VOLUME NO. 82 IN OUR 32ND YEAR

RUIDOSO, LINCOLN COUNTY, NEW MEXICO 88345

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 27, 1978

IN A RECORD BREAKING DAY, 4,328 skiers were at Sierra Blanca Ski Area Saturday, surpassing the previous record day of 4,100 set earlier this year. Attendance Sunday was 3,572, making the total for the weekend about 7,900. Area manager Roy Parker said the record attendance figures were brought about by "good snow, although late, and the new lift which increases our capacity."

AREA BEAUTIFICATION COMMITTEE GOAL

Fire prevention plan set

A steering committee of concerned Ruidoso residents will be organized to promote, with the assistance of state and federal agencies, citizen participation in beautification and fire prevention projects.

At an organizational meeting held Thursday night and attended by two members of the eight-person committee, functions and plans of the committee were discussed with representatives of the Village of Ruidoso, Forest Service, New Mexico State Forestry and Ruidoso Volunteer Fire Department.

Functions detailed include:
— Stimulation of citizen participation in anti-litter, fix-up, clean-up, hazard reduction campaigns, annual tree plantings and other programs related to fire prevention, beautification and better civic design.

— Support of the highest standards in all public and private improvements.

— Stimulation and marshalling of citizen support for the development of fuel breaks and areas of fuel modification.

"The Forest Service has a system of fuel breaks laid out and partially built," Larry Bandy of the State Forestry department said. "They would like to complete them on private land, but foresee a problem.

"Here, the committee can meet with civic groups to promote and stimulate community involvement" and educate them to the necessity for the fuel breaks.

In the area of fuel modification, "the committee could promote replacement of trees (including highly flammable Ponderosa Pine) with more fire resistant varieties such as aspen or maple."

"This would tie in with Aspencade because they both turn shades of red to gold in the fall."

— Recommendation of action to the boards, commissions, village officials and representatives of the state and federal agencies to accomplish the purposes for which the committee was established.

"Once the committee gets their projects going," Bandy said, "several sources of funding are available and we will help with locating these sources."

— Sponsoring such meetings, institutes, forums and other educational programs as will lead to a clear understanding of and improvement in the areas of its concern.

— Making studies and investigations which will provide a basis of research and fact for the committee's programs and policies.

"We all think we know the problems, but we need to study the facts and statistics to justify and form concrete bases," he said.

— Publication and distribution of such factual material as they may feel necessary.

Ruidoso Fire Chief Bill Seelbach suggested the committee undertake distribution of evacuation maps, a former project of the department.

"Under a printing grant from the Realtors, we had maps of evacuation routes made for the entire town," Seelbach said.

"Boy Scouts took the maps to the homeowners, 'X'd' where their homes were, explained the route and encouraged them to keep the maps in a conspicuous place.

"It was a tremendous success. And we still have the maps and funds, but no manpower."

The members of the committee present agreed to take the project on as one of their first efforts.

The committee, which will be guided by Bandy and includes Barbara Duff and John Hall, who were present Thursday evening, Mickey Potter, Dorothy Kinsey, Larry Montero, Dennis Hargrove, Dub Williams and Herb Brunell, has been organized as a pilot program.

"The accomplishments of the committee will be good for the community and for Lincoln County. We'll start with this township and then when it gets rolling we will expand to encompass neighboring communities," Charlie Mook, Fire Prevention Officer, Forest Service, said.

"To my knowledge only one other program like this has been tried. We're in the limelight."

The next meeting of the committee will be at 7 p.m., Thursday in the Ruidoso Fire Department station on South County Club Road below Ruidoso Skateland.

Chamber's Coffee Cart Wednesday

The regular Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce Wednesday Coffee Cart will be hosted by Florence and Dave Wilson and held from 9 to 10 a.m., at Wilson Camera Shop and The Roadrunner.

Chamber members and the public are invited.

C-C candidates state views

With the March election to fill positions vacated on the board of directors of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce approaching, The News will present a series of brief biographical sketches on the nominees.

Sketches of some of the nominees follow:
BETTY CUDDY and her husband, Oille, moved to Ruidoso in 1972 and purchased the Casa de Regalos and with Wayne and Mary Bradley purchased the Ruidoso Carpet and Tile. A graduate of Colorado State University in Fort Collins, Betty was the librarian for Texas Tech University and University Ministries in Lubbock. While living in Lubbock, she organized and was the first director of the junior volunteers at Saint Mary's Hospital. Past president of Altrusa, Betty said, "I'd like to see a united Chamber of Commerce, revitalized and stronger, with open communication. The Chamber of Commerce is its members. The town is unique and we need a strong Chamber, not only for our permanent but for our part time residents." She and her husband have three children and two grandchildren, Mrs. Ray Garner, Trey and Eric of Ruidoso, Mrs. Raul Norega, San Francisco, and Mrs. Thomas Dempsey, Bellevue, Washington.

MARCHAND "MAC" MACDOUGAL moved to Ruidoso from Pecos, Texas, in 1961 and purchased Sierra Blanca Cabins. Formerly an elementary classroom teacher, Mac also has taught in Alamogordo, Ruidoso and Mesalero. A graduate of the University of Texas at Austin, he has a BA in arts and sciences and a teaching certificate from New Mexico State University. Mac is secretary of the Evening Lions Club and on the board at First Christian Church. "Our small businesses in this community are good examples of our democratic way of life," Mac said. "This country's freedoms are practiced and protected by small businesses everyday and each of them needs to feel the Chamber cares. We should have closer communication between the board and membership and a greater degree of openness evidenced between the board and the business community." Mac's wife is named Sunny Jo and he has a daughter, Rebecca, 13.

EDDIE PARKER teaches Distributive Education at Ruidoso High School and has a BS in business administration and a MS in business education. He and his family moved to Ruidoso in 1974 from Portales where he managed a department store. Before moving to Portales, Eddie was a proration analyst for Conoco in Midland, Texas after serving with the Navy for three years. A member of Rotary and on the executive board for New Mexico Vocational Association, he was named the state Teacher of the Year in 1977. "I feel a major goal and the first project of the new board should be taking care of the present financial obligations," Eddie said.

ALDEN DEYO has been a member of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce since 1973. He moved to Ruidoso in 1973 after five years in Lubbock as executive director of the South Plains Association of Governments, which coordinated planning efforts for a 15 county area. Prior to moving to Lubbock, Alden was director of city planning for nine years in Dallas and with the planning department for an additional four years before becoming director. During this time, he taught a course on city planning at Dallas College. Alden has a BS in civil engineering from Tulane University in New Orleans, Louisiana, and has been involved with planning for 28 years. Organizations include Rotary, White Mountain Search and Rescue, chairman of the Architectural Plans Review Committee and a member of the Planning and Zoning Commission for the village, member of the American Society of Civil Engineers. He and his wife, Jane, purchased the Candle Shop when they moved to Ruidoso, shortly afterwards renaming it the Aspen Tree. They have two children, Janet Pugh, Madison, Wisconsin, who has a MA in library science, and Rick Deyo, San Antonio, Texas, who will complete his residency in internal medicine this year.

"The important things for the board to do at the moment are maintaining the momentum toward an improved Chamber program and coordination of efforts. I think the Chamber is an important part of the community and I'd like to see it as strong as possible."

BILL WILSON has been a member of the Chamber of Commerce since July 1975 when he and his family moved to Ruidoso from Bedford, Texas, near Fort Worth, where he was a mechanical engineer with Bell Helicopter. He and his wife, Arne, own and operate Ruidoso Skateland and Playland and have other assorted property interests. He has a BS in mechanical engineering from Texas Tech in Lubbock and a MS in mechanical engineering from Southern Methodist University in Dallas. Active with Ruidoso youth, Bill is the coach of the roller skating teams and has been a scout master. He also established

Ruidoso Duplicate Bridge Club. "I believe the Chamber needs to promote Ruidoso more in the way of advertising, especially in the metropolitan areas of Texas. Even while in Fort Worth I was aware of a lack

Girls lose in regional

The Ruidoso High School girls' basketball team was defeated 47-46 by Dexter in the first round of the regional competition held this weekend in Jal.

"They played a very good game," coach Sergio Castanon said. "But it was a heartbreaker to lose since we were ahead until the last 35 seconds."

Castanon said the time clock malfunctioned, forcing officials to use a stopwatch to determine the end of the game.

"That hurt us. It was hard to concentrate without the time up there," he said.

High point scorers in the game were Kristi Perryman with 13, Lorena Herrera with nine, Lisa Shaw with eight, Julie Gooch and Kelly Cothrun with six each and Harla Webb with five.

"It was a disappointing end to a great season, but I'm very proud of the team and a lot of them will be back next year," Castanon said.

Ruidosoans will vote at Public Library

Ruidoso voters will cast their ballot in the March 7 municipal election in the multipurpose room of the Ruidoso Public Library on Sudderth Drive.

ABSENTEE VOTERS may vote in person at the Ruidoso village hall until 5 p.m., Friday, March 3.

No absentee ballots may be mailed after 5 p.m., today, village manager Jim Hine said to The News, and no more applications for absent voter's ballots may be mailed, as of today.

"Voters who discover, before March 3, that they will not be in Ruidoso on election day," Hine said, "can vote in person at village hall until the 5 p.m., March 3 deadline."

Contests in this election, with all terms

being four years, include:

Mayor: Incumbent Lloyd L. Davis Jr., is being challenged by John Cupp.

The Ruidoso Downs agenda includes a report from the water commissioner on billing adjustments, confirmation of condemnation of privately owned property in the village, appointment of an alternate election clerk, consideration of occupation licenses and setting holiday closing dates for the balance of 1978.

The Ruidoso agenda includes an assessment of the Navajo sewer extension, final consideration of Ordinance 78-3 pertaining to the Municipal Judge's salary, opening of bids on the lease of village land for the Teen Center building, reports on Eagle Creek Dam progress and on proposals by the Volunteer Fire Department on control of fireplaces, request for water and sewer service at Cedar Creek Campground by the Forest Service and adoption of holidays for the balance of 1978.

Downs candidates held public session

Candidates for mayor and village council in Ruidoso Downs met Tuesday evening in a public session to present campaign issues.

Incumbent mayor Norman Wheeler listed accomplishments of the village council during his term including construction of All American Park; seeking of funds for paving 1/4 miles of streets and a municipal complex; and progress on animal control.

Wheeler said, "I hope to serve the citizenry of Ruidoso Downs to the best of my ability" and to initiate plans to "clean up and update the village."

He also promised "to continue seeking federal and state assistance on village projects."

Mayoral candidate Harrold Mansell hoped to "turn the city back to the trustees. The mayor should just be for dissemination of information on grants available."

He also proposed "setting aside an hour three days a week for the citizens to talk with the mayor, council and village officials."

In an effort to encourage attendance at the council meetings, Mansell also proposed "enforcing the no smoking rules."

The third mayoral candidate, Jake Harris, presented a brief history of Ruidoso Downs and then detailed projects he felt necessary to the village including "water storage sufficient for fire protection and upgrading of streets."

He also said, "I'm not in favor of taxation (of Ruidoso Downs residents) on anything without a vote. There should be no taxation without our say so."

He added he was in favor of completion of the proposed sewer system.

Also speaking at the meeting were candidates for four-year terms on the council Lois Beavers and Emilia Maes. Candidates Ray Parnell and Ray Reed did not attend.

Candidates for a two-year term on the council speaking Tuesday evening were Don Clark, Sandra Currens, "Dee" Dennis, Vada Leighton and Juanita Burke.

Chamber's party, auction at Ruidoso Elks tonight

The special events committee of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce met Thursday to finalize plans for the Americana Anniversary Party and Auction scheduled for this evening at 5 in the Elks Lodge.

While at the meeting, the committee discussed preparation of the meal of hot dogs, beans, chili, sauerkraut and apple pie and delegation of duties to the board, committee and volunteers.

Chairman of the committee Bill Hirschfeld said items totaling $3,175 have been donated for auction following the dinner Monday including a home video game, smoke alarms, hair dryers, coffee makers, painting, jewelry, ski equipment, gift certificates, savings accounts and bonds, fire wood and an airplane ride.

He added items including meals and gifts also have been donated for door prizes and will be awarded throughout the auction.

Tickets to the anniversary party and auction are available today from the Chamber offices, members of the committee and the board and at the door this evening.

The committee also discussed other special events to be held in the next months.

Hirschfeld proposed contacting Columbia Pictures to organize a Chamber showing of "Casey's Shadow," a motion picture filmed in Ruidoso and at Ruidoso Downs racetrack.

The film has been released nationwide and the committee would like to organize a fund raising event including a party and dinner at the Jockey Club and a showing of the film at American Star Twin Theatre March 16.

Hirschfeld said concrete plans must be made in the next week for Columbia to authorize the showing.

Heid's Ski Shop team faring well in racing

As a result of the Jose Cuervo — Sandia Pro Cup races held February 21 and 22 in Albuquerque, the team of racers sponsored by Ray Heid's Ski Shop are again "running close to the top," Ray Heid said Thursday.

The team, which is "undefeated champ of the Southwest Pro Ski Tour for the last three years," won points last week when Heid, Gary Vogel of Ruidoso and Carl Richardson, of Colorado Springs all qualified for the team.

At Sandia, Gary Vogel skied in the quarter finals and Heid into the round of 32.

Winning the competition was Phillip Tallier of Aspen, followed by George Collins, Steamboat Springs, Colorado, second; Dick Haller, Steamboat Springs, third, and Ted Marolt, Loveland Ski Basin, fourth.

Also competing from Ruidoso for the team were Scharbauer Ward and Steve Wimberly. The next race on the tour will be Tuesday through Thursday at Angel Fire ski area in Northern New Mexico. Qualification races will be held Tuesday and Wednesday with the finals Thursday.

In addition to the regular races of the tour, a $6,000 celebrity pro-am race will be featured Wednesday.

Heid on Ski New Mexico committee

Ruidoso resident Ray Heid was named this week to the advertising and budget committees of Ski New Mexico, Incorporated, an organization designed for promotion of skiing in the state.

Owner of Ray Heid's Ski Shop, he also serves the organization as vice president.

Ski report

Skiing conditions at Sierra Blanca Ski Area are rated as excellent with two inches of new snow reported by 8 a.m., today and a machine-packed base snow depth of 43 inches.

Motorists are advised to watch for "Chains Required" signs on the road to the area.

Low temperature Sunday night was 35.

High temperature Sunday afternoon was 60.

CBers should monitor Channel 3 for information.

Farmer is affected by Social Security changes

The "Social Security Amendments of 1977" will significantly impact on farmers, says Gene Ott, Extension farm management specialist at New Mexico State University.

The self-employment tax paid by farmers has increased steadily in past years. The new legislation will continue that upward trend in 1979 and beyond, Ott says.

The maximum earnings bases and tax rates for self-employed workers, 1977-81, are now as follows:

Year	Earnings Base	Tax Rate	Tax Maximum
1977	$16,500	7.9%	$1,304
1978	17,700	8.1%	1,434
1979	22,900	8.1%	1,855
1980	25,900	8.1%	2,096
1981	$29,700	9.3%	$2,762

Social security benefit increases will continue in future years, but will not be as significant as those that occurred from 1975 to 1977, the specialist says.

Under the old law the maximum earnings allowed before benefit reduction was increased from $3,000 in 1977 to $4,000 in 1978. Under the new law this ceiling will increase at the rate of $500 per year until 1982, when the maximum earnings allowed will reach $8,000.

There will be no earnings limit for retired persons over 70 years of age, Ott says. Persons who delay retirement beyond age 65 will receive a "bonus" benefit of 3 percent for each year of postponement.

For example, a farmer eligible for $275 per month retirement benefit at age 65 who delays retirement to age 68 would receive an additional $25 per month, or $300 per year. (Under the old law the delayed retirement credit was 1 percent per year.)

Farmers as employers will also be affected by the Social Security amendments, Ott says. The withholding percentage for employee wages increased to 6.05 percent for 1978 under the old law. The new law increased the withholding rate to 6.13 percent for 1979 and 1980, then to 6.65 percent in 1981. The maximum earnings bases are the same as those shown in the table for self-employed workers.

of advertising of Ruidoso. We need a real hard effort to make Ruidoso known. Our primary business is from our visitors and we need to capitalize on this," Bill said. "I also would propose regular meeting of the Chamber's general membership." He and his wife have four children, Carol Pearce, Ohio; Mark Wilson, with the Navy stationed in Boston; Peter Wilson, studying computer science at New Mexico State University and David Wilson, sophomore at Ruidoso High School.

BILL UHLEIN moved to Ruidoso in September, 1976, from Fallbrook, California, where he and his family managed a farm. He is the owner of Dan Dee Cabins and continued the cabins' longtime membership in the Chamber. Bill also manages the Coe Ranch in the Hondo Valley. "Election to the board would be a learning experience for me," Bill said. "I would go into it with an open mind and an open heart. I would like to see things done, but there is so much to learn initially before taking action. I hope to encourage the Chamber to work with the community. He and his wife, Lorena, have five children, Reana, 18; Brenda, 16; Bill, 15; James, 14, and Sharon, 12. He attended Menlo College near San Francisco, California.

Conway reports

Last week I wrote that it would hopefully be the final week of the session. This week I am again writing that I hope this will be the last week of the session. As you know, the Governor called a special session that began Friday, February 17. We are to consider only seven bills — the general appropriations act, funding for the special session, three reorganization measures and two bills regarding the proposed community college at Albuquerque.

One bill that I especially liked was Senate Bill One which provided for a $25 per person tax rebate to offset the gross receipts tax we pay on food. The House Taxation Committee killed this bill in the closing hours of the session. Too bad for all of us. It was good legislation and would have helped every New Mexican.

In addition to the operating budget for the Space Hall of Fame, we were able to obtain roughly $158,000 for landscaping at the Space Hall. This should go a long way toward completing the grounds at the hall.

A sleeper that has become a hot issue in the special session is the community college for Albuquerque. One bill proposes the expansion of TVI into both a two year vocational and academic institution and the second bill is to commit eight million dollars in severance tax bonds to purchase the present University of Albuquerque. The new proposed school would not be part of the University of New Mexico.

At the present time the University of Albuquerque is having financial difficulty and apparently wants to sell. TVI has an excellent track record and appears to have little to gain by joining with the U of A. The Governor is pushing this much like the highway commission reorganization. I can't support the present legislation but could support a substitute prepared by Senator Alarid of Albuquerque. Under his bill TVI can expand into the academic area but first has to meet certain requirements including a vote by the citizens of Albuquerque. This bill does not require the great expenditure of state funds and appears to meet present needs.

I'm writing this Monday and I had hoped we could adjourn today. No more predictions on how long we'll be here. You can call me at 827-5157 or write to me at the State Capitol, Santa Fe, 87501.

THE MARSTAN SCANDAL

Only months past with the Bert Lance scandal, the President is now beset with the David Marstan scandal — in Pennsylvania.

Mr. Carter might have attempted to mislead the press in denying his effort to remove Marstan at the request of two Democratic Congressmen. Columnist William Safire has accused the President of departing from the truth and obstruction of justice.

Others accused Attorney General Griffin Bell of collaborating with the President and the two Congressmen to remove U.S. Attorney Marstan, who was investigating the Congressmen. But Bell has not attempted to mislead the press.

Did President Carter? Safire says one of the Congressmen under criminal investigation called the President and asked him to fire the prosecutor, that Carter did just that, and then tried to conceal this at a press conference. But a Los Angeles Times reporter, who knew the facts, then asked Carter point-blank if he had been called.

Only then did Carter remember the call, and then, according to Safire, he answered so as to give the impression his call to Bell had been before the call from the Congressmen. Bell then admitted Carter had mentioned, when calling him, he had had a call from the Pennsylvania Congressman concerned! Carter's first, surprising statement at the press conference that he hadn't discussed the case with the Attorney General and that he hadn't interfered, is not in harmony with his campaign idealism of 1976. And the general aroma of suddenly firing a U.S. Attorney who is criminally investigating Democrats is not a good one. — Santa Rosa News

I-n-s-i-d-e the Outdoors

by Gary Dollahan

The snow, rain, and other forms of precipitation, from which all the world's fresh water comes, that have recently been falling upon New Mexico are a welcome sight. Especially when you consider that no living thing can live without water.

Humans are very dependent upon water. 76% of their body is composed of it. They must drink about a quart and a half a day of it. They shower in it, to the extent of 5-10 gallons a minute. They grow food with it, use it for recreational purposes, and use it in industry.

Wildlife depends on it, whether it be an elephant that drinks 50 gallons a day, or a kangaroo rat of the desert that might never take a drink. Several wildlife species, particularly of the arid regions, may never drink water, but instead form it within their bodies from the foods they eat.

Plants and trees greatly depend on water. Plenty of rain during a growing season causes most forms of vegetation to thrive. Of course, man cannot always depend on rain to fall during the critical growing periods, so he must use tapped supplies of stored water to irrigate with. About 40% of all water used in America goes for irrigation.

Unfortunately, water is taken for granted by most people. However, due to the vast uses of water, water pollution, and the useless waste of water, the world water picture is not encouraging.

A recent United Nations survey shows that at least 75% of the world's rural population and 20% of all city inhabitants lack reasonably reliable supplies of drinking water. In the future, people may be faced to move closer to water sources. Even so, a source can only provide as much water as precipitation from the sky provides.

The formation of rain, or its frozen crystalline counterpart — snow, is an interesting process. Moisture is constantly being taken up into the air from the earth's surface, especially from the warmer parts of the ocean, by a process called evaporation. Moisture is also given up into the air from plants and animals by a similar process called transpiration.

This invisible moisture, called water-vapor, mixes with other gases in the air and is carried upward by the wind. The moist air expands as it rises, thus allowing it to cool. Once the air begins to rise it will continue to do so until its temperature equals that of the surrounding air. Upon equalization of temperature, the mass's upward movement is halted.

Through this process of rising and cooling, the amount of water vapor the air can hold decreases. If this process continues long enough, the air will become saturated. Should the air then cool below this point, it has reached the dew point, or the temperature at which the air will have a relative humidity of 100%.

At dew point, some of the water vapor in the air condenses into fine, tiny particles of water called water dust. Water dust is known as clouds, or fog, depending on whether it occurs high in the air or near the surface of the earth.

A still greater cooling of the air will cause the tiny particles to unite into drops so large and heavy that they fall. This entire process from evaporation and transpiration to precipitation is called the water cycle.

Raindrops differ in size and in their speed of descent. The largest drops of rain measured were about 1/4 inch (6 mm) in diameter and fell at a rate of about 15-25 feet (5-8 m) a second.

Contrary to popular belief, raindrops are not teardrop shape, but instead, are always perfectly round. The pull of gravity on this round shape does not oblong it.

Rain is always falling somewhere on the earth, but the frequency of it depends mainly on location, altitude, distance from the sea, and character of the land. Slopes on the sides of ocean winds usually have abundant rain, whereas regions shut off by high mountains have little rain.

Rain has several interesting facts about it. The earth's average rainfall is 32 inches (81 cm). If this all fell at once, the world would be covered with 3 feet (91 cm) of water.

The heaviest rainfall in the United States was recorded in 1950 at Yankeetown, Florida, where 38.7 inches (98.3 cm) fell on a 10 square mile (26 sq. km) area within 24 hours. The lowest rainfall was recorded at Death Valley, California, which has an annual rainfall of 1.78 inches (4.52 cm).

The driest state is Nevada with a yearly average of 8.8 inches (22 cm), and the wettest state is Hawaii with a yearly average of 70 inches (180 cm).

Roswell has a yearly average of 10.61 inches (26.9 cm) and yearly evaporation average of 105 inches (266.7 cm). However, due to extreme geographical variations in New Mexico, the national Weather Bureau has no average rainfall determined.

ALISA DAY

On dean's list

Alisa Day, 22, Ruidoso Downs, was named to the dean's list of Alvin, Texas, Community College with a 3.6 grade point average for the fall semester. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Day, Alisa is studying art.

Area students named to the dean's list at Eastern New Mexico University, Roswell, for the fall semester include: Rickey Russell, Ruidoso, air conditioning and refrigeration; Robert Smith, Ruidoso Downs, automotive mechanics and Patrick Brady, Hondo, petroleum production technician.

Cathy Annala named campaign coordinator

Cathy Annala, Ruidoso, has been named Lincoln County Coordinator in the campaign of Joe Skeen for the Republican gubernatorial nomination in the upcoming primary election.

The wife of Dr. Ronald Annala, she is a past president of the Republican Women's Club of Lincoln County.

AN ALTRUSA CLUB COMMITTEE met Thursday to discuss initiation of a community Girl Scout fund drive with a kickoff on April 19 and a follow up on May 3. Members of the committee planning the concentrated drive

The library board, David Travis, chairman, Jo Leland, Alton Lane, Betsy Wilson, Mary Woodridge, is presently examining and updating current library policies. The following policy for the multipurpose room has been approved and is in effect:

1. As an institution of education for democratic living the library shall welcome the use of its facilities for socially useful and cultural activities. Such meeting places shall be available on equal terms to all groups in the community regardless of the beliefs and affiliations of their members.
2. The library will at all times have priority on the use of its meeting room or any area of the library, and will not reserve use of any area of the library when such meetings would interfere with the normal functions of the library.
3. The room may not be reserved by commercial or denominational groups.

4. In fairness to the numerous groups in the community, the library will not accept reservations for a series of meetings which would designate the library as the regular meeting place for any organization.
5. Multipurpose room will be reserved for no longer than one month at a time; longer periods might hinder use by the library itself.
6. The organization scheduling use of the multipurpose room assumes full responsibility for the room, equipment and keys.
7. Failure to leave the meeting room, or area clean would forfeit the future use of it.

If you aren't familiar with the multipurpose room, come by — it's yours to use. Do remember that you must schedule use with the librarians either in person or by phone (257-4335).

Social Security information

"The 1977 amendments to the Social Security Act provide that when the payment delivery date for social security or supplemental security income checks falls on a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday, the checks will be delivered on the first workday preceding the normal delivery day," Dan Mathis, social security field representative, said today. "This will be done even if delivery would be made before the end of the month for which the checks are issued."

"A check which is subject to early payment under this amendment, and which is later determined to be incorrect, will not have to be repaid as long as the event which caused the benefit to be incorrect occurred after the payment was made."

"Checks for the 1,822 social security beneficiaries in Lincoln County will be dated other than the 3rd in 1978 as follows: June 2, September 1 and December 1. The 259 supplemental security income recipients in the county will get their checks on the first of the month except the April 1 check will come March 31, the July 1 check June 30, and the October 1 check September 29."

Mathis may be contacted at the Lincoln County Senior Citizens Center in Ruidoso

Tuesdays between the hours of 10-12. Alvin Capitan, Ruidoso and Ruidoso Downs residents may make toll free calls to Roswell by dialing their Operator and asking for Enterprise 7780.

Ten Most Wanted

William David Smith, a thirty-five-year-old Michigan man being sought for an execution-style murder, bank robbery, and parole violation, has been added to the FBI's list of "Ten Most Wanted Fugitives."

Smith, who has an extensive felony arrest record dating back to 1960, has been charged with the brutal April, 1977, killing of his ex-wife's husband, one Mack Lobrano, at Flint, Michigan. After mutilating the body beyond recognition and setting it afire, Smith allegedly left the area accompanied by his ex-wife, Shirley Mae Lobrano. She has been charged in her husband's murder and is being sought as a fugitive. Smith was on parole at the time of the murder.

Federal warrants for Smith's arrest have been issued for unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for murder, parole violation, and for bank robbery due to a May, 1977, robbery of an Owosso, Michigan, bank.

Born on February 26, 1942, at Ravenden, Arkansas, Smith is a 5 foot 10 inch Caucasian who weighs 140 pounds, has a small build, hazel eyes, and brown hair. He may have an Afro hairstyle and a Fu Man Chu mustache.

Smith has been employed as a truck driver and has used Social Security Number 321-34-4961.

Smith, who has surgery scars on both knees, reportedly has a heart condition. Additionally, he has utilized such aliases as Bill Smith, Dave Smith, David Smith, David D. Smith, David J. Smith, David James Smith, James Smith, James D. Smith, and William D. Smith.

Shirley Mae Lobrano is a 32-year-old Caucasian born at Flint, Michigan. She is 5 feet 4 inches tall, weighs 100 pounds, and has light brown hair and blue eyes.

Smith and Lobrano should be considered armed and dangerous. Anyone with information about these individuals should contact the nearest FBI Office.

Garden Club met at library

Members and guests of the Ruidoso Garden Club's February 21 meeting in the multipurpose room of the Ruidoso Public Library were given a preview of the "Wearing of the Green," relative to Saint Patrick's Day.

The program, on making corsages, was presented by Mrs. Hal Yoder. She illustrated her talk by making several corsages and explained the mechanics involved. Members are being encouraged to make and wear a corsage to the next meeting.

Mrs. Ike Kennedy presided at the business meeting and welcomed Mrs. Gladys Sadler as a guest. Members were reminded of the District V meeting in Roswell, March 21.

Hostesses, for refreshments served from tables decorated in a spring motif, were Mrs. Fred Berger and Mrs. George Luck.

Extension Club met in Lincoln

The Ruidoso-Hondo Valley Extension Club met February 22 in the Ralph and Rosalie Dunlap home near Lincoln.

The history and heritage of the area was the theme of the meeting. Edward Penfield of Lincoln spoke of "Early Spanish-American Settlements in Lincoln County."

Other guests included Colleen Garnett of CETA Extension Service, who reported on her work in conducting a series of interviews with members of early Spanish-American families. Mrs. Nora Henn of the Lincoln County Historical Society told of these and other interviews, some of which it is hoped will be published soon.

Mrs. Lorena Radcliff, club president, conducted the business meeting and advised members that the deadline for recipes and advertisements, to be included in the Lincoln County Extension Cookbook to be published this spring, has been extended to March 15.

Hostesses for the covered dish luncheon were Rosalie Dunlap and Phyllis Zumwalt.

Painting Tips

By JOHN CUPP

A FEW WORDS OF CAUTION TO THE DO-IT-YOURSELF PAINTER:

[1] Generally, in painting a room your can of paint and paint tray are most conveniently placed on the floor. Always be aware of the location of these two items as you are working. Many a can of paint has been kicked over or paint tray stepped in as a result of not heeding this warning. It is safest to keep your paint supply under the completed portion of your work and watch your step.

[2] Don't roll too fast. Besides being the cause of possible "holidays" and bubbles in the work, fast rolling throws off a fine mist which gets all over everything... including the painter.

[3] Don't overload your roller. Always "roll off" the roller on the slanting part of the tray to equalize the load, thus preventing dripping and uneven distribution of the paint.

We carry an economical tray liner to use in your regular tray. You throw it away when you're through, eliminating the need of cleaning your tray. Also we carry the finest paints around, so when you get ready to do that paint job... come see us.

How Not to Retire

"I've been trying to retire for the past two years," said Mrs. Rosalie Andrews, a 75-year-old widow from Marietta, Georgia. "I told my boss that next to Eve I must be the oldest woman in the world."

When the day comes that Mrs. Andrews, who is the assistant director of the Central Senior Citizens Center in Marietta actually does retire, word has it that two or three people will have to be hired to take her place. That's how much work she does.

"My mother taught me that idle hands do the devil's work," Mrs. Andrews told a writer from The National Council on the Aging in a recent interview. "I believed it when I was a little girl and I still believe it."

On a typical day, Mrs. Andrews arrives at the center at 7:45 a.m. and gets ready for the day's activities. At mid-morning, she supervises preparations for the lunch that is served five days a week to 80-100 people. Her day supposedly ends at 3 p.m., when the center is taken over by Marietta teenagers, but more often than not she's still at work extending her workday because that's the way she was raised.

Many years ago, long before Mrs. Andrews ever imagined she'd be supervising activities in a senior center, she studied practical nursing in a seminary.

"I worked as a nurse for a long time," Mrs. Andrews said. "I finally got bored, so I quit and got married."

When Mr. Andrews died, she went back to nursing but boredom caught up to her again and at the age of 45 she got a degree in cosmetology and worked as a beautician for six years.

One stretch of her life that she really enjoyed, was the 18 years she worked as a housekeeper, cook and all-around organizer for a local contractor and his wife.

"They were wonderful people," Mrs. Andrews said with a sigh. "I'd probably still be working for them except when the building slump came, he lost money along with a lot of other builders and they had to let me go."

In July of 1972, still convinced that idleness is not good for a person, Mrs. Andrews took a job as an outreach worker and a home visitor before beginning her present position. In a little over four years, she has watched the staff she helps supervise grow from five employees to 60.

Her concern for people and willingness to help puts her in the role of chief problem-solver and advice-giver to members of the center.

"I'll tell you one thing about this job," Mrs. Andrews said. "If you don't like people, you'd better go home. All sorts of folks come here and I try to help them all the best I can."

Mrs. Andrews attends to each day with the same energy she had as a young girl in the seminary. Does she have a secret?

"Secret? There's no secret," she said. "If you don't sit around you don't have time to think. And if you don't have time to think then you don't have a chance to dwell on how old you are."

Mrs. Andrews paused for a moment, considering retirement again.

"I think next year I'll do a little traveling," she said. "Just get on a bus and go see all the places I haven't been yet."

People who know Rosalie Andrews say she'll never retire. They say she enjoys working and being with people too much to ever sit back and take it easy and that she's been threatening to retire for years.

After talking with Mrs. Andrews for a while, even a stranger can see that her retirement is a long way off.

AT 92, ALTON CHRISTIAN must be one of the oldest farmers in the country. He has been working his farm in Southport, Connecticut since he was 75. He works everyday, unless it's stormy or too cold. When it snows, he shovels the walks and drives and cuts his own wood for the stove.

In the summer he plants all the regular farm crops which must be planted individually, such as beans, onions and potatoes. During the summer he weeds them and in the late summer and fall helps with the harvest.

Mr. Christian touches no liquor or wine and never "cusses." He remembers the great blizzard of 1888 that walloped the Northeast and the Indians who lived near his father's grain-grinding mill in Ulster county, New York.

Mr. Christian has no plans for retiring in the foreseeable future.

The Dreamer

BY DANNIE STORM

Washington's Birthday

This is being sent to you on February twenty-second, Washington's Birthday — and it is one of the most beautiful February days I can remember.

The sky is the purest February Blue with the soft dark green of the pine-and-pine-and-cedar outlines of the mountains to the south ever so clear under the golden mellow sun.

The patches of snow high aloft amongst the pines and cedars of the mountains, and the hills lower down, and the mountain meadow still closer — all these white patches catch the rays of the sun so that you are in a world of sparkling diamonds everywhere.

The air is still, and gentle sunny warmth breathes down from the sky and up from the golden grass, and over from the juniper-pine and cedar trees. There is a peaceful dreaming benediction all around you as the world is tranquil and contented — pausing through the enchanted day in a happy lull of remembering.

Washington's spirit is close to us this magic day.

This Is Still

Our Bi-Centennial

We remember that two hundred years ago today our forefathers were in a struggle to bring our beloved nation into being. The Revolutionary War was not over until 1782. Therefore let us send up a prayer of thanks to our forefathers led by George Washington.

Washington by his great honesty, courage and kindness inspired all his fellow citizens. The people recognized his greatness and in every way showed their love and devotion to him and their faith in him as their leader chosen by God.

Washington was given every tribute of a grateful people, being called the best of great men and the greatest of good men.

Washington gave all the credit to Almighty God, and constantly sent messages to his people praising and thanking them for the steadfast devotion and faith through great adversity.

In the turning point of the struggle, Washington knelt on the banks of the Delaware River Christmas night of 1776 and prayed for the safety of his gallant army.

That night was born the motto of our country: "In God We Trust."

This beautiful February day of Washington's birthday reminds us that he was a great lover of nature. He was deeply fond of all kinds of flowers, and growing things especially trees. He loved horses, and liked nothing better than to go riding out through the country-side. A giant in strength as well as intelligence, he was yet very gentle. He was deeply devoted to his mother and constantly let her know of his love and appreciation for her.

George White Returns

From Family Re-Union
From a few words of George Washington, we now have a little something to say about George P. White of Ruidoso.

George and his wife, Ruth, have returned from a re-union of his three living sisters and their husbands; and his three living brothers and their wives.

The re-union was held over in Arizona at the Organ Pipe Cactus National Monument, also known as Cactus National Monument. The famous Giant Cactus or Saguaro, as well as the Organ Pipe and other cactus are at their best in this location.

and sisters gathered in their trailers, campers and motor homes. Here they camped out for four days during the second week in February for a time of pure enjoyment.

The seven brothers and sisters at the re-union are those still living out of a family of ten, all born on a farm about a mile south of the little Wisconsin village of Minong.

This latest re-union was the fifth for the family. The first was held five years ago up at the old family farm near Minong. George says, "We hired a hall in the little village, and we hired a band, and invited two hundred people of the community — all folks we had grown up with as girls and boys. We had the most enjoyable time you could imagine."

George's sisters are: Viola (Mrs. Dr. Francis W. Lynch,) Tucson Arizona; Murphy (Mrs. A. C. Sanders,) San Diego, Calif.; Jeannette (Mrs. John Brady,) Albuquerque, N. M.

The brothers are James L. White, Lancaster, Calif.; Pat, Cochiti Lake, N. M.; and his twin brother, Mike, Albuquerque, N. M.

The next re-union is set for Easter, 1979 at Lake Cochiti.

Descended From Historical People

George's name "White" is a translation of the French. For he is a direct descendant of George Pierre Le Blanc a central figure in the poem, "Evangeline" by Longfellow.

The poem tells of the long voyage by sea of the French people who were put out of their homes in Acadia, Canada, and sailed down all the way to Louisiana. From here George's forefathers migrated to Wisconsin.

George's own life is something like that of his ancestors so famous in song and story. Much of his career could be something out of a narrative poem, ballad, or story book.

During World War II he was loaned by the Navy to the Office of Strategic Services, which later became the CIA.

He graduated from the University of Wisconsin and took a Masters at the University of New Mexico.

"I have spent all my life in the Education field," says George, "Forty years."

George came to New Mexico twenty-seven years ago from Washington D. C. where he was an educational specialist in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

He came to New Mexico the day Uranium was found in our state. On that day in Grants, Patty Martinez came into the Gunderson general store with a piece of uranium ore asking, "What kind of a rock is this?"

Fourteen Years In Ruidoso

During his fourteen years in Ruidoso, George has been our mayor and Superintendent of Schools. Today he is on the Ruidoso City Council and is active in Veteran Affairs.

Out of the wide travels of himself and his colorful forefathers, George has chosen Ruidoso as his home, and says, "Ruidoso is the pleasantest village my wife and I have ever known."

We are proud of George and Ruth and are happy that they are our neighbors and friends.

Birthday of Our Brother, Joe

Some 4-H expenses are tax deductible

Some 4-H related leadership expenses are tax deductible, says Bob Gilliland, 4-H and youth development program leader for New Mexico State University.

Any taxpayer, adult or teen, who itemizes deductions can deduct 4-H related, out-of-pocket expenses which are not reimbursed. These include fees, materials, meals, travel, lodging, awards and mileage in a private vehicle.

4-H volunteers can deduct training expenses which are directly related to improving their skills as a volunteer. These training related expenses could include actual travel expenses, meals, lodging, registration fees and cost of training materials.

Presently, the Internal Revenue Service will not allow deductions for time or babysitters. Any expenses which are reimbursed by the 4-H organization are not deductible. If the reimbursement exceeds the out-of-pocket costs, the surplus should be reported as income.

As with other deductions, taxpayers should keep records, such as a valid receipt or a canceled check, to support each 4-H related deduction. When out-of-pocket receipts are impractical or impossible, the IRS will generally accept a chronological expense record. This record should show the date, nature of the expense and the amount. When mileage is involved, it should also be included.

Gilliland says the organization greatly appreciates these volunteers. While they receive no cash compensation for their work, he wants them to be aware of possible tax benefits. He encourages taxpayers to check with the IRS for more details.

Yours and Ours

BY ROBERT E. HUBER and CARROL W. CAGLE

SANTA FE — The long-running controversy over the construction of the Interstate highway system and the effect on "bypassed" communities, top headline fare in the Sixties, remains alive.

A state district court ruling in Santa Fe is the latest installment in the story. It involves one of the hardest-fought parts of the bypass battle, the segment of Interstate 40 — main East-West thoroughfare in New Mexico — at Tucumcari.

The controversy has its roots in the passage by Congress of the interstate system measure in the mid-Fifties.

Since the interstate system utilizes limited-access entrances and exits, many communities whose economic livelihood depended largely on travelers — tourist and commercial — began clashing with the State Highway Department about whether their locales should be bypassed and where exit ramps should be located.

In 1963, the New Mexico Legislature enacted the so-called "anti-bypass law," which required the Highway Department to get approval from any community to be bypassed.

In Tucumcari's case, the result was a 1964 agreement with the road agency which required the Highway Department to do several things, including building a pedestrian crosswalk, developing an 18-block stretch of the older route, U.S. 54, and agreeing not to open the bypass to traffic before 1970.

The years went by and the original time frame for Interstate construction slipped, but the city's concerns remained alive.

The current result was a suit pitting the City of Tucumcari (and a private resident) against the Highway Department. Santa Fe Dist. Court Judge Bruce Kaufman was asked to enjoin the department from entering into a contract for construction of a $10 million middle segment in the Tucumcari bypass.

Kaufman did not go that far, but he did enjoin the department from opening the link to traffic until it complies with all provisions of the 1964 agreement.

Left unresolved was the legal status of the provision about the 1970 date at which traffic could begin using the bypass. Nor is there yet a schedule on when the other two segments of Tucumcari's bypass are to be built.

A critical fact about scarce-growing fuels and New Mexico's economy was revealed the other day at a little-noticed hearing in Santa Fe.

Likely purchases of New Mexico's natural gas production for the year beginning April 1 were presented to the Oil Conservation Commission as 718,524,479 thousand cubic feet.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank Sierra Blanca Ski Area and their mountain maintenance crews for the outstanding job they have done this year keeping the trails in excellent condition.

This keeps business up for Ruidoso merchants and keeps skiers returning week after week to our area.

I would also like to thank the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce for the advertising they've done letting people know that we did get snow, even though late in the season, and promoting skiing at Sierra Blanca.

I was terribly shocked to find out that the Lodger's Tax Committee cut the entire advertising budget for the month of March. March is so important because we have other sports activities to compete with in warmer climates, and need to promote skiing harder now than we do in the dead of winter. I hope that they will use better judgement in the future.

SWEET TOOTH RIP OFF

Though I've done insufficient research on the subject ... as regarding other candy bars ... I've discovered that Almond Joy ... purveyor of joy to those as like their coconut dipped in chocolate and garnished with almonds ... gives the vending machine purchaser short shrift ... very short.

The 20 cent portion labeled "Vending Bar" weighs 1.20 ounces ... providing two pieces ... each bearing one almond ... more or less centered atop the section. Purchasers of this bar enjoy the convenience of depositing their coins, pulling a lever ... and hoping for the best.

Then there's the 20 cent bar you pick up off a counter display ... weighs 1.55 ounces ... gives you two pieces, each topped with two almonds, so placed as to provide a bit of nut with each nibble ... if you're selective in positioning said nibble. 'Course ... for this added three-tenths of an ounce, plus two nuts, you might have to stand in line to pay for your purchase.

Just doesn't seem right that the convenience purchaser of this confection should be ripped off ... and this is as blatant a rip off as you'll encounter ... except for paying more for 1.75 liter of old tangiefoot than you used to pony up for a half-gallon ... before the advent of metric measurement.

Chances of either rip off affecting the same people is remote ... 'cause how many people do you know who chomp on an Almond Joy whilst relaxing over a tinkling glass of ice tea?

ODD TAXABLE DUO

The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) has advised farmers and fishermen that they must file their federal returns and pay any tax due by March 1. If'n they didn't file a declaration of estimated federal income tax ... and get that figure paid by January 16 ... that's 1978 ... the IRS allows as how they might slap a penalty on the taxpayer ... and you know that's a crock ... 'cause they always slap it on ... never might slap it on.

Seems farmers and fishermen ... according to the IRS ... are taxpayers who earned at least two-thirds of their 1977 gross income from catching fish or harvesting crops ... not taking into account crop failures ... or the time of the moon when the fish were not cooperating.

With the point being ... next time you're caught up on feeling sorry for yourself ... and wonder who the IRS is making life miserable for ... shed a crocodile tear for the chap operating a catfish farm.

BAMBINO BITZI

Don and Carmen Edwards have this poodle ... name of Bitzi ... must be 100 years old ... and Bitzi did come out second best when ferociously attacked by huge and vicious and ill-tempered canine ... causing her to undergo extensive repairs at the hands of her veterinarian.

One current adornment is causing Don problems ... that's the full length ... and sturdy ... cast on a foreleg. Seems ... when Bitzi is having problems getting Don's attention ... for whatever ... she holds up the leg in the cast ... sneaks up on him, quiet as an earthworm squirming out of a robin's view ... and ... whammol ... she up and lets Don have it in the shin with the cast ... bringing Don anguish and Bitzi vicarious pleasure. And there's no truth to the rumor they're changing her name to "Thumper."

MAIL SACK ENIGMA

If'n you like to make a bet ... figure the odds on this incident. The News mailing staff stuffed a mail sack with papers for Stephenville, Texas ... February 6, that was. The Ruidoso postal workers dutifully forwarded it ... thus fulfilling their obligation to all concerned.

February 23, from the Ruidoso post office. The News picked up a mail sack ... and nestled in the bottom of same were six issues of the February 6 issue back from Stephenville. The Postal Service does the impossible with ease ... no?

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

I am aware that it has been a month now since the Big Game Supper for the Scouts and Explorers, but I do not wish to forget all those of our community who donated their support, time or money, to this effort. On behalf of the Scout and Explorer Committees, we thank each and all of the good people who contributed, and apologize that we cannot list all by name, as they are too numerous to publish. We tried, in fact, to compile a list of all people involved, for publication or "thank-you" cards, and frankly, it would be impossible!

We would, however, like to give special thanks to the New Mexico Game and Fish Department, and Randy Isler in particular, and Nosker's, for without the big game, we would have had no supper. Also, thanks are extended to the Ruidoso Elks Lodge, not only for sponsoring the supper but for all the work these fine gentlemen put into the dinner. Special thanks, too, must go to the Ruidoso News, as well as KRRR and the Ruidoso CB Club. Without this assistance in "spreading the news," the Big Game Supper would not have been the overwhelming success it was.

The funds derived from the supper go 100 percent to the local Scouts and Explorers. The funds are spent locally for these youth.

Once again, on behalf of the Scout and Explorer committees, thank you, those who assisted and attended, for all your help with our youth, and for making the Big Game Supper a success.

The problems about the exterior appearance of the proposed Teen Center are a blessing in disguise for the community.

The fact that so many people are involved, who have only the best interests of the community at mind, is certain to lead to a quick, good solution.

Further, these same people have been made aware of the very necessary and desirable activities of the Architectural Planning and Review Committee. No amount of publicity could have brought the purposes of this committee to so many important people as did the present hitch in the Teen Center plans.

For those who haven't followed the story; briefly, it goes like this. The Noon Lions have already ordered a steel building for their proposed Teen Center that will give maximum space for dollars spent. They have gone to the Architectural Planning and Review Committee for approval of the exterior appearance of the building. The committee denied approval.

The Noon Lions asked for a special meeting of the village trustees to find out what to do next. The trustees backed the architectural committee decision and asked the Noon Lions and the committee and others to resolve the problems.

That's the basic bare-bones of the story. But, there's more.

The Noon Lions have been amazingly effective in getting the community (and many from outside the community) involved in their very worthy project. They and other service clubs have worked long, hard hours. There's not a dime of government money involved anywhere. The Teen Center is truly a community project of the best kind.

Likewise the Architectural Planning and Review Committee represents a good, hard working community project. It's a project that will ultimately better the entire village. It's a starting point for preventing sleazy, trashy construction that, unchecked, would be bound to continue in our rapidly growing community.

In short, the apparent conflict between two worthwhile endeavors, because of the calibre of people involved, is bound to result in benefit for the entire village.

The only criticism we can level is entirely constructive. It should be clear to the present and (after the upcoming election) future village trustees that the objectives of the Architectural Planning and Review Committee must be even more clearly outlined and enforced.

Everyone concerned in village government should be instructed to tell those starting building projects exactly what the building review procedure is — from architectural review to building code compliance to building permit issuance.

The Noon Lions should not be faulted for their eagerness in getting their project off the ground. They should, instead, be helped by our village government — that's what it's here for. —kg

Letters to the Editor

(Editor's note: The following letter, in support of the proposed Teen Center to be located adjacent to the Ruidoso Public Library and also in support of the responsibilities of the Architectural Plans Review Committee was read by mayor Lloyd L. Davis Jr., at the special meeting of the village trustees February 21. It is being published to inform the public of the practical thoughts on the problem of the Teen Center building, expressed so concisely by David Wilson.)

Dear Mayor Davis and Members of the Trustees of the Village of Ruidoso:

Since I am unable to attend tonight's special meeting, I hope you will indulge me in this means of expressing a citizen's point of view regarding the proposed Teen Center construction.

I am concerned that two concepts, each of which have been conceived for the benefit of our community, now find themselves in direct conflict, each endangering the benefits of the other.

The Teen Center concept has surfaced more than once in our community's history and is now tantalizingly close to fruition. A great deal of hard work and no small amount of money have been committed to the cause — some of each from myself, by the way. To see all that work come to grief would be more than a shame.

On the other hand, Ruidoso has long needed the firm esthetic controls provided by the work of the Architectural Plans Review Committee. Indeed, many years of slow change will be required to reverse the effects of years of uncoordinated growth that preceded establishment of the APRC. That such control is needed is increasingly apparent, especially as we consider the growth of our tourist industry. The main product we have to sell is Ruidoso herself and her natural environment. In a tourism marketplace in which we must compete with such marketable communities as Red River and Taos in our own state, Aspen, Colorado; and Sedona Arizona, to name a few examples close at hand, we must be prepared to match our competition on a variety of fronts, particularly in our appearance.

At the risk of seeming to take one side against the other in this matter, I would ask that you, the trustees of this village, try to separate in your minds the issues that confront you. The issue of whether or not a Teen Center will be built is a vital one, but it is only secondarily in your providence. The issue of architectural control is directly within your providence, as provided by the ordinance establishing the APRC and the power of ultimate decision vested in you. That power of ultimate decision ought to be limited to questions of whether the APRC has acted properly within the bounds of its charter, else why vest the powers of recommendation in experts in the first place?

If the concept of architectural control is valid and if you have confidence in your appointed experts then their recommendations would appear to hold sway. At the same time, I would hope that men of reason can find ways that esthetic concerns can be legitimately served while allowing a Teen Center to be built in our community. The main focus of your deliberations in this matter seem clearly outlined, however, in your prior commitment to architectural controls.

As a brief closing note, I would also hope that the trustees and the APRC would carefully consider long-range planning for the use of School House Park and the Library area as a site for logical growth of a community recreational and cultural center complex, a complex into which the Teen Center idea could easily fit. Such a complex, perhaps eventually growing well beyond our present vision of resources, could become a focal point of our community and visual impressions would be vital to its success in representing Ruidoso to our visitors. We spent a lot of money for professional architectural planning for our library and we should consider taking advantage of the pattern it provides as we plan for future additions and facilities in the park.

Thank you for your attention.

Dave Wilson

USDA PRIME U.S.D.A. Prime is highest in quality ratio. High degree of "marbling." Larger proportion on waste fat. Scarce in supply. High in cost.

USDA CHOICE U.S.D.A. Choice is preferred by most consumers. Less marbling than Prime. Produces juicy cuts with excellent flavor

USDA GOOD Minimum degree of marbling is required. Most beef carcass in this class is usually marketed as a house brand.

USDA STANDARD The rib bones, a slightly wide and flat rib eye muscle, is slightly dark red in color and fine in texture. A minimum amount of marbling is required.

USDA COMMERCIAL Rib bones are moderately wide and flat and the rib eye muscle is moderately dark red & slightly coarse in texture.

USDA UTILITY The rib eye muscle is very dark red in color and coarse in texture.

TRUTH IN LABELING

Safeway labels all beef cuts truthfully, no fancy names. Our labels clearly indicate the proper name of the cut of beef plus from what primal cut the cut of meat originates. It helps to know this as an aid to proper cooking method.

1. The kind of meat — BEEF, PORK or LAMB. It's listed first on every label.
2. The primal (wholesale) cut—CHUCK, RIB, LOIN, Or ROUND — tells where the meat comes from on the animal.
3. The retail cut — BLADE ROAST, SPARERIBS or LOIN CHOPS—tells you what part of the primal cut the meat comes from.

SPECIAL NOTE:

SOME PEOPLE SELL "GRAIN FED" or "HEAVY" BEEF AND SHOW NO QUALITY GRADE ... DON'T BE MISLED BY THESE "QUALITY" CLAIMS ... ONLY USDA GOVERNMENT INSPECTORS CAN GRADE BEEF ... NOT THE PEOPLE THAT SELL IT ... ONLY USDA CHOICE BEEF CAN BE LABELED USDA CHOICE!

INFORMATION ABOUT INSPECTION FOR WHOLESOMENESS

All meat processed in plants which sell their products across State lines must, under Federal law, be inspected for wholesomeness. This service is another provided by USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service. USDA meat inspectors also supervise the cleanliness and operating procedures of meat packing plants to assure that meat is not contaminated or adulterated. Learn to recognize both the inspection mark, a circle, and the grade shield. Remember, they mean different things. The inspection mark tells you that the meat is clean and wholesome. The grade mark tells you the quality of the meat.

PRIME TIME SCHOOL TELEVISION

It was a violent storm in 1901 in the Aegean Sea midway between the Greek islands of Crete and Kythera that caused the beginning of modern underwater archaeology and opened the gates to the richest museum in the world—the sea.

As they were sailing back to their village a crew of Greek sponge divers took refuge near a small island called Antikythera and spent the extra time diving for more sponges. But instead of sponges, they stumbled upon a group of marble and bronze figures, 150 feet below the surface, apparently from the cargo of some ancient ship that had also foundered in a similar storm long ago.

But when and how and who were they? Excited by their discovery, the sponge divers hurried back to their village to tell of the great treasures beneath the sea. When the Greek government was notified, an exploratory mission was organized and divers worked for nine months under extremely strenuous conditions to recover more of the precious artifacts.

Since they didn't have the sophisticated technical equipment we have today, one of the gallant divers died, two others were hospitalized and some of the treasures slipped tragically from the cables to tumble into even deeper sea. Still, the recoveries were magnificent and traced by archaeologists to the first century before Christ. They now occupy an entire gallery in the National Museum in Athens and include a bronze figure known as 'The Athlete of Antikythera,' two statues from the age of Pericles and a bronze bed decorated with animal heads.

Long intrigued by the strong possibility that more artifacts lay beneath the sea at Antikythera, Jacques Cousteau and his international team of divers recently returned to the site of the sponge divers' discovery. Capt. Cousteau hoped to find clues that would help determine where the ancient ship was from and where bound, and most challenging, to discover more hidden treasures of centuries past.

On Tuesday, March 14 on PBS in DIVING FOR ROMAN PLUNDER, you will see for yourself what Cousteau found. To help you and your family fully enjoy this exciting program, Prime Time School Television (PTST) has prepared a special guide. You may obtain a copy free by writing to: Cousteau, PTST, 120 S. LaSalle St., Chicago, Ill. 60603.

CONFIDENTIAL REPORT Miss Kitty survived hundreds of episodes of frontier violence in "Gunsmoke" but none came close to the real-life terror Amanda Blake endured with cancer. The tumor was in her mouth and the operation to remove it necessitated cutting her throat. "I worried about my face," the 46-year-old actress told me. "I worried about never being able to talk again. I made my plans. If it had been extensive, I would just drop out of sight. No one would know." Miss Blake noticed a sore under her tongue last in 1976. For three months, she avoided seeing a doctor about it. "First I had all these commitments. I felt I couldn't let everyone down. Maybe I was using the commitments as an excuse, a marvelous excuse. Then there was Christmas and New Year's. I was uptight and a complete nervous wreck. I told nobody. I kept everything inside." She finally had a doctor examine the lesion in January 1977. "I could feel it in my bones that the tests would come back positive," she said. The doctor confirmed that it was a malignant tumor. "It was still a shock," she said. "It drains you. You feel as though you have no muscles, no bones. If I had to do it again, I'd go in for a checkup immediately. Fear and not knowing are the worst part."

TV INSIDER: Cindy Williams has met the greatest man in the world—again. Cindy keeps doing that. Six months ago it was pop sculptor Larry Shapiro and Cindy was triumphantly telling everybody, "We're gonna get hitched!" Well, they didn't. Instead, Cindy ran into an old beau, producer Harry Gittes. And now she tells me, "Harry is the dearest man I know. I love him very deeply." Actually, this is the second time around for Cindy and Harry, who's with Paramount. They met more than three years ago—before she was involved in ABC-TV's "Laverne and Shirley." They dated madly and Gittes asked her to marry him. Cindy turned him down. This time he doesn't think she will put him off. "Cindy and I love each other very deeply and we've been loving each other for a very long time," Gittes told me. "We fell in love that first time, sure. I did, anyhow. But we both had career decisions to look out for and after we'd gone together for about a year we broke up in 1975. We stayed in touch but we were involved with other people and went separate ways." It's panic time at Spelling-Goldberg Productions. The latest Nielsen ratings ranked "Charlie's Angels" way down in 34th place.

INSIDE THE TUBE: Television actress Gail Fisher has been released on $1,500 bail after being arrested in Los Angeles for investigation of possessing cocaine and marijuana, authorities said. Sgt. Jim McGary of the west Los Angeles police said officers searched her home on a warrant initiated by Pacific Telephone Co. over the actress' purported use of an illegal phone device. The device, called a blue box, is one that allows callers to dial long-distance numbers without being charged, McGary said. Miss Fisher played the secretary in the television detective series "Mannix." Poor Cheryl She had to go through New Year's Eve festivities without her new fingernails. And she'd planned their debut for that night so carefully, too. Each nail was studded with a tiny diamond, which is no doubt why some unscrupulous character filched them right out of her purse before the big night. She had to get along with her own natural-born fingernails and that's no fun at all. With the blizzard of '78, demand has been heavy by ski clubs for prints of the winning Samsonite International Ski Film Festival films. Interested groups should write to Jerry Simon, 1619 Third Ave., New York, N.Y. 10028.
