C-C held awards banquet; motorcycle convention ok'd

BY MARY WORMLEY
Staff Writer

Presentation of awards and sanction of the Aspenade Motorcycle Convention highlighted the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce general membership meeting Wednesday evening.

Emma Redmann, who will retire from the Chamber January 8 after 22 years of service, was presented with a plaque and gift of a microwave oven.

Redmann received a standing ovation from the crowd as she walked to the front, where she stood while Dave Wilson, Chamber president, Ken Cole, former board member, Richard Cothrun, former manager, and Ed Jungbluth, Chamber executive secretary, each spoke briefly.

Community awards were presented to Herb Brunell, Brunell's, retail merchant; John and Dottie Hall, High Country Lodge, motel service, accepting the award for the Halls was Marty Michaels; Jerry Bigham, Cousins', food service, accepting the award was Marilyn Mericle; Katherine Finley, community service; and Ray Held, promotion.

"The annual membership meeting is not only to honor persons for outstanding service but also a means of communication," Wilson said.

In an effort to assess the opinions of the members, forms requesting comments on various issues were distributed.

The chief item of discussion was the Aspenade Motorcycle Convention which brought "35,000 people to Ruidoso in four days... who spent over $1 million, and probably closer to $2 million," Wilson said.

Cothrun endorsed the convention stating, "It's the only event which brings people in during one of the slowest periods of the year." Junior McManus and Cuddy also spoke in support.

Dick Shaw said, "I'm ashamed to have to mark on a ballot to show support of what TII (Thompson, Aspenade coordinator) has done for our community."

After the general membership meeting, Wilson called a special board meeting of members attending — Alden Deyo, Mac McDougal, Benny Coulston, Ken Cole, Sunny Hirschfeld, Don King, Jim French and Bill Wilson — to discuss the issue.

The group reviewed the questionnaires turned in, finding 53 in favor and 8 in opposition on the motorcycle issue.

The board voted unanimously to "Thank TII, endorse and support the project and request Jungbluth to work with him (Thompson) to show Chamber support of the motorcycle convention."

Also during the general membership meeting, Wilson gave a brief summary of the Chamber's progress in the last year and future plans.

"The Chamber is out of debt and in the black," he said. "We also have a new organizational structure we hope will be more responsive to the membership because members will serve on the committees."

"We hope to initiate new benefits for members possibly including group health insurance. We have improved communications with a monthly newsletter, publishing our agenda before board meetings and resuming the Wednesday morning Coffee Carts."

"We also have special interest groups to represent segments of the membership in the planning process."

Wilson mentioned meetings will be held November 15 for motel and lodging owners and November 16 for retail merchants.

Both meetings will be held at 7:30 p.m., in the Ruidoso Public Library.

"We hope for better long range planning," Wilson said. "We plan on developing an annual calendar listing deadlines well in advance and scheduling added events."

Also during the meeting, members touched on Ski Pac, promotion of the Ruidoso area and economic development.

BULLETIN

Fort Stanton airport site refused by BLM

Bureau of Land Management (BLM) officials in Santa Fe this morning advised The News that "BLM decided 'no' on the proposed Sierra Blanca Regional Airport for Fort Stanton Mesa, based on the 1976 Federal Land Policy and Land Management Act and the established policy of retention of public land when in the national interest."

"BLM felt," John Gumert, Public Affairs Officer, said, "the wildlife research by New Mexico State University and the New Mexico Game and Fish to be more important. The BLM received more than 200 comments on the issue, from all over the state, with the majority being against the airport."

Gumert said the Regional Airport Commission, of which Richard C. Hall is chairman, has until December 29, 1978 to protest BLM's decision to the Secretary of the Interior, Washington, D.C.

All documents pertaining to the decision are on file at the BLM offices, United States Post Office and Federal Building, Santa Fe.

SUNDAY AT 2 A.M., as Mary Wormley of The News illustrates is the time to set your clocks back one hour to Mountain Standard Time.

Turn those clocks back!

Should you want to observe — with pomp, ceremony, rite or ritual — the return to Mountain Standard Time October 29, what you do is:

Patiently await the arrival of 2 a.m., Sunday.

Precisely at 2 a.m., — with dignity and decorum, or mumbo-jumbo and incantations — turn your clocks BACK to 1 a.m.

Relax. The problem of observing Daylight Savings Time is passe — until 2 a.m., April 29, 1979, when once again time confusion will return to haunt you.

Of course, you can set your clock back that one hour upon arising from your night's slumber Sunday morning — but beware — should you forget, you'll spend that gained hour waiting for the church to open — besides, come afternoon, you might become irritated, thinking your favorite pro football game has been preempted by a talk show.

County road projects set

BY TRACY WRIGHT
Staff Writer

Five road improvement projects submitted by the county to the state highway department (SHD) last month have been approved by the state, county manager Les Olson reported to the Lincoln County commissioners Monday.

The state is serving as administrative agent for a federal "off-systems" road improvement program, for which $4 billion has been appropriated to be used over the next four years, Olson said. "Off-systems" roads are any roads not on the federal highway network built with federal trust funds, he said.

The five projects accepted by the SHD as programs they are going to try to implement through 1980 are the Capitán-Nogal short cut, at an estimated cost of $140,000; Carrizo Creek Road, at a cost of $23,000; Ft. Stanton paving for $106,399; Ft. Stanton sub-base preparation for $140,732 and Ft. Stanton bridge installation for an estimated $100,000.

Olson said the county will continue to push for a sixth project, the $257,797 Transwestern Road, which has not yet received state approval.

The cost of the off-systems improvements is borne primarily by the federal government, with the county paying only 17 percent, Olson said.

Another application to the SHD for five state-county cooperative road improvements was approved by the commission Monday.

The county is requesting state aid for improvements to be made by the SHD and the county road department on 8.2 miles of road. The total estimated cost of the requested improvements is $153,963, 55 percent of which would be contributed by the county and 45 percent by the state.

The five proposed projects would bring improvements to 2 miles of Nogal Canyon Road for $46,334, to a half mile on Country Club Road for $8,185, to 2.2 miles on Bonito Lake Road for $40,797, to 2 miles on Cedar Creek Road at a cost of $38,797 and to 1.5 miles on Sun Valley Road for an estimated $19,850.

John Sudderth, commission chairman, said he discussed the projects with the state highway commissioners when they met at the Inn of the Mountain Gods last Thursday.

"We agreed to do the grade and drain and the state agreed to do the double penetration oiling," Sudderth said.

Following the meeting, Olson told The News: "The state legislature appropriates so many million dollars a year to help the county fix up roads that are important to the state, such as feeder roads. The state puts in the more sophisticated labor and machines, such as oiling equipment and ship spreaders. We usually do the more rough type of work."

The five-project request was submitted to the SHD within its November 1 deadline. Sudderth added that the widening and resurfacing project planned for Carrizo Creek Road has been postponed.

"We agreed to approve it for spring because we were short of money and it's too late in the season," he said.

The commission also voted to make an application to the state for $15,000 to be used toward the purchase of a $19,250 ambulance. The legislature last year appropriated $500,000 to be allocated to local governments in $15,000-maximum grants for emergency medical services, Olson said.

In other action, the commission approved a lease agreement with the state land office for 280 acres of land five miles east of Alto to be used for gravel extraction and as a sanitary landfill. Ruidoso is permitted by the county to use the landfill, Olson said.

Vacation of six lots platted in Nogal was approved by the commission to allow construction to begin on a house on property owned by Ralph Forsythe.

"The main reason for the vacation is that the plat wasn't laid out according to the terrain," Olson said. "Where roads are laid out on the map there is no way they could be laid out on the land. We're vacating a useless aspect of the map — the impractical streets simply won't be shown on the map any more."

State representative precinct 51, which includes Angus, and precinct 52, which includes Carrizozo and several other communities, were combined by the commission. The consolidation is made each year to reduce the cost of administering absentee balloting.

The commission also approved the treasurer's report and paid a prior-year bill of $156 for medicine for county prisoners.

Four items on the meeting agenda were tabled: vacation of a plat in Cedar Creek, the appointment of a mental health board for region six and lease agreements with Zia Developmental Services and St. Joseph's Hospital.

Downs invokes resolution to clear debris from lot

Resolution 78-16 calling for the removal of debris from a lot in the Palo Verde townsite was adopted by the Ruidoso Downs trustees Monday night.

The lot named in the resolution, Lot 8, Block 6, Unit 2, is owned by Mabel Frances Pitts of California.

"There are two wrecked cars on the lot the resolution pertains to," village clerk Virginia Spall said. "We're going to clean up the lot and remove the cars. We've been working on this since 1976 because we couldn't find the legal owner of the lot. The resolution has to show the location of the lot, its owner and the occupant."

The resolution was adopted unanimously. Additional resolutions must be adopted for any future property clean-ups, to describe the property and name the owner.

In other business, the trustees discussed a proposal for a joint powers garbage collection agreement with Ruidoso. The proposal was presented to the trustees in a letter from Michael Richardson of Plainview, Texas. Richardson is a representative of Eberling Manufacturing Company, which supplies the containers and dump trucks now in use in Ruidoso.

"We should investigate the matter with Ruidoso to see whether they would be receptive to coming down here and picking up our trash," Spall said. "Mr. Richardson did not state what Ruidoso would charge us for the service. Ruidoso would put out the same kind of dumpsters they have up there. We'd have a joint powers agreement with them as we do on sewage."

Trustees Veda Leighton and Lois Beavers and mayor pro tem Ray Parnell agreed they should check into Richardson's suggestion.

"It is a fairly good system. It eliminates odor and keeps dogs and flies from getting into the garbage," Leighton said.

Trustee Beavers said she was concerned with the ability of elderly persons to take their garbage to the dumpsters, adding: "There are some older people who aren't even able to get out of their house."

Spall advised the trustees to meet with the Ruidoso trustees for discussion of the proposal.

News-KRRR photo contest 'snowed in'

The "Snow white is beautiful" photo contest — sponsored by The Ruidoso News and KRRR Radio — has been "snowed in" — snowed into being by Monday's blanket of snow that turned Old Baldy into a towering pinnacle of glistening white.

In the event avid amateur photographers — whether snapping the "Snow white is beautiful" scenes in scintillating color or dramatically in black and white — forgot to take their lens covers off, couldn't find their cameras or hadn't bought film, there should be no dismay, because it'll probably snow again again before the deadline to enter the contest: November 17. Like today.

"Course, if it doesn't — the early shutters'll be in line for the prizes."

Bear in mind that any subject on the "Snow white is beautiful" theme — whether in color or black and white — might capture the interest of the judges and be a prize winner!

An occupation license for Skyview Texaco was approved by the trustees. License requests by J.C.'s Place, which would rent pool tables, cigarette machines and jukeboxes, and by Unique Creations, a handicrafts and furniture remodeling

AFTER 22 YEARS of service to the Chamber, Emma Redmann was honored at the Chamber general membership meeting Tuesday evening. President Dave Wilson presented her with a plaque and she received a gift of a microwave oven.

THIS HAPPY DUO of snowmen seemingly reveled in the idea that "Snow white is beautiful" as the skies cleared Monday afternoon.

Ski tabloid scheduled

The Ruidoso News' annual ski tabloid is being readied for distribution as soon as Sierra Blanca Ski Resort opens.

The deadline for advertising to be included in the issue is Friday, November 17. For information and rates, telephone 257-4001 and ask for Carmen Edwards or Caron Snow.

The tabloid will be included with the regular edition of The News, when it is released, with additional distribution scheduled during the peak of the season to acquaint skiers with Ruidoso's attractions and services.

establishment, were tabled pending further investigation.

At the request of Leighton, a resolution to adopt the annual inventory also was tabled, to give her "more of a chance to look at it."

The trustees took no action on a letter received from Clinton Rutherford of El Paso objecting to a raise in water and garbage pickup rates.

Obituaries

Travis Cunningham

Former Ruidoso resident Travis W. Cunningham died last week in Port La Vaca, Texas.

Mr. Cunningham lived in Ruidoso during 1976 and was a regular visitor.

He is survived by wife, Thelma Cunningham, Port La Vaca; sons Jim Cunningham, Austin, Texas, and Don Cunningham, Port La Vaca; daughter Mrs. Jack Riley, Comanche, Texas; sister Mrs. C.V. Cunningham, Ruidoso Downs; niece Mrs. Sidna Gardner, Tularosa; 11 grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Services were held in Port La Vaca and Comanche and burial was in Comanche.

Mr. Cunningham died less than two weeks after his brother, Bob Cunningham.

Texas Club will feature renowned gourmet chef

Paradoxically, misfortune which occurred in the Ruidoso area brought gourmet chef Robert Gregson and his family back here to live.

The Gregsons were visiting from Austin, Texas when "our van caught on fire and burned to just a shell out by Bonito Lake."

"We lost everything and had to stay in town a few extra days," Susan Gregson said.

With the extra delay in Ruidoso, they discovered "we liked the town," not only because of the compassion of the residents when they heard of the Gregson's plight, but also because "it reminds us so much of our village in England."

Originally from Europe where he trained for 18 years, Gregson will be the chef at the Texas Club starting November 1.

In addition to continuing the club favorites, he will introduce flaming desserts, crepes including crepe suzettes, quiche and a daily chef special at dinner.

A French chef, he also will introduce a Sunday brunch.

Gregson is known in Austin, where he was executive chef for La Tour Restaurant, for preparing the most expensive dinner for two in America.

For $2,783 without gratuity or tax, he prepared a 28 course dinner with eight wines last May for Mr. and Mrs. L.K. Skloss.

He said he would prepare a similar dinner in Ruidoso for anyone who is interested.

Gregson and his wife, who is a substitute teacher with the Ruidoso School system, have two children, Gary, 12, and Melanie, 11.

Ruidoso C.B. Club Doings

BY THE ZOOKEEPER

There is something special about the first snowfall of winter that seems to change the mood of our community. This was very noticeable at the C.B. Club work meeting Monday night.

We had a terrific turnout and much was accomplished on the coffee trailer (which will be named and launched later). The women served hot coffee and some luscious food, this brought things to a very bid 10-7 until the food was gone.

There is still much to be done on the trailer, and there will be another work meeting set up soon, however the next meeting will be our Halloween Party at the K-Bob Steak House. The food will be covered dish by the ladies. Come in some type of costume that represents your handle in some way. If you don't wear a costume, don't use that as an excuse for not coming to the party. See you Monday night at the party starting at 7:30.

Get well wishes to Lucille Geaslin who with Ken has been such a help to the club.

That's all for now. If you were at the meeting Monday everyone was glad to see you, but if you were not able to come we missed you. See you soon.

Children's symphony concert set

A children's concert by the Roswell Symphony will be presented to 1,300

Ruidoso School System students and teachers at 10:30 a.m., Monday in the high school gym.

The hour-long program, under the direction of John Farrer, will include "Dance of the Comedian" from the Battered Bride by Friedrich Smetana, "Why the Duck Has a Short Tail" by Dr. Louis Ballard of Santa Fe and Symphony Number 4, Opus 36, Fourth Movement by Tchaikovsky.

An old Indian legend, "Why the Duck Has a Short Tail" will be narrated by Fred McDonald, director of instruction, Roswell Independent School District.

Local arrangements for the 60 piece orchestra will be made by Danny Flores, high school music director and tympanist for the orchestra, and Mrs. M.R. Delhotal, concert coordinator.

Over 50 businesses and individuals donated funds to sponsor the concert, including the Mescalero Apache Tribe and the Ruidoso School students.

MR. AND MRS. FRED POOL III

DiPaolo/Pool vows said

Pamela M. DiPaolo and Fred Pool III, both of Socorro, were married in a garden wedding September 1 in Ruidoso with Judge Jim Wheeler officiating.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. J.J. DiPaolo and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pool Jr., all of Ruidoso.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of champagne satin under an overlay of lace featuring an off the shoulder neckline with a sash holding her bible and sapphire of hers and the bridegroom's birthdates.

She wore a wreath of baby's breath accented with a single orchid in her hair and carried a cascade of orchids in baby's breath.

Maid of honor Cheryl Durham wore a midlength gown of pale peach tulle with delicate floral trim and a soft draped neckline. She carried a bouquet of orchids and baby's breath.

Serving his son as best man was Fred Pool Jr., and ushering was Al Taylor, grandfather of the bride, Albuquerque.

The mother of the bride wore a floor length gown of burgundy, the bridegroom's mother wore a floor length gown of orchid and the bride's grandmother wore a floor length turquoise gown. All wore orchid corsages.

Music for the ceremony was provided by organist Susie Abercrombie, who played a melody of love songs and then sang a special composition for the couple.

Organist Lynde Samelson played "The Wedding March."

A reception was held on the lawn of the bride's parents' home after the ceremony. Hostesses were Mrs. Jerry Howden, Mrs. Donny Conaway, Tam and Gwen DiPaolo, sisters of the bride, Penny Martin, Carlsbad, and Pam Klee, Albuquerque sister of the bridegroom, and Sandy Gillissen.

After a wedding trip to Cloudercroft and Santa Fe, the couple will be at home in Socorro where the bridegroom is a petroleum engineering student at New Mexico Tech and the bride is a legal secretary for attorney Thomas Fitch.

Both are graduates of Ruidoso High School and the bride attended New Mexico State University.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ron Townes, aunt and uncle of the bride, Colorado Springs, Colorado; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dantonio, bride's godparents, El Paso, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. John DiPaolo, Roswell; Wanda Hicks, aunt of the bridegroom, Midland, Texas, and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Jones, sister of the bridegroom.

Scant shot at playoffs keeps Warriors fighting

BY JOHN NEYLAND
Sports Writer

Whenever there is a ray of sunshine in a cloudy sky, grab it. That's what Ruidoso head coach Darrel Stierwalt did — and he hopes it will begin to pay dividends when the Warriors meet Lordsburg and Estancia.

"There's an outside chance if we win both these ball games, we could get in the playoffs," Stierwalt said. It's not a very good chance, but it's better than none.

Of course, it's going to take more than talking to beat the next two opponents. Tomorrow the Warriors battle the state's AA third ranked team, Lordsburg. The following week they play number one ranked and undefeated Estancia. For now, Stierwalt is concentrating on the game with Lordsburg.

To compensate for the size advantage Lordsburg carries into the ball game, Stierwalt has made some changes in the defense. On the whole, however, the defense that takes the field against Lordsburg will be the same that took the field against Tularosa.

"We've made some adjustments in the 5-3 defense to compensate for Lordsburg's passing game," Stierwalt said. "When they're in certain sets they'll throw the ball. We'll come out of the 5-3 and run a free safety so we can take care of the flats on the two receiver side.

"We'll put some new people on defense. Tim Riley, who just became eligible, will play some. We've moved John Whitlock to the linebacker position. Basically, it's going to be about the same as last Friday."

Stierwalt is more concerned about Lordsburg's defense than his own. Lordsburg does the one thing that has given the Warrior offensive line fits most of the season. They stunt on almost every play.

"Lordsburg has five defensive sets. All five are stunting defenses," Stierwalt said, "which really puts pressure on the offensive line. The problem that I can see is if we don't block it correctly, they'll kill us. They'll get into the backfield before we can even hand the ball off. We've got to shut down that stunt defensively. We'll have to concentrate on getting outside on sweeps and convoys and our passing game will really have to click. It'll be tough to run against them."

Making it even tougher is the fact that the Warriors were forced to miss a day of practice Monday because of the snow. But, Stierwalt said, the Warriors made up for that with a good workout Tuesday.

"Yesterday was a pretty fair practice," he said. "It's the first time in four weeks that we've had all the kids together.

Hopefully, we're over the sickness bug that has been hurting us."

Besides the Lordsburg defense, there are two other aspects of the contest Stierwalt fears. One is Lordsburg's size, the other is driving to Lordsburg to face an unruly crowd.

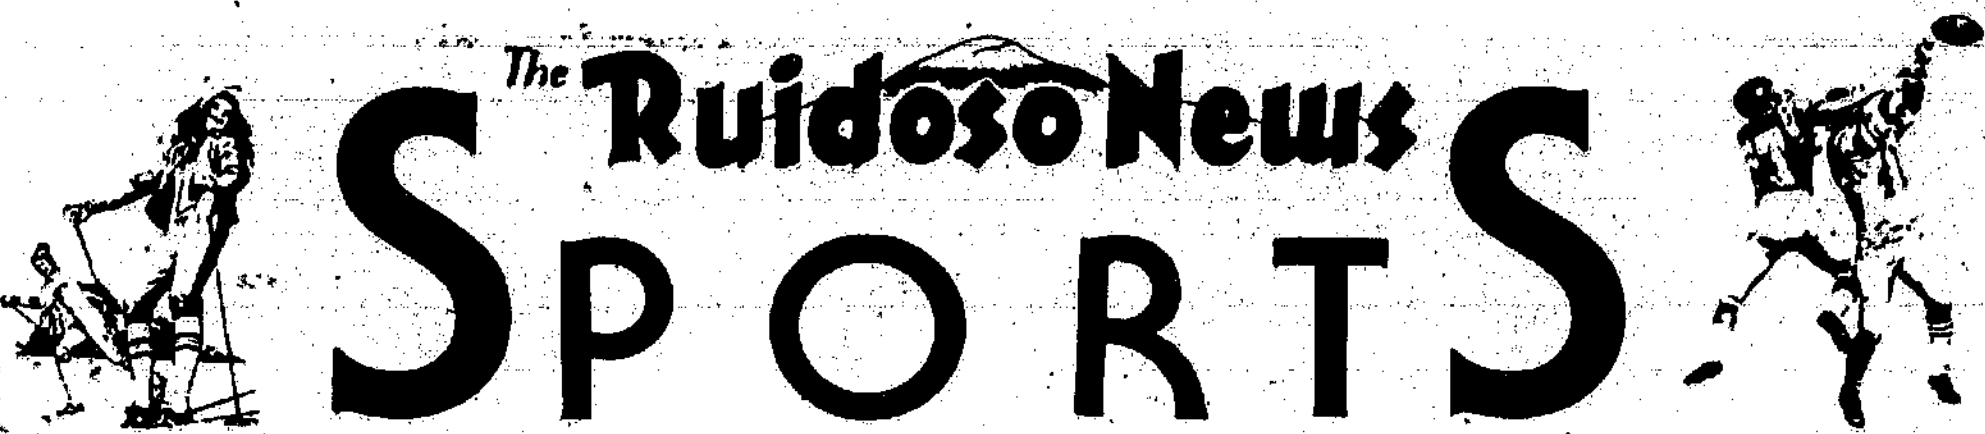

"Believe it or not, they're bigger than Tularosa," he said. "Driving five and a half hours makes it tough. They have a real rowdy crowd. They'll call you every name in the book."

Nevertheless, Stierwalt thinks the Warriors have finally put it all together and he confidently predicts that the Warriors will pull one of the upsets of the year.

"I do expect to win the ball game," he said. "It's not going to be easy. We've finally put it all together."

One of the reasons they may have finally put it all together is assistant coach Barry Nelson. He was up Wednesday at 3 a.m. diagramming plays to counteract the stunting Lordsburg defense. Although the plays look somewhat unorthodox, they also look like they might confuse the devil out of Lordsburg.

"We might have them falling all over themselves," he said. "How would you stop it?"

Williams never falls short of giving best effort

BY JOHN NEYLAND
Sports Writer

We sat in the dark caused by an apparent power failure, the only source of light coming from the open door which also let in the 30 degree temperature. Ruidoso quarterback Borde Williams sat across from me clad only in shorts and a T-shirt and dutifully answered all questions I threw his way. Every now and then a warm smile would flash across his boyish face.

Williams' manner belied that of a 17-year-old. His answers were calculated and then revealed with a soft-spoken confidence. There is not another position on the field that would have suited this young man. The quarterback position relies on a person with cool under fire and yet a burning intensity to win. Those are Borde Williams' qualities.

There was a time, however, when Williams didn't think he was cut out to play quarterback.

"The first time I played organized football with coaches was in seventh grade," he said. "I was a tight end and a defensive end. About the middle of the eighth grade (former Ruidoso coach) coach Howell wanted me to play quarterback so I moved to quarterback."

"At first I didn't think I'd like it. Later on it was alright. Before I was a sophomore I liked defense more than I liked offense. Offense is okay but defense is more fun," Williams said.

Up until last Friday's game with Tularosa, Williams had been left out of the fun since his sophomore year. Last Friday, head coach Darrel Stierwalt inserted Williams into the lineup. Stierwalt had kept him out of the defense for fear of injury. That is how valuable Williams is to the Warrior offense.

Even though Williams had to sit on the bench and watch the defense the first seven games of the season, he managed to circumvent his frustration at not being allowed to help them out.

"It has not really been frustrating," he said. "Our defense has been super all year, I think. The coaches can't put me out on the field and I expect to turn the whole defense around."

Even though Williams may not have had as much fun playing offense as defense, there is one thing that is certain: Borde Williams gave everything he had.

"I think that's the only thing you can do," he said. "If you think you've done your best there's not much else you can do. You should try to be the best at what you do."

Being the best at what he does has not come easily for Williams this year. But he is satisfied personally with his performance.

"Personally, I think I've done alright," he said. "I could have done better. There's always that room to do better."

Although Williams is satisfied with his personal performance he is undoubtedly disappointed with the season as a whole. But he tries not to let the losses keep him down.

"I was hoping for a winning season," he said. "We got off to a slow start and we've been slow all year. That's just part of life. You try your best and if you lose, you lose. You look to the next game and try to improve your mistakes. Like the coaches say, you've got to think about the next game."

"The next day you think about it (losing) but it's really not a deep down bad feeling. Like I say, if you try your best and coaches say you did a good job, it's okay. I look at that too, what coaches say."

Whenever Williams feels very down, which doesn't happen often, he confesses that there are many people he can turn to for a morale boost.

"My Mom and Dad are an inspiration," he said. "Then the coaches, in that order. There are really so many that I can't pinpoint one person in my life."

Williams would like to continue his career after he graduates from high school. He will have the chance, should he desire it, because he plans to be in college. Williams carries approximately a 2.95 grade point average at Ruidoso High School.

"I'm above average," he said. "I don't make real high grades or real low. I'm definitely going to college, either Eastern or New Mexico State. I'd kind of like to play sports. I think I'm tall enough but not muscular enough. I'll probably try to."

Whatever Borde Williams tries, it's a sure bet that he'll give 100 percent.

Warriors foresee crucial contests in Hatch Saturday

Dates set for hunt period validation change

The Ruidoso Warrior girls' volleyball team faces a couple of crucial tests this weekend that could have a deciding effect on their role in the approaching playoffs.

The Warriors travel to Hatch for games with both Lordsburg and Animas. If the Warriors win both games there is a chance they will be seeded number one for the district tournament next weekend. Two losses would seed the Warriors last. Obviously, head coach Sergio Castanon is hoping for a sweep.

"This tournament is very important," he said. "We can win these two games and be seeded number one or tied for number one. We would only have to play one game. First seed automatically goes to the finals."

That is Castanon's goal, but since the Warriors have struggled all year and will be without the services of Kristi Perryman the rest of the season, he admits the Warriors will be hard pressed to win both games.

"A lot of it depends on how bad the girls want it," Castanon said. Tuesday night the Warriors downed Hondo and Castanon is hoping the momentum from that win will carry the Warriors the rest of the way.

"I hope to keep the momentum going. We are capable of winning both games," Castanon said. "This could get our momentum going like I planned at the first of the year."

Although Castanon has been somewhat disappointed with the season's record, he knows his team is capable of burning a path to the district championship. He is counting on Ruidoso's tradition, which is to play tough in playoff competition.

"We can play with anybody," he said. "The girls generally lack intensity and concentration. They do get serious about playoff games though."

Denny's Tire and Auto leads Monday keggers

Denny's Tire and Auto regained sole possession of first place in the Monday Nite Mixed Bowling League, moving two full games in front of its nearest challenger, Jack's Burgers.

Denny's has a 12-4 record compared to Jack's 10-6. In third place is Western Auto with a 7-1 record, followed by Hair Affair with an 8-4 record. In fifth place is Jaurequis' with a 6-4 record, closely followed by two teams with 9-7 records, Win, Place and Show and Timber's Townhouses.

Heading out the lower echelon are Clarke's Chapel of Roses with a 5-7 record, Ruidoso Music with 1-15 and Dairy Queen heads the bottom with an 0-8 record. Jaurequis', despite their middle of the road standings in the league, hold the high team series mark with 2,331 pins. Second place Jack's Burgers hold the high game team score at 805.

Holding individual marks for the high series in the men's class is Gene Scott of Jaurequis' with a 534. For the women, Annie Keith of Win, Place and Show heads the pack with a series total of 435.

Leading the pack in the men's high individual game total is Gene Scott with a 189, pursued closely by Fred Tennant of Jack's Burgers with a 188. For the women, Betty Day of Win, Place and Show has the high score for the individual game with a 170.

Highlights of last Monday's bowling were the collection of two splits, one by Nancy Melton of Jack's Burgers who collected the 3-10 and the other by Ginger Wilson of Jack's Burgers who flattened the 5-7-10.

Tip leads to heavy fine

A southeastern New Mexico man, convicted of illegally killing an antelope after an Operation Game Thief (OGT) call alerted officers, was fined the statutory $400 fine plus an additional $100 in civil damages.

Stephen E. Lynch, 28, Hobbs, New Mexico, was fined by Hobbs Magistrate Donald Hallam last week. Hallam charged Lynch with illegal possession of the antelope.

Operation Game Thief caller number 401 is eligible to receive a $250 reward and may arrange for collection by calling OGT coordinator Dan Pursley at the toll free number, 1-800-432-4263. The caller reported that the antelope was allegedly killed September 28 approximately 25 miles northwest of Roswell.

Preparation key to hunting success

Preparation is a key to an enjoyable and successful deer hunt; and New Mexico's general big game season, by far the most popular hunt in the state, is less than three weeks away.

Jesse Williams, chief of the Game and Fish Department's Public Affairs Division, said that much of the preparation could begin now, "avoiding that last minute rush that results in packing the wrong ammunition, forgetting the license, or leaving the cooking oil and can openers at home."

Items that could be prepared now include the hunting vehicle, camping equipment, hunting equipment — and the hunter.

"It's not too late to at least tone up muscles by walking, bicycling, swimming or jogging," Williams said, "although a crash physical conditioning attempt would probably not be wise. Mule deer are best hunted back away from roads and commonly used trails and that means a lot of walking."

Utilizing a good backstop, hunters should be certain their rifles are sighted in properly, by the hunter who will use the rifle, and with the same ammunition to be used during the hunt. An impact point of about one inch above the bullseye at 100 yards is good for most big game rifles.

"It's going to be time to winterize vehicles soon anyway," Williams said,

"and a vehicle that is properly prepared is far more likely to get the hunter into, and back out of, the hunting field. Ideally, a hunter's vehicle should be equipped with mud and snow tires, a first aid kit, tow and tire chains, a tool kit and emergency spare parts kit, a good jack and a spare tire."

Trout limits to be doubled

The possession limit on trout will be doubled to 16 next year as the result of State Game Commission action Friday, according to Fisheries Division Chief R.L. Brashears, Department of Game and Fish.

In adopting the 1979-1980 fishing regulations, the commission voted 3-2 to increase the possession limit, currently the same as the daily bag limit of eight. Beginning April 1, 1979, the bag limit will be eight trout per day, with a total of up to 16 in possession.

The commission considered various pieces of legislation proposed by the Game and Fish Department for submission to the 1979 Legislative session, approving submission of one bill that would extend commission authority to cover nongame animals as deemed necessary and another that would amend the Hunter Training Act.

Zuni deer herd study launched

New Mexico Game and Fish Department biologists are helping the Zuni Indians, United States Fish and Wildlife Service and the United States Bureau of Reclamation capture and tag deer this week as part of a deer herd population study being launched on the Zuni Reservation.

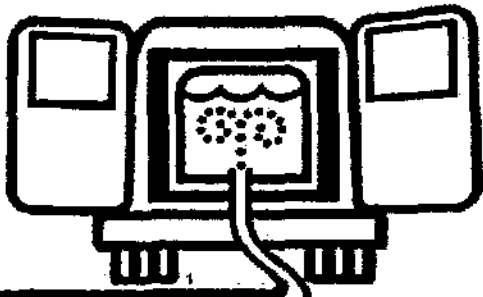

Harold Olson, director of the state agency, said the department's biologists have also helped the tribe design the study. Information from it can be correlated with data gathered by the Game and Fish Department from its deer studies in northern and southwestern New Mexico.

This week, the department is furnishing equipment — including a 1,500-foot-long barrier net — and experienced personnel to help capture and radio collar deer for the study.

Olson said the department was the first agency to use the barrier net for capturing mule deer, which are driven into it by helicopter.

The Zuni study will have aims similar to those of the research underway by the Game and Fish Department, Olson said. Researchers will attempt to define pregnancy rates, fawning rates, herd movements and causes of mortality in the state's deer herds.

Capitan juniors roll over Grizzlies

The Capitan Junior High football team traveled to Carrizozo last Thursday and had a big win! They tamed the Junior High Grizzlies by the score of 26-0.

Capitan wasted no time in showing the Grizzlies they were going to avenge the 18-6 loss suffered earlier in the season. Grady Le Eldridge took the opening kick-off on about the 15 yard line and ran it all the way back for the touchdown. The PAT failed but Capitan had the lead they never relinquished.

On Capitan's next offensive series, Eldridge raced 55 yards over the right side to score again. The extra point try failed again but the Tigers led 12-0.

In the third quarter, Robert Parker, quarterback, caught a pass from Eldridge and went 60 yards for the touchdown making the score 18-0.

The last touchdown came in the fourth quarter as Parker scored again. This time it was on a run around the right side. The two point conversion was good on a run by James Ramirez, bringing the final score to 26-0.

According to Coach Jimmy Bizzell, it was a great team victory. All the boys performed 100 percent. The defense performed extremely well in holding Carrizozo scoreless and the offensive line blocked well to help make the 26 points possible.

TIGERETTE VOLLEYBALL

The three Tigerette Volleyball teams were in action against Tularosa October 21, in the Capitan gym.

After a slow first game, the Varsity came on strong to beat Tularosa 15-17, 15-5, and 15-4. In the first game for Capitan, Cindy Cline had 6 points, Sally Abercrombie - 4, Donna Cooper and Kathleen Story - 2 each, and Lisa Lamb - 1.

In the second game for Capitan, Cooper had 7, Lamb - 4, Story - 3, and Jackie DeWeber - 1. In the third and deciding game, Cooper had 7, Story, Cline and Debby Womack - 2 each, and Lamb and Debbie Castillo - 1 each.

For the Junior Varsity, the results were not as pleasant as they were beaten 4-15 and 3-15. Scoring in the first game was Beth Long - 2, Becky Jones and Marie Lobb - 1 each. In the second game, Jones had 2 points and Valerie Luna - 1.

The Junior High group started things off in a winning manner as they won by scores of 15-12 and 15-13. In the first game Terri Womack had 9 points, Patti Huey and DeLois Hobbs - 2 each, Claudia Branum and Lisa Schear - 1 each. In the second game Hobbs had 6, Denise Back - 4, Ellen Long - 2, Ronda Exter, Judy Trujillo and Vivian Griego - 1 each.

This ends the season for the Junior High and Junior Varsity teams. The Junior High Members were Denise Baca, Rebecca Barber, Claudia Branum, Ronda Exter, Vivian Griego, DeLois Hobbs, Patti Huey, Ellen Long, Janice Morero, Lisa Schear, Tammy Shafer, Judy Trujillo, Renita Trujillo, Terri Womack and Gloria Zamora. The coach was Bill MacVegh.

The JV members under coach Jimmy Bizzell were Mary Alfred, Sandy Cranwell, Lucy Herrera, Becky Jones, Marie Lobb, Regina Lobb, Beth Long, Valerie Luna, Jana Parker and Renee Richardson.

The Varsity will now prepare for the District Round Robin Tournament. The Tigerettes start the tournament off playing Hondo at 11 a.m., in Capitan. The Tigerettes are looking to the top seeding, so come out and watch some volleyball.

MOUNTAINEERS WIN

It's a long way across New Mexico to Reserve but the ride back home can seem endless if you lose a football game. That's what happened to the Capitan Tigers last Friday. The Reserve Mountaineers stunned the Capitan Tigers 20-6.

The game was tied 6-6 after three quarters of play. The Tigers led on penetrations 3-2, but the last two minutes of the game brought doom to the Tigers. Two penalties against Capitan on the same play — a live ball penalty and a deadball penalty — gave Reserve the ball inside the Tiger 20 yard line. Reserve then scored on the next play.

After Capitan received the ball they were trying to tie the game up by use of the airways. On the last play of the game Reserve intercepted a pass and ran it back for the final touchdown.

Capitan's six points were scored by Marc Stewart on a 74 yard run.

Capitan had 320 yards in total offense to 160 yards for Reserve. Capitan doubled Reserve in another category. The Tigers were called for 18 penalties of 190 yards and Reserve 8 penalties for 90 yards.

Some individual statistics saw Stewart with 180 yards on 21 carries and Rich Sanchez 103 yards on 18 carries. Quarterback Adam Aldaz was 8 for 20, passing for 66 yards.

ELDRIDGES IN RODEO

The brother - sister team of Grady Le and Shelly Eldridge is the New Mexico State Champions in Team Roping in the 12 and under age group. They recently competed in the New Mexico Junior Rodeo Association finals held in Belen.

Both Grady Le and Shelly qualified for two individual events besides the team roping. To qualify for the finals, contestants must compete and place in rodeos held throughout the state from April through October.

Grady Le also finished second in breakaway roping and third in steer riding. Shelly finished third in goat tying and fifth in the barrel race.

Congratulations to both of them!

The Roswell Symphony will perform Monday in the high school gym at 10:30. The symphony will be under the direction of John Farrer and includes sixty members. They will play several pieces including, "The Dance of Comedians," by Smetana; an Indian piece, "Why the Duck has a Short Tail," by Louis Ballard of Santa Fe, and "Symphony IV," by Tchaikowski. The symphony promises to be enjoyable for those who attend. This performance has been made possible by the money donated by service clubs, townspeople and students in a drive led by Mrs. M.R. Delhotal and assisted by Danny Flores, high school band director.

Ten members of the humanities class, taught by Raymona McAdams took a field trip to the Buckhorn Foundry, owned by Tom and Dorothy Knapp. While the students were there they were shown slides on the lost wax process of casting bronze statues. They also saw stain glass windows and works done in pastels and watercolors. Students participating were: Chris Carson, Lisa Delhotal, Andrea

The Silver Lining

BY DANIEL AGNEW STORM

October Rain And Snow

This is being sent to you on October twenty-four, and as I look up the vale I can see the October colors all along the mountain side trimmed in a lace work of pure shining white. The sun has come out this morning after being hid for a day, all day yesterday above a sky of clouds which had drifted overhead late the evening before carrying a light rain along with them. This was Sunday evening, from the top of a hill to the north, you could see the rain clouds floating in over the hills on the south side of the river. The sun was just going down and the last rays turned the cloud and its streamers of rain into a blaze and a shower of gold.

All Sunday night the rain drops fell ever so slowly with all the rain soaking into the ground, a welcome blessing for Good Mother Earth.

Early Monday morning you could see that the rain was mingled with snow flakes falling gently and majestically in the still air. The first snow of the year, brought in by a band of clouds floating down from the north, meeting the rain cloud from the south.

There is an old saying that in November and February you can see days of all four seasons of the year.

During the last few days we have seen winter, spring, fall and Indian Summer here in the mountain land.

The Cows Know

On Saturday the twenty second the bees were out in the sunny weather under a pure blue sky. The leaf colors of the oak brush and river trees and mountain maples and aspen were shining under a warm sun. It was eighty degrees here at the house. You wondered if winter was going to pass us by this time.

The cows had all come down from the hills and were lying resting on the knoll, the calves stretched out on the ground near their mothers, or in little groups together, basking in the sun. The cows did not seem to be hungry or thirsty. They just rested there all afternoon. The warm weather and the gathering of the cows is always a sign of approaching rain. Yet there was not a cloud in sight and the Indian Summer weather was in full command of the world.

Toward evening, suddenly the cows were gone, and here came a light rain out of the west. On Sunday the sky cleared and at midday some of the cows came down a few at a time to the river and slowly journeyed back toward the hills.

Late in the evening all along the hill sides you could hear cow and calf voices calling and echoing through the canyons and glens. What message were they bringing to each other?

At night fall just at the gloaming, the golden rain cloud appeared on the southern mountain horizon and quietly the rain moved in without thunder or lightning. In the night the snow came in from the north, and Monday was a rare October day.

Rain and snow fell together and it was a marvel to see how the snow flakes and rain drops did not disturb one another. Winter and fall were with us together — the autumn rain and the winter snow.

It is always wonderful to watch the different moods of the snow.

The snow flakes may dance lightly through the air, or come flying on the wind, or swirl and rush with the blizzard as it calls through the trees and cliffs and hill tops.

This Monday snow amongst the rain came falling through a world still and quiet; the flakes were large and soft, and floated straight down slowly from the gray sky — all in perfect step with not the slightest change in the distance between each mother, above, below or to the side. There is something about this slow-falling quiet snow that holds you in a pleasant spell. You watch the down drifting white flakes and their quiet, peaceful mood reaches you, bringing you contentment, and awakening happy memories.

Autumn Picture Glows and Shines

Today, October twenty-four, Indian Summer has returned, touched with just enough of winter to bring a magic brilliance to the leaf colors. The snow and rain have washed the leaves sparkling clean and drops of rain are turned into shining jewels by the sun. Up along the higher reaches of the hills, you can see light traces of snow outlining patches of oak brush colored crimson, orange, purple, yellow, pink and purple. New delicate shades and hues of color are brought out by the cleansing rain and the shining snow.

Though a touch of winter's white charms the mountain heights, all trace of snow is gone from the vale and the world is warm again. The apricot tree is shining many shades of gold, against the green and purple hill, clearly outlined against the sky of October blue.

Birthday Draws Near

During the snow and rain of Monday, my thoughts went back to the long trip on foot that our father made to be present at my arrival in the world at Valdez, Alaska in just such weather. In my heart today are the prayers of my mother and father trusting God with my safe arrival and my happiness and safety always.

These words will reach you on the eve of that October twenty-seven day in my native land of Alaska.

Looking back through the years those days seem only yesterday and Alaska just over the hill to the north. I feel in my soul today God's precious miracle of life.

A song from heaven is in my heart today, a sacred hymn of gratefulness to God for my life and my loved ones, and so many blessings. The blessed spirits of my mother, father and all my loved ones are close to me today, and we all rejoice together thanking God.

Let us send a prayer to God to bring His blessing and His never-falling care to all mothers, and all infants waiting to see the light of day.

Santa Fe — Out on a Limb: By this late date in the General Election campaign, the readers probably have heard enough poll figures on the gubernatorial race to drive them bananas!

This columnist always has felt it is not our job to influence voters, but it does fall within the reporter's bailiwick to try to get out as many votes as possible.

Several weeks ago, we went out on a limb and predicted the contest between Democrat Bruce King and Republican Joe Skeen could end up with as few as four thousand votes separating the victor from the loser — in fact the final margin could be under two thousand votes.

Traditionally, in New Mexico political campaigns, candidates try to peak about two weeks before election day and hold that plateau until the voters go into the voting booth.

The one poll we have seen with a degree of consistency — taken by an out-of-state firm by the way — shows the contest between Skeen and King extremely tight with just about a little more than six percent of those polled undecided.

But, if we read it correctly, those six percent of the undecideds could make the difference in the election — if they go to the polls.

Just for the record, the same poll shows Attorney General Toney Anaya picking up about five percentage points against his Republican opponent Pete Domenici in the race for the U.S. Senate seat — but Domenici still holds a commanding lead.

We still figure this race to be closer than most people expect, but tab Albuquerque Pete as an easy winner.

And it should come as no surprise that incumbent Congressman Manuel Lujan probably will lead the Republican ticket in his contest against Bob Hawk for the Northern Congressional seat. Lujan could come close to taking almost seventy percent of the vote!

More Water Legislation: This column has reported previously on various types of water-related legislation under preparation by candidates for the State House of Representatives in the November general election.

Another such proposal comes from candidate Leo Catanach who is seeking the District 48 seat from Santa Fe County. It was Catanach who defeated powerful State Representative Eddie Lopez in the June primary.

Catanach proposes a "de-watering" bill at New Mexico mining sites. The concept involves a second, or even third use of water used initially for mining purposes. The second or third use might involve sanitary uses as opposed to drinking uses . . . but Catanach sees the legislation as critical in New Mexico's continuing battle against the amount of available water.

ACLU-Jaramillo: Our birdies say the American Civil Liberties Union-New Mexico is still considering a request from State Liquor Control boss Carlos Jaramillo.

Jaramillo is asking the organization to intervene on his behalf against the Governor's Organized Crime Prevention Commission.

The anti-crime unit has been investigating the liquor industry and Jaramillo for some 18 months. Jaramillo has charged the investigation has been a "witch-hunt", and says any other similar probe would have been over.

Reportedly, the ACLU is looking at the "record" of the case, attempting to determine if any of Jaramillo's constitutional rights have been violated.

Wooden Walk Safe?: A walk from the Round House to the Alcoholic Beverage Control (ABC) unit has got to trigger some thoughts about fire prevention.

The stairs leading to the ABC and the landing at the top of the stairs are made of WOOD.

Santa Fe oldtimers remember the days when that building was part of the old St. Michael's High School. In those days nobody questioned the safety of the wood, should fire break out.

But in these days of building codes and sophisticated fire prevention — one has to wonder!

Interesting Topic: The American Civil Liberties Union in New Mexico is taking a long look at the "rights of young people".

The legal-beagles say this is an area to watch closely, and one that will probably trigger some interesting court tests of the future.

The ACLU is on target by probing this particular issue!

PSC Budget Update: The New Mexico Public Service Commission is asking for a pretty hefty budget hike, as it administers the regulations and laws tied to New Mexico's electric, water and natural gas rates.

Nobody took notice, but the Commission's workload now involves some 60 cases (many of which are major). And the Commission holds jurisdiction over 77 utilities in the Land of Enchantment.

NMSU'S TRYING . . . VERY

Considering the various methods . . . some of them allegedly not quite according to Hoyle . . . that New Mexico State University (NMSU) is employing to prevent their grazing experiments from being a hindrance to the $ multi-million airport proposed for Fort Stanton Mesa . . . it's not surprising that NMSU'd spend $4 million for a 30,000 seat arena without contacting the state highway department about routes of ingress and egress.

What is puzzling . . . howsoever . . . is the fact that NMSU has . . . according to the Albuquerque Journal . . . refused to grant right-of-way from campus property adjoining University Avenue to the south.

The key word must be "refused" . . . which could justify the highway department's decision to refuse to consider NMSU's squawking about needing a road to their stadium . . . until they unrefuse to give up a few acres of campus grassland to build the road on.

Why you'd almost think NMSU is operating as a tax paying institution . . .

instead of an institution that is operated on monies paid to the state by tax paying citizens. 'Tis about time . . . by jinkies . . . that Senator Aubrey Dunn has a little chit-chat about where NMSU's money comes from with NMSU's officials who seem to think they should always be on the receiving end.

QUITE SOME BEASTIE

If'n you know the boonies between Las Cruces and Hatch . . . you probably are of the opinion that stretch of land ain't fitten for man or beast.

Comes now the banner-tailed kangaroo rat . . . who thrives there.

This wee beastie . . . weighing in at four ounces . . . spends the arid winter chomping down dry seeds . . . without a drop of water.

And this beastie lives in a mound . . . 18 inches high and from six to ten feet in diameter . . . extending some 42 inches into the earth . . . and so built that the air therein is so saturated with carbon dioxide that other beasties'd die if cooped up therein.

Next time you think you can survive when the going gets tough . . . give a little thought to how tough the banner-tailed kangaroo rat is.

A PULSE QUICKENER

New York City . . . touted by promoters of same as The Big Apple . . . is trying to entice tourism . . . 'cause as us'n's here in Harmony Valley know . . . tourists spend money which yields taxes . . . and The Big Apple needs plenty of tax money to keep from becoming The Big Bad Apple.

Anyhow . . . in a promotional blurb about Macy's Thanksgiving Day parade . . . these public relations types are throwing out a real pulse quickener for visitors as might be on hand to view said parade.

It's suggested that visitors go to 77th Street and Central Park West the night before the parade . . . and ooh and ah and gape and gasp at the sight of the huge cartoon figures being inflated . . . why if'n people could live through that stimulating experience without getting mugged . . . they might have strength left to relax over an ice tea . . . just to gradually come down from the exciting emotional strain of watching cartoon figures being blown up . . . why it's almost enough to make a person quit watching bread rising.

ON LEGISLATIVE PAY

Even in view of the hassle the legislature had during the 30-day session this year in passing their "feed bill" . . . it does seem likely that it wouldn't be at all amiss to provide our Senators and Representatives with a stipend of $3,600 annually . . . which might entice more capable people to seek these offices . . . and from the griping heard statewide throughout the last session about some of the legislators . . . there possibly are better candidates.

Why it might be that some capable people . . . maybe retired . . . maybe in a position where they'd serve in the legislature if'n that $3,600 would take up the slack . . . just might become public minded . . . and run for office . . . and, once elected, just might consider their first responsibility could be to represent their constituents full time . . . which might help all of us.

editorial

Every village owned vehicle, from the heaviest truck to passenger cars, should prominently display the legend: "Village of Ruidoso" on the front doors. This would enable taxpayers to determine whether village employees are diligently using village vehicles to check out the facilities at public and private spas, long after normal working hours. — CD

POOR PLANNING

We can't help but question the economics of the state spending $14.9 million to construct a medium security prison near Los Lunas to house 182 male and 96 female inmates — a total of only 278 persons.

The situation at the present prison is admittedly, getting almost intolerable as it becomes increasingly overcrowded. As the courts become stricter and the state moves to mandatory sentencing, this problem will worsen.

There is no question that the state needs more prison facilities and should have started on this years ago, but our question is are we doing enough now?

Why not build a facility to handle 500 people and be done with it? Admittedly, the planned Los Lunas facility, can be enlarged but when the state decides to do this, as it inevitably must, what will building costs be?

We applaud the program, but deplore the planning. — The Rio Grande Sun, Espanola

BRAKES ON SMUGGLING

No one needs to be told that the Immigration and Naturalization Service should have all the help it can get in combatting the flood of undocumented aliens into the United States.

The immediate problem, of course, is to see that life is tougher for the smugglers who make a business of sneaking aliens across the border. One way would be to seize the vehicles they use.

Unfortunately, the 1952 federal statute covering illegal entry does not permit U.S. border officials to impound the trucks, vans and cars that have become important tools in the organized importation of aliens.

This loophole has created an absurd situation. Leonel J. Castillo, INS commissioner, told a Senate judiciary subcommittee recently that 828 of 3,600 vehicles intercepted carrying illegal aliens in the Chula Vista, California border section during fiscal year 1977 had been involved in at least one prior case of smuggling. A vehicle stopped at the border one day may be transporting more aliens across the line 24 hours later.

Fortunately, Congress seems ready to correct this oversight. Legislation sponsored by Sen. Walter Huddleston, D-Ky., would give the Immigration and Naturalization Service the authority to seize vehicles used in alien smuggling.

Vehicle owners would have the usual due process rights of appeal and impounded vehicles could not be sold without judicial permission.

Huddleston's measure ought to be approved by Congress as a necessary part of a larger strategy to reduce undocumented immigration. — News-Bulletin, Belen

Sunland Park Hoofbeats

BY KAREN HALLORAN
 THE NEW BUGLER at the Sunland oval is a pretty 17-year-old miss named Kelly Thrasher. Kelly, the sister of former jockey Jeff Thrasher, took over the post for the first time last Saturday. She'll be on hand for both the salute to the flag and the call to the post for each race Saturdays and Sundays from now on. The young lady, a member of the Coronado High School band, is a senior and has played trumpet for eight years.

JOE OBER TURNED in one of the finest performances in the history of night racing at Sunland Park last Friday. The jockey cleared the winner's circle in four of the 10 races. He began the onslaught on Nunsanickel ($9.20), then brought in two mounts for trainer Wayne Stanton, Sure Do 2 ($6.20) and Tudor Paradise ($7.80). He finished up with longshot Topofthetower ($21.80) in the 10th race.

THE HIGH SHOW PAYOFF of the season cropped up in Saturday's second race as Mad Matie, a 38-1 outsider, grabbed third for an $18.40 return. Apprentice Florentino Yanguz brought in the sophomore colt.

SAINT COURT NABBED his second straight win in the Shue Fly Stakes trials Saturday to set the fastest qualifying time for the 400 yard event at 20.40 seconds. The final of the $14,843 Shue Fly comes up October 29. Saint Court downed allowance foes by a neck previously and came through with the same margin as an overlooked 5-1 choice Saturday. The colt is owned by the Rio Grande Stables of Albuquerque.

A ROON IS THE TOP money earner in the Shue Fly finale. The two-year-old filly boasts a $31,856 bankroll from seven starts. Her top credential is a 1½-length win in the $113,810 New Mexico Quarter Horse Futurity at the State Fair. She took second to Saint Court in Saturday's trial for a 20.44 qualifying time.

VIRGINIA TURNER, widely read Herald-Post columnist, was on hand to make the winner's circle presentation for Friday's eighth race feature. The 5½-furlong sprint, which saluted the former city-editor, was won by Tudor Paradise with a clear cut three and one-fourth length margin.

THE HIGH WIN PAYOFF of the season was set by Our Apple, 50-1 choice in Sunday's sixth race. The three-year-old grabbed the lead and was in front of the pack throughout a six furlong tour to hit the wire with a two length margin. The win return was $109.40. The gelding paid $42.80 to place and established the seasonal record in that category as well. Danny Summerow handled the reins.

CENTENNIAL KID CLOSED with incredible swiftness in Friday's third race.

The three-year-old gelding lay eighth at the midpoint of the 400 yard dash. But in a brisk final surge, he came up to second and missed victory by only a nose. Mike Hidinger was up. The winner, Night Carpet, returned $8, while Centennial Kid brought $3.80 to place.

A SUDDEN RAINSTORM turned the track condition to sloppy for Saturday's ninth race and sure enough a longshot lit the board. Lady Jockey Betty Harless brought in her first win of the season on the off track at a resounding $40 win return. Jim Lail, a four-year-old gelding, cruised in for the half length win after leading throughout the mile test for four grand claimers.

HIGH ODDS HORSES picked off all three of the top posts twice over the weekend, leaving the favorite well out of contention each time. In Friday's fourth race, Bold Bratches (8-1) nabbed an 870 yard test by two and one half lengths and was followed in by Officer Stevens (10-1) and Rainaway (4-1). In Saturday's second race, Paso Sam D. (7-1) took a five and one-half furlong sprint by a four and one fourth length margin. Great Man (27-1) and Mad Matie (38-1) also lit the board. The favorites finished sixth and eighth respectively.

IN STEWARDS' RULINGS: Trainer Cliff Lambert received a $150 charge for failing to bring Large John to the paddock for the ninth race Saturday, necessitating a late scratch. Trainer Coy Hendrix got a $25 bite for being late to the paddock for the first race Saturday.

JOCKEY DANNY SUMMEROW was suspended seven days, October 23 through 29, for careless riding causing interference while astride Belladonna Lady during the fifth race Friday.

THE NO. SIX POST position toured the winner's circle six times over the racing weekend to lead in that category. Here's the complete seasonal breakdown: No. 1-10; No. 2-8; No. 3-3; No. 4-9; No. 5-9; No. 6-10; No. 7-10; No. 8-9; No. 9-8; No. 10-6; No. 11-0; No. 12-0.

AN ENDORSEMENT OF JOHN HIGHTOWER

To The Voters of Lincoln County:

My name will be printed on the ballot for the position of County Commissioner, District II, on the Democratic ticket.

Due to recent job transfer, I will be unable to fulfill this commitment to the people of Lincoln County.

Therefore, I would urge you to write-in the name of John Allen Hightower for County Commissioner, District II.

I have enjoyed serving as your Commissioner for the past two years and appreciate the support you have given me.

I ask that you extend this support to JOHN HIGHTOWER, by your write-in vote.

The Best Thing We Can Do For Ourselves Is Send Another Effective Senator To Santa Fe. Bobby Dan Crenshaw

The important issues are all there... and waiting: tax reform, holding down
 the size and cost of state government, giving Otero and Lincoln Counties the way to improve our everyday services without placing additional tax burdens on us.

What we're waiting for is another State Senator committed to those goals -- man involved in the community, and a good neighbor who thinks the same way we do -- he knows we can do better in Santa Fe.

BOBBY DAN CRENSHAW. Another effective
 Senator for Otero and Lincoln.

Now is the time when we can accomplish so much with a common sense approach to state government and with the kind of cooperation and old fashioned commitment that we're just not getting from our State Senator right now. Attitude has a lot to do

New law makes fathers pay child support

"Since earliest recorded history, women have usually been left to bear the burden of children conceived out of wedlock. Now, the law makes the male, regardless of his age, financially responsible as well," said Leo Yates, Extension family life specialist at New Mexico State University.

The passage of Public Law 93-647 began a new era of a nationwide, cooperative effort between states to enforce payment of child support. For the first time in military history, the wages of a member of the armed forces may be garnished for child support.

The federal courts, Social Security records and Internal Revenue records may now be used to trace, document ability to pay, and enforce payment of child support. Even wages earned in foreign employment with American firms are subject to garnishment for child support.

"The plain fact is that it is rapidly becoming almost impossible to escape the legal responsibility for supporting one's offspring," Yates said. "Where the threat of bodily harm once prevented many women from claiming child support, the state now receives the payments and automatically reacts to late payments." These child support payments are then paid to the child's remaining parent or legal guardian.

The law has created regional offices all over the nation which cooperate in locating parents — mostly fathers — who have refused to support their children. The law applies equally to all, whether the couple was married or not when the child was conceived.

In New Mexico there are six regional offices that help initiate legal procedures to collect past and future child support. In some cases where paternity has not been established, the Child Support Enforcement Division will help to do so. Then it initiates legal action in the interest of the child.

Many fathers, having become aware of Public Law 93-647, voluntarily agree to making regular child support payments and negotiate to settle accumulated unpaid child support. Since the program began in August 1975, the New Mexico Child Support Enforcement Division has successfully assisted more than 49,000 mothers, 12,724 of them through court action.

There is a widespread misunderstanding about who can use the assistance of the CSED, Yates said. Some erroneously believe that only those on welfare receive this assistance. The fact is, anyone may obtain assistance from the CSED by paying a $20, one-time fee if they do not qualify as a low income client.

If the sire is extremely young, the courts determine child support responsibility so that when the juvenile becomes a wage earner, assessments against wages can be made for child support. And it is not inconceivable that a court might require payments of child support from grandparents — parents who knowingly permitted juvenile sexual activity, Yates said.

"It's a pity that an impulsive act in the teen years might result in a mortgage on the young male's future! Yet, this is exactly what has been happening to young females since history has been recorded," Yates said. "How strange that sex education in the public schools may eventually be demanded by parents wishing to protect the futures of sons rather than daughters."

How long could these child support payments be demanded? The "mortgage" on the parent's future is likely to extend to whichever period is longest: until the offspring reaches legal age of independence (usually 18); or until the collegebound offspring finished college or age 21, whichever comes first. It could be for the remainder of life for offspring who for any reason cannot become an independent person, such as birth defect, disabling accident or illness.

"You might correctly guess that most of the enforced child support cases in New Mexico currently involve broken marriages of rather decent people who lead respectable lives," Yates said. "On the other hand you can be rather certain that there are a few grossly, willfully negligent individuals who are creating financial responsibilities far beyond their ability to support. Society picks up the bill for their continuing string of 'flings' through welfare payments, poverty, juvenile delinquency, vandalism and crime."

Yates said there is a real need to identify the number of people who are multiple parents of two, three, four or more children who are the subject of enforced child support.

"Once this is done, public policy can be formulated on how to deal with the relatively few individuals guilty of willful, wanton, heedless, reckless disregard for the number and well-being of the children they produce," Yates concluded.

Wilderness

Wisdom

Dear Wayne — Last summer I drove to the West for vacation. While driving through Wyoming I saw several groups of antelope grazing or congregated around waterholes very near the road. I even saw one standing by a speed limit sign just outside a small town. I know antelope are widely hunted but do they really offer any challenge? They would appear to be no match for a high powered rifle. Glen K., New Jersey

Dear Glen — Don't be fooled by the apparent nonchalantness of the antelope during the summer months. They apparently know as well as you that it isn't hunting season. But with the coming fall season and the first crack of a rifle they become wary, high speed ghosts. They aren't known for superior intelligence but their eyesight far surpasses that of man. A pushover they are not.

Dear Wayne — Which boat is capable of navigating rougher water conditions, the canoe or kayak? Chris W., Georgia

Dear Chris — The kayak, without question. Because the paddler sits nearly on the kayak floor, the center of gravity is lower than that of a canoe, meaning greater stability. In addition, the deck and aft sections of a kayak are covered, leaving an open area only where the paddler, or paddlers, sit. This, of course, renders the craft much less susceptible to swamping. They are also capable of being paddled at faster speeds than canoes because of their needlenose hull design.

Dear Wayne — Although I'm not active in either event, I would like to know the difference between trap and skeet shooting. Phillip I., Illinois

Dear Phillip — There are several significant differences between trap and skeet that may not be apparent at first glance. Trap shooters use five stations from which to fire, while the skeet field has eight stations. Trap uses one trap house from which clay pigeons are thrown, located in the center of the field; whereas the skeet field employs two trap houses, a high one and a low one, located to the right and left of the shooter.

In trap, the target is thrown away from the shooter at an angle unknown to him beforehand. Skeet targets are thrown from right or left across the shooter and at a slight angle away. This angle is constant and requires no guesswork on the part of the shooter, but each station presents a slightly different approach of the targets. Twenty-five shots constitutes a round on either field.

Since skeet targets are presented at a closer range than trap, a more open bore shotgun is required.

Dear Wayne — In my home state, wildlife poaching is a serious problem. I have been told there aren't enough game wardens to effectively police this crime. I'd like to know if poaching is widespread in other areas, and if there aren't some effective methods of curbing it. Lenny R., South Carolina

Dear Lenny — Wildlife poaching is a multi-million dollar plague, and it happens in every state. States with large rural areas and good populations of big game are easiest targets. For some of our game species, the poaching toll is substantially higher than the legal take during hunting season.

The job of wildlife protection is simply too big for the meager force of wardens without help from the public. And therein lies the problem. The majority of the public will not report a poacher. Not even when he shoots down an animal in broad daylight. Perhaps the seeming indifference is really a reluctance to get involved.

The New Mexico Department of Game and Fish has implemented a system of reporting poaching that seems to be successful. The informant remains anonymous through the use of an identification number. When an actual arrest is made, the informant is given a substantial reward. Sometimes several hundreds of dollars. Funds for rewards are through private donations, and so far, donations are running ahead of reward requirements.

Dear Wayne — I'm a new bird watcher. In my area there are numerous blue jays. I've heard the jay is a real villain because of his nest robbing and egg eating traits. He's such a beautiful bird it's hard to believe. Doesn't he have any good characteristics? Gloria J., Virginia

Dear Gloria — Sure. The bluejay is a noisy bully among birds, but he is beautiful and interesting to watch. And if he provides pleasure to people who study him, he can't be all bad.

Dear Wayne — A couple of years ago I began turkey hunting. I'm not very good at it and my luck has been nil, but it's great fun. I'd like to learn as much about the sport as possible. Is there a national organization for turkey hunters? Ritchie W., Missouri

Dear Ritchie — Yes, there is a very fine one. And you need not be a hunter to derive benefit from its programs.

The National Wild Turkey Federation is a non-profit organization dedicated to the preservation and management of the wild turkey. Its programs are supplemented financially through the sale of annual wild turkey stamps and prints.

The Federation maintains headquarters at Edgefield, South Carolina, 29824. Send questions: Wilderness Wisdom, P.O. Box 237, Pittsboro, MD 21850

Beware of Big Labor's Big Lies

Facts prove that

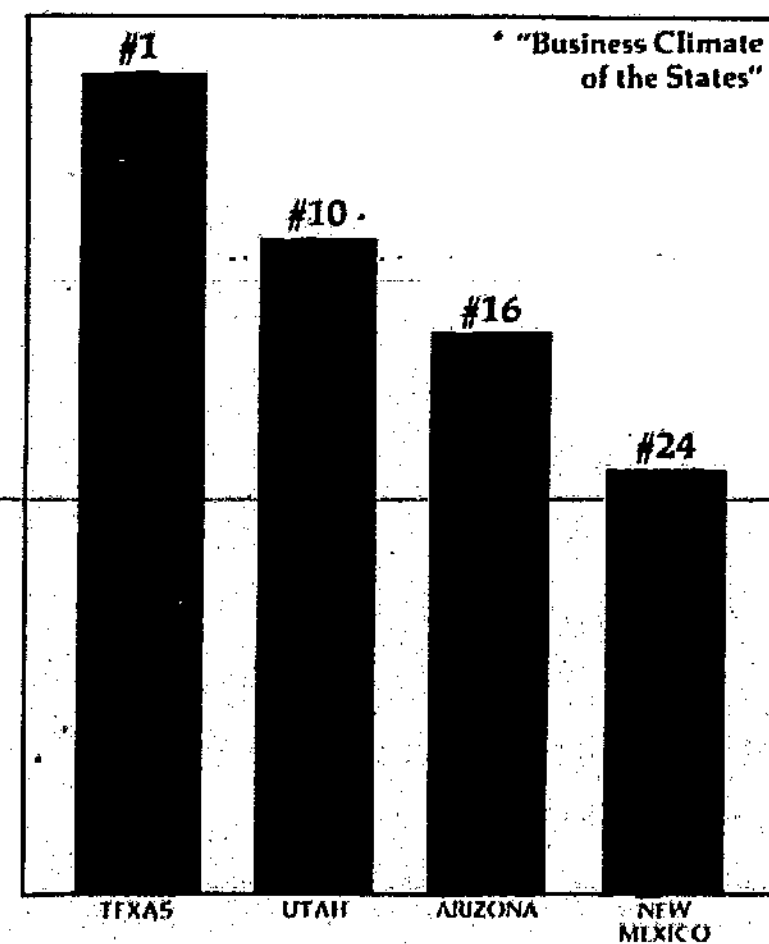

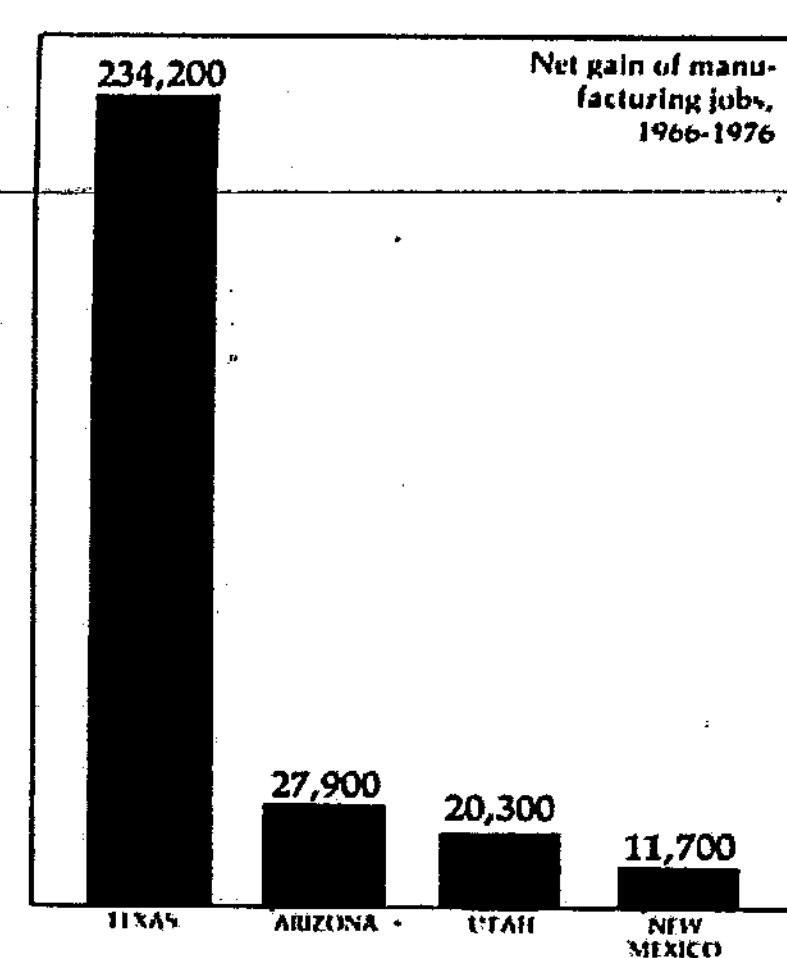

Right to Work states are better off.

Recent statistics from the U.S. department of Labor show that those states with Right to Work laws generally have greater economic prosperity for workers, consumers, employers and the entire community. The lack of a Right to Work law is having an unhealthy effect on New Mexico's economy.

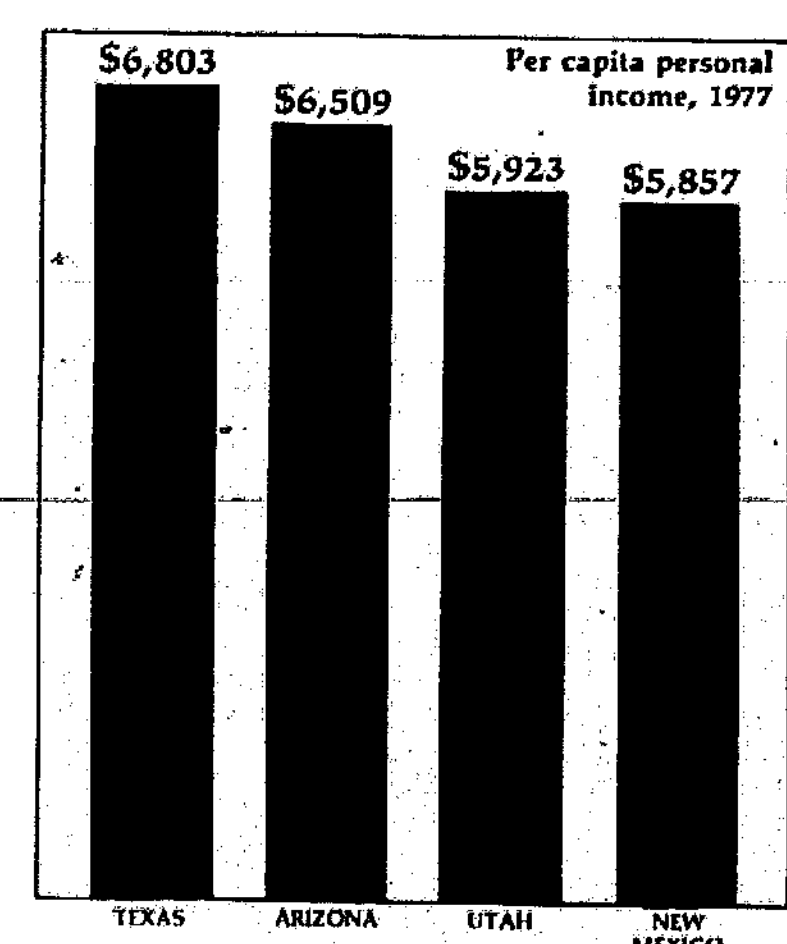

Compare New Mexico with our neighboring Right to Work states.
