Fire season has started

BY CHARLOTTE FELLERS

"Unless we see a change in the present weather pattern, we anticipate a more severe fire season, locally, than we've experienced the last few years," Steve Makowski, fire management officer for Smokey Bear Ranger District, said Tuesday.

Weather conditions throughout the Lincoln National Forest and surrounding areas signalled an unofficial start of the fire season March 1, prompting forest service officials to hire seasonal employees early.

The Ruidoso Lookout has been occupied since March 3 and already this month, eight members of the Smokey Bear Hot Shot crew have begun seasonal employment. The full 20-member crew will be on duty by March 31, Makowski said.

"Based on weather conditions, we put the Hot Shots on early; their season was to begin March 29," he said. Hot Shots will work through October 15 unless the fire

Arts festival July 25-27

Plans to expand the Ruidoso Art Festival, July 25-27, into a more organized, more inviting event, were launched in a meeting Monday.

Chairman of the Art Festival Committee of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce, Dave Wilson, said the first priority is the artist. "If the artist is the best, which is what we hope to draw, they can pick and choose which festivals they want to attend. We want ours to be one of the most fun, most profitable and most inviting for them."

Wilson said this year's festival will be patterned after the 1979 fair, which was held under five large circus tents at the high school parking lot. As with last year's event, the committee decided to duplicate the hours the festival is open and basic format used for judging work in the festival.

An entry fee of $75 per booth, and $50 per person if two artists share a booth, was approved. The number of booths will be cut by four since some booths were flooded during rains at the 1979 show.

Wilson said the juried show should have a balance of media. Other factors which will be used in judging work include:

-Prior participation in Ruidoso's art festival or in similar shows of equivalent quality.

Salaries and cheerleaders' woes aired at school board meeting

BY CHARLOTTE FELLERS
Staff-Writer

All Ruidoso school employees were awarded a $300 cost of living increment at the Board of Education meeting Wednesday night.

The increment was allotted to help ease the burden of inflation which has eaten into the 6.95 percent cost of living raise given school employees for the 1979-80 school year.

The one-time increase will be paid from the operational budget, with a total price tag of $43,584 including employee benefits.

Thirty-three teachers, aides and administrators attended the meeting to request consideration for a more substantial raise in the 1980-81 budget, due in the State Board of Education office March 20.

Mickey McGuire, a spokesman for the teachers' salary policy committee (SPC), said teachers "feel we've been pretty lucky. The cooperation which has developed our salary schedule has made the schedule respected statewide," he said.

The SPC invited all teachers to respond to a questionnaire outlining what their financial needs are, and results indicated that 25 teachers operate on deficit budgets of an average $375 per year. The difference is covered with salaries earned from a second job in most cases, McGuire said.

Seven teachers said they end the year with surplus funds averaging $138. "The comments we received were that Ruidoso teachers are better off than (teachers) nationwide,"

Superintendent of Schools Pat Valliant stated that he hopes the budget will bear a 14 percent salary increase for certified personnel and at least 15 percent increase for non-certified staff members.

"A House Bill passed this year stated that we should increase the non-certified salaries more since they were probably hit the hardest by inflation," Valliant said.

Ruidoso's budget hearing with the State Board of Education will be April 24 at 1 p.m., in the high school library. Valliant pegged the estimated 1980-81 budget at more than $3 million.

Board president Dave Parks appointed a seven-member committee to hear complaints lodged by several cheerleaders' parents.

Cheerleaders' parents attending the meeting, said costs of being a cheerleader, which they claim approach $1,000 per year, have priced many high school girls out of competing for the position.

Six mothers signed a letter charging that

Village trustees honor Gunter

Village trustee Ab Gunter Tuesday evening was honored by the other trustees for his services to the village during his eight year tenure on the council.

Village clerk Jim Hine presented a framed proclamation to Gunter, signed by mayor Lloyd Davis Jr., and trustees George White, Sherman Atwood and Frank Sayner.

The proclamation reads:
"Whereas Ab Gunter has served the Village of Ruidoso as trustee and Mayor Pro-tem for the period 1972-1980, and
"Whereas Ab has performed the duties of his elected office with dignity, efficiency and unselfishness;
"Therefore, we, do hereby proclaim:
"Thank You!
"Ab Gunter

"For a job well done, and further proclaim that you will reverence the memory of the occasion of service to your community."

Gunter, who was defeated in his recent bid for reelection, was visibly affected by the presentation, which caught him completely by surprise. "This is the most impressive award I've ever received," he said.

VILLAGE TRUSTEE AB GUNTER Tuesday evening was presented a framed proclamation, attesting to his eight years of service to the village, by village clerk Jim Hine. Mayor Lloyd

L. Davis Jr., seated, and trustees George White, Sherman Atwood and Frank Sayner signed the document. Gunter said, "This is the most impressive award I've ever received."

MAYOR LLOYD DAVIS BLASTS CPS

Trustees nix Pow Wow funds

Though tempers did not flare at Tuesday evening's regular meeting of the Ruidoso village trustees:

TRUSTEE GEORGE WHITE attacked the Chamber of Commerce request for $8,000 in Lodger's Tax funds to promote the Mescalero Apache Tribe's (MAT) June Pow Wow; and

MAYOR LLOYD L. DAVIS JR., blasted Community Public Service (CPS) with his statement: "I recommend we put in our own utilities company and run them (CPS) out of town."

(Editor's note: The trustees' agenda stated the request for Lodger's Tax funds for the Pow Wow was $7,500, though the actual request was for $8,000; with White using the $7,500 figure in his statements.)

White, regarding the Chamber's request for promotional funds for the Pow Wow, said, "The MAT is now on their own feet and can handle their own business. We should not donate $7,500 to the project."

He further said that he'd contacted many of the village's motel owners and that they are "perturbed about spending Ruidoso money in another county." Mescalero is in Otero County.

Chamber executive director Ed Jungbluth responded to White's remarks by saying: "We promote the race track (with Lodger's Tax funds) and the MAT ski area and the Inn of the Mountain Gods, all of which are outside the village limits. Lodger's Tax monies are used to entice tourists to our community."

After noting that the request for Pow Wow promotional funds was $8,000 (the same amount of Lodger's Tax monies approved by the trustees in 1979) Jungbluth said, "The amount is $8,000, not $7,500. The Chamber directors unanimously approved this amount, with the provision that this year the only way we'll go is to have $8,000 from the tribe, or will match up to that amount on a dollar to dollar matching amount from the tribe," to promote the Pow Wow.

JUNGBLUTH ALSO SAID he is contacting Coors, "as they might provide some funding for the Pow Wow. Coors is helping sponsor Pow Wows and other Indian events all over the country and I've been advised they are interested in helping sponsor the June MAT Pow Wow."

White also referred to the Tribe's putting in only $5,000 to support the 1979 Pow Wow and that the Lodger's Tax had put up $8,000 with "Ruidoso getting back only $3,025, after the Pow Wow, which is deposited in a Certificate of Deposit (CD) that is due July 10, 1980."

After withdrawing his motion to reject the C-C request for this year's Pow Wow funding, White then moved that the "$3,025, plus interest, in the CD go to the Lodger's Tax Committee, to do with as they see fit, or for promotion of the MAT Pow Wow. The money can go back to the Pow Wow fund, to be kept in Lodger's Tax for MAT promotion of the Pow Wow, if the

Coulston slams White

Benny Coulston, Chamber of Commerce president, Tuesday night criticized village trustee George White for his stand to deny the Chamber $8,000 in Lodger's Tax funds to promote the Mescalero Apache Tribe's June Pow Wow.

Following the trustees' meeting, The News asked Coulston for his opinion of the council's action.

Coulston said:

"I am extremely disappointed in the action taken tonight by the council.

"Tonight I feel that one member of the council, Mr. George White, by word and inflection, expressed a personal vindictiveness towards a request by the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce, and approved by the Lodger's Tax Committee that was appointed by the council, that was based not on the merits of the request, but rather on the events of a village trustee election.

"The action taken by the council was not nearly as important as the fact that personalities and outside events now play a part in council action."

Downs tabled lodger's tax

Consideration of the establishment of a lodger's tax in the village of Ruidoso Downs was postponed again Monday by Downs trustees, this time, until the April 14 meeting.

New council member Bob Power, also a motel owner, spoke out against the tax, saying the use of the funds "has been changed three times since it was first brought up."

Power said that at first, the money was to be used "on the Chaparral Convention Center, then it was to be used in the general fund and third, to beautify the highway dividers."

His motel business, Power said, would not be hurt "that much," by the tax, but he added, "There is no visible need for it."

Village attorney Richard Parsons explained that use of the money was regulated by state statute and could be directed toward improvement of public facilities such as parks and playgrounds and toward advertising of the village in general, but not for upgrading private facilities.

Power said he would abstain from voting on the matter because he was a motel owner, but added he felt that lodger's tax funds in Ruidoso were being "misspent."

"As far as the advertising, he said, 'Ruidoso Downs wouldn't benefit one percent—Ruidoso would benefit, because the people who have been coming here for ten years all go to Ruidoso.'"

Mayor Norman Wheeler reiterated his support of the measure, particularly because of the fact that conventions were not being attracted to the area.

"The villages of Ruidoso and Ruidoso

Hightower candidate for commissioner

John A. Hightower has announced his candidacy for the office of Lincoln County Commissioner, District II, subject to the Democratic primary election June 3.

He was appointed by Governor Bruce King to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of commissioner Lee Straley in January of 1979.

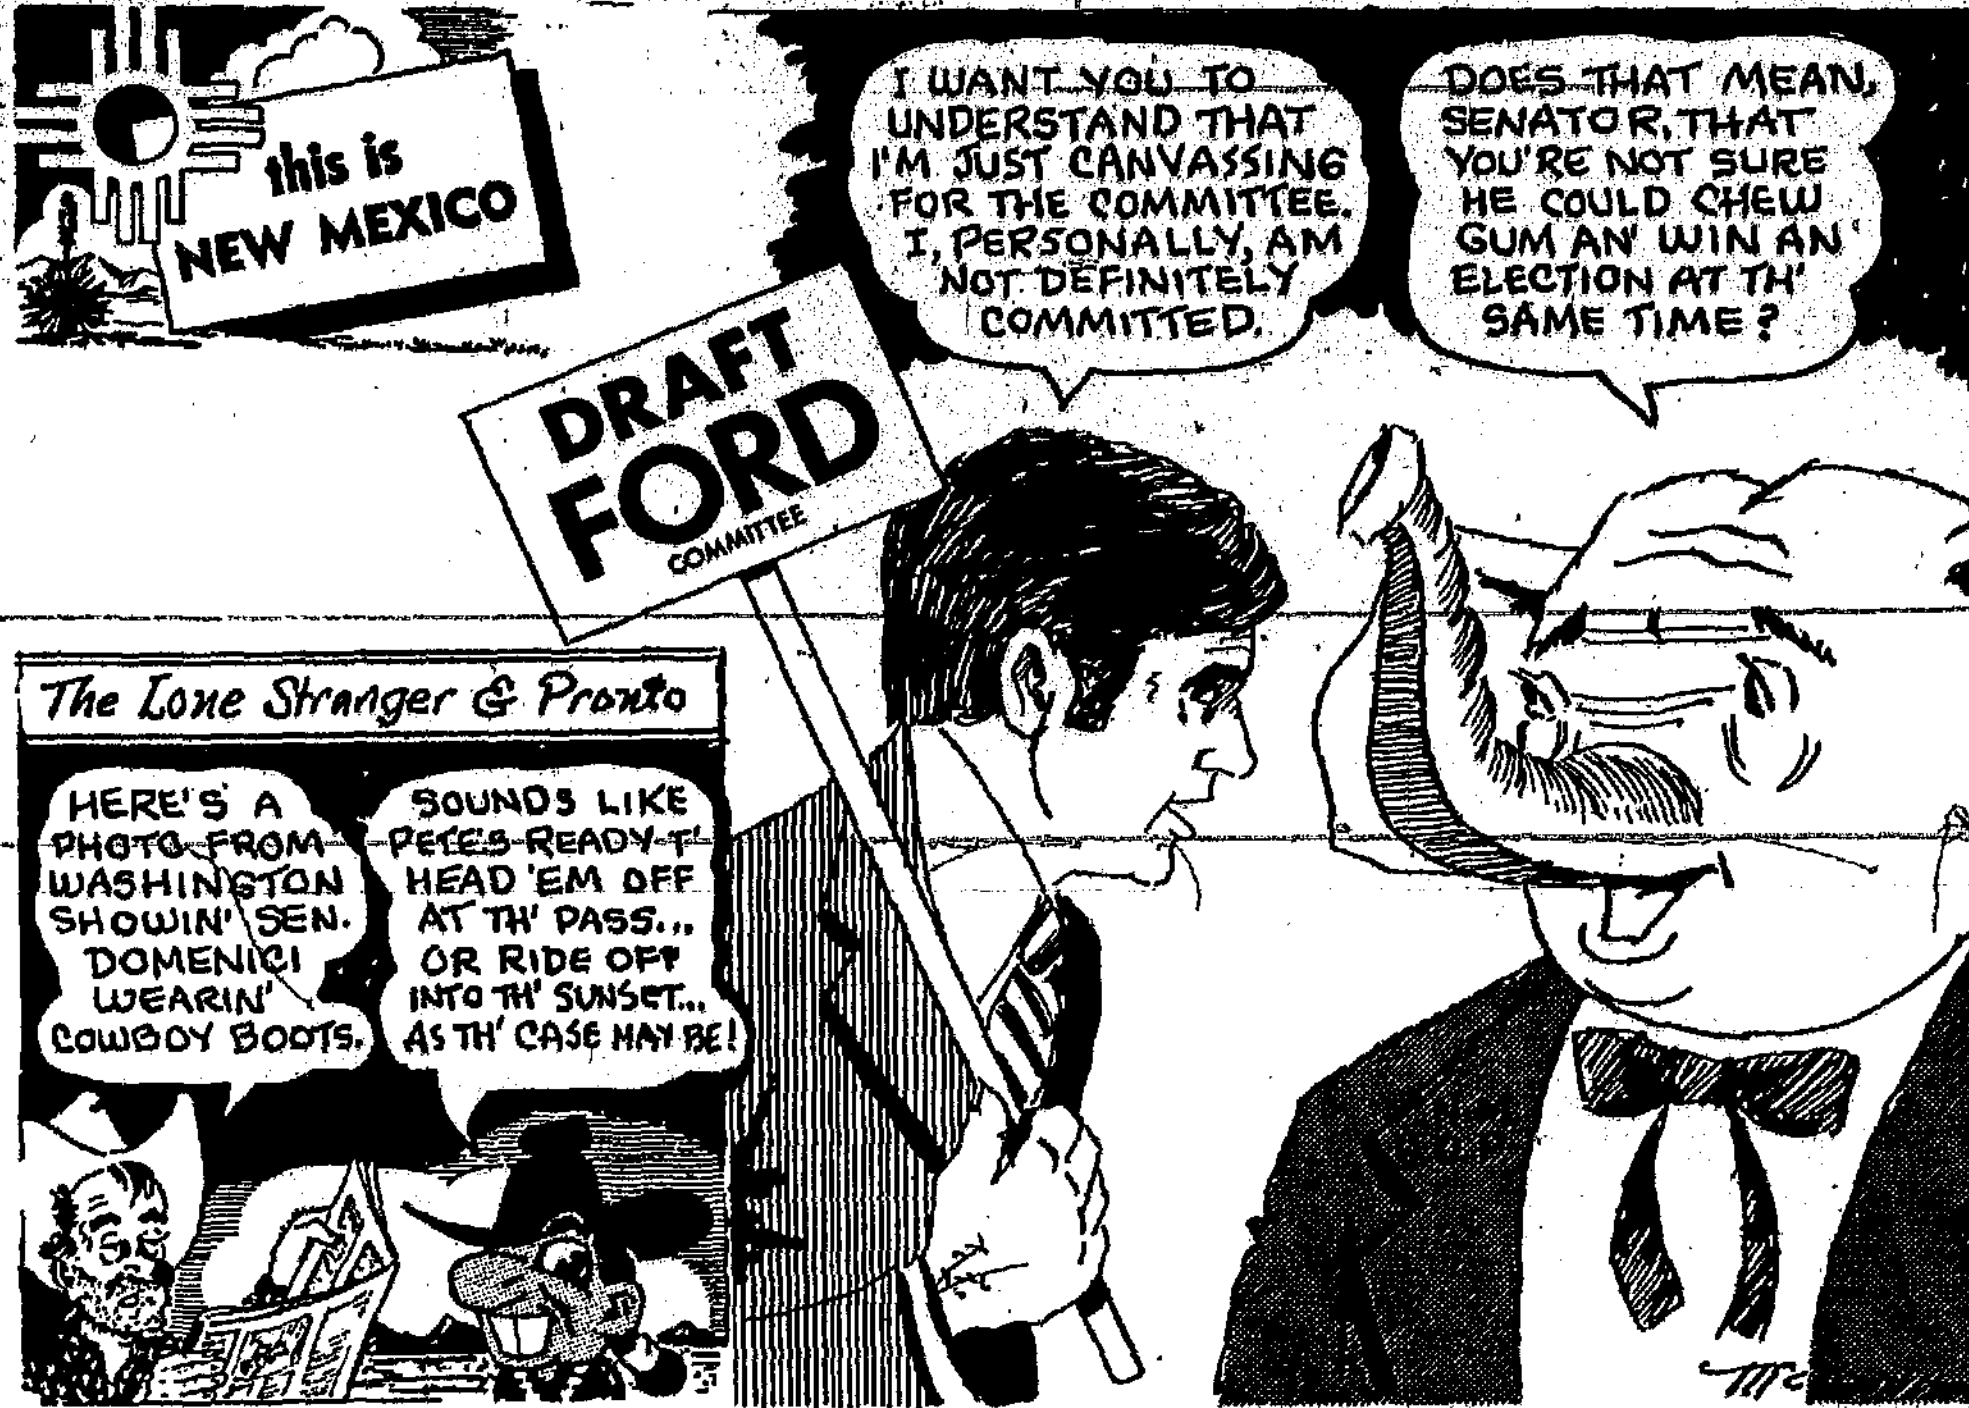

"I have enjoyed serving Lincoln County in this position," Hightower said, "and would like to continue in the same manner as in the past. I welcome any questions, suggestions or criticisms from individuals or groups within the county."

Power outage due to broken insulators

Broken insulators were blamed for a power outage which left Ruidoso residents in the dark 55 minutes Monday night, according to John Sigler, manager of Community Public Service (CPS).

Sigler said several insulators were broken west of Alamogordo on a 115,000 volt line, which caused several flickers. Rains that night prompted the outage, but customers of CPS and Otero County Cooperative were switched onto the New- man plant from El Paso Electric until repairs were made.

"We're not sure how the insulators got broken," Sigler said. "It could have been any number of things."

He said the Bureau of Reclamation repaired the line the same night and gave no cost estimates on damages.

Communities affected were Tularosa, Cloudcroft, Carrizozo, Capitan, Ruidoso, Ruidoso Downs, Alto and the Hondo Valley.

New handbag look

New fashion handbags offer ladies a choice. Look for the fishing bag in lacquered straw and brilliant shades with the shoulder strap, say NMSU Extension people. Also, look for the small clutch bag in both leather and straw from the 40s.

ONE CONDITION FOR becoming a seasonal employee of the Forest Service is to pass a "step test," a measure of fitness and endurance. Rocky Kirk, a member of the Smokey Bear Hot Shots, performed the exercise Tuesday. Each potential employee steps five minutes followed by a measurement of the pulse rate. The pulse rate is applied to a chart according to the person's sex, size and weight to obtain their fitness score, according to Steve Makowski, fire management officer on Smokey Bear Ranger District.

Fire season

season worsens this year, allowing an extension of employment.

Two Model 70 fire tankers, based at Ruidoso and Capitan, have been manned already and a firefighting helicopter will be based in Capitan beginning March 29. Each is equipped with a seven-person crew.

Other fire suppression teams will be hired within the next month, and Makowski said no personnel cutbacks are anticipated.

The Eagle Creek Fire Suppression crew will be composed of members of a Young Adult Conservation Corps (YACC) which has worked at the ranger station since October 3, 1979. "In past years, we've hired extra people to fill those positions. This year, we'll pull those from the YACC group that are trained and qualify for fire suppression work," Makowski said.

All seasonal fire suppression employees are assigned to construct fire breaks and hazard reduction measure when not fighting fires, and Hot Shot crew members are now readying equipment they will use during the season, he said.

The local fire danger is affected by weather conditions, Makowski said. As an example, he cited a March 2 fire in Ruidoso which burned four acres of land. If the fire had occurred a day later, he said, it would have been substantially worse.

Relative humidity, temperature and winds all have a bearing on how fast and how far a fire will travel once it starts, Makowski said.

"As an example, on March 2, we had a slight wind and it was a little cool. The next day, we had a high temperature of 62 degrees, relative humidity of 24 percent and we were getting steady 15 mph winds with gusts that went higher," Makowski said.

"Based on that, the flame length of that fire was actually 18 to 24 inches, which is a gauge to measure the intensity of a fire. Using Monday's weather conditions, we would have had four foot flame lengths — it was windier, drier and warmer."

Makowski said a flame length of four feet is "about the limit that men with hand tools can successfully fight a fire."

He added that, while weather conditions don't seem extreme, people should use extra caution in disposing of fireplace ashes, which was the cause of the March 2 fire.

Makowski said fireplace ashes should be placed in a metal container, then water poured over them, followed by stirring. Ashes should remain in the water at least 72 hours before being thrown out.

Do not place ashes in dumpsters, since they can remain ignitable for up to 48 hours or longer, Makowski added.

Downs, and Lincoln County, are missing the boat by not utilizing the facilities we have," Wheeler said, in reference to the Chaparral Convention Center.

The trustees also discussed with police chief Ray Garner the possibility of the village's joining the Public Employees Retirement Association (PERA), which Garner said would be helpful in attracting potential employees. The police department is currently operating with only two officers.

Under the PERA program, both employee and employer would contribute equal amounts into a retirement fund. Cost of adopting the program for all village employees for the current calendar year would be $5,452, according to village clerk Virginia Spall.

Garner added however, that he felt raises, in addition to the PERA benefits, would be necessary to attract qualified officers who would remain in the village's employ for any length of time.

"One without the other, I don't think will work at all," Garner said.

In other business, the trustees: — Accepted the following appointments: street commissioner, Lois Beavers; parks commissioner, Harold Mansell; water commissioner, Bob Power; and sanitation commissioner, Don Rierson. Beavers was also appointed mayor pro-tem.

— Gave annual approval to the state open meetings law, stipulating that three days public notice would be given for all regular meetings and 48 hours notice for special meetings.

— Tabled consideration of a resolution dealing with wages, salaries and personnel practices.

— Were requested by Wheeler to consult their constituents and advise him of their feelings on the proposed Sierra Blanca Regional Airport within the month.

— Were asked by Wheeler to be thinking of possible candidates for a local "energy coordinator," an appointment requested by the state Energy and Minerals Department to develop energy conservation plans for the village.

— Withheld approval of an occupational license for Baca Landscaping, while granting licenses to the following: J. W. Von Rosenberg, Stony's Gas Company, Ruidoso Natural Gas Company, Hughes Body Shop, R&R Fence and Patio, Bonnell Sand and Gravel, Rierson Mobile Homes, Nellie's Beauty Shop, Conley's Nursery, Western Highlands Corporation, Johnny Bean Turf Supply, White Mountain Enterprises, Zarges Animal Clinic, Power's and Sons, Sanchez Drive In and Lou's Barbecue. The trustees voted on the licenses individually, with unanimous approval given to all except Lou's Barbecue, which was approved on a 3-1 vote.

Tree pruning demonstration set Saturday

Esteban Herrera, extension horticulture specialist, will give an apple tree pruning demonstration at 1:30 p.m., Tuesday, March 18, at the home of Clem Weindorf. Weindorf's home is located about one mile northwest of Hondo on Highway 380, next to Bert Pfingsten's. The house is located on the left hand side of the road traveling from Hondo toward Capitan.

For more information on the demonstration, contact county extension agent Barry Herd at 648-2311, Carrizozo.

committee so desires." The motion was seconded by trustee Sherman Atwood and carried by an unanimous vote.

Trustee Frank Sayner, in taking issue with White over his stand on the Lodger's Tax money and the MAT Pow Wow situation, said to White: "If you aren't being vindictive, I apologize."

White interrupted Sayner to say: "I'm not being vindictive and no apology is necessary."

OF THE MONEY ISSUE to support the MAT Pow Wow, Davis said: "We must address several things. The MAT could collect Lodger's Tax at the Inn of the Mountain Gods and remit. This would be fine. Ruidoso supports the track, but the track wasn't successful until after it was named Ruidoso Downs Race Track. And the Inn was built due to the town."

"We've always walked hand-in-hand with the tribe and we can offer a healthy degree of help to all (race track, skiing, tribe) but there is no need for us (Ruidoso) to be kicked in the guts, by any one."

Trustee Ab Gunter then moved that the trustees "vote down the $7,500 request" for the Lodger's Tax funds to promote the Pow Wow, with the second by Atwood. The vote was White, Atwood and Gunter, aye; with Sayner voting no.

Mayor Davis then said to Jungbluth, "There is nothing in this action to preclude the Chamber from submitting a second request to the Lodger's Tax Committee for $5,000 or $8,000 for Pow Wow promotion."

MAYOR DAVIS' REMARK about CPS followed the trustees unanimous vote to reject a request by Alex Adams that he be permitted to install overhead electric wires in Del Norte Addition, Units 2 and 3.

Adams stated that the subdivision plans for Del Norte had been approved by Planning and Zoning (P&Z) in 1974, with the overhead wiring being permitted at that time. "There will be a delay of six months," Adams said, "for CPS to provide underground power," to the subdivision.

After 1978, P&Z has required underground utilities to all new subdivisions. The Del Norte units, after replatting, were approved by P&Z in 1979.

Assistant village manager Frank Potter, regarding underground utilities, said to the trustees: "CPS charged $52,000 for 400 feet of underground installation in one subdivision, with the subdivider paying this."

AT THIS POINT Mayor Davis turned to village attorney Ron Harris, saying: "Can we cancel CPS's franchise? It's an abortion."

Harris said, "I'll have to research that." Davis then said, "CPS is the biggest bunch of SOB's in the whole world. I recommend that we put in our own utilities company and run them out of town."

The trustees then unanimously approved rejecting Adams' request for overhead wiring, supporting the P&Z position that the wiring be installed underground.

TO INSURE APPROVAL by the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) to construct a Municipal Administration Office Building on a 3.2 acre tract adjacent to Ruidoso Municipal Airport, the trustees approved Resolution 60-1, authorizing transfer of funds from the village general fund to the village airport's revenue fund.

The resolution provides for payment of $8,000 per year to the airport revenue fund, as long as FAA exercises any authority over the present airport land. Mayor Davis said that this is the approximate amount now paid to the airport from the village's general fund.

The trustees then approved a Letter of Conditions, necessary to secure a Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) 30 year loan to build the new village office complex. This action, village clerk Jim Hine said, should result in approval of the FmHA loan for $800,000, for construction, within 60 to 90 days. Hine said, "The interest rate will be the effective rate the day the loan is granted and we've been advised that that rate will be less than six percent."

IN OTHER BUSINESS, the trustees: — Were advised by Hine that no proposals were received for funding Special Assessment Districts in Pinecliff Subdivision, to finance the proposed sewer, water and street improvements.

— Authorized street department superintendent Jack La May to determine the cost of repairing a used $28,000 blacktop lay down machine and to report his findings to the trustees as soon as available.

— Received a draft of a proposed ordinance to create a village fire commission from Harris. The trustees will take the matter under advisement until the March 25 meeting, at which time action will be taken.

— Authorized Harris to revise the ordinance governing the length of terms of office for members of the Library Board, to set out three year terms and stating that members may serve only two consecutive terms. The trustees also stipulated that the village manager be an ex-officio Library Board member, with this to be included in the ordinance revision.

— Approved abandoning street right-of-way in Flume Canyon Subdivision so that home owner Henry Dilley, El Paso, Texas can gain clear title to the land.

RC&D forms committees

The South Central Mountain Resources Conservation and Development (RC&D) organization Tuesday adopted a plan to divide their efforts on particular areas of interest.

The RC&D members voted to form the following committees: Transportation and Communications; Community Development, including tourism and recreation; Water; Agriculture and Energy; and Health, Aging and Housing.

The committees' membership has not been formally determined, but will probably include representatives from both Otero and Lincoln counties, as well as individuals outside the RC&D organization.

In discussing the committee system, RC&D coordinator Howard Harkey said that "as coordinator, I need all the help I can get," and that committees could provide such help.

Member Paul Sturiale of the South-eastern New Mexico Economic Development District agreed, saying he felt the move to a committee system would "expand participation and boost expertise in any given area." The system would be an improvement over the "shotgun approach" Sturiale said, in which any member might work on any RC&D project measure.

The work of the committees and publicizing of that work, according to Tom McCalmont of the State Planning Office, would "go a long way toward letting people know what we're doing and what we've accomplished in the past."

The suggestion to form the committees came from chairman Clem Weindorf, who had observed the system at work in the Deming area. He said he was impressed by the operation and felt "we could be more effective in helping people solve their problems," if the system were adopted.

Several members reported on the progress of project measures, including: — A request to the state Highway Department for increased traffic controls in the Nogal area. A request for signs or rumble strips was turned down by the district office in Roswell; however, McCalmont suggested that the group write to new highway commissioner Louis Whitlock about the matter.

— A project to improve facilities at several area schools. Greg Haussler reported that a running track, part of the project is now under construction at the Capitan school.

— A project to provide an irrigation system at the Fort Stanton farm. Haussler said the design and cost estimates have been prepared and the project is "ready to go."

— A project to provide assistance to Lincoln County school superintendents with a plan to install two-way radios in school buses. Although a request for financial assistance was turned down by county commissioners, McCalmont said he has also contacted the state Energy and Minerals Department to determine if a grant would be available because of the energy-saving aspects of the project.

— A stream bank flood protection project along the Hondo and Bonito rivers. Haussler said final inspection of the protective structures would be made this coming week.

The RC&D members were also advised by Weindorf of a request by the Sierra Club of El Paso to extend wilderness boundaries in the Capitan Mountains, Lincoln National Forest. The group agreed to write a letter to Paul Gordon of the United States Forest Service voicing their opposition to any further expansion of wilderness areas.

RC&D will hold their annual meeting and election of officers April 22 in Alamogordo.

Salaries and cheerleaders' woes cheerleaders were not adequately chaperoned, responsibilities were not made clear, the cheerleader sponsor was not offering adequate guidance when selecting uniforms and a communication gap existed between cheerleaders, the sponsor and parents.

Parks said the board "is not deaf to your problems." He said he has had two daughters in the cheerleading program and said "I've got a lot of money and time invested in the cheerleading uniforms and travel." Parks said the figures quoted to purchase three complete uniforms are "oppressive" and said new guidelines must be established.

Frances Killen, parent of a cheerleader, said "We were told they had to buy three uniforms; don't ask me why they need three uniforms... and two pair of $35 shoes. Nobody sat with them (at games)... I don't think they had any guidance... with their wardrobe selection, practices and at games."

Killen also said guidelines must be set up to determine when cheerleaders can be excused from classes.

High school principal Tom Hansen, said no rules are established on the number of uniforms cheerleaders must have, and "they don't HAVE to buy all these things... they choose to buy them. I would hate to have the general public think we require them to buy three uniforms."

One parent said she has never seen her daughter's report card because her daughter was told she must first sell a certain number of pom-poms before her grades would be released.

Hansen said the school withholds report cards when students owe fines, payments on uniforms, equipment, rental fees, and so on. Jean Spurlock, cheerleaders' sponsor, said she signed permission slips for some cheerleaders to obtain their report cards "if they couldn't sell all their pom-poms; but not all the girls asked me to do this."

Two parents of former cheerleaders said the problem should not be blamed on the school or its employees, but on parents.

"When the girls get together, they choose to order everything there is because they want to be the sharpest looking squad. As parents, it's up to us to put our foot down and say no. If I could do it over, I'd say no this time," Susan Miller said.

Members of the committee include Pauline Sanchez, Elaine Garrity, Eleanor Schockey, all parents of cheerleaders; Hansen; Dub Williams, activities director; Spurlock; and one faculty member appointed by Hansen.

Wednesday was the final day to sign up for cheerleader tryouts, but the date will be moved up a week to accommodate girls who may be financially able to become cheerleaders, under new guidelines.

Board members adjourned into executive session twice, to discuss personnel evaluations and later to hear specific complaints against a teacher in connection with the cheerleader problems.

In other business the board: — Approved an increase in in-state per diem and mileage, from $32 per day and 17c per mile to $38 per day and 19c per mile, in keeping with legislative guidelines.

Arts festival

— Best 25 booths from 1979 show automatically accepted for this year's festival.

— No clockworks will be allowed; all work must be original.

— Only media judged prior to the show will be allowed.

Subcommittees were formed to take charge of advertising and publicity, food booths, entertainment, facilities and groundskeeping, tickets and gate personnel, selections and artists relations and care of artist standards committee.

Festival dates are July 25-27, the weekend after a major race at Ruidoso Downs Race Track, and the week before Billy The Kid Days in Lincoln. "We had a scheduling problem last year which we've tried to avoid this year," Wilson said.

The festival will be open from 5 to 10 p.m., Friday, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., Saturday and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Sunday.

Woman's Interests
Range From
Hitchhiking to History

If one word were to be used in describing Edith Larson's life, it would be diversity, for this 75 year old from Manton, Michigan has a wide range of interests and accomplishments to her credit.

Born in Windom, Minnesota, she was raised in numerous towns in Michigan and Minnesota. Her father was a Methodist minister and was transferred about every three years.

The first real indication of Larson's curious and independent nature came after she graduated from Northwestern University with a Liberal Arts degree and hitchhiked to California to work in an orphanage.

"My father wasn't too fond of me being in California," Mrs. Larson recalled with a smile. "He found a job in Manton for me teaching school."

Two years later, in 1929, Larson got married and became a housewife all at the same time.

"In those days, married women couldn't get teaching jobs and the Depression made it even worse," Mrs. Larson said. "I didn't work for 17 years."

When World War II produced a shortage of teachers, Larson was asked to go back in 1945. After teaching for several years in Utah, she returned to Michigan and taught at various schools, ending her career in the Saginaw system.

"I retired at 65, which was the mandatory age 10 years ago," Larson said. "I could have remained in the system as a special teacher but I wanted to devote my time and energy to something else."

She became involved in historical research, producing a book about a little-known poet as her first project. In 1972, Manton's centennial year, Larson wrote the centennial book and pageant.

"Two years later the senior committee wanted me to do something to help raise money for the senior center," Larson said. "So I wrote a play called This Was Is, Your Life."

The play included music, for which a kitchen band was organized. The band is currently in its sixth year of performing at nursing homes, senior centers and other facilities.

Now president of the senior center, Larson has been able to complete a building project and has developed new programs, including a meals program that feeds around 100 people.

At a recent open house for the new Manton Area Senior Center, Larson was presented a plaque from the city of Manton honoring her contributions to the community and naming her outstanding senior volunteer of the year.

What makes Larson's contributions all the more valuable is that she has had to use crutches for the last four or five years because of several operations involving cancer of the hip.

"This activity at the senior center is the best thing in the world for me," Edith Larson said. "Getting involved and staying involved is the best tonic there is. And besides, my husband says I look younger since I started at the center. What woman doesn't like to hear that?"

A Court of Honor will be conducted at the Ruidoso Elks Lodge Saturday evening by Boy Scout Troop 59.

The evening begins with a 6:30 pot luck dinner, followed by the awards and advancement presentations, candle ceremony and the flag burning ceremony. "The flag burning," Scoutmaster Rudy Flack said, "is a ceremony performed only when a United States flag is so worn it is no longer usable. It is a most impressive ceremony."

The highlight of the evening will be the advancement of members to Second Class, First Class, Star and Life Scouts and the awarding of more than 100 merit badges. Twenty-three troop members will participate in the Court of Honor functions.

Wedding date announced

Mr. and Mrs. Herb Ford of Ruidoso announce the engagement of their daughter, Debbie, to Mike Pritchett, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Pritchett, also of Ruidoso. The couple will be married April 4, at 7 p.m., at the Gateway Church of Christ. In lieu of formal invitations, all friends and relatives of the couple are invited to attend the wedding and reception.

Fish Market Coffee House opening again

The Fish Market Coffee House will reopen this Friday evening in their new location next to Lela Easter Real Estate on Mechem Drive. The coffee house will be housed in the new building of Mountain Christian Fellowship.

The coffee house, which features live entertainment with a Christian focus, will be open from "p.m., until," on Friday and Saturday nights.

Appearing at the Fish Market this weekend will be a country gospel group from the Gateway Assembly of God Church, including pastor James Alexander on electric guitar and banjo; Charlie Gent, vocalist; Fred Campbell, bass guitar and Phil Yerrick on rhythm guitar.

Light, inexpensive refreshments will be served. New manager of the coffee house will be Janey Brennan of Ruidoso.

The board of directors of the non-profit coffee house had been seeking a new location for the Fish Market since last September, when the former quarters were sold by the owners.

DEBBIE FORD

Flick/La May

vows repeated

Jack La May and Linda Flick, both of Ruidoso, were united in marriage March 1, at the First Christian Church in Ruidoso. The Reverend Ken Cole officiated at the intimate double ring afternoon ceremony. Matron of honor was the bride's sister, Trudi Massari of Saint Petersburg, Florida. Liesel Flick, daughter of the bride, served as bridesmaid.

Best man was the bridegroom's son, Jonathan La May of Capitan and groomsmen were John La May of Carrizozo, the bridegroom's father. Also attending was the bride's mother, Ruth Price of Salt Lake City, Utah.

Following the ceremony, the couple hosted a reception for family and friends at Nob Hill Restaurant. Hostesses included friends of the couple, Diana Isaccs, Linda Osborn and Linda Thompson, all of Ruidoso.

Following a wedding trip to the Grand Canyon, the couple are at home in Ruidoso where La May is employed by the village.

Friday's recital canceled

A recital sponsored by the Friends of the Library which was scheduled for Friday night, has been cancelled, according to Friends chairperson Mady Holstein. The recital was to feature Linda Loftis Tobias, soprano, who became ill this week.

The recital will be rescheduled this summer, Holstein said.

Girl Scouts holding arts, crafts show

Ruidoso Girl Scouts will stage their annual arts and crafts show Saturday, March 15 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., at Carrizozo Lodge.

Judges for this year's Futurama Arts and Crafts Show will be Mrs. Lindsay Rusler, Mrs. Carol Hubbard and Mrs. Cathy Travis. Families, friends and area residents are invited to attend.

The overall best of show winner this year will receive a gift certificate from Happy Hands craft store.

Methodist Women's Spring Festival planned March 22

The United Methodist Women's Spring Festival will be held at the United Methodist Church March 22 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

A luncheon featuring chicken spaghetti, salad, dessert and drinks will be served from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Tickets will be sold at the door at a cost of $2.50 for adults and $2 for children.

The women will sell a variety of items from the sweet shop, garden room, Easter boutique, Christmas boutique, and unique gifts for everyone. Special items will be given away throughout the day.

Gladys Knox

was sorority speaker

Gladys Knox, the international honorary member of Alpha Alpha Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi, spoke to the group Monday and related her impressions of Ruidoso.

Knox showed photographs of the first Tomahawk Lodge and an old yearbook. The meeting was hosted by Betty Shaw.

High school honor bands give concert

Ruidoso High School band members traveled to Tularosa Wednesday to participate in an honor band concert at the Tularosa Fine Arts Center. They joined other band members from Capitan, Carrizozo, Cloudcroft and Tularosa in observing "Music In Our Schools Week," March 10-16.

Selections performed included America the Beautiful, American Folk Rhapsody, Burnished Brass: March, Compendium, Festivo and Star Trek. The group was directed by Dr. William Tietze of Western New Mexico University in Silver City. Theme of this year's music week is "Music Counts." According to Ruidoso band director Danny Flores, the week's activities are geared toward showing the importance of music as a part of the school curriculum.

Legion, Unit district meet in Carrizozo

The Carrizozo American Legion and Auxiliary will host the organizations' District Five Spring Meeting Sunday, in the board room at Carrizozo High School.

Registration begins at 10 a.m., with the joint session of the Legion and Auxiliary beginning at 11.

State officers and national committee members, of both groups, will attend. Robert Montano, first place winner of the Carrizozo Post's oratorical contest will be introduced at 11:45.

Following the noon luncheon, the Legion and Unit will meet in separate sessions beginning at 1 p.m.

District Five Posts to be represented include Alamogordo 34, Capitan 57, Mesalero 48, Ruidoso 79, Tularosa 108 and Carrizozo 11.

Garden Club invited to show, meeting

Ruidoso Garden Club members, meeting March 2, were invited to attend Flower Show School number two, which will be held in Roswell March 18-20 and the District Five spring meeting in Roswell March 24.

"Components of Flower Designs," explained by Shirley Neuhaus and interpreted by Marti Yoder, highlighted flower designs, flower shows and flower show schools.

Hostesses Wanda Covill, Ellen Miller and Yoder served refreshments from a table featuring a single rose centerpiece, made by Yoder.

Witnesses plan circuit assembly

About 60 members of the Ruidoso Jehovah's Witnesses will attend the semi-annual circuit assembly March 15-16 in Exhibit Hall, of the El Paso, Texas, Civic Center.

Local presiding overseer Gary Sims said Wednesday that 9,000 Witnesses from New Mexico and Texas will attend.

All sessions are open to the public, including the 2 p.m., March 16 address by a district overseer on "To Whom Does the Obedience of the People Belong?"

All local meetings for this weekend have been cancelled, Sims said.

Art exhibit by former resident scheduled here

A photographic art exhibit of the works of W. C. "Bill" Porter former Ruidoso resident, will be on display at Security Bank of Ruidoso March 17-28.

"The exhibit," Porter said, "is to develop public awareness of photography as an art form of personal expression and its usefulness as home decor."

Porter, owner of Midnight Thinkings studio in Silver City, is founder and past president of the Grant County Photographers' Guild and is area representative of the Photographic Society of America.

His works appear regularly in regional and national publications and journals.

School bus radios unlikely

BY GWYNETH JONES
 Staff Writer/Photographer

Without ruling out the possibility of future assistance, Lincoln County commissioners Tuesday turned down a request from county school superintendents for $20,000, which they hoped to use, along with state funds, to equip the county's 42 school buses with two-way radios.

Superintendents Mel Root of Corona and Jim Miller of Carrizozo made the request for funding on behalf of the county's five districts. Root said the radios were needed to provide communications between district officials, schools and buses, in case of emergency. He said he had no way to communicate with drivers of four of five regular buses in Corona, because they had no telephones.

IN ADDITION TO "enhancing the safety factor," Root said, the radios would enable the school systems to reduce energy consumption, because they could be advised beforehand if children on a particular route were not planning to attend school on a given day.

The superintendents have contacted Dr. A. L. Clemens, Public School Finance director, and requested $30,000 in state funds for the project, Root said.

With regard to the request of the county, Root said, "If we lose one child, we'll think the $20,000 is an insignificant amount." The commissioners responded by saying the county did not have the funds available and questioned the need for the radios, especially in the Hondo district, where most of the buses travel only on paved state highways, and the Ruidoso district, where the buses do not travel to remote areas.

"I JUST CAN'T JUSTIFY spending $20,000 to equip 42 buses with radios," said chairman Cotton McKnight. "If we could save a life it would probably be worth it, but maybe we could spend the money somewhere else and save two lives."

Commissioner John Allen Hightower agreed, saying he felt the county's function in this case was to improve the roads rather than purchase radios.

Commissioner Ben Hall said he could see the need in the Corona area, but not in the other districts. County manager Bill Billingsley advised Root and Miller that a less expensive alternative might be available through Lincoln Communications of Ruidoso, and agreed to arrange a meeting of the superintendents, himself and a company representative.

THE COMMISSIONERS also received an update from George Shoemaker on the proposed Sierra Blanca Regional Airport. Shoemaker, who is the county's representative to the Sierra Blanca Airport Commission (SBAC), said the two sites on Fort Stanton Mesa had been inspected last week by State Representative John Bigbee. Also present at the inspection were Bill Stevens, State Secretary of Agriculture, and several officials from New Mexico State University (NMSU), which is leasing acreage on the mesa for long-term agricultural experiments.

Shoemaker said the "consensus was that, although little research is being done on the airport site as such, it is close, and they (NMSU) don't want us near it."

"They don't want an improved highway, or airplane noise," he said. Shoemaker added that the NMSU officials said they would "give us all the help in the world on Site A."

THE SBAC, SHOEMAKER said is exploring the possibility of changing the airport design to reduce the acreage needed for ultimate development of the facility, without requiring the purchase of large amounts of private land.

Billingsley suggested that the existing Ruidoso airport land might be traded for state school land on the mesa.

In other business, the commissioners: —Heard a report from Bert Atkins on preparations being made for the 1980 census. He said enumerators would be hired in the next few weeks, and all homes would receive a form on March 28. The results of the census will be available for local review during May, Atkins said.

—Approved a resolution transferring funds from the Federal Disaster Assistance Administration (FDAA) to the county road department, as reimbursement for flood relief work. Billingsley also advised the commission that a request had been forwarded from Santa Fe to the Dallas office of FDAA, requesting a cash advance of $145,000 which would cover part of the flood recovery work performed by construction and engineering firms.

—Approved hiring of a temporary employee to assist the county manager with a complete inventory of all the county's fixed assets.

—Reappointed McKnight to serve on the executive board of the New Mexico Association of Counties.

—Gave final approval to a list of roads named as priorities under the School Bus Route Improvement program.

—Granted an easement to Michael Hurd for the installation of a diversion in the county right of way on the Rio Ruidoso.

—Approved conversion of a lease agreement for an IBM copier to a lease-purchase agreement. The copier is located in the county clerk's office.

—Approved a plan under which the sheriff's office will receive monthly payments from the United States Forest Service in exchange for patrolling of forest roads.

—Approved a budget increase made necessary because of payment to the county by persons convicted in the destruction of an ambulance last spring.

—Accepted the low bid of $1,468.95 from Stan's Plumbing of Capiton for plumbing equipment.

—Accepted the low bid of $3,666 from Stanco of Albuquerque for equipment for the Fort Stanton Fire Department, and accepted a bid of $34.70 from Thunderbird of Phoenix for fire fire gloves for the same department.

—Accepted a bid of $8,037.50 from Aranco of Albuquerque for culvert pipe for the Corona area.

—Received a check of $1,544 from the Carrizozo Soil and Water Conservation District.

—Were advised by Billingsley that plans to provide the sheriff's office with its own radio frequency are nearing completion.

—Tabled consideration of budget requests from the Upper Hondo Soil and Water Conservation District and the Southeast New Mexico Economic Development District.

—Tabled acceptance of a warranty deed on a lot located near the Carrizozo Health Center, pending legal advice.

Chamber voting ends Monday

Balloting to elect seven Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce board members ends Monday. Ed Jungbluth, executive director of the Chamber, said Tuesday. Voting began after ballots were mailed March 1, with over 150 already returned. Candidates for the seven board positions include:

Mike Radziewicz, co-owner of West

Winds Motel; Roger Marshall, owner of Gambles; Linda Mack, co-owner of Horseshoe courts; Thelma Jennings, co-owner of Whispering Pines Restaurant;

Jerry Bigham, owner of Cousins' Restaurant and Saloon; Linda McGuire, co-owner of Sierra Blanca Ski Shop; Stormy Edwards, a realtor at Century 21; Archer Wilson, co-owner of The Roadrunner; Frank Abel, distributor for Jennings Oil; Rex Battey, owner of Whispering Pines Cabins; Ralph Bellon, co-owner of Western Office Equipment; Larry Langford, co-owner of Village Hardware; Richard Sandoval, manager of Gibson's; Kathy Barnett, co-owner of Barnett Carpets.

Directors will be elected to a two-year term replacing Alden Dayo, Eddie Parker, Marchand MacDougal, Rita Chino, Jim French, Bud Nickles and Benny Coulston. Coulston, outgoing Chamber president, will remain on the board as an ex-officio member for one year. Dave Wilson, past Chamber president, ends his directorship. Votes will be counted Monday afternoon.

Golf team loses first meet of year

The Ruidoso High School golf team finished 11th out of a field of 12 in its first meet of the season.

The squad competed in Alamogordo last Friday, and members Mike Dale, Paul Kirkwood, Randy Wynn, Don Dale and Kyle Kannady had a team score of 368. Alamogordo won the event with a 304.

Kirkwood was team leader with an 82, followed by Mike Dale with 86, Don Dale with 96, Wynn with 102, and Kannady with 108.

Coach Leroy Gooch had mixed feelings about the event.

"We played pretty decent golf," he said. "All except two or three holes, that is. We're hitting the ball real crooked" at times."

The Warriors hooked and sliced quite a bit, all right, and were penalized 26 strokes for hitting out of bounds.

"That sorta knocks you in the head," Gooch said.

But he predicted the golfers would improve their games soon.

"We have had only about eight practices," he said. "The weather's been so bad, it took us a while to get started. We'll stay on the course until dark every night if we have to. We've got to knock some 'strokes off.'"

There are 20 players total on the team, seven of whom are back from last year. That means Gooch has a relatively inexperienced squad.

"Some of the kids have played some tournament golf, but not much," he said. They'll get all the experience they'll want in the weeks ahead. This Saturday they go to Artesia for a meet, and the following weekend the Warriors have a two day meet at Socorro.

Saturday, March 29, they travel to Deming, and April 1 play New Mexico Military Institute at Roswell.

There will be a two day tournament here

April 25-26, and according to Gooch, there's no other tournament like it in the state.

"We're trying to limit the entries to 14, but we could have 25 teams here," he said. "Everybody wants to come here, because it's the only tournament in the whole state where you can play 54 holes in two days."

The Warriors play New Mexico Military again May 3, and then end the season with the state tournament at Clovis May 16-17.

The squad practices at Cree Meadows Country Club, and club pro Bob Hickson has been helping coach the team.

"He's been real helpful," Gooch said. "He's conducted a clinic and has been great about letting us use the facilities there."

The Warrior golf team is like everybody else these days — it needs money.

To that end, the team is sponsoring the Ruidoso Warrior Golf Scramble Sunday, March 23, beginning at 12:30 p.m., on the course at Cree Meadows Country Club.

One squad member will be placed in each foursome, which means only 20 foursomes can play. To put it another way, only 60 golfers — men and women — can register.

Entry fees are $10 per person, and all monies go to the golf program at Ruidoso High School.

To enter, call Cree Meadows, 257-2212.

The Ruidoso News SPORTS

HEAVE HO — Rusty Hamilton, Ruidoso High School senior, tries tossing the 16 pound shot during a Wednesday track practice. He was putting the ball about 42 feet, which is no small distance. Hamilton and the rest of the Warrior thinclads open their season March 29, at Deming.

Mid school track and golf squads preparing for 1980

Two sports are currently in swing at White Mountain Middle School.

Terry Wharton, track coach, and Leroy Gooch, golf coach, are preparing squads for their 1980 seasons.

Wharton said his track team will have a short season.

"We probably won't have more than four meets," he said, all of which will be away contests, since the school doesn't have a serviceable facility.

The team has been running outside, but recent rainy weather forced the squad into the gymnasium, where workouts continued.

"We'll get back outside as soon as everything dries up," he said.

Gooch has a squad of ten this season, composed of Brent Maul, Patric Pearson, Tracy Gann, Koy Rice, Barry Williamson, Jeff Neatman, Virgil Reynolds, Gary Gregson, Missy Wright and Rachelle Hornbuckle.

First competition for the team hasn't been set, but will probably be around April 1, Gooch said.

Hunter safety course offered next week

A hunter safety course is being offered in Ruidoso beginning Monday and running six nights, according to Randy Isler, New Mexico Game and Fish Department officer.

Isler said dates for the course are March 17-19 and 24-26 from 7 to 9 p.m., in the driver's education room at the high school.

Classes will be taught by members of the Ruidoso Gun Club. Isler said all persons under 18 are required to hold a valid hunter safety card before going afield.

"This year is the first year the hunter safety class is required to obtain hunting licenses," Isler said. The course is free with no limit on class size. Isler said the course will be re-offered once in the summer and again just before the start of hunting season.

Wrestlers working on freestyle method

Ruidoso wrestling coach Gerald Ames doesn't believe grappling season ever ends.

He has his lads now practicing freestyle wrestling, which is one style wrestled in the Olympics. Normally, the Warriors and most New Mexican wrestlers compete in American folkstyle wrestling.

"Freestyle makes you a better wrestler," Ames said. "It teaches you to attack, because your opponent scores points if you retreat, so you have to attack, if you want to win."

Freestyle involves different rules and what Ames refers to as "the total wrestling concept."

"You're always on offensive," he said. "You can't expose your back to the mat, because that's worth a point to your opponent. Consequently, there aren't any rolls or switches."

"Then, on the other hand, you are allowed points for a high arcing throw. There's a zone you can't step into, on the outer ring of the mat."

"You also have 10 seconds to take each other to the mat, or you start over. So the rules are different, quite a bit different."

Freestyle also makes one sharpen skills, he said, because "bad marks," or poor techniques such as stalling can eventually eliminate a wrestler from competition.

Warrior wrestlers are currently working on their freestyle techniques, and Ames is planning a tournament here "sometime in May," he said. Details haven't been worked out yet.

"We'll probably go to two or three tournaments, too," Ames said, "one in El Paso, one in Albuquerque, something like that."

Ames is also planning a Pee Wee league next fall for youngsters in grades four through seven.

"We'll set it up in the fall, so their season will coincide with ours," he said. "We'll have a couple of dual meets and maybe a tournament."

"The main thing is to start kids wrestling earlier than we have been. I have to teach most of the kids how to wrestle when they first come out for the sport. This way they can work on it."

Ames is making these moves, he said, to make the Warriors more competitive.

"At state, I could see kids had been wrestling all year round, and those are the ones who won titles," he said. "Not everyone will do this, of course — it's not mandatory, but if kids want to be champs, this is what they have to do."

Handicapped skiers place in championships

Five members of the Sierra Blanca Handicapped Skiers Association brought home medals from the Ninth National Handicapped Skiing Championships in Winter Park, Colorado.

Over 250 competitors — including skiers from Canada, New Zealand, Australia, Germany and Ireland — skied in the event, which ran from March 3-8.

Skiers were classified into categories depending upon their handicaps, and then separated into age groups. They ran qualifying races at the meet, and then were grouped as either Class A or Class B skiers, with Class A better than B.

"This is the toughest competition for handicapped people anywhere in the world," association director Diana Person said. "There used to be a Class C, but it was dropped. There were just too many skiers in it."

Shane Watts, an amputee, won a gold medal in class A slalom, and a silver medal in giant slalom.

Robbie Siroshine, a cerebral palsy skier, won a gold medal in class B giant slalom.

Two brothers, Raul and Marco Midon, each won two gold medals in class B slalom and giant slalom. Marco is partially blind and Raul is totally blind. The brothers also won combined time trophies for overall best times.

Duran DuBoise, who is also totally blind, won silver medals in slalom and giant slalom.

All five skiers were repeat winners, having won medals in last year's championships.

The visually handicapped skiers were aided by Robin Bent, Chris Collier and Hildegard Strobel, who served as guides to lead them through the courses.

Next year's races will be at Jackson Hole, Wyoming.

Sportin' Life

... a column of opinion ...

by

Mark Bagby

Well, gang, I believe in giving credit where credit is due, and by the same token, I also believe in taking blame when I deserve it.

Right now I'm dealing with the latter. If you look in section two of this issue, you'll find Cale Dickey's "Stuph and Junk" column. He has a section on making boo-boos in this one. He relates the story of a picture, shot by yours truly, of a baby mule and a horse on the front page of Monday's paper.

In the outline, (the words under the picture), it says the baby mule was sired by Ed Hyman's mule.

Wrong. I later learned a mule is a sterile animal — since it's a hybrid — only nobody told me that in the first place, so there's no way a mule could have been the daddy.

Cale seemed to think that slip was his fault.

Maybe...but I don't think so. If I had had it right in the first place, he wouldn't have had to apologize in the second place and I wouldn't be writing this in the third place.

I felt like a real dummy 'cause I didn't know nothin' about mules. Maybe if I picked up a copy of "Everything you always wanted to know about mules but hadn't heard before," I'd have known. But...heck, I figured, if you want a puppy, you get two dogs together. You want a kitten, you put two cats together. You want a horse, you put two horses together. So following that line of reasoning, you want a mule, you put two mules together, right? Nope. Ain't Nature wonderful? Sheesh.

All charges on

Well, Muhammad Ali just keeps doing it. Here he is, all 251 pounds of him, trying to drop weight so he can fight in June. Now he split his lip in a sparring match and won't be able to spar until next month.

I keep wondering if maybe he split his lip so it'll be easier to stick his foot in it. But our pressman, Jack Pafford, who happens to be the local pugilistic authority, assures me Ali will win.

Maybe so — but I'll wait and see.

Soccer registration overwhelming

The 1980 spring soccer season is gonna be a big sonofagun. Take 129 kids from last fall, add 45 more and maybe another 20 or so — and you have a 194 total. That's a big season.

Registration just ended, I'm told by Butch Grantham, and 45 new youngsters just signed up.

And, he said, there are 20 more kids who have expressed interest. "Unbelievable," he said. (This is a program which got started last fall. Sheesh.)

Anyway, any other youngsters who want to play can still register if they hurry. If they're between the ages of five and sixteen and have $10, they can call Butch at 257-2212, after 5 p.m.

First practices are this Monday, weather permitting, and the season begins April 12.

Junior skiers gambling

The Ruidoso Junior Ski Racers are having something called a "Casino Night," the details of which have been successfully kept secret from me.

But — I can tell you it will be Friday night at 7:30 in Sierra Swim and Racquet Club.

I can also tell you the Junior Racers will benefit from the affair. But I can't say how — being's I don't know — ain't that a kick in the pants?

Mathematics whiz

In case you didn't know it, the state of New Mexico has decreed track distances, which used to be in yards, must now go to the metric system.

Which means, instead of the 100 yard dash, and the 220 and 440 and 880 and the mile — it's the 100 meter dash, and the 200, 400, 800 and 1,500 meter events.

And it's giving coaches fits, including Ruidoso track coach Darrel Stierwalt.

I saw him on the football field the other day, crouched over a notepad computing metric distances into feet so he could measure off said distances, which he then marked with a can of spray paint.

He looked like he was having a lot of fun, but he assured me he wasn't.

SELL HOME YOURSELF?

I'm sure you've heard it said: "Why should I sell my home through a REALTOR? I can sell it myself and save a lot of money." Right?.....Wrong!

This kind of thinking usually turns out to be financially unwise. The prospects will usually start by mentally deducting the commission and then start negotiating from there. On the average, a homeowner saves NO money when he sells his own home, in fact, the opposite is true. Studies over a ten year period show that the net proceeds from owner-sold property are LESS than the REALTOR-sold piece of real estate, even after the payment of commission. As a private seller you're at a great disadvantage in the intricate areas of financing, negotiating and protecting yourself from all sorts of do-it-yourself pitfalls. You've got a lot invested in your home. It makes sense to list it with a REALTOR. He'll sell it for you — without hitches — for the best price and in the shortest amount of time.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at DEVON DEVELOPMENT, INC., 2904 Sudderth Drive, Box 1860, Ruidoso. Phone: 257-5511. We're here to help!

Snowshoeing experiencing newfound popularity

BY MARK BAGBY
Sports Editor/Photographer

Mention "snowshoes," and the image that comes to mind is Nanook of the North, trundling across the frozen tundra on modified tennis rackets.

Well, White Mountain Middle School teacher Bob Palko is certainly not Nanook, but he is a snowshoer.

Snowshoes have been around a long time, according to some publications on snowshoeing, and the first pair were invented in central Asia about 6,000 years ago.

The snowshoe and the ski were, for primitive people, the chief forms of transportation in snow, but the ski stayed in Europe. People who migrated to the east took the snowshoe with them. The American Indian made extensive use of the wood and rawhide contraption.

Snowshoes work similar to skis by keeping the wearer "afloat," but unlike skis, don't require primarily downhill terrain to make them work well.

Also, little practice is required to make one adept at it, whereas anyone who has strapped on a pair of skis knows it takes quite a lot of time to become proficient.

Palko said the ease of learning how to use snowshoes is one reason they're experiencing recent popularity.

"In skiing you sort of learn as you go," he said. "With snowshoes, depending on the snow and the terrain, it's just about like walking on ground."

Palko and another teacher at White Mountain, Frank Cannella, have taken several groups of youngsters snowshoeing across some of the mountainous terrain around Ruidoso.

"Some of the places we've gone you couldn't get to any other way, not on skis or snowmobiles," he said. "Plus, this teaches common sense. You have to learn how to dress properly, and what sort of foods you can take."

"It builds self-confidence. Once you've snowshoed seven miles through the snow, you have more faith in yourself and in your ability to do things."

Palko has been snowshoeing for about two years. An avid outdoorsman (during the summer he works with the Youth Conservation Corps), a friend introduced him to the activity.

He was sold on it immediately, and began trying to promote it as an alternate outdoor winter activity.

"We aren't limited to a specific area, like a ski resort, because we don't need lifts," he said. "It's vigorous. It's demanding, but only as demanding as you want to make it. You go at your own speed, unlike skiing, where your speed depends some on the slope you're skiing. You can stop and look at things more easily."

Also, as a conservationist, I believe it's more environmentally sound than other activities. With skiing, except cross-country skiing, you have to cut lift lines through the forest. Snowmobiles are noisy and pollute the air.

"But with snowshoes, you don't disturb anything. It's quiet, and you have a chance to appreciate nature the way it should be appreciated."

Most modern snowshoes are now made of aircraft aluminum and neoprene rubber, which are more durable.

"The wooden ones require a lot of maintenance," Palko said. "The wood rots and warps, and the rawhide deteriorates, and rats like to chew on it. The new ones are indestructible."

Older designs are also generally more difficult to strap onto boots. The new ones are quickly and easily laced on, and incidentally, no special boot is needed to wear snowshoes.

There are several different designs of snowshoes, including some nearly five feet long. Those are awkward and unwieldy for Ruidoso's terrain, Palko said.

"You have to have a versatile shoe," he said. "For the type of ground we have here, you need something you can turn and move around with easily."

Palko said anybody interested in snowshoeing could contact him at White Mountain Middle School, or at 257-7184.

SNOWSHOER BOB PALKO examines a wooden snowshoe known as a "bearpaw" with its user, 12-year-old White Mountain student Ivan Scott.

Scott's father borrowed the shoes from the forestry division of the Mescalero Apache Tribe.

OLD VS. NEW — The modern snowshoe on the left and its forerunner on the right. The wooden shoes weigh more than the newer models and require much more maintenance, Palko said.

They also provide less "flotation," which is the measure of a shoe's ability to keep a traveler atop the snow.

PALKO DEMONSTRATES the "speed lace" of modern day snowshoes. They're constructed of aircraft aluminum and neoprene rubber and are virtually indestructible, Palko said. They are also lighter than wooden shoes and are ideal for Ruidoso's mountainous terrain, he added.

THANK YOU, RUIDOSO VOTERS

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all the people who turned out for the March 4 election, and more especially those of you who supported me. I would also like to thank the other candidates for a most interesting campaign and to congratulate Benny Coulston and George White on their election.

I am most sincere in wanting to be involved in the growth of Ruidoso and Lincoln County and I feel that I have a great deal to offer.

I am hereby announcing my candidacy for a seat on the Lincoln County commission, on the Democratic ticket, in the June 3 primary election, as a representative of the Ruidoso area.

Inside The Capitol

by Fred McCaffrey

SANTA FE—Okay, so Governor King heeded the advice of some of us chronic complainers and vetoed that bill which would have reduced your property tax. Did we accomplish all that just to punish the homeowners of New Mexico?

No way. We simply believed, as did the Governor after his staff had researched the matter fully, that the bill just didn't compute. Legislators who had said they wanted to give most of the benefits to the ordinary citizen (they were aiming at 49 per cent of the tax relief for homeowners) managed to write a bill that barely achieved 33 per cent of its reduction for the common folks. All the rest went to business, most of it to big business.

An example: A person with a $15,000 home in Farmington would have gotten $56.52 in tax relief, while electrical utilities in his county got $3.3 million. That's a little disproportionate on the side of the biggies.

So the Gov killed the bill, and as some form of aid to the average citizen, legislature vetoed a portion of the appropriations act which took about $16 million in tax burden off our shoulders.

He also wants to get the right kind of property tax relief, and would let that be taken up at a special session of the Legislature if he was sure the leadership in House and Senate would do what he wants done and not double cross him. Conservatives among that leadership are so mad at him now he can't trust them to do that.

BIG SHIFT: Unless you've worked in state government, it's impossible for you to imagine the turmoil that results when somebody like Fred O'Cheesey, boss of the Highway Department, announces he's quitting. Work comes to a stop in almost every office as the speculation starts: Who's going to be our new boss?

O'Cheesey goes off to Public Service Company of New Mexico at a salary reportedly double his $40,000 per year in state government.

CANDIDATES: You did notice that a few folks filed to run for office last week? Mud Runnels wants to go back to Congress from the second district, where no Republican filed to run against him. (He got some Democratic opposition from Gil Olgun, county manager in Sierra, but it turned out Olgun didn't have enough names on his petition.)

Manuel Lujan got no primary opposition in the first district, though Bill Richardson of Santa Fe, Barry Keaveney of Taos and William Orona of Albuquerque will fight for the nomination on the Democratic side.

Supreme Court Justice Vern Payne got a free ride (no opponents), but Justice Ed Felter will have to run in the general against Judge Bill Riordan of Albuquerque. Appeals Judge Joe Wood drew no opposition from either party.

The one Corporation Commissioner up for re-election, Charley Rudolph of Santa Fe, will be opposed by Republican Jimmie Glenn of Albuquerque.

GONE BUT NOT FORGOTTEN: Two more state Senators have decided the job's just too tough and thrown in the towel, in which they join Larry Goddell of Artesia, Bill Lee of Lovington and Bob Woods of Portales.

The latest two are Gladys Hansen of Dona Ana county and John Erick of Albuquerque. (Erick is a Republican; all the rest are Democrats.)

What's bad about all this is that all those quitting are hard-working, intelligent legislators—the very kind we need more of.

VOICE AT THE PRISON

In one account of the horrors at the New Mexico State Prison a newsman tells of seeing inmates lined along the outer fence after the riot had been brought under control. He reports hearing one of the prisoners at the fence shout in despair: "Get us out of here. This is like being in hell. Somebody has to help us."

It is no misguided sentimentality that replies: Help them we must. As men and women constituting a civilized society, we cannot be indifferent to the conditions behind bars that goad men into a bestial fury.

We repeat: This stance does not rest on mere sentiment. Our position is not motivated by excessively tender concern for those poor, abused fellows in prison. They are there because they did wrong, and ran afoul of the law. They have committed crimes, in some cases, crimes of great cruelty and brutality.

But it is evident that something drove these imprisoned men to such extremes of frustration and rage and hopelessness that when the moment came they exploded into savage depravity. Overcrowding was certainly a factor; the prison had 1,136 inmates, though it was built to house only 850. Brutalizing discipline by a guard system both undermanned and underpaid had something to do with it. So, too, did a lack of reasonable opportunity for recreation and rehabilitative training. All this and perhaps other elements, stirred up with a venomous mixture of racism, anger at "squealers," and drugs stolen from the pharmacy, brought one of the worst uprisings in American prison history.

As at Attica eight years ago, many lives were lost. Property damage ran to millions of dollars. Obviously, then, prudence argues for reforms that offer some hope of averting more Atticas, more New Mexicos.

Prudence, and something else. We must act out of a decent, civilized determination that no one in our society, not even those in prison for violating the laws of society, shall be treated as subhuman and beyond redemption. — Alamogordo Daily News

editorial

The state legislature's quashing of a $1.4 million appropriation to buy private land on Fort Stanton mesa, and to fund site preparation, means that Sierra Blanca Airport Commission must now proceed to obtain 600 acres of Bureau of Land Management controlled land before a regional airport can be located on the mesa.

The commission has their work cut out.

New Mexico State University agricultural officials made it known last Friday that they will fight any attempt to take even one acre out of the 26,000 they lease from the BLM for airport use, let alone give up 600 acres, the amount the commission will seek for ultimate airport development.

Once the commission presents projections of the economic benefits accruing to the state from the regional airport, support for permitting the airport to use 600 acres of BLM land on the mesa should be forthcoming from state officials.

Likewise, the county's share of this bonanza should be sizeable enough to elicit the unqualified support of the county commissioners, to materially ease their continuing financial straits.

Neither BLM nor NMSU can show that the state can benefit by millions of dollars a year from agricultural experiments on the mesa over a ten year period. Master Plan projections show the airport can produce such revenues.

Being as money talks, those in a position to control NMSU's budget appropriations should strongly suggest to school officials that their fight to keep this revenue producing airport off the mesa is not in the best interests of the state. —CD

REAL BIG BOO-BOOS

Boo-boos are the bane of an editor's life ... and the last couple that I made were real lallapaloozers.

For instance ... Monday's paper carried the announcement that Walt Green, vice president of The News ... and Debora Nelson, his intended ... are intending to wed April 5 ... and with a picture of the happy duo, appeared the headline: Nelson Green nuptials April 5 ... and as any editor knows ... it's nuptials as generally terminates the cherished celibacy of the bridegroom. Anyhow ... in the excitement of the preparations for the exchange of vows ... maybe they'll not notice the announcement of their nuptials ... which'd help prevent some knots from appearing on my noggin.

Then there was boo-boop two too. Had to do with Dave McMath's Licorice Lad, a black baby boy mule ... with credit going to Ed Hyman's mule, as the sire ... which means that Ed's got quite a mule, 'cause even I know that boy mules don't become daddies ... at least not on a standing basis ... so 'twas Ed's jack as is pappa ... not Ed's mule ... 'cause so far's I know, Ed's got a mule that he lopes around the mountain trails ... might even be race winning material ... but not a sire for sure too.

Anyhow all I need to know about mules is ... from the front they bite ... from the back they kick ... which is sufficient knowledge for me.

BE YOU A SINGER?

If'n you're a tenor, baritone, or bass ... or sing melody ... and like to belt out those songs for quartets ... you should see Bill Budens ... he's winding up his year as ER at the Elks ... and, by jinkies, but he'd like to get a quartet formed ... one that'd practice ... and get better'n good ... and have plenty of chances to vocalize.

Besides, if'n the quartet gets organized ... and there's interest created ... Bill just might up and get a chorus going ... as Bill's mighty interested in such things ... in addition to doing his thing ... jazz jam sessions.

During working hours, give Bill a hollar ... 257-5148 ... and he'll fill you in on what he'd like to do ... and all that stuff.

CONVICT GOES AWOL

That Camp Sierra Blanca inmate ... Frank Cottone ... who was active in the prisoner's gab sessions with school children ... advising them that prison's no place to be ... sure don't practice what he preaches.

Seems Cottone, as of last Saturday, up and flew the coop ... which might result in his getting reacquainted with the Santa Fe prison ... which probably won't please him mightily ... try as he might to be a model prisoner.

'Course, he didn't escape from the camp ... 'cause he wasn't there when he departed for other parts ... but it could be reasonable to suspect no one was handy to kinda discourage his leaving ... which probably won't have too many repercussions ... 'cause he was serving time for not being too particular how he acquired funds ... so guess no one has to get all shook ... and up in arms ... about this con that up and flew the coop.

Kinda makes you wonder, though, as to what was bugging him to the extent that he'd write a bum check ... to buy a car ... to leave to be found ... so he could skedaddle ... when he knows, only too well, the consequences.

NO LADIES FOR SCOUTS?

When it comes to Boy Scouts ... there's the Lions and Elks, that come to mind right off, as sponsors fund raisers for the Boy Scouts ... 'cause they ain't bashful in getting their helping ideas publicized. That's good.

That leaves our Girl Scouts ... and, by jinkies, I don't recall as any of the ladies' clubs is out beating the bushes to raise funds to give the Girl Scouting groups a boost ... and, if'n I'm wrong, I'm sure I'll hear about it ... and, if'n I'm right, it kinda leaves me wondering why. Seems as though the girls could use some solid help, other'n buying cookies.

BOB ETHRIDGE QUILTS

Bob Ethridge ... who was the big boss of Con Tel West here ... has done up and retired ... perhaps to devote his time to making a hook out of his slice ... anyhow, just thought you might be interested ... especially in case you might get a chance to give him some needle-a-hole lessons.

BRIEF BIT: If'n Ford wins the GOP nomination, Reagan's problem could be how to keep his backers from asking for their backing back ... CD

YOUR ENTERTAINMENT AND DINING GUIDE

Wonder Lark wins Times 'cap

Wonder Lark ended a four month vacation for Sunday's renewal of the El Paso Times Handicap at Sunland Park, but the impressive colt didn't have any trouble shaking the cobwebs away.

He got control shortly after the break, dropped back into third place, then came roaring back to snare the lead at the turn for home.

In the stretch, he had only one serious opponent — the odds-on favorite, Copper Case.

But Wonder Lark easily shook off that attack and cruised under the wire with a 2 1/4 length lead. He clocked the 6 1/2 furlongs in 1:16 1/5 seconds, which was only a tick short of the seasonal record.

The Times Handicap, a main stepping stone to the upcoming Sunland Park Derby at a mile, offered a total jackpot of $6,600. Wonder Lark raked in $3,060. The mutual returns were $4, $2.40, $2.20. The colt was handled by Bobby Don Harmon from the Sanchez Horse Farm of Laredo, Texas. Charles Allison does the training.

Copper Case, who finished 11 lengths ahead of Jana D., returned rock bottom tote prices of $2.20 to place and show. Joe Martinez was aboard in the top load of 123 pounds. The impost was two pounds heavier than that shouldered by Wonder Lark. Second was worth $1,452.

Jana D., off at nearly 19-1 under Carlos Rivas, packed a wisp 111 pounds and returned $2.40 to show.

Fans who linked Wonder Lark and Copper Case in the quinella had to be content with a meager return of $3. That equalled the seasonal low.

In winning the Times Handicap, Wonder Lark added another touch of prestige to his growing reputation and boosted his career income to $56,845. The colt stamped himself as a tough one to catch, right from the first jump.

Although he was on the outside throughout the stretch run, he moved with considerable lick and gave the impression of being able to take command at will. He made his first big move at the turn for home, and the attack put him in the clear.

Copper Case, who went into the fray with a career income of nearly $85,000, turned on the afterburners at the mid-way point of the turn, and nearly reached a neck-and-neck position with Wonder Lark.

For about a half dozen strides, the two bickered for the lead slot. But Wonder Lark never gave away much terrain. At the half way point of the stretch, Wonder Lark had a solid hammerlock.

Copper Case appeared to stagger for a few jumps, then veered toward the inside rail, and from that point on his goose was cooked.

Wonder Lark is by Verbatim out of La Koorah.

His previous outing came in mid-November when he finished second to Banquero by 2 1/4 lengths in the $37,400 Fall Thoroughbred Futurity at Sunland Park. As a two-year-old in 1979, Wonder Lark won three stakes and ran up a record of 6-2-3 from 12 starts.

New Sunland futurity headed for big purse

Sunland Park's All-American Sale Futurity, scheduled to debut this fall, is a cinch to surpass original purse projections.

That's the word from general manager Woody Erwin, who noted that the 400 yard dash for quarter horses carried an estimated purse of $125,000 when it was first announced last spring.

Included in that figure was $50,000 in added money — $45,000 from the All-American Sale at Ruidoso Downs and $5,000 from Sunland Park.

A key condition of the race is that a horse, in order to be eligible, must have been entered in the previous year's All-American Select Yearling Sale at Ruidoso.

A total of 713 head was catalogued for last summer's All-American Sale. Of these, 235 were nominated to the Sunland All-American Sale Futurity at a fee of $300 each. That put the starting kitty at a whopping $70,500.

Only one other fee remains. That's a $200 tab to start in the trials.

The new Futurity will provide two major objectives for quarter horses at Sunland in the fall. The other is the long established Sunland Fall Quarter Horse Futurity. The two races will dovetail perfectly, Erwin said.

SIGN OF THE TIMES — Bill Chronister, assistant sports editor of the El Paso Times, hands over the victory trophy after Wonder Lark demolished the El Paso Times Handicap at Sunland Park. Trainer Charlie Allison and jockey Bobby Don Harmon collect the award. Mrs. Chronister was also on hand.

BOCA CHICO is the season's first six-time winner after capturing Sunday's eighth race. The six-year-old gelding also snapped a streak of winning every other race. Boca Chico, under Joe Martinez, won the 6 1/2 furlong sprint by 1 1/4 lengths as a 4-1 pick. It was his second straight win and his fifth in his last eight starts. His previous four wins had been separated by third and fourth place finishes. Boca Chico is owned by Betty and J. W. Coats Jr., of Dexter and trained by Jon Arnett.

MACK YATES, a member of the Ruidoso-Sunland Inc., board of directors, dominated the two-year-old thoroughbred scene over the weekend with his horses. Friday, Real Feather Bed won the season's first four furlong test by 3 1/2 lengths as a 5-1 pick. It was the second baby race of the season for thoroughbreds and the second time a Master Hand offspring was tabbed as the favorite and lost. Flaming Hand was fourth as an even-money favorite. Earlier in the season Happy Hand finished out of the money as part of an even-money favorite entry. The following day, another of Yates' horses, Mack's Bold Missy, won by 4 1/4 lengths as a 6-5 favorite. Both are trained by William Leach and Jimmy Hunt was the rider. Real Feather Bed was the fastest with a time of 46 seconds.

IN THE TWO-YEAR-OLD quarter horse races, Hookem Jet set a seasonal best time over 330 yards with a 17.03 clocking. The Gallant Jet colt owned by Tom Venable of Wagoner, Oklahoma won Friday's fourth race by almost two lengths as a 13-1 outsider. Richard Bickel was aboard the T. J. Halslip Jr., trained charge. Crickewood, a Master Hand filly, was second at 20-1, setting up a nifty $196 quinella payoff. Saturday's baby race was won by Pleasure Package with Rick Leppola aboard. She came in just over a length ahead of favorite Five To Six.

ANOTHER OF VENABLE'S horses made news over the weekend when Gallant Rich won his fourth race of the current meeting. The five-year-old gelding captured Saturday's fifth race by a nose as a 6-5 favorite. Earlier in the meeting Gallant Rich won at 95-1 odds. In January he captured a $3,500 claimer, then was moved up to first two outings later following a disqualification. In Saturday's race Gallant Rich defeated Croken Camolatte, a gelding who won four straight races in January. There are nine horses with four or more wins this season.

DANTEAN BECAME another four-time winner this season with a victory in Saturday's feature race. The four-year-old gray gelding went wire-to-wire to win by an easy 7 1/2 lengths as a 6-1 pick. Joe Martinez was aboard Dantean, who is owned by Gary Cummings of Albuquerque. Jimmie D. Claridge is the trainer. Other horses to win four or more races this season include Croken Camolatte, Due Flight, Gallant Rich, Karuh, Proud Enough, Royal Minds, Your Mistake and Boca Chico.

GO POLICY, a three-year-old colt, broke the longest standing quarter horse seasonal best time Saturday. With veteran Jerry Nicodemus aboard, Go Policy covered the 440 yards in 21.64 seconds to help the mark of Saint Court by just one-hundredth of a second. Saint Court set his mark in late December. The time was 28 off the track record and equalled a 104 speed index. He is owned by Fictor Diaz and JoAnn Valdez of El Paso, Texas and trained by Jesse Valdez.

MISTER RYAN became the first Argentine bred horse to win this season at Sunland Park. The eight-year-old horse raced only once last year and was winless in 1978. But under the whip of Betty J. Harless, Mister Ryan edged out a neck victory over Big L. in Friday's seventh race, a mile route for $5,000 claimers. It was Mister Ryan's first victory since December 11, 1977 when he captured a feature allowance at La Plata in Argentina. The win also marked another all-staff sweep by owner Elizabeth J. Smith of El Paso, trainer Susan Hendrix and jockey Harless.

GATOR BILL, a four-year-old chestnut gelding, was recently claimed for $22,500 at Oaklawn Park, according to Jody Roberts, son of trainer J. Doyal Roberts. Gator Bill was up for grabs for $5,000 at the New Mexico State Fair last fall. He was an allowance winner at Sunland in early December. Roberts also said his father is among the top five trainers at Oaklawn and that Barbijay, another well known runner from Sunland, was picked up for $10,000. In other Oaklawn Park news, Banquero, Sunland's Fall Horse of the Meet, placed third in the $50,000 Southwest Handicap two weeks ago.

THE FATHER-SON combination of A. C. Valenzuela and A. C. Valenzuela Jr., won both races of the Big Q Friday. Eagle Lime was moved to first following the disqualification of winner Beau Dee Noble in the 11th race to start the string. Eagle Lime, owned and trained by A. C. Sr., was an 18-1 pick. In the second half of the wagering, A. C. Jr., rode 4-1 pick Very Windy to the winner's circle. The Big Q payoff was a tidy $5,614.20. A. C. Sr., became the first trainer this season to have the winning horses in the Big Q races while A. C. Jr., joins four other jockeys to capture the duo. Ironically, A. C. Jr.'s brother, J. R., was the first to turn the trick this season.

PINON POINT made his first start in over seven months and came away with a 9 1/4-length win Saturday. The three-year-old chestnut filly captured the allowance outing as a 3-1 pick. It was the second win of her career after breaking her maiden at Sunland last April in her first trip to the post. Joe Martinez was aboard the Frank Cappellucci trained filly.

AFTER FINISHING SECOND in all four of her Sunland starts this season, Come Home Lucille won last Sunday. The three-year-old filly was a head in front of Vegas Wrangler at the wire in the fifth race, a 400 yard dash. Larry Byers was aboard. Come Home Lucille had been to the post four times before since late December and was the runnerup each time, losing by one half length or less three times.

THE BEST POST position over the weekend was the No. 1 with eight winners. Here's the tally from a seasonal standpoint: No. 1 — 83 wins; No. 2 — 85, No. 3 — 88, No. 4 — 72, No. 5 — 88, No. 6 — 73, No. 7 — 73, No. 8 — 50, No. 9 — 51, No. 10 — 42, No. 11 — 0, No. 12 — 0.

Jockey/Trainer of the week

Joe Martinez won five races, including Sunday's co-feature with a stirring performance aboard Mister Dunes, to take Jockey of the Week honors at Sunland Park.

Martinez, who lost his "bug" only last year, took over second place in the standings, only five triumphs behind leading Richard Bickel. The latter won three races over the weekend, as did apprentice Jimmy Hunt.

Bickel now has 50 victories for the season and Martinez 45.

In a departure from the norm, Charles Allison was named Trainer of the Week. Allison won just one race over the weekend, but he did such an outstanding job of getting Wonder Lark ready for it that he was awarded the weekly honor. Wonder Lark hadn't been out since November, yet Allison had him so fit that the colt upset the great Copper Case in the El Paso Times Handicap.

Six trainers had two winners. They were R. Frank Thompson, T. J. Halslip Jr., William F. Leach, A. C. Valenzuela, Jesse Valdez and Jon Arnett.

Children's safety goal of poison prevention week

Children's safety is the focus of this year's National Poison Prevention Week, March 16-22, and is receiving special attention from the New Mexico Poison, Drug Information and Medical Crisis Center at the University of New Mexico (UNM).

"Of the more than 14,000 calls we received last year from around the state, 5,992 of them involved children four years old or younger," said Dr. William Troutman, UNM pharmacist and director of the poison center. "Though the numbers may seem large, they probably represent only half the poisonings that actually happen in our state."

In Lincoln County, 81 calls were made to the center. Over 44 of them involved children four years old or younger.

Troutman said that cosmetics like lipstick and nail polish are the second highest cause of poisonings in these children. If you add perfumes and colognes to that, the number comes close to that of reported plant poisonings," he said.

Plants are still the primary cause of poisonings in both children and adults. Other major poison sources for children are detergents, aspirin, gasoline and kerosene.

Members of the Poison Center staff have begun special poison prevention programs in area day care centers so that pre-school children can learn early what things to avoid putting into their mouths. "We'd like very much to expand that program to include other parts of the state if we find financial support," Troutman said.

The staff's primary work is giving information over the telephone not only on the vast number of poisonous substances that exist, but also on first aid measures. Referrals can be made to appropriate treatment facilities.

The center is the state's primary poison information resource and has poison information specialists on duty 24 hours a day at a toll free statewide number, 1-800-432-6866. All calls are confidential.

"We encourage people to call us no matter how small the question. We want to help them make the assessment," Troutman said.

He also stresses the importance of keeping syrup of Ipecac available in the home for poison emergencies. The substance induces vomiting which reduces the amount of poison that can get into the system. Syrup of Ipecac is sold in any community pharmacy as a non-prescription medicine. It should be used only on instruction from a physician or poison center staff member, Troutman said.

"Valuable time is saved when people have it in advance. It should be available where children live or visit," Troutman said.

During Poison Prevention Week, community pharmacies throughout New Mexico will have available self-adhesive stickers with the Poison Center's toll free number.

The New Mexico Poison Center is one of only 16 such centers out of 500 in the country that meets the criteria of the American Association of Poison Control Centers.

Health group to meet at Fort Stanton

The Behavioral Health Advisory Council will meet at 9:30 a.m., March 21 at Fort Stanton Hospital.

The agenda will include a special session to introduce the new Division Directors in the State Health Environment Department (HED). Robert McNeill is the new director of the Behavioral Health Services Division (BHSD), replacing Scott Nelson, N. D., who formerly held that post. Robert Garcia is the director of a new division, the Residential Treatment Division, which includes the hospitals previously administered under BHSD.

Other items on the agenda are a legislative summary, internal reports of BHSD director and the bureau chiefs of substance abuse, mental health and developmental disabilities; revision of by-laws; and the residential treatment division director's report.

The council was formed in 1976 to advise BHSD of HED on policy and direction in the areas of substance abuse, developmental disabilities and mental health services in New Mexico.

Focus on Small Business

by E. Maine Shafer

Dear Mr. Shafer,

Whenever government decides to fight inflation by tightening credit, the small business owner suffers most from the resulting high interest rates. Large firms can raise money by selling stocks or bonds, but small businesses usually go to the bank when they need cash. It is during such times that banks are inclined to say "no." Is there help?

Yes, and more now than ever before. But let's talk first about what happens when small business is unable to raise cash, or is forced to pay high interest for the money it is able to borrow.

First, purchases are cut back. Inventories are kept low. Planned expansion is delayed. Owners then start thinking, usually as a last resort, about what workers to lay off.

All this has a domino effect. More small businesses fail. Fewer small businesses are started. The job market suffers. There's also a rise in the number of small businesses sold, again with a probable loss of jobs.

So what's a small business to do? It has to look to banks for relief, and this usually means the owner will be asked to accept the prevailing interest rate, which is higher than the prime rate reserved for the banks' bigger customers. Chances also are that the small business owner will have to repay the loan sooner, further aggravating his or her cash flow problem if customers are late in paying for goods or services.

The Small Business Administration (SBA) has lending programs to help — but admittedly they are only a drop in the bucket compared to the mammoth needs of the more than 10 million small businesses in the country.

Congress gives SBA about $200 million annually to lend directly to small businesses at the prevailing interest rate which the government pays on its borrowings. This rate is lower than rates customarily charged by banks, but funds are limited. SBA has an additional $3 billion (divided into an estimated 30,000 loans) to guarantee loans made through private banks at prevailing interest rates. This year, for the first time, some banks have established "two-tiered" interest rates, a system pioneered a year ago by the Mellon Bank of Pittsburgh. Mellon reduced its prime rate for some of its small business borrowers and used a "small business prime rate" as a new base rate. Since then, more than 100 other banks are publicly known to have followed suit. Many other banks offer small business rates, but for reasons of their own, are not prepared to have their banks publicly listed.

Generally, the small business prime rate is pegged at 1 1/2 percent below regular prime. Individual banks have set up their own criteria for determining whether a business is small.

Interest rates vary around the country and are dependent upon the credit judgments of individual banks. Rates often are negotiated between the banks and their borrowers.

If you want to find out more about small business interest rates, contact Finance & Investment at your local District SBA Office, 5000 Marble, NE, Albuquerque, New Mexico 87110, telephone 766-3430.

State agency favoring fluoride for tooth care

The state Health Environment Department (HED) has just released information on their findings regarding the use of fluoride to combat tooth decay. The figures on fluoridation are based on the results of studies that have been made nationwide, the HED release states.

Fluoridation can prevent two out of three cavities. Fluoride can cut children's dental care cost by one-half. Fluoride can reduce by 30% the number of adults who need dentures. Fluoride is essential for growth.

Since there are so many positive and demonstrable benefits of fluoride, why then the controversy over fluoridation that has caused some communities to vote against it?

There has been a small but vocal minority of people who believe that fluoridation causes a cluster of health disorders, including mottling of teeth. Surgeon General Dr. Julius Richmond said that careful, extensive research indicates these claims are misleading and some are downright untrue.

Since 1938 when H. T. Dean and his associates first proved the decay-inhibitory effects of fluoride on dental tissue and suggested a study of adding fluoride to eaters deficient in the fluoride ion, over 50 clinical and 3,000 biological studies have been made, and more than 9,000 articles published. Few preventive health measures have received such thorough evaluation and widespread approval.

Fluoridation of public water supplies is accepted as a safe, effective means of reducing dental decay by the American Dental Association, the American Medical Association, the American Association of Public Health Dentists and the American Academy of Pediatrics. At present more than 51 million people receive fluorides from natural or treated water.

Ingested in the proper amounts, fluorides produce up to 65% decrease in dental caries (tooth decay). Studies indicate that ingestion of about one milligram per day is optimum. This is the estimated intake provided by a concentration of one part per million (ppm) in drinking water in temperate climates, while in hotter climates where more water is consumed, the fluoride content may be as low as eight-tenths ppm.

Water containing more than two ppm may cause varying degrees of dental fluorosis (mottling), if ingested regularly during the first eight years of life. However, this only occurs in natural water, and in fact, where the level of fluoride in natural waters is high enough to cause mottling, the water can be treated to adjust the fluoride to the optimum level.

In controlled fluoridation, when fluoride is added to a community's water supply, the procedure is safe and has been validated experimentally and statistically.

The measure of two ppm as a potential cause of mottling may be too cautious, since research in areas of the United States where people have lived a lifetime on water containing as high as eight ppm has shown that persons have grown up in good health using such waters for drinking, cooking, watering vegetable gardens, and all other usual water uses.

In short, the health hazards of fluoride are virtually non-existent, but the benefits in dental health are tremendous.
