VOLUME NO. 57 IN OUR 32ND YEAR

RUIDOSO, LINCOLN COUNTY, NEW MEXICO 88345

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 8, 1977

ROTARY ENCHILADA MONEY — $2000 to help build the new teen center was contributed by the Ruidoso Rotary Club yesterday, swelling the fund to $25,000. The money is the result of hard work by local Rotarians and good eating by local residents at the club's fourth semi-annual Enchilada Day held in October. Pinky Jones, right, chairman of the Rotary event, presents the $2,000 check to Bill Morrison, president of the Ruidoso Noon Lions. Jones said, "Ruidoso Rotarians thank everybody in the community that helped to make another of our famous Enchilada Days a community success. Keep your appetites primed, 'cause we'll be back next Spring!"

Five indicted on drug rap

The Lincoln County Grand Jury Wednesday returned indictments against five Lincoln County residents on charges of drug trafficking. A juvenile, not indictable by the Grand Jury, is also involved.

"We expect to have all suspects in custody Thursday (today)," Sheriff Bill Elliott said Wednesday.

The names of the indicted five were ordered withheld by the District Attorney, pending arrest of the suspects.

"This is the result of a carefully planned crackdown on drug trafficking in Lincoln County by Sheriff Bill Elliott," Under-sheriff "Red" Meador said Wednesday.

Meador continued in a prepared statement:

"The investigation started in full force in late August with information gathered through the intelligence network formed by Elliott.

"The investigation is continuing and covers all aspects of drug trafficking from the 'grow-your-own' marijuana type gardeners to importation of plane loads and includes manufacture, distribution, transportation, and street sale as well as drugs in transit through Lincoln County.

"An all out effort is being made to halt all types of drug trafficking in the county. Sheriff's deputies are available 24 hours a day, seven days a week, to anyone having information on drug traffic from one seed to any amount.

"More arrests are expected in all areas of the county shortly."

The spokesman emphasized that the investigation, arrests, and crackdown were accomplished through the sole efforts of the sheriff's department.

Ruidoso schools' award a first in New Mexico

Accreditation of the Ruidoso Municipal Schools was approved with commendation at the state Board of Education meeting last week in Santa Fe, superintendent of schools Pat Valliant said Monday.

Accreditation with commendation for an entire district is unprecedented in the state Department of Education's history.

Only two other schools, Hagerman and Floyd elementary schools, have received the honor.

Receiving the certificates for their schools were Tom Hansen, principal Ruidoso High School; Sid Miller, principal White Mountain Middle School; Mike Gladden, principal White Mountain Elementary School, and Donny Weems, principal Nob Hill Elementary.

Accreditation is part of a cyclical date review and in-depth program assessment conducted within a six year period by the Department of Education.

During the first year a need assessment is conducted and committees of staff, students and the community designate goals and priorities within the school district.

In the next year, the department reviews the goals and determines the degree of progress made toward their completion.

During last year's needs assessment, the committees set 27 goals for the district.

"At the time of the review (by the

Ruidoso Classic underway

The Ruidoso Classic Basketball Tournament is underway with NMMI vs. Weed at 2:30 this afternoon, followed by Corona/Tularosa at 4; Moriarty/Hondo at 6:30 and Ruidoso/Cloudcroft at 8.

Friday's consolation games will be at 2:30 and 4:30 p.m., with the championship bracket play at 6:30 and 8.

Saturday's games include seventh place at 2:30 p.m., the consolation championship at 4, with the third place tilt at 6:30 and the tournament championship at 8.

In assessing the tournament, Warrior mentor Thurman Sanchez said to The News Wednesday:

"NMMI and Weed will be very competitive in this tournament. NMMI has beaten Silver City, Deming and Carlsbad. Weed has beaten Hondo and Capitan, that I know of, and beat them very bad. Everybody from the Weed team is returning from last year. They are going to be very tough.

"I think that if we (the Warriors) can get by Thursday night, playing Cloudcroft, we'll be in the championship game Saturday night. Cloudcroft is going to be a very tough game.

"In our last two games they hit 35 to 37 percent of their field goal attempts, which is not too good.

"If we can get our close shots, from 10 to 12 feet, in, we will be hard to beat."

Sanchez said the Warriors have won the Classic two out of the past three years and were third once.

Tax bill mailing set

Tax bills for 1977 should be in the hands of property owners soon after December 15, the deadline for mailing set by the Lincoln County commissioners.

Two causes brought about the late computation and mailing of tax notices — computer problems at the county courthouse and complications with a new law, specifying that taxes on a given property may not rise by more than ten percent from the previous year. Exceptions include cases of new additions or other improvements, and change in zoning.

The law, enacted as emergency legislation by the 1977 Legislature, was interpreted by New Mexico attorney general Toney Anaya, whose ruling came after valuation notices had already been mailed out.

Lincoln County assessor Marian Schlarb said her office received the directive from the state's Property Tax Department — ordering her to lower valuations on property qualifying under the ten percent clause — too late to send out new notices of valuation.

To eliminate confusion stemming from the new law, Schlarb said property owners, upon receipt of tax bills, should compare the valuation listed on the bill with the notices of valuation received a few months ago. "The bill will have the correct valuation," she said.

The new law will have a strong impact on projected tax income from Ruidoso. Appraisers from the assessor's office spent about six months last winter and spring conducting a massive reappraisal program in the village and as a result, the total assessed valuation within the village was set at $32,638,835.

When the new law was applied, the assessed valuation went down to $28,063,802. Both figures represent one-third of the total valuation. Both are estimates, Schlarb said, as exact figures will not be available until the tax rolls are completed.

Assessed valuation within the village for 1976 was $25,160,115, and on the basis of the first estimate for 1977, an increase in the tax base of $7,478,520 was projected.

That projected increase dwindled to $2,933,687 as a result of the new law.

Schlarb said she and her staff are working nights and weekends to meet the deadline next Friday. "We've really had problems," she said.

The deadline for paying tax bills will be January 15.

Bookey blasts Record on accreditation story

Accreditation for 1977-78 has not been withheld from the Hondo schools, superintendent Ernest Bookey said to The Ruidoso News Tuesday.

School sets Yule concert

The Ruidoso High School music department will present "Christmas '77 at 8 p.m., Monday in the gymnasium.

At the public performance, the wind ensemble will present traditional Christmas music, the swing choir will present a jazz Gloria featuring vocalists accompanied by guitar and the guitar ensemble will present "Silent Night."

Lisa Powell, a member of the New Mexico All State Chorus, will present an original composition.

A band, audience and chorus "Sing-along" of traditional Christmas songs will close the concert.

There will be no admission charge.

Dear Santa:

"Dear Santa: I've been good . . ." is the main idea in a letter to Saint Nick, because he really likes good boys and girls.

So . . . you good girls and boys . . . write Santa Claus, Box 128, Ruidoso, and tell him what you want for Christmas.

December 14 is the deadline for mailing your letters, boys and girls, so get started . . . now.

DECA to man Chamber

The Distributive Education Club at the high school has volunteered to man the offices of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce on weekends, sponsor Eddie Parker and Chamber manager John Hobbs announced Monday.

"The class recognizes the Chamber promotes good will for the business community," Parker said. "and as the business community has been generous with our organization we felt we should show our appreciation."

The volunteers will serve from 9 a.m., to 3 p.m., Saturdays and from noon to 2:30 p.m., Sundays, giving out information and directions in addition to general office work, thus partially alleviating the Chamber staff's workload on weekends.

"It's really great that the DECA class volunteered to do this," Hobbs said. "It was a spontaneous thing and, I believe, entirely the class's idea."

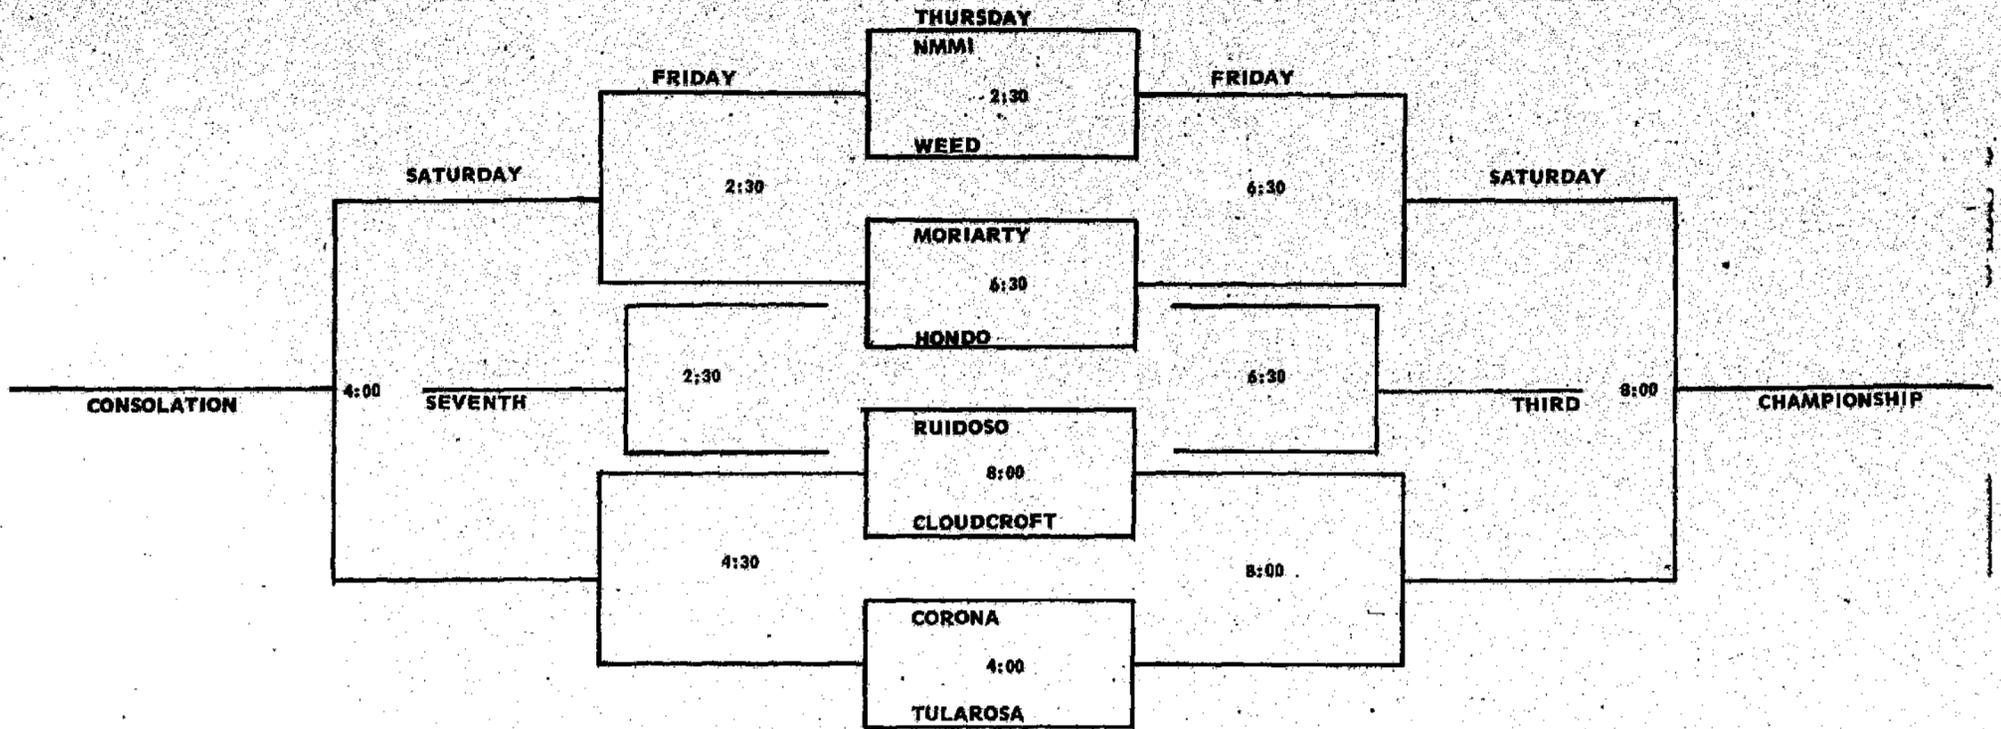

Along with their experience, the volunteers will receive class credit.

"We were quite perturbed at the way this was reported in The Roswell Daily Record . . . The principal and I made a special trip to Santa Fe yesterday, and they (the state Board of Education) will write a letter to Roswell, asking them to correct the story," Bookey said.

"Accreditation was not withheld (by the Board of Education). They're sending someone from the Special Education Division down December 14 to check our special ed department . . . Action on our accreditation was postponed till the January meeting of the Board of Education."

Several other school systems in the state also had action on their accreditations postponed for the same reason.

Smokey Bear Park plans unveiled

Planners from the state's Parks and Recreation Commission announced Tuesday night, to about 20 persons present for a special meeting with the planners, that the Smokey Bear Park and Center should be ready for visitors in about one year.

Demolition of the present Smokey museum building will be performed by the state, then a 3,300 square foot building, containing a theatre, a simulated forest fire exhibition, Smokey memorabilia including statues, a sunken sitting area with fireplace and a glass southern facade, will be erected.

The center will be placed on a three-and-a-half acre site, with a circular walkway passing the grave of Smokey Bear, a small and partially equipped fire observation tower and a junior ranger building.

"This probably will become the center for the (country's) fire prevention effort in the future," Sam Graft, commission director, said.

The total cost of building the center and landscaping the park was pegged at around $470,000 by commission worker Richard Cooper. The cost is "about 50 percent greater than we had originally imagined," Cooper said, attributing this partially to delays in funding from state and federal sources.

Cooper traced the funding of the project since its inception in 1974 through two sessions of the state legislature and several approaches to the federal government, including a $30,000 allotment from the United States Forest Service.

At present, final federal approval is awaited, Graft said, and once it comes, plans will be put out. Project director Bob Findling estimated it would be April before bids are ready to be let.

Findling showed slides of plans for the center and park, discussing potential uses. He said the building, to be round on one end, will contain a theatre for showings of Smokey films, which could be utilized for educational programs concerning fire prevention.

In the curved aisle behind the theatre, exhibits including a simulated forest fire — complete with special lighting, charred tree limbs and a sound track — will be placed. The number and type of other exhibits is not final yet, Findling said.

Jim Brown, member of the consulting architectural firm Kruger, Lake, Hutchinson and Brown of Albuquerque, said, "We've ended up with a building that flows well and functions well."

The southern glass facade will provide 35 to 40 percent of the center's heating needs via passive solar gain, Brown said, and the fireplace will assist with the rest. "We feel the best conservation methods are being employed."

The building will be of redwood, with a flat roof. Deciduous trees will be placed in front of the glass wall to provide coolness in summer and maximum solar penetration in winter.

Concerning operation of the facility, Graft said it is expected to have "a significant impact on the economy here."

A $54,000 operating budget will be sought from the 1978 legislature, Graft said, and added that State Senator John Conway — who was present — "will see it through for us."

Three full-time and two part-time employees are envisioned initially and the top two full-timers will probably not be drawn from Capitan. Graft said that due to the specialized type of work in store for the two, park and maintenance supervisors, chances of finding them in Capitan are slim.

"These professional people will accompany visitors to help them understand what they're seeing," Graft said.

It is likely the rest of the employees will be Capitan area residents, Graft said. In addition, "We'd like to set up a volunteer group of people from the community, to be a part of this."

"It's going to be a tremendous resource — people from all over the world coming here to see this."

He said the commission will monitor to project to see the effect it has on the area economy.

In response to a question, Graft said the state expects to take over the park "on July one." Until then, the village will operate it.

In addition, the village of Capitan is responsible for "making a gift of land parcels to the state so that we own the whole park," Graft said. The parcels will be in addition to the area already bought by the commission.

While the building and some landscaping should be ready for visitors in approximately one year, a portion of the landscaping will have to be left until the spring of 1979.

Summing up the plans and his own response to them, Senator Conway said, "It's great!"

Department of Education accreditation committee in November) of the request for approval with commendation, one year after the completion of the needs assessment, progress could be documented in all 27 goals," the state committee reported. "Significant progress toward implementation of programs to meet the identified goals was documented in at least 15 areas."

The 16 goal areas outlined as significantly improved are:

— Development of curriculum guides and expanded offerings in social studies, science, fine arts, physical education and bilingual education/foreign languages. "The high school has added 28 new courses over the last two years, while losing staff and students to the new middle school," the committee reported. "New offerings are in the areas listed as well as in math and language arts."

— Establishment of standing committees utilizing staff, students and community into discipline policies, physical plant planning, grading system, public information and curriculum. "The most active involvement was seen on the committee to develop a new grading system," the report said. "The new grading system for the elementary schools and a recently initiated parent conference program has assisted the flow of information from the schools to the parents. The two elementary schools averaged over 80 percent involvement of all parents."

Members of the standing committee are Preston Isaacs, discipline; Pat Valliant, physical plant; Linda Skellett, grading system; Richard Cothrun, public information; and Bill Knox, curriculum.

— Emphasis on practical matters and real life experiences. "Many of the new offerings of the high school are aimed at practical application of basic language and math skills," the committee reported. "The restructuring of the physical education program and the addition of 'conversational Spanish' also contribute to meeting this need." The middle school has concomitant elements in its program plus several elective courses such as "outdoor survival skills" which address this concern. The elementary schools have increased their use of field trips over the previous two years."

— Expand special education offerings. "The district has more than doubled the number of children served in special education programs since 1975," the report said.

— Emphasize lifetime activities in physical education. "The physical education program has been almost completely revamped. From an essentially team athletic program in 1975, the offerings have moved into coeducational classes concentrating on recreational, lifetime sports," the committee reported. "The middle school has a program balanced among skill development, team games and individual sports."

— Allow more time for principals to provide instructional leadership. "Though not accomplished through a direct effort, a major side effect of the reorganization and reduced workload from hiring a fourth principal has been a dramatic increase in the amount of time each principal has available to devote to instructional matters and work with the staff. This has been most noticeable in the high school," the committee reported.

— Expand and improve reading programs offerings. "The development of a thorough reading curriculum guide for kindergarten through eighth grade has enhanced the methodologies employed and allowed teachers to use their instructional time more effectively," the report said.

— Provide for the expression of individual ideas and group projects. "The restructuring of several courses and the decrease in the pupil-teacher ratio has resulted in more opportunities for individual initiative and group projects than was observable two years ago," the report said.

— Provide for management of the schedule so that highly desirable courses do not conflict. "The increase in offerings at the high school now allows students greater freedom in choosing those courses they want and need, rather than merely those available," the committee reported.

— Provide up-to-date media centers.

"The facility at White Mountain Elementary School was expanded when the middle school was built and now provides an excellent center. This is still a need at Nob Hill Elementary," the committee reported.

— Provide more counseling help. "A second counselor has been hired by the district and located at the new middle school," the committee reported.

— Provide sufficient materials for learning. "Basic instructional materials are provided upon request. The district pursues a policy of purchasing materials upon the basis of need and does not bind itself to the state adoption cycle forcing teachers to wait as much as six years for materials they feel they need. Supplemental instructional materials are still a concern in a few secondary courses."

— Provide the classroom space and furniture necessary for effective instruction. "The new White Mountain Middle School and the reorganization of the district has relieved over-crowded conditions at both Nob Hill Elementary and at the high school."

— Provide a broad, general education with continuity in basic subject areas. "The district's efforts in curriculum development during 1976-77 has created thorough, well articulated programs in reading and math. Communications between schools was assured through the committee structure utilized. In all subject areas, the staff is aware of the content, goals and objectives of those programs which precede and/or follow their own."

"Accreditation with commendation is given to schools who have gone over and above the minimum standards required by the state," Sid Miller said.

After an evaluation last year by the accreditation committee, the Ruidoso Municipal Schools were praised but "no commendation was given. We had to make a few program improvements and we hadn't requested (the committee study the district for) accreditation with commendation," Miller said.

"A 13 to 15 member team conducted a week-long study. They really combed every department and class," Valliant said.

Sierra Blanca Skiing Action

From the top . . . with Roy

By Sou' Garrett

The Sierra Blanca Annual Instructors Clinic will be held during the first skiable weekend prior to Christmas. This will be an "On the snow" clinic so please bring your skis, boots, and all necessary equipment. Check in time will be between 8:15-8:45 a.m., at the Ski School desk.

This is a mandatory clinic for all prospective instructors wishing to teach for the Sierra Blanca Ski School this season.

There are normally three categories of participants: those who have never taught before and are interested in teaching, those who have taught before and would like to continue, and those who have or haven't taught before and are strictly interested in ski teaching psychology and further education in the methods of ski instruction.

The goals to be achieved will be to present basic teaching patterns, both physically and psychologically, to produce personal skiing improvement and to become acquainted with potential employees of the Ski School.

There will be a $50.00 charge for the clinic which will include two days of skiing and teaching instruction, two days lift tickets, and a "beer and dip" party Saturday in the Broken Ski Saloon, following the clinic.

For further information contact Rick Vincent, Ski School Director, 336-4356.

Braves defeated Girls' cagers by Alamogordo

The White Mountain Middle School Braves' basketball team lost to Alamogordo 48-28 Monday evening in Alamogordo, coach Tom Cubertson said.

"They tried hard, but instead of playing basketball like they were taught, they played streetball (unorganized play with few rules)," he said.

"The referees we're used to like Rick Mound, Kent Batley and Joe Kenmore, call a tight ball game keeping it a non-contact sport."

"When we played Alamogordo, it was like playing guerrilla ball. There were very few calls and not because of lack of mistakes. But the reason we lost was not had officiating."

"The facilities weren't good and it took time to adjust. Also, the first string was buried out after five games in a row," he said.

High scorers were Chris Lopez with seven and Paul Jaramillo with 6 points.

Girls' cagers down Hondo

The Ruidoso High School girls' basketball team defeated Hondo 50-41 Tuesday evening, coach Sergio Castanon said.

"The girls are improving with every game," he said. "They have better passing, better defense, better shots."

High scorers for the game were Kristi Perryman with 23 and Kelly Cothrun with 11.

Also Tuesday evening, the girls' junior varsity defeated the Hondo junior varsity. In other recent play, the girls grabbed third place in the Hagerman tournament.

The team defeated Lake Arthur, lost to Dexter and beat Artesia. "Consistently high scorers in the tournament were Kristi Perryman and Kelly Cothrun," Castanon said. "There was outstanding hustle from Lorena Herrera, Lisa Shaw and Laurie Swain."

Cindy Harris weds Danny Odum

The wedding of Cindy Harris and Danny Odum took place November 26 at the Community United Methodist Church, Ruidoso.

Mrs. Odum is the daughter of Lola Harris, Ruidoso Downs, and Odum is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Odum, Liberty, Texas.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Captain Norman Davis, Wichita, Kansas. The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Reverend Noble Whitlatch, Ruidoso and the Reverend Douglas Wofford, Las Cruces.

The bride wore an empire gown of white tulle with beaded lace, designed and made by her mother and sister.

Jessie Lee Hawkins was the organist, with vocalists Elizabeth Gear of Houston, Texas, and John Byerly of Austin, Texas.

Molly Davis, Wichita, Kansas, was matron of honor, Jack Wells of Liberty served as best man and Jeanne Stroebel, Salt Lake City, Utah, Trisha Egan, Boston, Massachusetts, and Deb Odum, Liberty were the attendants to the bride. Bridegroom attendants were Randall Waldman, Liberty, Malcolm McKinley, Austin and Ronnie Koenig, Austin.

DeDe Odum was candlelighter, Sally Davis was flower girl and Brian Davis was ring bearer.

Ushers were Gary Stroebel, Salt Lake City and Walter Burns, Brooksville, Florida.

At the reception, hostesses were Janice Nolden, West Orange, Texas, Sidnia Gardner, Tularosa, Carol Herzog, Las Cruces, and Lynn Veale, Las Cruces.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Odum, parents of the bridegroom, attended from Liberty. Relatives of the bride from out-of-town included Mr. and Mrs. Gene Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Roy Lewis with Shon and Helen, Sharon and Rachel Kelsey and Peggy Lewis from Gallup, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Hodnett, Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Appleton, Jerri Beth and Jason Whitaker of Big Spring, Texas.

Also present were Molly Davis, sister of the bride, Brian and Sally Davis, nephew and niece of the bride, Janice Nolden, Deb Odum and DeDe Odum, sisters of the bridegroom.

A SECOND GRADE MUSEUM project at the Nob Hill School provided the first chance for some of the school's students to visit a museum. Chris Farrington's class put together antique dolls, model cars and trucks, stamps, shells, coins, bones, rocks, a watch and a yellow jacket nest and invited all other classes to come see their collection this week.

Heart Association to hold workshop

The New Mexico affiliate of the American Heart Association will hold a fund raising and Public Relations Workshop from 10:30 a.m. till 4:30 p.m., Saturday at the Inn of the Mountain Gods.

The goals and objectives of the organization, and importance of raising money to support research and education will be discussed.

In addition, the state publicity chairman will present techniques of public relations.

Attending will be Hal Sorensen, executive director; Ray Battaglini, associate director; Vern Curtis, fund raising chairman, and volunteers from communities in southern New Mexico.

Lunch will be provided courtesy of Security Bank of Ruidoso.

Christmas tree sales in forest ending Sunday

Christmas tree sales on the Lincoln National Forest were quite active over this past weekend. Due to the large numbers sold, Forest Service officials advise that Sunday, December 11, will be the last day permits will be available this year.

Remaining numbers and locations available are as follows:

Smokey Bear Ranger District, Ruidoso, New Mexico — 1,000

Cloudercroft Ranger District, Cloudercroft, New Mexico — 1,200

Guadalupe Ranger District, Carlsbad, New Mexico — 650

Mayhill Ranger District, Mayhill, New Mexico — 400

The remaining permits will be sold on a "first come, first served" basis and once they are gone no more are available. The weather has remained mild and almost summer like with extreme fire danger; however, it can, and often does, change drastically this time of the year. Those planning to cut their own trees should be alert for a possible change in the weather and come prepared for cold weather and snowy road conditions. Larry A. Soehlig, Land Management Planning Staff Officer with the Lincoln National Forest said this week.

Walker-McDougal vows said.

Sunny Jo Walker of Uvalde, Texas, was wed to Marchand "Mac" McDougal of Ruidoso December 3 in services at the First Christian Church, with the Reverend James Johnson officiating.

Mrs. Lynn Willard, Ruidoso, provided music for the double ring ceremony. The church was decorated with pink gladiolas and white carnations.

The bride wore a floor length, accordion pleated chiffon dress of dusty rose, carrying pink roses. She had a string of old pearls and borrowed a blue garter.

Mrs. Jack Cathey of Big Spring, Texas, a close friend of the bride's, was matron of honor and she wore a floor-length gown of hot pink chiffon.

Glen Pike, Ruidoso, was best man, with Rex Merideth, brother of the bride, Herb Brunell and Don Swalander as ushers.

Rebecca McDougal served as candlelighter.

A reception at the church's Fellowship Hall followed the ceremony, and hostesses were Mrs. Jeff Mitchell, Miss Sheryl Walker, Mrs. Letty Davis, Mrs. Raymond Stallings, Mrs. Bill Hansen and Mrs. Ken Cole.

After a wedding trip to San Francisco and Carmel, California, and Hawaii, the McDougals will be at home in Ruidoso, where the bridegroom is the owner of Sierra Blanca Cabins.

Cubs get awards

Numerous awards were given during the December 6 meeting of Cub Scout Pack 69, with presentations by Cub Master Jim Clements and the den leaders.

Awards went to Darren Lea, Bobcat; Zach Swalander, Requinor Strip; Tracy Snow, Bobcat; John Dean, two Silver Arrows; Dennis Moorehead, Wolf; Bobby Dickenson, Wolf, Silver Arrow, Gold Arrow; David Kirgan, Bobcat; Alan Kirgan, Bobcat; Tracy Farus, Bobcat; Ricardo Garcia, Bobcat; Wesley Brown, Citizen; Paul Garcia, Bobcat; Don Denny, Bobcat; Shane Walker, Bobcat; Earl Robinson, Bobcat; Travanson Ash, Bobcat; Colby Day, Bobcat; Clinton Walker, Bobcat; Scott Perfect, Bobcat; Billy Geaslin, Bobcat; Timmy Darden, Bobcat; Darryl Clements, Silver Arrow; Richard Stuart, Bobcat; Shawn Rankin, Bobcat.

Den 5 earned the Parents' Attendance Award as the den with the most parents represented.

Den 1 opened the program, Den 2 performed a skit and Den 4 did the closing.

The Cubs will go Christmas caroling December 17 at 3 p.m., and boys are to meet in full uniform at the Ruidoso State Bank in the Midtown area. A Christmas party will be held after the caroling and will be at the Elks Lodge from 4 till 5 p.m.

The next pack meeting will be January 31, with the place to be announced.

Any boy between the ages of eight and ten desiring to join the Scouts should attend the January meeting or call the Cub Master at 257-2812.

Bridge winners named

The Ruidoso Duplicate Bridge Club played 21 hands at four tables Monday night, with Bill and Cleo Garrett the winners.

The next games will be Monday at 7:30 p.m., in the Ruidoso Public Library, and visitors with or without partners are welcome.

Junior Deputies to form in Sunday meeting here

The Lincoln County Junior Deputies chapter will hold an organizational meeting at 2 p.m., Sunday in the Ruidoso Public Library.

Open to high school students 15 years of age and older, the organization will be under the auspices of the Lincoln County Sheriff's Department, coordinator John Cupp said.

Applications and information are available at all area high schools and will be available at the meeting.

"They will receive all forms of law enforcement instruction from the sheriff's department and other qualified adults," Cupp said.

"The prime reason (for the organization) is to teach them first aid, traffic control, emergency procedures and how to use the radio."

Junior Deputies, who will be uniformed, will spend a few hours riding with a deputy in his patrol car and will be called to help with traffic control on special occasions such as Ascencade.

"The organization will basically teach the junior deputies about law enforcement," Cupp said. "It will give them the idea that people in law enforcement are just regular people and it may encourage some to go into law enforcement."

All parents and interested students are invited to attend the meeting Sunday.

FOURTEEN ADVANCED ART students at Ruidoso High School continue work on a permanent mural depicting the uses of mathematics. The mural, painted over the windows in Jim Dickinson's classroom, should be complete by December 13.

THE REMOVAL OF TREES on Hull Road was started this week by the village street department, preparatory to widening the street and relocating the bar ditches. This is the first step in the street improvement program involving upgrading Hull Road, Paradise Canyon, the Cree Meadows area and other streets. The work will be accomplished with new equipment purchased by the village.

Obituaries

Janell Barker

Mrs. Janell Shook Barker, who died at home in Lubbock, Texas, December 1, was buried at Angus Cemetery Sunday, with the graveside services performed by Father Delbert Achuff.

Mrs. Barker grew up at the old Shook Ranch, in what is now Alto.

Survivors include her mother, Mabel H. Shook of Alamogordo, her husband, Robert R. Barker of Lubbock, one son, Robert Bone of Albuquerque, one brother, Ben Shook of Las Cruces, five sisters, Juandell White of Pocatello, Idaho, Rowena Marsh of Denver, Colorado, Joan Myers of Tustin, California, Glenda Bonnell of Cloudercroft and Joy Burks of Alamogordo, and one grandchild.

Mrs. Barker was born December 28, 1916 in Texas.

Braves hosted Knights' annual cage tourney

The White Mountain Middle School Braves girls' and boys' basketball teams hosted the Knights of Columbus sponsored tournament held last weekend.

Alamogordo won the tournament followed by Hondo, Tularosa and Ruidoso.

"The Braves beat Carrizozo 24-21 in their first game," coach Tom Gilbertson said. "We played all 23 uniformed members of our team." High scorer was Scott Neal with nine points.

In the next game, the Braves were defeated by Alamogordo 38-38.

"The team really opened up against Alamogordo," he said. "They played a tremendous game, but foul shots hurt us." High scorer was John Dangler with nine points.

In the consolation game, the Braves were defeated by Tularosa 29-23. High scorer was Neal with nine points.

The Braves girls' team was defeated by Weed 24-13 in their first game and then defeated Capitán 26-19. High scorer for both games was Bridget Almager.

Starters Almager, Kody Taylor, Kim Kiltrell, Michelle Grant, Brenda Garcia and the other members of the team "have practiced hard and put in long hours. You can see an improvement over their first game," assistant coach Jeanne Wright said.

ELECTION PROCLAMATION
ELECTION TO AMEND THE CONSTITUTION OF THE
MESCALERO TRIBE
TO ALL ADULT MEMBERS OF THE MESCALERO TRIBE:

You are hereby notified that a secretarial election is hereby called at the direction of the Secretary of the Interior to be held Friday, December 16, 1977, beginning at 9:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m. at the Tribal Community Center, Ruidoso, New Mexico, to consider the following proposed amendment to the Revised Constitution of the Mescalero Apache Tribe. The proposed amendment will extend the right to vote in the Tribal elections to Mescalero Apache Tribal members who are eighteen (18) years of age at the time of such elections.

Article IX - Nominations and Elections, Section 2, of the Revised Constitution of the Mescalero Apache Tribe of the Mescalero Apache Reservation, New Mexico, adopted March 25, 1936 and revised January 12, 1943, shall be amended in its entirety to read as follows:

Article IX - Nominations and Elections, Sec. 2. Any member of the Mescalero Apache Tribe shall have the right to vote in any Tribal election provided such member (a) is at least eighteen (18) years of age at the time of such election.

Article IX - Nominations and Elections, Sec. 2. Any member of the Mescalero Apache Tribe shall have the right to vote in any Tribal election provided such member (a) is at least twenty-one (21) years of age at the time of such election.

The proposed amendment was approved by Tribal Council Resolution No. 77-01 Mescalero Apache Tribe of the Mescalero Apache Reservation, New Mexico, on October 18, 1977, and consists the Secretary of the Interior to call an election for such purposes.

Pursuant to Section 3 of the Amendment XXVI to the Constitution of the United States, as amended, and Executive Order, Part 23.4 (13) of the CFR, 25, all adult members of the Mescalero Apache Tribe who are eighteen years of age or older on December 16, 1977 may vote on this amendment to the Tribal Constitution.

Approval for this election has been granted by the Acting Area Director of the Albuquerque Area Office by delegated authority from the Secretary of the Interior, as evidenced in a memorandum to the Mescalero Agency Superintendent, dated November 3, 1977.

WOODBURNERS
Last year there were some 41,000 chimney fires in the U. S. and that number is growing as more people are turning to wood for their heat.
The National Fire Protection Association recommends that you have your chimney cleaned by a professional at least once a year. When was the last time your chimney was cleaned? A tradition we can't afford to lose.

SLAP YOUR OWN BRAND ON SOME RUIDOSO LAND

IN FLUME CANYON we have listed a good two bedroom house with a very attractive den and fireplace featuring an unfinished wet bar. The lot runs thru from one street to another and one of the streets is paved.

IF YOU WOULD LIKE to rent a very luxurious INNSBROOK VILLAGE TOWNHOUSE for virtually any period of time, call Jack Shaw at 257-4806 or 257-2361

RECENTLY we had a price reduction on a small two bedroom house in TOWN & COUNTRY NORTH. This is a very cute house even tho it is small. It has a fireplace and a large deck and the view from the deck is quite good.

Fad diets can be dangerous

There has been a lot of stir over recent reports that one currently popular diet could be extremely dangerous. This is only one of many fad diets that supposedly offer a quick and relatively painless way to take off unwanted pounds. However, the effect of most of these diets could be short-lived and even dangerous, says Mae Martha Johnson, Extension food and nutrition specialist at New Mexico State University. The fact that there are so many diets that are popular should tell you something, says Mrs. Johnson. If any of the diets were really successful in keeping the pounds off, we wouldn't have so many different ones to try.

New diets are discussed everywhere — in magazines, paperbacks and social gatherings. It's up to you to spot and avoid dangerous fad diets.

Beware of any diet that claims to be a revolutionary new idea or claims 100 percent success. Fad diets also often use testimonials or the author's own experience rather than scientific research. Also shy away from any diet that claims persecution by the medical profession.

A good diet should include some servings from all four food groups — meats, milk, fruits and vegetables, and cereals.

Students preparing for mini courses

The RHS students are getting ready for the 1977 mini courses on December 9 at 9:00 a.m., in the gym.

The teachers will be showing some of their artistic abilities in the crafts they enjoy doing. Some of the courses which will be offered are table terms, decorative lamps, embroidery, belly dancing, knitting, ranching, taxidermy, use of camera, chain saw, beginning chess, bike repair, bike tripping, wreathmaking, forest service, horsing around the racetrack, making ojes, handwriting analysis, gift wrapping, ceramic, cooking with natural foods, Christmas cooking, gymnastics, macrame, hand weaving, crochet hand puppets your dance music, and mime making santos, tole painting, deca senior competitive events, first aid, hunter safety, gun stock refinishing welding, roller skating, bowling, ski repair, stamp collecting, kite flying, fly tying, wooden sign making, bread dough art and backgammon.

Seniors announcements

On Friday, December 9, the Seniors at RHS will measure for caps and gowns in the library at 10:30. Senior announcements for graduation will also be ordered. Seniors must have a minimum deposit of $10 to order announcements.

RHS defeats Cloudcroft

The Cloudcroft Bears traveled to the RHS gym to play the Warriors last Friday, December 2.

Both Varsity and Jr. Varsity played. The Jr. Varsity first defeated the Bears 49 to

Lisa Powell to All State

All state tryouts were held November 16, 1977, at Roswell ENMU. Four students from RHS traveled to Roswell for the tryouts.

Chris McQuater, Stefania Wallizer, Lisa Powell and Eloy Almager all competed for a spot in the choir.

Lisa Powell was the only qualifier. She will travel to Albuquerque January 11, 12, 13 and 14 to participate in the choir. Lisa was chosen out of 2,500 students from all over the state. The students were chosen from a panel of judges. Only 400 students, both boys and girls were chosen, 250 were chosen for the mixed choir and 150 for the all girls choir. Lisa will be singing with the mixed choir.

Warrior girls place third in tournament

The Ruidoso Warrior girls traveled to Hagerman for a tourney. The tournament was held over three consecutive days, Thursday, December 1, through Saturday, December 3.

Coach Sergio Castanon said it was a good tournament. The girls played two good games against Lake Arthur and the Artesia JV, placing third overall in the play.

Scoring high in the three games were Kristi Perryman, Lori Swan and Kelly Cothrun.

15. Then the Varsity Warriors defeated the Bears 62 to 54. This was a very close game. In the fourth quarter it was fast and exciting, but the Bears just couldn't pull a victory over the Warriors.

Yours and Ours

BY ROBERT E. HUBER
SANTA FE — Lt. Gov. Bob Ferguson of Artesia says he has enough delegates now to the Democratic Convention next spring to get on the Primary Election Ballot.

Ferguson has been waging an uphill battle since his late entry into the governor's race against former Gov. Bruce King. At one point he admitted he was so far behind, he was hurting.

A rough calculation of needed delegates has Ferguson with at least 320 — the number needed to get on the Primary Election Ballot.

"I know I have that many," he says. Ferguson says he still has hard work to do in Union, Grant and Dona Ana counties. But he has found strong support in Bernalillo County, he says, and reception has been good in both the southeast and east sides of the state.

His strongest area so far is in northwest New Mexico, he says, where he is trying to develop new Democratic party workers — not only newcomers but persons who haven't been involved so far in party politics.

"I feel right now that King has a significant number of the older party people," he says.

Ferguson thinks his campaign has come along strongest in the past 10 weeks. "I feel that we very definitely have the campaign turned around, and my personal feeling is that is going well," he says.

Adl. Gen. Franklin E. Miles has labeled recent in-house attacks by fellow officers as products of jealousy.

Miles has been under recent attack by a few high ranking officers who claim the Guard leader has been promoting unqualified officers at the order of the governor's office.

"Spanish surname individuals holding high ranking military positions in the Guard total three out of the top 34 officers," he said.

Miles believes the recent fuss has been motivated by officers who want even higher positions in the Guard — up to and including Miles' position.

Two more state boards have come unglued over Gov. Jerry Apodaca's reorganization package, but legislators involved in the decision making on the package say the boards are coming around too late with too little.

The latest to fess over the agency reshuffle is the Park and Recreation Commission, who sent a unanimous resolution to the governor's office demanding exclusion from the reorganization plan.

The Park Commission is set to be absorbed under the Natural Resources Secretary and will serve only as an advisory committee. But the commission says it has too much responsibility for land use in the state and too great a responsibility under its bonding authority to be simply absorbed.

Another unhappy group, the Arts Commission, says it must maintain an independent status to live up to the provisions of its enabling law.

Mineral taxes imposed on energy firms operating on Indian lands may be cut off because of a federal ruling that mineral leases on Indian reservations cannot be taxed by states.

The amount of taxes to New Mexico could amount to $5 million — $3.4 million from oil and gas leases alone and $1.2 million for uranium and coal leases.

The opinion came from the U. S. Solicitor General's office in reply to questions from officials on Montana's Crow Reservation and Fort Peck Reservation.

The opinion said states never have had the right to tax Indian minerals because there is no mention of those minerals in the 1938 Indian Mineral Leasing Act — the governing authority in the matter.

Most of the state's Indian lease taxes come from the Jicarilla Apache Reservation, the Navajo Reservation, and Ute lands.

INDIAN HEALTH CARE

In light of history, the government has a strong moral responsibility to assure the Indian population of good health care. This obligation is heightened by the paternalistic attitude toward the Indians which still prevails in spite of pleas for more independence.

The unhappy fact is that the government has failed to meet Indians' health needs. This was brought out at a Senate subcommittee's hearings in New Mexico at which testimony was taken from representatives of that state's five pueblos. What they told the Senate group focused on two major points: that care provided through the Indian Health Service is inadequately financed, and that Indians are not allowed a big enough role in the development and delivery of health services.

Though recent studies reject the notion that Indians are more prone to alcohol abuse than other segments of the population, alcoholism is a serious problem. Neither this nor mental health problems have been effectively dealt with by the IHS, pueblo leaders maintain.

The sheer pressure on existing health facilities works to reduce the amount of care provided. Dr. Richard Kotomori of the Albuquerque Indian Hospital said that whereas it was designed to handle 20,000 visits a day the number stands at 35,000 and is increasing by 20 percent a year. As a result of over-crowding, he told the subcommittee, staff morale is at "an all-time low."

The record offers compelling evidence of failure to provide Indians with a level of health care they have a right to expect. Congress should pay more attention to that record, and take corrective action. —Alamogordo Daily News

LOST LEONARDO

Some of the most skilled and subtle detective work is aimed not at solving crimes but at finding lost works of art. We are witnessing a prime example of this in the search for a celebrated mural by Leonardo da Vinci which disappeared in the latter half of the 18th century.

Art historians are not agreed as to the cause of the disappearance. Some believe the painting simply faded and eventually vanished. Others think it was covered by another work. This thesis has been given new credibility by an American team of experts working in Florence.

In the Great Hall of that ancient city's Palazzo Vecchio there is a huge mural done by Giorgio Vasari in 1563 when he was commissioned to remodel the hall. The experts, after a year of probing with sophisticated infrared and ultrasonic equipment, now believe that the "painted over" school of thought is right, that Leonardo's "Battle of Anghiari" lies behind the Vasari painting.

It is exciting to think that the "Battle of Anghiari" may now be restored. A special commission in Florence will decide on the next move. If all goes well, our generation will presently view a Leonardo masterpiece which no one has seen for more than 400 years. —Alamogordo Daily News

NEW LOOK HUSTLER?

Larry Flint is his name ... publishes Hustler magazine ... and shortly before Thanksgiving, he claims, he was converted to Christ ... and, what's more, he was flying hither and thither with Evangelist Ruth Carter Stapleton ... in Flint's private Lear jet ... to proclaim his conversion.

And here I always thought it was politics as made peculiar bed fellows.

Anyhow ... up in Alamosa, Colorado, November 21 ... Flint and Stapleton did appear before 500 people at Plachy Hall ... and Stapleton did advise all present that Flint had indeed accepted Christ ... and Flint did acknowledge as how he had. The Valley Courier, Alamosa's newspaper, didn't solicit ... or didn't publish ... post meeting comments from the audience on this momentous happenstance.

My personal experience with Hustler involves eyeballing one issue ... and based on this limited contact, I am of the opinion that most Bible study groups wouldn't be likely to subscribe to the Hustler philosophy as a means of expanding their horizons ... though it just might do that.

This new convert to Christ is presently in the process of appealing a 25-year sentence for pandering, obscenity and engaging in organized crime ... and there's the little matter of $11,000 fine pending ... with 11 grand possibly being pocket change to Flint, owner of more than one Lear jet ... and putting Lear jets, stripped, at about $1.5 million per copy ... what's 11 grand ... though 25 years in the puke'd interfere somewhat with Flint keeping his flying license current.

Flint did allow as how Hustler's going to change its image ... while remaining controversial ... and if'n he starts promoting Christ, using the photo content

In the issue I perused ... he'll have more controversy than he bargained for. Unless Stapleton becomes a contributing editor ... and where'd that leave Billy Carter?

LOUSEWORKS NOT LOST

A piddling $690.3 million hydroelectric project ... namely the Dickey-Lincoln dam ... no relation ... on the St. John River in northern Maine ... nearly went down the creek due to the lowly lousewort ... no, it wasn't a lowly lousewort ... it was a Furbish lousewort.

Seems this lousewort's claim to fame ... Webster's New Third International Dictionary, unabridged ... "any of a genus of plants of the figwort family formerly reputed to cause sheep feeding upon them to be subject to vermin" ... didn't keep bombastic proponents of the 1973 Endangered Species Act from almost stopping the Army Corps of Engineers from building this dam.

Further seems the engineers spent $17,000 and two summers searching 300 miles of the St. John River banks for louseworts ... and winding up finding five patches of same ... thus insuring that the louseworts' reputed powers could continue plaguing sheep ... and leaving defenders of louseworts stymied. And may someone wind up with lousy worts.

LOAF OF BREAD $7?

John McCarty, executive vice president of Southern Illinois Incorporated, recently threw lovers of the verses of the lowly Persian tentmaker ... Omar Khayyam ... into a bit of a tizzy ... 'cause McCarty did prognosticate that those bent upon "A jug of wine, a loaf of bread and thou ..." would find the tab of that loaf of bread, in 2020 A. D., at $7 ... which'd make mighty tough chewing, even if washed down with $1 a quart Chianti.

Course McCarty allowed as how university presidents would be paid $600,000 yearly by 2020 ... and here you thought Governor Apodaca's having problems with higher education. Which has nothing to do with $7 bread.

BRIEF BIT: The United States should be able to figure out something to cut the Arabs out of to keep them from stopping us from using their oil ... CD

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:
 Recently I spent seven days in our local hospital and, other than being sick at the time, I am very pleased to express my opinion about the hospital facilities and staff.

I was very well attended by very pleasant personnel and will be forever grateful that we have here in Ruidoso such a fine facility for our local residents as well as our many tourists who may need care and attention.

Sunland Park Hoofbeats

BY RICK SHAPIRO
Sunland Park
Publicity Department

TOP SUNLAND JOCKEY, AP- PRENTICE JOHN CUSHING, proved on Sunday why he is the top helmsman. In one of the finest jockey performances in Sunland history, Cushing turned in five winners out of eight mounts. He also scored one third. His wins came on Swap's Road ($4) in the 3rd; Corn On The Cob ($7.80) in the 4th; Your Yrrah ($6.20) in the 7th; Warrior's Time ($6.80) in the 8th; and Beaumax Ferris ($9) in the 12th. It was a fitting end to his apprenticeship, which ended on Monday (December 5).

THE TRAILS for next Sunday's $69,575 Fall Quarter Horse Futurity were run on Saturday with 42 head attempting to qualify for the 10 spots in the finale. Rather than qualifying by time as is usual for futurities, the finalists made it by virtue of a win or a second-place finish. Here's the list of qualifiers for the finale: Bunny Mackay, June's Feature, Knocka Homer, Madam President, Some Kinda Hustler, Miss Dream Rocket, Charge Rocket, Island Ruler, Call Me Gotta, As The Crow Cries. The winner gets $33,287. That gross of $69,575 will be the fastest in the 14-year history of the race. The previous high was last year's $62,578.

THE FASTEST TIME of the trials was set by Call Me Gotta. The colt, who ran third in this year's All-American Futurity, clocked in at 19.77 seconds. The second fastest time was set by Charge Rocket at 19.84. Charge Rocket is the colt who set the fastest qualifying time for this year's final elimination round of the Rainbow Futurity at Ruidoso Downs. Charge Rocket also won by the largest margin. He outdistanced his field by 2 1/2 lengths. Call Me Gotta finished in front by 2 1/2 lengths. Knocka Homer returned the highest win payoff of the trials. The colt, at just over 10-1, returned mutual payoffs of $23, $4, and $2.60.

STRIKE THE COLORS, who'd been out of action for nearly four months, came back fighting in Saturday's 5 1/2-furlong feature and won by a nose in a rough stretch dispute. His previous win came in Omaha against $20,000 claimers. He'll be headed soon to Oaklawn Park.

SATURDAY'S PROGRAM saw five horses setting relatively high win payoffs. They were: Prove Me Game in the 12th race ($33.40); Cap Of Life in the 9th race ($10.40); Emzie in the 8th ($20.40); Keg of Nails in the 7th ($14.40); Some Kinda Hustler in the 3rd ($16); and Knocka Homer in the 2nd ($23.00).

IN SATURDAY'S 11TH RACE, Easter Picture, a three-year-old colt owned by Edward Maloof of Las Vegas, New Mexico and ridden by Apprentice Pedro Benitez, decided not to run. Instead he gave the fans a short show. First, he bolted out of the gate, throwing his rider. Then he jumped the inside rail and fell into the infield. The colt, unhurt, got up and began racing down the infield rail, the wrong way. He then successfully vaulted the inside rail and wound up back on the track going in the right direction. At this point the rest of the field was coming into the stretch. Easter Picture came to a halt at the outside rail in the clubhouse turn to wait for the pony rider who had been following him with little success.

JOCKEY MICHAEL JACKSON was suspended seven calendar days, November 28 through December 4, for careless riding causing interference to the outside horse resulting in his mount, Canadian Ticket, being disqualified from 4th and placed 5th during the 4th race, Sunday, November 27.

WARRIOR'S TIME, a four-year-old gelding owned by W. T. Stradley of Hobbs, New Mexico won Sunday's 8th race in a come from behind rush and became the first horse of the fall to set in four races. With Apprentice John Cushing in the saddle, Warrior's Time clocked the 870-yard distance in 44.94 seconds, a seasonal record. The previous seasonal mark was set by Crazy Frills at 45:03 on November 13.

THE LARGEST WINNING MARGIN on Saturday was five lengths, set by the three-year-old gelding Emzie in the 8th race and Flame's Son, a three-year-old gelding in the 11th race.

ON FRIDAY, PIOUS MARY, a two-year-old filly owned by Jerold Casey, set the largest winning margin for the night program by winning a 5 1/2-furlong maiden race by six lengths as the less than even odds favorite. The filly, ridden by Gary Sumpter, led from start to finish, running the 5 1/2-panel sprint in a respectable 1:05 2/5.

THE NO. 7 POST POSITION had six winners over the racing weekend to lead in that category. The seasonal totals are: No. 1 — 36; No. 2 — 35; No. 3 — 37; No. 4 — 28; No. 5 — 38; No. 6 — 30; No. 7 — 29; No. 8 — 22; No. 9 — 12; No. 10 — 14; No. 11 — 0; No. 12 — 0.

Wilderness Wisdom
with Wayne Calloway

Dear Wayne — Recently I bought a .222 rifle for woodchuck hunting. It is equipped with a 15 power varmint scope.

Several times I have had the rifle on the target range and it performed very well. In the field, I do quite well on calm days, but when it is windy my score goes down. I'm sure the wind is the cause for several misses. How can I estimate and allow for wind drift more accurately? Clyde A., Pennsylvania

Dear Clyde — Wind drift is a vexing problem for all long range varmint shooters.

In a 10 mph crosswind a .222 bullet might drift one-half inch in 100 yards, but may slide off course eight inches or more in 300 yards. A 20 mph crosswind will result in twice the drift. These figures are only approximate and are dependent upon bullet weight, configuration, and velocity. A headwind will result in the bullet striking low, while a tailwind will have the opposite effect.

Many varmint hunters hang a tassel from the barrel and judge wind speed by its deflection. The amount of deflection in a given wind is only learned through experience.

The best way to accurately plot wind drift for your particular bullet and powder charge is to practice under varying conditions and carefully record results.

Driving school students receiving fewer tickets

The Traffic Safety Division of the New Mexico Department of Motor Vehicles has released statistics which show an 85 percent decrease in the number of tickets received by drivers who have taken the agency's Driver Improvement School in the past year.

Statistics released this month by the division show that eleven students who were assigned to the school in November 1976 have received a group total of only 13 traffic violations since that time compared with a total of 40 traffic violations during the year before they were assigned to the school.

The school is conducted for the benefit of drivers who have accumulated a large number of tickets during a twelve month period. Drivers may enroll in the school on a voluntary basis after receiving at least six points against their record in a year or may be assigned by Driver Improvement Officers.

Dewey Bullard, director of the Traffic Safety Division, pointed out that reducing the number of tickets received by New Mexico drivers should also lower the accident rate in the state.

"When we consider that traffic violations due to driver error are the leading cause of accidents, we have to assume that if we can reduce the number of traffic violations we are, in fact, reducing accidents," Bullard said. "The National Safety Council records reflect that 86.9 percent of all traffic accidents are caused by improper driving. I think the important thing here is that this first group had a total of 27 fewer traffic tickets after attending the school."

Bullard also released statistics concerning two other groups that have attended the school within the past year. Fifteen students enrolled in the second Driver Improvement School, which was completed January 2, 1977, had a combined total of only eight traffic tickets in the eleven months since then, compared with a group total of 47 tickets in the calendar year 1976.

Eighty-one volunteer and assigned students attending the five schools conducted around the state in April 1977 have recorded a 60 percent drop in traffic tickets in the seven months since attending the school compared to the previous 18 month period. Since the school they have received only 28 tickets compared with 280 citations they received previously.

Besides a reduction in the accident rate Bullard also pointed out other economic savings in the cost per ticket to the individual, the cost to process a ticket in the courts and time saved by police officers.

"The main thing we are trying to find out is if drivers drive better after the course, and I would say the answer is a definite 'yes'," Bullard said. "Not only is the rate reduced, but quite a few of these tickets have come shortly after the driver has left the school, which would indicate that once they get used to new driving habits they become even better drivers than the record shows."

He also said the severity of tickets received has declined.

Since starting the schools, more than 450 drivers have graduated and between 100 and 150 drivers are now being trained each month.

Fatties don't need fad diets to lose

Losing weight is never easy, even for the most well-intentioned.

But, instead of a fad, crash diet, Mae Martha Johnson, Extension food specialist at New Mexico State University, suggests a slower, steadier approach.

Remember to set short-term goals for losing weight, regardless of how much you want to lose. Even if you want to shed 75 pounds, your final goal is so far in the future that you may get discouraged. So set short-term realistic goals — five or ten pounds at a time. Successfully meeting one goal will give you a boost and help you stick with your diet.

For a two-prong attack on your weight, increase your activity to help burn up extra calories. Jump-rope, jog, swim or hike. You will burn your body's fat while saving fuel if you walk instead of drive or climb stairs instead of taking an elevator.

Choose meats baked or broiled rather than fried or deep fat fried.

Eat meals slowly, with friends or family and take pauses between small bites. Set the fork down after each bite.

Flavor vegetables with spices or butter-flavored salt, not butter or margarine.

Use small sized plates to make small portions seem larger.

Before going to the supermarket, make a list and shop only from the list. Never grocery shop on an empty stomach.

For desserts, choose fresh fruits or those canned in their own juices. Don't eat sugar syrups. Try an apple baked in sugar free pop.

Put spices, lemon juice or salt on lettuce instead of dressing. Try to eat fairly regular meals, but when planning to eat out, save calories and pre-plan what you will eat.

Keep busy so boredom won't prompt between-meal snacking.

Drink a glass of water before meals to dull the appetite.

If you overeat one day, don't give up. Cut it the next day.

Bess Fish' Jet Rockette plagued with split hoof

BY DICK ALWAN

It's like having an embossed invitation to the fanciest ball in town, a chance to touch elbows with the creme de la creme. But with such social avenues opened for the colt, Jet Rockette, the invite has to be turned down. So it won't be a trip to California. No fling in the $100,000 Champion of Champions, an invitational nine-chip solree staged each winter by Los Alamitos, the quarter horse palace not far from Disneyland.

Jet Rockette, the pride and joy of Bess Fish of Houston, earned his invitation to the Champion of Champions by winning last weekend's Fall Quarter Horse Derby at Sunland Park. It's not that Mrs. Fish lacks confidence in her colt. And it's not that she isn't anxious to send her star against the juggernaut of the industry, Dash For Cash.

It's simply that Jet Rockette has a lingering battle wound that needs to be cleared up. For a few days last week, Mrs. Fish pondered whether to take the trip to California. Finally, she took the counsel of her trainer, Jake Casco, and decided to give the colt a vacation. He won't be back until next spring.

So what are the wounds which have taken much of the zing out of Jet Rockette's punch? "He's got a quarter crack in his right front hoof," Jake explains. "It's a deep crack and it goes all the way inside. It causes him a lot of pain. It's like having a bad crack in your fingernail, one that goes all the way into the quick."

But if you have a crack in your fingernail, at least you don't have to run on it. A racehorse is not so lucky. "Everytime we run him, it bleeds," Jake goes on. "We've got this 'gook' — like the stuff they advertise. You know, about being 10 times stronger than steel. You mix it up in your hand until it gets plumb hot, then you stick it on the crack. It works for a little bit, but not too long."

Jake, who has the glistening white hair of someone's picturebook grandfather, has been training for the past 40 years, and this is the first time he's had to deal with quarter cracks.

"We have to keep the heel out down," he goes on. "We use a half-shoe. You don't want to let him hit against that part of the hoof with the crack."

The colt has been plagued by the problem just about all of his racing career. Right from the beginning, he looked like some kind of colt. Jake likes to tell about the time he won his first race, in the spring of '76, and clocked 330 yards in 16.80 seconds ("without a tailwind or anything"), and such big-gun trainers as J. B. Montgomery and Don Farris were calling the colt one of the best they'd seen.

"Then we put him in the trials for the West Texas Futurity, and he got turned around at the start, but came on and won anyway. Then he won the finals, but he came out of the race with that cracked hoof."

As a matter of fact, Jet Rockette has been bothered by cracks in two hoofs, but one has healed. A nice long rest is needed to cure the other one. The problem is, when you have a colt of this caliber, and you're looking at those super-rich races for two- and three-year-olds, it's tough to keep him on the farm. A year ago at this time, Jet Rockette added Sunland's Fall Quarter Horse Futurity to his trophy case. During the summer, he finished in a deadheat for third in the first consolation of the All-American Derby.

"If he'd had sound feet, he would have made over $500,000," Jake says. But hobbled as he's been, he's had to settle for some $150,000 thus far. As one reporter put it, "most horses are good if they can win with four feet — this one wins with two."

Jockey Darrell Blevins, the colt's pilot, expressed it this way: "His heart is as big as a cow. He wants to run, and he gives you everything he's got, bad feet and all."

He's a well-mannered colt who knows how to watch his P's and Q's. Naturally, the animal is close to his trainer's heart. Jake might have had swifter horses in his day — he's won just about every big-time race in this part of the country (except the All-American Futurity) — but he's never had a runner who's tried to give so much in spite of such shaky wheels.

That's not to say Jet Rockette doesn't know what he's up against. Come time to lead the colt from the paddock onto the track, he'll start thinking of the pain which might be shooting up from that cracked hoof, and he'll begin washing out. "You can put your hand against his chest, and you'll feel his heart going 90 miles an hour," Jake says.

But old warhorse that he is, Jet Rockette goes right out and throws his best shots. So now that he's facing a five-month rest, does that put Jake out of business? Not at all. Jake's getting his new crop of yearlings ready, and his arsenal includes four graduates of the All-American Yearling Sale at Ruidoso. One brought $34,000, another went for $33,000, another $27,000, the fourth for $16,000. Three of these belong to Bill Gahlberg, and Mrs. Fish has a handful of classy ones who'll be trying to make the team.

"The competition in quarter horse racing is getting so tough, you have to spend big money, and breed the best to the best, just to stay even," Jake says. "You can buy cheap, but you'll be looking for 'freak' that comes along only once every 10 years."

Jockey Pedro Benitez gaining stature rapidly

When a young jockey's weight becomes too much of a burden, he's usually left with only one choice: quit. But in the case of apprentice jockey Pedro Benitez, a weight gain turned into a distinct advantage.

Recently arrived from Mexico City, Benitez says that at 106 pounds he was too heavy to ride at the Hipodromo in Mexico City. "They ride light down there and I couldn't keep my weight low enough," says Benitez. "There are good horses in Mexico but I had to go somewhere if I wanted to continue riding."

The 17-year-old apprentice, who looks like a small weightlifter or wrestler, found a place to ride — Sunland Park. And since he arrived October 8, he's been attracting attention around the racetrack and with good reason. He's been finishing in the money approximately 50 percent of the time.

Benitez, who stands four feet, nine inches, began his riding career while working at a horse ranch outside of Mexico City. While finishing high school, he spent two years on the ranch, but the horses attracted his attention more than scholarly pursuits.

One thing led to another and he was approached by a trainer who thought he'd make a good jockey. "I had been galloping for about two years when Trainer Jose Bravo asked me if I wanted to ride. He liked my size and I thought it might be a good thing. So he helped me get my apprentice license and I started riding immediately. I won 15 races at the Hipodromo but then I started having weight problems," said Benitez, who's not worrying about his weight any more.

That was five months ago, but for Benitez, the weight problem turned into a dilemma. Where could he go? As he tells it, "I didn't know anyone in the United States, except my brother, who fortunately, was galloping at Sunland Park. He arranged a meeting for me with trainer Gabriel Gracida, who runs horses at Sunland and Juarez. Mr. Gracida liked me and my performance and arranged for me to come here. And here I am."

The young rider feels he's accomplished a great deal so far and Sunland Park is just one more step in his list of great expectations. "I've put a lot of work into being a good jockey. It's very encouraging to get the number of mounts I have and every race helps me to improve on my style."

All the work is obviously for a purpose. And that purpose is to be good enough to try the big leagues. "I'd really like to go to Santa Anita in California. But first I have to prove to be a good jockey. Then I'll need contacts out there. If I can go to California and get good mounts, I'll have to prove myself all over again."

The confident apprentice seems to be having few problems getting mounts at Sunland Park, and if he continues with any consistency, he'll probably find himself in the jockey standings before too long.

Although Benitez speaks little English, he says that with the grace of God he'll be able to pick it up. "But," he adds, "the horses don't understand me anyway."

450 nominated for 1978 Allison

A total of 450 nominations poured in at Sunland Park for the 1978 running of the Riley Allison Thoroughbred Futurity May 7, according to general manager Al Rosa. "This is an extremely strong response, and makes us confident we'll surpass our projected gross purse of $300,000," Rosa said.

He added that the Allison Futurity is now, by a wide margin, the nation's richest two-year-old thoroughbred event. The five furlong classic will be renewed for the 15th time on the final day of the 1977-78 season, May 7.

Original nominations for the '78 Allison closed November 1 and with 450 nominees at $250 each, the starting kitty stands at a robust $112,500. A $350 sustaining fee comes due February 15 and there's also a $500 entry fee into the trials.

A supplemental nomination is possible February 15 but the tariff at that point will be $2,500.

Last year at this time 391 youngsters were nominated to the 1977 Allison Futurity and the gross purse eventually topped out at $270,040. The year before the Allison attracted 349 original nominations and the purse reached $238,443.

The current crop of 450 represents a gain of 15.09 percent over last year. Assuming the gross purse in 1978 goes over the $300,000 level, this would put the winner's share at a minimum of $145,000.

The biggest nominator to the 1978 Allison was the Game Racing Stable of Bosque, with 15 head.

Next in line was B. R. Evans of Tulsa, Texas, with 10 head. Seven each were entered by the partnership of J. R. Adams of Guyton, Oklahoma and Hip Russell of El Paso; Gary Benton of Lubbock; Rose Ranch of Hondo and Sam Henderson of Odessa, Texas.

The nationally-prominent Harbor View Farm of Ocala, Florida is among the many other names of distinction on the list. Harbor View nominated two hopefuls, one by Bold Native, the other by Native Royalty.

As usual, the state of Texas supplied the largest number of Allison nominees. A total of 210-head — or 51.5 percent of the entire turnout — came from the Lone Star State. Of this number, close to 30 are based in the El Paso area.

Eighty-seven nominees are from New Mexico, while 38 are owned by Oklahomans. Arizona is next on the list with 21, followed by California with 20, Florida with 13, Arkansas with 7, Louisiana with 6 and Colorado with 5.

Entries were also received from Michigan, Nevada, Washington, Missouri, Minnesota, Idaho, Illinois, Utah, New York, Montana, Nebraska, Georgia and Kentucky.

Much of the increase in nominations was generated in Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma and California. Especially prominent was Texas, which showed a gain of nearly 100 head, jumping from 112 a year ago to the current 210. New Mexico went from 89 to 87, Oklahoma from 28 to 36 and California from 11 to 20.

The Riley Allison Futurity, named after Sunland Park's late founder, debuted in 1964 with a modest purse of $10,000. That's Julie won the inaugural edition. For five years, the purse showed practically no increase, but began swelling markedly in 1970 when Sunland launched into a long-range plan to establish the Allison as a major event.

The following breakdown shows the winners, and the involvement of the gross purse: 1965 — Money Kid, $13,750; 1966 — Missile Pit, $22,450; 1967 — Grand Square, $27,750; 1968 — Tamran's Jet, $26,400; 1969 — Mary Lancer, $26,400; 1970 — Randis Joy, $49,350; 1971 — Italian Ruler, $74,700; 1972 — Bold Liz, $102,000; 1973 — Thirty One Jewels, $124,282; 1974 — Come On Jeanie, $187,516; 1975 — Admiral's Blade, $212,522; 1976 — Native Lovin', $238,443; 1977 — Bloody Blade, $270,804.

No owner or trainer has won the Allison Futurity more than once, but two jockeys own doubles. John Lively won in 1969 with Mary Lancer and in 1975 with Admiral's Blade. Jerry Nicodemus scored with Italian Ruler in 1971, then was back the next year to win with Bold Liz.

I-N-S-I-D-E the Outdoors

by Gary Dollahan
Public Affairs Officer

Say "duck" to some people and they will automatically draw back in anticipation of being hit by a flying object. However, say "duck" to others and watch their eyes come aglow and a smile cross their lips.

The latter individuals are obviously members of a rather unique group of people known as duck hunters.

Duck hunters are die-hard individuals that crawl out of their warm beds in the wee hours of the morning and proceed by headlight to a cold, wet hunting blind. Here they wait, shivering furiously and telling each other how much fun they are having.

Shortly, though it seems like hours, the sky begins to grow light as the sun eases its way toward the horizon. Then come the birds, better referred to as "ducks".

Carefully hidden, the optimistic hunters remain motionless as they try to decoy a flock of birds in with an imitated feeding call and a raft of floating plastic ducks. However, easier said than done.

Ducks, with their color vision and ears that are finely tuned to their own calls, are quick to detect color, movement, or a flaw in the call as presented by hunters.

Yet, even when the hunters finally give up hope and go home without a single duck, they vow to return again. And, they will return, just as eager as they were before.

New Mexico, considered a semi-arid state, has a lot to be desired in the way of duck hunting. Nevertheless, each year the duck hunters are out in the field.

Last year, some 6500 duck hunters donned their camouflaged clothes, hung their call around their neck, picked up their bag of decoys and travelled abroad trying to outsmart these feathered aircrafts of the sky.

These 6500 hunters bagged about 56,500 ducks during the 78 day season. Each hunter bagged an average of almost 9 birds during an average of six trips per season. That makes for an average of almost 1.3 birds per trip.

Despite their low success, these hunters play an important role in duck management. All bird hunters must have a state hunting license from which the fees support the state game and fish agency.

In addition to the state license, duck hunters at least 16 years of age must purchase a "duck stamp" from a post office. This is a federal requirement from which the fees obtained are used to purchase wetlands for wildlife.

More than 15 million dollars a year are obtained via the duck stamp and these dollars are applied, in addition to dollars from state licenses, to help support the continental population of some 50 million ducks and geese.

New Mexico falls into two flyways — the Pacific and Central. Seasons and bag limits are regulated accordingly. The majority of the state lies within the Central Flyway as its western boundary is the Continental Divide.

Duck season in the Central Flyway runs from November 1, 1977, through January 22, 1978. The bag limit is based on the point system.

That is, each species of duck is given a point value on a 100 point scale. Assigned values are based on seasonal species numbers and can vary annually.

Presently, point values are as follows: Canvasbacks are 100 points. Redheads, hen mallards, and wood ducks are 70 points each.

Teal, scaup, pintails, gadwalls, and shovelers are 10 points each. All other ducks not listed are 20 points each.

A daily bag limit has been reached when the point value of the last bird taken, when added to the sum of the point values of other birds already taken during that day, reaches or exceeds 100 points.

Possession limit is the maximum number of birds that legally could have been taken in two days.

Of course, in such a point system, proper duck identification is a must. Hunters should obtain waterfowl identification guides.

Also, duck hunters should carefully review all regulations concerning their sport. Legal, and illegal methods, legal weapons, shooting hours, and the point system are all explained in the 1977 New Mexico Bird Seasons brochure available at all license vendors. Read them carefully until all are understood.

So, the next time you hear the word "duck", and you are not a duck hunter, better achieve a low profile in a hurry.

The Silver Lining

BY DANIEL AGNEW STORM

Wedding Anniversary Of LeRoy and Amelia McKnight

It was a joyful experience to see so many friends and loved ones at the reception for LeRoy and Amelia McKnight on the occasion of their fortieth wedding anniversary.

From just close by and also from distant places, folks came from all directions to gather Sunday afternoon, December four at the Silver Dollar in Tinnie, in the Hondo Valley, to help the beloved couple celebrate this happy milestone along their journey through the years. Old friends who had not seen each other in years shared many a pleasant memory with LeRoy and Amelia.

LeRoy and Amelia are both members of pioneer families and are life-long residents of Lincoln County. We wish them many happy returns of the day, and all God's blessings.

Indian Summer Stays

Here we are away over into December, the Sacred Month, and still enjoying the mellow sunny days of Indian Summer.

However, there are messengers and the signs of Christmas weather on the way. Along the creek there are little long-legged birds called sand pipers who have just ridden in on the north wind. The wood peckers have just about finished making their homes in hollow trees. Robins fly overhead going south, and new bands of snow birds have flown in.

The wind is showing signs of snow not too far away. First comes a half a day of strong west wind, then suddenly it stops and the north wind moves in. When the wind moves around to the north east then comes the snow.

Meanwhile let us enjoy the sunny weather. Once again, let me warn you, do not be caught out a long ways from home or help during these late Indian summer days. A snow storm could arrive very suddenly any time now.

Indian Summer Calf

Here on the place is a cow that I named Little Red when she was young because she was such a small calf. She has grown into a cow above the average in size. So now she is "Big Red." Well, Big Red went up the hill about the twentieth of November to have her calf. After a few days I began to look for her, morning and evening, with a tiny copy of herself walking close by, stepping down the trail.

Days passed and the time came when I began to get anxious, but as usual, with no reason.

After dark on the night of December first, I drove across the creek and up onto the knoll. The cows were getting ready to bed down, standing around. Then in the headlights, sure enough, here came a new born red and white calf. He raised his head sniffing the air calmly, and looking over toward the pickup not the least bit afraid — a very tame and gentle little fellow. Then he went over and stood close to his mother's side. And from there he went walking among the other cows who nuzzled him, letting him know how proud they were of him.

He was the only young calf on the knoll, and all the other cows showed much affection for the little new-comer, as if he were their own. What should I name this calf — "Little December"?

Christmas Trees

Along the highways now, you can see the Christmas trees tied to the cars and in the pickups as the folks are carrying home one of the cherished features of Christmas celebration.

The Pinon in recent years has come into its own as a Christmas tree, now that we need to be careful to save the Douglass Fir, Spruce and other trees that sixty and seventy years ago used to be popular. A pinon makes a beautiful Christmas tree, and is also very vigorous and full of life with a pleasing incense. Also the branches are good for making wreaths and other evergreen decorations.

Wreaths

One simple way to make a small wreath is to take a coat hanger and bend it into a circle. Then take cedar, juniper or any kind of evergreen small branches and tie them along the wire circle with small wire. Place the little branches so the tips will hide the cut-off ends. This way you have a solid little circle of evergreen ready to hang up.

Nativity Scenes

One of the most cherished Christmas features of the Southwest is the Nativity Scene or as it is called in Spanish, "El Nacimiento."

Handed down from early Spanish times, these take many forms, featuring always the figures of the Christ Child, the Virgin Mary, Joseph and the animals of the stable.

The figures can be tiny or life size; and the scene itself may be a replica of a stable, or a cave dug out of a clay bank, or a little cave in a rock bank by the wayside.

One nativity scene very typical of our mountain homeland is made from cedar boughs secured at the bottom in a shallow wooden box about two feet square. The tops of the branches, which would be about two and a half feet long, are then woven together at the tops forming an arch. Several arches make the top and structure for the sides. Then the back and sides can be woven in with smaller branches and twigs of the cedar. The front is left open. And on the floor of this structure are the figures of the nativity scene. In times past a candle near the top lighted the scene at night. Now days a small electric bulb can light the scene.

With very small figures, even one branch of evergreen may be used as a little roof or shelter for the scene.

Sugar Plum Tree

You can take a branch of the Mesquite and put the stem in a can of sand so that it stands up like a small tree with thorny branches. Then take gum drops or other soft candy and put them on the thorns. And there you have a sugar plum tree.

So the desert as well as the mountain forest can play its role in the Christmas scene. The seed pods and the stalks of the Yucca can make a very special New Mexico decoration when you paint them gold or silver and light them up in the evening.

Day by day the Christmas spirit glows stronger in our hearts as we look forward to the day of the birth of our Lord and Saviour.

New food stamp program designed to reduce abuses

BY JAMES KIRBY
NMSU EXTENSION ECONOMIST

The extent and complexity of new Food and Agriculture Act of 1977 is staggering. While it covers the same responsibilities as previous Agricultural Acts, it is far more complex and might be described as fine tuning.

Change is normal in the agricultural industry. This "fine tuning" is an honest attempt by Congress to reflect the country's need, mood and thinking and to tighten up on often abused provisions.

The new Agriculture Act covers everything from production agriculture to food for people, both at home and abroad. At first glance, provisions for food stamps in an agricultural act might seem strange. However, this combination started when the USDA dispensed surplus commodities.

Most relief programs have come under a generous share of criticism and the Food Stamp Program is no exception. It is said that former Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz offered the Program to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and received a firm "no, thank you." The new Act has made several changes in the food stamp procedures.

This Act extends the Food Stamp Program another four years with changes Congress says are designed to reduce abuses while increasing access to the needy. The $5.8 billion funded for the 1978 program will increase to $6.2 billion by 1981.

Food stamps will now be free to the eligible and will no longer be purchased according to income. The maximum eligibility level was reduced to the poverty income level of $5,850 for a family of four. Deductions are now limited to shelter, child care, work expenses and the standard deductions.

In addition, rural and urban mandatory pilot "workfare" programs (a takeoff on "welfare" programs) will be established in each of the USDA's seven administrative regions. Employable individuals who are not working will have to take public service jobs in return for their stamps.

An individual can have no more than $1,750 in assets to be eligible for Food Stamps, and students are required to work or be registered for work in order to qualify for stamps.

The new regulations are expected to remove more than one million persons from the program rolls because of their high gross income. At the same time a sizable group of needy people are expected to be added because of the lowering of income eligibility and because the stamps will no longer be purchased.

Persons making fraudulent claims may be disqualified for 27 months under the new Act, and states will receive at least 75 percent administrative cost-sharing for the costs associated with investigating and prosecuting fraud.

Illegal aliens and other aliens without legal status will not receive Food Stamps.

Indian tribal organizations may administer the food stamp program on reservations only if the Secretary of Agriculture determines that the state agency is failing to properly administer the program and that the tribal organization can effectively administer it under the Federal guidelines.

Another part of the Food Assistance Program is the child nutrition assistance. This involves cash grants to states for their school breakfast and lunch programs, summer and child care food programs, nonfood assistance expenses, and state administrative expenses. These programs will receive some $2.1 billion.

In addition, a special milk program makes reimbursement payments to eligible schools and child-care institutions to increase the consumption of fluid milk by children. This program pays out $155 million.

On the other end of the age spectrum, the Act includes a $30 million program administered by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare which provides for at least one meal daily, served in a communal setting for persons 60 years of age or older. The meals for the elderly should improve their nutrition and reduce their isolation.

What the others are saying, we've already demonstrated.

- Better engine protection.
- Increased fuel economy.
- Better high-temperature performance.
- Fast sub-zero starts.
- Less oil consumption.
- A cleaner engine.
- 25,000-mile oil change.

Too good to be true? No. Because thousands of AMS/OIL users have already experienced these extraordinary performance features. AMS/OIL was first to commercially market an SAE 10W-40 synthetic engine oil to meet API Classification SE, which means AMS/OIL can be used in any car. So while the new synthetic lubricants you see today were still in the test lab, AMS/OIL was in the crankcases of cars and trucks just like yours. And when you're satisfied, that's the final test of a lubricant.

I'm a dealer for AMS/OIL Synthetic Lubricants, but I'm spread pretty thin covering this local area. I need good dealers. Start part-time, build to full-time. Excellent commissions and bonuses.
