A-A Futurity runs at Downs Monday

Two of the great "bargain" horses in quarter horse history loom as the main contenders in Monday's 18th running of the All-American Futurity at Ruidoso Downs. The 440-yard spectacular, which will be televised live to a national audience of 30 million, offers a mind-boggling winner's purse of $330,000. In addition, the top three finishers in the World's Richest Race will split up $30,000 in nominating and breeders awards. The total bonanza for the All-American Futurity — spread over Monday's Labor Day finale and the three consolation races — is a resounding $1,030,000. The total amount to split up on Monday is $768,000. So with all that cash on the line, it's an irony of the first order to find Lord Winsalot and Real Wind angling for the role of favorite. Real Wind was originally purchased for about $2,000 by J. D. and Elsie Kitchens of Ft. Sumner, N. M.

Lord Winsalot was acquired sight-unseen for $5,000 by Jim Jay, a gasoline distributor from Arkoma, Okla. As the Gods of Irony would have it, Jay got into racing in the first place in quest of a tax writeoff. Now he finds himself with one of the hottest properties in quarter horse racing. Both Real Wind and Lord Winsalot have been balls-of-fire this season. Both have clicked impressively in big-league competition. Both have earned big money. In Monday's showdown, the two will be crossing paths for the first time. Real Wind, who is by Real New — a mare few people had heard about until just recently — started her racing career at Lubbock on April 18 and scampered home with better than a four-length lead. Then the filly was shipped to Ruidoso Downs, where she made her mountain debut in a 350-yard allowance spin. The fans established her as a 5-2 favorite and she winged home with 2 1/4 lengths of daylight. Then she settled down to serious business — and her first assault on big money — in the first elimination round of the Rainbow Futurity trials. The date was July 9. The filly was ignored a bit by the betting public, but she sailed home with a resounding length lead as a 7-2 shot. The second elimination round came up on July 17, and Real Wind slashed her way to a 3/4-length lead as a 7-5 favorite. She covered the 350 yards in 19.92 seconds, and that made her the top qualifier for the finals.

In the regionally-televised Rainbow finale, Real Wind got off to a slightly wayward course, got herself straightened out in a hurry, and zipped home with a one-length lead. Gross purse of the Rainbow was $368,784. Real Wind's share amounted to $121,140.

Jockey Jeff Fair and Trainer A. D. Stowe, despite their remarkable success, were both replaced shortly after the Rainbow. But the change in personnel didn't bother Real Wind in the least. Her last outing came in the All-American trials, and the filly, running with that same bullet-like speed and eager desire to win, flashed under the wire with a 1 1/4-length lead as a topheavy favorite. Gary Sumpter, one of the top pilots in the Southwest, was at the controls, and will be back to

Jockeys rate the big race

"The toughest part is over." That's the way Keith Asmussen summed up his feelings after qualifying Divine Liz for the finale of the All-American Futurity. A four-time finalist in the World's Richest Horse Race, Asmussen speaks with the authority of 19 years' riding experience. "Sure, the finals will be tough," he says. "But you've got to figure that if your horse can outrun some 200-odd horses to make the finals it wouldn't be impossible to outrun those that are left."

Real Wind and Lord Winsalot are going to be hard to beat. But Divine Liz is a consistent, honest filly. She doesn't make many mistakes. She's got a good trainer who doesn't make any mistakes, either. We've got a shot. That's what's important."

Asmussen's feelings are echoed by Gary Sumpter who has the ride on one of the favorites in the race, Real Wind. "This might be the best two-year-old quarter horse I've ever ridden," says the four-time leading rider at Sunland Park. "But I can't predict what's going to happen in the finals. They're all tough horses, the best in the country. I'm just glad to be in there. Real Wind kind of lugged in on me in the trials. She'll need to run straight in the finals but we hope to have that corrected. If she'll run straight I don't know if anything can beat her."

Jackie Martin, at 21 the youngest rider in the race, qualified two horses, Lord Winsalot and Louton's Angel. "I've always wanted to be in the All-American, but I didn't think it'd be this early in my career," Martin confesses.

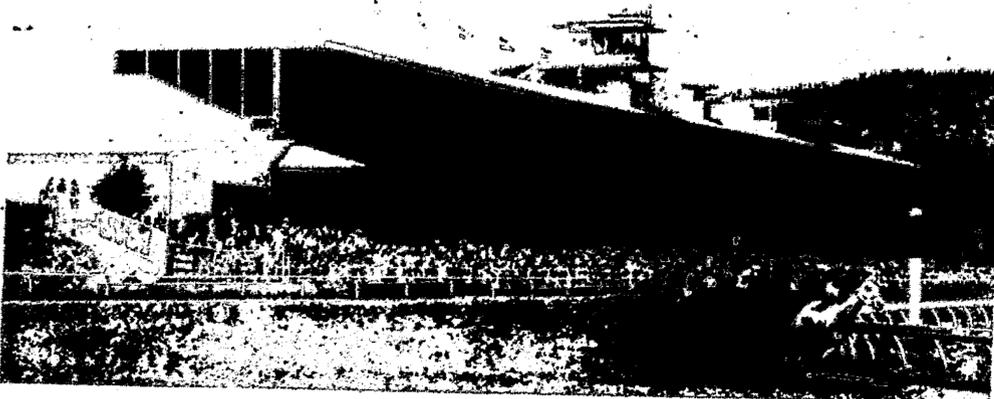

On Labor Day, Martin will be riding Lord Winsalot, another of the pre-race favorites. "If nothing happens to Lord Winsalot, I don't think they can outrun him. He's a nice-mannered horse and never makes mistakes. He's recovered real well from being sick and ought to run a good race in the finals. In a race like this you can't be sure. But this is the best horse

I've ever ridden." Martin also likes his other qualifier, Louton's Angel. "She's had the bad luck to get in trouble in a few races. She's a small filly and she's been run over once or twice.

But if she breaks cleanly and nothing bothers her, she could be right there." Another jockey to qualify two horses is Johnny Cox. Cox won the All-American in 1971 on Mr. Kid Charge. This year he rode

Mr. Glory Oh and Comingforth, stablemates who respectively had the fastest and the fourth fastest times.

Trainers make Futurity predictions

Perhaps more than anyone, the trainer of a horse which qualifies for the All-American Futurity is aware of the vagaries of horseracing.

For instance, take Perry Walker, the trainer of Real Wind. The filly set the second-fastest qualifying time and is one of the season's top two-year-olds.

Two weeks ago all Walker knew about Real Wind was what anyone might know from watching her run and win races. And then fate intervened.

"I was standing down at the barn," Walker recounts, "when a lady approached me about taking her filly to train. She said her name was Mrs. Kitchens and she wanted to know if I had an extra stall, and whether I was in a position to take the horse. I said yes. Up to that time I hadn't connected her name with Real Wind. "When I asked her what the name of her filly was and she told me, well, I just about swallowed my chewing tobacco. What led her to me, from what I understand, is that she had seen a win picture of me riding Real New, the dam of Real Wind. When she asked around about trainers my name

How the $1 million purse is made up for Futurity

How is it possible to put together a $1 million purse for the All-American Futurity?

That's one of the most frequently asked questions around Ruidoso Downs. The answer lies in the fact that so many horsemen eagerly nurse a dream of getting a horse into the World's Richest Race. In order to keep this dream alive, you have to start making nomination payments 18 months before the race is run — unless you want to go the far more expensive route of making a "supplemental" nomination.

Basically, all this means is that a horseman elects to nominate his horse at a later date — when he has a better idea as to how good his animal might be. Naturally, if you go this route, the tariff is far steeper.

But let's say a horseman decided to make all payments on the regular timetable. How much would it cost him to get into the All-American trials? Surprisingly, this amounts to a modest $2,500.

The catch, of course, is that it takes a lot of big running — or an awful lot of luck — to qualify for one of 10 starting berths in the All-American finale. About two hundred horses compete in 20 or so qualifying trials.

But if your horse doesn't make the Labor Day spectacular, there's the chance he might get into one of three consolation events. In this case, you're still talking about some pretty nice cash — plus the glamor of taking part in the All-American magic.

FIRST SEASON — Ruidoso Downs was just another stop on the leaky-roof circuit when the track staged its opening meeting in 1947. Note the modest grandstand. That first meeting covered 10 race days, and the daily betting average was $33,261. Today, the daily average is around $400,000.

Stoneman arrested in Kansas

A nationwide search, launched June 18 of this year, for Sam C. Stoneman, 34, former New Mexico Livestock Board inspector, wanted for larceny and sale of livestock, ended at 3:00 a.m. Wednesday with the arrest of Stoneman in a private residence in Hoisington, Kansas.

Computerized information on Stoneman had been circulated through the National Crime Information Center (NCIC) and the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Washington, D.C., shortly after his disappearance from Albuquerque June 18. Lincoln County sheriff Leandro Vega Jr., described the arrest to The Ruidoso News Wednesday morning.

A Hoisington patrolman made a routine check on the license number of a pickup truck parked in front of a residence there. Immediate notification was received that the pickup was wanted in New Mexico.

The patrolman then checked the driver out and determined that the subject was wanted by the Lincoln County sheriff.

"Stoneman was arrested and was held in the Barton County jail in Great Bend, Kansas.

"We are working through the District

Attorney there to learn if Stoneman will waive extradition. If not, our district attorney, Bob Doughty, will initiate extradition proceedings.

"This incident proves that NCIC is the greatest thing law enforcement officers have going for them when they are looking for someone who is wanted."

Eight counts of larceny and sale of 48 head of livestock were filed against Stoneman in June, Vega said. On the charges a $15,000 bond was set on a Bernalillo County warrant and bond of $50,000 was set on a Lincoln County warrant.

Charges filed in June include incidents of livestock theft and sale between May 17 and June 5.

Warriors meet Grizzlies Friday

The Ruidoso Warriors meet the Carrizozo Grizzlies at 7:30 p.m., Friday in the season's football opener at Warrior Stadium.

Yearling sale starts tonight

The 15th annual All-American Quarter Horse Yearling Sale will be conducted Thursday (tonight) through Sunday at the All-American Sales Arena at Ruidoso Downs Race Track.

The sales begin at 7 o'clock each of the four nights. The venue — the world's largest for quarter horses — is limited to yearlings which are eligible for the 1977 All-American Futurity.

About 1,000 buyers, representing virtually every state in the union — plus Canada, Venezuela, Australia and a handful of other countries — are expected to be on hand. "The buyer interest this year has been the greatest in the history of the sale," opines Sale Manager Richard Thompson.

A total of 481 head have been catalogued, and about 465 are expected to pass under the gavel of Auctioneers Tom Caldwell, Bill Tackett and Scott Caldwell.

"We'll be seeing a tremendous increase in the quality of the sale stock," Thompson said. "On that basis, I think it's safe to predict we'll be setting an industry record in regard to the average price."

The current record, Thompson noted, was set at $7,948 in 1972. Last year's average price was $7,695.

As always, the All-American Sale will be represented by the finest sires in the quarter horse industry," Thompson said.

"What seems particularly noteworthy this time is the fact such a remarkable abundance of first-rate mares are included."

By way of example, Thompson singled out the filly, Always Thinking, who is out of Sparkling Tim. The latter produced Elan Again, the 1975 Champion Aged Mare and a winner of nearly $200,000.

Flicka Six, who produced Come Six — a winner of $345,000 — is represented by the brown filly, Fleet Six.

Other top mares with offspring in the All-American Sale include Fan Jet, the dam of Gigantus (a winner of $43,000); Sugarcette Bars, who produced the top West Coast mare, Band of Angels; and Abundant Angel, a winner of $150,000 and a second-place finisher in both the Kansas and Rainbow futurities.

The Thoroughbred, Azure Te, has over 50 sons and daughters in the All-American Sale, and holds that top spot in the category. Azure Te is the sire of such quarter horse standouts as A Zure Request, Come Six, Azure Teen and Twelve-Fly.

The great Easy Jet is the second most popular sire in the All-American Sale with 20 head. Next is Go Man Go with 20.

All-American Futurity winners whose bloodlines are represented in the sale are Easy Jet, Rocket Wrangler, Mr. Kid Charge and Three Oh's.

guide her in Monday's showdown. Perry Walker took over the training assignment.

So the upshot of it all is that Real Wind now finds herself in the world's richest race with a perfect career record of six wins from six starts, and earnings of $126,274. She also holds the second-top qualifying time of 21.76 seconds.

Lord Winsalot also seems to be a great success story in the making. His career record now stands at 8-2-0 from 12 starts, good for winnings of $195,054. The papa of Lord Winsalot is Sir Winsalot — another sire few people had heard about.

About four years ago, Jim Jay decided to get in the racing business, figuring the expected losses would off-set the income his gasoline distributing business brought in. The approximate loss he had in mind was $40,000 for two years. But the outfit, despite its founding principle, had a way of carrying its own weight. "Last year, we ended up with a profit of about $5,000 to $8,000," Jay says. "So the tax situation was worse than ever."

That was before Lord Winsalot came along. With that one hauling in cash with both fists, Jay's accountant is really in a fix. Lord Winsalot — a gelding — came into the picture toward the end of last year. Jay decided he was going to be short on two-year-olds for 1976. Carl White, who did some riding for him, spotted Lord Winsalot. He was a yearling then, in training in Salisaw, Okla. (Yearlings are often raced on the bush-track circuit.)

"At the time, I had only one two-year-old," Jay goes on. "I'd bought him at a sale, but he wasn't turning out well. Then Carl told me he liked this Lord Winsalot. I'd never seen the horse work. I bought him purely on Carl's recommendation, sight unseen."

The cost was $5,000 — a price which now looms as one of the best bargains in quarter horse history. The acquisition, Jay admits, "was just plain lucky." As he puts it: "You can't be smart in the horse business."

When Jay picked up Lord Winsalot, it was two weeks before the $100,000 Blue Ribbon Futurity. The colt posted the second-fastest qualifying time, then lost the finale by a nose. Still, he earned a neat $21,000. "At the time, I felt the horse was going to be a lot better," Jay says. "He really wasn't in condition, and wasn't ready to run." But Jay didn't let his dreams go wild. "I was still pretty skeptical. You have to stay that way. I've seen fellows get high on a horse, then take him to Ruidoso Downs, and find out pretty quick the horse isn't much after all."

The second crossroads of Lord Winsalot's career came in the Triple Crown Futurity at Columbus, Texas. He posted the second-best qualifying time, then won the finale easily, earning another $5 grand. Next came the trials for the $45,000 Texas Futurity, and Lord Winsalot clocked his heat only six one-hundredths short of the track mark. "And he did it by 3/4 lengths under a tight hold," Jay says. "At this point, I was starting to think we really had a good horse." In the finals, Lord Winsalot slipped at the start — on a muddy track — and finished a closing fourth.

Then he was shipped to Ruidoso Downs. At first asking, he finished second — by a nose — in the first elimination trial for the Kansas Futurity. Then he came back and belted out a two-length score in the second round, and clocked the 350 yards in a brilliant 17.81 seconds — setting the top qualifying time for the grand finale.

Next came the Kansas finale, and Lord Winsalot was looking at a gross purse of $413,130, and a winner's slice of $135,907.

He zipped home with a stunning two-length lead.

But shortly after the Kansas triumph, Lord Winsalot came down with a virus infection, and that took plenty of steam out of his sails. Nonetheless, he managed to survive the first qualifying round of the Rainbow Futurity. But the bug got the best of him in the second elimination round, and he failed to qualify, and his expected confrontation with Real Wind was aborted. Amazingly, the gelding was back in brilliant form for the All-American Futurity trials, and blasted his way to a devastating 3 1/2-length score. Jackie Martin does the riding and Roscoe Yates is the trainer. Both are wrapping up their first season of competition at Ruidoso.

Here's how the field qualified for the All-American Futurity: Mr. Glory Oh, 21.73; Real Wind, 21.76; Lord Winsalot, 21.77; Comingforth, 21.77; Topless Dancer, 21.79; Divine Liz, 21.82; Megahertz, 21.91; Louton's Angel, 21.91; Comin' Easy, 21.92 1/2; Pass Your Glass, 21.92 1/2.

Mr. Glory Oh, a son of the All-American Futurity winner, Three Oh's, will go into the finale with a record of three wins from three starts. He's earned a paltry $3,510 so far. But he smacked out a stunning three-length win while setting the top qualifying time. Both previous starts resulted in lopsided wins. But Mr. Glory Oh, despite his glimmering performance in the trials, has still to prove he can handle such giants as Real Wind and Lord Winsalot. He's the property of Ernest Carrigan Jr. of Pasadena, Texas. Johnny Cox does the riding for Trainer Roger Fagan.

Comingforth, owned by J. L. Perkins of Houston, has been out 11 times so far. The filly has a 5-4-1 record, good for earnings of $22,056. J. C. Wiley is slated to get the saddle assignment. In the trials, the filly won by 2 1/4 lengths.

Topless Dancer was one of seven supplemental nominees (at a cost of $14,250) to survive the elimination trials. The filly won her trial by nearly two lengths. She's owned by R. E. Wise of Madisonville, Texas. Bubba Cascio is the trainer. Jerry Nicodemus rode the filly in the trials. Topless Dancer holds a record of 5-2-1 from nine starts. She's earned $35,802.

Divine Liz, namesake of Ruidoso nomination secretary, Liz Devine, got into the finale by banging out a three-length score in the trials. Her record stands at 3-2-1 from six starts, good for an income of $12,081. The filly is owned by D. D. Ledford and Ted W. Wells of Alex, Okla. H. Don Farris is the trainer. Keith Asmusen is the pilot.

Megahertz, the property of Larry Brumbaugh of Ft. Worth, won by a length in the trials. His record is an excellent 7-1-2 from 11 starts. He's earned $97,250. Megahertz is the only finalist to make both the Rainbow and Kansas finale. He finished fourth to Lord Winsalot in the Kansas, earning $18,773, and second to Real Wind in the Rainbow, earning $58,070. Terry Lipham is the rider.

Louton's Angel, the property of Charles R. Weik of San Antonio, won her trial heat by a length. Her record stands at 6-0-1 from 10 starts. She's earned $31,920.

Comin' Easy, owned by Rose Ranch of Hondo, N.M., apparently pulled up sore after her All-American trial. The filly appears to be a doubtful starter. She's earned $7,420.

Pass Your Glass, the property of Joe McDermott of Madisonville, Texas, made the All-American by finishing second to Real Wind. The filly sports modest marks of 3-2-0 from six tries. She's earned $3,941. Bubba Cascio is the trainer. Nicodemus handled the filly in the trials.

Mito Wise Dancer romps to A-A Derby win

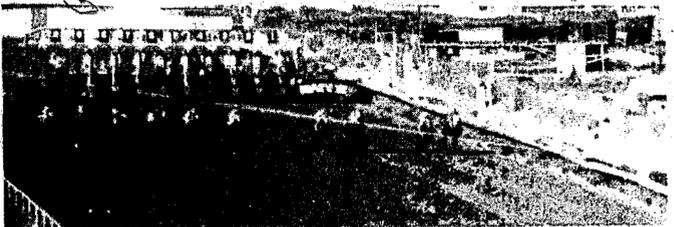

FROM THE RIGHT Mito Wise Dancer (1), I'm Gorgeous (2), Reller's Image (3) and Dash For Cash (4) start out even.

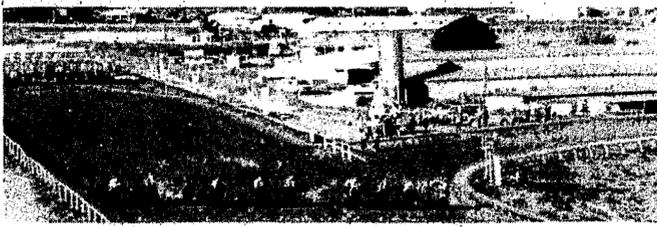

THERE WERE TWO fields at this point, with the first four horses definitely leaving the other entries out of the race.

SECOND PLACE seemed to be almost a cinch for I'm Gorgeous as Dash For Cash was back even with Reller's Image.

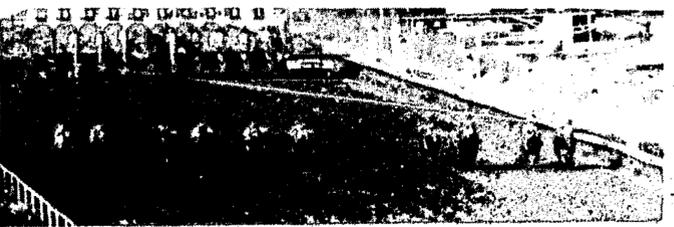

RELLER'S IMAGE, with plenty of room to maneuver, begins stretching out in an early move to take over the lead.

NO DOUBT ABOUT who the contenders were, as once again it looks as if Reller's Image was getting out in front.

WITH THE FINISH line just ahead, Mito Wise Dancer obviously had all of the speed he needed to be out in front.

I'M GORGEOUS seemingly was in excellent position to move ahead of the field, a nose behind Mito Wise Dancer.

MITO WISE DANCER started picking up the pace at this point and it looks as if he'd taken over the lead for good.

ACROSS THE LINE, Dash For Cash had nosed out I'm Gorgeous though the stewards did take look at the photographs.

Trustees acting on new garbage pickup method

The Ruidoso village trustees Tuesday authorized Mike Richardson of EMCO, of Plainview, Texas, and A. T. Corona, superintendent of sanitation, to conduct a survey of the commercial areas in Ruidoso, as well as some of the heavily populated residential districts, to determine acceptance of the garbage pickup method employed on a trial basis this spring.

The trustees also instructed village manager Jim Hine to prepare a call for bids on lease and lease/purchase of the truck/container system for a bid opening tentatively set for Oct. 26, should the survey determine there is a demand for the new garbage pickup system.

Hine advised the trustees that sales tax collections for June were $24,262 compared to $32,598 for June of 1975. "This is a 26 per cent decrease," Hine said, "meaning our receipts are down $8,336." Hine said that the New Mexico Bureau of Revenue is "looking into" the decrease and that their report should be received shortly.

In other action, the trustees: — Tabled a request for a new franchise for Cablevision of Lincoln County, necessitated by changes in Federal Communication Commission regulations, pending a report on the regulations by village attorney John Thompson.

— Were advised by Bill Wolf of Mann Engineering of Roswell that core drilling at Tom Jones Lake dam site is continuing and that the project is still on schedule.

— Noted that Hine had applied for a federal grant of $13,689 and a state grant of $6,800 to convert the present multiple use courts at Schoolhouse Park into tennis courts.

— Approved soil testing by Boyle Engineering at the proposed water treatment plant site, at an estimated cost of $4,000.

— Approved a replat of Lot 2, Block 3 in Cree Meadows and a replat of Lots 141 and 141A at Innsbrook.

— Adopted Resolution 76-10 accepting the more than $243,000 Department of Transportation grant for Municipal Airport repair and reconditioning.

— Took no action on a request for cable TV service to Airport West, Third Addition or a request from Town and Country North representatives for village enforcement of protective covenants.

— Were advised that the 1976-77 fiscal year budget has been approved by the Department of Finance.

Wedding Announcement

Mr. and Mrs. Van A. Brown, Ruidoso, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Jane Lee, to Rick Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Hall of Ruidoso.

The couple will exchange vows September 18, at 7:00 p.m., in the Gateway Church of Christ.

The bride is a 1973 graduate of Ruidoso High School and is presently employed by Ruidoso Printing Co.

Her fiancé, a 1972 graduate of Ruidoso High School, is employed by Hall Construction Co.

graduated from Lubbock Christian College, Lubbock, Texas, in 1974, and is a trainer at Ruidoso Downs Race Track.

DOROTHY CRAWFORD of Scottsdale, Arizona, in action at an all day workshop for the Ruidoso school faculty. Ms. Crawford is on the board of directors of the Association for Children with Learning Disabilities and a past president of the association. The faculty also received in-service training Monday from Fermin Montes of Roswell on bilingual-bicultural education.

Wind. She seems to get better with every start and is still undefeated in six trips to the post. I also like the fact she's earned over $125,000. She seems to be the type of horse that comes along every so often and has a knack of being up for all of her races."

Don Essary (Director of Racing for the American Quarter Horse Assn.) — "I like Lord Winslot, because of the way he came off that sick bout. Also, in the trials, he ran in the early part of the day when there wasn't any wind. With the slight breeze later that day, I think he could have shaved more off the clock and set the top time. To me, he was the picture of the way he looked when he won the Kansas."

Bill Thomas (Vice President and Operations Manager) — "I like Divine Liz because I think she's coming back to her earlier form. She's a good runner, besides."

Harold Payne (Paddock Judge) — "I like Real Wind with Sumpter on her. She lugged in real bad in the trials and has always had a slight problem with that. But I think Gary can straighten her out."

Bruce Brinkley (Oddsman, Clerk of Scales and Timer) — "I'm going with Lord Winslot because he's consistent and made a lot of money. Not all of that has been here at Ruidoso. He's raced against all types of competition at several tracks and has been good everywhere. He's not subject to mistakes like some of those others in the field. I just think he's got what it takes to win."

Richard Thompson (Director of Racing) — "I'm impressed with the way Lord Winslot came back after being sick and won his trial so authoritatively. I think he can pull a repeat of his performance in the Kansas."

Eric Alwan (12-year-old "World's Youngest Handicapper") — "I pick Lord Winslot. He's earned a lot of money and he wins impressively every time he runs."

Dick Alwan (Publicity Director) — "I like Lord Winslot. When he won the Kansas Futurity, he was much the best. But after he came down with a virus, and missed the Rainbow Futurity, everyone was wondering whether he could come back. To me, he looked better than ever while winning his All-American trial heat. He has a sleek, limber style. This could be a really great quarter horse."

Ed Beard (Publicity Assistant) — "I'm going with Real Wind. She's won every time impressively. She's had some troubles maintaining a straight course, but I think she's been improving and looks like the one to beat. Sumpter means a lot, too."

The final person on the survey really has the inside scoop, but that's only because it's written in the script. He's Walter Matthau, currently on location at Ruidoso Downs, filming "Casey's Shadow" — a motion picture about a mythical horse (Casey's Shadow), who wins the All-American Futurity. But so far as the real All-American is concerned, this is what he came up with: "I sat down one afternoon at home and turned on the TV. The Kansas Futurity just happened to be on and I saw Lord Winslot win it. Then I saw him again win his trial, smoking at the end, and very impressively I might add. I think he'll win it."

It would be nice to have a script to follow while picking the All-American Futurity winner, but that's not how the game is played. The unpredictable is the only sure thing and that's what helps make the All-American Futurity what it is today — the World's Richest Horse Race.

RIVER PROPERTY!
We invite you to compare this fine, log-sided river cabin with other properties in its 1800 sq/ft class. Vacant lots to either side of the cabin could be added to the initial $70,000 package for nearly 182' on the river, total.
Further up the Canyon we have an excellent buy on a 3 bedroom/2 bath cabin with all the amenities for having a good time and enjoying the relaxing sounds of the river. $39,500 (unfurnished plus $2500 for the small tract across from it that would give about 140' on the river.
Lastly, consider owning what is known as the "Island Tract" — a very unique piece of river property (over 1/2 acre) with city utilities including sewer and over 400' of river frontage. Restrictions will permit 2 cabins. Only $11,100 down payment, and the balance of $44,400 over 10-15 years at 8% interest.
CEDAR CREEK — turn at the Ranger Station across from Innsbrook Village and follow the newly widened road about 1 1/2 miles to the Great Western red arrow on the left. Secluded 3 bdrm/2 bath with 1350 sq/ft, honeycomb aircraft type insulation, rock fireplace, large kitchen-den area. On 2 lots, furnished, 8 yrs. old, $30,000.
COMMERCIAL PROPERTY!
There are still a number of "corners" available in this quickly changing aspect of Ruidoso. We think our 250' on Hwy. 37N just past Innsbrook Village offers the investor/developer a good opportunity to locate where the population center is moving. Property is level with good depth. Owner terms. Moderately restricted. $75,000.
15.9 prime acres on Hwy. 70 across from Camelot entrance with property currently being used as mobile village. 1320' of frontage, 84 permanent hook-ups and 40 travel trailer spaces. All city utilities and about 800 fruit trees for the pleasure of the tenants. Owner will consider other property as part payment of balance.
ALTO VILLAGE!
We have a good selection of choice residences — on the golf course, lake views, whatever location you might prefer. Prices starting at $7,000 with full golfing membership.
CONDOMINIUMS! ALTO ALPS!
You are cordially invited to our Open House located on 40 gently rolling acres across from Alto Village. New energy conserving duplex units are ready for your inspection. $45,000 Unfurnished.

Trainer faces challenge

BY BILLIE SURMICK
Staff Writer

Curtis Dunlap signed on as a groom for Walter Merrick in Sayre, Oklahoma, when he was 15, got his first job as a trainer in Hay, Colorado, when he was 19 and is now at 37 — the trainer for Jimmy Millar quarter horses in Morton, Texas.

"An owner and his trainer have to have an understanding. They must be able to talk things over or it won't work. Jimmy is probably the best guy I've ever worked for," Curtis said.

This week, in addition to training two horses who will run over the weekend, Curtis is tending 11 horses which will be in the All-American sale tonight through Sunday night. "I'll take some of the sale horses out of the stalls as many as 40 times a day showing them to prospective buyers and interested people. During sale time we spend 16 to 17 hours a day at the barns grooming the horses and answering questions on breeding. We spend two to three months just getting them ready for the sale.

"I break the colts, gallop them, gate train, teach them how to break and how to run straight. You don't just stick a horse in the gate and expect him to break — they get a little silly sometimes."

During this season, Curtis has had 20-some winners in Lubbock and Ruidoso Downs. He spends winters on the ranch at Morton, goes to Sunland in the spring, to Ruidoso Downs in the summer, heads for the futurity at the State Fair in Albuquerque in the fall, returns to the ranch and "starts all over again."

"You can have the best horse on the track, but if you don't have a lot of luck with it, you won't win. Keeping the horses sound is the toughest job and there's a lot of worry and tension. You worry about your horse getting bumped leaving the gate, having him break down, a lot of things. The biggest disappointment to me is to have a horse really ready to run and the horse himself makes a mistake like slipping back or stumbling at the start. Everything has to be just right.

"We had a horse break his knee in the All-American trials last year and he had the second fastest time. Another one came in fourth in the Rainbow Futurity. Two weeks before she ran, her legs were bad and we were putting her in the turbulator. I was pushing her from behind when she kicked me. It's the only time I've ever been kicked and I don't even remember getting hit." His seven-year-old son, Mark, said the horse kicked his dad so hard it knocked him backwards into the stalls and fumped over him. "His hat was covered with blood," Mark remembers. Curtis had several dozen stitches and a broken jaw which was wired shut for three months.

Curtis said, "No jockey can fit every horse. We switch around and ride maybe two or three jockeys before we find one to fit.

"No two horses are alike. Even their feeding programs are different. One might like less food, another more, some like it sweet and some don't. Each has little habits you have to learn. They're just like people — they have good days, bad days and moods. Some days you wake up and don't feel so good. Well, horses are like that. We do our best to get them ready, they'll win a race one day and run out of the money the next time."

His day begins at 6 a.m., with feeding. The horses are then cleaned up and put on the track where they are galloped or worked. They're returned to the barns for a bath and a 30-minute walk. Their legs are then wrapped and later that day, they're put on the hot walker.

"When we start out with a two-year-old, it's just like teaching a first grader — you have to go slow so you don't make any mistakes," Curtis said. "We put a D-bit in their mouth for about a week until they get used to the feel. Then we put a biting rig, similar to a saddle, on them and use elastic reins to give them the feel of pressure, working one side at a time. We ground drive them with long reins the following week and ride them inside the barn for another week. There is a lot to do before a horse is ever ridden. They like to be vacuumed and it's a good way to clean them. As they get used to it, after a couple of times, they almost fall asleep while they're being vacuumed."

Feed bills run $100-$150 a month for each horse, vet bills even more than the feed bills and tack expenses for an average 16-horse stable are $300 a month, according to Curtis. In addition to Millar's privately owned race horses, Curtis handles outside

"We haven't decided which one I'm going to ride yet but I'll be glad to be riding either one of them," Cox says. "I'm personally leaning towards Mr. Glory Oh because he's one of the easiest horses I've ridden in a long time. He's easy to handle and runs straight and he's sound. When they're like that you don't have to worry about anything except getting to the wire.

"Comingforth is a tremendous filly. She has a tendency to run a little crooked, but that's because she's been campaigned hard and she's run hard. She's a little sore. That's the advantage Mr. Glory Oh has on her. I don't know if he's faster, but he's fresh.

"I don't think Mr. Glory Oh is as good as Mr. Kid Charge. As a two-year-old Mr. Kid Charge was the fastest thing I've ever ridden or seen. But because he's fresh and sound Mr. Glory Oh could get there Monday."

Terry Lipham, one of the leading riders in the nation for several years, thinks his qualifier, Megahertz, will be a strong contender. "When this horse breaks, he can run with anything," Lipham says.

horses brought to Millar's stables for training. The owners pay a daily fee to the stables and all expenses are paid by Millar. Curtis works for a monthly salary, gets 10% of the purses and annual commissions.

In the early 60's, he married a Ruidoso girl, Joan Reeves. They have three children: Christy, 11; Shawn, 10 and Mark, 7. "Joan is interested in and enjoys my work, but I don't know how she puts up with me sometimes," he said.

Curtis quit horse training for nine years and managed a ranch in California. Millar "gave me the break to get back into training and return to Ruidoso" just over a year ago. "It gets in your blood once you've done it. It's just like a major league baseball player. Once he quits playing, he'll find something to do to stay around the game. If I quit training tomorrow, I'd still find something to do with horses.

"My goal is to win the All-American ... just one time."

"Lord Winsalot, Real Wind and Mr. Glory Oh are going to be tough, but you can't count Megahertz out. We ran second to Real Wind in the Rainbow. We were in front of her until we hit the half-way point. Then my horse came off his lead. But on another day it could be different."

Another top jockey who will be taking aim at the favorites is Jerry Nicodemus. Nicodemus has ridden in seven All-American Futurities, and won two of them (1968 and 1970). This year he qualified Topless Dancer and Pass Your Glass.

"We'll know on entry day which one I'm going to ride," he says. "We're not going to decide until the last minute. One thing for sure, we'll be running at them.

"I like both fillies. Topless Dancer runs on the end. She comes running in the last hundred yards. Pass Your Glass is just the opposite. She has a lot of early lick. She's one of the hardest breaking horses I've came up and she decided to talk to me. "I've never been as surprised in my life. It was like Christmas in the summertime."

Walker described Real Wind as "a nice, clean-legged filly and a good doer." He goes on: "She came out of the trial real good and ought to run her race back. I don't think she's a cinch to win because they're all good horses. The one with good racing luck will win 'cause they all can run."

Another man who knows the thrill of having a good horse in the All-American Futurity is Roscoe Yates, the trainer of Lord Winsalot. He encouraged his owner, Jim Jay, to buy Lord Winsalot as a yearling. They paid $5,000 and have so far garnered over $195,000.

"We're real proud of the way the horse ran in the trials," Yates says. "We didn't think he'd come back so strong after being so sick in the Rainbow. He had a fever of 103 the day before the first set of trials. He made it into the next round but then gave out. Now we're real excited about our chances. He's a sound horse. He's easy to handle and easy to train. There's no secret to him. He likes to nip on you now and then but as far as I'm concerned, he can chew my whole arm off."

This is Yates' first year as a professional trainer and he is quick to hand out credit for his success. "The horse really trains himself, but I wouldn't have been able to do anything without the help of people like Rex Brooks. I'd have been a country boy if it hadn't been for Rex."

Looking toward the race on Labor Day, Yates says, "It would be incredible to win it. Wasn't it Doc Severinsen who said that it would be like a dream to be standing in the winner's circle after the running of the All-American Futurity? Well, that's how I'd feel."

Still another trainer who seems to have a touch of magic is Roger Fagan. He trains both Mr. Glory Oh, the fastest qualifier, and Comingforth, the fourth-fastest qualifier. Up until a year ago Fagan had never seen or even heard of either of the stars of his stable. "Mr. Perkins, the owner of Comingforth, came to me out of the blue about this time last year and asked me to buy a couple of yearlings for him in the All-American Sale," Fagan explains. "One of the ones I bought was Comingforth. I didn't know Mr. Perkins up to that time and he had only heard of me through an owner of mine which he'd met on an airplane a few weeks earlier."

"Mr. Perkins is also responsible for my getting Mr. Glory Oh to train. Mr. Perkins is a friend of Dr. Carrigan, who owns Mr. Glory Oh, and when Dr. Carrigan was looking for a trainer to send the colt to at Ruidoso, Mr. Perkins recommended me. I first saw Mr. Glory Oh about 90 days ago.

"I think both horses can win on Monday. It's hard to pick between them. Mr. Glory Oh is fresher and sounder right now, but you can't count the filly out."

While these training successes appear to border on fiction, they tend to be more the rule than the exception. Trainer C. Ronnie Ferguson's qualifier, Megahertz, is just another example. "We bought the colt in the Haymaker Sale last fall," Ferguson revealed, "and only paid $7,500. He's run out $97,000 so far.

"This is the first time I've been in the finals and I'm real happy to have qualified. The colt can run with them if he decides to. He pretty much has his own mind about things but I think he'll keep them honest."

Three of the biggest names in quarter-horse training circles, C. W. Cascio, H. Don Farris and H. C. Werner, Jr., also have qualifiers in the All-American. Uncharacteristically for them, their horses are not among the top favorites. But given the ups and downs of horse-racing, they could easily turn things around.

"I've got two real nice fillies in the race," Cascio says. "I can't pick between them. Topless Dancer ran a nice race. She runs on the end of it and if they relax she'll be coming over them. Pass Your Glass is an improved horse. She pulled a muscle in her pelvis earlier and the trial was her first out in a while. If she gets away good she could win it too. I don't think there is a superhorse in the race this year."

Farris feels the same way about the chances of his filly, Divine Liz. "With racing luck I think my horse has as good a chance as any. Anything can happen in a horse race. The filly is honest, a consistent runner, and she pulled up well. I've been in the finals of the All-American the last four years and I wouldn't be surprised if this were the year I won it."

There is no doubt Werner thinks his qualifier, Comin' Easy, is a good colt. "I think this colt could have been one of the fastest I've raced if he hadn't sored up on me."

When all is said and done on Monday perhaps the Cinderella story of the Futurity will be Hugh Tucker's Louton's Angel. "Bob Weik, the owner of Louton's Angel, raised this filly from a baby," Tucker says. "From the very beginning he felt that if the elements were with us we would make the finals. To tell you the truth, when he showed me the foaling on the ground I told him she was one of the best looking foals I had ever seen, and I meant it. He had some other foals by good stallions like Easy Jet and Azure Te, and I still liked her.

"Since we've been running her we haven't changed our opinion. She's got the biggest heart you ever saw. She tries every time she runs. She's completely honest and makes no mistakes.

"We'd like to win the All-American for the filly's dam, Miss Louton. She was a champion race mare but she never had a chance to produce the way Mr. Weik thinks she can. If she doesn't get in trouble, and if someone doesn't run over her, this filly could surprise a lot of people."

How the $1 million purse is made up for futurity

The total amount disbursed in the All-American Futurity — that's for the grand finale, plus three consolation events — comes out to $1,030,000. It's broken down this way: $766,000 for the finale on Labor Day; $136,000 for the First Consolation; $66,000 for the Second Consolation; $32,000 for the Third Consolation; plus $30,000 in nominating and breeding awards.

The winner of the grand finale collects a whopping $330,000, which is one of the largest victory slices in the racing world. (There's no thoroughbred purse, anywhere in the United States, which even comes close to the All-American jackpot.)

For bargain hunters, the nomination and payment schedule offers a "prepaid." Instead of paying the $2,500 in regular payments, an owner can fork over $2,000 right at the beginning, and this puts his horse in the trials for the All-American, and also in the trials for the $700,000 (est.) All-American Derby.

Here's how the million-dollar purse for the 1976 All-American Futurity was constructed:

The first nomination payment of $50 came due on Jan. 15, 1975, and 1,345 head were nominated. There were four prepaids at $2,000 each. After advertising and clerical fees were deducted, the starting kitty was $41,825.

On March 15, 1975, the second payment ($100) came due, and 1,224 stayed in the running. After a refund due to ineligibility, the total thus far was $163,975.

On June 15, 1975, a $150 hurdle was reached, and 1,104 head stayed in. This enriched the kitty by $165,600, and put the total at $328,975 (less returned checks).

On Oct. 1, 1975, a $250 payment came due, and the owners of 763 head responded. The total (less another returned check) was $519,425.

On Dec. 15, 1975, the owners of 667 head paid $300 each. After returned checks were deducted, the total reached $718,575.

On March 15, 1976, 563 head remained eligible at $400 each. Two returned checks had to be deducted, and this put the total at $943,125.

On June 15, 1976, the owners of 391 head paid $500 each. In addition, there were 21 late nominations at $3,250 each for a cash surge of $131,250. After adjustments for returned checks, the total stood at $1,268,575.

On Aug. 15, 1976, seven late nominations were made at $14,250 each, contributing another $99,750. A total of 217 head were entered in the trials at $750 each ($162,750), which put the total at $1,536,575. Forty head were paid up for the trials — to maintain eligibility for next year's Derby — but did not start. This lifted the total to $1,566,575.

The race track then chipped in $25,000, and there was $55,400 in interest, and that swelled the bottom line figure to $1,646,475 (less a returned check). From this total fund, $1,030,000 goes into the 1976 All-American Futurity, and all money in excess of that ceiling goes into the pot for the 1977 All-American Derby.

The estimated gross for next year's Derby is well over $700,000, which makes it the world's second richest race — taking a backseat only to the All-American Futurity.

ALMOST A TRIPLE CROWN — Only one horse in Ruidoso Downs history won the first two jewels in the Triple Crown. That was Tiny's Gay, and the year was 1974. He won the Kansas Futurity by three quarters of a length. Next came a nose win in the Rainbow Futurity. But the Triple Crown dream went down the drain, by a nose, when Easy Date (above) nipped Tiny's Gay on the final jump of the All-American Futurity. The defeat was Tiny's Gay's first, and it came, as luck would have it, in his 13th career start. The great colt suffered a leg injury in the All-American and never raced again.

THE IMPOSSIBLE DREAM

Yes. Unless you know something we don't, it's impossible to do everything you like to do at the same time. Or all the time, for that matter. And anyone who tells you different speaks with forked tongue. That's why, in choosing a resort condominium, you should consider Interval Ownership.

A PLAN FOR ALL SEASONS
Interval Ownership (or "Time sharing") is a plan by which you pay only for the time you use. And what you pay reflects a proportion of ownership in both the building and land. If your thing is schussing through the white stuff, purchase a week or two in Winter and ski Sierra Blanca. Or, if the green stuff is more your cup of tea, you might want some time during racing season at Ruidoso Downs. Or both, or for all seasons, forever. Well, we could go on and on. But why belabor a point? There are lots of these time sharing things around. It's just that ours is the best.

Fully maintained and equipped, elegantly appointed Townhaus Chalets. Private supper club, game rooms, golf, tennis, fishing, and a partridge in a pear tree.

LANDMARK WIN — Galobar, with Jockey Cliff Lambert aboard, notched a half-length win in the Inaugural All-American Futurity in 1959. The gross purse of the first running was a modest $129,686. Today, the purse is $1,030,000.

Over The Wire — Martini had little trouble winning the 150-yard opener at Ruidoso's Hollywood Park last Sunday. Martini and owner-rider Bill McCarty just about worked up a sweat in defeating Shorty, piloted by Jack Jefferies. Racing will be held at the Ruidoso track every Saturday and Sunday.

WHERE IT STARTED — The victorious trio in the winner's circle following Galobar's half-length victory in the first All-American Futurity in '59 were (left to right) Owner Hugh Huntley, Jockey (now trainer) Cliff Lambert and Trainer Newton Keck. Huntley's share of the $129,686 gross purse was $64,843. Today the gross purse is over $1 million and the winner collects $330,000.

THOSE WERE THE DAYS — Here's a look at Ruidoso Downs racing action in the mid-1940's, as it appeared in a photo in the Alamogordo News. The track was called Hollywood Park then, and the skimpy facilities lacked many features — including pari-mutuel wagering. Note the modest size of the grandstand, and the absence of an inside rail. Many of the spectators on hand above are in U.S. Army uniform. The open area, in front of the standing spectators, is roughly where the current paddock is now situated. Interesting, too, is the fact that the duel above covered the tiny distance of 150 yards.

She traded 'meaningless' life for life of challenges

In a society laden with electric toothbrushes and hundreds of how-to-lose-weight books, where dollar often reigns supreme and your good will may be fleeced at, what does one say about Marie Westfall?

Not so many years back, Marie Westfall was successful if money spells prosperity: as a GS-14 grade federal employee with the Washington Technical Institute, Ms. Westfall would earn today well over $27,000 a year, even did she go up within this grade only. But she was not content. She wanted something more. To do something drastic. Soon.

This life is meaningless. I can't go on like this for the rest of my life, she told herself. I have a nice apartment, a new car, but what do I care about it? brooded the management and budget officer, by then in charge of the National Archives' mail room in Washington, D.C.

VISTA VOLUNTEER Marie Westfall, with the Southwestern Farmworkers Council in San Miguel, goes over her plans for a community center park, as she continues new career.

Marie Westfall decided to put her money on Peace Corps, although she "wasn't sure if the program still exists." She left for the Philippines in February last year as a development planner to the Palawan Island, north of Malaysia.

"My only restriction," says the 53-year-old Rhode Islander from Providence, "was that I wouldn't go to a cold climate. And I wanted challenge, in a rural community, not a big city."

Challenge she got in this western Pacific archipelago of eleven large islands about the size of Arizona, where 85 dialects are spoken in addition to Filipino, English and Spanish, and first visited by Magellan in 1521. Ms. Westfall unpacked her suitcase in Puerto Princesa, the 1,000-plus inhabitant capital of Palawan where "the telephone book consists of one page," where fresh milk and butter are scarce, where "fish and rice are your breakfast." But not for long, for she traveled "a great deal, seeing mayors of small island villages," battling malaria, hopping in and out of boats — often the sole means of transportation — and angering local police when throwing ash in what allegedly was a hostile Muslim territory. The island is about half Christian, half Muslim.

In Puerto Princesa, Ms. Westfall rented a windowless, cloth-screened room at a European-type boarding house run by a Filipino family. Her room, board and laundry came to about $25 a month on a Peace Corps allowance of $115. She also received a readjustment allowance of $75 per each month overseas, payable to her when returning to the United States. Retroactive to April 1976, this readjustment allowance has now been raised to $125 a month for all 6,200 Peace Corps volunteers in 89 developing nations. About 325 volunteers are presently working in the Philippines in agricultural, health, business and developmental programs.

Peace Corps, with an annual budget of $80.8 million, is part of ACTION, the Federal Agency for Volunteer Services, created by the President and Congress in 1961. More than 216,000 ACTION volunteers are currently serving worldwide, among them 4,100 VISTA's and 187,000 Retired Senior Volunteers in the United States.

"Fantastic people," observes Ms. Westfall. "The Filipinos really did accept us." Marie Westfall, who has a brother buried on one of the islands, was nonetheless weary of local physicians. "Every time I needed a shot, I'd bring my Peace Corps hypodermic needle with me and afterwards throw it away myself so doctor wouldn't reuse it." The mother of a 28-year old son, who is assistant manager of a restaurant north of San Diego, she returned home after one year overseas "because my mother was seriously ill."

The daughter of an Italian baker from Pisa, Marie Westfall quit high school when 16, worked as a waitress and factory hand, then joined the U.S. Navy in 1945 as an airplane mechanic in Hawaii. She began working for the federal government at the Hickam Air Force base as a GS-1 clerk/typist, earning "about $1,700 a year." When she married in 1947, Ms. Westfall "began to realize I had to have an education," and started working toward her high school diploma. By 1955, she was back in her native Providence, working as a stenographer for the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). She was soon promoted to the GS-5 grade and began taking courses at the University of Rhode Island. Ms. Westfall got her bachelor's degree in political science in 1961 and her master's in business administration the following year.

Now her life became hectic. First came her scholarship at the University of Oslo in Norway, where she got her "sense of accomplishment and stimulus to succeed," then "the highlight of my life," a Fulbright scholarship in public administration at the universities of Adelaide and Melbourne, both in Australia. The Rhode Island Senator John Pastore was the first to congratulate her on the Fulbright scholarship in a telegram of May, 1962.

Ms. Westfall returned to the United States in 1963 and went back to HUD as a program analyst, now at GS-8. She transferred to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare early in 1965 as a grants and loans officer and was promoted to GS-11. The starting salary for this general schedule today is 16,255.

"I worked 60, 70, 80 hours a week and enjoyed it," says the talkative Sagittarius, "separated for years," as she struggles over her marriage, seated in her tiny office in San Miguel, clad in comfortable white cottons, jumping up now and again to smash her swatter over a solitary fly that wanders inside. "My boss told me, 'if you can do it in eight hours, fine.' I liked the job, but didn't want to transfer with it to Austin."

Being part of the federal work force practically all her life, "you might say I grew up in government," Ms. Westfall knows the workers who are often alleged to do little but draw their paychecks inside out.

"It's one of the biggest fallacies. General Motors and other private companies have just as much bureaucracy, but people don't see it as they do in the federal government. Bureaucracy does exist, yes, but it's not nearly so bad as you're led to believe. You should go to the Philippines, talking about the government workers!"

No, Marie Westfall has not retired yet, warning the Providence's park benches. Now she is a VISTA volunteer with the Southwestern Farmworkers Council (El Concilio Campesino del Sudoeste) in San Miguel, a drowsy Spanish-speaking community of about 500 families, south of Las Cruces and a couple of miles from the Stahmann Farms, the largest pecan orchard in the country. A local resident describes the people of San Miguel as "very simple, poor people with an individual way of life, people who can get hurt, but will retaliate if an injustice goes too far — you have to accept their culture."

Ms. Westfall has already helped the Council with the grant application for a day-care facility in their new community center and also goes over their accounting and bookkeeping chores. Her main interest right now is a proposed park that will include a softball field and multipurpose court around the community center. She is all sparkle talking about it:

"We have just requested $70,000 from the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation. I'd like to see this park funded and developed. The kids and elderly here should be our main concern. It should be funded. It will be funded," she almost implores as though the visitor were most responsible for these funds.

There are three national and six locally-recruited VISTA's in San Miguel, all sponsored by the Council; another half a dozen will arrive this month. The Southwestern Farmworkers Council, initiated five years ago and guided by HELP, S.W. (Home Education Livelihood Program) serves the farm workers and migrants in Dona Ana County.

"Marie Westfall is one in a thousand — she would rather come here to help us than make money," comments Rito Medina, her VISTA supervisor and a native of nearby Anthony who displays an ULCER DEPARTMENT sign on his desk. "There were other VISTA's who began the work on this park, but Marie brought it to the state level. She went all the way to Santa Fe." The mustached Mr. Medina admits he has "learned a lot from Marie about how to deal with the state and federal governments. She'd be even more effective if she spoke Spanish."

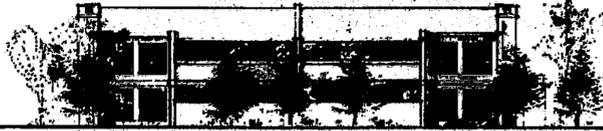

Ms. Westfall is learning the language now. Although her monthly VISTA allowance of $200 forces her "to count every penny" until her retirement check starts coming in, she is almost indifferent to money and has already extended her VISTA service for another year.

"I see concrete results here. And I like the flexibility of my working hours. I'll be a volunteer as long as I can live on this money. I'm always busy, going somewhere," says she, adding in jest, "I hope I'll drop dead while working."

Persons age 20 or older, interested in joining VISTA or Peace Corps, may call collect (214) 749-1855 or write to ACTION Recruitment Office, 212 North St. Paul Street, Dallas, Texas 75201.

EMERGENCY ROOM is staffed 24 hours a day with doctors always on call. During the past year 4,672 patients were treated here. Radio communication connects the emergency room with MAST helicopter service for patient transport and to the New Mexico State Police and other law enforcement agencies should any type of relay service be needed by a patient.

X-RAY DEPARTMENT handled 5,936 diagnostic X-rays during the past year. Though the service is staffed during normal business hours seven days a week, technicians operate on an around the clock call basis to provide immediate X-ray service for any and all emergencies.

THE PINK SHOP caters to the needs of patients and visitors and offers pleasant surroundings for coffee and snacks. During the past year the Pink Ladies have donated $5,284, derived from sales and service, earmarked for equipment for respiratory therapy and the Day Surgery Unit, which, upon completion, will provide the hospital with a second operating room for minor surgeries.

An open letter to the community on services being provided by the

Ruidoso Hondo Valley

As administrator of the Ruidoso Hondo Valley Hospital, I'm fully aware there is nothing as boring as statistics — however, I feel that the general public is entitled to know the extent of the contributions made, and services provided, by this hospital to make this one of the finest living areas in New Mexico.

We employ 87 full time staff members drawing an annual payroll of $649,800. In addition we are also a part-time and seasonal employer.

Our operating costs for the past year totaled $1,152,831.

Our 42-bed facility served 1,879 admitted patients last year, up 201 from the previous year.

Our active medical staff includes two MD's and three DO's, with radiologists and pathologists on our consulting staff.

The Silver Lining

BY DANIEL AGNEW STORM

Homer Allison
It was good to see so many at the services for our dear friend, Homer Allison, at the Ruidoso Downs Baptist Church last Saturday. Many familiar faces were welcome at the services of friends who had known Homer back in the early days — friends who had moved away, but who returned to pay honor and blessings to their friend.

Homer reaches back to the early 1930's here in the Ruidoso Valley and did great service among us as a highway construction worker, farmer, motel owner, and school bus driver. Homer was always a helpful friend and neighbor, always willing to lend a hand to one and all. His cheerful disposition gave many, many of us a lift along life's way.

We all rejoice that Homer is now safe and happy in Heaven with our Lord, and other loved ones who have gone on before. Let us all strive to be more kindly each day to one another, and let us thank God for good friends like Homer.

And, Oh, let us always thank The Lord for taking such loving care of us all, in this life and in the eternal life in Heaven.

September is Time To Say "Come Back Again"

I am sending you this message on the next to the last day of August. There is a little cool breath in the North wind, and the clouds are moving in from every direction, just a little hint that September is nearly here. The crickets after an unusually long silence through the summer, have struck up their elfin evening music. It is a happy late summer serenade.

Remember, September is the late summer month. Fall does not begin until the twenty-second of September.

Still, September is the time when folks who come up for the summer leave for Texas and other parts of our country.

We wish all of you a safe and happy journey home, and know that you take many happy memories with you. We hope you will return to the land of the Pinon and Pine again and again through the years.

Labor Day
Let us all rejoice on this typical American holiday, Labor Day. Work is an American ideal. We are proud and grateful to be able to work. This is one of the cornerstones of our country: the joy of working.

We remember the words the American poet Longfellow wrote in "The Village Blacksmith":

"His brow is wet with honest sweat,"
And the lines from the Scotch poet Robert Burns, from his poem, "The Cotter's Saturday Night":

"Oh, Scotia, My dear, my native Soil
For whom my warmest wish
To Heaven is sent
Long may thy hardy sons, of rustic toil
Be blest with health and peace,

All of you please be very careful driving, extra careful, during the Labor Day holidays.

Visitors From Odessa
I was delighted with a visit with the family of Pappy Johnson's son, Jack, from Odessa, Jack and his wife, Sonja, and daughters Johnna and Jenifer came visiting the land of the Pinon and Pine.

Pappy, Jack, Sonja, and Johnna came down to the Five-S Ranch last Sunday.

Sonja and Johnna gathered up some cactus wood, drift wood and rocks with which to beautify their home in Odessa. These ladies are really artists with the things of nature. It is remarkable what charming things can be made from simple things like rocks and drift wood.

Shady Has A Sore Foot

Last Sunday while I was showing the cows and calves to these folks, Shady Logan, the little Spirit Dog and guardian of the Five-S Ranch, came up with a sore toe.

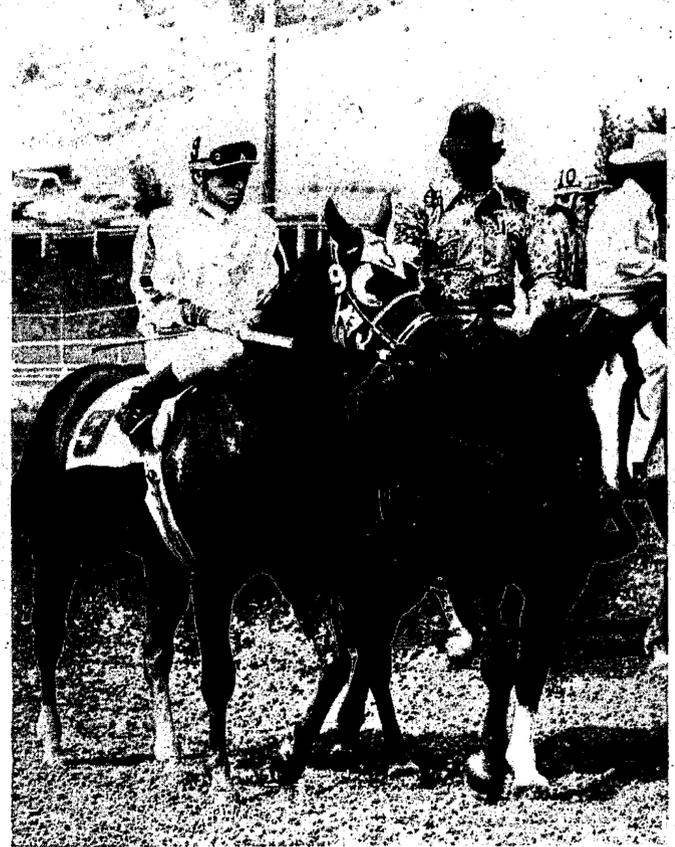

He does not want the cows to get too close to the pickup. So he lies underneath and when a cow gets too close he darts out and nips them on the nose.

Beau, the bull, got closer than Shady thought was proper and Shady let him have one on the nose. This scared the bull and he brought his hoof down. Shady was not quite quick enough and the hoof landed on one of his front toes.

Now Shady is limping a little and will not go on the longs for a while. Still he knows he is lucky, and will be all right in a few days.

The Apple Picture Grows Clear

You can see the apples coloring up along the way. They show up nicely in the vale of Glencoe, and toward San Patricio. There is an unusually heavy crop in the upper end of the Ruidoso fruit belt, around Biscuit Hill and the Tull Stansel orchard. Next time we will go over the different varieties of apples.

MONEY MAKER — Lord Winsalot, originally purchased for $5,000, has earned almost $200,000 so far. He shapes up as a primary contender in the All-American Futurity. Jackie Martin rides the gelding.

Ruidoso Hoofbeats

BY ED BEARD
Trainer Bubba Cascio got a stiff neck Friday but it wasn't from watching those 22 All-American Futurity trials. Bubba tried to help jockey Jerry Nicodemus out of a sticky situation in the 11th race when Ned Hanger flipped in the starting gate. Nicodemus tried to get out over the rear of the gate but caught his foot in the stirrup and fell on top of Cascio. Doctors feared Cascio had a broken neck, and rushed him off to a Dallas specialist. But it turned out to be an aggravation of an old injury. He returned to Ruidoso in time to catch Sunday's All-American Derby, sporting a neck brace he'll be wearing for awhile.

Here are the finalists for the $1 million All-American Futurity Labor Day (Sept. 6th): Mr. Glory Oh, 21.73; Real Wind, 21.76; Lord Winsalot, 21.77; Comingforth, 21.77; Topless Dancer, 21.79; Divine Liz, 21.82; Megahertz, 21.91; Louton's Angel, 21.91; Comin' Easy, 21.92½; Pass Your Glass, 21.92½.

Trial notes: The competition was about the keenest in the 17-year history of the classic. Less than 20 seconds separated the top qualifiers from the bottom. Six of the qualifiers took their trial spin as heavy favorites. All but two of the finalists won their trials — the shortest win margin was ¾ lengths and the longest was 3½ lengths. Winners of the first two legs of the quarter horse Triple Crown — Real Wind (Rainbow Futurity), and Lord Winsalot (Kansas Futurity), ranked near the top on the qualifying list. Three jockeys claimed two final slots apiece. Johnny Cox was aboard two of trainer Roger Fagan's students, Mr. Glory Oh and Comingforth. Jackie Martin handled Lord Winsalot for Roscoe Yates and Louton's Angel for Hugh Tucker. Jerry Nicodemus claimed a couple of slots for trainer Charles Cascio on Topless Dancer and Pass Your Glass. The field breaks down to six fillies, three colts and one gelding. Six of the qualifiers are Texas-owned, two are from Oklahoma and two come from New Mexico. Two of the qualifiers kept perfect strings going with trial wins. Mr. Glory Oh stands at three for three with his three-length victory. Real Wind stretched her record to six straight. The top money makers of the field are Lord Winsalot with earnings of $195,054 and Real Wind, $126,274. R. E. Wise of Madisonville, Texas, took a gamble, supplementing Topless Dancer to the All-American for $14,250. The move has already paid off. The least he can make is last-place money of $27,000. Qualifiers checked in throughout the day and from almost every gate position. Two came from the rail and two from the twoslot, one each came out of the three, four, five, six and nine holes.

Once again, there'll be advance wagering on Monday's All-American Futurity. The advance wagering window, located at the east end of the grandstand, will be open from Friday through the 8th race Monday. Wagers in the amount of $2, $5, $10 — win, place or show — can be made.

Dancing Deckhand, ridden by Wayne Gee in Thursday's six-furlong Ruidoso Thoroughbred Futurity trial, clipped competition by a nose to claim a starting berth in the $93,100 finale and set the top win price of the season. The colt paid $154.40 on a $2 ticket. He's owned by Alex Barton of Booker, Texas and trained by Cliff Lambert. Other qualifiers: Hasty Start, Dismis, Strictly Proper, Countess Blade, Work Sheet, Tahbin, Lockridge, Smash It and Kristi's Lark.

Richard Bickel picked up two wins, a place and a show from four rides on Thursday and qualified three of them for the finale of the Ruidoso Thoroughbred Futurity. Bickel was aboard Dismis for a nose triumph in the sixth race, Work Sheet for a second in the ninth and Tahbin for a half-length score in the 10th. All three qualified. His third was on Gone Holme in the 11th.

Jeff Thrasher, who's been sidelined for the past couple of weeks with a cracked collar bone suffered in a riding accident, climbed back up for his first ride in Saturday's eighth race. Thrasher piloted Back Lash to a third at 870 yards as a 38-1 shot.

Time To Tell put out some fine work as the only filly in Saturday's Ruidoso Sprint Championship. She came from far back under Victor Escobar for a two-length win as the second favorite. Her time for the six furlongs was a sizzling 1:11 3/5 seconds, which equalled the track record set by Crazy Frills just last month. The four-year-old is trained by E. Jolly Driskill for B. Raymond Evans of Tulla, Texas.

Trainer Jimmy Claridge's students took the icing off the cake in Saturday's ninth race at a mile for $8,500 claimers. Charge Anet and Diane's Star, racing as a stable entry at over 13-1, finished first and second respectively. Victor Escobar was on Charge Anet. Glen Jackson handled Diane's Star.

Jockey Keith Asmussen was handed a $50 fine for participating in a jockey room altercation after the second race Friday. Trainer Roscoe Yates was $25 lighter for being late to the paddock for the first race Friday.

Jockey/Trainer of the week

Straying a bit from tradition, the weekly jockey crown at Ruidoso Downs was given to two riders, J. C. Wiley and Jackie Martin.

Both copped four wins — Wiley from 20 mounts and Martin from 14. Wiley clicked once aboard Kid's Rib in the All-American Futurity trials on Friday but his 22.11 second time was too slow to make the finale. He did qualify for a shot at the $30,000 winner's chunk, running second on Comin' Easy in 21.92½ seconds. Wiley added a couple of more winners on Saturday.

But the major score of the weekend came in Sunday's finale of the $66,042 All-American Derby. He piloted Mito Wise Dancer out of the one hole to a 3/4-length victory in a speedy 21.56 seconds. The victory was worth a plump $188,491.

Jackie Martin collected a win from two starts on Thursday. His best victory came during Friday's All-American Futurity trials. Martin went to post 10 times and made the winner's circle trip on three. Lord Winsalot carried him to a 3½ length victory in the first heat in 21.77 seconds — the third best of the day.

Martin piloted Louton's Angel to a length score in the 20th division and again gained a starting berth in the finale. His third winner was Siren Song in the 21st division. She failed to make the cut.

Carlos Rivas also collected four wins over the weekend and boosted his standing at the top to 69 winners from 340 outings.

E. Jolly Driskill notched the trainer honor, fielding four winners. Jolly's major score came in Saturday's six-furlong Ruidoso Sprint Championship when Time

To Tell came from behind for a two-length win in 1:11 3/5 seconds. That equalled the track mark set by Crazy Frills just last month.

Jolly bettered his status to fourth in the over-all ratings with 29 wins from 126 starts. H. C. Werner, Jr. is still at the top with 38.

The final weekend of racing of the '76 season picks up on Thursday and continues through Monday (Labor Day). The seven-furlong Roadrunner Stakes is offered on Thursday. Friday's main attraction is the $8,500-added Brigand Handicap at 870 yards. On Saturday it's the $93,100 Thoroughbred Futurity. On Sunday, three-year-olds and up settle the $6,500-added Ruidoso Mile.

Monday is the seasonal highpoint — the $1 million All-American Futurity.

First post Thursday and Friday is the usual 1:30 p.m. On Saturday and Sunday action begins at 12 noon. Monday's Labor Day program gets going at an early 11:30 a.m. to accommodate the national telecast of the All-American Futurity.

Contrary bears 'harvest' crops

Usually, when the bears come out of the mountains, it can be blamed on dry weather.

"But maybe this time it's just the contrary nature of the bears," says Louis Berghofer, nuisance animal control officer for the N. M. Department of Game and Fish.

He said that the department has received about 25 complaints during the past month from irate owners of orchards, beehives and cornfields, in spite of the fact that mast and berry crops — bears' normal food — are in plentiful supply.

The majority of the complaints came from the northeastern part of the state, although there were scattered complaints throughout New Mexico.

Berghofer said that when the department receives a complaint, it sends an officer to investigate and attempt to trap and remove the bear. Live traps are used when they're practical.

"We should point out, though, that bear season's open in most parts of the state, and anyone with a big game (deer, bear and turkey) license can handle the complaint themselves or find a hunter willing to handle it for them," Berghofer said.

"Jo-Jo... what have they done to you?"

Collared ibex finally located

One of the radio-collared ibex released in the Canadian River Canyon last spring by the N. M. Department of Game and Fish has been located a few miles north of the original release site.

George Merrill, assistant chief of the Game Management Division, said locating the collared ibex was especially gratifying because it was thought that all five of the transmitters placed on the goat-like animals had gone out of commission.

"When we flew over and located this one, it was quite a relief," he said. "We hadn't been able to pick up a radio signal from any of them for a while, now, and thought all the radios had gone on the blink."

The pilot and observer weren't able to sight any of the animals from the air, Merrill said, but ground crews were given the location and will move in to try to find the collared animal and any that might be with it.

"When they work, the radios are one of the best things we have going for us in keeping track of these animals," Merrill said. "When they don't, it's darn frustrating."

Depending on the situation, the collared animals can be located by the use of two receivers at different locations and triangulating the location of the transmitter, or the animals can be located by the use of a single, directional antenna which produces a stronger signal when it's pointed in the animal's direction.

In various projects throughout the state, Game and Fish Department biologists are also using radios to monitor the movements of deer, elk and mountain lions.

Present home matches view to a "T."

This original design takes full advantage of both a waterfront view and factory engineering.

The primary living area of this unique cedar home angles forward with view windows on all sides — forming the vertical in what is basically a T-shape. (That distinctive, square-topped roof peak encloses the fireplace chimney.) But the bedrooms also share the outlook and the drama, with ceilings that angle upward to a peak of 13 ft. on the view side.

OPINION PAGE

Yours and Ours

1,600 BOOSTERS EAT

U.S. Senator Joseph M. Montoya benefitted to the tune of some $190,000... less expenses... from a $100-a-plate dinner sponsored... presumably... to bolster his campaign treasury... to do battle with challenger Jack Schmitt.

Through this largess, the Senator should now know:

— More than 1,900 voters... and this is an assumption... think enough of the Senator to buy $100 banquet plates.

— More than 300 ticket purchasers didn't bother to go break bread with the Senator and the dignitaries.

What'd really shake Sen. Montoya would be for supporters of Schmitt to attract 19,000 plus voters to $10-a-plate dinners.

On the other hand, Sen. Montoya is desirous of having this campaign conducted on a high plane... without unfounded statements... such as Post Office rentals, due to a misunderstanding of the payments... being interjected.

The Senator is to be congratulated on this statement... mainly because his campaign staff has yet to uncover anything about Schmitt to enable them to fight fire with fire... and Schmitt didn't dig into Montoya's dealings to drag them out into the open for the Senator to make conflicting statements about.

There is... of course... the influence the Senator has... or claims to have... as a result of being a two-term... and here I always thought that a first term Senator had just as many votes as the Senator with six terms in, starting his seventh. But... if the scratch-my-back-scratch-your-back method bears as much fruit as we read it does on passage of bills... Montoya might control lots of votes. But he really hasn't revealed much along these lines... which might be good judgment.

The beautiful thing about the general election is that the people can actually choose between Montoya and Schmitt... in the privacy of the balloting booth... and that decision can be made upon the basis of who said what... and who didn't... who did what... and who didn't... 'cause, thanks to a free press, detrimental as well as favorable incidents are brought to the attention of the voters... and one brownie point can be chalked up for defenders of the people's right to know.

GOOD TIMES AHEAD?

Prosperity... now that the U.S. Senate has acted to end four state of national emergency measures... one dating back 43 years... might be two years around the corner. The two year waiting period is due to that's how long it'll take to put those measures into the wastebasket.

The measures include one by Nixon to implement currency restrictions and control foreign trade... the postal strike of 1970, also proclaimed by Nixon... the Korean War emergency proclaimed by Truman... and the most interesting of all... FDR's act to order a bank holiday and deal with the economic crisis of the great depression.

So... if you've wondered what bankers have been doing the past 43 years... they could have been enjoying the bank holiday... and if, two years hence, these measures are indeed thrown out, maybe our economic crisis will die a natural death.

And if you sometimes wonder why the Congress is so slow to act on measures that could have tremendous impact on our nation... consider that the Senate passed this measure Oct. 7, 1974, passed it 388-5... and this bill... which did away with things long passed... obviously kicked around in a committee for almost a year before being brought up in the Senate... where it passed on a voice vote... and without debate.

Solely on the basis that 43 years have elapsed since FDR ordered a bank holiday... does it seem likely that the Congress will really come to grips with... school busing... unemployment... food stamps... welfare abuses... inflation... strikes...

civil rights... budget balancing... currency stabilization... and in so doing, lose these cherished tools with which to lambast an opponent in the constant quest for election or re-election?

BRIEF BIT: A good hot election is the only thing we know of that can promote more arguments and fool bets than the World Series... CD

The Ruidoso Municipal Airport will be im- measurably improved as a result of work to be ac- complished through a $243,900 Department of Transportation grant. In view of the fact the proposed regional airport may be operational in 1979, this action indicates the DT's grantors of grants don't know what might happen to flying here. — CD

by billie surmick

A secret organization of cloth cutters, called the Knights of Labor, set up shop in Philadelphia in 1869. Forerunners of the American Federation of Labor, the organization worked toward labor reforms and in 1882, tagged the first Monday in September as Labor Day. Oregon was the first state to declare it a legal holiday in 1887. Technically speaking, there are no national holidays as each state has jurisdiction over its own holidays. Practically speaking, most states observe Federal legal public holidays. Now, less than 100 years later, with the establish- ment of the eight-hour day and other man- saving legislation, some of the laborers use more energy observing the workingman's holiday than they would on the job.

They survived a 10 1/2 hour operation to separate them and several subsequent organ operations... then, last week, one of the Siamese twins choked to death on a bean. Makes one wonder whether Man or Fate is pushing the buttons that control our destinies.

The unisex movement was given a boost in June, 1973, when the Supreme Court upheld a Pittsburgh ordinance prohibiting newspapers from carrying sex-designated employment ads. Help Wanted - Male or Help Wanted - Female ads are a no-no, the court proclaimed. Social statements began to appear in some of the ads: "Man or woman to work in ad agency making razor blade commercials. Must have heavy beard" and "Pregnant man or woman to model maternity clothes." Makes job hunting through the want ads a bit tedious and confusing except, perhaps, for Dr. Richard Renee Richards.

Trucking is not always a piece of cake, so says Marion Gayden, former longtime Ruidoso resident. He left a ranch in Wyoming last week with a load of hay bound for Sunland. A mile out on the freeway, the transmission went out. After a day of hitch hiking and scrounging, Marion located replacement parts and repaired the transmission—but not before a wrench slipped out of his hand and smacked him in the face. A few miles later, a tire blew out on his 18-wheeler. Then the tachometer quit. Marion once again hitch hiked 65 miles into the nearest town to buy a cable. Replacing it involved tilting the cab forward and stripping out several feet of cable. While juggling on the existing cable with both hands, it broke and Marion somersaulted out onto the highway landing in a very un-macho position. He said that day was almost as bad as the one a few years ago when two men waylaid him in the parking lot of a truck stop near Seattle, planted a lead pipe in the back of his head and shot him in both legs.

Let's leave the racing and record-setting to the race track this weekend of weekends and not try to prove anything on our roadways. brs

Clipped Comment

AN ERA IN COURT

Historians will some day look back upon this era as one dominated not by the executive or legislative branches but by the courts.

Courts are, in effect, operating the schools in some areas. Courts decided what a recent President could do with his personal tapes and papers. Courts hauled a presidential staff into its chambers and sent many to jail.

Courts decided whether candidates could receive election funds in this year's presidential campaign. Courts are preventing the Ford Administration from reducing the scope of the racket-ridden food stamp program.

Perhaps the latter example is the most indicative of the current era of judicial dominance. The President and the executive branch have been rendered powerless to alter a massive, expensive food stamp program being abused by many because recipients have resorted to the courts.

Generally speaking, courts have traditionally refrained from blocking the functioning of the executive branch of government. Too much detailed intervention into social and domestic events, rather than an interpretation of the law and Constitution, could result in eventual constitutional curbs on the power of courts and judges.

A more immediate first corrective step is a new law providing for periodic reconfirmation of judges. — The News-Bulletin, Belen.

RUIDOSO NEWS

Inside the Capital by Fred Buckles

ALBUQUERQUE — Republicans strummed a unity theme and Democratic U.S. Sen. Joseph M. Montoya's campaign coffers gained $175,000 in week-end political activity in Albuquerque.

State Rep. Colin McMillan, Chaves-DeBaca, is New Mexico Ford-Dole campaign chairman. Lincoln County rancher Joe Skeen, Mrs. April Westbrook, Hobbs, and State Sen. Willie Chavez, Belen, are on the Ford-Dole steering committee. McMillan said: "There will be a very close relationship between the State Republican Party and the New Mexico Republican Ford Committee."

Ford and Reagan forces urged party unity at a State Republican Central Committee meeting here. U.S. Sen. Pete Domenici, Albuquerque, worked hard to foster a unified general election campaign effort. Both Ford and Reagan backers are on the Ford-Dole campaign steering committee.

Sierra County GOP Chairman Joe Pankey, Truth or Consequences, told the state central committee: "We're ready to go in Sierra County. We have got our headquarters." The Sierra County GOP will stage a barbecue Oct. 17, featuring U.S. Senate candidate Harrison Schmitt, Silver City, and Don Trubey, Portales, the GOP nominee for the U.S. House in District 2.

Sam Laughlin, Artesia, a Reagan delegate at Kansas City, said Republicans have a good chance to carry Eddy County and the East Side for Schmitt. He said Schmitt will probably outrun the Ford-Dole ticket on the East Side.

Skeen, 49, said he is pondering another run for governor in 1978. He said he will decide between the general election Nov. 2 and Jan. 1. Skeen narrowly lost in 1974 to Gov. Jerry Apodaca.

Anderson Carter of Lovington, who was Ronald Reagan's national field operations director, told the GOP state central committee: "I don't think the New Mexico Republican Party has ever been un-united. I have never had any concern about the Republican Party coming out of the national convention united."

A $100-a-plate dinner for Sen. Montoya, Santa Fe Democrat, attracted 1,800. Montoya said 1,940 tickets were sold. Gov. Apodaca warmly endorsed Sen. Montoya. U.S. Sens. J. Bennett Johnston of Louisiana and Alan Cranston of California said Jimmy Carter will win the White House. They said Montoya can be more effective as a Democratic senator in a Democratic Congress with a Democratic president. A New Mexico Carter-Mondale organization, headed by Ben Alexander of Hobbs, was announced here.

Rio Arriba County Democratic Chairman Emilio Naranjo predicted the Carter-Mondale ticket "will carry Rio Arriba County by 3,500 to 4,000 votes in a landslide." A longtime Montoya ally, Naranjo forecast victory for Montoya in Rio Arriba "by a 4,000 vote majority." He said: "If a landslide develops for Carter, a lot of Republicans could be swept out of office, including Congressman Manuel Lujan Jr." Lujan's opponent is Albuquerquean Raymond Garcia, formerly of Penasco.

Naranjo said State Rep. Reynaldo Medina, D-Chama, withdrew from the general election ballot because he is moving to Santa Fe. Medina, an insurance agent, is completing his second term in House District 41 (Rio Arriba-Taos). Naranjo said the Rio Arriba County Democratic Central Committee nominated Manuel Trujillo, 24, a Chama teacher, to replace Medina on the Democratic ticket. He said Trujillo was nominated by acclamation. J. Lucas Martinez Jr. of Los Ojos is the Republican candidate for the State House seat.

A Santa Fe District Court hearing on a suit filed by Sanford Inc., doing business as Adobe Inn Motel, and S and S Enterprise, Santa Rosa, against State Highway Engineer James A. Bird was canceled. State Highway Department attorney Scott Rutledge said a preliminary injunction will be issued by the Court against removal of highway signs on Interstate 40 pending final disposition of the suit. Two signs on the south side of Interstate 40 at Santa Rosa were specified in the complaint, filed by Albuquerque attorney Michael G. Rosenberg. The suit asks Judge Thomas A. Donnelly to declare the federal Highway Beautification Act void and unconstitutional. It says the act is an unreasonable, arbitrary exercise of police power.

The State Education Board heard Amistad area residents push for deconsolidation of Amistad School from the Clayton School District at a Santa Fe hearing. The board directed its staff to study the board's legal authority on the deconsolidation request. Amistad and Clayton School District witnesses testified at a lengthy hearing.

State Sen. Odie Echols, 46, said he is moving from Clovis to Albuquerque.

Echols lost his bid for renomination in the Democratic primary June 1. His wife, Pat, has been employed as a first grade teacher in Albuquerque Public Schools. Echols heads a corporation that operates a Spanish language television station in Albuquerque. He has been a state senator 10 years.

A MODERN PARABLE

Do you remember a few years ago, men were saying "God is dead"? You don't hear it so much anymore. Now men are more apt just to think He is indifferent. The other day I heard a surprising theology expressed. A man said: "God is crazy." It was said by a crazy man. Dead men say God is dead. Indifferent men say He is indifferent. Crazy men say He is crazy. Loving men say He is Love. You are invited to join the Presbyterians of Ruidoso in worship any Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. We believe in and worship a God of Love.
