

Dogs to be gone?

The day of the foraging dog, phillandering cat and meandering horse in Ruidoso may soon end.

The Ruidoso trustees Tuesday authorized a study "to prepare an agreement for adoption" by the council instituting an animal control program in the village.

Mike Hernandez Jr., Ruidoso Downs, presented a plan to control animals running loose in the village at a monthly cost of $2,160.

For this fee Hernandez would provide a $30,000 building, meeting all state requirements, to house animals; the facility would have an attendant on duty 24 hours a day and he would provide all of the equipment, supplies and saddle horses to run the operation.

He asked the council to be commissioned as an animal control officer, for legal aid from the village attorney, to buy gas from the village pumps, for radio communication, liability insurance and, for financial protection, "a five year contract."

Village manager Jim Hine said that the cost to the village of the animal control program that was ended by the trustees April 27 of this year "was averaging $2,200 to $2,500 a month."

Hine also said that "10,000 appropriated for construction of an animal shelter is still available, plus $15,000 in Revenue Sharing funds" that were earmarked for animal control in the current fiscal year budget.

Police Chief Paul Lukens said, in lieu of commissioning Hernandez, that the "village could delegate authority (to Hernandez) to enforce the animal control ordinance."

Under this operation Hernandez would file violations of the animal ordinance with the Police Department who would serve the papers, with the legal complaints to be taken before Municipal Judge Sam Nunnally.

Hernandez said his proposal, at an annual cost of $25,920, "was for the village of Ruidoso, only."

"Should we work out a joint powers agreement with Ruidoso Downs?" trustee Don Driver said.

"I think we should proceed on our own and let Ruidoso Downs come into the program on their own, if they desire," mayor Lloyd L. Davis Jr. said.

The trustees then instructed Hernandez, village attorney John W. Thompson, Hine and Lukens to present an agreement, with protection for all parties, to the council for approval, "as soon as the details can be worked out."

The loose animal problem started annoying village residents with the closing of the Lincoln County Humane Society last Feb. 15. In ensuing weeks the trustees authorized village administrative assistant Frank Potter to "handle the animal control problem" by building a shelter and hiring personnel.

Irate citizens protested all suggested locations for the shelter at council meetings, prompting the trustees to "abandon all animal controls" effective April 27.

In the interim, the village has constantly pursued a solution to the problem and should a satisfactory agreement be reached with Hernandez, the animal control program will be instituted as soon as possible.

VOLUME NO. 64 IN OUR 31ST YEAR RUIDOSO, LINCOLN COUNTY, NEW MEXICO 88345 THURSDAY, JANUARY 13, 1977

Residents vote Tuesday on 1/4% sales tax hike

Ruidoso residents will vote Jan. 18 on the question of adding one-fourth cent to the gross receipts tax on village sales.

Based on the 1976 sales tax return to the village of $340,700, the one-quarter percent would produce an additional $85,175 for general fund operations in the village.

The present sales tax is 4 1/4% and, if voters approve the added tax Tuesday, the sales tax would be 4 3/4%.

Polls, with machine voting, will be open from 8 a.m.-7 p.m., Tuesday in the Multipurpose Room of the Ruidoso Public Library on Sudderth.

Returns from four months, two during the off-season and two while the tourists are an economic factor, show that the village received $27,000 in Nov. 1975; $23,700 in April 1976; $51,400 in July 1976 and $41,500 in Sept. 1976 — generated from the 4% sales tax. All funds were deposited in the village's general fund.

The figures prove that tourists and visitors contribute substantially to the village's gross returns from the sales tax.

Village records peg the present permanent population of Ruidoso at approximately 1,000 families, compared to the official 1970 census figure of $2,200. This growth is further substantiated by the issuance of $7,021,100 in building permits for fiscal 1974, $5,183,100 for 1975 and $5,725,234 for the year ending June 30, 1976. These figures mean that Ruidoso's assessed valuation has risen about $3 million the past three years to peg the present assessed valuation at $25,160,115.

"We can see no reason why our growth won't continue," mayor Lloyd L. Davis Jr. said, "and as our population grows, so does the demand for increased services from the village."

A projection on the cost of the 1/4% to be voted on Tuesday, puts the average increase in sales tax for a family of four, with an income of $9,000 at $12 for one year.

The yearly increase for a family of five, with $6,000 income, would be $11; a man and wife earning $16,000 would pay $11 more than at present and a family of five with $20,000 income would pay $22 more in sales tax per year.

If Tuesday's tax increase is approved, based on the $340,700 returned to the village in 1976, the return would have been $511,050.

As a comparison, the village will receive $48,984 from Lincoln County for fiscal 1976-77 based on property taxes for the calendar year of 1976. This money is for general fund expenditures.

"The sales tax obviously pays the bulk of the services provided by the village," village manager Jim Hine said, "and if the quality of the services is to be maintained as well as improved, the additional funds generated by the proposed 1/4% increase in sales tax is the way we have to go."

Services covered include garbage disposal, police and fire protection, solid waste site maintenance and, as soon as it can be instituted, animal controls.

Two of these services must be expanded: garbage disposal and solid waste site maintenance. The return from the proposed one-quarter percent increase would enable the village to expand these services without having to increase rates.

The added cost to permanent residents through the proposed tax would be less than an increase in garbage disposal charges.

The village is faced with buying a new solid waste disposal site and monies generated from the additional tax would provide the funds — without increasing present charges for garbage pickup.

Funding for additional police and fire protection, one of the demands constantly confronting the village trustees, would be provided from this slight tax increase.

Under the new tax, based on the $340,700 received by the village for 1976, the amount would have been increased by $170,350 or 50 percent.

The new tax would also provide funds for street maintenance, which at present cannot be done because the village does not have the money. Present estimates peg the cost of street overlay at $84,000 per mile, with six miles of major thoroughfare needing the overlay. With additional funds the village could investigate buying street maintenance equipment and, if the equipment were village owned, the cost of street repair would be reduced to $24,000 for each mile of road.

The accompanying chart, based on Internal Revenue Service allowable figures, projects the net cost of 1/4% increase in sales tax for each family. Read down the left hand column to determine your income bracket, then across the line to your family size, with that figure representing the estimated additional annual cost to you of the 1/4% increase in the gross receipts tax.

The $340,000 returned to the village represents one percent of the gross receipts tax collected in Ruidoso. The state collects 4% and remits 1/4 of that to the village.

100% of the proposed 1/4% added sales tax would be returned to the village, meaning village revenues from this tax would increase by 25%.

"The village trustees unanimously approved putting the question of adding 1/4% sales tax before the electorate," Hine said, "with the decision based upon the need for improved services for our growing community as well as the constant demand from taxpayers for more services."

County is financially sound

Lincoln County commissioners reviewed budgets during their Monday meeting, learning that while the general fund is in good shape, the road fund is in a precarious condition.

Chairman John Sudderth, commissioners George Stoneman and Lee Straley Jr., were informed by county manager Les Olson that in the past two years the unencumbered balance in the general fund — free cash — has grown from seven to 22 percent.

Experts agree that 20 percent is ideal, Olson said. "We're well within our budget, realizing surpluses in various departments."

With funds totaling $737,149 on hand, expenditures amounting to $444,610 to be made, and operating cash totalling $182,570 set aside, there remains in free cash $99,769.

Concerning the road fund, Olson said, "It's certainly not in critical shape, but it's tight." Motor vehicle fees account for the bulk of monies in the fund, and since no figures on the amount coming in will be available for some weeks, Olson prepared two reports on projected receipts.

In the one anticipating the smaller income from MV fees ($190,000), Olson projected a free cash balance of $28,239, or 14 percent of the total.

The other estimate, based on a larger MV income ($203,000) ended with a free cash balance of $41,229, or 21 percent.

One line item in the budget shows a deficit of $15,000; the money was spent on three major and unexpected engine repairs, Olson said.

In another line item, salaries, he said that the road department is relying heavily on federal aid. Revenue sharing, CETA and anti-recession programs fund six of the department's 17 workers.

Olson said that a difficulty with the road fund is that "There's an increased demand for road services, and our revenues aren't up at all from five years ago."

A third review Monday was of income from federal revenue sharing monies. With a total of $243,210 anticipated by June of this year, Olson said that expenses would come to $224,546, leaving a balance of $18,214.

The breakdown on spending of the $243,210 is: law enforcement, $55,181; treasurer, $9,336; Hondo ambulance, $12,000; Carrizozo ambulance, $4,000; property assessment, $40,972; capital outlay for hospital services, $15,000; Ruidoso Public Library, $2,000; road department, $16,178; MACHO, $1,000; SCHRCA, $450; capital outlay, $25,180; computer, $13,000; programming, $4,000; solar panels, $9,405; fairgrounds, $2,500; transmitter tower, $2,000; two part-time jobs, $8,500; Guy Henley, $1,936; computer schooling and transportation for County Treasurer Michael Kimbrell, deputy county assessor Pat Serna and courthouse secretary Petra Sandoval, $1,900.

Chairman John Sudderth said that despite efforts by appraisers in the county assessor's office to move ahead with equalization of property taxes, "the sales ratio for last year shows a move of a bare 3/10 of one percent. The appraisers need to continue to make an effort to keep up with equalization."

Sudderth said that he disapproves of the assessor's decision to "zero in on Ruidoso ..."

He felt that additional appraisers, working in the field, are necessary to keep up with the work.

He said that though the commissioners have no authority over the assessor's work of equalizing taxes in the county, the commissioners get numerous complaints about it.

Spring cleanup planned

A village-wide spring cleanup campaign was chosen Friday as the first project to be spearheaded by the newly formed Ruidoso Service Club Council.

Members Barbara Duff (chairman) of the Women's Club, Jane Deyo of the Altrusa Club, Ed Roberts of the Noon Lions, Mac McDougal of the Evening Lions and Pinky Jones of the Rotary Club chose April 15 as the tentative date for the cleanup.

The role of the council, members said, will be to enlist the aid of the village's service clubs, as well as of other citizens.

The cleanup will be patterned after an effort several years ago, when clubs, students and other residents joined in gathering debris and ended the work with a picnic.

Before the cleanup was selected as the council's first effort, members discussed concerns including the need for traffic lights on Sudderth Drive at Paradise Canyon Rd. and Juanita Ave., and the animal situation in the village, due to the lack of a shelter.

Formed in November at the initiation of the Altrusa Club, the council has adopted as its theme "Coordination of ideas and actions of all local service clubs ... To work for the betterment of Ruidoso in general."

In other business, members agreed Friday to serve as judges in the Altrusa Club's annual "Family of the year" contest, with one additional judge to be recruited from the Women's Club.

The council's next meeting will be Feb. 3, at 1 p.m. at Nob Hill Restaurant.

School construction ahead of schedule

Construction of additional school facilities will be complete three to four months ahead of schedule, officials reported to the Board of Education during the Tuesday meeting.

"Everything seems to be moving in the right direction, way ahead of what I had expected," Sherman Capps, field inspector for architects Alley and Cornell of Roswell, said.

Painting and "mechanical aspects" of the middle school at the White Mountain School, a gym complex and additional classrooms at the White Mountain and Nob Hill Schools are 85 percent done. One delay, Capps said, has been caused by slow delivery of heating units for the White Mountain facility.

Rein Alley, architect, said that after contractor George H. Cillesen of Albuquerque completes the construction, some cosmetic touches will have to be added.

Board member Don Swalander questioned Alley and Capps about the contractor's liability after the board accepts the completed facilities.

Alley said that though "the guarantee may run out" Cillesen will be responsible for up to five years for various aspects of construction.

"The only stuff we've accepted up there is what's underground," Capps said. "We have a long way to go."

Sid Miller, Nob Hill principal, said he was concerned about the tilt of sidewalks at the middle school. Alley said the walks will be checked.

A tour of the middle school was to be conducted by Alley today at 2 p.m., with members of the school board and other

A coordinated effort by law enforcement agencies ended in Ruidoso Downs Saturday night with the seizure of "a substantial amount of marijuana" and the arrest of three men, Lincoln County Sheriff Bill Elliott said Tuesday.

Arrested were Tommy Valliant, 26, Ruidoso, Stuart R. Gall, 26, Ruidoso and David Wagon, 26, Anthony, N.M.

The three, in a first appearance hearing before Magistrate Jim Wheeler Sunday, were charged with: unlawfully and intentionally distribute a controlled substance to wit; marijuana.

Valliant was released on a $10,000 bond, with no ten percent; Gall and Wagon were released on their own recognizance, with all scheduled to appear before Judge Wheeler for a 10 a.m., Jan. 18 preliminary hearing.

"The operation was," Sheriff Elliott said, "a joint effort involving officers of the sheriff's department, U. S. Customs, Ruidoso Downs police, Ruidoso Criminal Investigation Division, NM State Police Narcotics Division with an assist from the Illinois Bureau of Investigation."

Downs takes no action on dog control proposal

Too expensive was what Ruidoso Downs trustees termed an animal shelter and control proposal made to them by Mike Hernandez Jr., during their Monday meeting.

At a total yearly cost of $15,870, to be divided between Ruidoso and Ruidoso Downs, Hernandez said he would provide —

1. An animal control officer, available 24 hours a day.
2. A 24-hour-a-day secretary and answering service.
3. Adequate facilities for boarding all types of animals.
4. Vehicles equipped with cages, and including gas, oil, batteries, tires and maintenance.
5. Capture equipment, including large and small live traps, tranquilizer guns, animal handlers, gloves, ropes and a roping horse with tack.
6. Isolation pens for animals quarantined by law.
7. Food and water for all captured animals.

Hernandez said that he would also handle the collection of fines, if so instructed by the villages.

In return for the service, which would cost Ruidoso Downs $1,322.50 a month, he said he would expect a commission to be paid to the animal control officer; legal aid from the village attorney in the event of a court case; a radio tuned to the police frequency, and in addition, a frequency for the animal control headquarters.

Hernandez gave the trustees letters from area veterinarians, F. Lynn Willard and Donna T. Harper of Ruidoso and S. T. Zarges of El Paso, Tex., who all expressed support of his proposal.

Two sites for the shelter are contemplated by Hernandez, but he declined to name them specifically. Instead, he said that they are outside village limits and are "more or less in the middle of the Ruidoso-Ruidoso Downs area."

"You say you're going to put an animal shelter in somewhere in particular, and you get shot out of the saddle," Hernandez said.

"There's no way we can come up with that kind of money," Mayor Norman Wheeler said. "I personally think we ought to do what they do in Mexico — put out the cyanide and let's goodbye dogs for a while."

He said that there is a leash law on the books in the village, but it is not enforced.

Trustee Don Clark suggested that Hernandez see if the Lincoln County commissioners would agree to fund a portion of the operation. Hernandez said that he has spoken to one commissioner on the telephone, but has not conferred with the board as a whole.

Trustee Boots Nelson felt that the proposal should be tabled pending Hernandez's meetings with Ruidoso trustees and county officials.

But Mayor Wheeler, agreeing that action should be deferred until after Hernandez has met with the other boards, said "Let's the three of us (trustees for the two villages, plus county commissioners) get together and see what we can come out with."

"There's no doubt in my mind that we need animal control. The problem all along is that the two villages lack the money."

The trustees voted to give residents and businesses until March 1 to comply with a recently passed ordinance requiring that trash containers be placed in racks 12 to 24 inches above the ground.

"We've notified everybody about it, but nobody seems to be getting too excited," said Mayor Wheeler.

Trustee Don Clark said that adverse weather conditions were probably delaying some people's compliance, and suggested that he and trustee Boots Nelson visit those who have not met the requirement after March 1.

"If somebody can't afford it, maybe we'll pitch in," he said.

In other business this week, the trustees —

— Were notified by Joseph B. Swanner, regional director of the Southwestern Regional Economic Development Commission in Austin, Tex. that the village's application for $506,302 in federal funds was turned down.

Tularosa received the bulk of monies granted to the area, $400,000 to build a community center; the Mescalero Apache Tribe was among recipients of smaller sums.

Downs trustees have already resubmitted their application, with plans to use the money for a new city hall, fire and police facilities.

— Were informed by the NM Bureau of Revenue that a person filing for an occupation license must supply the village with his tax identification number before the license is issued.

— Heard from Village Clerk Virginia Spall that public employees liability insurance has been reinstated in the village by All-Star, after a cancellation.

Commissioners name development members

Seven people, including two of the Lincoln County commissioners, were named to serve as members and alternates on the Southeastern Economic Development Council by the commissioners Monday.

Commissioners Lee Straley Jr. and George Stoneman will serve as members, together with Sheriff Bill Elliott and former commissioner Ramon Nunez.

Alternates will be Bill Hart, for Stoneman; John Sudderth, commissioner chairman, for Elliott; Frank Montoya, for Straley; and Tranquillo Silva for Nunez.

The appointments were made subject to the acceptance of those chosen.

The council consists of representatives of seven counties.

The commissioners, in another matter, approved expenses of $125 for a desk and $630 for an IBM typewriter for the Ruidoso substation of the sheriff's office.

Although $150 was earmarked some months ago by the commissioners for a partition in the substation, the partition has not been installed. Sheriff Elliott said that there is "no privacy whatsoever if we bring someone in for interrogation."

Chairman Sudderth said that the money was ready so that Elliott can proceed with installation of the partition.

Elliott submitted two cost estimates on CB radios to the commissioners; Western Auto will supply sets at $103 each, and John von Rosenberg for $129.

Sudderth recommended that the sheriff obtain 40-channel sets.

County Manager Les Olson told the commissioners that the Forest Service has made $5,000 available to the county for the purpose of buying "a much-needed four-wheel drive vehicle; to increase our patrols."

In return, the Forest Service has asked that the county furnish a CB radio for a pickup truck used by rangers. Stoneman said that he does not need the CB he inherited from a previous commissioner, and the board agreed to turn it over to the Forest Service.

In other action Monday, the commissioners — — Voted to make quarterly payments to PERA, the county retirement fund, rather than the previous monthly installments. The move is in accordance with state law.

— Were informed by Olson that representatives of St. Joseph's Hospital in Albuquerque will make a report to the commissioners at their Jan. 17 meeting.

— Chairman Sudderth agreed to contact state auditor Max Sanchez in an effort to get action on a county audit performed by Earl Allman of Roswell, which has been on Sanchez's desk for five months.

Allman was eight months late in submitting the audit, Olson said. Although Olson urged Sanchez to act on the matter so that a more recent audit, by Deason, Peters, Stockton, Gilmore & Co. can be completed, talking to the state auditor was "like talking to a wall," Olson said.

— Approved an expense of $175 to enable Olson to enroll in a course on comparative management at New Mexico State University, to keep abreast of developments in the field.

— Voted to pay former County Treasurer Flora Vega the equivalent of $550 a month to enable her to complete duties required of her by law, which she was unable to finish before leaving office Jan. 1.

— At the request of County Clerk Jane McSwane, decided to place on next week's agenda consideration of the purchase of three voting machines.

She said that two are needed in Ruidoso and one in Capitan.

Some instances brought to Sudderth by unhappy property owners, he said, are "so unfair it's actually gross. I've had a number of cases come to me that I've recommended to consult an attorney."

As an example he cited a case where a house newly constructed for $28,000 had been placed on the tax rolls with an assessed value of $44,000.

"Apparently this was an error," the chairman said.

The assessor's office employs four appraisers, Olson said; three are being trained and are working in the Ruidoso area.

He said that new construction in Ruidoso has "bent it (equalization) all out of shape."

SNMEDD to meet

The annual meeting of the Southeastern New Mexico Economic Development District will be held at 10 a.m. January 19, in Building 610, Roswell Industrial Air Center.

AFTER THE SNOWIN' came the blowin' and the huffin' and puffin' to clear the parking lot in back of the Ruidoso Post Office. Eugene Davis is showing his expertise at moving it out.

Warriors nipped 52-50

The Ruidoso Warriors suffered their first cage defeat of the season Tuesday night as the NMMI squad came from behind to grab a 52-50 win.

The loss gives the Warriors an 11 and 1 record on the season.

The locals grabbed a 21-10 first quarter advantage and led 32-24 at the half and 42-39 at the third quarter buzzer.

In the final canto NMMI garnered 13 points while holding the Warriors to eight. NMMI tied the tally at 50-all with 40 seconds remaining. Ruidoso called a time out and on the fast break missed the field goal, with NMMI taking over to score the winning basket.

Kirk Eubanks paced the Warriors with 24 points on eight field goals and eight free throws with D. Jefferson adding 11 and Hector Aguilar nine. For NMMI Bill Voellers tallied 16 and T. Wilcox 15.

Eubanks controlled 32 rebounds with Aguilar grabbing nine and Jefferson seven.

"They beat us bad on the board," Warrior mentor Thurman Sanchez said Wednesday, "by controlling their defensive end of the court."

"It was a good ball game, we never gave up and we fought it out until the final buzzer. They had a lot of height on us, with 6-11, 6-5 and 6-4 men on the floor, but we gave them a good game."

The Warriors will be on the road, playing Dexter Friday, Tularosa Tuesday and then back to the Dexter tournament Jan. 20-22.

School board

Interested persons in attendance.

Other business before the board Tuesday included —

— Voting to renew Supt. Pat Valliant's contract for a one-year period, following a brief executive session.

— Accepting, with regrets, the resignation of Thelma Shendo, Johnson-O'Malley coordinator for the school system.

— Deciding to call for bids on 10 CB radios for seven route buses and several vans.

Chairman Dave Parks, after investigating the cost of CB's for the committee, recommended that the board move ahead towards purchase of 23-channel radios and take advantage of current low prices.

The board unanimously voted agreement with the chairman's recommendation.

— Receiving, from Ted Sanders of the state's Board of Education, word that the state board has voted to accredit the Ruidoso school system for the coming year.

Sanders added that upon completion of the middle school, the district will be eligible for "added commendation" — one of several out of 88 districts in the state.

Ruidoso's bilingual program has also been approved, the board was informed in a separate letter.

— Changing the date of the April board meeting from the 12th to the 5th, to accommodate the Easter vacation.

— Being reminded by Supt. Valliant of the Feb. 1 election to fill two seats on the board.

— Recognizing four of the six candidates in the election. Attending the meeting were Benny Coulston, William "Dub" Holt, Don Dale and Marchand "Mac" McDougal.

Parks, who is also running for another six-year term, was present, as were board members Dr. Howard Tate, Stormy Edwards, Don Swalander and C. L. "Bones" Wright.

Record snow fall

The 31-inches of snow received between Jan. 1-9 sets a record for any month since 1942, when official measurements were started.

Previous high snow falls include 30.9 inches in March of 1956, 28.8 in February of 1964 and 28.1 in December 1967.

Photos of fun-in-the-snow appear on page 10.

In other action the trustees: — Authorized Potter to "work out a service" for proposed daily round trip flight service between El Paso and Ruidoso to be provided by Standard Airways of El Paso. Standard is seeking to institute this service.

— Were invited to the Jan. 17 meeting of the Eagle Creek Water Association in Capitan.

— Instructed village inspector Chuck Brown to obtain the numbers of contractors' licenses, sales tax permits and village occupational licenses in connection with applications for future building permits.

— Were advised that library patronage has increased nine percent in Dec. 1976 over Dec. 1975.

— Authorized Potter to investigate the possibility of locating additional stop lights on Sudderth Drive.

— Approved the abandonment of a portion of an alley in Carter's Park near The Fireplace.

— Were advised by Hine that an extension for using the present landfill has been requested, pending obtaining a new site.

— Approved remodeling of village hall, to relocate offices to eliminate traffic through records sections, at an estimated cost of $12,000.

— Approved the construction of six new buildings in Aspen Run Condominiums Phase II, contingent upon acceptance by the Planning and Zoning Commission.

— Took no action on a request by J. C. Capps to abandon a small portion of old highway in the Nob Hill area.

— Agreed to appoint new members to the Airport Advisory Board at the Jan. 25 meeting, to reactivate the board.

Teacher Sorority met Saturday

The Eta Chapter of the teachers sorority Alpha Delta Kappa met in the home of Nellie Jones Jan. 8, with Greta Cabot as co-hostess, and president Myrtle Williams of Nogal presiding.

Marcelle Cunningham was awarded the past president's guard for her pin, and yearbooks were distributed to the members.

Those attending included Inez Pacheco, Angelina Provine, Louise Ferguson, Hazel Arturs, Marcelle Cunningham, Greta Cabot, Nancy McCarty, Carrie Godley, Nellie Jones and Myrtle Williams.

Engagement announced

Dr. and Mrs. Robert Edward Manias of 4117 Brookhollow Drive, Abilene, Tex., announce the engagement of their daughter, Suzanne, to Berkley Gordon Craig III of 2901 E. 17th, Odessa, Tex.

Craig is the son of Dr. Berkley Gordon Craig Jr. of the same address, and Mrs. Sue Cowden Craig of Ruidoso.

Miss Manias is a 1974 graduate of Cooper High School in Abilene, Tex., and is presently studying at Baylor University. She will graduate in Dec. 1977 with a bachelor of arts degree in sociology.

Her fiancé is a graduate of Permian High School in Odessa, and will receive his bachelor's degree in business administration in management in December from Baylor University in Waco, Tex.

A May 28 wedding is planned at the Aldersgate United Methodist Church in Abilene.

Bobo-Music vows exchanged

Miss Angela Bobo of Ruidoso was married to Danny Music of Ft. Stockton, Tex., in a double-ring ceremony Dec. 18 at the Assembly of God Church in Ruidoso, with the Rev. Bob Baldr officiating.

Mrs. Music is the daughter of Mrs. Lloyd Henson of Ruidoso and Bill Bobo of Roswell; her husband is the son of Mrs. Moselle Music of Houston, Tex., and the late Gene Music.

Barbara Bradley of Roswell served as maid of honor; Ken Stevens of Ft.

Stockton, Tex., was the best man. Ringbearers were Michelle and Melissa Music.

The bride wore a taffeta gown with a chapel train, bouffant chantilly lace sleeves and a choker neckline. Her veil had a butterfly motif, with seed pearls scattered on the headpiece.

She carried a bouquet of shasta daisies and baby's breath, with soft blue streamers.

The maid of honor was dressed in a pale pink, floor length gown, and the mother of the bride was in a light yellow sheer organza gown.

Floral arrangements in the church were of white and blue carnations. Similar decorations were in the Fellowship Hall at the church, where the reception was held immediately following the wedding.

Music is employed by the Creole Oil Co. in Ft. Stockton, Tex., where the couple will make their home.

Services were held Jan. 3 at All Saints Episcopal Church in Ft. Worth, with burial in the Hutt family mausoleum in Greenwood Memorial Park.

She was a member of All Saints Episcopal Church in Ft. Worth, was active in the Boys Club there, as well as the Ridgela Country Club. She donated many gifts to the W. L. Cook Children's Hospital and to St. Joseph's Hospital.

Commissioners' Report

Installed at a cost of $15,700, the system has operated since Nov. 18, 1976.

This solar energy radio communication system is among the first in both the state and the country to be installed by a local government. It serves the Lincoln County sheriff's office; road department; emergency ambulance services in Captain, Carrizozo and Ruidoso; the county medical examiner and county appraisal department.

The repeater-transmitter sends signals on a frequency of 154.980 mhz and receives them at 154.025 mhz, with a call sign of KFD-577.

Seven sheriff's vehicles with mobil units and two base stations in Carrizozo and Ruidoso, as well as the Ruidoso Police Dept., use the system.

The county road department has nine vehicles and a base station on the system. Another base station is located in the office of the county commissioners; the three commissioners as well as the county manager have mobil units. So do three vehicles used in the appraisal department. Altogether, 34 units use the system.

The property appraisal program is streamlined by the use of the mobil units. If information is needed in the field by an appraiser, he can call his office at the courthouse, obtain the details he wants and thus work without interruption.

Emergency ambulance service is strengthened in the Carrizozo - Corona - Capitan area by use of the system. Former county commissioner Bud Payne, an emergency medical technician and coordinator of the area ambulance service, retains a mobil unit in his pickup so he can be reached without delay.

Other EMT's in the Carrizozo area are Bill Miller, Don Means, Nancy Guck, Dale Housley and Max Watson.

The Ruidoso police are able to communicate directly with the sheriff's offices in Ruidoso and Carrizozo, and with any of the deputy sheriffs. This communication facilitates coordination of investigations and crime prevention activities.

Charles Treadwell, Capitan's new town marshal, communicates on the county frequency from his police vehicle. Medical examiner Ray Clark can be reached via the system, and the Forest Service can communicate on it during fire emergencies.

Permission to operate a radio transmission system was granted by the N. M. Dept. of Radio Communications, the Federal Communication Commission and the US Forest Service. The county's original system, operated by diesel power, was installed in 1965.

Wrestlers compete in tough divisions

There are only two wrestling divisions in New Mexico: 4-A schools and 3-A and 2-A combined. Therefore Ruidoso always has a tough schedule and a very tough district-competing against 4-A schools. The wrestling district has rather consistently proved the toughest one in the state. So

Ruidoso's team win-loss record may never appear impressive. Wrestling, however, is an individual sport and there are several individuals on the team with good records going for them: Wes Alkinsen, in the 98 lbs. division won four and lost one; Chuck Burgess, in the 165 lbs. division, is a sophomore and is the team's leading scorers after five matches; Mark Strassburg, in the 145 lbs. division, has won three and lost one; Dirk Strassburg won two and lost three; Greg Lane won two and lost three; Dwayne Hardwick won two and lost three; Sterling Rehnert won two and lost three.

Staff attends workshop

The Ruidoso High journalism staff is participating in a learning program in cooperation with Mr. Ken Green, the editor and owner of the Ruidoso News. The staff travels to the news office in two groups the first, Jan. 12, the second group

Jan. 26. During the workshop the staff is learning the techniques involved in producing a newspaper, such as printing and layout, in preparation for an issue of the newspaper that will be produced entirely by the staff in the spring.

Ski program begins

The students at Ruidoso High School are buzzing with excitement about the upcoming ski program. Every Tuesday from Jan. 18 to Feb. 22 participating students will have the afternoon off from school to go skiing.

The students have a special rate of four dollars, two dollars for the tickets and two dollars for the skis. Also the students are required to rent their equipment from one of the downtown ski shops. The faculty also participates in the program. Good Luck all you skiers.

School Scoop

Scott and Jan Logan, enthusiastic Scuba Divers who are interested in sharing with others their exciting and fascinating sport. They refute many of the mistaken beliefs that some may have about the sport itself, and the environment in which it takes place.

Both Jan and Scott are certified by P.A.D.I., The Professional Association of Diving Instructors.

During the senior class meeting Friday, the class of '77 decided to order light blue caps and gowns with honor graduates wearing white.

Silver and blue were voted as the senior colors and the yellow rose is the class flower.

The class song and motto will be voted on at a later date.

Ruidoso defeats Alamo

The Tigers of Alamogordo traveled to Ruidoso Jan. 8 to meet the undefeated Warriors. The RHS varsity met the Alamo JV and the local junior team met the visiting sophomores.

In the first quarter of the varsity contest, the Warriors scored 18 points. In the first half most of the points were scored by Kirk Eubank and Dennis Jefferson. The score at the end of the first half was 49 to 20.

In the second half, RHS scored 31 points, 11 points coming from free throws. The final score was 80 to 64.

Kirk Eubank was high point scorer.

Pep assembly held

Spirit and cheer filled the Ruidoso gym Friday, Jan. 7. The great pep assembly helped in victory over Alamogordo J. V.

The varsity cheerleaders consisting of, Michelle Cooper, Dana Driver, Cindy Durham, Lisa Cabot and Lori Wright, cheer for the varsity basketball team. The girls that cheer for the junior varsity basketball boys are; Debbie Jo Almager, Rhonda Short, Alicia Perrelli, Patty Neal, Kim Sanchez and Cindy Silva. Connie Rue, Cyd Wright, Deana Snow, Patsy Almager and Dolores Herrera, are all the spirit leaders for the seventh and eighth grade basketball and the girls teams. Pep assemblies are held every Friday.

Mr. Bill Streater, teacher of geology and earth sciences, took his eighth grade geology class on a field trip to Alamogordo's Space Hall of Fame. The eighth graders enjoyed the Space Center's exhibits and illustrations.

The Ruidoso basketball girls played a tournament Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Jan. 6-9, in Weed.

Thursday the girls played Weed with the tourney hosts winning 79-29. Friday RHS played Dexter with the final score in the Warriors favor, 44-35. The girls fell in their final game Saturday to Animas, 48-39.

Warriors double up

The seventh and eighth grade basketball teams both traveled to Capitan last Tuesday, Jan. 11. The seventh grade defeated the Tigers 49 to 14. High point man was Wade Wilson with 18 points, Ty Fredrickson had 8, Don Nunley had 5, Josh Riley and Ken Brakley with 4, and Marc Delhotal, Kyle Schautteet, Lon Nunley and Bobby Knox all had 2 points.

The eighth grade also won 32 to 21 with high point men Scott Neal and Mike Dale with 8. Danial Evila had 6, Steven Parks and Steven Pletch both had 4 and Matt Roberts had 2 to finish out the scoring.

RHS strikes again

The RHS Warriors varsity basketball team struck up another victory at home Wednesday, Jan. 5, against Weed.

After the first half of the game Ruidoso had a 7-point lead over the Weed Bulldogs with 10 points scored by RHS sophomore Brode Williams. The second half secured the Warrior victory with a 14-point lead over the Bulldogs, the final score being 62 to 47.

That Warrior victory over Weed took the RHS varsity team to a 10-game winning streak this season.

Average Residential KWH Selling Price

It costs approximately 14¢ per day for the electricity to wash and dry your clothes. That's less than most of you spend on a newspaper! Considering the fact that with washers and dryers you can get your clothes clean in any weather with relative ease and efficiency, 14¢ per day is a real bargain! Electricity affords many comforts and conveniences each day... and if you'll add them all up, you'll quickly see that electricity is still one of the best buys around!

Social Security report

The Medicare hospital insurance deductible is now $124, according to Dan Mathis, social security field representative.

"A Medicare patient who went into the hospital since December 31 will be responsible for the first $124 of covered hospital expenses," Mathis said.

The 1976 deductible was $104. Under the Medicare law, the amount of the deductible is tied to the average cost of one day's stay in a hospital. The increase to $124 for 1977 is a result of a review of hospital costs during 1975.

Under the law, the increase in the deductible means there also will be increases starting this month in three other amounts Medicare patients pay for covered care.

For a hospital stay of over 60 days, the patient will pay $31 a day (up from $28) on the 61st through the 90th days. For a post-hospital stay of over 20 days in a skilled nursing facility, the patient will pay $14.50 a day (up from $13) for the 21st through the 100th day. For "reserve days" used — after 90 days of hospital care in a benefit period — Medicare pays for all covered expenses except for $82 a day (up from $52).

Mathis may be contacted at the Lincoln County Senior Citizens Center in Ruidoso on Tuesday, Jan. 11, between the hours of 10 - 12.

SANTA FE—Senate President Pro Tem J. M. Smalley, D-Hidalgo-Sierra-Luna, was renamed as chairman of Senate Judiciary and Committees' Committees. The Committees' Committee named Senate committees. Sen. John Morrow, D-Union-Cofax-Harding-San Miguel, was picked as Conservation vice chairman and a Finance Committee member. Sen. Matt Chacon, D-Rio Arriba, was placed on the Finance and Education Committees. Freshman Sen. Caleb Chandler, D-Clovis, was assigned to the Conservation and Judiciary Committees.

Sen. Willie Chavez, R-Belen, is on the Education and Rules Committees. Senate Republican Leader John Conway, Lincoln-Otero, is on the Committees' Committee, Corporations and Judiciary. Sen. Bill Lee, D-Lovington, stayed on the Finance and Conservation Committees. Sen. Ray Leger, D-Guadalupe-DeBaca-San Miguel, is on the Finance and Corporations Committees.

Freshman Sen. Raymond E. Sitta, D-San Juan, a physician, landed on the important Rules and Conservation Committees. Sen. Jack Morgan, R-San Juan, is on the Conservation and Finance Committees. Sen. John Rogers, D-Los Alamos-Santa Fe, retained the Senate Finance vice chairmanship and membership on the Education Committee. Sen. Kenneth Schlientz, R-Quay-Curry, stayed on Rules and also moved to Finance. Senate Majority Leader C. B. Trujillo, D-Taos, retained his place on the Finance and Committees' Committees.

As Senate leaders, Smalley and Trujillo will exert much influence on the course of the Senate and Democratic Gov. Jerry Apodaca's legislation in the lawmaking session opening next Tuesday.

feet in the tax on natural gas, pegged to this method. Rep. Moran, the GOP's House appropriations expert, says: "Drilling activity is quite high. Eddy and Lea Counties have been leading the Permian Basin for several weeks. Short range it looks good for the first quarter."

Rep. Nick Salazar, D-Rio Arriba, says: "Generally speaking, government has grown too big. It's out of proportion." A physics researcher at Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory, Salazar landed a coveted place on the powerful House Appropriations-Finance Committee. He says school buildings are needed more than new state buildings. He underscored pressure in each legislative session for new state buildings.

Rep. Salazar concedes State Prison near Santa Fe is inadequate. But he says crime victims need help. "More and more we should see what we can legislate for the victims of crime," Salazar said. He says much money is spent on rehabilitation and defense of criminals but victims of crime must provide their own attorneys if they sue for damages.

Rep. Salazar supports "tax-free medicine." He adds: "Certainly, food should be exempt from the gross receipts tax." He favors a property tax exemption on assessed valuation of residences for persons over 62.

Rep. H. B. Barnard, D-Clovis, says: "There is no question that there is money for tax relief." But Barnard, an insurance agency owner, says the legislature's tax relief approach is wrong. He says: "Tax relief so far has always been an issue close to the end of the session after the money has been appropriated." Barnard supports a state income tax cut and reduction or elimination of the gross receipts tax "on misery and health." Rep. Barnard will introduce his "Adios Bill." It would require regulatory state agencies and boards with rule-making powers to justify their existence from scratch regularly before a legislative panel. Gov. Apodaca's upcoming Sunset bill is similar.

Sen. Trujillo and Rep. Bobby Duran, D-Taos, will propose a State Police district office in Taos. A sub-office of the Espanola district office is in Taos now. Rep. Duran adds: "We're still working on trying to make a regular branch of the New Mexico Highlands University Taos Center. It will probably go through NMHU's regular budget."

Duran opposes the death penalty. He says most persons on death row are members of minorities who cannot afford expensive lawyers. "I also don't believe in taking a man's life," Duran says. He would spend the state surplus on roads and other needs ahead of voting tax relief. He is on the tax panel.

PLENTY WHITE STUFF

The old timers will be arguing for the next ten years as to whether the snow of '72, '69, '65, or '56 piled it deeper here than it was bright and early Sunday morning. I wouldn't know about those other snows ... but Sunday morning the snow on the side hills would have been hame strap high on a 16-hands high horse, if'n he'd had a hame strap. Basset hounds found relief by tunneling.

Some say 23 inches ... some say 18 inches ... others are still saying naughty words. But all greed it snowed ... plentifully.

A cruise around town Sunday afternoon was an experience ... from the ditch, there'd be the tip of an aerial showing above a mound of snow ... and if'n the driver was familiar with what the top of his aerial looked like, he knew where to start digging ... presuming he knew approximately where he'd stopped moving the night before ... and digging out someone else's car isn't conducive to maintaining one's normally cheerful outlook on doing one's fellow man a favor.

'Twas 8:45 a.m., Sunday, when Bill Seelbach phoned me to find out why I was bugging him ... which bugged me, 'cause Bill's used to me bugging him ... or should be. Anyhow ... with the amenities disposed of ... Bill counted nine cars between the Rio Ruidoso and the stop light on Sudderth ... which about nineteen car lengths ... and "They're every which way in the street" he said. He described the frantic action, the sliding, slipping and spinning ... then quipped: "If we get some snow, we're going to be in trouble." And if the drivers of those vehicles could have heard Bill, he'd have had trouble.

But the skiers have had a ball ... they've been dashing through the powder ... with room for all ... and nary a complaint about how long it takes to get up to the top of the runs so they can whiz down in an exhilarating dash ... bone-crushing, maybe, even ... only to repeat the process ... just like riding in an elevator ... only it's slower going up than coming down.

DIGNITY INJURED

Brig. Gen. Walter F. Ulmer Jr. figures he got a raw deal from the Army ... because they relieved him as commandant of West Point following all the hullabaloo over the cheating scandals.

West Point Cadets, supposedly, are bound by a code of ethics ... and cheating isn't considered proper for students who have their eye on being officially declared a "gentleman" by an act of congress ... after they claim their golden bars as 2nd Lt.

Some of the cadets were charged with cheating ... they got cashiered. The General didn't prevent the cheating ... he was transferred ... without promotion ... to the 2nd Armored Division at Ft. Hood, Tex.

In his new post the General'll enjoy all the privileges of rank ... and all the respect his one star is entitled to ... and he might have to find a new lackey ... or three ... and his promotion will be delayed a mite ... poor chap, how he'll suffer.

Now ... if'n the General'd been a one-striper, 'stedda one-star ... and as said one-striper he'd have been charged with dereliction of duty as serious ... in comparison ... as the boo-boo the General pulled ... he'd have been courts martialled ... lost his stripe ... pay and allowances ... served plenty of time in a stockade ... and probably have been given a dishonorable discharge. And the General thinks he got a "bum rap."

But the General will shape up ... he'll see to it his shoes are shined to suit him ... that salutes are as snappy as he thinks they should be ... and he'll have spit and polish ... and morale'll be high ... 'cause he'll issue a General Order to that effect ... and one day, quietly, he'll pick up his second star ... and look forward to retirement on a Brigadier General's pay. Sad.

BRIEF BIT: The main problem with the days getting longer is that the nights get shorter ... and short nights aren't conducive to longer days being all that pleasant ... CD.

ANTARCTIC IRON

The attractive notion that Antarctica might be preserved as one part of the globe inviolate and free from exploitation is becoming less tenable than it once seemed. American and Soviet geologists have begun to find indications that the ice-sheathed continent may contain vast deposits of iron and other metals.

Hints of this began to turn up many years ago. As early as 1957 a party discovered a body of rock in the Pensacola Mountains which, according to one account, "may prove to be one of the most important ore-bearing structures in the world." A U. S. Geological Survey team is now studying this site. Meanwhile, in the Prince Charles Mountains across the continent, Soviet explorers have come upon deposits which an American geologist describes as "a mountain of iron."

Finding ore is the first step; recovering it under Antarctic conditions would present much greater difficulties. Pack ice blocks access to much of the coast, and movement of the continental ice would constantly threaten displacement of mining shafts sunk into the rock below.

Given these circumstances, it is unlikely that exploitation of iron and other deposits will begin soon. Given man's thirst to make use of resources he finds hidden beneath Earth's surface, however, it also seems unlikely that the Antarctic will long continue as the essentially untouched "world park" which some have envisioned. — The Valley Courier, Alamosa, Colo.

WHAT BLACKS WANT

As the nation's largest minority, a minority which gave Jimmy Carter 91 percent of its vote, what do forward-looking black leaders want from the Carter Administration? What do they deserve?

The appointment of a number of blacks to top government posts would fall short of what blacks want, and what they deserve. In a system that rewards the winners with the spoils of political victory, President-elect Carter seems obligated to press for national programs which would immensely benefit blacks.

One need is a broad national health insurance program, another is a broad national housing program, enabling the poor to buy homes at low interest rates over a long period of time. Another is aid to dying ghetto areas in the city and poverty areas in rural areas.

These approaches, plus special educational considerations, are what thinking blacks desire. They care less about exhibitionism and political stage dressing. The new administration is politically obligated to undertake the above mentioned programs, within reasonable limits of what the nation can afford. — News-Bulletin, Belen.

TODAY'S CHURCHES

The church is not the institutional dinosaur many people believe it to be. Mainline denominations are now holding their own, and new movements, especially those aligned with evangelicals, are surging forward, increasing in numbers.

The efficacy of a spiritual organization cannot be found in statistics, but numbers do supply the first indication of whether an institution is likely to be advancing or retreating, and its influence on society is usually proportionate.

So, for those who think the empty pews attend dry rot, ponder this: more people attend church in an average week than attend all professional baseball, basketball, and football games combined in the average year.

Athletic events of all kinds, professional and amateur, draw about 5.5 million spectators per week. Churches attract 65 million worshippers in the same period.

For starters, there is a pretty good statistic to chew on. The source is the Statistical Abstract of the United States, a standard reference, and the Gallup Poll for Religious Data.

We are indebted to Peter Wagner, a writer in Christianity Today, for having put this comparison together, and we find it impressive, along with other things he says in an article in the current issue of the magazine.

Having made this favorable case for the church, he goes on to say — as all readers would agree — that church membership and even church attendance do not necessarily connote meaningful commitment.

He employs the phrase "functionally unchurched" to describe 106 million American adults, or 74 percent.

Wagner has nine categories which we quickly recognize:

1. Active church members who are strong.
2. Active members who are weak.
3. Active members who are not born again or personally committed to Christ.
4. Resident members who are inactive.
5. Non-resident members.
6. Those who attend church but are not members.
7. Non-members who have a church background but who have become indifferent.
8. Non-members who have a church background but who have become hostile.
9. Non-members who have no church background.

Wagner believes, and we are inclined to agree, that "A new national mood of receptivity to spiritual truth is prevalent." He thinks the religious issue in the 1976 presidential campaign stirred interest.

editorial
The Ruidoso News advocates a "Yes" vote Jan. 18 to increase the present sales tax by one-fourth of one cent for each dollar spent locally. This is the main source of revenue to support village supplied services, and the only money available to the village is its cut of tax revenues paid by our residents. — CD

A Masterful Story of Conflict... Jungle Treachery versus the Gospel of Christ

PEACE CHILD

A Missionary Film of Unparalleled Impact

Filmed in the unspoiled jungles of the Southwest Pacific, PEACE CHILD documents the startling reaction of stone-age people to the message of the Gospel. Don and Carol Richardson respond to the claim of Christ upon their lives. Careful preparation and a journey by dug-out canoe brings them into the sunlight and shadows of a rain forest inhabited by some of the world's most primitive people. Painstakingly, they learn the language but are shocked when Judas' betrayal of Jesus makes him a hero to people whose highest attribute is to be masters of treachery.

Then inter-tribal warfare breaks out. The battles continue until a warning chief offers his son as the means of bringing a lasting peace. The war ends. A primitive tribal custom makes the Gospel understandable. Lives are changed. A church appears.

PEACE CHILD is an exceptional film blending ferocious inter-tribal warfare, expert cinematography, and Christian compassion.

The Silver Lining

BY DANIEL AGNEW STORM

In the Deep Of Winter
 "When the days begin to lengthen, then the cold begins to strengthen," so goes the old saying. And right now we see a clear showing of this message.

Along about now, (this is being written on the tenth of January) the days have lengthened enough for the cold to get a running start. The coldest days have always been right in the middle of January, right after the heaviest snows. Night before last, the eighth of January, came a beautiful, all night snow. It began the day before, out of a clear sky. Something told me to get a load of fire wood, and just as I started home with the wood, here came the storm. The storm followed this Storm/home and the snow was coming down heavy when I reached the house.

As if it were trying out which type of snow would bring the heaviest cover, Old Man Winter and Jack Frost gave us a display of every kind of sky moisture in their book. There was first rain, and then sleet, and then freezing rain mixed with snow, heavy snow flakes, and the smallest particles of snow, and little frozen particles that shone like glass as they came down.

It was as if the Winter Spirit was trying every way it could to let you know that a heavy snow was on the way.

Thunder in the mountain
 On this snowy afternoon, I heard a loud, booming sound and thought that a jet plane was flying overhead through the thick snow clouds, but the sound kept rumbling and echoing and re-echoing.

Then here came the snow again. I could not believe my ears. This was thunder. Over and over again came the rumble and the boom and the reverberation of the thunder off in the world of snow flakes. This is the first time I can remember hearing thunder in the middle of winter. Surely, you would think something very out of the ordinary is coming up.

Nothing very unusual happened except that next morning there was a world of solid blue and white. The most beautiful snow to cover these hills and vales in a long time. Fourteen inches of snow.

The snowy world was delighted with itself. The west wind arrived on the scene to help celebrate. Here and there in the mountains were patches of clouds that looked like white smoke. This was the snow being carried high in the air by the wind.

renewing of springs, wells and streams — and the green, green spring and summer we will have.

Each day now will bring a little different snow picture, as the snow melts and adds new vistas of the hillsides and meadows to the winter scene.

The time of year for temperature changes
 Last night it was down to four above, and now just at high noon (January 10) it is up to forty-two.

This is something to watch. As I have told you before, remember that as soon as the sun goes down, have a change of socks ready and some warm clothing handy, if you are out in the weather.

And in driving on the highway, remember that although the snow is melted off in the sunny spots — around on the shady turns there will be ice. So be on the watch for this.

The cold and snow make our hearts warm

The snow brings to mind two main thoughts. First, we become more determined than ever to look ahead — to see ahead, and do the things we need to do. Things like getting wood, fixing roofs, and having hay on hand, and a thousand other things.

Another thought that comes with the snow is that we remember how dependent we are on one another, and how much we appreciate our friends.

It is just Solo Vno, the new dog, and myself all alone over here across the creek. But I know we are surrounded on all sides, for miles all over the county, and all over the nation, with friends.

As I look out over the deep snow glistening in the sun from the blue sky, I thank you all for your many, many acts of great friendship. Lee Lawing and Wayne Turnage came down the ninth and brought me some hay for the few cows that are here around the house. They brought some groceries and some wonderful vittles from Mrs. Lawing.

All of you, my dear friends, I long this day more than ever to be more of a friend and more of a blessing in your life. May God help me and may God bless us all.

Let us all rejoice in the wonderful snow. I am going out now and put chains on the pick-up and get across the creek and bring this message to you. Keep smiling and say a prayer of thanks for all our blessings.

KNOW YOUR FOOD

WHAT OPEN DATING DOES FOR YOU!

This aid provides you with a guide to product freshness. An example is milk! Look at the date imprinted in the top of the carton. This specifies the last date this item can be sold and still allow you reasonable time to store and use the product at home. You'll find this same kind of dating on many other products. Cottage cheese has the date stamped on the bottom. Egg cartons have the dates imprinted on the end. The places for the date may vary but their purpose does not.

Store clerks know these products are not to be sold beyond the stamped date. The quality and freshness of the food also depends on the efficiency of storage and handling it receives in-store.

While this care and Open Dating is your assurance of freshness and quality, your handling of the product is also important. Never buy milk, eggs, butter, sandwich meat or other fresh products and then let them remain in your car for a couple of hours while you do other shopping. Their freshness will deteriorate out of refrigeration. Arrange your shopping so that you buy perishables on the last stop before going home. Refrigerate perishables as soon as you get home. Then, Open Dating will truly pay big dividends in freshness and top quality for you!

News from the County Agent

I visited several homes during the past week and found many people looking at seed and fruit catalogs. Now is the time to plan what you want to grow. There are many new varieties of trees and vegetables. Before buying too many of any one thing, check and be sure they are adapted to this area. What will grow at Picacho may not be useable in Ruidoso. The cool season plants such as cabbage, lettuce and carrots grow better at the higher altitudes of Lincoln County. Even at the lower altitudes, plan to buy the shorter growing season varieties. A small garden well cared for is better than a large garden with poor care.

Trees require more planning before they are planted as they will be in the same spot for many years. It generally takes an apple tree about five years to start producing fruit. For the home grounds, consider the dwarf and semi-dwarf varieties. Golden Delicious and Rome Beauty are two of the apple varieties to consider.

Start pruning your fruit trees now. The first limbs to prune are the dead, diseased limbs that are rubbing. The next step in pruning is to cut limbs that are over 12 to 14 feet high, especially if they are growing straight up. If possible cut the limbs that form a narrow angled crotch with the leader. Finally cut out limbs to thin out the excess growth.

As you prune, remember that you always cut to a side branch and always leave a few limbs in the center to shade the trunk of the tree and prevent sunscald. You will often prune much more heavily on the east side of the tree or away from the wind.

Pruning techniques always have to be done to fit the tree. The dwarf and semi-dwarf trees have to be pruned differently. For more information on pruning, I will be glad to help you; just contact the Lincoln County Extension Office in the courthouse in Carrizozo.

The Farmers Tax Guide is available at the County Extension Office at the courthouse in Carrizozo.

This edition reflects many of the provisions of the Tax Reform Act of 1976 including extension of the 10 percent investment credit, deferral of income on livestock sold due to drought, and limitations on deductions for farm syndicates including restrictions on the deduction of prepaid items such as feed, seed and fertilizer, required capitalization of poultry raising and orchard and general provision for deductibility of losses to the extent of net income. Stop by the office and pick up a free copy for your use.

Looking for Outdoor Action? Winter is a good time to try predator calling. Using a hand-held mouth call to lure in foxes, bobcats and coyotes is a big winter sport in some areas. The calls are used to make the sounds of an injured cottontail or jackrabbit. When a predator hears this sound, he will sometimes come running right up the well-concealed hunter. There's a practical side, to the sport, too. When used in coyote country, the calling used in conjunction with hunting may help to reduce predator damage to livestock, deer and antelope. The value of the pelt might be another economic reason to try the sport. Fox pelts bring up to $20, coyote pelts up to $45 and bobcats up to $150.

January sales can save money. One of the best ways to stretch your buying dollar is to shop the January sales, where savings can range from 10 to 50 percent off the original retail price of many items.

Some popular sale items are sheets and pillows. Prices may be cut as much as 50 percent on top quality merchandise. Sheets should be shrink-resistant and have reinforced corners to avoid tearing.

Pillows are available with three major types of filling — polyester fiberfill, latex foam, or down. Polyester fiberfill pillows are inexpensive and easy to launder. Latex foam pillows, slightly more expensive, come in soft, medium or firm densities and should have covers that zip off for easy care. Goose duck down pillows are soft and luxurious.

If you are looking for a mattress consider buying it about six inches longer than you are. When shopping, always lie down on a mattress to test it for size and comfort. Buy a mattress pad at the same time in order to protect your new mattress from stains.

GOING STRONG

Doctor Advises Man to Work

At 79, Simon Weil of Nashville, Tennessee, puts in long hours for a man who supposedly retired 12 years ago. Not only is he in his office from 9:30 to 3:30 five days a week but he devotes an even greater amount of time to civic interests.

Weil's appetite for long days and a variety of activities dates back to when he dropped out of high school after two years. The country was in the midst of World War I then, and Weil enlisted in the army.

"I was one of those energetic young fellows who thought you had to run off and win the war singlehandedly," Weil told a writer from The National Council on the Aging in a recent interview.

When the war ended, he stayed in Europe for a time before returning to Nashville, where his brother-in-law and some other people were starting a retail business. They were having difficulties and asked Weil to join the company.

"They were very nice guys but not especially good businessmen," Weil said. "It was lucky for everyone involved that I turned out to be a natural-born retailer."

Lucky is putting it mildly. From an initial stake of $800, Kuhn-Big K Stores has grown to its present size of 110 stores in a dozen states.

But over the years, what has concerned Simon Weil even more than being a successful businessman is the welfare of others. He has been and continues to be a driving force in Nashville.

One project he's been deeply involved with is a radio station for the blind. There are other stations around the country broadcasting for the blind but the idea originated in Nashville. There are currently over 300 volunteers available for reading newspapers, books and other printed matter.

Having educated himself by reading voraciously, Weil has also played a large role in Nashville's excellent public library system and in establishing the library's FM radio station which has won numerous awards.

A new museum and playhouse have recently been completed in Nashville and Weil has ideas for how they should be utilized.

"One of my ambitions is to start art and dance classes for kids," Weil said. "I'd like to take kids off the street and get them involved in the arts."

The list of projects Weil is involved in goes on and on, such as his efforts to help older persons, his work for the Boy's Club and his activities at the Jewish Center.

How does Weil find time for all his endeavors?

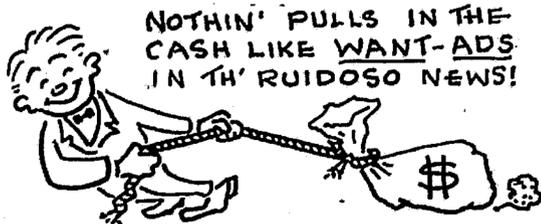

"What I usually tell people is that my heart is bigger than my brain," Weil said with a chuckle.

When asked if he'll ever really retire, Weil said, "I just got a checkup and my doctor told me I'm in great shape. He said that whatever I'm doing, I must be on the right track and not to stop doing it. If my doctor thinks that work is good for me, then I don't think I'll ever retire. Would you go against your doctor's orders?"

ON NOVEMBER 12,

The Rockford Files is featuring an episode which revolves around the efforts of Noah Beery, Jr. to combat boredom in retirement. He complains that the mail he gets is dull since he's quit working. As an alternative to fishing, Beery gets involved in a shady oil scheme. Check your local listing for time and station.

Viewers are invited to share their feelings about this episode with the producer. Address letters to: The Rockford Files; David Chase; Universal Studios; 100 Universal City Plaza; Universal City, CA 91608.
