No. 82 in our 33rd year

Ruidoso, Lincoln County, New Mexico 88345

Monday, February 24, 1979

THIS DARK POST STARKLY STANDS on a sharp curve on Highway 532, leading to Sierra Blanca Ski Resort, supporting sagged steel cables no longer capable of preventing cars from crashing down the rock strewn side of a canyon.

See page 5 for additional photos attesting to the need for road repairs and a pointed commentary on the hazards of driving this highway, as well as a suggestion as to how to proceed to have the road made safe for traffic.

Dunlap takes Tunisian post

Ralph Dunlap, Lincoln County agent the past 26 years, has accepted a position with the United States Department of State in Tunisia, to assist sheep raisers in that North African country in an effort to increase mutton production.

Dunlap will arrive in Washington, D.C., March 5 to undergo a month's indoctrination on Tunisia, and to study French, the language used by the nation's officials.

"Many of the country agents speak English," Dunlap said, "so I feel there will be no problems with language."

He will be based in Tunis as a sheep specialist under the US-AID program for a two year stint.

"I'll help the Tunisian county agents to become more knowledgeable on all facets of sheep raising," he said. "I'll deal with them, instead of the growers, because there are five million sheep in Tunisia and 45,000 owners, with 52 percent of the flocks numbering 20 head or less. It would be impossible to work with individual Arabic speaking owners, except for those few having large flocks."

Tunisian sheep, Dunlap said, "are as they were 3,000 years ago. The shepherds have made no effort to improve their flocks to increase mutton production. This will be one of my major goals, to interest them in upgrading their breeding stock. Any change will have to come slowly, and as a suggestion only, because, when they've seen no need for improvement during the past 3,000 years, chances are they will view suggested changes much differently than our area sheepmen have."

One of Dunlap's goals will be to help the shepherds eradicate the spread of disease in their flocks. "their sheep are plagued with just about every disease and affliction known," he said, "and it will be difficult to teach them to change some of their methods of raising sheep to develop healthy flocks."

The Tunisians raise, he said, "fat tailed sheep," capable of storing up to 18 pounds of fat in their tails "so that they can survive the hot, dry summers during which there is very little forage."

Villages' trustees to meet

The Ruidoso Downs Trustees will meet tonight at 7 p.m., in the village hall council room.

Major agenda items will include a report from the Planning and Zoning Commission, gravel and hauling bids, consideration of sick leave policies and occupational licenses.

The Ruidoso trustees will meet at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday in the multi-purpose room of the Ruidoso Public Library.

The agenda includes methods of financing Ruidoso's share of the Regional Wastewater System, a report on the exploratory drilling for water and a request to abandon a pipeline easement in Palmer Gateway.

Search unit tests new radio gear

White Mountain Search and Rescue (WMSR) members Friday tested new radio equipment, a mobile base and three hand units, provided by the Ruidoso Rotary Club.

The Rotarians picked up the $1,900 tab for the radios, and will earmark that amount of funds from the club's April 17 enchilada lunch/dinner to be held at the Ruidoso Elks Lodge.

"The Rotary," Alden Deyo said, "strongly supports WMSR and this is our project to improve the services this great organization is equipped to provide."

The new multi-band radios will enable WMSR, in the event of a search or rescue operation, to be in direct contact with the State Police, Lincoln County sheriff's office and the Ruidoso Police.

WMSR will, with new equipment on hand, set up training courses at the high school gymnasium.

"The training," WMSR member Herb Brunell said, "will not only be for our new members but to indoctrinate all of our members in the use of our new gear."

At last week's meeting Betty Bennett, a new member, was named as WMSR dispatcher and is designated to call members in the event of a WMSR operation.

Other new members accepted at the meeting include Jimmy Jeter, Lee Huckstep, Ky Scott, Bud Harrison, Tim Wishard, Kent Eno, Charles Dille and Steve Hightower.

Flood loan plan set

Homeowners and business owners who suffered damage in mid-December flooding may be eligible for low-interest loans to aid in returning their property to pre-disaster condition, the United States Small Business Administration (SBA) announced today.

SBA disaster loans are available to flood victims in the declared counties of Catron, Grant, Hidalgo, Lincoln and Sierra, as well as in the adjacent counties of Valencia, Socorro, Luna, Dona Ana, Otero, Chaves, De Baca, Guadalupe and Torrance.

"SBA disaster loans may be used to repair house trailers and vacation homes as well as primary dwellings," Conrad Ramirez, SBA Acting District Director, said. "Renters also may be eligible for loans to replace lost or damaged personal property."

Interest rates on loans to homeowners, business owners and renters are 7 3/8 percent based on the average cost of money to the federal government. Maximum maturity of the loans is 30 years with terms based on the borrower's repayment ability.

Business owners may receive direct SBA disaster loans of up to $500,000 to restore real property, machinery, equipment, fixtures and inventory to a pre-disaster condition.

"SBA's disaster program covers some items of particular interest to farmers," Ramirez said. "Loans can be made to repair or replace fences, private roads and bridges, farm buildings and machinery. We also can lend money on crop losses if the losses were caused by the flood."

Loan assistance is available only to the extent that the damage exceeds the applicant's insurance coverage, and disaster loans may not be used for upgrading except when necessary to meet local building codes.

"Assistance is not limited to homes and businesses," Ramirez said. "Clubs, churches and other non-profit organizations which have recreational and other facilities damaged by flood waters may be eligible."

Ramirez encouraged applicants to bring all supporting documentation with them. Photographs of the damage will aid SBA's loss verifiers in determining extent of the damage. Other necessary documents include a list of damaged property with replacement costs, copies of deeds, leases or mortgages and a copy of last year's federal income tax return.

The Small Business Administration has opened a disaster branch office at the Downtown Mall, 118 South Main Street, Las Cruces, N.M. 88001. The telephone number is 505-523-1906. Flood victims are encouraged to call or visit the SBA office for more information.

The deadline for filing an SBA physical disaster loan application is March 30, 1979. The deadline for economic injury disaster loans is October 29, 1979.

SBA official in Ruidoso Wednesday

Bill Glennon of the Las Cruces Small Business Administration (SBA) office will be in Ruidoso Wednesday afternoon to meet with owners of private property of businesses who suffered property damage in the December flood, or were hurt financially by the flood.

Glennon will be in the multi-purpose room of the Ruidoso Public Library at Sudderth Drive and Junction Road beginning at 1 p.m.

"Anyone," Glennon said to The News, "with questions about, or seeking information on, the SBA's disaster loan program should come to the library to see me."

German motorcyclist phones for Aspencade activities information

It was business as usual at Ruidoso's village hall Friday for receptionist Cece Sudderth, until the telephone rang at 8:45 a.m.

For the next several minutes, conditions became chaotic.

Herr Dieter Stietz, of Ludwigshafen, West Germany, at about 5:45 p.m., his time, was on the other end of the phone call.

Herr Stietz, it seems, had read with avid interest a six page account, with full color photographs, of the 1978 Aspencade Motorcyclists' Convention in Ruidoso.

Furthermore, Herr Stietz announced that he was coming to Ruidoso for the 1979 Aspencade motorcyclists' activities and started asking the by now flustered Cece, pertinent questions about the upcoming parade, activities for the motorcyclists, rates for accommodations, if there was an adequate supply of good German food ... and lots of other questions ... including about how much a week or so here would cost him.

"His accent was a problem," Cece said, "but when he started spelling his name, I had problems, because their letter's don't sound like our letters."

So to solve her problem with Herr Stietz and the language barrier, she obtained his name, address and telephone number and happily turned the information over to Til Thompson, who is completing plans for the 1979 Aspencade motorcycle action and who is overjoyed at the "international flavor" that will be added by Herr Stietz and, hopefully, his motorcycle.

Ludwigshafen? That's the birthplace of the Graf Zeppelin, the blimp that made headlines around the world.

CHECKING OUT NEW MULTI-BAND RADIOS, obtained as a Ruidoso Rotary Club project, are from the left, White Mountain Search and Rescue members, Joe Yates, Alden Deyo, also a Rotarian and Herb Brunell, holding the mobile base station that will be installed in the unit's van. The new radios will be used on State Police, county sheriff and Ruidoso Police bands.

Fort Stanton students respond to affection

BY GWYN JONES
Staff Writer/Photographer

For the past eight or nine years, a small group of Ruidoso women have been providing the students of Fort Stanton with one commodity which cannot be distributed through the bureaucratic channels of the state institution: human contact and affection.

Each Friday afternoon, weather permitting, they make the drive to the school, where they are often greeted by a group of male students lined up at the fence calling "Here come the grannies."

The endearing term is one of the ways in which the students return the affection for the volunteer workers. The girls call the ladies "mama" and look forward to the visits with equal enthusiasm.

Hazel Kennedy was one of the first and is still one of the most dedicated volunteers. As she explained, "What we basically do is visit with them. There are some (students) who have been institutionalized all their lives and have never had a visitor or received a card or letter."

Volunteer Mary Ann Jennings added, "We just pet them and love them. They crave affection and attention."

"I think we accomplish a lot," said a third worker, Sibyl Riddle. "They appreciate it so much."

The ladies recalled that Riddle was not eager to volunteer at first. She spent her first visit in tears.

"But after that," Kennedy recounted,

"she forgot herself, and she's been going ever since."

Other volunteers include Marti Yoder, Babe Bauer, Sally Avery, Ann Abbott, Gladys Sadler and Sylvia Richardson.

The group is also hoping to inform the public about other needs of the students.

"None of them can read or write," Kennedy explained, "but they can do things with their hands." Jigsaw puzzles, embroidery materials, including thread and stamped goods, are always in demand.

The women also love to carry purses and especially enjoy looking at mail order catalogs, women's magazines with bright pictures and Christmas cards.

Male volunteers would be appreciated by the male students, who like to play ball and could be taught to play checkers and dominoes, said Kennedy.

The students also like music and have regular dances. "One time I played 'When the Saints Go Marching In' (on the piano) for an hour and a half," Kennedy related.

Jennings added that though the attention spans of most of the students are short, they enjoy stories, especially when acted out with gestures.

The group plans to continue their Friday afternoon visits to the school, but they are eager to see the volunteer program expanded, as is Fort Stanton assistant administrator Bobby Dan Crenshaw.

Crenshaw recently appealed to the people of Ruidoso for an increased volunteer work force. He hopes to gain as many as 40 persons to donate one day a month of their time to teach a specific skill to a student, on a one-to-one basis.

The volunteers would attend training sessions in the morning, and be provided with transportation and lunch. Crenshaw feels the benefits of the program would be felt by both the student being taught a skill and the public, who would come to understand better "what goes on at Fort Stanton."

"Fort Stanton is important to the economy of the county," Crenshaw said, since it provides year round employment for a large number of people. Yet, he adds that "little is nominally known" about the facility.

Kennedy would warn prospective volunteers that the students "aren't pretty people," and there are many with deformities.

"And you can't be shocked by what they do," she added, "any more than you would be shocked at a child's behavior." None of the students has a developmental age of more than eight years. They also lavish physical affection on any and all visitors, which can be disconcerting to some, she said.

But Kennedy and the other volunteers are confident that new workers would find the work rewarding.

"There are people in this town who are so bored they can hardly live," she said. "If we could just get them to come one time," she is sure they would realize "what a joy and a blessing it is" to work with the students, she added. "The possibilities are endless."

A LITTLE LOVE goes a long way with students who seldom have visitors. Above, Hazel Kennedy is greeted by one of the girls who is anxious to show off her catalog.

VISITING WITH RESIDENTS of the Sierra women's cottage, is Marti Yoder, right. The volunteers visit several of the cottages, and especially enjoy chaffing with the senior citizens at the school.

State EIB to hold liquid waste hearing

The New Mexico Environmental Improvement Board will hold a public hearing beginning at 10 a.m., March 8 in the County Commission Chambers on Fifth and Central Avenues in Albuquerque on proposed changes to the Liquid Waste Regulations. The Sewage Disposal Regulation adopted in June, 1937, is suggested for repeal at this time.

Interested persons may view or secure copies of the proposed changes requested by the Environmental Improvement Division at the Board office, Crown Building, 725 St. Michael's Drive, Santa Fe or by requesting a copy by phone - 827-5411.

A limited number of copies are available at the Ruidoso office of the Environmental Improvement Division.

Those desiring to present technical testimony at the hearing shall submit a written statement of intent at least 10 days prior to the hearing which shall provide: Name and address of witness; Representing whom; Whether proponent, opponent or interested party; Brief statement of subject matter of testimony; Identification of parts of proposal objected to and proposed substitute language; and Anticipated length of testimony.

Written statements to be incorporated in the record shall be submitted to the board by 4 p.m., March 5 and shall be entitled: "Statement for the public record regarding Proposed Changes to the Liquid Waste Regulations."

Coffee Cart Wednesday

The Wednesday Chamber of Commerce Coffee Cart will be from 9 to 10:30 a.m., at the Ruidoso Jockey Club.

Chamber officers and directors will attend to discuss Chamber projects with Coffee Cart guests. Public participation in all of this series of promotions is being strongly urged by Chamber officers.

Obituaries

George W. Leonard Jr.

Services for George W. Leonard Jr., who died February 22, were conducted Saturday in Abilene, Texas with Dr. Ira Williams officiating. Burial was in Elwood Memorial Park, Abilene.

He was born in Richards, Texas March 25, 1922, a son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Leonard. He married the former Maurine McAden in Navasota, Texas in 1943.

Mr. Leonard, a resident of Ruidoso Downs since 1973, was a member of the United Methodist Church of Ruidoso.

Following graduation from the Texas University Law School, Austin, Texas in 1943, he was associated with the law firm of Powell, Weitz, Rankert and Gideon in Austin until 1948, when he entered private practice until 1951 in Colorado City, Colorado. From 1951 to 1968 he was a member of the law firm of Mays, Perkins and Leonard, then was associated with the law firm of Wagstaff, Alos, Leonard and Stubbeman, both in Sweetwater, Texas until retiring following a stroke in 1971.

Mr. Leonard served on the board of directors of the Texas Bar Association for 1958 to 1961 and was elected to membership in the American Council of Trial Lawyers in 1966. He was an active member of the Federation of Insurance Counsel and the National Association of Railroad Trial Counsel. He was a past president of the Sweetwater, Texas Rotary Club and a member of the Abilene Rotary.

Fraternally, Mr. Leonard was a member of the Sweetwater Masonic Lodge, the York and Scottish Rites and the Shrine. He was a Past Worthy Patron of the Order of Eastern Star in Sweetwater.

He leaves his wife, of Ruidoso Downs; his mother in Abilene; a son, Thomas and a daughter, Ida Sue Leonard and two grandchildren, all of Dallas, Texas; and two brothers, Jack and Bill Leonard of Temple, Texas.

Arrangements were by the Elliott Funeral Home of Abilene.

Rosa L. Sanchez

Mrs. Rosa L. Sanchez died Friday at the age of 83 in her residence.

Born March 10, 1896, Mrs. Sanchez was a lifetime resident of Carrizozo. She married Ben C. Sanchez February 5, 1916.

Funeral services are scheduled for Tuesday, February 27 at Saint Rita's Church with Father David J. Bergs officiating. Rosary will be recited tonight at Saint Rita's at 7 p.m. Interment will be in the Evergreen Cemetery of Carrizozo.

Mrs. Sanchez is survived by her husband, Ben C. Sanchez of Carrizozo; two sons, Albert L. Sanchez of Oakland, California and George L. Sanchez of Albuquerque; 20 grandchildren and 17 great-grandchildren.

Pallbearers at the funeral will be Robert Bernal, Benny Miller, George Sanchez Jr., Larry Moya, Eschita Baca and Luciano Gutierrez.

Dunlap said that ten percent of the nation's sheep are raised for milk for the production of cheese. "I will attempt to teach them that they must dock the tails of their milking sheep as a sanitary measure," he said, "because those huge tails are mighty dirty, and no effort is made to keep the milk from being contaminated at the present time."

The problem of travel won't be a factor, he said, as Tunisia has a terrain resembling that of Carrizozo and is roughly the size of Georgia. "The annual rainfall ranges from 40 inches in the north along the Mediterranean," he said, "to only two inches in the south. It is in the arid section that problems of tail docking and sanitation will be difficult to deal with. Another problem is that the Tunisians graze their sheep wherever there is forage, without regard to land ownership. This custom is one that tends to promote the spread of disease and it should prove interesting to make the changes that seem to be necessary to develop healthier flocks and increase mutton production. An odd fact is that the shepherds make little, if any, use of the wool." He paused a moment, with a quizzical expression on his face. "I must find out why they don't market their wool."

Dunlap admits to "having worked with sheep for a while," and has won eight recognition awards for outstanding work with sheep and wool improvement since earning his masters in animal husbandry at New Mexico State University, "longer ago than I care to remember."

Another achievement in his career of working with sheep includes being superintendent of the Open Carcass Lamb Show at the New Mexico State Fair, Albuquerque, the past 12 years. "I was instrumental in starting this show," he said, "with the objective being to show the state's growers and buyers how to produce more desirable lamb carcasses. It has been a successful program."

Dunlap is a native New Mexican, born in Melrose and reared in Lordsburg.

He married the former Rosalie Chaulek, a native of the Sand Hills of western Nebraska, February 9, 1947 at Lordsburg. The couple's children are Wayne of Boston, Massachusetts and Mrs. Lois Coleman of Corpus Christi, Texas; and there are four grandchildren.

Mrs. Dunlap will follow her husband to Tunisia as soon as travel and housing arrangements are completed.

Ski report

The Sierra Blanca Ski area reports a snow depth midway on the mountain at 95 inches. Surface conditions vary from hard packed to packed powder, with no new snow the past two days.

The Ruidoso Ski and Recreation Area reports a base of 40 inches with all slopes open and all lifts operating. Chains are not required to reach the area. New snow is being manufactured nightly.

Monday morning's low temperature was 17 degrees; Sunday's high was 53 degrees.

For skiing condition reports, call Sierra Blanca Ski Area, 257-9001, and Ruidoso Ski Area, 336-4211.

Adult class time changed

Classes recently scheduled by the Lincoln County Community Center have been postponed one week in the hope of gaining more participation.

The Historical Round Table, which will feature history and folklore of the county as told by older residents, will begin Sunday, March 11 at 2 p.m., in the Captain High School cafeteria.

An income tax preparation course, taught by Jack Cisco, will be held in several two-hour sessions beginning March 13 from 7 to 9 p.m., at the same location.

The group has also announced a potluck dinner and program including a filmstrip to acquaint the public with some of the plans and goals of the center. It will be held March 7 at 6:30 p.m., also in the Captain cafeteria.

The next meeting of the center will be at 7:30 p.m., Wednesday in Captain. All county residents are invited and have an equal vote in the organization.

Water Users Association sets meeting

The New Mexico Rural Water Users Association will conduct a free public workshop in the Artesia Community Center, at the corner of Seventh and Bush, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., March 6.

The morning agenda includes professional-commercial presentations geared toward operator-managers of rural water systems.

Afternoon topics include drinking water regulations and grant and loan funding procedures, with presentations by Environmental Improvement Division and Farmers Home Administration officials.

Other discussion items will be fire regulations for rural water systems, sampling and cross connections, meters, pumps and engineering principles.

THIS STYLIZED FLAG, with Uncle Sam figures serving as stars, was made by the first grade class at Nob Hill Elementary School, shown above with their handwork. The flag is made of construction and crepe paper and took about two weeks of "off and on" work to complete. The students also learned the symbolic meanings of the flag's colors, as well as what the stars and stripes represent.

High school photography contest

The New Mexico Center for Photographic Studies is sponsoring its fifth annual high school photography contest this spring. Entries must be postmarked by April 1.

Open to all full-time students in grades 9-12 throughout New Mexico and El Paso, the contest requires black-and-white photographs of high school-related activities since January 1, 1978.

Entries in sports, portrait, classroom activities and miscellaneous categories will be judged by the New Mexico State University student chapter of the National Press Photographers Association.

For full contest information and regulations, interested student photographers should see their school publications adviser or write directly to: High School Photo Contest, Box 3J NMSU, Las Cruces, New Mexico. 88003.

Students entering Reading Olympics

Elementary students from the Hondo and Capitan schools are entering the March of Dimes Reading Olympics, to be conducted during March.

The campaign has two goals: to help improve children's reading skills and to raise funds to help prevent birth defects.

On honor roll

Marveta Mayo, Ruidoso Downs, a junior accounting major at Lubbock Christian College, Texas was inducted into the Alpha Chi National Honor Society February 22. She has a grade point average of 3.5 and is in the top ten percent of college's junior and senior classes.

Cancer Society organizational meeting set

An American Cancer Society meeting, to discuss the formation of a Lincoln County chapter, will be held at 2 p.m., March 4 in the office of Dr. Michael Stone at 119 El Paso Drive, Ruidoso.

A Society spokesman said, "We're urging the attendance of everyone interested in the work of the American Cancer Society, who would be willing to participate in the operation of a chapter in Lincoln County."

PATTERN WITHOUT PRINT might seem like a contradiction at first glance, but it is very much a part of the carpet picture.

For instance, you can choose a one-color shag and still get pattern, by choosing one that has varied pile lengths, creating a pattern of shadows. When several colors are combined with varied pile lengths the richness of pattern is increased.

Some patterns are created in solid-color carpets simply by cutting. Such "sculptured" or "carved" carpets may have a lively abstract pattern of one that repeats itself, such as a Spanish tile effect or a leaf design.

Additional patterns are created by combining looped yarns of different lengths, or weaving loop and cut pile together, sometimes with a "flocked" appearance. Remember, all of these patterns are available in a wide variety of fibers, such as nylon, acrylics, polyesters and wools. And self-patterned carpets are excellent at hiding the signs of foot traffic and soiling.

You'll find the finest carpet for your individual needs at our carpet showroom... head here for quality and exciting value. We'll be glad to bring carpet samples to your home at no obligation... or come in soon!

SO MANY cars have gone off the edge of this curve, and snow plows have hit the rotten old guard posts so often that no protection is afforded.

Editorial by Ken Green

One of America's most popular winter pastimes is snow skiing. Certainly, the thrilling activity is evident to, if not practiced by, all Ruidosoans and visitors.

In addition to the thrills, chills, and spills of skiing at Sierra Blanca, however, the thousands who go there experience thrills, chills, and, sometimes, spills, of an entirely unnecessary kind — Highway 532, the road to Sierra Blanca Ski Area.

There cannot be a more dangerous, poorly designed, poorly maintained, or more rapidly deteriorating stretch of "highway" in the State of New Mexico with the traffic volume of 532.

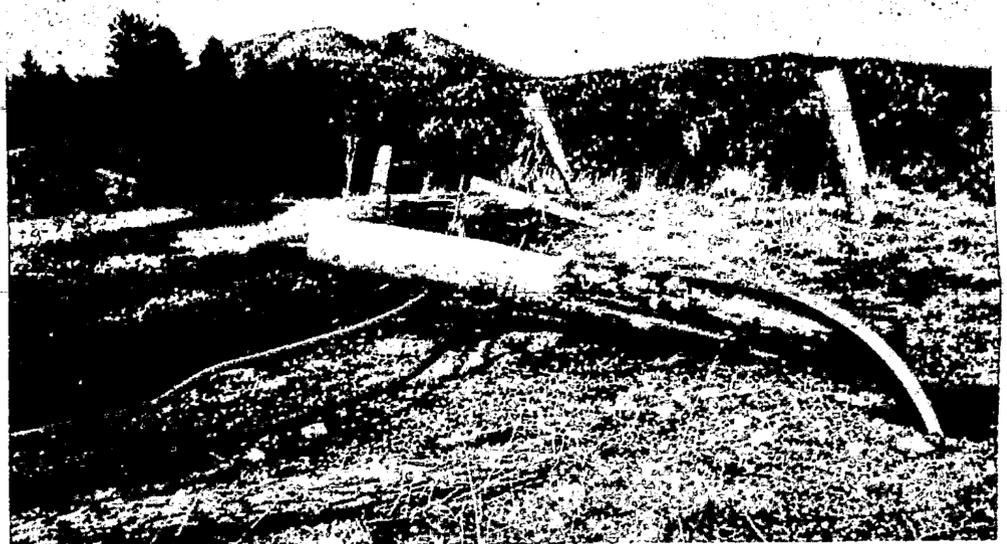

And, it is an embarrassment.

There is a relatively easy solution to the problem, however. Protest. Gripping. Letter writing. Making noise.

The New Mexico State Highway Department has spent its lifetime applying grease to squeaking wheels. It is their reflex reaction.

So, let's squeak loud and long. Until something is done.

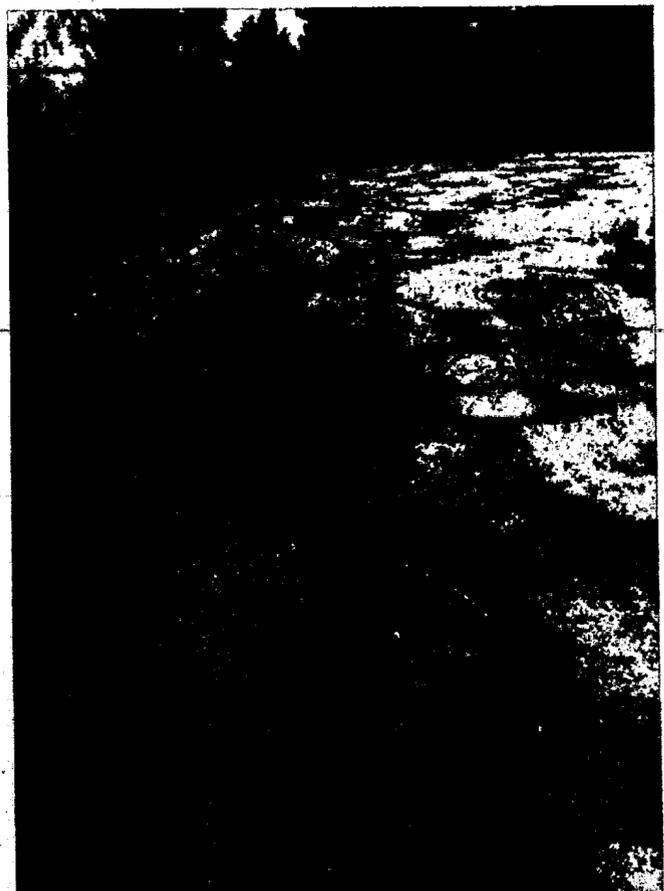

If residents and visitors write letters (don't stop with just one) to Fred O'Chesky, Director of the State Highway Department, Santa Fe, the road will be fixed. It will take lots of letters, but it will happen.

THE QUICKEST WAY DOWN has been discovered by many here.

THE GREAT FLOOD OF '78 necessitated this one-way fill.

POTHOLES like these are a normal part of the obstacle course that drivers encounter on the way to the ski area.

DISTRICT WRESTLING TOURNEY

Strassburg's win paces strong Warrior showing

BY JOHN NEYLAND
Dirk Strassburg won the district wrestling championship Saturday, defeating NMMI's Rich McCandles in the finals of the 88 pound weight class. The win vaulted Strassburg into this Saturday's state tournament.

Besides Strassburg, three other Ruidoso wrestlers earned berths into the state tournament, although none of them won district titles. Wes Atkinson, who was undefeated in district competition coming into the tournament, earned a spot in the state tournament with a second place finish. Greg Lane also earned a berth with a second place finish. Ronald Bell, a freshman, will compete in the state tourney by virtue of his third place finish in the district tournament. But if it hadn't been for a wrestler who did not make it to state, the Warriors all might have been sitting home, according to head coach Gerald Ames.

The wrestler Ames had in mind is senior Ray Herrera. Although Herrera fell in the second round to defending district champ Clyde Montoya, his match served as an inspiration to his teammates.

After advancing to the second round via a bye, Herrera was faced with stiff competition in Montoya. Herrera knew that and gave it his all. It wasn't quite enough, however, as he lost a 15-10 decision. Ames called the match a "moral" victory.

"It was the best match of the whole tournament," Ames said. "Ray fought so hard he just ran out of gas. They both just died. They were so out of gas."

"It was an incredible match," he continued. "It showed us all what to give. I think Dirk won because it showed him how much to give."

After the match was over, Ames had to help Herrera off the mat. Even an hour later, when his next match began, Herrera was too tired to win.

"There was nothing left," Ames said. "His arms were so tired."

Whether or not that match inspired Strassburg to new heights or not, Strassburg did pull off somewhat of an upset. He defeated NMMI's McCandles for the first time this year in five previous matches. The win did not surprise Ames.

"We had worked on what McCandles did," he said. "Dirk didn't have enough patience to wait him out and take advantage of some of McCandles' techniques. Dirk finally learned he had to sit and wait him out. Dirk almost had him pinned. It was nice."

Atkinson's loss wasn't nice. He was undefeated in 11 previous district clashes. The loss was a slim one point decision, Ames said.

"The referee made some decisions that could have gone either way," Ames said. "He had to make them on the spot and he had reasons for making them. They weren't bad calls, I just didn't like them."

It was a tough loss for Atkinson to swallow. He lost by one point and that point difference came on a penalty called by the official.

"Wes was crushed," Ames said.

Lane, a sophomore, made it to the state tourney for the second consecutive year. He lost in the finals of the district tournament Saturday to "a tough kid from Cobre", Ames said. Ronald Bell was a pleasant surprise for Ames. He finished in third place. According to Ames, he had "to beat two kids to do it and that is his best performance of the year. It was a very good match."

Keith Sullivan, in the 119 pound class, wrestled his best matches of the season, according to Ames, but finished fourth, one spot away from a berth to the state tourney.

And Byron Wright, in his first year as a wrestler, "wrestled well. He didn't win a match but he had a real strong showing," Ames said.

Overall, Ruidoso finished in fifth place. Deming, as expected, won the tournament, although narrowly. They edged Cobre 145 1/2 to 139 1/2. Silver City wrapped up third with 108 points, followed closely by NMMI with 103. Ruidoso tallied 61 points, ten ahead of the New Mexico School for the Visually Handicapped.

Before the tournament, Ames knew the Warriors were a longshot at best to win the tournament. Since he only took seven wrestlers to the tournament, he knew the Warriors would have to all win first places to have a good shot at the team title.

"The forfeits hurt us." But, Ames was tickled pink at the Warriors showing.

"It was great," he said. I was pleased." His biggest disappointment was for Atkinson. "He deserved to win. He worked hard all year."

FOLLOW THE BOUNCING BALL seems to be what these players are doing. Actually, however, the ball is in the middle of a journey from Ruidoso's Borde Williams to Stan Cape.

Warriors lost this district clash but came back Saturday night to defeat Lordsburg 55-53 on a last second shot by Jeff Elliott.

PERRYMAN DRAWS PRAISE

Runner-up finish in district tournament earns regional playoff spot for Warriors

The Ruidoso Warriors girls' basketball squad rode the scoring of senior Kristi Perryman to a pair of one point victories in the district tournament and a berth in next Friday's regional playoffs.

In both games Friday, Ruidoso came from behind to capture wins. In the first game Friday, Ruidoso trailed Hatch 26-21 heading into the final period. But Perryman's 21 points were enough to overcome the Bears' lead, 37-36.

Against Lordsburg later Friday, Ruidoso had to overcome an 11 point deficit. Trailing 22-11 after three periods, the Warriors outscored Lordsburg 18-4 to take a narrow 27-26 win.

It didn't come easily. With less than 30 seconds remaining, Lordsburg led 26-25. Ruidoso grabbed a rebound off a missed shot and Perryman, on a three on two fast break, took the ball herself and scored on a shot from the free throw line. Warrior coach Sergio Castanon heaped praise on the senior.

"She played outstanding games," he said. "She's a senior and she wanted it and she went for it."

Castanon was not so pleased with the rest of the girls' performances. With the exception of Lori Swain's 11 points in the loss to Animas Saturday, Perryman was the only player to score in double figures during the tournament.

"All the others scored two, four, three and two," he said, "which is terrible. If I could get them to score, we'd be tough."

Tough is the word Castanon often uses to describe the Animas Panthers. Saturday, against the Warriors, they were as tough as usual. Animas, which had drawn a bye into the tournament finals due their regular season district championship, grabbed a 20-3 lead at the end of one period. Ruidoso narrowed the gap to 28-15 at half.

Animas put the game out of reach in the third period, outscoring Ruidoso 15-4. The Warriors went into a man to man against Animas in the fourth period and outscored the Panthers 18-5. The final score ended with Animas comfortably ahead 48-33.

That didn't dampen Castanon's spirits, however. By winning against Hatch and Lordsburg, Ruidoso earned a berth in the regional playoffs, which is only one step away from the state tournament. Castanon couldn't have asked for more than that.

"I'm real excited," he said, "and I hope to get the girls excited too."

Elliott's last second jump shot earns Warriors weekend split

Jeff Elliott sank a ten foot jump shot with eight seconds remaining Saturday to pace the Ruidoso Warriors to a 55-53 district win over Lordsburg.

Friday, Animas' Jody Eddy and G. Ray Johnson combined for 48 points to send the Warriors to their fourth consecutive loss. Both games were played at Warrior Gym.

Elliott's jump shot came moments after Lordsburg's Elias Ruiz tied the score at 53 hitting one of two free throws. Ruiz' free throw placed a Maverick rally that tied the score after being down by seven points with less than five minutes remaining.

After Ruiz missed the second free shot Ruidoso called time out to discuss strategy. Warrior coach Barry Nelson told his crew to play for the last shot, but he hadn't designated anyone in particular to take the shot.

"We just wanted the last shot," Nelson said. "We didn't care who took it. We didn't want to take it too soon or too late."

The Warriors worked the clock down when Elliott broke into the open near the right baseline. He shot without hesitation.

Lordsburg called time out immediately. There were five seconds left on the clock. A desperation shot failed, but Lordsburg's Phil Seaman forced a jump ball with Paul Kirkwood with a fraction of a second left. Seaman, who stands 6'6", tried to tip the ball into the basket off the jump ball but missed.

Besides sinking the winning basket Elliott, along with Stan Cape, hit for 16 points. Rodney Thomason added ten. Borde Williams added seven before fouling out and Kirkwood tallied six points.

Ruiz paced the Maverick attack with 16 points. Also in double figures were Eloy Marquez with 13 and Manuel Reza with 10 Seaman, tallied only three points.

The Warriors weren't as lucky against Animas. Nelson had hoped Ruidoso could shut down Eddy. He wasn't counting on Johnson's 23 points.

Ruidoso led after one period, 18-16, and at half, 38-37. But Animas outscored the Warriors 17-11 in the third period to head the Warriors off.

The Warriors cut the lead to four points late in the fourth quarter on a pair of free throws by Elliott, but never could come any closer.

Ruidoso had trouble breaking the full court Animas press, which lasted the entire game.

"We had too many turnovers," Nelson said. "We didn't play together offensively. It seemed like every time we broke the press, we tried to break from half court."

Had the Warriors been more impressive from the free throw line, they might have been able to pull out the win. They hit a paltry 18-32 from the line.

Elliott paced the Warrior attack with 29 points. Borde Williams added 16. Paul Kirkwood and Stan Cape were in double figures with 11 and 10, respectively.

Besides Eddy and Johnson, who scored 25 and 23, respectively, Larry Evans hit 17 points. Steve Dominguez added 11.

Ruidoso's victory over Lordsburg forced Lordsburg and Animas into a tie for second place in the district standings behind Hatch. They will flip a coin to determine Ruidoso's first round opponent in this Friday's district tournament.

The Ruidoso junior varsity lost both of their matches with Lordsburg and Animas this weekend. Animas defeated the Warriors 63-73 Friday despite Gary Jones' 30 points.

Former governor to aid deer study

The Game and Fish Department is planning a research study on the survival rates and activities of deer moved into unfamiliar territories, according to department Director Harold Olson. Former Governor Tom Bolack had offered to bear half the costs of the project, and the deer will be taken from his B-Square ranch near Farmington.

"The plan is to take about 50 deer from during Tuesday's qualifications. Currently, there are two racers tied for first in the overall point standings for the Southwest Pro Ski Tour. Ted Marolt and Scott Mackie, both of Colorado, are tied with 56 points, 20 ahead of Kirk Dice, the winner two weeks ago at the Jose Cuervo-Sandia Peak Pro Cup.

the B-Square. We'll divide them up among five areas where we have ongoing deer research projects and have the personnel and equipment available to monitor them," Olson said. "The small number of deer put into each area shouldn't cloud the data from the ongoing projects, and they will give us a handle on what a deer does, and what happens to it, when it's moved from familiar to unfamiliar territory."

"The agency will monitor the animals through use of radios encased in collars and attached to the deer, he said. Their movements can be followed to determine if they stay in the area they were moved to, and to plot survival rates. The operation is tentatively scheduled to begin in late March.

Ecologist views environmental problems

BY GERALD W. THOMAS
President NMSU

As an ecologist by training and professional experience, I am pleased that more people are becoming aware of environmental problems. There is no doubt that we have serious problems relating to resources and the environment. But there are alternative solutions to our pressing problems. The answer is not to stop everything—to halt economic development, to stop progress on health care and consumer goods and services. Protection could mean "hands off" to "shield," or to "let nature take its course." I prefer the terms environmental "improvement" or "management" or "conservation."

Environmental improvement and/or management implies research, education, understanding, analysis and planning. Improvement could lead to correction of existing problems of environmental deterioration as well as planned growth and development with man as the focal point. Therefore, ecological understanding and management are essential.

What have we learned from the science of ecology that can help us with our environmental problems?

First, we should have learned that the world has changed, is changing, and will continue to change, regardless of man's efforts, pro or con.

Second, we have learned that man has and continues to influence the environment everywhere on the earth's surface and perhaps beyond.

Third, we have learned that all biological populations must ultimately be controlled by habitat limitations.

At the heart of all environmental issues lies the population explosion. Whether we look at energy resources, land use, water, chemicals, or other requirements for food and fiber production, all nations must become more concerned about irresponsible population growth and its impacts on the world's environment. Population control, therefore, becomes a necessity for man's survival.

Finally, we have learned that wealthy people place more pressure on the earth's resources than poor people. You and I require more units of water, more acres of land, more energy and more minerals than the poor people of India, Bangladesh or Nigeria. Nearly a ton of grain per person per year is associated with the average American, while only about 400 pounds of grain is associated with the average person in Pakistan or Morocco.

Since you and I have more affluence, we should show more, not less, responsibility for our actions.

Armed with this knowledge we should look at new directions for environmental improvement.

There are currently two mandates shaping the reorganization plans for the State Department and the Agency for International Development (AID). One is a mandate from Congress, dating back to 1973, that states that direct food aid and development assistance must now be more specifically focused on the vast poor majority of the underdeveloped world. The second mandate comes from the high ideals of President Carter and emphasizes human rights.

As a result of these new directions, most recent AID documents contain a new acronym, BHN — "basic human needs" — which implies greater equity.

Needless to say, the new mandates have caused considerable turmoil within the United States government and abroad. In addition to the political, social and economic considerations, there are implications for resource conservation. Experience has shown that small farmers and ranchers, under pressure to make an adequate living from a limited land area, are often forced to ignore basic resource conservation principles. Some land reform programs in developing nations are not based upon proper evaluation of soil and water.

To some extent we have this same problem here at home. Political pressure and economic incentives for all our production in times of need all too often mean a sacrifice from the resource standpoint. Sometimes irreparable damage is done to our valuable basic resources.

Man lives in a delicate natural balance with his environment. As more people are added to the population base, as the developing nations adopt modern technology, as man continues to deplete nonrenewable resources, we move closer and closer to the ultimate limits of the environment. No one yet knows where those limits lie, but it is our responsibility to be conscious of the fact that decisions made today may be critical to future generations. We must find ways and means to sustain our food and fiber complex on renewable rather than depletable resources. We must do a better job of telling the story of proper resource management and conservation. Otherwise, our resources for food and living will indeed be sacrificed by default.

management and conservation. Otherwise, our resources for food and living will indeed be sacrificed by default.

In-s-i-d-e the Outdoors

by Gary Dollahan

Well, good news for you if you are a dyed-in-the-wool muzzle-loader hunter, or a bowhunter, or a modern firearm hunter. The State Game Commission voted last week to keep the choose-your-weapon requirement for the deer seasons.

The five-man State Game Commission met in Santa Fe on Friday, February 9, and set the big game seasons for the 1979-1980 license year. The outcome of the meeting was basically the same season structure as that of last year, but there were some important modifications.

True, the choose-your-weapon requirement was maintained for the deer hunts. Therefore, deer license buyers must specify upon the purchase of their hunting license if they will be hunting with a bow, a muzzle-loader, or a rifle. The hunter is then restricted to hunt only with that weapon designated on his license, and only during those seasons designated for that particular type of arm.

The stratified deer hunting season, open only to those hunters choosing modern firearms as their weapon choice, has been altered to consist of six hunt periods. There will be three hunt periods in the northern half of the state and three in the southern half. A rifle (modern firearm) hunter must choose one of these six periods.

Hunter period dates in the north are November 3-4, November 7-11, and November 14-20. In the southern half, they are November 10-11, November 14-18, and November 21-27.

Another change in the seasons is that rifle deer hunters hunting in the Guadalupe and Mount Taylor units may also purchase a barbary sheep license and hunt them concurrently with deer.

Southeastern New Mexico muzzle-loader hunters should be pleased to see the addition of muzzle-loader hunts for antelope in the Alamogordo mesa area and for elk during the October 10-15 hunt in the Corona area.

And, a big plus for you bowhunters is that the Ft. Wingate antelope bowhunt has been re-established and expanded to four separate weekend hunts.

The bag limit on cougar was raised to two animals per license, with the extra tag issued after the first animal is taken.

The Department's 1979-1980 proclamation, "Big Game and Turkey Seasons in New Mexico", the detailed compilation of the big game seasons and their regulations, will not be available at license vendors until April 1. Therefore, if you are one of those hunters that must apply for your vacation time now, I am listing some of the most important season dates.

Spring Turkey: April 14-22
September 8-21

Bow Elk: September 15-23 (both hunts in designated areas only)

Bow-Deer: NW and NE: September 5-16 and January 5-13
SW and SE: September 15-23

Primitive Weapon hunt: October 20-23 (Guadalupe and Sacramento Mountains)

Bear (Spring): North: May 15-June 30
SW: April 1-June 1

Elk: October 5-7, October 10-15, October 18-23, November 24-28, December 1-5, December 8-12 (depends on area)

UNM installs computer to deal with birth defects

A computer system which quickly provides the latest information on all kinds of birth defects has been installed at the University of New Mexico (UNM) Medical Center.

Because of New Mexico's special needs, a portable unit has been obtained which enables UNM School of Medicine physicians and researchers to obtain instant retrieval of birth defects information gathered from leading medical institutions around the world. The unit will be taken to clinics throughout the state.

The Albuquerque Tierra Encantada chapter and several other chapters of the New Mexico March of Dimes are funding the service. During 1979, the $3,000 grant will help provide for terminal-leasing costs, initial subscription charges, computer inquiry charges, and any necessary computer-associated telephone charges.

"If we need the most up-to-date information on a certain kind of birth defect, we just ask the computer and it immediately gives us a complete description of the disease, the basic diagnostic criteria, clinical findings, complications, related facts such as risk of recurrence if the parents have another child, treatment and what we can expect to happen," Dr. Jon Aase, assistant professor of pediatrics at the UNM School of Medicine, said.

He said the computer system will be used as a reference source by UNM physicians seeing patients at the medical school and also when the physicians are seeing patients referred to them by other doctors from Albuquerque or around the state at the various clinics.

"Now when we make a diagnosis outside of Albuquerque, for example," Aase said, "we can give the referring physician the latest information on the child's condition that very same day."

The system contains information about more than 1,000 different birth defects, with new data constantly being entered. Accessible 24 hours a day, the data in the computer has been assembled and verified by more than 400 physicians from 22 countries.

This month begins the fifth year that UNM medical faculty members have conducted a "circuit riding" tour to conduct dysmorphism (birth defect) clinics around the state. During 1978, clinics were held in 14 New Mexico towns co-sponsored by the March of Dimes local chapters and the UNM medical school.

Making the trips have been Aase; Dr. Marshall Levine, assistant professor of obstetrics and gynecology, and Dr. Stanley Handmaker, associate professor of pediatrics and director of the developmental disabilities team at Programs for Children, a division of the Bernalillo County Mental Health/Mental Retardation Center.

Patients are seen in the clinic only upon referral from physicians or public health nurses in the area. Recent clinics have been held in Gallup, Hobbs, Tucumanari, Las Vegas, Clovis, Santa Fe, Taos, Las Cruces, Silver City, Alamogordo and Truth or Consequences.

During the first four years of the dysmorphismology clinics, the UNM physicians conducted more than 1500 patient visits, with 60 percent coming from outside Bernalillo County.

"Using the computer system, we now have at our fingertips the combined knowledge of leaders in the field of birth defects from all over the world," Aase said. "Information which once took weeks or months to accumulate can be obtained in a matter of minutes. There is no doubt the system will greatly enhance our ability to treat birth defects cases and counsel families regarding the possibility of future problems."

The computer system was developed jointly by The National Foundation-March of Dimes, Tufts-New England Medical Center, and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Future possibilities of the computer are even more exciting, Aase said. "Now it gives us known information about a specific birth defect. By April we will be able to tell the computer 'here are the symptoms, what kind of birth defect could this be?' Then, by October, there will be a file set up so that if the computer doesn't know the answer, it will file away the facts. If perhaps six months later another physician feeds the same kind of symptoms to the computer, it will answer that it 'doesn't know, but UNM in Albuquerque had the same kind of case six months ago and to please contact UNM to compare cases. That would be great!'"

Levine has a computer terminal available in his office at UNM for using the computer, but because the portable unit works via telephone lines, it can be transported throughout the state.

Although the system is now operating in several other medical centers around the country, UNM is the only center in the Mountain Time Zone, "which gives us a break of using the telephone lines after the Eastern centers have closed," Aase said.

The system also will be used as an educational tool to help train medical students in diagnostic procedures, birth defects medical terminology, and other medical aspects of medical practice relating to birth defects.

Now is the time to start watching your livestock for poisoning from spring weeds. The moisture we have received lately is going to start them growing with the first warm weather.

One of the first plants to watch for is peavine or annual loco. It is sometimes called Texas Filarice. The red stemmed-peavine is the most common plant in the area. Livestock do very well on this plant for two or three weeks and then suddenly fall dead. Generally other animals will show poisoning symptoms. One of the first noticeable symptoms is lack of coordination when they first get up. It is sometimes called "clicker's disease" as the hind legs and dew claws hit or click as the animals start walking. The poisoning is caused by an alkaloid.

There is no cure; but livestock owners need to either move the animals or feed them heavier to avoid the poisoning problems. Feed sheep up to two pounds of hay and cattle up to six pounds of hay per day.

Control of peavine is not practical as the seed can lay out several years before the good winter moisture causes it to germinate and grow. If you catch your animals early, you can often prevent any losses.

I have had several people ask "what are calves going to bring this fall?" This is a very hard question to answer; but I expect both lamb and calf price to be strong for 1979.

The Livestock Weekly has some fall contracts for some 750 pound yearling No. 1 okie steers at 75c per pound. I expect calves in this area to be 10 to 15 cents above that.

The feeder calf sales for the last few weeks have been extremely good. Reports are that these calves are going to Arizona-California - where the spring weeds are good and these calves will gain well until about June 1.

Wilderness Wisdom

with Wayne Calloway

Dear Wayne — I bowhunted for deer last season for the first time, and found that I have much to learn.

I have a collection of arrows that were given to me by several friends. There are wooden ones as well as aluminum and fiberglass. Some have hunting tips, other target points, and there are at least three different designs of hunting tips.

I have been advised to standardize on one particular material for the shafts and one type and weight of points. Is this good advice? Gary T., Arkansas.

Dear Gary — Very good advice. The collection of arrows you describe is probably not the gift you need, even though it was with good intentions.

When you buy arrows, match them as closely as possible. Choose shafts of only one material and with the same spine weight. You would do well to get them equipped with inserts which allow you to interchange broadheads and field points on the same shaft. Broadheads should be all of the same weight and design. And the field points should be the same weight as the broadheads. This results in a matched outfit. A broadhead equipped arrow should fly nearly identical to a field tipped one used in practice. Your scores will improve and so will your hunting success.

The Weather Celebrates A Great February Day

I am writing you this message on February twenty-two and all the mountain world is celebrating the birthday of The Father of Our Country.

With a charm all its very own, the little birthday-month is presenting a story book February day with winter and spring playing a light hearted little game of struggling for possession of the world.

Now, there is a light breeze from the west singing down the vale. The flying clouds overhead suddenly drift aside and the sun shines down from a pure patch of blue sky; and the smile of spring beams down upon the hills and valleys and golden meadows, touched with a trace of green.

Now the clouds fly in front of the sun, and you happen to glance up the way. Suddenly, from hill to hill, the valley is filled with a white cloud that seems to have dropped from the sky to the ground. Closer and closer comes this cloud-of-the-ground, flying on the wings of the west wind. A cool breath, frosty and pure, like a touch of early fall reaches you and then the little pure white round missiles arrive, flying along the ground and through the air. This is the sleet, the little advance guards of the charging hosts of wintery weather. Quickly following, all intermingled, come the hail, rain and large snow flakes, bounding along the ground, driving into the cedars and pines, melting as they reach the warm earth.

Winter is bringing a little parade of all its messengers and the sun shines gently through it all, causing the sleet, the rain and snow and hail to glisten and shine through the air. And the west wind, in a playful mood, sends the snow flakes whirling and swirling, scurrying along the ground and amongst the trees.

Out comes the sun, stronger now, and the four seasons of the year are joining in the happy February celebration. The hail and sleet and snow are melting as they fly, so the drops are all the stages between solid ice and pure sky water. The sun bounces, the sleet runs along the ground the snow flakes decorate the trees as fields.

Suddenly among the mingling little messengers of winter come a cloud of large snow flakes, two inches wide, fly so closely they almost touch. Quickly the ground is covered with white as if the winter spirit told the flakes to make a sudden display of snow.

The flakes begin melting in the air, and you see a traditional scene of February - the air filled with flying drops of melting snow, or slush. The melting snow in the air is always a gladsome sight - the sign of winter fading away, making way for spring.

Brighter now shines the sun, and the hurrying hosts of rain and snow fade from the air, and all the ground cloud is turned into a light airy haze, now lingering and now moving in the vales and glens, veils of purple and lavender and lilac mist, drifting between the heavens and the earth on this enchanted February day.

I am reminded that today is the birthday of our Grandma Kennedy, and her blessed spirit is close to me.

Now the sun is out, shining in full golden glory on the land; and the flag is floating gently against the mountain sky.

On this classic February day the world is in a joyful mood. George Washington's spirit is close to us, filling our hearts with gratefulness for all God's blessings.

February Birthdays

Mrs. Nell Parks, our great little friend who is such an inspiration to us all in so many ways, celebrates her birthday on February seven. Mrs. Cella Ramirez, the cheerful little lady at the Hollywood Mart has her birthday on February twenty three. The birthday of our brother, Joe (Joseph Duffiel Storm) is February twenty eight. We wish Nell and Cella all birthday blessings and many happy returns of the day. We send up a prayer of thanks to God for his loving care of our brother Joe, in Heaven. And we thank our Good Lord for his blessed care of all of us and our loved ones in this world and in Heaven.

New Books - Fiction:

THE COUP by John Updike - Violent events in the imaginary African nation of Kushi ruled by Colonel Ellidou who has a fanatic aversion - cultural, ideological and personal - to the United States.

HUNT by Alvarez - A psychological thriller about Conrad Jessup, "a restless man whose wife and job fail to satisfy him and whose keenest energies are consumed by weekend painting and the gambling he always tries to give up."

INNOCENT EMPLOYMENTS by Beardwood - Four young experts of international high finance decide it's time to make money for themselves, instead of their clients; and they intend to make a game of making money. The rules are simple. "Each sets out on a private venture, and whoever earns the most money in one year wins a hefty cut from the other players' profits."

JOURNEY TO CUZCO by Myers - "Lured by an indecipherable message Libby finds herself kidnapped and compelled to protect the secret of the archeological evidence her father uncovered on the eve of his murder."

KING OF THE JEWS by Epstein - The Judenrat is a council of Jews to govern Jews. Members of the Judenrat were forced to collaborate in the destruction of their own people. Some members committed suicide; others went mad. There were a few who embraced their power. I. C. Trumelman is one such man... King of the Jews.

OVERLOAD by Hailey - Imagine the lack of electric power for long periods of time. "This dramatic novel is the story of people and events leading to such a crisis. Although fiction, it is uncannily real, superbly exciting. It could happen... may happen... soon."

THE SEA, THE SEA by Murdoch - "Chris Arrowby is one of life's rarities, a man who, after a brilliant but almost overfilling career, has achieved contented retirement and perfect refuge, an isolated home by the sea. Then the world begins to intrude..."

SUMMER OF THE GUN by Henry - Bubba armed with only his natural courage, ingenuity and a Colt revolver nearly half his size tracks renegades through the West Texas hills. His hunt ends "with a fight and an action-packed chase that matches anything yet seen in stories of the Old West."

UN-NATURAL SCENERY by Canby - Canby gives us a "rude, funny, sex-obsessed heir to a great American fortune - and to the great (Protestant) American lunacies, gulfs and impulses toward expiration."

WORLD'S END by Conway - "The politics, organized crime and affluence of the New South come together in World's End." The story works on several levels - as a family saga, a political thriller and a love story and the themes of faith, guilt and retribution."

Inside The Capitol

by Fred McCaffrey

SANTA FE — Feeling inundated by the river of words which flows like a mighty force from a certain round building here in the capital city? Wish you never had to hear the word "Legislature" again?

Don't fret. You're not alone. What you have is the Early Year Syndrome, which sets in every January and February as lawmakers convene here.

They bring with them, like part of their baggage, lobbyists, who are silent and sinister, and reporters, who go yackety-yackety-yack. Result: Words, words, words; thousands of them every week, about everything which goes on here.

Well, not quite everything. Reporters, like explorers, tend to concentrate on the Big Picture, the major topographical features. That means the legislators and their schemes. But what about the smaller folk, who may be more important?

"Analysts," for example. Who tells you about them?

Gotcha, didn't we? Bet you don't even know what an "analyst" is.

Well, most of them are young, because the jobs they hold are low-paying, and there is a common but mistaken belief that the young can live more cheaply than the old.

What they do is the detail work to back up the people you and I put into office.

Can we afford this? Ask an analyst to put a sharp pencil to the arithmetic. Should we do this? Ask an analyst to write a paper summarizing the pros and cons. Is this budget tight or loose? Ask an analyst to shake it a little and we'll see what falls out.

Ever wonder how the big newsmakers in the Legislature know so much? It's because they — and only they; not the lesser beings in the pews around them — get a detailed analysis of every bill introduced. Not just major bills; every bill — and this year, that means more than a thousand of them. Those analyses are spun out of the brains of staffers of the Legislative Finance Committee, that prestigious group to which all wielders of true clout in the Legislature manage to belong.

Other analysts are to be found on the staff of David King's Department of Finance and Administration, where they eyeball every penny of every agency's budget and pass judgement on it.

They come in all kinds — economists and accountants mostly, though one or two reportedly have been unabashed graduates of the liberal arts.

If there is a question about them it could be whether or not their power, though indirect, is too great. They do not come before us voters, so their credentials can be scrutinized, yet they have rather remarkable say over what our government will and will not do.

Some feel they are lucky people, learning how the cogs of government mesh from living, as they do, right inside the engine. They are, by and large, hard workers, hunched at their desks over their endless reports and not so prone as most state employees to the perpetual coffeebreak.

But the decision-making power in government must truly belong to officials who are elected or appointed, not merely hired. As long as the Legislature — there, that word you hate — holds onto that power, we are more or less safe.

Legislative Happenings

BY REP. JOHN F. BIGBEE

I get as many complaints about our highways and their deteriorating conditions as I do on any other area of state government. The "Road" to the Sierra Blanca Ski run is no exception, exhibiting attention and dollars our roads need. The facts clearly show that the highway users are not paying their way with the gas tax system we have. We have for years paid seven cents per gallon state tax dedicated to the highway department. With a volumetric tax that is in no way responsive to inflation, and with all the newer cars getting more miles per gallon, it would seem obvious what the long-run future for our deteriorating highways is.

Governor King has proposed a tax on gas that would roughly increase one cent every time the wholesale price of gasoline went up ten cents, with counties and municipalities sharing one seventh of the increase. There could be no increase except on a yearly basis, and would not take effect until 1980.

With the surplus we have projected, the question obviously is why should we even consider any increase in gasoline? My answer to that is that the surplus is in the general fund. As long as the surplus taxes are in general fund, the legislature will be more tempted to spend the money on special programs than on highways.

I should like to receive as many calls and letters as possible as to your opinion on this important subject. You may call at 827-3131, Ext. 78 or write The Honorable Representative, State Capitol, Santa Fe, New Mexico, 87503.

NEED FOR CIVIL DEFENSE

President Carter has called for a new civil defense program. It would be called a "crisis relocation program" and would involve planning to evacuate people from our big cities in the event that a nuclear attack was threatened.

Like the civil defense plans of the '50s and '60s, the new program is certain to run into resistance in Congress. We understand the reluctance with which most people consider the possibility that an evacuation will ever be necessary. But we believe it would be prudent, under present circumstances, for the Congress to agree to the President's proposal.

Too much is at stake to allow our actions and decisions to be dictated merely by our fears for the future. We must face the facts with our eyes wide open and without flinching.

We would never consider initiating a nuclear attack against the Soviet Union, we tell ourselves, and so the Soviets would never seriously consider launching one against us. But is that wishful thinking? No modern nation ever hurled a preemptive attack upon its enemy without first convincing itself that it had been driven to action in its own defense.

The advent of thermonuclear explosive means that total warfare has been outmoded and has become counterproductive by any rational standard of value. But men and nations often act in an irrational and self-destructive manner, usually after having convinced themselves that their actions are righteous and inevitable.

If the Soviet Union evacuates its cities (the equivalent of national mobilization in past wars), we must be able to respond in kind. That kind of response would be stabilizing in a crisis because it would be measured and moderate, given the circumstances.

Some form of civil defense is necessary. Evacuation makes the most sense. Making evacuation plans at this time is wiser than waiting for a crisis, because planning can be done calmly and without hysteria.

Realism about the threat is justified. Fatalism is not. — News-Bulletin, Belen

BALDERDASH, SIR!

Fifteen voting machines in Albuquerque have been found by the Federal Bureau of Investigation to have been "intentionally misprogrammed" and apparently a great many voters were disenfranchised.

However, the U.S. Attorney says he plans to do nothing about it because "there does not appear to have been any substantial impact on the federal office elections involved."

Balderdash, sir! The law is the law and if someone has broken it that person and others responsible, should be brought to task.

Why have laws to govern the conduct of our elections if they are to be enforced only if they have a "substantial impact" on the outcome of an election? Who is to determine what a "substantial impact" is?

We are, in fact, no little upset that our congressional delegation has not spoken up on this question.

The decision by the Feds not to pursue the matter would be like the Internal Revenue Service deciding, after discovering someone didn't pay his income tax, not to prosecute because "non-payment of his taxes had no appreciable impact on the national budget." — Rio Grande Sun, Espanola editorial

Roving flower salesmen, no matter how freshly scrubbed or polite, can't legally be run out of town or summarily tossed in the local hoosegow, no matter how distasteful their philosophy.

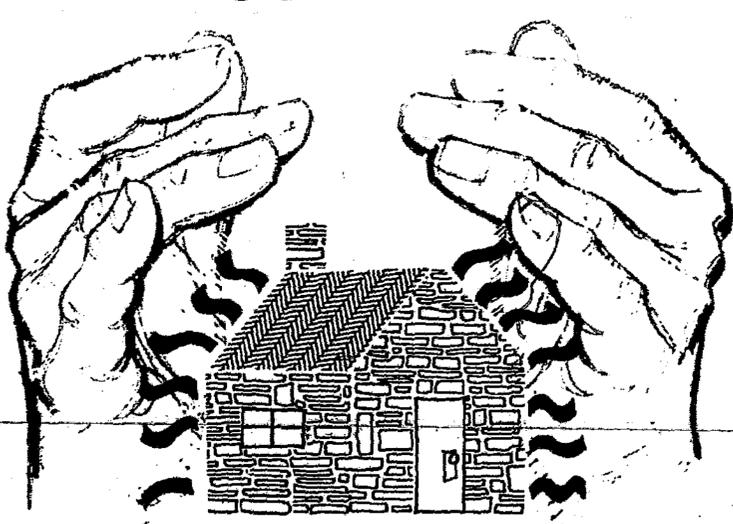

On the other hand, not one single business in town has to allow anybody in their door to solicit for anything. And, not one single citizen has to stop on the street and buy anything from anybody.

If you don't like such activities in Ruidoso, don't patronize 'em; if the town's not easy pickin's, they'll move on. kg

Wise-home energy management helps you KEEP THE HEAT YOU PAY FOR

Thousands of home owners each winter do not keep what they pay for. They let valuable home heat escape through uninsulated walls and ceilings, unsealed cracks, and unprotected windows. If you are one of these homeowners you are actually paying for this lost home heat. So doesn't it make sense to safeguard your valuable energy dollars? Insulate ceilings, walls, and floors. Install storm windows. Seal cracks with weatherstripping and caulking. Close off unused rooms. And make sure fireplace dampers are tightly shut when not in use. Any of these steps can help stop wasteful heat loss, and allow you to get more for your energy dollar. Call us today for more energy management tips.

PROMISE MADE GOOD

Political promises ... innuendoes ... fabrications ... we've all learned to live with ... because ... with a politician, some statements and/or actions have to be taken with plenty of salt ... for instance ... Governor King's statements on Right to Work prior to election day ... and his statements and action on same, long after inauguration day.

However ... comes now Senator John Conway ... R-Lincoln/Otero ... who made a promise and kept it. John said ... before the election ... he'd introduce a bill ... happens it is Senate Bill 79 ... designed to provide money to municipalities ... in the form of a tourism impact fund ... to provide assistance ... and means of surcease from ... some of the problems resulting from the impact of tourism ... i.e., additional police for traffic control ... extra fire protection ... lots of things to make life easier and more pleasant and more memorable for the tourists ... and to provide a little peace of mind for the officials charged with providing same.

The Senate Finance Committee considered John's bill ... and there wasn't much talk against it ... some constructive criticism was offered ... some amendments suggested ... with John agreeing to them ... and the committee will take a look at it again ... after the amendments are made ... and, by jinkies, it sounds like it'll get favorable consideration ... and maybe there'll be some funds available for this purpose.

So ... Senator Conway ... thank you for making good on your promise ... to submit the bill you promised to ... there's nothing so comforting as dealing with a politician who doesn't hedge on his promises ... thanks, John.

IN THE NEWSPAPERS

In case you missed it ... there's a judge in Dade County, Florida ... that's where the Miamians pay taxes ... who's slightly piqued at radar machines ... and is wondering if'n, possibly, by electronic quirk ... that CB radios might be goofing up radar's recording of speed ... cause, by jinkies, some television station reporters did determine, ascertain and inform the judge ... that radar ... out there to keep motorists from sticking their feet into their carburetors ... had clocked a speeding tree at 86 miles per hour ... not to mention a house moving out at 28 miles per hour. Which could really offer CB radio operators an opportunity to aid their fellow men.

Then there was the newspaper story ... about a guy in financial trouble ... so much so that Texas' famed Billy Sol Estes can be considered as something of a piker ... and almost conservative in his financial dealings. Seems there's an American ... William G. Stern ... who abides in London ... wears a toothbrush mustache ... smile ... and is in process of declaring bankruptcy to weasel out of some $209 million in debts ... due and payable ... and owed by him personally ... seems he signed the notes in such manner as to be personally liable ... say ... maybe Billy Sol had more on the ball that meets the eye. So ... Stern had to peddle his Rolls-Royce ... but still travels to his bankruptcy hearings in a Jaguar ... which is a mighty sporty vehicle to drive to the poor house in.

JUST A FEW TIDBITS

Looking over "news" releases ... coming to an editor's desk ... can be most enlightening ... if'n for example, they're not especially informative.

Take the University of New Mexico ... and their liberal arts program. The stalwarts manning the typewriters in the school's Public Information Office whipped up a "news" release recently, extolling the virtues of a degree in liberal arts ... and that such graduates ... quote ... can also be successful in finding employment ... unquote. Further ... to quote Luditsky-Taylor ... first name, Tina ... she said: "Students who are willing to use our services and put in some effort can be successful in getting a job ... Employers of liberal arts students don't usually come on campus to recruit." ... Seems, then, one or three hours credits in liberal arts should be devoted to teaching those students how to get off their duffs and apply for a job with such conviction that they'll be paying taxes like all good working people ... and keeping their boss happy ... seeing's how he didn't have

To spend no money doin' no recruiting. Then there's Worley Mills of Clovis ... producers of Okay Feeds for livestock ... who had their product tested ... to prove the claims Worley makes about their feed ... by Gary D. Gilsdorf, Ph.D., State Chemist for Arizona. The good doctor tested the feed ... and found it good ... and so told Worley in a letter ... a letter, which in addition to commending them on the quality of their product, containing this sentence ... "You are hereby warned that such performance, if continued, will result in less work for this office and higher benefits to the consumer." Which, by jinkies, should have made just about everyone's day at Worley ... exceptin' maybe, the stock boys ... and sanitation superintendent.

Lastly ... didya know that Lincoln County was the state's pacesetter in growth from 1970-1976 ... showing an increase in people of 33.2 percent ... from 7,560 in that period to about 10,100 ... proving ... at least to biased minds ... that Lincoln County's the place where it's happening ... and going to happen ... and all sorts of Stuph 'n Junk like that there.

BRIEF BIT: Look at the bright side of the December flood ... a lot of new public conveniences will result from same, that wouldn't have happened if it hadn't been for that flood ... ergo ... out of chaos, beauty ... no? — CD

SALUTE TO CHAMBER MEMBERS

This is a regular feature in the Monday edition of this newspaper to introduce the members of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce to area residents. The Ruidoso News makes no charge for this public service to members of the Chamber. To arrange this special coverage of your business, telephone 257-4001 and ask for "editorial" and an appointment will be arranged at your convenience.

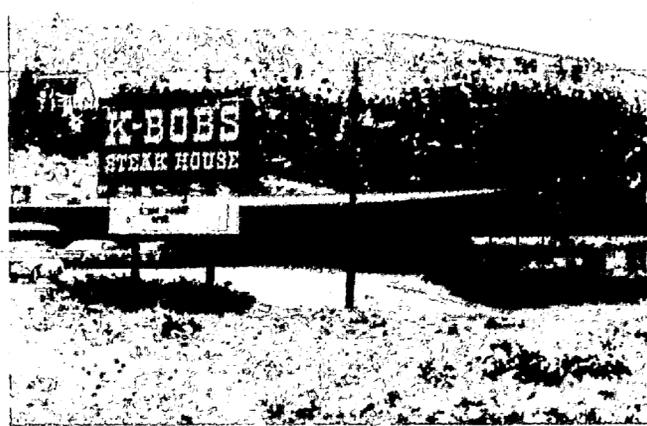

BENNETT'S, located on Highway 70 in Ruidoso, is the village's oldest Indian trading post. Clayton and Helen Bennett have been in business in the area for more than 50 years and members of the Chamber of Commerce since its inception. They are also proud to be charter members of the Indian Arts and Crafts Association, a group of Indian craftsmen, traders, dealers, collectors, museums and others, promoting honest representation of the craftwork. The shop features Indian handmade jewelry, Apache Crafts, Navajo rugs, Taos moccasins, rocks and western souvenir items. "We really appreciate our good customers," say the Bennetts.

K-BOB'S STEAKHOUSE is locally owned, operated and managed by Mack and Barbara Rice, who were already members of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce when the business opened in June of 1978. The Rices are shown above with Ina Stephens, who is tending the salad bar. K-Bob's is a New Mexico based franchise operation, with 65 restaurants in the Southwest. The Rices also own steakhouses in Plainview and Dimmitt, Texas.

MONDAY

(NBC) MONDAY NIGHT AT THE MOVIES: 9:00 PM E.S.T., P.S.T. - 8:00 PM C.S.T., M.S.T.
"Mrs. Columbo" 1979 Kate Mulgrew, Henry Jones. Kate Columbo, the legendary but never-before-seen wife of the beloved detective, begins her own career as a sleuth when she overhears a prominent attorney plotting his wife's demise.

TUESDAY

(CBS) TUESDAY NIGHT MOVIES: 8:00 PM E.S.T., P.S.T. - 7:00 PM C.S.T., M.S.T.
"Women at West Point" 1979 Linda Purl, Andrew Stevens. The drama tells the story of two young women who in 1976 break the all-male barrier at the U.S. Military Academy, and the reactions they faced—from comradely friendship to outright contempt.

(NBC) BIG EVENT: 9:00 PM E.S.T., P.S.T. - 8:00 PM C.S.T., M.S.T.
"The Drowning Pool" 1975 Paul Newman, Joanne Woodward. Private investigator Lew Harper is summoned by a southern oil heiress to learn the identity of the author of an incriminating letter—but the case takes a dangerous turn with the discovery of two slayings and a threat on Harper's life.

FRIDAY

(ABC) FRIDAY NIGHT MOVIE: 9:00 PM E.S.T., P.S.T. - 8:00 PM C.S.T., M.S.T.

SATURDAY

(PBS) MOVIE THEATRE: 10:30 AM E.S.T., P.S.T. - 9:30 AM C.S.T., M.S.T.
"Beauty and the Beast" 1946 Jean Marais, Josette Day. The familiar fairy tale of a young girl who offers herself to a hideous beast in order to save her father's life is retold by director Jean Cocteau. (R)

(CBS) SATURDAY NIGHT MOVIES: 8:00 PM E.S.T., P.S.T. - 7:00 PM C.S.T., M.S.T.
"Across the Great Divide" 1978 Heather Rattray, Mark Hall. Two orphans, Holly Smith and her brother Jason, find themselves alone in the wilderness when their grandfather dies and their hired man runs off after robbing them. They are on their way across the Rocky Mountains to Oregon to claim a farm they have inherited.

CONFIDENTIAL REPORT: Insiders report that Tom Snyder will leave NBC-TV's 'Tomorrow' show and join ABC as host of '20/20,' a newsmagazine program touted as ABC's answer to CBS's top-rated '60 Minutes.' Fred Silverman, NBC's top man, has made no secret of his personal dislike for Snyder and his concern over the low ratings the 'Tomorrow' show has been getting. Silverman would like to dump Snyder who makes a hefty salary—$500,000 annually—and replace him with repeats of the 'Quincy' series. Recently, Snyder met with an ABC executive to discuss plans for a late-night talk show to be co-hosted by Snyder and Barbara Walters, to compete with NBC's 'Tonight Show' starring Johnny Carson. ABC has denied both reports... According to a Washington source, "John Warner will do anything for attention. His wife Elizabeth Taylor, seems to be (all of a sudden) shunning it." While Warner was being sworn in as a new U.S. senator, he blew a kiss to his wife. She ignored it. He did it again with larger gestures. She, somewhat embarrassed, returned it. But neither seemed to be embarrassed by their brief, but explosive verbal battle before the taping of a 'Dinah!' show.

INSIDE THE TUBE: Before Jaclyn Smith started on 'Charlie's Angels,' working on a TV set wasn't always so heavenly. In one of her first TV productions, an episode of 'McCloud' with Dennis Weaver, Jackie says she was so nervous she wasn't sure what she was doing. "Dennis Weaver took one look at me and asked 'Who is this girl?' Finally, I took him aside and said, 'Listen, the producer wanted me to do this part, but I don't think I can handle it. I'm nervous. Just tell him you don't want me.'" But Weaver wouldn't buy it. "Don't ever talk like that," he responded. "You are going to do it." And she did... Robin Williams and wife Valerie have found their dream home, and it isn't on Ork, where 'Mork' comes from. No, it's right up in the Benedict Canyon section of Hollywood, and it carries a down-to-earth price tag of $800,000... Some of the actresses who are deep into the feminist movement are upset about Suzanne Somers doing all that cheesecake stuff. They think it's giving in too much to the male macho idea. At a telethon, Suzanne appeared in a mink coat, which she opened to reveal a very scanty bathing suit—triple X. Now she's telling friends she has decided to pose for Playboy—though she won't disrobe. She got the idea after seeing the Farrah Fawcett-Majors layout.

ON THE TV SCENE: Sally Struthers is only 5-feet tall and has always been a little bit overweight. But now that she and husband Dr. Bill Rader are expecting their first child, Sally's been told to lose 10 pounds... She's not Goldilocks. She's Sally Tillman. But that's just about all that Gabe Kaplan would say about his new girlfriend. Oh yes, she's not in show biz. You can't accuse ole Gabe of running off at the mouth, now can you? ... It was the sweetest surprise of Joyce DeWitt's life, and from, of all people, her live-in boyfriend. Still bubbling, Joyce, star of 'Three's Company,' told me that her man, actor Ray Buktenica (formerly of 'Rhoda') proposed to her in the library of UCLA where they met for the first time... Cheery Bonnie Franklin, mom on 'One Day at a Time,' looks better now that she had plastic surgery to remove eye bags and puffs. "I love it!" she gurgles... East Africa was once the unchallenged stronghold of the mighty elephant herds that roam its forests and savannas. But today these animals threaten the livelihoods and lives of Africans. 'Last Stand in Eden,' a National Geographic special airing March 4 on PBS, shows a dramatic struggle for survival between man and beast over land that both need to survive.

'Cliffhangers,' the action-adventure series starring statuesque Susan Anton (pictured), rugged Geoffrey Scott and dashing Michael Nouri in three separate serials in which the hero or heroine is left on the verge of disaster each week, premieres Tuesday, Feb. 27 on NBC-TV.

'Stop Susan Williams': Newspaper photographer Susan Williams (Anton) defies threats on her life to journey to exotic Morocco to locate an American expatriate she hopes can help her in her investigation of the untimely death of her brother, a reporter who was on the verge of exposing an international conspiracy.

'The Secret Empire': Jim Donner (Scott), a lawman of the 1880s, is attacked while investigating a mysterious series of gold shipment robberies and pursued by a band of phantom riders.

'The Curse of Dracula': Count Dracula (Nouri), a vampire posing as a college professor in San Francisco, is obsessed with thwarting attempts by anthropologist Kurt Von Helsing and 21-year-old Mary Gibbons to destroy him for his alleged horrendous acts of violence against their loved ones.

Erik Estrada

Handsome, brown-eyed Erik Estrada stars as the irrepressible Frank 'Ponch' Poncherello of the California Highway Patrol in NBC-TV's 'CHiPs.' Judging from the fan mail he received during the show's first season, he has a great appeal to women. But the smiling actor is equally popular with the kiddie set, as evidenced in his overwhelming popularity on the State Fair circuit of personal appearances this past year.

Brought up in New York City's Spanish Harlem, Estrada—who is of Puerto Rican extraction—began his professional career in Mayor John Lindsay's Cultural Program, performing in public parks.

He moved on to the American Musical Dramatic Academy for professional training and appeared in his first movie as the young hood in 'The Cross and the Switchblade,' starring Pat Boone. He played the Spanish-American rookie cop in 'The New Centurions,' appeared in 'Airport '75,' 'Midway' and 'Trakdown.'

On television, he appeared in guest roles in 'Hawaii Five-O,' 'The Six Million Dollar Man,' 'Joe Forrester,' 'Police Woman,' 'Kojak,' 'Medical Center' and others.

In private life, Estrada is a physical fitness buff and is fond of Japanese food and beautiful women.

MRS. COLUMBO

Kate Mulgrew (pictured), star of NBC-TV's new mystery series 'Mrs. Columbo,' is joined by guest stars Robert Culp, Edie Adams, Frederic Forrest, Rene Auberjonois and Bob Dishy in 'Word Games,' the special premiere episode airing on 'NBC Monday Night at the Movies,' Feb. 26. The regular air date will be Thursdays, beginning March 1.

Starring with Mulgrew as series regulars are veteran character actor Henry Jones and Lili ('Cherub') Haydn. Jones plays Josh Alden, the crusty editor at the suburban newspaper where Mrs. Columbo (Mulgrew) is a part-time reporter; Haydn plays Jenny Columbo, her 7-year-old daughter.

In 'Word Games,' the much-talked-about but never-before-seen wife of television's legendary detective stumbles into a crime-fighting career of her own when she accidentally overhears a prominent attorney plotting to do away with his wife.

SUPERTRAIN

The leading Presidential candidate is kidnapped while traveling on Supertrain and his place is taken by his con-artist twin brother—mastermind of the caper. But his plot goes awry when he begins to fall in love with his sister-in-law and realizes the change in plans will result in a murderous frenzy by his cohorts, in 'Hail to the Chief,' on NBC-TV's 'Supertrain,' Wednesday, Feb. 28.

Roy Thinnes stars in the dual role of the candidate, Sen. J.J. Phillips, and his twin brother, Eddie. Loretta Swit plays the candidate's wife, Alice Phillips.

Also starring are Billy Barty as Mick, Scott Brady as Gilbert Forbes, Edward Andrews as Harry Flood, Patrick Collins as Dave Noonan and Harrison Page as George Boone.
