Mule-O-Rama dust settled

BY CALEDICKEY
Editor

The dust at Western Highlands Track has settled.

Even more, the wagerers have settled. Mule-O-Rama, 1978, wound up Sunday afternoon in a cloud of dust.

And, perhaps, in a blaze of glory. From the contests in the arena, where proud owners of working mules proved their animals were the equal of horses at cow cutting, heading and heeling and like events, to the race track where the mules performed, predictably and unpredictably, Mule-O-Rama 1978 was a crowd pleaser.

Not forgetting the Saturday mule sale. "The top price was $1,500," Mule-O-Rama president Bill Ward said, "and it was a terrific sale. Many of those mules, including eligibles for the upcoming $50,000 futurities, should have brought more money. Next year, once the buyers and sellers realize our futurities are going to be outstanding races, I'm certain they will."

Just to point out one buyer. Buddy Major, member of the State Racing Commission, bought five head of mules for $4,645.

"I bought two for racing," Major said. "The other three I'll put to work on my ranch operations near Magdalena. I think I got five fine mules at a fair price."

Back to those mule races. And the money changing hands. The second race Saturday pitted Clissy, Curly, Streaker and Flying Tiger. 250 yards. Carrying 120 pounds.

Streaker has his followers. He's a good running mule. Streaker, the backers claimed, money in hand, couldn't lose.

TYPICAL ROARING FINISH to a crowd pleasing mule race

There were those that disagreed. After the dust had settled, it was Clissy, winning in 15.5 seconds.

"Streaker'll be back," the losers said. The winners smiled. And pocketed their winnings.

Then there was the fourth race Saturday.

The field included Go Molly Go, Radar, Chocolate, Sarah, Queen and Colorado Red. Distance 250 yards. Weight 120 pounds.

Up and down the railing the backers of Go Molly Go, Colorado Red and Sarah walked. Making offers. Taking wagers. There was talk of past performances of these two-year-olds.

Out of the gates the mules came. They finished Go Molly Go, Colorado Red and Sarah.

"I told you so," the winners said as they collected.

"We'll get to you next time," the losers said.

There was no animosity. And there were match races. Perhaps a disgruntled owner of a mule he knew could run faster than he did, chanced upon a happy owner of a mule he knew could run fast.

The match was set. The amount agreed upon.

At which point the spectator interest mounted.

As before, the wagers were placed. No one had to hold the money. These mule race fans don't renege. The race was run.

The dust settled. Why, even some of the losers hunted up the winners to pay off.

— Then there was Sunday.

One highlight was the performance of 77-year-old Bennie Pierce of Clovis on his 14-year-old mule Festus.

The event was the hide race.

Pierce and Festus took off in a dust covered gallop. Up the track for about 30 or so yards. The fast turn. The rider leaped on the hide. Back down the track. Time 15.4 seconds. The winner: Pierce and Festus. The two drew sustained applause from the dust covered spectators.

Then Fern Sawyer of Nogal and Pat Ward of Lincoln got into the act.

"Twas sort of a match hide race. [SEE PAGE TWO]

Highway Commission meets here Thursday

The monthly meeting of the New Mexico Highway Commission will be held Thursday, beginning at 9 a.m., at the Inn of the Mountain Gods.

Items on the agenda include an appearance by Carl Hall of New Mexico State University and Buddy Ritter of Las Cruces to discuss the University Avenue project located in Las Cruces; with Euel Nave of Socorro County Commission to discuss Forest Road 44 located between Winton and Reserve.

Other items include a discussion of the department's financial structure, which will be presented by Assistant Highway Administrator for Administrative Services, Tom Romero; a review of a Billboard Economic Study by Fred O'Chesky, Chief Highway Administrator and the commission.

O'Chesky will discuss with the commission five requested legislative changes which will be presented to the 1979 session of the New Mexico Legislature. These include a bill to amend the Gasoline Tax Act to implement unit tax rates responsive to wholesale price increases; a bill to change the Highway Department Administrative Disputes Resolution Act which will study construction contract disputes, professional consulting contract disputes, disputes arising out of buying or selling personal or real property, Highway Beautification Act disputes and Relocation Act Disputes.

Priority three of legislative changes involves a bill that would allow the State Highway Department to sell highway construction materials and services under $5,000 to other governmental entities without seeking approval of the State Board of Finance.

Shades of Chanticleer!

(With Chanticleer being the rooster immortalized for issuing his "muffled crow" in John Greenleaf Whittier's famous poem "The First Snowfall" — with which, naturally, everyone is familiar.)

But, on with the proposition.

KRRR president Ed Hyman and News publisher Ken Green — as promised late last spring — have conspired to test the talents of shutterbugs to capture the glories of the first snowfall in the Sacramento Mountains in their "Snow white is beautiful" fall photo contest.

Green and Hyman — after consulting their almanacs, tea leaves and the thickness of a black bear's fur — did decide that sometime between today and November 17, the first snowfall of the year would descend from the skies upon our

The photographic possibilities — from the petals of a late blooming rose peeking through a coverlet of white, to a squirrel with icicles on its tail — boggle the mind.

In the unlikely event insufficient snow falls by November 17 to fail to tempt the most ardent camera addict, naturally a new termination date will be selected by Hyman and Green. And duly announced. What else?

So, photographers, dust off your lenses, get some fresh film and start eyeballing Old Baldy each morning — and when there's snow on the peak, or in the valley — grab your camera and start shooting snow scenes.

Opportunities to win vary from color to the infinite possibilities of black and white. Choose your film — or films — and get ready to win.

The official rules of the contest:

— Entries are restricted to amateur photographers. Any person deriving any income from photography will not be permitted to enter this contest.

— Photographs must be taken in the Ruidoso area of the Sacramento Mountains.

— Cash prizes of $25 for first, $15 for second and $10 for third will be awarded. Black and white photos and color photos will be judged on an equal basis and adherence to the contest theme. The decision of the judges will be final.

— Additional prizes may be added, if interest in the contest justifies it.

— Entries must be taken to the KRRR office on Suddeith no later than 5 p.m., November 17.

— The winners will be announced November 23 in The Ruidoso News and over KRRR radio.

'Sunny' Edwards to chair board

W.L. 'Sunny' Edwards, Ruidoso, has been elected president of the board of Ruidoso-Sunland, Incorporated, a Jockey Club subsidiary, new owners and operators of Sunland Park and Ruidoso Downs race tracks.

Named to serve with Edwards were Jess Burner, El Paso, Texas, president of the 400-member Jockey Club, and H.T. 'Shorty' Hornbuckle, Albuquerque, vice presidents; with other board members including R.W. 'Woody' Sewell, Odessa, Texas, secretary-treasurer; with W.H. 'Bill' Ross, Midland Texas and James Welch, Artesia, as directors. Five additional directors are to be named.

Woody Erwin, long-time racing executive in the Southwest, assumed his duties as general manager of the two tracks October 12.

The two tracks were purchased October 11 for $15 million. Ruidoso-Sunland paid an initial sum of $5 million, and the remainder of the purchase price, including interest, will be due in annual payments of $1 million for the next 10 years.

Erwin noted that a primary long-range plan is to increase the purses at Sunland

Park. "The only way to increase the purses is to increase the wagering handle, and our intent is to offer a solid racing program, one which will produce the racing growth and development we have in mind," Erwin said.

Erwin's background in racing goes back almost to the beginning of racing in New Mexico. Born in Tennessee, Erwin attended Tulsa University, and after graduation, he spent six years working in the Tulsa office of Waite Phillips, a prominent oilman. In the early 1940's Erwin moved to New Mexico to serve as secretary and office manager for Phillips' interests in the Southwest.

Later, Erwin opened his own accounting office in Raton, and one of his clients was La Mesa Park race track. When the track opened in 1946, Erwin was named general manager. He remained as La Mesa Park's top executive for 21 years, and was the primary owner when he finally sold his interest in the track.

When Sunland Park opened in 1959, Erwin took the post of director of racing, and for the next four years, was the general manager. In 1968 and 1969, he was the general manager at Centennial Race Track in Denver, then served as a steward at Centennial for the next seven years.

In 1977, Erwin returned to New Mexico as general manager of Santa Fe Downs, and under his direction, the daily wagering handle increased by nearly 40 percent that first season. Erwin remained with Santa Fe through the 1978 meeting, in which the handle increased another 10.6 percent, reaching a record daily average of $315,000.

Service Club Council airs cleanup, motorcycles

Aspenade festivities, including motorcycles, and the fall clean up campaign were the main items of discussion at the Service Club Council meeting Thursday.

Mark Mulholland, clean up chairman, said there were two calls for trash pick up and 25 old or abandoned vehicles were hauled off during the campaign.

"The clean up campaign is becoming less and less of a hassle, but we also had fewer volunteers," he said, adding "the overall picture of the town is it is becoming cleaner."

Members attributed that fact to the readily available trash receptacles provided by the village.

Council members also discussed the Aspenade motorcycle convention and parade.

Council chairman Barbara Duff reported Til Thompson, motorcycle convention coordinator, had received an offer from the Red River (New Mexico) Chamber of Commerce to move the convention to their town.

"Nothing fills the town for an entire week like the cycle convention," a member said in support of keeping the convention in Ruidoso.

Another member mentioned Thompson was organizing an international convention to be held in the early 1980's adding a great deal of money would be generated in the town if the convention was held in Ruidoso.

"We need community backing," Duff said. "People in town must make the distinction between good and bad (motorcyclists)."

The council also discussed the Aspenade parade, emphasizing a theme should be selected as soon as possible to provide organizations enough time to work on floats.

"This year's theme finally was chosen in August," Duff said, adding some organizations wanted to participate, but didn't have time to prepare floats.

In other business Thursday: — Duff reported Altrusa Club will sponsor a Literacy Workshop from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., October 28 and 29 at La Junta Guest Ranch.

The workshop is designed to teach volunteers how to tutor illiterate adults and teenagers.

She also reported Mr. and Mrs. John Hall, owners of High Country Lodge, donated 28 beds to the organization.

Altrusa Club plans to sell the beds and use the profits for their scholarship fund.

Ed Jungbluth, executive secretary of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce, reported the Chamber awards banquet will be held October 24 in the Elks' Lodge. A spaghetti dinner prepared by Altrusa Club beginning at 5 p.m., will precede the presentation.

He also reported the Rotary Enchilada dinner will be held October 17 from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m., and from 5 to 8 p.m., in the Elks' Lodge.

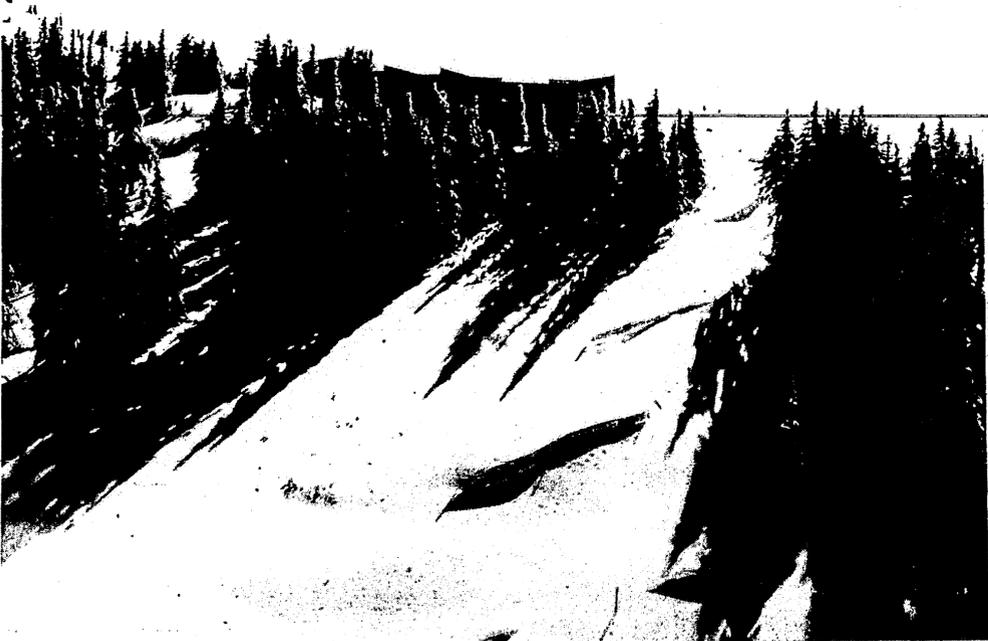

— Ken Moore, Ruidoso Hondo Valley Hospital administrator, announced the mental health group, which is beginning to organize, will meet at 6:30 p.m., October 30 in the White Mountain School cafeteria.

— Duff told the group the funds had been raised for the October 30 children's concert by the Roswell Symphony.

The next Service Club Council meeting will be at 1 p.m., November 2 at Nob Hill Restaurant.

The group will evaluate the two years since they organized and Dr. Paul Whitman will present a program on the proposed updates for the hospital intensive care unit.

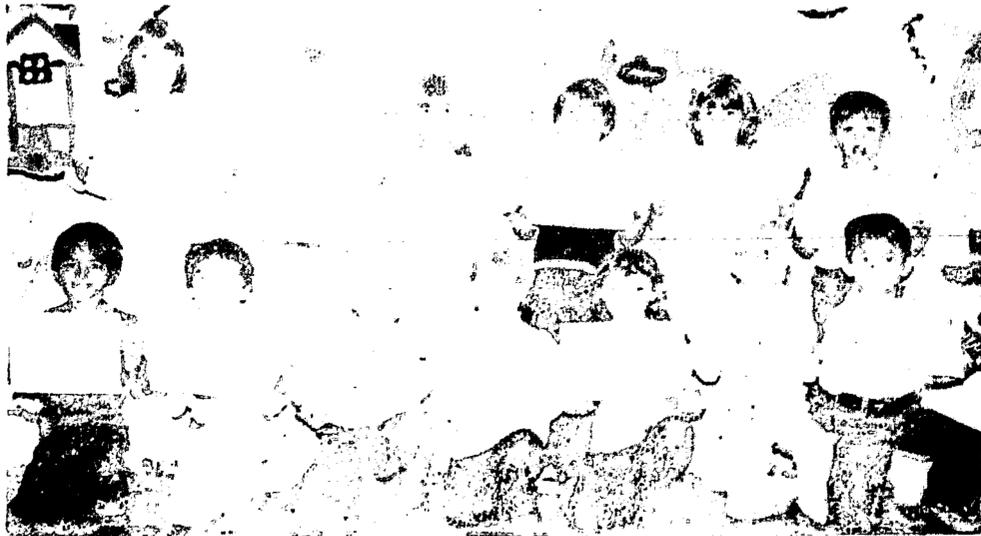

JUST A REMINDER that indeed, "Snow white is beautiful" — always.

BARBARA DUFF, Service Club Council president, said Thursday: "We need community backing," to continue motorcycle conventions in Ruidoso.

BRUCE AND MUFFIN WILLIAMS of Odessa, Texas, had fun at Mule-O-rama

First to go was Fern. Prone, she was dragged down the back stretch in 16.8 seconds.

There was no doubt, among the spectators, that Fern had won.

Then came Pierce. Astride Festus. Riding to the starting line.

There wasn't a sound from the crowd.

Festus leaped into his gallop. Up the track. Made the turn. Pat jumped onto the hide. Back down the track. Time: 15.8.

After a moment of intense silence, came again the sustained applause.

Perhaps it was Pat who said, "Better luck next time, Fern."

Sunday's chariot race of one-half mile drew a lot of interest. And Jo and Jym, owned by Bill Ward and Dave Crocker, of El Paso, had it in the bag coming into the final turn. There was no doubt about it.

Then ... it happened. Crocker, riding in the chariot with all the confidence of Ben Hur, lost it. His chariot flopped over. It was hard to see exactly what happened. The action was obscured by a huge cloud of dust.

But Dave rose to the occasion. He righted his rig. Got his mules on course and raced down to cross the finish line. To the applause of the crowd.

It's the sort of dedication apparent at mule events.

"Next time it'll be different," Crocker said.

And he has the backing of several impressive wins in chariot racing to lend considerable credence to his remark.

After the dust had settled from the final race, the folks who follow the mules gathered in small groups. They talked of the winners and losers in Mule-O-Rama 1978. They talked of Mule-O-Ramas to come. Of the $50,000 futurities, the first to be run in 1979.

And they talked of mule races coming up in Texas. Other places. They follow the circuit. And where the mules are racing, that's where these people will be.

Just one personal note.

After the last race Sunday, I ran a quick tally on my wagering record. Turned out I showed a clear profit of $2.

And that's $4 better than losing $2 as a bettor.

Cablevision announces changes in programming

Cablevision of Lincoln County, manager Ron Battles has announced, is now carrying Channel 17, Atlanta, Georgia, on Channel 9 of the Cable system.

"This is one of the first of three remote channels that will be brought to Ruidoso as the result of the installation of new Satellite Receiver Equipment," Battles said.

Other changes in the present service include moving some of the present channels to a Mid-Band, to make way for the satellite programs.

"The channels moved to the Mid-Band," Battles said, "can still be received by the customer with the use of a converter, to be available soon at the Cablevision office at a minimum charge."

"We will be making changes in our equipment during the next two weeks," Battles said, "during which period service will be disrupted for an hour or two at a time during the day. During this changeover, service will be restored by 5 p.m."

Colorful October

The Apple Month

The beautiful days are flying by, and here we are in the middle of October, the Apple Month. You see, I am looking ahead to the day this reaches you, October fifteen, although I am sending you this on October eleven.

It is a story-book October day today with a deep pure blue sky without the trace of a cloud. October has a blue all its own for its sky, and this pure color makes the mountain horizons stand out ever so clear, and the colors on the hillsides make the mountains and hills seem closer.

So the mountain world in all its radiant colors, the hills, valleys, streams, and sky — all seem nearer to us, in these happy October days. Only a very slight breeze is in the warm air once in a while. Then the breeze will hush altogether and the world will be like a picture of pure Heavenly Blue and gold and soft green and many patterns of orange, yellow, Scarlet, Crimson and all colors of the rainbow.

All through the October mountain land God speaks to us in many ways on a Heavenly day like this. And the blessed spirit of our Mother and the spirits of all our loved ones are lovingly close to us on an October day like this when Heaven is so close to our earth.

Apples Ripening

In The Sun

This time of year you can be journeying along the winding way of our valleys, and as you make a bend in the roads of our valleys, and as you draw close to the orchards as you round a bend in the river, there is a wonderful aroma that reaches you. This is the flavor of the apples ripening in the Autumn sun, brought to you on the clear Autumn air out of the orchards.

Down around Tinnie and Hondo and Picacho, apple harvesting has been going on for quite some time.

In the Glencoe and San Patricio area the apples are coming into full ripeness, the Jonathan with their dark maroon color and the Golden delicious with their cheeks of gold are a sight to behold. And they are even better than they look. The flavor is unusually good this year, and the apples are rich in many health qualities.

Around Glencoe the Winesap, a great American favorite, is beginning to ripen along with the rest; and up around Ruidoso Downs, you can see the apples shining in their colors by the way.

In the lower Bonito Valley around Lincoln, apples are being harvested, and they are great this year. On the upper Bonito the apples are just now beginning to ripen. There are a few trees more than a hundred years old, planted by pioneers, that are still bearing year after year. There are some old time favorites among these like: Black Twigg, Ben Davis, Virginia Winesap, and Shenango.

Once again, the main varieties of apples grown in our valleys are: Double red Delicious, Double Red Jonathan, Double Red Winesap and Rome Beauty. The last two named are the late apples.

Your orchard friends have wonderful apples to offer this year; they have worked hard through the years to bring us some of the finest apples to be found anywhere in the world. And we all need apples more and more every year for our good health. So make some visits around to the orchards during the beautiful October weather.

Word from

Oklahoma Friends

The other day I received a beautiful birthday card from Mike and Wanda Dunn, who visit often in our beloved mountain land. They mentioned seeing the flag flying from the Storm Ranch. The card pictured a golden-breasted meadow lark on its nest among yellow daisies. There was a quotation inside along with a message.

"The words are from Sir James Barrie: 'Those who bring sunshine to the lives of others cannot keep it from themselves.'"

Mike and Wanda bring sunshine into the lives of all of us and they are surely rich in sunshine and all blessings.

Word from

California Cousins

My cousins Claud and Marguerite Stevens of Escondido California, are great admirers of Lincoln County and have visited here many times. I received a card from them from Sacramento, California where they are attending the Annual Convention of the World War I Veterans Balloon Divisions.

Claud and Marguerite were here this year for the Lincoln pageant and said they hoped to attend this convention. The bond of friendship among these folks grows stronger with the years, and Claud and Marguerite met many old friends; and beautiful fall weather made the convention all the more enjoyable.

Snow Bird Arrives

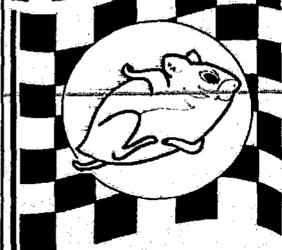

A little band of Snow Birds just flew in, although this does not mean snow right away. Sometimes they come in just to cheer us up during the fall. So, keep smiling and God Bless you.

Cancer victim Devara in state of remission

Physicians in Albuquerque and Ruidoso have pronounced cancer victim Richard Devara in a state of remission. Richard, who has been receiving regular treatments for teratocarcinoma, an uncommon embryological cancer involving five tissue types, must maintain his present state for five years before he is considered in a permanent state of remission, Guin Stone said.

Although Devara had been receiving monthly treatments from the American Cancer Society center in Albuquerque and Dr. Michael O. Stone, Ruidoso, he will begin having only semi-yearly treatments after February.

These treatments every six months will be diagnostic not therapeutic, Guin Stone said.

The treatments make him very ill, but when the number of treatments are decreased, Richard hopes to return to work for the Ruidoso School System.

"I'd like to thank all the people in Ruidoso who have helped me out, especially Dr. Stone, Guin and staff," Richard said.

Short Story Film Series here tonight

The American Short Story Film Series, sponsored by the Public Library and the Altrusa Club, is held Mondays, at 8 p.m., in the Ruidoso Public Library. The story chosen for Monday, October 9 is Parker Adderson, Philosopher by Ambrose Bierce. "Near the end of the Civil War, Parker Adderson, a Yankee spy, is captured behind Confederate lines. He is seemingly calm in the face of his impending execution and befriends a young lieutenant assigned to guard him. Brought to the tent of the commanding general for interrogation, Adderson remains cool, witty and philosophical, denying that death is horrible — until his attitude leads to a confrontation that ends with violent irony.

Dr. J. Bruce Street, head of the English Department of New Mexico State University is the guest lecturer.

The series is made possible by the New Mexico Humanities Council.

Hatch dooms Warriors

Hatch quarterback Stormy Adams hit split end Edward Ogaz with a 17 yard touchdown pass with under six minutes remaining Friday night as the Hatch Bears defeated the Ruidoso Warriors 14-10 at Warrior Stadium.

The toss wiped out a 10-7 Warrior lead. Ruidoso had taken the lead late in the third period on Mark Dutton's 32 yard field goal which was set up by Scott Neal's interception of a halfback option pass. Neal returned the ball to the Hatch 15 yard line. Ruidoso was able to punch a score across the goal but it was nullified when a lineman was called for holding. Two plays later Dutton booted the field goal.

Dutton's kick moved the Warriors out of a 7-7 tie. Hatch opened the scoring early in the first period, taking the opening kickoff and scooting 80 yards in seven plays before Ricky Bouvet ran 10 yards for the touchdown. The drive was executed with such remarkable ease that it appeared Hatch would walk away with the game.

In typical fashion, however, the Warriors refused to fold. In the second period, following a series of penalties that set them back to their own 10 yard line, Ruidoso managed a drive of their own. Although the Bears aided the Warrior cause with three 15 yard penalties, the Warriors came up with some clutch plays. Quarterback Borde Williams hit two big passes on the drive, one a look in over the middle to end Jeff Elliot and the other to running back Joe Almager on third down.

The Warriors slowly moved down the field until Almager ran seven yards for the tying touchdown. Dutton added the point after touchdown. The score ended 7-7 at the half.

In the third period, Ruidoso had three opportunities to take command of the contest. The Warriors failed to take advantage of John Whitlock's second interception of the night. They also missed a chance to put some points on the board following a blocked punt. Both drives ended in missed field goals.

The score remained the same until Neal picked off a Bear pass and returned it to the Bear 15. Five plays later, Dutton's 32 yarder was true.

Ironically, head coach Darrel Stierwalt thought that was the turning point of the game. In Hatch's favor.

"I thought that was the turning point of the game," he said. "When we got that we seemed to let down. I think we thought we had the game won."

After the Warriors scored, Hatch's offense awakened. They began gouging huge chunks of yardage through the Warrior middle. Then, in the fourth period, lightning struck Ruidoso.

Rolling to his right to avoid a pass rush, Adams threw the ball high into the corner of the end zone. Waiting all alone was Ogaz, who cradled the ball for the winning points.

"I knew when he threw it, it was six points," Stierwalt said. "It was a missed assignment. We blew it."

Even so, Stierwalt thought the Warriors would come back and score.

"Even after they scored, I still thought we could win. There was plenty of time left. And we were moving the ball until that last turnover. That killed us," he said.

The last turnover came when quarterback Williams was trying to hit Pat Matthews on a fly pattern.

"He was open. If he had caught the ball it was six points. There wasn't anybody else back there. But that boy made a good play (to intercept) and there is nothing you can do about that," assistant coach Bob Elder said.

The loss virtually eliminated the Warriors from the district race, giving them two losses in two games. The Warriors role is now that of spoilers.

"I sure would like to ruin somebody's season," Elder said.

The sound of losing . . .

The scene was the Ruidoso dressing room following Friday's district loss to the Hatch Bears. There was no mistaking the losing side this night. The locker room was quiet. Only the words of head coach Darrel Stierwalt could be heard.

The players alternated between looking him dead in the eye and bowing their heads. Some had tears. Stierwalt told them they had nothing to be ashamed of. He was right. But the loss still stung. The Warriors had Hatch on the ropes and let them get away. It was the third time this year Ruidoso lost a game they could have won.

After Stierwalt dismissed his players, the coaches gathered in his office. The silence there was deafening. No one spoke, and when they did it was to nobody in particular. They stared blankly at the walls, holding back tears of hurt and defeat. Finally, Stierwalt spoke.

"We've got to do some soul searching," he said. "We get close to scoring and then we do something wrong. We're doing something wrong."

What it is that Ruidoso is doing wrong, none could say. Sunday, the coaches will begin another week of practice for the game against Tularosa. The players won't quit. The coaches won't quit.

"You can beat us but you can't make us like it," Stierwalt said.

Then there was more silence.

Officials draw Perryman ire

BY JOHN NEYLAND Sports Writer

Kristi Perryman is a paradox of sorts. Off the court she is a well mannered individual. On the court she is a right warrior. The object of her rage is usually the officials, for whom she acknowledges an intense dislike.

"I don't like them. Sometimes before the game begins I sense they are plotting against me because of something I have done in the past," she said.

What she has done in the past is throw a few herbs in the officials' direction. "I try not to get on the officials," Perryman said. "I know it's wrong but I have a bad temper. I have gotten a few technicals."

Perryman traces this flaw to her bad temper, which she has never exhibited before this reporter during the volleyball season. Perhaps, instead, she should blame her intensity. Whatever she does, she tries to do her best, whether it is in school or athletics.

"I feel the best when I have given 100 percent," she said. "That's what I try to do all the time."

On the court, she does. She earned all tournament in the recent Captain Invitational Volleyball Tournament. Her modesty prevented her from thinking she deserved it.

"I really didn't think I played that well in the tournament."

Perryman also gives it her best shot in the classroom. She is currently carrying a perfect 4.0 grade point average and has hopes of becoming an architect after going to college.

"I think you have to put a lot into school before you can get something out of it," she said.

Perryman, as might be expected, came from a background that included brothers, older brothers. They introduced her to sports and encouraged her to participate. She participated in the neighborhood football games with other kids on the block.

Perryman got started in organized athletics in seventh grade with basketball and volleyball. She hopes she can carry sports with her in college.

"I'll go out for volleyball and basketball in college," she said. "I'd like to do sports after I get out of college but you have to be good. You never know."

Like all athletes, Perryman has had difficult times in sports. Once she almost quit.

KRISTI PERRYMAN

"I almost quit four or five years ago. I didn't come too close really. It was because of the coach. School wouldn't be as much fun without sports," she said.

Perryman doesn't restrict herself to two sports. She enjoys others.

"I snow ski some. I like to play tennis," she said.

In that regard, Perryman isn't sure if she likes team sports or individual sports more.

"I like both. In individual sports, you are the one that has done it all. It feels good to win in both sports."

Perryman hasn't experienced as much winning as she would have liked so far this year. The volleyball team has struggled all season, never quite rising over that hump to consistency. Being a senior, the losses hurt even more.

"I feel really bad if we lose, especially this year," she said. "I know we may not play that team again."

Perryman thinks the worst is over for the Warriors. She said they just went through an unexplainable low period, but she expects the team to bounce back in district play.

"I hope we can go farther than district. We've got to get through district first."

And the referees.

Intramural activity bonanza for kids

BY JOHN NEYLAND Sports Writer

The best thing to do to insure that kids have fun and learn at the same time is to leave adults out of anything they are doing. With the intramural athletic program that White Mountain Middle School coach Terry Wharton has set up, he is doing just that. And the kids are loving it.

"The kids are really getting into it," he said. "All the kids that want to get to participate. Everybody seems to be enjoying it."

Everybody covers the students and the teachers, although the teachers roles are limited so that the kids will get a chance to learn everything on their own.

"Most of the home room teachers are coaches," Wharton said. "Many of the kids don't know anything about the sport we're playing at the time so they need some direction concerning the skills."

Other than that, everything is left up to the students. The students are even allowed to decide if they want to play or not. They are not required to.

"Anyone that wants to can play. So far, we have about 75 to 80 percent that play."

The teachers aren't even allowed to officiate.

"I supervise," Wharton said, "but the eight grade kids officiate. Whatever they say is like law."

So far, there haven't been too many lawbreakers in a land where the only law seems to be to have fun.

"Amazingly, we haven't had many problems. Occasionally, two kids will go at each other and I just tell them we're here to have fun and if they can't they should go somewhere else. But that has only happened one or two times."

Wharton hasn't had any problems with the regular jocks either. In fact, despite having to let even the less athletically inclined kids play as much as anyone else, they just seem intent on having fun.

"The football players are so used to competition that when they come here to play they just want to have fun. More so than anyone else it seems. And everyone always tries to encourage the below average players to do better. I think it's good for a nonathletic kid to learn about sports at this age," Wharton said.

Each home room has a team if they desire. Home rooms meet for a brief period just before lunch. Teams only compete against classes of their own age. Even when not playing themselves, students flock to the gym to see how other teams are doing.

"It's become quite a spectator sport," Wharton said. "Teachers come to watch after teams play. Everyone is real enthused about it."

No one is more enthused about it than Wharton. To a large degree, it is his pet project.

"We had one at the school where I was at last year, but I wasn't in charge. I think this is good for everyone concerned," he said. "I started this one two weeks after school started."

Another aspect of the program that Wharton likes is that there is not any rigid schedule that has to be adhered to.

"If the kids show that they are not interested in volleyball anymore we'll just move on to the next sport," he said.

The next sport is likely to be basketball. That's as far ahead as Wharton has looked.

"We might play flag football or softball in the spring but I don't know. These are things I haven't talked with anyone about. I'm just mulling them over in my head," Wharton said. "We might have a track and field day in the spring. I'm thinking about an all star game after volleyball. Have the best eighth grade play the teachers or something like that."

Wharton thinks this method of playing everything by ear is better for the kids, more spontaneous. Concerning the program, the only thing Wharton is sure of about its future is that he'll be having it.

"I hope to do it every year," he said.

Stop poaching effort made

Hunters who spot and turn poachers in will be able to profit by their deeds in more ways than one.

First of all, their actions will help deter others from poaching since poachers know there will be a good chance they will be caught and punished. Second, the people who have information leading to the poachers' conviction will receive rewards ranging from $50 for small game and $250 or more for large game.

game and fish officers should deter many people from shooting illegal animals, exceeding bag limits, spotlighting or committing other wildlife law violations."

Hunters who may wish to turn in others for poaching are not required to identify themselves or appear in court. All they have to do is call 1-800-432-4283 or contact a conservation officer in the field to make a report. Pursely urges informants to gather as much information as possible about the poacher.

"Fresh, complete information is the best," he said. "We cannot emphasize enough the importance of vehicle license numbers, time, place and type of violation, location of contraband animals, and descriptions of suspects and their vehicles and camp locations."

Recycle yard trash

Do you have a big pile of grass clippings, leaves and weeds from your fall clean up? Don't junk it — recycle it in a compost pile.

The compost can keep your home grounds and garden neat, attractive and productive next year, says Ricardo Gomez, Extension horticulturist at New Mexico State University.

Compost contains valuable materials for improving the soil and keeping plants healthy, says the horticulturist. You can recycle useful organic materials that otherwise would be destroyed.

Composting helps prevent environmental pollution by reducing the need to burn or dump leaves and other organic wastes. And you can save money by not having to buy expensive commercial composts.

You can make compost from common yard trash — leaves, grass clippings, plant tops, animal manures, discarded sod, sawdust, wood chips, peelings and other kitchen scraps. You'll also need some nitrate and phosphate fertilizer.

While you can use almost any organic material, avoid bones, meats, fats and greases. These attract dogs, cats and other scavenging animals. They will also create an odor problem.

Also avoid using plant materials which are seriously diseased or insect-infected, the specialist says.

There's no hard and fast rule for making compost, Gomez says. If possible, choose a partly-shaded, well-drained spot in an out-of-the-way corner of your yard.

Mix soil and nitrate fertilizer into the organic material. The soil provides bacteria and other microorganisms which hasten rotting. The nitrates supply nitrogen which the microorganisms need in order to do their work.

The nitrogen becomes available to plants when the compost is applied to your garden. Phosphate in the fertilizer also increases the plant food value of the compost and gives it a better balance of plant nutrients.

It's best to prepare the compost pile in layers, Gomez says.

First, spread a thick layer of organic matter, with coarser materials like stalks and stems on the bottom. Sprinkle this with the fertilizer. Next, apply a layer of soil with a little manure, if available.

Wet the layers thoroughly. Then repeat the process as other materials become available, until the pile is about four feet high.

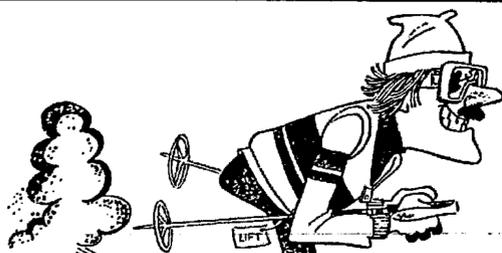

Slope the sides gently inward, leaving the top with a saucer-shaped depression to help absorb water. Soak the pile now and then to keep it moist, Gomez says.

As materials rot and settle, turn the pile "inside-out" about once a month, to mix the contents and accelerate the composting process.

If you build it properly, your compost pile should have no objectionable odors and it should not attract flies or rodents.

Compost made of leaves and lawn clippings should be ready to use next spring. However, woody stems will take about a year to decompose.

You can build a bin or simple structure to hold the compost pile more neatly, if you wish. A bin six feet wide, eight feet long and four feet high is about right for most.

Capitol Comment

by Ernie Mills

Santa Fe — Ferdy the Flyer: Watch for some good news early next week when Human Services Department Cabinet Secretary Fernando E.C. DeBaca returns from Dallas and a heavy meeting with the Feds.

Two major items should be settled by the time C. DeBaca finishes the junta with the Health, Education and Welfare people. The first involves the audit exceptions that resulted from a Federal audit of the State Employment Security Commission.

The second will be approval of a "reorganization package" for the State E.S.C.

From the Crystal Ball: The last time C. DeBaca got together with the Feds the outstanding figure on the audit exceptions was whittled down to 1.3 million bucks. Our sources say the figure will drop to $25,000 by the time Ferdy gets back to Santa Fe.

Also ... our "birdies" say there was plenty of foot-dragging from the State Employment Security Commission people when reorganization was spotlighted this past year — in fact, a better description might be "obstruction."

When Ferdy returns, our bet is he'll have the "green light" in his pocket from the Feds for a reorganization package for the State E.S.C. and the changes could be substantial.

You've Come a Long Way: The annual convention of the New Mexico Press Association will get plenty of publicity Oct. 19-21 when the major statewide candidates appear before the print media for show-downs.

But, dija notice that the Association President this year is Val Cooper, woman-person managing editor of the Farmington Daily Times?

And dija notice some of the major speakers lined up for the three-day confab?

Among the major speakers will be Helen Thomas of United Press International, and Abigail Van Buren, syndicated columnist who writes the "Dear Abby" column.

And don't kid yourself, those woman persons mentioned got to where they are today through blood, sweat and tears.

Pictures No Artist Could Paint Department: Wall-leaners noticed a tourist staring intently at one of the displays in the rotunda of the Merry Round House last week — really concentrating.

Then, someone noticed the guy wasn't actually looking at the exhibit, but had plugged his electric razor into a socket and was getting rid of his face fuzz!

People Notes: One of the most popular and well-respected lobbyists on the Santa Fe Scene is Jack Hertz, who represents the Gas Company of New Mexico.

This past week, Hertz passed the New Mexico Bar exam with flying colors and the accolades from veteran wall-leaners included just about everything except a ticker-tape parade. There'll be no more living with Hertz.

How Time Flies: A visitor to the Merry Round House this past week was Joseph A. (Crazy Joe) Montoya, a former member of the Legislature, who came within 226 votes of being elected Lt. Governor. That was back in the days when the Governor and Lt. Governor candidates did not run as a team.

Montoya used to kid this reporter about his being "crazy like a fox" and he proved it by getting out of the political mainstream and moving to Las Cruces where he operated a successful business in recent years.

We remember the days when "Joe A." kept body and soul together by selling sanitary supplies while he was on the campaign trail.

Letters to the Editor

Dear editor:

Those who were not able to join us for the Old Timers Dinner last Friday night missed a real treat.

We had a beautiful crowd, lots of renewing of acquaintances and so much good food.

Thanks to the many people who helped make it a success. Without the cooperation of so many it could not have been done.

There were so many that helped, not only with calling people to remind them, including The Ruidoso News and KRRR radio, who gave us good coverage. Also all the people who served the food and cleaned up the place after the meal.

Was so good to have Dr. and Mrs. Don Snyder, who came all the way from Phoenix, Arizona to be with us; Della Hale from Denver, Colorado; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Truitt, Mrs. Lucile Veater, Mrs. Loraine Counts and Mantie Gardenshire of Tularosa; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cornelius from Lubbock, Texas and Mr. and Mrs. James Allison, Roswell, all former residents. If I missed anyone, I apologize. It was so gratifying to see so many of the younger people there.

It is a tradition that was started a number of years ago and it was very interesting to see so many there that were at our very first get-together.

On behalf of our chairman, Donna Short, who could not be with us due to her illness, I want to thank everyone who came and helped make it such a wonderful evening.

Hope to see all of you next year.

DATES ON DRUGS

It is a fair guess that millions of household bathroom cabinets are cluttered with bottles and boxes containing the tag ends of medicines past their prime. One reason for this, aside from reluctance to throw away things of possible value, is that few drugs are labeled with potency expiration dates.

To the extent that people use drugs weakened by the passage of time, this is a matter of some concern. It is good, therefore, that the Food and Drug Administration will henceforth require potency dates on all prescription and most non-prescription drugs. This is an important part of a general FDA undertaking to assure drug quality and reliability. —Alamogordo Daily News

A RECORD?

Not all federal institutions ignore the laws they administer.

Take compensation for job-related injury, for example. Employees at the Labor Department's Office of Workers' Compensation Programs have an excellent record of participation in the benefits program they run: In 1977, 14 percent of them received compensation payments. That compares with a rate of 1 percent for other agencies of similar size.

The benefits were twice as high as average, too. —News-Bulletin, Belen

BUSY, BUSY

There's a fellow at the Department of Agriculture who writes standards for watermelons. With 80,000 employees — one for every 34 farmers — it's hard to find ways to keep them all busy. — News-Bulletin, Belen

Congratulations are due Ruidoso High School principal Tom Hansen, and the Board of Education, for establishing the first high school course in the state for driver education for motorcycles. Motorcycles are here to stay and if Driver's Ed classes work for cars, it should be equally as effective on budding teenage motorcyclists and let everyone, especially parents, breathe easier. — CD

GLORIOUS KIDS GALORE

By jinkies, you gotta admit ... especially after reading the page one blurb about the schools here in Thursday's Ruidoso News ... that Superintendent of Schools Pat Valliant sure does run a tight ship ... so tight that the kids are just about fixin' to be squeeze as they sit in their seats of learning.

It doesn't seem fair that Valliant and his staffers can take all of the credit for the influx of added students ... just because our school system's one of the finest ... if not the finest ... in the state. Must be some influence from the fact that folks like living in Harmony Valley ... and that more 'n more are liking it ... and chances are, more and more will.

What this all adds up to is that Valliant ... and his staffers ... want to offer plenty of room ... and ample teachers ... to insure instilling eager young minds with the finest education possible ... with, or without, the cooperation of the budding young students.

Neither the board of education ... nor Valliant ... as of the nonce, has any solution to the problem of growing pains ... such as class enrollments exceeding all expectations ... and likely to keep on doing so. Why, such a thing could easily get out of hand ... if not out of seating space ... and, by jinkies, it looks as though we'll have to pitch in ... and help provide a "free" education to the kids.

Still ... getting taught in tents might teach the kids that campers are cozier.

BATTLES' BATTLES

Comes now good ol' boy Ron Battles ... the battling ramrod of Cablevision ... known for bringing boob tube entertainment to Harmony Valley ... and if'n you had half his troubles ... and kept 'em to yourself ... he'd be most appreciative.

Seems ... in Ron's efforts to provide more viewing ... he's doing some channel changing ... and adding channels ... and preparing to offer even more ... and it's giving him some king size headaches.

Headaches such as having to have people install little gadgets on their sets to receive the added stations ... and having to disrupt service for a couple of hours daily to add equipment ... and not having the TV schedule in The News agree with his programming ... and having people get mad when the tube's blank.

Now there's just one thing ... if'n the TV schedule in The News doesn't coincide with the Cablevision programming ... it ain't Battles' fault ... and it ain't the fault of The News ... but if'n you wanna gripe ... call Battles ... not The News ... 'cause with all the troubles Ron has, he'll hardly notice a few more.

But there's this much about it ... come along about January 1 ... Battles'll have so many channels for viewing, that you'll have to get a program recorder that'll tape seven channels at once ... if'n you're going to continue ignoring your reading. Or, the situation could reach the point where you'll have to read more ... just to give your ears a rest.

FALL'S CHILL'S HERE

Yup ... by jinkies ... there's a touch of fall's chill in the air of a morning ... especially about 6:30 a.m.

Why, just Thursday morning I happened to espy a robin catch a worm ... and the robin actually cuddled the worm under her left wing ... to warm it up a mile before dining.

Then there was this bluejay ... shivering so violently to get warm that his feathers started taking on a warm pinkish hue ... yup, that was a "mighty" brisk morning ... why, he even squawked at me as I de-fec'd the jalop's windshield.

Why, the town's pharmacists are so busy doing out cough, cold and flu medications that they're phoning their personal prescriptions to their competitors.

One of the booze dispensers confided to a customer the other day that he was way ahead of his competition ... he placed his order for winter grade whiskey last summer ... and made the changeover Friday morning. You see, winter grade whiskey warms you faster ... especially if you mix it with hot water.

It was so cool the other morning that Jo Perryman was seen buying four hand warmers ... one for each pocket of the insulated britches she wears to watch the Warriors' home football games. That's truly determined dedication.

Besides, the morning joggers are starting to wear two sweat suits.

BRIEF BIT: You couldn't possibly guess how Bruce King arranged to have a siren blowing sheriff's car at each end of Thursday's Demo caravan in Lincoln County ... CD

BALANCE THE BUDGET

It's amusing how the White House, Congressmen and bureaucrats all agree the nation is now facing serious inflationary, trade and budget problems. Where were they before Proposition 13?

The President is finally saying spending must be curbed. It's now good politics. Proposals are heard in Congress for cutting taxes, selling gold, raising interest rates, stimulating business investment, etc.

There's only one answer, however, to solve the problem — balancing the federal budget. If other countries (and bankers) of the world see the politicians of America finally face the issue squarely, and balance the federal budget — whatever the consequences — inflation would ease, the dollar would stabilize and the trade deficit would begin to decrease.

It's just that simple — as everyone who pays the bills for a family or business should know. Balance the budget, federal overspenders! Some receiving federal help may suffer (not necessarily, because fat and waste account for more than enough to balance the budget), but even that is better than everyone suffering. — Santa Rosa News

Hands and people at Mule-O-Rama

MULE-O-RAMA RACING ACTION, as interpreted by Ruidoso High School senior art student Pat Herrera doesn't exactly do justice to some of the fine running mules performing here over the weekend. But it does lend an air of hilarity that prevailed from time to time, convulsing mule fans as the cantankerous animals sometimes lived up to their mule-headed natures.

Horse sales at Sunland

A new sale, geared to both thoroughbreds and quarter horses, will be unveiled during the early stages of the upcoming season at Sunland Park.

Entries for the sale recently closed, and sale manager Richard Thompson reports about 170 head will be catalogued.

"That's more than twice what we had originally projected," he said.

With such an abundance of stock, the venue — originally scheduled for one session — has been expanded to a double-session event. The dates are Saturday and Sunday, November 4-5. Once again, the sale will be held on the track grounds. Each session begins at 7:30 p.m.

The event is being billed as the Sunland Park Sale for Horses of All Ages.

"We were extremely pleased by the number of horses which have been consigned, but we're even more elated by the quality," Thompson said.

The sale horses include 93-head partial disbursement by Gordon Howell of Sunland Park. Included in the group are 54 quarter horses, ranging from weanlings to horses of racing age, in addition to mares. A majority of the mares are in foal to Howell's world champ, Truckle Feature, and many of the younger stock are by Truckle Feature.

The remaining 39 head in the Howell contingent consist of thoroughbreds, from weanlings to horses of racing age, plus stallions and broodmares.

Thompson reports the list of quarter-horse sires represented in the sale also include such big names as Azure Te, Flaming Jet, The Ole Man, Leo, Kitaman, St. Bar and Mighty Deck.

Among thoroughbreds, the blood of such stallions as Gallant Man, Jaipur, Scout Leader, Moonplash, Randis-Joy, Bupers, Hopeful Venture, Ole Fols and Loom are reflected in the stock being offered.

The second item on the Sunland Park Sales calendar, Thompson reports, is the third annual Sunland Sale for Two-Year-Olds in Training and other Thoroughbreds and Quarter Horses of Racing Age. That sale, too, has attracted abundant entries and will now be expanded to a two-session event.

The dates are February 3-4, 1979. The starting time is 7:30 p.m.

(3) The danger that materials may be swept onto existing lands to the injury of others.

(4) The compatibility of the proposed use with existing and anticipated development.

(5) The safety of access to the property in times of flood for ordinary and emergency vehicles.

(6) The costs of providing governmental services during and after flood conditions including maintenance and repair of streets and bridges, and public utilities and facilities such as sewer, gas, electrical, and water systems.

(7) The expected heights, velocity, duration, rate of rise and the sediment transport of the flood waters and the effects of wave action, if applicable, expected at the site;

(8) The necessity to the facility of a waterfront location, where applicable.

(9) The availability of alternative locations, not subject to flooding or erosion damage, for the proposed use.

13-4-4 VARIANCE PROCEDURES

A. The Board of Trustees ("Board") as established by Ruidoso shall hear and render judgement on requests for variances from the requirements of this ordinance.

B. The Board shall hear and render judgement on an appeal only when it is alleged there is an error in any requirement, decision, or determination made by the inspector in the enforcement or administration of this ordinance.

C. Any person or persons approved by the decision of the Board may appeal such decision in the courts of competent jurisdiction.

D. The inspector shall maintain a record of all actions involving an appeal and shall report variances to the Federal Insurance Administration upon request.

E. Variances may be issued for the reconstruction, rehabilitation or restoration of structures listed on the National Register of Historic Places or the State Inventory of Historic Places, without regard to the procedures set forth in the remainder of this section.

F. Generally, variances may be issued for new construction and substantial improvements to be erected on a lot of one half acre or less in size contiguous to and surrounded by lots with existing structures constructed below the base flood level, providing the relevant factors in Section C(7) of this Article have been fully considered. As the lot size increases beyond the one half acre, the technical justification required for issuing the variance increases.

G. Upon consideration of the factors noted above and the intent of this ordinance, the Board may attach such conditions to the granting of a variance as it deems necessary to further the purpose and objectives of this ordinance (13.1.3).

H. Variances shall not be issued within any designated floodway if any increase in flood levels during the base flood discharge would result:

1. Prerequisites for granting variances

(1) Variances shall only be issued upon a determination that the variance is the minimum necessary, considering the flood hazard, to afford relief.

(2) Variances shall only be issued upon (i) a showing of good and sufficient cause, (ii) a determination that failure to grant the variance would result in exceptional hardship to the applicant, and (iii) a determination that the granting of a variance will not result in increased flood heights, additional threats to public safety, extraordinary public expense, create nuisances, cause fraud on or victimization of the public, or conflict with existing local laws or ordinances.

(iii) Any applicant to whom a variance is granted shall be given written notice that the structure will be permitted to be built with a lowest floor elevation higher than feet below the base flood elevation, and that the cost of flood insurance will be commensurate with the increased risk resulting from the reduced lowest floor elevation.

(a) Over the top ties at each of the four corners of the mobile home, with two additional ties per side at intermediate points, shall be installed at a distance of less than 30 feet long requiring one additional tie per side.

(b) Frame ties at each corner of the mobile home with five additional ties per side at intermediate points and mobile homes less than 30 feet long requiring four additional ties per side.

PRIME TIME SCHOOL TELEVISION

"To understand Islam, become a Muslim."
This is the advice a Muslim gives to Ronald Eyre, our host/narrator, as he takes us on a journey to the Middle East, birthplace of the Islamic faith during the seventh program in the 13-part series THE LONG SEARCH. Shown on PBS on Saturday, Oct. 28, this outstanding exploration of religious experience around the world is brought to the United States by the Xerox Corporation and produced by the BBC and Time-Life films. Check your local listings for time and date.
The advice to Eyre to become a Muslim is in no way an attempt to recruit a convert but rather a reflection of the all-embracing role of Islam. Another Muslim, a doctor, gives Eyre a similar message when he says, "There is no such thing as a religious compartment to life—religion is the life."
And so it is for one-seventh of the world population who follow the word of their God Allah as it was told to their prophet Muhammad. Even though Islam has spread far beyond its cradle of the Middle East, it has remained one of the most unified of the world's religions.

Much of the strength of Islam lies in the direct route it offers between its believers and Allah, its God. There is no intermediary priesthood, for example, and it makes but five simple demands upon its followers. If the Muslim performs these rituals, called the Five Pillars of Islam, he will stand in good grace with Allah. The Five Pillars are: a confession of the faith, prayer five times a day, the giving of alms, observance of the annual fast and, if possible, a pilgrimage to the holy place Mecca at least once in a lifetime.

Muslims believe that their God Allah spoke to man many times in the past: to Adam, Moses, Abraham and Jesus. But when he spoke to Muhammad, the prophet wrote down the divine words in the Koran, which became the holy book of Islam. It is believed that in the Koran, Allah has spoken completely and will not speak again. Just as there is only one Book, there is only one God, Allah, and any form of idolatry or belief in a rival god is called "SHIRK," the worst possible sin for a Muslim. This fervent belief in Allah is repeated every day by every Muslim in the prayer, "There is no god but God, and Muhammad is his messenger."

We are also taken to a small village to see the arranging of a wedding contract where we learn that the marriage is not just between the bride and groom, their families and friends, but it involves the whole community. We learn through this wedding that the influence of the Koran extends to every corner of the secular world. Every major event in one's life is concerned with the Koran. We wonder with Eyre if it's the communal power that is the greatest binding force in Islam.

To help you and your family fully appreciate this series, Prime Time School Television (PTST), with a grant from the Xerox Corporation, has prepared a special study guide. For your free copy, just write to: THE LONG SEARCH, PTST, 120 S. LaSalle St., Chicago, Ill. 60603.

If you would like to receive all of PTST's regular monthly program guides on television specials, just send $10 to PTST at the above address. You will receive all materials published by this not-for-profit national organization. PTST received the 1974 Action for Children's Television Award for its achievement in children's television.

In her never-ending quest for achievement, Annie (Quinn Cummings) seeks to become an overnight success at the art of magic in the "Magic" episode of ABC-TV's "FAMILY," airing Thursday, Oct. 19.

CONFIDENTIAL REPORT Judy Norton-Taylor, who plays Mary Ellen on 'The Waltons,' received a phone call recently from a man threatening to bomb her Hollywood home unless she agreed to pay $20,000 in cash to him. She quickly notified the police who instructed her to carry out the extortionist's demand but to use paper scraps instead of money. Judy dropped off the box containing the paper at the designated spot and minutes later the police apprehended two men. They were booked for investigation of extortion.

Actress Mariette Hartley claims the playful camera commercials she appears in with James Garner ('The Rockford Files') has the American public believing the two stars are married in real life. Mariette, who is married to a French director, says, "I can understand the general public but other people in show business? They come up on the set and say, 'Oh, you act too.'" To clarify the situation, Mariette is now sporting a T-shirt inscribed "No, I am not Jim Garner's wife." And to make the situation more clear, her 10-week-old daughter wears a T-shirt too that proclaims, "No, I am not Jim Garner's baby."

Marcia Strassman, who plays Gabe Kaplan's wife on 'Welcome Back, Kotter,' admits she did not want to return to the series this fall. She says, "I've begged them to let me off the show. I've offered them my first-born son, everything, but they won't let me go." Outspoken Marcia also reveals she finds Gabe boring. "I don't talk to him. If you had to listen to his stale jokes, would you talk to him?"

TV INSIDER: Ed Asner of 'Lou Grant' admits, "Bald ain't beautiful in my book. If I could change something, it would be to add about five pounds of curly, luxurious hair. I know it would blow my image but I wouldn't care."

Sally Struthers dreams: "All I ever wanted to be was long and lanky. But somehow I stopped growing before I reached six feet. The guys never called me striking or sophisticated and that's really what I wanted to look like."

Telly Savalas, known to millions as 'Kojak,' has a new love lighting up his life. She's Julie Hovland. Telly admits, "She's a loving, considerate, quiet-spoken girl. For now, that's all I want to say."

Larry Hagman of 'Dallas' refused for seven years to accept a role that involved violence. "I stuck by my guns," swears Hagman. "I didn't punch anyone or kill anyone. Want to know what happened? I went totally broke. Bankrupt."

Georg Stanford Brown, co-star of 'Roots: The Next Generation,' hopes the 'Roots' sequel will help the future of black actors. He's disgusted with the current TV black series. "Nurses at the hospital where Jackie Gleason had heart surgery gave him the 'Bedpan of the Year' award for being such a lousy patient."

TV BACKSTAGE: Marilu Tolo, who plays the role of Maria Callas in 'The Greek Tycoon,' was bleeped right off 'Dinah!' for saying one too many blue remarks for Dinah's liking. Teen-throb Lelf Garrett was stunned when Japanese fans showed up at the airport wearing blonde wigs.

Dick Schaal comments on his recent divorce from Valerie Harper of 'Rhoda': "We get along real well. The only difference is that now I have more closet space."

Jo Anne Worley, formerly of 'Laugh-In,' is selling her autographs for 25 cents each. "You know, it's been remarkable. One guy even gave me five bucks. I'll be happy and proud to sign autographs for 25 cents—all of it's going to the Humane Society!"

It seems Jo Anne, like Doris Day, is a dog lover. Newsman Tony Guida was seen flipping his Othello discs, practicing for the 1978 International Othello Championship premiering in New York City this fall.
