

Chamber's Ski Pak set

The Chamber of Commerce Ski Pak, designed to attract mid-week skiers to Sierra Blanca Ski Resort at reduced rates, has been completed for the 1976-77 season. The Ski Pak per person rates are $26 for the first day and $24 for each additional day. Included in the daily package rate are motel, cabin or condominium accommodations; $5 food allowance; skis, boots and poles and an all day lift ticket. All state and local taxes are included in the daily rate. The Ski Pak offer is void Saturdays and Sundays and from Dec. 25 through Jan. 2, 1977. The accommodations price will vary, depending upon facilities desired and the number of people in the group. The $5 daily food coupons are redeemable at local food stores and at the 30 participating restaurants. Ski rental shops supporting the Ski Pak include Adobe Ski Rental, Alpine Ski Haus, Alto Ski Shop, Mountain Ski Shop, Ray Heid's Ski Shop, Rush Ski Rental, Sierra Blanca Ski Shop and Skinner Ski Rental, C-C manager Richard Cothrun said. As of today, 35 motels have signed up with Ski Pak. First time beginners on the slopes may obtain all day ski instruction, the first day only, for $2. Cothrun noted that regular weekend and holiday daily rates for skis, boots and poles are about $7.50; lift tickets $10.75 and that the regular daily midweek lift tickets cost $9.50. "Our Ski Pak is meeting, or beating, the prices of ski resorts farther north," Cothrun said, "with some of the popular resorts advertising nation-wide, in better magazines, mid-week savings of 25 percent. "Ruidoso can offer more skiing at less cost under the Ski Pak and that is an inducement that has attracted many mid-week skiers in the past and certainly will this year, just as soon as the slopes can open."

TOTAL SCHOOL ENROLLMENT 1,203, UP 38 FROM '75-76

School complex nearing completion; rooms in use

Results of the $1,650,000 school bond issue, passed by area property owners October 7, 1976, are apparent on a day to day basis as the complex at White Mountain school nears completion. Charles Kerlee, construction superintendent with George H. Cillessen Contractor, Inc. of Albuquerque, said Friday the gymnasium and education building should be completed by February 15. Two classrooms and a media center added to the existing school building are already in use. The total new complex and addition involve some 48,013 square feet under roof, according to Kerlee. All but $300,000 of the $1.65 million in bonds has been sold. Sale of the balance is scheduled to take place before the end of this year. Cillessen bid $1,507,655 for construction of the project. Remainder of the bond funds will be spent for architectural fees to Alley and Associates, bonding agent fees to Stern Bros. and furnishings for the classrooms, Pat Valliant, superintendent of schools, said. Property owners can expect to pay $8.95 per thousand in assessed valuation to cover the bond issue. The 31,200 square foot education building under construction will contain 16 class rooms, a media center, office space and a lounge-workroom. The gymnasium should be completely enclosed by next week and score boards and various equipment will then be installed, according to Kerlee. At the end of the first 20-day report period for the 1976-77 school year, enrollment is 1,203 compared to 1,165 for the same period last school year. These figures do not include 60 kindergarten and 14 special education students. "We have been overcrowded for several years," Valliant said, "and if we were able to just hold our own and not have an increased enrollment, we'd still be overcrowded. Enrollment in 1973 was up 60 to 70 students and the 1974 enrollment was up another 100." The three schools employ a total of 110 persons including administration, teachers, aides, bus drivers, custodians, secretaries and cooks. The central administration office has four employees;

Ruidoso High School, 50; Nob Hill 24 and White Mountain, 25. The seven bus drivers are included in the total, but not designated by school. A 1975-76 grade enrollment comparison is as follows:

Fifth	95	100
Sixth	106	99
Seventh	103	120
Eighth	116	109
Ninth	128	104
Tenth	109	115
Eleventh	80	104
Twelfth	78	66

Of the current enrollment of 1,203, White Mountain has 280 students; Nob Hill, 305 and the high school, 618. In speaking of projections for school year 1977-78, Valliant said, "We will have a kindergarten available for all age-eligible children. Nob Hill will house kindergarten, first and second grades; White Mountain will be for grades three, four and five and the new education building will contain middle school students in grades six, seven and eight. "The mid-school concept has had a lot of success in the southeast, northeast and far northwest portions of the country. It is a good transition to high school, yet the

Nine Ruidoso men arraigned

Nine Ruidoso area men were arraigned Tuesday in District Court after being indicted by the Lincoln County Grand Jury October 18. Bobby Roy Salas, Ruidoso Downs; Bill Albert Fernandez and Nathaniel (J. J.) Winters of Ruidoso all pled not guilty to aggravated battery charges stemming from the October 3 shotgun shooting of Frankie Calderon, 24, of Ruidoso. A $10,000 bond was set for each man and Salas bonded out with ten percent. Fernandez and Winters remain in custody at the Lincoln County jail. Court dates will be set at a later date, according to Sheriff Leandro Vega, Jr. Five Mesalero men entered not guilty pleas to charges of burglary and larceny over $100. Chandler Morgan, Eldon Ricks Morgan, Alfred Kayitah, George Kayitah and Carol Kayitah were represented by public defender James Weldon. A $5,000 bond with ten percent allowed was placed on each one and they remain in custody in Carrizozo. Court dates have not been set, Vega said. George Henry Plata, 18, of Ruidoso responded to a summons by the Grand Jury and pled guilty to charges of attempted burglary. Judge George Zimmerman Tuesday ordered a presentence report for Plata and set his sentencing date for December 2. Zimmerman released him with no bond and Plata resumed his classes at Ruidoso High School, according to Vega. In other district court action Tuesday, a change of venue was granted to Sam C. Stoneman on charges of livestock stealing. He will go to court in Carlsbad, Eddy County, at a date to be determined. Zimmerman reduced Stoneman's bond from $50,000 to $25,000 and allowed ten percent. Vega said Stoneman bonded out for $2,500, but is being held in custody until Bernalillo County officials pick him up to face arraignment on similar charges in that county. Billy Floyd Frazier pled guilty to auto theft from the Coe Ranch and will be sentenced December 2. Lincoln County Sheriff's Department has Frazier in custody on a Florence, Alabama warrant. Zimmerman also ordered a presentence report on Frazier. James Nelson Brazel, recently of Capitan and formerly from Anchorage, Alaska, was sentenced to two to ten years in the New Mexico State Penitentiary for bank robbery charges entered after the Ruidoso State Bank branch in Capitan was robbed in July. His sentence began Friday. Vega said Nelson's courtroom testimony vindicated the juvenile who allegedly accompanied him in the robbery and that charges of being an accessory will "probably be dropped on the juvenile."

Downs policewoman ... experienced cop

BY BILLIE SURMICK
Staff Writer

Connie Garner, recently hired as a secretary-dispatcher for the Ruidoso Downs Police Department, is a cool, capable and caring cop. Her motivation to enter law enforcement work came when she observed a meter maid in Roswell whom she tagged, "Neat, interesting and salty." Connie's brother is a lieutenant with the King County Police Department in Washington and his work also interested her. She hired on as a meter maid for the Roswell Police Department and "walked the job for six months". She was then given a three-wheel motorcycle on which to work as a traffic officer, then graduated to a two-wheel motorcycle. Connie was the second woman to ever go through the Roswell Police Academy and was certified in 1973 as a law enforcement officer. She was trained in areas including fingerprinting, pistol range, criminal investigation, family crisis, search and seizure, traffic and "any type situation a police officer might run into." She had to leave the Roswell Police Department when she met and married a fellow cop as that department, along with many others, will not allow husbands and wives to be on the same force. Connie then opened a private investigator business in Roswell securing contracts with various stores for shoplifting problems. She also worked in employee and internal investigations for her clients. Her husband, Ray, went to work as chief of security for the K-Mart store and Connie returned to the 76-member Roswell Police Department as a patrolman, working in a patrol car, not a motorcycle. She was the only woman on the force at that time. She said another woman patrolman has recently been hired in Roswell and "I hope she makes it." Connie said she didn't remember being in any particular dangerous situations, but bar fights "scared me". When she told her chief this, he said, "That's good. If you're not scared, you can get hurt." According to Connie, "The bars we covered were bad. If the fight was still going on when we walked in, we had to physically break it up, but usually the fight was over and nobody in the place wanted to press charges." Her husband was hired by the Ruidoso Police Department as a patrolman in August. Connie and her three daughters Sherry, 14; Kyra, 10 and Kristi, 8 came to Ruidoso shortly thereafter. "My daughters are proud of my work," Connie said, "and they put up with some really strange hours I had to work in Roswell." When asked if she would be on patrol with the Ruidoso Downs department, Connie said, "Patrol is hard physically and emotionally. I think there are many places for women in police work other than patrol." "One of my favorite areas is working with juveniles. Many children are brought up in an atmosphere of suspicion and hatred for police officers. I've seen a four-year-old girl who knew how to put handcuffs on because she'd seen officers handcuff her daddy. Juvenile work is a challenge and that's where you have to start... it's the beginning."

CONNIE GARNER, a certified law enforcement officer, is serving on the Village of Ruidoso Downs police force as a secretary-dispatcher.

Village councils to meet

The Ruidoso Downs trustees will meet at 7:00, tonight in village hall. Agenda items include discussion on the All-Systems road grant, Bill Pippin's annexation petition, an amendment to the present sanitation ordinance, opening of bids for the proposed All American Park and acceptance of the police secretary appointment. The Ruidoso trustees will meet at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday in the All-Purpose Room of the Ruidoso Library. Agenda items include the introduction and consideration of Resolution 76-8, authorizing an agreement between the Village of Ruidoso and The Southeastern

New Mexico Economic Development District; introduction and consideration of Resolution 76-9, adopting and approving Comprehensive Plan 1976 and Plan Elements; requests for zoning changes and a report on the Oct. 15 Eagle Creek Intercommunity Water Users Association meeting by trustees George White and Ab Gunter.

WHOOPS! One

The runway at Ruidoso Municipal Airport really wasn't as rough as it seemed when Ruford Madera set his Cessna 210 down for a routine landing Thursday. According to an airport spokesman, Madera made an "apparently good approach, but forgot to put the landing gear down." There were no injuries and damage to the aircraft was reported as minimal.

WHOOPS! Two

Cowboy boots aren't. Deborah Harvey, 22, of Hollywood, Calif., learned Thursday, the proper footwear for scaling a steep bank overlooking the Rio Ruidoso. Harvey, local reports indicated, slipped and fell onto the river bank rocks. She was treated in the Ruidoso Hondo Valley Hospital's emergency room and then transferred by MAST helicopter to Providence Hospital, El Paso, suffering from cuts and abrasions.

Livestock group meets Saturday

The Lincoln County Farm Livestock Bureau's annual meeting will be Oct. 30 at the Carrizozo Country Club beginning with a free dinner at 7 p.m. The business session includes, president Bill Stevenson of Carrizozo said, election of officers and submitting of annual committee reports. "The dinner will be free to all members present at the country club at 7 p.m.," Stevenson said, "and the dancing for all dinner guests, beginning at 9, is also free. A $2 admission, per person, will be charged after 9."

Gavilan water project progressing rapidly

Work on laying the ten inch water mains along Gavilan Canyon road is almost 75 percent complete and the total contract is now 50 percent finished.

This project, barring drouth, will provide good water pressure in the Gateway area and will eliminate the use of the Hollywood Well.

The new lines will also deliver adequate water along the system to meet the demands of peak seasonal use. To further ease water pressure, and volume, problems during periods of excessive use, additional lines are scheduled for the Ponderosa Heights area in 1977.

seventh and eighth graders won't have to be thrown in with the high school students. This age group is in a transitional stage and having them separate is a good thing. "We've never had a structured physical education class for the younger students. The new gym will be used for PE students in grades three through eight. The music room will be for band and chorus students at White Mountain and the cafeteria will have staggered lunch periods for students in grades three through five and six through eight. "The media center, with books and audio-visual teaching aids, will be for grades three through five and goes into full use next week for students currently enrolled at White Mountain. A second media center in the new education building will offer more extensive materials for grades six through eight. "Tentative plans are to hire 12 or 13 additional teachers and support personnel. We will need a music teacher, two PE teachers, a counselor, secretaries, language art teacher, cooks and another custodian or two, a math teacher and a social studies teacher. "If the dollars are available, and we never know what the legislature will do, we hope it will be enough to hire these additional people. We're really excited about having enough room to have the classes we need."

13,000 SQ. FT. GYM, under construction at White Mountain school, will be ready for score board installation next week, according to superintendent Charles Kerlee.

Christmas candles

Members of the Ruidoso High School Band, to help finance the annual spring band tour, will be selling Christmas candles at $2.50 each and holders at $2.25 each, door to door, through Tuesday.

"This is an excellent opportunity for area residents to show their support of our school band," director LeRoy Gooch said, "and at the same time they can let the band members know that the community is backing them and is proud of the excellent music provided for school functions and at concerts."

College football

Junior College football comes to Mesalero Oct. 30 when Haskell Indian Junior College of Lawrence, Kan., meets NMMI, Roswell, on the Community Center Field. Game time is 2 p.m.

Ruidoso artists enter prestigious Texas art show

Six of the 28 artists who will be exhibiting Thursday in a prestigious Big Spring, Texas art show are from Ruidoso. The black tie, champagne, $25 admission affair is the second annual "Gala Evening Benefit Show for the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center" at the Big Spring

Country Club. Local artisans entering the show are Albert Richardson, bronze sculptures; Jim Hall, oil paintings; Tom Knapp, sculptures; Dorothy Knapp, water colors and drawings; Tim Wierwille, pottery and Gary Myers, water colors.

Myers said, "Every time I go to a show, I run into more artists from Ruidoso and I think it's a good thing. In this particular show, the artists will donate 20 per cent of their sale proceeds to the rehabilitation center. We have a lot of talented people in Ruidoso."

Highlights of the meeting will include participation in the general assembly programs; caucuses by districts; educational sessions emphasizing outreach programs; election of officers; a "Meet your Candidates" session and a parade of progress.

Chairman of the general assembly will be Leo W. Huppert, NMHA president. Albuquerque mayor Harry Kinney will give the welcoming address. The keynote speaker will be Wade Mountz, speaker of the House of Delegates, American Hospital Association.

The Association of Western Hospitals Round-up will be chaired by James D'Agostino, assistant administrator, Eastern New Mexico Medical Center, Roswell. The speaker will be Kenneth Knapp, immediate past president of the Association of Western Hospitals.

"National Health Issues" will be discussed in the "Meet your Candidates" session led by Fred Mondragon, NM Hospital Association president-elect and regional administrator, Presbyterian Hospital Center, Albuquerque.

Nedra Gathings, president of the Auxiliary to the NM Hospital Association, will be the chairman of the business meetings, educational session and the parade of progress which will feature past presidents of the State Auxiliary.

A presentation of outreach programs entitled "Death Defying Acts" will be chaired by Gladys Reed, president-elect of the NM Auxiliary.

U.S. Senator Pete Domenici will be the banquet speaker Thursday evening.

A tennis tournament, a luncheon-fashion show, a welcome brunch and a President's Brunch will also be on the agenda.

A few weeks ago The News went out of the office supply business — decided to just be a newspaper — with the addition of a camera room and press recently it was getting a little crowded!

We've had many startled looks from people dropping in for their office supply needs — seeing bare shelves and sputtering — what happened? — have you moved? — don't you have just one sheet of onion skin left? — But there's nothing left and we haven't moved and we're still a news office!

Security Bank was out in full force the other evening and the occasion was a "going away" party for Jeannette Riley at the branch bank. She's not really going away — just decided to retire from the bank!

Dona Nunnally attended the party with the others and looked as though she was feeling much better after a recent "bout" in the hospital! "Figgy" didn't miss a dance from the polka to the twist! Glad that you're not really going away, Jeannette, enjoy your "retirement"!

Ruby Beinhauer dropped by the office to bring us a report of the district fall meeting hosted by the Ruidoso American Legion. She asked us to send best wishes to Mayor Lloyd Davis who has been under the weather — to George White who entered the VA Hospital in Albuquerque last Monday — and to Joanne Brillante who is in Providence Hospital in El Paso following a car accident October 11 — a speedy recovery to each of you from the American Legion and Auxiliary!

After visiting with Bruce Griffith the other day about his recent visit to Russia and hearing about the housing there — his observation that he saw mostly women working in the fields using the crudest of farming instruments — my house seemed bigger — my job seemed easier — life was "just a bowl of cherries" — at least for the rest of that day!

Everyone is thinking snow — so — let it snow — let it snow — let it snow!

A visit to Russia

"Now that I've been there I don't think I would want to go back," was the comment made by Bruce Griffith who recently returned from a tour of Russia and surrounding countries.

The 25 day tour included stops in Budapest, Prague, Rumania, East and West Berlin as well as Russia. "The people are not a happy people in any of the countries we visited. It was most evident in East Berlin," he said, "perhaps because there is just that 20 foot wall separating them from freedom and a better way of life. There are many graves in evidence along that wall."

During their one day visit to East Berlin Griffith observed that everything is gray and even the shambles of war are still evident whereas West Berlin is a modern city with no signs of the destructive forces left.

The city that most impressed him was Budapest. A river separates Buda from Pest making it both unusual and interesting. The most beautiful scenery was in Bulgaria.

The food was adequate in all the countries visited. Baked potatoes and cabbage are served for almost every meal in Russia. Breakfast there was salami and cheese. "As far as food is concerned I missed breakfast the most," Griffith said, "in all the countries we visited it is cold cuts and the coffee is terrible."

Griffith's wife loves to shop but all she bought on the entire trip were two vests purchased in Rumania. There is a large department store in Russia which covers two city blocks but prices were high and the merchandise inferior.

The average Russian family makes $160 a month. Housing, which is an apartment, costs them $25 a month including utilities but you share a bath and kitchen. A pair of cheaply made shoes cost $35 and food and other essentials are just as high by comparison.

When a couple decides to marry in Russia they must apply for housing and usually have to wait 3-5 years for an apartment. In the meantime if they have children while waiting they must wait another 3-5 years for larger accommodations.

Nobody can own land in Russia. The people there can farm but are allowed only a small amount of space for their gardens. Griffith observed that the women do most of the farm work and only the crudest of instruments are available for the labor.

They have what they call "dollar" stores in Russia where only hard money can be spent but in all other places only rubles are accepted. They keep an accurate record of money brought into the country. The black market flourishes and in it rubles are worth half their value.

Another interesting place visited by the Griffiths was Leningrad, which is built on islands and has over 300 bridges. They toured Tolstoy's home at no charge and a caretaker showed them through the old house pointing out the room where he did his writing.

The Russian people stand in line for four to five hours to visit Lenin's tomb.

"It was an interesting tour," he said, "but it is good to be back home. We have much to be grateful for in this country."

Extension club to meet

The Ruidoso Hondo Valley Extension Club will meet at noon Wednesday, October 27, in the multi-purpose room of the Library.

The program entitled "Twenty-five Ways to Tie and Wear a Scarf" will be given by Mary Ellen Payne. Each member is asked to bring a scarf to the meeting.

Hostesses for the covered dish luncheon are Bea Adams, Madeline Murray, Sybil Riddle and Catherine Waldrop.

Herb, spice drying easily done at home

You can easily dry your own celery leaves, chives, onion tops, garlic tops and other herbs, says Ricardo Gomez, Extension horticulturist at New Mexico State University. However, proper handling is as important to the success of your herb harvest as good cultural conditions.

Most herbs are at their flavor peak just before flowering, so this is a good time to collect them for drying and storage. Onion tops, however, should be harvested before bloom. Garlic won't bloom until the second season.

Cut the stalks early in the morning just after the dew has dried. Cut annuals off at ground level, and perennials about one-third down the main stem to include side branches, Gomez says.

Wash plants lightly in running water to remove any soil, dust, bugs or other foreign material. Dry on absorbent towels.

Strip the leaves off the stalks, leaving only the top six inches. Remove all blossom, Gomez says. With a piece of string, tie six to twelve stems together. Then tie a large brown paper bag around the bunch, being careful that the leaves do not touch the sides of the bag.

Hang the bags in a warm, dry, airy room until the herbs have dried. When the leaves have dried, shake them from the stems.

Another way to dry herbs is to remove the leaves from the plants, wash them, and spread them thinly on screens to dry. Cheesecloth makes a good screen material and stretches well, Gomez says. Do not expose the herbs to bright light during their drying period, because light tends to destroy the green color of the foliage.

When completely dry, the leaves may be screened to a powder or stored whole in air-tight containers such as Mason jars. It is very important to watch the jars closely for several days. If you see any moisture in the jars, remove the herbs and dry them again. Herbs will mold quickly in closed jars if they are not completely dry, Gomez says.

Label and place the jars in a cool, dry place away from light.

The Dreamer

A Blessed Home In Our Beloved Land

Last Monday I was up at the Senior Citizen center to take my flu shots. I remember the 1918 flu epidemic and I was grateful for the protection of these shots. There was a spirit of helpfulness and concern for each other that was typically American. I met many friends including the great surgeon, Dr. George Bell who has retired and now living in Ruidoso. Mrs. Hazel English and her staff of Helpers were ever so kind and helpful.

A realization swept over me of how much good is done by our senior citizens center. The help, inspiration and encouragement that is given to our elderly is heart warming. Our retired people who have done so much for all of us deserve every consideration in the world, and the Senior citizens center fulfills a great need in our lives.

In talking to Charlotte Jarratt we brought up a project that is dear to her heart and mine also, and that is the Good Samaritan Home to be built in Ruidoso, our beloved City in the Pines.

Charlotte, who has spent a life time helping people, said, "Here in my work at the Senior Citizens I can see the need for this home, and I can see how much lasting good it will do - not only to those who will be living in the home, but to all of us, who will take pride in having such an excellent facility here. We will all be grateful to know that our elderly will have a place to go in which they will have the best of care."

Much work and support has already been given to the project, Mrs. Jarratt said. And much more needs to be done.

Word is being sent out that a concentrated drive has begun to raise the remaining funds needed for the project. Eighty thousand has been raised in pledges and donations, and two hundred and fifty thousand is needed. The land has already been donated by Camelot of Ruidoso, valued at one hundred and fifty thousand.

With this much progress already made, the project should and must succeed.

Charlotte said, "Surely there are two hundred and fifty people in Lincoln County who give a thousand each. And they would not have to give it immediately. A pledge card could be signed and the money paid within three years. This would be like saying that you believe in the project and will pay the money when needed."

Charlotte explained that any amount is welcome, and that pledge cards could be signed no matter what the amount. And an agreement could be made to pay so much a month.

An important thing to remember is that the project will be a great economic boost to the community as well as a lasting source of happiness to so many.

The county-wide drive for this much-needed home will extend to November fifteenth. Charlotte said the money will be needed by this time, but emphasized again that if a contributor cannot make a donation by that time, but could do so after the first of January, a pledge card could be signed and the money paid over three years.

Would Not Have To Leave Lincoln County

The site for the home is ready for development on top of Dude Mesa, and once The Good Samaritan Society is told that the obligations of the community have been met, construction could begin by Spring.

It is important to remember that the home will serve all Lincoln County residents.

Preston Isaacs, treasurer of the project, has been a devoted worker for the cause, and he said something that all of us should remember. And that is that when the time comes that we need the type of care available at the Good Sam home, we will not have to leave our mountain homeland and go somewhere else.

Those of us who live in Lincoln County grow to love our homeland dearly. Lincoln County wraps itself around our heart strings. With this home located here, we could be happy in knowing we would not have to leave our homeland and our friends.

The more you think of what Preston said, the more the meaning comes home to you. We love Lincoln County and we would be happy to know there is a home for us here where we could go when the time comes we need special care.

Those who wish to know more about the project may see Charlotte Jarratt at the Senior Citizens Center next to the Library on Sudderth Drive or Preston Isaacs at the Ruidoso State Bank. Donations may be sent to these individuals at these locations or to Preston at P.O. Drawer B, Ruidoso, 88345; or to Charlotte at P.O. Box 1340, Ruidoso, 88345.

My Birthday

This is the last message I will send you before my birthday which will be Wednesday, October 27. I wish to thank all of you and send you God's blessing for all the blessings you have given me through the years. How can I ever thank you?

What better birthday present could I have than for the Good Samaritan Home to be built, to be a blessing to us from now on? Charlotte Jarratt says, "With God, all things are possible."

Birthday Letter

From Bonito Lou to me. Our dear friend Bonito Lou sent me a birthday letter, telling of her childhood over at their home in Eagle Creek. Lou told about making cider in the old days and hoped that the orchard people would turn much of the apple crop into cider. I miss Bonito Lou's column she wrote for years about the Bonito River country, called "Bonito Water".

Lordsburg 12
Warriors 7

Lordsburg, in a district football game Friday, downed the Warriors 12-7.

The Warriors with a four-and-goal situation in the fourth quarter, on Lordsburg's one-foot line, couldn't put it together.

This loss, depending on the outcome of the remaining games in the district, virtually removes the Warriors from contention in the district.
