

TRUSTEES CLARK, NELSON, THREATEN TO RESIGN OVER 'MAYOR'S STREET'

Downs' paving project aired

Trustees Don Clark and M. H. "Boots" Nelson at the Village of Ruidoso Downs council meeting Monday said they "would resign before voting to approve paving the street in front of the mayor's house."

Clark said the council had previously instructed Mayor Norman Wheeler to contact the governor about road improvements, but Wheeler made an agreement with the State Highway Department for street work in the village. Clark said he had no knowledge of the route selected for paving until after the fact and that he would not agree to the mayor's street being paved unless the present natural drainage condition is corrected and culverts are installed. "There is no sense in spending the taxpayers' money to pave that street. These streets are not the ones the village should spend $49,000 on and it will not get my vote."

Mayor pro tem Albert Richardson, who chaired the meeting in the mayor's absence, told Clark the council had already approved the street route and highway grant request. He pointed out that the highway department recommended certain streets for paving because it was a school bus route and more appropriate. After some discussion among the trustees, it was decided that the school bus picks up children only along the highway and does not travel the roads in question.

Virginia Spall, village clerk, reminded the council that final approval of the grant would not be until approximately January 1. Clark instructed her to notify the State Highway Department that the routing will be changed "even if we have to give back the money." Spall told Clark the village has not yet received any money to give back.

Further discussion of the matter will be scheduled during the next regular council meeting.

Council agreed that from September 15 - May 1, no establishment in Ruidoso Downs will be required to hire their own security police so long as they can control their clientele. Police Chief Lynn Martin said, "You can't do that. It's against state statutes," and submitted a copy of the statutes to the council. The present village ordinance states that lounges having public dances will hire security patrol at the discretion of the police chief. Clark instructed Nelson to determine the legality of their decision prior to the next meeting.

ALL AMERICAN PARK WORK SET AT SPECIAL MEETING TUESDAY

Village of Ruidoso Downs trustees "Pappy" Johnson, Don Clark and "Boots" Nelson met with Wally Hjalmsquist in an hour and a half session Tuesday morning in council chambers to decide requirements and specifications for the proposed All American Park.

Clark said, "We have decided the entire project will be under the supervision of Wally Hjalmsquist and if any sub work is required, it will be handled by him."

The group discussed baseball and football field layout, fencing, restroom facilities and various park requirements.

"We have definitely decided that we will have a tennis court, a

In other action, council rejected a bid from Miracle Equipment Co. of $4,239 for park playground and picnic equipment. Wally Hjalmsquist, bidder, was in the audience and Clark asked him to meet with the trustees Tuesday to give them a turn key job bid on the entire park construction. Clark said, "I have talked with six or seven contractors in Ruidoso and nobody can bid it because they've never built a park." Hjalmsquist said he is a general contractor and can bid on this basis, but "I need explicit specifications and need to know exactly what you want."

Clark asked Hjalmsquist to show them he can do the job for the $32,000 allocated by state and federal grants, and said, "We want a park we can be proud of, something that will last and be as vandal-proof as possible." Hjalmsquist said his bid would include using village equipment and some village employee labor.

In discussing an item not on the agenda, Clark reminded council there is an ordinance presently on the books which appoints him as the only media spokesman for the village. "The council, mayor and all employees cannot make statements to the press unless it's cleared by me. In view of the recent conflict with The Ruidoso News and this wishy-washy stuff, I will either take no responsibility or else the ordinance must be changed." Nelson said the mayor's recent statements on marijuana "were radical" and Clark said, "What the mayor says is his opinion, not the village's."

In other matters, Council also:

- Agreed to have the agenda complete by 5 p.m. Wednesday prior to the Monday meetings with no additions allowed

- Tabled action on an amendment to the sanitation ordinance

- Tabled Bill Pippin's request for annexation

- Approved appointment of Connie Garner, police secretary-dispatcher

- Agreed to hire a fourth patrolman

- Will observe November 11 as Veteran's Day and close city hall

- Read a letter of commendation from the Chamber of Commerce to the village police department and governing body for their help in the Willie Nelson and Ray Price concerts and the Mule-O-Rama.

The next regular meeting of the Village of Ruidoso Downs council will be November 8 at 7 p.m. in city hall council chambers.

basketball court, a baseball diamond with hooded back stop and bleachers, restroom facilities, $4300 in playground equipment, two barbecue pits, two shelters, a water fountain, restricted parking areas, a fence to enclose the playground and cookout facilities, 50 trees, 80 shrubs, sodded grass area and a 600-foot sidewalk," Clark said.

Hjalmsquist said he would have a cost estimate, including fee for supervision, ready prior to the next regular council meeting November 8. Clark said the village employee force account and hired labor would be used for construction work and Hjalmsquist suggested the village recruit volunteers to help.

VOLUME NO. 42 IN OUR 31ST YEAR RUIDOSO, LINCOLN COUNTY, NEW MEXICO 88345 THURSDAY, OCTOBER 28, 1976

Fall back . . . regroup . . . spring ahead Change time Sunday

It's that time again. It's time change time again. It's time to change time, not time to be confused about changing time. The time to change time is 2:00 a.m., Sunday, October 31.

When your timepiece tells you the time is 2:00 a.m., this Sunday . . . right on the button 2:00 a.m. . . then you take action by grasping the time setting thingamabob on your time piece . . . and you twist said thingamabob so as to immediately make the time registered on your time piece read: 1:00 a.m.

That's how you gain back that hour of sleep you lost the last Sunday in April when you had to stay up until 2:00 a.m. . . assuming you wanted to be precise about changing time . . . at which time you turned your timepiece ahead to make it read 3:00 a.m.

Or . . . sometime between sundown Oct.

30 and the time you get up Oct. 31 . . . you're gaining one hour of sleeping time . . . and anytime between those hours all you have to do to be on time Sunday is . . . set your timepiece back exactly one hour . . . from whatever time your timepiece says the time is.

Say . . . when you retire Saturday night, you have to get to the church on time in the morning . . . say 10 a.m. Say you rise at 8:00 . . . and you haven't set your timepiece back one hour to MST . . . so you immediately set it back one hour . . . or 7 a.m. . . and leave your house by the set back time to get to the church on time.

If you want to watch the football game on the tube . . . same thing applies . . . any time before game time, set your timepiece back one hour . . . 'cause if you don't you'll get in an extra hour of viewing that has nothing to do with football.

Simple . . . no?

Trustees approve tax vote

The Ruidoso trustees Tuesday authorized village attorney John W. Thompson to prepare legal publications and all documents in connection with an election in Ruidoso to institute an additional 1/4 percent sales tax and to have the matter ready for action at the Nov. 30 trustees' meeting.

The trustees, Nov. 30, will set the date for the vote. In earlier action the trustees invoked the 1/4 percent sales tax in accordance with state law.

The trustees approved a reimbursement of up to $5,000, on a funds available basis, to residents of Alto Crest, Alto North and Airport West Second Addition subdivisions towards engineering costs of a proposed sewer line to serve the three subdivisions. Trustee Don Driver requested the reimbursement, on behalf of the residents and property owners. Trustees George White, Ab Gunter, mayor pro tem, and Sherman Atwood voted "aye" with Driver abstaining. "If we can put this project together," Driver said, "the added line will eventually serve approximately 100 property owners in the three subdivisions."

- Approved payment of core drilling costs on 40 acres of land that may be available for purchase by the village for use as a sanitary landfill. The village lease on the present landfill expires Feb. 1, 1977.

- Approved Resolution 76-8, an agreement between the Village of Ruidoso and The Southeastern New Mexico Economic Development District authorizing SNMEDD to act on behalf of the village in obtaining grant funding.

- Approved Resolution 76-9, adopting and approving Comprehensive Plan 1976 and Plan Elements, as previously approved by the Planning and Zoning Commission.

- Approved zoning changes in Lots 1-A and 1-B, Block 15, Palmer Gateway, from R-1, single family dwellings, to Commercial.

- Approved zoning changes in Blocks 1, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7 and 9, Juniper Hill Subdivision, from R-1 to R-3, mobile homes.

- Were advised that the Eagle Creek Intercommunity Water Association will meet this evening at 7:30 in Ruidoso village hall, to examine ownership of the Eagle Creek Dam and to study the financial structure of the project.

- Heard John Winniford say, "Ruidoso is not taking the marijuana problem seriously enough. The charges should be taken seriously and we should do something about it," in reference to Ruidoso Downs mayor Norman Wheeler's statements on the alleged sale of marijuana at Ruidoso schools.

"When dealing with juveniles, matters involving them cannot even be discussed," trustee Gunter said, "though I can say that the problem is being dealt with."

School bus signals key to child safety

When to pass, or when not to pass, a parked school bus is the question — a question answerable only by observing the special school bus signals, front and rear of the bus, big lights located near the top, and whether they are flashing or not flashing.

If these lights, either two or four, are flashing you must stop, no closer to the bus than 10 feet, whether you are approaching the bus from the rear or the front, when on a two-way traffic street or highway.

These flashing lights are not to be confused with the caution flashing lights that are incorporated in the turn signal lights. The turn signal lights are at bumper or fender level in the front of the bus, and about the middle of the back of the bus on either side of the emergency exit door.

The special school bus signals, the big lights near the top of the bus, front and rear, flash alternately, left and right. When these lights are flashing, vehicles approaching the parked school bus must stop and must remain stopped until the flashing lights are turned off and the bus

Stolen tractor recovered here

A search by seven law enforcement agencies for a tractor and backhoe stolen in Corpus Christi, Texas August 2 ended October 22 in Ruidoso.

Several pieces of heavy equipment, including the tractor, recovered in Ruidoso, were reported stolen to the Nueces County Sheriff's Department in Corpus Christi. Melrose Construction Co. reported the theft. Melrose leased the equipment from Corpus Christi Equipment Co. July 29 and Corpus Christi Equipment had leased it from the Tom Fairey Leasing Co. in San Antonio December 11, 1975.

The Texas Rangers initiated the investigation and were later joined by the National Auto Theft Bureau, Chaves County Sheriff's Department, Federal Bureau of Investigation, Roswell Police Department and the Lincoln County Sheriff's Department.

A Fairey Co. spokesman said the original value of the 1975 John Deere tractor and backhoe was $23,000. A Ruidoso contractor bought the tractor for $11,000, according to Ralph Romero, Lincoln County undersheriff.

Romero said he was contacted October 21 by Chaves County Sheriff's office that they had recovered some of the equipment in the Roswell area and that the dealer had told them a tractor was in Ruidoso.

On October 22, Roger Benavidez of Chaves County Sheriff's Department, and Rex Lewellen, special agent with the National Auto Theft Bureau, provided Romero with serial numbers for the engine, frame and housing on the tractor.

Romero said that although some of the numbers had been altered, the department was able to identify the vehicle and tagged it as evidence Friday. The tractor was found in use by a Ruidoso contractor on the construction site of the Sonic Drive-in. The tractor was taken to Frontier Motors early Monday morning to await claim of ownership by the owner or his insurance company.

Downs FD reorganizing

The Ruidoso Downs Volunteer Fire Department will reorganize Monday, Nov. 1, at 7 p.m., in the village fire hall.

"All members are expected to attend," Ray Walker, fire chief, said.

SNOW HITS

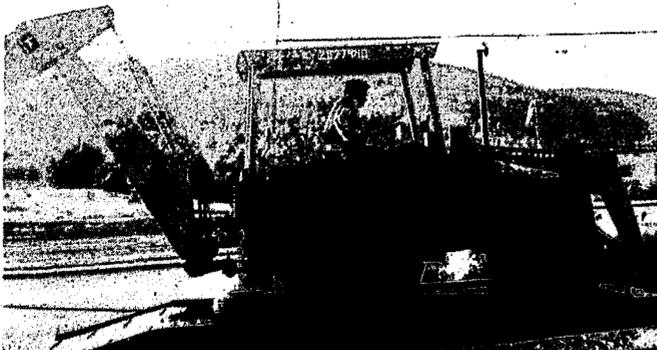

Ruidoso was blanketed under five inches of snow Wednesday morning.

Reports from the Sierra Blanca Ski Resort put the ski slope total at about 14 inches, and snowing.

The usual rash of fender benders resulting from the first snowfall did not materialize, though the Police Department's communications system was jammed with requests for road reports.

Roads, though caution was advised, were reported open to travel in this area.

Snow totals in recent years for October include: 1958, 3.8 inches; 1970, 5 and 1972, 14 inches. Total snowfall for the past 25 years, for October, was 22.8 inches through 1975.

Hallowe'en costumes should be flame proof

To a child, Halloween means costume parties, wiener roasts and treats. But a flimsy costume near an open fire or a party lantern could turn a festive occasion into a disaster, warns Susan Wright, Extension clothing specialist at New Mexico State University.

Since children can be severely burned when costumes are accidentally ignited, parents should be sure that all Halloween costumes are flame-retardant. Some costumes may be purchased with a flame-retardant finish. Others will require a home treatment.

To treat all-cotton fabrics, stir together seven ounces of borax, three ounces of boric acid and two quarts of hot water. If this solution gels as it cools, reheat it, Miss Wright says. Dip the dry fabric into the solution.

The treatment may also be sprayed on, but the fabric must be completely saturated for the solution to be effective. When the costume is partially dry, press it with a warm, not hot, iron.

For rayon or easy-care cottons, dissolve 12 ounces of diammonium phosphate in two quarts of water. Stir the mixture until it is clear. Dip the dry fabric into the solution and press it with a warm iron when the fabric is almost dry.

Although drugstores often carry these chemicals, you may need to call several to find everything you need, suggests the clothing specialist.

This home treatment is not permanent. In fact, it should be repeated before each Halloween season, Miss Wright says. If the treated costume is washed or exposed to rain, the flame-retardant solution must be applied again.

Although this treatment makes the costume flame-retardant, it will not make the costume fireproof, Miss Wright warns. Although the fabric may still char or crumble, this treatment will keep the fabric from bursting in flames.

School bus

moves into the traffic lane — or until the driver signals stopped cars to proceed.

If a school bus is stopped and loading or unloading passengers at the curb of a four lane street, Sudderth, for example, and the special school bus signals are not flashing alternately, drivers of approaching vehicles need not stop. The same rule applies on Hwy. 70 through Ruidoso Downs.

If a school bus is parked, to load or unload passengers, in a loading zone, or out of a traffic lane, without the special school bus signals in operation, drivers of approaching vehicles need not stop.

Simply put, if you are approaching a school bus that has the alternately flashing lights at the top operating STOP not closer than 10 feet from the bus, if the bus is stopped on a two-way street, regardless of the direction you are traveling.

In Ruidoso Downs, should the bus be parked in the east bound lanes with the alternately flashing signals operating, you stop if you are traveling east; you are not required to stop if you are traveling west, due to the median separating the two traffic lanes.

Forest fire extinguished

A forest fire in Philadelphia Canyon Monday afternoon was contained to approximately one acre due to quick action by the Bonto Volunteer Fire Department and the U.S. Forest Service.

Charlie Mook, prevention technician with the Forest Service, said, "We haven't really come up with anybody in particular, but we feel this was an accident type fire and it's still under investigation. Someone was careless with a cigarette or a warming fire. There were a lot of people in that area over the weekend."

The firemen had the fire under control in less than 20 minutes and the fire danger Monday was classified as "moderate" according to Mook.

Man injured in car mishap

Edward Maloney of Alto suffered multiple injuries when his vehicle left the road on Dead Man's Curve near Cousins' on Hwy. 37 about 3:30 p.m. Tuesday. The Ruidoso Ambulance Service, Ruidoso fire fighting units and Ruidoso police responded to the accident call.

Maloney, who was treated at Ruidoso Honda Valley Hospital, was cited by police for reckless driving.

Sago charged

Nathaniel Sago, Ruidoso, was arraigned before Judge W. A. Hart in Magistrate's Court Monday on six counts of fraud under $100 and six counts of receiving stolen property valued at $100 or less. The charges were filed by the Ruidoso Police Department's Criminal Investigation Division. Sago was released on his own recognizance pending setting the date for the preliminary hearing.

Still Flying High After 60 Years

In 1912, Roy Schlemeyer, of Odessa, Texas, was a teenager. He was also building his own airplane with the help of a friend. The Wright Brothers had made their historic flight at Kitty Hawk just nine years before.

"I've dreamed of flying all my life," Mr. Schlemeyer told a writer from The National Council on the Aging in a recent interview. "My first memories are of wanting to fly."

And fly he did. By 1916, Schlemeyer soloed and in 1917 he joined the Aviation Branch of the Signal Corps. When he left the service in 1919, Schlemeyer barnstormed for six years. He traveled throughout the Southwest putting on aerial shows at fairs and rodeos and took people for airplane rides.

He flew a four passenger Hisso Standard in those days. It didn't have brakes and he had to skid to a stop when he landed. Barnstorming wasn't a very lucrative career and in 1926 Schlemeyer became one of Braniff Airlines first pilots. He flew a trimotor Ford between Oklahoma City and Tulsa, a flight that took an hour and 15 minutes. Today the same flight takes 30 minutes.

Braniff consolidated with several other airlines in 1930, changing its name to American Airways, which the world now knows as American Airlines. Schlemeyer flew for American until 1934 and then opened a machine shop in Oklahoma City.

In 1952, the western part of Texas experienced an oil boom. Schlemeyer moved to Odessa and got involved in the petroleum industry. He also discovered that West Texas, with its flat land and dry air is an almost perfect place for gliders.

"Gliders were always my first love," Schlemeyer said. "I started experimenting with them in 1923 but it wasn't until I got to Odessa that I really got involved with them."

The Odessa Soaring School evolved out of Schlemeyer's love of powerless flight. He still designs, builds and flies gliders as well as teaches soaring. He's not only the oldest flight instructor in America but one of the best. People come from all over the country to take lessons from him.

Schlemeyer's talents as a designer are equal to his abilities as a teacher. Two record-setting glider pilots live in Odessa and fly gliders Schlemeyer designed.

Over the years, numerous people have suggested that Schlemeyer write his autobiography but so far he's ignored their advice.

"I'm too busy for anything like that," Schlemeyer said. "Maybe when I get older and slow down a bit, I'll think about writing a book."

THIRTY YEARS AGO, Lt. Col. Horace "Rusty" Westmoreland, of Keswick, England, was given only a few months to live because of stomach cancer. Several months ago, he climbed England's second-highest mountain—at the age of 90.

After climbing the 3,053-foot Skiddah Peak, Col. Westmoreland said he thought an active life had helped in his fight for health since several operations for cancer when he was in his early 60s.

THE UNITED BANK of Illinois in Rockford has a section staffed by three women over 65 who work part time filing checks and preparing checking account statements.

Until the women were hired, this department of the bank experienced a high rate of error. Younger workers were easily bored by the routine tasks and became careless in their job performance.

A bank vice president describes the older women as "excellent" workers who produce "exceptional" results. Their error rate is consistently near zero percent. The bank officials say he has found the older workers to be more accurate, less in need of supervision and experience less episodic absenteeism than their younger counterparts.

Houseplants harbor insects

If your houseplants spent the summer in an outdoor flowerbed or hanging basket, insects may be well established on the plants. Don't give these insects a free ride into the house this fall, says John J. Durkin, Extension entomologist at New Mexico State University.

Once in the house, the insects are sheltered from their natural enemies and multiply rapidly. These insects will often seriously damage or kill plants before they are noticed, Durkin says.

Before bringing houseplants inside for the winter, examine them closely. Look for scale insects, mealybugs, aphids, mites, white flies, thrips and leafhoppers. These insects and mites are small and easily overlooked. Therefore, closely check terminals, undersides of leaves and the stem.

Who's Right?

Primaries and special elections show that this year voters across the nation are turning away from the free-wheeling big spenders in Washington. They're turning to leaders with a solid, down-to-earth approach to government, its duties . . . and its finances.

It's a trend the voters of New Mexico's Second Congressional District started six years ago . . . by electing Harold Runnels.

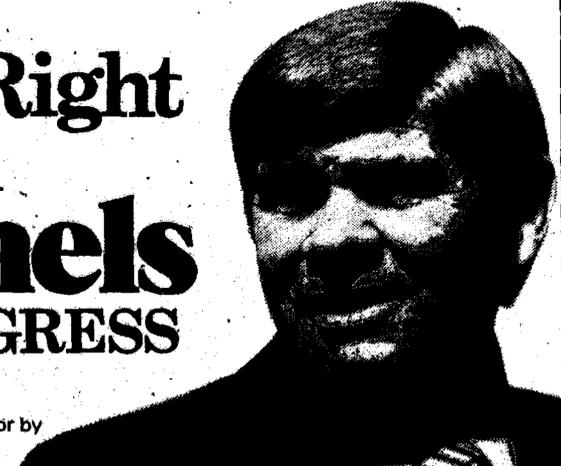

Here was a man who said Washington didn't have all the answers. That it was time the Federal Government began to put a stranglehold on excessive deficit spending before it reaped certain economic chaos and lost the complete trust of the people.

Harold Runnels said he would work for a balanced budget, that he would support programs that would provide jobs for New Mexico, and that he would listen to the people.

The voters recognized in Harold Runnels a man who told it like it was . . . a man who meant what he said even when it hurt . . . a man who kept his promises.

Harold Runnels has kept his promises.
In electing Harold Runnels the people were right.
You were right then . . . and you're right now!

ONE OF THE FIRST THINGS to learn in the art of belly dancing is the use of the veil.

FLOOR WORK, getting up and down gracefully, wrist movement and the hip thrust are some of the movements to be taught in the classes.

Belly Dance Exercise classes will be offered at the Senior Citizens Center in November and December. Classes for both men and women are scheduled.

"This is an introduction to provide programs that will be beneficial and of interest to all age groups," Charlotte Jarratt, Director of the Center, said.

The classes will be taught by "Sayieda", a qualified teacher, who has studied with "Meara" in Dallas, Texas, and from "Scheherazade" in Lubbock, Texas.

A party, "Getting into the Holiday Spirit", will be held November 4 from 7:00 - 10:00 p.m., with a demonstration of belly dancing by "Sayieda" at 8:00.

Orientation classes will be held November 8 from 6:00 - 7:00 p.m. for women and from 7:30 - 8:30 p.m. for men. The regular classes are scheduled for 10:00 a.m. each Monday for women and 10:00 a.m. Wednesdays for men. Evening classes are set for 5:30 - 6:30 p.m. each Monday for women and 5:30 - 6:30 p.m. Tuesdays for men.

The cost of the classes is $2.50 per lesson on a pay as you go basis.

November 29 from 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. a workshop will be offered at the Center for making "Belly Dance" costumes, with patterns and tips available. "You don't have to be a Belly Dance exercise student to join this group. Make a costume for yourself or for someone else," Director Jarratt said.

Friday, November 12 a mini-tour is being offered by the Center. Those interested will meet at the Center at 11:00 a.m. for a trip to Albuquerque to select materials for the costumes. Reservations are on a first come - first serve basis. The fee is $15 and includes transportation, lodging at Sheraton Old Town Inn and lunch Saturday. Also included in the fee is attendance at the "Worry Clinic" on Saturday which is being sponsored by the Altrusa Women's Service Club. Deadline for mini-tour reservations is 4:00 p.m. Thursday, November 4.

Winding up the series for November and December will be a "Belly Dance Review". Prizes will be awarded that evening for the best costume designed by a dancer and the best costume created by a non-dancer.

Constitutional Amendment No. 3 On the Nov. 2 Ballot Affects YOU!

WHAT IS CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT #3?

You, as a New Mexico voter, will be asked to decide on six changes to the State Constitution when you enter the voting booth on Nov. 2. The third of these proposed changes vitally affects members-consumers of New Mexico's rural electric cooperatives. It will also have a major impact on this state's farmers and ranchers. Simply stated, the proposed amendment would allow the State Legislature to exempt from taxation any land on which cooperative lines or other property is situated when that land is, in itself, tax-exempt. Tax-exempt land, in this case, includes state, federal and municipal holdings.

If this amendment does not pass, rural electric cooperatives would be forced to pay taxes on that tax-exempt land over which their lines are located. Moreover, it will be a tremendous and expensive task to identify these easements. Since all costs of operating your electric cooperative have to be borne by the consumer, you will have to pay, not only for the original cost of surveying the easements, but also the additional annual tax bill.

Therefore, a YES vote is extremely important. We, as consumers, should not be liable for additional taxes and we should not be charged for what we estimate will be millions of dollars for surveying the land.

Farmers and ranchers who have federal and state grazing leases would be doubly affected as they would have to pay ad valorem taxes on their grazing leases. They already pay an annual fee. They do not need taxes levied in addition.

This amendment transcends political party lines as both Democrats and Republicans are strongly in favor of its passage.

We urge you to vote YES on Constitutional Amendment No. 3 and to become involved in convincing your friends and neighbors of the importance of its gaining approval with a majority of the state's voters Nov. 2.

God's Total Person Seminar scheduled here

God's Total Person Seminar will be conducted at Ruidoso's First Christian Church Friday night, Nov. 12, and will continue Nov. 13 with morning, afternoon and evening sessions.

Mrs. Priscilla "Perky" Brandt, R.N., and national director of the seminars, will conduct the meetings. She is married to a Christian Reformed minister and has worked with specialists in internal medicine and cardiology.

The seminar will explore God's Total Person, embodying body, mind and spirit as three aspects of personal development as well as Two-Way Prayer.

A registration blank appears on this page of this issue, with the deadline to register being Nov. 1.

First Christian Church expands local ministry

Ruth McGuire is now working full time as Minister of Visitation and Membership Development as an associate minister of the First Christian Church of Ruidoso, a position she assumed Oct. 15.

"This new ministry is being provided," pastor Ken Cole said, "due to the substantial growth that has occurred in the past couple of years."

McGuire is the wife of M. B. "Mickey" McGuire and both have been active in community affairs for all of the years they have been Ruidoso residents.

Beef carcass loses pounds

There's no getting around it. A beef carcass will lose pounds as it moves from the butcher's hook into your freezer, says Larry Foster, Extension beef cattle specialist at New Mexico State University.

Normally, beef carcasses, sides, and quarters are sold by hanging weight. That's the weight before the meat is cut, trimmed and wrapped. In other words, you're paying for part of the carcass you can't eat, Foster says. The amount of waste varies considerably.

For a beef carcass, cutting loss — which includes bone, fat trim and normal shrinkage — can vary from 20 to more than 30 percent. A 25 percent loss is not unusual. That means if you pay for a 300 pound side of beef, you should expect about 225 pounds of useable beef.

Generally, you should expect about 25 percent waste, 25 percent hamburger and stew meat, 25 percent steaks, and 25 percent roasts from a side of beef. Included in the useable portion will be cuts such as brisket and ribs, which you may not normally buy.

If an entire side is too much for you, quarters of beef are also available.

ORDER YOUR LINDAL CEDAR HOME NOW. GET YOUR LINDAL CEDAR CARPORT FREE!

A 20x21 double carport with weather screen and enclosed storage — a $1,100 saving! Offer expires Oct. 31.

Other economic factors notwithstanding, land and housing costs just seem to keep on rising every year, and with them the likelihood that your next new home will be home for keeps.

That makes custom design more desirable than ever.

And Lindal makes it more practical than ever.

Thanks to almost unlimited design flexibility, it's a simple, inexpensive matter to change, enlarge or otherwise personalize each of our more than 70 basic Lindal designs.

But, beyond that, Lindal's factory engineering can also be applied to your very own plans or building ideas — as in the case of the striking contemporary design above. And without the expensive design costs which normally accompany the made-to-order home.

So, combined with the natural, distinctive appeal of cedar, plus major built-to-last benefits, a custom Lindal home could prove far more basic (and rewarding) than any mere luxury.

MONTOYA FAVORS STRONGER SOCIAL SECURITY SCHMITT PLAN WOULD DESTROY IT

Senator Joe Montoya grew up in a culture that respects and cares for its elders. That's why he has fought so hard to improve and strengthen the social security system. His opponent, Harrison Schmitt, has suggested a course that would not only weaken but would soon destroy the social security system. This would leave not only the elderly, but many needy orphans and widows with only charity and the Federal dole to rely on. Senator Joe Montoya has never turned his back on those truly in need. That's why it's more important than ever to re-elect Joe Montoya to the U. S. Senate. When Joe Montoya wins... we win!

Girls capture district title

The students and faculty of RHS are very proud of the girls' volleyball team for their sweeping victory over Hatch and Lordsburg in the district tourney Friday, Oct. 22. The tourney was hosted by the Hatch girls' volleyball team on their home court.

The RHS girls won their first and third games against both Hatch and Lordsburg. The scores from the games with Hatch were, 15 to 12, 12 to 15, and 15 to 6. The 3 games with Lordsburg were similar with the scores being 15 to 7, 13 to 15, and 15 to 5.

Three RHS girls were chosen for the all district team; they were Patricia Reaves, Melanie McGuire, and Kristi Perryman. Mrs. Rachel Howell, RHS volleyball coach commented, "The girls worked together as a team. They were beautiful. They played the best I have ever seen them play."

The girls will travel to Estancia Saturday, October 30, to play Moriarty for the regional title. If the team wins at least one game at the regional tourney, they will then qualify for state.

Warriors short in final tally

On Oct. 22 the Ruidoso Warriors traveled to Lordsburg to take on the Mavericks. The Warriors came up on the short end of a 12 to 7 decision.

The Mavericks were the first to see the end zone. Running with the ball from the 11 yard line, Lane Briley made the Warriors first TD with Bob Gaston adding the extra point.

With 2 minutes remaining of the game the Warrior team found themselves within the 15 yard line. Moving down to the 8 yard line working on 4 plays the Warriors managed to travel down to the 1 yard line, despite the tremendous effort the Warriors were unable to make a TD.

Daryle Watkins was the outstanding player for the Warriors defense along with Mike Pritchett for the Warriors home offense.

School Scoop

The cheerleaders led the high school and junior high in sending the Warriors off to their district game in Lordsburg, Friday, Oct. 22. The sendoff took place in front of the gym at 11:25 a.m. The weather was cold and drizzling but that didn't dampen the spirit as RHS.

The Jr. Talent Show was a big success. With great handling and smoothness, it's only right that the juniors brought in over 600 dollars with over 300 people showing up. The juniors won the honors of king and queen for raising the most money. Now, with the money they raised, the Juniors can give the seniors a great prom this coming spring.

The Sophomores did a great job on their project for the Carnival this year.

The class held a movie which was titled "Grave Of The Vampires" at Mt. Vue Theater last Tuesday. The class raised over $287.60 and came in third place at the Halloween Carnival Saturday night. Class candidates were Ray Herrera and Debbie Jo Almager.

Several teachers from RHS will attend a teacher's convention in Albuquerque Oct. 28, 29. Approximately 6,000 to 10,000 teachers from different areas will attend this conference. The teachers will be participating in various kinds of work shops at the convention. School will be dismissed Thursday and Friday due to this convention.

Hatch wins J.V. clash

The Ruidoso Warrior J.V. team played the Hatch Bears J.V. team Thursday, Oct. 21. The Bears capitalized on the Warrior mistakes and defeated the Warriors 18 to 14.

Jeff Elliott played a fine game offensively scoring on a ten yard touchdown pass from quarterback John Cabot. Borde Williams scored the other touchdown late in the fourth quarter on a quarterback zero, and completed a pass to Jeff Elliott for the extra point.

Don Dale, Ray Herrera, and Pat Herrera headed the defense to end up the final J.V. game of the year.

Prep player of the week

Mike Pritchett, 170 pound junior tackle was chosen prep player of the week by his coaches for the Lordsburg game. On offense Mike made several key blocks on the opponents to help give the Warriors their yards rushing.

DECA posts billboard

Ruidoso DECA Chapter posted a billboard Oct. 7, on the north wall of the Holiday House located in the Gateway area of Ruidoso.

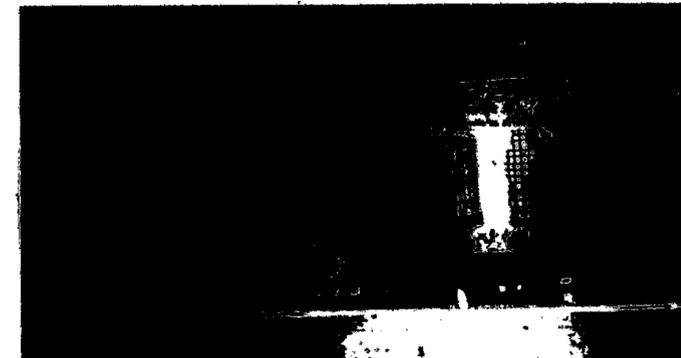

The billboard is just one of the activities the DECA class has to perform for their chapter competition. And along with this it also goes under the category of Public Information.

The DECA class and Mr. Eddie Parker would like to extend a special thanks to Mrs. Velma McLulum for she granted permission to Steve Hirschfeld, Borde Williams, Alfred Romero, Jeff Wohlgenuth, Rick Pritchett and Mr. Parker to put up the billboard.

Ruidoso scout honored

David Ellis, son of David and Carol Ellis, has been presented the Eagle Scout Award. This is the highest honor a Boy Scout can achieve. The award recognizes many things, among them leadership. David did this by earning the position of

Jr. Assistant Scout Master. He also completed a service project with the Elks Club and earned 28 merit badges, which is also required to earn the award. We're proud of you, David!

Carnival a success

It was another great year for the Halloween Carnival. Mr. Don Weems, coordinator of the 1976 Halloween Carnival, said, "Everything went extremely well with all the help from the teachers. We appreciated everyone donating sandwiches and cakes and the convention center was great."

The Halloween Carnival king and queen were Hector Aguilar and Melanie McGuire, candidates for the junior class. The money will go mainly towards scholarships and some school projects.

Farm practices in 2076 predicted

By the year 2076, New Mexico technology and striking a better balance agriculture will be making better use of between material goals and aesthetic values, says Gene Ott, Extension farm management specialist at New Mexico State University.

The plow, symbol of agriculture during our first 200 years, will gradually be retired. Farmers will learn to grow crops using minimum tillage and will be trying to keep what is left of our soil in place.

Breakthroughs in agricultural technology might include the following:

- Higher protein content in cereal grains and other crops;
- Biological, rather than chemical, control of insects and diseases;
- Successful long range weather prediction and possible weather modification;

— Extension of the principle of nitrogen fixation to plants beside legumes, thus reducing the need for commercial fertilizers;

— Conquest of the fuel problem, probably through nuclear energy;

— Greater environmental control for both plants and animals, leading to more economical production and higher, more standardized quality;

— Advances in food technology, especially in using plant protein as meat analogue for the millions who can't afford meat, milk and eggs;

— And, very importantly, advances in family planning so that population doesn't multiply faster than the world's ability to feed itself.

The family farmer will slowly give up his historic role of supplying all production inputs — land, labor, capital and management.

Bicentennial

Notebook

THE MARRIED REGIMENT

As the future of the American cause looked very bleak toward the end of 1776, various efforts were made to bolster public morale. Acts of heroism and special service were given extensive coverage in the press. One of the most interesting of these was a story published by the "Pennsylvania Evening Post" about the so-called "married regiment."

When the war started Governor Trumbull of Connecticut called upon all the men not subject to military service to do what they could to advance the American cause. In the town of Waterbury, the older men of the community organized themselves into a local militia unit. At the time they had no intent of going into direct military combat; instead they were to be primarily a home guard.

When the British began to threaten New York the Connecticut assembly ordered the regiment to which the Waterbury unit belonged to go to New York to defend the city. The men in the Waterbury unit decided to go along even though they probably could have been excused.

The "Pennsylvania Evening Post" used this group to prove the dedication necessary to achieve independence. For example, the ages of the twenty-four men totalled a thousand years. They were all married; all together they had 149 children. One of them was fifty-nine years old and had nineteen children and twelve grandchildren.

Without doubt, many of the military units could have found examples of such loyalty and sacrifice within their ranks, but it is true that this unit from Connecticut was a special example. Whether this newspaper article had its planned effect on public opinion is not known. Even so, the "Pennsylvania Evening Post" had hopes that it would. It ended the article on an optimistic note: "A worthy example of patriotism. — Let others go and do likewise."

In the Spanish Southwest efforts were still underway to put the reforms into force. By 1776 the revised line of presidios on the northern frontier had been established. Particularly important in the Spanish reorganization was to provide protection for the settlers against the Native Americans who had been especially hostile in recent years. By 1776 defenses had been established and existing ones improved.

Even so, no final solution to the defense problem could be seen. Far too much territory had to be covered by far too few soldiers.

JOE MONTOYA TO CONTINUE BATTLE FOR VETS

No one has been a better friend to the New Mexico veteran than Senator Joe Montoya. His key committee assignments were instrumental in bringing a new veterans hospital to Albuquerque. His concern for the veteran and his influence in Congress have meant increased veterans benefits . . . VA hospital care for elderly vets . . . out-patient services in VA hospitals . . . POW and MIA allowances . . . increased educational grants and scholarships . . . and much, much more. If there is one group who knows they can depend on Joe Montoya it's the veteran. When Joe Montoya wins . . . veterans win!

New Mexico is a land of contrasting faces.

To the tourist, it is rich in state parks, scenery and co-existing cultures; to the rancher, it is impressive millions of acres in grazing land; to the scientist, it is the center of space and atomic energy research; to retirees, it is clean air, sunny days and cool nights; to the miner it is coal, zinc, copper, potash and uranium and to the oil company executive, it is a source of gas and oil.

New Mexico is a state with twice as many cattle and sheep (2.3 million) as people (less than 1 million). It is the fifth largest state in area, but sparsely populated with an average of eight persons to the square mile.

Several of the "oldest" can be found in and around Santa Fe: El Camino Real, now Highway 85, which was traveled in 1581 from Santa Fe to Chihuahua. The seat of Spanish government in Santa Fe, dating back to 1610, street corner hotel sites and churches.

Its elevation ranges from 2,817 feet on blazing deserts to 13,160 feet on frosty mountain tops. New Mexico's land regions include the Great Plains, the Rocky Mountains, the Basin and Range Area and the Colorado Plateau.

Contemporary skyscrapers in Albuquerque are neighbors to a 900-year-old inhabited adobe pueblo in Taos. In a state with 121,666 square miles, people and places within a hundred mile radius are considered "neighbors".

Since it became the 47th state in 1912, New Mexicans have voted for the winner in each presidential election.

One of the few times a foreign army has ever invaded the Continental United States was in March, 1916 when Pancho Villa and 600 of his men raided Columbus, New Mexico.

Education began in this state in the early 1600's when Spanish priests acted as missionary/teachers to the Indians. The Roman Catholic Church established the first permanent school in 1853 and the present public education system began in 1891.

The first Spanish language newspaper in New Mexico began publication in 1834 and the first English language newspaper set up shop in Santa Fe in 1847.

Francisco Vasquez de Coronado explored New Mexico for two years, beginning in 1540, in his quest for riches. Governor Pedro del Peralta established Santa Fe as the capitol of a Spanish province in 1610.

By 1680, the Pueblo Indians were disgruntled with the invaders and drove them out of northern New Mexico. Twelve years later, the land was reconquered by Spain.

Albuquerque was founded in 1706 and the Santa Fe Trail was established as a trade route in 1821.

Congress created the Territory of New Mexico in 1850. The territory was subsequently whittled down when Mexico, Texas and Arizona cut off their respective chunks. The "Iron Horse" etched its way across the land in the late 1800's, connecting New Mexico with other states and territories.

Oil was discovered in the southeast and northwest regions of the state in 1922, towns sprung up overnight and New Mexico became a leader in petroleum.

The world's first atomic bomb was exploded at Trinity Site in 1945, heralding the end of World War II, and uranium was discovered by an Indian hiker in 1950.

The 1970's ushered in a partial solution to the ever-present scarce water problem in New Mexico with the San Juan Chama project bringing water via three channels from rivers in the Rocky Mountain area. Winter sports areas were also developed boosting year around tourism.

Today, ghost towns, where the only activity is swirls of dust devils, share the land with bustling space age research centers. Ancient cultures and heritages are preserved even though surrounded by fast paced progress, racing to meet the future.

A state is a collection of individuals. These people, of Indian, Spanish-American, Anglo and Black origins, make New Mexico what it is - the Land of Enchantment.

NMSU warns against OSHA safety standard

The Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) has passed a standard requiring a five gallon water container to be carried on all anhydrous ammonia nurse tanks, says Charles Hohn, Extension agricultural engineer at New Mexico State University. This container must be filled with clean fresh water when the user is applying anhydrous ammonia.

The rationale behind the standard is obvious, Hohn says. If ammonia gets into the eyes blindness could result if they are not immediately flushed with water.

However, two possible hazards could develop while complying with this standard, Hohn says.

First, if the container is not sealed perfectly, the water could become contaminated with ammonia fumes and become a hazardous flushing agent. Therefore, be sure the container is sealed properly.

Secondly, it is entirely possible that the water in the container can get hot enough under New Mexico field conditions to actually damage the eye, Hohn says.

Optometrists say that although flushing eyes with water that is 105 degrees Fahrenheit (F) or 40 degrees Celsius (C) can be tolerated, it's better to use water not exceeding body temperature. In addition, hot water also opens skin pores more than cold water, thus allowing for deeper penetration of the anhydrous ammonia.

The "hot water" problem was repeatedly tested under field conditions in Kansas, Hohn says. Results show that the water container absorbs enough heat from the sun to raise the water temperature as much as 24 degrees F. (minus two degrees C.) more than the air temperature. This means that there is a hot water flushing danger on days when the field temperature is in the 90 degrees F. (32 degrees C.) plus range.

Research also shows that painting the container red and keeping it out of the sun will lower the water temperature significantly. However, the water could still have a damaging effect if it exceeds 105 degrees F. (40 degrees C.).

Although research is continuing, Hohn encourages farmers to use ingenuity to find ways to keep the emergency containers cool when applying anhydrous ammonia. You may need it, Hohn says.

State 4-Hers exhibiting in national photo show

People, animals, landscapes, sports and how-to-do-it sequences are all "through the lens" subjects for this year's National 4-H Photo exhibition.

Four photographs from New Mexico will be part of this year's exhibition, says Jan Carnes, 4-H and youth development program leader at New Mexico State University. Lucy O'Nan, Albuquerque, and Stephen Corgan, Las Cruces, are each entering one picture, while David Corgan, Las Cruces, is entering two photographs. These entries were selected by 4-H'ers from across New Mexico during the State 4-H Conference held this summer at NMSU.

These three New Mexico 4-H photographers will receive an entry photo bearing the official acceptance seal. The photos will become part of a national collection for use during National 4-H Congress and other national meetings. Many 4-H'ers will also have an opportunity to sell their negatives for use in national 4-H publications and reports.

The National 4-H Photo Exhibition is a collection of pictures from each state, Washington, D.C. and Puerto Rico. Through this display, parents and other young people can learn the 4-H story from the member's point of view, says the state 4-H program leader. This photo exhibition will be available on a check-out basis.

Measured Goal

In Michigan, the State School Commissioner has made metric education a Bicentennial Horizons Goal for the State Department of Education during 1976. A complete set of guidelines for metric education will be distributed throughout Michigan schools as part of this project.

Kokanee salmon

Kokanee salmon in Navajo Dam are undergoing a transformation. The males' entire jaw structure is shifting, twisting to a ferocious hook-like shape. Their bodies are turning a brilliant pink-red color.

It's the beginning of the kokanee spawn run, and a heyday for fishermen.

The special season for kokanee is now open, running through Dec. 31, according to N.M. Game and Fish Department fisheries biologist Bob Patterson. During this period up to 24 fish per day may be taken, with no possession limit. Snagging and use of spears, gigs and arrows is allowed.

Each year, said Patterson, the kokanees' breeding instincts become so strong they group together and attempt to return to the place where they were spawned. For the salmon in Navajo, this can present a problem, he explained, since they were incubated in a state fish hatchery miles away overland. Instead of returning to their birthplace, the fish go back to the area where they were initially planted in the lake.

Kokanee taken during the spawn are usually between 14 and 18 inches long, averaging one and one-half pounds, said Patterson.

After completing their spawn run the salmon will die.

Treatment prevents nematodes

Every fall, home gardeners complain that root knot nematodes hurt the year's crop of tomatoes, okra, beans, chile and other vegetables. Although it is too late to prevent the damage to this year's crop, a fall soil treatment after the vegetables are harvested can prevent damage to next year's crop, says Emroy L. Shannon, Extension plant pathologist at New Mexico State University.

Root knot nematodes, recognized by galls and knots on the plant roots, prevent sickly plants from responding to fertilizer or water. These microscopic worms can be controlled with either a fall or spring chemical soil treatment.

The most widely used chemical for nematode control contains dibromochloropropane (DBCP). It can be purchased at nurseries and farm supply stores. Trade names containing DBCP include Nemagon, Fumazone and Nematode Killer.

No special equipment is needed for this home garden soil treatment. In fact, the liquid materials can be applied with an ordinary quart fruit jar. Simply punch two ten-penny nail holes in the lid. One hole allows the liquid to flow out while the other lets air into the jar so the liquid will pour evenly.

Use this jar to pour the proper amount of diluted fumigant into each 100 feet of furrow. Place the fumigant in a six-inch-deep furrow directly under seed rows or transplant rows.

Broadcast treatment can be made by opening a six-inch-deep furrow using a hoe, spade, or other implement. Furrows should be no more than twelve inches apart from center to center. Always use gloves when sprinkling granular DBCP. Although the broadcast treatment is much more effective than row treatment, more fumigant and expense is involved.

No matter which method is used, seal the fumigant into the soil immediately after treatment. Drag a weighted board over the area, then lightly sprinkle the area with water.

SPIDER MAN may be weaving a web to snare trick or treaters.

BY BILLIE SURMICK
 Staff Writer

If you don't believe Ruidoso can be a frightening and ominous place, just watch your children's imaginations go to work Sunday night as Hallowe'en comes creeping in on the new moon and wind-swept skies . . .

The tall pines, majestic and refreshing in the daytime, will be seen as gigantic swaying monsters after dark. The tall-wagging pup next door will loom as a moaning, possessed demon. The sounds of nocturnal creatures in the bushes will be construed as evil messages from other world spirits.

Headlights from passing cars will shine as lazar beams from alien planets. Night breezes will sound like ghostly wallings. Footsteps of nearby playmates will be heard as great clumps from the Boggy Creek Monster or Big Foot.

Jack-O-Lanterns which were such fun to carve that afternoon will leer threateningly from the window that night. The house full of friendly people down the street will transform into a haunted mansion inhabited by ghosts, rats and spider webs.

Every rock and root will be viewed as a potential trap to snare unsuspecting children. Smoke coming from the chimney will be deadly vapors from the nether regions. White-sheeted schoolmates will be recognized as kid-eating goblins.

This is the night your cherub-faced son turns into a blood dripping Dracula to terrorize the neighborhood . . . and 30 minutes later, runs back home after terrorizing himself. And your golden-haired little girl becomes a scraggly, wart-nosed witch who soon decides passing out treats from her own front door is more fun than stumbling through the dark to receive them.

JOE MONTOYA HITS SCHMITT ON EDUCATION

Joe Montoya knows how important Federal aid to education is to New Mexico. Without it property or state sales tax would skyrocket. Perhaps both. Over the past several years almost 21% of our educational costs have been paid from Federal funds. This is a direct result of the strong, effective Congressional delegation New Mexico has sent to Washington. Harrison Schmitt suggests a plan which would reduce or eliminate Federal aid. The result leaves 2 alternatives . . . either we pay much, much more in local taxes . . . or we cut back education in our schools. Joe Montoya says "No" to both proposals . . . and in the Senate Joe Montoya can see that New-Mexicans don't have to settle for less. The answer is simple . . . When Joe Montoya wins . . . we and education win!

Kitchen can be dangerous

Cooler autumn days mean that we spend more hours in the house and kitchen. More non-fatal injuries occur in the home than anywhere else. The kitchen, containing many potentially dangerous objects and substances, is a prime location for home accidents, says Mae Martha Johnson, Extension nutrition specialist at New Mexico State University.

Cuts and lacerations can come from sharp or pointed objects, such as knives, can openers, ice picks and broken glass. Hot liquids, foods and utensils are potential sources of burns. Household poisons are also a real hazard.

To make your kitchen a safer place to work, adopt safety precautions. Correct these potential hazards now, says Mrs. Johnson.

First use sharp objects only for their intended purpose. Handle sharp items with care and keep them out of reach of children. If a glass breaks, sweep it up promptly. Do not allow anyone to walk in the kitchen barefoot.

Always keep cooking surfaces clean of grease. Pot handles should not extend over the edge of the stove.

Keep a box of baking soda by the stove to extinguish small flames. Never throw flour on a flame, the specialist warns.

Store all household chemical products and medicine out of sight and reach of children, preferably in a locked cabinet or closet. Keep medicines, chemicals and cosmetic preparation in their original containers. Do not transfer these materials to unlabeled bottles, glasses or cups.

If accidental poisoning occurs, call the New Mexico Poison Center, 1-800-432-6866. You can call this number toll free from anywhere in New Mexico.

Wash a minor cut thoroughly with soap and water, then rinse it with clean running water. Blot the wound dry with a clean cloth and apply a dry sterile bandage.

Cold water is the best treatment for first degree burns. Either run cold water over the burn or submerge the burn in cold water.

Unless someone trained in first aid is available, always see a physician about poisonings and serious cuts and burns. Families living in remote areas of New Mexico where medical help is not immediately available should have first aid training. Without specific first aid knowledge, it is best to simply keep the victim quiet and call for help.

"And I followed your instructions. I didn't feed him for a week."

Inside the Capital by Fred Buckles

CLAYTON-ESPAÑOLA — The New Mexico Ford-Carter presidential battle and the Montoya-Schmitt U.S. Senate race were apparently still close in the final days of a hectic general election campaign.

Silver City Republican Harrison Schmitt told 250 at a GOP Espanola rally in Valdez Park: "Sen. Montoya is interested only in today and in his own today and not in the future of New Mexico's children." Posole, tortillas, beer and soft drinks were served.

Rio Arriba County GOP Chairman Tony Montoya said: "I see Sen. Montoya carrying this county by less than 2,000 votes. The opposition to Emilio Naranjo by La Raza Unida will help Schmitt's vote because of Naranjo's longtime political ties with Sen. Montoya."

National GOP Committeewoman Frances Shipman, Pojoaque, said: "Schmitt will hold Montoya's margin to about 2,000 votes in Rio Arriba and that's a victory."

Schmitt attended a Union County Republican reception with U.S. Rep. Manuel Lujan Jr., R-Albuquerque.

Union County GOP Chairman Loren Leighton predicted Ford will win Union County by 200 votes in a total turnout of 2,100 votes.

Democrat Rich Sims of Dexter in the U.S. Senate primary will benefit Schmitt in the main event.

Schmitt told 50 at the GOP reception at Clayton: "We have to look over federal lands in New Mexico to see if we are getting the best recreational, environmental and development return for the people."

At Belen Montoya blasted Schmitt's positions on social security, minimum wage, sale of federal lands and federal aid to education.

A moderate to heavy New Mexico vote is expected despite reports of voter apathy.

New Mexico Republicans scheduled Kansas Sen. Robert Dole, the GOP vice presidential nominee, in Albuquerque Wednesday and Roswell today.

Top Montoya campaign aide Bob Baca predicted Sen. Montoya will beat Schmitt statewide "by 15,000 to 20,000 votes."

Taos area rancher Eloy Esquivel was named as co-chairman of the New Mexico Farmers and Ranchers for Ford Committee.

The Public Service Commission denied Lea County Electric Cooperative's request for a 10.8 percent general rate increase.

A PSC hearing is set Nov. 9 on a general rate increase proposed by Kit Carson Electric Cooperative, Taos, serving customers in Taos, Rio Arriba and Colfax Counties in New Mexico and two Colorado counties.

Gov. Jerry Apodaca was asked to recommend to the legislature an $845,000 research and management program intended to wipe out range caterpillars in New Mexico in five or six years.

George Goldsmith, Truth or Consequences, is agent for proposed Southwestern State Bank, Alamogordo.

Yours and Ours

Vote FOR Jerry Ford, Jack Schmitt, Harold Runnels

Tuesday, November 2, is election day. The News urges you to go to the polls and vote FOR Gerald R. Ford for President of the United States, Harrison "Jack" Schmitt for United States Senator, and Harold Runnels for United States Congressman.

President Ford is a known quantity. He has brought stability, integrity and honesty back to the presidency. He may not be a ball of fire, but we are at peace, the economy is improving, unemployment is going down, and he has made some attempt to put the brakes on a spendthrift congress.

Jimmy Carter is an unknown quantity. He has not been able to convince the American people that we need a change. Voters are expected to stay away from the polls in droves.

What Jimmy Carter has failed to do for the presidential race, however, Jack Schmitt has done for the New Mexico Senate race. He's fresh, young, and inspirational to voters who are tired of Joe Montoya's machine-style politics.

Harold Runnels has provided solid leadership and representation to his district for three terms. A conservative Democrat from a conservative district, Runnels has not bowed to the more liberal leanings of the majority of his party.

We urge you to vote on Tuesday, November 2, and we urge you to vote FOR Ford, Schmitt, and Runnels. — kg

"FRANCHISE" DAY

You do have a franchise . . . and the right to exercise same . . . Tuesday . . . if you're 18 or over . . . if you're registered . . . and if you're of a mind to.

Based on what happened to the right to vote in Russia, Cuba and China . . . just as for instances . . . which doesn't mean it couldn't happen here . . . your vote is important.

In New Mexico your vote on every candidate from members of congress to county officials . . . in the Nov. 2 general election . . . counts. Who actually does the electing of our public officials . . . those who vote . . . or those who do not vote . . . is open to question.

One candidate was quoted in the newspapers as telling a farmer . . . during a conversation on farm prices and practices . . . and on the farmer's query about adequate moisture . . . "If you vote right, the rain'll come" . . . or words to that effect.

Now there's only one way to vote "right" . . . and that's to vote the way you want to . . . and once you're behind that curtain . . . you're home free . . . to vote for whom or what you please . . . and no one need be the wiser.

The candidates getting the most votes win . . . the measures pass or fail by the majority vote . . . with every voter's vote counting . . . and, win or lose, if you voted you expressed your opinion . . . even if it was only a protest vote.

And voting is still . . . once you're at the polls . . . a privilege that's free.

PRESIDENTIAL VOTE

Voting for the President of the United States . . . if you don't live in one of eleven states . . . is an exercise in futility . . . except for the fact that you can voice your opinion . . . an opinion that might be used for guidance by the man who will be elected president . . . by the vote of only 11 states . . . Nov. 2.

Happens the U. S. President is elected by the electoral college . . . with 100 Senators and 435 Representatives in congress . . .

the electoral vote totals 535. 268 electoral college votes decide the winner.

Eleven states . . . Calif. 45, Fla. 17, Ill. 26, Ind. 13, Mass. 14, Mich. 21, N.J. 17, N.Y. 41, Ohio 25, Penna. 27 and Texas 28 . . . command 272 electoral votes . . . four more than needed to name a president.

'Course, I'm not going out on a limb and positively state that my mathematics is right . . . but, from here, it appears . . . barring error . . . that the situation is about like that . . . 11 states elect the president . . . the other 39 elect Senators and Representatives to work with, or against, the president . . . and there just has to be a message there . . . for someone.

Which doesn't mean . . . as a member of the 39 states . . . you can't brag about the fact that you did vote for the man the 11 states decided they wanted for president . . . though it could be a few grains of salt might be needed to bring out the full flavor in the sweet elixir of victory.

POSITIVE ACTION

The men in power in Red China and Russia can't understand American politics . . . why Watergate is a political issue . . . for that matter, why Watergate happened . . . 'cause over in those countries, "liquidation" of opponents solves all problems political . . . and without repercussion.

In Red China and Russia, when a change in power is made, those grabbing the power merely dispose of opposition . . . by the most expeditious and effective means . . . and then sit back and revel in the cheers of the masses.

But here . . . by jinkies . . . the people can go to the polls . . . to throw the rascals out . . . or vote 'em back in . . . and by merely a flip of a lever, you do have a say . . . even about president, if you live in one of those 11 states.

BRIEF BIT: There's absolutely nothing like frost on the pumpkin of a morning . . . if you go ape over seeing frost covered pumpkins . . . CD

OPENNESS

Many public officials in New Mexico consider the State's open meetings law a pain in the neck or some other lower portion of the anatomy.

Despite this, it's a good law. Local government officials in Deming have been good about observing it.

Atty. Gen. Toney Anaya has done a commendable job of enforcing the open meetings law. He announced last week that all five members of the Espanola School Board were convicted on charges they took a secret ballot at an open meeting on the awarding of an architectural contract.

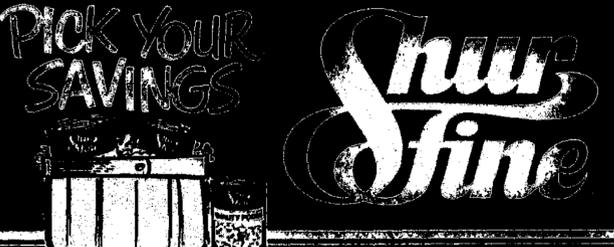

successful prosecution under the act. Board members were assessed suspended fines of $25 each by a municipal judge. The board later rescinded its decision and voted again in an open meeting.

All citizens should be interested in open meetings, not just newspapers. Notification of meetings and open discussions insure a more open government.

Citizens should play their own role in public meetings by attending them and making suggestions to their elected representatives. That is the purpose of representative government.

The law makes the local government meetings open. Now open up your own interest, attend the meetings and take a part in the decision-making process that affects your quality of life. — Deming Headlight.

In And Around Ruidoso

COUSIN'S

1974 will be a vintage year for one dining spot in Ruidoso. This was when Ross and Jerry Bigham opened the doors of Cousins' Restaurant. Next week they will be celebrating their second anniversary and if you are looking for one of Ruidoso's top places to eat, this is the place.

Dining at Cousins' is a unique, relaxed experience with courtesy and service just a part of their outstanding offering. On the menu there is something for everyone from char-broiled hamburgers to steak and lobster, and everything in between. Portions are adequate for the most hearty eaters and preparation exactly to your taste. The recipes are all their own or every item is prepared fresh in the kitchen.

All of their desserts are homemade and tasting is the only way to describe them. The cheesecake from their kitchen is by far the most popular dessert item and mouthwatering it is.

Service, atmosphere and good food are awaiting you at Cousins'. It's located approximately one and one-half miles north of the stop light between Ruidoso and Alto, and truly as their slogan indicates it is "one of Ruidoso's most recommended restaurants".

Record striper landed

A new state record striped bass was pulled from Elephant Butte last week by a Las Cruces man. Tom Tharp landed the 17 lb. 13 oz. striper in the mouth of Little Beaver Canyon. He was fishing with a purple plastic worm on 17-pound test line, using Ambassador 5500 bait casting reel.

The previous state record striped bass, taken last winter, weighed in at slightly more than 13 pounds. In the fall of 1972 the N.M. Game and Fish Department stocked a small number of striped bass fingerlings in the lake, including this record fish, said Bob Paterson, department fisheries biologist. This spring an additional 13,000 fingerlings were put in Elephant Butte, with more stockings planned next year, said Paterson.

The striped bass is a fast growing fish, he said, and the department expects catches such as this record fish to become routine as the strippers mature. Striped bass are known to exceed 60 pounds.

Dean reviews agricultural development

"American agriculture is now in the age of involvement, working for the first time under restrictions from other people," said Dr. L.S. Pope, dean and director of the New Mexico State University's College of Agriculture and Home Economics. He addressed the Area Conservationists Conference, held at NMSU Oct. 5-7 for the state office staff of the Soil Conservation Service.

grant universities, such as NMSU, and agriculture-related government organizations, such as the SCS.

By working together, Dr. Pope said that NMSU could provide valuable research information, advanced education and ongoing practical professional training. He pointed out that feedback from the SCS could help keep NMSU's research and education efforts abreast with the ever-changing needs in the field.

An opportunity for feedback came immediately as Dr. Lewis Holland, associate dean of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics, reviewed the college's organizational structure and current curriculum. He said that as proof of changing times, 293 females are currently majoring in agricultural studies. Females now comprise 21.8 per cent of the current agricultural enrollment at NMSU.

Dr. Holland said he is unsure what impact this development will have on agriculture, since most female students are still undergraduates.

In And Around Ruidoso

COUSIN'S

1974 will be a vintage year for one dining spot in Ruidoso. This was when Ross and Jerry Bigham opened the doors of Cousins' Restaurant. Next week they will be celebrating their second anniversary and if you are looking for one of Ruidoso's top places to eat, this is the place.

Dining at Cousins' is a unique, relaxed experience with courtesy and service just a part of their outstanding offering. On the menu there is something for everyone from char-broiled hamburgers to steak and lobster, and everything in between. Portions are adequate for the most hearty eaters and preparation exactly to your taste. The recipes are all their own or from old family recipes and every item is prepared fresh in the kitchen.

All of their desserts are homemade and tasting is the only way to describe them. The cheesecake from their kitchen is by far the most popular dessert item and mouthwatering it is.

Service, atmosphere and good food are awaiting you at Cousins'. It's located approximately one and one-half miles north of the stop light between Ruidoso and Alto, and truly as their slogan indicates it is "one of Ruidoso's most recommended restaurants".

The Silver Lining

BY DANIEL AGNEW STORM

October Weather Gives New Life

Each October day is more beautiful than the last, and the bracing air, so clear below the blue sky, is filled with many a life-giving essence distilled forth from herbs, trees and vines.

Last Saturday, Shady Logan and the Ridge Runner struck out in a little walk up the hill starting out on what I call the "Ridge Runner's Trail." Shady's toe is now healed from the injury he received in a tussel with Beau, the bull; and he was delighted when we started the walking trip.

It seemed I had gained strength since the summer, for the trail did not seem as steep as usual. Then I realized it was the cool October air, so filled with strengthening elements, that made my step light. We passed through the glowing crimson and gold of the oak brush, and Shady grinned happily and wagged his tail. We inhaled the fragrance of the turning oak brush leaves, and the incense of the pinon and cedar and our hearts were full of joy. Farther up the trail I began walking faster in a hurry to get on top, but Shady got in front and slowed me down. When I tried to go around him he jumped in front again, and looked back much as to say, "Calm down and enjoy the world, Pard."

So we went at a slower pace, stopping once in a while to look around, to dream and listen. Approaching the top of the ridge we came under a pine tree, and rested under its shade to listen to its whispered singing. The mid-day sun shone through the oak brush leaves so that all around us the oak bushes were clumps of cheerful light of all colors: gold, amber, yellow, orange, crimson and scarlet.

Before we knew it we were walking along the top of the ridge. To the north the Capitan range was all shades of blue, with its outline sharp against the October blue of the sky. The shadows were light purple, and the mountains seemed just a few miles away in the clear air.

Over to the west the Sierra Blanca towered into the sky. It seemed to smile as if it were happy in the Autumn weather. Like a long-beloved friend, there it was to cheer and comfort you once more. The sun was just right and the air so clear and still that every detail of the Mountain and all its little brothers and sisters was ever so plain to your sight. You say to yourself, "I did not know the mountain was so beautiful, so vast and high. It is a world all its own."

You look away for a moment and look back, and the sun has moved just enough in the sky to work some of its magic. Suddenly the mountain seems close to you, as if you could walk over to it in a few minutes.

And now just after high noon, there is a mystic and rapturous friendliness in the world. The mountain speaks to you, and the Capitans and all the world under the sky join in with many fond messages. The humblest little herb and blade of autumn colored grass, the pines and pinons and cedars, the distant mountains, and the sky — all send you their own special charm.

You turn again and again to look at the mountain, and the feeling comes over you that you have known this mountain ever since it has been there, and that wherever you may go you will never leave this mountain. It is part of you.

And now, all along up on top of the mountain world with the little spirit dog, you are not alone at all. You are far from being alone, for now God speaks to you telling you that all is well, your soul and the soul of your little spirit dog is immortal, and that God will care for us and protect us all always.

So it is that our spirits are renewed by a walk in the mountains, and we turn our steps homeward as the sun sinks low beyond the White Mountain, grateful to God for His blessings.

Veterans Day

This is being sent to you on Veterans Day, and what a beautiful day it is — October at its best. We cannot help being grateful at this time of year when everything is so beautiful and when there is so much happiness in the air.

Let us be grateful to our veterans and say a prayer for them always. And let us pray that peace will come to the world.

Birthday Memories

And Remembrances

By the time this reaches you, that wonderful day, my birthday will have arrived (the twenty-seventh) and again I thank all of you for making my birthdays so full of blessings.

I am remembering birthdays back into my childhood. Somehow I think our memories of October are very clear, and I was blessed with a clear memory. My birthday is close to Halloween so here are other happy October memories.

By the way, remember to get your Halloween apples. There are so many ways to make Halloween a jolly time. I always remember the jack-o-lanterns we made of pumpkins, and also tin cans with a candle inside to light our way through the neighborhood.

Remember to drive carefully, especially during the Halloween season at night. And begin now to be a more careful driver day by day.

Birthday Cards

Mrs. Hema Croissant, one of Ruidoso's first residents, sent me a nice birthday card, and said she looked for me and Shady at the Aspen parade. I thought I went by the same place where we met Mrs. Croissant last year, but maybe I was lost. I hope to see our dear friend again one of these days. Mrs. Croissant plans to spend Christmas in Ruidoso. "If you will make satisfactory arrangements with Jack Frost."

I received a very fine birthday card from Mrs. Ann Runnels, son Robert, and

This is also the birthday month of our brother, Lynn.

I will be remembering this great brother especially during November and will draw to myself his wonderful qualities of character, the same as I do in the birthday month of all my people. This is in appreciation and honor of my loved ones.

Thank you again for making my birthdays and my whole life so happy and blessed.

BRIGHTEN YOUR LIFE WITH THE GOLDEN RULE

Do unto others, the Bible has said.
As you'd have others do unto you:
And if you will follow this passage you've read,
You will find it is certainly true
That in business, your home life or simply with friends,
It is easier getting along
If you'll never be forced into making amends,
Just because you have done someone wrong.
So to learn more about this unfailling advice
That will frequently serve as a warning,
You should go to your Church, where it's only the price
Of an hour on next Sunday morning.
