School board facing enrollment woes

By MARY WORMLEY
Staff Writer

The Ruidoso Board of Education Tuesday voted to request a special budget hearing from the State Public School Finance committee to fund hiring of additional teachers and then discussed methods of funding building additions to all four schools, because of rapidly increasing enrollment.

Superintendent of Schools Pat Valliant said during his 20 day enrollment report there presently are 1,325 students with 134 half day kindergarten and special ed students (full time equivalency of 50.5 kindergarten and 16.5 for special ed).

"Our total enrollment is 1,392 students," he said. "We had estimated 1,330.5, so are 61.5 students over the estimate."

With the increased enrollment, the Ruidoso School system is experiencing high teacher-pupil ratios.

"In the high school, grades nine through 12, we have . . . a teacher pupil ratio of 1 to 21.08; in the middle school, grades six to eight, it's 1 to 20.13; at White Mountain Elementary, grades three through five, it's 1 to 26.15, and at Nob Hill, grades one and two, it's 1 to 27.25," Valliant said.

"Overall, we're in good shape, but in the lower grades we're not," he said adding those ratios were over the minimum standards.

The board voted to request a special budget hearing by the Public School Finance committee after the 40 day enrollment report to study funding of two or possibly three additional teachers.

The board then launched into a discussion of adding on to the four existing buildings.

"At the rate we're going, we'll need in the next five years at least 24 more classrooms and White Mountain cafeteria needs to be enlarged," Valliant said.

The board agreed to meet with the principals and the advisory council for "input so we can approach it in the right way."

Valliant corresponded with Rem Alley, Roswell architect conducting two building projects for Mescalero Apache Tribe, for estimates on the number of school age children in the two developments and for estimates on the cost of the system's building additions.

Alley wrote there would be approximately 200 school age children in the developments by 1981, adding there could be 150 students by January, 1979.

"We can depend on more Indian students in the future," Valliant said.

Alley estimated the cost of the additions to be just under $2 million, if the project is begun in the near future.

With the threatened influx of students and the increase in costs caused by delay, the board discussed funding through Public Law 815 or, if that fails, capital outlay and bonding.

Under Public Law 815, the construction would be made possible through total federal funding. The board will seek professional help in drawing up the application and hold a special board meeting November 13 to discuss it.

If the application is turned down, the board will seek funds through state capital outlay and bonding.

"If the legislature makes appropriations for capital outlay in the next session, then Ruidoso will apply for funds," Valliant said.

"For the application to be approved, we have to be bonded to capacity. In July, we could vote about a million and then capital outlay would flow to us from the state of a little over a million.

"When we are bonded to capacity and in an emergency situation, then the state will help with capital outlay."

Valliant said, "We need to plan now, before we're caught out in tents."

Board member Stormy Edwards suggested the system build a large structure in the area of the two White Mountain schools.

Valliant said no plans had been set and all aspects would be considered, adding "if the airport at Fort Stanton goes through, we should go for the land (where the present municipal airport stands) adjoining the White Mountain schools."

"In the future, we could have the entire school complex out there although we do have a good investment in Nob Hill and the High School. But we'd need to acquire more land before we could think about it."

In other business Tuesday evening, the board approved opening the high school gymnasium for gymnastic practice under supervision of community volunteers three nights per week, contingent on receipt of an opinion on liability from the school attorney.

The board also:

— Approved finances including checks, naming the superintendent as director of finance and representative of the board on federal activities (a yearly formality) and approved a budget increase of $1,670 from an insurance claim when the high school cafeteria was robbed of foodstuffs.

— Called for bids on auto fleet insurance. Specifications will be advertised monthly until January, when bids will be opened.

— Voted to request approval from the school transportation committee to allow additional mileage for kindergarten transportation.

— Were notified of the District 7 board members and superintendent's meeting at 6:30 p.m., October 12 in Truth or Consequences.

— Thanked board member C.L. "Bones" Wright for mowing the grass in the field where the Mid School and Little League teams practice.

The next meeting will be at 7 p.m., November 14 in the White Mountain cafeteria.

PAT VALLIANT: "We need to plan now."

Trustees eyeing new ordinance needs

Ruidoso's village trustees Tuesday evening discussed the drafting of new ordinances to govern commercial development along State Highway 37 and to provide control over the moving in of mobile homes and other buildings, to avoid conflict with present zoning restrictions.

The trustees set October 18 as a special meeting, at the Planning and Zoning Commission's (P&Z) monthly workshop, to study proposed ordinances to:

— Establish light commercial zoning along Highway 37 to contain offices, service stations, general retail outlets and similar enterprises.

— Locate heavy commercial zoning, including garages, salvage and wrecker operations, automobile facilities, plumbing shops and other businesses requiring outside storage, away from the light commercial zones.

"We can't arbitrarily change specifications from existing ordinances," Ron Harris, village attorney, said. "P&Z has proposed drafting new ordinances to solve the zoning problem and they will be ready for consideration at the October 18 workshop session."

The ordinances being drafted by Harris will cover subdivisions, commercial and residential structures to solve the existing zoning problems.

"Until we can put new ordinances into effect, to obtain conformance on commercial zoning," Harris said, "we cannot consider variances in the existing ordinances."

In other business, the trustees:

— Approved the purchase of a Ford van ambulance, in the amount of $25,272.54 from Springfield Equipment, Springfield, Ohio, the sole bidder to meet the specifications. Delivery of the unit is to be made in 90 days.

— Adopted Ordinance 78-15, concerning flood control in the village. The text of the ordinance will be published in The News October 16.

— Authorized a call for bids to install a new 8,000 gallon underground fuel storage tank at Ruidoso's Municipal Airport, as requested by airport manager Tim Morris.

— Were advised by administrative assistant Frank Potter that negotiations are underway with the State Highway Department to develop a cooperative agreement, effective during fiscal year 1979-1980, to repair 7.5 miles of village streets including portions of:

Country Club Drive, 1.1 miles; Main Street (Upper Canyon) 2.6 miles; Gavilan Canyon from Meander Drive north to the county road, .2 mile; Wingfield Street, .7 mile; Cree Meadows and Juanita Drive from Cedar Creek Drive to Sudderth, 1.2 miles; Center Street from Sudderth to Wingfield, .1 mile; Walnut Street, .6 mile; Meander Drive from Gavilan Canyon to Cedar Creek Road, .8 mile and Evergreen Street from Carrizo Canyon Road to Sudderth, .2 mile.

The work on Country Club Drive will involve reworking the four-inch base course, drainage and double penetration. The work on Country Club Drive and Gavilan Canyon from Meander Drive north to the county road will involve a four inch base course, drainage and double penetration surfacing. All other projects will include patching, drainage and single penetration surfacing.

— Authorized Gordon Herkenhoff and Associates, Albuquerque, to provide cost estimates on drainage and other improvements needed for traffic control at Municipal Airport.

— Approved replats in Pinelodge Subdivision, changing Lots 37 through 40 into two lots; and changing 10 lots into three lots in Skyland Addition.

— Approved moving lot lines in Lots 21 through 24, Block B, Pinelodge Subdivision; and the adding of 18 units, to be known as Sierra Blanca Lodge, contiguous to Sierra Blanca Cabins.

— Tabled until the October 31 trustees' meeting, consideration of action to obtain sewer easements to serve South Kingswood Addition, Unit I.

— Rejected a request for changing a road to accommodate a residence abutting onto village property on Lot 8, Block 2, Cree Meadows Heights Subdivision.

— Authorized Morris to install a 30 watt radio transmitter at Municipal Airport, to provide an on the ground single frequency radio outlet to obtain weather briefings from Roswell and to file flight plans. The Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) will pay $300 monthly to provide this service, with the government equipment to cost the village $500. The agreement includes a clause for adjusting the FAA payments, should operating costs escalate.

— Received, but took no action on, proposals from Lincoln County on a Joint Resolution to subsidize Emergency Medical Services; and Joint Powers Agreements on the sanitary landfill, storage rooms for the Senior Citizens complex and for the purchase of library books and equipment for Ruidoso Public Library.

Hightower in commission race

John A. Hightower, 54, an Ancho area rancher, announced Tuesday plans for a write-in campaign for the position of Lincoln County commissioner.

Hightower is seeking the position from which Lee Straley, who is listed on the November ballot, has resigned.

"I would welcome the opportunity to serve as a Lincoln County commissioner," Hightower said.

"I admit I would have a lot to learn. I don't know all the problems, much less all the answers, but I have never been afraid to make a decision after having been informed of the facts."

"The only pledge I make is for fairness, honesty and equal consideration for all whom I come in contact with."

A registered Democrat, Hightower has served on the Carrizozo Board of Education, is a member and elder of the United Presbyterian Church and a veteran of World War II.

He and his wife, Vernelle, have two sons, Gary and Bill.

Hightower works on the family ranch with his father, Bryan Hightower.

Jockey Club buys tracks

Jess Burner, president of the Ruidoso Jockey Club, Wednesday announced that the purchase of the two horse race tracks at Ruidoso Downs and Sunland Park from Fortuna Properties has been closed. Ruidoso Sunland, a wholly owned subsidiary of the Jockey Club, will own and operate the two tracks.

Ruidoso Sunland has hired Woody Erwin, formerly general manager at the Downs of Santa Fe, as general manager. Erwin has been working closely with Al Rosa, president and general manager of Fortuna, for the past two weeks to facilitate an orderly take over. Ruidoso Sunland will take over the operation at Sunland Park immediately and will carry on the racing program that has been approved by the New Mexico Racing Commission.

The Racing Commission has granted Ruidoso Sunland a temporary license to operate at Sunland Park. Burner expressed the Jockey Club's appreciation to the Racing Commission for its expeditious handling of its application for the license and for the Racing Commission's cooperation and assistance in concluding the purchase from Fortuna.

Ruidoso Sunland will make every effort to improve the quality of racing in New Mexico through the increase in the pari-mutuel handle. This, in turn, will increase the purses to the horsemen.

Downs approves water fee hike

The Ruidoso Downs trustees Monday evening established new security deposit and reconnect fees for all village water customers.

On roll call vote the trustees adopted Ordinance 78-9, on final hearing, amending Ordinance 75-6A, establishing these rates:

Security Deposits — Residential unit, $30; Business unit, $50. Reconnect fees, $75.

The base rates remain unchanged for the monthly billings at: Residential unit $8.50. Business unit $10. Unimproved lot $3. Standby $3.

Base rates are for the first 4,000 gallons of water consumed; for 4,000-10,000 the rate is $1.10 per thousand gallons and above 10,000 gallons the rate is $1.25 per thousand.

The trustees, after Chief of Police Lynn Martin advised them that enforcing the state statute covering removal of abandoned cars from property at the property owners' expense was "impossible," directed village attorney Dick Parsons to "prepare resolutions" so that the statute can be implemented.

Parsons said: "If the owner can't be located in each case, post notice on the dwelling that the vehicle must be removed within 10 days. After that time the village can remove it at the owner's expense, unless the person asks for a hearing before the trustees. After the hearing, (should the trustees rule against the owner) the owner would then have 20 days to appeal to district court."

Parsons noted that the police department would need the name of the owner of the vehicle, the name of the occupant living on the premises and an accurate description of the property.

In other business, the trustees: — Approved mayor Norman Wheeler's appointment of Donald Rierson to serve on the Planning and Zoning Commission.

Wheeler, after the meeting, administered the oath of office to Rierson and to Hal Pugh, previously approved to serve on the commission.

— Changed the opening of bids for new garbage trucks to November 20, with the delivery date changed to March 1, 1979.

— Approved occupation licenses for The Circle K Corporation and R&R Horse Transport.

— Were advised by Wheeler that the village received $252 in business license revenues from the Aspencade Motorcycle Convention.

— Instructed Parsons to prepare a cleanup ordinance for consideration at the October 23 meeting of the trustees.

Mule-O-Rama windup set

Mule-O-Rama action for 1978 concludes Friday through Sunday at Western Highlands Track, Ruidoso Downs, with a full slate of events on tap.

Mule show events will be held from 9 a.m. to noon, Friday and Saturday.

These spectator events include reined mule contest, pleasure saddle mules, trail mule, model saddle mule, halter classes, mare and foal, jenny and foal, jack class, barrel race and pole bending.

In the halter division of 1978 foals eligible for the 1981 futurity, the W.T. Waggoner Estate, Vernon, Texas will show at least six head, Mule-O-Rama president Bill Ward said Tuesday, "and these mules will be featured at the mule sale."

The mule sale is scheduled Saturday following the races, in the stables at the west end of the race track.

"Mules paid up, or eligible for the 1979, 1980 and 1981 futurities will be up for sale," Ward said. "I expect 50 mules will be auctioned, as there were 20 consigned by Tuesday."

Racing is scheduled to begin at 1 p.m., Friday daily, through Sunday.

"Due to delays in getting the condition books out," Ward said, "we had to cancel the four stake races. However, we'll have a full card of racing."

"I don't know yet about the El Macho Grande, the $5,000 entry fee race over 330 yards. It's possible the owners of mules to enter this race may show up. I know some of the owners are interested. It's a matter of scheduling."

"To dispell rumors, I had all the purse money on hand and it was paid to the winners last weekend. I also have the purse money on hand for this final weekend of racing."

"The 1979 futurity money is on deposit in the Roswell State Bank and the $50,000 mule race will be run in 1979."

To highlight the racing action the Saturday card will feature the "17 Relay Race" and Sunday there will be the hide race and 18 mule pack race.

"Should it be necessary," Ward said, "we will hold Sunday morning finals in show events to name the champions."

The daily admission charge for the final weekend will be $2 for adults and $1 for children.

MARY HERSHBERGER, Tehachapi, California, rode Ruby to victory in last year's $20,000 winner-take-all race. This year she's back and continuing her winning ways at Mule-O-Rama.

Capitan's junior griders split tilts with Ruidoso

[Capitan and area residents with personal news, club news, church news or meeting notices to appear in The Ruidoso News should contact correspondent June House at 354-2490 evenings.]

The weekend of football got off to a good start October 5, as the Junior High Tigers beat the Ruidoso Junior High, 36-14.

Earlier in the year when these two teams got together the game ended in a 0-0. This time, however, the offense got in gear.

Capitan's first score came on a run by James Ramirez. The try for the extra point was good making the score 6-0.

Ruidoso came back to tie the score but it didn't take Capitan long to score again. This time the Tigers scored on a pass from Grady Le Eldridge to Ramirez that covered about 50 yards. The point after try was good making the score 16-8.

Capitan recovered a Ruidoso fumble on the first series of downs after the kick-off at the Ruidoso 16 yard line. It was fourth and three for Capitan from the nine yard line when Ramirez carried the ball to the one yard line. On the next play Danny Cummins carried the ball in for the score.

The PAT was good with quarterback Robert Parker running the ball in for two. The first quarter ended with Capitan in front 24-8.

The Tigers added another TD in the second quarter on a 35 yard run by Eldridge. The PAT failed. The half-time score was 30-8.

In the second half Ruidoso scored first. After an exchange of punts Capitan fumbled on their own 11 yard line and Ruidoso recovered. From there Ruidoso ran in for a score bringing them to 30-14. However, that was as close as they got as the Tiger defense shut them out the remainder of the game.

Capitan's last score began at Ruidoso's 45 yard line. The touchdown came on a throwback pass to the quarterback. Eldridge found Parker all alone in the endzone for the touchdown. The PAT failed but the Tigers didn't need that one as they won the game, 36-14.

The roster for the Junior High Tigers coached by Jimmy Bizzell includes: Gid Allen - linebacker, Sammy Castillo - quarterback, Grady Le Eldridge - end and halfback, Jerry Lobb - end, Ron McDaniel - linebacker and guard, Rodney Montoya - cornerback and tackle, Robert Parker - quarterback, Eugene Qualls - tackle and guard, Rudy Slaz - tackle and guard, Paul Sullivan - safety and end, Donny Shafer - linebacker and halfback, Danny Cummins - end and fullback, Eddie Davis - halfback, Sidney Goodloe - guard, Arty Luna - center, Neal Meador - center, Lee Page - tackle, Todd Proctor - linebacker and tackle, James Ramirez - linebacker and halfback, Dean Schear - end and Darren Treadwell - cornerback.

The next game is October 19 against Carrizozo in Carrizozo. TIGER JUNIOR VARSITY

The Junior Varsity Tigers found the going a little rough as they fell to the Ruidoso Junior Varsity 35-20. Capitan's first score came on a run by Manual Ramirez. The second TD was scored by David Rocks when he intercepted a Ruidoso pass and ran it in for the score.

The Tigers last score was on a 3 yard run by Mark Eamello. The PAT was scored on a run by Ramirez.

The Junior Varsity will see their next action on October 19 on the home field against a team from Alamogordo. VOLLEYBALL ACTION

October 3, the Tigettes traveled to Hondo to play volleyball. The varsity won two straight games by scores of 15-3 and 15-11. Scoring for the Tigettes was Cline with 7, Abercrombie with 5, and Cooper, Knapp, and Long with 1 each.

In the second game Kathleen Story, Debby Womack, DeWeber, Cline, Abercrombie and Lamb started. Scoring were Cline with 5 points, Story - 4, Womack and Abercrombie - 2 each, and Lamb and DeWeber - 1 each.

In the second match, Capitan faced Bel Air of El Paso who was the eventual winner of the tournament. The Tigettes put up a good game but fell short by scores of 14-16, and 10-15.

For Capitan in the first game, Cooper had 5 points, Long and Lamb - 3 each, Knapp - 2, and Abercrombie - 1.

In the second game, Cooper and Abercrombie had 3 points each, Lamb - 2, and Knapp, and Castillo - 1 each.

Bel Air went on to beat Dexter for first place in the tourney.

Capitan played Ysleta, another team from El Paso, for third place. Capitan came up short, however, as Ysleta won 15-4 and 15-13. In the first game Cooper scored 2 points, and Castillo and Abercrombie - 1 each.

Hale Lake rattler shot

Virgil Reynolds, Ruidoso, shot a four foot rattlesnake with 11 rattles Sunday near Hale Lake, east of Ruidoso.

Out with his brother, Tommy, and their families to cut firewood in Minter's Canyon, Virgil heard "the dogs barking at cows, then the cows jumped and we saw the snake coiled," Tommy said.

"Virgil shot it with a .22 rifle; one shot in the head. I probably couldn't do that in a million years," he said.

"He doesn't want any part of the snake, so I'm going to make a belt and possibly a hatband," he said, adding he might make a keyring out of the rattles.

"We thought it was kind of unusual. Most snakes are hibernating now."

October Promises

Long Autumn
 This is being written on October nine, celebrating Columbus day, in honor of the Columbus and his brave sailors who crossed the Atlantic in 1492 from Spain to begin the development of the New World. We send up a prayer of thanks and gratefulness to Columbus and his men sailing in the three sail boats; the Nina, the Pinta, and the Santa Maria.

Today is a warm and balmy day with light clouds overhead, very much like summer except for the colors cheering the mountain and valley landscape here and there, low and high. The colors are not as advanced this year as in most years, there being much green left among the river trees here in the vale. Not a snow bird is in sight, and the blue birds are celebrating October with their singing. So we look forward to a long fall, Autumn and Indian Summer.

Pappy Johnson Returns From Brother's Services

Pappy Johnson of Ruidoso Downs has returned home from funeral services of his brother, Charles Ruben Johnson who was called home by Our Lord on October third from San Angelo, Texas. The services were held at Wingate, Texas, close by Old Fort Chadbourne, the birthplace of Pappy and his only brother. The services were attended by many friends and relatives and were under the direction of B.C. McCowan.

Pappy's brother was born in Fort Chadbourne February three, 1920, and all his life was much in need of special care. During their boyhood, Pappy was ever faithful and devoted to his only brother, and we now all take comfort in knowing that Charles is safe and happy with Our Lord in Heaven.

Also, Pappy attended the old settler's reunion held at Bronte, Texas on October the first. This celebration is held the first Sunday in October every year for the citizens of the pioneer community of Fort Chadbourne and surrounding rural neighborhood in Coke County. More than two hundred people were present for the celebration in the Bronte city park where there was dinner on the grounds, visiting and exchanging of memories. Pappy visited with neighbors he had not seen since his childhood and had to look twice to recognize his former playmates.

Pappy took some of his apples raised on his place to the celebration, and the apples were highly praised. He was awarded a gold key ring for coming from the farthest away to the reunion.

Pappy said Fort Chadbourne was booming about 1910 when the Kansas City-Mexico and Orient railroad came through. His uncle, W.A. Kirkland drove the first locomotive over the new railroad, from Hamlin to San Angelo. We are glad Pappy is back home. His son, Jack, from Odessa came up last Sunday to help him pick apples.

First Plane Ride For Troy Parker, Wife, and Daughter.

As I drove into Troy Parker's Hollywood Chevron Station on Wednesday, the fourth of October he told me he had just heard that his wife's brother had been called home by Our Lord in Louisiana.

"I am planning to take the first plane ride of my life," said Troy.

So Thursday morning, Troy, his wife, Phyllis, and their little six-year-old daughter, Rene, left for El Paso. After a few minutes out of El Paso the pilot said, "Look out to the left and you can see Sierra Blanca and the ski run."

This was a pleasant surprise to Troy and his wife and daughter to get a look at home so early in the trip. The next thing Troy knew, they were in Lubbock. After a stop-over they went on to Dallas arriving after only two hours from El Paso. After another stop-over, the trip to Alexandria took only forty minutes.

Friday afternoon at two o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Parker and Rene attended the services of Mrs. Parker's brother, J.D. Bullard, age thirty-two. The services were held in the little town of Ollis.

Our prayers go up for the Parker Family and all the friends and loved ones of Mr. J.D. Bullard and we all take comfort in knowing he is safe and happy with our Lord in Heaven.

Saturday the eighth of October, Troy was back at his service station. He said he had arrived back here at his home in Ruidoso Downs late Friday night. He was high in his praise of air travel, saying he still marvelled at the little time it took to go from place to place. He said it was wonderful to see the world from the plane, and that at night the ride was especially pleasant.

"We hardly realize" said Troy, "the wonderful things going on in this old world."

We are glad Troy and Phyllis and Rene are back from their trip and we wish them all God's blessings.

Mary Kelley Returns Home

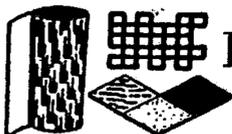

Mary D. Kelley, long time Ruidoso Resident and one of our favorite people in Ruidoso has returned from a weekend trip over to Las Cruces where she visited at the home of her daughter, Susie.

Mary said she enjoyed picking black eyed peas, chile, and tomatoes at a farm near the city. We are glad Mary made the trip to see her daughter during this beautiful time of year.

Time to Rejoice

It is time to rejoice over our beautiful fall weather and give thanks to God for all our blessings.

Carestia/Horton vows exchanged

Karen Suzanne Carestia and Carey Baker Horton, both of Grand Junction, Colorado, exchanged wedding vows in an afternoon ceremony September 9 in Saint Benedict's Catholic Church, Florence, Colorado, with the Reverend Louis Kirby officiating.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Carestia, Rockvale, Colorado, and Dr. and Mrs. W.D. Horton, Ruidoso.

Music for the double ring ceremony was provided by organist Debbie Micheli and soloist Budgie Fazzino Jr., who performed "One Hand, One Heart," "The Lord's Prayer," "Do I Love You" and "Sunrise, Sunset."

The altar was decorated with two large arrangements of peach gladioli, yellow and white daisies.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of ivory chiffon featuring a fitted bodice and long tapered sleeves of peau d' ange lace. Her full, flared skirt was edged by a wide flounce and trailed into a chapel train. A bandeau of lace and seed pearls held her fingertip veil of English illusion.

The bride carried a cascade of peach and yellow rose buds, white daisies and baby's breath.

For her traditionals the bride wore an antique engagement ring from her great, great grandmother, new gold earrings from the bridegroom's parents, a borrowed lace handkerchief from her grandmother and a blue garter. She also had a lucky six pence in her shoe, a gift from the bridegroom's grandparents.

Maid of honor was Pam Nelson, who wore a yellow halter dress of Qiana with a fingertip length cape of complementary floral print on a background of ivory. She carried a bouquet of peach and yellow rose buds, daisies and baby's breath accented with yellow streamers.

Bridesmaids were Ute Behme, Nancy Brunzel and Betty Carestia, sister-in-law of the bride. Their gowns were similar to that of the maid of honor except in a shade of peach. They carried bouquets of yellow and white daisies, peach carnations and yellow streamers.

All four attendants wore peach and yellow silk flowers in their hair.

Flower girls Mary and Louise Johnson, Grand Junction, wore long yellow dresses of Qiana accented with floral print colors. They carried baskets filled with yellow and white daisies.

Serving his brother as best man was Craig Horton and groomsmen were Dan Wimberly, Mike Jones and Ralph Carestia, brother of the bride.

Ushers were Al Strock, Kent Anderson and Patrick McBride. Ringbearer was Shane Zyla.

MR. AND MRS. CAREY B. HORTON

The bride's mother wore a floor length pale blue gown with a matching lace jacket and the bridegroom's mother wore a floor length gown of apricot chiffon. Both wore yellow rosebuds.

After the wedding a reception was held at Merlino's Belvedere where the wedding table featured a three-tiered cake accented with icing scallops, peach and yellow roses and topped with wedding bells and filigree lace pillars, and peach and yellow candles in silver candelabra.

A rehearsal dinner given by the bridegroom's parents was held the evening before the wedding at Merlino's Belvedere.

After a wedding trip to California, the couple is at home in Grand Junction.

The bride is a 1972 graduate of Florence High School and a 1976 graduate of Colorado State University, where she received a BS in microbiology, medical technology. She is employed as a technologist at Osteopathic Hospital in Grand Junction.

The bridegroom is a 1970 graduate of Ruidoso High School and a 1975 graduate of New Mexico State University, where he received a business administration degree. He is employed as a national bank examiner in Grand Junction.

Fledgling bicycle racer urged to pedal faster

Mike Collier has one thing going for him and one thing going against him. Going for him is Galen Farrington. Going against him is a lack of experience.

Collier, a student at Ruidoso High School, began riding bicycles competitively nine months ago. In that short time span he qualified for the national meet in Wisconsin by running the 25 mile qualification track in one hour and two minutes. Under one hour is considered racy fast. Most kids might get cocky, Farrington, a teacher at Ruidoso High School, won't let Collier get the big head.

"He's improved," Farrington said. "How far he goes depends on something that's hard to measure called dedication. He's fallen into some bad habits that I don't like."

If Collier follows Farrington's example he will break those bad habits and become a top notch racer. Farrington used to be a top notch racer and still dabbles in racing a bit. Although he doesn't train as hard as he did when he was a serious racer, he recently won a race in Mexico. And he has the main ingredient that Collier lacks at this stage: savvy.

"Right now," Collier said, "I've got to race more. I've got the basic fitness. But I need experience. You've got to know what to do with what you've got. That's my biggest fault. Some people can win on tactics alone. You need to use your head. When he (Farrington) saw someone do something stupid he capitalized on it. If I can do that I should start improving."

Improvement is something that came easily for Collier the first nine months. He qualified for the nationals with a time of one hour and two minutes. Only one person broke the hour time. But now that Collier has caught up with the rest of the pack, improvement may not come as quickly or with such great ease. But Farrington doesn't think that will discourage him.

"He wants to go to the University of New Mexico," Farrington said. "That is the bicycling hub of the state. That is where team New Mexico is located. If he has lost any enthusiasm, he will get it back there."

"In Ruidoso, we are exactly in the middle of nowhere. There isn't enough competition here. That hurts Mike," he said.

Collier is trying to avoid falling prey to the lack of competition.

"I ride whenever I can, as much as I can," Collier said. "I'm trying now to ride 250 miles a week."

This weekend Collier will travel to White Sands for a 25-mile time trial. He stressed the importance of this trial.

"I'll see where I am this weekend. If I can break that time (one hour) I'll know I'm even with last year. This is a good indicator of a long distance ride."

UNDER THE TUTELAGE OF GALEN FARRINGTON (right), Mike Collier, a senior at Ruidoso High School, is entertaining hopes that he will make the United States national bicycle racing team in the future. Collier, who has only been riding competitively for nine months, and Farrington generally take 25 to 100 mile trips on weekends with great ease.

But Collier also recognizes that he shouldn't put too much stock in his performance at a time trial. Racing against a clock and a person are two different things. Without the necessary experience, a road race compared to a time trial is like pedaling up Sierra Blanca and coasting down.

"I do well in the time trials but I come to a road race and I don't know what to do and I get clobbered."

To overcome that shortcoming, Farrington said: "He will have to work harder. His very limited experience causes him to be very unsure. He doesn't know how to avoid a crisis situation. He doesn't know how to place himself in the field."

With Farrington providing helpful hints and advice, that is one area that Collier should be able to improve in.

Homecoming win in the past, coaches attend task at hand

After suffering through four defeats in a row, the Ruidoso coaching staff could be forgiven if they spent a few extra days reveling in last Friday's 7-0 triumph over the Cloudcroft Bears.

That was not the case, however. Bright and early Monday morning the Warrior coaching staff met to study films of tomorrow's opponent, the Hatch Bears. And overconfidence was not the topic after watching the Bears trounce Texas-based Anthony.

"They are an improved team from last year," Stierwalt said. "They are better coached than ever." Ruidoso defeated Hatch 27-0 last year.

Stierwalt's worry wasn't limited to any particular aspect of the Bear attack. He was equally concerned with their offensive punch and defensive strength. He did say, however, that the Bear's passing attack was stronger than their running attack.

"It's not their running that bothers me, it's their passing game," he said. "They pass about 60 percent of the time."

According to assistant coach Bruce Hancock, who scouted Hatch, the passing attack can fool a defense.

"They like to pass," Hancock said.

"Their quarterback can throw 40 yards to a spot. The ball looks like a Hail Mary when he throws it but it really zeros in on number 88."

Stierwalt is considering altering the defensive alignment to counter the Bear's strong passing attack.

"I think we should use a 4-4 on defense with a free safety," he said.

Assistant coach Barry Nelson is confident that whatever the Warrior defense uses, the secondary will rise to the occasion.

"If he throws the ball like you say," he said to Hancock "we'll intercept it."

The Warrior coaches hope that Hatch doesn't force the Warriors into throwing interceptions. Stierwalt expects Hatch to stay in their basic defensive alignment and stunt much of the time.

"The one thing that really worries me is their 5-3 defense," he said. "They'll stay in that diamond and stunt, hoping they can get to the quarterback before he gets the pass off." That has been a weakness for the Warriors this year. But Stierwalt was encouraged by the offensive line's performance in the Cloudcroft game.

"Our offensive line picked up their stunts so they must be getting better.

Stierwalt doesn't expect the battle to be uphill all the way. In the films of Hatch, he and his assistants picked up a few weaknesses they hope to exploit.

Both of Hatch's defensive ends box. The left end more than the right end. By boxing, the ends prevent great success on end sweeps because they come across the line of scrimmage so quickly that they turn everything to the inside where the pursuit is greater. By doing this, however, the ends take themselves out of position on off tackle plays and the Warriors think they can run inside on them.

"The way their end comes across the line," assistant coach Bob Elder said, "we should be able to run off tackle on them."

This is the second district game of the season for the Warriors, who dropped the first one to Animas 12-10. A win against Hatch, even though it would bring their record only to 1-1, would put the Warriors in the thick of things in the district race and subsequent playoffs. Two teams from the district qualify for the playoffs.

Kickoff at Warrior Stadium is scheduled for 7:30 p.m.

ACTION CONTINUED THIS PAST WEEKEND in Little League football at Warrior Stadium. Shown above, is a Cowboy running back trying to elude the tackle of a Steeler defender. Cowboys battled Steelers to a 6-6 tie. In the other 10-12 year old league game, the Colts downed the Broncos 6-0 to remain unbeaten. In the Little League's version of Monday Night Football, the Hornets stung the Lions 18-0 for their second straight victory. Play resumes Saturday at Warrior Stadium at 9 a.m.

Denny's Tire and Auto leads Monday keglers

Denny's Tire and Auto, the only team in the league with a name rather than a number due to a lack of sponsors, leads the Monday Nite Mixed bowling league with an unblemished 8-0 mark.

Tied for second with 4-1 records are four teams. Team number one, team number two, team number three and team number four—are all tied for second, four games behind the leader.

In sixth place all alone is team number seven, with a 3-1 record. Bringing up the rear are team number five and team number eight, with 1-7 and 0-4 records.

Not surprisingly, Denny's Tire and Auto hold the mark for high team series at 2,473. Team number three and team number eight are tied for second at 2,244.

High single game total is also led by Denny's Tire and Auto with an 867. Last place team number eight is second with an 800.

High individual series totals are held by Jerry Castanada with a 628; George Goodwin with a 597 and Gene Scott with a

591. The leaders of the high series for women are: Gladys Crowley with a 499; Evalyn Johnson 489 and Willie Beasley with a 484. High individual game totals for the men are held by: George Goodwin with a 241 and Jerry Castanada with a 227.

Domenici in Carrizozo Monday

U.S. Senator Pete Domenici will speak in Carrizozo Monday at a luncheon celebrating the fifth anniversary of Belco, Incorporated, in Carrizozo.

The affair is being sponsored by the Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce with the assistance of the other service organizations in the town. The Carrizozo Woman's Club is preparing the food and decorations.

The industry which manufactures portable arc welders moved to Carrizozo from the Dallas, Texas area five years ago. The arrangements for the move and for settling the young company into the area became a community project and the opening was celebrated with a community dinner much like the one planned for this fifth anniversary.

"Belco's first five years in Carrizozo have been a real success story," Mary Rich, Chamber president said, "Welders go out from Carrizozo over the nation and to many foreign countries. We are happy to have proven that the right small industry does bring prosperity to a community. Jim and Carolyn Cantrell have become community leaders and all of us in Carrizozo believe we have real cause for celebration."

Also expected for the luncheon are Bill Kundrat, director of the New Mexico Department of Commerce and Industry, Bob Boyd, director of the Department of Industrial Development, Nick Pappas, director of the Southeastern New Mexico Economic Development District.

Senator Domenici will be introduced by Bob Hoffman, president of the Albuquerque Chamber of Commerce and vice president of Bank Securities, Incorporated.

SENATOR DOMENICI

Cyclists come from near, far

BY JOHN NEYLAND
Sports Writer

A map in the rear of Convention Center showed that one was from Alaska, one from Canada and one from Maine. Some of them had an unconventional look. But, unconventional or not, they all had one thing in common. They are all motorcyclists. And they were all in Ruidoso. Or so it seemed. And they liked it.

"The people seem real friendly," said Ed Nolan of Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada. "I like the trees and the warm weather. I work in the northern part of Canada and it was pretty cold already when I left."

Surprisingly, Nolan didn't make the trip south with Aspencade festivities in mind. He didn't even know about the motorcycle convention until someone in Colorado told him about it.

"I was vacationing in Boulder when a friend told me of the convention. I'd never heard of it before. I don't get too much news of the states where I work. I'd never been to this part of the country before so I decided to come down for a few days," Nolan said in his British accent.

He said it takes him about three days to make the non-stop trip from Winnipeg to Ruidoso. Perhaps that accounts for his attraction with the trailers some of the bikers carry behind them.

"I'm fascinated with the two wheelers the people have behind them. You could really carry a lot of luggage with one of those."

Nolan bought his first bike in 1962, a B.S.A., and, except for a brief period while married, has owned one ever since. In fact, he can thank his divorce indirectly for his emergence in Ruidoso.

"When I got divorced, I had some extra money to burn for the first time in four years so I decided to buy a bike and take a trip."

An Arizona couple can thank a whim for their purchase of a motorcycle, a Harley-Davidson 1200. Cliff and Pat Wimberly, of Tucson, Arizona, purchased their first motorcycle a few months ago.

"We bought the first one on a senseless impulse," Cliff Wimberly said. "It was nothing more than that."

Cliff Wimberly said he grew up near Ruidoso, in Capitan, but this was the first Aspencade he has been to. But he had no intention of strutting down Sudderth in the parade last Saturday.

BECAUSE ED NOLAN WORKS IN EXTREME Northern Canada, he likes to take his vacation in areas where warm climate prevails, so he came to Ruidoso. The morning after he arrived it was a "balmy" 32 degrees in Ruidoso. Despite his love for cycling, Nolan is able to ride his own Windjammer III only six weeks out of the year. Because of the undeveloped site where he works, he leaves his bike with his parents in Winnipeg, Canada.

"All it would take to ruin that parade is for me to enter it," he said.

For all of Cliff's modesty, his wife Pat said she has never been worried while riding the back seat of Cliff's motorcycle.

"I don't worry," Pat said. "I trust him." "It is implicit that she trust me the way I drive," Cliff chortled.

She may not have in the past. The first bike the Wimberlys bought was a bit bigger than the one they travel on now and, as a result, they had a few minor scrapes.

"We turned that bike a couple of times," Cliff said. "It was just a little big for me to handle. On this one (the Harley-Davidson), I feel like I'm on a little bike."

For the Wimberlys, a couple in their mid-fifties, motorcycling is only one of a few hobbies. They like to take horsebackriding trips and fishing trips. Those kinds of activities, they consider normal. But the motorcycling is another story. They have relatives near Ruidoso but they haven't told them that they are into motorcycling.

"If they knew I was doing this, they'd think I'd lost all my marbles," Cliff said. "If I'd been doing this all of our lives nobody would think anything about it. Our kids think we're crazy. We are."

Pat is going to carry the insanity one step further. She plans to learn to ride as soon as possible.

"I think I'm going to learn how to drive one," she said. "I think it would be a lot of fun."

Casa de Regalos leads lady keglers

The ladies of Casa de Regalos moved into sole possession of first place in the Ruidoso Ladies Bowling League by sweeping their opponent 3-1 in last week's match.

Despite the win, there are still five teams within shouting distance of the leaders: Ruidoso State Bank, Big T and K-Bob's all were within one game of the lead with 8-4 records.

Only one game behind them are Pioneer Savings and Trust and Valley Plumbing with 7-5 records. Still not out of the race is Apache Music with a 6-6 record.

Hughes Body Shop and Mini-Mart head the lower echelon at 5-7 and Brunell's and Barney Rue Sand and Gravel are each at 4-8. In last place, suffering through an 0-4 week is Las Tres Tiendas at 1-11.

Tryouts for the twenty-third annual Junior Talent Show will be held in the high school gymnasium at 7:30 tonight. The juniors are looking for new, unusual acts and response from the community would be greatly appreciated. The talent show will be presented at 8 p.m. October 24 in the gymnasium. Everyone is invited. There will be a $25 prize given for first place. The show will also feature the crowning of Halloween Queen and King. The junior class members will be selling tickets for the talent show. They are priced at $1.50 per student, $2.50 per adult, and $3 at the door.

Candidates from the classes for the Halloween King and Queen to be crowned at the talent show were elected recently, including: seniors, Mark Dutton and Kelly Hamilton; juniors, Greg Pippin and Amy Boone; sophomores, Rick Dotson and Lou Ann Wilson; freshmen, Chris Lopez and Connie Rue. Each class will be working on a project to raise money for their candidates. The seniors are selling tickets at the gate for the Mule-O-Rama; the juniors will be having the talent show; the sophomores will have a disco dance and the freshmen will have a car wash.

Patti Neal and Borde Williams were crowned Homecoming Queen and King Friday night preceding the football game with Cloudercroft. Others on the court were: princess Tracey Schafer escorted by prince John Cabot, princess Kristi Perryman escorted by prince Bart Owen, princess Susan Miller escorted by prince Rick Pritchett and princess Debbie Jo Almager escorted by prince John Hall. During the coronation ceremonies the Ruidoso High School band played the Bee Gees hit song, "Night Fever." After the game, a homecoming dance sponsored by the student council was held in the gym with music by the "Night Wind."

Our school library has a new reading program this year. Reading Enrichment Company, Inc. (RECI) furnished a paperback book reading program that is reflecting a change in our culture as well as in our education. These books have a modern format that is colorful, light-weight, easy to handle and inexpensive compared to the same title in a hard cover. The RECI program has a wide reading level, so now almost everyone who looks for a book can now find one which he can read.

One new student has enrolled this week, a sophomore, Pam Sloan of La Sierra High School in Riverside, California.

At the recent district Future Homemakers of America meeting held in Cloudercroft, Robin Burrows was elected to represent District J as their state officer.

The Ruidoso High School Band took top honors Saturday during the Aspencade Parade in Class A Bands.

Saturday, October 14, the band will be traveling to Las Cruces to participate in the "Parade of Champions" Marching Contest, competing against 12 other bands.

Saturday, October 14, senior retakes will be made in the library. Any senior who has not had his picture taken should see Mrs. Spurlock for an appointment.

Thursday, October 5, the Ruidoso Girls' volleyball team hosted the Carrizozo Grizzlies in the warrior gym. The locals lost by the scores of 15-9, 7-15, and 0-15. High point scorers were Priscilla Bustamante and Patsy Almager each with five and Alicia Pirelli with four. The varsity won 15-14, 10-15, and 15-12. High point scorers for the Varsity were Kristi Perryman with 11, Amy Boone with seven and Donda Pippin and Ellen Bizzell each with five. October 7, the volley ball team traveled to Cloudercroft. The JV won by the scores of 15-10 and 15-12. Scoring the highest points for the JV were Glenda Bob and Jackie Lester each with seven and Priscilla Bustamante with six. The varsity lost by the scores of 15-5, 8-15, and 7-15. Scoring high points for the varsity were Kelly Thomasow with 10, Lisa Shaw with seven and Ellen Bizzell and Amy Boone each with four.

The JV volleyball team will participate in a tournament this Saturday at Goddard against Goddard JV. Their first game is at 10 AM.

County Agent

Lincoln County was well represented at the New Mexico State Fair with exhibits in the Open Sheep Division, Junior Dairy, Steer, Swine and Market Lamb divisions. Tim Proctor had a second place light Suffolk lamb that was in the Junior Livestock Sale. Roby McDaniel had the Grand Champion Dairy Cow in the Junior Dairy Show. She placed third in Dairy Showmanship. Calf exhibitors were Tonya Tubbs, Clyde Cranwell, Sandy Cronwell and Steve Copeland. Sheep exhibitors were Raythe Gipson, Jamie Gipson, Tim, Alina and Todd Proctor, Sandy Cranwell and Clyde Cranwell. Philip Payne was the exhibitor in Swine. Dale and Roby McDaniel had 14 registered Rambouillet in the Open Sheep Show.

Irrigated pastures and how to get the most out of them will be discussed October 18 starting at 7 p.m., in the Fair Building in Capitán. Charles Glover, Extension Agronomist, will explain how the grower can get more out of irrigated pastures. Some items to be discussed are pasture grazing, fertilization and irrigation.

Also to be discussed is agriculture energy: present and future. Charles Hohn will discuss the energy supply and what we can expect in the next few years. Also to be reviewed is the energy research being carried on; such as irrigation pump energy efficiency testing, wind changes and solar energy uses.

Put October 18 on your calendar and plan to attend the meeting on Irrigated Pasture - Agriculture Energy.

Apple harvest is in full swing in Lincoln County, you can get apples for eating, salads or cooking and prices are reasonable. Some of the major varieties available are Red Delicious, Jonathans, Golden Delicious, Stamen Winesap and Rome Beauty. The Red Delicious is excellent for eating but only fair for cooking. On the other hand the Rome Beauty is excellent for pies but only fair for good for eating. For a tart apple, choose the Jonathan or Stamen Winesap. The Golden Delicious is a mild flavored apple, excellent for eating and salads. Some people prefer it for pies as it retains a crunch even when cooked.

Electric fencing for livestock and predator control is one of many new developments that promise to make sheep and wool production more profitable. Sheep not only produce a good income, but use feed that would never be used otherwise.

The New Mexico Wool Growers Association recently initiated a "Blueprint for Expansion" program in New Mexico. The blueprint is designed to assist producers to expand existing herds and provide management guideline to insure success to new producers.

Currently, the opportunity of expansion of sheep on farms is great. The high cost of farming demands increased production efficiency. Sheep production is one way to use crop residues, such as stubble fields, Potential producers should request a free copy of New Mexico Extension Circular 480 "Sheep Production and Management" from the County Extension Office in Carrizozo.

The Agriculture Energy Situation and How It Could Affect you, will be discussed by Charles Hohn, Extension Agriculture Engineer, Wednesday October 18 in the Fair Building at Capitán at 7 p.m. The present energy situation and what we could expect in the future as well as energy research will be discussed.

Also on the same program is Charles Glover, Extension Agronomist. He will discuss irrigated pasture management - varieties to plant and how to get the most out of your pasture.

Suggest Controls for "Casual Invaders": With the first cool weather of late summer crickets, beetles, boxelder bugs and other insects are starting to look for winter quarters in your home. Here are some tips for keeping them out.

First make the house as tight as possible to keep the insects outside. That will offer double benefits, outside weather stripping and other devices to seal cracks also will help in energy saving. Next insecticides may help in some cases. But in most cases they have to be sprayed directly on the bugs. Spraying a strip across the doorsill is ineffective, since the insects will cross it readily with little bother. Spraying around the foundation of the outside of the house will sometimes help.

Further control of these nuisance insects can come from a thorough cleaning of the garage as well as decaying organic matter near the house. They often gang up in accumulations of trash or firewood. Then, where the garage is attached to the house it's an easy trip to the living room anytime the connecting door is open. Remove any garden leftovers, any accumulations of grass clippings, tree trunnings and the like near the house. Even the compost pile, where it's close to the house, can harbor the insects.

Santa Fe — Out on a Limb: You can almost make bet right now that when the poll-takers put their figures together for the New Mexico gubernatorial contest, they'll call the contest between Republican Joe Skeen and Demo Bruce King "too close to pick."

Gov. Jerry Apodaca figures that 50,000 new voters will be going to the polls this November — that means 50,000 voters who did not cast ballots in the Governor's race four years ago.

A good portion of the new voters will be young people just coming of age, but the biggest percentage should be newcomers to the Land of Enchantment and it's just about anybody's guess whether they will go Democrat or Republican.

Do You Listen or Watch?: Round House wall-leaners are snubbing about the possibilities tied to the proposed television debates between gubernatorial hopefuls Joe Skeen and Bruce King.

The question most frequently asked is "whether the people will merely watch the physical presence of the candidates or will they listen attentively to the remarks offered?"

The wall-leaners are trying to ascertain whether the TV viewers will simply go for candidate charisma or will they heed the answers to complicated queries and responses.

The answer to that question could hold much for Bruce King and Joe Skeen — like their political future!

Don't Say We Didn't Tell You. Still Packing 'Em In: Once before, this column chided the State Transportation Department for a big paper waste in the preparation of press releases.

Well, it's happened again. The agency recently mailed out nineteen — that's right, nineteen — separate press handouts in an envelope.

Just about every newsmen at the Round House agrees the material contained in the nineteen releases could have been boiled down to three pages at the most.

But — why fret? It's only taxpayer money.

Early Lobbying: Rep. Sam Vigil of San Miguel County, according to our sources is going to make contact sometime this week with present House Speaker Walter Martinez to get in an early plug for a major committee chairmanship.

Rep. Vigil is openly interested in the chairmanship of the House Taxation and Revenue Committee, which is being vacated after January 1 because of the primary election loss of Rep. Eddie Lopez of Santa Fe.

Other lawmakers are interested in the key chairmanship and our "birdies" still say Rep. Adele Cinelli Hundley of the Big Duke City is the frontrunner . . . if . . . Speaker Martinez again wins the Speakers race.

Sidelight: Insiders figure Santa Fe County residents will really miss the Legislative power they had in the person of Lopez.

A veteran of many sessions, Lopez chaired both the House Taxation and Revenue Committee and the powerful Legislative Finance Committee. It will be years before Santa Fe County gets that much muscle again.

New Legal Beagle: Youthful attorney Bill Royer is the legal counsel for the State Corporation Commission. A veteran at the Round House, Bill constantly gets ribbed by his cohorts when they introduce him at Legislative interim meetings as "Lawyer Royer."

Time for a Review?: Some key New Mexico lawmakers and leaders of the State Corporation Commission are in apparent agreement that the State's Insurance laws need updating and rewriting.

One of the more interesting suggestions tied to that proposed revision involves the role of age, sex or marital status as it is related to insurance premiums.

Some wall-leaners suggest that a special blue ribbon committee should be named to study the insurance changes. Others feel an interim committee of the Legislature should draw the assignment.

The corridor talk says fiscal leaders among the legislators are wincing at even the thought of additional expensive interim committee cost.

Reporters Going Bananas: One of the big plusses of the Apodaca Administration is the art exhibit that is open to the public in the Fourth Floor reception room.

Credit for pushing the project goes to the Governor's lovely wife Clara, who decided it would offer the opportunity for visitors to the State Capitol to view New Mexico artists.

Artists featured this month include Maria Benitez, Bainbridge Bunting, Doel Reed and Charles Mattox.

The last named kinetic sculptor has a display of mechanical, electronic devices — most of which can be operated by foot pedals — that is driving the Capitol press corps right up the wall.

The reception room resembled "Christmas-morning" as newsmen roamed the exhibit area working one piece of art after another.

Don't miss the exhibit if you visit the Merry Round House.

ASPENCADE AFTERMATH

By jinkies . . . motorcycles were as scarce on Sudderth Monday morning as Bad Boy Bikers were late Sunday afternoon after their watering hole was closed . . . at least the rumors late Sunday were to the effect that the upholders of the law shut the pub and told the chopper riders to shoo.

Speaking of rumors . . . they've been strangely absent, regarding any shenanigans perpetrated by the chopper riders . . . they must have been here to enjoy the scenery . . . and, by jinkies, outside of one errant pickup plowing through a whole herd of parked choppers Friday night . . . it seems the natives let our visitors alone and vice versa . . . and 'twas sort of nice . . . all around.

Now . . . I didn't venture out amongst the chopper riders to visit with them in their oasis . . . but one adventuresome young lassie of my acquaintance did . . . and she said . . . "They were an OK bunch. Oh, they looked kinda rough but I didn't see any rough stuff. Actually, I had a lot of fun."

So . . . it seems that the only bikers, chatting with any-of-the-police-types were the Aspencade conventioners that had a little trouble on some of our curves . . . or trying to occupy the same section of road as a car . . . or . . . if you can imagine . . . riding right smack dab head on into another motorcycle.

That should take care of the motorcycles.

Then there was the Aspencade parade Saturday . . . and Elmer Pirelli, who sorta ramrodded the parade lineup . . . his helpers . . . Chamber of Commerce parade volunteers . . . certainly did a bang up job of keeping that parade moving.

Unless I didn't clock the actual parade . . . the more than 65 entries . . . properly, it seems to me the paraders passed a given point in about 35 minutes. There were no draggy spots . . . something fresh was always hoving into view. Why, the action was so fast a viewer couldn't possibly get bored . . . and just sneaking in a sip of ice tea took a bit of doing . . . 'cause you might have missed something. And some of those floats were mighty purty.

So . . . the dust has settled . . . quiet again pervades Harmony Valley . . . mostly familiar faces are in the ice tea parlors . . . and, by jinkies, people, hassled by business for months, are so relaxed they ain't even fightin' about politics.

RAMBUNCTIOUS TONEY

If'n you've been following the campaign of Toney Anaya . . . our crusading Attorney General . . . you're aware he's getting mighty rambunctious in his attacks on Senator Pete Domenici . . . and making some strong statements as to how he'll get Washington, D.C., and the Congress whipped into shape ala' Toney.

What Toney proposes to do . . . after he takes his seat in the prestigious United States Senate . . . is get rid of government employees that ain't carrying their weight . . . and eliminate corruption . . . and slash taxes . . . and see to it that all federal agencies justify their existence. There's more . . . but you can see that Toney's going to get things done . . . if'n he's elected Senator. He says.

Now . . . no one can criticize Toney for his ideals . . . and the standards he's championing during his campaign . . . but maybe he can be faulted for thinking that one Senator can possibly accomplish that much . . . in a lifetime.

Perhaps Toney should huddle with Our Jimmy . . . now there's a man who has had a liberal education in how the bureaucracy works . . . and Our Jimmy just might advise him on how much one Senator can accomplish . . . especially if'n he's bound and determined to upset apple carts . . . and Our Jimmy's "the man" . . . not just one out of 100 cloistered in the politically motivated sanctum sanctorum of the Senate.

Why . . . if'n Toney, as Senator, would have the temerity to suggest to Senator Teddy Kennedy that the peddling of influence should cease, Toney'd probably spend the balance of his term wondering why he wasn't practicing law in New Mexico.

Yup . . . Toney's "Blueprint to Combat Corruption, Cut Inflation and Taxes" is a mighty fine document . . . and it deserves a prominent place in his memoirs. 'Cause there it'd be assured prominence . . . possibly equal to some of his triumphs in closed meeting cases . . . and eliminating our state's drug trafficking.

Yes, by jinkies, Toney's in there swinging . . . but it's difficult to believe he's preaching what he knows he'll have no way of practicing.

BRIEF BIT: If every needed improvement in Harmony Valley was accomplished tomorrow . . . you wouldn't hear your first complaint until the day after . . . CD editorial

New Mexico State University agriculture department officials claim the research they have been doing for the past 15 or so years at Ft. Stanton Mesa is invaluable to our society. So invaluable they want to continue for another 20 years. We wish we could verify or debunk that position for our readers independently of just taking the ag school's word for it.

We can't.

The reason we can't is that the results of their research are apparently not available. The Ruidoso News has requested all or any research results, reports, documents, or any other written material resulting from NMSU's activities. We asked for the information through the public library. We asked over a month ago. So far, the library has received one document that we think is a partial copy of the use agreement between NMSU and the BLM.

Our request wasn't frivolous. We sincerely wanted to pass on to our readers the information that had been developed so they could decide whether the highest and best use of the land was grazing research or an airport.

But, let's assume that our intentions were dishonorable. Assume that we were just looking for editorial fodder.

What about the farmer or rancher or just plain citizen who wants some of those valuable research results to apply to his land and livestock? How can he come by the information? Where can he go? NMSU says we can't do without it, but it's not available.

We even drove to Roswell to the regional BLM headquarters. We figured that the people who were responsible for the best use of the land would have a readily available record of what NMSU had been doing.

We were treated most cordially. We were told the research reports were scattered through binders containing official correspondence for each year. We were given a chair (no table) and told we could look through the binders to our heart's content. If you took all your grocery bills, all your cancelled checks, all your correspondence, every piece of paper that you generated in your household or your business and bound it up for one year, you would have a pretty good beginning understanding of what kind of mess the NMSU material was buried in.

The folks charged with administering the land don't have the research results readily available. The NMSU people apparently aren't inclined to make the results available to the public. So what good is their project?

In fact, if results of other millions of dollars worth of NMSU research are similarly undocumented and unavailable, we suggest the state and federal governments investigate the school's apparent gross mismanagement of our tax dollars. — kg

ALBUQUERQUE FIRST

Which city or county is the most important in New Mexico? According to Bob Coppedge, Extension economist at New Mexico State University, Albuquerque and Bernalillo County walk away with the honors.

But a quick glance at the most recent issue of "New Mexico Progress" indicates considerable competition for positions immediately below Albuquerque.

A comparison is complicated because some statistics are available only at the county level while others are available city by city, Coppedge said.

It is apparent, Coppedge said, that four areas are in constant competition for the four slots behind Albuquerque. They are Las Cruces-Dona Ana County, Hobbs-Lea County, Farmington-San Juan County and Santa Fe-Santa Fe County. Others moving occasionally into these ranks include Eddy, Grant and McKinley counties.

In terms of population, employment and motor vehicle registrations, Dona Ana, San Juan and Santa Fe counties occupy second, third and fourth positions on the list of "Most Important." Lea County comes in fifth in employment and motor vehicle registration, and sixth in terms of population.

Coppedge notes, however, that Lea County is number two in assessed valuation and the number one producer of minerals (including petroleum products). Eddy, San Juan and Grant counties occupy the next three positions of importance in mineral production.

In terms of retail trade receipts, the order beneath Bernalillo County is San Juan, Santa Fe, Lea and Dona Ana counties. Total building permit valuations listed Santa Fe as number two followed by Farmington and Las Cruces.

Considering bank resources, Albuquerque had the top three banks, Hobbs had the bank with the fourth greatest level of resources, and Las Cruces had the number five bank.

Coppedge cautions that the statistics do not present a clear picture, and are confusing because of the switch from city to county estimates.

"It does appear appropriate, nonetheless, to say that Albuquerque may be the biggest area in the state. But the other areas mentioned are also important," Coppedge said. "Most observers are confident areas such as Las Cruces-Dona Ana and Farmington-San Juan will grow significantly in coming years."

Which counties and cities are the most important in the state? "It depends on what you use for a measuring stick," Coppedge said. "Even Albuquerque must yield in terms of population growth rate and value of mineral production." — The Artesia Daily Press

Letters to the Editor

Dear editor:

Now that the noise and pollution of those gaudy vehicles have left our community, isn't it time to evaluate the benefits derived from their being here?

Several serious accidents were reported on Mechem and Sudderth. The additional policemen added to protect citizens and property (and they did a fine job) was certainly a major item.

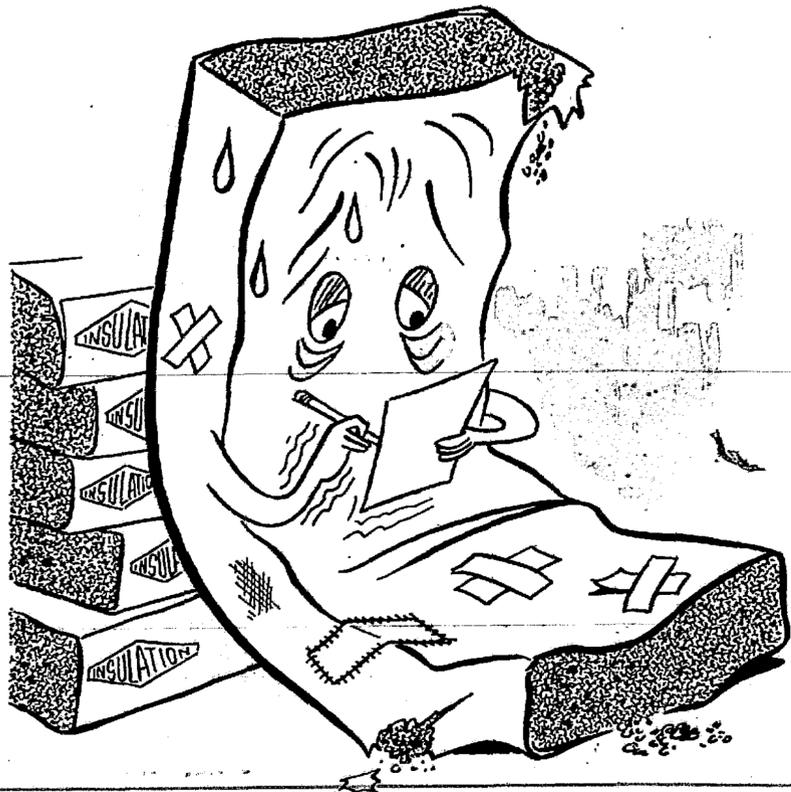

The usual number of undesirables arrived in full force and posted themselves en masse in front of the Buckaroo. A feeling of apprehension assailed one when going down main street.

But, most of all, it has ruined the Aspencade. I have heard at least ten people say they would not come back if this was combined with our lovely Fall Festival.

I repeat, was it worth that much to the merchants, motels, restaurants, etc?

The little village doesn't have room for 3,000 registered motorcycles and about 500 unregistered bums.

Can the insulation in your home pass the "R" factor test?

Costly heating and cooling energy loss can result from poor insulation. Properly insulating ceilings, floors and walls can make your home more energy efficient and save you money on heating and cooling bills.

The "R" factor is an accurate means of measuring the effectiveness of a particular type of insulation. The "R" stands for resistance to winter heat loss and summer heat gain. One type of insulation may be thinner than another, but if they have the same "R" factor, they will perform the same. The "R" factor requirements will vary according to climate. You should have the insulation in your home checked for the correct "R" rating today. If you are not sure about the recommended "R" factor for this area, or for other information on wise energy management, call Community Public Service Company. Our representatives will be happy to visit with you personally and answer any question you may have on using energy more efficiently.

Chile is delicious, . . . no matter what its name

BY JEANNE GLEASON
Associate Agricultural Editor
New Mexico State University

LAS CRUCES —

It may surprise you to know that the bright green chile pepper — a darling of the New Mexico vegetable industry — is neither a vegetable nor pepper!

But, that doesn't seem to bother anyone, least of all the loyal chile fans who are sprouting everywhere as the pungent pod takes the country by storm.

Columbus can be credited with the first misnaming of chile. When he found the Indians, they were growing the fiery fruit.

Since he was sure he had found the far East, there was no doubt in Columbus's mind that he had found the highly valued pepper of the East. It never occurred to the explorer that these "Indians" and their "pepper" were each totally different to their counterparts in India.

So, Columbus proudly took his "pepper" back to Portugal and within a few years it was popular across Europe and England.

This confusion over what to call the fire pod was only the first of many to follow. For years, there was quite a hot debate over how to spell the pod's name.

The main debate was between the spellings "chile" and "chili." While most

New Mexicans preferred "chile," the vegetable marketing world usually labeled their product "chili" or "chilli."

Finally in 1988, New Mexico State University issued a news release that cooled most of the debate — within the state that is.

The authority for the release was Mrs. Fabiola C. de Baca Gilbert, a member of one of the oldest Spanish families in the state, the then Santa Fe County Extension home economist and a recognized author on New Mexican foods.

She said that the Incas of Peru cultivated the plant hundreds of years before the Europeans dreamed America existed. They called it aji (pronounced ah-hee). In the Incan language, chile means cool or cold — a name given to the less pungent pods.

Mrs. Gilbert pointed out that in New Mexico, the plant, whether hot or mild, has always been called chile. In Mexico, she said it was called either chile or aji, but never chili.

In fact, all Spanish dictionaries of that day spelled the word "chile" and gave the definition simply as "aji."

With that debate cooled, chile lovers thought they could surely burn in comfort. But only three years later another conflict surfaced, this time up in the New Mexico State Legislature, of all places.

The state's lawmakers unanimously agreed to honor the chile with an official title. But opinions flared over the exact honor. Some thought it should be the state fruit while others wanted it as the state vegetable.

While all botanists quickly agreed that chile was actually a fruit, commerce called it a vegetable.

In the end, commerce had the final word and the chile was declared the state vegetable — an honor it fittingly shares with the pinto bean.

In light of chile's long history in the state, it's little wonder that the people are willing to get a little fiery over its name and classification.

Chile is not a native plant and grows here only with irrigation and cultivation. It's a member of the nightshade family — a cousin of the tomato and potato.

Nevertheless bright chile ristras drying under the enchanted sun marked the Spaniard's first movements across the state.

Out of sheer hunger and poverty, if nothing else, early New Mexican settlers warmed their palates with chile concoctions of every sort imaginable. They even used it as an antioxidant to help preserve dried pork.

Maybe that's why any modern chile cookbook, such as the one authored by Mae Martha Johnson, NMSU Extension food specialist, contains recipes for everything from hors d'oeuvres to after-dinner salads.

Although the hungry settlers and their descendants knew little about nutritional labeling, they had luckily developed a taste for a nutritious food, Mrs. Johnson said.

The nutritionist says that as the chile matures, the plant packs more and more carotene (vitamin A) into the pod. The chile seems to keep most of the vitamin A content when frozen, canned or dried.

With vitamin C, it's a different story. Ascorbic acid or vitamin C is affected by both heat and oxidation. The vitamin C content of chile builds up in the maturing pod until it peaks in about October.

However, canned or frozen chile loses about one-third of its ascorbic acid content. Dried red chile loses all vitamin C, regardless of the drying method.

But, to most New Mexicans, the fact that chile is good for them is of little consequence — they just like it's spicy taste.

They don't even stop eating it long enough to hear that it's not pepper, not spelled "chili" and not even a vegetable. All they know is what it is — "It's delicious!" — and that's enough for them.

Striped code not price tag.

Have you wondered about those stripes and numbers that are on many food products? It's a Universal Product Code, says Jackie Martin, Extension finance specialist at New Mexico State University.

The numbers and the vertical bars identify the product and manufacturer or distributor.

Contrary to popular opinion, Mrs. Martin says, the symbol does not contain the price of the item. The price is established at the store and is registered into the computer.

The UPC system is designed to reduce labor costs. Packages with the coded information are simply pulled across an optical scanner by the cashier.

The scanner reads the label and relays the coded information to the store computer. The computer then relays the price back to the electronic cash register.

Many electronic cash registers are capable of producing a detailed receipt for the customer's convenience. It may contain the product name, the brand name and the price.

Some food retailing managers estimate that if the UPC system is utilized, checkout lanes will move from 60 to 70 percent faster, Mrs. Martin says. The items can be transferred across the optical scanner as fast as the cashier can pull the UPC across it.

Others estimate that checkout lanes could be reduced by 15 to 20 percent which, in turn, would save up to 40 percent in front-end labor costs.

In addition to reducing labor costs, the UPC system is virtually free from errors and can scan multiple priced items in any sequence to eliminate the need for human calculations.

In-s-i-d-e the Outdoors

by Gary Dollahan

The New Mexico Department of Game and Fish has established an additional deer entry hunt for this season in the Elk-Flying H country of the Lower Pecos River in an effort to curb severe deer depredation problems in this area. This post season hunt, designated as C-5, will be held January 6 and 7. Bag limit for this hunt will be one antlerless deer only. 600 permits will be available by public drawing.

Hunt area boundaries are U.S. Highway 82 from its junction with Mule Canyon on the west to the turnoff to the Flying H Ranch on the east, and, from the junction north on ranch road to the Rio Felix then west to the Mesalero Reservation. Hunters will be restricted to designated roads within the hunt area but will be allowed to walk as far as they wish on either side of these roads. Side roads will be closed to vehicular traffic. Persons interested in participating for the C-5 hunt must apply on Form K and have their application in Game Department office by 5 p.m., October 4.

The State Game Commission approved the Department's request for the C-5 hunt during the commissions' August 25th meeting. Dan Sutcliffe, Southeast Area Game Manager with the department, explained the addition of the post season C-5 hunt. "High concentrations of deer in this area of concern have caused extensive damage to farm crops and fruit orchards, particularly during the months December through March," Sutcliffe commented. "In fact, during this time segment last year, department personnel spent forty (40) man-days in this area on deer depredation complaints.

The regular hunting season in November pushes most of the deer out of this area temporarily, but they are quick to return, particularly the does, after the hunting pressure subsides. Therefore, a post season antlerless hunt was recommended to the Commission, and has been established as the C-5 hunt. Persons who held entry permits for the last license year (April 1, 1977-March 31, 1978) are not eligible to apply for entry permits this license year. All applicants must have a current, valid hunting license in order to apply for an entry permit. You may apply only once at any one deadline.

Successful applicants must have their big game license with deer tag attached and a $2.25 special season deer tag prior to participating in a deer entry hunt. An entry permit does not entitle the hunter to take a second deer. In entry-permit seasons, the hunter may take deer with any weapon legal for deer and is not restricted to the weapon for which his license was validated. Each entry permit is valid only in the area for which it is issued. As the information for the C-5 hunt does not occur in the proclamation, inquiries regarding this hunt should be made to local game and fish offices.

Child abuse leads to 5,000 deaths and 30,000 permanent injuries, according to national report

Each year 50 to 70 thousand children are abused by adults. Of these, 5,000 die and another 30,000 are permanently injured, according to a national report.

Leo Yates, Extension family life specialist at New Mexico State University, said the most common child abusers are people who know little about children and are under conditions of stress.

"Child abuse is only a manifestation of the serious and distressing life conditions of the abuser," Yates said. "Frequent excuses are loneliness, guilt, feeling trapped or resentment of parenthood."

According to Yates, child abuse has received more publicity in recent years because of the human rights movement.

Child protection laws and enforcement agents were first established in 1875. Before this time, children were the exclusive property of their parents or legal guardians and had no individual rights of their own.

Today, all states have statutes requiring cases of child abuse to be reported.

"Unfortunately, many people don't report suspected cases because they don't want to be identified or they feel it isn't any of their business," Yates said. "What some consider cruel and abusive, others view as a form of disciplinary action."

Yates said that while physical abuse is the most readily detected form of child abuse, psychological abuse is more common.

"Doctors are quite suspicious when a child appears badly battered. But when a child has been psychologically damaged it is hard to detect and harder to prove," Yates said. "Often signs won't show up until a child is several years older."

Psychological abuse includes desertion, neglect, teasing, name-calling, criticism and any pattern of brow-beating. It most frequently results in the destruction of a child's self-esteem and contributes to an unstable and perhaps neurotic adulthood.

According to a national report, only 11 out of 25 abused children will be fairly normal adults. Two of these 25 will at some time be confined to a mental hospital, while four will be profoundly neurotic or psychotic. Four others will be deeply neurotic, and four will be mildly neurotic.

Perhaps worst of all, the abused child may become an abusing parent. Studies show close to 87 percent of abusing parents were abused themselves as children, Yates said.

Despite current child protection laws, hard evidence of abuse is often difficult to obtain, Yates noted.

"We need public support to get at the underlying causes of child abuse and more parent education programs. Many abusing parents are uneducated about child growth and development and don't know what to expect," Yates said. "We also need organizations like Parents Anonymous that will provide necessary group support and a forum for discussion of abusive parenting behavior to abusing parents," the specialist said.
