Chili cookoff on fire

An area chili cookoff, sanctioned by the International Chili Society (ICS), is scheduled here September 27, sponsored by the newly formed Sierra Blanca Chili Appreciation Association (SBCAA), a non-profit organization.

Gail Adams of Sonny's Barbecue and Bud Rouse, Western Highlands, have applied to ICS for a local chapter. "We expect to receive our charter in a few days," Adams said.

An SBCAA organizational meeting is scheduled March 12, at 5:30 p.m., at Sonny's Barbecue. "Anyone interested in chili," Adams said, "whether it's cooking it, or eating it, is invited to attend. This chili cookoff is on the fire and it's going to be a tremendous event."

The winner of the SBCAA cookoff will be eligible to enter the state cookoff in Las Cruces. The state winner will enter the Tropic, California national finals cookoff, offering $35,000 in prize money.

"By starting now, to promote our cookoff," Adams said, "we can expect to draw at least 1,000 contestants and it's possible that we might have 3,000 chili cooks here."

Trio bound over pending murder trial

Three escapees from Camp Sierra Blanca were bound over to district court Saturday following a second preliminary hearing with Judge George L. Zimmerman presiding.

Joe Pat Lucero, 38, Santa Fe, Adelaido Quintana, 32, Bernalillo County and Alfonso Rodriguez, 31, Lea County, were bound over on charges of murder in the first degree, assault by a prisoner, armed robbery and escape from a penitentiary. A charge of conspiracy to commit a capital felony was dropped following testimony presented at last week's hearing.

Lucero, Quintana and Rodriguez will be arraigned in district court Wednesday with Judge Robert M. Doughy II presiding. All are being held without bond in Lincoln County Jail, Carrizozo.

Elmo Silva and Dennis Jefferson, Ruidoso Downs, were acquitted in District Court late Thursday, following a three-day trial. The pair were charged with criminal sexual penetration and kidnapping in connection with the rape of a 18-year-old girl June 9, 1979.

Record vote cast here Tuesday

In a record municipal election turnout Tuesday, with 984 votes cast, George White was reelected and Benny Coulston elected to four year terms as Ruidoso village trustees.

The previous high Ruidoso vote was 975 in the 1978 election in which incumbent mayor Lloyd L. Davis Jr., defeated challenger John Cupp.

Power were elected to four year terms as trustees, with Don Rierson named to a two year term. The two year term seat is the result of the appointment of Patrick Uhr to fill a vacancy, with Uhr not being a candidate in Tuesday's election.

Thirteen candidates entered the campaign in Ruidoso for the two seats on the village trustees. The unofficial vote tallies are:

George White 414
Benny Coulston 274

Ab Gunter 227
Don Dale 195
Ed Jungbluth 171
Jim Woodriddle 165
William Karn 123
"Buck" Morrison 113

Elmer Pirelli 61
Charlotte Jarratt 55
Andy Rue 54
Bill Streeter 40
Bob Livingston 14

Harrold Mansell 90
Howell Pugh 67

TWO YEAR TERM
Don Rierson 107
Danny Smith 45
The Ruidoso Downs trustees will reorganize prior to the regular meeting March 10. The business meeting that evening will be conducted by mayor Norman Wheeler, with holdover trustee Lois Beavers and newly elected trustees Power, Mansell and Rierson comprising the board.

RUIDOSO'S TRUSTEES will organize March 17. Newly elected trustee Coulston and White, reelected, will, with holdover mayor Davis and trustees Sherman Atwood and Frank Sayner, be seated for the regular board meeting March 25.

DETAILED ECONOMIC IMPACT STUDY MADE

New airport would produce new money

BY GWYNETH JONES
Staff Writer

In the wake of the state legislature's recent refusal to appropriate funding for the proposed Sierra Blanca Regional Airport, and during the just ended campaign for village trustee, some controversy has emerged over the potential economic impact of the facility.

In the efforts to locate the airport on Fort Stanton mesa, much emphasis has been placed on the relatively unsafe conditions which exist at the present airport, especially with regard to the close proximity of White Mountain Elementary and Middle Schools.

Less attention has been focused on the financial advantages of a new airport, according to Sierra Blanca Airport Commission (SBAC) chairman Richard Hall. Hall addressed that issue last week, pointing out that a 54 page technical study of the potential economic impact was prepared in 1975 as a supplement to the airport master plan. The six volume document was compiled by the engineering firm of Gordon Herkenhoff and Associates, who also made extensive engineering studies of the two proposed mesa sites.

The figures included in that report, Hall said, were based on a study of the Fort Stanton Airport Site (Site B), but would apply to either site on the mesa.

One major conclusion of the study was that "airport related regional income reaching annual amounts of $75 million by 1995, and with induced assessed value amounting to over $76 million by the same year . . . the Sierra Blanca Airport is an eminently feasible project."

Hall stressed that the figures in the study are based on "constant 1975 dollars," and have not been adjusted for inflation. Furthermore, he said, because the airport project has been delayed due to land acquisition problems, the dates used should be adjusted by the addition of five years.

According to the national consumer price index figures, the overall rate of inflation over the past five years (1975-1979 inclusive) totaled 35.2 percent. Using that basis for adjustment, the figures quoted above would be $101.4 million in regional income by the year 2000 and about $102.8 million in assessed values.

The study also investigated the amount of gross receipts to be generated each year, as shown on the accompanying chart. Again, Hall said, the figures would have to be adjusted for the inflation rate and the five-year delay.

The income amounts detailed in the chart would be generated through a variety of sources, including construction of the facility, spending induced by an increase in tourist days because of the time-saving factor of air travel, airport related employment, and taxation already mentioned.

New visitor days, according to the study, will total 170,742 by 1985 (year adjusted);

Agenda items include a reassessment of airport planning and discussion of measures to be adopted to locate Sierra Blanca Regional Airport on Fort Stanton mesa.

354,725 by 1990. New income generated by the visitor days was based on "conservative figures" according to the study—$32.50 per tourist per day for the 1985 figure and $35 per tourist day for 1990. Total inflation adjusted income from this new visitor spending will total $2,962,496 in 1985 and would increase to a total of $25,631,216 by 1990.

Charts are also included for the other potential income sources mentioned, with separate breakdowns of expected added income for members of the Mesquero

Workshop on stopping shoplifting scheduled

Procedures for apprehending shoplifters will be the topic of a workshop to be sponsored this spring by the Retail Merchants Committee of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce.

In a meeting of the group Monday, Tom Graham, manager at Ben Franklin, said he has noted a rise in shoplifting in recent weeks, but said he had no luck apprehending the lifters until he offered his employees some incentive. "I'm paying them $25 for every shoplifter they catch and can show evidence to hold up in court," he said.

Graham added that no shoplifting cases can be tried unless the suspect is at least 18. "If they're under 18, I pay my employees $10. This week we caught seven adults," Graham said. No particular sex or age group is prevalent and all were local citizens, he said.

Graham reviewed the statutes applying to shoplifters, which indicate suspects must be past the checkout counter before they are apprehended. He said, however, if a person is caught altering or exchanging a price tag, that person can be apprehended before going through checkout.

Chamber executive director Ed Jungbluth noted that "the monetary lifestyle one is used to has no bearing on what they will shoplift." Committee chairman Richard Sandoval said a much greater problem is "internal theft," or shoplifting by employees of a business.

"The only way to stop shoplifting is to take away the opportunity to shoplift," Sandoval said.

Jungbluth will contact Bob Gold, New Mexico Retailers Association, to seek assistance in planning the workshop. Merchants discussed several ideas proposed by Ed Hyman to "get people to come here just four or five of the slack weekends so we could substantially increase the cash flow." Hyman feels that locally, retail sales are based upon the number of visitors in the community rather than year-round population.

Hyman announced that the Ruidoso Downs Mule Skinnners are planning to hold the 1980 mule races and arena events the weekend before the first full week of Aspenade activities. He said the racing schedule will include more competitive events, with larger purses. "Last year we had 12 states represented," Hyman said. "This year we'll probably have 20. As we become better known across the country for the way we run our races and the

Jane McSwane candidate for county clerk

Jane McSwane has announced her candidacy for Lincoln County clerk on the Republican ticket, in the June 3 primary election.

Her previous experience in the office includes serving as deputy clerk beginning in April, 1973; as the elected clerk in 1977-78, as deputy clerk until July, 1979 when she was appointed to fill out the unexpired term of county clerk Barbara Lovelace, who resigned. Her present term expires this December.

McSwane lives in Carrizozo with her husband, Jay, and two sons.

Fort Worth Symphony decision date Monday

The Ruidoso Summer Festival Incorporated (RSFI) board will decide Monday whether Ruidoso will host the Fort Worth Symphony Orchestra for a week of concerts this summer.

RSFI was formed in February to coordinate activities and fund raising efforts needed to bring the orchestra to the village for a week-long festival of concerts which would have universal appeal, according to orchestra promoters.

Progress toward the $90,000 needed to finance the performances was boosted this week by the Ruidoso Altrusa Club, which donated $500. A spokesman for RSFI urged "anyone who has made a pledge or still wants to make a donation should do so as soon as possible."

Send donations to RSFI, P.O. Box 1336, Ruidoso, N.M. 88345, or deliver them to Alton Lane, Ken Green or Jerry Bigham, board members of RSFI.

Pledge cards are available from board chairperson Ann Denton or other members, Jackie Spencer, Linda Swalander, Kathy Finary, Maureen Wars, JoAnn Butler and Mel O'Reilly, or from Ruidoso mayor Lloyd L. Davis Jr.

Apache Tribe. The study also explains the limitations of the figures and economic benefits which might be realized, but which are not easily reduced to specific figures.

Listed among the "unquantifiable" possible benefits are such activities as air mail service, air search and rescue, air ambulance, sky diving, soaring and recreational flying.

What the figures indicate, according to Hall, is that economic benefits far outweigh the cost of development. The SBAC recently announced their intention to make a renewed effort to acquire the Fort Stanton Airport Site now controlled by the Bureau of Land Management (BLM) and leased by the New Mexico State University (NMSU).

Airport manager Tim Morris said Friday, "If we have to come up with another $1.4 million for private land, the facility probably would not be self-sustaining for 10 to 15 years," whereas at the BLM site, it would be self-sustaining in four to five years.

Hall said cost of development at the Fort

Stanton Airport Site would be substantially less, not only because of land acquisition, but because the cost of upgrading the road to the airport was included in the total cost estimate for that site. Cost of upgrading the road was set at $2,892,000.

That figure might actually be reduced, since a project has already been undertaken by Lincoln County to upgrade the first six miles of the Fort Stanton Road. In October 1979, the county requested that that section of road replace other roads on a list of priority requests for state Highway Department assistance, under a cooperative funding program.

At that time, two private developers, Fred Dantonio and Don Blaugrund also pledged to contribute a total of $21,000 to the project. When the request was submitted, Tony Lara of the highway department said the "chances were good" that the request would be granted, because it was replacing other priorities. If approved, the funds would not be forthcoming until the start of the 1980-81 fiscal year. The county has also requested assistance with labor from the village of Ruidoso, a matter which would have to be approved by the village trustees.

Other factors affecting the cost of airport development include the cost of earthwork (leveling and fill-in) which would be required. The amount of earthwork required is "significantly higher" at Site A, Hall said.

Airport development costs can also be limited by "staging" of the phases, Hall said. For example, the runway length could be reduced from the planned 8,600 feet to perhaps 6,400 feet, with the remainder of the overrun area leveled and graded, but not necessarily paved, until sufficient funds could be secured.

One of the best arguments to support the financial stability of a new airport, Hall said, is the financial record of the present airport.

"Our existing airport has shown five consecutive years of 'in the black operation,'" he said. "There's no reason to believe the proposed airport will be operating at a deficit."

Copies of the Sierra Blanca Airport Master Plan, including the supplement dealing with potential economic impact are available for public inspection at the municipal buildings of Ruidoso, Ruidoso Downs and Capitan, at the county courthouse in Carrizozo, the Ruidoso Public Library and the Mescalero Tribal offices.

Building permit total $486,320 in February

Building permits issued by the village of Ruidoso in February totaled $486,320 in estimated construction costs, according to Emory Hatcher, village zoning officer.

February, 1979, was a record month for building starts, with more than $1.5 million in estimated costs on 54 structures.

Building permits are listed below by subdivision, type of structure and estimated construction cost.

- Golf Course Estates, addition, $14,400.
- Middle Cedar, single family dwelling (SFD), $64,000.
- White Mountain I, SFD, $38,960.

Hyman also suggested an art festival which would be set up along the sidewalks in midtown which would probably bring people into the community. Hyman said the idea was tried several years ago and now has been modified to the annual Ruidoso Art Festival, held last year at the high school parking lot.

Jungbluth distributed results of a nationwide marketing survey recently conducted by the Moscow, Idaho, Chamber of Commerce. The survey listed prices on certain food products available across the country. In general, Jungbluth said, "the survey shows that cost of living here is substantially lower than in many other places."

Two juveniles suspects in jewelry theft

One juvenile, 15, has been apprehended by the Criminal Investigation Division (CID) of the Ruidoso Police Department, in connection with a home burglary and a second juvenile, 14, is being sought for questioning. Both juveniles are Ruidoso residents.

The suspects were discovered in the home of Mrs. Frances Slatton, Country Club Drive, when she returned home Monday afternoon. After the two juveniles fled, Mrs. Slatton determined that approximately $2,500 in turquoise and gold jewelry was missing.

CID officers recovered approximately $1,000 in stolen jewelry, a spokesman said, prior to the arrest of the older suspect.

New look belts

The belt—probably the most important accessory for spring—will appear very wide or super skinny, but all will accent the waist. Look for the cinch belt of the 50s in elasticized belts. Western belts and heavy tooled belts continue in popularity. We'll also see soft crush belts and obi sashes, say NMSU Extension people.

ISRAEL MIRANDA, San Patricio, has been named area agent for the American National Insurance Company and will specialize in life and hospitalization policies. He had been working on electrical transmission power lines in the Mescalero-Glencoe area. He is married to the former Betty Chavez.

Security Bank noting 10th anniversary

Security Bank of Ruidoso begins a ten day tenth anniversary celebration Sunday with a 1 to 4 p.m., reception featuring an art exhibit and special recognition presentations to the board of directors and Dona Nunnally, a ten-year employee.

Joe Skeen, chairman of the board, and Bob Dyer, president, will represent the bank at the reception. Also attending, from Bank Securities, Incorporated (BSI), the holding company for Security Bank, will be BSI chairman of the board Robert O. Anderson, director Phelps Anderson, president A. G. Hamilton and executive vice president James A. Clark. The reception will feature an art exhibit presented by John Meiggs, Hondo artist, and the awarding of several prizes to guests.

The anniversary celebration will conclude March 19, as the bank hosts the 9-10:30 a.m. Coffee Cart, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce. During this coffee the 10th anniversary grand prize of $300 will be awarded.

The bank opened March 9, 1970, fifth in line of development by BSI. The bank's footings, at the end of the first year of operation, amounted to more than $2.5 million. The footings today are more than $18 million. Five years ago the facilities, to accommodate growth, were expanded to more than twice its original size.

Jayceetes outline local projects

Officers were recently elected for the newly organized Jayceettes, a non-profit civic organization chartered February 1. Debbie Garcia, president; Thea Sanchez, vice president and Susan James, secretary-treasurer, outlined some projects the organization hopes to undertake in the coming year.

"Our main purpose is to assist the Ruidoso Jaycees with any of their community projects, including social functions," Garcia said.

The ten women have been approached to sponsor fund drives for several non-profit charities, including the March of Dimes, Muscular Dystrophy and Cerebral Palsy. The women hope to become active in national Jayceette projects. Project Concern is designed to provide different forms of aid to children in Mexico who are malnourished, in need of health care or abandoned.

Operation Peace of Mind is a Jayceette program which provides a hotline for runaways. Garcia said the hotline has been working successfully in Albuquerque. "We feel like this is one project we're going to try our best to get started here," she said.

Another project the club hopes to sponsor this spring is a cardiopulmonary resuscitation course for members of the community. "This course takes only eight hours and it's something that could save a life some day," Garcia said.

Jayceettes have been invited to sponsor a series of children's programs Saturday mornings throughout the summer. "We are making plans now to put this together," Garcia said.

Four Jayceettes have volunteered time at the Ruidoso Care Center and are anxious to accept more responsibilities, Garcia said.

Club members are preparing to attend the state Jayceette convention, scheduled in Roswell in May. Garcia said speaking competition, which is designed to give women more poise in front of a group, will be entered by some local women.

The club meets every third Wednesday at the Guaranty Abstract and Title conference room at 7:30 p.m. New members are welcome, but must be between the ages of 18 and 35. Garcia said Jayceettes from other communities who recently moved to Ruidoso can have memberships transferred and can call her at 257-4232 for more information. Sanchez can be reached at 257-7836 and James at 257-2133.

On dean's list State leadership title won by Michele Ortiz

Rick Pritchett, Ruidoso, has been named to the dean's honor roll for the 1979 fall semester at Abilene Christian University, Texas with a 3.47 grade average.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Pritchett, he is a 1979 graduate of Ruidoso High School and a freshman mass communications major.

While in high school, he was president of the senior class, a member of the Distributive Education Clubs of America and the National Honor Society; co-captain of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes and a Boys' State representative.

Symphony concert in Alamogordo.

The New Mexico Symphony Orchestra, Albuquerque, will appear in concert, under the baton of maestro Yoshimi Takeda, Sunday at 2 p.m. in the Alamogordo High School Cafeterium.

The orchestra, with Takeda as director, won the ASCAP award for programming two consecutive years and received the Berlioz Society Award from the French government. Takeda, recipient of the 1979 Governor's Award for Excellence, is a member of the National Endowment for the Arts Orchestra Panel.

MICHELE ORTIZ

Michele L. Ortiz, Roswell Goddard High School (GHS) senior, was recently named New Mexico's state winner in the Century III Leadership program.

She won a $1,500 college scholarship and will receive an expense paid trip to the national Century III Leadership meeting March 7-10 in Williamsburg, Virginia.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Ortiz of Roswell and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eloy Torrez of Hondo.

In addition to maintaining a 4.0 grade average, she is secretary of her class, was honored as Silverbelle from GHS for October, is an Aero Swinger and appeared as Elsa in the November choral production "Sound of Music."

She is a member of the Advanced Mixed Chorus, the Science Club, Student Council and Ski Club. Ortiz was named to the all state choir as a sophomore and junior, was the Outstanding Journalism I student and was a delegate to Girls' State last summer.

Profile of a waiting child

Robert is a healthy, 12-year-old, Hispanic boy who needs a permanent home with parents who can help him develop a better self image. He needs to be loved and accepted as a worthwhile person. Intellectually, Robert is in the bright normal-range. He has difficulty in two areas: sustained concentration and attention and verbal recall of material.

Robert has no sense of security. He has doubts about himself and about his own acceptability.

He is in the right grade level in school but has the intelligence to do much better in his work.

A product of a broken family, Robert's mother had a background of psychiatric disturbance and his father was an alcoholic. He was legally freed for placement in a permanent adoptive home three months ago.

Robert has a good sense of humor. His favorite sports are football and running. He likes sports and is beginning to be more actively involved now that he is in junior high. In his quiet moments, Robert likes to read comics, adventure and mystery stories or watch "Emergency," "Manix," or "Mork and Mindy" on television.

This is a profile of one of the many school-aged children available for adoption through the state Human Services Department. For information about children who need parents, contact Adoption Services, Susan Washam, at telephone 437-0030, Alamogordo.

BROWNIE TROOP 3 received a demonstration on good grooming habits Tuesday from Rudy Garcia, of the Hairport. The girls are in the process of earning their well being badges. Emily Chavez, 6, is the willing model.

THESE RUIDOSO HIGH STUDENTS contest held in Las Cruces, earning ten superior, participated Saturday in a solo and ensemble ten excellent and five good scores.

Music students performed well

Ruidoso High School music students participating in a solo and ensemble contest Saturday in Las Cruces received ten superior, ten excellent and five good marks from judges.

Band and choir instructor Danny Flores said Ruidoso had the third most number of medals for achievement in competition with Silver City, Truth or Consequences, Deming, Alamogordo High and Junior High, Las Cruces, Las Cruces-Mayfield, Cloudcroft, Tularosa, Coche, Gadsden and Hatch.

"We couldn't have done so well without the generous donations of time by Tim and Carlene Wadley, who helped both instrumental and voice students, and Martha Bryant, who accompanied many students on the piano," Flores said.

He added that Ted LaCoe was considered for honors. "At the end of the day, the judges select the very best of all the students in each competition and Ted (LaCoe) was in this group."

Students participating and the marks received include:

- Voice contestants: Gracie Rose, superior; Jack Holland, superior; Kerrie Prophet, superior; Dawn Leavitt, good; Lou Ann Wilson, superior; Ted LaCoe, superior; Lisa Pharris, excellent; Gene Reeves, superior; Connie Turner, excellent; Elnora Jones, superior; Gwen DiPaolo, excellent; Robin Rodriguez, excellent and Kandy Mayberry, excellent.
- Instrumental contestants: Lou Ann Wilson, flute, superior; Patricia Racher, french horn, excellent; Ronda Ratcliffe, Tina Killen, Brian Yowell, trumpet trio, good; Marc Delhotel, trombone, excellent; Jenny Delhotel, trombone, superior.
- Debra White, Paulette Sanchez, Lara Ratliff, Donna Clements, clarinet quartet, good; Laurie Snidow, tenor sax, superior; Tracy Hamm, Robin Nunley, Jeanette Weems, clarinet trio, excellent; Laurie Snidow, Denise Ratcliffe, Ricky Rogers, sax trio, good; Tina Killen, trumpet, excellent; Ronda Ratcliffe, trumpet, excellent.

Thinclads preparing for upcoming season

Ruidoso track coach Darrel Stierwalt greeted 35 track hopefuls Monday, but he admits he has no idea how his thinclads will do.

"We look real young," he said, "but that's good in the long run. We need to build some experience."

It looks to be an interesting year for Warrior tracksters. For one thing, the state of New Mexico has decreed all track events go to the metric system, instead of the English system of feet and yards.

In other words, the mile is now the 1500 meter run, which is 359 feet shorter. And the 440 yard sprint is now 400 meters, which is 92 feet shorter than the original. But, on the other hand, the 100 yard dash is now 100 meters. That's 28 feet longer.

The whole thing is causing Stierwalt and his runners fits. But it might be a blessing in disguise.

"Yeah, we're having a hard time adjusting to it," he said. "Everything is shorter or longer than it was before."

"But at least we aren't having to lengthen our track, like most schools."

Which is understandable, since the Warriors have no track. But that too, is causing the Warriors problems.

"Our distance men don't have to worry," Stierwalt said. "But our shorter runners have to practice on the football field. We've got some pylons set up to make a loop on each end, but it's still no track. Where it really causes us problems is on relay handoffs."

He said he thought about using the White Mountain Middle School track, but it's an asphalt surface, and a poor one at that.

"It'd be murder to run on that thing," he said. "Everybody would have shin splints inside a week."

Another disadvantage of not having a track is all the travel the Warriors must do. Every one of their six meets is on the road, beginning March 29 at Deming. Others are April 5 at Hagerman, April 19 at Lovington, April 26 at Artesia, May 2 at T or C, and the district meet May 10 at Deming.

"It would be nice to run at home," he said. "It'd be nice to host a meet. But since we don't have a track, it's kinda hard to do that."

"They're (the school board) supposed to fix that old track in a few years, but right now they just don't have the money. So we make do."

Although only about 35 track and field prospects have shown up so far, Stierwalt expects late arrivals to join the ranks from the basketball team, which he hopes will fill out his squad to 45.

He expects good results out of senior Joe Almaguer, who has qualified for the state meet in the mile — make that 1,500 meters — three consecutive years.

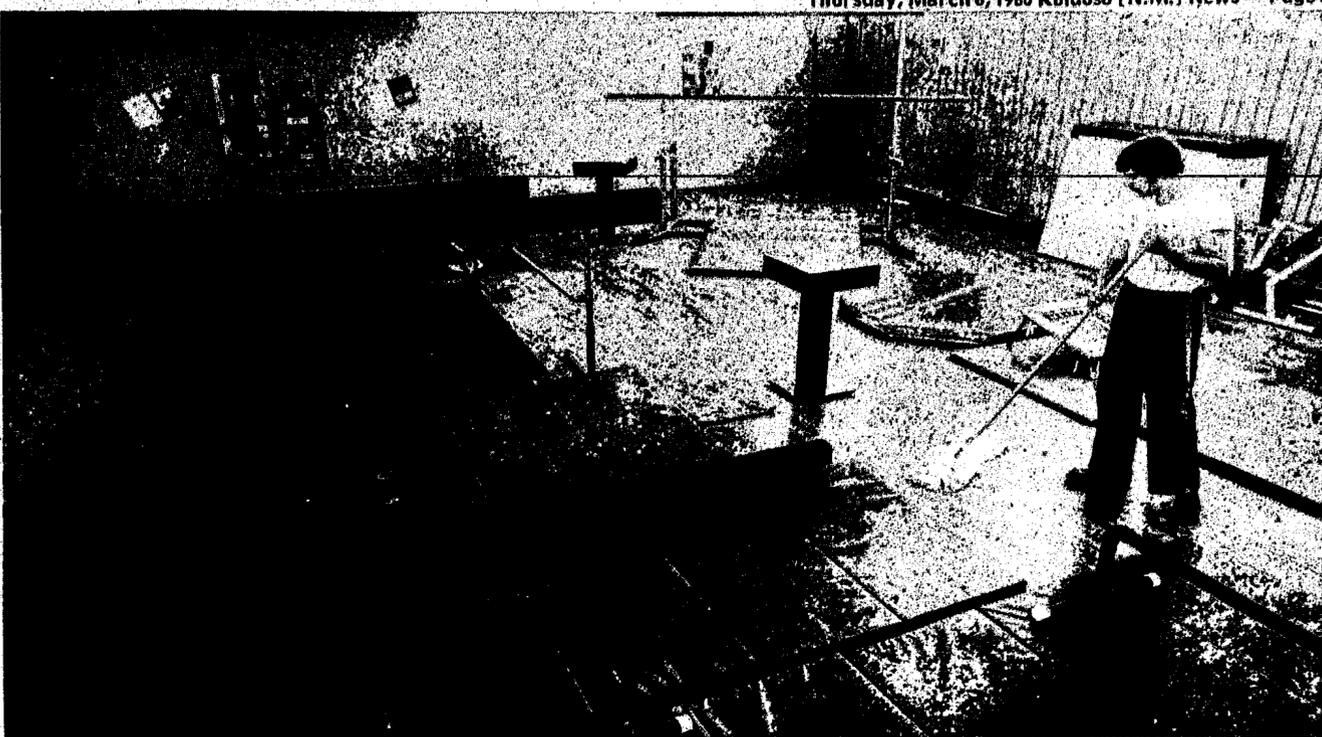

He also expects results from Russ Flor, a strong runner in the 400, and from Mark Boggs in discus and perhaps shotput.

"Elroy Duffy should be a strong miler," he said, "and Scotty Neal should do well in the low hurdles."

This year, unlike the past couple years, will feature the return of pole vaulting, thanks to the addition of a "Porta-Pit," a piece of equipment which eliminates the need for a permanent facility.

"But right now," Stierwalt said, "it's just too early to say how we'll do. I see where some schools have been running track since February 1. We can't start that early here because of the weather."

"But we'll work hard, and I hope we can go down to Tularosa before our first meet and maybe have a practice meet so we can get used to running on a track."

MAKING A CLEAN SWEEP of things is Ruidoso gymnastics coach Blake Starr. The Ruidoso Gymnastics Association has moved its facilities from White Mountain Middle School gymnasium to the former home of Carpet Warehouse, next to village hall. Although still under development, the new building has about 2,000 square feet of operating space. When completed, it will have about 5,000 square feet. Classes are currently meeting in the building, and new equipment has been ordered to add to that shown here.

Junior Ski Racers Bowen and King

fall in championships

Bart Bowen and Capple King, two Ruidoso Junior Ski Racers, participated in age class championships for junior racers in Aspen, Colorado, last weekend.

King finished 11th in a field of 17, and Bowen did not place.

Each racer skied slalom and giant slalom, and King finished 11th in one event and 13th in the other. Her combined score placed her just outside the top ten finishers.

Bowen had problems with his skis pre-releasing, and wasn't able to place.

That finishes up the 1980 season for the local age class racers. Ability class racers still have several meets to compete in, beginning March 22-23, at Santa Fe.

Boxing club produces but a single winner

David Orderica, a 58 pound boxer, was the only Ruidoso Boxing Club member who won his fight at an exhibition meet last Friday in Roswell.

Six Ruidoso pugilists fought, but Orderica was the only local winner. He scored a decision over Tim I. ez of Roswell.

Austin Duffy, Leo Torres, Oscar Torres, Jesse Reynolds and Robert Pazo all fought, but were beaten by Roswell fighters.

They fought exhibitions before Friday's regional Golden Gloves fights. The club is planning a possible meet in Alamogordo for its next competition.

A-AA girls' state basketball tournament starts today

The 1980 class A-AA girls' basketball tournament begins here today at 2 p.m., with four games in White Mountain Middle School gymnasium and four in Ruidoso High School gym.

The class A quarterfinals will be played at White Mountain, with class AA quarterfinal play in the high school gymnasium. Friday's semifinals and Saturday's finals for both classes will be played in the high school gym.

Local businesses are sponsoring the 18 participating teams. Here is a list of the pairings for the first round, and the businesses sponsoring them:

At 2 p.m. today, in Class A play, Rehoboth, sponsored by Ruidoso's Evening Lions Club, will play Elida, sponsored by Whispering Pines Restaurant.

At 3:30 p.m., Cliff, sponsored by Dale's Furniture, will play Grady, sponsored by Family Barbecue. At 7, Logan, sponsored by Kentucky Fried Chicken, will tackle Reserve, sponsored by Holt's Playland-Daycare.

Texico, sponsored by the Ruidoso Noon Lions, play Hope at 8:30. Hope is sponsored by Holiday House.

In AA play, Penasco, sponsored by the Evening Lions, play Estancia at 2 p.m. Estancia is sponsored by Gambles.

Crownpoint, sponsored by Parsons Travel, plays Dexter, sponsored by Dick Mound Accounting, at 3:30 p.m. Animas, sponsored by Big-T, will meet Coronado, sponsored by Sierra Blanca Cabins and Ski West at 7 p.m.

Today's final game will be Clayton, sponsored by Timberline Motel, against Questa, sponsored by Allison Plumbing, at 8:30 p.m.

Friday, Class A semifinals will be at 2 and 7 p.m. Class AA semis will be at 3:30 and 8:30.

Championships for class A will be at 3:30 p.m., Saturday, and the AA finals will be at 8:30 p.m. Class A consolations are at 7 p.m., and AA consolation game is at 2 p.m.

Everything is in readiness, said Ruidoso High School athletic director Doyle Howell, tourney coordinator.

Admission for Thursday's and Friday's games will be $2.50 for adults and $1.50 for students. Championship games will have $3 tickets for adults and $2 for students. "The ticket prices are set by the state," Howell said. "We have no control over them."

And finally, the Ruidoso Warrior Booster Club will host a "hospitality room", with Gayla Pearson as coordinator, for school administrators, coaches and others connected with the tournament.

Soccer registration is today

Registration of new players for the 1980 spring soccer season begins today in the multi-purpose room at the public library, from 5 to 8 p.m.

It will continue Friday at the same location at same times, but begins at 11 a.m., Saturday. Registration ends at 4 p.m., Saturday.

Any youngsters who played soccer last fall do not have to re-register. Prospective players must be no younger than five and no older than 16, and must bring proof of age.

They must also be accompanied by a parent and pay a $10 registration fee, which covers all costs.

The Saturday session will be preceded by a presentation of what soccer is by league head, Butch Grammer. He will show a couple of films and talk with prospective players, beginning at 10 a.m.

The soccer program is sponsored by the Ruidoso Sertoma Club.

Sportin' Life

... a column of opinion ...

by

Mark Bagby

Sandy Harrison, president of the Ruidoso Gymnastics Association, wanted me to publish this thank you.

To wit: "The Ruidoso Gymnastics Association wishes to express its deepest appreciation and gratitude to the Ruidoso Municipal School Board for its aid and cooperation in assisting our Association to establish and promote an athletic program to further the mental and physical capabilities of the Ruidoso youth."

"The Gymnastics Association has now moved to its new location next to City Hall. We do attribute the cooperation of the School Board as a great part of our success with our program."

"A special thanks must go to Mr. Sid Miller and all the personnel of White Mountain Middle school, and Mr. Mike Gladden and the personnel of White Mountain Elementary School, in assisting our coach and our students."

"With your support and backing, our first year has been a tremendous success. On behalf of the board of directors, thank you again!!!"

Sandy and her gang have obtained the rights to the old Carpet Warehouse building (next to village hall), and are currently in the process of moving into said building.

That means lotsa fun, 'cause all the carpets aren't out of there yet. Himmmmmm... but they're supposed to get those out in a week or two.

Meanwhile, gymnastics classes are progressing nicely. Coach Blake Starr really has that program on its feet, thanks to the support of Sandy and of Ruidoso.

Wait until next year

My, my,

Once again the Ruidoso Warriors finished a bridesmaid and not a bride.

I'm referring to the district 3AAA basketball championships. They lost to Silver City in the first round, and since it was a single elimination tourney, well, that was all she wrote.

But generally, it was a good year for basketball.

The Warriors weren't expected to do a whole lot, but they surprised some people — like Silver City, Tularosa, Cobre and Artesia, and of course, Deming.

Very, very seldom were the Warriors blown off the court, and they captured wins over all their district opponents but eventual champ Deming — who beat Tularosa in the championship game, 91-83. (Ruidoso was never beaten by Deming that badly, by the way.)

Way back in the first game of the season, Ruidoso gave second ranked (in the state) Artesia a run for their money, and Artesia Daily Press sportswriter Rick Hassler told me, "They're going places. You have a good team."

And that they did. The season was pretty good all round, and the Warriors' finest moment was the thrilling double overtime district win over Cobre. Junior center Rodney Thomason scored 42 points, including the game winning basket with one second left.

Next year should be interesting — Thomason will be back, and will stalwarts Glenn Ryan and Gary Jones. Sharpshooters Clay Blank and Paul Kirkwood will be gone, but junior varsity stars Bill Richardson and Peter Batton will probably fill their shoes admirably.

One of the best things about next year is what happens to the district. Everybody except T or C, Tularosa and Ruidoso graduates practically all their starters, and Tularosa loses Dan O'Hara and Mike Marrujo, who gave the Warriors fits all season.

Expect Cobre to have a good squad due to its formidable junior varsity. But Deming and Silver City will be hurting due to graduation.

The Warriors are both fortunate and unfortunate to be in such a tough district. Do you realize both Deming and Cobre are ranked in the top ten statewide, and the Warriors, Silver and Tularosa all, at one time or another, cracked the elite ranks?

That's bad for Ruidoso's record, but good when it comes to state competition. Heck, you've already beaten the best before you get to the championships.

No wonder Barry Nelson is looking forward to next year.

Southwest Pro Skiers to race here this weekend

The next to the last stop on the Southwest Pro Ski Tour will be this Saturday and Sunday at Sierra Blanca. The race will attract numerous skiers from New Mexico, Colorado, Arizona and Utah, as well as several from other countries. Ruidoso's Gary Vogel will also compete. This stop will feature a $4,000 purse, the largest on the tour, and the race is the first weekend competition for the circuit. It will be sponsored by Henblein, Incorporated. The final race in the 1980 season will be March 14-15 at Angel Fire Ski Resort in northern New Mexico.

Skeet shoot scheduled

The Windy Bird Open skeet shoot will be Sunday, March 9, at the Inn of the Mountain Gods shooting range. Each contestant will be allowed 100 targets, in 12 or 20 gauge classes. Entry fee is $12 for each class, with a $10 non-compulsory class purse fee, and an additional $10 fee for each two man team purse. All purse money will be awarded. Ties for class trophy will be determined by longest run, as per National Skeet Shoot Association rules.

"One hundred straight" buckles will be awarded, as well as the return of that shooter's $12 target and trophy fee for the 100 targets.

Registration begins at 9 a.m., Sunday, and closes upon each event's last flight start. Flights are scheduled to begin at 10 a.m.

For more information, call Bob Vaughan, shoot manager for the Inn of the Mountain Gods, 257-5141, extension 615. The shoot is one of several scheduled by the New Mexico Skeet Shooting Association.

JESSE FOSTER, left and Mike Dickinson were presented with the gold arrow point under the Bear at the Cub Scout Pack's Blue and Gold Banquet Sunday afternoon. To earn the point, both boys completed at least ten electives after completing the Bear badge.

Fire damages vacant home

Fire, of unknown origin, virtually destroyed the interior of an unoccupied, furnished, home at Country Club Road and Baldy Road early Wednesday morning. The Ruidoso Fire Department (RFD) responded to a 6:30 call and had the fire under control, a spokesman said, within 45 minutes. The owner of the home, a RFD spokesman said, could not be immediately determined.

CARD OF THANKS:

The Family of C. J. (Joe) Montgomery wishes to express sincere thanks and heartfelt appreciation for the many kindnesses shown during our recent bereavement. Special thanks go to the Ruidoso Hondo Valley Hospital and to Drs. Michael O. Stone and Paul Whitman, for their untiring efforts as well as their sympathetic assistance. Sincere thanks go to both the Reverend Noble Whitshire, of Ruidoso, and the Reverend Bob Kristensen, of Houston, who officiated at the funeral service, and to Mr. Bill Braudt, soloist and to Jessie Lee Hawkins, accompanist. Appreciation is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Dave Parks who so capably took charge until relatives arrived. Much love and gratitude goes to the Seekers Class of the Community United Methodist Church for their understanding, and numerous acts of devotion and love. We are eternally grateful for the kindness and consideration of the personnel of Clarke's Chapel of Roses funeral home, as well as the hosts of wonderful people who have opened their hearts to us.

All of these things make our grief easier to bear. May God Bless you all.

Corinne Montgomery, Ruidoso
Elise Taylor, Sacramento, California
Jean Reib, Tulsa, Oklahoma

REAL ESTATE VS DOW JONES

When we compare the results over the past 19 years between stock market profits and real estate increases, we'll see quite a dramatic difference in dollars.

In the decade from January 1960, to January 1970, the Dow Jones Industrial average jumped from $13 to $80 — an increase of 18 percent in ten years. During the same ten-year period, the average home price increased from $18,397 to $27,822 — an appreciation of 48 percent or TRIPLE THE DOW.

By January, 1979, the Dow Jones average still sat around the $80 level for a 19-year appreciation of 16% while home prices continued to increase faster than the cost of living to $50,300 — up 276% since 1960. Today, the Dow Jones is far below its peak (it reached 1,000 in Spring of 1977) while home prices keep rising faster than the cost of living.

No matter how you slice the cake, an investment in real estate over the past 19 years has proven to more than triple the stock market increase. And the trend is widening in favor of real estate.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at DEVON DEVELOPMENT, INC., 2904 Sudderth Drive, Box 1860, Ruidoso. Phone: 257-5511. We're here to help!

March Comes In Like A Lion

The old saying goes: "If March comes in like a Lion it will go out like a Lamb." And the other way around.

If ever March came in like a lion, it certainly did on March the first. After a Spring-in-Winter day on the twenty-ninth, here came the north wind in the early morning of the first of March carrying sleet and snow and freezing rain. The thermometer went down to ten above, the second coldest morning of the winter. And all through the day the wintery blast continued with the temperature not rising any higher than thirty. The second of March, the north wind maintained a steady gale, filling the vale with winter weather. When the loud voice of the wind would fall for a while, you could hear the chirping of a band of Robins down amongst the river trees where they had settled after flying up from the Pecos Valley, just ahead of the blizzard charging out of the north.

Then on the third, the north wind came to a halt and the world was still, waiting for something. Then from over the hill from the west came the March wind blowing with all its might down the valley, trying to make up for lost time after being three days late.

And now, today, on the fourth, the wind is still blowing from the west, and I notice the snow clouds up the way, surely bringing snow to the mountain.

So now we know that the ground hog was right in his signal for more winter weather, and March has come in like a Lion, sure enough, with a promise to go out like a Lamb bringing us warm and sunny days in the first of Spring.

First Apricot Blooms

Today, on the fourth of March, the wind is cold charging down from off the mountain, and out tossing in the gale the apricot branches are full of fruit buds tightly closed. Yet just at high noon I caught just the faintest aroma of the apricot blossom, and thought it was only imagination — the Spring spirit playing jokes. No. Sure enough, the little apricot tree growing just next to the house has once branch reaching around the corner into the east, a spot sheltered from the west wind. Here in the sun of the morning a pure white blossom trimmed in pink had bloomed out, cheering the windy day and letting us know that through the cold and windy days of late winter, Spring is ready to come smiling through.

This early apricot bloom in the sheltered sunny spot does not signal any danger to the fruit crop. Take them all around, the fruit blossoms are holding back very well.

Saint Patrick's Day

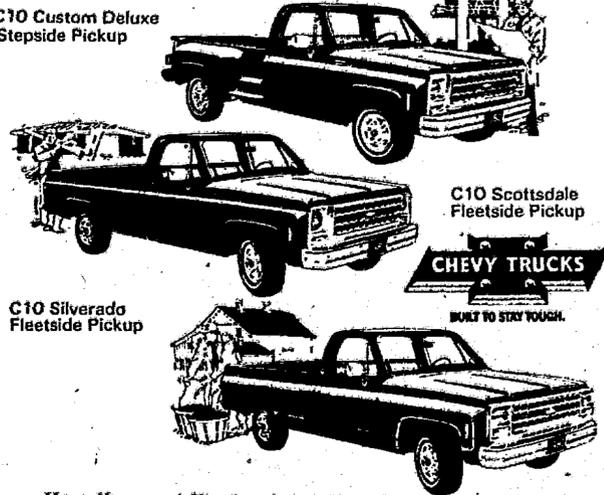

During the winter, time moves slowly. All the growing things are asleep and you can not notice much change in the land from day to day. In March, however, the world begins to awaken. All through the mountain land, Mother Earth's plant children, large and small, begin to stir from their winter slumbers, rejoicing as they answer the call of the voice of Spring. In increasing numbers, blossoms, leaves and new grass and flowers all begin to appear. And time steps up its pace from day to day.

So that before we know it, one of the favorite days of March will be here — Saint Patrick's Day on March the seventeenth. This is a day of world-wide celebration and rejoicing in honor of the patron saint of the Emerald Isle. And three days later comes the first day of Spring.

We feel the joy in our hearts more and more each day through March as the pulse of the world beats ever higher with the approach of glorious Spring. Let us thank God for the wonderful days ahead, and all our many blessings.

Inside The Capitol

by Fred McCaffrey

SANTA FE—That property tax reduction bill the Legislature passed created more stir than any single bill has done in a month of Sundays.

Conservatives, especially those in the House who plan to run for reelection, wanted the bill signed just the way it is—and Gene Samberson, House Speaker, fought an unusual fight with the Governor to get it signed. At one point, the Speaker was keeping the bill in his own hands, down in Lovington, rather than sign it and send it up to Santa Fe, where he thought Roberto Mondragon, acting governor for a few days, might just veto it.

Even oldtimers up here can't remember a Speaker trying to pull that move at any time in recent years.

Commentators called Samberson's actions petulant and childish—but they admit the man is certainly determined.

DUCK HUNTING: If you sometimes feel that candidates for statewide office are unwise in the way they fawn on the voters of Bernalillo county, figures from the Secretary of State's office show why that goes on.

As of February 1, that county had 33.4 per cent of all the state's voters. For Republicans, the total is even higher: 39 per cent of them live there, to 29 per cent of Democrats registered to vote.

It takes the seven next largest counties—Dona Ana, Santa Fe, San Juan, Chavez, Valencia, Eddy and Lea—all in a bundle to get as many votes as the big county puts out.

ROAD REPAIRS: If you're tired of busting your car's shocks in our state's horrendous potholes, you should be glad to hear how well the Highway Department came off with this year's Legislature.

Fred O'Cheesey's roadbuilders got about an additional $7 million a year in increased taxes on the trucking industry (a 40 per cent increase in the weight-distance tax, a 30 per cent increase in the trip tax and a jump in fees for overweight and oversize trucks.)

It looks like they should get another $20 million or so each year because the Legislature ordered some changes in accounting methods. From now on, the road agency gets all the excise tax from road agencies instead of only a quarter of it. They also get all the money in the road fund every year, including the part that used to go to support the Motor Transportation Division. And from now on they get to keep the interest off road fund money, which up till now has been going to the general fund.

Now we will wait to see how much better our roads get as a result of the Legislature's generosity.

BOOKKEEPING: People shouldn't get worried because the lawmakers this year appropriated more money than revenues are projected to be next fiscal year.

Those revenue projections are, by and large, a snare and a delusion. Our administrators always estimate them way too low, so they can ooh and ahh all the next year about how much more money they're collecting than we thought they were going to.

Here's how it works. Last year the Department of Finance and Administration said this year's take would be up 12.4 per cent. The fact is that it is now 44 per cent higher than the projection expected it to be, with the year not even finished yet.

It's not the state's going broke that you need to worry about—it's the individual taxpayer.

Letters to the Editor

Dear editor:

Reference to your editorial February 25, I agree with your recommendation regarding name change for Ruidoso Ski and Recreation area. Over the past three years I have had many guests visit us in Ruidoso, skiers and race fans. Two weeks ago we had 13 guests in Ruidoso, some skied Ruidoso and some Sierra Blanca for the reasons that you mentioned in your editorial.

Last week end before leaving Odessa for Ruidoso I had a friend, who knew that I was going to Ruidoso, tell me that he had heard on the radio in Odessa that Ruidoso was closed for skiing. I tried to tell him that I was sure that it was the lower slopes that were closed but he was adamant, "Ruidoso was closed for skiing." He had heard it on the radio.

I feel that this situation, if not corrected by a name change, will have an adverse affect on tourist and visitors to the area.

Letters to the Editor

Dear editor:

In his "Sportin' Life" column of February 7, Mark Bagby writes of a visitor from Mexico who completely outfitted his wife and daughter in a local ski shop, paying in traveler's checks to the tune of $2,100. A heart-warming anecdote, indeed, for local businessmen who know that their livelihood depends in large part on the tourist dollar.

And yet there are those who do not seem to have grasped this elementary fact of Ruidoso economics.

Let me tell you of another visitor, also from Mexico, who outfitted himself and daughter in a local ski shop. This gentleman, who is an owner at Pinecliff Village and a frequent visitor, bought his 14-year-old daughter a jacket, paying the full non-sale price of $125. She wore it the day of the purchase, but the following day, found that the collar was unraveling and it was not in wearable condition.

He returned to the store, hoping either to exchange the faulty merchandise for another jacket, or, if that were not possible, get his money back. He was told that the store would neither exchange the garment or return his money. Since his command of English is limited, he was in no position to put up a strong argument, so he left the store.

When I learned of his predicament, I offered to intervene in order to clear up what I thought must surely be a misunderstanding, possibly due to faulty communication. I reached the owner of the ski shop by telephone and related the circumstances.

His response to me—and I quote precisely—was: "Why the hell are you getting involved and why don't you mind your own business?" And, without waiting for an answer, he hung up.

I am involved, and I feel that every reputable businessman in Ruidoso is potentially damaged by rude, discourteous and unfair treatment of visitors by merchants. Word-of-mouth is the most effective form of promotion, and the story of an event such as I have described can lose an unimaginable amount of future business—for all of us.

It would have cost the owner of the ski shop nothing to graciously exchange the jacket, and return it to the top-line, nationally advertised manufacturer who inadvertently shipped a piece of imperfect merchandise.

It will cost him an incalculable amount, however, in future sales visitors who will be referred to two other Ruidoso ski shops where our guests have not been embarrassed nor inconvenienced.

I hope that you will bring your influence to bear by publicizing this deplorable incident, so that the force of community disapproval may be focused on the proverbial "one bad apple" who is hurting us all.

BUY AMERICAN

Now that President Carter has cut grain shipments to the Soviet Union, the U. S. International balance of payments is certain to suffer. Just when these payments seemed to be moving into balance, after heavy deficits for two years, much of the nation's export earning is throttled. (It's a dubious policy, which might in the end hurt the U. S. more than Russia.)

Whatever its final merit and outcome, the short-term result in the U. S. trade balance is certain. Thus it behooves Americans at this time to buy American-made goods and products as often as possible.

In most cases, American-made products are at least equal in quality. Snobbery about foreign-made cars is usually no longer valid. Yet the Germans are now selling 500,000 cars in this country annually and the Japanese many more, while the sale of U. S.-made cars in these countries is absolutely minimal. — Santa Rosa News

ALASKAN OIL IRONY

As Alaska gives birth to a flood of oil, the pangs are considerable. Various ironies have arisen from the circumstance that the state will collect billions but is not yet quite sure how best to use it in the public interest.

A current situation points up one such problem. Due to a combination of high prices and false hopes bred by mild recent winters, numerous rural villages in Alaska miscalculated their fuel needs last spring. Now they are feeling the pinch as an unexpectedly severe winter cuts into their supplies.

Happily, the Legislature has voted emergency funds for fuel purchase and transportation costs. This will help, but it does not alter the irony of a situation in which residents of a state blessed with an ocean of oil are running short of the stuff in a time of bitter cold. — Alamogordo Daily News

THE UNREAL BUDGET

President Carter's proposed spending of $818 billions in fiscal 1981 (expected collections are $600 billions) is not a realistic budget. It must be assumed Carter knows quite well much more will be spent.

The hoax concerns defense spending. The $818 billion figure doesn't include any increased outlay for defense based on recent events such as the invasion of Afghanistan and Carter's bold words about going to war in the Persian Gulf if necessary. Everyone knows there will be a request, within weeks or months, for more defense money.

The current 1980 budget deficit, projected at $30 billions, could be about what the nation gets in fiscal 1981 — which would be the fourth Carter year with a major budget deficit. That is a major cause of today's inflation.

Thus, despite propaganda and claims from Democrats that this is an austerity budget, it's not. No great cuts have been made in wasteful programs and unnecessary, obsolete agencies and bureaucracies have not been eliminated. — Santa Rosa News editorial

The words: "symphony orchestra". If you think Willie Nelson plays "The Sweetest Music This Side of Heaven" and not Guy Lombardo's Orchestra, will probably leave you cold.

However, in the case of the Fort Worth Symphony Orchestra, their music isn't anywhere as "long hair" as the length of the hair sported by some of the nation's most famous country and western musicians.

What this breaks down to mean is: the Fort Worth Symphony Orchestra plays classical music—but often with a light touch. It's music you can relax to.

As to the proposed programs for this summer's music festival, the second performance will feature Benny Goodman playing with the symphony. After intermission, the Benny Goodman quintet will complete the evening's musical interlude. And, if that won't satisfy your ear for swing, you're hard to please.

The drive to raise $90,000 for seven performances by the Fort Worth Symphony this summer is progressing. It looks as though it'll fly.

To become a patron is simple. Join "Los Ruidos"; the tab is any amount over $500. You'll have the satisfaction of helping materially to bring the symphony to Ruidoso, plus the fringe benefits of membership in this unique organization of "noisemakers."

There's nothing like a little good music to bolster sagging spirits and nagging nerves. The opportunity is now to become a patron of this project and bring seven performances this summer, at box office prices anyone can afford, to add to the attractions that create that mystic that results in the enchantment that is Ruidoso

ON THE PRISON PROBE

Governor Bruce King and Attorney General Jeff Bingaman ain't about to see the investigation of the state penitentiary ... relative to the riot ... go by without having Joe Blow citizen on an advisory panel.

The King/Bingaman duo will name several to the panel ... who have no personal or professional stake in the outcome of the penitentiary investigation. Further, this panel can monitor the attorney general's staff ... and can advise him and the Board of Finance on how the citizens think things should be done ... or undone.

Let's hope that the panel members have no political power ... and then we can always say, at least of the prison, that, by jinkies, us common folks got a chance to get a word in edgewise on the new prison setup ... and thanks, Bruce and Jeff, for the opportunity you are providing the panel members to have a say, as a private citizen, in how our prison system will operate.

NEW BLM AREA BOSSES

The Bureau of Land Management (BLM) has announced that the western one-fourth of Lincoln County ... as pertains to public lands therein ... will soon be under the Roswell district office ... not the Las Cruces office.

This can't do any harm to the struggle to locate the proposed regional airport on BLM lands on Fort Stanton mesa ... 'cause it'll give the airport commission a chance to deal with officials that might not be exposed to the ag lads at NMSU, Las Cruces, on a daily basis.

Not that the BLM position will change much ... but at least there can be hopes that maybe the Roswell BLMers could see that the airport and the NMSU experiments can be located on the mesa ... without one interfering with the other ... even if a few weeds/cacti/grass/moisture measures have to be moved a few rods. Anyhow, nothing like doing a little wishful thinking ... no?

FIREPLACE CLEANUP

One way to make a quick cleanup of the dead grass and other clutter and litter around your home and on the adjoining lots and homes, is to clean your fireplace ... hot ashes and all ... and dump said material outside.

Why in no time at all, you'll discover your not-so-favorite weed patch has disappeared ... no more deep, dead grass ... and, if'n conditions are just right ... no more neighbors, maybe for miles, 'cause it's not all that hard for a forest fire to burn just about anything in its path ... no?

FEDERAL FUNDS HERE

Lincoln County might be the forgotten spot in Governor King's mind ... but Rep. Harold Rannels doesn't forget us ... and the Congressman says that Uncle Sam ... sometimes with an assist from Rannels ... doesn't forget us entirely.

Latest f'r instance is a blurb from Rannels, stating that New Mexico picked up $3.99 billion in federal funds last fiscal year ... and that Lincoln County garnered $28.5 million ... which, while it may or may not be our fair share of all that federal loot ... at least it's a fair bundle.

Of that $28.5 million, $12.2 million is in grant funds for agencies and organizations operating within the county ... and that's what Rannels said ... and he ought to know ... 'cause he's kinda kept an eye on our handouts ... and frankly admits he might not have supported all of them ... and that's the state portion ... not Lincoln County.

Kinda nice to know we're getting some ... and further that the sum for last fiscal year was $11,311,600 more'n our share for the fiscal year before that ... which shoulda had the county commissioners smiling.

CARTWHEEL SALE

The General Services Administration (GSA) has sold silver dollars at $65, $60 and $45 each ... and ain't got many left ... and when they're all gone, GSA figures they'll have picked up about $50 million ... presumably earmarked for the federal treasury.

Considering the rumors/scandals about GSA ... and how maybe they don't keep current inventories ... and pay huge rentals on vacant offices ... and don't keep too good tabs on expense vouchers ... or income and outgo ... it could be possible that that $50 million'd about square accounts ... after which, it wouldn't be out of line for them to hire an accountant that couldn't be bought ... which could result in some savings for the taxpayers.

BUSY SUMMER AHEAD

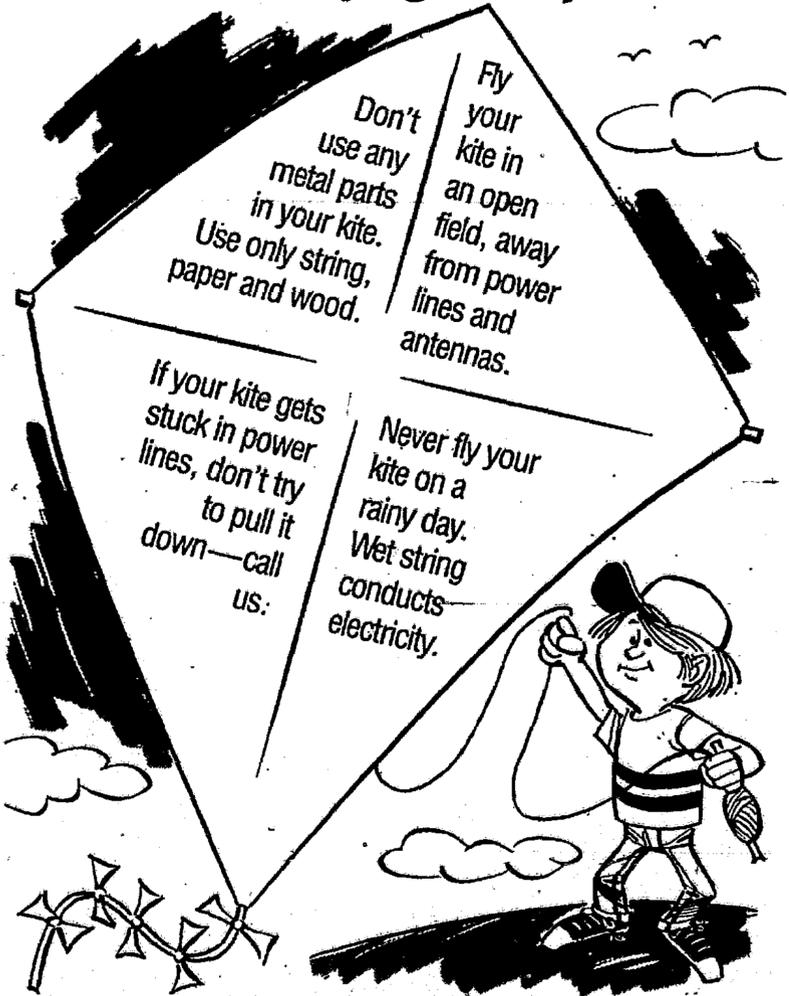

Soon the ponies'll be running here ... bringing tourists ... and school will be out across the country ... bringing tourists ... and it'll be vacation time ... bringing tourists ... and former tourists will tell friends about Ruidoso ... bringing tourists ... and there'll be other activities ... bringing tourists ... and the word's getting around about Ruidoso ... bringing tourists ... yep, seems that all of us have a common goal ... bringing tourists.

A NEW ACTIVITY BUS which will be used to transport students in the Ruidoso school system to out of town events, was recently purchased for $24,000. The bus is a 1964 model and features air conditioning, a restroom, seating for 40 passengers, an intercom, radio-stereo unit and ample storage. The General Motors Coach was driven from Saint Cloud, Minnesota and has about 250,000 miles on the overhauled engine and about 600,000 miles riding time, according to athletic director Doyle Howell. The coach gets six to eight miles per gallon.

Crime Stoppers seek escapee

Compared with the other problems encountered recently by the New Mexico State Penitentiary, the escapades of Lorraine Sanchez might seem a little trivial. But Sanchez holds something of a distinction. She's the elder statesman of New Mexico's prison escapees.

She didn't stay inside the prison for long. September 10, 1976 at about 1:45 a.m., she was discovered missing from the Women's Section of the Penitentiary. Law Enforcement officials haven't caught up to her since.

The 33-year-old Santa Fe native was sentenced to seven to 15 years imprisonment for voluntary manslaughter conviction March 30, 1976.

This week the State Crime Stoppers Commission is offering a $1,000 reward for information leading to the capture of Sanchez.

Santa Fe City Police Detective Toby Ficke said officers believe the diminutive escapee is possibly armed and should be considered dangerous.

He said police believe that Sanchez has changed her appearance substantially since her escape by altering the color of her hair, using different hairstyles and losing weight.

They believe she is in the Albuquerque area, but reports of her whereabouts have placed her as far away as Honolulu, Hawaii.

State Penitentiary records show that Sanchez is 5-1, and weighed 120 pounds when first incarcerated. She has brown eyes and naturally dark brown or black hair.

Anyone having any information which could help law enforcement authorities locate Sanchez is asked to call the State Crime Stoppers Commission at its toll-free number, 1-800-432-6933, or the Santa Fe Crime Stoppers Program at (505) 968-5555. In either case, callers do not have to reveal their identities and their calls are not taped.

Although escapes from both the maximum security prison facility near Santa Fe and from various minimum security institutions around New Mexico number into the dozens over the past three years, Sanchez has remained at large longer than any current escapee.

In addition to the $1,000 reward being offered this week for information leading to Ms. Sanchez' capture, the State Crime Stoppers Commission also is offering a $1,000 reward for information leading to the capture of another escapee — William Smith — who is the last of 11 inmates who escaped in December to still be at large.

And the Commission also offers rewards on a regular basis for information leading to the solution of other major crimes committed around the state of New Mexico and for information leading to the capture of other wanted persons.

The Commission still would like the following citizens to contact them so arrangements can be made to pay them rewards:

NM-165, NM-113, NM-111, NM-093, NM-077, NM-061 and NM-053.

Dona McCord named Deputy Chief Highway Administrator

Dona McCord of Santa Fe has been named Deputy Chief Highway Administrator for Administrative Services at the New Mexico State Highway Department, Chief Highway Administrator Fred O'Cheskey has announced.

McCord had filled the position in an acting capacity since November 1979 after Thomas A. Romero resigned to return to private financial consulting work.

In her new position McCord is one of three deputies to the chief highway administrator. The department's three non-engineering divisions: finance, administrative services and data processing report to her.

McCord joined the Highway Department staff in July 1978 as a division director in charge of administrative services. Prior to that appointment she had been employed as a senior fiscal analyst with the state's Legislative Finance Committee (LFC).

An Albuquerque native, the new deputy chief was graduated from Mariano High School. She attended Eastern New Mexico University in Portales and graduated, with honors, from Midwestern University in Wichita Falls, Texas in 1969. She subsequently taught at Abilene (Texas) High School before returning to New Mexico and the LFC post.

She and her husband, Albert, have a two-year-old son, James. The family lives in the Santa Fe Area.

Roswell BLM may control Lincoln County's public lands

Federal public lands in the western one-fourth of Lincoln County will be switched to the control of the United States Bureau of Land Management's (BLM) Roswell district office, under recently proposed boundary changes. The west Lincoln lands are now administered by the BLM's Las Cruces district office.

The BLM is proposing to realign district boundaries along county lines throughout New Mexico. Officials of the federal agency said the new boundaries will be more easily recognized by the public than the present irregular patterns and will make resource management more efficient.

The new boundaries will also help the BLM work more closely with local and county governments, the officials said, and will simplify planning, because most planning information is now collected on a county basis.

Under the proposal, the BLM's Roswell district will include all of Lincoln, Guadalupe, Quay, DeBaca, Curry, Roosevelt, Chaves, Eddy and Lea counties. Las Cruces district will include Sierra, Grant, Hidalgo, Luna, Dona Ana and Otero.

The public may comment on the proposed boundary changes by contacting any BLM office or by writing the BLM's state office, P.O. Box 1449, Santa Fe, New Mexico 87501.

Young Demos set state convention

The state convention of New Mexico Young Democrats begins at 9 a.m., Saturday in the Hilton Inn, Albuquerque.

Reservations may be made by telephoning the State Democratic Party, 883-4424. Late registrations will be accepted beginning at 9 a.m., Saturday.

Agenda items include a luncheon with Governor and Mrs. Bruce King and election of interim officers to serve through the June 3 primary election.

Convention speakers will be keynote Dale Emmons, National Young Democrat president and Frank Alexander, western regional director of the organization.

Focus on Small Business

by E. Maine Shafer

Dear Mr. Shafer,

The idea of exporting my small business products interests me from time to time. But I don't know where markets overseas exist for my products. I need information on how to finance, ship and sell. Can you help?

The idea that one's own small business has the world rather than one's own backyard or country as a potential marketplace is indeed foreign to many of the nation's small business people.

Like you, they don't know where to go for help in becoming more export-oriented. But the fact is there are many government services available to increase America's exports.

For starters, your local Small Business Administration (SBA) office has a new publication, "Export Marketing for Smaller Firms." The publication can prove invaluable in helping you acquire the basic data necessary for you to decide whether or not exporting really is for your firm. The publication describes an organized method for deciding whether foreign markets warrant an investment of your company's resources, and furnishes a step-by-step approach so that you can isolate the most attractive markets for trade.

And if you've already gotten your feet wet in exporting, the publication gives a handy overview of pricing and promoting products and getting them to overseas buyers.

You will learn how to measure your firm's potential for export — the chances for success, what you have to know about your industry abroad and what your performance within the industry should be. Your marketing approach can be explored and you can make an evaluation of your firm's particular resources.

Just getting export data is a chore by itself. So the SBA publication tells what statistical data is available and where, and how to get help from outside experts and government agencies.

The publication discusses how to estimate the number of buyers in a foreign market; how you can evaluate competition; and how to price, promote and distribute your product.

Of course, the key to success in exporting is to make the right product available at the right time in the right market at a price which the buyer can afford and which will return an acceptable profit. It's the same criteria that is a must in your local and national marketplace.

Your local SBA office can provide assistance in directing you toward other sources of help. From time to time, SBA, the United States Commerce Department and other Federal agencies conduct export marketing symposia and workshops.

If you need information or assistance, please contact us at the SBA office at 5000 Marble, N.E., Suite 320, Albuquerque, New Mexico.

Tote board strikers halt Sunland races

Two racing programs at Sunland Park had to be called off over the weekend due to a strike by employees of the American Totalisator Co.
 The walkout was part of a national strike called by employees of American Totalisator.
 Sunland Park, like many tracks around the country, lease the betting equipment from American Totalisator. The firm, headquartered in Maryland, also provides the technicians to maintain and repair the equipment. A four-man crew is assigned to Sunland Park.
 Due to the national dimension of the strike, American Totalisator was unable to fly in non-union supervisory personnel to oversee the equipment. Thus, Sunland general manager Woody Erwin had no recourse but to cancel the racing programs Saturday and Sunday.
 Erwin stressed that Sunland Park is not involved in the dispute, since the hassle centers on a new contract between the employees - who are members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers - and American Totalisator.
 A Federal mediator had been called in to help iron out the differences between the union and American Totalisator. A three-year contract expired at midnight February 29. When the two sides failed to come to terms, the nation wide strike resulted.
 "It's our hope the impasse will be resolved shortly so that we can continue our racing program without any further interruption," Erwin said.
 The $5,635 White Sands Handicap at 870 yards had been slated as Sunday's top event. Racing Secretary Richard Lidberg said the White Sands will be re-scheduled for either this Saturday or Sunday.

The draft? Ruidoso High School students would serve!

BY MARK BAGBY
Staff Writer/Photographer

An unscientific poll of Ruidoso High School students indicates a majority of local youths are in favor of the draft.

CATHY JONES

All those interviewed said they would fight for their country—but reluctantly. The survey was a random sample of students, four male and four female from different classes, and the results are not conclusive and should not be taken as such.

But the results are somewhat surprising. Opposition to conscription of United States citizens is not new. One of the worst riots in New York City occurred when the draft was made law — in 1862.

Since then, many American citizens have been opposed to the draft, many even leaving the country, and the culmination of that opinion was during the 1960s, when opposition was extremely widespread, and draft card burnings were commonplace.

Eventually, the draft was dropped, and registration ended in 1975.

But President Carter has indicated, with world politics what they are today, he favors starting the draft again — and it would include women as well as men, probably the first time in history service would be required of both sexes.

Most of those interviewed didn't like the idea of women being drafted.

Freshman Mary Cadena said, "I don't like the idea. If I had to fight, I'd be scared. It really scares me. Why would I want to kill somebody?"

Sophomore Scott Neal said, "Don't draft women. I don't think their duty would be in fighting a war."

"Men are supposed to be the head of the household, and that means we're supposed to take care of women. That means fighting for them too.

"If they were drafted to a desk job, that would be okay. But fighting for women — I'm strictly against it."

Robin Houck, a 15 year old sophomore, said, "I really wouldn't want to fight. A desk job or something like that might be okay."

"I'm no women's libber," said senior Lorie Heckman. "I wouldn't want to fight. I never thought of the possibility of being drafted before the Equal Rights Amendment (ERA). If I was drafted, I guess I'd go."

"But I wouldn't like it." — Not everyone thought drafting women was a bad idea.

Gene Reeves, a sophomore, said, "I think it's a good idea. Women are smart. I'd want them to help us, but I don't think they should be on the battlefield."

"But the ones who want ERA, they should fight. They want everything else, give that to them too."

Cathy Jones, a junior, said, "I think women should be drafted. We're citizens of the United States, and we have to fight for our country too."

"I don't think we should be on the front lines yet — maybe desk jobs, or doctors or nurses or something like that."

"We're not ready to fight. Our society has taught us (women) that we can't fight. But if we're trained to do it, I think we could."

Almost all those interviewed hadn't really thought about the draft before — but it's certainly on their minds now.

"It's hard to think of my friends getting killed somewhere," Cadena said. "If we have a draft, a lot of people won't go."

"We probably should have some type of penalty for those who didn't want to go, but I couldn't blame them if they didn't want to go."

"I don't want to fight," Reeves said. "I used to think I'd go to Canada first, but I think now I'd go to war. I'd fight for my country. That's the proper thing to do."

"You have to fight for your freedom or you won't have it anymore. Everybody wants it but nobody wants to fight for it."

"I hope I don't get drafted, but I'd go if I was."

"If you want to live in America," Heckman said, "then you have to fight for it. We owe our country something, including our lives if need be. I don't like to think of my friends or boyfriend fighting a war, but if that's what it takes, then I guess we have to."

"Yeah, I'll register if they start the draft," Neal said. "I don't want to, but if you got to, you got to."

Gary Jones said, "I don't want to go. I thought about it when they first started talking about it, and I said to myself I wouldn't go."

"But after thinking about it, now I would go. But I think the ones who don't want to go shouldn't, and the ones who do should go."

The draft is a good thing, said Cathy Jones, because "it gives the people of the country the decision on whether or not to fight. A strictly professional army takes that decision away."

"It's a good idea," Houck said "but I don't like it. I realize, though, if we had a war right now, we'd lose. We're not ready for a war. I don't want it to happen, but if it happens, it happens."

The worst part of an imminent draft is the sudden lack of control in your life, said 17-year-old senior Scott Barnett.

"I turn 18 in July, so I'd be a prime target for the draft," he said. "That's a weird feeling. You know, my life was set, really stable: I graduate from high school and then it's off to college. Now everything's changed. I might not have control over my life anymore."

Most of those questioned felt war is a distinct possibility, if not an imminent danger.

"War is a possibility," said Cathy Jones. "I think it can be avoided and I don't want to get into one. But it's a possibility."

"If we get into one," Houck said, "it would be with the Soviet Union. And it will probably be in the near future."

"I agree with Carter," Gary Jones said. "I think I'd give Iran another month to turn over the hostages, and then I'd use force to get them back."

"Iran has done something it had no right to do," Heckman said. "It's a slap in the face and I think we should go get the hostages."

"The Soviet Union, I don't know. That would be a very important move. It would decide our fates forever, that's for sure."

"War? Gee, I don't know," Barnett said. "I do know, if I wanted to go, I'd enlist. I wouldn't want to be drafted."

"I think whatever country gets into a war should have a chance to fight first before we intervene. I think we should stay out of it."

"If I was drafted, I'd go. It'd be hard to take, leaving family and friends. Dying for my country isn't something I think about. Dying is what I think about."

"No matter who or what I die for, it's still death."

Convicts tell Mid-Schoolers: 'State penitentiary is a terrible college'

BY CHARLOTTE FELLERS
Staff Writer/Photographer

Four prisoners serving time at Camp Sierra Blanca (CSB), the minimum security state prison in Lincoln County, visited White Mountain Middle School recently to "tell you kids what will happen if you keep doing those things."

"Those things" included everything from cutting classes to sneaking a smoke occasionally to drinking large quantities of alcoholic beverages.

All four prisoners have served time at the Santa Fe Corrections Facility and all told their grim life stories, ending with "what it's like in prison."

Concerned Convicts for Youth is a program initiated by prisoners at CSB who felt that while they couldn't do anything to change their lives, they could reach out to help others, especially young people they see heading in the wrong directions. Only eighth graders with signed permission slips heard the message of the convicts.

"Now I didn't come up here this morning to give you a testimony. I'm going to tell you how to get to the penitentiary," prisoner number 24988, said. He told of his and his sister's experiences with drugs and alcohol and said he changed from a "young, aggressive man who had a lot of plans" for his life into a drug pusher.

The convict said he was a heroin addict for 20 years, but has since kicked the habit. "What happened to my family, to my wife? I lost them. What happened to all those years I lost in prison? What happened to all my goals? I lost them too," he said.

"I can't change what I've been through but I know you can change now if you're heading in that direction." He said people can sometimes learn more by listening and said "the choices are all yours now."

Another inmate related similar views, and said, "If you go to the pen, you're going to regret it. Once you get a number you will live with it for the rest of your life."

The prisoner said the convicts "run the pen. They're going to do whatever they want whenever they get ready." He said he survived a 20 year sentence only because "I had a lot of friends, a lot of connections."

The third inmate told the eighth graders that "this school is the best thing to happen to you right now. I quit because I didn't have the guts to continue. In the pen, I got the chance to go back to school and I found out I wasn't stupid."

He, too, said that penitentiary life is not fun and games. "I make it good in prison because I got a lot of friends. It's a good thing because I'll be there till 2002."

Prisoner number 23076 told the youths that a lot of inmates "hang themselves because they don't want to do some of the things the other prisoners ask them to." He said he's "seen kids sell their souls for a pack of cigarettes" and added that, in prison "it's kill or get killed. They'll kill you quicker than they'd kill a snake."

He said he knew these things went on because "I saw this. I didn't hear this on the news, or read this in the paper. The state pen is a long college, a terrible college. You can be anything you want to be but don't be a convict."

The four prisoners and their fifth team member, Eddie O'Brien, corrections officer at CSB, have given similar programs to students between eighth and 12th grades. Their accounts have also been presented in Alamogordo, Capitan and Hondo.

"These guys really had to tone it down for this age group," O'Brien said. "They really tell it like it is to the older groups."

O'Brien has had reports that the program is working. In Alamogordo, a youth who was traditionally a poor student and a known troublemaker "turned his life around after hearing these guys."

O'Brien has helped with the program about a year and hopes the prisoners will be invited to speak at more schools to more age groups. "We feel like we have a worthwhile message to bring to these kids; maybe we'll be able to save them from all this."

STUDENTS at White Mountain Middle School learned something about drugs, smoking marijuana, cutting classes, and the consequences, if those habits are cultivated, from prisoners living at Camp Sierra Blanca. Four inmates spoke to eighth graders to try and help them turn their lives around. "You can be anything you want in life, but don't be a prisoner." Pictured left to right are Shemie Doak, Tina Sanchez and Goetz Schmitz.

BRENDON COTHRUN didn't miss a word spoken by prisoners from Camp Sierra Blanca, who visited White Mountain Middle School to explain "what it's like in prison."

EIGHTH GRADER Ingrid Castello listened intently to advice being given by prisoners from Camp Sierra Blanca.
