SEWER EXPANSION SEPARATE PROJECT

Water bond use restricted

"Funds remaining in the $5 million general obligation water bond issue," village manager Jim Hine said Wednesday, "cannot be used to finance any part of the Regional Wastewater System. This is the answer to those wondering why water funds can't be used for the sewer project, instead of floating a $1.5 million general obligation bond issue for sewer expansion."

Ordinance 74-13, passed August 8, 1974, authorizing the $5 million water bond issue, stated that funds would be, "for the purpose of constructing, enlarging, improving and extending the water systems and other matters related to."

"This doesn't mean that a dam had to be built," Hine said, "though at the time of the election it seemed, to the trustees, to be the way to go."

"The village is spending the $5 million for the purposes intended, providing additional water to the village."

To clarify expenditures made from the $5 million in bonds, Hine has released the following lists of amounts spent:

Mapping and systems evaluation $4,500.

Photogrammetry and aerial mapping $25,830.

New water main in the Upper Canyon $151,239.30.

Alto Lake aeration pump $4,804.32.

Cherokee Well pipeline $142,190.08.

Water shop and laboratory $32,863.

Gavilan Plant improvement $6,688.07.

Gavilan Canyon, new main $255,732.63.

Alto treatment plant $1,050,694.81.

Alto transmission main $331,464.40.

Eagle Creek Dam $684,593.87. This includes $54,561.11 for land, engineering fees, core drilling, seismograph studies and related projects.

Other distribution system improvements $147,799.73.

Eagle Creek Well, on village owned land, $33,537.18.

The expenses, through March 15, totaled $2,872,035.39.

The $5 million bond issue, to date, had earned $561,721.76 in interest.

The balance in the water improvement fund, to date, is $2,689,696.37.

The balance consists of $189,686.37 as cash on hand plus $2.5 million invested in local banks and savings and loan institutions.

The village has the following obligations and/or fund reserves:

Balance due on treatment plant $102,410.66.

Reserved for Alto Pumping Station $240,000.

Reserved for Mann suit $76,000.

The obligations and reserve funds put the unencumbered total of monies remaining from the $5 million bond issue at $2,271,275.71.

The village trustees, at a recent meeting, authorized Boyle Engineering to "make studies on other improvements totalling an estimated cost of construction of $2,355,000."

Boyle will present to the trustees plans for additional water storage tanks and transmission systems to serve them, as soon as the study is completed.

"In this way," Hine said, "the village is spending the $5 million in water bonds for the intended purpose and when we can store more treated water and service additional areas with water, as well as being able to maintain adequate reserves for emergencies, then we'll have given the people the service they voted for in 1974."

Thus, the $1.5 million general obligation bond issue, to be voted on May 8, will provide funding for the village's share of the new Biscuit Hill sewage treatment plant, new sewer trunk lines and all costs related to land acquisition to provide transmission lines from Ruidoso's village limits to the Biscuit Hill plant."

Fiscal agent Darrel Fowler of Stern Brothers, Albuquerque, has advised the village trustees that the "$1.5 million in bonds would increase property taxes not to exceed $3 per $1,000 of assessed valuation."

Hine said, of the cost of the $1.5 million bond issue to the taxpayer, "As the assessed valuation in the village rises, the tax rate per $1 thousand of valuation drops. When new figures on the assessed valuation of the village are available from county assessor Marion Schlarb, hopefully by late April, then we'll be able to peg the added cost almost exactly. And, considering the village's growth during 1978, it's reasonable to expect that the cost of the new issue to each taxpayer will be less than we can estimate now because we're having to base our cost projections on figures that do not reflect our present, and unknown, taxable evaluation."

Commission to buy Alto ambulance

A call for bids on a new ambulance to serve the Alto area was approved by Lincoln County commissioners at their regular meeting Tuesday in Carrizozo.

To provide for payment for the new vehicle, $12,000 previously designated for and unspent by Ruidoso will be returned to the original ambulance fund.

The commissioners agreed the vehicle would be of help to Ruidoso, because of the proximity of Alto to the ski and recreation areas. Bud Payne, Carrizozo, who made the request added the vehicle could be useful as a backup to Ruidoso ambulances, especially when those were being used for transfers to other cities.

Payne said he thought he could have the specifications written up and the call for bids published, so that the bid opening could be made at the next commission meeting, April 10.

The commissioners also heard a report from Kim Richardson, a planner with the state Natural Resources Division, concerning a public meeting on outdoor recreation held Monday in Capitán.

He advised the commission that the primary need in the county was funding for maintenance of recreational facilities, rather than matching grants to set up new activities or operations. He said the group had also touched on development of trail systems, picnic areas along the roadsides and scenic road designations.

Following the report, the commission voted to request Don Myers of the same state office to make a complete study of recreational possibilities and needs in the area.

Acting on a request from Gail Stackpole, the commission voted to employ a Zia Center student as a part-time janitorial worker. The position will be a temporary one, possibly for one year, which Stackpole said would help prepare the student, who is mentally handicapped for placement in a full-time position elsewhere.

The student is trained in general maintenance, lawn care, some painting and general janitorial duties, she said. Half of the student's salary will be paid by the county and half by the CETA program.

County manager Les Olson presented the commissioners with a budget preparation schedule for the 1979-1980 fiscal year. He said the budget would be "roughed out" by the next meeting, April

10. Budget requests from department heads would be made before the May 22 meeting, at which time a final hearing on revenue sharing will be held. June 12 was set as the date for final budget document approval and submission to the Department of Finance and Administration.

In other business, the commission: — Heard a report from Keith Hennigh on laws regarding the computerization of voter registration data. The board members were told they would be required to maintain two sets of registration records, which should be stored separately to insure their safety.

— Heard a request for continued funding from Don Hoover, director of the counseling centers in Lincoln County. He was advised to submit a written request for funding, which would be considered for the 1979-80 budget.

— Approved the annual certification of county roads, after the deletion of road C-003 on the western side of the malpais, which is used as an entrance road to two ranches.

— Denied the free use of copying machines for the magistrate judge's office.

— Approved an inventory list of county equipment.

— Agreed, at the urging of commissioner John Allen Hightower, to write a letter to the Carrizozo mayor and Chamber of Commerce asking them to try to correct the problem of trash and litter which he said was especially noticeable on the outskirts of the town on highways 380 and 54.

— Heard a request for funding of postage and stationery from Stirling Spencer for the Lincoln Historical Review Board. The commissioners agreed to consider the request for the upcoming fiscal year.

Service Club Council C-C committee

Members of the Chamber of Commerce board of directors decided Wednesday to allow the Service Club Council to become a standing committee within the Chamber, as of May 1.

After discussing the goals of the council and the work of the organization, the council was accepted as a standing committee. The by-laws and constitution of the Service Club Council will be amended to be compatible with the by-laws of the Chamber.

Ken Scarborough will be the featured speaker at the May 1 annual meeting of the entire Chamber membership. Scarborough is based in Dallas with the National Chamber of Commerce and spoke at a regional meeting in Santa Fe earlier this year. Executive director Ed Jungbluth said "He's a tremendous speaker and I'm really thrilled to be getting him for the annual banquet."

The Chamber will pick up the tab for part of Scarborough's expenses, but Jungbluth said he didn't expect expenses to total more than $100. Other arrangements for the banquet have not yet been decided.

A report from the insurance committee revealed that 25 groups and 61 applications within Ruidoso have signed with Blue Cross/Blue Shield. Jungbluth said that because interest is so high, persons who wish to be contacted in the near future should call the Chamber of Commerce office. "The salespeople will eventually get to the membership list, but it won't be for a while because the interest has been so great," Jungbluth said.

The directors decided to allow the Junior

Chamber of Commerce, (Jaycees) a newly formed service club in Ruidoso, to use the Chamber meeting room for executive committee meetings every other Wednesday night. A key was issued to the group on a two-month trial basis.

In other business the directors: — Decided to schedule the next board meeting for April 23. It will begin with lunch, followed by an afternoon meeting with the new board, ending with dinner with spouses of the new and old board members attending;

— Decided to allow Jungbluth to take 10 full days off in April and May to attend art shows with his wife, and allow him to make up the hours on Saturdays this summer;

— Discussed preparing a manual containing an explanation of village laws and ordinances to aid new businessmen in the area.

'SPANKY' ISN'T THE HERO TYPE, but in the eyes of his master, Pat Gorman, the dog is a first class hero because of his persistent efforts to awaken Pat the night of March 13, to summon help to transport his grandmother, Mrs. Theresa Carroll, to the Ruidoso Hondo Valley Hospital for emergency treatment.

Family pooch awakens lad in emergency

"Spanky", a 15-month-old Mexican Chihuahua, is, his master Pat Gorman believes, worthy of a medal for his persistence in awakening Pat the night of March 13, when his grandmother, Mrs. Theresa Carroll, was in need of help — and only 'Spanky' was aware of the situation. A letter to The News from Pat, explains what happened:

"I am writing in regard to what can happen to maybe save a person's life. My grandmother suffered a very bad stroke March 13 at midnight. My family and I were all asleep. My grandmother fell on the living room floor. No one knew she was lying on the floor, except my dog Spanky.

"When Spanky saw my grandmother lying semiconscious/confused, he ran to my room. He started pulling my hair, pulling my pj's and barking. He would run to my grandmother, then return to my room repeating the same acts until I got up and followed him to my grandmother, lying on the floor. We called an ambulance and she is now in intensive care. If it weren't for my dog Spanky, we would not have known she was sick and may have died. The good news is that Mrs. Carroll, though still in intensive care as of Tuesday, is recovering, Tom said. "I'm so proud of Spanky," he said.

Flood damage delaying opening of campgrounds

South Fork Campground, located immediately west of Bonito Lake on the Smokey Bear Ranger District of the Lincoln National Forest, will be closed to the public until approximately June 1. Flooding of the Rio Bonito, which occurred this past December, washed out the approaches on both ends of the South Fork bridge and isolated the campground. The area on Bonito Creek known as Blue Hole and the parking area at the upper end of Bonito Lake were also isolated by this washout. Should repairs to the bridge approaches be effected before the June 1 date, the Forest Service will publish an updated release to notify the public when access to South Fork Campground has been re-established. The flooding in Bonito Canyon also cut off or washed out several other popular camping, picnicking and parking areas above and below the lake. With the opening of fishing season on Bonito Lake scheduled for April 1, fishermen can expect difficulties in locating camping and parking areas near the lake.

Where roads and weather conditions permit the general National Forest area will be open to dispersed camping, but it may be necessary to seek out a new and different location rather than the old "favorite."

Accused rapist transferred to state hospital

Larry Don Harris, who was charged with criminal sexual penetration, aggravated battery and aggravated burglary after the alleged rape of a Fort Stanton employee, is being transferred to the state hospital at Las Vegas for further psychological evaluation. Harris has been in custody in county jail since the March 10 incident.

Lincoln County sheriff Ernest Sanchez said Wednesday Tim Quigley, public defender, Alamogordo, had informed him that a court order was being issued to authorize the transfer.

McMath heads Noon Lions

Ruidoso Noon Lions Club members Wednesday elected Dave McMath president for the ensuing year, succeeding Don Dale. Also elected were: Bill Budens, first vice president; Fred Hughston, second vice president; Richard Parsons, third vice president; Truitt Ball, treasurer and secretary, Richard Mounds. Named as Tall Twister was Bill Morrison, with Claud Walker as Lion

Man cited for federal food stamp dealing

Officers of the Criminal Investigation Division (CID) of the Ruidoso Police Department Wednesday arrested Fred Fredrickson, Ada, Oklahoma and Ruidoso, charged with four counts of alleged unlawful dealing in federal food stamps. Fredrickson was arrested here on a warrant issued February 6 by Magistrate Jim Wheeler, in which bond was set at $5,000 with no ten percent allowed.

A CID spokesman said Wednesday that Fredrickson was being held in village jail pending posting of bond and that the date for a first appearance hearing on the charges will be set.

Tamer and as director for two years, Ray Jennings and Eulice Farrar. Hold over directors are Max Scott and Claud Walker with Don Dale as immediate past president. Installation will be held at a later date.

Sears, John Whitlock and Jerry Romero. Third row: Richard Woodul, Steve Cox, Bryan Ball, Scott Barnett and Steve Romero. The competition, held Wednesday in Roswell, qualified the winners for the national DECA competition in Houston in May.

Spring's sprung 'n things has riz

A QUASI SURF-LIKE ROAR emanated from this 'mini-Niagra Falls' Sunday, as the Rio Ruidoso lived up to its "Noisy Waters" name, bolstered by the first runoff waters resulting from the warming rays of the spring sun beaming down on Sierra Blanca.

County recreational needs aired at Monday meeting

BY GWYNETH JONES
Staff Writer/Photographer

Ongoing funding of recreational facilities, rather than the establishment of new ones, was the basic need cited by Lincoln County residents attending a public meeting on outdoor recreation in Capitlan Monday night.

The meeting was sponsored by the state Natural Resources Division for the purpose of determining the needs, issues and problems in the area of outdoor recreation. The division is responsible for the distribution of federal Land and Water Conservation Department monies, which planner Kim Richardson said amount to about $4 million per year. Communities represented at the meeting included Ruidoso, Carrizozo, Capitlan, Lincoln, Nogal and Ancho.

Suggestions made at this and other public meetings throughout the state will be entered into the outdoor recreation plan, to be submitted to the Governor's advisory committee, which makes the final determination of project funding, Richardson said.

The funds available now are to be used as matching grants for the establishment of facilities, he explained, but added he would report back to his office on the group's feelings about maintenance funding.

Another possible need pointed out by Mary Ellen Payne of Carrizozo was expansion of joint use of recreational facilities by schools and the public, particularly in lifelong sports activities such as golf, bowling and tennis.

Richardson said area schools would soon be receiving a packet of information on the subject of joint use programs.

New recreational projects suggested included trail systems development. Paul Gordon of the United States Forest Service said that agency was investigating the reopening of old hiking trails in the Ruidoso area, with residents of Lincoln reporting that a trail was being developed along the river in that community.

Roadside picnic areas or parks were also suggested as having a beneficial effect on the tourist trade, which is important to the county economy during at least nine months of the year. But the issue of maintenance was again raised in reference to the parks, since garbage pickup and groundskeeping would be a continuing job.

A major recreational problem discussed at the meeting was damage to (and) by off-road vehicles. They acknowledged that tourist dollars might be lost if too many areas were restricted to hikers only.

Richardson also advised the group that Don Myers of the Natural Resources Division was available on request to do research and compile information on the recreational facilities and future possibilities in the area. Richardson said Myers would do the work at no cost and would work with city and county leaders to come up with recreational plans for the area.

Gymnasts set meeting tonight

A meeting to form a gymnastics team in Ruidoso has been called for 7 this evening in the Ruidoso Public Library. In addition to organizing the team, the problem of locating suitable quarters to practice will be discussed.

Two Downs stake races offer $1 million purses

The All-American Futurity and the All-American Derby, two landmark events in racing history, will serve as luminous highpoints of the 1979 stakes schedule at Ruidoso Downs.

The All-American Futurity carries a purse of $1,280,000, while the Derby, one week earlier, figures to top the $1 million level.

The Futurity and Derby are the world's two richest races, general manager Woody Erwin said. Both events will be contested at the classic quarter horse distance of 440 yards. The Futurity, as usual, will close out the meeting on Labor Day and will again be televised coast-to-coast (live) by the All-American Network of Topeka, Kansas. The winning horse will earn a staggering $437,500.

The All-American Derby (for three-year-olds) will be run Sunday, August 25.

Pending approval by the New Mexico State Racing Commission, the 1979 Ruidoso campaign will cover 68 race days, starting Friday, May 11 and wrapping up Labor Day. The format is just about a repeat of that used successfully in recent years, except that the four Wednesday programs in August will be dropped. The basic pattern will be Thursday through Sunday racing. Sunday programs will get rolling at 1 p.m., but it'll be a kickoff (time of 1:30 p.m., on other race days).

The All-American Futurity is the first and most striking jewel in the coveted Triple Crown for two-year-old quarter horses. Leading up to the Labor Day spectacular will be the $225,000 (est.) Kansas Futurity June 3, 350 yards; and the $450,000 (est.) Rainco Futurity on July 22 (440 yards).

The Triple Crown for three-year-old quarter horses will be topped by the All-American Derby, of course. The prelude to that one are the $299,000 (est.) Kansas Derby Mar 20 (400 yards) and the $450,000 (est.) Rainbow Derby July 8 (440 yards).

Another mainstay of the Ruidoso stakes lineup is the 440-yard World's Championship Classic, which carries an estimated purse of $100,000. It'll be renewed July 29. Three-year-olds and up are eligible.

year is the Norgor Futurity, a four furlong test slated for June 2. The initial purse is estimated at $75,000.

Numerous stakes have gotten a new infusion of cash, general manager Erwin notes. "The Ruidoso Mile now becomes one of the richest handicaps in this part of the country with added money of $25,000," he said. "That's an increase of $7,500."

Other stakes with fattened up purses include the $15,000-added Ruidoso Sprint Championship (up $2,500). The Brigand Handicap, the Jockey Club Stakes, the Ruidoso Speed Handicap and the Ruidoso 550 Championship have also been boosted.

Here's the complete 1979 Ruidoso Downs stakes schedule:

SUNDAY'S SPRING WEATHER attracted a turnout of enthusiastic round-ballers to the All American Municipal Park at Ruidoso Downs. Those pictured seemed to have just chosen up sides and were in the process of deciding on the strategy to be employed in the game.

HUSTLE AND BUSTLE prevailed Friday afternoon at Adobe Plaza as shop owners and operators grabbed onto the handle and of paint brushes and got down to the serious business of prepping up the premises for spring. And no Tom Sawyers were in the lot.

FmHA institutes new office hours

The Farmer's Home Administration (FmHA) will begin observing new office hours effective Monday, March 26. Hours will be from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., with a half hour lunch closing from noon to 12:30. The change is being made in FmHA offices nationwide. The office supervisor is available in Ruidoso on Mondays to talk to the public and answer questions regarding the loan programs.

FmHA is a federal agency under the Department of Agriculture offering loan and grant programs. Loans are made in four major categories: rural housing, farmer programs, community services and business and industry guaranteed loans. The local FmHA office is located at 1007 Mechem Drive.

People live longer

Did you know that the average length of a person's life in the United States has increased by more than half during this century? Most of the improvement in life expectancy took place during the first half of the century. Between 1900 and 1955, life expectancy increased by 23.3 years, but since 1955, it has increased by only 3.2 years to 73.8 years in 1975.

NOT THE FIRST BUDS OF SPRING, but this cholla cactus, basking in the sun's rays Sunday afternoon, overlooking the Rio Bonita north of Honda, seemed, indeed, to be busily preparing for the blooming weather lying ahead. And nary a bee was there to sniff the succulence of what's soon to be a blooming flower, with barbs to prick the unwary would-be plucker of one of nature's most beautiful blooms.

Area thinclads open season; meet to test performances

The Ruidoso High Schools' track teams swing into action Saturday at Tularosa and both the boys' and girls' coaches are taking tentative approaches to the meet. Boys' coach Darrell Stierwalt hasn't had a chance to fully assess his squads' ability because of a lack of time, a lack of a regulation track and an abundance of snow. Wednesday's snowfall forced Stierwalt to bring his troops indoors after a brief workout.

While Stierwalt will be using the Rose Relays Saturday to assess his team, he will also be counting on a nucleus of returning lettermen to pace the Warriors.

In the 440 yard dash, Stierwalt is expecting big things out of seniors Borde Williams and Jeff Elliott. Both will also compete in relays.

Last year's leading point scorer, Mark Dutton, will be a large force for the Warriors again this season. Stierwalt expects Dutton to compete in "four or five events". Among these events will be the long jump, in which Dutton placed second in the state last year. He will also run in the 440 and 880 yard relays and the 120 high hurdles.

John Cabot will run the sprint relays as well as the 180 low hurdles. Pacing Ruidoso in the distance runs will be Joe Almager and Jovian Smith. Almager, a junior, has qualified for the state meet in each of the last two years. Craig Sullivan, also a returning letterman, will run the 880 yard dash and the two mile for Ruidoso.

Stierwalt said Ruidoso's weak spot will be the sprints, the 100 and 220 yard dashes. He is hopeful, however, that freshman Kannon Mayberry, emerges as a bonafide contender in the sprints.

Despite the question marks that surround the Warriors, Stierwalt is ready for the meet. He thinks it will give his squad an opportunity to see how well they stack up against competition as well as giving them a chance to run on a regulation track.

"We'll have to gut it out," Stierwalt said. "Competition is what we're needing. We'll do the best we can."

Girls' coach Sergio Castanon will be doing the best he can too. His squad has been plagued by the same ills as Stierwalt's. The girls have been working out less than two weeks. Castanon will also be using the Rose Relays as a measuring stick for his team.

At this time, the Warriors seem to be strongest in the sprints and relays. Out of the 20 girls on the team, 11 are scheduled to see action in the 100 or 200 yard dashes.

Lisa Delhotal, Kelly Millholland, Tammy McCulley, Margaret Walsh and Ellen Bissett will lead the Warriors in the shot put and discus. Castanon said he is counting on big things from Walsh.

Ruidoso will be led by Karen Boone, Leslie Greggerson, Hazel Williams, Sherri Dennis, Cindy Taylor and Lisa Shaw in the sprints, with some doubling in the sprint relays. Ruta Bob will lead Ruidoso in the mile.

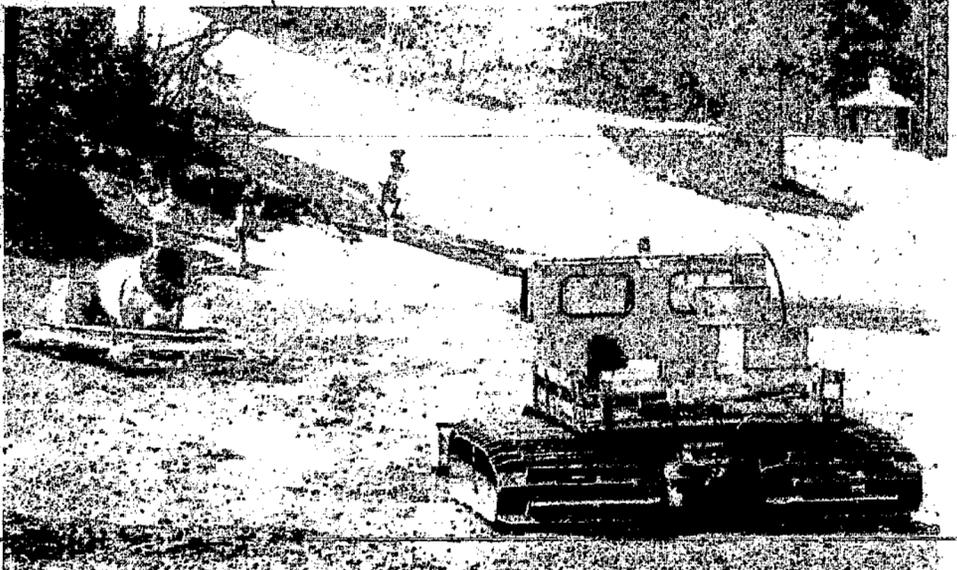

The meet which will feature more than 15 teams in two divisions, begins at 9 a.m., at Tularosa Saturday.

Little League season underway

Organizers of this season's Little League baseball program met Tuesday to set registration dates, tryout dates and name coaches for the upcoming season.

Registration for the league is set for April 9 and April 12 at Nob Hill School. All interested players must register at that time. Tryouts are scheduled for April 14 and April 21. A "general clean up" picnic for the grounds is set for April 29.

All 12-year-old players are encouraged to attend the registration. If there are enough 12-year-olds interested, it may be possible to form another team.

DUE TO THE WARM WEATHER recently and a lack of snow, the Ruidoso Ski and Recreation Area closed earlier in the skiing season than they would have liked. The close of the season, however, doesn't mean a close of the work for area employees. They are working on getting the area in tip-top condition for the summer season, which is instrumental for the area's success.

End of ski season at recreation area sets off beginning of summer season

BY JOHN NEYLAND

The Ruidoso Ski and Recreation Area, out of commission for the remainder of this skiing season, will not remain out of business until the first snowfall of next season. Instead, the area is beginning to prepare for this summer's activities.

Area director Ralph Rush said plans are underway to provide recreation for tourists this summer. Activities that the area has planned include horseback riding, dry-land skiing and sled runs.

"We want to develop our summer activities," he said. "Except for horseback riding, there isn't that much to do here in the summer. We want to give the people something to do in Ruidoso so they'll keep coming back."

Rush also wants to keep skiers coming back to the area in the winter. First, he said, some improvements need to be made to insure its growth and success.

High on the list of improvements will be the addition of a chair lift, scheduled to be operating by July or August barring complications. Rush also wants to improve the present runs and add a few more to attract intermediate skiers to the slopes.

"The lift situation is not that good," he said. "We need the new lift. We need longer and wider runs. Our goals for next year are to put in the chair lift and cut longer runs."

"A lot of people go skiing with friends who are intermediate skiers and they go to Sierra Blanca because all they see from the road is steep slopes," Rush said. "We have to get them to stop here and ski. We need longer intermediate slopes if we're going to attract the people we need. We can't survive on just the beginner market."

The area will be able to survive another flood. But Rush is hoping that another, like the one in December, doesn't happen again. The effects of that flood are still being felt at the facility.

"If it hadn't been for that flood, we'd still be open," Rush said. "We lost half our snow in that flood. It can't flood two years in a row."

There was another problem, Rush pointed out, that accounted for a shorter season than Rush had hoped for. "We didn't get all of our snow making machines operating until January," he said. "We could make 50 percent more snow next year. We saw that these were our biggest problems this year. We learned why we didn't do better."

Despite the flood and the other problems that beset the first-year resort, Rush is pleased with the success. Most of the feedback he has received in the form of letters has been positive.

"Everybody appreciated the fact that all of our people were very friendly," he said. "They (employees) treated the people the way they have to be treated."

Since the skiing season is over for the area, most of the employees have moved on. Only a handful of the 40 that were employed in the peak months of the season remain. Rush said if business gets thick in the summer there will be a maximum of 25 workers at the area. Most, he said, will be workers who were employed in the winter.

Deficiency of entries forces restructure of tourney format

Plagued by a lack of entries in the three amateur divisions, Sierra Swim and Racquet Club pro David Bryant has been forced to restructure the format for the First Annual Billy the Kid Racquetball Shootout.

The tournament, which was scheduled to begin yesterday, has been reduced to one division only. That division is strictly for the ten professionals that the $1000 purse has attracted.

Instead of being a single elimination tourney as planned, Bryant said, the professionals will compete in a round-robin format. Play is expected to begin Friday at noon.

Bryant announced the field has been spiced up with the addition of two outstanding players from Arizona and Texas. From Phoenix, Don Thomas has entered the field. Thomas is ranked in the top 35 in the United States.

Tom McKie, an accomplished player from Dallas, also has entered the field. McKie is the two-time Texas state champion and was rated ninth in 1978 by the International Racquetball Association. Other laurels include over 25 singles and doubles titles.

The favorite to win the tourney is Dave Peck, ranked number 21 in the United States. His latest accomplishment came last weekend in the state tournament in Albuquerque where he defeated the defending state champ, Tim Mazaroff, 21-5, 21-7. Mazaroff will also compete here. Five Ruidoso players attended the state tournament in Albuquerque. Rick Evans placed the highest of the Ruidoso contingent, falling in the semifinals of the "B" class. He did beat the tournament's number one seed en route to the semifinals.

Other Ruidoso players didn't fare quite as well. David Bryant, also in the "B" class, lost in the second round. In "C" class matches, Jim Paxton defeated three opponents before falling in the fourth round of play. Kent Waller and Frank Potter, also in "C" class, both lost in the second round.

Nunley fares well at juniors

Ruidoso High School freshman Lon Nunley, who last week competed in the Junior Olympics at Squaw Valley, California returned to Ruidoso Monday with a feeling of accomplishment, and more important, experience.

L. Ray Nunley, Lon's father, said Lon finished in the top third in the downhill and giant slalom races Thursday and Friday. Lon wasn't so lucky in Sunday's slalom race. He fell on the first run and didn't register a time.

"He probably placed fourth overall of Rocky Mountain skiers," Nunley said.

According to Nunley, the statistics weren't as important as the experience the younger Nunley gained. He received tips from expert coaches on conditioning and technique as well as the feel of racing against top-notch skiers from all over the United States.

"He received instructions on the type of exercises he should do," Nunley said. "It was very good experience and he gained a lot of experience racing against older and better skiers."

For Lon, who "finished very high among 14-year-old kids", the next step will be attempting to repeat as a qualifier for next year's Junior Olympics, also to be held in Squaw Valley.

The Comprehensive Test of Basic Skills (CTBS) will be given March 27, 28 and 29 in the library and cafeteria. The CTBS is a state required test for all juniors and covers math, English, science, social studies and reference skills. The test gives the student a chance to find out in which subjects he is weakest and it also gives the school a chance to see which subjects need additional emphasis.

John Whitlock of Ruidoso and Ramona Ann Kimbrell of Hondo were among Eastern New Mexico University's 1979 Talent Day scholarship alternates for 1979. High school seniors from New Mexico, Texas, and Colorado competed for $15,400 in scholarships last Saturday, March 3 during Eastern's 16th annual competition. The President's Associates Scholarship Program is offering a $1,000 dollar scholarship at New Mexico State University for the fall of 1979. If the following requirements are met, the student can apply. The student's grade point average should be at least 3.5 and he should be in the top 10 percent of his class and have scored at least a 25 on the ACT test. Students should check with Mr. Sanchez for more information.

Carrizozo plans beautification of downtown area

The Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce, village officials, the TAERA foundation and a number of volunteer workers are planning a beautification project for that town.

Part of the project will involve the finishing, planting and distribution of planters made from half-barrels. The planter project has been undertaken by the Future Farmers of America (FFA), the 4-H club and extension clubs.

Businesses in the downtown area will be asked to buy, at approximate cost, a planter or planters to be placed in front of the company. Their only other obligation will be to keep the plants watered during the summer months.

Mary Ellen Payne and Scott Shafer are investigating the possibility of hiring a gardener, possibly a CETA worker, to care for the plants through the summer.

The town has appropriated $100 for flower seeds, but other contributions of seeds or plants are being solicited. Volunteers are also being sought for planting and planting chores.

A general clean-up and fix-up campaign is also being contemplated by village leaders.

Anyone who wishes to make contributions of time, money or materials is advised to call the Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce office at 648-3371.

Ruidoso C.B. Club Doings

BY THE ZOOKEEPER

The meeting on Monday night was a learning session. Three members brought C.B.'s and it was a question and answer session on the workings and non-workings of a C.B. and it was very interesting. Next week we hope to start on the FCC Rules and Regulations.

For the summer the club will meet at the Chaparral every Monday at 7:30 p.m.

We will be starting our eating meetings again soon but the place will be in the column in plenty of time for the members to know, but try to make the meeting next week at the Chaparral for the discussion of the FCC and why everyone should have their license to operate their C.B.

If you were at the meeting Monday everyone was glad to see you, but if you were unable to come we missed you. See you soon.

Winter's Last Day The Eve Of Spring

On the last day of winter and the eve of Spring I am sending you this message, knowing that when these words reach you we will be over into the Queen of Seasons, Green and flowery Spring.

Today, on March 20, just one hour after high noon, there are snowy-looking clouds all overhead through the sky, and the North wind is continuing the steady gale it has been blowing since early morning.

And yet there is only the faintest touch of winter in the air; the temperature is almost up to fifty. On the breath of the North wind you can inhale the fresh and frosty coolness of distant snow blended with the incense of the rapidly-opening cottonwood leaf buds all down the valley.

The little apricot tree outside the little sun room has dressed itself up in its very best display of white blossoms and crystal white buds bordered with pink blossom covers. The full blown blooms begin on the twig back near the branch and buds in all stages of opening follow the twig out to the round pink bud, still closed, at the tip.

Often times in years past the apricots have bloomed amidst the late winter snow, the whirling snow flakes alighting on the blossoms dancing on the twigs swinging in the wind. You could hardly tell the blossoms from the flakes, and when the wind calmed down, the snow began alighting on the blossoms so that the clusters of blossoms were all tufted with a crown of snow.

These first fruit blossoms of the Spring are little spirit brothers and sisters of the snow flakes. And this apricot tree in all stages of blooming is like a dream of Spring outlined over the mountain horizon against the wintery sky.

The tiny clusters of purple lilac buds are appearing along with the first tiny green leaves. The new grass in the meadows gives the world a faint emerald glow. And all the world is ready for the first day of Spring.

A Telephone Call To Valdez, Alaska

The first telephone call was made on March ten, 1876. And I made my first call to my native city of Valdez, Alaska, March 16, 1979.

When I think back, in the times of my early life, living in Alaska was in a way almost like being on another planet — in a way, I do not mean that people felt that way about it in those days. Far from it. They thought nothing at all of getting on the boat at Seattle or San Francisco and starting for Alaska. Floating icebergs and stormy seas and cold weather — all these and many more dangers seemed only to add a spirit of adventure to the trip. The boat ride to and from Alaska was always a joyful experience.

Our forefathers since ages past have traveled the seas, and there is something still of our Viking ancestors in our blood. There is born in us a love of travelling on the ocean. Only now days it is too slow for us. We have taken to the air.

No. In those Days, Alaska did not seem distant from "The States" and we in Alaska felt very close to the rest of our fellow Americans farther south. We kept in touch by the boats going and coming.

What I am talking about is how you feel looking back. Airplanes were hardly heard of. And such a thing as a road to Alaska was not dreamed about. The telephone was still in the pioneering stage. That is why I say, that looking back, it seems that Alaska seemed way at the end of the world.

Through the years, in a strange way, Alaska has seemed to be drifting farther and farther away from me, although the memories of my early life there are as clear as yesterday.

After the Alaska earthquake of 1864 I wrote letters to people in Alaska and found that there were many of the people we had known still living there. With the completion of the Alaska Pipe line, The city of Valdez became world famous, although most of the original town was destroyed by the earthquake.

Somehow I had gotten the idea that a phone call to Alaska was very expensive; but the rate operator told me that it was only seventy-one cents for the first minute. So I decided to call the Mayor to ask if anything was left of the old town — if I could ever find where our house stood.

I dialed the number thinking that it would be several minutes, and that I could hardly hear the voice at the other end. Instead, after just one ring, a cheerful lady's voice answered, "City Hall."

The voice was so clear that I could hardly believe my ears. For a moment I stammered and stuttered, trying to realize that I was really talking to someone in my native town for the first time by telephone — and this after almost "Three score years and ten."

I told the lady, who was the police dispatcher, that I was a native of their town, and wanted to talk to the mayor. She said the mayor was in a meeting and would soon be in his office.

So I talked to this lady, and the old-time friendly Alaska Spirit came clearly over the many miles of land and sea.

She said they had moved the town to a new location, but the fire chief might be able to locate the place where our house used to be. She said she would send me a telephone book of Valdez, and would write me the address of one of our next door neighbors who had moved to Texas.

It was a great thrill to talk to someone in Valdez and I am still surprised at the clearness of the voice at the other end of the line. So the land of enchantment and the North Star State are not so far away, and it is a small world after all.

SANTA FE — Some year we may have a Legislature which goes out quietly, without a burst of last-minute maneuvering and hustling to beat the clock — but this year's session wasn't that . . . What has become the ritual of closing is the Senate's acceptance of the House's concurrence in the changes the upper group has made in the Appropriations Act. It would seem strange if that came at any time before the last few minutes. We have learned to accept the fact that this is how it will be — and some drama-lovers, including some on the Senate floor, would roll it if the custom were to change . . . Now that we've gone through the routine again, the question becomes how did they do this year?

FISH-POSH: In the hour after a session ends, interviews with anyone who has served in it are always euphoric, up-beat and full of great expectations. That's just the adrenalin of members still coursing in their blood after all that excitement . . . With a few days under their belts, most members would tell you this week that this was no great shakes as a session . . . Biggest event: Giving us each back 40 bucks (deliverable this time next year) in lieu of knocking the gross receipts tax off foot. Biggest blow: The additional money we will have to pay at the gas pump (where the numbers are already frighteningly high) to provide for care to the state's highways.

NOSE-COUNT: Of 13 legislators we asked what the session had accomplished that was of real moment, 11 could name only the personal tax rebate as something to be celebrated.

THE LOSERS: Most dramatic among those who went down to defeat were two measures, Right to Work and the Juvenile Code . . . The Right to Work people, who looked to be in good shape going into the session, got caught on two things: they couldn't line up the two-thirds majority Governor King had warned them they would have to have if he was to sign their bill; and they weren't all that enthusiastic about pressing for a referendum on the issue . . . As for the proposed new Juvenile Code, which would have tightened up most areas of punishment for delinquents and pre-delinquents, that also looked like it was on its way to passage. It had powerful old Ike Smalley, Senator from Deming, behind it, along with many law-enforcement types from around the state. How did it get beaten? For one thing, liberals on the House floor put on a quality or debate not often seen here: It worked; it convinced some fence-riders to vote against the measure . . . There was one other little matter: Those in favor of the new Code didn't get on the stick to get the mail out to legislators; opponents did — and won.

THE FUTURE: It's clear that liquor industry people in the state have to be ready for some stiff action in the future. The warnings were all-over the place this year — but that's about all they turned out to be, just warnings . . . Bankers were told to come back next year if they need to have maximum interest levels rise and prove it. They'd better be ready to do so — and they'd better line up the Powers That Be in both houses before they show up next time or they'll be shot down again.

PEACE AND QUIET: Santa Fe will miss the legislators and the lobbyists, but it always breathes a sigh of relief when they go home . . . Peace! It's wonderful!

Sense & Nonsense

U.S. Sen. Pete Domenici

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Sayeth the FCC, "Whoa!"

Eight million pieces of mail on one issue is more than enough, especially when the issue has no foundation and was settled four years ago.

A recent query from Farmington Daily Times editor Val Cooper indicates that this incident is rearing its erroneous head again.

The issue has to do with an alleged petition directed to the Federal Communications Commission, seeking a ban on religious broadcasting by public educational stations.

The petition was allegedly started by Mrs. Madelyn Murray O'Hair, a woman who has attained some degree of notoriety the past few years.

Since this alleged petition and opposition to it may be prevalent in other parts of the state, I thought some clarification might be beneficial to New Mexicans.

The issue had its origins back in 1974 when two men requested the FCC to inquire into the practices of non-commercial educational broadcast stations, including those licensed to religious educational organizations.

Pending that inquiry, the men asked that no licenses be granted for any new non-commercial educational station.

The FCC denied that petition on August 1, 1975, stating that the First Amendment required it to "observe a stance of neutrality toward religion, acting neither to promote nor to inhibit religion."

Also, the Communications Act prohibits the FCC from censoring broadcast material and both the Act and the Constitution forbid any action by the FCC that would interfere in any way with freedom of speech or of religion.

Mrs. O'Hair had nothing to do with the original petition, although widely-circulated erroneous rumors still connect her with it.

An FCC spokesman said the other day, "The Commission has received over 8 million pieces of mail in connection with this matter. Since April, 1975, when the first letters arrived, we have been swamped with mail from all parts of the country, with petitions in opposition containing as many as 10,000 names. I wish we could clear this matter up once and for all."

So, if the issue crops up in your area of the state, you might remember that the FCC ruled four years ago that it could not in any way interfere with freedom of speech or religion.

That's a refreshing stance for a government agency to take.

Overheard in a Washington restaurant: "When the government does it, it is called inflation. When you or I do it, it is called counterfeiting."

Letters to the Editor

Dear editor:

I was very disappointed to hear of the School Board decision to allow gym usage for gymnastics only one night per week. Perhaps the School Board does not understand the necessity for more time to make the program worthwhile. (Would a football team practice only once a week? Of course not!)

Ruidoso's children need gymnastics. We are a small town and unable to provide the athletic experiences of bigger cities. Gymnastics can fill a need for our children, especially those who are not interested or do not have the physical capabilities to participate in football or basketball.

The Ruidoso Gymnastics Association has worked very hard to provide quality coaching, and equipment. Insurance coverage will be required and made available for each child. A pre-registration shows nearly 100 interested children. All we need is a place for instruction and practice — and once a week is not enough.

Sincerely,
Jeanie Whitman

Dear editor:

I would like to make an appeal to the school board to reconsider their decision on Jeffing the Ruidoso Gymnastics Association use the White Mountain Middle School gym only once a week to several times a week.

Gymnastics is a growing sport in the United States and I want Ruidoso to join in the action. As an active gymnast and competitor I can say that gymnastics is a very exciting sport for both the participant and the spectator and is extremely beneficial to the gymnast's physical health. The Ruidoso Gymnastic Association has the support and will that it needs, to make gymnastics go in Ruidoso. All we need is the consent of the school board to let us use the middle school gym for classes and team workout.

Once again, as a teenager and concerned gymnast, I am appealing to the school board to reconsider their decisions.

Sincerely,
Kim Prophet

To our knowledge, Governor Bruce King is standing pat in his opposition to the development of the Sierra Blanca Regional Airport on Fort Stanton mesa based, apparently, solely on the recommendation of Dr. Bill Stevens, his secretary of agriculture, who might be considered a spokesman for New Mexico State University, Las Cruces.

The governor has, apparently, given little, if any, thought to the potential economic impact the airport would have on Lincoln County and the resulting income the state would ultimately derive through tax revenues the airport would generate.

There is a possibility a representative of the office of the Secretary of the Department of the Interior in Washington, D.C., will visit the site early in April and, following this personal inspection, make recommendations to Secretary of the Interior Cecil Andrus.

We feel it is within the prerogatives of Senators Pete Domenici and Harrison Schmitt to urge, strongly, that this visitation be made.

The airport would require the fencing in of only 300 of the 26,000 acres on the mesa. This leaves us wondering how NMSU officials can claim that the loss of 1.15 percent of this expanse of range land can "cut the heart out of" experiments that, conceivably, might not benefit anyone. — CD

ON "SCARED STRAIGHT"

Being's a group of people in Santa Fe . . . and elsewhere . . . in their collective wisdom . . . or ignorance . . . chose not to subject juveniles to punishment equal to their crimes . . . the KOA TV program "Scared Straight" provided food for thought . . . without eating halibut.

In no way do I want anyone to think I'm in favor of hanging juveniles for first offenses . . . short of capital crimes . . . 'cause anyone is entitled to one mistake . . . with the success of DWI schools being a case in point.

However . . . and here's where "Scared Straight" could enter the picture as a deterrent to juvenile crime . . . those juveniles that repeatedly commit burglaries, muggings, car theft and similar crimes need more help than they're getting from the hand slappings and admonishments of juvenile authorities.

Juvenile offenders . . . until attaining the age of 18 . . . are relatively secure in their belief that nothing much can be done to them . . . and, with statistics proving they mostly go scot free . . . what can the juvenile courts do but cajole, wheedle and plead with the offenders to change their ways?

Back to "Scared Straight" . . . 17 juveniles visited a maximum security prison back east . . . where they heard convicts, from lifers to those in for 25 or more years . . . tell them, like it is, about life in prison. The language . . . and references to homosexual activities . . . and the struggle to live . . . employed by these convicts would possibly bring your aunt Josephine to tears . . . but . . . your aunt Josephine isn't likely to become a juvenile offender.

The show was brutal . . . indelicate . . . explicit . . . and, in the 17 instances of juvenile repeat offenders, 15 of the 17 no longer wound up in the clutches of the law . . . and just one had a repeat brush, received probation, and has since erred no longer.

Perhaps all second and consistent juvenile offenders . . . of crimes that'd put an adult behind bars . . . should be required by the courts to view this film . . . or sit behind iron bars with a group of lifers or long term convicts . . . and be subjected to the same indoctrination into prison life those real life teenagers were subjected to during "Scared Straight" . . . a real eye opener.

Two long termers . . . and the warden . . . at the state penitentiary at Santa Fe . . . thought the film had sufficient impact to be worthwhile showing to hard core juvenile delinquents . . . and those same three thought a similar program could be developed in Santa Fe . . . and it's worth pursuing . . . 'cause hard core juveniles . . . just like hardened criminals . . . you really wouldn't want chaperoning Sunday school picnics . . . after all, any of the tough types might stick a knife into a bodice as easily as into an angel food cake.

Why . . . even the smart alec in the crowd at the filming had the smirking smile wiped off his face . . . permanently . . . a real life miracle portrayed right in front of your eyes . . . yup . . . "Scared Straight" was a real attention compeller . . . something to compell bad guys to become good guys.

"Scared Straight" is a film proponents of tougher juvenile laws should view . . . and it weren't hurt none if opponents were forced to see it.

TODDY FOR THE BODY

On opening a "press release" . . . one of those "news" stories blatantly advertising a certain product . . . I caught a headline on a toddy . . . to take the chill out of brick breezes chilling the body . . . and being's the toddy is first boiled . . . then simmered . . . it should warm the cockles of even a cold heart.

Anyhow . . . the toddy takes a 48-ounce can of fruit drink . . . a cup of apple juice . . . two three-inch cinnamon sticks, 10 whole cloves, half teaspoon whole allspice . . . one-quarter cup light brown sugar and a two-inch strip of lemon peel, one-half inch wide . . . bring the concoction to full boil . . . then simmer 15 minutes . . . strain into mugs . . . if'n you pucker, like bitin' into a sour hill pickle . . . add some sugar . . . sit back, sip, relax and get warmed. And it'll probably even warm you more if'n you get into the spirit of things by injecting some spirits into the toddy . . . and I don't think it's even possible it'll replace a tall glass of ice tea with plenty of ice cubes jingling in sume.

'Course there's nothing like a hot toddy . . . even if it's nothing more than sassafras tea . . . which, to be good, has to have more bark than bite.

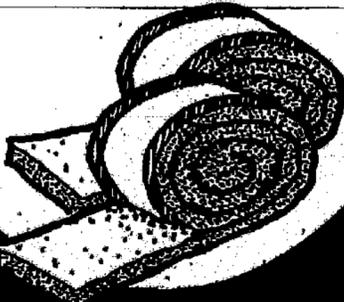

BRIEF BIT: If'n peace comes to the Mideast . . . let's hope that Cur Jimmy'll devote his energies to bringing order to the chaos rampant here . . . CD

I-n-s-i-d-e the Outdoors

by Gary Dollahan

National Wildlife Week, sponsored by the National Wildlife Federation, is scheduled this year for the week of March 18-24. "Conserve Our Wildlife" is the theme for this year's annual tribute to our wildlife resources.

The key word in this theme is "conserve." Conservation is a word heard often and used frequently in today's world. We speak of "conserving fuel," "conserving energy," and "conserving wildlife," just to mention a few.

Unfortunately, few people really understand the meaning of conservation. You can look this word up in a dictionary and find a definition such as, "to keep in a safe or sound state; preserve from loss, decay, waste, or injury; keep unimpaired."

Yet, a simple, easy to remember definition on conservation is "wise use." Think about it, the wise use of fuel, the wise use of energy, and the wise use of wildlife. Simple and true, isn't it?

Of course, the issue of wildlife conservation is the topic of this column. Wildlife conservation means wise use of our resource and planning for its future. To do this we must know its needs and the needs of man in the years to come. Making sure that those needs are met takes cooperation, money, research, management, and concern for the wildlife resource in the day-to-day decision making that goes on in our country.

Such decision making may involve the construction of a flood control dam, or the number of cattle grazing in a pasture. Whatever the question, conservation of wildlife should be considered in the decision. Our common goal should be to maintain healthy populations of a variety of wildlife species.

Everyone who cares about wildlife has a concern for conservation and wildlife management. The protection of habitat — the places where animals find food, water, and living space — is the key to healthy wildlife populations. Such protection must be included in our country's decision making if we hope to enjoy wildlife in the twenty-first century.

Through efforts such as National Wildlife Week the plight of our wildlife in the face of "progress" is being made known. Anyone who thrills at the sight of, or even the sign of, a cougar, a deer, an elk, or enjoys the sweet song of birds in the spring, should take an interest in and promote the meaning of "Conserve Our Wildlife."

After all, if wildlife disappears from the face of the earth, what chance has man to survive?

"TIPS FOR THE DAIRY FARMER"

Who would ever think that attaching a greenhouse to the southside of your house could reduce high home heating costs? It can, and for nothing except the initial cost of the construction.

This idea is especially appropriate for New Mexicans, since the weather bureau tells us that New Mexico receives more average sunshine than any other state except Arizona.

The design of an attached greenhouse is simple; anyone who is handy with tools can build one.

It is necessary to have a south, or nearly south, facing wall for the greenhouse to be attached to. The area where it is to be located should be free of shading from another structure or evergreen trees. Most buildings codes will not permit building over gas or water meters.

Another building requirement is to attach the greenhouse to a wall with either a door or window into the house. If it doesn't have either, make sure one can be put in. The opening is to admit heat into the house during sun periods, and to close it off at night or during periods of low solar heat. The greenhouse will never take heat from the residence.

There are many different uses for a greenhouse. Most have plants, but some are used for additional living space or bright sitting rooms.

Planting areas can be in permanent beds on the floor, in pots, or in table beds. An advantage of having plants is that they add humidity to the air, and the soil provides mass for storing solar heat.

Most attached greenhouses are provided with some sort of mass in addition to the plant soil for heat storage. The most common method is to fill drums with water to store heat. Any type of brick, adobe or cement is fine to use. These dense, heavy materials absorb solar heat then release it as the greenhouse cools during non-solar periods. They help maintain more even temperatures as the sun comes and goes.

The Department of Energy and Minerals is sponsoring the construction of twenty attached greenhouses during the next two years. Properly operated owner-built greenhouses are estimated to pay for themselves in energy savings within three to five years.

Instructions for building attached greenhouses can be obtained at no cost by calling the toll-free number 1-800-482-6792.

New method developed on health services delivery

BY EDDIE BERNICE JOHNSON
Principal Regional Official
Health, Education and Welfare
Dallas, Texas

In recent years, a very interesting new method for delivering health services has gained in popularity. This new approach has two essential characteristics. It brings together a comprehensive range of medical services in a single organization so that a patient is assured of convenient access to all of them; and, it provides needed services for a fixed contract fee which is paid in advance by all subscribers.

Such organizations can have a variety of forms and names and sponsors. One of the strengths of this new concept, in fact, is its great flexibility. The general term applied to all such units is "HMO", Health Maintenance Organizations. They were authorized under provisions of the Health Maintenance Organization Act of 1973. To be more precise, an HMO can be defined as an organized, integrated system for delivering a broad array of health services to an enrolled group of persons. The HMO accepts a contractual responsibility for the quality and availability of all services it provides. It is a system designed to bring physicians and other health professionals, consumers and facilities together into more effective relationships for meeting health care needs efficiently and in a manner convenient to the provider and consumers. It should be explained that HMOs do not impose rigid organizational patterns upon the practice of medicine, either in terms of benefits offered or of the means by which service is provided. The keynote of an HMO is flexibility and freedom of choice for doctors and patients alike.

HMOs are not an attempt to eliminate the familiar fee-for-service system of health care delivery. Rather, the HMO approach seeks to offer a viable alternative so that groups of persons may choose to contract for a range of services for a preestablished and pre-paid fee.

Two general forms of HMOs have evolved. One form is called the Prototype Prepaid Group Practice in which services are usually provided in integrated facilities either by staff physicians paid on a salary basis or through medical groups which contract with the HMO.

A second form of HMO is the Individual Practice Association (IPA) which brings private physicians together in cooperative arrangements. The IPA model retains fee-for-service provisions. This model allows member physicians to continue to practice in their private offices, continue to see their private patients and also provide care for HMO subscribers.

HMOs provide an appealing alternative to both physicians and consumers alike. Certainly one compelling reason is that HMOs have proven themselves to be cost effective. Rather than rewarding overutilization, HMOs provide incentives to reduce unnecessary care.

The prepayment mechanism acts as an incentive to optimize scarce resources. Maximum use is made of all available health manpower. The primary care physicians assume the responsibility for the appropriate level of care. They utilize paramedics and nurse practitioners when indicated, and arrange referrals to the appropriate specialists as necessary.

HMOs hold costs down. For example, studies show that HMOs reduce hospitalization by as much as 30 to 60 percent. A major focus of HMOs is on prevention, or preventive health care. It has long been known that preventive care is cheaper than curative care, and, is much easier on the individual.

Another means through which HMOs promote cost savings is by increased competition. A Federal Trade Commission study notes that a cost containing HMO in an area stimulates the traditional fee-for-service sector to initiate its own cost control efforts.

HMOs are an attractive alternative because their patients are provided with comprehensive services, 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. They are paying a fee or premium that buys full coverage services, not just the right to reimbursement.

Many physicians, participating in HMOs, welcome the end of administrative headaches and the freedom to practice medicine without the distraction of having to run a business as well. Perhaps the most rewarding aspect to doctors is the experience of continuous professional discussion, peer interaction and readily available consultation and feedback.

The rapidly growing interest in HMOs has resulted in establishment of a toll-free "800 number" for HMO information and referral service. Any person with questions about HMOs may call the toll-free number (1)-800-638-6688 and get a response.

The HMO Act of 1973 charges the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) to assure that good quality HMO services are provided on a fiscally sound basis. Congress asserted its intent that newly operating federally-assisted HMOs achieve financial stability in an expeditious fashion. Of course, fiscal soundness is only one element of quality. There must be compliance monitoring and guidance on quality assurance. All these elements are receiving full attention simultaneously with promotion of the HMO concept.

The 1978 HMO legislative amendments mean that increased grant and loan funding will be available. In fact, the 1980 federal budget would nearly double the money for HMOs, increasing it from $38 million to $74 million.

One new authority is provided by the 1978 amendments...an HMO management training intern program is established. When implemented, this should help ensure strong management capability.

To this point, we have talked of HMOs from the national and general perspective. Let's turn our attention briefly to the status of the HMO program in HEW's Region VI which consists of the states of Arkansas, Louisiana, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas.

Currently there are 13 HMOs operational in the five state area. By state, they are Texas 5, Louisiana 2, New Mexico 2, Arkansas 4 and Oklahoma none.

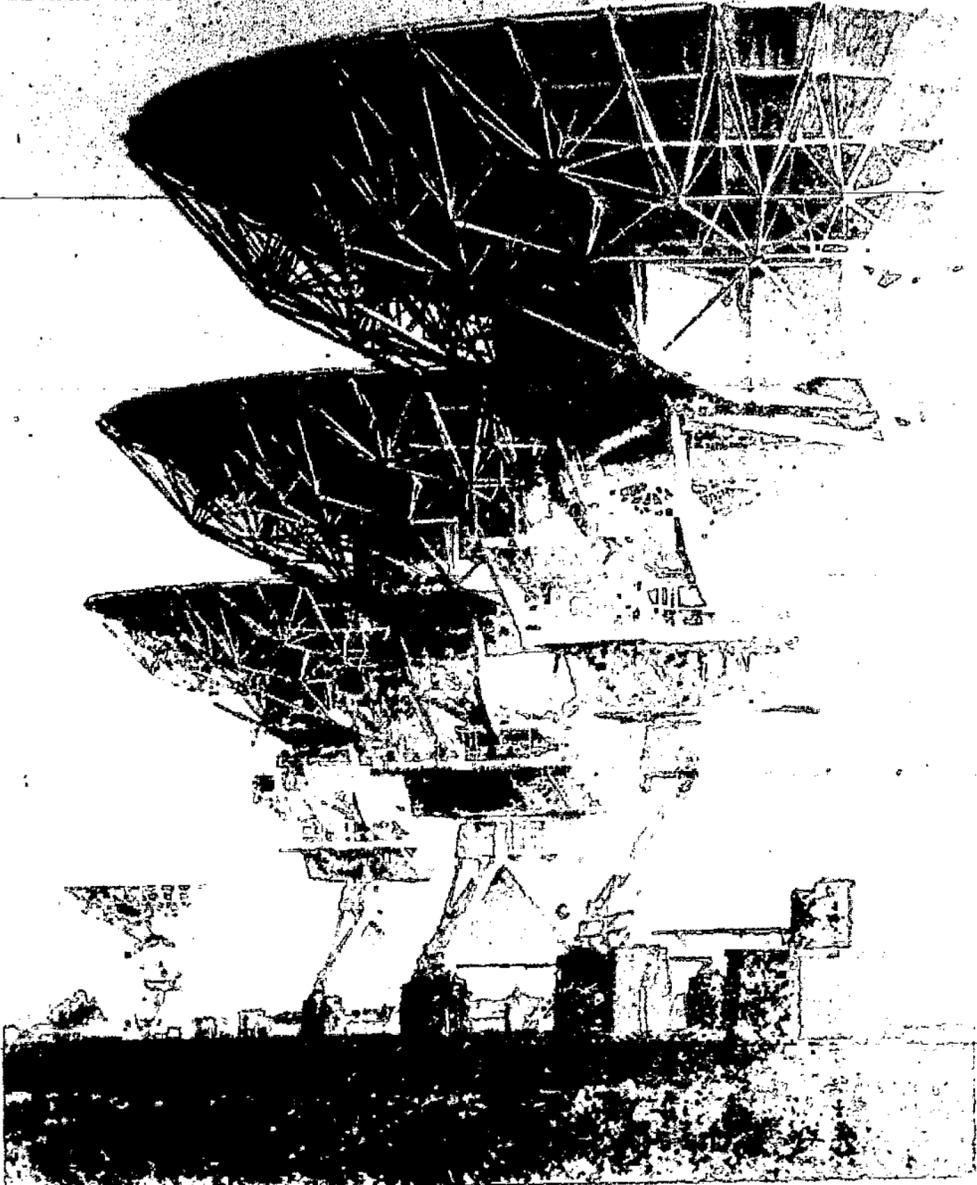

HMO enrollment in the region as of January 1979 totals 84,243 persons. Breakout by state shows 40,475 in Texas, 3,300 in Arkansas, 17,368 in Louisiana and 23,100 in New Mexico.

The 13 HMOs are located in the following cities: Houston, El Paso, and San Antonio, Texas; Baton Rouge, Louisiana; Albuquerque, New Mexico; and Crittenden, Green, Clay, Faulkner and Ouachita counties in Arkansas.

Meanwhile, an analysis of market survey data and discussions with interested individuals and organizations has produced a number of additional HMO target areas for new or expanded HMOs. These include the cities of Austin, Beaumont/Port Arthur, Corpus Christi, Waco and Dallas, Texas; Oklahoma City/Tulsa, Oklahoma; Little Rock, Arkansas and Lafayette, Louisiana.

We strongly urge both health care consumers and providers to seriously explore the many obvious advantages potentially available to both. We in HEW believe that HMOs will become synonymous with and symbolic of quality health care in this country. We in the federal program will be doing our best to make this happen.

INFLATION FIGHTING ideas

"Use Open Dating"

This ad provides you with a guide to product freshness. An example is milk! Look at the date imprinted in the top of the carton. This specifies the last date this item can be sold and still allow you reasonable time to store and use the product at home. You'll find this same kind of dating on many other products. Cottage cheese has the date stamped on the bottom. Egg cartons have the dates imprinted on the end. The places for the date may vary but their purpose does not. Store clerks know these products are not to be sold beyond the stamped date. The quality and freshness of the food also depends on the efficiency of storage and handling practices in-store. While this care and open dating is your assurance of freshness and quality, your handling of the product is also important. Refrigerate perishables as soon as you get home. Then, Open Dating will truly pay big dividends in freshness and top quality for you!

Next week's Inflation Fighting idea: "RECYCLING IN THE KITCHEN"

Together, we can be INFLATION FIGHTERS!
