Art Festival reserving food booth locations

Six service organizations in the area have reserved food booth spaces at the Ruidoso Art Festival, sponsored by the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce, July 25-27 at the high school parking lot.

Ed Jungbluth, executive director of the Chamber, said the committee expects to have at least ten food booths with as much variety of foods as possible.

"We would like to offer food booths to any service organizations in Ruidoso or the surrounding communities," Jungbluth said.

The Art Festival Committee will ask that ten percent of gross sales be returned to them as consideration for operating a booth, according to Dave Wilson, chairman of the committee.

"Another point to keep in mind," Wilson said, "is that we want only very high quality food at the festival. If we feel a club plans to serve something that isn't quality and the price may be inflated, we'll reject it."

To reserve a food booth, call the Chamber at 257-7395.

LAND ACQUISITION ACTION DEFERRED

Hall quitting airport post

BY GWYNETH JONES
Staff Writer

Richard Hall, chairman of the Sierra Blanca Airport Commission (SBAC) has announced his resignation from the commission effective April 15.

Hall's announcement, which came at the regular meeting of the SBAC Thursday, cited "personal reasons," for leaving the board, but said he would remain available for consultation to new board members, and would possibly serve again at some future date.

The chairman read a letter advising mayor Lloyd L. Davis of his intention to resign and stating that "the experience gained while serving on the commission has been gratifying." He also thanked the village officials "for the opportunity of public service."

Hall's announcement came on the heels of the resignation of SBAC member George Shoemaker, who is continuing to serve until a replacement can be found. After reading his letter, Hall said he would suggest that future SBAC members be chosen from elected officials of the various entities represented.

Shoemaker and Hall agreed that the presence of such persons on the board might "carry more weight" with state and federal officials whose support will be needed in the effort to secure a satisfactory airport site.

In past discussions with state officials, Hall said he felt he had "spoken as logically" as possible and had explained the "best justifications" as well as he could.

"But I got the feeling they just didn't listen," he said. He went on to speculate that his background as a professional pilot might have been the reason for any prejudice against his stated views.

Prior to announcing his resignation, Hall discussed with the other commissioners "what direction the SBAC should take" since the latest effort to acquire lands on Fort Stanton Mesa have fallen through.

Shoemaker brought up the possibility of revising the original plans for a jet capable airport to develop only a replacement airport for Ruidoso.

He said it would be possible to position such a runway of 5,600 feet in length exclusively on state school land. Any future extension of such a runway, however, would necessitate an excessive amount of earthwork, he said.

Commissioner Norman Wheeler disagreed, saying, "We've fought all this time for a jet-capable airport, we shouldn't back off now."

Hall added that the transfer of state land to the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) and then to the SBAC is "far from assured." Such a transfer would have to be approved by the Department of the Interior, Hall said, meaning the "application would wind up on the same desk," as the last application. Secretary of the Interior Cecil Andrus turned down the SBAC application for acreage on the mesa last year.

Hall said he had already started to prepare a draft application for a reduced amount of land (598 acres) at the Fort Stanton Airport Site, but suggested the SBAC might want to delay submission of the new application for up to two years.

Once an application reaches the Bureau of Land Management (BLM), Hall said, they would have six months to act on it, giving the commission only six months to "convince all of the people who have been so bitterly opposed to us in the past." These include New Mexico State University (NMSU), which leases the lands from the BLM, the governor and his executive staff, and the New Mexico Cattle Growers, Hall said.

Wyndham Runningwater, who represents the Mescalero Apache Tribe on the SBAC, said, "I think we need to file the application now and not worry about the political situation."

"You're waiting for ideal conditions that are unlikely to come about. Deferring action will make it easier for the opposition to build up. We'd be doing just what they expect. I'm not going to give up—I refuse to lay down for those guys."

After some further discussion, the commissioners agreed to submit a resolution to each of the entities represented, asking each government to "reaffirm their support" of the SBAC in its efforts to acquire the Fort Stanton Airport Site. The resolution also stated the intent to apply for the 598 acres and to defer submission of the application for three months, to allow the entities to reply.

In other business, the SBAC: — Was advised by Earl Cook of Gordon Herkenhoff and Associates, that the engineering study of Site A was complete except for the printing. The commission requested that the original order of 100 copies be printed and sent to the Southeastern New Mexico Economic Development District office for distribution.

— Discussed requesting operational funds from the governments represented.

Life support training set

A course in Advanced Cardiac Life Support will be taught by an eight member medical staff April 25-27, at the Inn of the Mountain Gods.

The course is designed to train and certify medical personnel whose daily occupation demands knowledge and proficiency in skills of emergency cardiac care.

It consists of two components — lectures-practical skills and demonstrations in all areas of advanced life support.

Participants must be currently certified in basic life support, and must achieve at least 84 percent on the written examination and have near perfect proficiency in performance skills.

Students will, at the end of the course, be able to recognize the symptoms of cardiac arrest and take appropriate action for survival; deliver immediate basic life support and rapidly deliver advanced life support; and stabilize patients for transportation.

The course will be taught by seven physicians and one nurse, all certified advanced life support instructors.

Course director is Stan Wagner, an El Paso cardiologist, and other staff members include Dorothy Ekery; Dave Ballard; Gillian Field, the head nurse at Providence Coronary Care in El Paso; Lynn Neill; Joseph Paris, head of cardiology at William Beaumont Hospital in El Paso; John Pate and Melvin Spicer.

The course is accredited for continuing medical education, and Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center designates the course as a criteria for 12 credit hours in Category I of the Physician's Recognition Award of the American Medical Association.

Registration is $100, and medical personnel who wish to enroll may either send the fee to: American Heart Association, Texas Affiliate Inc., 1023 E. Yandell, El Paso, Texas 79902, or they may register at the door.

Registration at the door begins at 12:45 p.m., Friday, April 25.

Chamber's Wednesday Coffee Cart

The Wednesday morning Coffee Cart, sponsored by the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce, will be at Parson's Travel Agency from 9-10:30.

The coffees are open to the public, to meet Chamber officers and directors to discuss promotional projects that could be developed by the Chamber.

Racing issue set May 8

The Ruidoso News will publish the special edition marking the opening of the 1980 racing season at Ruidoso Downs May 8.

The advertising deadline for this issue is Friday, April 25. Advertisers are asked to phone Carmen Edwards, or Caron Snow, 257-4001, to reserve space.

Subscribers desiring to send copies of this special photograph and feature issue to friends are asked to reserve the number wanted early. Orders and payment, 50 cents for each copy to be mailed, must be received before Thursday, May 8.

Fund shortage curtains some police patrols

Some curtailment of police patrolling in Ruidoso has been put into effect by Chief of Police Paul Lukens.

"We're having to adjust patrol hours," Lukens said, "because we must conserve fuel pending adjusting the budget for the balance of this fiscal year. The price of fuel will be a factor in our budgeting for next year."

Lukens said that two officers are riding in a patrol unit two hours of each shift, during roving patrol periods, with one parked unit being on call during that time.

"The parked unit will be monitoring traffic," Lukens said, "at various locations, while being available to answer calls."

Village trustees to meet

The Ruidoso trustees will meet Tuesday at 7:30 p.m., in the multipurpose room of the Ruidoso Public Library.

Agenda items include approval to call for bids on sewer line cleaning equipment, beginning cycle billing of utility accounts, report on information on the proposed Russian Fireplace, for the Senior Citizens' Center, hearing representatives of the Lincoln County Humane Society, petition for annexation of the Driver Tract and the vacation of road right-of-way in Ponderosa Heights.

The committee will hear updates from all subcommittee chairpersons and act on recommendations.

Art Festival committee to meet

The Ruidoso Art Festival Committee will meet tonight at 7:30 in the Chamber of Commerce meeting room.

Warrior band Mexico City bound

BY CHARLOTTE FELLERS
Staff Writer

Fifty-two Ruidoso High School band students, and 12 chaperones will leave early Thursday morning for Mexico City to participate in the International Mexican Band Festival.

Band director Danny Flores said the band has worked at numerous money-raising to fund their trip, which will cost $16,000. He said $13,000 was raised and the remaining funds will be borne by those making the trip, which will last through April 14.

Although band students will spend several days touring the sites in and around Mexico City, they are traveling to Mexico to participate in the festival and perform twice more, in a shopping mall and at a school.

At the festival, the band will be evaluated by a panel of judges rating the band's musical abilities and state presence.

"We've practiced four months for this," Flores said. He added that Ruidoso's band is one of a handful in New Mexico ever selected to participate in the Mexico festival.

The band had to submit an audition tape for the opportunity to represent the state in the festival, and band instructors from Gallup, Santa Fe, New Mexico State University and the University of New Mexico sent letters of recommendation on behalf of Ruidoso's band.

Flores said that everything is set now, but it wasn't easy getting everything together. He said assembling all necessary papers and band equipment became a statewide effort.

"We can't take large instruments like a timpani or bass drum. So we borrowed three chimes, which we need for one of our songs, from the Tularosa school system."

"Then we had to come up with 35 collapsible music stands. Well, we had to beg 12 of those from Roswell High School. We got a tuba from another school and several people loaned music scores for the judges," Flores said. Clovis, Alamogordo, Las Cruces and Albuquerque band teachers supplied other equipment.

Flores said each student is well represented by a series of papers which are required before leaving the country. Tourist cards similar to passports, a permission slip signed by parents or guardians to leave the country, a medical release from the school, a school permission slip stating the type of insurance carried on each student and a birth certificate or affidavit of birth had to be filed on each student.

Ruidoso Mayor Lloyd L. Davis has proclaimed the week of April 21 Warrior Band Week in the Ruidoso area "as a tribute of esteem and loyalty to our Ruidoso High School Warrior Band."

reads "The key to our city from the Ruidoso High School Band, Ruidoso, New Mexico, U. S. A. presented to the mayor of Mexico City, Carlos Gonzalez." Ratliff is one of 12 sponsors making the trip.

Chamber of Commerce organized at Capitan

Norman Renfro was elected president of the Capitan Chamber of Commerce at the recent organization meeting.

Other officers named include David Cummins, president-elect; Don Stark, vice president; Barbara Sanchez, secretary-treasurer and Mark Delgado, executive director.

Members of the board of directors include Dr. David Rouleau, Vanquillo

Silva, Bonnie McEuen, Tommie Allen, Glenda Booher, Georgia Hutchinson and Jack Sniadecki.

Delgado will conduct a membership drive, with Business, Professional, Individual and Supportive classifications available.

The Chamber will meet this evening at 7:30 in the Lincoln County Fair Building, Capitan, to adopt by-laws and complete plans for the membership drive.

Conversational Spanish class will be offered

A beginning Spanish class will be taught this spring by Linda Sanchez and sponsored by the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce, according to Chamber executive director Ed Jungbluth.

The organizational meeting for this class, and a basic conversational Spanish class, will be held April 14 at 7 p.m., at the Chamber meeting room.

Class size must be at least 20 but no more than 25 people and the cost of the course is $50. Jungbluth said the basic conversational Spanish class will be taught if enough interest is shown.

"The course will be 12 sessions, and we feel we can have it completed before the summer season gets going too much," Jungbluth said. "Some interest has been shown to have the class twice a week for two hours per session."

He said interested persons must be dedicated and able to attend all sessions. "The money will not be refunded and because of the concentrated period of time, we will try to arrange the class so it can meet the needs of the most people."

The course is open to everyone and the only materials needed will be a notebook and paperback Spanish dictionary. Sanchez will provide various handouts throughout the course.

Sanchez, who is now teaching similar classes through the high school, is willing to offer a continuation of the Spanish classes again in the fall, following racing season, Jungbluth said.

He added that Sanchez may also offer a basic English course this summer to accommodate Mexican nationals who visit Ruidoso for the summer.

P&Z takes no action on road vacation

The Ruidoso Planning & Zoning (P&Z) Commission Wednesday took no action on the vacation of a road on Lot 8 Block 17, Ponderosa Heights, Unit 3.

P & Z were asked to approve vacation of the road since a house and deck encroaches onto the right of way. The home, which is at least 25 years old, is in the process of being sold and the sale is being postponed until a decision is rendered, according to attorney Lee Huckstep.

The commission approved vacation subject to a joint inspection by P&Z members and village street superintendent Jack La May. If either decided the vacation would not be in the best interests of the village, the vacation would be turned down.

In an inspection Thursday morning, no action was taken since a P&Z quorum was not present.

In other business the commission: —Recommended annexation of the Driver Tract, zoned commercial, subject to an opinion of village attorney Ron Harris on whether P&Z or the village trustees will hold the public hearing.

—Met with the Committee For Insuring Ruidoso's Environment to review changes that organization wishes to make in village ordinances.

—Changed the regular meeting time to the first Wednesday each month at 9 a.m., in the multi-purpose room of the Ruidoso Public Library.

'The List' hits here

BY MARK BAGBY
Staff Writer

"Invest $100 in yourself for one day," the blurb reads, "and you can make $204,000 without any risk."

Sound too good to be true? It is, a member of the New Mexico Attorney General's Office said to The Ruidoso News last week.

But an extremely large group of people across the United States — including many Ruidoso area residents — disagree, and have invested in "The List."

The List is, according to the instructions, a "fool-proof business concept" into which "hundreds of hours of research and careful planning" have been spent.

Here's how it works: a person (for the sake of this example, he is referred to as the first purchaser) gets a copy of The List for $50, usually bought from a friend or relative or coworker. There are 12 names on The List.

The purchaser sends $50 cash to the top name on The List, which means $100 has been invested. Then the purchaser removes that name from The List and adds his name to the bottom.

Thus, name number two is now number one, and so on down the line. There will always be 12 names on The List. The purchaser now makes two copies on his List and sells one each to two people, for $50 apiece. So, the original buyer is even, having spent $100 and later getting $100.

Now each of those buyers sends $50 each to the top names on their Lists and add their names. The first purchaser has climbed from position 12 to position 11.

After The List has been bought and sold an even dozen times, if the chain is unbroken, the first purchaser in this example will now be number one on 4,096 Lists. If all 4,096 purchasers send $50 each, the first buyer will now have $204,800.

But usually, the chain breaks down somewhere, although the instructions urge the buyer to "follow the instructions EXACTLY. Otherwise certainty and The Business List Concept could break down," and names on the bottom of the list won't earn any money.

The List is known by many names, including the "Circle of Gold." The state Attorney General's office has two names for it — a pyramid scheme and a hoax.

"It's a pyramid scheme," Ron Andazola of the state Attorney General's office said. "Usually the only one who benefits from the scheme is the one who starts the list wherever it started."

"Generally the chain breaks down before anyone really makes money from it. But even if it keeps going, it is specifically prohibited by law."

The law Andazola refers to is state law 57-13.6, "The Pyramid Schemes Law," enacted by the state Legislature several years ago. It prohibits pyramid schemes and has a penalty of $1,000 or a year's imprisonment or both.

The trick in enforcing the law, Andazola said, is catching people involved in it.

"Really, since the one who starts it is almost always the one who benefits from it, that's who we try to go after. But tracking down the originator is tricky."

"Right now, in Santa Fe district court, there is a case pending on the Circle of Gold," a scheme which made the rounds back in about 1978. This is the first testing of the law.

The Attorney General's office, Andazola said, considers The List a chain letter, which means it could be prosecutable under federal rulings.

"Although people who are involved in it don't think of it as a chain letter, we do," Andazola said. "The money is sent through the mail, even though The List isn't. But there's a reason for sending that money, and that's the basis we're using for prosecution in the case. Any use of interstate commerce — telephone, telegraph or the United States Postal Service — in a fraudulent scheme is punishable by law."

Why do people invest in such schemes? "It's human nature," Andazola said. "We all want something for nothing. But that's not the way it works... you don't get something for nothing, you get something for something, or nothing for nothing, or you get nothing for something."

That's where our concern lies — someone has to pay for this. The money has to come from someone, and it's going to be someone who can't afford it, because they need money worse than others do. No goods are delivered and no services are rendered, but the whole thing sounds very logical.

"Because someone could get hurt, we feel it's illegal," Andazola said.

But illegal or not, numerous Ruidoso residents, New Mexico residents and United States residents are participating in The List.

In fact, currently in Ruidoso, there is not one, but two separate Lists. One has been in town almost two weeks, and the other has been here six days.

And quite a few local people are buying and selling Lists and sending $50 bills through the mail.

"With the economy and inflation as it is," one buyer said, "you got to do everything you can to make ends meet."

"It's people helping people," said another.

And it's not something for nothing, buyers contend.

"You get to meet people you wouldn't have had a chance to meet otherwise," one said. "I don't have any bad feelings about paying money to strangers. You do it all the time. A corporation is just as strange to me."

"And I know I can't gonna make any money off a corporation."

"The rich get richer and the poor get poorer," said another. "How often have you heard that? Well, it's true. I can't afford to put money in a savings account. I need it to spend just to pay bills. I can't afford to buy stocks. This is about the only investment I can make."

"We're working people," said one buyer, speaking for a group. "Every dollar we have is precious. That's why we do this. You pay $100 and then you get it right back. You're not out nothing."

And it doesn't bother the buyers to think someone else might go broke trying to play.

"Hey, if you don't get out and sell your List, then you deserve to lose the money," one said. "This is different from going to the rack track and losing your house payment on a horse. If you can't afford $100, then you'll sell your List."

"But this makes sense. You can earn a lot."

No one seemed to think they could actually earn $200,000, but that wasn't a big concern.

"Anything I can earn off this thing is okay with me," one said. "I'll be content with $1,000."

Once someone buys onto the List, it takes roughly two weeks or a little longer before money starts arriving. But apparently it does start, and that's exciting," one said.

"I talked to one fellow," one buyer said, "who told me he's received money in five figures. I haven't gotten any yet, but I'm only about number six on the list right now."

People who encourage others to buy the List are turning it into big business. They've printed T-shirts emblazoned with "I'm On The List — Are You?" and bumper stickers are on the way.

One of the Lists now in Ruidoso came here from Hobbs, where a large rally was held in support of The List March 4. Over 250 people attended that rally, and leaders there indicated nearly 4,000 people were participating in The List.

Included in that total, according to a Hobbs newspaper article, are police officers, a municipal judge and physicians.

The List in Hobbs is believed to have originated somewhere on the East Coast, and is working its way through to the West Coast. It travels by hand, and is brought from city to city by people known as "monitors."

The Hobbs list was brought to this area by a young married housewife, who bought it from her sister, a Hobbs resident.

She became a monitor, she said, to keep track of how her name was doing.

"A monitor," she said, "encourages people to buy The List and, if things have stalled, tries to find buyers for Lists. You have to sell it to someone you know will also sell it. I look for people I can count on."

She doesn't receive extra money for being a monitor, she said.

The money anyone receives for being on The List is taxable as income, and if there's any reason it should be declared illegal, that's it, buyers say.

"I guess I'd quit if they decide it's illegal," one man said. "But I don't know how they'd enforce it. It's like Prohibition. People will do what they damn well want to, no matter what the law says."

C-C cancels 'Fantastiks'

"The Fantastiks" a musical drama production which was scheduled for viewing Wednesday night in Ruidoso, has been cancelled, according to Ed Jungbluth, executive director of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce.

Jungbluth said only 27 of 100 tickets were sold, not enough to hold the event. Jungbluth said those who purchased tickets are entitled to a refund and the Chamber will be in touch with them to have the money returned. "If you don't get a call, we'll have your money at the Chamber so you can pick it up," Jungbluth said.

Three county schools obtain special grants

Interim Legislative Education Study Committee chairman Representative John Bigbee, has announced distribution of special funds for vocational education equipment to schools in Carrizozo, Hondo and Ruidoso.

Bigbee said Ruidoso will receive $5,939; Carrizozo, $7,638 and Hondo, $4,876.

These funds, Bigbee said, are a onetime grant, not included in the annual public school support and the districts were required to make application to the State Department of Education to be eligible to receive them.

Bigbee said, "Most legislators feel the schools should have been buying vocational equipment out of their regular budgets. The 1980 Legislature approved a $1.3 million total in a nonrecurring, supplemental appropriation to help buy the equipment."

MARCIA SILVER, right, was awarded two tickets for an all-expenses-paid vacation to Las Vegas this week by Brian Dupree, for garnering the highest dollar value of listings, and highest dollar value of listings sold at Perfeet-Parks and Associates. She was in contention with 12 other employees of the firm.

RUIDOSO AUTHOR EVE BALL is the subject of an article, "Eve Ball Listened," in the April issue of Q2.3 Magazine, published by KENW

Television, Portales. She is shown, discussing her writing about the Apaches, in her home here.

Eve Ball featured in Q2.3

Author Eve Ball of Ruidoso is featured in an article in the April issue of "Q2.3 Magazine," the monthly magazine and program guide published by KENW Television in Portales, New Mexico.

She has specialized in the preservation of the oral history of Apaches in the Ruidoso area. She is the author of "In the Days of Victorio," published by the University of Arizona press, and will have another book, "Endeh: An Apache Odyssey" published this spring by Brigham Young University. She is also the author of "Ma'am Jones" and "My Girlhood Among Outlaws."

Without her work, much Apache history told from the Apache point of view would have been lost. In the "Q2.3" article, "Eve Ball Listened," she recalls her first contacts with the Apaches shortly after she moved to Ruidoso; difficulties in getting "In the Days of Victorio" published, and conversations with Indian friends through the years.

She is now at work on another book about Apache life with Linda Sanchez of Capitan, an Eastern New Mexico University (ENMU) graduate with a degree in anthropology.

KENW Television, located on the campus of ENMU, is the public television station for the High Plains and Eastern New Mexico.

Local Realtor earns special designation

Ruidoso Realtor John Winniford has received Certified Residential Specialist Designation (CRS) from the Realtors National Marketing Institute, primary educational affiliate of the National Association of Realtors.

CRS designation, Winniford said, requires completion of special courses and years of experience in residential sales. The award was announced during the recent National Association of Realtors convention in Dallas, Texas.

Winniford, qualifying broker with Lela Easter Real Estate, is a member and past president of the Ruidoso Board of Realtors and serves on the local arbitration and code of ethics committee. He is also a director of the Realtors Association of New Mexico, service in the state grievance committee.

JOHN WINNIFORD

Young Democrats organized here

Wilton Howell was elected president of the Young Democrats of Ruidoso at a March 17 organizational meeting. Also elected were Mike Gray, vice president and Susan Pfeffer, secretary-treasurer.

The main goal of the Young Demos is to "put enough money behind the Democrats who are running for office so that when they get into office they'll remember Lincoln County," Howell said.

The group organized, Pfeffer said, "to educate people about politics. It's a good opportunity to learn about New Mexico and government itself."

Since forming, the Young Democrats selected two delegates, Howell and Debbie Garcia, to represent Ruidoso at last week's state meeting of Young Democrats in Las Cruces.

Also present at the meeting were Jerry Melendrez, president of the Otero County Young Democrats, (OCYD), who was instrumental in organizing the Ruidoso chapter.

Lori Garcia, secretary of the OCYD and Susan King, a member of that group, were also present. Melendrez said his chapter has more than 100 members and provided some ideas for enlarging the Ruidoso chapter, which now has ten active members.

Howell said future plans include sponsoring fund raisers and social events to acquire more members. Anyone between 18 and 36 is eligible to become a full member and anyone not falling into that age span can become an associate member.

Library plans poster contest for children

The Ruidoso Public Library has announced a poster contest for children aged 6-14 to commemorate National Library Week. Theme of the contest is "Reading Opens Up The World." Children can design their entries at the library between 10 a.m. and noon Tuesday through Friday. Materials available at the library for use are construction paper, poster paper, tissue paper, crayons, paints and colored pencils. If additional materials are needed, each child must supply his/her own.

Prizes will be awarded at 11 a.m., at the weekly library movie spectacular.

Librarian Ingrid Schmitz also said that during National Library Week, April 13-19, no fines will be charged for the return of overdue books.

Fellowship observing Passover feast

Mountain Christian Fellowship will celebrate a Passover feast at 7 p.m., Sunday at the log cabin next to Lela Easter Real Estate on Mechem Drive.

Allen Granger, pastor of the Crosses Church in Las Cruces will conduct services and the Los Amigos singing group will provide music. Both will host a seminar following the service.

Additional worship services will be held Monday and Tuesday beginning at 7 p.m., with Granger and Los Amigos. Topics for the seminar will be announced and everyone is invited to attend.

Lieutenant Hine to Albuquerque

United States Navy Lieutenant Catherine Hine, presently an instructor with the Navy's Officer Candidate School, Newport, Rhode Island will begin duties July 15 as a Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps instructor at the University of New Mexico, Albuquerque.

Klein/Ordorica wedding set

Anita Jo Klein and Miguel A. Ordorica will exchange wedding vows at 7 p.m., Friday, April 11 at St. Eleanor's Catholic Church.

The bride-to-be is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Romeo Klein of Ruidoso. She is employed by Continental Telephone Company.

A reception and dance will follow the ceremony at the All-American Room of the Chaparral. Friends of the couple are invited to attend the wedding and other festivities.

Floor Fashions
COLOR COMBINATIONS are one of the freshest trends in carpets, and the idea is not new at all, like so many trends in fashions, from clothes to furnishings.
Early American woven rugs used different colors as a matter of course, and the blending of carpet fibers of varying hues has long been a popular practice. What is different about color combinations today is not the notion but the way it's done.
One reason is the development of new dyes and new carpet fibers that take readily to almost any shade of coloring. So you'll find reds, for instance, that are made up of red, cerise and magenta. Or rich new gold combinations achieved with varying shades of yellow, from daffodil to deep amber.
Like the new solid color carpets, the combinations tend to be lighter and brighter, with white yarns often woven into the blend. Two, three or even four-color mixes are common.
We have the right carpet combination to fit your needs, your taste and your budget. Come on and look over the varied displays ... or give us a call for convenient shop-at-home service, with samples brought to your door.

Easter egg-sperience was eggs-tremely egg-citing

"THE BEST place to hide Easter eggs is the least likely place . . ." but none were there. This youngster wasn't missing any bets at the egg hunt held at Two Rivers Park Saturday morning.

"I FOUND so many eggs, I can hardly hold this basket!"

"I HAVEN'T found ANY!"

WHEN THE GUN SOUNDED...

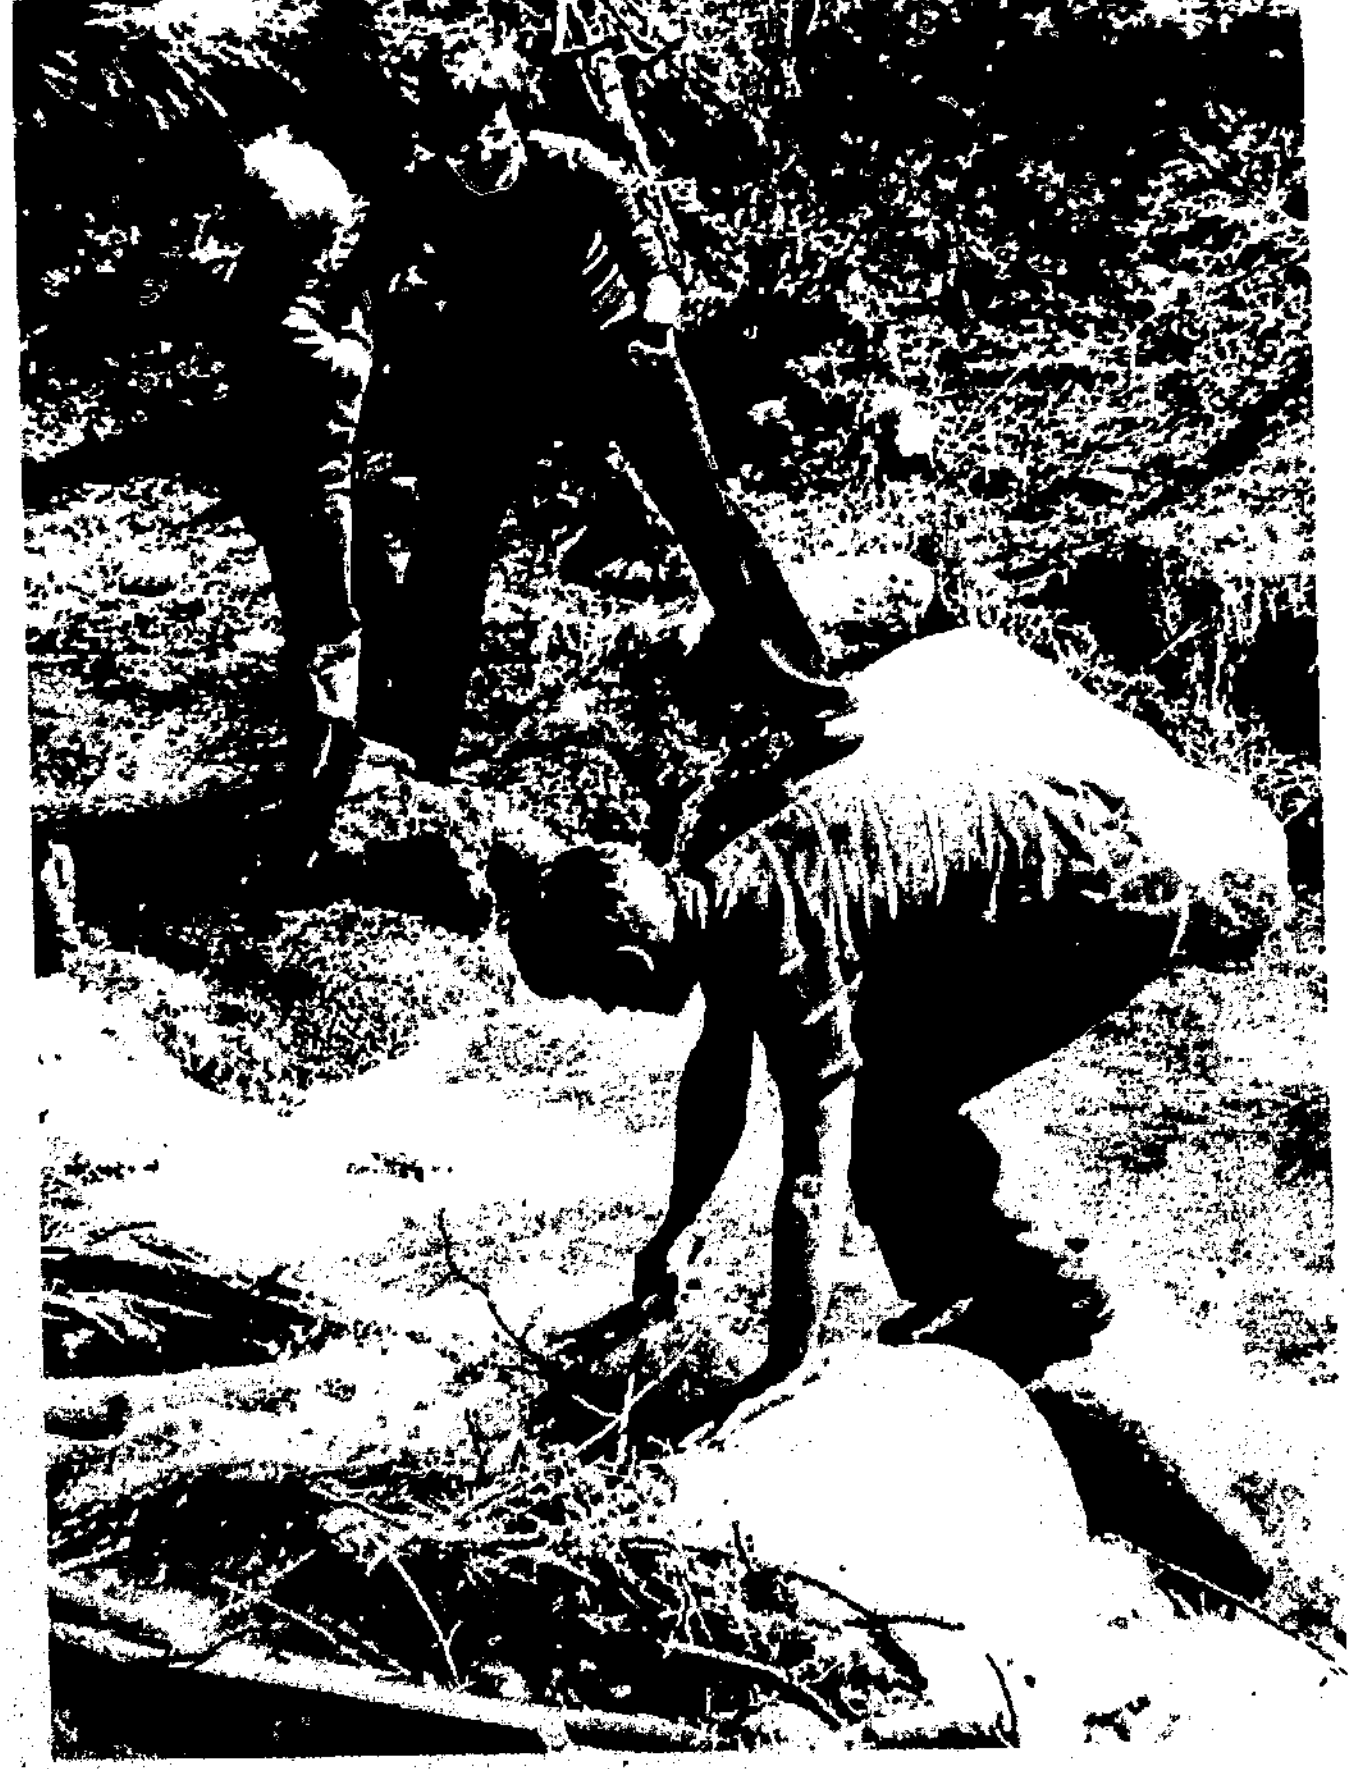

THE PACK was off and running.

A BOY'S BEST FRIEND is his Mom—when there are eggs to be found in midstream. But this effort was stalled temporarily, before a renewed attempt, this time, minus shoes and socks. And sometimes, a good Samaritan comes along in the nick of time, rescuing the eggs from a watery demise.

Lady Warriors roll to second place

Warriors finish fifth in Hagerman track meet

The Ruidoso Warrior track squad finished a disappointing fifth place in Saturday's "Alfalfa Relays" held in Hagerman.

The Warriors scored 34 team points, which was substantially below Tatum's winning score of 68. Ten schools competed in the predominantly AA event, and Ruidoso's low finish has coach Darrel Stierwalt concerned.

"I don't know how we're going to be competitive in district if we can't win a little track tournament," Stierwalt said. "We do real well in practice and then screw up in competition. I don't know what we have to do."

The Warriors did well in middle and long distance events, but poorly in field events, including shotput, which earlier appeared to be a strong point.

"We throw it 42 and 43 feet in practice," Stierwalt said. "But then we can't break 40 feet in a meet. We didn't even place at Hagerman."

First place finishes were turned in by Joe Almager in the 1,500 meter run and by Elroy Duffy in the 3,000 meter. Almager's time was 4:34, and Duffy had a 10:02.

Craig Sullivan placed third in each event, with 4:48 in the 1,500 and 11:10 in the 3,000.

The Warriors probably would have won the 400 meter relay, since they had the best preliminary time, (47 seconds). That qualified them for the inside lane.

But leadoff man Steve Benway started too soon, disqualifying the team.

"We felt like we would've won it," Stierwalt said. "The kids were really disappointed."

Capitan won the 400 relay, with a time of 46.9. "And we beat them by three yards in the prelims," Stierwalt said. The disqualification hurt doubly, since not only did the Warriors lose 10 points by not placing, but Capitan gained 10 points. (Capitan finished third with 45 points.)

In other events, the Warriors finished third in the javelin with a throw of 149 feet by Cody Browning, and the 800 meter relay foursome of Benway, Russ Pior, Ricky Dennis and Scott Neal placed third with a time of 1:39.8.

A fourth place finish was garnered by the 1,600 medley team of Peter Batton, Drew Cardwell, Danny Hoffer and Almager, with a time of 4:10, and Scott Neal was fifth in the 165 meter low hurdles, with a 22.5 time.

Mark Boggs was fifth in discus, with a toss of 112 feet, four inches.

Sixth places were won by the 1,600 meter relay team of Benway, Dennis, Pior and Steve Pietsch, with a 3:52.1 time; by Pior in the 200 meter sprint, with a 25.3 time; by Scott Annaia in the javelin, with a throw of 136 feet; and by Pietsch in an incredibly tight 100 meter dash. (Pietsch had a 12.3 time; first place time was 12.2 seconds.)

"We've got to do better in the field events," Stierwalt said. "We didn't have anybody place in the pole vault, long jump, high jump, shotput, and we didn't do well in the javelin or discus."

"This is Easter vacation, but we'll be having some limited workouts. We'll lift some weights and do some running."

"Our next meet is April 19 at Lovington, which will be a real tough AAA meet. The break will probably hurt us, but of course I don't know how much. We'll just have to keep working and see what happens."

The lady Warriors finished second in the "Alfalfa Relays," with a score of 47 points. Tatum won the event with 92.

Sheri Dennis won the 100 meter and 200 meter sprints with times of 13.2 and 28.6. Ruta Bob won the 1,500 meter run with a 6:06 (15 seconds better than her time a week ago), and Lisa Shaw was second with a 6:22.

Bob finished second in the 800 meter run with a 2:45 and Gleda Bob was third with a

Tammy McCulley was second in discus, with a throw of 27.65 meters.

The 400 meter relay team of Shaw, Jaylene Adakai, Jenny Delhotal and Dennis was third with a time of 56 seconds, and the 1,500 meter relay team also placed third with a 4:53 time. Team members are Adakai, Teresa Jameson, Gleda Bob and Delhotal.

Lastly, the 800 meter relay team of Shaw, Dennis, Adakai and Delhotal was fifth with a 2:05.

"I'm very pleased," coach Sergio Castanon said. "We were the only AAA school there, but a lot of the teams there will be in the running for state championships."

"It was another good effort. We'll have individual workouts during the break. All the girls are doing an outstanding job, and I'm looking forward to the rest of the season."

The lady Warriors also return to the cinder track competition April 19 at Lovington.

Albuquerque tourney needs players

The University of Albuquerque's first Pro-Am Golf Tournament will be held Friday, April 25, at Paradise Hills Country Club in Albuquerque.

Proceeds of the tournament go to the University of Albuquerque's athletic program.

The tournament is limited to 30 pros and 120 amateurs. More than $7,000 in prizes will be given to top golfers, including use of a new car for one year for the winning pro. In addition to the tournament, a variety of social events are planned, including a Friday evening banquet and dance.

The event is sanctioned by the Sun Country Golf Association (SCGA) and SCGA membership is required.

For more information, contact SCGA, 1605 Carlisle NE, Albuquerque, New Mexico, 87140, (505) 262-1497.

Little League signups begin Tuesday

Registration for the 1980 edition of Ruidoso Little League baseball begins Tuesday in Nob Hill School at 7 p.m.

There will be three leagues this season — PeeWee, Major and Pony — for youngsters ages 8-15. There will be a $5 registration fee, and a parent should accompany prospective players.

There will be another registration night next Tuesday at Nob Hill.

The draft will be April 19, with practices beginning any time after the draft. The first games are slated for May 12.

Sportin' Life

... a column of opinion ...

by

Mark Bagby

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Dub Holt, who had a baby girl this week. Dub, president of Ruidoso Men's Softball League, was passing out cigars in the office a couple of days ago, and a prouder papa you never saw.

Gymnastic woes

Blake Starr, with Ruidoso Gymnastics Association, is currently seeking donations of materials and money for the new gymnasium his organization just acquired.

There are all sorts of things they need, like paint, building materials, or volunteer labor even. There's still lots of work to do, although the building is shaping up nicely.

And of course, the Association could always use money, Blake assures me. So if you think you can help, give Blake a call, 257-5957, or better yet, go see the new gym (it's next to Village Hall).

The national scene

Ah, things are hopping in sports — the pro baseball season may never get off the ground, because everyone's uptight over money. Which is understandable, since the average pro salary is now $133,000 a year for about six months' work — and the average per game ticket price across the country is now $7 a game.

Tain't worth it.....

The Albuquerque Journal came out with its all-state basketball lists. Only one Ruidosan made any listing — Lisa Shaw was an honorable mention on the girls' AAA team, although you might be hard pressed to figure it — since it had her listed as Linda Shaw. (Who?)

Several players the Warriors faced this season — among them Artesia's Dwayne Dickey, Deming's Paul Maynes and David Caldwell and Tularosa's Bill Turner — made the all state roster.

Regrettably, no Warriors even made honorable mention (except, of course, Ms. Shaw) — which I'm sure is a big disappointment to coach Barry Nelson and his troops.

The Dallas Cowboys seem to be falling apart, which will make things interesting for Tom Landry next year. I read somewhere he said, "I love a challenge." He's got one now. God knows. Meanwhile, the Houston Oilers are on their way to the Super Bowl, and remember you read it here in April come next January.

Mike Weaver sure did a number on John Tate in the ring, didn't he? Wow, talk about your movie finishes.

How many times have you seen a fight where one boxer beats the living daylight out of another through the whole fight, the 15th round, and totally demolishes him to the point where the losing boxer must hit a miracle knockout punch to win? I've seen a few fights like that, but the miracle bunch never came through. (Except maybe in "Rocky.")

Until now. I still can't believe Weaver beat him. Tate had the man beaten, and then lost the fight. Incredible but true, ain't it?

We're in the middle of the National Basketball Association playoffs, and spring football practice is garnering headlines — this may seem like a slow time of the year for sports, but nothing could be further from reality.

Getting a kick out of you

Butch Grantham and Bob Gregson are becoming real travelers.

Recently they conducted a soccer clinic in Alamogordo, which was a real success, and now they've been asked to conduct clinics in El Paso, one at a high school and another at a school for the mentally handicapped.

Locally, the junior league season begins April 12 (that's this Saturday) and Butch is still trying to get more adults interested in the possible adult league.

(I've thought about playing, but with my skill — Hey, I don't want to embarrass anybody, especially myself.)

If you're interested, give Butch a call at 257-7731, after 5 p.m.

New sports facility

There will soon be a new sports and fitness facility in Ruidoso.

It'll be run by a young lady named Chris Swin, who, with her husband-to-be Pat Loomis, will open the Diet Counsellors-Health Fitness Center.

Pat's a good kid from California, and he's been here about nine months. He's about to give up his bachelorhood to Chris — you know what a bachelor is, that's someone who is footloose and flancee-free.)

Anyway, the shop will be opening May 1, and it's located up near the Post Office, in the complex with Dos Amigos and Sonny's Barbecue (the former home, that is).

Facilities will include diet counseling and programs, a suntanning salon (but not using ultraviolet light, which has been linked with skin cancer), exercise classes, and eventually a complete weightlifting facility.

Sounds good to me. Stay tuned for details.

Quotable Quotes

Some sports figures are natural comics — here are two of my favorite one liners.

Ara Parseghian, former head football coach at Notre Dame University: "One year I had a backfield so slow I had to use an hourglass to time 'em."

John Brodie, ex-quarterback of the San Francisco 49ers, after a particularly disastrous afternoon: "I tried to shoot myself after the game, but someone intercepted the bullet."

Oh, if we all had so much wit — but regrettably some have only half. (Which makes me a halfwit.)

Lots of award winners in women's bowling

At last week's Sierra Blanca Women's Bowling Association honors and awards banquet, numerous award winners were honored and officers were elected for the 1980-81 season.

Below are pictures of all the winners from February's tournament, as well as the new officers.

FIRST PLACE singles winner was Grace Lopez.

FIRST PLACE winner in all handicap events was Janice Eldridge.

HIGHEST SCRATCH game was a 279, bowled by Susan Von Rosenberg, bowling for Von Rosenberg construction.

HUGHES BODY SHOP was the top team scratch team, and Walt Hughes accepted the award for team members Wanda McBride, Billie Stratton, and Georgia George.

TOPS IN DOUBLES, both scratch and handicap, were Nettie Hug, left and Willie Beasley.

"LET'S BE PARTNERS, and we'll split the goods."

DISABLED AMERICAN VETERANS donated two prize eggs for the Easter Egg Hunt Saturday. Winners of the two $10 bills were Jennifer Hamilton, 10, left, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Peter Hamilton of Lubbock, Texas; and Nicole DeBerge, 7, right, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank DeBerge of White Oaks. Romeo Klein, center, presented the money following the hunt Saturday.

SHANE BARNETT, 7, found a golden egg which contained a $25 savings account from Security Bank, at the Easter Egg hunt Saturday morning. He was given the prize by Richard Sandoval, right, chairman of the Retail Merchants Committee of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the event. Melanie Sanchez, 4, won a $25 gift certificate from Gambles, but was not available for a photo.

"YUK—This one's cracked."

MR. ADVERTISER
"Everybody knows me and where I am and what I sell." If you've ever felt that, read this:

•The U.S. Government reports that after one year, 20% of the population of our country moves on to another location.

•In two years the 20% figure jumps to 30%; in three years it is 38%.

•After 10 years, 66% of the population of the nation WILL HAVE MOVED!

Can any retailer really afford to sit back and feel "they know me, where I am, and just what I sell?"

THINK ABOUT IT!

GIBSON'S DISCOUNT CENTER, RUIDOSO, NEW MEXICO — SERVING THE MOST ENCHANTING PART OF

Inside The Capitol

by Fred McCaffrey

SANTA FE — Governor King is obviously angry to the point of sheer incoherence over this matter of the 8 percent ceiling on interest paid for municipal bonds.

State Treasurer Jan Hartke took up where this columnist and some others had left off in raising the issue. By asking the Governor to call the Legislature back to correct an administration oversight, Hartke obviously stung the man from Stanley in a vulnerable place.

Since that time, Bruce has been trying to prove it's almost anybody's fault except his.

Meanwhile, of course, school boards, municipalities and other governmental entities in the state are still limited to paying a top rate of 8 percent interest on their bonds, so nobody wants to buy them.

FUNNY PICTURES: The cartoonist for the Santa Fe New Mexican drew some laughs with his strip about some guy named Fred who evidently writes a column called "Inside the Capitol" or "Inside the Capital" or something like that. Seems the guy he was satirizing uses big long words all the time and views with alarm most of the things which go on in Santa Fe county.

Even the subject of the drawings, we can accurately report, was amused — but, mean-spirited old codger that he is, he swears he'll go on saying nasty things about incompetence in government wherever he finds it.

BIG BUY: Wanna get rich? Sell your land to the Highway Department.

Somewhat, in all those neat spots on the TV news showing all the White Men rejoicing because they completed a deal with the Santo Domingos to buy land needed to improve the highway from Albuquerque to Santa Fe, there were not enough close-ups of the Indians.

If there had been, they would be seen to be smiling quietly. The price they got for that land: $600 an acre — a lot more than they got for Manhattan Island.

HEAD-SHAKING: Anybody has a right to support any presidential candidate he wants, of course, but this writer can't help but be somewhat bemused by the fact that Pete Domenici has pronounced a blessing over Ronald Reagan.

Just four years ago, as we remember it, three friends of Pete's named Robert O. Anderson, Tom Bolack and J. T. Michelson sat on the platform at a Republican state convention taking about two hours of bologny meant for Domenici from the Reaganites.

Those are the same Reaganites, we hasten to add, who would like to stampede New Mexico this year.

So, okay, Pete. If you smell a winner, you gotta do what you gotta do. But you shouldn't have sounded like you were enthusiastic about it.

PLAYBACK: Democratic biggies are more than a little steamed about that paragraph here which said you have to be a dyed-in-the-wool King supporter to get your hands on any of the dough they've raised to help elect legislators. They pounded our ear by telephone for many a weary hour after reading those words.

We'll take time to do an in-depth study of their whole procedure soon. But meanwhile we just keep hearing the voice of that would-be candidate who says he was told that fund is "owned and operated by Bruce King" when he asked if some assistance is available.

Just another instance, we'll bet, where the Governor's name is thrown around whether he approves of its use or not.

KENNEDY'S IMPACT

One result of Senator Ted Kennedy's challenge to President Carter for the party presidential nomination is serious divisiveness in the Democratic Party. All of it won't likely be healed by November 4. Democrats in former years have lost elections when similar struggles occurred within the party. President Truman stepped aside after Senator Estes Kefauver challenged his authority. Adlai Stevenson then lost the 1962 election.

Revolt within the party occurred again in 1968, because of the Vietnam war. Robert Kennedy threatened President Lyndon Johnson's stewardship. Johnson stepped aside and Hubert Humphrey lost in the 1968 election.

President Carter hasn't stepped aside. But he won't be helped in the election campaign by such Kennedy remarks as: "No president should be reelected because he happened to be standing there when his foreign policy collapsed around him."

A MUSICAL HERITAGE

For 50 years, Richard Rodgers wrote the songs Americans loved to sing and his death at 77 leaves a real void in the musical theater.

He was not only prolific — he composed nearly 800 tunes — but he crafted songs so catchy, so inspirational or aptly sentimental that they have lodged securely in the nation's musical heritage. Unlike many popular composers, Rodgers had a formal musical education that accounts perhaps, for his versatility and depth. He could write slick and stylish show tunes as well as the powerful symphonic score for the motion picture 'Victory at Sea' and the brilliant ballet music for 'Slaughter on Tenth Avenue.'

It was not only this unusual skill, however, but great good fortune as well, that drew him into the felicitous partnerships with the talented librettists, Lorenz Hart and Oscar Hammerstein II, which provided the foundation stones of his career.

No fit heirs to these talents are apparent on the musical scene today and it is significant that the most successful new shows in both New York and London are revivals of Rodgers and Hammerstein successes.

For the delights of such musicals as 'Oklahoma!', 'The King and I', 'Carousel', 'South Pacific' and 'The Sound of Music' the world owes Richard Rodgers a debt of gratitude that will live long after the man. — News-Bulletin, Salem

BELIEF IN GOD

A recent poll in West Germany, conducted periodically by a respected research institute, produced eye-opening answers concerning today's religious beliefs. The trend toward change in rigid Bible concepts there is apparently swift.

For example, the last poll, in 1967, found that 44 percent of the German people believed Jesus to be the actual son of God. Today only 33 percent regard Jesus as the actual son of God. Another 21 percent, agreeing that Jesus was a model human being, do not even consider him to have been divine.

Only 70 percent now believe in God, down twenty percent from the 1967 poll result. Because Germany today has the highest standard of living and education in Europe, these results are looked upon by some as the forerunner of a trend which is already also apparent in other European countries. (These percentages were in fact, released by the Catholic News Agency.)

Obviously, the challenge to the church today is one of retaining credibility for ages-old dogma, dictum and teaching. If the church is to retain its membership and role in society, new ways must be found to retain support — and that might mean more re-examination and change than have been apparent in recent years. The first step toward that goal is, quite clearly, unity among Christian churches in some kind of democratic format. — Santa Rosa News

PRAISE FOR AMTRAK

Since it began operations in 1971, Amtrak has taken much pummeling from its critics, both friendly and unfriendly. The system instituted with the idea of restoring rail passenger service to something like its former glory has been charged with many sins including late trains, uncomfortable conditions and poor service; it has been given a failing grade for cost-effectiveness.

There is considerable justice in these accusations. Amtrak is on the upgrade, however (though handicapped by severe cutbacks in trackage), and in one regard it can crow lustily. Its safety record is noteworthy: in the past three years it has carried some 60 million persons without a single passenger fatality.

That remarkable achievement merits applause. Which is something Amtrak badly needs after a monotonous diet of harsh words. — Alamogordo Daily News Quarter horse and thoroughbred racing action gets underway at Ruidoso Downs Race Track May 10 with this year's 66 days of racing winding up Labor Day.

The impact of the meeting on the area's economy has everyone, from employees to employers, girding themselves for the onslaught of those directly concerned with racing as well as the influx of racing fans and tourists.

The interest shown by jockeys, trainers and owners in racing at Ruidoso Downs this year can best be explained by pointing out that there are eight races offering gross purses of four million five hundred and forty thousand dollars.

These include the May 18 Kansas Derby, $225,000; Kansas Futurity, June 1, $535,000; Rainbow Derby, July 6, $525,000; Rainbow Futurity, July 20, $500,000; World's Championship Quarter Horse Classic, July 27, $100,000; All American Derby, August 24, $1,250,000; Ruidoso Thoroughbred Futurity, August 31, $125,000 and the All American Futurity, September 1, $1,280,000, with the finale having a gross purse of $1,030,000.

Then there's another $394,000 in purse money for 29 other stakes races.

That means $4,934,000 is up for grabs in 37 races.

Add the purses of the other races during those 66 upcoming race days and it's easy to understand the interest shown in horse racing at Ruidoso Downs Race Track.

Maybe all of us should make it a point to thank the Ruidoso-Sunland Park directors for producing a mind boggling payout to race horses in the $6 million vicinity, action that no race horse operation in the world can hold a candle to — and it all happens at Ruidoso Downs. — CD

SKIING SEASON ENDS

It'll seem odd, the days ahead, to not see cars laden with skis on top ... tooling up the street, sking bound to the slopes of Sierra Blanca.

And 'twas ... way I hear it ... a most successful season ... with ticket sales ... to ride the lifts up ... to ski the slopes down ... setting records.

Which must indicate ... if you view things from the thumb hand side ... that Ruidoso has something to offer skiers ... something that they enjoy ... things that cause them to come back ... skiing season after skiing season.

Thus it is ... to our skiers ... regulars, or casual ... thank you for visiting Ruidoso this skiing season ... and we trust that you'll return ... once the skiing's good ... or ere the cock crows ... which ever comes first.

And ... considering that it could snowed oftener ... it was just short of amazing that the skiing was as good as it was ... which just goes to show you ... that things ... in the Land of Enchantment ... especially here in the Sacramento Mountains ... which is where it happens ... precisely in the heartland of the Playground of the Great Southwest ... that the unexpected is often the expected ... which is what tends to keep things interesting here.

THE BUSINESS LIST

I've heard some Ruidosians chit-chatting about the "Business List" ... a scam making the rounds in Hobbs, Clovis, Fortales and Carlsbad ... seems you invest $100 ... and shortly thereafter you're to receive something like $100,000 ... one local man said it was $204,000 ... in something like six days ... as long as everyone keeps those $100 flowing.

Further seems that Attorney General Jeff Bingaman ... though he didn't say if he'd been offered an opportunity to get rich quick ... figures it's another "Chain of Gold" ... that made rounds a while back ... that violated so many state and federal laws it was a mite difficult to list them all ... 'cause he got nosy ... and looked into it ... and didn't like what he found ... he's agin it ... and might take some steps to squelch the scheme.

Ergo ... looks like the Business List will really give you the "business" ... 'cause Bingaman figures every person in New Mexico'd have to cough up $100 ... for 25 winners ... which is about the same odds you gets if'n you gets into a crap game with the other fellows slipping loaded dice in.

ON THE OLYMPICS

It's beginning to look as though there'll be lots of hedging amongst our Jimmy's counterparts in other nations on boycotting the Summer Olympics in Russia ... 'cause other countries is sorta taking a second look at not sending their teams to Moscow.

Say all of 'em renge ... and it's just the US of A as keeps their athletes to home ... then that'd leave us in the unique position of standing alone against the Russians ... sportswise ... and, if'n our athletes are as good as they hope they'll be ... someone'd stand to win whole bunches ... and we'd be left holding the bag.

Gadzooks ... maybe ... if'n we and all the other countries gang up on the Soviets, we can have a repeat of the 1936 Olympics that gave Hitler his. Besides ... not competing'd be another means to make us a laughing stock ... and as our Jimmy's had lots of help along those lines since he became President, he doesn't need the further embarrassment that'd be sure to follow if'n he keeps his Georgia cracker-neck bowed agin sending our athletes to the Olympics.

Maybe he needs an athletic advisor ... that don't hail from Georgia.

ON DRIVING FIFTY-FIVE

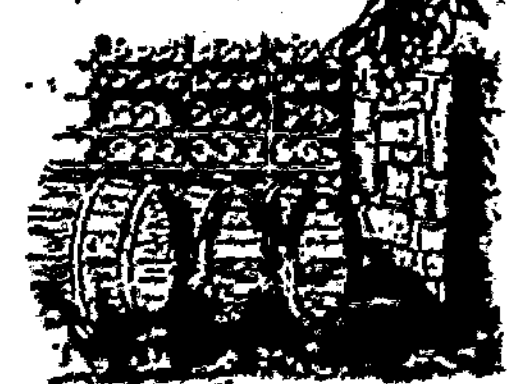

Way I understand it ... lotsa Land of Enchantment drivers ain't paying much never mind to the 55 speed limit ... and seems as though those as it in a position to withhold federal funds from states as can't get the 55 limit enforced, is suggesting that maybe New Mexico'll lose our fair and just share.

Shapes up this way ... our present roads seem to be in good enough condition to drive in excess of 55 ... blithely, excepting for those occasional speeding tickets ... which don't help lower the driver's car insurance rates.

Now ... supposing the federal funds is cut ... and we're on our own ... it seems likely the roads'll go to pot ... to the point where we couldn't drive 55 if'n our lives depended upon it ... which'd then make us eligible ... providing there was any cars left that was in drivable condition ... yes?

BRIEF BIT: If you sold $5 per ounce gold at something over $800, you really don't give a hang that the bottom's fallen out of the silver market ... CD

AMERICA: WORLD FOOD SUPER POWER — America's superiority in world food production is demonstrated by this "Food Globe," an Agriculture Council of America project. The

BLM tentatively sets wilderness study areas

The Roswell district of the United States Bureau of Land Management (BLM) has tentatively identified 30,472 acres of federal public land in southeastern New Mexico as wilderness study areas. BLM officials said the areas have wilderness characteristics described in the Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976 and that Wilderness Act of 1964.

The BLM recently announced that 1,020,632 acres of public land statewide have been identified as potential wilderness study areas. These areas will be further studied by the BLM in its regular land-use planning process to determine which uses are best for the study areas and are in the public's interest. After this process is completed, recommendations will be sent to Congress. Congress will decide whether the areas will become part of the National Wilderness Preservation System.

BLM Roswell district manager James "Smoky" O'Connor said his office has recommended that 28,166 acres of public land in southeastern New Mexico be included as wilderness study areas and that another 4,310 acres be deferred from inclusion until wilderness studies of adjoining land are completed by the United States Park Service and the Forest Service.

Most of the recommendations and deferred recommendations—19,901 acres—consist of areas which are adjacent to Carlsbad Caverns National Park or the Guadalupe District of the Lincoln National Forest in Eddy and Otero counties. Another area, a 10,575 acre portion of Mescalero Sands, is 37 miles east of Roswell in Chaves County.

The BLM's Roswell district held informational open houses at the Roswell Library April 1 and at the Carlsbad Library April 2 to display the wilderness study area recommendations. Similar open houses will be held throughout the state this month.

O'Connor said those interested in the wilderness review of public lands may make oral or written comments on the wilderness study areas until June 30. The BLM will have public meetings in May to solicit comments.

Areas the BLM's Roswell district has recommended as wilderness study areas are:

— NM-060-501, Mescalero Sands, a 10,575 acre tract 37 miles east of Roswell in Chaves County.

— NM-060-810A and NM-060-810B, Texas Hill (West), a 7,340 acre tract and a 5,310 acre tract adjoining the east boundary of the Guadalupe District of the Lincoln National Forest in Eddy and Otero counties.

— NM-060-819 and NM-060-819A, Mudgetts, a 2,728 acre tract and a 213 acre tract adjoining the northern border of Carlsbad Caverns National Park in Eddy County.

The BLM is deferring recommendation on the following areas until the Park Service and Forest Service complete wilderness studies on adjoining land:

— NM-060-801/814, Lonesome Ridge, a 2,443 acre tract adjoining the southern boundary of the Guadalupe District of Lincoln National Forest in Eddy County.

— NM-060-803, Lechugilla Canyon, a 1,167 acre tract adjoining the northern boundary of Carlsbad Caverns National Park.

— NM-060-820, Fawn Valley, a 700 acre tract on the northern border of Carlsbad Caverns National Park.

FRANK K. WILSON

Frank Wilson seeks District Attorney post

District Attorney Frank K. Wilson has announced he is seeking election to that post for the 1981-84 term. He is serving as District Attorney through appointment by Governor Bruce King in March, 1979. Wilson, a captain in the United States Air Force at Holloman Air Force Base until being honorably discharged in 1973, is a graduate of the University of New Mexico School of Law and was admitted to the bar in 1976.

He is married to the former Nancy Bloom of Alamogordo and the couple has a three-year-old daughter, Betty. A member of St. John's Episcopal Church, Wilson is secretary of the Alamogordo (White Sands) Rotary Club, secretary-treasurer of the Alamogordo Junior Rifle Club and, as a member of the Alamogordo Elks, has been extensively involved in fund raising for the La Placita Children's Home.

Wilson is a member of the District Attorney's Association, the Region Five Criminal Justice Planning Commission and the Twelfth Judicial District Law Enforcement Association.

"Now that I have established a full time, fully staffed office in Lincoln County, prosecution should be even more aggressive than before," Wilson said. "The citizens and law enforcement officers of Lincoln County can be assured that the District Attorney's office will be immediately responsive to the needs of the communities in the county."

The Silver Lining

BY DANIEL AGNEW STORM

Last Day of March Is Windiest Day of All
This is being sent to you on March thirty-one and the wind is blowing down the vale from the west with all its might, as if the month of March had saved up all its wind for one final farewell festival of windy weather to give us something to remember.

All the sky to the west is full of flying dust here in the mid-afternoon, so that all the hills and vales and meadows are just barely visible behind this great moving cloud of tan and gray. Up the little road to the house, the amber-colored dust is flying in gusts and clouds. The house seems as if it is going to rise up off its foundation and go flying along in the path of the raging gale.

April Arrives Mild And Warm, After A Cold And Windy Night
Now I have jumped over into the First of April, and am sending you another message.

I cannot remember a time when March went out, and April came in so perfectly true to form.

March certainly went out like a lion, with the west wind blowing harder and colder through the day. And last night, the wind was freezing cold just like in mid-winter. And it was wintery cold all night.

This morning, April came in with a gentle north wind pushing back the cold west wind so that it came to a complete stop. Then the sun in the blue sky warmed the world. A robin began to sing, and then another new arrival bird of spring began his song.

Now an hour or so after high noon the temperature has gone up to sixty-eight. The amber meadows are showing green and there is a smell of new grass all in the mild air. There is just the trace of a breeze left from the wintery blast of yesterday.

The Little Calf

Wanders in the Wind
Each little calf is cuter than the last. One of the great favorite cows, named Snow Flake, on account of a snow-flake-shaped pattern on her forehead and also on account of her being born out in the snow—Snow Flake was gone up the hill several days, and then on Saturday, March twenty-nine, here she came out of the canyon next to the knoll with a tiny tan-colored calf walking, leaning, close to her side. On his white face he had a little tan square spot above his nose and one near his left eye. Somehow this pattern gave him a comical look. The hair on his back was curly—something rare in calves. He was very tame—though a little uneasy in walking on this his first birthday. He came right up to me and let me pet him.

The wind sent a small bunch of hay past him and he jumped and ran back almost to the head of the canyon where he was born. Then he came slowly back. Two other times he acted a little wind-shy, and a bit skittish at sudden movement.

I say—what shall we call him—"Curly" or "Curly" on the morning of the last day of March I saw Curly drinking his milk on the knoll, and again about noon. About mid-afternoon there came a great whirl of dust from the west. As it drew closer you could see that it was a twister. It upset the wheel barrow, took a few shingles off the edge of the roof, and sent the metal yard chairs tumbling and bouncing.

An hour before sundown Curly was not on the knoll with his mother. I went up the river and came back about dark. The two calves, Groundie and Patrick, were drinking their milk, but no Curly. In about an hour I went back and still he had not showed up, and his mother, Snow Flake began calling. She called and called, and I made a circle looking under the cedar trees for him. Then I went home trying not to worry, but the wind was bitter cold. How could little Curly survive on an empty stomach in the terribly cold wind? Had the twister picked him up and trapped him under the low branches of a cedar? Had he become frightened of the wind and run off out of hearing of his mother? Snow Flake is a perfect mother, and a voice inside me said, "he was all right."

Yet I got the flashlight, and started out to go up the knoll canyon and all around the knoll. It was about ten at night, and I was bundled up in winter clothes. The temperature was about twenty-eight.

As I drove onto the knoll, here was Snow Flake lying down, contented. Where was Curly? Then this tiny tan calf came out behind the bull where he had been lying well sheltered from the freezing wind.

I was never so glad to see a little calf in my life. Surely the twister must have started him running. But not beyond the hearing of his mother's call. This morning April first, Curly was down next to the river in a warm spot with his mother, the picture of delight that the wind is over.

The Return Of White Princess

This morning I received an Easter remembrance that contained a true story that made my anxiety over Curly seem like nothing. From Mrs. Maxine Royce, the sister of our dear friend, Johnny Williams.

Maxine lives in Los Angeles, California and for a long time had two beloved pets, Shante, a dog, and White Princess, a cat. A year ago White Princess wandered away, and Maxine was heart broken. Now, after a year's absence, White Princess has returned home. We rejoice in Maxine's good fortune and know she is very happy with Shante, Danny Dear, and White Princess.

A Blessed Easter To You

This is the last visit—through the printed page—that I will be privileged to have with you before Easter. So I wish you all God's blessings on that sacred day of rejoicing, Easter, the celebration of the Resurrection of Our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ.

The blessed spirits of all our loved ones in Heaven are lovingly close to us during this hallowed season of Easter.

Sportsmanship
An American Tradition

For some time I have been wanting to compliment the coaches and athletes of Ruidoso for their upholding of the ideal of sportsmanship. And now the attention of our nation and the world has recently been drawn to this American tradition.

Jessie Owens, who was called home by Our Lord; and Roger Staubach, who retired from his football career, both went to the very top in their sport and this means that they are great in sportsmanship.

Besides being superb athletes these men are Christian gentlemen who did not leave the ideals of sportsmanship on the athletic field, but carried them out into their everyday life. The good they have done in inspiring the youth of our land is beyond all measure.

Among the many elements contained in sportsmanship are clean living, fair play, modesty in victory, dignity in defeat, loyalty to the team and doing your best.

Sportsmanship, then, is the practice on the playing field of living up to the principles of a good life in everyday living. It is cut out of the same cloth, after all, as our Christian ideals. Respect for your fellowman is upheld at all times.

This is why athletic directors and coaches are so important. Surely Jessie Owens has often sent up a prayer of thanks for his many coaches who inspired him and guided him in his career as a sprinter. And Roger Staubach in years to come will thank the Good Lord for his coaches including his latest, our illustrious Tom Landry, that Christian gentleman who has become an American tradition himself, and whose good influence on the young people of our land is incalculable.

And we too send up a prayer of thanks to God for Jessie Owens and Roger Staubach and all coaches and athletic directors and athletes for upholding our cherished American tradition of sportsmanship.

A Message From Jack Frost

Well, well, I guess that you think that we up at the weather controls at the North Pole have got our signals crossed. And if you do think so, it is only because it is true. We did not mean to bring this much snow down into the great plains. But the weather just swarmed on us, and took off on its own and got out of hand.

I came by the Ridge Runner's house for a little visit and he was on the verge of tears in talking about the little calves in the deep snow drifts of Nebraska and Colorado—and the anxieties of their mothers, and the ranchmen. I wished there were some way that we weather people could make the weather come out just right—we hate to cause hardship. But there are bigger plans than our own. Somehow the ranchers of the great plains have got to work out some kind of shelter for the cattle and other ranch animals, for these emergencies.

I suppose you know better than anyone that your own Lincoln County is a kind of perfect place weatherwise. When is the last time you have experienced a typhoon, a cyclone, an earthquake, a sixty-below blizzard with drifts of thirty feet high? A day or so ago a little twister came by the Ridge Runner's house stampeding one of his three-day-old calves, and he was about to call out the national guard, the Ruidoso Rescue team, the northwest mounted police, the Texas Rangers and Cold Stream Guards.

I notice down at Alma Ellis' store and service station at Glencoe that the swallows have come in today (April three) from Old Mexico. So you know, fair weather is on the way. I know you had a Happy Easter. Keep smiling, and God bless you.

I hope to see you before I leave you till next fall, and until then I beg to remain, yours ever the same, your humble servant, Jack W. Frost

'Time Was' continues on HBO

by J.T. Yurko

Under the aegis of HBO, Bruce Cohn has produced six documentaries on decades of the Twentieth Century beginning with 'The Twenties' and ending with the last chapter in the series, 'The Seventies,' which will be seen on HBO in April.

As each topic has filled libraries of books and film, any program that attempts to condense or distill or highlight ten years into sixty minutes is an exercise in futility. Drawing an analogy from the era, it's like trying to pick the ten best Beatles songs, or certifying the correct length of a mini-skirt.

The Seventies is also a very recent time era, with its myriad memories still fresh in our minds. Some of you will feel disappointed that something which may have affected you deeply during those years is given short shrift by the show, while other topics are over-accentuated.

Choosing the footage shown must have been a problem for the producers as this was the generation in which TV journalism came into its own as a social shaping force. We watched in our living rooms footage of a war on the other side of the Earth only hours after it happened; we watched assassinations as they happened.

As host for the show, Dick Cavett sets the tone for the production, and keeps it light and jovial without becoming trivial or trite. The commentary is sprightly and keeps the show moving along at a smooth pace.

The subject of this commentary is so broad and diversified that 'Time Was' cannot help but, at times, make over-generalizations, over-simplifications and omissions. To the show's credit, however, is the fact that it never tries to be the final word on the decade and wisely shies away from attempts at saying 'why' or giving reasons or motivations for events and their causes.

Building a relationship with your children

by June Rosner

"Parents and their children share a special world—they create it any time or any place—whenever they're together."

With these words a unique seven-part series, 'Look At Me,' hosted by Phil Donahue, begins April 26 on PBS. These programs should do more to help parents raise their children than all books ever written on this controversial subject.

The experts on these programs are real parents, from a variety of backgrounds telling you about their experiences with discipline, separation, sex roles, working parents, family relationships and other problems they faced in raising their own children.

One young mother tells us, "When my first boy was born, I didn't really understand what was involved. It never occurred to me that when I held him, played with him, or smiled with him—it mattered; I was waiting for him to grow up to teach him something—I didn't realize I was teaching him something all along."

At one point, Phil Donahue shares his own personal child rearing experience with us when he says, "Many times I touched my children, said I cared and would be there to give them support. And as they grew, they learned that we could explore and discover parts of the world around us, together."

'Look At Me' gives young parents confidence. It shows that there is no one right way to create a good relationship with your child. You discover that it doesn't matter so much what you say or do, as long as your child feels loved and accepted.

Don't miss this important series. To help you, your friends, PTA groups, and all those concerned with parenting fully appreciate 'Look At Me,' a special eight-page guide was prepared by Prime Time School Television, a non-profit national, educational organization. To get your copy, just send $1 to 'Look At Me,' c/o PTST, 120 S. LaSalle St., Chicago, IL 60603. Group rates are available upon request.

How your children feel about themselves and the world depends mainly on you. That's a lot of responsibility. 'Look At Me' will help you meet that responsibility. 'Look At Me' is a first for television and a must for every parent.

CONFIDENTIAL REPORT CBS is getting plenty of angry mail over its cancelling of the soap opera 'Love of Life.' But despite the outpouring of letters, the network isn't about to change its mind. The show is dead for good. Beau Bridges star of the new NBC series 'United States' was born Lloyd Bridges III. "But no one ever called me Lloyd that I can remember," says the actor. "I've always been Beau. Now I'd like to meet that other person with my first name. Bo Derek." Many of the regulars of NBC's 'Big Show' are grumbling already. They feel the guest stars on the variety series are getting more time on the air than they are. "Old soldiers never die, and neither do old successful shows." The Ritterman, which went off the air in 1957, has been on syndicated stations ever since. And now several stations, including Los Angeles KTLA, have just signed up to screen the series for another 10 years. MacKenzie Phillips has failed the straighten out or get out ultimatum given her by TAT Communications. She's been axed from her hit CBS series, 'One Day at a Time,' and her contract with the Norman Lear Production Company terminated. The troubled 20-year-old was put on a forced leave of absence last November, with the hope she would bring her physical and emotional conditions up to par in time for a January comeback. When that didn't happen, MacKenzie's 'One Day' character was temporarily moved away. With the script change now permanent, there will be a lot more camera time next season for the remaining stars Bonnie Franklin and Valerie Bertinelli.

TV TICKET I spy two celebrated names making their comebacks on TV. Barbara Stanwyck, 72, has been approached to star in Tony's Boys, a spinoff from Charlie's Angels, while Joan Fontaine, 63, has signed up for a new ABC series, Once Upon A Spy. Linda Lavin, star of TV's Alice, may look down-at-the-heel on the show, but she's actually a shoe freak. Whenever she's in New York, she picks up six pairs of shoes at a time from a snob shoe store. Dick Van Patten's son, Vince, has given up acting for a full-time pro tennis career. He's not doing badly either. His first win was $25,000. The cast of Fantasy Island had their own little fantasy come true when they finished filming on the Hawaiian island of Kauai. They delighted guests at the Coco Palms Hotel by forming their own rock group with Herve Villechaze on harmonica and maracas, guest star Bob Cummings on guitar and Ricardo Montalban singing Try To Remember.

TV CLOSEUP Bill Bixby of The Incredible Hulk was asked what TV stardom has meant to him. Bill answered: "It's given me my very own parking space at the studio." Blond blue-eyed Dennis Cole decided to surprise his lovely wife Jaclyn Smith by dyeing his hair brown to match her coloring. But Jaclyn obviously didn't like her men to be tall, dark and handsome. Cole is now bleaching his locks back to their almost white cotton blond. Never say dye, Dennis. Super talented Gary Coleman of Different Strokes, who's 11 years old but has the razor sharp mind of a trial lawyer, will play the head of a television network this fall. A $1 million promotion program for Care-Free Sugarless Gum is being launched by Life Savers Inc. A Care-Free Fever contest will be conducted in 20 major American cities. It features Barry Richards, a radio personality and celebrity who will act as program coordinator in each city.
