Chamber backs 4-lane highway

A representative of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce and other area spokesmen met with the state Highway Commission Thursday in Roswell to endorse proposed improvement to Highway 70.

Dave Wilson, Chamber president, told the Highway Commission the organization is in favor of designation of the highway as a federal primary connector route, but added the Chamber would want to have input as the project develops to ensure little detrimental effect on Ruidoso's environment.

"A bill is before Congress to designate Highway 70 as a connector primary route," Wilson said. "The road would be a four lane divided highway from Amarillo (Texas) to Las Cruces with 90 percent federal funding."

"The bill has passed the Senate and is in committee in the House; it's part of the Federal Highway Act of 1978," he said.

Wilson attended the commission meeting with a delegation representing Amarillo, Portales, Clovis, Roswell, Alamogordo and Las Cruces to request support of the bill.

Speaking briefly, he said, "We in Ruidoso join our fellow communities along this route in urging your support in realizing this long-sought goal."

"Tourism depends utterly on transportation. Ruidoso depends utterly on tourism, and Ruidoso tourism depends almost completely on highways."

"Highway 70 is the principal pipeline leading from our market source areas in West Texas, Kansas, Oklahoma, El Paso and Mexico. The benefits of a more efficient, safer Highway 70 to our economy are, therefore, obvious. The rest of the people of New Mexico would benefit as well from increases we can expect in tax revenues as our local economy grows."

Wilson also told the Highway Commission improvements to Highway 70 would increase winter tourism.

"Winter tourism, particularly to our ski areas, is our greatest potential growth market. Summer highway transportation into our area, while needing some streamlining, is not so much of a problem as winter transportation."

"Most of our visitors are not accustomed to driving on winding roads in winter conditions and any threat of inclement weather is enough to scare them off of our present highways."

He added, "Traffic from the south must pass through a notably bad stretch of Highway 70 in Mesalero Apache Indian Reservation. We join our Indian neighbors in asking that this specific 19-mile stretch of road be given your special attention, whether or not the major project we are hoping for is realized."

While supporting the project, Wilson also cautioned residents of Ruidoso would want to have future input on the project as it develops.

"The Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce has supported this project... and we look forward to the economic benefits from an improved Highway 70 but, we are cautious in our support of this project to the extent that it must impact on our beautiful and peaceful mountain setting."

"We sincerely hope that the people of Ruidoso and of the Hondo Valley will have ample opportunity to provide input into the specific planning process for this project. We feel that we have some legitimate special problems and needs where highway construction in our area is concerned and we would not be wanting to support a project that would take away as much as it might contribute."

The Highway Commission agreed to immediately relate their position of support on Highway 70 improvement to the governor and federal highway officials.

CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR Joe Skeen said he would support construction of an Alternate Highway 37, tying through north and south traffic into Gavilan Canyon Road, to ease the congestion on Sudderth and Mechem drives, in a Thursday afternoon interview at The News.

Skeen's views on things politic

In a Thursday interview with Republican gubernatorial hopeful Joe Skeen, The News posed these questions on local and statewide matters:

1 - Will you implement legislation to change the current tax refunds to municipalities, i.e., sales and gasoline tax, so that these refund payments are based on a percentage of tax monies paid into the state by each municipality, and not returned to the entities on the basis of population? This would be of monumental significance to all communities with an economy based on tourism.

Skeen: It's critical to us to revamp the entire municipal program in the state and to implement the use of Gross Receipts Tax (GRT) and Revenue Sharing funds. We're looking for equity, but there is no perfect equity. We must arrive at some kind of municipal funding program to feed back part of the GRT on the basis of how it is collected. The last legislature should have said to the municipalities: "take the half" (the one-fourth cent GRT dropped by the State and the one-fourth cent municipalities can add). We should allow municipalities the right to tax themselves and use referendum to increase their tax revenues. The main idea would be to leave money in the local communities as much as possible and not send it to the state and then have it returned.

2 - Would you actively support a "Home Rule" law that would enable the communities desiring it to levy taxes according to their individual needs as determined by those communities?

Skeen: If elected, I will send proposals to the legislature to develop a new formula for distribution (of tax monies) and to allow village autonomy (in the matter of additional taxes levied at the local level).

3 - Should a vacancy occur on the State Racing Commission, would you consider appointing a member from Lincoln County, or one living within a reasonable enough distance of both Ruidoso Downs and Sunland Park to have personal knowledge of both operations?

Skeen: I would consider anyone with high qualifications to serve on the racing commission, from Lincoln County or

P&Z approves drafting construction ordinances

Tentative approval of an ordinance requiring a 12 month completion period for the construction of buildings and homes in Ruidoso was given Wednesday night at the regular work session of the Planning and Zoning Commission (P&Z).

The commission directed the concept be drawn up in the form of an ordinance by village attorney Ron Harris. Under the

The Ruidoso Planning and Zoning Commission has established, by resolution, a code of ethics providing guidelines for conduct by the commissioners.

Drafted by commissioner Alden Deyo, the code was passed with one paragraph deleted. The paragraph said that commissioners shall refrain from listening to either side of a proposal prior to the public meeting called to air the particular issue.

It was the consensus of the commission that commissioners should be as well informed as possible of a particular matter before the matter is brought to a public meeting.

The code of ethics passed unanimously with Deyo voicing his opposition to the deletion.

The code of ethics is as follows:

"The Planning and Zoning Commission prepares its own proposals and reviews proposals by citizens of the community as a prelude to making recommendations to the Ruidoso Board of Trustees. In a sense, the Commission acts as a judge of the merits of each proposal. Considering this role, the following statements present actions which are characteristic of the appropriate conduct of a planning commissioner.

1. Commissioners shall make a special effort to attend all meetings of the Planning and Zoning Commission.
2. Commissioners shall make a special effort to visit the sites of proposed developments before the meetings so as to be as knowledgeable about the proposals as possible.

3. Commissioners shall vote on each proposal brought before the Planning and Zoning Commission.

4. Commissioners shall be considered as having a conflict of interest in a particular proposal if they have a direct interest as a neighboring property owner, a financial interest in the outcome of a particular proposal prior to deliberations of the commission on the case.

6. Commissioners having a conflict of interest shall excuse themselves from serving on the commission during deliberations and voting on the particular proposal.

7. Commissioners having a conflict of interest shall refrain from comment during commission hearings, deliberations and voting on the case. However, such commissioners may have others present their viewpoint to the commission."

8. deleted
9. Commissioners will do all in their power to fairly represent the best interests of the entire community rather than the interests of a few."

In the past, commission members have excused themselves from formal deliberation of matters that directly influenced the commissioner.

ComFIRE will issue evacuation route maps

The Committee For Insuring Ruidoso's Environment (ComFIRE) discussed future steps on a project underway and start of another project at their Thursday meeting.

The committee has undertaken a project of printing and distributing maps of the village detailing evacuation routes.

The village will be divided into four sections and 16 by 14 inch maps of each section will be printed by Community Publishing Company, which will fund the printing by advertising sales.

When the maps are distributed, homeowners will have their property marked and evacuation routes identified on the map. They will be requested to keep the maps, possibly on the inside of a cabinet door.

At the next meeting, the committee will discuss total cost, the number of section maps to be printed and set a deadline for printing.

During the meeting the committee also discussed a project of presenting a slide show or film to local organizations on the fire danger present in Ruidoso.

In other business, the committee discussed finding a replacement for Mickey Potter, who resigned.

Chairman Herb Brunell asked for a representative of the Ponderosa Heights or Alpine Village areas, requesting any interested person from Ruidoso contact him, Dub Williams, Rich Seeley or Larry Bandy.

After the business meeting, the committee saw a film on fire behavior and the factors influencing its spread.

Skeen and King on right-to-work

Former governor Bruce King, gubernatorial candidate, Thursday said the right-to-work issue, one of the few recognized issues of the campaign, was being drawn out of proportion.

King's opponent Joe Skeen once again gave his support for right-to-work legislation.

He said because New Mexico needed the jobs he would sign right-to-work legislation, if the legislation came up while he was governor.

King told about 250 members of the League of Insured Savings and Loan Association he didn't feel that right-to-work was very relevant to the total picture of New Mexico growth.

Right to work would allow employees the choice of joining or not joining a union.

King said he didn't want to see the right-to-work issue interwoven in a gubernatorial contest.

He told the savings and loan officials, during the association's annual convention at the Inn of the Mountain Gods, that he felt the issue should not be decided by an administrative bill drafted by the governor, nor by the legislature.

"Put it on the ballot," King said, "let the fine people of New Mexico make up their minds."

Skeen said he supported right-to-work because, "I believe in preserving the right of an individual's free choice."

He said without right-to-work, New Mexico is not going to attract many new jobs.

"Industry won't come in here unless it believes it is on the same footing with organized labor," Skeen said.

Skeen agreed that the right-to-work issue was one which he felt was not raised by the candidates.

terms of the proposed ordinance a builder will have one year to complete a building after the time a building permit is issued or face an as yet unspecified penalty.

The commissioners discussed the possibility of having uncompleted buildings razed if exterior work is not finished within the specified time limit. The possibility of financial penalty was also discussed.

Coexistent with the time-limit-on-construction concept was passage of a proposed ordinance, also to go to Harris for drafting, which would require commercial establishments to secure a building permit prior to initiating outside maintenance and repair projects.

According to chairman Mike Waldron, who advanced the twin concepts, the commission is attempting to limit "eyesores" within the village.

Specifically Waldron said he wanted to see some regulation regarding the color buildings are to be painted and the types of signs which could replace existing signs for commercial establishments.

If the ordinance is drafted and passed by the commission and in turn by the trustees, persons desiring to implement outside repairs would be required to secure approval of the project from the commissions Architectural Plans Review Committee before a building permit could be issued.

Also to be presented to Harris for drafting as an ordinance is the possibility of limiting the use of recreational vehicles (RVs) within "the commission's planning radius."

The commission voted to have Harris draft an ordinance which would not allow dead storage of RVs in areas other than backyards or places not easily seen.

Also included in the proposal is the concept of not allowing occupation of RVs in areas not so zoned, for periods over 72 hours, and the idea that no such occupation occur without the RV having full-time hook ups to city water, sewer and electricity and a requirement that all such facilities must comply with state and local codes.

Other action Wednesday night included:

BLUE HOTEL — David Warner (center) plays a tense card game in Stephen Crane's The Blue Hotel which is being shown at Ruidoso Public Library, tonight at 8. The Blue Hotel is the second film in the American Short Story Film Series sponsored by the Alfrusa Club and the Ruidoso Public Library and made possible by a grant from the New Mexico Humanities Council. The time is in the 1880's. A foreigner arrives in a small, desolate town in Nebraska. He anticipates the lawlessness of the wild west portrayed in the dime novels and, fearful and suspicious of everyone around him, causes what he seeks most to avoid. A card game and the events that follow dramatize a timeless theme: the complicity of every person in his or her own fate and the fate of others.

Commission approves helicopter service here

The state Corporation Commission approved a certificate of public convenience and necessity Wednesday establishing a helicopter service in Ruidoso.

Sundance Helicopter president Blue Huber will station one, or possibly two, helicopters at Ruidoso Municipal Airport for statewide charter service.

Familiar with the Ruidoso area, Huber has worked with the Mescalero Apache Tribe and New Mexico Game and Fish Department for the past two years, flying fire patrol on the reservation and flying ranchers and game officers, Tim Morris, airport manager, said Friday.

He said there presently is a need for a helicopter service in Ruidoso, and if the proposed Sierra Blanca Regional Airport is built on Fort Stanton mesa, Huber would be available to charter groups from the airport to destinations in town, at the ski area possibly or other areas.

A protest was lodged by Richard Hall, president of Air Ruidoso, until the details of the certificate were clarified.

Hall holds the two fixed wing craft certificates for Ruidoso and protested Huber's application until the commission specified it was a certificate for rotary wing aircraft only.

Appaloosa horse owner tops state fair futurity

An Oklahoma horseman, Tommy Lunsford's dreams came true at the 1978 New Mexico State Fair. He will return to Mustang, Oklahoma, a suburb of Oklahoma City, more than $50,000 richer after his two year old Appaloosa colt, Bettabound Splash, won the Appaloosa World Wide Futurity. The colorful Appaloosa stallion is the first race horse Lunsford has ever owned.

The proud horse owner won even more money than the first place payoff of $51,313. He bet all the money he had with him, keeping only $10 to get home on. He won more than $2,300 at the track on his winning tickets. Lunsford said "I knew he was going to win." Bettabound Splash won more than $75,000 in his first year of racing. His other big wins include the Kansas Appaloosa Futurity and the Sonner Appaloosa Futurity. He was the fastest qualifier in the Cricket Bar Futurity, and after problems coming out of the starting gate placed fourth. There were 114 horses qualifying in the Cricket Bar.

Bettabound Splash was sired by Splash Plaudit, and out of a thoroughbred mare, Four Bets. Lunsford purchased the colt from the breeder when he was 11 months old. The Appaloosa stallion began race training last November. Along with his good looks, and speed, Bettabound Splash is a well mannered, gentle colt. Lunsford plans to race the colt in Appaloosa derbies in 1979, and is going to breed him to six select mares.

Jerry Burgess, Ruidoso Downs, rode the colt to the futurity win, and rides the colt in most of his races. Dick Cullison, Stroud, Oklahoma, is the horse's trainer. Lunsford plans to return to Albuquerque for the 1979 World Wide Futurity with Reina Splash, a half sister to the 1978 winner. He has another hopeful winner for 1980, Bet of Splash, a weanling colt, who is a full brother of the 1978 winner.

A horseman's horseman, Lunsford has been successful with his roping and cutting horses. He has qualified horses for the Appaloosa World playoffs in cutting competitions, and has qualified Skip's Dusty for the world competition in roping.

The Appaloosa playoffs will be held in Oklahoma City in October. Lunsford owns a feed business in Oklahoma City. When asked what was necessary to produce a winner he replied "Send the horse to the best trainer, and do everything the trainer tells you to, it's the only way." He also stated that he was not a good loser, "I don't like to lose, and there is a lot of difference between winning and losing."

Julia Harmon, Oklahoma City, a close friend of Lunsford, believes Lunsford will have the World Wide Futurity Winner in 1979 in Reina Splash, and again in 1980 in Bet for Splash. With the excellent training from Dick Cullison, the riding ability of Jerry Burgess and the horses that are bred to run, Lunsford could be the first owner to have three World Wide Futurity wins in a row.

Chainsaw spark arrester rules changed

The Forest Service no longer requires owners to have spark arrester inspection stickers on their chainsaws before using them on National Forest lands, Charlie Mook, Smekey Bear Ranger District fire prevention officer, said Friday.

"The saw owner is responsible for making sure his chainsaw is properly equipped with the required muffler/spark arrester which contains a steel mesh screen with openings no larger than .023 per inch," he said.

"The special screens may be bought at local chainsaw dealers," he said, adding the ranger offices on Sudderth Drive will continue to inspect chainsaws as a courtesy.

Lincoln National Forest fire prevention technicians will make spot checks of saws in the woods to ensure compliance with the safety rules and "saw owners found in violation of the regulation can be issued citations."

Forty-one bighorns moved

Game and Fish Department crews moved 41 sheep from the Pecos Wilderness to start or supplement new herds in three other areas during a major operation that ended late last week, according to Chief of Game Management Walt Snyder.

He said the sheep were primarily ewes, with a mixture of lambs and young rams, to give the best chances for establishing growing herds in the Mansano and Latir mountains and in the Cimarron Canyon areas, where the sheep were released.

United States Forest Service cooperation helped make the capture and transport of the sheep successful, he said. The Forest Service administers the Pecos Wilderness, the capture site, and the Latir and Manzano release sites. The Game and Fish Department owns the Cimarron Canyon site.

Twenty sheep were taken to the Latir Peaks area for release, and, it is hoped, will be seed to a new herd there. Another 16 were taken to the Manzanos to join 16 moved there from the Pecos last year, and five were taken to the Cimarron Canyon, where a few sheep have been sighted during the past several years.

Snyder said the department had hoped to capture and move more sheep, but that the ewes and lambs moved away from the trap sites, and time ran out on the operation. It was still the largest single Rocky Mountain sheep transplant in the department's history.

Rocky Mountain bighorns were once common in many of the state's mountains, but were extirpated from New Mexico early in this century; the last sighting was in 1906.

HE SAID his wife might stuff it for Thanksgiving dinner; and 20 pounds of squash would surely contribute to some dinner. At 21 inches long, with a girth of 28 inches, we thought Father Delbert Achuff of the Episcopal Church of the Holy Mount had grown a big zucchini squash, but then . . .

NOT AS TASTY, but equally as grand, this dahlia, grown by Carmen Edwards, Ruidoso News advertising manager, grew to 11 inches in diameter. "I was surprised," she said, "I don't really have much of a green thumb." She added, the yellow beauty far surpassed in size its red cousins located in the same flower bed. (Ruidoso News Photos)

Garbage Gaffe

Mayor Ron Trantham and City Manager Kenneth Michalove of Asheville, N.C., got behind the wheels of city garbage trucks recently to replace striking sanitation workers but were quickly ticketed by police for driving without the proper license.

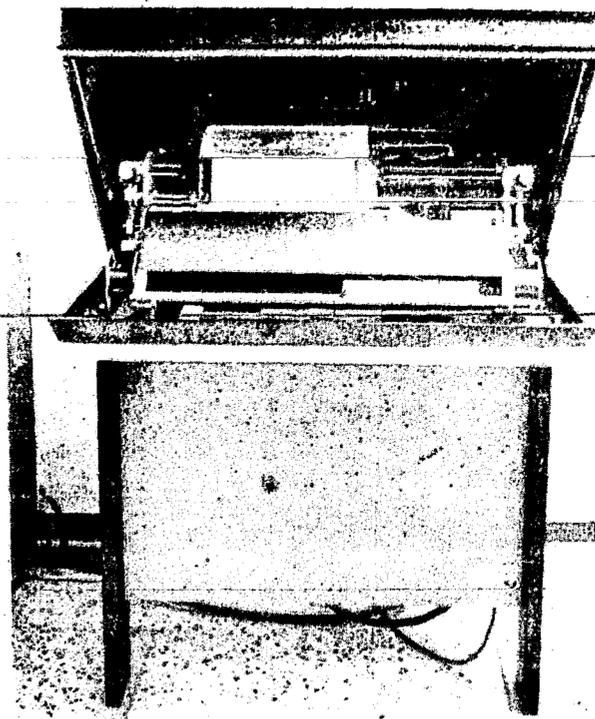

Frisbee Honored

The frisbee is now on display at the National Air and Space Museum in Washington, D.C., as part of a new exhibit on flight-for-the-heck-of-it.

Along with modern day versions, the display includes an old 10-inch metal pie tin from the now defunct Frisbie Pie Co. of Bridgeport, Conn. Yale students, the legend goes, began the craze by throwing the pie tins into the air, crying "Frisbie!"

Frisbee Banned

"They spook the horses," was the reason given by city officials for banning frisbees from the public streets of Mackinac Island. Horses are the primary form of transportation on the scenic resort island. Violators could get up to 90 days in jail.

IN-LINE PRINTER — This machine is busy cranking out the county's property tax bills. According to county officials, this machine will print about 23,000 bills in about a week, giving the county treasurer's office plenty of time to have the bills to their recipients by the November 1, due date. Taxpayers offered IRS assistance

Taxpayers who cannot get questions about such things as refunds, audits or bills resolved through normal Internal Revenue Service (IRS) assistance can get help from the Problem Resolution or PRP office, F.L. Browitt, IRS District Director for New Mexico, said.

PRP was established a little over a year ago to give personal, specialized attention to persons when normal channels do not work, according to Mr. Browitt.

For example, suppose a taxpayer filed a Form 1040X, Amended United States Individual Income Tax Return, expecting a refund. When the refund did not arrive after three months, the taxpayer called the IRS and was told that the return was being audited. After a period of time, the return was accepted, but two months later there is still no refund, and repeated calls to the IRS bring no satisfaction.

In a case like this the taxpayer should contact the PRP office, the IRS said. Usually, PRP handles a complaint within five days. If a delay is unavoidable, PRP gives the taxpayer a status report and a projected completion date. Mr. Browitt said that over 200 New Mexico taxpayers with difficult problems or complaints have been helped by PRP since the office was established.

Mr. Browitt stressed that PRP is not a substitute for normal taxpayer assistance, or for the tax appeals process. Freedom of Information requests, complaints about IRS hiring practices and Privacy Act inquiries are also outside of PRP's jurisdiction. Neither can PRP overturn the decisions made during an audit, according to the IRS. A call to the IRS will refer the taxpayer to the proper office for these matters.

PRP is also helping to prevent problems. Sometimes, persistent difficulties are the result of quirks in the system. These types of problems, when brought to the attention of IRS management, can result in procedural changes. The end result may be fewer problems for the taxpayer in the future.

Taxpayers can contact the PRP office by calling the IRS Taxpayer Assistance number and asking for PRP or by writing to P. O. Box 1040, Albuquerque, New Mexico, 87103.

Mesquite bean jelly earns prize

Mesquite bean jelly? Linda Gutierrez of Sandia Park certainly earned her Ball Corporation award for the most outstanding entry from an original recipe in the canning competition at the 1978 New Mexico State Fair Women's Center.

For her novel entry — an adaptation of an old family recipe — Linda received $50 in cash and three dozen Ball canning jars. To win her honor, she faced stiff competition from such exotic delicacies as papaya preserves, asparagus berry jelly, chile jelly and canned pineapple.

The prize winner shares her recipe for the clear yellow jelly, which as a taste like strong honey:

MESQUITE BEAN JELLY
(Original prize winning recipe by Linda Gutierrez of Sandia Park.)

4 cups juice from ½ bushel mesquite beans which are ripe enough to have a tinge of pink.

1 package powdered pectin
5½ cups sugar

Wash beans, and lightly pound into small pieces. Cover with water and cook 45 minutes to an hour. Drain and save juice. Cover beans with water and cook again; drain and combine juice to make 4 cups.

Bring juice to boil. Add pectin, stirring hard, till mixture comes to full boil. Add sugar, bring to rolling boil and continue to cook for 4 minutes. Pour into glasses and seal. Makes approximately six to eight jelly jars. Takes several weeks to set.

The recipe's easy. Getting the beans may take a little more work. Mesquite bushes grow profusely in the southern part of the state, and Gutierrez got her beans from the Deming area where her parents live.

The semi-hard bean is shaped like a green bean, she said.

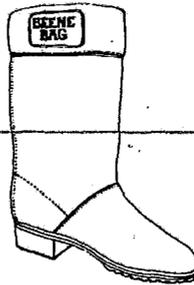

The jelly is more popular in that area, but it has a consistency like honey, she said. She has experimented with the amount of juice and sugar to produce the jelly appearance she prefers.

Skeen on the campaign trail in Ruidoso

within the area you described.

4 — Would you undertake, as a highway safety measure as well as a means to control heavy traffic flow through Ruidoso, to work with the Highway Commission to implement an alternate Highway 37, through Gavilan Canyon, to divert the through north/south bound traffic?

Skeen: I will work with the highway commission. They will work with the communities. We will certainly consider the traffic problem (on Sudderth and Mechem).

5 — What direct action will you take to change current liquor licensing laws, in effect eliminating the current quota system?

Skeen: I will take no direct action on liquor licensing, because I know it's coming to the legislature. I am not going to have an administrative bill concerning liquor. If we're going to reclaim licenses, now treated as private property, we must consider that the quota system is not operating. We will have to determine the worth (of licenses), determine the value through appraisals. If a moratorium is placed on licenses, they'll damn sure appreciate. They did the last time. The state will have to control ownership of licenses as state property. I am open to any approaches to rectify the problem. If nothing works, I will try and work out a compromise to achieve equitability. Also, we need to sit down with our Indian friends, maybe involve the federal government, and work out solutions to problems to benefit everyone.

6 — Will you continue funding the present Citizens Service Centers located at several of the state's largest cities by Governor Apodaca?

Skeen: I will evaluate the centers to see how they are doing. I will offer suggestions, should any changes be indicated.

7 — What steps will you take to reorganize the present "crime commission" to make it more effective?

Skeen: I am a supporter of the crime commission and want to help them with their efforts in every way possible within the law. I will leave the commission as constituted now but tie it closer with prosecutorial processes.

8 — Do you believe Governor Apodaca's reorganization plan is working satisfactorily? If not, what changes will you suggest?

Skeen: It's a little early to say if the plan is satisfactory. I like reorganization. It gives the governor far more responsibility than in past years. I favor more effective operation of staff government, perhaps more administrative functions. There are not enough field functions, they need bolstering. I will reorganize his reorganization if necessary, as I feel we have more administrative layers than needed.

OOPS, I MISSED THAT ONE! Little League football gets underway Saturday at Warrior Stadium and although the kids won't make it to the National Football League by dropping passes, there is always a chance that one of our own will be there someday, say about 1991. Rumor has it that O.J. and T.D. got their start this way. First game kickoff is at 12 noon.

Pee wee gridders kickoff Saturday

The Ruidoso Little League football season kickoff this Saturday at Warrior Stadium and only one thing can be certain this early in the season: every team will have a shot at the Super Bowl.

In the eight to ten year-old division there are only two teams, the Lions and the Hornets, competing for the right to call themselves the best. Every week they will face each other and regardless of won-lost records they will meet again November 11 for the Little League Super Bowl championship.

In the 10 to 12 year-old division four teams, the Colts, Steelers, Cowboys and Broncos, will compete against each other. Like their counterparts in the eight to ten year-old division each team is assured a spot in the playoffs. This is how that works: November 4 the winner of the division will play the team that finished in fourth place. The second and third place finishers will play each other for the right to play the winner of the first and fourth place teams' game. Then, November 11, the two teams will meet for the Little League Super Bowl championship in their age division.

The season's schedule:
September 30, 12 noon, Hornets vs. Lions, 1:30 p.m., Broncos vs. Cowboys; 3 p.m. Steelers vs. Colts.

October 7, 11 a.m.-1 p.m., Ascencade Parade; 2 p.m., Cowboys vs. Steelers, 3:30 p.m., Colts vs. Broncos.
October 9, 6 p.m., Lions vs. Hornets.

October 14, 9 a.m., Colts vs. Cowboys; 11 a.m. Hornets vs. Lions; 1 p.m. Ninth grade vs. Truth or Consequences; 4 p.m., Steelers vs. Broncos.

October 21, 12 noon, Lions vs. Hornets; 1:30 p.m. Colts vs. Broncos; 3 p.m., Cowboys vs. Steelers.

October 28, 12 noon, Hornets vs. Lions; 1:30 p.m., Broncos vs. Steelers; 3 p.m., Cowboys vs. Colts.

November 4, 12 noon, Lions vs. Hornets; 1:30 p.m. First vs. Fourth; 3 p.m. Second vs. Third.

November 11, 12 noon, Hornets vs. Lions (Super Bowl), 1:30 p.m. Winners play for Super Bowl; 3 p.m. Losers play for third place.

Ruidoso rally earns last minute draw

The Ruidoso Warrior ninth grade football team came from behind on three separate occasions, the last time with a mere 35 seconds left on the clock to earn a 28-28 tie with Roswell.

Lon Nunley capped an 80 yard drive that began with less than three minutes on the clock with a three yard burst into the end zone. Chris Lopez added the two point conversion and the Warriors had a come from behind tie. Under the circumstances, however, coach Bruce Hancock considered it a win.

"I feel like we won," he said. "We were behind three times and came back. We took it to them. I was so proud of them. They showed a lot of character."

That, in fact, is what pleased the entire Warrior coaching staff most.

"Everyone was more proud of their desire and character than anything else. The kids showed a lot of heart," Hancock said.

Roswell scored first in the game, taking the opening kickoff and driving for a 6-0 lead. Ruidoso came back later in the first period on Lon Nunley's seven yard run. Roswell jumped back into the lead early in the second period only to have Ruidoso tie the score later in the quarter on a 35 yard pass from quarterback Scott Neal to end Steven Parks. The score stood 12-12 at half.

Roswell did all the scoring in the third period, tallying two touchdowns and opening a 26-12 lead headed into the final quarter.

The Warriors refused to fold. Chris Lopez scored on a five yard run to narrow the gap to 26-18, but time was running out. But Ruidoso got one more shot with less than three minutes remaining. From their own 20, Ruidoso nursed the ball downfield behind the running of Lopez. Finally, with 35 seconds left in the game, Nunley scored from three yards out. Still, the two point conversion was needed. The Warriors refused to be denied. Chris Lopez burst into the end zone with the tying points, Hancock was elated.

"Everyone did an outstanding job. On that last drive, Lopez just couldn't be stopped. He ran like a bowling ball. He refused to go down," Hancock said.

Just like a bed of roses, the game did have some thorns that stuck in Hancock's side.

"We dropped three touchdown passes in the first half. The receivers were wide open and dropped them. If we had caught those we would have beat them on the scoreboard as well as physically."

But after suffering two consecutive losses, Hancock was pleased to get his team some momentum.

"Tularosa (next week's opponent) better stand back," Hancock said. "It gave us the momentum we needed."

The Warriors kickoff at Tularosa next Saturday September 30 at 2 p.m.

Dexter overpowers Ruidoso

Dexter amassed over 300 yards rushing offense Friday and that was enough to overpower the little Ruidoso Warriors en route to a 33-12 victory at Dexter.

Ruidoso managed to stay close through the third quarter but Dexter's tremendous size and strength finally took its toll on the Warriors.

"They just physically whipped us," Warrior head coach Darrel Stierwalt said. "Their power began to wear us down. They really took it to us in the fourth quarter."

Up until then Ruidoso had been the team doing all the taking. They tied the score at six midway through the second period and after falling behind 21-6 in the fourth, they cut the lead to 21-12. From there it was all Dexter.

Ruidoso fumbled their next possession and Dexter managed to drive the necessary 17 yards for the touchdown.

"I thought that was the turning point," Stierwalt said.

Stierwalt might have said one of Dexter's fumbles was the turning point except that Dexter kept recovering their own fumbles. They fumbled the ball eight times altogether but lost only two of them.

"They were the luckiest guys I've ever seen. They'd fumble and get it back. We fumble and we're up a creek."

Stierwalt wasn't making excuses, though. "They played like champions against us."

Always the optimist Stierwalt was pleased with certain phases of the game.

"For a freshman, Scottie Neal played outside linebacker better than anyone we've got. And I was happy with our passing game this week."

Ruidoso's scoring all came on passes that would have done Kenny Stabler proud. In the second period, quarterback Borde Williams hit Jeff Elliot with a 30 yard toss and early in the fourth he hit a streaking Pat Matthews with 40 yard bomb. He also had a touchdown pass ruled incomplete because the receiver was out of bounds. The films showed the only thing out was the referee who was out of position. Had the pass been ruled complete the Warriors would have had a 12-6 lead.

As it turned out, Ruidoso was never able to get any closer to the lead and Dexter's strength paid off in the final period.

Capitan hosts tournament

The Capitan Tigerettes will entertain eight girls' volleyball teams Thursday and Saturday September 28 and 30 in their first annual Tigerette Invitational Tournament.

The tournament is a single elimination affair, although teams that lose in the first round will enter a consolation bracket. The tournament's opening game is at 4:30 p.m., and pits Corona against Hondo. Magdalena and Encino follow at 5:30 p.m. The Ruidoso Warriors meet Mountalnair at 6:30 p.m., and the night-cap pits host Capitan against Lake Arthur.

The teams will have Friday off, then play two games Saturday. Play begins at 11:30 a.m., Saturday. The finals are scheduled at 7:30 p.m. The final game will be preceded by consolation bracket games at 4:30 and 5:30 p.m., and a third place game at 6:30 p.m.

Trophies will be given to the top three finishers and an all-tournament team will be selected.

Ruidoso spikes Grizzlies

The Ruidoso Warrior girls volleyball team downed the Carrizozo Grizzlies Saturday 15-10, 13-15, and 15-11. The junior varsity fell to the Carrizozo junior varsity 13-15 and 5-15.

"I think we looked pretty good," head coach Sergio Castenon said. "Carrizozo played well, we were just better."

Better is what the Warriors had to look if they were to defeat the Grizzlies. Earlier in the week, they fell to Capitan in two games.

"We played better than we did against Capitan. We're improving steadily everyday. We're working together as a team better. The girls are all calling out their shots."

That was something they failed to do against Capitan and, as a result, the Warriors made several unforced errors. Castenon was also pleased with the work around the net.

"Our sets and spikes are coming along pretty well. We still need to improve," he said.

Castenon hopes the Warriors improve by tomorrow night, when they face Tularosa in a rematch. Ruidoso won the first meeting between the two teams 15-13, 3-15 and 16-14 in what Castenon calls, "our best game so far." They will have to repeat that performance.

"We're going to have to play as well as we did the first time we played them. They are pretty good."

The game starts at 5:30 p.m. at Warrior Gym.

Tourney set at racquet club

The Sierra Swim and Racquet Club will be the site of the Sierra Blanca Adult Open tennis tournament Friday, Saturday and Sunday, October 6, 7 and 8. The tournament will be sanctioned by both the United States Tennis Association and the Southwest Tennis Association.

Entry fees for the events are $6 for singles and $10 per doubles team. Entry fees for players playing for prize money are $10 and $15 for singles and doubles respectively. Entries are due by Friday, September 29. Only entries received in the mail will be considered. The club will not be responsible for entries made over the phone. Players are allowed to enter only three events.

Five tied for top spot

The first week of bowling in the Ruidoso Ladies League ended with a large group clinging to first place.

In first place are: Brunell's, Valley Plumbing, Pioneer Savings and Trust, Casa De Regalos and Big T, all with 3-1 records. Tied for sixth are Ruidoso State Bank and Barney Rue Sand and Gravel with 2-2 records. Five teams bring up the rear: Apache Music, Hughes Body Shop, Minit Mart, K-Bob's and Las Tres Tiendas, all with 1-3 records.

High games by individuals were: Elaine Garrity, 206; Flo Maul, 188, and Wanda Shaw and Dee VonRosenburg, 180. High series by an individual was recorded by Dee Rosenberg, 501. Elaine Garrity was second high with a 485 and Jerri Bourland followed her with a 462.

High game by a team was recorded by Ruidoso State Bank with a 730 followed closely by Pioneer Savings and Trust with a 725. Apache Music had the third highest series with a 706.

Team series was led by Brunell's with a 2040 followed by Valley Plumbing, 1970, and Apache Music with a 1967.

Capitol Comments

by Ernie Mills

Santa Fe — The Political Pot Bolls Over: This column in recent weeks predicted much in-fighting within the Apodaca Administration as top hands try to protect their present jobs and also make plans for the future.

One big hassle that got solved — at least temporarily — was the battle between Herman Grace, acting Bureau Chief for Community Affairs for the Human Services Department, and Dr. Glen Gares, State Personnel Director.

Grace protested minimum requirements set for the Bureau Chief's job — specifications that included fifteen hours of college credit in a number of varied subjects.

Gares backed down admitting he could not defend the new specifications which were drawn up after Government Re-organization went into effect.

Grace has been at odds for a long, long time with the Division Director of his agency, Frank McGuire and our "birdies" say that feud is still on the back burner.

Much of the feuding at the Department of Human Services involves personality clashes, but much is political.

This column is running a count of political stickers on employee vehicles parked outside the giant PERA building and Republican gubernatorial candidate Joe Skeen is more than holding his own.

This Skenes Santa Fe Demos who see more activity for the Republican nominee than for the Democrat at State agencies, even though a Democrat Governor heads up the Administration.

One reason for the Republican boost among the Statehouses is that Governor Jerry Apodaca's Cabinet is almost split right down the middle between Democrats on one side and the GOP and Independents on the other!

The wall-leaners think the Republican Cabinet members are doing much more within their agencies to promote the GOP candidates than the DEMOS are exerting on behalf of their party members. DON'T FORGET ... HSD Cabinet Secretary Fernando E.C. De Baca believes the Governor should continue making changes right up until the end of his Administration and not wait for a new Governor to clean house — where needed.

Ferdy figures that when an official should be dismissed for cause, it should be handled by the Governor so he can turn over a clean slate to the next guy. He feels, too, that much worse publicity for Apodaca will result if the firings or dismissals are postponed until the next Chief Executive takes over.

The unanswered question is why has everyone waited until this late in the Apodaca Administration to even suggest major personnel changes?

Wal How About That! There's been precious little publicity about the RARE 2 plane, which is a lengthy environmental impact state on areas proposed for inclusion in the American wilderness system.

A huge amount of New Mexico land is proposed for inclusion in the wilderness area and it has come to the attention of the "big boys" from back East who have business interests in the Land of Enchantment.

Some high-powered PR types have started making the rounds, especially in the Santa Fe area trying to drum up editorial support in opposition to some of the proposals for inclusion in RARE 2.

Unfortunately, like so many "outlander" PR types, they come in like gangbusters and leave the same way.

It makes the local lobbyists and public relations people who do their work year-round look like real pros by comparison.

PR Sidelight: A major nationally known soap company recently sent a PR team to the State Capitol to blitz the press corps and get a pretty good turnout.

Like good flacks, they sent thank you notes ... and two we saw were sent to the wrong addresses!

Letters to the Editor

Dear editor:

There should be no letter writing contest concerning the proposed regional airport on Fort Stanton. Consider these facts: (1) the "elected officials representing the citizens of Lincoln County, Mesalero Apache Reservation, and the Villages of Ruidoso, Capitan and Ruidoso Downs all agreed to the need of a new airport and proceeded to have a Master Plan developed; (2) the finalized Master Plan justified the need and recommended the best location on Fort Stanton on the existing airport mesa (Site B); (3) this Master Plan was approved by the elected officials who in turn appointed an airport commission to implement the Master Plan; (4) the airport commission has applied through federal government agencies for transfer of 2,000 acres at the selected site; (5) there exists a Memorandum of Understanding between New Mexico State University and the Bureau of Land Management which permits livestock and range research on all of the Fort Stanton federal land; (6) an airport with turfed runways still exists on Fort Stanton for public use as shown in the FAA Airport Master Record, dated 2/3/75 and is the selected site location.

NMSU officials have gone far in opposing the proposed regional airport with promises of great results from agriculture experiments on all of the Fort Stanton land. The NMSU and agriculture interests outside of our area will deny you, the citizens of Lincoln County and Mesalero Apache Reservation, the only real opportunity of developing a new regional airport by blocking the use of federal land. There is no viable alternative of building an airport on a site located on private and state school land. It would cost too much in both money and time to acquire the land and for site preparation.

Although there should not be a letter writing campaign, there is a need to communicate with the federal officials, both elected and appointed, to convince them that we really need the federal land at Fort Stanton in order to develop a new regional airport.

HOW TO SUPPORT THE DOLLAR

The wire services about August 20th, when President Carter began a two-week vacation, distributed several trunkline stories telling how Mr. Carter plans to act to help the faltering United States dollar.

The hike in interest rates ordered by the Federal Reserve Board August 19th was the first step. In coming weeks, other stabilizing efforts will be made, White House spokesmen informed reporters.

Those who have long been deeply concerned over the faltering dollar, the international trade deficit and repeated, high United States budget deficits, are glad to hear remedial talk at last from the Carter Administration.

But there's no big mystery about the dollar's plunge. The cause is simple — the President and Congress haven't exhibited, and aren't now exhibiting, the moral courage to stop spending too much money.

As soon as the United States budget is balanced (and taxpayers are now beginning to stir with various constitutional proposals to force politicians to balance it), the dollar will recover.

The answer is that simple. If the President and Congress want to check inflation and stop the slide of the dollar, all they need to do is balance the budget. That would be a better course of action than press releases about future steps to be taken — press releases which began years after the average taxpayer knew the problem demanded action. — Santa Rosa News —

CETA RIPOFF

The United States Senate, by a 66-10 vote, continued one of the biggest ripoffs in our history.

That was the approval of $11 billion for the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA).

Critics have complained that the program is replete with political favoritism, fraud, nepotism and financial conflicts of interest. Recent developments in the New Mexico CETA program confirm these claims.

The fact that a longtime political crony of Democratic county chairman Emilio Naranjo runs the Rio Arriba program should suffice to explain how our CETA employees are chosen.

The Senate did tack on an amendment requiring the federal government to take "prompt enforcement action" to stop abuses of the program but this will simply boil down to the federal officials investigating themselves so you know how that will turn out.

What is particularly disturbing is that only ten senators had the courage to vote against this tremendous government handout at a time when it is popular to complain about excess government, expenditures.

Come to think of it though, there is an election this fall isn't there? — The Rio Grande —

editorial

The State Highway Commission will meet in Ruidoso October 19. This should alert village officials to meet with the commission and outline the desperate need for an Alternate Highway 37, beginning in the Hollywood area and utilizing Gavilan Canyon Road to its junction with Highway 37 north of Ruidoso. Perhaps, once again, the squeaking wheel will get the grease. — CD

POLITICAL POTPOURRI

At $25 a head Thursday evening area folks had the opportunity to chitchat with gubernatorial aspirant Joe Skeen ... and his fellow area Republican office seekers ... during an attitude adjustment session at the Jockey Club.

Seems ... from casual observation ... just whole herds of Democrats coughed up $25 per each ... to kinda make the gathering successful ... pleasant ... and more than likely quite inspiring to Joe and the other candidates.

And ... If'n the active ... construe that to mean financial ... support for Skeen ... as reflected by the Democrats shaking his hand and talking with him ... can be diagnosed as a bellwether situation, widespread throughout the state, then by jinkies our good ol' boy Joe ... that herder of sheep in the hills outside of Picacho ... is gaining momentum to the extent that good ol' boy Bruce had best peek at his hole card ... and ... If'n it wouldn't inconvenience him too much ... brush up a bit on our state bird ... which does a bit of road running itself.

And ... further ... those Democrats didn't desert Joe at the bar ... er ... uh ... the Jockey Club ... nope ... they done up and followed him over to Convention Center ... and joined him in shaking a leg to a couple of mighty fine bands. Too bad Bruce wasn't there ... he coulda enjoyed the music ... besides ... he'd seen a lot of familiar faces.

ON BILINGUAL TEACHERS

The Associated Press Thursday released one startling piece of information:

"None of the 136 teachers and aides in bilingual programs in New Mexico schools tested could pass a Spanish reading and writing exam at the fourth grade level, the director of bilingual education for the state Department of Education said."

Now ... that "none" out of 136 is a statistic that indicates somebody in bilingual education ... in addition to those 136 ... should hang their heads in shame ... unless they propose to concentrate on confining their Spanish teaching to first, second and third graders ... which really wouldn't do much to perpetuate the language as a viable part of New Mexico's multi-lingual culture.

An unfortunate episode like this tends to lend credence to the old saw ... pertaining, in this instance, to the lack of proficiency in the Spanish language ...

that those that can't do, teach ... a very sad state of affairs.

TELEVISION GRIPES

Comes now the National Federation for Decency ... up to their collective ears in indignation over the caliber of television programming currently being aired ... and the complainers are really chomping at the bit.

Some quotes from their protests: "We are disgusted with the cheap, violent and vulgar programming on television." ... "For the most part the networks depend upon exploitive, distorted and perverted sex. For instance, 89 percent of sex on TV is depicted as being outside marriage." ... "The networks are increasing sex this fall, and they have promised more flesh." ... "We must remember that all television is educational television. And what the networks are teaching about sex is not sex education, but sex mis-education." ... "They are going to continue to produce and sell the cheap, exploitive and destructive programs just as long as the public will accept it."

Gadzooks ... you'd think the gripers were forced to stare at the old boob tube ... and the boob thereon.

Anyhow ... If'n the programming they're complaining about doesn't have mass appeal ... it certainly must appeal to sufficient of the masses to make it lucrative for the networks ... and the advertisers.

Why this deal's akin to having someone take a dim view of a chap as likes dill pickles atop a chocolate sundae ... washed down with a tall glass o' ice tea. Whatever turns you on ... and television sets do come equipped with an off button.

But the meat of the whole deal was in that last quote ... yup ... someone must like the programming ... or the programmers wouldn't be peddling it.

SKI TIME'S COMING

The last two days of summer ... here in Harmony Valley ... were damp, cool days ... days that tended to find folks peering at the top of Old Baldy ... to see if'n a coverlet of snow was glistening in the sunlight which wasn't.

But, by jinkies, good ol' boy Roy Parker was in the highest of spirits ... just anticipating 37 feet of snow on the slopes to keep the skiers ecstatic.

BRIEF BIT: Looks as though it'd be prudent of Our Jimmy not to stick his nose into the doors to peace Hussein and the Saudis are keeping open ... CD

I-n-s-i-d-e the Outdoors

by Gary Dollahan

The recent thunderstorms that have blessed southeastern New Mexico with much needed precipitation have been a most welcome sight.

And, along with the majority of these showers have come spectacular lightning shows. Lightning has always fascinated mankind in one manner or another. At least one man has been so intrigued by it that he flew a kite during an electrical storm. Yet, another man, reportedly a doctor, used lightning to give life to his monster-like creation.

Even though lightning is fascinating and fun to watch, it can create extremely dangerous situations which should not be taken lightly.

A recent article written by Joanna Prukop, Game and Fish Public Affairs Officer, Raton, is excellent in explaining some of the fascinating characteristics of lightning and how to use them to keep from being struck by one of the electrical bolts.

Her following article should brighten your knowledge on this subject. Hope you get a charge out of it (the story).

In the blink of an eye, a lightning bolt can discharge billions of watts of power, and with the summer thunderstorms we've been having, it would be best if you didn't serve as a lightning rod.

Lightning is not as phenomenal as you might think. Except for its size and power, it is no different from the spark you can create by shuffling your feet on the carpet and touching metal. Both are electrical charges caused by friction, the running of one object against another.

Friction within a cloud occurs as the whirling air currents cause water droplets, ice crystals and dust particles to rub together or break apart. In simplified terms, this creates a negative electrical charge which bolts downward to meet a positive charge on the ground.

Lightning can travel at speeds up to 93,000 miles per second and may heat the air through which it passes to temperatures between 15,000 and 60,000 degrees Fahrenheit in a millilth of a second. This extreme heat causes the air to expand suddenly and violently, producing the sound called thunder.

Since light and sound travel at different speeds, you can use the sound of thunder to tell the distance in miles between you and the lightning flash. Lightning can be seen instantly, but the sound of thunder takes five seconds to travel one mile. When you see the flash, count the seconds until you hear the thunder. Divide the number of seconds by five to determine the distance in miles. If you don't have a watch, count the seconds as one thousand one, one thousand two, one thousand three, etc.

Thunder cannot hurt you, but the tremendous force of lightning is not something to be taken lightly. If statistics from past years hold true, lightning will probably kill 500 people in the United States this year and injure three times that many. Ninety percent of these people will be struck while outdoors for recreation or work purposes. Several people have already been killed or injured by lightning in New Mexico this year.

Lightning can strike almost anywhere and may strike more than once in the same spot. Also, as most folks know, lightning is drawn to the highest point on the land beneath it. Trees, tall buildings and communication towers attract lightning.

Since outdoor interests could cause you to be exposed to the dangers of a late summer electrical storm, here are some safety tips:

Never seek shelter under a tree during a thunderstorm as it can be a double threat. Trees, especially solitary ones, attract lightning. Current that radiates from a tree that has been struck will flash out at anything under or near it. Heat produced by the electrical current flowing through the wood can also turn the sap into steam so quickly that the tree explodes, often injuring anyone nearby.

If you are out fishing or boating and a thunderstorm comes up, head for shore as quickly as possible and get away from the water. Water has a flat surface, so any type of boat on the surface becomes a good target.

When a thunderstorm develops while you are swimming, get out of the water immediately. If lightning strikes the water nearby, the electrical current can travel to you through the water. Even if it only stuns you, you could drown.

Avoid beaches, fields, golf courses and other such open areas during a storm. If you get caught in the open, lie down flat on the ground so you will not attract a lightning bolt.

Never hold a metal object such as a gun, golf club or tennis racquet while exposed outdoors in a thunderstorm. Such metal objects are good conductors of electricity and could attract lightning to you.

During a storm, don't stand near wire fences or other wires. Electrical current can travel along barbed wire or other metal fences for long distances.

When camping, if an electrical storm comes up, don't stay in a tent near a tall tree. Also, stay away from exposed hill and mountain tops. If a storm catches you hiking on the tundra of a New Mexico mountain top, hike down to below treeline immediately.

There is still plenty of time to be active in the outdoors this summer. Enjoy it, but be aware of late summer storms and the hazards of lightning. Should you be caught in a storm, know what to do, and then, do it.

The three primary rules for safe gun handling are: treat every gun as if it were loaded, at all times; keep the muzzle or barrel pointed in a safe direction; and keep the action open. Remember, you are responsible for your firearms at all times, and following these simple rules will help make you a safe hunter.

It is always better to be safe than sorry. To ensure safety, always unload your firearm when transporting it in a vehicle, climbing a tree, crossing a fence, walking in muddy or icy conditions, and when in camp.

The safe hunter must accept the responsibility of knowing how his or her firearm works, whether it is loaded, where it is pointed, where his or her target is, where the bullet will go, and where the bullet will stop. These are full-time responsibilities, some of which are often over-looked.

For instance, one of the most frequently observed unsafe practice is shooting at an animal when the backstop is unknown. You should never take a shot when you don't know where the bullet will stop if you miss your target. This rule applies whether hunting antelope on the rolling prairies or squirrels in the pine forests.

Of course, no rule ever prevented an accident. Hunting accidents can only be prevented by the action of the hunter. He or she must know the right action to take under any of a judgment of circumstances. Exercising good judgment is a must. Going hand and hand with good judgment is physical skill. Having the physical skill to take the correct action, such as shooting well enough to make a clean kill every time, is also a must. Perhaps having the proper attitude, or caring about doing the right thing, is one of the more important aspects of safe firearms handling. You have to want to do the right and safe thing.

There is no excuse for a firearm "accident." Any such so-called "accident" is preventable. The simple rules presented here and discipline are the key to safe hunting. Don't be responsible for a poor excuse.

Fall hunting seasons are here and so is the time to refresh our memories concerning safe firearms handling. There are some basic rules to review which apply to anyone handling a firearm, especially those getting ready to go afield during the dove, pigeon, squirrel, and grouse seasons that begin September 1.

Bowhunters as well as muzzle-loaders are urged to carefully study the upcoming deer hunting season regulations. Although the hunting areas for these weapons have been extended there are some important restrictions.

First, your license must be validated for a bow or a muzzle-loader. You may hunt only during the special bow or muzzle loading season and only with that weapon indicated on your license. During the regular Big Game season, D-1, D-2, D-3 you are not permitted to hunt.

If you are a bowhunter, the law reads as follows:

You must be able to cast a hunting arrow 160 yards on level ground. Arrows must have broadheads with sharpened, steel cutting edges. Crossbows may not be used. You may not carry a handgun of any kind.

For muzzle-loaders, your rifle must be a muzzle-loader of at least 40 caliber or muzzle-loader shotguns firing a single slug. Again no handgun of any type is allowed.

The bow season for southeastern New Mexico is September 23 thru October 1 and you are allowed one deer of either sex. Added species for bow only are bear and turkey in Units 34, 35, and 37. Turkey only in Unit 38. If you are unsuccessful during the September bow season, you can try again during the primitive weapon hunt in October.

The primitive weapon hunt is for both the bow and muzzle-loader hunters. The dates for the hunt are October 21 thru October 29 in Management Units 30 and 34 only. You can take only one deer of either sex.

If you, as a bowhunter, are still unsuccessful you can hunt after the regular big game season in designated areas for bowhunting—until January 21, 1979—but first, check the Big Game proclamation very carefully for hunt units and restrictions.

For muzzle-loader hunters, the regular Black Powder season starts in selective units September 23 and runs through October 1. Note that during this hunt period there are no muzzle-loader seasons open in the southeastern quarter of New Mexico.

The season for this area of the state, the primitive weapon hunt, does not open until October 21 and goes thru October 29. Again you are urged to check the proclamation for season dates, open areas, and bag limits before you go to the field. It could save you much embarrassment later.

Your best bet for bow or muzzle-loader hunting will most likely be in an area north of Dunken, in the general area of the Flying H Ranch, the area down river from Elk to the junction of State Road 24 and US 82. (Be sure and check with local landowners.) This small area has a large number of deer and hunters should have good success.

The Guadalupe Mountains will for the first time be open to muzzle-loaders in October during the primitive weapon hunt and will offer good hunting. This area has had a good year and the deer are in very good shape.

PRIME TIME SCHOOL TELEVISION

Did you ever wonder why the Jewish people are often called "the chosen people?" And what do you know about the Torah, the bible of Judaism? How does it differ from the Talmud, the other great body of Jewish laws and teachings? What is the difference between an orthodox, conservative, and reform Jew?

These are just a few of the questions about the Jewish religion that are explored during the extraordinary 13-part series THE LONG SEARCH as host-narrator Ronald Eyre (pictured) takes us across four continents to seek out man's search for God, truth, inner peace, self-knowledge or whatever term you choose to describe what religion means to you.

This special, to be shown on PBS on Saturday, October 14, will tell us about the Jewish religion and what it means to be a Jew. The program on Judaism is the fifth in THE LONG SEARCH series brought to the United States by the Xerox Corporation and produced by B.B.C. and Time-Life Films. Check your local listings for time and date.

Rabbi Pinchas Peli, a sixth generation rabbi living in Jerusalem, tells us, "The Jews became the chosen people because they responded. Perhaps everyone heard God calling but it was Abraham who responded. 'Here I am.'"

Traditionally, young orthodox men are educated in a Yeshiva (Jewish school), where they participate, always in pairs, in oral discussion of the Talmud. On each page of the Talmud is a core of ancient writing, surrounded by more recent interpretations. While orthodox Jews view the words of the Talmud as binding, the meaning of a word is always subject to challenge. There is an ongoing attempt to understand, argue, interpret and apply the ancient writings.

The famous Jewish author Elie Wiesel explains how Judaism maintains the beauty within its traditions through words, expressions of thought and language, rather than through art, music or architecture as in Christianity. The word 'Israel' can be translated as "he who struggles with God." It is this concept of struggling that has continued to fuel Judaism. Thus Jewish identity has evolved through a system that respects doubt, encourages questioning and protest but has little patience for indifference. "You can be a Jew with God. You can be a Jew against God. But never without God," says Wiesel.

To help you and your family fully appreciate this series, Prime Time School Television (PTST), with a grant from the Xerox Corporation, has prepared a special study guide. For your free copy, just write to: THE LONG SEARCH, PTST, 120 S. LaSalle St., Chicago, Ill. 60603.

If you would like to receive all of PTST's regular monthly program guides on television specials, just send $10 to PTST at the above address. You will receive all materials published by this not-for-profit national organization. PTST received the 1974 Action for Children's Television Award for its achievement in children's television.

CONFIDENTIAL REPORT Divorce took a recess—a two-month recess—for Chevy Chase. He and wife Jacqueline were to go to court in their divorce case when the judge called them into his chambers. After talking privately with each of them the judge declared a recess until Oct. 18 saying, "They should have time to work out their problems. They aren't ready for divorce." Mrs. Chase's attorney said, "I have never in my 23 years of practicing law seen a judge do this at this stage of the proceedings. It's a case of 'Fair Play' for Bonnie Franklin, the divorcee mom on 'One Day at a Time' and TV daughters Mackenzie Phillips and Valerie Bertinelli are feuding. Their co-workers feel the problems center around petty jealousies and rivalries. They portray Bonnie Franklin as being a selfish and insecure star who has alienated herself from the rest of the cast. She has refused to quit the series, hoping Mackenzie or Valerie will leave. In the meantime, the unhappy cast is now a bitter brood. Didja know 'Eight Is Enough's' Dick Van Patten sits on cushions to look taller than his TV children? That's his way of gaining authority.

INSIDE THE TUBE James Coburn may be starting a new Hollywood trend. He is living in his Beverly Hills home with his soon-to-be ex-wife Beverly and his soon-to-be new wife Lynsey dePaul. Sounds like a good pilot for a TV show. A survey taken by a national publication reveals teenagers think Farrah Fawcett and Burt Reynolds are the most sexy stars. The teenagers feel that Jerry Lewis and Kate Jackson are the kindest stars and Bob Hope and Carol Burnett are the best comedians. Robert Redford and Cheryl Ladd are the celebrities teens would like most to marry. Ed Asner, 'Lou Grant,' had 25 stitches taken in his face. Seems he cut himself with a faulty razor. Susan Dey ('Partridge Family') and Mary Jane Harper Cried Last Night') and husband-agent Leonard Hirshan are eagerly awaiting the birth of their first child. Charo will soon marry a 38-year-old Swede. Susan St. James ('McMillan's' wife) and millionaire producer Michael Butler are close to wedding bells. Carroll O'Connor's Rolls-Royce was stolen by a very clever thief. He told the doorman at O'Connor's bar that "Mr. O sent him for the car." This could be the last season for James Garner on 'The Rockford Files.' His bad right knee has become a big problem making it difficult for Jimbo to stand more than 10 minutes.

ON THE TV SCENE: Glenn Ford and wife Cynthia wondered what the guides were saying about them on the 'Homes of the Stars' tours that drive past the houses of celebrities in Hollywood. So Cynthia took one of them and when the bus got to her house, she got off. Ford says, "She started running up our drive. The bus driver came after her yelling at her to stop. She hammered on the door and when I opened it she walked in. I can just imagine what everyone on the tour thought—I spend my time picking up pretty girls off the tours." Gabe Kaplan and his long-time love Leigh Walsh have split. Though he's a successful TV star today, bachelor Erik Estrada, the motorcycle cop on 'CHiPs,' still prefers the humble life. He lives in a modest one-bedroom apartment and insists he will not move, even if he marries his long-time girlfriend Kathy Lautner. Ron Howard, star of 'Happy Days,' is working on a new film, 'Hamburger Heaven,' all about his high school days.
