

Mule racing purses total $35,560

Mule racing in Ruidoso might still be considered something of a joke by some local people — but it was a joke resulting in the payoff of $35,560 in purses to the winners.

Ruidoso Downs Mule Skimmers' president Ed Hyman said, "That $35,560 is a lot of money — in fact, the most paid anywhere — for mule race purses. Our purses also attracted the nation's top racing mules — that's why the races were so exciting — that's why mule racing will become a major attraction here in the years to come."

"And don't forget — as an estimate — the people here for the races, the auction, and other events dropped about a quarter of a million dollars into the local economy. That makes that $35,560 seem like peanuts."

Hyman said, "in spite of the bad weather," that 2,396 fans paid admission for a total gate of $4,792. Stall rentals added $2,030 to the income, with $1,545 realized from program sales. "The Ruidoso High School athletic department made $154.50 from the program sales," Hyman said, "which wasn't as much as we'd hoped for, but it's that much they didn't have, so it'll help."

As soon as all of the bills are paid, Hyman said, "we'll issue a full accounting and it looks like considering the weather, that'll we'll break about even — which really isn't all that bad."

Plans are being made for the 1981 mule races at Ruidoso Downs Race Track, Hyman said, "and, if everything works out, we expect to have some races for $5,000 purses. It's this way, the Mule Skimmers are being mule-headed about making Ruidoso Downs the mule racing capitol of the world — and we will."

the Iranians have held 50 Americans hostage. The ultimatum to the Ayatollah Khomeini must be the written words: "Let my people go."

RUIDOSO ROTARY PRESIDENT Ralph Bellon Wednesday presented a $500 check, from the Rotary, to Verna Adams, operator of Home Health Services here. Adams provides services to patients in their homes.

Enchiladas by Rotarians Tuesday next

Tuesday — that's October 14 — members of the Ruidoso Rotary will be serving enchiladas — made with expertise and tender, loving care — from 11:30 a.m.-1 p.m., and 5-8 p.m., in the Ruidoso Elks Lodge, Highway 70, south.

"Proceeds from this enchilada feed," Rotary president Ralph Bellon said, "will go into our project fund, not into our general fund."

"The Rotary spends several thousand dollars each year supporting local projects. The funding for these projects is derived from our enchilada feeds, which have been most generously supported by our area people."

Bellon listed club projects and local contributions made during 1980:

- $500 to Home Health Services, operated in Ruidoso by Verna Adams.
- $1,500 to the Ruidoso Hondo Valley Hospital for equipment used in the intensive care unit.
- Three college scholarships to Ruidoso High School graduates, two for $250 each and one for $500.
- Sponsorship of Rotary's Foreign

Exchange Students. Plo Rouss, Switzerland, is currently living in Ruidoso and Debbie Castillo, Capitan, is in South Africa. Jean Howden, Ruidoso, is in Germany and Tricia Evans, Ruidoso, is in the Philippines.

— The Rotary's on-going project of installing street name posts throughout the village.

In addition Bellon said the Rotary supports all of the Scouting programs in Ruidoso, sponsors Boys Scouts, contributes to the Ruidoso Ministerial Alliance, supports Little League baseball, is a member of the Chamber of Commerce, and supports the Bloodmobile and Stop Smoking programs locally.

"Typical of the Rotary's concern about local needs," Bellon said, "is our Wednesday contribution of $500 to Home Health Services. Verna Adams is doing a terrific job of providing care, in the homes, to those in need and we, as Rotarians, are proud to be able to help her continue to offer this service."

Tickets for the enchiladas are $3 for adults and $1.50 for children.

Runnels and Skeen lose ballot bid

At a meeting of the Ruidoso Lodge's Tax Committee (LTC) Wednesday, treasurer Al Junge reported on his recent efforts aimed at helping the committee members to become better informed about their duties and to better organize records of expenditures.

Junge advised that he had written to the state Attorney General with several questions relating to the operation of the committee and the records of the tax collection.

The response from the Attorney General advised that:

—Lodge's tax funds either must be kept in a separate account from municipal funds, or separate records maintained on the funds.

—Records of the village finance officer regarding collection of the tax are open to any citizen.

—The village is entitled to keep some funds for administration in line with the time spent in administering the funds.

—Unspent balances at the end of the fiscal year should be carried over to the next year.

Junge said he would like to obtain a breakdown of "who's paying the tax and how much they're paying." The action would be taken, Junge added, "not because we think someone is cheating (not

Elks seek hides for veterans, wild game for Boy Scout feed

The Ruidoso Elks have launched their annual drive to collect wild game hides to be given to New Mexico's Disabled Veterans.

"These veterans," drive chairman Ron Percy said, "make salable items from the leather. This project is one of their main, if not their main, sources of income."

The Elks pay for having the hides tanned, after which they are delivered to the disabled veterans.

"We want deer, elk and bear hides," Percy said. "Hides may be left at Hughes Body Shop, Ruidoso Downs, or at the Elks Lodge, Highway 70 south, after 4 p.m., daily."

After the deer season opens, Percy said, "other collection points for hides will be announced," in Ruidoso and Capitan.

"We're also asking all hunters to share their game with the Boy Scouts," Percy said. "We'll accept any, and all, wild game meat to be used for the annual Boy Scouts Big Game Feed, being planned for January."

"The Boy Scouts need funds badly. They're really hurting for money. The Elks work with the Scouts to serve this annual feed, with all proceeds going to the Scouts. The Elks will collect the meat and keep it until the Big Game Feed is served."

Hunters with meat to donate to the Scouts may telephone:

The Elks, 257-2807, after 4 p.m., Hughes Body Shop, 378-4764, during business hours, or Jeanie Hepler, 257-4990, before 3:30 p.m., daily.

"Call any of those numbers," Percy said, "and arrangements will be made to accept the wild game for the Scouts."

Downs man charged in shooting

Tommie Lee Watson, 65, Ruidoso Downs was arrested at his home about 2:30 p.m., Monday, in connection with a shooting in which 78-year old Ed Marshall, also of Ruidoso Downs, was injured.

Watson was charged with aggravated assault, aggravated battery and resisting arrest, according to Ruidoso Downs police chief Ray Garner. Marshall was taken by ambulance to the Ruidoso Hondo Valley Hospital, where he was treated for bullet wounds to the head. His condition was reported Wednesday afternoon as "satisfactory."

Garner said the shooting reportedly took place when an argument arose over a bet during a poker game.

A SHOOTING MONDAY in Ruidoso Downs resulted in injuries to Ed Marshall, 76. Arrested in connection with the incident was Tommie Lee Watson, 65, also of the Downs. He was charged with aggravated assault, aggravated battery and resisting arrest.

Aspencade expansion planned by Chamber

Planning for next year's Aspencade season may begin within five to six months, under the leadership of the Retail Merchants Committee (RMC) of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce.

Meeting Monday, the RMC felt the parade this year was better organized with less gaps than in the past but made suggestions for making next year's event even better.

Larry Langford said that "by putting Shrine units, antique cars and other entries of this type between the motorcycles and bands, floats, and so on, we can fill in the gaps."

Tom Kelham said some "long planning sessions" are needed to prepare for next year's Aspencade promotions, which will include the two weekends prior to the parade and possibly the weekend after the parade.

Once again, Ruidoso Downs will be the site of an Arabian horse show and a Hunter-Jumper class horse show, as well as the 1981 meeting of the Mule Skimmers mule races.

Chamber executive director Ed Jungbluth said plans are now being made to promote an antique car show the weekend following the parade to give Ruidoso a full month of activities after the racing season ends and before the ski season begins.

Retail merchants volunteered to start planning for next year, following approval by the Chamber board of directors.

The group also discussed the sponsorship of a shoplifting seminar which will probably be held in early November, with scheduled activities to be announced.

Fort Stanton man charged in truck theft

Ralph Lopez Jr., Fort Stanton, was arrested by Lincoln County sheriff's deputies Tuesday in connection with the reported theft of a pickup truck from a Capitan residence last weekend.

Lopez was charged with possession of a stolen vehicle and bond was set at $5,000, ten percent allowed. He was arrested about 11:45 a.m., Tuesday at a bar near Capitan.

paying their tax)" but to keep the committee informed.

If funds are requested from a group such as the lodger's association, chairman Ed Hyman said, it would be helpful to know how many lodgers are contributing to the tax fund as compared with the number of lodgers participating in the promotion for which funds are requested.

With regard to the village's administration of the funds, Junge said, he thought the "$800 to $700 a month (collected by the village for administration) is a little high for the posting they have to do."

The committee will also request that the village provide more extensive records of lodger's tax spending, noting expenditures, purpose of expenditures, dates the funding requests were approved by the LTC and village trustees, cumulative totals of expenditures and remaining funds.

The committee also voted to recommend reimbursement in the amount of $947.22 to organizers of the Arabian Horse Show, and $2,843.34 to the Chamber of Commerce for quarterly expenses.

Another request from Ed Jungbluth, executive director of the Chamber, for additional advertising funds, was tabled.

The Chamber requested the additional funding for advertising in the Ruidoso publication "Best Bet," over the next year.

Committee members questioned whether the advertising would represent a duplication of effort, because the Chamber of Commerce itself distributed about one-third of the total circulation, which amounted to about 6,000 to 8,000 during this past summer.

Those who obtained the magazine from the Chamber office could also obtain the information carried in the ads from Chamber brochures, Hyman said.

Jungbluth said that the magazine is also circulated widely in West Texas and that many tourists take the publication home as a souvenir, increasing its value as an advertising medium.

Funds for advertising in Best Bet would be in addition to the total of about $3,500 which has been approved for the yearly operation of the Chamber.

Trustee George White, who attended the LTC meeting said that the trustees had been under the impression that except for special events and promotions, the $3,500 would be the only Chamber funding request for the year.

The matter was tabled to allow more time to consider whether the return on the advertising was significant enough to warrant its continuation.

County to maintain cattleguards

BY GWYNETH JONES
Staff Writer

Lincoln County commissioners Tuesday accepted a bid of $9,940 from Border Machinery, El Paso, Texas, on a used backhoe, to be used by the county road department.

At the same time, the county officials agreed to change a previously established policy on cleaning of cattle guards on county roads.

One of the advantages of owning the new backhoe will be the increased ease with which the road department employees will be able to clean the cattleguards. Road Department Superintendent Guy Henley said that the new equipment will allow one man to do the work that three men, equipped with picks and shovels, have been doing in the past.

Although the commissioners had recently agreed that landowners would be responsible for cleaning of the guards, they agreed Tuesday that the results of that policy had been unfavorable.

Commissioner John Allen Hightower advised that several vehicles had been damaged by being driven over cattleguards which had been cleaned and replaced improperly.

Under the new policy, the county road crews will begin cleaning the cattleguards on the more heavily traveled roads first.

The commissioners also discussed the operation of the county owned landfill, located on Fort Stanton road. The landfill currently is managed by the village of Ruidoso in exchange for its use.

Because the landfill is not open on Sundays, Henley told the commissioners, the road department employees frequently must spend time on Mondays cleaning up refuse which has been dumped outside the fenced facility.

Jim Wooldridge, Ruidoso, who was attending the meeting, suggested that the county work with Ruidoso to split the cost of hiring a worker to operate the landfill on Sundays. No official action was taken on the suggestion.

In other business, the commissioners: —Accepted a bid from Goodell, Reed and Glass of Roswell of $19,036, for worker's compensation insurance.

—Tabled "indefinitely" a request for $4,000 for labor by the Arabella Livestock Association for building an electric fence for predator control.

—Approved the annual contract with the New Mexico State Library for bookmobile services to the county.

—Granted encroachment rights for a home in Alto village which extends into the county's easement.

—Reviewed a new policy for acceptance of roads into the state system and agreed to resubmit Gavilan Canyon Road and Carrizo Canyon Road as possibilities for inclusion in the state system.

—Tabled a requested variance for a liquid waste disposal system in Deer Park Woods subdivision.

—Approved replats for Site C and Site A, townhouses, Alto Village.

—Directed county manager Bill Billingsley to pursue reenactment of the Extraterritorial Zoning Commission and to report to the commissioners at the next meeting.

—Agreed to send a letter of support on behalf of the Carrizozo State Employment Securities Division, asking that it remain open five days per week.

Court Report

Appearing recently in Jim Wheeler's magistrate court were the following persons, listed below with charges, action taken and/or fines assessed.

Kenneth Kaytiah, Mesalero, criminal trespass, six months in county jail suspended, to serve required time at the Mesalero Rehabilitation center, remain on probation and cooperate with law enforcement officers, $100 fine deferred until other conditions met, then suspended, September 21.

Brian Cassell, Ruidoso and Henry Padilla, Ruidoso Downs, kidnapping and criminal sexual penetration, judge disqualified, referred to district court, September 25.

Joe Roberson, Ruidoso, issuance of worthless checks, two counts, dismissed on payment of checks, September 27.

MEDICAL CARE for Carrizozo is now being provided by a family nurse practitioner, Rosemary Zink, left, who joined other staffers from left, Mary Hernandez, Cherri Goad and Dale Goad. Dr. Michael Stone of Ruidoso also will be holding office hours at the health center on Tuesdays and Wednesdays.

Medical services in Carrizozo

BY GWYNETH JONES
Staff Writer/Photographer

After a period of four months, Carrizozo is again being served by a doctor and a full time nurse practitioner. The town had been without such medical services since June, when a doctor provided by the National Health Service Corps fulfilled his one-year commitment.

Rosemary Zink, originally of Pennsylvania, will be the full time nurse practitioner. She has been employed by Project Hope for more than 10 years, so her background is "mainly rural health," she said.

Zink held a bachelor's degree in nursing from Gwynedd-Mercy College, Gwynedd Pennsylvania, and a master's in public health from Tulane University, New Orleans, Louisiana.

She has been employed in community health and education with Project Hope in Nicaragua, Colombia, Ceylon, Brazil, Guatemala, Jamaica and Arizona. For three years, she was head nurse in the pediatric department of the S/S Hope, working in several South American countries.

Dr. Michael D. Stone of Ruidoso will be the physician supervising Zink and holding office hours at the Carrizozo Health Center on Tuesdays and Wednesdays from 8:30 a.m. to 12 noon. Office hours may be expanded in the future depending on demand, Stone said.

Stone has been a practicing physician in Ruidoso for the past three years. He moved to the area after completing a three-year residency in family practice in Virginia.

He attended the University of New Mexico Medical School just prior to his residency, after completing a two-year post doctoral research fellowship for the American Cancer Society. He holds a Ph.D. in biochemistry from Tulane University, where he also taught physical and organic chemistry for several years. Stone is certified by the American Board of Family Practice.

"Preventative medicine," Stone and Zink agreed, will be a primary concern of the Health Center.

"One of our chief goals," Zink said, "will be to work with the people to prevent illnesses and their complications — working with the community to help keep people healthy."

"Prevention of disease is the foundation of medical care," Stone added. "We hope to introduce the idea of prevention rather than crisis orientation. We believe in patient education, because an informed patient is a healthier patient."

Stone added he was "very disturbed" when the physician left Carrizozo, since the move left the northern part of the county with no medical facilities.

Although county emergency medical technicians are "well-trained," Stone said there was no referring physician and no continuity of care, which he regards as vital.

Appointments may be made by calling 648-2317 in Carrizozo. Other staffers at the Center include Mary Hernandez, receptionist, Dr. Dale Goad, dentist, and his wife and assistant, Cherri Goad.

Zink will also be serving the Corona clinic, and appointments may be made by calling Kathy Williams at 649-1561. The medical staff will be funded in part by the county's current mill levy. Expansion of the services may be possible if a new mill levy is approved by county voters in November, according to Health Center Advisory Board chairperson Joan Means. Other board members include Eileen Lindamood, Carrizozo; the Reverend David Lynch, Carrizozo; Father David Berga, Carrizozo; John Allen Hightower, Ancho; Bill Billingsley, Carrizozo; Kathy Williams, Corona; Geraldine Perkins, Corona; Mary Rich, Carrizozo; Jack Magee, Carrizozo; and Bettye Dean, Carrizozo.

Democrats set auction, dance Saturday night

Lincoln County's Democrat Women and Central Committee are sponsoring an auction and dance Saturday, beginning at 6:30 p.m., in the County Fair Building, Capitan.

Democratic candidates for county as well as state offices have announced plans to attend.

Jackie Martin, Carrizozo, president of the Democrat Women and Charlotte Jarratt, Ruidoso, chairperson of the county's Central Committee, have announced that the dance, to live music, is free.

"We invite everyone to our auction and dance," Martin and Jarratt said, "because we want the voters to take advantage of this opportunity to meet the Democrats that are candidates in the general election."

Ladies attending are requested to bring pies.

Jimmy Artiaga wanted man

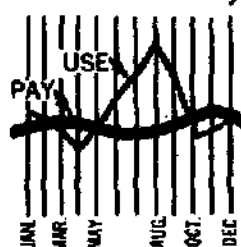

A warrant for the arrest of Jimmy Artiaga, Ruidoso, has been issued by magistrate Jim Wheeler in connection with an attempted burglary at the Ruidoso Library.

Bond was set at $2,500, no ten percent allowed. A stereo system was reportedly taken from the library September 28, and recovered the same night.

BAND SWEETHEART candidates include the Ruidoso High School girls pictured, from left, Patricia Racher, Lois Covill, Jeanette Weems and Sharon Kirgen. The marching band voted this week and the winner will be named Friday at 7:10 p.m.

'Band Night' set Friday

Friday's pre-game show before the Ruidoso-Cobre game will feature "Band Night," giving recognition to members of the Ruidoso High School Marching band, according to director Danny Flores.

Activities will include naming of the 1990 Band Sweetheart and Mr. Rhythm and the Outstanding Freshman band member.

Flores said drum major Shawna Holly, assistant Pam Stone and twirlers Robin Rhodes and Kelly Richardson will also be recognized.

Flores will give awards to the outstanding percussionist, woodwind and brass players. "The parents of band members will sit with the band at the game and the program will start at 7:10 p.m."

Band members just returned from a

Marching competition in Las Cruces, the "Parade of Champions," hosted by New Mexico State University. The band did not receive a trophy but, Flores said, "the kids did a great job. I was not disappointed in their performance at all, and neither were they. I was a little disappointed in the method used for judging."

Flores said the competition was "educationally, a very worthwhile day." He said the band members have attacked defeat with renewed energy. "I had six kids ask me Monday if we could go to another contest if they could earn the money," Flores said.

After some discussion, the band has started to sell cheese to raise funds for a contest November 1 in Artesia where they hope to outshine the other band units.

Flores said "about 15" bands are expected to participate and most are from the southeast quadrant of the state. He said band members will sell cheese, in varying sizes and combinations, until Monday. Cheddar, colson, port wine and smoky cheeses are available.

Those interested in purchasing cheese, with 33 percent of the cost staying with the band, can contact Flores at school, 257-7324, or at home, 257-4070.

"This will be totally pre-sale; we will not order extra cheese, so please pre-order whatever you want by Monday," Flores said. Cheese will be delivered in about two weeks, he said.

McCann/Bentley wedding set

Jaqueline McCann and Tom Bentley, both of Nogal, will be married Sunday in a meadow below Parsons Saloon.

McCann is the daughter of Frank and Winifred McCann of Rio Rancho, New Mexico. Bentley's parents are Henry Bentley and Zola Means of El Paso, Texas.

The country wedding will feature handmade items worn and carried by the wedding party. The bride will be given in marriage by Jerry Tate. She will wear a white eyelet wedding gown and carry broom's weed.

Maid of honor is Ginny James of Ruidoso and best man will be Henry Bentley.

Leslie James will serve as the flower girl and Justin James will be ring bearer.

A reception will follow at Parsons Saloon featuring a live band. Friends of the couple are welcome.

The couple will make their home in Nogal.

Other bridesmaids are Ginny Bonilla, Debbie Grant and Carla Cavness. Bridesmaids' attendants include Johnny Cox, Handy James and Johnny Youney.

Kidney fund appeal underway

ANNUAL FUND DRIVE for the Kidney Foundation of New Mexico began Wednesday. Shown is local fund raiser Nettie Hug, holding the foundation brochure and new symbol, "Billy the Kidney."

The annual fund drive for the Kidney Foundation of New Mexico is now underway, local chairperson Nettie Hug has announced.

Tootsie Roll candies will be available in exchange for donations throughout the month of October, Hug said. The candies are in large Tootsie Roll shaped containers, and will make an excellent choice for Halloween treats, she added.

Donations over and above the requested price of the candy would also be appreciated, Hug said. As an added incentive, Richards Distributing Company, a Roswell firm, has agreed to match every dollar collected in this area with an equal donation.

The Kidney Foundation of New Mexico (KFNM) is unusual in the respect that only 14.5 percent of funds of the monies collected is used for fund raising and administration, Hug said. Over one third of last year's funds — 38.5 percent — went to direct patient services. The remainder of the money was divided among the National Kidney Foundation, educational efforts and research.

Hug, who is a kidney transplant recipient herself, is handling the local fund drive almost single handedly. Among the foundation's programs are:

—A drug bank plan which enables kidney patients needing medications to buy them at reduced prices.

—The direct patient services program, which makes non-medical fund grants to patients, as resources permit, when other monies are unavailable.

—Gift of Life Organ Donor Program, that distributes thousands of cards to increase the number of kidney donors in the state. More than 25 kidney transplant operations are performed in New Mexico each year. The KFNM spearheaded passage of a state law providing for organ donor cards on drivers licenses.

—Annual nephrology seminar, which increases knowledge of kidney problems for medical personnel.

—Project GAIN, (Gatherings for Advanced Information in Nephrology), which offers continuing education credit to nurses and medical staffs.

—A quarterly newsletter which provides information on patient activities, fund raising events, volunteer involvement and regional and national developments related to kidney disease.

In the future, the KFNM hopes to establish a better state-wide organ procurement system and to organize more local chapters of the foundation. The foundation also hopes to increase awareness of the disease and its warning signs.

Warriors face Cobre in first district contest

BY MARK BAGBY
Sports Editor

One of the problems with high school football is about half the games don't count.

Sure, they figure into your overall record but teams are divided into districts, and this year a team has to win its district to go into post season play.

So, when district play starts, it doesn't matter if a team is 0-5 or 5-0. The slate stands at 0-0.

And that's exactly the case for the Warriors and their opponent this week, the Cobre Indians, who play here Friday. Ruidoso is 4-1. Cobre is 0-5, including one district loss.

But all the chips are on the table. "We have to win this one," head coach Darrel Stierwalt said. "Their record and ours doesn't have anything to do with what happens Friday. We're in the real season now."

The Warriors cracked the United Press International's Top Ten this week, edging out Lovington for the number 10 spot. They remained just outside the elite corps in the Associated Press poll, however.

That doesn't mean a whole lot either. "It's nice to have," Stierwalt said, "but we have to win our games from here on in. We aren't looking past our opponents. We have to play them one game at a time."

Cobre has had its problems this season. After a dismal 2-8 season last year, the Tribe had to find another new coach (the fourth in four years). New coach Dan Goddard entered the program, which had no returning starters and no all-district selections.

And it's gotten worse ever since, as one by one, players have dropped off the squad.

But Goddard has worked some near miracles with the Tribe. He has played some extremely tough opponents and has kept scores from being the runaways they could've been.

The Indians lost to El Paso Cathedral 20-0; Socorro, Texas, 14-0; El Paso High, 28-

JUBILATION reigned following the Warriors' last home game, a come from behind victory over Jal. They play here Friday against Cobre.

13; Anthony Gadsden, 35-7; and T or C, 43-7, almost all good teams.

"They probably should have won a couple of those games," Stierwalt said. "They're not a bad ball team, and we have to keep telling ourselves that."

The Tribe runs out of a pro set, led by quarterback Jerry Herd. A lanky sophomore, Herd has a strong arm and most of the 27 points his squad has scored have come on Herd touchdown passes. The lone score Cobre came up with against T or C was a 55 yard bomb.

"I expect them to come out throwing," Stierwalt said. "That's what has worked best for them and what has worked best on us. I'm sure they'll try to work our secondary a lot."

Cobre has improved considerably over last year's team, which gave the Warriors a run for their money there. In fact, Ruidoso had to come from behind in that 31-23 win.

"He's got some big ol' kids, and they are doing stuff a lot better than they did last year," he said. "They're a lot bigger than us, but probably not as agile or mobile."

"Offensively, their biggest threat is probably a kid named Sam Belieu," Belieu, a big sophomore, is considered a breakout threat.

"The coaches I've talked to think he might be their best player," he said. "I imagine they'll try to get the ball to him once or twice."

The best running back on the squad is senior Rogelio Cano, Stierwalt said, who doubles as a linebacker.

"They don't have a real strong running game, but they try to mix passes with runs a lot. They don't run a whole lot of different offenses. Their offense is based on moving the ball through the airways, and I think that's how they'll try to move it on us."

This could be a rough test defensively for the Warriors who have not played exceptionally good pass defense.

"We've worked on our passing defense a lot, because just about everybody in our district throws the ball well," he said.

The Cobre defense, Stierwalt said, is going to pose problems, because in five games, the Indians have not started a game in the same defense.

"He (Goddard) keeps moving the players around, trying to find a defense he's satisfied with," he said. "We've worked against all of them this week in practice, plus a couple of others. We won't really know how to block them until the game starts. I think we'll show them a little bit of everything we run," including the newly installed shotgun passing offense, which worked well at Estancia.

The Warriors' potent offense, which is averaging over 25 points a game, shouldn't have excessive difficulty in moving the ball against Cobre's defensive troops, and the Warrior defense should be able to stop Cobre's ineffective offense.

In fact, the biggest problems probably facing the Warriors are a lack of intensity and injuries.

"I'm not worried about a lack of intensity," he said. "I was last week (when the Warriors beat Estancia). I was afraid we'd start comparing scores or something and expect to win real easy."

"But I think all the players realize the importance of this game, and they're not taking it lightly. At least, they better not."

The Warriors have been fortunate so far this year in that no one has been lost for the year to injury. This week, lineman Robert Langston has been the only casualty. He has a possible broken thumb, sustained against Estancia.

The real health problem facing the Warriors has been a flu bug. Stierwalt said several players, including starting quarterback Scott Neal, have cases of the sniffles and have not practiced as much as he'd like them to this week.

"We've had a couple of good workouts this week," he said. "We've worked on everything, getting ready for this game. This is the first step toward winning district, and I think we're ready."

Kickoff is 7:30 p.m., Friday at Warrior Stadium.

Junior varsity ties Capitan

History supposedly repeats itself. Well, that's almost completely true as far as the Warrior junior varsity football squad is concerned.

In their first encounter with the Capitan junior varsity, the score wound up in a 6-6 deadlock.

Monday night's rematch ended in a tie — although this time it was 8-8.

"We looked terrible in the first half," head coach Darrel Stierwalt said. "We improved a lot in the second half."

Errors and penalties plagued the Warriors, who had several opportunities to win but didn't take advantage of them. The only Ruidoso scoring came on Kyle Flack's second half 15 yard run with a Billy Woodall pass. Flack also added the conversion points.

The tie brings the junior varsity record to 1-1-2.

Next opponent will be the Roswell High freshman team here October 18 at 6 p.m.

Hunter safety class offered this month

A hunter safety course, with no fee planned, will be offered in Ruidoso October 20-21 and 23-25 in the driver education room at the high school.

Ross Schwarz will teach the course, which is a requirement for all hunters under 18, and is recommended for any hunters who have not taken it.

Class times are 8-9 p.m., October 20, 21, 23 and 24, and the October 25 session will be on a shooting range from 9 a.m. to noon. To enroll, simply go to the first class October 20.

Next Mexico state law requires all persons under 18 who apply for a hunting license to pass a hunter safety course.

Sports at a glance

There's a lot of sports on tap this weekend for local sports buffs.

Tonight at 6, the White Mountain Middle School Braves tangle with arch-rival Tularosa here at Warrior Stadium. It'll be only the second time this season the Braves have played, as they try to even their 1980 record at 1-1.

Friday, the Ruidoso Warriors take the same field at 7:30 against Cobre, the first of five district games the gridsters must play. Also, it will be Band Awards night, immediately preceding the game.

The lady Warrior volleyball squad will have a doubleheader here Saturday, facing district opponents Cobre and Silver City in Warrior Gymnasium at 1 and 6 p.m., respectively. The lasses are 5-3 on the year and 0-2 in district play; the Warrior junior varsity is 0-5.

Also on Saturday, the Ruidoso Sertoma Soccer Association has a full slate of games beginning at 9:30, and Ruidoso's Little League footballers have three games, with the first beginning at noon.

See you at the ballpark!

CINDERELLA GIRL contest winners, including Rierison of Ruidoso Downs, were featured in the New Mexico's Cinderella Mini Miss, Cordy Aspencafe parade Saturday.

Cinderella winners feted here

The New Mexico state Cinderella Teens and Miss Talent Winners, and other Cinderella princesses were hosted Saturday for the Aspencafe parade by Don and Charlotte Rierison of Ruidoso Downs.

In attendance were April Prather of Carlsbad, Cinderella Tot; Cordy Rierison of Ruidoso Downs, Cinderella Miniature Miss; Barbara Woods of Hobbs, Cinderella Miss and Ginny Miller of Carlsbad, Cinderella Teen. Annebeth Watt of Hobbs, the talent winner and photogenic winner, also rode in the parade.

Local Cinderella Girl winners also attended including Cinderella Tot, Linda Hankins and Laura Hankins, talent winner.

Cinderella girls present from other communities were Dee Dee Watt, Hobbs; Rexanna Prather, Carlsbad and Beth and Vickie Hamrick of Eunice.

Following the parade, all Cinderella Girls and their sponsors were guests at a luncheon at the Rierisons. Sponsors present included Sally Dean of Eunice, state director of Cinderella Girl Pageants; Lee Morton of Albuquerque, Patt Watt of Hobbs, and Mary Jo Hornick, all state staff persons.

Serving as Prince Charming was Mark Ribback of Roswell.

Other guests include Mary Ann Morton, Albuquerque, Dianne Prather of Carlsbad,

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Watt and Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Woods of Hobbs. Plans are now being made for the 1981 District Pageant in March with competition open to all girls age 3-17. Local entry sites will be announced.

DOORS, WINDOWS AND DRAFTS

The greatest heat loss relative to the size of an opening is the space under your outside doors. All exterior doors should be weather stripped on three sides and have a tight fitting threshold at the bottom. Windows should also be tight and weather stripped.

Check around windows and doors for caulking. Air may infiltrate where your sidings meet window and door frames. Also, look to see that you have a good seal where the storm windows meet the frame of the prime window. Use good caulking compound, since this is a time consuming job and you should not have to do it more than once every 5 to 10 years if you use the right material. Buy an acrylic latex caulk and it will give you the best possible combination of longevity, paintability and elasticity.

A good method of locating hidden cracks is to move a lit candle around your door and window frames on a windy day and look for a flicker of the flame. It will indicate those areas where there are in need of weather stripping.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at DEVON DEVELOPMENT, INC., 2904 Sudderth Drive, Box 1880, Ruidoso. Phone: 237-5511. We're here to help!

Junior Class 'Talent Show' tryouts set

Tryouts for the junior class-sponsored "Talent Show" will be October 21 at 6:30 p.m. in the Ruidoso High School gymnasium.

The Talent Show will be October 28 and "just because you try out doesn't mean you're automatically in," Gerald Tully, junior class sponsor, said.

"Acts will be screened and we will take the cream of the crop and put them in the show," he said.

Admission to the talent show will be $3 per person and there is no entry fee for people wishing to audition.

We Pray For
"The Beloved Physician"

Saint Luke, "The Beloved Physician" has handed his benediction and his inspiration down through the ages to all doctors.

Dr. W. D. Horton, affectionately known to us all as "Willie," after so many years of helping us through illness and injury, has health problems of his own. Of late years he has bravely kept on with his calling of healing although his health has not been the best.

Last Sunday at the services of Saint Anne Chapel in Glencoe, Father Delbert Achuff, on behalf of the congregation, offered prayers for Willie and Lou.

This message is being sent to you in the early afternoon of Monday, October six, and I have just heard that Willie has been taken to Albuquerque for some tests by his long-time friend, C. L. "Bones" Wright.

We all pray to Our Lord for the recovery of Willie, "The Beloved Physician."

CLOUDS HELP
October Colors

The last few days, ever since October the first, we have seen October as it is long cherished in tradition, poems, songs and stories — with the pure blue sky above and still dreamy weather, with the streams running sparkling clear under the golden sun, and the Autumn flowers of gold and purple on every hand.

Somewhere this year we are being treated to an unusually long season of October splendor, because the fall season is late. Down here in the Vale, the oak brush has not begun to turn; and I notice that just a few of the box elder, the first to turn, have put on their colors of light amber. The oak, walnut and wild cherry along the river are still bright green. The purple clematis, snap dragon, and portulaca in the yard are blooming brighter than ever, some of them in a Spring-like second blooming.

Even in the higher reaches of the mountain country, the trees are slow in bringing out their colors.

September is usually the month of great cloud pictures. However here in the last few days clouds have been moving in from the east to help October with its colors in this time when the leaves are holding back a little with their Autumn hues.

Just after the sunset and before the twilight, comes that rapturous and reverent little interlude known as "The Gloaming," when for a while the earth and the sky are all aglow with the light reflected from the sky of the rays of the sun, now set beyond the hills.

The October clouds, great soft columns towering into the sky, catch the sun's rays and glow in every shade of pink and crimson and gold, and all mixtures of these hues with here and there even a touch of glowing green. Against the sky, still blue all round, these October colors of the gloaming hold the world in an enchanted spell. You watch them as they blend, and glow and change — pearl and peach-colored here, amethyst and lavender there, and ruby red and rose pink over there, and fiery orange yonder, aloft all through the sky — a glorious closing of the early October day.

Robert Runnels' Dog
Chico Bitch, Recovering

The other day, Robert Runnels, over on the Bonito, phoned to tell me that his beloved and faithful dog, Chico Bitch, has recovered after surgery by Dr. Lynn Willard and is doing well after an extended illness. Chico Bitch has been Robert's companion for over thirteen years, and we hope Chico continues to recover.

The Legendary
Shenango Apple

After talking by phone to Robert Runnels, I had a little visit over the wires with his mother, Lula, our beloved friend who will celebrate her eighty-sixth birthday on November nine. Lula, remarkably active and cheerful, reminded me that in naming the varieties of apples I had left out the Shenango.

The Shenango was a great favorite among the folks of a few years ago, and there are still a few trees among the orchards on the upper Bonito, planted fifty and a hundred years ago. From these Robert grafted a twig on some trees in their yard. And for several years these Shenangos have been bearing at their new home.

The Shenango is a light-colored apple with a rosy cheek with a wonderful flavor. It is also a marvelous cooking apple, and good for preserves and apple sauce, and every other dish made from apples. We must figure some way to bring back the legendary Shenango apple.

Next time or so we may go into a little more about the apple varieties, and the way apples can be cooked and stored. Until then, keep smiling and let us thank the Lord for all our blessings.

GIBSON'S DISCOUNT CENTER, RUIDOSO, NEW MEXICO — SERVING THE MOST ENCHANTING PART OF THE LAND OF ENCHANTMENT

Inside The Capitol

by Fred McCaffrey

SANTA FE—If we could only tell in advance which of those dewy-eyed young hopefuls are going to get elected to the Legislature this fall, we'd deliver each of them a personal message.

"Cool it with trying to get too many laws passed" is what we'd say. We're willing to bet today that as many as 850 proposed pieces of legislation get thrown into the hopper in the 1981 session. There could easily be 150 on liquor alone, since we've got a crusading young Liquor Director, an interim legislative committee considering nothing but that topic, and almost every candidate for office out there in the field telling the voters we've got to have better liquor laws.

(What "better" means in that sentence they're not quite sure, but whatever it is they're vowed to fight the good fight.)

Why is it that, to every present or potential legislator, "improvement" always means more laws?

Government in the United States is drunk on laws.

If you don't believe it, look at this: —The legislative bodies in this country, in Washington, at the state capitals and in local jurisdictions, are expected to pass something over 170,000 new laws next year.

Mind you, that's new laws only—and they get heaped on top of the excess baggage of legislation already on the books.

—What's worse, it is estimated that for each new law which is enacted, 10 new regulations must be issued by the agencies who will oversee the new law.

That means 1,700,000 of those constraints raining down on poor citizens who are already regulated up to their very eyebrows.

We'll bet you even the vast bureaucracy of the United Soviet Socialist Republics, where they have a completely "controlled" economy, doesn't match that kind of production.

Is it any wonder that the number of American lawyers has grown twice as fast as the population as a whole during the 60 years of this century? Can you see why enrollment in law schools is twice the size today it was a bare 16 years ago?

Do you understand why we have three times as many lawyers per capita as England and 20 times as many as Japan? How long must we go on acting as though the solution to every problem is to pass a law?

As Laurence H. Tribe, himself an attorney and a professor at Harvard Law School, said recently: "An excess of law inescapably weakens the rule of law. Frustrated citizens naturally distrust an expensive, inefficient, frequently incomprehensible nonsystem that often seems contrived to serve lawyers rather than law."

Amen, brother! Tell it like it is! If you have a friend running for the Legislature for the first time, grab him or her and read him every one of theseirate words—a cry from the heart from one of many citizens awash in a sea of poorly conceived, amateurishly drafted and, above all, overly abundant laws.

As for the incumbent members who are coming back to the legislature, it would be a waste of time to talk to them. They are probably too far gone, like old dopers, and will continue putting in bills till our eyes glaze over.

All we can do is face the future bravely, shouting our battle cry, "Fewer laws! Fewer regs!"

Letters to the Editor

Dear editor:

On October 2, 1980, you have published that nitrates are not bad guys. Mr. Larry Foster's opinion in this context is misleading. Let me explain some of the important actions of nitrates and nitrites in our body.

Nitrites and nitrates are used as drugs to selectively dilate coronary, cerebral and peripheral vascular beds. Therapeutic use of these drugs is not free from adverse side effects. The occurrence of headache and hypotension with dizziness are common. However, this should not pose any problem when the patient is under medical supervision.

Drinking water may also become contaminated with nitrates. One common source of this type of pollution originates from improper disposal of sewage. These nitrites, in turn, are able to convert hemoglobin to methemoglobin. The methemoglobin with the iron in the ferric (oxidized) form rather than ferrous form loses its oxygen carrying capacity. Children under six months of age are highly susceptible to develop methemoglobin in their blood causing a disease known as methemoglobinemia or blue baby syndrome. Waters with nitrate concentrations greater than 10 mg/l should not be used for feeding infants below six months of age. Even consumption of such water for a single day can result in the occurrence of methemoglobinemia. Water containing a high level of nitrate should not be boiled as this concentrates the nitrate content. It can only be removed by demineralizing water or by distilling it.

These chemicals also react readily, under appropriate conditions, with secondary amines and similar nitrogenous compounds to form N-nitroso compounds as a class which are potent carcinogens. The use of nitrites as a preservative is a double-edged sword. Its bactericidal property does not necessarily make it free from exerting its aforesaid bad effects.

Hari Mukhoty

Dear editor:

The exhibition rugby match between the Albuquerque Brujos and New Mexico State University last weekend during Ascendade was a great success, thanks to efforts by the Ruidoso News and several other local individuals.

Sports Editor Mark Bagby was particularly helpful by writing several excellent articles about the match. He also provided many good suggestions on how we could improve the event. Publisher Ken Green helped me go from an idea to the accomplishment of staging the match by putting me in touch with Chamber of Commerce Director Ed Jungbluth.

Ruidoso High School Football Coach Darrel Stierwalt was also most cooperative in allowing the teams to play the match on the high school football field.

I also would like to thank the local merchants who allowed me to place posters about the match in their windows. And finally, thanks to all the people who showed up to watch the match. We of course wish there could have been more spectators, but we were pleased with the turnout.

Patrick Lamb

Dear editor:

SOMEONE JUST GOTTA SAY IT!

Looking over the Monday edition of the Ruidoso News I could not find any statement complimenting the Ascendade Parade. An unfortunate oversight.

The thanks of many of us should go to the Chamber of Commerce and to the hundreds of folks who gave of their time and money to give us the best parade to date. When you try to describe the magnitude of this endeavor to those not living in the Village they just won't believe you. To imagine this little village of some 5,000 souls putting on such a performance is beyond imagination.

With a few minor exceptions the motorcycle riders conduct was not to be criticized and without them the parade would have lost a lot of its flair.

Hotels and cabins were full to overflowing and taking up what otherwise would have been a slow week after the end of the racing season all of us, including the store and shop owners, should be very grateful to all who helped to put on a fine show.

There is some talk of "phasing out" the motorcycle convention and its participation in the festivities — I hope not — this group of colorful folks add a lot of flavor to our village as well as to our pocket books — let's be practical — keep the cycle convention!

Plans should be made now by the Chamber of Commerce to continue this group coming to Ruidoso. To those who criticize the cyclists let them offer a better alternate.

Pat Healey — we missed you.

J. A. "AP" Jung

Dear editor:

During the parade many motorcyclists wore yellow arm bands in remembrance and support of our fellow Americans held hostage in Iran.

We hope this action made a statement to the hostages and their families that we haven't forgotten them.

This would not have been possible without the help and contributions of the following businesses and individuals:

Ben Franklin Store, Neesley-James Office Equipment, Art and Flower Nook, Ruidoso Flower and Plants, Fashion Fabrics, 7-11 Store at Mechem, Safeway, Pizza Hut, Wood-N-Staff, The Aspen Tree, Gateway Texaco, Holiday House Coffee Shop, Holiday Inn, Ruidoso Exxon, KRRR Radio, Chaparral Motor Hotel;
Ed Jungbluth, Gwyneth Jones, Tom Hansen, June Rawley, Jeannie Whitman, Ed Vickers, Martha Bryant, Donna Willard, Susie Dotson, Betty Burford, Barbara Alcorn, Barbara (Duff) Jackson, Connie Dorrell, Tracy Dorrell, Krissy Strempeke, Theresa Jeffries, Vickie Flowers, Carey Naron, Johnny Flowers, Olivette Trenlon, Mr. and Mrs. Til Thompson and all of the bikers.
Our thanks to all of you.

Irene Naron and Shirley Flowers

Yours and Ours

editorial

Over the past weekend there were several thousand motorcyclists that were registered delegates at the Ascendade 10 Motorcyclist Convention, sponsored by Til Thompson.

There were also several thousand motorcyclists in town that weren't convention delegates.

In addition, the area was the unwilling host to approximately 300 to 400 members of motorcycle organizations generally reported to engage in illegal activities — including flaunting of most of our behavioral laws.

The amazing thing, concerning all of these people, including the undesirables, is that Ruidoso's police records show there were but 71 arrests made. The majority on misdemeanor charges: drinking in public, disturbing the peace and minor traffic infractions.

More amazing is the fact, taken from police records, that only four of those arrested were undesirables. The balance were local residents, including a sprinkling of visiting cyclists who were involved in minor traffic violations.

A total of seven accidents, involving motorcycles, were reported. No serious injuries, outside of one broken leg, resulted.

This relatively peaceful situation resulted from the large numbers of State Police and Mounted Patrol members assisting the Sheriff's department and local police in enforcing our laws.

Officers were everywhere — at all times. This high visibility obviously reduced the number of law violations and kept altercations to a minimum.

We congratulate all of the law officers involved for their efforts in keeping Ruidoso/Ruidoso Downs as safe for everyone concerned as it was humanly possible to do. We are most appreciative. —CD

WANNA VOTE FOR JOE?

Second Congressional District voters ... New Mexico, natch ... who just might wanna vote for Joe Skeen for Congress ... on their absentee ballots ... ain't gonna find it too tough a task.

Watcha do ... see ... is look for the Republican candidates' column ... it's the first column on the ballot ... and you'll spy the names of Ronald Reagan and George Bush. Now ... right under those names is a blank ... and it's the blank you're interested in if'n you're interested in casting your ballot for Joe.

Once you've located the proper blank ... then grab your pencil/pen and proceed to write: Joseph R. Skeen ... right smack dab in that blank ... and it'll also say: "U. S. House of Representatives" ... whatever ... and after you've penned Joseph R. Skeen ... watcha you do, see ... is follow along out to the right of that space where you wrote his name ... and you'll find a □ ... and in that square you put an "X" ... 'cause your vote for Joe won't be tallied without that there "X" being plainly marked in.

And there's this much to be said about voting absentee ballot November 4 ... you won't have to that Tuesday ... meaning you'll avoid any long lines that might be waiting to get into the voting booth ... and, by jinkies, that's maybe worth the small amount of trouble it is to get an absentee voting ballot.

TEACH SOCIAL STUDIES?

If'n you happened to teach social studies in public schools in New Mexico during World War Two ... and if'n you're of a mind to help out a researcher ... who's nosy about what happened in social study teaching during that era ... write: George L. Mehafty, Assistant Professor, School of Education, Eastern New Mexico University, Portales, New Mexico 88131. Dunno what George wants ... other than to correspond with you if'n you're who he wants to correspond with ... but this much is for sure ... like the old cliché ... let George do it ... well ... seems George really wants to do it ... and maybe George needs all the help he can get.

The thumb hand side of this proposition seems to be ... you can get your curiosity satisfied for a 15 cent stamp ... which, these days, is a mighty reasonable price for gettin' your curiosity satisfied about anything.

OUR JIMMY'S TRYING

Our Jimmy ... who's been mighty trying ... is now trying to convince us that he ain't concerned about them polls showin' Ronnie baby is leaving him in the dust ... concerning those 270 electoral votes needed to claim the presidency. And what he's mainly trying ... apparently ... is to employ those tactics he hopes'll discredit Ronnie baby ... which kinda indicates Our Jimmy's paying some never mind to them polls ... 'cause if'n he ain't runnin' scared ... it sure appears that way ... also kinda indicates he ain't got much of a tune to play on his horn ... which he sure ain't been tootin' loudly of late.

TOP RATE PEANUT BRITTLE

Just in case you missed it ... our own Cindy Parnell done up and won the top prize for her peanut brittle in the Eastern New Mexico State Fair ... at Roswell. 'twas ... which must mean that them judges sure musta cottoned to her goodie ... after sinkin' their teeth into same. Congrats, Cindy.

Now Cindy's mom ... Candy Shamaley ... she done cooked up several pots of dandy candy ... to enter in that fair ... and outta 10 entries ... she up and garners for her collection eight ribbons ... which ain't all that shabby ... so ... congrats to Candy ... and for living up to her name ... cheers!

JUST RUMINATING

In the aftermath of Muhammad Ali getting clobbered by Larry Holmes ... for the world's heavyweight fistcuffs crown ... old Ali's just up and keepin' on hintin' that maybe he'll seek a rematch ... 'cause he just can't believe he got whupped. Seems ... being's he got $8 million for getting whupped ... and being's he's been world champ thrice ... that he'd grab his share of that loot ... and bow out ... with nothing really battered ... except his ego.

With all of the electioneering ... and other problems ... plaguing President Carter in his reelection bid ... he's not going to be relegated to a place of ignominy by historians ... 'cause ... one day Our Jimmy can look back on the fact he was our first president to spend $1 billion a day ... as he cashes his retirement checks as a break from hoelin' his goobers.

BRIEF HIT: If'n Congressional aspirant David King ain't upset about the polls ranking him third behind two blank spaces on the November 4 ballot ... you can safely bet the rest his uncle is ... CD

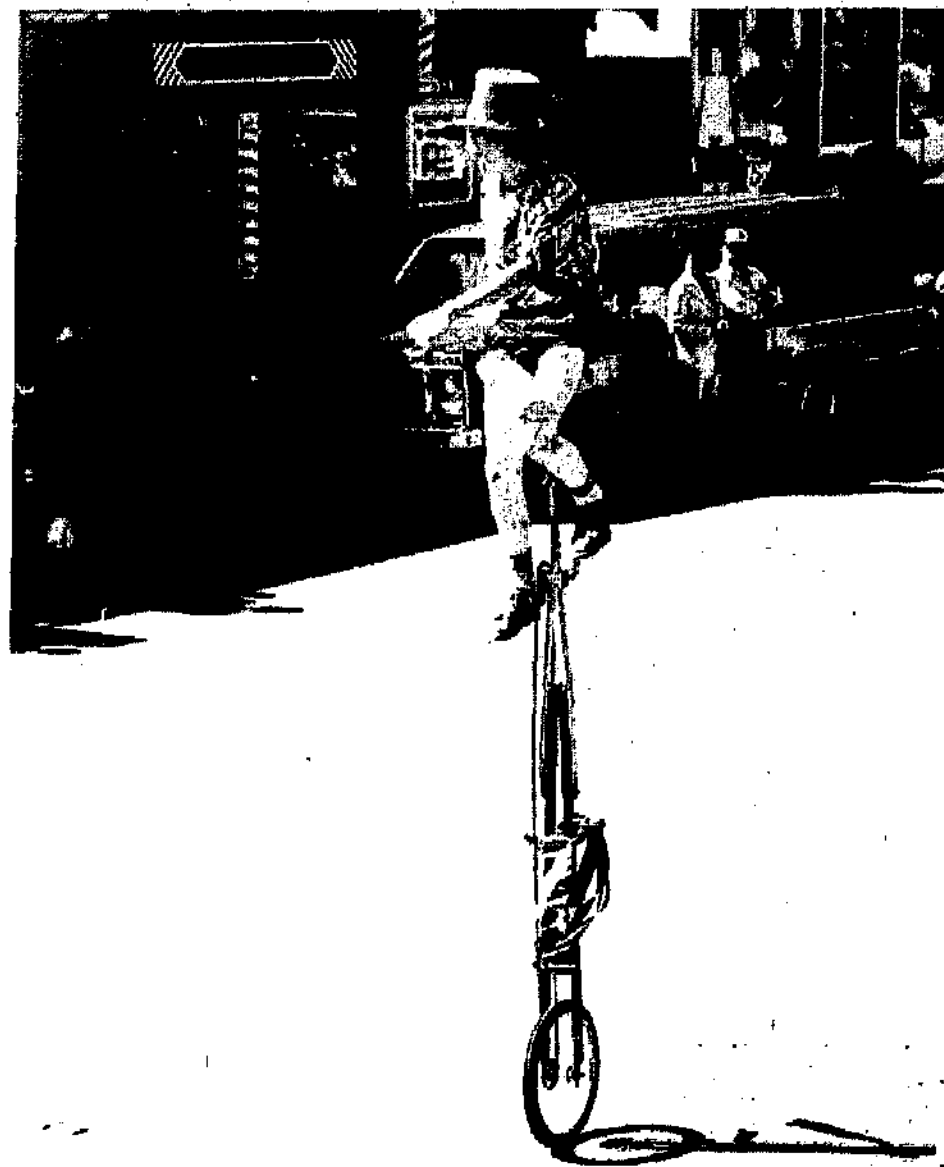

ART, DINING AND ENTERTAINMENT GUIDE

AN ATTENTION GETTER at the Aspenade parade Saturday was this innovative vehicle.

Governor's Award for arts presentation Friday evening

Governor Bruce King will present New Mexico's highest artistic honor, the Governor's Award for excellence and achievement in the arts, to four of the State's leading artists, and will honor two persons who have made a unique contribution to the arts of New Mexico, in a special public ceremony Friday at 8:30 p.m., in the Rotunda of the Capitol.

The seventh annual Governor's Awards will go to Rudolfo A. Anaya of Albuquerque for Literature; Allan Houser, Santa Fe, Visual Arts; Mark Medoff, Las Cruces, Theatre, and Eliseo Rodriguez, Santa Fe, Folk Arts.

The Governor's Award for an outstanding contribution to the arts will be presented by Governor King to Mr. and Mrs. Alexander H. Girard of Santa Fe in recognition of their donation of the Girard Foundation Collection to the Museum of International Folk Art, Museum of New Mexico.

Mrs. Alice King will be Mistress of Ceremonies. Music will be provided by Santa Fe ethnomusicologist Jack Loeffler, who will play recordings of seldom-heard Hispanic folk music of Northern New Mexico, made under a National Endowment for the Arts grant.

Following the awards presentation, art lovers are invited to a reception in the Governor's Gallery, honoring the awardees and opening a month-long exhibition of their works in the Gallery, which is open to the public Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The recipients of the seventh annual Governor's Awards will become part of a gallery of distinguished New Mexico artists. In 1974, Governor King presented the first Governor's Awards to Laura Gilpin, Georgia O'Keeffe, Dr. F. Boyd, Grace Thompson Edmister, Maria Martinez and John Gaw Meem. In 1975, the awards went to Raymond Jonson, Agueda Martinez, Michael Naranjo, Elizabeth Waters, Dr. J. J. Robb, and Frank Waters; in 1976, to John O. Crosby, Fray Angelico Chavez, Elliot Porter, and Andrew Dasburg. In 1977, Dr. Kurt Frederick, Paul Horgan, Peter Hurd and Pablita Velarde were honored. In 1978, Maria Benitez, Dr. Bainbridge Bunting, Charles Mattox and Doel Reed received the Governor's Awards, and last year's Awards winners were Felipe Archileta, Howard Cook, Yoshimi Takeda, and Dr. Jack Williams.

Civilian Safety Fly-in scheduled at Holloman

The Tactical Training Holloman Office of Safety is sponsoring a Civilian Safety Fly-In and Orientation Seminar in conjunction with the annual Holloman Air Force Base Open House Saturday, November 1. The purpose of the seminar is to acquaint the general aviation community with the military operations conducted by F-16 and T-38 aircraft and to enhance flying safety for all concerned.

The Fly-In will begin at 8 a.m. Due to the hazards involved with light aircraft intermixed with planned airshow activities at the Open House, no civilian aircraft will be accepted at Holloman after 10 a.m., November 1. The base will be open for automobile traffic at 10 a.m., if Fly-In participants prefer to drive to Holloman rather than fly. If they choose to fly-in, one copy of an Air Force Form 180, Hold-Harmless Agreement, must be turned in upon arrival at Holloman and a second copy of the form carried aboard the participating aircraft.

After participants have arrived and parked their aircraft, they will be met by officers of the 49th Tactical Fighter Wing and 479th Tactical Training Wing and transported to the 465th Tactical Training Squadron. Movies will be shown there, and tours of the T-38, F-16, and F-4 simulators held from 8 a.m. until 10:30 a.m. Attendees will then be transported to the Holloman Officers' Open Mess for the Orientation Seminar and a no-host luncheon, from 11 a.m. until 1 p.m.

The seminar will open with greetings from Brigadier General Thomas S. Swalm, Tactical Training Holloman Commander. Briefings will be given by the 49th Tactical Fighter Wing, 479th Tactical Training Wing, Radar Approach Control, and 655th Test Group, and will be followed by a question and answer session. At 1 p.m., participants will be transported to the flight line for Open House activities, including static displays of aircraft and performances by the United States Air Force "Thunderbirds" and United States Army "Golden Knights." At 4 p.m., they will be taken to Base Operations for a weather and departure briefing and then back to their aircraft.

The Office of Safety advises that aviation gas and oil will not be available at Holloman. Therefore, pilots should ensure they have adequate round-trip fuel or enough to proceed from Holloman Air Force Base to a commercial refueling point after the completion of the Fly-In. Radio-equipped aircraft should contact Holloman Approach Control on frequency 120.6 MHz for radar advisories, and the Holloman Tower on 128.2 MHz for landing instructions.

Non-radio equipped aircraft will follow normal VFR traffic procedures and monitor the tower for appropriate light gun signals. Determination of the active/landing runway can be made by observing the landing traffic or illumination of the Visual Approach Slope Indicator lights on either side of the approach end of the active runway. Runway 16 is planned as the primary recovery and departure runway. Non-radio equipped aircraft are requested to arrive at Holloman between 8 a.m. and 9 a.m. A VOR approach is available, if needed, and participants are reminded that restricted and special use airspace must be avoided while en route to Holloman Air Force Base.

For further information, Hold-Harmless Agreement forms, pertinent maps and handouts, contact Major William J. Brown of the Tactical Training Holloman Office of Safety, Area Code 505, 479-6511, Extension 3763, from 7:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. during week days, or write to TTH/SE, Holloman AFB, NM 88330. The Office of Safety would appreciate it if those planning to participate in the Fly-In would send a postcard to the above address with the number of aircraft and personnel who will attend the Fly-In.

ART, DINING AND ENTERTAINMENT GUIDE

UPSET FACTOR — Festos hits the wire with a head lead in the Don Lewis Inaugural Handicap at Sunland Park. The gelding carried 23-1 odds.

HONORING DON LEWIS — Mrs. Don Lewis is in the center of things, flanked by jockey Joe Martinez and trainer Cliff Lambert, while making the victory presentation for the Don Lewis Inaugural Handicap at Sunland Park. Lambert and Martinez combined talents to win the six furlong sprint with the longshot, Festos. Various members — and friends — of the Lewis family also gathered in the winner's circle. The late Don Lewis was one of the leading jockeys in Sunland Park history.

Festos wins Don Lewis Inaugural

Festos, a 23-1 outsider, struggled to a head victory in Sunday's renewal of the Don Lewis Inaugural Handicap at Sunland Park.

But the gelding didn't have an easy time of it. He was dogged throughout the stretch by the 6-1 outsider, Bet On Me. The two appeared to be on even terms in the upper stretch of the six furlong dash.

At the midway point of the stretch, Festos inched into the clear, and began looking like a winner. Bet On Me refused to give up, and began coming on again — but he was a head short when he hit the wire.

The victory marked quite a return to form for Festos. Last year, he racked up a couple of stakes wins and ended up with a money line of over $25,000. This year, though, it was a different story. Unable to grab a stakes victory, he carried a money line of $7,649 into the Don Lewis Handicap.

Most Sunland patrons figured his cause was not a promising one, and made him the biggest priced horse in the eight head

Lewis lineup.

So his supporters raked in handsome payoffs of $47.80 to win, $22.60 to place, $12.30 to show. Joe Martinez, the jockey champ of the recent Ruidoso Downs meeting, was in the saddle. Festos is trained by Cliff Lambert for Jimmie and Allison Powers of Sonora, Texas.

The Don Lewis Handicap packed a gross purse of $4,610 and put $2,768 into Festos' account. Bet On Me, well handled by Carlos Rivas, returned $5.80 to place, $5.20 to show. Kings Place, an 8-1 outsider handled by Louis Gomez, rallied from far back to nail down third. The chestnut gelding was 1 1/4 lengths behind Bet On Me at the finish.

The winning time was a crisp 1:10 1/5 seconds. Fans who were savvy enough to hook up Festos and Bet On Me in the quintela collected $137.60.

Unfortunately for form players, Majestic Blade was unable to run much of a race in her role as an even money favorite. The filly got off to a delayed start, giving away about four or five lengths. But she quickly shifted into overdrive and rushed well along the rail to take the lead. The effort, though, took a lot out of her, and when she reached the straightaway — with Festos and Bet On Me breathing hard on her neck — she was unable to hang on. She slumped back into a sixth-place finish.

Billy Byers, 16-year-old son of veteran jockey Larry Byers, rode his first race Sunday, and even got to line up in the gates next to his father. Billy, aboard Beam A Little in the mile long 12th race, was loaded last in the ninth post position. Standing next to him in the eighth hole was Larry. Beam A Little finished well out of the finish at 45-1 odds. Billy had the mare in third place during the first half of the journey.

Three other jockeys, all experienced, made their Sunland Park debuts over the weekend. Vickie Smallwood had three mounts Saturday and finished second in the seventh race on 20-1 pick Gypsy Song. Jackie Harned rode Windy Little Dan in Saturday's second race and Kevin Scholl, who broke his maiden at Ruidoso this summer, was aboard Crowstia in the seventh race Sunday. Smallwood and Scholl are apprentices.

Easy Linde and Tyroon, fifth and sixth place finishers respectively in the recent New Mexico Futurity, were the fastest qualifiers to the $22,456 Stue Fly Stakes in trials held Saturday. Easy Linde established the fastest time over the 400 yards in 20.20 seconds in winning the third and final division. Tyroon, a head back, was clocked in 20.22 seconds. Six qualifiers came from the third division while the remaining four came from the first. There were no qualifiers from the second division. The Stue Fly Stakes will be held October 12. Darrell Blevins was aboard both winning horses in the first and third divisions.

Besides Easy Linde, Blevins guided Dial A Native to a head victory over Romeds Rocket. Other jockeys to qualify two horses include Jerry Nicodemus and Willie Lovell. Trainer Carl Draper qualified three.

Here is a complete list of the qualifiers: Easy Linde, owned by John Clemmons of Kenna, 20.20; Tyroon, owned by R. C. and Suzanne N. Jones of Tatum, 20.22; Mity Roon, owned by J. R. Adams of Guyman, Oklahoma, and G. R. Russell of El Paso, Texas, 20.28; Dial A Native, owned by Lloyd Ray Phipps of Midland, Texas, 20.29; Romeds Rocket, owned by James A. and/or Greg Drake of Farmington, 20.31; Geacchit, owned by C. W. Grissom of Tiaban, 20.33; Melody's Best, owned by Jerry or Marilyn Wilson of Roswell, 20.41; Scout N Roon, owned by R. C. and Suzanne N. Jones of Tatum, 20.43; Betty's Jet, owned by Margaret O. DuPont and Margaret V. Bloss of El Paso, 20.47; Alamitos Venture, owned by Dan H. Phyllis and Dan Lucas Jr., of Deming, 20.47.

Three of the qualifiers — Scout N Roon, Mity Roon and Tyroon — represent two generations from the great thoroughbred mare, Maroon. Scout N Roon is from Je Roon and Tyroon is out of Dee Roon, both daughters of Maroon and both stakes winners. Mity Roon is out of Go Roon, a daughter of Je Roon, who has also produced stakes winners Madam President and A Roon.

Jockey Wayne Buehrer had a bumpy ride in the 12th race Saturday. The saddle on his mount, 17-1 longshot Ivery, slipped in the early running of the mile route. Buehrer rode bareback without any stirrups and even challenged for the lead down the backstretch before Ivery tired in the final turn and faded poorly.

Double B Express, the highweighted horse for the Don Lewis Inaugural Handicap at 121 pounds, was not entered after the big five-year-old gelding suffered a minor foot injury, reports trainer Cliff Lambert. Double B Express, winner of the State Fair Handicap last month, will return to action soon, said Lambert.

Of the six quarter horse races run over the weekend, excluding 870 races, Darrell Blevins entered three and won three. He started with a pair of victories Saturday in the Shue Fly trials, then won Sunday's sixth race on 27-1 longshot Shurline Sln. Blevins was the eighth leading rider during the 1979-80 Sunland meeting.

The best post position over the two-day weekend was No. 2. Five winners came out of that slot. Here are the complete totals: No. 1 - 4 wins; No. 2 - 5; No. 3 - 2; No. 4 - 0; No. 5 - 3; No. 6 - 4; No. 7 - 2; No. 8 - 2; No. 9 - 1; No. 10 - 1; No. 11 - 0; No. 12 - 0.

Wilderness Wisdom

with Wayne Calloway

Dear Wayne: I have frequently heard of hunters being affected by buck fever, but I don't really understand. Could you explain? George S., Michigan.

Dear George: Buck fever is the aggravating calamity which strikes many hunters at exactly the time when they should be calmest. It is non-fatal; short in duration, unpredictable and very exasperating.

A typical characterization is the hunter who has waited patiently in his blind for hours, attuned to his surroundings, with all senses straining to pick up a telltale sound or sight. At the instant he sights his quarry, he seems to fall apart from the release of accumulated tension. His hands may shake violently, making it impossible to shoot, or he may hurriedly and carelessly fire a poorly aimed shot during his excitement.

Shortly after the episode, the disgusted hunter regains his composure. No one is immune to the fever, not even the veteran hunter, but he is less susceptible than the novice.

Dear Wayne: Dove hunting is not legal in my home state. There are efforts to establish an open season, but they don't seem to be getting anywhere. There seems to be a good population of doves in the state and I don't really know the reason for not opening a season.

Is Wisconsin unique in this stand? What might be the reason for no season? John G., Wisconsin.

Dear John: Wisconsin is not unique in its stand. There are a dozen or more northern states that do not have an open season for doves. There seems to be various reasons why this is true.

I'm not certain why there is no season in your state, but the fact that the dove is the state bird may have established a resistance toward hunting them. Other states are closed by the efforts of bird watchers, anti-hunting groups, political maneuvers, and in some cases, simply by the lack of interest in the sport.

Some people will tell you that doves are declining and may soon be threatened, but this story hardly holds water when one considers that biologists estimate the country's annual population at nearly twice that of our human population. This is four to five times greater than our total duck population. Another interesting note is that the hunter harvest is less than 80 million annually, or little more than ten percent. Studies indicate, however, that as many as 75 percent of the total population will die annually. So, if only ten percent are harvested, another 65 percent succumb to natural death. Similar mortality rates are shown for quail.

I don't expect these figures will do much to convince most people who are dead-set against hunting doves, for whatever reason. But they do present a good case to anyone willing to listen with an open mind.

TIP FROM READER — Ordinary baking soda is one of the most inexpensive and versatile household items around. Many campers are aware of its virtues and pack a box or two before an outing.

What can it do? Well, it's an excellent toothpaste substitute and a pretty fair deodorant. The dry powder is also a very effective extinguisher of grease fires. Made into a paste, it will clean pots and pans, as well as ease the irritation of insect bites, poison ivy and sunburn.

At home it does a great job of removing refrigerator odors. Just open a box and place it on the back of a shelf. George H., Iowa.

UNM research team now studying how to extract methane from coal

For years huge ventilation systems have been installed in coal mines to rid them of a highly flammable by-product — methane, or natural gas. But researchers at the University of New Mexico (UNM) are currently studying ways to extract the gas from the coal before it is mined, thus reducing the hazards of mining while increasing the amount of methane available for home and industrial use.

Frank Williams, assistant professor of chemical and nuclear engineering at UNM, leads a research team in extensive studies of northern New Mexico's San Juan Basin. The team is looking specifically at the extent and potential recovery of methane gas in the basin's underground coal seams.

"The San Juan Basin looks very good to us right now," said Williams. "There is as much methane gas in the coal there as in conventional methane sources in the same area. Right now our main concern is how to measure the amount of methane in the coal and how to produce it economically."

Williams and two UNM graduate students are conducting three types of tests on the coal: a basic science study to look at the surface chemistry which determines the ability of coal to trap methane; an engineering study to determine the rate of evolution of methane into the gas phase; and a technology study consisting of production modeling to determine methane production at well heads.

The San Juan Basin holds an estimated 5,000 quads — or 5,000,000,000,000,000 British thermal units — of energy in coal, according to Williams. That coal could yield 80 quads of methane gas, enough to supply the entire United States with its methane needs for two and a half years at the current rate of use. Residents of New Mexico alone could use these potential reserves for more than 100 years, Williams said.

Williams' method of collecting coal samples for his research has proven very economical. Originally, researchers had to drill core samples from the coal buried deep beneath the earth. This was not only expensive — costing $20,000 to $30,000 per sample — but risky as well because sometimes the samples were not recovered. But now he and his assistants simply gather up coal chips produced during commercial drilling operations.

A significant advantage of methane recovery, Williams said, is that it utilizes two percent of the coal's potential energy that would otherwise be lost to the atmosphere, while at the same time leaving the coal intact for other uses.

Williams is working with the UNM Synthetic Fuels Laboratory, established in 1974 through State of New Mexico Energy Program funding. In addition to studies into the feasibility of methane recovery, researchers in the lab are investigating such unconventional fossil energy sources as in situ (in place) coal gasification, in situ extraction of oil from tar sands, in situ shale retorting and surface coal gasification.

"Coal is the future for us right now," Williams said. "It is the energy of the intermediate future, while we are developing renewable energy sources."

Who knows how long coal will last? This will depend on conservation techniques, the price of other fossil fuels, energy imports, the development of other unconventional energy methods and unforeseen developments.

Rugby a contact sport?

Nope, a collision sport

Rugby is a game that sort of resembles American football minus the forward pass, and sort of resembles soccer, plus picking up the ball and tackling each other.

It also smacks of mayhem.

On the surface, the game appears violent. When one investigates, however, one learns it's even worse than one could have imagined.

The game has so much physical combat that one writer commented years ago, "Rugby is a game for cutthroats played by gentlemen."

Ruidosans got a taste of the game during Aspencade when the New Mexico State University Chiles played the Albuquerque Brujos here Saturday afternoon at Warrior Stadium.

Although a football field is about 25 yards narrower than a rugby field, it didn't seem to affect the game much. Both teams played like rugby teams do — as if there's no tomorrow.

About 30 people watched the game, most of whom shook their heads in disbelief at the physical contact. Football fans are not unaccustomed to seeing hard hitting, but grid-sters wear about 20 pounds worth of padding, and a helmet.

Rugby players might — just maybe, mind you — have a mouthpiece, and that's it. (Many of them don't need a mouthpiece, because they've already lost all their teeth.)

The game is rough, there's no doubt about that. But even with all the contact, all the violence, nobody on either team lost his cool, and when the game was over, each team congratulated each other on how the game was played, and they left the field together for a friendly beer or two.

Although the turnout for the game was not as high as anticipated, organizer Pat Lamb of the Brujos has plans for another game here next year, and talk of a tournament was in evidence.

And, oh yes, in case anyone's interested, the Chiles showed they're hot stuff by trouncing the Brujos, 38-3.

It's a tough game.

FIGHTING FOR a throw-in were members of the Chiles (dark jerseys) and the Brujos. "Brujo" translates to "warlock," but the Albuquerqueans couldn't work their magic and lost, 38-3, the fifth straight time the Chiles have beaten the Brujos.

OUCH — this Brujo just finished blocking a kick with his face, which wasn't exactly designed to stop a kicked rugby ball. But a few moments and a bloody nose later, he made it to his feet and finished the game.

Photos and text by Mark Bagby

SOMETIMES when the ball goes out of bounds, a player throws it back in between two parallel lines formed by the teams, which creates a "tunnel." Here a Chile gives the ball the old heave-ho.

*"Rugby is a game
for cutthroats
played by gentlemen."*

EVERY NOW and then, the ball hits the ground, and a large mass of bodies slams together to try to move the ball one way or the other. This is called "scrum," and it's sort of a nasty conglomeration of elbows, knees and thrashing bodies.

BOOTING a penalty kick worth three points is this member of the Chiles.

Crime Stoppers conference set

More than 200 people, representing communities in 35 states, are expected to attend the first National Crime Stoppers Conference October 8-11 in Albuquerque.

Highlighting the conference will be addresses by William H. Webster, Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation; Peter B. Bensinger, Administrator of the federal Drug Enforcement Administration; and Milton Rector, President of the National Council on Crime and Delinquency.

The conference is designed to assist communities in establishing new Crime Stoppers programs and also will provide an exchange of information and ideas between the 60 existing programs throughout the nation.

"This conference should get right down to the nuts and bolts of how to start a Crime Stoppers program," conference co-planner Greg MacAleese of the State Crime Stoppers Commission said. "Ever since we started the first program in Albuquerque four years ago, we have received hundreds of requests for information on how to set up a Crime Stoppers program. Now we have the opportunity to really show people from throughout the country how a program operates."

Opening with a greeting from Governor Bruce King, the conference's first session Wednesday, October 8, will feature a presentation from Bruce (Mac) Gray, Director of the Crime Prevention Coalition and the National Council on Crime and Delinquency. Gray will speak on "Crime

Stoppers' Role in Criminal Justice."

Thursday's session will open with a workshop on "How to Start a Program." Representatives from four different Crime Stoppers programs will outline how they initiated programs in their communities. The panel will be chaired by Albuquerque City Councilor Jo MacAleese, who was instrumental in starting the original Crime Stoppers program.

The workshop will be followed by a panel on the citizen Board of Directors and will be conducted by Carrie-Mae Blount, past chairman of the Albuquerque Crime Stoppers program.

Preceding the afternoon session will be an address by Bensinger. Workshops in the afternoon will include the "Role of the Police Coordinator," conducted by retired Albuquerque Police Department Assistant Chief Frank Stephenson and a panel discussion in "Fund Raising" moderated by "Chips" Woodruff, chairman of the Santa Fe Crime Stoppers program.

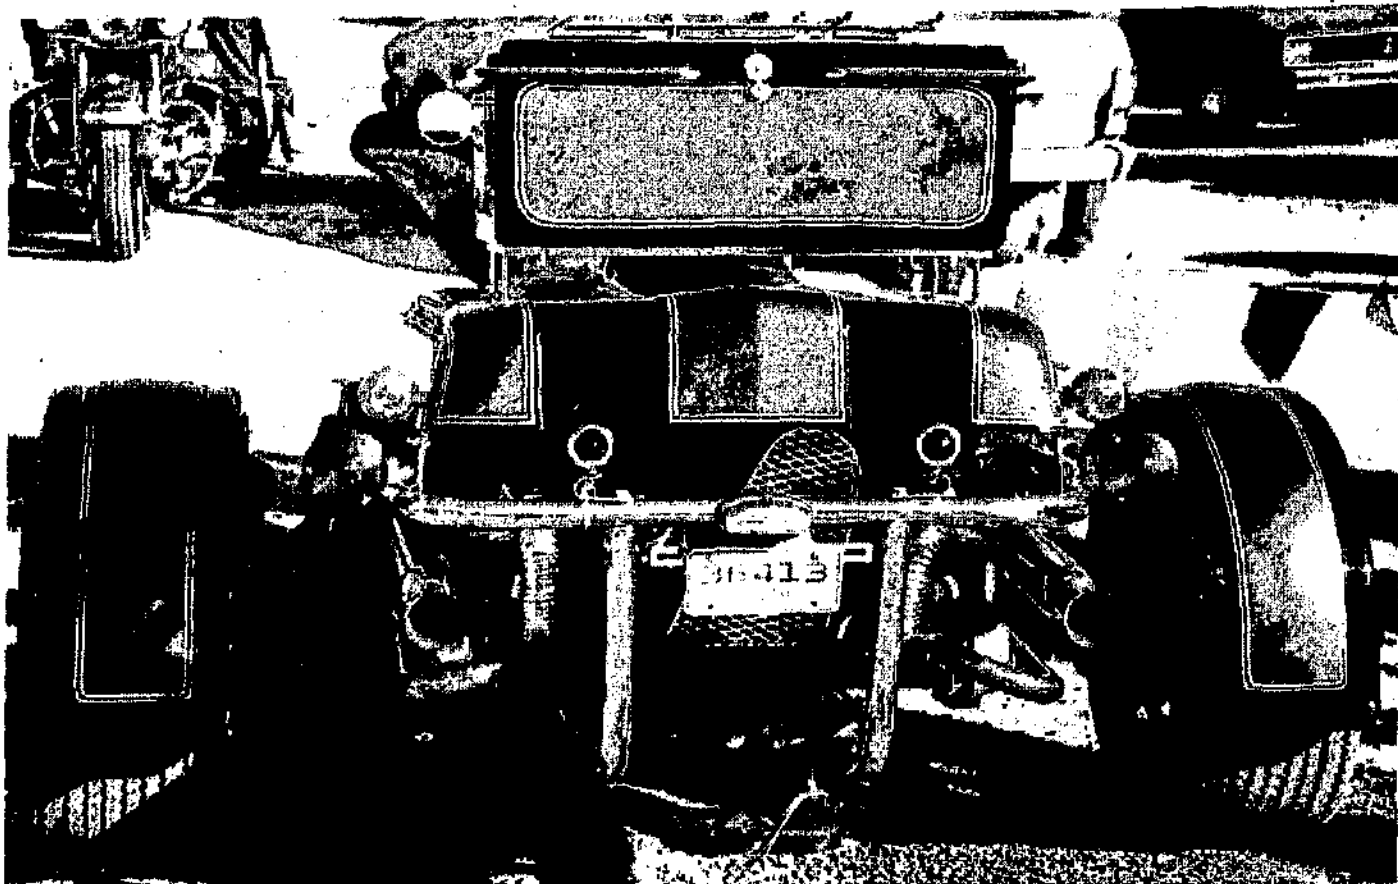

A workshop on the "Role of the Media" will initiate Friday's morning session. Jeane Wayland of KGGM-TV will host the panel discussion, which will include media representatives from three cities where Crime Stoppers programs currently are operating.

United States Attorney R. E. Thompson and Assistant United States Attorney Jim Blackmer will follow with a workshop on "Crime Stoppers and the Law." It will feature discussions on how to develop search warrants with Crime Stoppers tips and the protection of informants' identities in court.

Webster will address the attendees at the Friday luncheon. Friday's afternoon session will feature a panel discussion on the "Ethics and Morality of Crime Stoppers." Moderated by Professor Marvin Bressler of Princeton University, panelists will include Dr. David Polling; Attorney Charles W. Daniels; Frank Sanchez Jr., superintendent of Albuquerque Public Schools; and Chief Justice Dan Sosa of the New Mexico Supreme Court.

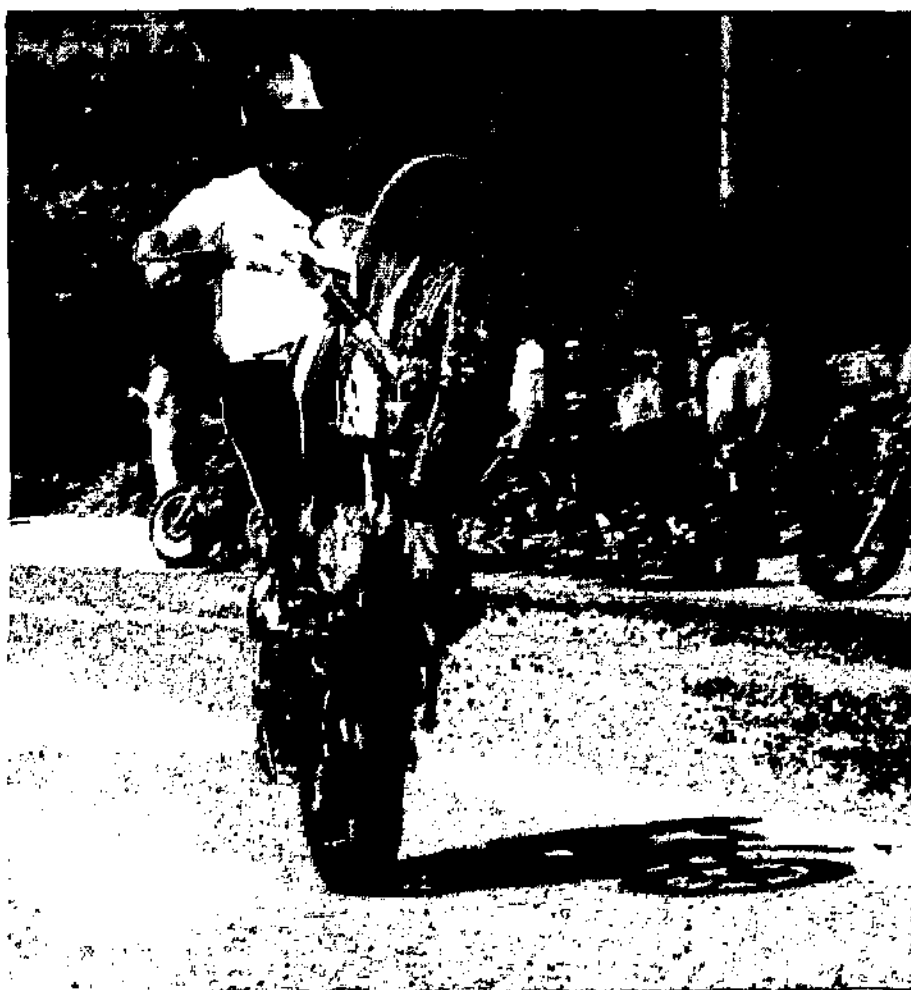

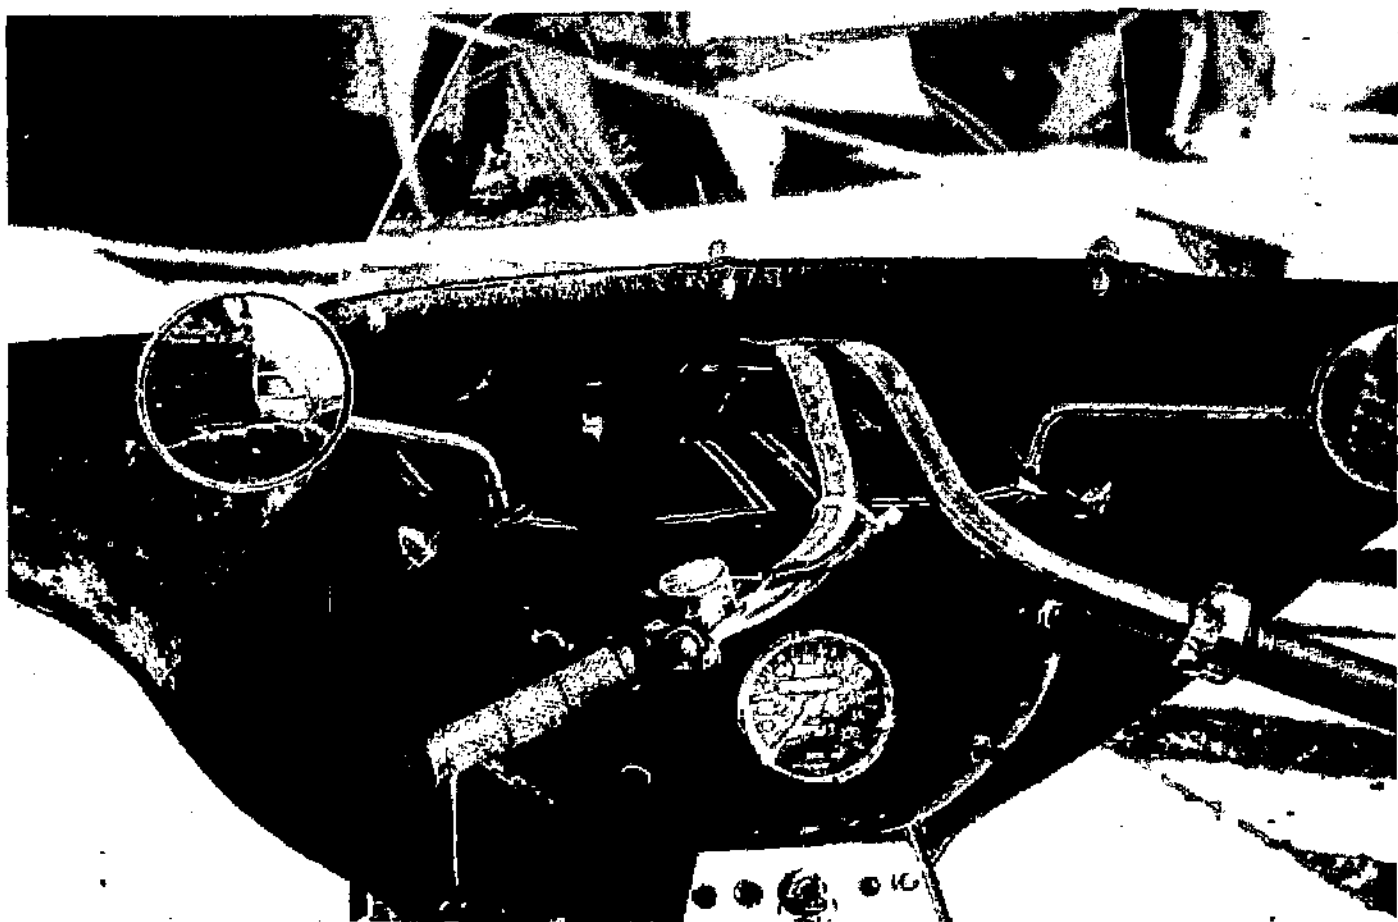

Saturday's session will include workshops on how to set up a State Crime Stoppers Commission, with Greg MacAleese as moderator, and a discussion on Crime Stoppers U.S.A. with Chairman Coleman Tilly. United States Senator Harrison Schmidt will close the conference with a luncheon address.

All sessions are open to the general public at a charge of $5.00 per session and $10.00 per lunch, $15.00 per banquet meal. Reservations can be made at 642-3916.

Search on for perfect alfalfa

Try and find him — especially in summer. A month passes. Then a voice over the phone proves he does exist. Then another month, and finally he is in his office. The search for Bill Melton is over.

"You can't grow alfalfa in an office," he said in explanation. Melton, an agronomist with New Mexico State University's (NMSU) Agricultural Experiment Station, spent this summer much the way he has the past 23 — trying to breed the perfect alfalfa.

"What we are looking for," he said, "is an alfalfa that will grow in spite of man and mother nature." The variety they want is one that is disease and pest resistant, high yielding and grows without irrigation.

The search for an ideal alfalfa goes back to 1947 when NMSU began its alfalfa breeding program. Today, it is one of the few public alfalfa breeding programs in the country which attempts complete varietal development. This early emphasis on alfalfa breeding reflects its impact on the state economy. Alfalfa hay now ranks third in cash receipts for New Mexico, just behind beef cattle. "And," Melton said, "cows have to eat." Because of this, alfalfa is grown on large and small farms in every county in the state.

The breeding program is also crucial to New Mexico because varieties from other states adapt poorly to New Mexico's climate and altitude. Even within the state, there are three distinct areas of adaptation based mainly on winter temperature.

The researchers take this variation into account in selecting varieties. For example, they are now testing several alfalfa genetic cells and alfalfa varieties to develop a drought resistant strain. According to Melton, alfalfa's apparent genetic flexibility will allow it to respond to moisture, and at the same time, persist and grow under dryland conditions. This could be a valuable trait in northern and eastern New Mexico where dryland farming is necessary.

Drought resistance is one of about 12 factors the researchers test for in their breeding. The outcome of these tests must rank the new variety in all traits as good or better than the varieties already on the market. It is a tough sequence that takes 10 years, Melton said.

The theory behind alfalfa breeding is the age-old survival of the fittest. In the decade it takes for testing, each variety is subjected to four diseases and five types of insects — all known enemies of alfalfa production. The survivors of pest and pestilence also must prove their merit as quality forage and seed producers. If that is not enough, the plants are required to survive under poor growing conditions and even manufacture their own nitrogen fertilizer.

Not surprising, very few plants survive the ordeal. "Sometimes out of 1,500 plants we are lucky to end up with two or three," Melton said. Four to 10 plants are necessary to produce a new variety.

Plants passing the tests are then used for breeder seed production. This also has its perils, Melton said. He cites the "unfortunate life" of Rincon, a new variety released in 1978, that is a high seed producer. The only problem was that the jack rabbits loved it. For three years in a row the rabbits ate the plants before they had a chance to produce seed. This year, however, Melton optimistically predicts a good seed crop.

Even after a variety is released, the researchers continue to tinker with its genetic make-up. Mesilla, a popular variety, is being studied for its nitrogen fixing potential. Nitrogen fixation is the plant's ability to take nitrogen from the air and convert it, inside plant root nodules, into nitrogen fertilizer for its own use.

Melton said potential breakthroughs like these keep the researchers enthusiastic through the long years of testing. "We have 10 new varieties completing a test cycle each year and out of every 50 or 60, we will get one variety that is good enough to release," but, he said, that one variety is encouragement for more genetic tinkering.

Melton, who is now confined to his office, by all things, may have, counts his graduate students as another accomplishment of the breeding program. "They magnify your efforts," he said proudly pointing out that a large percentage of the alfalfa breeders in the country are NMSU alumni.

The alfalfa breeding program has been designated an "Agri-Search '80s" project by NMSU's Agricultural Experiment Station. Such projects are designed to help increase agricultural productivity in New Mexico during the next 10 years.

Student aid offered in science and engineering

Providing public school students, particularly minority groups, with information on science and engineering and encouraging the students to become involved in the fields is the purpose of the Southwest Resource Center (SWRC) for Science and Engineering at Eastern New Mexico University (ENMU).

"The center has developed workshops for students and teachers to experience difference aspects of science and engineering," said Nanette Kallit, representative for SWRC at Eastern. "We also provide students with information on career opportunities in these fields, through career presentations, pamphlets, and SWRC speakers."

According to Kallit, area universities are requested to provide information to the center regarding their curriculum, in order that the student receives a better understanding of what a science of engineering degree entails. Tests are given to high school and junior high school students to determine which students show an interest and ability for engineering. An exam is being created to test students in sciences other than engineering.

Another activity of the SWRC at Eastern is the development of an internship program to provide undergraduate science and engineering students an opportunity to work in research labs and science industry.

Also, in April, SWRC will help Blue Key organize and execute science contests at the annual ENMU science-math bowl. The center will also assist in the Energy Education Workshop for Elementary and Middle School Teachers and is developing a Summer Science Training Program for high school students that they may gain experiences in scientific research.
