Ab Gunter was elected president of the Eagle Creek Inter-Community Water Supply Association, Inc., at the annual meeting here Monday.

Named, with Gunter were Valton Hall of Capitan, outgoing president, as vice president and George P. White, Ruidoso, as secretary-treasurer.

AB GUNTER

The remaining directors are Ray Provine and Ray Johnston of Capitan and Lloyd Davis Jr., of Ruidoso.

The board named Bill Dean as auditor.

In other action, the directors:

- Ordered association records to be indexed and kept in a fire proof file at Ruidoso's village hall.
- Approved alternating the presidency, on an annual basis, between members from Capitan and Ruidoso.

Village council accepts Gavilan water line bid

The Ruidoso village trustees Tuesday accepted the bid of Co-Con, Inc., of Albuquerque, in the amount of $298,719.20 to construct 21,000 feet of water transmission pipeline in Gavilan Canyon.

Other bids received included J. R. Trenching, Albuquerque, $300,627.60; Kent Nowlin Construction, Inc., Albuquerque, $321,276.80; McCormack Construction, El Paso, TX, $323,920.40 and Panhandle Construction Co., Lubbock, $361,118.38.

Boyle Engineering's estimated cost of the project was pegged at $364,000.

Co-Con's bid was accepted on a unanimous vote of the council, when polled, with Mayor Lloyd L. Davis Jr.,

requesting that his "in favor" vote be recorded.

Bob Palm was granted permission to move a house onto a lot in Town and Country North that he had purchased several months ago for this purpose. Palm's house was one of those ordered moved from the Cedar Creek area by the Forest Service.

"I met with property owners in the subdivision," Palm said, "and all of them agreed that I could move my house onto my lot . . . and they told me so."

County Commissioners approve heavy equipment, car purchases

The Lincoln County Commissioners Tuesday approved the purchase of an estimated $151,518 in heavy equipment and vehicles.

Two blades, one loader and three pickups will be replaced through state contracts providing they meet stated specifications. The commission agreed in June to buy through state contracts whenever possible to avoid bidding items on an individual basis.

The go-ahead was given after Les Olson, county manager, advised the board that the blades and loader had cost over $14,000 in repairs during the past year. The blades are 17 and 22 years old and the loader is nine years old. Existing equipment will be sold at state or county auctions. Olson told the commissioners there is $93,886 in unencumbered funds for the road department plus some $40,000 to $70,000 in auction revenue for the old equipment.

The purchase of three new patrol cars for the sheriff's department was also approved. Preceding this decision, Ralph Romero, deputy sheriff, said: "We have three vehicles that have been repaired to the point there is nothing left to repair. The engines in all three are going out and present a hazard to our officers. I have told the men to park the cars rather than risk danger to themselves." These cars will also be bought through state contracts. The vote passed 2-1 with R. C. Nunez, commission chairman, abstaining. Funds for buying the patrol cars had been budgeted from projected revenue sharing which is still pending passage in Washington.

J. J. DI PAOLO presented easement documents to the commissioners, per their land exchange agreement, to realign the existing road through the Di Paolo property in Fort Stanton Ranchettes subdivision. Di Paolo voiced his objections to the "misrepresentations" in The Ruidoso News and Lincoln County News articles on the last commission meeting wherein Wayne Townley and Jim Wimberly complained of a gate Di Paolo had built across a road in this subdivision. Di Paolo said the road is not a dedicated county road and, in fact, encroaches upon his property. Mrs. Di Paolo read documentation to substantiate his statements. Commissioner John Sudderth stated that the road in question is a county road and cautioned Di Paolo not to "landlock his neighbors" and to consider putting in a cattle guard rather than the gate.

A PROCLAMATION declaring August 31 as Molly Bosh Day was unanimously approved in honor of her 100th birthday. The proclamation stated, in part: "Whereas each generation of Americans contribute to this country's fabric of values, principles and traditions . . . today's elders laid the foundation upon which today's younger generations shall shape the future . . . the Board of Commissioners wish to honor Lincoln County's elder citizens in honor of the contribution the elderly have made in building this great country . . ."

In other action, the commission reawarded the solar panel bid to Southwest Communications, Inc. of Roswell as second lowest bidder. They had, at the last meeting, tentatively awarded the bid to Sigma contingent upon the District Attorney's opinion as to the validity of the specifications and bidding procedure. He has since reviewed the situation and advised against awarding the bid to Sigma.

The commission also:

- Considered Carrizozo Mayor "Bud" Payne's request that the county hire extra deputies to be utilized and paid by the village as it now has only one policeman.
- Approved Charles Treadwell's promotion from jailer to Deputy II and the hiring of Richard Young as dispatcher and jailer.

— Granted permission to Olson to attend the New Mexico Municipal League convention in Albuquerque September 7-10.

— Agreed to furnish a 1500 - 2000 foot road from north of the post office to the proposed park near Fort Stanton Training School.

— Accepted the treasurer's report and approved "on paper" fund transfers.

— Received the monthly sheriff's report on housing and feeding prisoners expense.

— Appointed Tommy Perrett, Emmeline Beck and Modesto Chavez to serve on the joint extra-territorial planning and zoning committee.

Ski area smoky?

. . . 's OK

If you see smoke pouring into the skies from the general area of the lift line at Sierra Blanca Ski resort . . . don't panic.

Should you spot smoke emanating from the construction area at the ski resort . . . relax.

There's a controlled burn going on . . . "slack and down timber" is being burned . . . and when the burners get a good fire of dead limbs and needles going, they toss on the green stuff . . . and raise such a smoke screen that there's not a mosquito anywhere on the top of that mountain.

These goings on will go on until sometime in mid-September . . . so don't fret over seeing smoke . . . around the ski run area.

Any other place you see smoke . . . get on the phone . . . dial 257-4095 . . . and tell the smoke eating fire fighters at the Smokey Bear Ranger District exactly where you saw it. Pronto.

Hunter Safety Course offered

A mandatory Hunter Safety Course — for anyone under age 18 who has not satisfactorily completed it — will be conducted in the main fire hall, on West Street off Sudderth, Aug. 17 - 18 and 24 - 25 with classes beginning at 7 p.m.

Registrations will be accepted at the fire station Friday between 7 and 8:30 p.m.

The New Mexico Game and Fish Department is sponsoring the course and G & F officer Tim Barraclough said, "Anyone under 18, not taking this instruction, cannot hunt or discharge firearms legally which includes shooting at targets or those plinking trips into the field. This is the law and we are bound to enforce it . . . and will."

Downs trustees order cleanup of village lots

The Ruidoso Downs trustees Monday adopted a "get tough" policy on property cleanup in the village, with the passage of Resolution 76-9.

Village clerk Virginia Spill was instructed to mail Notices of Abatement to a number of property owners ordering cleanup of trash, litter, garbage, etc.

If, after receiving notice, owners fail to comply with the order the village will remove the debris from property at the owner's expense and the owner will also be subject to a fine.

Mayor Norman Wheeler advised the council there is "a good possibility that new gravel and sealing" is available with assistance from the state and that approval of the request is expected within two weeks.

Vacancies on the Planning and Zoning

Commission were declared and the trustees appointed Vicky Hise and Wayne Wantiez to fill two positions, with one still vacant.

School board authorizes selling $700,000 in bonds

The Ruidoso Board of Education voted Tuesday to sell $700,000 in general obligation bonds Sept. 14, in a move to enable selling the balance of the $1.65 million issue before the end of 1976.

As construction at White Mountain and Nob Hill schools nears completion, school superintendent Pat Valliant said he hopes to invest any over-lapping funds from the bond sale to use the return to purchase furniture for the schools.

Valliant reported the construction superintendent told him Monday that "it may be close, but we'll make it", referring to completion of two classrooms at Nob Hill and two classrooms and a media center at White Mountain by the time school starts September 7.

The $1.65 million school bond issue was originally set up to be sold in two increments. However, this would have caused the span to cover two different tax years, according to Darrel Fowler of Stern Brothers, bonding agent for the school district. Fowler said the accelerated program will not affect the assessed valuation and will not exceed the six per cent bonding capacity of the school district.

Bond bids for the second phase will be opened and tabulated at 1 p.m., September 14. The school board will award the bid during its regular meeting that evening at 8 o'clock. The first $650,000 in bonds were sold January 13. The balance of $300,000 will be sold prior to January 1, 1977, Fowler said, and will be based on the certified 1976 assessed valuation. Bonds will be paid from ad valorem taxes against all taxable property within the Ruidoso School District.

In other action, the bid for three copy machines was awarded to Neely-James who bid $2685 for three Remington A-3 copiers. Other bidders were The Ink Well, $4190.04; Xerox, $15,600; and Western Office Equipment, $2925.

The Department of Finance and Administration has requested endorsements or letters from agents underwriting liability insurance policies for the school. Board president Dave Parks said, "The Tort Claims Act is virtually unworkable and most public bodies are marking time and doing the best they can until the state legislature convenes and rectifies this bill." Tort Claims was passed last fall and is based on loss of sovereign immunity for public entities.

Budget increases — covering audit, debt service interest, principal workmens compensation, property insurance and surety bond — were approved by the board. Revenue sources to cover the increases are sale of bonds and cash balance.

The board voted to send a letter of commendation to Clifton Neal, a 1976 Ruidoso High graduate, who caught a touchdown pass in the recent North-South football game.

Teachers will attend a general staff meeting August 30 at 8 a.m. From 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., a bilingual education workshop will be directed by Fermin Montes. August 31, Dorothy Crawford will offer special education and diagnostic services to teachers from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. A building meeting is scheduled from 8 - 11:30 a.m. September 1 for teachers. Representatives from the State Board of Education will discuss program review and minimum standards from 1 to 4 p.m. September 2 and 3 will be pre-school half work days, according to Valliant.

School opens Sept. 7-8

It's back to school September 7 for students in grades 1-6 and 9-12. Students in grades 7 and 8 start September 8.

A complete registration schedule for students and parents orientation meeting will be published later this month. Tom Hansen, high school principal, said newcomers to the area may send transcripts to James Sanchez at the high school and can call 257-7324 for information.

"TELL THE WORLD", Karen Taylor, Chamber of Commerce reservationist, said, "that you're from Ruidoso, by putting one of these white and green plates on your car." The plates sell for $2 at the Chamber office on Sudderth with proceeds to be used to further promote Ruidoso and change the "America's Best Kept Secret" image.

JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL construction is well underway at White Mountain School. Some of the rooms in the $1.65 million building project are expected to be ready for occupancy when school begins.

meeting on Wednesday to make any changes or accept the plan as submitted.

Were notified that no bids were received for a new pickup truck for the water department and agreed to re-advertise for bids.

Issued a call for bids on insurance for the Village.

Received notice that the 1976-77 budget had been approved by the State and incorporated this notice in the minutes of the meeting.

Heard a representative group from the River Park Subdivision voice complaints about animals causing a nuisance being kept in the area. The trustees agreed to take action to alleviate the problem.

In action at a special meeting held on Wednesday the Planning and Zoning Commission and the Downs council accepted the final draft of the Comprehensive Plan 1976 subject to revisions or additions of projected future land use, definition of future roads and traffic circulation, project future requirements of public utilities and definition of capital improvements.

The revisions were recommended by Ivan Hall of the Southeastern New Mexico Economic Development District.

The Planning and Zoning Commission also announced their regular meeting at Village Hall, Monday, August 16, 1976 at 7:30 p.m. to adopt Resolution 76-10, for the Comprehensive Plan 1976.

The New Mexico Real Estate Commission and the nominating committee of the Realtors Association of New Mexico will meet Friday, from 10:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at Alto Alps.

Elk, Oryx poachers are fined heavily

Maximum fines and heavy civil penalties totaling more than $3,000 so far have been assessed against three men who illegally killed five elk during hunts on the Mesalero Reservation last fall. One man still faces an additional $1,700 in civil damages.

Officer Roy Owen, N.M. Department of Game and Fish, said the investigation leading to the arrests stretched out for several months. Investigations are continuing and more arrests may be forthcoming, he added. Owen and Richard Barnhart, game department investigator, were assisted in the case by U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service special agent Tom Rilie.

Magistrate Robert Bradley, Alamogordo, heard the cases.

Travis M. Housler, El Paso, was fined $300 on each of two counts of illegal possession of elk and one of exceeding the bag limit for a total of $900 plus $10 court costs. The Game and Fish Department is filing civil assessments against him for $1,700 on behalf of the state. The suit is set to be heard on August 4.

John Sherman, 38, El Paso, was fined $300 on each of two counts of illegal possession of elk, plus $10 court costs, and civil damages of $800.

Johnny F. Moberly, 43, Ruidoso, was fined $300 plus $10 court costs and assessed $400 for illegal possession of one elk.

New Mexico's first known case of oryx poaching has resulted in maximum fines and jail sentences for three Alamogordo area men.

Officer Roy Owen, Alamogordo District Supervisor, N.M. Department of Game and Fish, said he filed charges against the three after being contacted by military police on White Sands Missile Range, where the oryx were first released in 1969.

Heading the military's investigation was Sgt. First Class Gary D. Lewis of WSMR's military police. Sgt. Lewis said he initiated the investigation after hearing rumors that a cow oryx had been killed.

His work led to identification of Kevin M. Wells, 20, as the person who shot the oryx and Steven C. Little, 19, and Alford G. Marchand, 19, as assisting him in butchering it.

The incident occurred July 7, and the arrests were made July 23.

During hearings before Alamogordo Magistrate Robert Bradley, the three were convicted, fined $300 plus $10 court costs each, and sentenced to 90 days in jail.

In addition, the Game and Fish Department assessed civil damages of $2,000 — $666.66 for each defendant — on behalf of the state.

Owen said the civil damages, most ever filed for the loss of a game animal in New Mexico, were as high as could be assessed in magistrate court.

Actual value of a cow oryx to a zoo or game ranch is approximately $4,000, according to the department.

The oryx, African antelope weighing from 400 to 500 pounds, were released on White Sands Missile Range in a cooperative project with the U.S. Army and the Bureau of Land Management, which control the area.

The herd has grown to approximately 150 animals.

Two hunts, limited to a half-dozen permits each year, have been held. They are the only public hunts for these animals ever held in North America.

Lunker San Juan rainbows discovered during electrofishing

N.M. Game and Fish Department fisheries biologists electrofished the San Juan River last week, turning up a lot of trout and a few surprises.

The surprises were two true lunkers — rainbows judged to weigh 15 and 13 pounds — easily surpassing the current state record of 11 lbs. 10 oz. The fish were counted and returned unharmed to the river about a quarter of a mile above the Navajo Post Office.

According to Mike Hatch, game department Northwest Area Fisheries Manager, the river is routinely electrofished to measure growth rates and size composition of the trout population. This year, he added, the department was especially concerned with the number of small fish surviving from fingerling plants.

Trout smaller than 11 inches were removed, measured, weighed and checked for markings which the department placed on 40 per cent of trout planted in the San Juan. Larger trout, such as the two giants, were just counted and the size estimated.

Hatch noted that a larger number of big trout than ever before were turned up by the electrofishing, and that growth rates appear to be excellent.

U. S. SENATE candidate Harrison "Jack" Schmitt, opposing Sen. Joseph Montoya in the general election, was campaigning in Ruidoso and Lincoln County Tuesday. He spoke at a noon luncheon here and in the evening at a meeting at Hondo. "This is a fast trip," Schmitt said, "but I'll be returning to Lincoln County again. From all indications, the campaign is going very well."

by the trustees to "instruct village inspector Chuck Brown to issue a permit in this case."

In other action, the council:

— Were advised by Bill Wolf of Mann Engineering, Roswell, that core drilling at Eagle Creek Dam site is on schedule. "We'll meet with the Forest Service Friday," Wolf said, "on the site, to discuss core drilling and to determine if further drilling will be necessary."

— Were notified by Larry Shafkin of Boyle Engineering that the final draft of the Comprehensive Plan must be completed by Aug. 30, and that Ruidoso's Planning and Zoning Commission will be required to hold a public hearing on the plan, at a date to be set, at which "adopt" or "not adopt" action is to be taken.

— Acknowledged receipt of a $100,000 grant from Health and Social Services Department, State of New Mexico, toward the cost of construction of an additional water treatment plant at Eagle Creek reservoir.

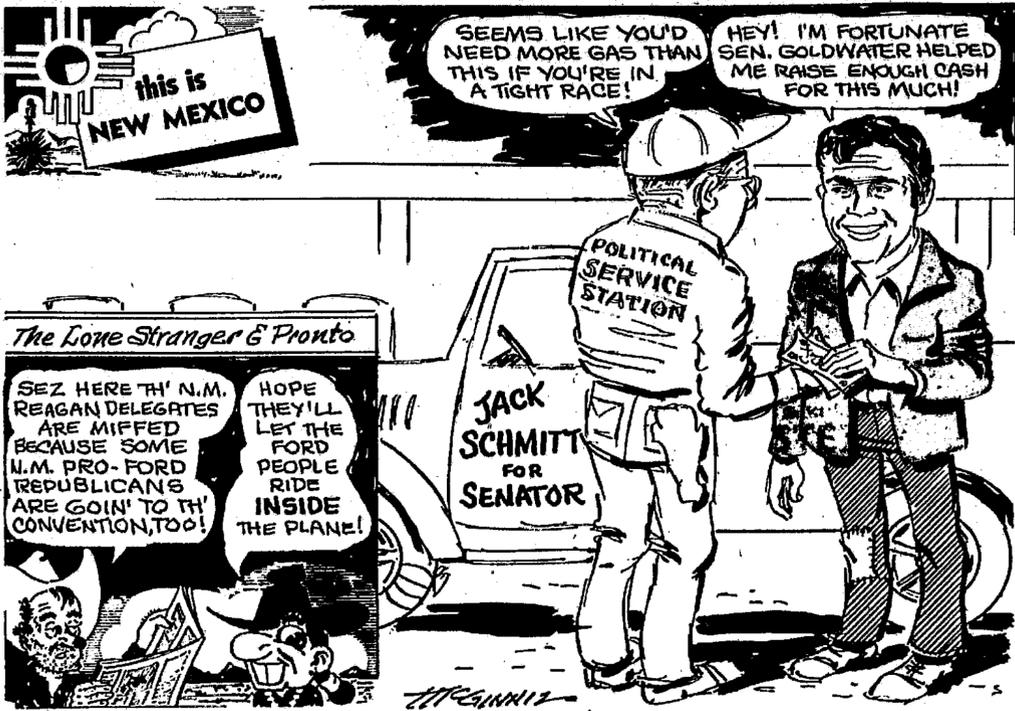

— Approved reducing the Fire Department's operating expenses by $1,578; reducing Lodger's Tax advertising expenses $231 and increasing the income from Solid Waste by $3,594, as budget revisions.

Cadillac party tickets on sale

Only 20 remaining tickets are available for the second annual Cadillac Party to be held Tuesday, August 17 at the Inn of the Mountain Gods, according to Marge Woodul of the Chamber of Commerce.

Tickets can be purchased at the Chamber office and Woodul said she would like to remind persons who have reserved tickets to come by and pick them up.

Fred Heckman, winner of last year's Cadillac, will be master of ceremonies for this year's fete.

Twenty-five members of the White Shrine No. 2 of Artesia were present and, as is their custom, brought all the desserts for the gathering, including pies, cakes, fruit cobblers and home made ice cream.

Among the Texas visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Emmitt Whiteside of Brownwood. He is a 50-year member of five Masonic Bodies.

Going Strong

Country stores may be vanishing from the American scene but you couldn't convince 75-year-old Mrs. F. L. Beck of Taylor's Bridge, North Carolina, a tiny rural community in Sampson County.

Mrs. Beck has been minding the store since 1944, when she and her now-deceased husband settled in Taylor's Bridge with the intention of farming. Almost as an afterthought, the Becks "tacked the store on the house," Mrs. Beck said in a recent interview with a writer from The National Council on the Aging.

Mrs. Beck is originally from Maysville, Alabama, another small southern town. She met her husband in Alabama and her life became a series of moves through agricultural towns of Alabama and Georgia.

"My husband was a farmer," Mrs. Beck said, "and he went where the work was. One year we moved half a dozen times."

When the Depression swept the country, the Becks tightened their belts like so many other people had to do. Mrs. Beck turned to her talent for hooking rugs to help support her husband and six children.

"I used to sell my rugs for half-cash and half-trade," Mrs. Beck said. "With the cash I'd buy food and clothes and with the trade I'd get material to hook more rugs. I even had my husband hooking them, and you want to know something? He could do them faster than me."

The Becks rode out the Depression and emerged unscathed, if a bit slimmer. Mr. Beck resumed farming again, until the United States entered World War II. Then, lured by the high wages paid in defense plants, he went to work in a shipyard. With the money they saved, the Becks bought their place in Taylor's Bridge, where Mrs. Beck has been ever since.

During the 1940s, Mrs. Beck had no time to hook the rugs that had helped see them through the Depression but in recent years she's resumed her handiwork.

Mrs. Beck's output is so prolific, that if a person didn't know better, Beck's Grocery Store could just as easily be called Beck's Rug Store. Colorful skeins of wool hang from nails driven into the grocery shelves and rugs of various size and design dominate the small, one-room store.

"Sometimes I think I keep the store open just to sell my rugs," Mrs. Beck said with a smile. "If the truth be known, I make more money from them than I do from groceries."

For the prices she charges, it's no wonder she sells a lot of rugs. A 3x5 foot rug costs $20 and other, smaller rugs are priced accordingly.

"I really make them more as a hobby than for profit," Mrs. Beck said. "I know I could charge a lot more but I'd be making them anyway. I'm the sort of person who just has to keep busy."

Would Mrs. Beck ever consider selling her store? "Oh, no," she said quickly. "I'm never going to retire. I enjoy my work too much to ever quit."

DR. BILL MARQUARDT, 61, of Cheyenne, Wyoming, has devised a unique way of combining exercise and travel. He's riding a bicycle around the world. The trip will total more than 20,000 miles and if Dr. Marquardt sticks to his projected 80 miles a day, he figures the trip will take him 18 months.

Ruidoso coach does well in open tourney

Jim Isham, Pinecliff Village tennis coach, reached the quarter-finals in two events in the Hobbs Open Tennis Tournament last weekend.

In mixed doubles, Isham and Lorraine Corrico defeated the seeded team of Cindy Thompson and Charlie Jarva of Carlsbad to meet Lindy Woods and Laura Booker of Hobbs in the quarter-finals.

In men's open doubles, Isham and Wilson Alvarez of NMMI lost the quarterfinals match to second seeded Dan Freundlieb of Switzerland and David Ochotorena of NMSU.

Isham and Bill Thompson of Albuquerque dropped a three set second round match to Ernie Booth and Don Freisen, of Carlsbad, in men's doubles.

"There were more than 150 entrants in the Hobbs tournament," Isham said, "with more than ten ranked players from the southwest, including Jim Noble of Las Cruces, Charles Jurva of Carlsbad and Dan McGeown of Australia."

Fisher charged on two counts

Paul Cecil Fisher, Jr., 32, was arraigned this week in Carrizozo magistrate court on two counts of being a fugitive from justice for probation violation in Texas.

Fisher, formerly of Ruidoso, is being held at the county jail pending extradition and bond was set at $10,000 on each count with ten per cent bail not allowed.

He was arraigned Monday on a warrant from Ector county and Tuesday on a warrant from Gaines county, Texas.

Fisher was arrested Saturday night at a local lounge by Ruidoso Downs police.

In a separate arraignment, Donna Johnson, 18, also formerly of Ruidoso, was charged with larceny and placed under a $2500 bond.

She was arrested in Las Cruces Sunday.

Camelot road construction started

Construction of six miles of gravel-surfaced road to serve 900 acres in the Camelot development began Wednesday morning.

The road will serve the proposed Good Samaritan Nursing Home on Dude Mesa as well as residential developments and Camelot Village, a resort complex scheduled for completion in the fall of 1977.

Water transmission lines will be installed as the road is built, with electric and telephone lines to be added later.

The project, with Co-Con of Albuquerque as contractors, is to be completed within 120 days.

"Seventy-seven tracts of land, five acres and up, will be served by this road," Camelot president Alan Jeffcoat said, "and we have contracts for homes costing in excess of $100,000 to be built on these tracts."

"We are completing planning and design of 96 condominiums that will be incorporated in this 900 acre development. Camelot Mountain will be an important economic factor in the development of Ruidoso as one of the finest resort areas in the southwest."

Regional Forester named

Jean Hassell, a forester with wide experience in the Southwest, has been named Regional Forester for the Southwestern Region of the Forest Service. He succeeds the retired William D. Hurst.

Hassell, who had been a Deputy Regional Forester under Hurst, was named to the new post by Forest Service Chief John McGuire. In the new job, Hassell will be responsible for administering 21 million acres of National Forest land in Arizona and New Mexico and the National Grasslands of New Mexico, western Oklahoma and northwestern Texas.

Much of Hassell's 23-year career has been spent in the Southwest. After graduating with honors in forestry from Utah State University in 1958, Hassell served as Assistant District Ranger and Ranger on the Kaibab, Coconino and Prescott National Forests in Arizona.

BULLDOZING SIX MILES OF roads on the top of Camelot Mountain got underway Wednesday, to serve residential development on a 900 acre tract.

From the left, Alan Jeffcoat, Camelot president; Lee Smith, Co-Con vice president; Ab Gunter of Camelot and Richard Sparks of

State Fair ticket sales going well

Ticket sales for the 1976 New Mexico State Fair are running well ahead of previous years, fair officials reported today.

"Opening day sales were about 25 per cent ahead of first day sales last year, and that's a good sign," says Manager Finlay MacGillivray.

He indicated daily sales at box offices and by mail has been running steadily over last year's advance.

"This shows that our star lineup of Freddy Fender, Roy Clark, Jerry Reed and Tanya Tucker apparently is a good one, and folks want to see them," he added.

Fender will headline Tingley Coliseum shows for three days, Wednesday through Friday, Sept. 15-17. The Wednesday, Sept. 15, booking is to headline the Spanish Heritage Show, without rodeo competitions. The other two nights he will be featured with the cowboy sport. Fender will be backed by the popular contemporary music group, The Spinning Wheel.

Reed will be in the rodeo spotlight Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 18-19.

Clark will star at the rodeo Monday through Wednesday, Sept. 20-22.

Miss Tucker will be on stage the final three nights of the rodeo, Thursday through Saturday, Sept. 23-25.

Tickets for the rodeo shows, Spanish Heritage and racing, are on sale daily from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. at State Fair box offices at San Pedro Gate No. 4. The box office is also open from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturdays.

Ticket orders may also be mailed to: Tickets, Box 8548, Albuquerque, N.M. 87108.

Reserved seats are priced at $4 each. Orders must include a 50 cent mailing service charge.

The 39th annual New Mexico State Fair — The Biggest Show in New Mexico — will be held in Albuquerque Sept. 15-26, with the pari-mutuel horse racing meet to get underway Sept. 11.

EARLY GRAVES . . . marked with rocks

NEWER GRAVES . . . tended by relatives and friends

The church bell tolls no more

BY BILLIE SURMICK
Staff Writer

It stands in a mournful disrepair and neglect — a church forgotten — surrounded only by those who have departed this earth.

The ceiling is falling down, the thick adobe walls sag. A large crucifix behind the altar looks out upon a host of pigeons and their leavings.

The baptismal leans against one crumbled wall and the wooden pews are in disarray within the narrow confines of the chapel.

A dusty marble slab in the center aisle floor silently proclaims, "In Memory of Ysidro Sisneros . . ." and valley residents say his bones lie beneath the marker.

By 1880, Indian raids had subsided and the Lincoln County War had settled with the dust. Some 15 Spanish families had arrived in the Ruidoso-Hondo valley and the search for a parish priest began.

Father Sambrano was resident pastor in Lincoln, the county seat. He agreed to be circuit pastor and offered mass in private homes about once a month in the valley.

With the presence and guidance of Father Sambrano, the valley people built San Patricio chapel. Tranquilino Montoya was the builder who was assisted by the parishoners and materially assisted by Ysidro Sisneros. The chapel was begun in 1884 and completed in 1885.

Father Sambrano was killed in a runaway horse accident in 1894 and San Patricio once again began its search for a priest.

By this time, San Jose chapel in Picacho and San Ysidro in Glencoe were built and a monthly mass schedule was set up. The priest's schedule was a grueling one as he covered Lincoln County on horseback and rarely slept in the same place more than a night at a time. Often months would pass and the priest was unable to cover the territory. Shrines began to appear in private homes and are still in evidence today. Through the 1920's, mass was offered irregularly.

Native rocks marked the first graves in the old church cemetery. Sometimes a name or date was etched in the rock. At that time, graves were dug seven feet deep and excavation of more recent graves began to interfere with the existing ones.

The marker on a priest's grave next to the church wall reads, "Forgive Them For They Know Not What They Do" and valley people claim they do not know why this particular inscription was used. They say the old priest lived in San Patricio but was never a pastor at the San Patricio chapel. They remember that some consternation was expressed when the priest was buried at the corner of the chapel. One man said, "He picked the best spot in the cemetery and didn't even attend church that often."

The county seat changed from Lincoln to Carrizozo with the development of the railroad and Father Di Giovanni became resident pastor of St. Rita's in Carrizozo. All chapels in the Ruidoso-Hondo Valley were among his missions. With the construction of St. Eleanor's in Ruidoso in 1932, the upper valley churches became missions of this church and the lower valley chapels remained missions of Carrizozo.

By the 1960's, the original 15 families had grown to more than 200 families, within three generations. Father Laurier A. Lebreche, then serving St. Eleanor's in Ruidoso, headed the drive to build a central church for all valley residents.

St. Jude Thaddeus was built in San Patricio — about one and a half miles from the old San Patricio chapel — by J. J. Di Paolo. It was dedicated September 26, 1967.

The San Patricio chapel had served its purpose.

Story time at Ruidoso Public Library today from 3 to 3:30 includes "Never Talk to Strangers", "Big Tracks, Little Tracks" and "Surprise for Nancy."

Two films will be presented Saturday from 11 a.m. to 12 noon. They are "Animal Bites and Rabies" and "Adventures of Junior Raindrop."

Sheriff lists July activities

By the end of July, Lincoln County Sheriff's department had recovered money taken in an armed bank robbery, investigated 11 burglaries, made 12 arrests and had a full house in the county jail.

Sheriff's men also investigated two assaults and recovered a stolen car.

Present home matches view to a "T."

This original design takes full advantage of both a waterfront view and factory engineering.

The primary living area of this unique cedar home angles forward with view windows on all sides — forming the vertical in what is basically a T-shape. (That distinctive, square-topped roof peak encloses the fireplace chimney.) But the bedrooms also share the outlook and the drama, with ceilings that angle upward to a peak of 13 ft. on the view side.

Access is via a lower-level family area and spiral staircase, or an outside stairway to the upper-level deck. Total living area: 1,856 sq. ft., plus 515 sq. ft. of deck.

interest coupons shall be payable to bearer, on July 1, 1977, and semi-annually thereafter on July 1 and January 1 of each year.

EACH INTEREST RATE specified and evidenced by any coupon must be stated in multiples of one-eighth or one-twentieth of 1% per annum. Bids involving supplemental coupons, or split interest rates will not be considered, and all bonds of one maturity must bear the same interest rate.

THE BONDS are the third and final installment of the $5,000,000 of the Village General Obligation Water Bonds that were authorized at an election held on October 6, 1974. The Village has issued General Obligation Water Bonds, Series 1975, dated February 1, 1975, in the aggregate principal amount of $1,000,000, which bond issue has subsequently been refunded, together with all of the Village's outstanding General Obligation Bonds, into Village of Ruidoso General Obligation Refunding Bonds, Series 1975, dated October 15, 1975, in the aggregate principal amount of $2,370,000, and Village of Ruidoso General Obligation Water Bonds Series 1976, dated April 1, 1976, in the aggregate principal amount of $2,000,000.

IT IS ANTICIPATED that CUSIP identification numbers will be printed on said bonds, but neither the failure to print such number on any bond nor any error with respect thereto shall constitute cause for a failure or refusal by the purchaser thereof to accept delivery of and pay for said bonds in accordance with the terms of the purchase contract. All expenses in relation to the printing of CUSIP numbers on said bonds shall be paid for by the Village of Ruidoso, New Mexico. The CUSIP Service Bureau charge for the assignment of said numbers shall be the responsibility of and shall be paid for by the purchaser.

NO PROVISION will be made for the registration of bonds for payment. The bonds of said issue shall constitute the Village's General Obligation Bonds, and shall be payable from general (ad valorem) taxes levied against all taxable property in the Village, without limitation as to rate or amount.

BIDDERS ARE REQUIRED to submit an unconditional written bid for all of the bonds of said issue, specifying (a) the lowest rate of interest and premium, (b) the lowest rate of interest and premium, and (c) the lowest rate of interest at which the bidder will purchase the bonds at par. All bids must be submitted in the Official Bid Form, copies of which may be obtained from the Village Clerk, Municipal Building, Ruidoso, New Mexico 88345. Proposals should be enclosed in a sealed envelope, marked on the outside "Proposal for Purchase of General Obligation Bonds" and addressed to Mr. James L. Hine, Village Clerk, Municipal Building, Ruidoso, New Mexico 88345.

THE BONDS will be awarded to the highest and best bidder, on the basis of the lowest rate or rates specified and the premium offered. If any, and subject to the right of the Village to reject any and all bids and re-advertise. The best bid for said issue will be determined by deducting the amount of the premium bid, if any, from the total of interest which the Village would be required to pay from the date of the bonds to the respective maturity dates of the coupon rate or rates specified in the proposal, and the award will be made on the basis of the lowest net interest cost to the Village. The purchaser must pay accrued interest from the date of the bonds to the date of delivery. None of the bonds will be sold for less than par and accrued interest, and no discount or commission will be allowed or paid on the sale of the bonds. The Village reserves the privilege of waiving any irregularity or informality in any bid.

ALL BIDS shall be sealed and except for the bid of the State of New Mexico, if one received, shall be accompanied by a deposit of two percent (2%) of the amount of the bid, i.e., the principal amount of the bonds, being $40,000, either cash or certified check drawn on a solvent bank or trust company, which shall be returned if the bid is not accepted; and if the successful bidder for said issue shall fail or neglect to complete the purchase within the thirty (30) days following the acceptance of the bid, or within 100 days after the bonds are offered for delivery, whichever is later, the amount of the deposit shall be forfeited to the Village, and in that event the Board of Trustees may accept the bid of the one making the next best bid, or if all bids are rejected, the Board of Trustees may re-advertise said bonds for sale. If there be two or more equal bids for said issue and such bids are the best bids received and for not less than par and accrued interest, the Board of Trustees shall determine which bid shall be accepted.

THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES shall take action awarding the bonds or rejecting all bids for said issue not later than twenty-four (24) hours after the expiration of the time herein prescribed for the receipt of bids. Delivery of the bonds of said issue will be made to the successful bidder at a bank in Albuquerque, New Mexico, or at the successful bidder's request and at his expense, delivery will be made elsewhere as requested. The successful bidder will not be required to accept delivery of the bonds if they are not tendered for delivery within sixty (60) days from the date herein stated for opening bids; and the good faith deposit will thereafter be returned to the successful bidder upon his request.

Kokanee salmon taking over in Navajo Lake

Kokanee salmon may be replacing rainbow trout as the dominant trout species in Navajo Lake, according to a recent game department population survey.

The department routinely runs gill nets in the lake to determine bass reproduction, measure the presence of small channel catfish and study distribution of kokanee and rainbow trout, said Mike Hatch, Northwest Area Fisheries Manager. Last week's gill netting, he added, was especially aimed at measuring the population of rainbow trout — and none were seen.

Hatch explained that trout fishing has been down in the Navajo for the past two or three years — while trout plants have remained constant — and the department is trying to determine why. At the same time, there has been a substantial increase in the size and catch rate of kokanee salmon, said Hatch.

The kokanee's success is probably due to its ability to feed on microscopic organisms throughout its life, he said. As trout grow they require larger food forms, such as smaller fish, but Navajo has no large population of forage fish, such as shad.

"Kokanee may well become the dominant trout species in Navajo Lake within the next few years," he said. "Without a doubt, kokanee are carrying the lake at this time."

A similar trend has been seen in many Western trout lakes in recent years, said Hatch, providing anglers with more fishing opportunity than is normally afforded by trout. While trout fishing is depressed in summer, he explained, kokanee are still running strong, and they also provide an excellent snagging season during the October spawn.

Hatch said that the failure to gill net any rainbow trout last week is not necessarily too significant — this is not prime time for the species. Another gill netting will be run in November when conditions should be good for trout.

The department may experiment with planting larger trout in Navajo, to see if lack of food or competition from the kokanee are responsible for the trout decline — or if the trout are being preyed on by other fish when they are planted as fingerlings.

The recent survey also turned up hundreds of small bass, indicating this was a good year for natural reproduction — the department has not planted bass in the lake for three years.

Also present, said Hatch, were several small channel catfish, an indication of good natural reproduction for this species.

Exceptions are made

Law enforcement officers receive heavy daily burdens of mail including warrants, bulletins, wanted circulars and bills. Every once in awhile, they get a note which lightens the burden.

Tuesday, Lincoln County Sheriff's department received a letter scrawled with varied colored pencils and wiggly lines. Two little girls in Albuquerque, ages nine and ten, wrote to say they collect police patches and would the department please send them one.

Ralph Romero, deputy sheriff, grinned and said, "Due to their ages, we'll probably honor the request, but because it can be an expensive proposition, we don't usually do this."

SANTA FE — An all-Reagan, 21-vote New Mexico delegation, strongly opposed to liberal Pennsylvania Sen. Richard Schweiker but committed to Reagan "all the way," prepared to go to the Republican National Convention in Kansas City opening Monday.

Our poll of the 42-member delegation showed ex-Texas Gov. John Connally is its first choice for vice president with Tennessee Sen. Howard Baker running second. Only a handful of delegation members accept Reagan's choice of Sen. Schweiker as his running mate if the ex-California governor beats Gerald Ford for the GOP presidential nomination. U.S. Sen. Pete Domenici, Albuquerque, was among vice-presidential prospects Ford was weighing in a widespread survey. The Ford-Reagan race was still razor-close near the convention showdown.

Heron Lake State Park, Rio Arriba County, scored the biggest gain in the state parks system in visitations in January - June, up 181 per cent from 39,541 to 111,166 over the same 1975 span. Kit Carson State Park, Taos, registered the second largest increase in visitations, up 175 per cent from 77,664 to 213,652 in the same span. Caballo Lake State Park near Truth or Consequences was up 9.7 per cent from 256,396 to 281,240. Elephant Butte Lake State Park, also near Truth or Consequences and the longtime leader in visitations, was up a big 71.7 per cent from 679,156 to 1,166,266 in January - June over 1975.

Navajo Lake State Park near Aztec scored a substantial gain. Navajo's visitations were up 26 per cent from 133,900 to 168,817. Valley of Fires near Carrizozo scored an 11 per cent boost, up from 27,654 to 30,701. Clayton Lake State Park, Union County, was up 16 per cent to 36,638 visitations. Sumner Lake State Park near Fort Sumner was down 66 per cent to 16,391 and El Vado Lake State Park, Rio Arriba County, was also down 28 per cent to 17,102 in January - June. Overall visitations in the 28 state parks are up a big 36 per cent for January - June over 1975.

The State Parks and Recreation Commission was set to receive a staff proposal Thursday (Aug. 12) at its meeting near Tucumanari to develop a state park at Los Esteros Reservoir seven miles northeast of Santa Rosa. The U.S. Corps of Engineers is building the federal reservoir. State Parks Director Sam Graft said a state park at Los Esteros Reservoir "would cost about $200,000 for startup and first year costs and about $77,000 a year to operate thereafter." Graft said Los Esteros Reservoir "will probably reduce the water content at Sumner Lake about half but it will decrease sediment in Sumner Lake and probably increase Sumner Lake's life about 100 per cent." Both are on the Pecos River.

Graft said 75 per cent of new camping units and other improvements at Sims Mesa Site and shoreline and marina improvements at Pine River Site at Navajo Lake State Park are finished in an $81,000 project. Boat ramp improvements at both Navajo park sites are 60 per cent complete in a $131,285 project. Capital improvements at Elephant Butte and Caballo Lake State Parks are 50 per cent finished in a $122,500-outlay. Conversion of an electrical system and other improvements are 5 per cent complete at Kit Carson State Park, Taos.

Phase I construction of new Smokey Bear State Park, Capitan, is 75 per cent completed in a $100,000 expenditure for land acquisition, retaining walls, irrigation system and landscape construction. Heron Lake Park improvements are 65 to 80 per cent finished. El Vado Park improvements are 20 per cent complete. State-federal soil and moisture conservation programs are in operation for $15,000 a year each at Navajo Lake and Elephant Butte Lake State Parks, Graft said. The January - June concession income at Navajo Lake State Park jumped from $6,000 to $9,562 over 1975.

After Senate Majority Leader C. B. Trujillo, D-Taos, strongly recommended his brother, Levi Trujillo, 31, of Espanola for promotion to assistant district engineer for construction, Levi received the promotion. District Highway Engineer Ed Lucero of Santa Fe District 5 said Sen. Trujillo's recommendation was "a contributing but not the decisive factor" in the promotion. Lucero said: "Sen. Trujillo phoned me. He recommended Levi highly and wanted us to understand that if there was any possibility that he would like to see Levi in the job." He said Levi Trujillo was the only applicant for the job among 13 who was recommended by a legislator. Levi's new pay is $20,832 a year. He has been a full-time State Highway Department employee 5½ years. He is a registered professional engineer, a product of the SHD-New Mexico State University program.

The State Aviation Board considered applications for money for projects from the towns of Taos, Fort Sumner, Cuba and Estancia today (Thursday, Aug. 12) at a meeting in Ruidoso in Ruidoso Municipal Library. A report on the Sierra Blanca Airport master plan was set to be presented.

The New Mexico Oil Conservation Commission's Richard Stamets said: "I presume the big Federal Power Commission natural gas price increase will cause New Mexico well drilling and exploration to go up at a fairly rapid rate." Stamets said top New Mexico casinghead gas producing counties, in order, are Lea, Eddy, San Juan, and Rio Arriba Counties. Biggest "dry" gas producing counties, in order, are San Juan, Eddy, Rio Arriba and Lea, Stamets said. A court challenge by environmental and consumer organizations against the price hike is causing New Mexico producers to be cautious, he said.

If you wonder why visitors to our great democracy from other political philosophies are confused about our judicial system, consider that in the US of A a person can have to post a $25,000 cash bond on a marijuana charge, but let the charge be murder and the suspect can be walking the streets by putting up $500. — CD

by billie surmick

What's in a name? A recent wire story related possible revamp of the electric chair execution process — spokesman was Warden Crisp. A company in west Texas making caskets is Box Bros. A local columnist who writes about the weather is Daniel Storm. And in Colorado — a Latter Day Saints bishop's name is Bishop which makes him Bishop Bishop. A loan arranger is named Lone. A Denver weather forecaster's name didn't match his profession so he had his name legally changed to Weatherman Bowman.

The Army did not "massacre" any half-starved Indians at Wounded Knee in December, 1890. They "encountered" and "did battle with" . . . at least that's what they're telling the Senate Judiciary Committee in a 23-page brief prepared by the Judge Advocate General's office.

A correspondent filed his eye-witness account in the December 30, 1890 issue of the Omaha Bee: "Now that the Indians were flying where they might, it was easier to reach them. Gatling and Hotchkiss guns were trained and began a heavy firing . . . It was a war of extermination . . . tactics were almost abandoned. It was to kill while it could be done until not an Indian was in sight." And the Grand Forks Plaindealer headlined: "Col. Forsythe Criticized: War Department Finds Fault With Him For Killing Squaws and Paposes."

These on-the-scene reports were probably just a "pack of lies" and today's Army tells the real truth some 85 years after the fact.

The Army did not cause the death of thousands of sheep in Utah either, but it paid out almost $400,000 to ranchers in the Army testing site area. Now, some 50 wild horses lie dead near this same testing site, but the Army says it is not responsible. Maybe it's swine flu.

It's a wee world we live in. A doctor in Capitan was called to the scene of a motorcycle-car accident Thursday. He gave cursory examination to the helmeted rider and called for an ambulance. An off-duty sheriff's deputy was taking information from the cyclist when the doctor heard the name of his home town mentioned. Upon closer mutual examination, the doctor and patient recognized each other as being from the same small town in Washington.

When apologies, retractions and/or corrections are in order, I'll be the first in line to offer them. When they are not, let the chips fall where they may — be it on bruised egos, hurt pride or uninformed persons. Who among us, when looking at a photograph of ourself, does not think the photographer should have done a more flattering job?

NO ONE TOLD US

One of the problems in getting newsworthy activities of home town people into the home town newspaper is that no one tells the newspaper.

Comes now the Department of Education up in Santa Fe . . . with a great news story about Melanie McGuire, RHS junior and daughter of Mickey and Ruth McGuire.

The D of E said Melanie would be attending a FHA national leadership meeting in St. Louis . . . this month . . . that was in the first paragraph of a long and informative news release. The item was mailed from Santa Fe Aug. 5.

In the third paragraph the D of E said that Melanie had participated in many leadership workshops . . . July 12-15.

What hurts is that Melanie's selection to the leadership conference . . . D of E said . . . "is one of the highest honors an FHA chapter member can achieve" . . . and D of E apparently is so enthused about Melanie's selection that they got around to letting The News know about it . . . exactly 30 days late.

Anyhow . . . congratulations Melanie . . . and it is to be hoped that, as you ogled that Lewis and Clark arch, you were duly impressed with the responsibilities incumbent upon those in positions of leadership.

And if you get up to Santa Fe . . . and a chance to visit the D of E . . . feel free to tweak the nose of whoever was responsible for gross negligence in not making timely recognition of your achievement possible . . . and . . . Melanie . . . tweak that proboscis good . . . real good . . . just for the personal satisfaction you'll derive . . . 'cause anyone that irresponsible isn't going to profit from chastisement . . . and further, the individual could even be wondering what happened to his/her last merit raise.

MILLION BUCK RACE

Come Labor Day and ten quarter horses will charge out of the starting gate at Ruidoso Downs for a 20-second . . . or thereabouts . . . straight away sprint that'll bring the winner some $300,000 and lasting fame . . . and if'n the winner's a colt, he'll eventually have duties other than racing . . . if it's a gelding . . . well, there's always the lasting fame. If'n the winner's a filly . . . I presume the owner gets rich . . . and the filly gets . . . among other things . . . oats.

Which brings to mind the upcoming filming of "Casey's Shadow" . . . a genuine theatre-type movie that'll give non-horse racing types a colorful peek at the $million race at Ruidoso Downs . . . and the viewers'll know that the purse is a fact . . . and the story is fiction . . . but, by jinkies, Ruidoso Downs'll become known . . . known as it'd probably never be possible for it to become known . . . when this movie is flashed upon the silver screens nationwide.

The biggest problem with this movie . . . if'n whole herds of local people get to try their hand at acting . . . is that Ruidoso/Ruidoso Downs doesn't boast a genuine walk in, have a seat, tilting floor theatre, to hold the world premiere . . . and that seems like a crying shame.

BRIEF BIT: Uncontrolled price ceilings on natural gas could well be the best thing that ever happened . . . to the bottled gas industry. . . CD

It not, and the selection is a sop to a segment of the population for votes in November, then one hopes the vast majority rejects this political play in a process and selection which could vitally affect the life of every American. — The News-Bulletin, Belen

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:
I have just now read the article written by Billie Surmick about my friend George Leonard.

I have known Mr. Leonard and his devoted wife Maurine for many, many years. It makes me very happy to learn that he is able to smile and look forward to the future in view of the physical happenings that he has suffered.

I myself am not a lawyer, but I served in the Texas legislature for 21 years; my father, two uncles and four brothers were lawyers. And I have heard them remark about what a good lawyer George Leonard is. And I know this also from actual knowledge, George Leonard is a brilliant mind, and a fighter.

Ruidoso should be proud to have him.

Sincerely,
David W. Ratliff

Dear Editor:
We own property in Ruidoso, and have for many years. We have in the past enjoyed long walks over the hills, even walking to town, and have felt it a good place for our children and grandchildren to play and take hikes.

At the present time, we feel this situation no longer exists, at least in our neighborhood, because of the many vicious dogs which are allowed to run loose. Even to walk around the block, you are subject to being attacked while walking down the street.

I feel this should be brought to the attention of the proper authorities and corrected before some one is badly hurt.

Mrs. T. E. Price

THE OIL INDUSTRY

A big question facing the country is whether or not Congress should dismantle (push for divestiture) the U.S. oil industry.

Much of the public is suspicious that oil companies are forming a collusion to set prices of gas and oil. Recent raises appeared timely for extra driving during the summer months. Two retail gasoline price hikes came during the same month that oil imports dropped substantially.

However, despite suspicions on the part of the public, we need to ask ourselves if we really want the federal government to control the oil industry. Take a look at what Uncle Sam has done with the postal service, transportation, etc.

The oil companies are powerful. They handle a lot of money. There is a question as to whether they should be allowed to invest in completely unrelated businesses, such as a big retail corporation that has no relation to the oil industry.

On the other hand, the oil industry contends it is highly competitive. No oil company, they say, holds more than 10 percent of the marketing, refining or producing functions.

There are more than 8,000 companies engaged in production, some 130 in refining and about 15,000 in wholesale marketing. Nationally, about 150 brands of gasoline are sold.

Pat Pereau is a people person. She enjoys people. Pat is also Head Teller at the Ruidoso State Bank in Ruidoso. And her job is to supervise the other tellers, and help them . . . help you. It's a big job. And a very interesting one to Pat, because during her day she's dedicated to handling your problems. Assisting you in a dozen different ways.

It takes a particular kind of person like Pat to make a good bank better . . . A happy face. A nice smile. Taking the time to treat you as a person and not a number. Making you feel at home. Going out of her way to help. That's what Pat and the Ruidoso State Bank are all about.

Pat, and others like her . . . throughout our Lincoln County Banking family, have made our bank what it is today. A bank full of interested, professional people . . . whose ultimate goal is your banking friendship.

THE MAN WITH THE PLAN

Grazing revisions being proposed

The Department of the Interior has proposed revised regulations for the management of livestock grazing on lands administered by the Bureau of Land Management (BLM). If adopted, this would be the first significant change in the Federal Range Code in nearly forty years. Recent laws, such as the National Environmental Policy Act, the Wild Horse and Burro Act, and the Endangered Species Act require modernized grazing practices to effect multiple use management of the public lands, the Department noted.

The revised regulation would enable the Bureau to emphasize the consideration of environmental values and other resource uses in the allocation of grazing and in the development, construction and maintenance of range improvements. These include wildlife habitat, wild horses and burros, recreation, watershed, and cultural values. The Department pointed out that few major changes have been made to the regulations adopted shortly after passage of the Taylor Grazing Act in 1934. The chief objectives of those regulations — to allocate livestock forage and designate grazing areas — were essentially accomplished by the mid 1960's.

The regulations under consideration, if adopted, would provide more flexibility for the livestock operator and expand his economic opportunities, the Department maintains. Under present regulations, in areas suited to seasonal use, the operator has to produce sufficient feed for his livestock for a specified period of the year on property he owns or controls. Under the new regulations there would be no such requirement.

The revisions are aimed at achieving uniform grazing management of all BLM-administered lands, exclusive of Alaska. Grazing on lands both within and outside grazing districts established by the Taylor Grazing Act would be governed by the same rules rather than under the different requirements of existing regulations.

Under the revised regulations, permits would be issued to authorize grazing use within grazing districts. Outside the districts, grazing use would be authorized by lease.

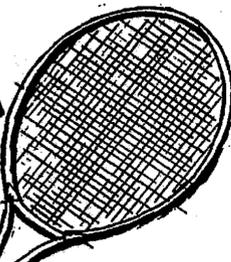

The regulations would designate two types of grazing areas — management and custodial. Management areas are those needing intensive livestock management to protect and improve public land resources. Seasons of use, numbers of livestock, areas to be grazed, and sequence of grazing use would be specified in the permits or leases. For the custodial areas, only limited stipulations would be needed, since livestock grazing would have limited impact on the resources.

Management and custodial permits and leases would be issued for periods of up to 10 years. A regular permit or lease for up to three years would be issued when a management or custodial permit or lease had not been issued. The regular permit or lease would be an interim measure until management or custodial permit or lease could be developed.

The proposed regulations discourage unlawful use of grazing areas by increasing the trespass charge. In addition to activities now prohibited on the public lands, the revised regulations would prohibit unauthorized destruction of vegetation, and placing feed or mineral supplements for livestock on the public lands without authorization. Should permittees or lessees be convicted of a violation of wildlife or conservation laws and regulations in connection with their grazing operation on the public lands, they may be subject to a suspension, reduction, or revocation of their grazing privileges, the Department says.

Regulations reflecting these changes were published in the Federal Register on July 28 as proposed rulemaking. Comments, suggestions, or objections with respect to the proposed rules may be sent to the Director (210), BLM, Washington, D.C., 20240, until October 1, 1976.

INN OF THE MT. GODS

No visitor should leave the area without a drive out Carrizo Canyon, on to the Mesclero Apache Reservation and see one of America's newest and most plush mountain resorts — the Inn of the Mountain Gods.

Located three miles from downtown Ruidoso in a valley known as Clenegita, the Inn, with its unique design, enhances the beautiful natural surroundings, and in keeping with the policy of the Apache tribe, is not cluttered with billboards or flashing neon signs — just pure and natural beauty.

The menu in the lush dining room will delight the choosiest of gourmets with its selection of fine steaks and seafoods. If the offering of the food doesn't "grab" you, the view of Sierra Blanca through the glass wall surely will. The best of dining with a view is just before sundown — it's "Indescribably delicious."

Live entertainment is featured on the mezzanine floor in the Ina-da Ba-coo-wa room for a delightful evening of dancing or listening. Two other lounges are conveniently located for your preference.

For that special evening of good food, dancing or just visiting, the Inn of the Mountain Gods provides classic simplicity for beautiful memories.

Tricentennial Century

HONORING A PROPHET
 Robert A. Heinlein is Guest of Honor in Kansas City this September at the 34th World Science Fiction Convention. Some six thousand of his fans and friends and fellow writers are honoring him as a prophetic writer who has looked far ahead of our tricentennial century.

A native of Missouri, Heinlein was a 1927 graduate of the U. S. Naval Academy. Health problems forced his retirement from the Navy in 1934, and he tried gold mining, politics, real estate, and architecture, without great success, before he earned recognition as the foremost living science fiction writer.

He has been a friend of mine since he began writing, about 1940. At that time he was living in Hollywood, and I remember many Saturday evening meetings of our informal "Manana Literary Society" in his Laurel Canyon home, where we sipped a little dry sherry and talked about possible futures, fictional or factual.

The futures he foresees have always been drawn with a decent regard for the facts of science and the realities of human nature. Most of his early stories were carefully fitted into a consistent future history of the human race, and the passing years have proved him a farsighted prophet. (In 1941, four years before the first A-bombs exploded, he was exploring the problems of controlling nuclear weapons in a novelette called "Solution Unsatisfactory.")

His best-known novel is "Stranger in a Strange Land," which was once a sort of counter-culture bible — though Heinlein himself is politically conservative. His newest novel, "Time Enough For Love," is about Lazarus Long, who lives through 2000 years of the future, surely time enough.

His most lasting work, I suspect, will be the "juvenile" novels he wrote for Scribner's, under such titles as "Red Planet," "Starman Jones," and "Farmer in the Sky." Rereading these recently, I found them as good as ever. The main characters are young people, and the action moves fast, but Heinlein never writes down. Human or alien, the people are real. Their problems are those we are going to face. The science is generally accurate, the futurology carefully thought out.

Taken as a group, the books dramatize our possible future conquest of space. The first, "Rocket Ship Galileo," opens with three boys in a back yard testing a crude homemade rocket. The last, "Have Space Suit — Will Travel," ends with the young hero returning to our galaxy from the Lesser Magellanic Cloud, where he has triumphantly represented the human race in a trial before the judges of the Three Galaxies.

What I like best about these books is Heinlein's optimism. His young people are healthy, confident, and competent. Their future worlds are often pretty grim: food is rationed, governments are bad, disasters happen. Yet life is worth living. Science solves problems. Technology can be used for good.

Though misused technology causes frightening dilemmas, I think we need this kind of optimism. Our world morale was better when these books were written. Our recent loss of faith in our future and our science and ourselves will surely be a global tragedy if it is not recovered. Bob Heinlein's cheerful faith can help us, and I am glad to see him honored. Dr. Jack Williamson, English Professor, Eastern New Mexico University.

A MODERN PARABLE

A hunter, noted far and wide for his love of the sport and his pride in his new dog, bought a new pointer. The dog came from good blood lines and his new owner was impatient until he could get him into the field. The dog performed beautifully, never too far ahead of the hunter to be out of range, always busy sniffing the air. He stiffened, and came to a beautiful point. His owner, thrilled by his performance, closed in on him very slowly — and found the dog tracking a cricket.

Do you give cricket attention to God? Join in worship with the Presbyterians in Ruidoso and get your values straight. Sunday at 11 A.M. on top of Nob Hill.

Fruit tree bearing control problem

Few things are more frustrating than having a fruit tree that blooms but never holds its fruit until harvest. Fruitless fruit trees can be caused by inadequate pollination, over fertilization, insects, diseases or adverse weather conditions, says M. Douglas Bryant, Extension horticulturist at New Mexico State University.

Generally, fruit trees bear fruit when they become old enough to blossom freely, provided other conditions are favorable. Pollination, cultural practices and environment greatly influence the tree's ability to bear. Any of these factors alone or in combination can cause flowers not to develop, prevent a fruit set or cause the fruit to drop prematurely. Fortunately, growers do have some control over most of these factors, Bryant says.

Some fruit trees have perfect flowering blossoms with both male and female parts. When trees bear fruit as a result of pollination from their own blossoms, they are called self-fruitful.

Unfortunately, many trees with perfect flowers do not set fruit with their own pollen, but require pollen from another variety. These varieties are called self-unfruitful.

In these varieties, the pollen producing or staminate (male) blossoms never produce fruit and are borne on separate trees from the pistillate (female) or fruit-producing blossoms. In these cases it is necessary to have at least one tree with male flowers to serve as pollinator. Trees with only staminate flowers will normally pollinate a number of trees with female blossoms. Persimmon and pistachio are good examples of this type.

Many varieties of apples, pears and plums are also self-unfruitful and require two or more varieties in the planting. To assure adequate pollination, the different varieties should have the same bloom period.

Soil fertility has been found to influence the ability of trees to hold and mature their fruit. Overfertilization, especially too much nitrogen causing excessive vegetative growth, can cause fruit to drop. During extremely dry periods, fruit which is not completely pollinated will generally drop before that which is adequately pollinated.

The Silver Lining

BY DANIEL AGNEW STORM

Very Happy Old Lincoln Days

All things worked together to make this year's Old Lincoln Days a grand success, bringing happiness to countless folks from near and far.

Even the Weather Spirit came in for his part in the show. The rain came for several days before the celebration turning the hills and vales of Old Lincoln velvet green. Then all three days of the celebration the weather was perfect. And now, August 9, the clouds are gathering over the hills getting ready to bring us some more good rain.

The bright little pioneer village of Lincoln was all dressed up in its best, the yards and houses all neat and shining in the summer sun.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ward, director Mickey Thomas and her helper, Malley Madden — were delighted at the fine spirit shown by those who took part in the celebration.

During the twenty-six years I have been honored to take part in the Old Lincoln Days, I have found the crowds that attend are the most appreciative and welcome folks you could find anywhere. Many who had seen the pageant for the first time came up to me and said they had never seen anything like the pageant and that they had enjoyed it very much.

Among these were Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hill, boyhood friends of mine from Austin, Texas, who are visiting in Ruidoso. A big bouquet and a pat on the back goes to the young fellows who rode in the pony express race. These boys are cut out of the same good cloth as the original pony express riders of a hundred years ago.

Benny Runnels, a life-time friend, is a whole lot like a son to those of us who are a little older. The same way with all the grand young actors in the Pageant like Davy and Billy Shrecengost, John and Kenneth Taylor, Danny Coe, Kaylah and Steven Parks, Andy Coleman and many, many others.

It was grand getting acquainted with the T.V. fellows from Portales. They had many kind words about the Old Lincoln Days. They liked the whole-hearted way the people from Lincoln County got together in the joyful presentation — in a community effort just to bring happiness to as many as they could.

"God's Ranch"

There are times in your life when you wish you carried a camera like the folks here a hundred years ago used to carry a six-shooter. I had this wish last Sunday in Lincoln when little Sarah Dockery, the four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Dockery of Lincoln, was marching in the parade. Like a little angel child come down from Heaven, she was marching between Bill Ward's mother, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Ward, and his wife, Pat. All three were in perfect pioneer costume of early day Lincoln. I only hope somebody else got a picture. It was a beautiful sight.

We all know how young children can say wonderful things just out of a clear sky. Pat Ward told me a charming story about little Sarah Dockery.

One of the main fiestas of early Spanish times in Lincoln County was "La Fiesta de San Juan" on June 24. Celebrations were held throughout the county, but the main Feast of Saint John was held in Lincoln, for here is "La Iglesia de San Juan" (The Church of Saint John).

This year there was a very colorful celebration in honor of good Saint John, and little Sarah Dockery was very much delighted with it all. When she saw her friend, Pat Ward, Sarah asked, "Did you see all those people at God's Ranch?"

The child calls the Church of Saint John in Lincoln and the green fields surrounding the building and the green hillsides beyond — she calls all this sacred ground God's Ranch.

Maybe we should call Sarah "The Angel Child of Lincoln."

Apples Beginning To Ripen

Just at high noon, here comes a rain, to put more red in the cheeks of the apples. Down toward San Patricio and Hondo, the road side fruit markets are opening up. And as I look out in the orchards in the vale of Glencoe I can see the red and gold shining on the trees.

Now is the time to journey around in the fruit valleys to see what is getting ripe. The summer apples and the crab apples are ripe now. And with this rain, the main apples such as Red Delicious, Golden Delicious and Jonathan should begin to ripen rapidly. Later will come the Winesap and Rome Beauty.

Next time we will bring you a little more on the apple picture.

Jockey/Trainer of the week

Victor Escobar, the 18-year-old apprentice who's making quite a pest of himself in the upper jockey ranks at Ruidoso Downs, climbed back into the weekly riders spotlight.

Escobar clicked six times over the weekend — two more than his closest rival — and got the Jockey-of-the-Week honor. And he did it from only 23 tries for a whopping 26 percent on top. He also got four seconds and two thirds.

Escobar collected one each for Thursday and Friday, added two more on Saturday and closed out Sunday with two. One of his best came in Friday's seventh race. Escobar was on Stacks Blue Chip, a 25-1 longshot, in a six-furlong trial for the upcoming Rio Grande Futurity. He brought the filly from the back of the pack between horses in a stretch for a head victory. The win was good for a starting berth in the grand finale.

Victor, despite his big week, remained in fourth place with 34 winners from 179 mounts. Carlos Rivas still tops the list with 50 winners.

Trainer-wise, Don Farris and E. Jolly Driskill were tied with three wins apiece. Farris was awarded the crown on percentage. He got his from eight starters. Driskill took 12. Farris moved up a notch in the rankings to second. He's only six wins behind the leader, H. C. Werner, Jr., who has 32.

Weekend action picks up on Thursday and continues through Sunday, beginning each day at the usual 1:30 p.m.

Thursday's headliner is a six-furlong allowance affair for three- and four-year-olds. On Saturday, the Ruidoso Speed Handicap offers an $8,000-added purse to three-year-olds and up. The distance is four furlongs. The weekend finale is Sunday's $35,000 (est.) Rio Grande Futurity for two-year-olds.

Chicory Moon, one of the all-time greats in quarter horse racing, was humanely destroyed following an accident in Saturday's Three Bars Handicap at Ruidoso Downs.

The six-year-old gelding, owned by Betty Shebester of Wynnewood, Okla., appeared to take a bad step near the end of the 400-yard race and suffered a serious break of the right foreleg. Jockey W. R. Hunt tried to pull him up, but Chicory Moon continued on, shaking Hunt loose near the finish.

Chicory Moon won 28 of his 52 lifetime starts, and earned almost $180,000.

His list of credits is long. As a two-year-old the gelding won a Consolation of the Rainbow Futurity and finished fourth, just a little more than a length off Possumjet in the $1 million All-American Futurity. In 1973 he won a division of the Top Deck Stakes, the Three Bars Handicap and the C. L. Maddon Bright Eyes Handicap. In '74 he won five stakes, including the West Texas Championship and the Three Bars Handicap for the second time. Last year he added the second West Texas Championship, a division of the Top Deck Stakes, the Mr. Jet Moore Stakes and the Jet Deck Stakes. He was two-for-two at the meet going into Saturday's Three Bars.

Chicory Moon was trained by Lonnie Elam. He was buried on the Shebester farm in Ruidoso.

Starter Dean Turpitt will be back in the tower for the upcoming weekend. Turpitt has been sidelined for the past several weeks recovering from a heart attack suffered early in the meet. Assistant starter John Baker has been opening the gates during Turpitt's absence.

It was over before it ever got started for jockey Tony Trujillo and Tony Lep — the second favorite in Saturday's allowance fifth race at a mile. Tony Lep reared at the bell and left the other Tony sitting in the dust behind the gate.

Trainer Bob Arnett was having a pretty unsuccessful weekend until Saturday's co-feature for $9-$10,000 claimers. Then his stable entry, Pert Countess and Tux N' All, made up for the shortcomings. Pert Countess won the 5 1/2-furlong affair by an amazing nine lengths — Tux N' All finished third.

Trainer Tommy Dean batted a thousand Saturday. He sent two to the track and collected two winning photos. Native Creek won over allowance foes as the odds-on favorite at 400 yards by a head in the sixth race. Lefty Right picked off the 5 1/2-furlong allowance seventh race by a neck.

Visitors to the track over the weekend included Billy Maxwell and Jody Miller. Billy is a retired professional golf player from Jacksonville, Fla. Jody is the well-known country and western singer. An unexpected visitor was Ray Sanchez, turf editor of the El Paso Herald Post.

Mito Wise Dancer kept a successful win streak alive in Friday's 10th race. The Mito Paint three-year-old won by a head against allowance foes at 400 yards as a heavy favorite. It was his seventh straight victory and upped his lifetime income to $108,932. Johnny Cox did the riding for H. C. Werner, Jr.

Jockey Jose Martinez took his first spin at the meet aboard Flying Indi as a 7-1 shot in Friday's ninth race and scored a length win after six furlongs. The work guaranteed the colt a starting berth in the finale of the $35,000 (est.) Rio Grande Futurity Sunday, Aug. 15. Serene Princess and Stacks Blue Chip also won their heats for starting slots. Brass Road, Flying Leader and Kristi's Lark got in running second. The third place qualifiers were Truckle Dance, Ima Weldy and Net Set. Coy's Off Limits, who finished fourth, drew in on the shake.

Horses to watch: Do I Clown for an impressive wire-to-wire eight-length score against $4,000 claiming company at a mile in Thursday's fourth race; Vegas Joe for a powerful speed burst in the final strides to pull in front by five lengths as a 27-1 shot in Thursday's six-furlong eighth race; Stacks Blue Chip for some sharp moves between horses to snatch a head win as a 25-1 shot and a starting berth in the finale of the Rio Grande Futurity in Friday's seventh race; I Have Heard for his impressive five-length wire-to-wire score against a $4,500 class at six furlongs in Saturday's ninth race.

Jerry Nicodemus got firecracker hot Sunday. Nic saddled three and won with all three. He was aboard Should Fly for a 3/4 length score in the 400-yard third race as the favorite. Next he guided Track Beauty to a head victory at the same distance as a 5-1 shot in the fifth race. He ended the string on Azure Des for a 1 3/4-length triumph in the 550-yard sixth race.

Klen Klitso, who finished second to Admiral's Blade in the Riley Allison Futurity and won the Albuquerque Stakes at Sunland Park in 1975, notched a big one at Ak-Sar-Ben in Omaha last week. The gelding won the 1 1/16th mile Lincoln Derby by a neck and enriched his coffers by over $30,000. Veteran southwest reinsman Bobby Harmon did the riding for owner Dennis King of Albuquerque. J. R. Hughes does the training.

Stuart Dolphus was all smiles after Sunday's eighth race. Stuart was aboard Into Space for a 1 1/4-length victory over $5,000 competition at 5 1/2 furlongs. But that wasn't all. With the win, Dolphus completed his apprenticeship and became a full-fledged journeyman.

Native Lovin, the winner of Sunland Park's $238,000 Riley Allison Futurity last spring, hauled in another major victory over the weekend. The filly won the lucrative Land of Enchantment Futurity at La Mesa Park Sunday, enriched her coffers by $60,617, and stretched her career record to a perfect five-for-five. She's earned some $180,000 so far, and that makes her the richest thoroughbred in southwest history. Smash It, a current star at Ruidoso, finished second in the Land of Enchantment and pocketed a neat $20,610.

THE IMPOSSIBLE DREAM

Yes. Unless you know something we don't, it's impossible to do everything you like to do at the same time. Or all the time, for that matter. And anyone who tells you different speaks with forked tongue. That's why, in choosing a resort condominium, you should consider Interval Ownership.

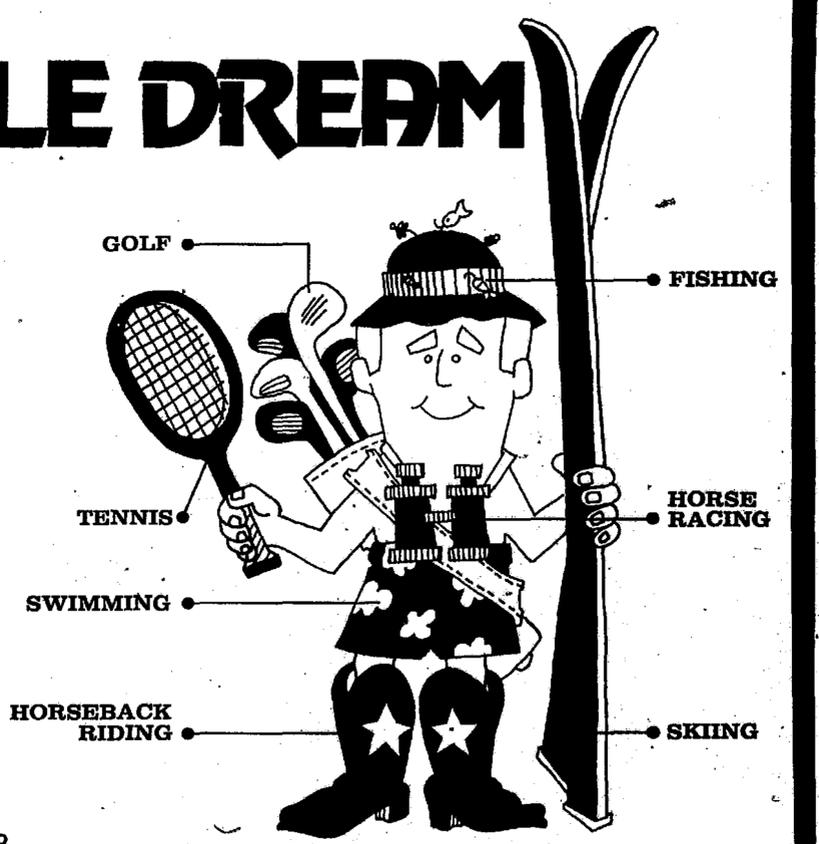

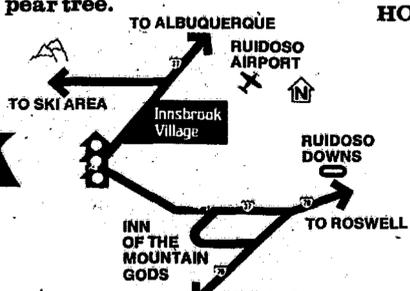

A PLAN FOR ALL SEASONS

Interval Ownership (or "Time sharing") is a plan by which you pay only for the time you use. And what you pay reflects a proportion of ownership in both the building and land. If your thing is schussing through the white stuff, purchase a week or two in Winter and ski Sierra Blanca. Or, if the green stuff is more your cup of tea, you might want some time during racing season at Ruidoso Downs. Well, we could go on and on. But why belabor a point? There are lots of these time sharing things around. It's just that ours is the best.

Fully maintained and equipped, elegantly appointed Townhaus Chalets. Private supper club, gamerooms, golf, tennis, fishing, and a partridge in a pear tree.
