NO. 1 IN OUR 35TH YEAR

RUIDOSO, LINCOLN COUNTY, NEW MEXICO 88345

THURSDAY, MAY 15, 1980

SELECTED AS WARRIOR Athlete of the Year at Monday's all-sports banquet was Joe Almager, who accepted his trophy from Ruidoso High School athletic director Doyle Howell. Almager lettered in three sports and is the first Warrior trackster to qualify for the state meet four consecutive years.

Joe Almager Warrior Athlete of the year

Ruidoso High School senior Joe Almager was named the 1980 Warrior Athlete of the Year at the annual All-Sports banquet held Monday night at the Elks' Lodge.

Numerous athletic letters and awards were presented at the banquet, attended by about 200 persons.

Almager, 17, narrowly beat out Godfrey Enjoly for the title, and was awarded the outstanding offensive back in football trophy and was also named outstanding male trackster.

He lettered in both sports, as well as basketball.

In football, he started at halfback and was named to the honorable mention roster in the All-District 3AAA selections. He was a substitute in basketball and spent much of the season on the bench. He did, however, see considerable action, chiefly as a defensive player.

Almager's greatest accomplishments have come in track. Primarily a miler, he was one of the top two runners in the district at that distance, but earlier this year switched to the 800 meter run.

In that event, he qualified for the state track meet, which will be Saturday in Albuquerque. It was the fourth consecutive year he has qualified for the meet, making him the first Warrior to

TRUSTEES OKAY ANIMAL SHELTER LEASE

Animal control plan begun

Ruidoso trustees Tuesday evening took positive action to combat the village's dog problems by hiring an animal control officer and authorizing the Humane Society of Lincoln County (HSLC) to build and operate an animal shelter on village land by approving a 20 year lease on the property.

The trustees hired Jack Sniadecki, Captain, as animal control officer over the strongly worded objections of Ed Jungbluth, HSLC president.

Under the terms of the agreement, Sniadecki will be a village employee to be paid up to $1,000 monthly. He will work a 40 hour week, with the time divided to provide service seven days weekly. The pay scale, as the need for service diminishes, will be negotiated to establish an hourly rate. Under this plan, the village can terminate his employment at any time, as he is not operating the service under his contract.

Village clerk Jim Hine was authorized to contract for use of the Fort Stanton animal shelter with administrator Mark Delgado, enabling Sniadecki to transport animals there for disposition.

BEFORE THE VOTE hiring Sniadecki, HSLC president Ed Jungbluth voiced strong objections by saying, "You are entering into an animal control contract with a person you know nothing about and this is not in conformance with the humane society's rules and regulations. You are doing an injustice to local persons," in reference to proposals submitted by Ruidoso residents Ron Kowalski, $3,200 monthly and D&S Services, by Jim Wooldridge, $4,405 monthly.

Jungbluth then demanded that Sniadecki produce proof of his qualifications and ability to perform his duties as animal control officer and that he fully describe the condition of the Fort Stanton facility.

Trustee Frank Sayner interrupted Jungbluth to say that Sniadecki's offer was "far cheaper than other bids," and that "Fort Stanton is not ideal, but is stop gap action that is better than we have now."

Kowalski asked the trustees if they were accepting liability for Sniadecki.

"The village doesn't accept liability for anything," Mayor Lloyd L. David Jr., said loudly.

Davis then reiterated statements he has made many times in the past concerning animals and the problems they cause the village. He said, "I don't like animals or the people who do like animals. Animals don't belong in the village, or any city. I will entertain a motion that we abolish animals," in Ruidoso.

After getting a promise from Sniadecki that he could return claimed animals to Ruidoso for owners to pick up and giving him permission to use a village pickup and other equipment to perform his duties, the trustees unanimously approved his hiring.

Sniadecki had been professionally involved with domestic and wild animals since 1963. He is currently providing animal control in the Fort Stanton area and had just ended a stint as animal control officer for Capitan. He owns a licensed taxidermy business in Capitan.

THE TRUSTEES ALSO approved a 20 year lease of village land, requested by HSLC, authorizing the construction of an animal shelter on acreage now containing the sewage treatment plant and the hot mix plant. The animal shelter will be located between those two facilities, though further back from the road.

The lease, at $20 for the period is to be paid in annual installments of $1, states: "Specifically, noises from the animal shelter operation shall be non-discernable outside of a 100 foot radius from the building."

HSLC officers April 29 advised the trustees that their plans call for the animal shelter to be in operation within 90 days after signing of the lease. HSLC has also announced that plans for funding the facility are being made and will be made public later.

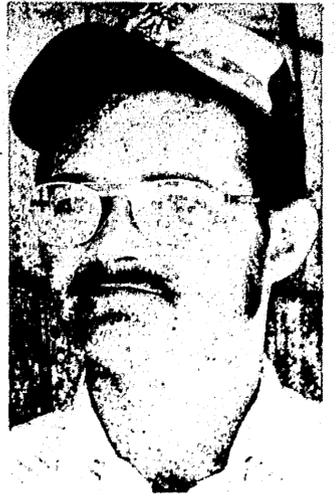

In other action, the trustees:

— Approved purchase of a pickup truck, with boom, from Skyland Garage at the bid price of $13,200.

— Rejected all bids received on sewer line cleaning equipment and issuing a new call for bids on a vacuum system.

— Were advised by Mike Mulholland, Rotary committee member on street post installation, that 120 posts are ready to be set, that 63 are ready to carve, with 146 as yet uncut. Installation of the post will begin as soon as question of which part of the village should be first served is settled.

— Were advised by village attorney Ron Harris that Ordinance 80-4, governing subdivisions, will be revised to "read exactly as state statutes."

— Approved the division of two lots on the Southwest Children's Home property into four tracts for construction of multiple family dwellings.

— Accepted a proposal by Roger Kendall, adult probation officer for Lincoln and Otero counties, for employing persons on probation as well as parolees, for on the job training with the street department and to work in the village parks.

— Took no action on a request by David Goodman to purchase village property across the street, east, from the Ruidoso Public Library.

Land use hearing held for forest development

Lincoln National Forest representatives Wednesday evening conducted a public hearing to obtain input on the direction the Forest Service should take in planning future use of forest lands.

Presenting explanations of suggested uses for the land were Larry Soehlig, forester, Dave White, hydrologist, Wray Shildneck, computer programmer, with Smokey Bear District ranger Paul Gordon answering questions about this district.

In opening the meeting, attended by about 40 local residents, Soehlig said, "We're here to get your views and input for management of Lincoln National Forest."

After each of the representatives covered their fields, the audience was again advised the purpose was to obtain the wishes of the public as to how forest lands should be used, that these wishes would be compiled and used by forest service officials to develop a program that would best suit the majority. The forest service personnel stressed the fact that use planning would depend upon the forest's ability to produce the needs.

The results of a series of meetings being conducted on the Lincoln National Forest will be compiled, Soehlig said, "In about 18 months, after which more public hearings will be held."

Complaints on the operation of the forest in the past were voiced by Floyd Landrum, Brother Miller and Otis Noble. Landrum questioned the changes in grazing operations, charging cattlemen had been "forced off the range"; Miller questioned the timber harvest, charging he'd been forced to "close two saw mills" and Noble, after demanding that the forest representatives outline their programs, and produce revenue figures from the Lincoln National Forest, and being advised that the figures were available at the Ruidoso office, said, "You certainly came here grossly unprepared."

During and after the meeting questionnaires on programs each individual favored were completed and collected for evaluation. Forms pertaining to this public meeting are available at district forest service offices, to be mailed back to the Forest Service before June 10.

Kansas Derby Sunday

Denim N Diamonds, a brown filly owned by R. D. Hubbard of Wichita, Kansas looms as an early favorite Sunday in the sixth running of the $22,150 Kansas Derby, the first leg of the Triple Crown for three-year-old quarter horses, at Ruidoso Downs.

The daughter of 1973 All-American Futurity champ, Timeto Thinkrich, set the fastest qualifying time in Saturday's trials, covering the 400 yards in 20.65 seconds against a stiff headwind.

Denim N Diamonds was one of three horses that trainer H. Don Farris and jockey Jerry Nicodemus qualified to the finale, in which $185,448 will be distributed. The winner collects just over $78,000 and the breeder of the winning horse picks up $5,000.

Nicodemus and Farris also teamed up to qualify Streakin Six, a colt with earnings of over $360,000, and Go For One, a colt who reached the finale with the luck of a shake. Go For One had tied for the 10th fastest time with Chautos Junior at 21.05 seconds, but the luck of the draw sent Chautos Junior to the Consolation, which will also be staged Sunday.

Denim N Diamonds looked impressive in winning her trial heat as a strong favorite. She came in 3 1/2 lengths ahead of Loomarang and outdistanced Pa Pa Wheelie, the only horse to qualify for all three of the Triple Crown races here last summer.

Hubbard purchased Denim N Diamonds for $32,000 two years ago in the All-American Select Yearling Sale. She is one of five sale graduates to reach the finale. The others include Charge It Papa, $8,200; Mito Mite, $8,000; Give Me Room, $2,100; and Johnny Drake, $15,000.

Last year Denim N Diamonds earned over $73,000 with a 5-2-0 record in nine starts. She was the fastest qualifier in the Rainbow Futurity and finished fifth, the same spot she finished in the All-American.

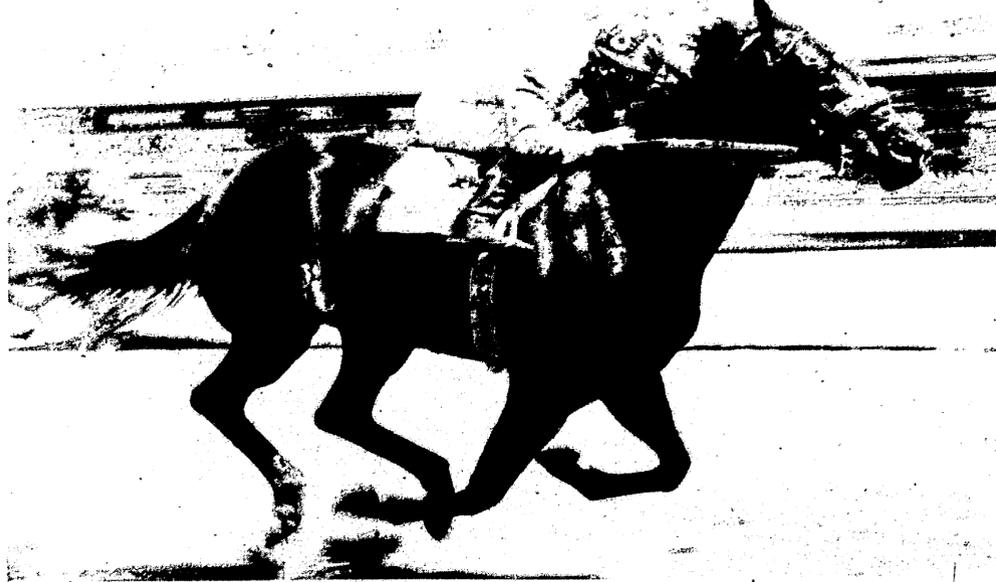

Despite his loss in the trials to Jaimie Jay, Streakin Six will still draw considerable attention. Streakin Six has never finished lower than second in eight career outings and has banked $360,447. The son of Easy Six was second in the All-American and captured the Rainbow.

Here is a complete list of the qualifiers and their times: Denim N Diamonds, owned by R. D. Hubbard of Wichita, Kansas, 20.65; Jaimie Jay, owned by W. E. Mueller of Colorado Springs, Colorado, 20.72; Rebel Killouqua, owned by Wayne and Jewel Scott of Tahlequah, Oklahoma, 20.87; Streakin Six, owned by B. F. Phillips Jr., of Frisco, Texas, 20.91; Charge It Papa, owned by James Keng of Giddings, Texas, 20.93; Mito Mite, owned by James V. Harris of Edcouch, Texas, 20.96; Thats Raney, owned by Bill J. Reed and Hugh L. Tucker of Abilene, Texas, 20.97; Give Me Room, owned by Dorothy Cornstubble of Valley View, Texas, 20.99; Johnny Drake, owned by Tom E. Roden of Odessa, Texas, 21.00; and Go For One, owned by Clarence Scharbauer Jr., of Midland, Texas, 21.05.

Thats Raney finished third in both the Rainbow and All-American last year. The St. Bar colt earned over $144,000 with a stout 5-3-2 record in 12 starts.

Jockey Jackie Martin won four races last Saturday in the trials and was aboard three qualifiers, including Jaimie Jay, Rebel Killouqua and Charge It Papa. Steve Fuller rode Thats Raney and Give Me Room. Other riders in the trials include Willie Lovell on Mito Mite and Gary Sumpter on Johnny Drake.

TOP DERBY THREAT — Denim N Diamonds looms as the likely favorite in the $22,150 Kansas Quarter Horse Derby at Ruidoso Downs Sunday. In last week's trials, the filly flashed to a 3 1/2 length win and carved out the top qualifying time of 20.65 seconds for 400 yards. A win Sunday would be worth $76,002. The Kansas Derby is the first leg of the Triple Crown for three-year-old quarter horses.

Downs trimming refuse service

Ruidoso Downs trustees decided Monday night to discontinue sanitation service to the Agua Fria, Palo Verde and Biscuit Hill areas, effective July 1.

The action was taken because the village is losing about $8,000 annually by providing the service in those areas, which are outside the village limits.

Village clerk Virginia Spall said she had consulted with officials of the Department of Finance and Administration on the matter, who reportedly told her, "the council must take some action, because water and sanitation are two businesses (of local governments) which must support themselves."

"We have two alternatives," Spall said. "Raise rates or discontinue service."

Trustee Don Rierson, who also serves as sanitation commissioner, said he had consulted some residents of the areas and explained the problem to them. In order for the village to break even, the rates for the 31 families involved would have to be raised to $17.50 or more per month.

"They definitely wouldn't pay it," Rierson said. He suggested the trustees might, as an alternative, place two or three large commercial dumpsters at points near the highway. That idea was dismissed, however, since the council agreed they had no funds to purchase the dumpsters.

Mayor Norman Wheeler cited several reasons why the service to the outlying areas is a money-losing proposition, including the high cost of fuel, the fact that the garbage truck gets "about two miles to the gallon," and the poor condition of the roads in the three areas.

The council agreed with trustee Harold Mansell, who said, "Our first obligation is to the residents here. It's ridiculous for them to have to subsidize," service to other areas.

While moving to discontinue the services, trustee Bob Power added that the village would work with the residents of the areas to come up with a solution to the problem.

The possibility of hiring an individual to bring garbage from the areas to the sanitation department at the municipal complex was also discussed. The date of the service cutoff was set at July 1 to allow ample time for the residents and city officials to tackle the problem. Letters will be mailed to the persons involved explaining why and when the services will be stopped.

The trustees also agreed to make an allowance on a resident's water bill after she was mistakenly charged for 194,000 gallons during a period when her water meter was to have been disconnected.

In other business, the trustees: — Gave final approval to an ordinance regulating installation, maintenance and permits for outdoor advertising signs. The ordinance will take effect five days after publication.

— Gave approval to the 1979 traffic code, which incorporated new provisions of the code adopted last year by the state legislature.

— Approved the hiring of Wade Steel and Oscar Villado Jr., as police officers.

— Changed the regular meeting time to 7:30 p.m., for the summer months.

— Set May 28, the date of the next regular meeting, as a revenue sharing fund hearing.

Sanchez to prison on driving rap

Willie Sanchez' driving record caught up with him in Magistrate's Court, Ruidoso, last week and he is facing 545 days in the state penitentiary, with one other driving charge still pending.

Sanchez, of Ruidoso Downs, was sentenced by Judge Jim Wheeler to 385 days in prison on a Driving While Intoxicated (DWI) charge and fined $1,000. The second offense, reckless driving, drew a 180 day prison sentence, plus a $100 fine. The prison terms are to be served consecutively. The pending charge against Sanchez is driving on revocation.

Judge Wheeler said the severity of Sanchez' DWI sentence was due to it "being his eighth of record."

Following sentencing, Sanchez was ordered held in Lincoln County jail, under a $1,500 bond, pending appeal by the Public Defender.

In other court action: — Johnny E. Flores, Tularosa, on charges of DWI, second offense, was fined $1,500 and sentenced to 18 months in Lincoln County jail. Flores is to serve 10 days, in two days a week stints from 8 p.m., Sunday - 8 p.m., Tuesday, with the balance of the jail term under probation to the court, with the proviso that he report to an alcoholic counselor.

— Michael Dale Cagle, Ruidoso, on a charge of shoplifting, was fined $100 and sentenced to 180 days in Lincoln County jail. Two days of the sentence were to be served, after which he was ordered to report back to the court. The balance of the term will be under probation to the court.

Motor vehicle office closing

The Ruidoso Motor Vehicle Office, Gateway Center, will be closed May 19-21, because employees will be attending a seminar in Albuquerque.

Normal operating hours will resume May 22.

New Smokey Bear cub greets museum visitors

A new replica of the young Smokey Bear, clinging to a tree, was set in place Monday at the Smokey Bear Museum in Capitan.

The new fiberglass model, made by woodcarver Kevin Wolff of Capitan, replaces a wooden one which was destroyed in a recent windstorm. The original statue was carved by Arthur Clemens of Picacho.

Making the new bear cub was no small task. "The first stage was finding a durable tree in the shape I wanted," Wolff said. He and his wife, Rosemary, trekked through the Capitan Gap area searching for a tree from Smokey's birthplace which was not only well-preserved, but which had "good lines," to provide the proper setting for the cub.

After finding an appropriate walnut tree, Wolff made a preliminary mold of the cub from clay, molding it to fit the tree. Plaster molds were also necessary before the assembly of the final fiberglass figure. He worked on the project over a period of about six weeks.

Museum employee Willie Hobbs said she was pleased to have the new cub in place, because of its popularity with visitors.

A NEW CUB is in place and ready to greet visitors to the Smokey Bear Museum in Capitan. At left is Kevin Wolff, Capitan woodcarver, who constructed the new Smokey from fiberglass, to insure a long life. Helping set the new cub and tree in place on the grounds is museum employee Willie Hobbs.

C-C subcommittees to set goals

Members of the board of directors of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce decided Monday to ask the Retail Merchants Committee to write recommendations for Chamber subcommittees "which could be used as a standard," according to director Larry Langford.

The recommendations will be general, with each subcommittee required to write their own list of goals. Board member Robert Hays said, "It might be well... If the Retail Merchants as a division of the Chamber elects its own board of directors," Hays also suggested limiting committee members' terms of office (members now serve unlimited terms of service.)

Four board members, also members of the Retail Merchants Committee, were asked what they have done to generate 100 percent participation from Ruidoso merchants.

Richard Sandoval said members are selected so they represent as many retail interests as possible from as many areas of the village as possible. He also said that participation in the committee is traditionally about 80 percent and feels one reason they are so active is because they have been allowed to initiate and implement many promotions.

Benny Coulston suggested subcommittees submit a calendar every six to 12 months outlining projected plans. Funding will continue as before, built into the Chamber's general budget.

The board also approved a $50 expenditure to help purchase playground equipment for Two Rivers Park. A proposal from Jim Woodridge pegged the cost at nearly $8,000 for equipment. He said he wished for "wholehearted" support from the board in seeking funding for the project. Although he has approached Lodger's Tax for funding of the equipment, Lodger's Tax for funding of the equipment, no money has been allocated yet, he said.

Board members approved the drafting of a resolution supporting Woodridge's idea, but suggested he approach local service clubs for funds rather than Lodger's Tax.

The board also: —Approved the appointment of Tom Kelham to the Retail Merchants Committee replacing Jack Reed.

—Discussed plans for the upcoming membership drive, scheduled June 11.

—Discussed revising the Chamber by-laws which are "extremely outdated," according to president Sheila Harris. Attorney Ron Harris has offered to rewrite by-laws into a rough draft, which will be discussed at a future meeting.

—Accepted a proposed budget for the 1980 Cadillac Party.

—Agreed to begin a series of "round table" discussions on KRHR radio every Tuesday morning at 9:30 a.m.

—Heard an update on the printing of a combined map/brochure.

—Discussed goals of the Chamber as defined by board members, with more marketing of Ruidoso topping the list.

Pickup truck said missing

Ruidoso Downs police are investigating the alleged theft of a pickup truck and miscellaneous tack equipment from the race track Wednesday.

Chief Ray Garner said the department received notice of the incident about 10 a.m. Wednesday morning. The truck reportedly bears Texas license plates QC-6284 and is owned by Michael C. Stinton of Fort Worth, Texas.

Value of the truck is estimated at over $7,000, and the tack was valued at over $300, Garner said. No arrests have been made in the case.

Downs police also discovered Wednesday that a residence on Colorado Street had been vandalized. Damage to windows, doors and a hot water heater were estimated at $800.

Several young children were apprehended by police, and turned over to their families for disciplinary action.

Escapée Sena recaptured, large bond set

Nick Sena, 18 Albuquerque, entered a plea of not guilty at his arraignment Wednesday in District Court in Carrizozo. Sena, who appeared before Judge George Zimmerman, was charged with two counts of armed robbery and two counts of aggravated assault on a peace officer in connection with an April 19 incident in Ruidoso.

Following his arrest, Sena escaped April 27 from the state Hospital in Las Vegas. He was arrested recently in Dallas, Texas and returned to New Mexico. He remains in the Lincoln County Jail. His bond is set at $100,000, no ten percent allowed.

Two forest campgrounds open today

Two Forest Service campgrounds, Skyline and Monjeau, will open today for summer use, according to Randy Herzberg, forester for Smokey Bear Ranger District, Lincoln National Forest.

Both are equipped with restrooms and picnic facilities but no water, Herzberg said. Oak Grove campground, usually open at the same time, will remain closed until repair work on State Highway 532, Ski Run Road, is completed.

Also opening today is Cedar Creek picnic area, for day use only. Campgrounds already open include Three Rivers and South Fork. South Fork is a fee area equipped with restrooms, garbage collection, running water and picnic facilities. Cost for using this area is $3 per day.

For additional information, contact Smokey Bear Ranger Station at 257-4095.

Carrizozo observing youth week

The Town of Carrizozo, by proclamation of mayor Manuel Hernandez, is observing "Youth Employment Service Week" through Saturday.

Mayor Hernandez said he is urging business leaders to provide employment opportunities for young people by listing job openings with the Employment Security Department.

ComFIRE meets today

The Committee for Insuring Ruidoso's Environment (ComFIRE) will meet today at 4 p.m. in the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce conference room.

The recent Red Flag Alert, present fire conditions, and placement of street signs will be discussed.

School officials back local cancer chapter

The Ruidoso Board of Education Tuesday endorsed plans by the schools' administrative staff to support fund raising efforts of the East Lincoln Chapter of the American Cancer Society (ELACS).

The four school principals, diagnostician and superintendent have purchased four tickets each to the ELACS-sponsored barbecue and dance May 24, to be at the All American Sales Barn at Ruidoso Downs.

The tickets will be distributed to school personnel in a drawing and all employees will be encouraged to purchase additional tickets. "We want to reserve a few tables there and try and get everyone to come," Superintendent Pat Vallant, said.

"We want to set the example for the rest of the community to get behind this cause," Dave Parks, board president, said. Resignations were accepted from Jody Winn, special education, level C teacher; Shaulla Cull, third grade teacher; and Mary Gaddy, first grade teacher.

The board also: —Hired Ellie Keeton as middle school library aide; Jim Hickerson, third grade teacher; Jan Hickerson, first grade teacher; and Sandy Gladden, diagnostician.

—Approved a budget increase of $3,317 for Title IV-B for this fiscal year.

—Accepted $54,340, Title I monies, for fiscal 1980-81.

—Accepted high bids of $179.50 for a 1970 four-door Ambassador from James Capps and $157 for a 1956 Chevrolet from Steve Garcia.

—Called for bids on maintenance of office machines and janitorial supplies. —Considered administrative policy regarding use of school facilities. This policy will be discussed in detail at the next regular board meeting.

RUIDOSO MAYOR Lloyd Davis Jr., center, Tuesday signed a proclamation declaring May 15 to June 17 Cancer Crusade Month in Ruidoso. The proclamation urges all citizens "to heed the life-saving messages of the American Cancer Society and to provide generous support for this 1980 Crusade." Also pictured are Wilton Howell, left, crusade vice chairman and Ken Moore, right, crusade chairman, who will be contacting business people in coming weeks to seek donations for the local crusade.

The Plant Corner
by Sally Black

This column is devoted to growing healthy indoor plants. Address questions to: Sally Black, The Ruidoso News, Box 128, Ruidoso, New Mexico 88345.

Dear Sally: I received a Rubber Tree Plant as a gift. Please tell me the best place to keep it in the house and how to care for it. Thank you, Allyson Lee.

Dear Allyson: I did a column last week on the Rubber Tree Plant. I do hope all your questions were answered. Thank you so much for your letter.

Dear Sally: I have a plant window located on the southside of the house. Please tell me which plants will do best in so much sun. Thanks, I enjoy your column. Beth Atwood.

Dear Beth: I would suggest a Bougainvillea for your plant window. As the vine grows it would cover enough of the window to shade the plants which require less light. Also geraniums will do very well in such sun and give bright, happy color for your room.

"PINK LADIES" were honored at an appreciation tea Tuesday afternoon at Ruidoso Hondo Valley Hospital. The tea was held during National Hospital Week to "thank our Auxiliary for all the hours they spend on our behalf," Ken Moore, hospital administrator, said. Shown above at the tea are Mabel Johnson, outgoing Auxiliary president, Allene Luck, Ellen Miller, new Auxiliary president, and Moore.

RUIDOSO DOWNS FIREFIGHTERS are currently attending training sessions led by Don Naylor, right, fire prevention specialist with the state Fire Marshal's Office. The volunteer fire department members are scheduled to complete four days of intensive training tonight, on such subjects as fire attack tactics, self contained breathing apparatus, department organization and actual fire fighting drills. Looking over training materials at left is fire chief Barry Miller.

J'LYNN NEWMAN and MARK WHEELER

Newman/Wheeler wedding date set

J'Lynn Newman and Mark Wheeler have announced their plans for an August 18 wedding at the Crescent Park Baptist Church in Odessa, Texas. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Jim Newman of Ruidoso and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wheeler of Rankin, Texas.

The future bride is a recent graduate of West Texas State University, where she was a member of Chi Omega sorority. Wheeler is also a graduate of West Texas State and is employed by Page Petroleum of Amarillo, Texas.

Jarratt invited to conference with Carter

Charlotte C. Jarratt, on invitation from President Jimmy Carter, will meet the President and some of his senior advisors at a Friday conference on foreign and domestic affairs.

The meeting begins at 9:45 a.m., in the Executive Office Building and, following luncheon, will continue at the White House until, she said, adjournment at "around 4 p.m."

Before returning to Ruidoso, she plans to visit friends and relatives in Jarratt, Virginia and Atlanta, Georgia.

Homemakers win top honors

Dorothy Talley and Cherie Hobbs, both of Hondo, took top honors at the Lincoln County Extension Homemakers Achievement Day, held Saturday in Carrizozo.

Talley received a food processor for her winning entry in the "Cheap Eats" contest, called Breakfast Main Dish. Entries were judged on the basis of economy, nutritional value and uniqueness. Cost per serving of the winning dish was 31 cents. Talley's recipe is reproduced below. She is president of the Ruidoso-Hondo Valley Extension Club.

Hobbs was awarded a sterling silver bracelet and charm for her entry in the fashion show, a dress and pinafore made for and modeled by her daughter, Becky. Hobbs is a member of La Junta extension Club. Entries in the fashion show consisted of newly made or remodeled clothing for members or their children.

In addition to the contests, the extension club members saw demonstrations by Becky Rivera, extension home economist for east Valencia County; and Lincoln County home economist Mary Ellen Payne. Subjects included garnishes, fabric furnishings, quilting, place mat purses and table fashions.

Displays were set up by the various county clubs to show activities of the past year, primarily in arts, crafts and cooking.

Talley's winning recipe is as follows:

Breakfast Main Dish
6 large eggs, beaten
6 slices bread, cubed

1 pound sausage, cooked and crumbled
2 cups milk
1 cup cheese, grated
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon mustard
Mix all ingredients together and pour into a greased 9x13" baking dish. Refrigerate for 12 hours. Bake 35 minutes at 350 degrees.

Child development aid available to all parents

Karen Tillman, Ruidoso school diagnostician, was one of ten people in the state attending a recent week-long workshop on child development in conjunction with the University of New Mexico's School of Medicine.

"Early Assessment of Developmentally Delayed Children with emphasis on 0-2 years old" was the title of the program. It was also sponsored by the Bernalillo County Mental Health Center and candidates to participate in the program were selected among applicants from the entire state.

Tillman said the majority attending were in medical related fields and most parts of the state were represented. "I think it's a good sign that the medical community is so interested in developmental problems," Tillman said.

One of the most interesting portions of the workshop, Tillman said, was a visit to the three nurseries at UNM's medical school.

The nurseries are divided into three specific categories, critical care, regular care and a grower nursery. The critical care nursery is in constant touch with a network of similar nurseries in the country. If the New Mexico nursery fills up, a sick child can be taken to any of the others in the system.

Tillman said workshop participants learned how to watch a child's development from the first day of birth. Tests have been developed and compiled into workbooks which can be used by parents.

Based upon the Bailey Scales of Infant Development, the motor and mental abilities are regularly assessed, Tillman said.

"I think parents are a lot more in tune now than ever before," Tillman said. She said parents who bring their babies to the county-sponsored immunization clinics will also be advised of what to watch for to be sure their children are developing at an average pace.

Tillman hopes to set up a program in the community "where someone would be available at immunization clinics to talk with parents and help them with their questions—especially those who have no grandparents or parents close at hand to help them," Tillman said.

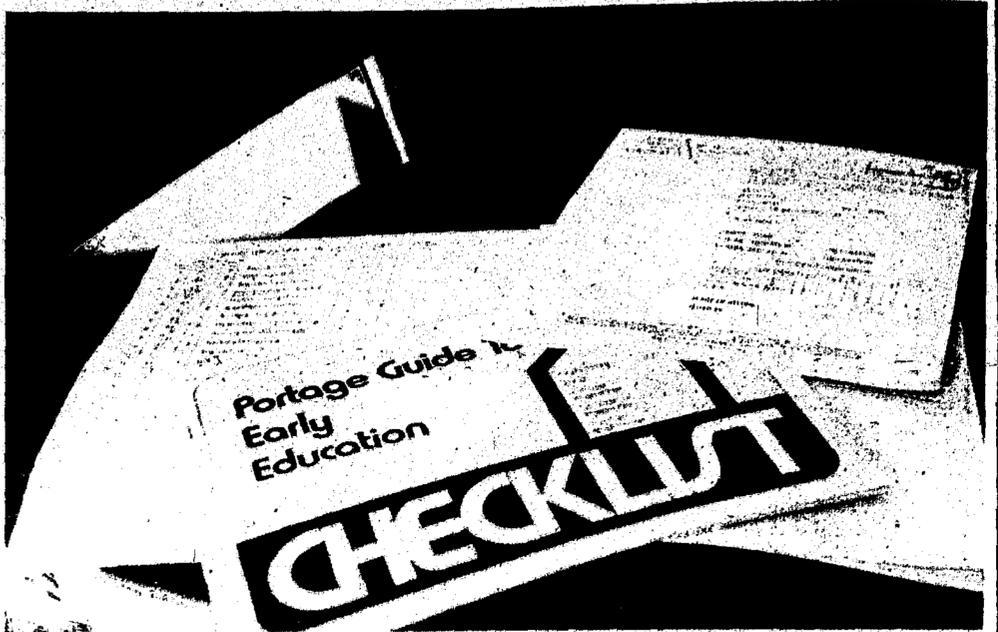

Tillman said she thinks most parents "if they knew what to do, would be more than willing to work with their children" to monitor their growth more closely.

"When knowledge is available, like it is now, and we're not getting it into the right hands, I think it becomes the responsibility of the community to distribute that information," she said.

Tillman has already worked on a limited basis at the immunizations clinics to help parents identify normal growth patterns. She hopes to expand on the concept by launching a much wider distribution of the checklists. "This can be done fairly inexpensively and in the long run, we're all helping ourselves," she said.

Tillman said most of the growth of the brain takes place before a child is two years old. If a problem does exist, and if it is discovered very early in a child's life, other parts of the brain can sometimes be taught to "take over" that function, Tillman said. "Until now, we didn't always identify the problem until that child starts school... and by then, it's sometimes too late to get the brain to carry that extra burden," she said.

CHECKLISTS have been developed which can be used in the home by parents to closely monitor the growth of the child, in addition to regular checks by the doctor. Karen Tillman, Ruidoso school diagnostician, hopes to distribute these checklists to parents of infants so a developmental problem can be identified as early as possible.

Ruth Moore's art project published

Ruth Moore, a retired Ruidoso elementary school teacher, has an art project featured in the May issue of Instructor, a nationally circulated magazine used by more than one million educators.

Moore's pastel floral arrangement art project, using hair spray as fixative, was submitted more than a year ago to Instructor, the oldest continually published magazine in educational fields.

"While she taught here, she did so many nice things with art," Mike Gladden, White Mountain Elementary principal, said. "She always coordinated really neat art projects for her students."

Gladden said that several fellow teachers hope Moore will someday compile her methods of teaching elementary art into a book, "because her ideas were practical and inexpensive."

Bell choir performing Saturday

A live octave bell choir from the Saint Paul United Methodist Church in Amarillo, Texas, will be featured in a free concert Saturday at 7:30 p.m., at the First Christian Church in Ruidoso.

The one hour concert will be performed by 12 women under the direction of Oscar Rodriguez, using Schulmerick hand bells. A brief history of bell choirs will also be told.

The church is located at the intersection of Gavilan Canyon and Hull Roads in Ruidoso.

Open duplicate bridge Saturday

The Ruidoso Duplicate Bridge Club will sponsor an open game Saturday, May 17 at 7:30 p.m., in the Multi-purpose room of the Ruidoso Public Library.

All bridge players are welcome, whether or not they have previously played duplicate bridge. If enough interest is shown, a regular "every other Saturday" game may be initiated for the summer.

The library is located at Sudderth and Junction Roads. Players should enter the parking lot from Junction Road, and enter through the rear door of the multi-purpose room.

Don Fox of Alamogordo will direct the game. Light refreshments will be served. For general information or partners, call Rachel Kirkwood at 257-5937.

Sorority officers installed during Wortley Hotel luncheon

Lyndy Sameison was installed as president of Eta Chapter of Alpha Delta Kappa during a May 3 sorority luncheon at the Wortley Hotel in Lincoln.

Also installed were Daria Lathan, vice president; Leota Pfingsten, recording secretary; Elsie Kimbrell, corresponding secretary; Nellie Jones, treasurer; Myrtle Williams, Sergeant-at-Arms; Charlie Cooper, chaplain; and Kathy Weems and Greta Cabot as historians.

Inez Pacheco and Kimbrell reported on activities at the state convention in Las Cruces. The Eta chapter was recognized as the second highest contributor to the state Ways and Means project to send state officers to the international convention in San Diego. The group also discussed the hosting of a tea, to honor Williams, who was recently selected as New Mexico's Teacher of the Year.

A letter from Debbie Jones was read which thanked the group for scholarships presented to her over the past four years. She is scheduled to graduate from New Mexico State University this month.

Present at the meeting, in addition to officers and others listed above were Genevieve Duncan, Ofelia Salas, Louise Morgan, Dutch Cunningham, Angie Provine, Louise Ferguson, Beth Nosker and Ladora Lucas, guest.

Local students NMSU degree candidates

Area students filing degree applications at New Mexico State University this spring include:

Richard Gomez, Bachelor of business administration; David Quintas, Bachelor of science in computer science and Clay Warren, Bachelor of science in mechanical engineering, all of Ruidoso; Cindy Odum, Master of science in home economics, Ruidoso Downs; Mary-Louise Wardlaw, Associate in arts, Mesalero and Debra Jones, Bachelor of science in education, Glencoe.

Guest speaker at fellowship

Peter Church, El Paso, Texas, will be guest speaker at the Friday meeting of the Full Gospel Business Men's Fellowship International at 7 p.m., at the Fish Market Coffee House.

Church has been a director of youth five years in South Africa and now crusades with Nleky Cruz, Living Sound, Redd Harper, Cliff Richard and Jimmy Swaggart.

The Fish Market is located next to Lela Easter Real Estate on Mechem Drive.

Correction:

In an article published May 12 in the Ruidoso News concerning a style show presented by the Mesalero Traditional Counseling program, the following errors appeared:

—Josephine Little was identified as Lenora Kinshama, and the descriptions of their clothing were switched. Little modeled a traditional Chiricahua dress and Kinshama a Mesalero dress.

—Ruby Chino was identified in one picture as Ruby Pena.

—Mary Pena was incorrectly identified as Elsie Chino.

Springtime art show scheduled at D'Oros Galleria

D'Oros Galleria will stage a springtime art show May 16-18 at the Holiday Inn with Vera Swain of El Paso, Texas displaying floral paintings in watercolors and oils and Jan Williams exhibiting original interpretation floral arrangements in silk and dried flowers.

Swain, who employs gold and silver leafing in depicting desert flowers and landscapes, holds awards for her work from Germany, Hawaii, Mexico and the United States. Her paintings are included in private and public collections.

The displays will be open for public viewing from 9 a.m.-5 p.m., the 16th and 17th and from 9 a.m.-2 p.m., the 18th.

Craig Carson sets record in Bike-A-Thon

Craig Carson, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Carter of Ruidoso, and a former Ruidoso student, recently set a record in the Diabetes Bike-A-Thon held annually in Graham, Texas.

Carson rode 80 miles in one afternoon, and will receive several prizes for his efforts, according to his mother.

Carson lives at the Bar Double Ranch in Graham with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Stephens.

Kindergarten enrollment May 19-23

Pre registration for children who expect to begin kindergarten in 1980-81 school year, is set at Nob Hill Elementary the week of May 19 through 23.

Parents or guardians should bring their children to the school between 8:30 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. Birth certificates and an up-to-date immunization record should be brought also.

Any child who will be at least five years old by September 1, 1980, is eligible to attend kindergarten.

Memorial Day rites at Angus

Memorial Day will be observed at the Angus Cemetery Sunday, May 25, with a public religious service beginning at 11 a.m.

After a basket lunch, the cemetery association will hold a business meeting, followed by group singing.

Presbyterians hosting guest speaker Sunday

The Reverend Roland "Army" Armstrong will conduct the 11 a.m. worship service Sunday at Ruidoso Presbyterian Church, in the absence of vacationing pastor Frank Crown.

Armstrong, while in the ministry in Alaska, served many years as president of Sheldon Jackson College. He served as president of Ganado College in Arizona before retiring to become a minister of evangelism and visitation for the First Presbyterian Church of Roswell.

Almager a first class competitor

BY MARK BAGBY
Sports Editor

Joe Almager, a 17 year old senior at Ruidoso High School, was named Warrior Athlete of the Year earlier this week by his teammates and coaches.

They couldn't have picked a more deserving guy.

Almager lettered in three sports — football, basketball and track — this year alone, and even set a record. Earlier in the year he qualified for the state track meet in Albuquerque, the fourth consecutive year he has made the finals.

He is the first Warrior to ever qualify four times. What's remarkable about the fact is he ran the mile the past three years, qualifying each time.

This year he's running in the 800 meter, which means different training must be utilized and different strategy becomes the key, since there's less time to pace yourself.

But after three years of the mile, Almager feels comfortable with the 800. "The first time I ran it," he said, "I liked it. It felt like something I should be running. It was easier to run, and I didn't get tired as fast. I think running the mile all that time helped.

"Running the 800 wasn't that hard. I felt like I could run it fast."

Obviously, His coaches asked him the day of the race if he wanted to run the 800. He said yes, and had to either win the race or run a 2:04.

Just to be safe, he won, turning in a 2:02 in the process.

Almager still had hopes of qualifying in the mile last Saturday in the district meet at Deming, but unselfishly, he decided to forego that event and compete in the mile medley, a four man event. If the squad won or placed second or ran a 3:46, three others would go to state.

But wind and dust took their toll, and the Warriors finished third with a 3:51.

"I wanted to qualify the other guys," he said. "We ran a 3:48 in practice, and I thought we could cut down two seconds."

"If I could do it again, I think I'd do the same thing ... I know I would. I really didn't want to run the mile anymore."

So now he heads for Albuquerque this weekend, a not unfamiliar site to Almager.

He's been there before, and he thinks that might help his chances.

"Experience might help," he said. "I know I was scared the first time. But this is our first year in AAA, so the competition will probably be tougher."

Almager improved steadily in his first three tries at the mile. As a freshman, he finished 16th, improving to 10th the following year.

Last year, he finished seventh, so chances are he'd have produced a respectable showing in the mile.

His task this year will be to get his time in the 800 down about six seconds. The best 800 meters in AAA this year has been a 1:57.

"I think I can get it down to 1:57," Almager said. "When I qualified, I could've run faster. Coach (Ronny Maskew) told me after it was over I had a two minute 800. I felt I could've taken off at least four seconds then."

The son of Jose and Elodia Almager likes just about all sports, he said, and for hobbies, likes hunting and is something of an artist. In fact, he won "Best of Show" at the high school's Spring Art Exhibition Tuesday.

He plans on entering college, but isn't sure he'll run track or not.

"With studies and everything, I don't know if I could keep it up," he said. "And it's an awful lot of running." But, he added, if he sticks with it, he'll probably switch to cross country.

Almager's way of running races is about the same way he handles life. You train, train, train and train some more, and come race time, take off.

"I find out who the fastest guy is," he said, "and then I stick close to him and stay with him until the finish."

And chances are, Joe Almager will be the first across the finish line.

A WELCOME BREAK in training allows Almager to take a breather between laps during a recent practice. Almager will compete in the 800 meter run Saturday in the state track meet in Albuquerque — the fourth consecutive time he has qualified for the meet.

THE TORTURE of interval quarters brings a grimace to Joe Almager's face in the final yards. Interval quarters are quarter miles run as fast as possible, with a slow quarter mile walk in between. It's about the only way a distance runner can improve his speed. Almager tries to run his interval quarters in under 60 seconds.

Sportin' Life

... a column of opinion ...

by

Mark Bagby

Had an interesting chat the other day with Hopalong Caruthers, otherwise known as Cindy Caruthers.

Cindy, you may recall, is the president of the ladies' softball league here in Ruidoso, and she also coaches a Little League baseball team.

I nicknamed her Hopalong, 'cause she has a cast on her leg and moves about like Dennis Weaver used to on "Gunsmoke." (Anybody remember Chester?)

But anyway, I decided Hopalong would be a better name than Chester. She was moaning about the case and said her coach was going to make her run with it on.

I bet she has fun teaching her Little League players how to run bases ...

But she said she had great hopes for this season in the ladies' league, which looks to be one of their better outings. In fact, they even have a benefit ticket sale in the works, according to activity chairperson Cheryl Muse, and the recent bake sale and car wash the league sponsored made lotsa money for 'em.

So things look pretty good — and if you see Hopalong, sign her cast, will ya? Maybe it'll brighten her day.

Lotsa big sports

I attended the Warrior All-Sports Banquet Monday night, which was only the third all-sports banquet I've attended in my existence — can you believe that? I've been around sports all my life, and I've only made it to three banquets — and two of those were after I became a sportswriter. Sheesh.

Looks like most everyone present had a pretty nice time — did learn a few things I didn't know — like Darrel Siterwait and Barry Nelson were both Warrior Athletes of the Year in their younger days ... which are rapidly getting farther away. (Just kidding, guys.)

And, surprise of surprises, if I understood it correctly, Dave Parks — yes, Dave Parks, president of the school board — was a hotshot quarterback in years past, and was also Warrior of the Year at one time.

There were some interesting anecdotes at the banquet — my favorite involved Joe Almager, this year's Warrior of the Year, who is one of the fiercest competitors you'll ever meet, and Siterwait had this story to relate:

"I don't remember who we were playing, but one of our defensive backs got hurt and we needed Joe. But we couldn't find him. We were lookin' all over the place — 'where's Joe?' 'I don't know.'"

"Then (assistant coach Ronny) Maskew pointed up in the stands and said, 'There he is, coach, and he's beatin' the hell out of some guy.' I suppose I should add the Warriors were behind at that point, and tempers tend to flare at times.

(I interviewed Almager this week, but I didn't know about that incident beforehand. That would have made interesting reading, what?)

I was shown the original Warrior mascot by Peggy McClellan, who said she thought the figurine was bought around 1853.

It's a little rubber Indian, adorned with a pair of sneakers, one blue and one gold. She said the little fella belongs to Benny Bennett.

Peggy told me — and since she's such a gracious lady I don't doubt her — she graduated high school in 1952, and Betty donned cap and gown in 1954, so that makes the little guy 27 years (or so) old. I didn't have the heart to tell her that makes him older than me.

All in all, it was a pretty interesting evening.

You betcha, or, you pays your money, you takes your chances. I lost $2 on a bet at Ruidoso Downs on opening day. Good start, huh?

Actually, I didn't lose the bet, because I didn't make the bet. The woman who promised to love, honor and pick only winners actually made the bet.

See, she's the knowledgeable one about horales in our family. Which is sort of funny — I spent a lot of time on a farm when I was a kid, but the only animals we had were chickens, and to the best of my knowledge, nobody races chickens, although it might be fun, if you could get big chickens and/or smaller jockeys.

Dee picked the first horse just right, and she was doing okay on the others, so we decided to bet. We went for the sure thing — bet it to place. (We talked about betting to show, but decided against it. Can't win any real money that way, y'know.)

The horse came in fourth. With that terrific debut, we decided we'd quit while we were only a little behind. Anybody for Rhode Island Red racing?

The Silver Lining

BY DANIEL AGNEW STORM

The Mountain Blue Bird Our beloved friends of the air, the song birds, are little messengers from heaven, and surely one with the tenderest messages is the Mountain Blue Bird.

Here in our mountain homeland we have as neighbors both the Mountain Blue Bird and the Western Blue Bird; and once in a while the Eastern Blue Bird comes across the Mississippi River and the great plains to pay us a visit.

The Western and Eastern Blue Birds are very much alike with their dark blue head, back and tail, their red breast and white abdomen.

The Mountain Blue Bird is many shades of light blue blended perfectly, with faint overtones of rainbow colors flashing from him when the sun strikes him just right in flight, or when the wind slightly moves his smallest feathers.

He likes to spend most of his time up around the foot of the mountain and higher up on its slopes — as his name would tell you.

However, years ago a pair of them moved down to keep our mother company during World War II while three of her sons were in the army. Just after the war when I came home, these blue birds built their nest in the house wall just above my bedroom window. I could hear the singing of the baby blue birds waking me in the early morning.

These birds were very fond of our mother, and were her favorites of the bird world. They would alight close by and sing to mother and me, and mother would talk to them. They seemed to understand and answered with their cheerful chirping notes.

After a few years, the Mountain Blue Bird moved back up to their mountain homeland; and then a few years ago, I noticed they had returned to the place on that sacred spot of ground, the knoll. You could see their silken colors like a bit of the sky itself, flying around an ancient pair of cedar trees with some hollow branches. Their nest was in one of these trees. And the knoll was their home ground. Oftentimes I would stop to visit with them, and yet they never came on down to the house.

On Sunday, May the eleventh, Mother's Day, the wind was blowing a gale like it does in March straight out of the west. All the birds were hid out somewhere in the shelter. The oriole, the robin, song sparrow, Western Blue Bird, and purple finch were nowhere to be seen in the windy world. Then here came a flash of brilliant light blue with another beside it of soft blue and gray colors — flying through the dust of the wind. They lighted at one of the metates and began drinking water. Then they stood on a yard fence post, singing happily while the wind ruffled his smallest feathers causing the faint rainbow colors to flash from time to time. The Mountain Blue Bird is as sturdy as he is beautiful, and does not seem to mind the wind a bit. There they stood right in the path of the strong wind, singing their brief little songs to the tune of the western wind.

They brought a loving heavenly message from our mother, and our mother's spirit from heaven was close by, rejoicing with me and the Mountain Blue Birds.

The Oak Brush The several days of west wind kept the trees in motion, so that the leaves were encouraged to hasten forth. You could almost see them grow. About the third day of the wind, the twelfth, you noticed a patch of the oak brush had turned light golden green. The sturdy little dwellers of the hillsides, looked down upon the river trees all out in leaf and sent a cheerful signal from on high that all the trees were safe from the fold.

Jack Frost and the oak brush work pretty closely together; so when you see the oak patches leafing out on the steep hill sides you know that hard freezes are about over.

Today, on the thirteenth, all the oak patches have turned every shade of light golden green, touched with a trace of red. The brush waited long, yet when it did come out, the leaves did not gradually unfold as they usually do. This time it burst out all at once in almost full-grown leaves.

The long hill side just up the vale makes you think of a giant waving banner, unfolding to the west all decorated with the bright new oak brush leaves, made more brilliant by the light of the sun showing through their hosts of translucent newborn leaves.

The oak brush is not only a guide for the safety of the other leaves. It tells us something about the growing season ahead of us. When the oak is strong and vigorous, then you know that Mother Earth is full of vitality — that there is good moisture in the ground, and that all the growing things will have a good season. Therefore, let us rejoice and thank God for a good year ahead.

Kazhe the top runner in "abbreviated" race

Troy Kazhe won Saturday's nine mile cross country race at the Inn of the Mountain Gods, finishing in 49 minutes and 51 seconds.

But before anyone tries to sign him up for the Olympics with that time — which would be five minutes, 53 seconds per mile — they should know the race's distance was trimmed to seven miles, due to road construction in the path.

Finishing second was Lamar Victor at $2.01, followed by Darwin Kinzhuma at $4.10, Norman Pettenger at $4.15 and Marty Torres at $6.20.

About 30 runners took part, said race organizer Clifton Perkins, and all runners finished.

There were several competition brackets in the race, both for men and women — age 17 and under, 18-29 and over 30 — as well as team competition.

Two women entered, Mollie Spencer and Sarah Ball. Spencer finished first in the ladies' 18-29 bracket with a time of one hour, 20 minutes and 18 seconds.

Ball was the race's last finisher at one hour, 35 minutes and 45 seconds, but she won the 30 and over category for women.

Kazhe claimed the first place trophy in the under 17 group, followed by Kinzhuma and Torres.

Bobby Palm was the first finisher in the 18-29 bracket, at 56 minutes, 27 seconds, followed by Perkins at 57.41 and Greg Wheeler at one hour, six minutes and 37 seconds.

Overall second place finisher Victor was the top over 30 runner, closely followed by Pettenger and Vince Collins, who turned in a time of one hour, three minutes and 10 seconds.

Collins was also a runner for the winning team, as was Spencer. Others were Barry Nelson with a time of one hour, 34 seconds, Paul Whitwam with one hour, 13 minutes and 48 seconds and Del Seybold, at one hour, four minutes and 30 seconds.

Second place team consisted of Ball and Torres, as well as Wadell Kanseah at 1:06.58, Melvin Lester at 1:04.31 and Marlon Palmer at 57.33.

T-shirts were awarded to all finishers, and ribbons and trophies were presented to top finishers in different categories.

Perkins said he and the Inn hope to make the race an annual event.

Real Estate
By Realtor Mike Walizer
DEVON DEVELOPMENT, INC.

HESITATION CAN BE COSTLY

Once you put real estate on the market, you have to make up your mind to move when the right offer comes. Your asking price should come pretty close to your selling price if you have priced your property realistically. The right offer may be your first offer, and if you turn it down, you may never get another as good.

However, the offer should be a written one — the only kind that has any real significance and on which you can depend.

Just remember that a legitimate offer should be accompanied by a good-sized check depending on the selling price. Never accept a verbal promise and take your property off the market. The next day, a good sale may be lost if you are tied up in this type of questionable transaction. You'll never have to worry about the situation arising if the sale of your property is in the hands of a Realtor.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at DEVON DEVELOPMENT, INC., 2904 Suddarth Drive, Box 1860, Ruidoso. Phone: 257-5511. We're here to help!

Joe Almager awarded 'Best of Show' title

Graphics artist Joe Almager, a senior at Ruidoso High School, captured the "Best of Show" title at the school's spring art exhibition Tuesday night.

Jeff Shaw, Todd Rich and Julie Rogers earned honorable mentions for their graphics entries.

"It was a great show," Sam Pilgreen, art instructor, said. "It was so successful, we plan to have a similar show next year."

Almager won first, second and third place ribbons in the graphics division with a series of cultural scratchboard drawings.

Pilgreen thanked Security Bank, the Artisan's Shop, Smith Ltd. Gallery, Ruidoso State Bank and Pioneer Savings and Trust for providing prize money to all ribbon winners.

"We really appreciate the community support," Pilgreen added.

Other winners in the show, judged by Tom Hansen, a former art teacher, included:

Abstract fantasy - Darwin Smith, first and second; Susan Cram, third; Gigi Carrillo, honorable mention.

Crafts and mixed media - Jeff Shaw, first; Mary Lou McCarty, second; Gary Jones, third; Todd Karakas, Jodie Rul and Lisa Shaw, honorable mention.

General category - Darwin Smith, first; Mark Boggs, second; Gigi Carrillo, third; Jay Raulerson, Todd Rich and Carol Dennis, honorable mention.

Photography - Laurie Snidow, first.

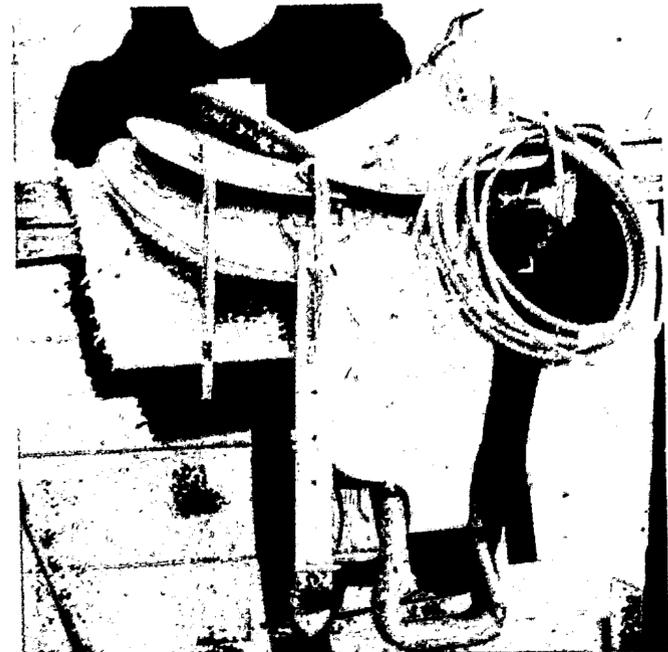

The art exhibition was held in conjunction with the final performance of the Warrior band and high school choir. Both groups joined with members of the Community Choir to close the program with their rendition of "America The Beautiful" and a medley of tunes by Irving Berlin.

ONCE A PIECE of clay, now a beautifully painted bowl and original sculpture. Both pieces are the work of Martin Montoya, a Ruidoso High School student, who displayed these art projects at the spring art exhibition Tuesday night.

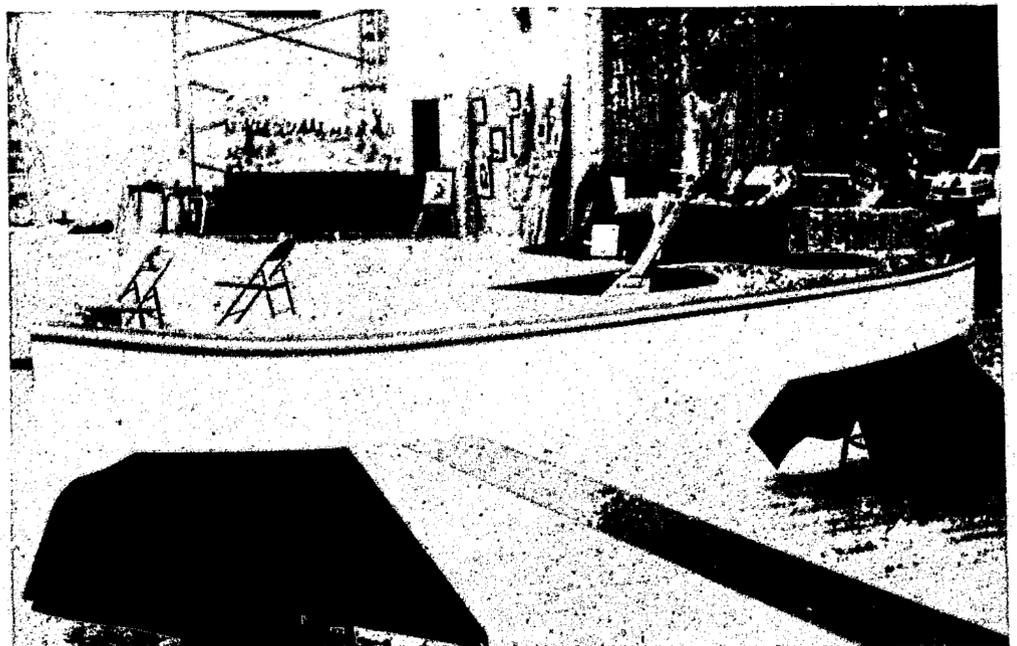

SCRATCHBOARD ART displayed by Joe Almager, a Ruidoso High School senior, was considered by art show judge Tom Hansen to be the Best of the Show. Almager also received first, second and third place ribbons in the graphics division at the school's spring art exhibition Tuesday.

A HAND-TOOLED SADDLE, worked by Jeff Shaw, received a first place ribbon in the general category of the spring art exhibition at Ruidoso High School Tuesday night.

FLORAL ARRANGEMENTS are held in place with woven straw vases, designed by Susan Cram, a Ruidoso High School senior. She showed this artwork in the school's spring art exhibition Tuesday night.

DON NUNNALLY built this boat in the industrial arts program at Ruidoso High School. It was displayed, along with woodwork projects by Bobby Serna and Craig Van Winkle, at the school's spring art exhibition Tuesday night.

Inside The Capitol

by Fred McCaffrey

RUIDOSO — Yeah, that's right: Ruidoso. You think we're tied to Santa Fe and never go anywhere else?

This trip, we hasten to explain, was for serious purposes, not for betting on the bangtails, which have just started running there. We went down for a speechmaking at the Chamber of Commerce's annual dinner, and for a little clearing of the head, which one always gets for a tour into the beauty spots of New Mexico.

Ruidosans are sold on the advantages of that kind of thing.

In the first place, most of them are outlanders of one kind or another (we deliberately avoid mention of the state most of them come from) who have deliberately chosen to inhabit this particularly beautiful part of the world. Many in fact gave up more lucrative and prestigious posts elsewhere in the world just for the pure pleasure they take in their new hometown.

That makes them real apostles for their turf.

"Santa Fe," they sneer. "Where's that? Surely you don't think that place has anything to do with the real New Mexico?"

"Get away from all that in-breeding, McCaffrey," another puts in. "You're getting so narrow-minded it's obvious the Capital Syndrome has got you. You're lucky to be down here to see how the other half—the smart half—lives."

As for Albuquerque, they barely can stand to mention that example of gigantism, the very thing which most of them have sanely fled. "Who needs it?" has to be about the best thing they can manage to get out about Smog City.

They're correct, of course. They live in one of the most beautiful parts of the United States. Year-round this area has charm, from the clear, clean air (no radon here) to the blue skies and the green mountains; they have the advantages of most of the beauty spots in the country, plus the extra of being New Mexicans. Hard to beat.

Only the dumb ones, we suspect, move away.

(Okay, so your part of the state is beautiful too. No doubt about it: We'll get there someday soon, and go on to point out its many fine attributes. We like all of New Mexico, in short—and agree that Santa Fe can get a tiny bit parocical sometimes, so that even a newspaper hacker needs a change of scenes. Keep your lachstring out for us.)

Meanwhile, of course, things continue to go on inside the capitol . . .

The bubbling on the fourth floor of that round building this week comes from the report Attorney General Jeff Bingaman filed on recent events in the penitentiary. We haven't seen it yet, but those who have reportedly find it hair-raising.

Apparently it's frank and honest all the way, with lots of information prisoners were willing to give when granted immunity if they talked. We hear it goes into details on many topics, such as how cons get their dope and who supplies it, how things have been under previous wardens (including, no doubt, some specific details about the reign of Felix Rodriguez, now back on the scene as temporary warden), and how middle management out there at the pen has just continued to run things in its own nepotistic way no matter whose name was printed on the warden's door.

The administration likes to soft-pedal this kind of disagreeable information, but from what we hear this one is so hot it's going to find it hard to convince our penal institutions have been run with even minimum competence.

DAANGEROUS PENNY-PINCHING

One measure of the inadequacy of United States defense spending in recent years is the critical shortage of spare parts for combat aircraft in both the Navy and Air Force.

Representative Jack Edwards, the ranking Republican on the House Appropriations defense subcommittee, described the shortage in a recent speech as "appalling". He noted that maintenance personnel at some fighter bases were using their own money to purchase aircraft electronic parts at commercial outlets "just to keep a small number of aircraft flyable."

According to Edwards, more than half of the Navy's 110 F-14 fighters at Miramar Naval Air Station in California were grounded in January for lack of spare parts. During that month, the 1st Tactical Fighter Wing at Langley Air Force Base in Virginia was struggling to keep an average of 45 percent of its F-15 fighters operational.

When spare parts bins are empty, maintenance units resort to stripping parts from some planes to keep others operational, a practice that puts cannibalized aircraft out of service for months at a time.

In these circumstances, the Air Force deserves credit for a minor miracle in maintaining 60 percent of its F-15s on operational status. But that still leaves four out of every 10 of these fighters—the nation's newest and most sophisticated—sitting uselessly on the tarmac.

While the spare parts crunch is especially critical for aircraft, there are also parts shortages for a long list of other weapons and military equipment.

The new result is an unacceptable low state of readiness in all the services. The remedy is more money. The Air Force alone is currently short $2.1 billion in spare parts. It should be obvious to both the Congress and the Carter administration that it does little good to provide new planes, ships, and tanks without also supplying the necessary stocks of spare parts to keep all this sophisticated machinery working.

Could this be one of the reasons that President Carter was forced to cancel the United States rescue mission which was to free the American hostages in Iran? — News-Bulletin, Belem editorial

The way things are shaping up in the presidential race, unless the delegates at the national conventions nominate other standard bearers, Jimmy Carter will be opposing Ronald Reagan in November.

There's food for thought in this eventuality.

Carter's term has been plagued with indecision and his inability to deal with every day domestic problems, to say nothing of his ineffective handling of volatile international developments.

With only a little more than seven months remaining in his term, Carter still hasn't proven he's learned how to deal with Congress and, when it gets down to the nitty-gritty of politics, as pertains to unions and governmental programs, even in an election year Democrats aren't falling all over themselves in the fight to get under his wing.

As to Reagan, conservatism really can't be attacked as evil, though, since the days of FDR, conservatism hasn't been the apple pie of most Americans. Like it or not, liberalism has produced the affluent society that comprises the United States of today and the $300 weekly paychecks that won't buy what $35 a week would in 1938.

As governor of California, Reagan probably, and by his own initiative, was very efficient and did wonders for the state's economy. At least he claims he did more for California than Carter did for Georgia.

However, regardless of Reagan's rapport with the California Senate and Assembly, we can but wonder, if elected, how he thinks he can achieve cooperation from a Congress controlled by Democrats. Chances are he'll learn, the hard way, and at our expense, that running one state is different than keeping 50 happy.

While the election of either Carter or Reagan, thanks to Congress, would not be catastrophic, don't dust off your pitch pipe, because, from 1981-1985, America's favorite song won't be "Happy Days Are Here Again." —CD

SENATOR "JACK" I HELP!

Senator "Jack" Schmitt . . . New Mexico's junior Senator . . . has done up and latched onto $200,000 for emergency fuel funding . . . to keep aircraft flying and cars rolling from/to the Texas Regional Customs Office, Houston . . . 'cause the customs guys was outta fuel and outta funds to buy some.

Now that's a mighty fine gesture from a New Mexico Senator to the customs checker-uppers in the great State of Texas . . . and it goes without question . . . possibly sans draw, even . . . that those Texans'll be most appreciative . . . even if'n they probably won't vote Republican in gratitude.

But Senator . . . things is bad tax wise here in New Mexico . . . and good old boy Governor Bruce King . . . at least as I read the newspapers . . . is really worrying about how the taxes as comes in'll stand up to the money as'll be going out . . . as his term continues . . . 'cause he could be thinkin'; the recession'll cut into his tax take . . . cake, if you prefer.

As a New Mexico Senator . . . comin' a cropper with money for Texas . . . maybe you could sorta get the Texas Senators on the stick . . . and get them to kinda come up with $25 million . . . which ain't hardly worth mentioning at all, being's it's nowhere near the "1" as don't even hardly get no mention at all in the Senate Finance Committee hearings . . . and get it out here to good old Republican voting Lincoln County . . . so's we can get us a much needed jet capable airport built . . . so's Texans and planes from all over the nation and the world can fly into our county . . . and enjoy all of the delights as is available here for tourists and horse racing fans to enjoy . . . and savor . . . and indulge themselves in . . . over and over and over.

It kinda shapes up this way . . . with that new airport . . . there'd be millions more folks flying into Lincoln County as can't now . . . 'cause planes with lotsa folks aboard can't get into Ruidoso's airport. And when you're talking about millions more tourists . . . that's just gotta produce just whole herds of extra tax revenues which'll wind up in the state coffers . . . which just could result . . . in five years . . . in Lincoln County being the biggest tax revenue producer in New Mexico . . . and that ain't no pipe dream . . . 'cause millions more tourists'd produce millions more tax dollars . . . there just ain't no way around that.

Yup, it'd shore be mighty friendly of them Texas Senators to help us out . . . just as a favor to Bruce . . . to help him sleep soundly of a night.

ON 'FAST BUCK' SCHEMES

Just don't seem possible . . . in this day and age of enlightenment on swindle gimmicks and con games . . . that the New Mexico Bureau of Mines and Mineral Resources would have to go out of their way to warn people that there's those unscrupulous scallywags as'd smile at you if'n they fleeces the unsuspecting . . . albeit, greedy . . . persons outta lotta loot with a scheme promising to make the gullible ones a whole pile of money by investing in a "gold fever" deal.

Ergo . . . the folks at the mines and mineral bureau is advising one and all to beware of strangers bearing tales of wealth to be gained by investing in gold moines . . . no matter how good it sounds . . . and especially if'n the glib tongued one mutters something about his gold sample being "non-assayable" and/or "non-recoverable" . . . 'cause what that breaks down to is that your potential as a sucker has been carefully assayed . . . and you'll wind up facing the painful reality that the gold deal concerns metal that is as non-recoverable as your investment'll prove to be.

HOW'S THAT AGAIN?

Comes to the printed word, it's sometimes a matter of interpretation . . . fr instance . . . the Associated Milk Producers, in stating, as fact, to ingest the 300 mg.'s of calcium as is in one 150 calorie glass of milk . . . you'd have to consume: One cuppa roasted almonds, 984 calories; 12 raw eggs, 984 calories; 2 1/2 pounds fried chicken, 6,209 calories; 53 baked potatoes 3,325 calories; 30 cupsa watermelon, 1,260 calories; 2 1/2 ounces of sardines with bones, 145 calories; 2 cupsa cooked mustard greens, 60 calories; 14 slices of white bread, 1,084 calories; 2 1/2 cupsa cooked broccoli, 100 calories; 18 cupsa corn flakes, 9,118 calories; and 16 cupsa cooking rice, 3,568 calories.

Taking that 300 mg.'s calcium and calorie statement at face value . . . and considerin' all them things you're have to eat, presumably at one sitting to match it . . . the only logical reaction just has to be . . . BURP!

BRIEF BIT: Over a mere dime, Our Jimmy Tuesday got his second alap in the face from a federal judge . . . must prove he's a real slow learner . . . CD

Martin won four races Saturday in the Kansas Derby trials. Three of his winners qualified in the top five, including Jamie Jay, a filly who defeated heavily favored Streakin Six in the 11th division. Martin's other three winners were Rebel Killoqua, Charge It Papa (both qualifiers to the finale) and Chautos Junior, a colt who tied for the 10th fastest time but missed the finale after a shake.

In wrapping up the title, Martin won the third race Sunday. He also took second in the $6,000 Top Deck Stakes.

There was a close battle for the Trainer of the Week title. Both H. Don Farris and Hugh L. Tucker scored a 2-1-1 mark but Farris gets the nod based on a better winning percentage. Farris won two races with nine mounts while Tucker used 10 starters to get his two victories.

Tucker, however, has to receive honorable mention after his colt Acceptable won the Top Deck Stakes, defeating such standout stars as Bold Love and Miss Thermolark. It was the fifth straight win and second consecutive stakes victory for Acceptable.

Martin took the early lead in the overall jockey standings with a 5-1-3 record in 12 starts. Gary Sumpter, last year's champion follows with a 3-2-1 tally in 14 starts. Richard Bickel, the champion jockey at the recently completed Sunland Park season, is in third with a 3-1-1 record in eight starts. Steve Fuller, who rode Acceptable and qualified Thats Raney to the Kansas Derby, has a narrow edge over Jerry Nicodemus for fourth place. Nicodemus and Fuller both qualified two horses to the Kansas.

Veteran Willie Lovell returned this season and stands in sixth place while Betty J. Harless, James Lackey, Leroy Coombs and W. R. Hunt round out the standings.

Farris is the narrow leader over Tucker, last year's champion conditioner, in the overall trainer standings. The list is followed by seven trainers with one win each and at least a runnerup or third place finish to their credit. Three trainers not on the list — Johnnie B. Burke, Edwin Hanna and Ed Black — won with only one outing. Sunday's action includes the finals of the $222,150 Kansas Derby. The Consolation is also set on Sunday.

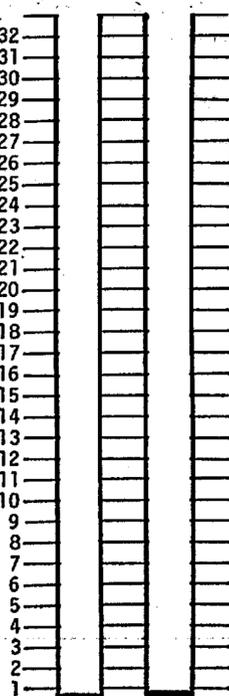

First post Saturday and Sunday is 1 p.m.

GRADUATES FROM THE 1978 All-American Select Yearling Sale will make up half the field for Sunday's sixth running of the $222,150 Kansas Derby. The five qualifiers in the finale who were sold in the sale include Denim N Diamonds, the fastest qualifier, $32,000; Charge It Papa, $6,200; Mito Mite, $8,000; Give Me Room, $2,100 and Johnny Drake, $15,000. The winner of the Kansas Derby, the first jewel in the three-year-old Triple Crown for quarter horses, will collect just over $76,000.

HERE IS A COMPLETE list of qualifiers and their times: Denim N Diamonds, owned by R. D. Hubbard of Wichita, Kansas 20.65; Jamie Jay, owned by W. E. Mueller of Colorado Springs, Colorado 20.72; Rebel Killoqua, owned by Wayne and Jewel Scott of Tahlequah, Oklahoma 20.87; Streakin Six, owned by B. F. Phillips Jr., of Frisco, Texas 20.91; Charge It Papa, owned by James Keng of Giddings, Texas 20.93; Mito Mite, owned by James V. Harris of Edcouch, Texas 20.96; Thats Raney, owned by Bill J. Reed and Hugh L. Tucker of Abilene, Texas 20.97; Give Me Room, owned by Dorothy Cornstubble of Valley View, Texas 20.99; Johnny Drake, owned by Tom E. Roden of Odessa, Texas 21.00; and Go For One, owned by Clarence Scharbauer Jr., of Midland, Texas 21.05.

GO FOR ONE TIED with Chautos Junior with a 21.05 time and advanced to the finale after a shake. Chautos Junior heads a list of qualifiers to the $31,703 Consolation, also set May 18. The remaining qualifiers include My Bugged Credit, 21.06; Royal Moon Three, 21.09; Loomarang, 21.09; Wired To Run, 21.12; Oh Bar Oh, 21.12; Four Swings Jr, 21.12; Brown Wind, 21.12; Tonimora, 21.12; and Miss Dee Dee Ten, 21.13.

TRAINER H. DON FARRIS and jockey Jerry Nicodemus dominated the trials by qualifying three to the finale. They include Denim N Diamonds, Streakin Six and Go For One. Jockey Jackie Martin also qualified three to the finale, Jamie Jay, Rebel Killoqua and Charge It Papa. Martin won four races on opening day. Steve Fuller also qualified two to the finale.

THE TWO BIGGEST UPSETS in the trials, where 103 head were entered, occurred in the first and final divisions. In the first race, War Win, a bay gelding, was handed 4-5 favorite odds with a money line of over $130,000 showing. But when the gates opened, War Win had his head turned and caught in the bars. He broke over 10 lengths behind the field. In the 11th division, Streakin Six went to the post as a prohibitive 1-9 favorite. He broke slightly slow but made up ground to finish 1 1/2 lengths behind Jamie Jay, a 4-1 pick.

Streakin Six has never finished lower than second place in eight career outings and has earned $360,447.

WITH THE RECENT VICTORY in the Kentucky Derby by the filly Genuine Risk, Jim Perkins has been smiling with the feeling that he has a good eye. At the 1978 Fas-Tipton sale in Lexington, Kentucky Perkins, a member of the Ruidoso-Sunland board of directors, bid for the filly along with the Firestone family, who were just across the aisle. The filly was finally sold to Mrs. Bert Firestone for $32,000 but Perkins was the underbidder. Despite the loss of Genuine Risk, Perkins' eye has also picked up numerous other fillies. His Aminam was fourth in the recent Riley Allison Futurity and Anjelita was named Best Three-Year-Old Filly at the Sunland Park spring meeting.

FROSTY GEM, the high seller in the 1979 Ruidoso Summer Sale, had to be destroyed after hitting the rail in a workout last week on the Ruidoso oval. Trainer Billy Hughes reported the two-year-old grey son of Sunny South suddenly ducked his head and hit the rail in a morning workout. Jockey Ruben Bustamonte was unhurt. Frosty Gem was purchased by Mrs. Gene Whitehead, who also owns Sunny South, for $16,000 in the summer sale. He was bred and consigned by Sam Stevens. Hughes said Frosty Gem was undefeated after three outings in Texas and scored a victory in the half mile Brady Futurity recently. He was being prepped for the Norgor Futurity trials.

CAPT'S FIRST, the third place finisher in the Rio Grande Futurity last summer at Ruidoso, won her 1980 debut. The roan daughter of Purple Pigeon captured a 5 1/4 furlong allowance test by just under three lengths. She was the favorite at just under 2-1. Capt's First earned $17,977 last year and placed in three stakes races. She is owned by Paul and Nelda Salsbury of Midland, Texas and trained by Clifford C. Lambert. John Cushing was up. Anjelita, the Best-Three-Year-Old Filly at Sunland Park this spring, placed second.

JIMMY HUNT, the second leading apprentice at Sunland Park this year, needs only one win to lose his bug. Over the weekend the 18-year-old had six starts and finished second twice, both on Sunday. Hunt finished the Sunland meet with 34 wins, just two behind apprentice Alex-Baldillez Jr. He was fifth on the overall list.

THE 1980 SEASON at Ruidoso Downs got off to a big start. After two race days, the wagering average stands at $402,553. That's a gain of 22.07 percent over the opening weekend a year ago when the average stood at $329,764. Wagering-per-race is now $33,546, as compared to $27,480 at this point last season. The current figure is also a gain of 22.07 percent.

CLYDE'S TROPHY—Ralph Miller (center) of Fluvanna, Texas collects the victory platter after his five-year-old gelding, Mr. Clyde, knocked off the Inaugural Allowance at Ruidoso Downs. Helping accept the ornament was Mrs. Miller.

Wonder Lark Sunland's Horse of Meet

Wonder Lark, a three-year-old colt who picked up almost 10 grand with two quick stakes victories, was named Horse of the Meet at Sunland Park for the spring season.

Owned by the Sanchez Horse Farm of Laredo, Texas Wonder Lark was also honored as the Best Handicap Horse and Best Three-Year-Old Colt or Gelding.

In the quarter horse category, Easily Smashed, winner of the Sun Country Futurity, grabbed the spotlight. Bold Ego, winner of the Riley Allison Futurity, notched most of the two-year-old thoroughbred honors.

Balloting for the honors was cast by racing officials, members of the press and noted handicappers.

Wonder Lark made only two starts this season but captured both in impressive fashion. He made his 1980 debut in the 6 1/2 furlong $8,600 El Paso Times Handicap and raced to a 2 1/4 length win over favored Copper Case an even money pick. He carried 121 pounds in the race, his first since finishing second to Banquero in the Fall Thoroughbred Futurity in November.

Copper Case, who carried 123 pounds in that race and was also a winner in two other stakes races, was named Best New Mexico Bred Thoroughbred.

Wonder Lark won his second appearance in the prestigious $9,735 Sunland Park Derby. He carried the top impost of 121 pounds for the mile route and defeated Man O'Prize by 6 1/4 lengths as a 1-2 favorite.

Bobby Don Harmon rode Wonder Lark both times. He is trained by Charlie Allison. In winning the Derby, Wonder Lark set the seasonal fastest time for a mile in 1:30, just one tick off the track record. It was his first attempt at the mile distance.

Wonder Lark barely edged out Bet On Me for Horse of the Meet honors. Bet On Me won three races in the spring, including the $8,000 Thunderbird Handicap. The five-year-old gelding, owned by Patrick Brown of Anthony, and trained by Jimmy Curry, did not go unnoticed. He was named Best Sprinter, having won at 5 1/4 and 6 furlongs.

Bold Ego was named Best Two-Year-Old Colt or Gelding and Best Two-Year-Old Thoroughbred for his victory in the $208,359 Riley Allison Futurity. He is owned by the Double B Ranch of Anthony and trained by Clifford C. Lambert.

The Bold Commander son won his trial heat by four lengths after posting a 4 1/2 length maiden win. He followed up with a 2 1/4 length win in the Riley Allison Futurity and earned almost $93,000.

Squaw Bread, third in the Riley Allison, was named Best Two-Year-Old Filly. She won her trial heat by almost five lengths. The Scout Leader daughter is owned by Dr. Joe Miller and H. L. Beddo of Anthony and trained by Margie Renfro.

For Best Router, the voting went in favor of Bare Blade. Once a $3,200 claimer, Bare Blade won the $9,300 Sunland Park Handicap over a mile and sixteenth. The six-year-old gelding is owned by Clarence and Diane Easley of Pueblo, Colorado and trained by Stephen Easley.

Bare Blade won two races this season and four over the entire meeting. All were a mile or over, including a rare dead heat in two races.

Anjelita, a filly owned by J. L. Perkins of Navasota, Texas edged out Sue's Holme-for Best Three-Year-Old Filly. Anjelita won two races by a total of 3 1/4 lengths. She was also fourth in the Sunshine Handicap behind Copper Case and placed second against top allowance company in her last start. She is trained by J. Michael Welch. Ghost Light, a five-year-old mare, was a two time winner and claimed Best Older Thoroughbred Filly or Mare. Her first victory came over six furlongs, then she captured a six furlong feature race. She was also third in the Sunland Express Handicap and Thunderbird Handicap.

The Best Claimer title went to Boca Chica, the meet's only seven time winner. Boca Chica won four races in the spring, beginning with the $5,500 test and stepping up to $8,500 twice. The six-year-old gelding ended up with a win over $8,500 foes in a dead heat. Boca Chica is owned by Betty and J. W. Coats of Dexter and trained by Bob Arnett.

Easily Smashed earned three quarter horse honors. He was named Best Two-Year-Old Colt or Gelding, Best Two-Year-Old Quarter Horse and Best New Mexico-

Bred Quarter Horse. Owned by Sue May, William F. Leach and Carol Childs of Ft. Stockton, Texas Easily Smashed set the second fastest qualifying time for the $250,388 Sun Country Futurity, then captured the finale by a nose. The Easy Jet son is out of the stakes winning Foggy Road mare, Smash It.

Earning Best Two-Year-Old Filly honors was Jettabelle Boone, winner of the West Texas Futurity First Consolation and fourth in the Sun Country finale. She is won by Jacqueline Spencer of Carrizozo and trained by Mike Hedeman.

Zipp Zoro, winner of the $85,375 West Texas Derby, was named Best Three-Year-Old Quarter Horse. She is owned by Earl and Virginia Shapiro of Festus, Missouri and trained by David Fry.

Cheese Crisp was named Best Older Quarter Horse after winning twice this season. The four-year-old gelding started out last fall as a $2,500 claimer, then finished the season with a nose victory against allowance foes. He is owned by Dan and Phyllis Lucas of Deming and trained by Dan Lucas.

The Best 870 Horse is Thirty Five, a four-year-old thoroughbred who won the White Sands Invitational Handicap. He was also second in the Thunderbird Handicap and an allowance winner over five furlongs this season. He is owned by Rita J. Danley of Cement, Oklahoma and trained by Fred

I. Danley. Stepping up from $6,500 claiming company to an allowance win, Dantean was named Most Improved Horse. Owned by Gary Cummings of Albuquerque, Dantean won three races this season; five for the entire meeting. His first win came against $6,500 foes, then he whipped $7,500 company by 7 1/4 lengths. Dantean was the last race by almost four lengths against stout allowance foes. He is trained by Jimmie D. Claridge.

Margaret Barton gets excited when her horse hits the stretch

BY DICK ALWAN

Margaret Barton isn't one to get too worked up during a horse race.

Unless one of her horses happens to be running. Even then, she can keep an even head. But if her horse begins making a stretch move, that's a different story. Margaret Barton can fall apart with the best of them.

"I don't get excited until they come down the stretch, and it begins to look like my horse is going to win," she says, smiling with that look of a child opening a fat present on Christmas morning.

A year ago, it turned out to be Christmas all summer long for Margaret Barton. One of her horses, Double B. Express, started the season as a so-so four-year-old, and ended up as the Thoroughbred champ of the meeting. Double B. Express is now back at the mountain track, getting ready to defend his title.

Just the thought of Double B. Express zeroing in on those choice handicaps is enough to put one of those smiles on Margaret's face. Normally, one stakes champ is enough to keep your normal over-achieving horse owner contented for the summer. But Margaret, co-owner of the Double B Ranch of Anthony, will have another stakes standout to cheer home in the months ahead. This one is the brilliant two-year-old, Bold Ego. A week ago, the colt raced to a 2 1/4 length lead in Sunland Park's juvenile classic, the Riley Allison Futurity. The win enriched the Bartons by nearly $93,000 — at least for starters. There's no telling how many megabucks Bold Ego will bring home in the months ahead.

And if he turns out to be as good as people think he is, there'll be more bucks to scoop up when he begins his stallion career a few seasons from now.

With the emergence of Double B. Express a year ago, and the sudden blossoming of Bold Ego, the Double B Ranch is looming as a top name in Southwest racing. The layout, covering some 47 acres (not far from El Paso, Texas), was organized about seven years ago as a joint project between Margaret and her son, J. D. Barton (whose main occupation is that of a rancher at Higgins, Texas about 130 miles northeast of Amarillo).

The Higgins ranch, covering nearly 9,000 acres, is the Barton homestead. About 10 years ago, not too long after Margaret lost her husband, she and her son decided to pick up a few race horses. For Margaret, this looked like a fun hobby. They started with a couple of claimers and kept on growing.

Since they wound up racing their horses in New Mexico, they decided it would be a slick idea to have a ranch in New Mexico, where New Mexico-bred foals could come into the world. That's how the Double B Ranch came about. Obviously, one B stands for Margaret Barton, the other for J. D. Barton. If you ask Margaret how she likes the races, she'll tell you: "I just love it." In fact, it's even become a kind of a job. When she's not at the races, she's tending to the bookwork for the Double B Ranch. (Except for Wednesday mornings when she has her beauty shop appointment, followed by a standing bridge session.)

It goes without saying, she feels a close attachment to Double B. Express — but that doesn't mean she'll pat his nose or tickle him under the chin. He's the kind of mean tempered beast you'd best stay away from.

"Two years ago, we had him in a stakes race at Ruidoso," Margaret said. "For no reason, he decided to throw a fit in his stall. He doesn't need anything special to set him off. He pawed, and kicked, and tore up his stall so much that he knocked some of his lower teeth out."

Later, the veterinarian made the mistake of thinking the storm had passed, and stepped into the stall to check the horse's mouth. Somehow, Double B. Express didn't take kindly to having his aching jaw examined and this time he gave the veterinarian a good working over. When all the damage was counted up, the good doctor needed 20 stitches.

Later in the day, Double B. Express went in that stakes race, as planned. "But he didn't do a thing," Margaret said. "He just galloped around the track."

But Margaret isn't one to find fault with the apple of her eye. She says: "He's already run out some $80,000 for us, so I really can't fuss at him."

Normally, Double B. Express is a king of fire eater who loves his work. Last summer, he was at his best, winning five races, including the $335 Mescalero Apache Handicap and the $27,255 Ruidoso Mile.

When Double B. Express won the Ruidoso Mile, that was Margaret's high-point in racing — until Bold Ego knocked off the Allison Futurity a week ago. The lowpoint came last year after Margaret and J. D. purchased Bold Tactics, the papa of both Double B. Express and Bold Ego.

Three weeks after taking up residence at the Double B. Ranch, Bold Tactics came down with a severe case of colic and died. The loss of the stallion was a big blow — emotionally at least. (He was insured, so there was no fat out-of-pocket loss.)

Anyone who's been in racing long enough may come to feel he's bobbing on a sea of chance. Margaret isn't particularly superstitious. As she's quick to point out, she wore out her lucky blouse five years ago.

Now she has a pair of little silver racehorses, which she wears everywhere one of her horses runs. Before the race, she rubs one of these horses in a certain way. The charm has really been working lately.

THE BUNNIES were hopping Friday at the Capitan Elementary School. Children in grades kindergarten through fourth presented a program of songs which traced the school year through holidays.

RENOVATION of the landmark Wortley Hotel has been completed, and the facility has opened for business. Each of the hotel's guest rooms is furnished with antique lace curtains, four-poster beds and marble top dressers.

Wortley Hotel reopens

The Wortley Hotel and Dining Room in Lincoln, landmark haven of hospitality to travelers for more than a century, has reopened, following complete renovation of all facilities by the Museum of New Mexico's Monuments Division.

The rustic eight room hotel, first built in 1872, has been closed since November while the renovation took place.

Structural repairs were made to the flooring, plumbing, adobe walls and fire places. Furnishings, including antique dressers, marble top tables, lace curtains and four poster brass beds were also given attention.

Historic lithographs of the 1870's and 1880's, some borrowed from the state Museum of Fine Arts, Santa Fe, have been hung in the guest and dining rooms. Kitchen appliances were repaired and replaced and new tableware was purchased. Breakfast, lunch and dinner are served daily.

The original Wortley was built at the time Lincoln County encompassed all of present day Lincoln, Chaves, Lea and Eddy Counties and parts of the present DeBaca, Otero, Roosevelt, Socorro, Torrance and Curry counties.

According to Museum of New Mexico personnel, the Wortley provided accommodations for judges, lawmen, cowboys and other travelers drawn to the area's flourishing ranching economy. The hotel burned in 1935, but was rebuilt to its 18th century appearance in 1960.

The Wortley also figured prominently in the bloody Lincoln County War, in which the rival factions struggled for control of rich grazing lands and government beef contracts.

STEADY AS YOU GROW

When you watch a New Mexico sunrise, you have the feeling that this has never happened before, that this is creation, an innovation. It begins with a glimmer, then a glow, and in moments the whole sky catches fire.

At BSI, one of the largest financial holding companies in the Southwest, innovations are lighting up the banking sky. New people have joined this holding company, can-do people of towering strength. Al Hamilton, BSI's new president, describes doing business in the Eighties with a BSI bank:

"Your BSI bank is part of a statewide network of banks. At the hub is BSI, the holding company through which a whole new era of banking is steadily being produced. Our new banking network is comprised of innovative business men and women, sharing the immense financial strength and expertise of all our banks with you...when you need it."

Ready when you need it, it's ready to go, just like the sun in the morning. A BSI Bank is steady as you grow.
