertilizing and chopping weeds. She must also measure plants, take plant samples and gather production data.

"This kind of first-hand field experience is invaluable," Melly says. "As classes get larger and more non-farm students move into agriculture, they need to learn the realities of industrial agriculture such as time tables, mechanical cultural practices, large scale production and profit margins."

When asked what is the key to success for a woman in agriculture, Melly said "It's the ability to sweat — maybe not physically, but you must have the drive to apply yourself and work hard."

Melly feels that women in agriculture should have little problems with discrimination. "The secret is not to think of yourself as different — just be willing to carry your share of the load. We need to learn to tackle tough problems and roll with the punches. When I show the men that I am not afraid of hard work, they have always accepted me and cooperated."

Melly has received many honors for her outstanding academic and professional achievements. She received the Distinguished Student of Agriculture Award in 1976 and is listed in Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges. As the vice-president of the American Society for Horticulture Science, Collegiate Branch, Melly promotes professionalism in horticulture. The Associated Women Students declared Melly the Senior Woman of Achievement in 1976 and she is a member of Phi Kappa Phi.

GOLF AND POTTERY

Even as Congress declared independence and the war intensified two hundred years ago, life in America and Britain went on. As the war became more serious both recreation and industry would be disrupted in both countries. In America, time would not be available for recreation and in England manufacturing would be disrupted by the shortage of materials. But for the moment, at least, disruptions were still minimal.

In America, Dr. Benjamin Rush was a most unusual man. He is sometimes called the Father of American medicine or the father of American chemistry. Without doubt, his contributions to medicine and science were quite significant. Not so well-known, however, is his interest in golf.

Even though it was a British game, he believed it should be imported to America. He explained to his colleagues in the Pennsylvania Provincial Conference the rules of the game. When asked by a fellow delegate what good the game was, Rush replied that a man who played golf would live ten years longer.

In England, one of the most successful businessmen was Josiah Wedgwood. Forty-six years of age in 1776, he was at the height of his success. Born in relative poverty, he had become one of England's richest manufacturers and an example of the progressive modern merchant.

Wedgwood is best known for the pottery that he produced. His tableware became the standard that many other producers followed. Particularly well-known were the hand painted sets that he made. Probably his masterpiece was the 952 piece set of tableware with 1,244 hand painted views of English landscapes that he made especially for Empress Catherine II of Russia. The cost of the set was 3,000 English pounds.

Wedgwood was also innovative. He introduced standardization of sizes into pottery making, and he introduced a division of labor for faster production. His system was an early form of the assembly line.

He also encouraged government financial support for canals and highways. Because his own education was limited, he contributed large sums for free schools for the poor. He was indeed a forward-looking businessman.

In the Spanish Southwest recreation that existed usually was adapted to the geographic setting. Some games were imported from Spain or Mexico, but not in any way were expensive. Much of the social life revolved around the Church and its holidays.

Business activity was strictly controlled by the Crown. Manufacturing was allowed only on a very limited basis. As a result, most of the economic life of New Mexico was pastoral or farming in nature. /Donald W. Whisenhunt, history professor, Eastern New Mexico University.

THE IMPOSSIBLE DREAM

Yes. Unless you know something we don't, it's impossible to do everything you like to do at the same time. Or all the time, for that matter. And anyone who tells you different speaks with forked tongue. That's why, in choosing a resort condominium, you should consider Interval Ownership.

A PLAN FOR ALL SEASONS

Interval Ownership (or "Time sharing") is a plan by which you pay only for the time you use. And what you pay reflects a proportion of ownership in both the building and land. If your thing is schussing through the white stuff, purchase a week or two in Winter and ski Sierra Blanca. Or, if the green stuff is more your cup of tea, you might want some time during racing season at Ruidoso Downs. Well, we could go on and on. But why belabor a point? There are lots of these time sharing things around. It's just that ours is the best.

Fully maintained and equipped, elegantly appointed Townhaus Chalets. Private supper club, gamerooms, golf, tennis, fishing, and a partridge in a pear tree.

AFTER 34 RACE DAYS the 1976 handle at Ruidoso Downs Race Track stands at $11,724,815, with daily wagering averaging $344,847 and the per race betting averaging $27,784. After 34 days last year the total handle was $10,592,452, the daily average $311,542 and the average betting per race $25,586. The total handle to date is up 10.69 per cent, or $1,132,363 over last year's record setting pace.

by way of El Paso, where he was visiting with in-laws. A few seasons back, Parks took the motorcycle-riding lead role in the TV series, "Then Came Bronson."

Assistant racing secretary Gordon Graham and his wife Kathy have a new foal in the barn. The filly filed her papers in at 10 p.m. Wednesday at the Ruidoso-Hondo Valley General Hospital, weighing in at 7 1/2 pounds. Gordon and Kathy are still working on a name but have about decided on Agatha Christi.

Horses to watch: Gene Holme who came from far off the pace as a 9-1 shot for a 2 1/2-length victory against maidens in Saturday's 5 1/2-furlong first race; Feisty Rulla who held on until the last couple of steps as a 22-1 shot but settled for second in Saturday's six-furlong seventh race for $5,000 claimers; Smash It for a brilliant wire-to-wire eight length victory in Saturday's 5 1/2-furlong allowance feature; Dashing On for some sharp moves on the rail in Saturday's last race (he was squeezed off and settled for second); My Dimple for her last ditch effort on the rail in Sunday's first race (she was closed out and finished third as the favorite).

Rainbow Futurity Trials produced some pretty generous Big Q Payoffs. On Thursday only two fans clicked for a $5,006 payoff when Little Elegance (3-1) and Spiral (158-1) in the eighth race teamed up with Miss Folly Oh (2-1) and Bonnie Bing 2 (3-1) in the second half. On Friday nobody had the right combination in the first Big Q. Oh Handsome (3-1) and Itsmema (55-1) formed the first half. Matched with Emma Bee (13-1), the winner of the ninth race, they paid $608.60, and, with Easy money (7-1) $558.20.

Little Blue Sheep, who finished fourth in last year's $495,500 All-American Derby at Ruidoso Downs, notched a big one in the $93,000 Vessels Maturity on Saturday at Los Alamitos. Vim and Vigor, the winner of the All-American Derby, pulled in third.

Chicory Moon, the durable stakes star around these parts for many years, took his seasonal bow in fine style in Saturday's 10th race. The six-year-old outdistanced three-year-old and up allowance foes by 3/4-lengths at 350 yards as the odds-on favorite — his first venture in over five months. Bill Hunt had the ride for Owner Betty Shebester of Wynnewood, Okla.

Fluid Spirit took a class hike for a length win in Sunday's fourth race for $2,000 claimers at 5 1/2-furlong — his second in a row. Three weeks ago he whipped a $1,500 class by a head. Apprentice Victor Escobar was aboard both times.

The, ridden by Victor Escobar as a 10-1 shot, put away a $5,000 claiming group easily by 5 1/4 lengths in Sunday's six-furlong eighth race. The best the mare had been able to do in four earlier spins at the meeting was a couple of fifths at the $4,000 level.

Trainer Bob Arnett selected some choice slots on Saturday. Arnett sent four to the track and came back with three winners — Tradin Room in the fifth race, My Little Gal in the seventh and Let's Get Started in the ninth.

Jockey Betty Harless took two rides on Saturday and won with both. In the fourth race on Saturday, Claire Walker took her maiden spin. She finished last on Traveler Early at 38-1.

JERRY NICODEMUS

Jockey/Trainer of the week

JERRY NICODEMUS

Jerry Nicodemus capitalized on the Rainbow Derby trials to snatch the Jockey-of-the-Week title at Ruidoso Downs. It was his fourth title at the meet. Nicodemus booted in five trial winners during the two-day first elimination round. He notched three on Thursday, including a sharp 1 1/4-length score on Magabertz to set the top 400-yard clocking of 19.98 seconds. His other two winners were Topless Dancer and Le Fleur.

On Friday he posted wins on Big M Tru Lady and Donnie Reb. All five winners went fast enough to make it past the first round of eliminations. Nicodemus capped the weekend by piloting Go Lac, a 12-1 shot, to a 1 1/2-length score at 400 yards on Sunday.

He now has 29 wins from 102 rides and occupies third place — 10 behind the leader Carlos Rivas.

Bob Arnett and Don Farris fought it out to a dead heat with four wins apiece in the trainer division. But Arnett took the crown by sending only nine to the track, as compared to 15 for Farris.

Arnett's crowning point came with Crazy Frills' 3/4-length victory in the six-furlong Peter Hurd Handicap. The filly turned the distance in a sizzling 1:11 3/5 seconds — topping the old track record set by Officers Straw in 1971.

Arnett and Farris top the trainer's standings — Arnett in the lead with 23 winners from 117 starts. Farris boasts 20 from 65.

The four-day weekend kicks off on Thursday and continues through Sunday, beginning at the usual 1:30 p.m. each day. Friday and Saturday are trial days. Friday action hosts hopefuls for the $75,000 (est.) World's Championship Quarter Horse Classic.

Saturday's card includes the final elimination heats for the $300,000 (est.) Rainbow Futurity. The weekend finale is Sunday's seven-furlong Billy The Kid Handicap. The purse is $8,5000-added.

INCREASED TAXES

Do you experience the usual hair-pulling and grumbling scene around your home at tax time each year? Most of us do. And that includes us as a business, too. Just like individuals, businesses must pay taxes . . . and just as your taxes have risen in the past few years, so have corporate taxes. It takes tax money to keep our government running, but in order for businesses to pay all their bills (including taxes), prices to consumers have to keep pace with all phases of rising costs. The taxes we pay are just a part of the cost of providing the electric service you've grown to depend upon.
