District's new fire prevention officer on duty

G. W. Werther has assumed his duties as Fire Prevention Officer with the Smokey Bear Ranger District of Lincoln National Forest.

He arrived last week from the Angeles National Forest, in southern California, where he served five years as fire patrolman and district fire investigator.

His prior service included stints as fire patrolman and investigator in Arizona's Coronado National Forest and initial employment in the Lassen National Forest in northern California.

Werther succeeds Charlie Mook, Smokey Bear District Fire Prevention Officer for several years, who was transferred recently to the Cibola National Forest, near Albuquerque, as a law enforcement officer.

A native of Schmalkalden, East Germany, Werther accompanied his parents to Manitoba, Canada, in 1954, at the age of three. He lived in western New York for five years before moving to southern California in 1969.

He received his Bachelor of Science degree from the University of Arizona, Tucson, in wildlife biology and was a graduate student in wildlife biology at the University of Alaska, Fairbanks, before being employed by the United States

CANDIDATES FOR TRUSTEE AGREE

Downs' problem: no money

BY GWYNETH JONES
Staff Writer

Sources of income, water and sewer concerns and general cleanup of the village dominated the discussion at an open forum for village trustee candidates in Ruidoso Downs Thursday night.

The forum was moderated by outgoing trustee Vada Leighton, and candidates were allowed five minutes to state their views prior to a question and answer period.

In the March 4 election, Danny Smith will oppose Don Rierson for a two year term, while Harrold Mansell, Howell Pugh, and Bob Power are vying for the two available four-year terms.

Smith, who owns the Mitchell Motel, said he first entered the race for the trustee position because there seemed to be little interest being shown in the village government.

"I felt it would be in my best interests — both for my economic situation and just my inability to sit still — to take part in village activities," he said.

"I feel my experience in business is sufficient to make logical decisions to make a city or a business run properly," he said. Smith added he had been part-owner of a telephone company in Arizona, holds a degree in business from the University of Arizona and is a veteran of the Vietnam War.

Pugh, who has served on the Downs Planning and Zoning (P&Z) commission for the past year, said, "We, the P&Z, have tried to upgrade Ruidoso Downs. What I want to do is work for the people."

"I think we can do something about cleaning up Ruidoso Downs — that's the only reason I'm running."

Pugh added the cleanup should include removal of condemned buildings, and the hiring of a building inspector. He also touched on the subject of federal funding.

"We can get all kinds of federal money; all we have to do is ask for it. I'd like to see us be the kind of town Ruidoso is," he said.

Mansell said that in his capacity as comptroller for the Timberon development, he was facing every day "the same problems faced by Virginia and Norman (village clerk and mayor). We're all oriented toward the day it (Timberon) becomes a village, and we do business with Housing and Urban Development (HUD) and Otero County."

In a previous appointed term on the village board, Mansell said he and his counterparts "made changes in the accounting system and improved equipment" for the various departments.

He cited inflation as a major problem facing the village and said "federal funding has been cut back by millions and will be harder to get." If funding sources can be found, Mansell said one major priority would be raises for village employees.

"We need to pay them a salary they can live on," he said.

He also said, "We desperately need to upgrade every department, but it all takes money."

Rierson said he felt his business experience qualified him for the office of trustee. He is currently the owner-operator of a mobile home sales business, and was formerly engaged in new and used car sales in Texas.

He stressed the importance of the racetrack as a potential source of income to the village.

"As you know, we have money problems in the village and I don't see any easy way out, but we have been short-changed tremendously by the racetrack," he said.

The village had received only $18,000 to $18,000 in revenues from the track, Rierson said, while the state had received $790,000. He called the village's share "a very poor percentage," of the "millions of dollars gambled and spent" at the track.

"I don't know exactly what can be done about this, but if elected, I intend to find out," Rierson said.

He also addressed the problem of water supplies, saying "we need to be negotiating for water and water rights, and we need a storage tank badly."

Rierson said "all purchases made by the village should be consulted and confirmed with council. The responsibility should fall with the trustees for all purchases of all kinds of equipment. I believe with closer council supervision, it can be improved."

The village governing body, he added, should regard the permanent residents as their first priority, with tourists coming second.

"If elected, I promise to work for a people's village council. There'll be no catering to special groups or individuals," Rierson said.

Power, owner of the Timberline Motel and Power's Trading Post, said, "The main thing I'm going to work for is getting the people to council meetings to voice their opinions, and let us know what you want."

"If you come and do this, you'd be surprised what you can do," he said. He added he would be open to suggestions from the public, and "I may not agree, but I still want you to come and say what you want."

Lodger's Tax aiding Pow Wow

BY CHARLOTTE FELLERS
Staff Writer

In a special meeting of the Lodger's Tax Committee Friday, the group voted to appropriate $8,000 to promote and co-sponsor the Mescalero Pow Wow, to be held at the Mescalero Apache Tribe's (MAT) ceremonial grounds in June.

Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce executive director Ed Jungbluth said the event was sponsored jointly last year for the first time ever, and netted about $3,500 in profit for the Lodger's Tax Committee. The allocation includes the $3,500 carryover, which is now in a certificate of deposit, and a stipulation that matching funds be provided by the MAT.

Jungbluth also announced tentative plans being made by Coors brewery in Golden, Colorado to shoot an advertising campaign at this year's Pow Wow. Coors may also be willing to enter into a cooperative agreement with local entities to provide prize money, which would make the Pow Wow a major drawing card for tourists, according to Jungbluth.

"The more prize money we offer, the better the dancers will be," he said.

"I'm optimistic that the Tribe will allocate $8,000, and I am planning to meet with the Tribal Council to present a budget for their consideration."

Last year, the Lodger's Tax committee approved $5,000 for the Pow Wow, which included $1,000 for advertising. This year's budget increases advertising money by three times, and would allow major promotion in areas other than nearby cities.

"It's the only annual function that the Tribe and village work on jointly and successfully. I think we can build this into a very big thing," Jungbluth said.

Jungbluth also presented plans to request up to $2,000 later this month to reprint a brochure which highlights county wide sightseeing attractions. The first time the brochure was printed two years ago, the county paid $2,000 to have 40,000 copies made. Jungbluth said he hopes to persuade other communities in the county and county commissioners to help cover printing costs. "I would say that we may have to expend a maximum of $1,500 from Lodger's Tax money for this," Jungbluth said.

Although few committee members had seen the brochure, Jungbluth said it is one of the most popular at the Chamber, and said he felt other communities would help cover costs "because it really does promote the whole county."

Jungbluth will present exact costs and other revenue sources at the March 19 meeting of the committee.

The committee rejected a proposal to provide $10,000 to sponsor "Nashville on the Road" telecasts, which would be filmed in Ruidoso. "It would really be nice for us to take a chance on this, but since we've already allocated most of our money, I don't think we should commit ourselves," Ollie Cuddy said.

The program, which is shown nationwide, will also film segments in Albuquerque and Carlsbad. In letters to the committee, programmers said matching funds for such functions are available from the state.

Fireplace ashes cause fire

A Sunday afternoon fire, caused by improperly disposed of fireplace ashes, consumed four acres of grassland near the intersection of Cedar Creek Drive and Hull Road.

According to Steve Makowski, fire management officer for Smokey Bear Ranger District, all village fire units, one state forestry unit from Capitan and a forest service fire unit responded to the fire.

"At least one structure was definitely threatened and several others near one side of the fire could have easily been threatened. The fire spread very quickly even with the small amount of wind we had," Makowski said.

Makowski said the fireplace ashes were dumped and the fire started before water could be thrown on the ashes.

"The guy was from Texas and was leaving town, so he decided to clean his fireplace before he left. Conditions were just right for the ashes to go ahead and cause a fire," he added.

A fire at Whistleberry and Company occurred at 8:38 Saturday night and caused minimal damage, according to village fire chief Butch Jacobs. Jacobs said the fire burned through the ceiling above the grill.

Dispose of hot ashes properly

ComFIRE Chairman Herb Brunell today issued the following statement on the disposal of fireplace ashes:

"A metal container is an absolute requirement. Place the hot ashes in the container, fill it with water and stir. Let the container sit at least 72 hours before dumping."

"Fireplace ashes maintain heat and sparks as long as 48 hours. No dumping of ashes is safe, unless the metal container and water method is used."

"And don't dump fireplace ashes in the village dumpsters. There is a fire call, for this reason, every week to 10 days."

KAY ALLISON

Kay Allison candidate for treasurer

Kay Allison, Ruidoso, is a candidate for the office of Lincoln County Treasurer, on the Republican ticket, in the June 3 primary election.

A resident of Ruidoso since 1942, she is a former employee of the county treasurer's office and has been a bookkeeper and accountant for several local firms. She is presently employed by Allison Plumbing and Heating.

She is married to Earl W. Allison, Ruidoso, and the couple has three children, Buddy and Sandra, and Sharon Hooper, all of Ruidoso.

"My main objective," she said, "is to better serve the people of Lincoln County."

Ski Report

Sierra Blanca: Undisturbed snow depth midway up the mountain is 53 inches. Conditions are rated good over the entire mountain, with hard packed surfaces. All lifts and trails are open and operating. No new snow last week.

Effort to stop ski area thievery being launched

Ski shop owners and the Lincoln County Sheriff's Office have joined forces to try and stop the stealing of ski equipment and vandalism, both of which are becoming major problems at Sierra Blanca Ski Resort, according to local ski shop owners.

Ray Heid, a member of the Community Development Committee of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce, met last week with John Cupp, a sheriff's deputy, Roy Parker, manager of the ski area, and several ski shop owners in Ruidoso, to discuss the problem.

Heid said that on February 4 and 5, "just an average Monday and Tuesday—not a weekend or a holiday—seven pairs of skis were ripped off." Heid said the skis were valued at $400 a pair and said, "Whoever took them knew exactly what they were doing."

Heid noted that most of the skis stolen are those which have the highest resale value, which could mean that professionals are taking the skis.

In addition to ski equipment, ski racks which are both empty and full of skis, have been taken from cars in the parking lot, and people who have left their purses or billfolds in the car have returned to find them stolen.

Heid said several vandalism incidents have also been reported, where irate skiers kick in doors, run into other vehicles with their own cars and "just about everything you can think of."

He said his car received $800 in damage when a skier got upset because he got mud on his clothing from rubbing against Heid's car. "He just kicked in the door a few minutes, and when a friend of mine saw it, he went out to tell him to quit it. The guy then started beating on my friend."

Heid and other ski shop owners hold customers liable for their rented skis and if the skis are not returned, the renter must pay for them. Ski shop owners have learned to watch for unusual incidents,

WILLIAM (BILL) KARN CANDIDATE FOR TRUSTEE

Although I am a newcomer to politics, I am NOT a newcomer to City Government: planning, Parks and Recreation, budget and Master Zoning.

Nor am I a newcomer to Ruidoso and our problems. I remember when there were no buildings in the "Y", no banks, no hospital and few, if any, building codes or restrictions.

Our growth and progress are the results of collective not individual efforts.

CONFLICT OF INTEREST?
NONE

I own no land for annexation.

I have no lots to be rezoned.

As owner-builder, I provide my own financing, leaving local funds for local use.

I am free from any pressures, owe no favors and I WILL VOTE AGAINST ANY ZONE CHANGE THAT BENEFITS A FEW AT THE EXPENSE OF THE MAJORITY.

This I stand for: A full time economy with its year round jobs for workers and year round sales for Merchants: additional tourist attractions to bolster our two slack seasons: Medium rental units, properly located, to house young couples and retirees; Long range Master zoning, subject to voter approval; Planned growth and expansion but only after consolidation of our present boundaries.

Since our children are the future, let us plan now for what they will inherit.

I DO NOT HAVE ALL THE ANSWERS, NO ONE DOES. BUT, I CARE FOR RUIDOSO AND ALL ITS PEOPLE. I WANT TO WORK FOR YOU AND WITH YOU. AFTER ALL, YOUR SUGGESTION MAY BE OUR SOLUTION.

Ski area thievery

Heid said. "If a guy comes in and just wants to rent boots, we tell him to bring in his skis so we can fit the bindings. If he's reluctant, then you get a little suspicious," Heid said.

Although ski locks are provided at the area, Parker said they are not used by many people. Heid said he has little sympathy for someone whose skis are stolen who doesn't use the ski locks.

"We're fortunate that Roy (Parker) and the Tribe have gone to the trouble to provide the locks, but they get very little use," Heid said.

At some ski resorts, especially in Colorado, the locks are in great demand. "You can't get one after 9 a.m. at Steamboat Springs (Colorado)," Heid said.

The locks cost 50 cents and Heid said "I think everyone could afford to spend 50 cents to protect a $400 investment."

Another problem is that very little security is provided at the ski area. Ski shop owners and Parker have asked the sheriff's office to appoint a deputy to patrol the ski area and parking lot on a full-time basis. "They said they didn't have the manpower right now," Heid said.

The United States Forest Service also keeps one person at the area, and he is now going through the process of becoming deputized so he can help protect skiers' property.

Cupp said the sheriff's office will make more of an effort to circulate through the ski area during the rest of the season. He said they would work with Parker and other ski area officials to catch suspected ski thieves.

Although the sheriff is not free to stop every vehicle for a search whenever a pair of skis is reported stolen, they can search if specific information is given. "If you know who took your skis—if you can give a description of the vehicle or the license plate number—report it immediately and they can stop the vehicles fitting that description," Heid said.

Skiers are urged to report losses immediately to authorities at the area. "Don't wait until you get home or until the end of the day. The sooner you report it, the better your chances are of getting them back," Heid said.

Ski shop owner Morgan Clough said he has posted signs in his shop warning skiers that theft is a problem at the area and recommends using the ski locks.

Heid said the ski shop owners are investigating a system which would give the skier some protection. "We could issue stickers to those people who register their skis with the police and Federal Bureau of Investigation. If we make the registration available at every ski shop, the police station and at the area, it might deter a lot of thieves," Heid said.

A discussion about the condition of ski run road, State Highway 532, revealed that although the road received some attention before the ski season began, there are more chuckholes than before. Drivers to the area find they have to creep along just to avoid harm to their vehicles, Heid said.

"For the amount of money that ski area generates in tax revenues to the state and county, they should be more aware of what's happening there," Ed Jungbluth, Chamber executive director said. Jungbluth said the road will eventually deteriorate so much that people will opt to ski at other resorts. "That's our life's blood in the winter and if it's not maintained, we'll be the ones who lose."

Fern Sawyer said she would contact two State Highway Department commissioners to see what could be done and the time frame expected.

Everyone at the meeting also stressed the need to do the major maintenance and reworking of the road in May, June and July, when weather is ideal and traffic is at a minimum. "They always wait until the last minute before the ski season opens. Then they go up and patch it or do a little resurfacing," Heid said. "Some year, they're going to get caught short if we have an early ski season."

Record set for absent voter applications

Ruidoso voters applied for a record 47 absentee ballots for Tuesday's municipal election to elect two village trustees. The previous high was 25, set in 1978.

The actual absentee vote cast will not be determined until tomorrow at 7 p.m., the deadline for receiving these ballots by mail.

Polls in Ruidoso, for all precincts, will be open from 8 a.m. - 7 p.m., in the Ruidoso Public Library.

Ruidoso's candidates, for two four-year terms, are: Benny Coulston, Don Dale, Ed Gunter (incumbent) Charlotte Jarratt, Ed Jungbluth, William Karn, Bob Livingston, "Buck" Morrison, Elmer Pirelli, Andy Rue, Bill Streeter, George White (incumbent) and Jim Woodriddle.

The polls in Ruidoso Downs will be open from 8 a.m. - 7 p.m., in the Municipal Building.

Ruidoso Downs candidates, are, for the four-year term, Harold Mansell, Bob Power and Howell Pugh; for the two-year term, Don Rierson and Danny Smith.

The Lincoln County clerk's registration figures, for February 8, 1980, show that 2,130 Ruidoso and 593 Ruidoso Downs residents are eligible to vote in tomorrow's village elections.

money, but the thing that will help is to get people to the council meetings," he said. "Get involved."

Several candidates responded to the question of combining the villages of Ruidoso and Ruidoso Downs. Power said he would like to see the council appoint a committee to study the feasibility of the action. He said he felt the move would be advantageous "at some time," although that time might not come "next week next month, or even five years from now."

The question of combining the villages would have to be approved by voters in both Ruidoso and Ruidoso Downs, Power said. He added he felt all services would be improved, and that taxes are "sky high anyway," and wouldn't increase significantly. He said he would be open minded in consideration of a committee's findings, and if the disadvantages outweighed the benefits, he would change his position.

Rierson took the opposite position, saying that if elected, he would do his best to "veto a merger." He drew a round of applause from citizens attending the forum when he said the move would make Ruidoso Downs, "the slum area or the stepchild of Ruidoso."

Smith said he agreed with Rierson on that point. A merger with Ruidoso, he said, would lessen the amount of control of services and activities in the Downs.

Mansell said he would favor a merger, "only in a 'have-to' situation," which might be caused by a lack of revenues.

A question on establishment of a lodger's tax also brought mixed reactions from the candidates. Smith said he thought the tax "would be useful and the Downs needs it."

Power said he would be "the first to protest it," and felt it would be "stretching the imagination to think it could be used to improve the roadsides and highway median."

Ignore tantrums

The first time a child flings himself on the floor—kicking and wailing and screaming—it can frighten a new mother or father into a variety of reactions. What should a parent do? NMSU Extension people say punishing the child may only confuse and frighten him. Although it is hard to do, ignoring the negative behavior is probably best.

New spring look

Accessories for spring fashions will carry out the "Retro" look. "Retro" is today's word for styling from the 40s with a dash of the 50s, explains NMSU Extension people.

Roswell women's group selects Katherine Finley to review book

Cancer group sets fund goal

The East Lincoln Chapter of the American Cancer Society (ELACS), meeting Thursday, set a crusade goal of $2,645 for 1980.

Plans for the annual local crusade include a kickoff barbecue and dance which will be held at the Ruidoso Downs Race track sale barn featuring music by the Clay Mac band.

According to Wilton Howell, co-chairman of the crusade, the band has tentatively agreed to play for expenses. Howell said arrangements are to host the affair either May 24 or 31, with the barbecue set to begin immediately following the races.

"Those people who attend the races will have to eat somewhere, and I think we could draw a lot of them. The food will be good and the admission price will go to a good cause," Howell said.

The Ruidoso Jaycees have volunteered to assist in this year's fund raising effort, and have agreed to furnish three donated calves which will be fed and raised by the Jaycees to be butchered for the barbecue. Jaycees will also prepare the food.

"People we have contacted so far have been very good about donating food for the barbecue," Howell said. "We want to express our appreciation to them."

Another benefit for the ELACS will be a "full day of golf" at Alto Village and Cree Meadows, according to Bob Livingston. He said both club pros have been receptive to an all-day golfing event, probably in late June.

Glenda Williams, district executive director, said the ACS bought a health kit, which discusses ways to maintain good health habits, and donated it to Nob Hill Elementary for use on a permanent basis. Williams said a similar kit designed for children in grades 4-6 is available for $12 and could acquire one for the local school when donations are available.

In making preparations for the crusade, which will take place in early June, Williams stressed the importance of educating the public. "It's your responsibility to see that people know those warning signs and use that knowledge."

Save Your Vision Week observance in Ruidoso

Save Your Vision Week, which is being observed in Ruidoso March 2-8, will be highlighted by film presentations to all school students in the Ruidoso system.

Theme of this year's observance is "Keep Your Eyes in Shape" and is sponsored annually by the American Optometric Association. The event is proclaimed annually by the President of the United States to remind Americans of the role that good vision plays in their lives and the need to preserve it with regular care.

Other community and public service activities, sponsored locally by Dixie Wilson, R. N. and T. T. Marquardt, O. D., include a lecture on eye changes and the older adult which will be given to senior citizens, and Save Your Vision bookmarks which will be available to the public and school students.

Young swimmers

Would you believe the best time to teach a child to swim is around age one. NMSU Extension people say that most babies, as they learn to walk, exhibit a swimming type motion in the bathtub. So teaching them to swim at this time is usually easy. But you must continue swimming with the baby regularly, or he will "forget" how.

Mrs. Robert (Katherine Price) Finley Sr., will review Anne Morrow Lindberg's Gift from the Sea at the Roswell Inn, Wednesday, April 9, at the annual noon meeting of the combined Women's Service Clubs of Roswell. The Altrusa Club of Roswell will hostess the event. Area women are cordially invited to attend.

A native Louisianaian, her credentials include a B. A. degree from Southwestern Louisiana Institute with majors in English and history; a Master of Arts degree from Tulane University in English and a Master's degree in Education and English from the University of Southwestern Louisiana. She also is among the few educators who have qualified to be named and degree as Certified Educational Program Auditors.

Finley, with twenty-nine years of teaching experience—from kindergarten through university—was on the English faculty at the University of Southwestern Louisiana for many years, was Head of the Division of Education and Head of the English Department at the College of Artesia, where she was named Outstanding Teacher of the Year. The college established the Katherine Price Finley Award, given annually to the graduate possessing the traits most like Mrs. Finley. Her career as an educator culminated with her being the first woman to be appointed as Louisiana's Deputy State Superintendent of Education.

She is a noted lecturer on Aristotle, Plato, Shakespeare, Frost and Elliot.

Children's program set at Library

The Ruidoso Public Library will begin a Saturday morning program for children in kindergarten, first and second grades March 8.

67-55 loss to Silver City the reason

Season over for Warriors; no state tourney

BY MARK BAGBY
Sports Editor

There's no trip to the state basketball tournament in Albuquerque this year for the Ruidoso Warriors.

Their season came to an end Thursday night in Tularosa in the first round of the single elimination district 3AAA cage tournament.

Doing the season-ending was Silver City, a squad Ruidoso had split with during the regular season. The Fighting Colts won the best of two of three by a 67-55 count, utilizing a 28 point fourth quarter to come from behind.

Ruidoso led most of the way, but when rebounding leader Rodney Thomason fouled out very early in the final period, the Warriors were in serious trouble.

Silver City held an extreme height advantage over the Warriors, and it almost guaranteed baskets.

"It was ridiculous," said coach Barry Nelson. "They'd put up a shot and, if it missed, get the rebound, and then put up a shot and get the rebound and put up a shot and get the rebound, and it kept going like that until they made it.

"We had to hit our shots just to keep the ball. And we couldn't hit our shots."

There's something about Silver City that brings out the worst in the Warriors' shooting. Earlier in the year, at Silver City, Ruidoso shot very poorly, although the Warriors had a bad case of "rimitis," which is where the ball rolls around the hoop and falls off.

This time it was from the free throw line. They canned but 13 of 26 for 50 percent. The other 13 would have been enough for the win.

Then, on the other hand, Silver City shot only 67 percent (15 of 25).

"We couldn't buy a free throw," Nelson said. "I don't know how many times we were close to them in the fourth quarter and could get within two or three if we could hit the one and one. And it seemed like we missed it every time."

Well, not every time. The Warriors were red hot in the first period, outscoring Silver City, 18-8. But Silver City was able to cut the margin to two by scoring 20 points to the Warriors' 12 in the second period.

Ruidoso led 30-28 at halftime.

At the start of the second half, Thomason had only two fouls, but he was whistled for three in just slightly over one period.

Meanwhile, Ruidoso was able to maintain its lead, but just barely. It scored 12 points to Silver's 10.

Ten Colt points came on charity tosses in the final stanza. They could have scored another nine on free throws in that period alone.

"Yeah, they went into a stall with about four minutes left," Nelson said, "and we had to start fouling them to get the ball."

Thomason was high scorer with 23, followed by Glenn Ryan and Paul Kirkwood with 10, Clay Blank with six, Bill Richardson with four and Scott Neal with two.

Guards Blank and Kirkwood had one of their less fruitful nights, repeatedly missing baskets.

"They make our offense go," Nelson said. "If they're not hitting, we're in trouble. Rodney and Ryan can pick up a lot of slack, but not forever."

The loss gives the Warriors a 14-10 season record, but, more importantly, dropped Ruidoso out of the running for the district title and a berth in the state playoffs.

Nelson admitted he was disappointed.

"It just kills me," he said. "But there ain't nothin' I can do about it. I don't feel like doing anything right now. You feel real bad for several days."

But he's already looking forward to next year.

"We look good on paper," he said, "because we lose only two starters (Blank and Kirkwood) and only two from the bench (Daffy Briseno and Joe Almager).

"Just about everyone else in the district is losing a lot of seniors, so we should have a real good shot at the title next year."

Nelson is giving his troops a week off, and then they begin their off season program.

"The point is to work now instead of waiting until next year to come out for basketball. I want to know who wants to play," he said, "and this will tell me. The kids who work in the off season, and spend every spare moment playing basketball, are the ones who will play."

"I have a lot of kids, especially on the junior varsity, who can be very good, even excellent, ballplayers, if they do the work."

"If they play next year, they will have worked hard, and it'll be a lot harder for them to lose. You don't lose too often when you have a lot at stake. They'll have a lot of hard, long hours behind them come next season."

Bulletin

Three Warrior roundballers were named to the District 3AAA all conference team over the weekend.

Seniors Paul Kirkwood and Clay Blank and junior Rodney Thomason were the Ruidosians selected to the squad.

Deming also placed three, and Cobre and Tularosa placed two each. Silver City and Truth or Consequences didn't place any.

FIRST PLACE finisher Lee Huckstep is a bit open mouthed about making a ski run blindfolded, but he must've done okay. He and partner Shane Watts won Thursday's Handicapped Skier benefit race.

SPORTS

Wrestlers don't fare too well in state tourney

A half dozen Warrior wrestlers found themselves outclassed at the state tournament in Silver City Friday and Saturday, said coach Gerald Ames, and did "terrible" as a result.

"We didn't wrestle that bad," he said. "It was mostly a matter of experience."

The best Warrior record was 13-4, he said, and many wrestlers at the tourney had records "like 40-6," he said.

"We just couldn't compete with the other schools. We had only three wrestlers out of our whole district place. So we need to beef up our district and get lots of experience."

Among Ruidoso matmen, he said Godfrey Enjady, Byron Wright, and Ronald Bell all wrestled well.

"Godfrey lost his first match and then

won his second. He had some problems with the official in the third match, but I can't blame him (the official). He refuted about 240 matches that day, and Godfrey was resting at 11:30 p.m."

"Byron wrestled well, although he had some problems, all due to lack of experience. Bell wrestled well, too."

Some of the finest wrestlers in the state were present, and 280 matches were wrestled in the two days. To become state champion, a wrestler had to win five consecutive matches.

"We just don't have enough wrestling competition in our district to compete on that level, so we have to beef it up," Ames said. "We'll start wrestling freestyle, and next year we'll schedule a lot of tournaments."

Shaw makes all district team

Lisa Shaw, a junior guard for the lady Warrior basketball squad, was the only Ruidoso lass who made the 1980 all district 3AAA team.

The daughter of Albert and Wanda Shaw is a three-letter person, participating in volleyball, basketball and track.

"Basketball is my favorite, though," she said.

Shaw, a four year veteran of the game, was one of the leading scorers for the 1980 edition of the lady Warriors, and her gutsy style of play kept the team in many a game.

Her performance against Silver City in the district tournament was her best game, she said. She scored 11 points.

LISA SHAW

Eskimo scrambles winners' results

The foursome of Don Dale, Harry Ray, Leonard Stevens, and Howard Hassell won Sunday's Cree Meadows "Eskimo scrambles" golf tournament, with a team score of 65.

Tommy Hornbuckle, John Snodgrass, Marge Massey and John Howden tied for second with Wally Jankowiak, John Massey, Les Duncan and Bob Livingston with a 67.

Congratulations to Bill and Margie Andrus, who became the proud parents of a baby girl last week.

(Margie is the volleyball coach at Ruidoso High School.)

That gives them a matched set to go with their son, Brian. Way to go, Margie.

John Travolta watch out!

I had an opportunity the other day to watch a physical education class at the high school, and gym teacher Barry Nelson was teaching the students how to disco.

And lemme tell you, John Travolta has little to worry about. Of course I'm a fine one to talk—I don't dance so good either.

Back when I learned how to dance, it was sort of "do your own thing." Remember the late 60's and early 70's? We didn't have steps—you just sort of moved around out there.

Well, dancing has changed considerably. Now it's very regimented and repetitive, and you could be ostracized if you don't know the steps. Like me.

But Nelson does. He was doing a pretty good job of teaching the troops, until he got mixed up. He couldn't do this one step, but hey, nobody's perfect.

Travolta's probably quaking in his boots.

A word of thanks
Just a quick note to thank Anita Sims, Barbara Wynn and Tom Hansen at the high school.

All three have been extremely cooperative with this writer, doing all sorts of weird errands, answering strange requests and just generally doing things above and beyond the call of duty.

You've made my job easier, folks, for which I am greatly appreciative.

(Anything to make my job easier is all right with me. Heck, I complain about having to go out and cash my paycheck every week.)

The energy crisis strikes again
Your pocketbook ain't the only thing feeling the crunch of the energy crisis and inflation. So is the wallet of high school athletics.

In response to higher costs of everything, the New Mexico Athletics Association has cut back the number of sporting events high schools may participate in.

In football, AAA and AAAA schools can still have 10 games, but A and AA have been slashed to eight, as have junior varsity contests for all schools.

Basketball teams will have only 22 game seasons instead of 24. Wrestlers may attend only a dozen meets, and 10 golf matches is the limit.

Baseball season has been cut way back, but that won't affect Ruidoso, since it has no baseball team.

"There's a misconception going around," said Ruidoso athletic director Doyle Howell, "that we made these cuts. We didn't, the athletic association did. It affects everybody, not just us. It's part of an energy saving thing."

In fact, the energy crisis — read economics — is why Ruidoso doesn't play baseball.

"It's too expensive," Howell said. "Travel costs too much, and we'd have to buy uniforms and equipment, and we really don't have a place to play (similar to track—did you know the Warriors do not have a usable track facility?)" Howell said.

"And when you figure the only sports that pay their way are football and boys' basketball, it just isn't worth it for us to have baseball."

So there you have it, sports fans.

Girls' state tournament here
Before I forget, the state girls' A and AA basketball tournament—that means championship play, folks—will be played here in Ruidoso, beginning Thursday.

The teams aren't set yet, since they're still playing in their district tournaments. But the class A teams will play in White Mountain gym beginning at 2 p.m. Thursday. AA teams will be in the high school gym, starting at 2.

Semifinals and finals will all be played in the high school gym. Semis are Friday, starting at 2 p.m. Finals and consolation finals are Saturday with the AA consolation at 2, followed at 3:30 by the A finals, at 7 by the A consolations, and at 8:30 with the AA finals.

Watts and Huckstep win handicapped race

The team of Lee Huckstep and Shane Watts won Thursday's fund raising Handicapped Skiers' benefit race at Sierra Blanca Ski Resort.

Placing second were Bruce Abbott and Dave Warwick. Third were Ray Heid and Mamie Williamson. Next four finishers were Tommy Hornbuckle and Suki Hernandez, Bill Wallzer and Raul Midon, Emory Hatcher and Chewy Gallosa and Ken Green and Eric Matthews.

Seventeen teams competed in the event, one of several fund raising activities the Sierra Blanca Handicapped Skiers Association held last week.

Local businessmen were paired with handicapped skiers, and the businessmen each had to make two runs, once blindfolded and once on one ski.

The other businessmen were Ed Jungbluth, Gary Hall, Lloyd Davis Jr., Ron Annala, Preston Isaacs, John Maloney, Figgy Griego, George Lore, Johnny Durham and Frank Sayner.

Other handicapped skiers were Eric Lilliequist, Leroy Thompson, Giori Lopez, Cori Kline, Duran DuBoise, Kent Phillips, Margie Flowers, Marco Midon, Jerry Bigham and Robbie Strosline.

In the organization's final fund-raising activity, a pair of skis will be awarded to the holder of ticket number 158204.

RAY HEID finds the going fairly easy during Thursday's benefit race for the Handicapped Skiers. Pictured here on his second run, Heid and teammate Mamie Williamson finished third overall.

BILL WALIZER, although blindfolded, finishes the Easy Street course with ease during Thursday's benefit race for the Handicapped Skiers. He and partner Raul Midon placed fifth.

OOPS! Not everyone handled the slopes too well. John Maloney slipped on his final run, and alas, didn't place. But he tried hard, though.

JIM WOOLDRIDGE CANDIDATE FOR VILLAGE TRUSTEE

- To work for developments of projects for senior citizens and the youth of the Ruidoso area.
- To work for off season tourism.

I could go on for a long time, but CALL ME, if elected.

IF YOU'VE GOT JUST OR REASONABLE COMPLAINTS, OR IDEAS, I'LL BE RESPONSIVE.

At the start of the second half, Thomason had only two fouls, but he was whistled for three in just slightly over one period.

Meanwhile, Ruidoso was able to maintain its lead, but just barely. It scored 12 points to Silver's 10.

Ten Colt points came on charity tosses in the final stanza. They could have scored another nine on free throws in that period alone.

"Yeah, they went into a stall with about four minutes left," Nelson said, "and we had to start fouling them to get the ball."

Thomason was high scorer with 23, followed by Glenn Ryan and Paul Kirkwood with 10, Clay Blank with six, Bill Richardson with four and Scott Neal with two.

Guards Blank and Kirkwood had one of their less fruitful nights, repeatedly missing baskets.

"They make our offense go," Nelson said. "If they're not hitting, we're in trouble. Rodney and Ryan can pick up a lot of slack, but not forever."

The loss gives the Warriors a 14-10 season record, but, more importantly, dropped Ruidoso out of the running for the district title and a berth in the state playoffs.

Nelson admitted he was disappointed. "It just kills me," he said. "But there ain't nothin' I can do about it. I don't feel like doing anything right now. You feel real bad for several days."

But he's already looking forward to next year.

"We look good on paper," he said, "because we lose only two starters (Blank and Kirkwood) and only two from the bench (Daffy Briseno and Joe Almager)."

"Just about everyone else in the district is losing a lot of seniors, so we should have a real good shot at the title next year."

Nelson is giving his troops a week off, and then they begin their off season program.

"The point is to work now instead of waiting until next year to come out for basketball. I want to know who wants to play," he said, "and this will tell me. The kids who work in the off season, and spend every spare moment playing basketball, are the ones who will play."

"I have a lot of kids, especially on the junior varsity, who can be very good, even excellent, ballplayers, if they do the work."

"If they play next year, they will have worked hard, and it'll be a lot harder for them to lose. You don't lose too often when you have a lot at stake. They'll have a lot of hard, long hours behind them come next season."

Bulletin

Three Warrior roundballers were named to the District 3AAA all conference team over the weekend.

Seniors Paul Kirkwood and Clay Blank and junior Rodney Thomason were the Ruidosians selected to the squad.

Deming also placed three, and Cobre and Tularosa placed two each. Silver City and Truth or Consequences didn't place any.

Non-resident hunting licenses to cost more

New Mexico Governor Bruce King has signed a bill authorizing increases in non-resident license fees on elk, deer, big and small game.

The increase raises the nonresident fee on elk from $135 to $175; on big game (deer, bear and turkey) from $90 to $120; and on small game from $25 to $35. The new fees become effective April 1.

According to Albert Rivera, Department of Game and Fish Fiscal Division chief, the new fees could increase department revenue by about $176,000, depending on the number of deer and elk licenses sold.

A special Game and Fish Department task force will focus increased attention on potential residency violators when the new fees go into effect, said Harold Olson, Department of Game and Fish director. Conservation officers issued 175 citations for fraud in securing resident licenses last year, and expect the number to increase with the new license fees. The fine for fraud in obtaining a resident license, effective April 1, is set by law at $400.

To qualify for a resident license, an individual must have resided in New Mexico for at least 90 days and may not claim residency in any other state.

Military personnel and university students are eligible for resident licenses in some circumstances, but should read the big game proclamation or contact a Department of Game and Fish office in Santa Fe, Raton, Roswell, Las Cruces or Albuquerque for details.

Gymnasts compete in Las Cruces meet

Members of Ruidoso's competitive gymnastics team, the Mountain Spinners, competed in an optional meet in Las Cruces Saturday.

In addition to the usual four events — floor exercise, vault, balance beam and uneven parallel bars — the meet featured tumbling competition.

Angela Jones placed sixth in vault and third in tumbling; Amy Evans finished fifth in vault and third in uneven bars; Charlene Hickson was sixth in vault and third in tumbling; Laura Hankins was fifth in vault, and Amy Thornton was sixth in tumbling.

Denise Delhotal and Karen Gann competed but did not place.

Wrestlers don't fare too well in state tourney

A half dozen Warrior wrestlers found themselves outclassed at the state tournament in Silver City Friday and Saturday, said coach Gerald Ames, and did "terrible" as a result.

"We didn't wrestle that bad," he said. "It was mostly a matter of experience."

The best Warrior record was 13-4, he said, and many wrestlers at the tourney had records "like 40-6," he said.

"We just couldn't compete with the other schools. We had only three wrestlers out of our whole district place. So we need to beef up our district and get lots of experience."

Among Ruidoso matmen, he said Godfrey Enjady, Byron Wright, and Ronald Bell all wrestled well.

"Godfrey lost his first match and then

won his second. He had some problems with the official in the third match, but I can't blame him (the official). He refed about 240 matches that day, and Godfrey was resting at 11:30 p.m."

"Byron wrestled well, although he had some problems, all due to lack of experience. Bell wrestled well, too."

Some of the finest wrestlers in the state were present, and 280 matches were wrestled in the two days. To become state champion, a wrestler had to win five consecutive matches.

"We just don't have enough wrestling competition in our district to compete on that level, so we have to beef it up," Ames said. "We'll start wrestling freestyle, and next year we'll schedule a lot of tournaments."

Shaw makes all district team

Lisa Shaw, a junior, guard for the lady Warrior basketball squad, was the only Ruidoso lass who made the 1980 all district 3AAA team.

The daughter of Albert and Wanda Shaw is a three-letter person, participating in volleyball, basketball and track.

"Basketball is my favorite, though," she said.

Shaw, a four year veteran of the game, was one of the leading scorers for the 1980 edition of the lady Warriors, and her gutsy style of play kept the team in many a game.

Her performance against Silver City in the district tournament was her best game, she said. She scored 11 points.

Eskimo scrambles winners' results

The foursome of Don Dale, Harry Ray, Leonard Stevens, and Howard Hassell won Sunday's Cree Meadows "Eskimo scrambles" golf tournament, with a team score of 65.

Tommy Hornbuckle, John Snodgrass, Marge Massey and John Howden tied for second with Wally Jankowiak, John Massey, Les Duncan and Bob Livingston with a 67.

Little league needs coaches, ump's and players

Ruidoso's Little League baseball program needs volunteers to coach and umpire, and players for the Pony league. Any youngsters ages 13 to 16 may play, provided they're 13 by August 1, 1980, and not yet 16 years old. Final registration is April 1.

Volunteers who wish to umpire must go through a clinic, assuming five or more persons volunteer their services.

Anyone interested in registering or volunteering should contact Alvin Lowrance at 257-4320, or Ralph Bellon at 257-2088.

LISA SHAW

Congratulations to Bill and Margie Andrus, who became the proud parents of a baby girl last week.

(Margie is the volleyball coach at Ruidoso High School.)

That gives them a matched set to go with their son, Brian. Way to go, Margie.

John Travolta watch out!

I had an opportunity the other day to watch a physical education class at the high school, and gym teacher Barry Nelson was teaching the students how to disco.

And lemme tell you, John Travolta has little to worry about. Of course I'm a fine one to talk—I don't dance so good either. Back when I learned how to dance, it was sort of "do your own thing."

Remember the late 60's and early 70's? We didn't have steps—you just sort of moved around out there.

Well, dancing has changed considerably. Now it's very regimented and repetitive, and you could be ostracized if you don't know the steps. Like me.

But Nelson does. He was doing a pretty good job of teaching the troops, until he got mixed up. He couldn't do this one step, but hey, nobody's perfect.

Travolta's probably quaking in his boots.

A word of thanks
Just a quick note to thank Anita Sims, Barbara Wynn and Tom Hansen at the high school.

All three have been extremely cooperative with this writer, doing all sorts of weird errands, answering strange requests and just generally doing things above and beyond the call of duty.

You've made my job easier, folks, for which I am greatly appreciative.

(Anything to make my job easier is all right with me. Heck, I complain about having to go out and cash my paycheck every week.)

The energy crisis strikes again
Your pocketbook ain't the only thing feeling the crunch of the energy crisis and inflation. So is the wallet of high school athletes.

In response to higher costs of everything, the New Mexico Athletics Association has cut back the number of sporting events high schools may participate in.

In football, AAA and AAAA schools can still have 10 games, but A and AA have been slashed to eight, as have junior varsity contests for all schools.

Basketball teams will have only 22 game seasons instead of 24. Wrestlers may attend only a dozen meets, and 10 golf matches is the limit.

Baseball season has been cut way back, but that won't affect Ruidoso, since it has no baseball team.

"There's a misconception going around," said Ruidoso athletic director Doyle Howell, "that we made these cuts. We didn't, the athletic association did. It affects everybody, not just us. It's part of an energy saving thing."

In fact, the energy crisis — read economics — is why Ruidoso doesn't play baseball.

"It's too expensive," Howell said. "Travel costs too much, and we'd have to buy uniforms and equipment, and we really don't have a place to play (similar to track—did you know the Warriors do not have a usable track facility?)" Howell said.

"And when you figure the only sports that pay their way are football and boys' basketball, it just isn't worth it for us to have baseball."

So there you have it, sports fans.

Girl's state tournament here
Before I forget, the state girls' A and AA basketball tournaments—that means championship play, folks—will be played here in Ruidoso, beginning Thursday.

The teams aren't set yet, since they're still playing in their district tournaments. But the class A teams will play in White Mountain gym beginning at 2 p.m., Thursday. AA teams will be in the high school gym, starting at 2.

Semifinals and finals will all be played in the high school gym. Semis are Friday, starting at 2 p.m. Finals and consolation finals are Saturday with the AA consolation at 2, followed at 3:30 by the A finals, at 7 by the A consolations, and at 8:30 with the AA finals.

FIRST PLACE finisher Lee Huckstep is a bit open mouthed about making a ski run blindfolded, but he must've done okay. He and partner Shane Watts won Thursday's Handicapped Skier benefit race.

Watts and Huckstep win handicapped race

The team of Lee Huckstep and Shane Watts won Thursday's fund raising Handicapped Skiers' benefit race at Sierra Blanca Ski Resort.

Placing second were Bruce Abbott and Dave Warwick. Third were Ray Heid and Mamie Williamson. Next four finishers were Tommy Hornbuckle and Suki Hernandez, Bill Walizer and Raul Midon, Emory Hatcher and Chewy Gallosa and Ken Green and Eric Matthews.

Seventeen teams competed in the event, one of several fund raising activities the Sierra Blanca Handicapped Skiers Association held last week.

Local businessmen were paired with handicapped skiers, and the businessmen each had to make two runs, once blindfolded and once on one ski.

The other businessmen were Ed Jungbluth, Gary Hall, Lloyd Davis Jr., Ron Annala, Preston Isaacs, John Maloney, Figgy Griego, George Lore, Johnny Durham and Frank Sayner.

Other handicapped skiers were Eric Lilliequist, Leroy Thompson, Giori Lopez, Cori Kline, Duran DuBoise, Kent Phillips, Margie Flowers, Marco Midon, Jerry Bligham and Robble Strohshine.

In the organization's final fund raising activity, a pair of skis will be awarded to the holder of ticket number 158204.

RAY HEID finds the going fairly easy during Thursday's benefit race for the Handicapped Skiers. Pictured here on his second run, Heid and teammate Mamie Williamson finished third overall.

BILL WALIZER, although blindfolded, finishes the Easy Street course with ease during Thursday's benefit race for the Handicapped Skiers. He and partner Raul Midon placed fifth.

OOPSI! Not everyone handled the slopes too well. John Maloney slipped on his final run, and alas, didn't place. But he tried hard, though.

Forest Service initiates gas saving travel system

High fuel prices have forced United States Forest Service officials to plan trips more thoroughly so costs can be kept at a minimum, according to Paul Gordon, ranger on the Smokey Bear District of Lincoln National Forest.

Gordon said his district will probably begin scheduling some employees, on a voluntary basis, to work ten hour days four days a week. "This way, they can get more done once they get to a specific location."

Gordon said services will not be curtailed once the new measures become effective in about three weeks. He said the district office will still maintain office hours six days a week and will remain open through lunch.

"We're going to be doubling up a lot more on traveling, especially long trips to the outer reaches of the forest," Gordon said.

"We're going to travel less miles and do our best to travel more efficiently to save mileage costs," he added.

Gordon said the plans will require some administrative changes for workers on the new schedule in areas of earning and spending leave time.

NO SWEAT — Johnny Durham doesn't have any problems whatsoever adapting to skiing on one leg, but he didn't win Thursday's race.

IS THIS PADDING really necessary? When it involves carpeting, the answer is a qualified yes. You can, of course, put any carpet down over a bare floor, but at a great sacrifice in wear and comfort.

For economy it is often possible to put new carpeting down over existing padding that is not too worn. Or, if your older carpet is clean and of a relative low, even surface, new carpeting can be laid directly over the old.

The point is, however, that effective padding is worth far more than its cost. Some new carpets have foam or other padding laminated to the back, and that's all you need. Other broadlooms or room-size carpets need padding, whether it's foam, hair, jute, or a combination of these materials.

The padding does far more than make the carpet last much longer. It adds insulation, absorbs sounds, increases foot comfort, and even makes the carpet look thicker and more luxurious.

We are carpet specialists, and we can give you expert advice on selecting the right padding for your new carpet, or on choosing the right colors, textures, or fibers for your special purposes. When you need carpets, think of the carpet people, at

The Dreamer

DANNIE STORM

On The Eve Of February's Last Day
This is being sent to you on February twenty-eight, the eve of the last day of the "Birthday Month," and the birthday of our brother, Joe.

Today the Good Lord has brought a breath of spring into the vale; and all the mountain world is rejoicing. This warm and mellow day here in mid-afternoon brings back the days in Juneau, Alaska when spring arrived all in a day after the long winter; and the early flowers bloomed forth in their pure colors right on the edge of the snow banks — melting back under the bright sunshine.

Joe and I and all the brothers went hunting the spring flowers, that Joe called "Lollies." We picked bouquets of the first flowers of spring, the light purple, dark purple, and yellow violets, and sang songs of our own as we went carrying the flowers home to our mother. On this Spring-In-Winter day, the blessed spirits of Joe, and all our loved ones are fondly near.

The First Clear Sign Of Spring
Here in our home land on the slopes of the White Mountain, we live in several worlds in one. That is: the life zones, beginning with desert and progressing upwards to the Alpine and Arctic, high on the mountain — these lands of different climates blend one into the other so that you hardly know when you have gone from one to the other, the change is so gradual, sometimes. I say "sometimes" because once in a while you will see a change from, let us say, mesquite and grease-wood and cactus country so suddenly give way to pinon, pine and cedar that you can hardly believe your eyes — when first you witness this spectacle.

These different life zones all in an area you could travel through in an hour or so make for a homeland of endless charm; and yet a great problem is presented to spring. "The Queen of Seasons,"

The Spring Spirit in the northern climes of just one life zone, can make the world burst forth in bloom all in one day. However, here on the slopes of the White Mountain the season has to come in a little at a time, and earlier here and later there — so that we have a blending of winter and spring; and also late and early spring and all stages in between can be seen in the space of just a few miles.

For example, today (the twenty-eighth) the temperature has gone as high as seventy-six, and I notice that the buds on the little apricot tree are swelling just a little and turning pink. By this I know that the apricot trees down toward Tularosa are beginning to bloom, and that in all the intervening places the apricot trees are in all stages of blooming.

The Cedar Pollen
Here in what you might call the middle-ground of the Ruidoso Valley, the pinon and cedar country, the first real sign of early spring is the flying of the cedar pollen. All through the last few days, the cedar trees have been glowing brighter and brighter with their golden color which tells you that the trees are gathering their pollen.

Beginning at noon today you could see little clouds of what looked like golden smoke flying from the cedar trees, and go drifting down the valley finally fading away amongst the evergreens, and leaving a light amber haze all in the hill sides and glens of the valley.

So the first sign of early spring has arrived here at the place; and new messengers of spring will show themselves from day to day, although we are still in the season of winter, with the first day of spring to arrive March twenty.

Jack Frost came by a few days ago and said he has a message for us that he will deliver soon. He says there is still a little winter weather ahead. Let us count our blessings and be ever more grateful to Our Lord.

VILLAGE TRUSTEE

I have been a resident, property owner, and taxpayer in Ruidoso for five years and in business for four of those years. During this time we have seen our village grow substantially, both commercially and residentially, and it is going to continue to grow. We must keep Ruidoso in a position to take advantage of the growth and see to it that the growth is healthy and to the advantage of all residents of Ruidoso.

Village trustee is an important position in that it holds the responsibility of making long range plans for the village and decision making that is in the best interest of all of us. We must see to it that our residents are not overtaxed or forgotten in our ambitions for growth. — Select your candidate choice carefully.

I ask for your support in representing you as trustee in our village. I will help to see that you have your tax dollars invested wisely.

SANTA FE — Today, two topics which will not cause dancing in the streets all over New Mexico.

First, how Albuquerque continues to grow larger and more powerful. Second, about Jerry Apodaca and the new career he plans in politics.

Hold on to your hats. Truth to tell, lots of New Mexicans eye Albuquerque with suspicion, distrust and more than a little jealousy. They think its people aren't "real" New Mexicans, and so shouldn't be allowed to vote in our elections. But they do — and as their numbers grow larger, their effect grows more and more noticeable.

Albuquerque is the only place in the state that is a city in more than the technical sense of that term. That is, it is the only location with enough population to have become self-generating. A "city" in that sense retains its own population, because it has jobs and amenities available.

A town seems to become a "city," in that acceptance of the term, somewhere above the mark of 300,000 population.

Albuquerque's above that now, so whatever immigration occurs only adds to the base that is there. The city grows at a steady rate of 2 to 2.5 per cent per year. It will reach 762,000 by 1995, having expanded almost 70 per cent in the last 25 years.

The rest of the state hasn't done nearly that well. So the place most New Mexicans love to hate when it has a third of the state's population is on its way to becoming more hateful: Before the turn of this century, Albuquerque will almost surely have more than half of the state's population.

That thought should cause heartburn in

New Mexico's cowboy politicians; once half of us are urban dwellers, the "saddle up and ride out" boys are on their way off into the sunset.

There will be other wrenching changes as well, as we move from a rural area to an urbanized one. Being New Mexico, we will not of course be prepared for those changes when they come. (Our state government specializes in studying the past—where we have been—not the future—where we are going.)

Whether you like the fact or not, that growth for Albuquerque is on its way. It's like the figures on your bank statement. You may not like them, but they express reality as it is.

Meanwhile, the love-hate relationship between the voters of New Mexico and Jerry Apodaca is likely to be renewed. Here's a direct quote from our most recent former governor: "When I completed my term, I left 1982 open for a run for the Senate. After concentrating on my business affairs ever since I left office, that Senate race now looks to me like a definite prospect."

So get ready, voters. The first Hispanic to make it to the governor's chair in 55 years is girding himself for another battle. Fond of him or not, you can't count out the marathon runner in the sweatshirt.

This columnist has advice for him and for the incumbent Senator as well: Get a first-class running mate to declare for the governor's race in your party in 1982. That person could be the one who makes all the difference.

And, come 1982, when you're looking back over your campaign, successful or unsuccessful, remember how we stole those words of Ernie Mills: Don't say we didn't tell you.

Letters to the Editor

Dear editor: On February 5, 1980 members of our local DECA gave a program before the Rotary Club. The program, on Free Enterprise, was dealt with in a very mature manner.

Mrs. Lou Ann Wilson of Ruidoso acted as the moderator with Mike Clark assisting. Examples were shown dealing with the man hours needed to produce various products and services in the United States, Great Britain and the Soviet Union. Needless to say in spite of our high inflation this country greatly outperforms most other countries.

Mr. Eddie Parker should be extremely proud of his DECA program — it gives these youngsters an insight into matters dealing with business on a practical basis not to be found in regular high school courses.

DECA's competitive spirit in Ruidoso is outstanding and I feel sure that many more state and national honors will be won by this group of fine young people.

Sense & Nonsense

U.S. Sen. Pete Domenici

A new wave of patriotism is sweeping across America, and all I can think of is that it's about time. I suspect the sudden Soviet incursion into Afghanistan surprised many Americans and has had at least something to do with this sudden trend toward flag-waving.

Regretably though for one flag-waver in Corvallis, Oregon flying the flag has brought nothing but problems.

A few months ago the bug of patriotism bit Corvallis car dealer James Wiemals. He decided to fly over his dealership 60 American flags. A simple patriotic gesture that so far has cost Wiemals $200 in fines.

Last July Wiemals was hauled into court charged with violating a city ordinance that prohibits the flying of banners and pennants for advertising purposes.

But even after he was found guilty and fined, Wiemals refused to stop flying the flag. He compromised and instead of putting 60 flags up the pole he only flew eight.

Still Corvallis city officials refused to relent and notified the patriotic car dealer that if he persisted he would be slapped with a $25 fine each day he left the flags flying.

Says Wiemals of all this: "I don't think the American flag is a banner or a pennant. I'm fighting the city over a ridiculous ordinance. My attorney says this is the first time an American has been sued for flying the American flag."

Fortunately Wiemals is remaining adamant. He is refusing to take down the flags and has vowed to take his fight all the way to the Supreme Court if necessary.

Update: The Susan B. Anthony Dollar. There is growing negative reaction to the new dollar coin, and in particular an Administration proposal to replace all dollar bills with the coin. In fact one Congressman, Representative Frank Annunzio (D-Ill.), suggested that "if we do eliminate the dollar bill and instead use the dollar coin, then the Treasury Department should be required to issue every American a pair of suspenders!"

My colleague Senator John Tower (R-Texas) learned of the great bureaucracy the other day when he tried to help a constituent in Fort Worth who was having problems with the Social Security Administration over disability benefits.

Tower got a letter back from the Social Security officials saying: "This refers to your inquiry of recent date on behalf of Mr. John G. Tower, 4520 Odessa Avenue, Fort Worth, Texas. We are giving your letter our attention and will be in touch with you again as soon as possible."

John, of course, was quick to point out that he is neither disabled or ready for retirement.

KILLERS LOST RIGHT TO LIFE

Somebody by now, is probably hard at work on obtaining the rights for a book, a movie or a TV script on the New Mexico State Penitentiary riot.

It has got to be the hottest "property" going at the moment, with every ingredient you could think of to whet the appetites of 20th century America: homosexual rape, brutal violence, drugs, gore, cruelty and torture — grand drama for the masses.

Norman Mailer's runaway bestseller on the raunchy life and death of Gary Gilmore pales in comparison to this. The most decadent, brutal spectacles in pagan Rome's Coliseum pales in comparison to this. Everything pales in comparison to this.

Put simply, the riot at the New Mexico pen was the worst humanity has to offer. Almost nothing in the history of mankind has equalled what went down inside the penitentiary.

If there was ever a time when the death penalty should be used without remorse, this is one. Cite any case for the right of murderers to live and it won't stand up to the compelling argument that these killers in Santa Fe have forfeited that right.

They mauled through the state prison like packs of rabid wolves, often attacking for no apparent reason. Some of their victims were bound and then burned to death with torches. Others were dismembered with meat cleavers. Still others suffered more terrible deaths, being sexually assaulted, humiliated, and slowly tortured before they were killed. Their bodies were tossed helter-skelter through the blood-stained grounds of the prison.

What caused inmate to assault inmate? Drug abuse? Temporary mass insanity? Those possibilities will doubtless be argued as reasons that the persons responsible for these savage murders should live.

Murder itself is almost always an insane, irrational act; but when it occurs with the savagery and with the cold-bloodedness of the killings in the state penitentiary, there is no way to convince us that there was simply a sudden snap of logic, sanity and good will; that a group of men suddenly went crazy for a time; and that they have recovered and will now be candidates for a return to society.

The men responsible for the gory bloodbath in the state prison are ruthless, amoral, brutal killers; thoroughly incapable of rehabilitation; beyond all hope of becoming functional humans.

They have no right to exist. Society has an obligation to rid itself of these people, and it should do so with expediency. — Ben Windham, Raton Range editorial

Tomorrow will be a very important day for the residents of Ruidoso and Ruidoso Downs — perhaps the most important day to affect the future of both villages since incorporation.

Tuesday is municipal election day. Polls in both villages will be open from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Ruidoso voters will cast their ballots in the Ruidoso Public Library.

Ruidoso Downs' polling place is Municipal Hall.

The importance of tomorrow's election, as compared to past elections, is that each village is faced with two identical problems: Securing a continuing supply of water and providing for an orderly and controlled residential and commercial growth.

In Ruidoso there are thirteen candidates running for two positions on the village council; five for three positions open in Ruidoso Downs.

It is doubtful if anyone could have hand picked a more divergent group of candidates than the field running in Ruidoso. Each has something to offer from knowledge gleaned from past experiences or present endeavors. The same may be said for Ruidoso Downs.

The important thing, with so many aspirants to choose from, is that the voters go to the polls tomorrow to cast their ballots for the candidate they think best represents their interests; and for the candidate they think most qualified to cope with our problems.

There's just one way to have your say: Vote! — CD

Stuph & Junk

... by Cale Dickey

HOT HUSTINGS HEP

Take the New Hampshire primary ... the candidates for President were hot on the hustings before the vote ... and each learned that the voters were hep ... hep to politicking politicians.

Seems Our Jimmy whopped Teddy by 49 to 38 percent of the popular vote ... which gave him 10 convention delegates to nine for Teddy ... and that ain't exactly a landslide margin of victory.

Seems further, Our Jimmy's figuring those votes he garnered were for him ... but it could be they were against Teddy ... or it could be vice versa ... leaving, therein, an enigma for both.

Being's there's no telling how a Republican will vote, Reagan's 50 percent share ... as against 23 percent for Bush ... with no one else getting a smell ... tells us there are a lot of conservative Republicans in New Hampshire.

About all the candidates have been doing lately is spinning their wheels ... and spending money. Each will find out how they're doing after the primaries in California ... Illinois ... Michigan ... New York ... Ohio ... Pennsylvania ... Texas ... Florida ... New Jersey ... 'cause them's the states with enough votes to just about control the nominating conventions ... which really don't give New Mexico and North Dakota voters much of a say in who their party's standard bearer is.

Yup, it's great that Our Jimmy and Reagan are running confident ... even though it might be more prudent of them to be running scared.

BYE BYE TAX CUT

Sure hope you've not gone out and spent what you figure'd you've have jingling in your jeans after the legislature passed that property tax bill ... 'cause you might wind up a dollar short a day early.

Seems that State Finance Secretary David King is gonna advise Governor Bruce King that the bill be vetoed ... despite the fact that the state's revenues are probably gonna climb more than the tax bill'd cost.

Talk about being double-teamed ... the taxpayers are being double-Kinged ... and they ain't got no ace in the hole.

Course this could backfire ... and the legislators voting to pass the tax cut might become irked ... which could cause, in the event of a special session, a cutting off at the pockets of Bruce's new prison plans.

OUR JIMMY'S GROPING

Yup ... to listen to him ... Our Jimmy's thinking he's firmly in the saddle ... riding high atop the Democrat's mule ... though you'd think he'd suspect someone's been loosening his cinch.

Snaps up this way. The House Appropriations subcommittee last week didn't approve funding Our Jimmy's plan for draft registration ... which might influence the full Appropriations Committee to do likewise ... which'd leave this feather in his cap ready for tarring.

Then there's them as is paying him no never mind ... the Russians ... the Iranians ... the Mexicans ... the Canadians ... and then there's those as is downright unfriendly towards Our Jimmy.

But Our Jimmy's trying ... and in so doing is more trying to some than to others ... 'cause, amongst them as is pigged are the unions, coal men, oil men, gas men, farmers, ranchers, businessmen, taxpayers ... gadsooks, thing like that keeps up and he's gonna have to go back to Georgia to find a friendly face ... which might be hard if'n he figures out a way to get the peanut growers ticked off at him ... and he yet might.

ON POLITICAL TRICKS

Whoever organized the first political party ... and it coulda been a clever Chinaman ... was certainly possessed of a scheming mind ... 'cause, generally speaking it's schemes as wins elections.

One of the first things older head politicians instill into the minds of aspiring candidates is the desire to win ... winning is what counts ... if you don't want to win, don't run for office. You do what you have to to win ... but to succeed, you gotta be sneaky ... and don't get caught.

Then there's those as takes the pressure off the candidate ... by doing things as'll help defeat the other guys. Some of these things tend to have guys on the receiving end hollering "foul" ... and carrying on as though they've been malign'd ... and they may, have been ... but such is the process by which people are introduced to the world of practical politics.

Sunland Park directors aid VISTA worker

Roberto Rodriguez, a VISTA volunteer worker in the unincorporated community of Sunland Park, was given a pat on the back over the weekend by the board of directors of Sunland Park Race Track.

Rodriguez also got a check for $550. The donation is earmarked for the many welfare projects. Rodriguez is spearheading.

Each of Sunland's 11 members of the board of directors chipped in $50 to come up with the $550 package. Rodriguez met with Sunland Park general manager Woody Erwin at the track over the weekend to officially accept the check, and to accept Erwin's praise for the work he's been doing.

The Sunland board consists of W. L. Edwards, Jess Burner, H. T. Hornbuckle, R. W. Sewell, Ben A. Lanford, William G. Ross, James Welch, Sam Stevens, John May, Mack Yates and Jim Perkins.

Rodriguez, 67, is regarded as one of the nation's top VISTAs (Volunteers in Service to America). Last December, he was one of 22 volunteers, from about 3,400 VISTAs throughout the country, who was selected to meet with President Carter in Washington, D. C.

Rodriguez began his VISTA service to the Sunland Park area — one of the poorest in southern New Mexico — in 1978. Among the many projects he developed is a hot lunch program serving more than 40 elderly persons daily. He ramrodded the construction of a fenced baseball diamond for the youth of the area, and is now raising funds to construct a community meeting hall and clubhouse.

There are about 75 Sunland Park families he regularly assists in a variety of ways. He's now actively at work on his goal of establishing a full-time clinic for the people in the Sunland Park community.

JOB WELL DONE — Sunland Park general manager Woody Erwin hands Roberto Rodriguez a check for $550 to assist in his VISTA efforts in behalf of the families living in the unincorporated community of Sunland Park. The donation was a personal contribution from the 11 members of the track's board of directors.

Television Schedule for the Week of March 3 through March 7 through channels

by Joey Sasso

CONFIDENTIAL REPORT: Larry Hagman, star of CBS-TV's 'Dallas,' dropped 28 pounds in 22 days after an incredible crash diet. One reason he was able to lose so much weight is that he gave up boozing. . . Dianne Kay is in a jubilant mood these days. The 'Eight Is Enough' blonde's live-in boyfriend, Kevin Inch, has just landed a good production job with the upcoming Sally Struthers TV series. . . A lot of CBS executives are going around with red faces these days. When the season started, they openly predicted 'The Jeffersons' wouldn't last the year. The show is currently one of the hottest on the air, surprising everyone. . . CBS is trying to persuade Carroll O'Connor to change his mind about taking a year off from 'Archie Bunker's Place.' The actor, however, wants to relax and finish up his autobiography. There will probably be a compromise, with Carroll taping several 1981 shows well in advance. . . Actors are busy lining up at the casting director's office hoping to land juicy roles in the upcoming seven-hour ABC special, 'East of Eden,' based on John Steinbeck's novel. Naturally, the part most wanted is the one played by the late James Dean. . . Patrick Duffy claims he's fresh out of new material to hand reporters on the 'Dallas' set, so he's going to avoid interviews for now.

TV TICKER: John Ritter, star of ABC's 'Three's Company,' is rushing through a breakneck schedule these days and he reveals it's all part of his non-stop search for love. "Every moment that I'm awake, my main action is to try to get as much love as I can," he told me. "It's the story of my life. What I've done ever since I can remember is to try to get people to love me. I need so much. I need all the love I can get." That need spurred him to accept every invitation he got to appear on talk shows and TV specials and to make personal appearances. "I went crazy for a while," he continued. "I was doing too much, heading in all directions at the same time, going from one event to another. And I just fell apart." . . . Linda Gray, the boozing, sexy Sue Ellen Ewing of CBS's 'Dallas,' confesses that she, too, once battled the bottle—and it nearly wrecked her health and life. Then she discovered acting. "I got high on acting," the 35-year-old California native revealed. "Now I am a complete person—a wife, mother and actress." But Linda herself admits her life wasn't always so cheerful. It was once filled with frustration and worry. "I spent my entire youth trying to do what I thought my parents and the nuns, at the Catholic school, wanted me to do."

TV CLOSEUP: One of Hollywood's best kept secrets—up until now—has been the war erupting between Jean Stapleton and the producers of her old 'All in the Family' series. As you know, Ms. Stapleton elected this season to move on to other projects, so someone within the Lear organization had the "bright idea" of actually killing off the 'Edith Bunker' character in a future episode of 'Archie Bunker's Place' and was actually so insensitive as to ask Ms. Stapleton's agents if their client would be willing to star in a final episode. Ms. Stapleton not only hit the roof when the idea was broached to her, but now she vows never to have anything to do with 'Archie Bunker' on or off screen. . . On Monday, March 3, 'The Invisible World' will air on PBS stations. It deals with events that usually occur too fast or are too minute to be seen by the unaided eye of man. It was produced by the National Geographic Society and WQED/Pittsburgh with a grant from Gulf Oil Corporation.

A traveling co-host of 'Real People'

Sarah Purcell, one of the traveling co-hosts on NBC-TV's new "Real People" series, really gets around. The Richmond, Ind., native has lived in New Orleans and grew up in the San Diego, Calif., area. She studied at Woodbury University in Los Angeles and at the University of California at San Diego; then spent two years traveling in Europe and studying at the University of Hamburg, Germany.

From October 1975 to January 1979, Sarah co-hosted KABC-TV's "A.M. Los Angeles."

She co-hosted the 1976-77 Emmy Award-winning children's series "Sandlot Superstars" and hosted the live children's show "Sunday Funday," both on KABC-TV in Los Angeles. Sarah was also co-host of ABC-TV's "The Better Sex," a game show with Bill Anderson.

She was featured in the movie "Billy Jack Goes to Washington" and co-starred in a TV movie of the week, "Guide For a Married Woman." She has appeared in episodes of "Wonder Woman" and "Charlie's Angels."

In 1969, Sarah became assistant program director for KFMR in San Diego, Calif., doubling as weather reporter and movie host. It was as host of that station's "Sun Up" program (for two years) that she came to the attention of the "A.M. Los Angeles" producers.

When she's not on assignment with "Real People," Sarah likes water and snow skiing, tennis and reading.

Marcia Strassman stars as Lenina Disney of the Beta class in BRAVE NEW WORLD, based on Aldous Huxley's science-fiction best seller, which will be presented March 7 on NBC Friday Night at the Movies.

Whale hunters cause stir

"Save the Whales" has become the rallying cry of conservationists around the world, and efforts to save the majestic mammals have gained the support of individuals, government agencies and the International Whaling Commission. But the conservationists are not unopposed. On the other side stand the Eskimos, hunters of the bowhead whale for thousands of years, a people who still rely on hunting as a way of life and a means of survival. Their plea is a simple but fervent one: Leave us alone with our whales.

NOVA provides an hour-long examination of this emotional controversy in "Umealik: The Whale Hunters," Tuesday, March 4 on PBS.

The Eskimos are the first and last American whalers; their ancestors hunted whales thousands of years ago. When Yankee whalers arrived in Alaska in the early 19th century, the Eskimos collaborated with the commercial hunters who sought whales for their prized oil and their baleen, the flexible mouth structure which was in great demand for women's corsets.

NOVA, produced by WGBH/Boston, films the Eskimo whalers at Point Hope, Alaska, a remote spit of land above the Bering Strait where men still hunt the bowhead from their camps on the sea ice.

Whaling is the Eskimos' single most important hunting activity. It is more than a major source of food; it is the basis of their entire culture. Despite the many changes that western civilization has brought to Alaska, whaling has retained its importance, and is still accompanied by ancient customs. The whaling captain is among the most respected figures in the Eskimo community, and whale hunters—Umealik (literally "boat owners")—are symbols of Eskimo self-reliance.

While the bowheads' numbers were greatly diminished through commercial whaling, no one is exactly sure just how many whales remain. In the early '70s, conservationists argued that the species was on the verge of extinction, and their efforts led to a moratorium on whaling in 1977 imposed by the International Whaling Commission. Later, the IWC limited the Eskimo whalers to a small seasonal quota that Eskimos claim is far too low.

As spring approaches, the bowheads are ready for their migration north. The Eskimos are ready for the hunt. The controversy continues.

I am George P. White, candidate for reelection as Village Trustee for the Village of Ruidoso. Your support, vote and influence will be sincerely appreciated.

— FOR YOUR INFORMATION —

My background for the 16-some-odd years I have lived in Ruidoso includes:

- *School Superintendent for eight years
- *Mayor for one term
- *Currently Village Trustee
- *Bachelor's Degree in Government
- *Master's Degree in Educational Administration
- *Educational Specialist's Degree in School Administration

I have served in many capacities in a number of service clubs including Red Cross, Salvation Army, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Cancer Society and Rotary Club.

At the present time, I am serving as Secretary/Treasurer of the Eagle Creek Inter-Community Water Supply Association, which sells water to the villages of Ruidoso and Capitan. I have jealously watched the interests of our village in regards to its long term water supply. Knowing that water is the lifeline of the village, I have worked diligently to protect the rights of the village. We have dug several wells and built storage tanks strategically located throughout the village.

Rest assured when budget time arrives, all departments within the village government will receive their just and fair share of the anticipated revenue that will be available when making budget.

During the time I have been a public servant, be it City Superintendent of Schools, City Mayor or Village Trustee, I have always practiced economy and efficiency at all times and can assure you that this will be maintained.

Please return George P. White for continuity, sincerity and dedication.

CONSIDER THE QUALIFICATIONS AND VOTE FOR GEORGE P. WHITE POSITION NO. 8 VILLAGE TRUSTEE MARCH 4, 1980

If you need a ride to the polls, please call Romeo Klein at 257-3796 or George P. White at 257-4322. Pd. Pol. Adv.

SALUTE TO CHAMBER MEMBERS

This is a regular feature in the Monday edition of this newspaper to introduce the members of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce

WOHLGEMUTHS, located in Adobe Plaza, is owned and operated by Steve Wohlgemuth, with the assistance of associate Floyd Gonzales. Wohlgemuth is pictured above administering a trim to Tony Apodaca. In addition to providing haircuts for the entire family, Wohlgemuth's is a Markham shop, handling a complete line of Markham hair care products. At a recent Markham convention, Wohlgemuth received awards for outstanding performance in four areas — shop promotion, management, interior design and sales volume. The business opened five years ago and has been a member of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce several of those years. Winter hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Tuesday through Friday. During summer, the hours will be extended to 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Saturday.

VICKI'S DOG GROOMING, located four miles east of the racetrack on Highway 70, is owned by Vicki Eckerdt, pictured above with a client. The business opened February 1, 1980 and has been a member of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce since February 15. Eckerdt specializes in quality all-breed grooming and features hand scissoring and hand drying. She was formerly employed as an animal health technician in Colorado and Montana and has worked as a groomer in the Ruidoso area since October 1978. Eckerdt is also a member of the advisory committee to the Humane Society of Lincoln County. Hours are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday and 8 a.m. to noon on Saturdays. For appointments, call 378-4279 during morning hours.
