Commencement set here Friday

Commencement exercises for the 60 members of the Ruidoso High School Class of 1977 will be at 7 p.m., Friday in the High School gymnasium.

Guest speaker will be Joe Sheen of Pecos. Salutatorians Vana Moore and Carolyn Rogers will present welcome addresses following an invocation by Father Flavio Santillanes of St. Eleanor's Catholic Church.

Valedictorian Pam Bookout will give a farewell address.

Following presentation of awards and scholarships by James Sanchez, diplomas will be certified by principal Tom Hansen and presented by Pat T. Vallant, superintendent; Dave J. Parks, school board president, and Don Swalander, school board vice president.

The Rev. Ken Cole will give a benediction to conclude the ceremonies. Processional and recessional music will be by Jane Deyo.

Honor graduates are Mike Ashcraft, Pam Bookout, Liza Cabot, Arlene Gonzales, Phillip Lindborg, Jim Lowrance, Tammy Miller, Vana Moore, Diana Padilla, Carolyn Rogers, Sandra Sanchez and Wanda Sanchez.

Sponsors of the class are Eddie Parker, Kathy Dacy and Galen Farrington.

Class officers are Phillip Lindborg, president; Francine Brillante, vice-president; Lori Wright, secretary; Wanda Sanchez, treasurer, and Diana Padilla, student council representative.

RUIDOSO EDUCATORS GIVEN WARNING

School enrollment may decline

Ruidoso Public School administrators and school board members were warned Tuesday evening that enrollment may decrease in the future and that they must begin planning for proportionately less revenue now.

Representative of the New Mexico Department of Finance and Administration, Public School Finance Division, Al Clemmons told approximately 30 to 40 persons attending the school budget hearing that schools throughout the state are experiencing a decline in enrollment and "Ruidoso should experience a one to one and a half percent decline per year" although present figures show local enrollment increasing.

He also said "appropriations depend on the number of students, their grade level and the programs the school system offers." Therefore, Ruidoso may have a decrease in state revenue which provides about 80 percent of the school system's total resources.

"There's no reason the pattern will change. We have a student driven formula and so statewide there will be fewer dollars. Your area is growing. That's great, as long as you're growing revenue will increase," Clemmons said.

"But what if in five years enrollment is down?"

He suggested, because public education receives about 82 percent of the total state appropriation, that educators become more active in the state legislative process.

"Appropriations have far too long been ignored at the local level. There is very little involvement and I feel strongly New Mexico educators should be more involved in appropriations," he said.

"We must sell education to legislators."

Of the $78 million appropriated by the state, 52 percent is used for public schools and about 20 percent for higher education and other educational activities such as TVI and the School for the Visually Handicapped. This leaves about 28 percent of the total appropriated by the state for legislative and executive salaries, state

YEAR'S COSTS PEGGED AT $2,260,365

School budget approved

The public school finance division of the state department of Finance and Administration tentatively approved the Ruidoso Public Schools $2.26 million budget at a Tuesday evening meeting.

The total budget is $2,260,365 with an estimated total revenue of $2,365,074, leaving a balance of $4,709 unbudgeted.

The finance division reviewed and commended the 17 page budget, but cannot give final approval until state officials hold budget hearings in each school district and the tax rolls are studied.

Final approval should be given by August 15.

Estimated revenue includes $284,887 from local sources, $77,802 from federal sources, $1,761,665 from state sources, $154,565 in revenue from last year's budget, and an additional $48,854 from federal project funding, Johnson-O'Malley Act funding and other sources.

The state provides almost 80 percent of the total revenue.

The largest expenditure on the $2,260,365 budget was $939,017 for direct instruction including teacher's salaries. Nine instructors will be added and the total budgeted for direct instruction represents a 21 percent increase over last year's total.

The largest percentage increase in a budgeted item was 49 percent for operation of the schools. The increase results from rising cost of heating and the additional cost of maintaining the new White Mountain Middle School. The total budgeted for operating schools in 1977-78 is $155,018.

— $82,348 for an emergency account.

— $97,706 for transportation.

Attending the budget hearing were Al Clemmons, Ima Jean Starner and Richard Johnson of the Department of Finance and Administration; Dave Parks, Stormy Edwards and C. L. "Bone" Wright, school board members, and Pat Vallant, Tom Hansen, Sid Miller, Mike Gladden, Don Weems and James Sanchez, Ruidoso Public Schools administrators and employees.

Aspencade's two parades in October

Details of the two parades scheduled for this fall's Aspencade were announced this week by the Ruidoso Chamber of Commerce.

The first parade will be October 1 and will be in conjunction with the September 27 to October 2 Motorcycle convention. Motorcyclists will parade with floats and area bands.

The second parade will be October 15 during the Mule-O-Rama festivities October 14 to 16. Mules competing in the races will parade with other animals.

Aspencade is a fall activity, "not just a one day," a Chamber spokesman said.

A tribute to all the forest fire fighters

There's a lot of people who are most grateful to the fire fighters last Thursday who saved all but one of the homes in the Highwood-Indian Hills area.

Dr. and Mrs. Edward V. Stalzer, on behalf of themselves and area residents, said:

"It was a splendid performance. Without the exceptional efforts by all of the fire fighters concerned, the damage would have been much more extensive.

"We're nothing but praise and thanks to each and everyone who, through their untiring devotion to duty, saved all of the homes in our area which are lived in.

"We don't understand how the fire fighting was organized, but we are living in our homes today because of that organization.

"What else can we say... but Thank You!"

Championship Indian dances at Mescalero

All American Indian Dance Championships will be held June 2-8 at Mescalero, with tribes from across the nation competing for the $10,000 in prize money offered by the Mescalero Apache Tribe. This is the third annual contest and registrations, tribal officials say, are exceeding expectations for this year's performance.

Appearing to perform with the dancers will be the Mandaree Singers with the Northern Drums, led by Billy Baker of Newtown, North Dakota. The Southern Drums will be the Ponca Singers, led by Chick Kumble, of Wichita, Kansas. The audience will quickly be able to detect the difference in tempo of the two groups of drummers.

Miss Indian America, Kristine Rayole Harvey, a White Mountain Apache from White River, Arizona, will be a special ceremonial guest. The Head Dancers will be Kenny Blackbird, an Omaha-Slovak of Lawrence, Kansas and Dwana Jo Harranzarra, an Otse-Kiowa of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, who have leading roles.

Aided attractions this year include the invitational six-mile run, traditional at this Pow Wow and the inaugural of the Wendell Chino Classic, an all Indian golf tournament June 4-6 at the championship 18-hole course at the Inn of the Mountain Gods. Arts and Crafts displays will also be open at the ceremonial grounds.

Ten contest categories, featuring both northern and southern styles, will be presented during the championship dancing. In addition there will be specialty dancing, gourd dancing and round dancing. Spectators will be able to closely observe the different dance steps and costumes used by the several tribes at the Pow Wow.

Guests are admonished to pay strict attention to the rules concerning the use of cameras and tape recorders at the arena. Permits will be obtainable at the area but severe restrictions are imposed, not only to prevent interference with the dancers but to protect their costly and often irreplaceable costumes from damage.

EXPENDITURES PEGGED AT $2,529,722

Village approves budget increase for next year

The Ruidoso trustees Tuesday approved a 1977-78 fiscal year budget of $2,529,722, pending acceptance of the figure by the New Mexico Department of Finance and Administration.

This compares to a $1,851,483 budget for fiscal 1976-77 and $2,499,489 in fiscal 1975-76.

The budget is based on anticipated revenues of $2,908,731 during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1978.

Anticipated revenues include $120,000 from the Municipal Gross Receipts Tax, based upon passage of an additional one-fourth percent tax at the July 19 election.

"Passage of this tax is critical," mayor Lloyd L. Davis Jr., said as the trustees accepted the budget, "as the bulk of the funds will be used for street maintenance and repair and a small amount for general village operating expenses."

Village manager Jim Hine said, "Failure to pass this tax will result in slashing village services by at least $60,000, including planned repair of hard surfaced streets, as the budget is based upon passage of the tax at the July election."

The amount budgeted for street work in the village next fiscal year is $182,994. Another high budget service item is $73,647 for ambulance services. Included in proposed expenditures for services is $359,184 for police operations.

The trustees were told by Tom Mann, of Mann Engineering of Roswell, that "final plans for the Eagle Creek dam will be completed in August". Mann said the "dam is designed" and that his firm is "going ahead" with plans "to go to bids" as soon as possible after final approval of the Environmental Draft, expected in September.

Mann charged "delaying action" on the part of high echelon United States Forest Service (USFS) officials, in stating they "are requiring unnecessary core drilling" and charging USFS geologists "haven't looked at the core samples" taken to date.

Mann said, "All stops are out to prepare plans and specifications for the dam and the additional road demanded by the USFS" at an estimated cost of $250,000 above that required for a more direct road skirting the dam.

In other business the trustees:

— Approved financing of five police patrol units by the Bank of New Mexico, Albuquerque, at an annual interest rate of eight percent and monthly payments of $1,172.31 over 36 months on the overall cost of $47,660. The Ruidoso State Bank bid was $1,216.72 monthly at 10.20 percent interest to bring the total cost to $43,673.92.

— Awarded the bid for a village backhoe-loader to Growney Equipment Co., Albuquerque, in the amount of $25,706, following notification to the trustees that Benoit, El Paso, didn't qualify as an "in state" bidder at a price of $25,500.

— Approved Ordinance 77-2, to change residential sewer service charges from $3.25 to $3.75 monthly and adopted a new "sliding scale" for commercial users.

— Approved Ordinance 77-3, setting July 19, 1977, as the date for the village election to increase the present Gross Receipts tax by one-fourth percent, to total one-half percent on taxable sales within the village.

— Approved Resolution 77-5 accepting a $94,012 grant from the Federal Aviation Authority to purchase snow removal equipment for use at Municipal Airport.

— Approved Resolution 77-6 to enter into a cooperative agreement with the New Mexico Highway Department to resurface that portion of Sudderth Drive west of the stoplight and around the traffic circle at an estimated cost of $3,500.

— Authorized an increase in residential water meter deposits from $25 to $35 and on reconnect fees from $55 to $75.

— Authorized administrative assistant Frank Potter to co-sign village checks in the absence of village manager Jim Hine.

— Were advised by Fred Burns of Boyle Engineering Co., Ruidoso, that the estimated cost of sewer mains to serve Alto Crest is pegged at $62,000, pending right-of-way acquisition. A final report is to be given the trustees at the June 14 board meeting.

— Authorized engineering work and specification preparations to convert the two all purpose courts in School House Park into tennis courts utilizing a Bureau of Outdoor Recreation grant in excess of $28,000 requiring $3,500 from the village which may be "in kind". Boyle Engineering was named by mayor Davis to complete the work and prepare the specifications.

— Authorized a replat of Lots 17, 18A, 18B and 18C in Block Eight of Cree Meadows Country Club Addition, to change the side dimensions of the lots.

— Rejected a request to replat Lots 31, 32 and 33 of Block One, Palmer Gateway Subdivision, at Paradise Canyon and Sudderth Drive.

— Authorized a replat of the Flume Canyon Subdivision.

— Approved abandonment of property owned by Pat Rooney near Mechem and Sudderth Drives, to relieve an encroachment problem caused by a garage on the property.

Following this action mayor Davis said, "I will not sign plats in the future to correct errors by property owners or engineers, so far as placing buildings on lots is concerned. We have only X gallons of water to serve our people and I'll not stand for breaking up large lots into small properties so the original property owner can be home free."

— Received an estimate from Boyle Engineering that the cost estimate to provide sewer service to Ponderosa Heights and adjacent areas is pegged at

The anticipated revenues for the General Fund include $80,000 from passage of the additional one-quarter percent gross receipts tax to be voted on July 19.

The proposed budget anticipates a balance in all funds of $379,009 June 30, 1978, the end of the next fiscal year. Of this amount, $338,253 will be used for debt service retirement leaving an operating cash balance of $32,756.

FIRE PREVENTION REMINDER — The Ruidoso Volunteer Fire Department, with Rick Hall heading the workers, has prepared signs, similar to the above, installed at the Traffic Circle on Sudderth and at the entrances to Highway 37 off Highway 70. The United States Forest Service will change the placards as fire conditions vary. Shown with one of the signs are, Bill Shrecengost, left, Smokey Bear Ranger District fire prevention officer and Bill Sealbach, Fire Chief.

$3,000,000. The firm will present a concrete proposal at the June 14 board meeting.

— Received a letter of resignation from A. B. Chilwood as street superintendent effective June 30.

— Authorized payment of $400 for the summer basketball program.

— Took under advisement until the June 14 meeting a proposal to install a new billing system at village hall.

— Took under consideration, without action, a request for water service to Baca Circle, requested by Bill Blaine of Abilene, Texas.

— Accepted airport manager Tim Morris' recommendations for changes in parking, storage and office rentals and uniforms for personnel. A request to construct additional T hangers was denied.

— Voted, unanimously, to require all subdividers of property of any size within the village, into two or more lots to be required to conform to village design standards prior to being provided with village water, sewer and street service.

— Requested village legal counsel to interpret and clarify existing ordinances governing sidewalk sales at the June 14 board meeting.

— Were notified by Hine that the village has applied for emergency funds from the state to purchase a septic tank pumping truck to use in Ponderosa Heights and to install 1,200 lineal feet of sewer line along the north side of the river in Navajo Subdivision.

— Took no action on appointing a five member committee, consisting of two representatives of lodging facilities, two in other tourist oriented businesses and one member at large, to serve to dispense Ledger's Tax funds and handle advertising paid out of that fund.

— Took no action on a request to build an addition to the Senior Citizen's Center building.

— Approved offering Ruidoso Downs the use of Hollywood Well water during the present water shortage in Ruidoso Downs, on an emergency basis.

School tax bases vary

BY EMILY LEE PHILLIPS
Staff Writer
(Number 7 in a series)

The tax balance between the village of Ruidoso and the rest of Lincoln County is a question to raise the hackles of officials and citizens alike.

There are some, like Ruidoso trustee Sherman Atwood, who feel that Ruidoso taxpayers are supplying as much as 70 percent of the county's tax income.

Some feel that the Capitan school district — the cheapest place to live in Lincoln County, provided your property is outside the corporate limits of Capitan, but in the school district — could well afford to sacrifice the high valuation Alto-Angus area to the Ruidoso school district — the most expensive school district in the county.

Ruidoso for their mills, they're getting their money's worth... Ninety percent of the activity in the sheriff's office, probably, is as a result of Ruidoso. County officials, including treasurer, assessor, manager and clerk, Olson said, spend their time on Ruidoso "probably in a proportion larger than the taxes paid by Ruidoso."

Is the village paying more than it gets back in services? "Anybody that expresses that idea just doesn't know what they're talking about," he said.

During a recent meeting, the county commissioners lamented the amount of time and money spent by the county Road Department on the Gavilan Canyon road project, feeling that the county had been burned.

There are Ruidoso residents who feel that since their village is the most active section of Lincoln County, the county seat should be transferred here from Carrizozo. One said, "If it weren't the county seat, Carrizozo would just dry up and blow away."

State law prohibits such a move. An industrial lawyer, who lived in Carrizozo, some years ago engineered a law stating that a county seat cannot be moved from a village which has a railroad to one which does not. Carrizozo is conspicuously planted on railroad tracks, while Ruidoso is far from the nearest track in the Capitan school district.

Some Ruidosians contest also that due to inadequacy in the property appraisal department at the county level, assessments get cheaper as the properties get further from Ruidoso.

Certain county officials, on the other hand, believe that the village of Ruidoso is getting 90 percent of the attention of county workers and services, in return for slightly less than one-half the county property tax income.

The accompanying Ruidoso News charts of tax rates per $1,000 of evaluation for the past nine years show that Ruidoso is the most heavily taxed village in the county, though it was the village of Capitan which had, in 1968, the highest tax rate recorded during the nine-year period.

The charts also show that the village of Carrizozo has not always been far behind Ruidoso in its tax rates, that the Hondo school district (which contains no incorporated village) has the most even tax rate in the county, and that the village of Corona has gone through a down-swing with its tax rate since 1971.

Some Ruidoso officials feel that because the Ruidoso school district border does not end where they feel it should — beyond Angus — people who live in the greater Ruidoso area, including Alto and Angus, are paying 60 or more percent of county taxes.

The records of county assessor Marian Schlarb show, however, that in 1972-77, only 42 percent of the county's total taxable valuation lies inside the corporate limits of Ruidoso, while within the Ruidoso school district it is 52 percent.

Her figures do not include the increase in Ruidoso's valuation brought about by the reappraisal the village has been undergoing for some months. Since Capitan is the only other segment of Lincoln County which has been reappraised in the present four-part reappraisal program, Ruidoso taxpayers will be shouldering, in theory, a higher burden than their counterparts in Carrizozo and Corona, until those areas are also reappraised.

But, say Schlarb, county manager Les Olson and others, the reappraisal program is meant to be a continuing matter, and since Schlarb estimates it will take approximately one year to reappraise each of the four sections in the county, each section will have the disadvantage for a year, in turn.

Census figures show that less than half the county population is in Ruidoso:

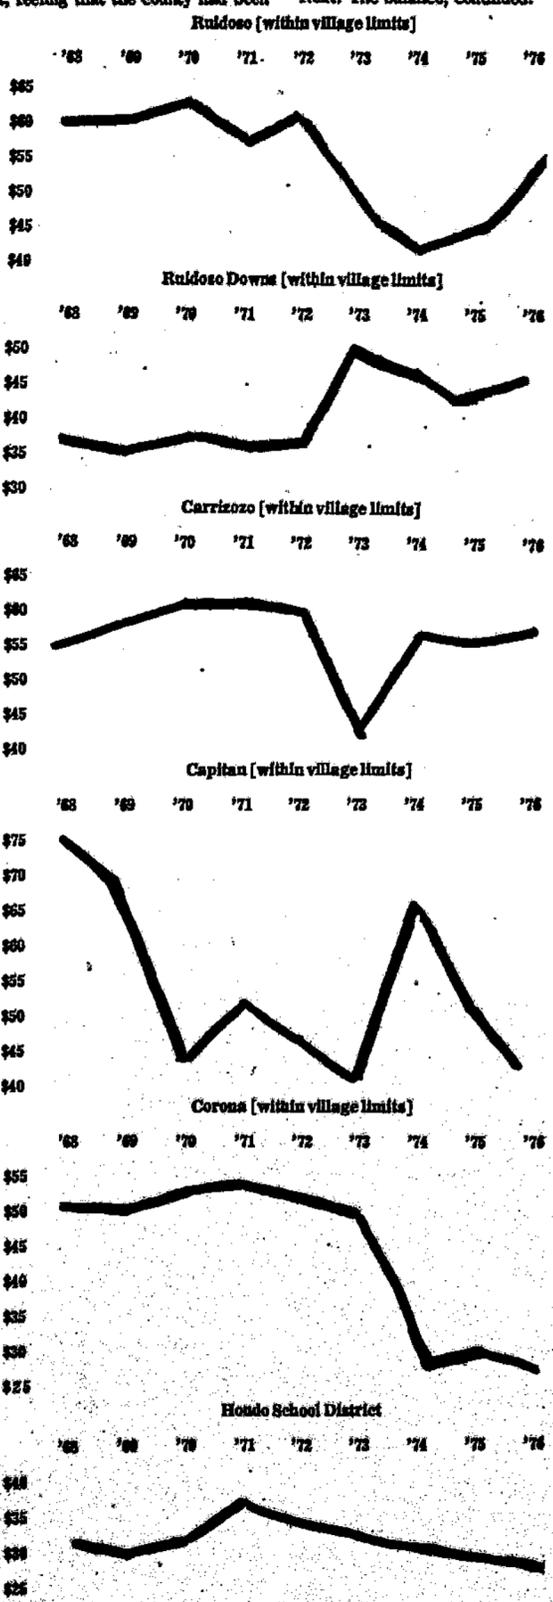

Ruidoso	3,130
Ruidoso Downs	380
Carrizozo	1,225
Capitan	540
Corona and the northern area	1,200
COUNTY TOTAL	6,500

The village of Ruidoso, as a tourist center, has sources of income shared by no other part of the county, Olson and others say.

Olson rapped village voters for failing to approve the proposed additional one-quarter percent gross receipts tax a few months back. "This was money that would directly benefit the village," he said. "They were hitting themselves over the head when they voted it down." The bulk of the tax would not be paid by Ruidosians, but by visitors, he said.

Every property owner in Lincoln County pays $7.92 per $1,000 of his valuation to the county, but since more property is owned in Ruidoso than anywhere else, the largest share of county property tax income is from the village.

Olson said, "For what they pay for in police salaries, etc.

School

Clemmons said, "time spent discussing that 23 percent far exceeds the time spent discussing education."

He also predicted the salaries of teachers would increase in the future although revenue may decrease.

"The pattern of high salaries for teachers must continue. We must have salary increases to keep the community happy with the quality of education."

"It is a valid assumption that revenue will increase in a less steep curve than teachers' salaries. And at some point in the future there will be fewer teachers and more students."

"We now have the facilities we need and the teacher pupil ratio is good, but it is a reasonable assumption that revenue will flatten out and you cannot pay bills and salaries both. So you must change staffing patterns and I predict fewer people will receive more money."

Clemmons demonstrated this by comparing Ruidoso salary figures for 1974 to 1978 figures. "In 1974, 53.2 percent of the total budgeted was for teacher salaries, but for 1978 you will use only 50.9 percent of the budget for salaries and you've hired an additional nine persons." He also stressed the fact that the budget has increased by a great deal from 1974 to 1978.

The reasons salaries have increased, he said, were "federal and state mandates for increased personnel, additional paperwork which requires more aides or more administrator time and increase benefits."

Clemmons also said more of the districts' revenue will have to be used for bills such as heat, electricity and property insurance.

"There already is an increase in demand, but without increased enrollment there won't be enough money to purchase heat, electricity and property insurance. And this trend won't be reversed."

"So that's our pitch: we must look ahead now," Clemmons concluded.

Nob Hill boys design shard Apache rain god

BY MARY WORMLEY
Staff Writer

Shards of Indian pottery, found through the years on Nob Hill School's playground, have been accumulated by the kids and put to good use by three sixth graders.

Chris E. Sanchez, Frank Trujillo and Paul Jaramillo have designed a pot shard mosaic of a Mescalero Apache rain god and will enter it in the upcoming New Mexico Arts and Crafts Fair in Albuquerque.

Teachers and other students cooperated on the project which took about three weeks.

"We collected pottery for quite a while and lots of kids besides ourselves picked up pieces. Some even brought pieces from home," Chris said.

Teachers also helped. Mrs. Betty Day, arts and crafts aide, loaned the boys a book of Indian designs and materials for the frame. Other teachers allowed the boys to take time from their classes to work on the project.

The boys chose the rain god design and all made copies of it. But the final design was a group effort.

"We all three drew it. Paul made the head, I made the body and Frank made the tail," Chris said.

"Then we got a board and took mason's chalk and chalked it in," Frank said.

They finally got the project started "after we messed up a bunch of times."

"First we painted it and it didn't look too good. Then we figured white sand as a background would look good and fill holes in the board," Paul said. "We used four coats of sand on glue and water."

They then began applying the pot shards in the shape of the rain god, using crushed volcanic rock as a grout.

"We messed up one wing and had to take some off," Paul said.

They then made a frame and nameplate of redwood, the boys said. "They put the frame on while I was absent and when I saw it I said we should put corner pieces on to cover the cracks," Frank said.

The boys then purchased their first item since beginning the project: black burlap to cover the board on which they mounted the framed picture.

Finally they sprayed varnish over the entire mosaic.

After the June 24-26 arts and crafts fair competition, the mosaic will be hung at White Mountain Middle School.

Superstar athletic series planned here during July

The first annual Ray Held's Superstars Contest will take place during the last three weeks of July with competition in nine sports events.

Both men's and women's Superstars winners will be named, along with winners in each category.

swimming (one lap and ten laps), racquet ball, skeet, fishing and track and field (marathon, 100-yard dash, 50-yard dash, obstacle course).

For more information and entry forms, stop at Ray Held's Ski Shop on upper Sudderth Drive.

Telephone board met

Starting Monday, July 11 with bicycle races, the contest will culminate Wednesday, July 27 with track and field events, a barbecue and fish fry and presentation of awards.

In order to qualify for Grand Prix points as a Superstars winner, each contestant must enter at least five categories, and although he or she can count only five toward total Grand Prix points, all nine contests may be entered.

With the exception of mixed doubles in the tennis competition, men's and women's events will be separate.

Categories will be: bicycle races, tennis (mixed doubles, pro sets), archery, golf.

Men bowlers plan association here

A meeting will be held at 7 p.m., June 8 at Holiday Bowling to discuss the possibility of forming a men's bowling association in Ruidoso.

The Continental Telephone of the West state advisory board and company officials from Phoenix met last weekend in Ruidoso.

This spring meeting, one of three scheduled annually, was to discuss service, employ additions and changes, budgets, growth and improvements.

Private individuals throughout the state are selected to serve on the advisory board. They are Dick Stuart of Truth or Consequences, Ben Powell of Fabens, Ed Wimberly of Ruidoso, Forrest Currell of Alto and James Bailey of Espanola.

Telephone company officials accompanying president and general manager Bill Hegmann of Phoenix were Harvey Linzey, Phoenix, division traffic manager; Bob Ettridge, Ruidoso, state service manager, and Olive Joy, Ruidoso, state engineer.

Patti Neal heads local Rainbow

Patti Neal, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Neal, was installed as Worthy Advisor of Ruidoso Rainbow Assembly No. 52 at an open installation Sunday at the Eastern Star Hall.

Sara Wimberly was the installing officer, assisted by Debbie Ford, marshal, Shamara Dobbs, chaplain, Mrs. Madeline Murray, recorder and Mrs. Pat McCoy, musician.

Also installed as line officers were Sara Wimberly, Worthy Associate Advisor, Robin Burrows, Charly, Cindy Taylor, Hope and Lori Swain, Faith.

Bridget Nelson was the baton bearer and Hal Lowrance the Bible bearer. Kelly Taylor and Cindy McCoy attended the guest book.

Chosen as Patti's motto and theme was: Don't walk in front of me, I may not follow; Don't walk behind me, I may not lead; Just walk beside me, And be my friend!

Her scripture was John 3:17. Her symbols are the Rainbow and the Dove. She chose the pink carnation as her flower and her colors are red, white and pink. Amanda Bragg sang "You'll Never Walk Alone" as Patti's brother, Clifton, served as her escort.

Clarence Craft delivered the benediction.

A reception, carrying out her theme and chosen colors, served by Nina Marshall and Mrs. Rose Norman, concluded the ceremony.

Patti dedicated her term to her family friends and the Ruidoso Assembly.

Earlier this month Patti was chosen as Rainbow Girl of the Year of the Ruidoso assembly and will attend the Grand Assembly in Portales, June 8-11.

Library and Altrusa club offer student summer reading program

A summer reading program for students in kindergarten through grade 6 will be sponsored by the Ruidoso Public Library and the Community Service Committee of the Ruidoso Altrusa Club starting June 6.

Two programs will be offered. One, called "The Wishing Well", will be for middle school students. When six books have been read, the student can choose a free book to keep.

The second, "The Bookworm", for all ages will start off with a paper worm head hung in the library. As a child completes a book, he will add a section to the worm with his name on it. On November 2 the student who has read the most books will be awarded a $25 United States Savings Bond by the Altrusa Club.

Each student will need a library card to participate, and parents can obtain one for him by filling out an application with one parent's signature. Worm sections will be given to the readers when books are checked out. When they are returned along with worm sections, the worm will begin to grow.

Summer hours at the library will be 3-7 p.m., Mondays, 10 a.m.-7 p.m., Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays, 10 a.m.-4 p.m., Fridays and 10 a.m.-1 p.m., Saturdays.

Pam Bookout named Miss Lincoln County

Pamela Jay Bookout was chosen 1977 Miss Lincoln County at the 10th Annual Miss Lincoln County Scholarship Pageant held May 21 at the First Christian Church.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bookout of Ruidoso, Pam is a 1977 graduate of Ruidoso High School and valedictorian of her class. She plans to use her scholarship at New Mexico State University, where she will major in chemical engineering.

Pam will represent Lincoln County in the Miss New Mexico Pageant in Hobbs

July 9.

Carolyn Ann Rogers was named first runner-up in the county pageant, and will use her scholarship at the University of Colorado. Also a 1977 graduate of Ruidoso High School, she plans to major in engineering.

Three sisters also survive Ward, Mrs. Lena Edmondson, Albuquerque; Mrs. Eula Wafford, Eunuclew, Washington; and Mrs. Jimmy Bredenshine, Eunuclew, Washington. Twenty grandchildren and one great grandchild survive him.

Pallbearers were Tom Clark, C. L. Wright, Bob Kraft, Jimmy Earl Beggs, Joe Lane and S. B. Wilson. The Reverend Wayne Joyce of the Ruidoso Baptist Church officiated. Burial was at Forest Lawn Cemetery.

David Ellis earns high Scout honors

David John Ellis, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Ellis of Ruidoso, was presented with the Duty to God medal and certificate as well as the Buffalo Skull Award during a special service Sunday at the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

He received the honors for meeting requirements in both the Boy Scouts and the church, and is an Eagle Scout, has attended at least 75 percent of church meetings as well as obtained certain priesthood requirements within the church.

The Buffalo Skull Award is not a religious symbol, but pays tribute to the perseverance and courage of Mormon pioneers in their trek across the wilderness during the last century.

David is a junior at Ruidoso High School.

Bake sale June 4

A bake sale, sponsored by the Ruidoso Branch of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, will be held June 4, beginning at 9 a.m., at Gibson's. Proceeds will be used for the Branch Library Fund.

Obituaries

John Henry Ward

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday at Clarke's Chapel of Roses for John Henry Ward, who died in an automobile accident near Corona Friday.

Born October 22, 1905 in Magnum, Oklahoma, Ward spent 44 years in Ruidoso and made his living as a carpenter prior to his retirement. His wife, Jessie Roberta Ward, preceded him in death.

He is survived by eight sons and two daughters, Clyde M. Ward, Amarillo, Texas; Melvin James Ward, Reddy, California; Lee Henry Ward, Ruidoso; Herman T. Ward, Charleston, South Carolina; Raymond C. Ward, Lovelock, Nevada; Jim I. Ward, Ruidoso; Will Don Ward, Ruidoso; Bill Forrest Ward, Longmont, California; and Nancy Rose Beggs of Portales.

Former residents die in Alabama

A former Ruidoso Downs couple, Mr. and Mrs. William (Bill and Delorise) Lohman, were killed in a motorcycle accident in Pell City, Alabama, May 25.

The Lohmans made their home in Ruidoso Downs in 1959 and 1960, and Bill Lohman attended the Stedson School in Ruidoso Downs in 1947 and 1948.

Mrs. and Mrs. J. C. Harris and their daughter, Tracie Leighton, of Ruidoso Downs, returned this week from the couple's funeral in Jefferson, Texas, where the Lohmans lived. Mr. Lohman was Mrs. Harris's brother.

The couple is survived by three children, Shane and Jimmy Lohman of Jefferson, Texas, and Debby Brown of Houston, Texas, as well as by three grandchildren.

Bicentennial Notebook

During the first week of May 1777 several significant appointments were made that would have an influence on the outcome of the war with Britain and the subsequent history of the United States.

For example, on May 1 General Washington appointed the young Alexander Hamilton to be his aide-de-camp. This reflected a sudden rise for an unknown young man. Only a few years earlier he had come from his home in the West Indies to New Jersey. With a letter of introduction, Elias Boudinot, later to be President of the Continental Congress, took him under his wing.

Hamilton's later career is well-known. He was respected and admired so much by Washington that he later appointed Hamilton as the first Secretary of Treasury after the Constitution was adopted. Hamilton was instrumental in creating and developing the financial and monetary system of the United States. Obviously, this was an important appointment on May 1, 1777.

Other important appointments were made by Congress when it named three new foreign delegates during the first ten days of May 1777. Earlier, on January 1, Benjamin Franklin had been named to represent the United States in Spain in addition to his primary assignment in Paris. However, on May 1 he was relieved of the Spanish duty and Arthur Lee of Virginia was named to replace him, Franklin's original orders were transferred to Lee. The most significant authority he had was the right to offer Pensacola in Florida to Spain in return for a declaration of war against Britain.

A few days later on May 7 Ralph Izard was appointed to represent the United States at the court of the Grand Duke of Tuscany on the Italian peninsula. On May 9 William Lee was assigned to the diplomatic posts in Vienna and Berlin. Although these men were to seek assistance for the American cause, little substantial help would be forthcoming even if they were successful. Recognition of American independence alone would be a significant diplomatic achievement. Obviously, American diplomatic efforts were being increased.

In Spanish New Mexico the most important official was the royal governor. For the twentieth century New Mexican it is difficult to understand the problems and trials that confronted the governor on the northern frontier. Considering the nature of life in this remote region the office needed a man with considerable fortitude and intelligence. When the governor was a man of dedication and ability the province did fairly well; otherwise it suffered from his rule. DONALD W. WHISENHUNT, HISTORY PROFESSOR, EASTERN NEW MEXICO UNIVERSITY.

KOSMON
A Whole-sun Life Style
For the 21st Century
There are many examples showing up which indicate we mortals on this globe need realignment with the Kosmon Plan of Life. When we separate ourselves from our Brothers and Sisters in this era and strive only for our own earthly advantages, we not only cut off our spirit growth but it eventually makes any personal material gains seem not only worthless but actually a millstone around our necks. How many famous people can you think of, who seemed to have everything on EARTH they could desire, whose end product was peace, respect and spiritual fulfillment? Our sojourn on earth is so short. Our life beyond is infinite.

Ballet Dancer Teaches Handicapped to Ride

Louise Soelberg sits back and takes a well-deserved breather from her hectic day. Out the window across a grassy field is a red-roofed barn housing 25 horses. Just minutes ago, 12 handicapped children had been riding, guided around the indoor ring by specially trained instructors.

Nothing strange about this scene — except that Louise Soelberg is 72-years-old and in her 10th year of running the Riding

Centre on the Antioch College campus in Yellow Springs, Ohio.

Along with providing classes for the handicapped, the Centre gives riding lessons to students as credit for their physical education requirement. A comprehensive course in the care of horses is also given and there is a cross country hunt course where competitions are held. Several years ago, 100 Peace Corps volunteers on their way to South America were trained to ride and care for horses.

The spelling of "Centre" is a holdover from the time Mrs. Soelberg spent in England. Originally from Seattle, she studied ballet in New York and in 1930 was invited to England to choreograph a Greek drama. Instead of returning to America after it was over, Mrs. Soelberg spent the next 20 years in England. During that time she got married and danced with the Ballets Jooss, which won the Archives Internationale Award in 1934 for "The Green Table," a ballet the Joffrey Company recently revived in New York.

In 1950, when she returned to the states, Mrs. Soelberg was offered a grant to set up a dance department in virtually any college in the country. "Someone asked me where I'd like to go and off the top of my head I said Antioch," Mrs. Soelberg told a writer from The National Council on the Aging.

The idea for the Riding Centre came about because of Mrs. Soelberg's lifelong love of horses. "I rode as a young girl but when I started studying dance seriously, my teacher made me give it up," she said. "In those days, it was felt that horseback riding was bad for the muscles you use to dance."

Somewhere in the back of her mind Mrs. Soelberg had long wondered why something wasn't done with handicapped children and horses. In 1960, she put her idea to work and was given the use of an old barn.

After two years of cleaning and making repairs, she was ready to embark on her venture using borrowed horses. Today, the Centre owns 13 horses, boards a number of others and has recently acquired a thoroughbred.

Using horses as therapy for handicapped children is an innovative technique, but Mrs. Soelberg has always felt that she was destined to be some sort of pioneer. "Maybe it's because of my grandfather, who was an early settler of the West," she said.

Does she envision the day when she'll sit back and take life easy? "You only get old once, you know, and I've never been this age before," she said. "I don't know how you're supposed to feel when you get old."

In Dallas the Aging Information Office has a clever way to keep needed phone numbers handy. They have published a bright yellow "yardstick" titled "Important Phone Numbers" for distribution to older people in Dallas. In large print, it shows phone numbers for city police, fire department, and other vital numbers, and provides space for a person to fill in numbers of their own.

People interested in publishing their own information sheet can obtain a sample by writing Caroline Blackburn, Aging Information Office, 1720 Life Building, 311 S. Akard, Dallas, Texas 75202.

TWENTY YEAR SERVICE AWARD — Leroy Nowell, left, district electrical superintendent for Community Public Service Company in Ruidoso recently received his award from Ray Dean, New Mexico Division Manager with the company.

Campers can solve most meal problems

If you're planning a camping expedition this vacation, you can already predict that your family's appetite will increase with hardy, outdoor recreation, says Mae Martha Johnson, Extension food specialist at New Mexico State University.

As you organize your food thoughts along camping lines, remember that meals should be hearty enough to satisfy outdoor appetites. Food should be simple to pack and carry, and easy to serve.

If you anticipate a full day's drive, it's a good idea to pack a simple "sandwich-style" lunch that you can eat quickly at a roadside picnic area. Supper can also be a quickie — prepared from canned food that's easy to heat and serve.

When you make camp for all day, you'll have more time to prepare such things as baked potatoes in the coals or a special dessert on a reflector oven.

Canned food is quick and easy to prepare, but also adds weight to an already overloaded car, Mrs. Johnson says. Dry soup mixes, instant potatoes, rice, milk, pudding and noodle mixes are light to carry and quick to prepare.

A multi-use mix can turn into biscuits, muffins or pancakes. With a reflector oven, you can also use packaged coffee cake, corn bread, nut bread or cookie mixes for quick and easy treats.

Dessert kabobs are tasty and fun to make, too. Roll bits of biscuit dough in sugar and cinnamon, skewer on a stick and bake. Skewered pineapple chunks, peach slices and maraschino cherries can be broiled over the fire.

Although prices may be higher, you'll be able to buy some food in stores near resort or vacation areas. Local specialties such as melons, lettuce, tomatoes, peaches, fish or steak are wonderful treats for a hungry family, Mrs. Johnson says. Buying such items, as well as bread and fresh milk, means you don't have to take every bit of your food from home.

Don't advertise home is empty

When you are away on vacation, don't let the appearance of your house advertise an "easy take" for burglars. You can make your home look like it's still occupied, says Charles Hohn, Extension agricultural engineer at New Mexico State University.

Cancel all deliveries, such as mail, newspaper and milk. Turn the telephone bell down if possible and use a timing device to turn on a bedroom light and radio.

Police and neighbors should be notified that you will not be at home but do not put an announcement of your absence in the papers or discuss it with strangers.

Arrange for someone to keep the grass cut. Park a second car in the driveway and set your trash cans inside the garage or house.

An extra key should be left with a neighbor so that your home may be inspected by police or a neighbor if necessary.

SANTA FE — Continental Telephone Company did not include $681,967 of added long distance calls revenue in its base in its proposed rate boosts to the State Corporation Commission.

The SCC will open four days of hearings Monday on the proposed rate hikes, Espanola, most of Rio Arriba County, Meirrose, Truth or Consequences, Ruidoso, Ruidoso Downs and Capitán are served by the utility. Continental proposes rate boosts raising $493,974 and increasing its New Mexico annual revenues to $1,622,338. Its 1976 intrastate long distance calls revenue within this total was $2,260,950.

Nearly 35 percent or $581,967 resulted from intrastate long distance rate boosts effected July 14, 1976, but not reflected in the rate base proposed by Continental to the SCC for the requested rate increases. Continental's long distance rates are linked to Mountain Bell's long distance rates by agreement. The State Supreme Court ordered proposed Mountain Bell increases into effect July 14 last year under bond so Continental's long distance rates were also hiked then.

If the SCC ultimately grants a rate boost to Continental, the added long distance revenue, computed in the base, could benefit phone users in a sharply lower rate boost. Continental says it plans $1.34 million in Rio Arriba County and $1.34 million in the Ruidoso-Truth or Consequences areas in plant improvements this year. Chimayo Development Association sought to intervene in the Continental rate case at a SCC hearing this week in Santa Fe.

President Samuel Beard of Jal Gas Co. proposed rate increases for its 960 customers to the Public Service Commission. PSC lawyer Leonard Hellman said Beard told him the proposed rate hikes would yield an added $38,000 and boost annual revenue to $308,000, producing an $8,000 net profit. The firm's 1976 revenue was $269,711, a $4,464 loss. The monthly minimum rate would be raised from $2 to $4. Nearly all Jal Gas Co. consumers are residential customers. The PSC had not set a hearing on the proposed rate increase. The firm serves Jal, Malaga and Bennett.

A retrospective exhibition of Taos artist Doel Reed's aquatints and other works will feature a reception honoring Reed from 5 to 7 p.m. Monday. Gov. and Mrs. Jerry Apodaca will host the reception at the Governor's Art Gallery in the capitol here. A famed artist and teacher and National Academy of Design member, Reed retired in Taos in 1959.

The State Highway Commission will open bids June 17 on a Union County bridge replacement on NM-18 7.8 miles north of the NM-16-US-84-56 junction. Other projects set for the opening June 17: Lea County, overlay, 13 miles; from 1.4 miles east of the Eddy-Lea County line east on US-62-180; Lea County, -15.25 miles of overlay on NM-132 from the NM-18-NM-132 junction north, and Eunice overlay totaling 2.3 miles on Texas and Main Streets and Avenue O on NM-8-178-18.

Rep. H. B. Barnard, D-Clovis, says freshman Sen. Caleb Chandler, D-Clovis, served in the 1977 legislative session on leave without pay from his job as Clovis Police Department chief of detectives. But Barnard says two other lawmakers on the public payroll, Sen. Ray Leger, De-Guadalupe-DeBaca-San Miguel, and freshman Rep. Benny Trujillo, D-Anthony, were paid full salaries while they served in Santa Fe. Both are school superintendents, Leger at West Las Vegas Schools and Trujillo at Gadsden Schools.

An insurance agency owner, Rep. Barnard says: "The thrust of my request in the Legislative Finance Committee was guidelines for legislation to allow all public employees to serve as legislators. If the LFC doesn't act on this issue, it will be tested in court. If the legislature wants to sweep the problem under the rug, we will consult with Atty. Gen. Tony Anaya. Possibly a group of legislators will go to court."

At present public school and county employees can serve as legislators but state and state universities employees are not allowed to serve.

SHC Vice Chairman Albert Sanchez, Santa Rosa Schools superintendent, said SHC members have not been invited on pleasure trips by businesses dealing with the State Highway Department. Sanchez says: "We're aware we're not supposed to. It's unethical as it can be." Rust Tractor Co. took Valencia County officials and Santa Fe councilmen and a Santa Fe Streets Dept. employe on expense-paid trips to Mexico after receiving contracts for controversial equipment. The Valencia County Commission canceled its award and new bids will be sought after the Mexico trip was disclosed.

Governor-running Rep. Collin McMillan, R-DeBaca-Chaves hired famed California political campaign consultant Stuart Spencer for his campaign. Spencer was Gerald Ford's 1976 national political campaign director. Spencer and an aide, David Leggett, spent four days in New Mexico on what McMillan called an issues survey. Rep. McMillan whacked the Democratic legislature for killing interim legislative committees. McMillan said: "You can lay it all to petty jealousies in the House and Senate."

A Lincoln County Heritage Trust proposal, a Fort Stanton rehabilitation project and Cumbres and Toltec Scenic Railroad regulations are on the State Cultural Properties Review Committee's agenda Friday in Santa Fe.

Average Chama teachers' salary was raised $1,118 or 9.9 percent to $12,301 and Chama Supt. Delfino Trujillo's pay was boosted 7.5 percent to $21,500 at the annual budget hearing. Pojoaque average teachers' pay was hiked $922 or 7.3 percent to $13,603 and Pojoaque Supt. Frank Lopez's pay was raised 5 percent to $23,615. George R. Schaaf Jr., Truth or Consequences, is incorporator and statutory agent of newly incorporated Hot Springs Insurance Agency Inc. New hunting and fishing licenses, up 40 percent, will be effective June 17.

FINE GESTURE

New Mexico's newest United States Senator has made an unusual contribution to education. His quite different gesture should be applauded.

Sen. Harrison Schmitt, R-N.M., had opposed the recent federal pay raise which included a salary hike for Congressmen. After the raises went through, Schmitt announced he would not personally use his salary increase. Instead, he would equally distribute it to New Mexico universities to be used to assist deserving students.

Highlands University at Las Vegas and Western New Mexico University at Silver City are the first to receive scholarship funds established by Sen. Schmitt. Highlands and Western each received checks for $10,750. Those and the other universities will receive a total of $75,250 over the next five years.

Applications for the scholarships should be made directly to the universities. Perhaps some Deming students would find the Schmitt scholarships useful and should apply.

It should be noted that Schmitt's communication with his constituents in southwest New Mexico will soon be upgraded. Punks Edwards of Deming has been hired to start June 1 as head of Schmitt's area office. It will be located in Suite 400 of the First National Bank Tower in Las Cruces. Also working in the office will be Mrs. Cathy Carruthers, wife of Garrey Carruthers, the new state chairman of the Republican party.

Not only Schmitt, but Congressman Harold Runnels in this area has representatives to maintain closer contact with southwest New Mexico residents. Rep. Runnels, D-N.M., has Rudy Valencia as an aide headquartered in Las Cruces. He makes frequent visits to Deming to hear ideas and complaints and requests from residents.

It's easy to sit back and gripe about the government. It would count a lot more, however, if you would contact the Congressmen or their aides in this area. A word of encouragement might even make them more responsive. In Schmitt's case, giving his pay raise to college scholarships was a fine move. — Deming Graphic COUNTY CHEAPSKATES

Cheapskates of the week award must go to the Rio Arriba county commissioners, who while in the process of butchering the county budget practically eliminated all support for the Northern Regional Library.

At one time, the Bookmobile was funded by the county at $3,000 a year. Commission support gradually eroded until last year the Bookmobile got $2,000.

This year, the cheapskates really hacked away and left the Bookmobile with only $802.

The Bookmobile serves a number of rural Rio Arriba county communities that have no other access to a good collection of books. It is the one service the county has helped in providing young people in those communities in the past years.

What Rio Arriba has provided in the past in the form of financial support has been only a small percent of what it actually costs to operate the Bookmobile. The state has paid most of this.

But the county's proposal to cut its financial support to less than $1,000 can only cause the State Library to take a second look at continuing to provide this expensive service to rural Rio Arriba. — The Rio Grande Sun, Espanola

ON WAGES FOR ALIENS

Public hearings on proposed revisions of federal regulations on employment of aliens for temporary farm jobs are winding up today in Denver... and it appears as though the Employment Security Commission (ESC) of New Mexico should have taken a longer look at wages paid to aliens, including Mexican nationals, before going along with the hearings.

Concerning wages... one of the items under consideration at the hearings is... "provisions in the new regulations are designed to eliminate some inequities in present price rate practices and to assure wages offered to United States workers are at least equal to those offered to aliens."

Can't you just imagine a wage offer like that inspiring all of our citizen seasonal laborers flocking to the farms and ranchers to grab up all those jobs... especially with the guarantee they'll be paid the same wages the aliens'll work for... including all of the fringe benefits aliens get?

You don't suppose the ESC doesn't know what's going on?

TOWN GROWTH STUNTER

Ruidosians who fear our growing pains may result in the formation of a metropolis of a magnitude to boggle the mind can relax... following the recent guestimate by one university expert that the median cost of a new house will be $90,000 by 1986.

Based on the presumption that a couple... all bright eyed and full of enthusiasm for the future... can expect to buy a $20,000 home today that'll cost them $60,000 over the 30 year mortgage... who'll they find to finance a $90,000 home that'd cost... at the same ratio... $270,000 by the time this working couple got it paid for?

Progress is wonderful... but will the wage earner in Ruidoso be drawing the kind of money by 1986 to pay for a $90,000 home the way it is barely possible to pay for a $20,000 home now?

Relax... all you folks that don't want Ruidoso's small town flavor to disappear... if'n building costs soar like that college fellow predicts... Ruidoso isn't about to become the Big Apple of the southwest... unless the price of tents doesn't get out of line... and Planning and Zoning comes up with some revolutionary changes... which could force the developers, real estate agencies and builders to take a peek at their hole cards... no?

DIRTY SOX AWARDS

Me'n m' bride... that's Kay, you know... took a little ride Sunday through the lower reaches of the Moon Mountain Forest Fire that turned a whole bunch of beautiful scenery into a disaster area... scenery wise.

We toiled around those winding, dipping and climbing roads in Indian Hills and Highwood... ogling the devastation of trees and ground cover... got lost a time or three... and marveled at the fact the crews fighting that fire saved any of the houses threatened... much less keeping the destruction limited to only one house... one under construction.

We noted that there was damage to some of the homes... but when you see that the fire burned right up to the foundations of many homes... and right there the fire was stopped... we couldn't help but wonder how they did it. 'Cause I know how smoky it was where that one house burned... I was right there... trying to keep the slurry off my camera lens... and those fire fighters were there... ignoring the heat and smoke... fighting the flames just as though there wasn't a chance in the world they could be trapped.

There's not a doubt in our minds... Kay's and mine, that is... but that everyone concerned... from the guys directing the fire fighters to the guys fighting the fire... knows their business... and to each one... Stuph & Junk's highest accolade... the Dirty Sox Award... for good guys only... is hereby bestowed upon all you good guys... for a job extremely well done.

The Silver Lining

BY DANIEL AGNEW STORM

On the Eve Of Memorial Day

It is the late gloaming, blending into twilight, on the eve of Memorial Day as I send you this message. It has been one of the warmest days I have seen here at the place for the twenty-ninth of May. In mid-afternoon it was ninety-two. I went down to the river and here in the shade under the oak and walnut trees was little Impo, the small calf and his mother and the other cow and her calf. They were quite content to rest in the shade and listen to the river running by, waiting for the cool of the evening.

The warm air all down by the river was filled with that last of the wild fruit bloom's aroma — the wild grapes. The heat of the day had baked out the incense of the rapid-growing new leaves of the grape and blended it with all the other leaf aromas, and this floated on the warm breeze down the river mingled with the perfume of the wild grape blossom.

You inhale this breath of the wild grape, and it is like drinking in a sweet nourishment. Down from the hillside comes that other late-blooming blossom breath, the algerita. A honey taste in the air, a golden incense from the golden blossoms now blooming here and there everywhere along the mountain meadows, along the canyons and up on the sheer faces of the gray rocky cliffs. It is a joyous surprise to the eye to see this burst of golden yellow high on top of a rocky rampart or up near the top of a cliff, where it has gained a foothold through the years with its roots holding a strong grip in a crevice in the sheer rock.

Many another perfume of wild rose and other flowers blend with the mint and other herb incense of the river side and riverbank.

My Mistake In Summer's Beginning

As I walked back up toward the house, the sun was ever so warm on my back, and the warm air floated up from the ground with the smell of meadow grass, baked out by the afternoon sun.

Truly it is warm for this time of the year, I was thinking to myself, yet it is time for the warm weather for we are several days into the summer. Wait a minute.

Am I a whole month ahead of myself? And have I told you wrong about the beginning of summer?

Sure enough, just to be sure, I checked the Almanac. Summer begins on the twenty-first of June. Sometimes I try my hand at looking ahead to see what kind of weather we are going to have — by watching the winds, and the birds, and listening to bird calls, watching the cows and other animals. You would think I could at least keep up with the seasons of the year! So we are still in the spring after all. I do not know what made me get a whole month ahead on the arrival of Summer. Maybe I was just in a hurry for summer to arrive. Anyway I am happy that the year is not as advanced as I told you it was. So now we can settle back and enjoy some more Spring weather.

However, I have felt all this year that we would get early warm weather — and that this would bring early rain.

The Heat Fades With Eventide

Now the gloaming had blended into twilight and the twilight into dusk. Not a breath of air is stirring, the world is calming itself for the night's repose. The moon comes over the hill, a little past the half-moon size, going toward the full moon. In the distance up the hill, a cow calls for her calf, presently he answers. Now a cool breeze moves from up the vale, and the heat of the day fades away. The song of the robin echoes through the glen, the smell of the pinon and cedar is carried to you on the breeze of early night and your heart is filled with the blessed peace — the calm and deep contentment of the hills and mountains, dreaming in the silvery light of the May moon smiling down from the quiet sky of deep, dark blue.

Memorial Day Morning

Memorial Day morning dawned clear and calm with the songs of meadow larks and robins singing their early serenades, and I went out to the wild rose patch to gather flowers for our home cemetery. The fresh pink blossoms and young buds gave a blessing to the world in this sacred hour of the day.

It was a pleasant drive up the peaceful valley through the bright and cheerful village of Ruidoso up to the Forest Lawn Cemetery.

Here at this beautiful and sacred spot Memorial Day ceremonies were held under the direction of Post 79 Ruidoso, of the American Legion and Chapter 23, Ruidoso, of the Disabled American Veterans.

The Reverend Frank Crown, Pastor of Ruidoso Presbyterian Church gave the prayers, thanking God for the dedication of the veterans and their loved ones, and praying that they would be remembered by their fellow citizens in their prayers and the devotion of their daily lives.

William G. Shrocongost, Commander of American Legion Post 79, gave the commander's message in which he paid tribute to the patriotism and devotion of the veterans who gave so much for God and our country.

Romeo Klein, Adjutant of post number 23 of the Disabled American Veterans, was in charge of the color guard and firing squad.

Four Apache Indian veterans from Mesquero came over to take part in the ceremonies. The presence of these men was much appreciated.

We are grateful to the two young buglers, Debbie Coker and Rhonda Ratcliffe. The notes of the bugle echoing through the pines and over the wild flowers of the cemetery added a beautiful touch to the ceremony. And never were the wild flowers more wonderful. They were like something from Heaven shining in the morning sun; pink and yellow daisies.

With the help of God, all things worked together for a deeply inspiring and comforting ceremony which reached the hearts of all present.

We know that God will answer the prayers offered up to Him everywhere on this day. And the spirits of the veterans and all our loved ones are rejoicing that we are close to them and that they are remembered with appreciation and love.

I left Forest Lawn, on my way home, rejoicing and grateful to God.

I-N-S-I-D-E the Outdoors

By Gary Dollahan
Department of Game & Fish

New Mexicans wake up! Thieves are stealing your property, possibly to the tune of almost $4 million a year.

It's not CB radios, or tape decks, or televisions, it's not money, or jewels, or watches. It is wildlife — property that belongs to each and every New Mexican.

Unfortunately, no insurance is available for this property to compensate for losses. Wildlife cannot be locked in a vault for safe keeping. It cannot even be watched by a guard full time.

However, the majority of the losses can be prevented by you, the owner. Yet, a recent study by the New Mexico Department of Game and Fish indicates the public cares little about wildlife's welfare.

The study involved hiring a "professional poacher" for one year to travel around the state and simulate, as well as perform, big game violations. Times and places for the simulated violations were randomly selected.

The poacher's "kills" were simulated in leaving heads, hides, legs, boned carcasses, or viscera in such a manner as would a genuine poacher. That is, the refuse was discarded in a wide spectrum ranging from easy to detect, through possible, through improbable.

Prior to the initiation of the study, the "poacher" had little concern of being apprehended by the Game and Fish Department. His reasoning was that district officers can just be in one place at a time and that a district covers thousands of square miles.

He placed his concern with being noticed by the public. However, after the study began, he was quick to realize he had no reason to fear the public.

The completion of the one year study produced some startling, disheartening results. Having been observed 43 times by the public in obvious violations, he was reported only once. That once led to a near miss by game officials.

Other than that one report, the "poacher" did his thing unmolested. Using a mathematical formula and plugging in data from the study, it was determined that poachers may be taking as many as 33,994 deer a year.

This figure is 10,000 deer more than was the legal harvest in New Mexico last year. A year ago, the New Mexico Department of Game and Fish appealed to the public for help in game and fish violations. In doing so, they distributed more than 180,000 HOW (Help Our Wildlife) cards. These violation report cards were designed by the NRA and were easy to fill out in regard to a violator's description and crime. Out of the 180,000 cards distributed, two were returned.

Why does the public not help protect its irreplaceable wildlife resources?

Perhaps, the public doesn't believe game violations are important. 34,000 wasted deer are important to the state and its people both biologically and economically.

Recent legislative action shows the government is concerned. Fines have been raised from $25-$500 and up to 3 months in jail to $50-$500 and 6 months in jail for game and fish violations.

Maybe, people don't want to get involved. But, just an anonymous call relating the crime, and vehicle and person description may help stop a person killing several illegal deer a year.

The public must get involved and now in order to pass on our wildlife legacy.

Title XX program aids New Mexicans

New Mexico's Title XX program, which annually stirs up controversies as to which programs and areas get how much money, consists of 19 social services administered by the Health and Social Services Department (HSSD) under Title XX of the Federal Social Security Act. It is financed 90 percent by the federal government. The remaining 10 percent consists of "matching funds" put up by the state or local governmental units or private organizations.

HSSD itself provides four of the services to all New Mexicans who need them: Protective Services for Children; Protective Services for Adults; Adoption Services and Information and Referral Services.

Other services are provided for those whose incomes are below specified levels, by HSSD or by private organizations.

Information and Referral services provide information about services available under Title XX and other service programs in the community and make appropriate referrals.

Protective Service for Children investigates and evaluates all reports of physical and emotional abuse, neglect and exploitation of children from birth to 18 years of age. PSC also makes reports to the court with recommendation that the child remain in his own home or that he be removed.

Protective Services for Adults investigates and evaluates reports of abuse, neglect and exploitation of persons over 18 years of age. It is directed to adults who are incapable of caring for themselves or protecting their own interests. Emergency shelter may be provided.

Adoption Services provide permanent homes and legal parents for children who are or may be expected to become free for adoption. Services include health and legal services, selecting adoptive homes, matching children to homes, giving financial assistance, and facilitating interstate and intercountry adoption. AS is also responsible for licensing all child-placing agencies in the state.

Ten services are provided only to individuals who are recipients of Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC), Supplemental Security Income (SSI), or persons whose gross annual income falls within low-income eligibility standards. The maximum gross annual income level is $5,600 for a family of four.

CHORE services provide household assistance to persons who are unable to perform such chores themselves. Tasks may include shopping for food or other necessities, running errands, making minor repairs to the home, furnishings and clothing, hauling water, chopping wood, and feeding stock.

Health Support Services offer guidance in health care and treatment.

Substance Abuse Services offer diagnosis and treatment to persons whose use of drugs or alcohol has impaired their ability to function.

Youth Services provide counseling, health care, education, and substitute care alternatives to children unable to cope with their environment.

Problem Pregnancy Services provide counseling and assistance to individuals confronted with undesired parenthood.

Legal/Advocacy Services provide advocacy and legal services in civil matters to adults and children unable to hire their own attorneys.

Homemakers Services provide in-home care and assistance to families unable to care for themselves or their households. It enables families to remain together when temporary absence or illness would require institutional placement of parent or children.

Counseling Services for Improved Family and Individual Functioning are provided to resolve stress situations such as marital conflicts, family disharmony, and economic deprivation.

Day Services for Adults provide an organized program of self-education, group interaction, recreations, and personal care to adults. It is designed primarily for the aged.

Family Planning Services provide counseling, and instruction in birth control methods to enable persons to limit family size, space children, and reduce or prevent problem pregnancies. It also provides pregnancy testing, venereal disease screening, breast and cervical cancer screening, abortions, infertility diagnosis and treatment, sterilization, if requested, and other medical screening services related to family planning care.

Substance Addiction Services and Services to the Developmentally Disabled are provided at no charge to recipients of AFDC, SSI or persons whose gross annual income is below 80% and 115 % of the median for New Mexico residents, while individuals with incomes exceeding the median must pay full cost for services.

Services to the Developmentally Disabled offers training, therapy, recreation, and possible job placement to persons with substantial physical or mental handicaps.

Substance Addiction Services offer treatment and rehabilitation to persons addicted to hard narcotics or alcohol.

Substitute Care Services are provided to children who have been determined to be in need of substitute care as a result of their family situations. It provides foster homes, health and educational care, and legal services to qualified children.

Early and Periodic Screening, Diagnosis and Treatment Services are offered to all persons eligible to receive Medicaid and under 21 years of age. EPSDT Services help identify physical or mental defects and provide the necessary health care, treatment, and other measures to correct or lessen such defects and chronic conditions.

Day care services for children are provided for children whose parents, or parent, are working and whose family income does not exceed $6,000 for a family of four.

1977 RANGE CATERPILLAR egg survey results show that this year's infestation could be the heaviest ever in New Mexico, John J. Durkin, extension entomologist at New Mexico State University, said. With good range and growing conditions, the range caterpillar could affect more than three million acres in the state this year. Results from the survey, conducted by the New Mexico Department of Agriculture and the Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service of the United States Department of Agriculture, will be used to plan the 1977 control program, Durkin said.

Wilderness Wisdom with Wayne Calloway

DEAR WAYNE — Is a guide recommended for Alaska big game hunting? I have never been to Alaska before. Dean in Nevada.

Dear Dean — Yes, a guide is recommended and required for non-resident big game hunting. It is a state law that requires the accompaniment of a registered guide. You may write to the Alaska Fish and Game Department at Juneau, Alaska, asking for a list of registered guides. From this list you should write to your selection of guides concerning prices, etc. Many guides charge on the basis of a certain number of days minimum.

Obviously, to wade through the correspondence and decision making, you should begin well in advance of your planned hunt.

Dear Wayne — Is the sturgeon fish still in existence or has it been done in? If they still exist, where can they be found? Ken in New York.

Dear Ken — Although their numbers have diminished, there are still sturgeon throughout the Northern Hemisphere. They are found in the oceans as well as freshwater rivers.

There are about sixteen species. Most of them are long lived and attain large sizes. They provide good eating and the females are the source of the familiar caviar.

The species closest to you is probably the lake sturgeon, which frequents the St. Lawrence River, among other.

Dear Wayne — How old is the 30-06 cartridge and how did it get its name? Dick B., Washington.

Dear Dick — The 30-06 was originally born in 1903. It was developed for use in the model 1903 military rifle. It was modified slightly in 1906 to its present being. The 30 in its name represents 30 caliber. The 06 represents the year of its beginning.

This cartridge has withstood the test of time while many others came and went during its lifetime. Even today, with all of our technology, it is difficult to find a more versatile cartridge than the 30-06.

DEAR WAYNE — Does the pronghorn antelope shed its antlers every year? TEX T., FLORIDA

DEAR TEX — You are partly right. The antelope does not have antlers, but he does shed each year.

He is a horned animal and is unusual in that he does shed them. In autumn, the outer pronged shell is shed, but the inner, bony core remains firmly attached.

WIC hearing set June 8 at Albuquerque

Albuquerque, N. M. will be the site of a U. S. Department of Agriculture regional hearing to get public reaction from New Mexico and other southwest states to a food program for pregnant and nursing mothers, infants and small children.

The hearing, set for June 8 at the Federal Building in Albuquerque, is one of seven being held across the nation in light of new legislation being planned for the Women, Infants and Children Program (WIC), according to Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Carol Foreman. "Before we go to Congress with our proposals," she said, "we want to have people's opinions on how the program is working and how it can be improved."

New Mexico currently has 34 WIC clinics operating, serving a total caseload for the state of around 5,200 people.

These figures also include Indian agencies independently operating WIC programs.

The hearings will be open to the general public, to nutrition advocacy groups, WIC recipients and state and local administrators of the programs. Comments are invited from all these groups, on such matters as whether the program should strive to prevent or simply treat nutritional deficiencies. Other issues on which opinions are invited include eligibility standards, program expansion, the WIC food package and the role of nutrition education.

Through the WIC program, pregnant and nursing mothers and infants and children up to 5 years old receive monthly allotments of about $22 worth of milk-formula, cheese, eggs, cereal and juice.

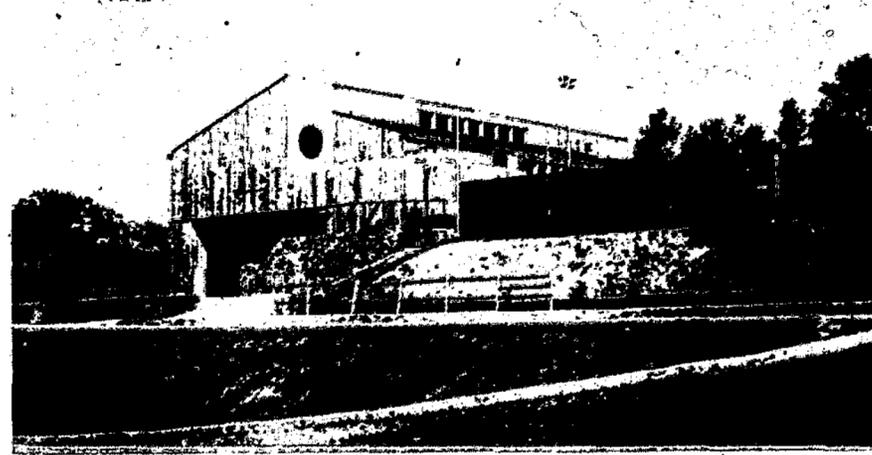

To be eligible for the program, women and children must be determined to be "at nutritional risk" because of inadequate nutrition and income. Recently, USDA proposed establishing an income ceiling for people participating in the program.

Currently, about 785,000 mothers and children receive WIC foods. The program, which is budgeted for $250 million this year, is due to expire Sept. 30, 1978. However, any proposal to extend a program must be submitted 18 months before it is due to run out.

"WIC is a program that's important to all of us," said Assistant Secretary Foreman. "Medical evidence has documented the devastating effects of malnutrition on infants and children. Studies have proven that babies who are undernourished before and after birth have significantly fewer brain cells, and that may limit their ability to learn. The importance of good diet can't be underestimated. That diet may shape the baby's life."

DUMB TAXPAYERS

The State of New Mexico will employ 500 persons at a cost of $1.08 million to clean up more than 13,000 miles of the state's highways. Once again, the Dumb Taxpayer gets it in the throat.

(We would have suggested another part of the anatomy, but we like to believe this is a family newspaper.)

Quoting a news release from James A. Bird, state highway engineer: "Major thrust of the program ... will be to provide employment for the unemployed and underemployed."

(Right there Mr. Bird loses us. We thought the "major thrust" was to clean up the highways.)

Consider several thoughts. First, should we expect that two months after this expensive program is concluded, and our unemployed and underemployed are back on the unemployment rolls, our highways won't be just as trashy as they were before?

(From visual experience we know it takes can tossers and trash dumpers, on a particularly bad section of road, about two weeks to get the roadside back in the same shape as it was before a state highway crew cleaned it up.)

Second, are we being too cynical in suspecting that a large number of those employed to carry out this task will be among the first wizzing down the highways, tossing beer cans and trash out the car windows as soon as the $1.08 million is shot?

Third, would one dare to suggest that those employed must be recommended by chairmen of the dominant political parties of the various counties?

Fourth, what is a $1.08 million cleanup campaign going to accomplish that an effective "Bojia Law" wouldn't do for free?

No, our legislators knuckled under to the pressure in the last session -- the pressure from the cans and bottle people who don't want bottle laws, and the pressure to create jobs for 500 potential voters. Poor Dumb Taxpayers! -- The Rio Grande Sun, Espanola

Bicentennial Notebook

Two hundred years ago American forces were not yet ready to meet the British forces in a major military confrontation even though one would probably come before too long. American leaders were convinced that they had to prevent a British buildup of military supplies and other stores whenever possible so that British strength would be less when the confrontation came.

On May 23, 1777, a skirmish took place at Sag Harbor on Long Island precipitated by Americans trying to prevent such a buildup. General Parsons led about 200 continental troops and embarked on a number of whale boats commanded by Lt. Col. Meigs. They sailed within a few miles of Sag Harbor and then marched overland in such secrecy that they were almost upon the British sentry before they were discovered.

Since they had surprised the British so completely they met very little resistance and they moved about destroying the stores. A British schooner with twelve guns lay offshore and fired continuously at the Americans without much damage. The Americans returned the fire with their rifles but were unable to determine if they did any damage to the ship.

The American force burned about 100 tons of hay, about ten transport vessels, and several barrels of rum. Five or six British soldiers were killed and approximately ninety were taken prisoner. The American force returned to its station within twenty-four hours having been completely successful.

Obviously, this small battle was of little significance in the overall war effort. Even so, hit-and-run attacks like this did keep the British off-guard, and it resulted in the destruction of supplies. Probably the most important long-range effect was that reports of battles like this was important in keeping the morale of Americans from sinking even lower.

In Spanish New Mexico the military role of the governor has been discussed previously. In his military role he was in constant contact with native inhabitants, both peaceful and hostile. Therefore he might well be considered an Indian agent.

Since the relations changed so quickly -- a peaceful tribe could become hostile overnight -- the governor had a very important responsibility to see that relations remained good. Obviously, the lives and property of the Spaniards in New Mexico could be endangered if the leadership of the governor was poor. The record of the New Mexico governors, unfortunately, fluctuated from good to bad. DONALD W. WHISENHUNT, HISTORY PROFESSOR, EASTERN NEW MEXICO UNIVERSITY.

Ruidoso Downs Hoofbeats

BY RICK SHAPIRO
Ruidoso Downs Publicity Department
BLINKERS OFF scored the fastest qualifying time of the final elimination round for the June 12 Kansas Futurity. He got off to a slow start but picked up ground to win handily at 18.04. He's owned by T.H. Venable of Tulsa, Oklahoma.

HERE ARE THE OTHER QUALIFIERS: She Is My Native, 18.09; Diamond Chicklet, 18.08; Easy Kiss, 18.12; Prissy Gold Digger, 18.14; Nu Gnu, 18.14½; Promise of Joy, 18.15; Ms. Heart Breaker, 18.16½; Val Nero, 18.17; Movealittlecloser, 18.23½.

OTHER KANSAS NOTES — Real Easy Jet, the definite public favorite, was boxed after leaving the gate. The colt never quite recovered and ran fifth to Val Nero, who also beat him in the West Texas Futurity. Real Easy Jet wound up in the Second Consolation. Val Nero again went off as a longshot. This time however, it was 9-1 instead of that 36-1 in the West Texas Futurity.

No one thought Savannah Slew would go off at 11-1. Unfortunately for those that backed her, she did not live up to her namesake, Seattle Slew, and finished out of the money. Indi Goes, a $29,000 purchase in last year's All-American Yearling Sale, turned in a good clocking of 18.25 but that was only good enough for the First Consolation. She was bought by Gerald C. and Darlene Blue of Amarillo. The Blues also bought Hanks Azure Doll for $87,000 in the same sale.

MS. HEART BREAKER, purchased for a low $6,200 in the Yearling Sale last year, is one of the year's best bargains. She's owned by Kan Tex Special of Gonzales, Texas. Two of Easy Jet's offspring made it to the finals — Easy Kiss and Prissy Gold Digger. Easy Jet was the 1969 All-American Futurity winner. This year's Kansas Futurity offers a total purse of $512,000, an increase of nearly $100,000 over last year's purse.

DASHING SAILOR, a three-year-old gelding, won Friday's fifth race as a 35-1 longshot. Not only did he win handily, he outpaced the competition by 11 lengths. The payoff stands as the season high with a return of $78, $24.60 and $16.40. Stuart Dolphus was aboard.

ANOTHER LONGSHOT, Pride of Toulouse (25-1), scored an impressive win Saturday. The mare pulled off an elastic homestretch run to score by a neck in a six-furlong bout. Her win payoff was $57. Danny Summerrow handled that one.

RECORDS ARE constantly being broken at Ruidoso Downs. Not only has the mutual handle been setting records but never before has the handle for two straight races been exactly the same. Saturday's 10th and 11th races each came out at $37,857.

SUNDAY'S PROGRAM got off to a rousing start with two objections being filed in the first race. The first objection came from trainer George Williams after Leroy Coombs, aboard Dynamo Mac, caused Williams' horse, What A Splash, to careen off the rail in the stretch. Jockey Betty Harless, aboard What A Splash, lost her stirrups, causing her to come in second, with Dynamo Mac in the winner's position. The objection was allowed and Betty and mount wound up with the win. This was also Betty's first win of the season. The second objection filed by the trainer of Big Bad Blitz against Betty Harless was not allowed.

COUNTESS BLADE, the public favorite in Sunday's 22nd running of the Memorial Day Handicap, had won eight out of ten prior races but she had been the favorite only once before. Sunday she was tagged at even odds but ironically finished a well-beaten sixth.

MELODY GRIFFIN of Hobbs, the reigning Miss New Mexico, was a Ruidoso Downs visitor over the weekend and a race was named in her honor. Melody was recently graduated from Southern Methodist University. In August she begins a career as a music teacher with the Dallas Independent School District.

STEWARDS' RULINGS for the racing card of May 20: Jockey Thomas Zarate was fined $150 for causing interference aboard One More Round in the fourth race, and $50 for failing to maintain a straight course on Easy Move in the third race; Jockey Richard Vaughn was hit with a $50 bite for causing interference aboard Go Lady Charge in the seventh, and Jockey Darrell Blevis was fined $50 for failing to keep a straight course aboard Bug Again in the second.

Three trainers — Jack Brooks, Conrad Rountree, and Johnie Goodman — got a $25 levy for failing to conduct their business in a "proper manner." Trainer Victor Karns was fined $50 for failure to follow "license procedure."

Jockey/Trainer of the week

Carlos Rivas returned to top form and picked up Jockey-of-the-Week honors at Ruidoso Downs.

By virtue of a five-win performance over the Memorial Day weekend, Rivas re-established himself in the top listings. He moved from the tenth position to a respectable fifth.

Rivas, last year's champ at Ruidoso Downs also picked up two seconds and six thirds out of 20 attempts.

Rivas now carries an overall 8-4-10 tally from 36 tries.

Rivas got two wins Friday, the first on Hosan Duncie in the 9th, and the second aboard Eye Perfect in the 12th. Sunday he notched his third win riding Kossuth Country in the 12th. Rivas then iced the cake by picking up back-to-back wins in Monday's 11th and 12th races. The first was on Free Dealn and the second on Rushing Silver.

Jerry Nicodemus, who got last week's honor, ended the four day weekend with a 3-4-4 total out of 21 tries. Nicodemus still heads the standings with an overall 11-7-11 record from 66 starts.

Trainer-of-the-Week honors went to E.

Jolly Driskill who posted four wins, all with Rivas in the seat. Overall, Driskill ended the week with a 4-2-2 ledger from 11 tries and moved to second place in the standings with an overall 6-4-4 from 20 ventures.

Racing continues Thursday at 1:30 p.m. Saturday. The main feature is the $5,000-added Mr. Jet Moore Stakes at 400 yards.

Sunday it's the $7,500-added Mascalegro Apache Handicap for three year olds and up at 6½ furlongs. Post time Thursday through Saturday is 1:30 p.m. Sunday, the starting time is 1 p.m.

Citizen's view

The Unholy Alliance

by John W. Gardner

A characteristic feature of government today is the unholy alliance between an outside lobby, a middle-level Executive Branch bureau chief, and one or more key Members of Congress.

Many hundreds of these tightly-knit hidden alliances exist, and every President discovers that they are largely beyond his control. He can win any specific fight with the bureaucracy if the bureaucracy is his sole foe. But he can't win out over hundreds of alliances in which the bureaucrats, supposedly under his command, have hidden links with Congress and outside lobbies that ultimately control their behavior.

Our governments, national and state, have always been influenced by powerful private interests. But until the latter half of the 19th Century, those interests were few in number, chiefly businessmen and big landowners.

Then agriculture and labor emerged slowly into positions of great political influence.

But the spectacular changes came during and after World War II when there occurred an astronomical expansion in the number and variety of special interest groups. Just about every occupational or professional group, and every institutional group—hospitals, junior colleges, etc.—learned the arts of tough, professional lobbying.

Instead of the U.S. being run by a well-knit behind-the-scenes power group (as the conspiracy theorists would have it), it is whipsawed by a great multiplicity of special interests, each determined to exercise maximum control over a piece of the public process. The most powerful groups own large chunks of the Executive Branch and have virtually decisive influence on large numbers of Congressmen. Hundreds of other groups, while less commanding, nevertheless have well-established beachheads in both Congress and the executive agencies.

For a long time political theorists took the view that this "interest group pluralism" was a healthy political analogue to Adam Smith's free market. Let all the special interests clash freely, they said, and the best possible outcome would ensue. But it hasn't worked that way. All the special urban interests clashing freely didn't produce liveable cities. The free clashing of the special interests impinging on the environment didn't produce a good environment.

Legitimate special interests have a constitutional right to try to influence government. But they should not be allowed to operate behind a veil of secrecy. They should not be allowed to use money in ways that corrupt the public process. No one special interest should be allowed to exercise disproportionate power or to paralyze the system. And the system should provide opportunity for voices speaking in the public interest to be heard alongside special interest voices.

The concern that some special interest is getting more than its share is an ancient worry. But now, with the vast proliferation of interest groups, there's a larger problem to worry about: the confrontation of multiple special interests often paralyzes national policymaking. All too often each special interest has veto power over one essential piece of a solution, and no one has the power to solve the problem.

One may think of the policymaker as a player trying to win a game of checkers when someone puts a thumb on one checker and says "Go right ahead. Just don't touch this checker." Someone else puts a thumb on another checker and says "Don't touch this one." Others do the same. Pretty soon, all thumbs, no moves! No one wants to make the game unwinnable, but collectively they paralyze the process.

We have had urban crises for ten years—from the riots of the 60's to the fiscal dilemmas of the 70's—yet no President has been able to forge a coherent policy for the cities. We have had an energy crisis for more than three years, yet the President cannot forge a coherent energy policy.

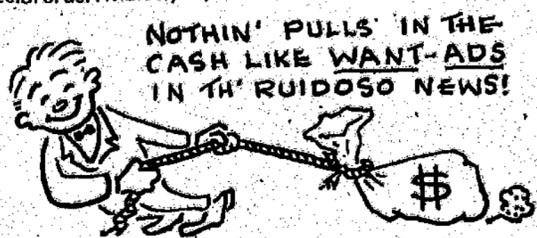

In each case, a big part of the failure has been the thumbs on the checkerboard.

PRESTIGE GEMS, located in the Village Patio in Midtown Ruidoso next to the Winner's Circle, opened for business in early May. Owners Jim and Karen Brainin, pictured, specialize in fine jewelry and watches.

OUTLOOK CARPETS, located across from Innsbruck Village on Highway 37, opened for business in mid-February under management by Richard Malooly. He and part-owner Ron MacWhorter specialize in the retail sales of carpets, furniture, household goods, and some building materials. They also import wrought iron and brass. They have approximately 100 rolls of carpet on display in their 8,000 square foot building and will special order. Malooly is pictured with employe Kim Benway.
