Streakin Six has nose win in Rainbow

Streakin Six, a colt who'd been to the races only four times — and showed a tendency to generate a solid closing blow — pounced out a hairline victory in Sunday's 16th running of the Rainbow Quarter Horse Futurity at Ruidoso Downs.

Once again, Streakin Six had to count on that knockout punch in the final strides, but he cut it pretty thin this time. Streakin Six and Sages Belle Star were locked so closely on the finish the stewards took a long and studious examination of the photo finish picture before issuing their verdict. It was Streakin Six in front, alright — but the margin was mighty thin. Perhaps an inch or so — or even less.

But that tiny inch turned into a huge bonanza for Ann B. Tandy of Ft. Worth, Texas. Mrs. Tandy leases Streakin Six from the Tom B. Burnett Cattle Company also of Ft. Worth. First place in the Rainbow Futurity came out to a whopping $173,285.

The gross purse of the Futurity, including the previous day's Consolation, was $500,100. The amount dished up in Sunday's grand finale was $422,815.

Streakin Six is trained by H. Don Farris. Danny Cardoza is the pilot. The colt, who now holds a career record of three wins and two seconds, covered the 400 yard Rainbow distance in an off-track clocking of 20.17 seconds. That was a few fractions slower than the top qualifying time chalked up two weeks ago by Denim N

Diamonds.

That swift trial clocking, however, turned out to be a fruitless victory for Denim N Diamonds. The filly was overpowered in Sunday's blue chip showdown and faded to a disappointing sixth as the 5-2 second favorite.

Indicative of the public interest whipped up by the Rainbow Futurity — the second leg of the coveted Triple Crown — was the fact the wagering on the race hit a thumping $93,629. That's a seasonal record. As soon as the betting windows opened for the Rainbow, Streakin Six was the people's choice. He finally left the starting gate as a 7-5 favorite. The payoffs were $4.80, $3.40, $3.20.

Sages Belle Star, owned by J.H. Crouch Jr., of Midland, Texas refunded $4 and $3.40 at just under 4-1. Gary Sumpter does the riding. Roger Fagan is the trainer.

Suitably enough, Streakin Six and Sages Belle Star share a common papa — Easy Six. The latter, also owned by the Burnett Cattle Company succumbed to a viral infection last December.

Third in the Rainbow Futurity went to Thats Raney, a 25-1 shot owned by Hugh Tucker of Comfort, Texas and Bill J. Reed of Stamford, Texas. The colt was 2 1/4 lengths behind Sages Belle Star at the finish. Third was worth $40,598. Steve Fuller was up. The show price was $6.60.

Here's the remaining order of finish: 4th — Call Me Smooth (owned by Roy Browning of Ft. Worth); 5th — Chicks Charger Bar (Bobby, Pete Perez Sr., and Pete Perez Jr., of Grand Prairie, Texas); 6th — Denim N Diamonds (R.D. Hubbard of Wichita, Kansas); 7th — The Wheel Horse (Robert W. Moore of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma); 8th — Easy Maneuver (Clarence Scharbauer Jr., of Midland, Texas and Anne B. Tandy of Ft. Worth); 9th — Pa Pa Wheele (B.N. Adams of Houston, Texas); 10th — Nine Ohs (William C. Porter of Mathis, Texas).

The start of the race was momentarily delayed when Nine Ohs reared in the gate, and finally got stuck beneath it. The field was unloaded during the tangle. The second time around, though, all went smoothly and the field got off to a perfect start.

Thats Raney, Call Me Smooth, The Wheel Horse and Sages Belle Star were on the front. Streakin Six, as expected, was left behind slightly, but his chances appeared awfully slim when he lagged as much as 1 1/2 lengths behind.

The Wheel Horse grabbed the lead at around the half-way point, drifted out slightly, ran out of gas and relinquished the lead slot to Sages Belle Star. That one carried the lead down to the last few precious yards, but didn't give up without a crunching, bitter fight.

Sages Belle Star continued to pour her heart out, and was barely topped by

Nogal-Angus highway project work underway

Work has been started on a state Highway Department project to complete the paving of New Mexico Highway 37 south of Nogal in Lincoln County. Six old wooden bridges also will be replaced as part of the project.

The work area extends from a point about five miles south of Nogal for a distance of approximately 4.85 miles to the community of Angus. The present dirt and gravel road segment, when paved, will have two, 11 foot wide driving lanes with six foot wide shoulders.

Road construction will consist of subgrade preparation and the placement of an eight-inch gravel subbase. A four inch asphalt mat will be placed over the subbase in two layers bonded together with a tar-coat. This is the same type of construction profile used for the paved road leading from Nogal to the present project.

The six wooden bridges in the project area will be torn down and removed by the contractor. They will be replaced with concrete box or pipe culverts. These will serve as drainage structures to divert water under the road and as bridges to carry traffic across the streams or arroyos for which they provide drainage.

"Most of the construction will be done with traffic moving through the work area," Highway Department project supervisor Brad Carr said. "This means that motorists will have to be particularly careful when driving on this road. They should be alert for men and equipment working in and near the roadway and be prepared to follow directions from flagmen."

The project work is being done for the road agency by Kent Nowlin Construction of Albuquerque. The Nowlin firm was awarded the contract on the basis of its low bid of $2,718,149. The project was let to bid by the Highway Department June 8.

"Right now," Carr said, "the contractor is busy setting up a construction yard. Within a few days they will begin erecting project area warning signs and start some of the initial construction work."

"The new roadway will almost completely follow the alignment of the present road. Detours will probably be used only at those places where the culverts will be installed to replace the old bridges."

The project contract provides for work completion within 225 good weather working days. An optional winter lay-off is not counted against this time. Weather permitting, the contractor expects to complete construction in the fall of 1980.

Two killed in Summit collision

Two persons were killed and several others injured in a head-on collision on U.S. 70 near Apache Summit about 8:30 p.m. Saturday. Anthony Carlo of Artesia and Cavin Ray Jose, 18, of Mesalero were both pinned in their vehicles and were pronounced dead at the scene by Dr. Antonio Lam of the Mesalero Public Health Service.

Witnesses said the cars were traveling at a high rate of speed in opposite directions on the highway and both drivers were in the process of passing other vehicles when the collision occurred.

Passengers in the Jose vehicle, David Luna, 21 and Archibald Commanche, 27, were transferred from the scene to Ruidoso Hondo Valley Hospital. Services are pending for Jose at Clarke's Chapel of Roses Mortuary.

Coffee Cart

The Wednesday Coffee Cart, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, will be at Guarantee Abstract and Title, 1102 Sutherland from 9-10:30.

The public is invited to attend to discuss any Chamber programs or developments with the officers and directors.

Race track handle tops $2 million on weekend

A lot of money went through the mutual windows over the weekend at Ruidoso Downs.

The four day handle soared up to a remarkable $2,160,686. That boils down to an average of $540,171. Saturday's total of $694,981 set a seasonal high.

A one race seasonal high of $93,629 was established during Sunday's Rainbow Futurity.

During the same four day weekend last year, the handle reached $1,775,144, which amounted to a per day average of $443,786.

The big weekend propelled the 1979 seasonal average up to $423,485 — highest (at this point of the year) in the track's history. At this juncture last year, the handle stood at $413,254. The current figure is a gain of 2.47 percent.

If the current trend continues, the 1979 season will be the best in the track's history.

ComFIRE eyeing home fire insurance rate reduction

The Committee for Insuring Ruidoso's Environment (comFIRE) will host Tom Rush, manager for the Insurance Service Office of New Mexico and Eric Isakson, representing the United States Fidelity and Guaranty Insurance company at their August meeting.

Rush and Isakson were invited to discuss an insurance credit for fire prevention by homeowners, an idea which would become a project for ComFIRE if it proves feasible after a preliminary meeting with the two men.

"There may be a way to give the people a credit on their home insurance if they take fire prevention steps," Rich Seely, member said. By clearing undergrowth, pruning trees and other prevention measures, which would be subject to approval of fire department, costs of insuring property could probably be lower, Seely said.

"Most insurance companies allow a two percent credit to people who install fire alarms and burglar alarms in their homes, he said.

Ruidosoans already are eligible to receive a break because the National Fire Insurance Board has given the community's volunteer fire department a class six rating.

Seely said a class one rating is the best and class ten is the worst. The higher the rating, the better it is for a homeowner buying insurance.

If such a credit program were developed in Ruidoso, it would be the first of its kind, according to Seely. "There will be a lot of red tape involved and it could take about four years, but the difference in the insurance costs would make the prevention measures worthwhile," Seely said.

The ComFIRE/KENW-TV fire prevention/control program is nearing completion, with the final product expected to be completed within two weeks. A "rough cut" of the program was viewed by ComFIRE members Thursday and minor problems were noted. The film is 30 minutes long and will be narrated by Ed Jungbluth, Chamber of Commerce executive director.

Several 30 and 60-second spots will be produced from the program and will be made available to television stations in the state.

ComFIRE will place collapsible evacuation signs on the Rotary's street signposts and Frank Potter, assistant village administrator, said the village will install the signs.

Mike Mulholland, Rotary Club member, told The News Friday that street signs are now being made but the details will probably not be worked out to place signs until "late summer," possibly in September, he said.

Mulholland said the Rotary Club plans to place the first signs in the Upper Canyon "because that's where the biggest problem with naming streets is." Placement of signposts, and size and location of signs were some problems which have caused the delay.

The August 16 meeting of ComFIRE will be held at the Chamber of Commerce meeting room.

County agent suggests ways to fight 'hoppers

BY GWYNETH JONES
Staff Writer

Although epidemic proportions have not been reached, large numbers of grasshoppers are causing increasing damage to both ornamental and food-producing plants in Lincoln County, according to agricultural extension agent Barry Herd.

Herd said last week he had received several complaints and requests for assistance in controlling the insects, which have endangered crops to a greater extent in other New Mexico counties this year.

Several pesticides, Herd said, can be effective in eliminating the pests, but he emphasized that "Most people don't realize how dangerous pesticides can be if used improperly," and that pesticides will also do away with insects which are beneficial to the garden, such as ladybugs.

A booklet entitled "Home and Garden Insect Control Guide," is available from the extension office in Carrizozo which describes nearly 100 different types of insects and outlines the various chemical pesticides recommended by the extension department. The guide also points out safety measures which should be taken with all pesticides and waiting periods necessary before consumption of vegetables or fruits which have been sprayed. The waiting periods vary with the type of pesticides used and also the type of plant treated.

Four types of chemical sprays are recommended for grasshoppers: Carbaryl spray, malathion spray, rotenone and diazinon. Common or trade names for these chemicals include Sevin, Spectracide, DZN, Derris and Cube.

One of the first concerns of the pesticide user should be to read the container label thoroughly, Herd said. The labels will provide information on mixing and waiting periods. They will also specify which plants, if any, should not be sprayed with the chemical.

Proper handling of pesticides, according to the pest control guide, includes avoiding skin contact with chemicals, wearing protective clothing during mixing and application and washing exposed parts of the body following the spraying.

The booklet also advises that chemicals be mixed outdoors or in well-ventilated areas. Pesticides would not be applied to surfaces where food is prepared and utensils exposed to the spray should be washed carefully.

Storage of insect-killing materials is also important. The original tightly-closed containers should be kept in a locked cabinet or storage room away from "food, children, pets and irresponsible persons," according to the guidebook. Labels should be protected also. Some weed killers, such as 2,4-D should not be stored near insecticides.

Empty containers as well as "leftovers" should be disposed of by burial under a minimum of 18 inches of soil away from water supplies, or by being taken to a sanitary landfill. Containers would never be reused.

Herd added that chinch bugs or false chinch bugs are also becoming a problem in the area. These insects attack lawns and gardens and don't always confine themselves to a certain area, Herd said. Malathion applications, according to label instructions, were recommended as a deterrent to these pests.

THE MAIN ATTRACTION of the Chamber of Commerce's August 27 Cadillac Party at the Inn of the Mountain Gods is this 1979 Cadillac Coupe de Ville. The car, purchased at cost from Sierra Blanca Motors, Ruidoso retails for $12,828. The car will be on display at the Chamber office weekends, until the night of the party. Only 30 Cadillac Party tickets, at $150 per couple, remain as of Monday morning.

Elks charter night Saturday Streakin Six

The Ruidoso Elks Lodge, in ceremonies Saturday evening, will observe their "Charter Night," honoring charter and life members, with a special memorial service for deceased members.

"The local Elks Lodge was chartered July 10, 1958 and this 21st anniversary observance," Exalted Ruler Bill Budens said, "will be held Saturday as state and national conventions prevented it being on the actual date."

State Elks officials Wandel Massey, Clovis, and Earl E. Phillips Jr., Roswell will participate in the program.

Massey is a Past Exalted Ruler of the Clovis Elks, a Past District Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler for New Mexico South; was chairman of the state Elks Association five years and is presently chairman of the trustees of the state Elks Association.

Phillips is first vice president of the State Elks Association and Past Exalted Ruler of the Roswell Elks Lodge. He is also a Past District Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler Southeast, has held several state offices and was judged All State Esquire in the 1965 ritual contest.

Program chairman Jerry Story said that Budens will conduct the memorial service and would assist Phillips and Massey in paying tribute to the life members, charter members and Past Exalted Rulers of the Ruidoso Elks.

The evening will begin with a social hour at 6:30, the free banquet at 7:30 with the program to begin at 8:15.

"All Elks, their wives, or invited guests," Story said, "are welcome to attend the evening's festivities."

"Banquet reservations must be made by July 25, by telephoning 257-2607 after 4 p.m. We must know how many to prepare for."

Life members being honored include Emil Klemm and W.L. Baker, who were instrumental in forming the local lodge; Don Stark, John Anderson, Floyd Haake, Robert Grigsby, Father Laurier LeBreuche, D.L. Adcock, Fritz Christian and LeRoy Summer.

Charter members, being feted Saturday evening, include: Fred Richardson, John P. Smith, C.L. Wright, F.W. Liveley, C.L. White, C.A. Jones, Ed Wimerly, T.C. Delaney Jr., Bruce Griffith, Wade H. Streakin Six's remarkable performance. The colt was well out of it with about 50 yards to go. He closed relentlessly, particularly on the last jump or two, to collar the Rainbow trophy.

CINCO PISTOL TURNED on a big attack on the far outside and rambled to a 1 1/4 length win in Saturday's $72,284 Consolation of the Rainbow Quarter Horse Futurity at Ruidoso Downs.

Cinco Pistol was ridden by Carl White for Lynwood W. Jones of Sealy, Texas. Jack Dube does the training.

The chestnut gelding broke slightly behind the early leaders in the 400 yard dash, but made up ground steadily and went roaring into the lead when he approached the wire. First place was worth $15,283.

The winning time, on a track described as "good," was 20.60 seconds. The mutual returns were $11.20, $4.80, $4.20. Take Five Too, the 5-2 wagering choice, ended up second, a length in front of Tonkaway.

Take Five Too earned $10,698 and paid $4.20, $3.40. Tonkaway's share amounted to $8,151. The show price was $4.60.

It was a big day at the mutual windows as a hefty crowd swelled the handle up to $694,981, a seasonal record.

IMA GATES GAL established the fastest qualifying time for the World's Championship Quarter Horse Classic in trials held at Ruidoso Downs Friday. The sorrel mare covered the 440 yard dash in 21.93 seconds on a muddy track.

Running in the first of five divisions, Ima Gates Gal broke quickly from the middle of the pack and held on for a half length winning margin over Rubys Gold. Gary Sumpter was aboard.

The first division also qualified three others based on time. Rubys Gold, Magic Injun and High Bid Man will all advance to the July 29 finale.

The World's Championship sports a purse of $102,726 with over $51,000 going to the winner. It is open to three-year-olds and older.

An 11-1 outsider, Ima Gates Gal returned $24.20, $8.60 and $3.40. Rubys Gold paid $6.40 and $3.60 while Magic Injun paid $3.40.

Ima Gates Gal is owned by N.W. Gates Ranch of Batesville, Texas and trained by Roger C. Fagan.

Here is the list of qualifiers for the World's Championship Classic: Ima Gates Gal, 21.93; Lucks Image Girl, 21.96; Rubys Gold, 22.00; Oh Shilney, 22.11; Magic Injun, 22.15; Vespero, 22.16; Dickey's Fireman, 22.23; High Bid Man, 22.31; Birdies Bar, 22.31; A special draw between Core of The Apple and Kennys Same, both recording a 22.33 time, will be held to determine the final placing.

EASY CRIMSON TOOK the early lead and held on for a full length victory in the feature race at Ruidoso Downs Thursday. Distance was 400 yards.

Breaking from the ninth post position, Easy Crimson was not intimidated by the presence of 9-5 favorite Gentlemen's Feature in the 10th spot. The two bumped slightly out of the gate, then Jerry Nicodemus guided Easy Crimson straight to the wire.

Shebestor Bug, who is still a maiden but has earned over $20,000 this year, finished second as a 7-1 outsider. Aurelena, a 34-1 longshot, placed third. Winning time on a sloppy track was 20.33 seconds.

Easy Crimson returned his backers $6.80 on a two dollar win ticket, $3.60 to place and $4 to show. Shebestor Bug paid $4.80 and $4.80 while Aurelena paid $9.20.

On the day, jockey Charles Mueller won five races.

State's retail sales boom

Data from the 1977 Census of Retail Trade show that New Mexico's 11,604 retail stores had sales totaling $4.0 billion, an increase of 75.3 percent over sales reported in 1972 when the last such census was taken, according to the Bureau of the Census, U.S. Department of Commerce.

Among the kinds of business for which data are presented for the state, the percentage change in sales ranged from an increase of 231.7 percent for jewelry stores to an increase of 10.4 percent for household appliance stores.

Measured in dollar volume of sales, grocery stores were the largest retailers in the state with 1977 sales of $805 million, followed by new car dealers with $718 million, and gasoline service stations with $368 million. These three kinds of business accounted for 47.0 percent of the state's total sales by retailers.

The 1977 payroll of retail stores in the state amounted to $457 million, up 81.6 percent from 1972. Jewelry stores showed the largest increase in payroll, with an increase of 238.0 percent.

There were 74,211 paid employees (full- and part-time) engaged in retail trade in the state as of mid-March 1977. Eating places were the largest employers with 20,090 employees, followed by grocery stores with 9,345 employees, and department stores with 6,500 employees.

Bernalillo County led the counties in the state, accounting for 38.2 percent of total sales by retailer. Albuquerque had the largest sales among the cities in the state accounting for 35.8 percent.

Carlsbad hen produces large egg

A whopping 10 1/2 ounce egg in Carlsbad could well be the largest egg ever produced in New Mexico, said D. W. Francis, Extension poultry specialist at New Mexico State University. The egg was produced by a Hyline hen owned by George Rauch Jr., of Rauch Egg Farm, Carlsbad.

The egg weighed 10 1/2 ounces or 297.7 grams. This is five times the size of a normal egg. The egg measured four and three-fourths inches long and three and a half inches wide. Unfortunately, it had a soft shell which made it difficult to handle. The hen which produced the egg was one of a flock of 3,000 owned by Rauch and from last reports is doing fine, Francis said.

The egg produced at Carlsbad may rank among some to the largest produced, the specialist said. The Guinness Book of Records reports a 16 ounce egg was produced by a White Leghorn hen in Vineland, New Jersey February 25, 1956.

Lake Lucero auto caravan Saturday

An auto caravan to Lake Lucero, a part of the area that is the source of the white sands, is scheduled July 28. The caravan is limited to 30 cars and reservations are required. Interested persons should call monument headquarters at 437-1058.

The trip will begin at 9 A.M., at the Small Missile Range road intersection with United States Highway 70-82, 25 miles west of monument headquarters, located between the green and white mileposts 174 and 175. Park Rangers and military police will brief the group on regulations that apply during the trip. The caravan will proceed over paved roads through the White Sands Missile Range to the trailhead to Lake Lucero. About two hours will be spent at the lake area to allow time for a one mile conducted walk, for photography, sight seeing and lunch. The caravan will return to the highway by 1 p.m.

Participants will need to be at the Small Missile Range gate promptly by 9, because they cannot enter through the gate after the caravan leaves for the lake. All persons should come prepared with enough gasoline, a spare tire, drinking water, stout walking shoes, suitable dress for the weather, sun glasses and a lunch. Persons are also reminded that Lake Lucero is a primitive area without sanitary facilities of any kind. Cameras are encouraged for use at the lake area, but may not be used while passing through the missile range.

Runnels attacks BLM's grazing restriction plan

Congressman Harold Runnels (D-NM) Tuesday said he finds the proposal by the Bureau of Land Management to restrict grazing on the Roswell Bureau of Land Management (BLM) District, "totally unacceptable," and said the economic impact would be "disaster."

In a prepared statement delivered to the public hearings on the BLM proposal, Runnels said the Roswell BLM office has previously taken the position that cattle and other forms of livestock are foreign to the public lands, with the agency showing more concern for antelope and the lesser prairie chicken. He accused the agency of ignoring language in the Federal Land Management Act which directs multiple use of public lands. "As a member of the Congressional Committee which considered this legislation, I can assure you that it was not the intent of Congress for BLM to develop plans to bring about the economic ruin of the ranching community," Runnels said. He cited a portion of the law which reads, "...the public lands will be managed in a manner which recognizes the nation's needs for domestic resources of minerals, food, timber and fiber from the public lands."

"It appears that some within BLM have made the decision to eliminate this unwanted, apparently in the eyes of BLM

Commissioners meet Tuesday

Lincoln County Commissioners will meet at 10 a.m., tomorrow at the courthouse in Carrizozo.

Among the agenda items to be considered will be appointment of two persons to the county Planning and Zoning Commission, a request from the Bonito Fire Department for an additional ambulance stall, appointment of a local agent to handle disaster relief funds and approval for purchase of paging devices.

RC&D meeting in Alamogordo

The South Central Mountain Resource Conservation and Development Area (RC&D) will meet at 1 p.m., Tuesday in Alamogordo's Holiday Inn.

Chairman Clem Weindorf will report on funding of RC&D.

The program speaker will be Bob Sigmund, director of the state office of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, discussing agency programs of interest to owners of acreage.

Downs trustees meeting tonight

Ruidoso Downs trustees will meet at 7:30 tonight at the village hall. Major agenda items will include resolution 79-13, concerning the certificates of canvassing for the recent bond election, a call for a special meeting, a report on the Municipal League's annual conference and quotes on police vehicles.

Runnels attacks BLM's grazing restriction plan

domestic livestock by making it economically unfeasible for any rancher to continue such operations on BLM lands," Runnels said.

He said some estimates are that beef production in the area would be cut by more than 40% if the BLM proposal is implemented. The Congressman pointed out that BLM's own figures forecast a loss of 27% of current livestock sales and decrease in net returns to ranchers of 61%. "I wonder if the BLM employees would be as excited about a proposal that we reduce their levels by 27% and cut the salaries of those remaining by 61%," Runnels said. "I have seen nothing presented by BLM that would suggest the long term benefits provided by their proposal would offset the immediate economic disaster created by such a plan."

"The BLM proposal once again smacks of the all too popular image which the average citizen has of the federal government, that being that too many in the federal government think they always have the answer as what's best for the average citizen. They seem to forget who is working for whom."

"I find the draft statement totally unacceptable," Runnels concluded, urging that a new grazing plan be developed to implement the multiple use concept prescribed by law.

Jockey Harla Webb wins first race

Jockey Harla Webb, an outstanding athlete at Ruidoso High School, won her first race at Santa Fe Downs recently, in her third career start.

During her eighth grade, freshman and sophomore years at Ruidoso High School, she qualified for the state track meet, bringing home eight medals, the most outstanding one, was a first in the 880 yard dash in 1978 where she set a new track record for AA schools and took six seconds off the previous record.

In 1977 and 1978 she received the honor of Track Woman of the Year at Ruidoso High School. She also played varsity basketball for 2 years.

In the fall of 1978 she moved to El Paso to pursue her career as a jockey, galloping horses all winter and spring, and finally receiving her jockey's license in June 1979.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Webb of Glencoe.

River pollution control plan going into effect

Water impoundment, reservoirs, spreader ditches and dikes, rangeland moisture conservation, irrigation water conservation, sediment retention, erosion or water control structures, sod waterways, animal waste control facilities and forest tree plantations.

Agricultural producers who are having problems with water conservation or soil erosion should contact the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) office in the Lincoln County courthouse at Carrizozo. Eligible land must be located within the boundaries of the Upper Rio Hondo Watershed and the problem must be contributing to pollution of water in the same watershed. All areas within the watershed that drains into the Bonito, Ruidoso and Hondo Rivers west of Hondo will be eligible.

The Lincoln County ASCS Committee is now taking cost-share applications for this program. Applications are available at the Lincoln County ASCS office.

Approval of a plan to control nonpoint sources of pollution in the Upper Rio Hondo Watershed in Lincoln County, by the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) has been announced by the Lincoln County Agricultural Stabilization Commission (ASC).

One of the basic methods to be used will be to cost-share practices with producers that will improve the quality of water in the Ruidoso and Bonito rivers, under existing USDA programs.

Approved practices include: permanent vegetative cover establishment and improvement, terrace systems, diversion dikes, grazing land protection, windbreak restoration and establishment, permanent vegetative cover on critical areas;

BUDGET-WISE, you can do more with fine carpeting than you may think... more than with just about any similar expense. You'll often hear it said that new homeowners would be wise to put more into a few good things than into many things that they'll be unhappy with later.

This makes sense... especially when you put the floor first. Nothing does so much to create a look and feel of luxury. Fill a bare-floored room with furniture and it can still look cold and unfinished. But a carpet makes all the difference even when furnishings are few.

There are other good reasons for starting with carpeting. A good broadloom will last for many, many years, while other items come and go. The colors you choose for the carpet can provide the basic color scheme for the room, a springboard for the effects you want in your decorating.

Even on a budget, there are many ways to go with carpeting. New nylons, acrylics and polyesters have softness and luxury that is unbelievable at the low prices available. Room-size and area rugs also offer many of the benefits of luxury carpeting at the most modest cost.

So start with carpet... and the right place to start is in our big carpet showroom, where you'll find a wide range of colors and types in every price category. Our carpet specialists will gladly offer free decorating counsel. Come in or call!

Glorious rain
This is being sent to you on July 19 and it looks as though our real July rains have begun. We knew the rains were on the way because of the unusually hot weather.

Today in mid-afternoon there's a light rain falling all up and down the vale. This rain began just in the gloaming the evening of July 18 and kept falling all night. All in all this summer has had the best rains of any year I can remember and the main rainy season is still ahead.

Mrs. Inez Calderon celebrates birthday
It is always good to remember the birthdays of our loved ones and friends. Mrs. Cella Ramirez, the friendly little lady who works at the Hollywood Food Mart, would like us to know that her friend, Mrs. Inez Calderon, will celebrate her birthday on July 25. We hope that Inez has a very happy birthday and all God's blessings.

Billy the Kid Pageant is first weekend in August
Time is drawing near for the annual historical pageant the Last Escape of Billy the Kid, held each year during the first weekend in August. And the charming little frontier village of Lincoln is dreaming of the colorful days of 100 years ago. For three joyful days the folks in Lincoln County will turn the clock back to 1881, where the legendary Kid surprised the world and delighted his host of friends when he made his escape from jail in the old courthouse, with the odds against him "one million to one."

Billy Shreengost, with the help of friends from all over Lincoln County, does a fine job of playing the Kid. A great number of actors like Billy, are members of pioneer families and some are descendants of those who took part in the historical drama of the early days. These folks have the pageant in their blood and they put their heart and soul into the show. This enthusiasm works magic among all of the actors, resulting in a performance that is in a class by itself and in the entire world.

This is the only western pageant that takes place on the very spot where the actual history was enacted. The show is put on in the shadow of the old courthouse, from which the Kid made his escape and the village of Lincoln, little changed from pioneer days, would be easily recognized by the Kid.

As the time for the pageant draws near pictures of the early days return clearly throughout the quaint little village. You see the Kid walking along, with the green silk hat band shining on his sombrero, whistling "Silver Threads Among the Gold," or "Wearing of the Green," smiling and talking cheerfully to young and old.

During the first week in August the Kid's light hearted and cheerful spirit returns to Lincoln and we are all light hearted and happy once more, as we live again in the open hearted true friendliness of pioneer days.

EMMELINE BECK of Capitan sponsored the arts and crafts fair held in that village last weekend. Live plants were among the items she displayed.

ROCK WIND CHIMES were displayed by Mr. and Mrs. Don Stark of Capitan at the arts and crafts fair held there last weekend. The Starks also displayed natural wood clocks made by Don Stark.

SANTAFE—If you're a columnist, there are days when you can whistle up a tune and wander all around a subject, and embroider it till it's hardly recognizable. There are also days on which you just look a subject in the eye and come right out and write it, down and dirty.

Today, with two subjects caught in our craw, is the second kind of day. No beating around the bush, no circumlocutions, no ifs, and's or but's. Let's get on with it.

First Subject: Governor King and contractors' examinations.

Larry Calloway of the Associated Press wrote a three-part series about what goes on when someone takes an examination to be certified as a contractor in the Construction Industries Division of the Commerce and Industry Department.

What Calloway said was very embarrassing.

Essentially, records show that potential contractors who failed to make a grade of 70 on written examinations in their chosen subject suddenly had a mysterious rise in their grades after personal consultation with certain officials at the Construction Industries Division.

When Governor King was asked about those revelations, he said, very defensively, that "all that took place before I became Governor. There better not be any example of that kind of thing since January of this year, when I took office."

Batten down the hatches, Governor. By the time this appears, you may have already heard more on this topic—including examples of that kind of operation in the time since you took office. You can't act as though all this sort of thing goes back to Senator Tony Lucero's days.

It's a good idea to clean up your own house before you talk about clean living and high virtue and total sinlessness.

SALT: At What Cost?

The Carter Administration has left us no choice but to conclude that its political commitment to a new strategic arms limitation treaty with the Soviet Union is such that the White House is now prepared to ignore or discount alarming new evidence that the prospective agreement may be fatally flawed.

Consider two recent developments.

A current U.S. intelligence study concluded that the Soviet Union probably possesses 1,000 more intercontinental ballistic missiles than are counted under either the SALT I agreement now in effect or the SALT II treaty. And Adm. Stansfield Turner, director of the Central Intelligence Agency, has admitted in closed testimony that loss of the two electronic listening posts in Iran will compromise this country's ability to verify Soviet compliance with SALT II terms until 1984, one year before the treaty would expire.

These disclosures are likely to deal a devastating setback to the administration's case for SALT. Yet the President's SALT spokesman blithely discounts the secret stockpile of Soviet missiles as of "little military significance." And, notwithstanding Turner's reluctant, damaging admission, the administration continues to insist publicly — as Secretary of Defense Harold Brown did — that U.S. verification capabilities are sufficient to detect Soviet cheating on either SALT I or SALT II.

Only political considerations could explain such untenable interpretations in the face of the countervailing evidence.

The Carter Administration's cavalier willingness to dismiss a hidden arsenal of 1,000 Soviet ICBMs is mind boggling. This reserve force would give Moscow at least 2,600 ICBMs to fewer than 1,100 for the United States. If these reserve missiles are "militarily insignificant," why would the Soviets build them?

Granted, SALT I and SALT II limit only fixed missile launchers, not the missiles themselves. So, technically, additional missiles are not violations of any existing or prospective arms agreement.

But it is also true that about 350 of the Soviet Union's 1,600 missile-launching silos are equipped to withstand the heat and blast of a launching and can thus be reloaded with new missiles in a matter of hours. Beyond the doubled threat posed by reloadable silos, can the Carter Administration afford to ignore the possibility — indeed, the probability — that the Soviets could launch prepositioned, reserve ICBMs from concrete pads whose existence could be easily concealed?

In truth, a secret and uncounted arsenal of Soviet ICBMs could, in a sudden crisis, be quickly deployed with devastating effect on the Soviet-American strategic balance. It would then, of course, be too late to bemoan the yawning gaps in SALT II that permitted the Soviets to obtain a crushing strategic superiority.

Yet, by the administration's own admission, there is nothing in SALT II that would ban reloadable silos or limit the numbers of strategic missiles the Soviets could build. As we said, it boggles the mind.

As for verification, the revelation that the Soviets possess a concealed stockpile of ICBMs dramatically underscores the dangers inherent in anything less than foolproof safeguards against SALT cheating.

The loss of the listening posts in Iran crippled the critically important monitoring of Soviet missile tests and development. Without this monitoring, there is no way to know, among other things, whether the Russians are packing more warheads into their missiles than would be permitted under SALT II.

These disturbing disclosures are only the most recent in a series of developments that are rapidly eroding the case for SALT II, despite the administration's desperate, and at times disingenuous, defense of the prospective treaty. — News Bulletin, Belen

editorial

I've never seen Bruce King do somethin' for nuthin' for nobody. And, up until a few days ago, I was convinced that his opposition to the area's use of Site B at Fort Stanton Mesa for a regional airport was strictly vengeance on his part. Just gettin' even for the lack of support in Lincoln County in the last election.

But, then "Good ol' Boy" Bruce up and offers $30,000 to the area to conduct a reevaluation of Site A as an alternative. There have even been strong hints out of Santa Fe in the past few days that substantial money might be found to help build the airport at Site A.

Now folks, the Ag experiments at Site B just aren't that important on the potential 300 acres to be initially used for an airport. Any person who looks objectively at what has been done out there by NMSU knows that. And Bruce King doesn't do somethin' for nuthin' for nobody.

So why is Bruce all of a sudden so interested in helping a whole bunch of folks down in Lincoln County who voted Republican and just a few who voted for him?

Site A is clearly the inferior site. It is clearly the most expensive site. It is clearly the site that is not surrounded by public land, and therefore free from encroaching development. In fact, it is composed of a significant amount of private land that will have to be paid for dearly, and it is adjacent to more large tracts of private land that is subject to development.

Why, with the building of an airport there, there's no telling how valuable some of that land might become.

You don't think I No, not Bruce. — kg

OUR JIMMY'S WITH IT

Our Jimmy . . . by jinkies . . . has up and got with it . . . and there's several of his appointive honchos as is gonna get out of it.

Now for Our Jimmy . . . with 18 months left . . . to step up and act . . . even if it's only to hire and fire . . . is a move in the right direction. Why he might even wind up with some advisors as'll advise him . . . forthrightly and in tune with the times. This could confuse Our Jimmy . . . who ain't exactly used to good sound advice from his advisors . . . but well advised confusion'd be better than what he's been working with.

But . . . by jinkies . . . Our Jimmy's bound and determined to do something about energy . . . the shortage of . . . and seeing to it what energy as we have left . . . and can get . . . is gonna be used right. And that's a right ambitious program he's lining up for him to follow.

For the good of our great nation of belyachin' . . . as well as those as ain't belyachin' . . . let all of us hope that Our Jimmy gets on with it . . . that he gets himself a cabinet and advisors as is with it . . . and that, at the end of the next 18 months, he has something lined up that his successor . . . with the help of Congress . . . can implement.

Why . . . with this great new plan . . . Our Jimmy's right on the verge of really going down in history . . . as the president who worked out a workable energy program for the good of all of us . . . that his successor could whip into shape.

Yup . . . that's a real gesture of determination from Our Jimmy . . . an intelligent and God-fearing man . . . who has learned that . . . by jinkies . . . what goes in Georgia don't necessarily have the heft to go in Washington, D.C., let alone run the nation.

Judging from the polls . . . and media reports that Democrats are actively supporting any and all suggestions to get Our Jimmy out of office . . . even if he got gas back to 30 cents, plenty of heating oil, unemployment eradicated and the dollar as top buck on the world's market . . . he stands as much chance of being re-elected as Castro does to replace Brezhnev as head of the Russian Communists.

But all's not lost . . . he still has peanut growin' and beam fishin'.

ABOUT OUR AIRPORT

Governor Bruce King . . . the good ol' boy who done got with it to the point where Lincoln County's gonna get about five miles of new paved road . . . to make it easier to drive from Angus to Nogal . . . up and got with it to get us $30,000 in state funds . . . from the state Aviation Division . . . to pay for engineers to study Site A on Fort Stanton mesa . . . 'cause there's those as don't favor Site B now.

Now those members of the airport commission ain't exactly overly excited about the prospects of a buncha engineers tramping down all those valuable experiments being conducted there pertaining to things agricultural . . . though they ain't exactly against the idea . . . completely.

What the commissioners is figuring is . . . they just might still salvage Site B . . . on which measuring the growth of cacti and the rain falling on it can't exactly come under the classification of operations as is within the meaning of public necessity and convenience . . . 'cause there's been a bundle spent on planning to put an airport on Site B.

Maybe, if'n everyone plays their cards right . . . and gets together a proposal to use 300 acres on Site B . . . and gets the backing of the Department of the Interior . . . with the urging of our Senators and Congressman . . . and a few other guys . . . maybe all that money spent on planning won't be wasted . . . maybe we'll get us our airport on Site B.

We must consider that Wendell Chino . . . president of the Mescalero Apache Tribe . . . can exert considerable influence . . . and, if'n he gets his dander up . . . he just might get the pendulum swinging in our favor . . . 'cause all of us, including the Mescalero Apaches, can benefit more from a jet capable and safe airport on the mesa than we can from knowing how much a cactus has grew in 17 years . . . if'n they grow that long.

Yup . . . it's gonna get mighty interesting . . . getting planes flying into the mesa . . . before somebody's told to go fly a kite.

BRIEF BIT: In Ruidoso Jack, rabbit starts might waste gas, but when you're trying to get into the traffic flow on Sudderth, they sure save a lot in preventing fender benders and rear enders . . . CD

ROSS SCHWARZ, emergency medical services Ruidoso ambulance covers. It includes about a department head, points out the area the half million acres of land.

ALMOST A HOSPITAL emergency room, the three ambulances owned and operated by the village of Ruidoso are organized as shown in the above photo. The ambulance pictured can carry up to six injured persons and is equipped with an 18-channel radio, which allows direct contact with law enforcement agencies in the state, and hospitals in Texas, Arizona, Colorado and New Mexico.

Village emergency medical services serves wide area

(Ninth in a series on departmental services offered by the Village of Ruidoso.)

Ross Schwarz, head of emergency medical services (EMS) for Ruidoso, said the village owned operation answers from 60 to 90 emergency calls each month. "Because we are required to cover every area within a 50 mile radius of village hall, we get called often," Schwarz said, adding that many communities within 50 miles have their own ambulance service. "Most of our calls are within the Ruidoso and Alto areas," Schwarz said.

Schwarz has been making ambulance runs seven years in Ruidoso, working for a time for the private ambulance service which covered the area. The village created their own ambulance service after private service was discontinued in April, 1977.

"We originally worked out of the police department, but the ambulance service was designated as a separate department July 1," Schwarz said.

Schwarz, chosen to head the department, is skilled in many aspects of emergency assistance. He is a Licensed Emergency Technician instructor, an advanced life support technician, a first aid instructor and a cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) instructor.

The EMS is manned by six full time staffers and equipped with two regular ambulances and one off-road ambulance. All employees are trained through the Emergency Medical Services Academy at the University of New Mexico School of Medicine.

The 81-hour emergency medical training course is offered at many locations throughout the state. Schwarz said he teaches the course once a year in the Ruidoso area.

"In addition, each employee is required to attend a refresher course once every two years," Schwarz said. In-house training programs and additional programs at the hospital keep the staff up-to-date on new techniques.

"This fall, we will offer a more advanced life support program which will surpass everything we've already taught," Schwarz said.

The ambulance service operates under a license issued by the State Corporation Commission which regulates rates and lists minimum equipment which must be carried in every ambulance.

"For the kinds of emergencies we have in Ruidoso, we couldn't get by with only the minimum of equipment," Schwarz said. He said all ambulances owned by the city are equipped with all but a few items "we could really use," but said "we never buy a piece of equipment until we've been trained to use it first."

The biggest problem faced by the drivers is the discourtesy shown by other drivers, "not to us but to the patient," Schwarz said. "Every time we make a run, we have a problem with a driver who doesn't want to yield," he said.

Schwarz added that a fine of $100 can be imposed on anyone refusing to yield to an emergency vehicle "if they are caught."

Another problem is the tremendous rise in costs for medical and other supplies. "Our operating costs have gone up about 37 percent over last year," Schwarz said. "We spent $85,000 to run the ambulance in 1978; we'll spend about $125,000 for it this year," he said.

"We will not refuse to transport a patient," he said, and added that the EMS is not affiliated with any private insurance plan, such as Blue Cross/Blue Shield. "We render the service directly to the patient, and it becomes his responsibility to pay," Schwarz said.

The collection rate for the department is better than 50 percent, with time payment plans being common. "People can pay us a little a month at no interest and no carrying charge."

Schwarz said if he were given the chance, "I could spend the entire village budget" improving the department. He has set down some long range goals and some new ideas will be put into practice by August 1.

A room resembling an efficiency apartment will be in use by ambulance drivers after its targeted completion date of August 1. The area, built into former storage space in the back of village hall, will include sleeping quarters, a kitchenette, office space, bath area and a lounge.

"This will be useful because drivers will be right here when a call comes in," Schwarz said.

The ambulances will be equipped by August 1 so the ambulance attendant can talk to the doctor en route to the hospital. "We have a lot of people who think the drivers don't do anything until they get the patient to the doctor; that's just not true. We make life-and-death decisions every day," Schwarz said.

However, the radio will improve the overall system. "It's the only one of its kind in this part of the state that I know of," Schwarz said.

The ambulances are also equipped with 18 channel radios, which allows communication with any law enforcement agency in New Mexico and hospitals in Texas, Colorado and Arizona.

The village is tied into the MAST system (Military Assistance to Safety and Traffic) based at Fort Bliss in El Paso, Texas which is used only in emergencies. The helicopter service is usually called by the Ruidoso Rondo Valley Hospital for transportation of critical patients to other hospitals, Schwarz said.

Schwarz said increased training for ambulance drivers is being planned, which will allow the drivers to give more advanced life support to the patient.

"Our service will grow with the community, and part of that growth will be more sophisticated equipment."

"Our prime concern is for the health and well being of the patient," Schwarz said.

THE "READY ROOM" being constructed in the back of village hall, will provide a place for ambulance personnel to wait for calls. Ross Schwarz, head of the emergency medical services department, said he expects the efficiency apartment to play a major role in decreasing answering time in the immediate area.

A DIRECT LINE to local doctors from inside the three ambulances will be in use in Ruidoso after August 1. Ross Schwarz, head of the department, pictured, said the system is the only one of its kind he knows of in this part of New Mexico.

ANNE OF THE THOUSAND DAYS

Richard Burton and Genevieve Bujold (pictured), star in 'Anne of the Thousand Days,' an historical drama focusing on an era in the tumultuous reign of England's King Henry VIII, which will be broadcast July 23, on 'NBC Monday Night at the Movies.'

In the film, which is based on Maxwell Anderson's Broadway play, Burton portrays Henry VIII, who becomes one of England's most controversial leaders due to his involvement with a teenage girl named Anne Boleyn (Miss Bujold).

While married to Queen Catherine (Irene Papas), Henry begins a six-year courtship with Anne. The King asks Cardinal Wolsey (Anthony Quayle) to approach the Pope to annul his royal marriage. When Wolsey fails, the King defies the Pope and Cromwell (John Colicos) and engineers a break with Rome. Anne, however, cannot provide the King with a male heir and he soon ends his second of six marriages.

THE HAWAIIANS

The epic story of the mainland families who settled in Hawaii and made it an American Pacific outpost is recounted in "The Hawaiians," starring Charlton Heston (pictured) and Geraldine Chaplin, to be rebroadcast July 24, on "The CBS Tuesday Night Movies." Based on James Michener's best selling novel, "Hawaii," and as a sequel to the movie of that name, "The Hawaiians" focuses on Whip Hoxworth (Heston), the spirited, rough son of a sea captain. Hoxworth's wife, Purity (Miss Chaplin), misunderstands and mistrusts her "crude" husband, a feeling she passes on to their son, Noel (John Philip Law). Intricately entwined with the fortunes of the Hoxworth family are the lives of others who have come to Hawaii—a Chinese concubine (Tina Chen), and the Japanese girl (Milo Mayama) who fills the lonely gap in Whip's life, as well as the descendants of the other pioneer American mainland settlers who battle for supremacy on the islands.

THE WILBY CONSPIRACY

Sidney Poitier (pictured), Michael Caine and Nicol Williamson star in "The Wilby Conspiracy," an action drama set against the background of apartheid South Africa, to be rebroadcast July 28 on "The CBS Saturday Night Movies."

Sidney Poitier portrays Shack Twala, a black revolutionary jailed for his beliefs, who has been freed by his lawyer, Rina Nierkirk (Prunella Gee). Together with Keogh (Michael Caine), a mining engineer visiting Rina, they set off across the country to locate some diamonds, hidden a decade before, that will finance their guerrilla warfare.

Then, Horn (Nicol Williamson), a brutal policeman, after a brief skirmish with Twala, lets him escape, hoping the trio's journey across South Africa will lead him to the guerrilla leader—Wilby.

CONFIDENTIAL REPORT: Actor Lee Majors is claiming he had the wool pulled over his eyes by an artist who sold him an oil painting of wife Farrah Fawcett for $10,000. And he wants $200,000 in damages as well as his $10,000 back, we learned exclusively. In papers on file in California Civil Court, Majors says he agreed to buy an original painting of Farrah from Dutch-American artist William Verdult for $10,000. But the painting that he received was said to be a copy, with a value of only $50! All this came out at a pre-trial hearing last month on a breach of contract suit brought by Verdult against Lee and Farrah. Verdult claims he agreed to sell Lee the painting of Farrah—priced at $25,000—for $16,000 and also to do a gift portrait of Lee to match it. Lee paid him $10,000 and promised to send the remainder and a photo of himself so work could be started on the other portrait later, the artist claims. Other than Farrah and the two Cheryls—and perhaps Suzanne Somers—Loni Anderson, 'WKRP in Cincinnati' co-star, is the prettiest, and certainly the busiest, blonde on television. Actually, the real Loni isn't much like the vapid—but not dumb—girl she plays on the comedy series. Because she has posed for a best-selling, ultra-scanty bikini poster, she gets problems on the street, meeting strange men: "They assume I'm a loose type of woman and I'll do anything once," she explains grimly, as though she can hardly believe, despite the nature of her poster which makes Farrah look like a child by comparison. "I've been accosted and propositioned more times than I care to mention. People really believe in stereotype."

CELEBRITIES IN CANDID: "I've been away a long time," admits Andy Griffith, who is back on television and in a new series, 'Salvage-1.' The show may be gimmicky—about a junk collector who goes to the moon for valuable space trash—but it's struck audiences' fancy and Griffith hopes it will keep him in the public eye for years to come. "It's tough to get accustomed to being in a long-running hit series like 'The Andy Griffith Show' and then to do a few flops and sort of fade out," he explains humbly, very likeably. "I know 'Salvage' won't be called high art, but it's entertainment and it's got no violence and jiggling girls." The real Andy Griffith is very much like the characters he has played on his series and in films like 'No Time For Sergeants.' He admits, though, that he isn't exactly Mr. Goody Two Shoes. "I have a temper, brother!" He pauses. "Andy on the show didn't have a temper, but I sure do. Ask my wife." ... Ileana Parsons makes her television debut in Liberty Mutual's dramatic special, 'Oberndorf Revisited.' The talented Italian-born actress is a popular television personality in Vancouver. In 'Oberndorf Revisited' Ileana plays the role of a Countess. Movie scouts are sure to spot her because she looks like a young version of the beautiful Gina Lollobrigida.

RAMBLIN' ROUND TV-LAND: David Letterman, once a co-star on Mary Tyler Moore's short-lived variety show, is said to have the inside track on replacing Johnny Carson when the King of Talk leaves NBC-TV's 'Tonight Show.' Sparking the rumors is the long-term contract Letterman has just signed with NBC. It includes a pilot for a late night show, a one-hour variety special, a sitcom which he will produce, segments on the 'Today Show' and guest-hosting assignments on the 'Tonight Show.' Just in case you're wondering about the fast-rising Mr. Letterman—this much I can tell you—seven years ago he was doing weather reports from the Midwest... Not so budget-minded are the folks who produce CBS-TV's 'The Incredible Hulk.' Next season's episodes will cost an eye-popping $650,000 per. Even Lou Ferrigno would have a hard time carrying around that much cash.
