FOR THE THIRD STRAIGHT YEAR

Al's Vest wins Flying Charm

Al's Vest, the iron-legged eight-year-old, had no trouble winning Sunday's renewal of the Flying Charm Stakes at Ruidoso Downs.

The Flying Charm is run at Al's Vest's favorite distance — 870 yards. Everything went in textbook fashion as Al's Vest hustled into the early lead, took a breather down the backstretch, whipped around the turn like a horse who really knows the way, and held off his opposition by a head.

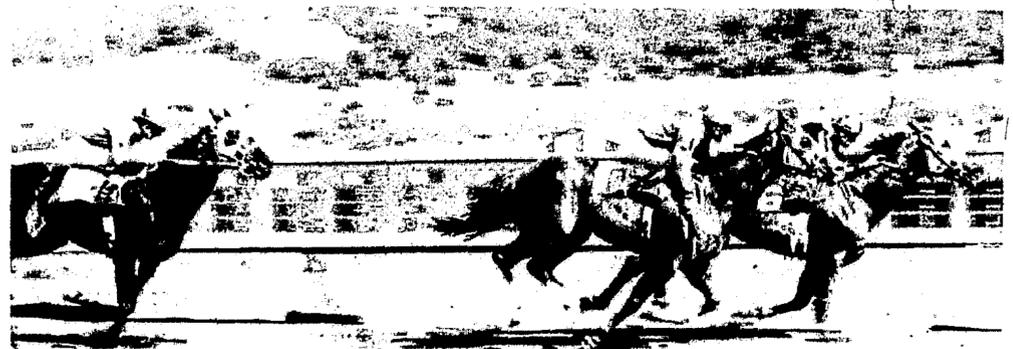

The victory marked the third straight year in which Al's Vest has knocked off the Flying Charm Stakes. The unaltered thoroughbred is the defending 870 champ at Ruidoso. Sunday's victory gave him a big push toward the 1980 title.

Ruidoso patrons had little doubt as to the outcome and installed Al's Vest as an even money favorite in the tough ten head field. The mutual returns were a modest $4, $3, $2.50. The winner raked in $5,285 out of the gross pot of $8,675.

The winning time of 47.01 did not threaten the seasonal mark of 46.45, set by Bartonville. This time, Bartonville had to settle for second. But the gelding turned in a closing move. Somehow, though, it seemed Al's Vest was always in command. He leaves the impression he could have won by a wider margin, if called upon to do so.

Al's Vest was ridden by Richard Bickel — confidently. Despite the threat from Bartonville in the final stages, Bickel saw no need to use the whip. He hand rode the people's choice down the straightaway. Bartonville, packing Gary Sumpter in the second high load of 121 (Al's Vest was top weighted at 122), earned $1,908 and returned $4 both to place and show. The gelding is owned by Jerry Rheudasil, Texas.

Cut Shot, a three-year-old thoroughbred making his first try at the 870 yard distance, turned in a commendable performance while taking third. He hit the wire 1 3/4 lengths behind Bartonville.

LIKE A CHARM — Al's Vest holds off conquest of the Flying Charm Stakes Sunday Bartonville by a head for his third straight at Ruidoso Downs. Richard Bickel is up.

Jimmie Hunt was aboard at 112 pounds. The show price was $6.40.

Al's Vest appeared to sew up the victory when he came flying out of the starting gate, getting the jump on the four quarter horses in the race. He hogged the rail after getting in the clear, and didn't lose an inch of ground the rest of the way.

At the head of the stretch, he had to step on the gas to shake off Bartonville. But that one refused to give up, and gathered himself for a brisk closing rush.

Dandy Duck, a 9-2 shot, had the bad luck to get in tight traffic near the turn for home, and had to drop out of contention. Al's Vest is owned by Dixie Ferguson of Hampshire, Texas. Ronnie Ferguson does the training.

MAJOR MEL, OPERATING as 1-2 favorite, surged ahead in the stretch and scored an easy victory in Saturday's first running of the Norgor Thoroughbred Derby at Ruidoso Downs.

The chestnut colt cruised under the finish line with a comfortable 3/4 length lead, clocking the six furlongs in 1:15 flat. That clocking equalled the seasonal record.

Major Mel earned $14,073 out of the gross purse of $20,146. Joe Martinez was in the saddle.

It was a two horse battle all the way, with True Rounder, an 11-1 outsider, setting the early pace. Major Mel kept within striking distance in second place.

At the turn for home, Jockey Martinez asked Major Mel to settle down to business, and the colt gradually took command. True Rounder still had some fight in him, and tried to regain the lead. Major Mel discouraged that attempt with another burst of power. He gained steadily throughout the stretch run.

Major Mel is owned by Malcolm S. Major Jr., of Magdalena. Bob Arnett is the trainer. The mutual payoffs on the winner were $3, $2.50, $2.20.

True Rounder, ridden by Rubin Bustamante for Nance Whitehead of Menard, Texas, held on for second and collected $6,192. The tote payoffs were $5 and $3.

Byers Hope, a 7-2 shot, settled in third place soon after the start, and ended up in that slot. He earned $3,377 and paid $2.00 to show. Jim Young was up.

WAYNE MCGUFFIN tees off on the 13th hole at Cree Meadows during Thursday's "Longest Day of Golf," played by 10 golfers at two courses. A total of 756 holes were played, worth $1,110 in pledges to the East Lincoln County chapter of the American Cancer Society. More pictures on page 6.

Longest Day of Golf' pledges total $1,100

Total pledges for the "Longest Day of Golf" benefit Thursday, sponsored by the East Lincoln Chapter of the American Cancer Society, totaled $1,100, according to Bob Livingston, event organizer.

Livingston said pledge sheets are not yet in, but "pledges went pretty well." He said that "for the first time" ever tried in Ruidoso "it was a big success." He said he hopes it will be doubled in size next year, with at least 20 golfers to the 10 playing this year.

"Next year," he said, "we'll let 40 golfers play all day if we can. We'll let as many out there as want to play, with pledges on each one of them."

Livingston and Cancer Crusade chairman Ken Moore thanked the donation of lunch for golfers, made by Kentucky Fried Chicken, M. H. "Don" Blaugrund and Jeff Chapman for allowing use of Alto Country Club for the benefit, Bob Hickson and Wally Jankowiak for use of Cree Meadows Country Club, the 10 golfers who shot 756 holes of golf, and members of the ELACS who sought pledges and donated food and time for the event.

Moore said he will know if the 1980 crusade goal has been met after all pledges are received. "I have not forgotten about all those local people who want to donate to our cause," Moore said. He added that he was "holding off" in seeking donations until he saw the final tally on the golf matches.

"Our goal is $3,200 this year, and I hope the generosity shown our cause already this year is all the push we'll need," he said, adding ELACS is about $400 short of its goal.

"The largest single pledge," Livingston said, "was $300 by Ruidoso State Bank, which included $100 they pledged earlier."

Moore also thanked Martha Bryant and Rose Peebles "for all the legwork they did" and gave his personal thanks to Livingston. "He put a lot of energy into this cause," Moore said.

"Of course, we sincerely appreciate the time donated by the golfers," Moore added. Golfing at Cree Meadows were Ken Green, Wayne McGuffin, Paul Whitwam, Tom Simon, Frank Sawyer and Harry Ray. Jeff Chapman, Jack Warlick, Bob Hickson and Danny Wimberly golfed at Alto Country Club.

The golfers teed off at 5:44 a.m., and played until 9 p.m., with a morning and afternoon break of about 20 minutes each, plus a half hour for lunch.

All the Cree Meadows golfers shot 90 holes each, with the exception of Sawyer, who completed one round before he was called away unexpectedly. The Alto golfers completed four rounds each.

"They didn't get in as many holes," Livingston said, "because Alto has a tougher course and they spent more time looking for balls, that sort of thing. If they had all played at Cree Meadows, they'd have gotten as many holes in as the others did."

The best single round score was turned in by Cree Meadows pro Bob Hickson, who shot a 3 over par 74 at Alto.

Vandals strike Ruidoso Downs post office

Ruidoso Downs police are investigating an incident in which several boxes were broken at the Downs post office sometime Thursday night.

Police chief Ray Garner said it was not yet known whether the incident was an act of vandalism or if mail was taken from the boxes.

Downs police will enforce curfew hours

Because of increased incidence of vandalism in the village of Ruidoso Downs, police chief Ray Garner said Friday that municipal law enforcement officers will soon begin enforcement of the curfew ordinance.

Curfew for juveniles (under 18 years) is 10:30 p.m., in Ruidoso Downs. The ordinance has been "on the books" for about ten years, Garner said, but has never been strictly enforced. Curfew violations are classed as misdemeanors, and violators will be turned over to the juvenile probation officer for action, he added.

Recently in Ruidoso Downs, vandals did about $3,000 worth of damage to a private residence, and many less costly incidents have been reported over the past year.

Tampering with the mail is a federal offense, punishable by 10 years in the federal penitentiary, Garner said. Although local law enforcement officers will be handling the investigation, postal authorities will also be notified, he said.

The post office has been the scene of vandalism several times in recent months, Garner added. Ceiling tiles have been destroyed and rocks and dirt clods were thrown into the office in those incidents.

Jaycees' carnival July 3-6

A carnival is coming to Ruidoso July 3-6 under the sponsorship of the Jaycees of Ruidoso and will feature 14 rides and booths, according to Gary James, Jaycee president.

James said the usual carnival foods will be sold and additional booths will be made available to other Ruidoso civic organizations. James said the Jaycees will have three booths, a glass pitch, dart throw and milk bottle throw.

To reserve a booth, telephone James at 257-2133 after 5 p.m.

Villages' trustees to meet

Ruidoso Downs trustees will meet at 7:30 tonight at the municipal building. Two resolutions will be considered, dealing with the final budget hearing and emergency water improvements.

Ruidoso trustees will meet at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, in the Ruidoso Public Library. Agenda items include a report on cost estimates for the new administrative building, action on Shangri La Subdivision and on Resolution 80-9, pertaining to fiscal year budget changes.

Conway quitting

State Senator John E. Conway, the minority leader of the New Mexico Senate, has today announced that he will resign from the Senate approximately September 1, 1980. Senator Conway stated, "I will be moving to Albuquerque and be associated with the Santa Fe law firm of Montgomery and Andrews. The firm will be opening an office in Albuquerque, and I will be the resident attorney in Albuquerque."

Senator Conway has been a member of the Senate representing Otero and Lincoln Counties since 1971 and has been the minority floor leader since 1973, holding that position longer than any Senator since Statehood. Conway said, "I have thoroughly enjoyed my tenure in the Senate. It has been a distinct honor for me, and I feel that I have represented the people of Lincoln and Otero Counties to the best of my ability. I hope they feel the same."

Humane Society considering change in animal shelter site

An on-site inspection of land offered by Bill McCarty for a county animal shelter was made Friday by village zoning officer Emory Hatcher, environmentalist Hari Mukhoty and Humane Society of Lincoln County president Ed Jungbluth.

Because the site is outside the village limits on Gavilan Canyon Road, a septic tank system of waste disposal will have to be implemented.

Mukhoty requested a set of plans for the shelter which would provide him with the necessary information to decide on the appropriate septic tank system for the site.

Hatcher said a village water main is located near the lot, and he felt that water could be supplied to the shelter by the village. He said he would consult with water superintendent Jim Goodman and village attorney Ron Harris on the matter.

Jungbluth said Barney Rue had offered to perform a percolation test on the site, which is one of the factors in determining the type of waste disposal system needed. Hatcher said a dumpster could also be provided for disposal of solid wastes.

The shelter, which is being designed by Jim French's architectural firm, will incorporate 22 inside runs for dogs, and will be of concrete block construction, Jungbluth said.

Are Ruidoso architect's abilities desired by The City of New York?

America's Best Kept Secret — Ruidoso — may actually harbor The City of New York's best kept secret — architect Jim French.

Among the best known edifices in Ruidoso Jim has designed is the Inn of the Mountain Gods — the existence of which luxurious haven for the aweary traveler is well and favorably known by New Yorkers. Naturally, Ergo, his fame must have spread even into the sanctum sanctorum of New York's city hall, nay more, even among the habitués of the Blue Room, who, perhaps in a burst enthusiasm to aid The Big Apple's sagging architectural industry, decided, forthwith, to immediately prevail upon Jim, to come to their aid, with all haste.

Therein lies a tale — of a letter exchange — with recipient Jim awaiting the whim of recipient Ira N. Brophy, director of business services, The City of New York.

To keep abreast of developments, aiding to spread knowledge of Ruidoso, turn to page seven, this section, and peruse the epistles appearing thereon, pertaining to the subject just herein perfunctorily touched upon. Enjoy.

a nose win in Friday's fourth race, clocking the 440 yards in 22.02 seconds.

All 12 races on Friday's program were elimination trials leading to the July 6 finale of the Rainbow Derby.

The Rainbow, the second leg of the famed Triple Crown for three-year-olds, will offer a remarkable gross purse of $558,108. The winner's share will amount to $183,587.

It'll be the richest version of the Rainbow Derby in the 17 year history of the classic.

Denim N Diamonds, the top qualifier for the recent $222,150 Kansas Derby, was ridden by Jerry Nicodemus, as an odds on favorite in Friday's trial spin. The win payoff was $3.60.

Here are the other qualifiers:
— Native Gambler, 22.03, owned by Gary J. Benton of Lubbock, Texas.

— Chicks Charger Bar, 22.03, owned by Bobby Pete Perez Sr., and Pete Perez Jr., of Grand Prairie, Texas.

— Pie In The Sky, 22.14, owned by Dan and Jolene Urschel of Canadian, Texas.

— Rocket Jet Bug, 22.16, owned by Betty Lou Shebester of Wynnewood, Oklahoma.

— Zipp Zoro, 22.17, owned by Earl and Virginia Shapiro of Festus, Missouri.

— Jaimie Jay, 22.17, owned by W. E. Mueller of Colorado Springs, Colorado.

— Klus Fame, 22.22, owned by E. L. and Velma Weber of Anadarka, Oklahoma.

— Miss Dee Cee Ten, 22.26, leased by Mari George of Terre Haute, Indiana.

— Brown Wind, 22.27, owned by Weaselhead Brothers of Cardston, Alberta, Canada.

ComFIRE will accept new members

The Committee for Insuring Ruidoso's Environment (ComFIRE) voted Thursday to accept three new members to replace inactive members of the committee. Herb Brunell, ComFIRE chairman, said announcement of new members would be forthcoming.

The committee also paid the final bill for cost of printing "I Support ComFIRE" stickers. They also expressed appreciation to KFSM-TV in El Paso for making promotional tapes for ComFIRE, an in-kind service which was worth more than $1,100.

Saturday eve autograph party planned to fete author Eve Ball

An autograph party for Eve Ball, Ruidoso, featuring her latest work, "Indeh: An Apache Odyssey," will be hosted by the Lincoln County Historical Society at 7 p.m., Saturday, June 28 at the Ruidoso Public Library.

The Ruidoso author will also be guest speaker at the gathering, and co-authors Nora Henn and Lynda Sanchez will also attend.

Mrs. Ball has been a Ruidoso resident for more than 30 years and has written numerous articles and books on subjects as varied as famous race horses, ranching families and the Apaches.

Her books include In the Days of Victoria, Ma'am Jones of the Pecos, Bob Crosby, Champion Cowboy, and My Girlhood among Outlaws.

Indeh is the result of over thirty years of research and personal interviews with Apache elders. In the May 18 issue of Publishers Weekly, the new book was cited as "a masterpiece of oral history."

Co-authors Nora Henn and Lynda Sanchez are both residents of Lincoln. Mrs. Henn is a noted researcher and is working on a book relevant to the Lincoln County War. Mrs. Sanchez is completing her master's degree in anthropology and is working on a book about the Spanish culture of the Lincoln County region. Both women have had numerous articles published on various phases of southwestern history.

Woman's Club seminar held here

Leaders in 22 of the 52 New Mexico Women's Clubs met Saturday in Ruidoso for a day of training for their new jobs as officers in their respective chapters.

The meeting Saturday, to orient club leaders about programs and projects they will tackle in the next two years, included more than 50 women, mostly from the southern half of the state.

An explanation of ongoing programs sponsored by the New Mexico Federation of Women's Clubs (NMFWC) was given. These include emphasis in the arts, education, public affairs, international affairs, home life and conservation, ac-ording to Marilyn Macaluso, public information director.

New programs were also announced, including a "Hands Up" program aimed at crime prevention, promotion of cardiopulmonary resuscitation and a project to establish a Girl's Ranch in the state. Macaluso said this program would receive support from the NMFWC in furnishing cottages and providing gifts for residents of the proposed ranch. She said the ranch's location "is up in the air" for now, but hopes the women's organization can help in obtaining property for such a ranch.

Ongoing programs of the nationwide organization are to promote the free-enterprise system and a "Cancel Cancer" program, which teaches members to perform self breast examinations and spot skin cancer. Macaluso said the NMFWC has provided publicity for cancer screening clinics across the state and have given support to many other cancer programs.

Macaluso said a similar meeting will be held later this year in Santa Fe for NMFWC members who could not attend the Ruidoso meeting.

state president elect; Sue Ogden, of Loving, state president; Neillie Vickers, president of the Ruidoso Chapter; and Sandy Hughes of Las Cruces, director of the Junior Women's Clubs.

Debbie Castillo Rotary exchange student

Debbie Castillo, Capitan, will leave in August to spend a year in Milnerton, South Africa, as a Rotary Exchange Program student.

She is being sponsored by the Capitan Woman's Club and Carrizozo Rotary, both of whom have benefit projects underway, as an exchange student is responsible for travel tickets, school uniforms and other items in excess of $2,500 for the year abroad.

The Ruidoso Rotarians are assisting with Castillo's financial needs, with the Reverend Frank Crown as chairman of the local effort.

The sponsors have opened the "Debbie Castillo Exchange Student Fund," in the Capitan Branch of Ruidoso State Bank, where contributions to help defray her expenses are being accepted.

Debbie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sammy Castillo, graduated from Capitan High School with honors in May. She is a past president of the Capitan Future Homemakers of America (FHA), attended the national convention in 1978 and served two years on the state FHA executive board. She was president of her senior class and was Homecoming Queen in 1979-80. Active in athletics, she was named the "Fighting Tigerette" two consecutive years.

Indian feast served to Care Center residents

BY CHARLOTTE FELLERS
Staff Writer/Photographer

The first in a series of traditional Indian feasts was prepared and served to residents at Ruidoso Care Center (RCC) Friday by representatives of Community Health at Mesalero.

"Head cook" for the morning, Narcissus Gayton, said she hopes her group can provide such a meal at least once every three months, and maybe more often in the winter. She said her representatives work with all health programs on the Mesalero Apache Reservation.

The feast was highlighted with some foods unfamiliar to many people — mescal, mesquite beans, yucca fruit and sumac seeds. Gayton said all these foods are traditional Indian dishes and are served on special occasions.

The rest of the menu featured Indian fry bread, tortillas, red chili stew, pinto beans and potato salad.

Mescal, Gayton said, comes from century plants and the heart of this food comes from just below ground, "but not the roots." She said all leaves are removed and the food is baked in the ground with hot rocks, in an oven similar to a barbecue pit. When fully cooked, it tastes "a lot like prunes."

Yucca fruit comes from white blossoms found on yucca plants, which ripen in the fall. These, too, are cooked in coals and seeds are removed, leaving the meat of the fruit, which is sweet, Gayton said.

Mesquite beans grow on bushes "in the flats" and fall to the ground when ripe. They are boiled and pounded into a saucy texture and, Gayton said, have a taste all their own.

Sumac seeds are combined with boiled apricots to make a rich but not-too-sweet finale for the meal served Friday.

The residents, especially MAT members, were very pleased about this change in their diet. "I told them we were doing this and they were really happy ... you could tell," Gayton said.

The group presented a slide show with photos of the area following lunch Friday.

INDIAN FRY BREAD with honey is one of those "melts in your mouth" foods served at the traditional Indian feast Friday at Ruidoso Care Center. Preparations took two hours and such a lunch will probably be served every three months at the Center.

LEAH HOSETOSAVIT said making tortillas is much easier "if you don't use a rolling pin." Her method employs throwing the dough and patting it until it becomes very thin. Hosetosavit was among those preparing traditional Indian food for residents at Ruidoso Care Center Friday.

Garden Club now meeting in morning

The Ruidoso Garden Club began its summer morning meeting schedule June 17 at the home of Madeline Murray.

Refreshments were served by hostesses Murray, Allene Luck, Ellen Miller and Dora McKnight.

"Table Settings — for home and flower shows," was the theme of the program given by Shirley Neuhaus, with Marti Yoder presenting and discussing three tray settings similar to those to be exhibited at the club's flower show in August.

President Bonnie Richardson announced that the club's Home and Garden Tour is scheduled August 3, with details to be announced.

Dorothy Burrus, San Angelo, Texas, was welcomed as a new member.

Racquet Club Open tennis tourney near finish

GARY LAWSON of Albuquerque uses his backhand to return a shot during Sunday play in the Fourth Annual Sierra Swim and Racquet Club Tournament. Alas, Lawson and partner Tom Meyer finished second in Men's 35 Doubles.

Gymnastics meet slated Saturday

Ruidoso Gymnastics Academy's class four competitive team will have an intersquad exhibition meet this Saturday at 1 p.m.

The one and a half hour meet will be preceded by noon warmups, and the advanced team will perform a few routines as well.

Admission is free.

ADMIRING his tee shot is Ruidoso physician Paul Whitwam.

TOM SIMON, who volunteered to play at the last minute, watches his putt's progress on the 18th hole at Cree Meadows.

BY MARK BAGBY
Sports Editor

The Fourth Annual Sierra Swim and Racquet Club Open Tennis Tournament wraps up this morning, as the four day event was extended due to Friday's rain showers.

"The rain really slowed us down," tourney director Dave Bryant said. "We'd have been through at 2 o'clock Sunday if we hadn't had the rain."

All in all, it was a "good tournament," Bryant said, despite inclement weather and shuttling of players back and forth from court to court.

The majority of the club's courts have been out of commission for several weeks for resurfacing, which is currently underway. Consequently, the 150-plus entrants had to play all across Ruidoso, including Pinecliff, Camelot, the Village of Ruidoso and Cree Meadows courts.

"That slowed us down too," Bryant said. He had 100 maps made of the locations of the various courts. "It was a hassle for the players, going all over the place, but I think everyone had a good time."

As of press time, results were incomplete, with A Men's Doubles, Women's 35 Singles, 35 Mixed Doubles, Women's B Doubles and Women's 35 Doubles unavailable. Also, Men's Open Singles was to be played this morning, with topseeded Bryant and second seed Alex Dorato squaring off at the club.

Here are the junior results which concluded Friday:

Boys' 14 Singles — Warren Wolfe over Andreas Platt, 5-7, 7-6, 6-4.
Boys' 16 Singles — Curt Kennedy over Jay Johnson, 6-0, 6-7, 7-5.
Boys' 18 Singles — Mark Sheffy over Eric Kyner, 7-5, 6-2.
Boys' 12 and 14 Combined Doubles — Warren Wolfe-Troy Trujillo over Andreas Platt-Tom Chatterton, score unavailable.
Boys' 16 and 18 Combined Doubles — Mark Sheffy-Dan Roberts over Gene Markelto-Curtis Catanch, 6-0, 6-0.
Girls' 12-14 Singles — P. Cowles over L. Iris, 6-0, 6-0.
Girls' 16 Singles — H. Friend over M. Sabary, 6-4, 7-6.
Girls' Doubles — Cowles-Herring over Rittgers-Porter, 6-2, 6-1.

Women's results

Women's Open Singles — Kathy Lawson over Sonya Bonds, 6-3, 6-0.
Women's A Singles — Margot Purdy over Joyce Sabol, 6-3, 6-1.
Women's B Singles — Allura Dennison over Lee Johnson, 6-1, 6-4.
Women's Open Doubles — Peggy Burkhead-Cathy Lawson, over Sonya Bonds-Verna Mechem, 7-5, 6-1.
Women's A Doubles — Terri Rampy-Patsy Enloe over Sabol-Chavez, 6-2, 6-4.

Men's results

Men's A Singles — Steve Aragon over Martin Nava, 6-4, 6-0.
Men's 25 Singles — Wes Jackson over Steve Aragon, 6-2, 6-1.
Men's 35 Singles — match postponed until next week because finalist J. J. Moore had to leave unexpectedly.

Men's 45 Singles — Jose Ortega over Bob Garner, 6-2, 6-2.
Men's 35 Doubles — Jesus Hernandez-Jose Ortega over Tom Meyer-Gary Lawson, 6-3, 2-6, 6-3.
Men's 45 Doubles — Jack Wheeler-Bill Thompson over Jim Mallory-A. Salazar, 6-1, 6-0.
Men's Open Doubles — Alex Dorato-Wes Jackson over Jack Kennedy-Dave Bryant, 7-6, 7-5.

Mixed competition

A Mixed Doubles — Eric Kyner-Maggie Hart over Shane Norman-Holly Friend, 5-7, 6-4, 6-2.

TOM MEYER, Lawson's partner, serves during their match with Jesus Hernandez and Jose Ortega of Juarez, Mexico. Hernandez and Ortega won in split sets, 6-3, 2-6, 6-3.

Sportin' Life

... a column of opinion ...
by Mark Bagby

Had quite a time watching the duffers belt the ball around the links Thursday, as part of "The Longest Day of Golf."

I spend most of my time watching Wayne McGuffin, Paul Whitwam, Ken Green, Harry Ray and Tom Simon play. I picked up with them on the 13th hole at Cree Meadows, their 31st of the day.

That's right — 31. See, the idea is to play as many holes in one day as you possibly can, and then collect pledges for each hole.

The boys played 36 holes by noon, since they started playing around 5:30 a.m. Then they were scheduled to play until sunset.

At Alto, local professionals Danny Wimberly, Bob Hickson, Jeff Chapman and Jack Warlick played their rounds. Scores aren't overly important, since the idea is to just play through the dang thing.

Saw some impressive golf, saw some unimpressive golf. Even our publisher here — Ken Green — played, and golf is something he doesn't indulge in, he says. He had Wayne McGuffin suitably impressed with his performance.

"He's doing all right," Wayne told me. Wayne is more knowledgeable about the game than I, so I'll take his word for it.

Paul Whitwam was doing well too, and he said he hasn't played in about a decade. (Heck, us Okies got talent we didn't even know about. Let your golfing skills lie dormant for 10 years and play like a pro — that's us.)

Now me, my golf game isn't near what it could be, since I'm a southpaw and never met a fellow southpaw golfer until last year. Consequently, I've always had to hit the ball right-handed.

Doesn't do a whole lot for distance, lemme tell you.

And then ABC, which will show it, will pay $500,000 for the right to show it. Wow.

The only way anybody could have seen Friday's fight live, assuming one wasn't there anyway, was via closed circuit television. Based on live gate and closed circuit money, Leonard gets $8-10 million, and Duran gets $1.5 million.

For network television to have landed the rights to do it live, they'd have had to charge $275,000 per each 30 second spot. That's $40,000 higher per spot than was charged for this year's Super Bowl, which was watched by zillions of people.

(The 1981 Super Bowl, by the way, will charge $275,000 for a 30 second spot, but shoot, it always draws a huge audience.)

Boxing doesn't have such a following, promoters say.

"This is the beginning of a revolution in boxing and television because it means we are moving closer to the day when almost all boxing will be seen, not on network television, but on pay cable," fight promoter Bob Arum said.

"We have seen the last of the big fights on network television," he added, saying the networks only have two more years of fights.

He predicted an eventual 500,000 viewers will pay $3 a head to watch a fight, because the networks couldn't afford it.

Anybody remember when they had fights on every week? And it wasn't involving big money, either. Maybe things have changed — folks would rather watch the violence (phony) on something like "Vegas" instead of the real thing.

Muhammad Ali kept television boxing alive by his attitude. Everybody tuned in hoping either a) he'd get his bell rung and shut up his big mouth, or b) he'd prove, once again, he was the baddest fighter in the land.

One problem with the networks running a fight is the possibility of an early knockout. If so-and-so get clobbered in the first round, the remaining 14 rounds of advertising must be refunded.

Then there's competition — for instance, "Dallas," which runs on Friday nights, is extremely popular, and it draws $100,000 for a 30 second spot. And that's pure profit for the network, since the show is now in reruns.

All these numbers and figures get real interesting some times, but I think it gets somewhat tedious most of the time. Heck, I can't even conceive of spending $275,000 for 30 seconds. I can't conceive of spending $275,000, period.

But I'd sure like to get a chance.

MOVE NOW. GET THIS YEAR'S LINDAL AT LAST YEAR'S PRICE.

If you've been waiting and waiting for the new home market to take a turn counter to inflation, bless your patience. Because if you buy a custom design or any one of the 60 different Lindal Cedar Homes before July 15, you can pick it up for the exact same price we offered in Spring of 1979. In addition to our price roll back, we're offering 50% off on all energy saving options. Which, if you're counting dollars, could add up to a savings of $5,000. Our only other requirement in this offer is that you take delivery on your new 1980 Lindal before September 15. That's it. With inflation, there won't be a better time to move than right now.

The Dreamer

BY DANNIE STORM

June Nineteenth
This message is being sent to you on the nineteenth of June, the anniversary of the freeing of the slaves in Texas. Let us rededicate ourselves to the work which is the destiny of America — the bringing of freedom and justice throughout all the world, and a lasting peace on earth and good will toward all men.

The Rain Moves In Through the Heat
This morning, June nineteen, all the world was cloudy with a cool breeze blowing out of the northeast. There was a little thunder in the middle of the morning; and then, just after high noon purple streams of rain began drifting over the hill from the south. As the clouds released their drops, the air so dry and thirsty, drank up most of the rain on its way down. However, quite a little sprinkle reached Mother Earth causing the growing things to rejoice in thankfulness.

It is mid afternoon now, and the east wind is blowing steadily off a solid bank of clouds away to the eastern horizon, bringing a wonderfully cooling draft into the vale. The temperature has dropped from a hundred yesterday to just ninety today. With the cool breeze, this makes for a pleasant, dreamy summer day. The white billowy clouds are now appearing over the hill to the west, and the wind has changed and is now coming directly out of the south, pulling the white cloud over the hill and into the valley. This is often the way the wind works before the rainy season — changing about in different directions calling in the moisture to the mountain neighborhood.

A few more very warm days are needed so that the song birds may have fair weather for the raising of their young. Soon the young bluebirds, swallows, robins and song sparrows will be out of the nest and flying about, well able to take care of themselves during the rain. These cloudy days with the light sprinkles of rain are messages to the birds and other creatures, that the rainy season is on the way — that they must be ready to move to shelter from the rain.

The River Holding Steady
In times of great drouth, the river has gone dry for a spell in places. But here at the place the stream has never gone dry in the more than half a century I have been here in the vale. The closest it came to drying up was in 1971, a year so dry that the oak brush did not leaf out in most places on the hill sides, the first time I have seen the sturdy, never falling oak brush without leaves through the summer. Only in a few shaded and moist spots did the oak brush leaf out that year. The cows were fed hay every day, but they began to yearn for something green. A wise young calf, called Snow Flake, from the irregular white patch on its forehead, would go into the hills and search out the patches of oak brush and lead the other cows up for a meal of green leaves.

Today Snow Flake is still on the Storm ranch, raising a fine bull calf, still able to travel the upland ridges. She is right now resting contentedly by the stream in the thick shade of walnut trees, listening to the music of the wind in shining leaves overhead as the clear sparkling stream flows by humming a summer lullaby.

By this time in June, the river is quite low here at the crossing. This year it is unusually strong and steady, telling you that Mother Earth is going through the dry month of June in good condition, with a good supply of underground water feeding the streams through the hosts of springs that flow forth by the riverside and in the bed of the stream.

By the time this message reaches you we will be over into the season of glorious summer. Already the signs of summer are here. The algerita berries are growing rapidly; the wild cherries have begun to show up in their cone-like clusters; and the yucca, our proud state flower, has begun to bloom, brightening the land on every hand, on the moonlights living up to its name given by the early Spanish explorers "Las Velas De Dios" (The Candle of God). Let us send up a prayer of thanks to God for the arrival of summer, and all our other blessings.

SANTA FE — Americans, nourished on the "High Noon" syndrome, instinctively know that in every case of confrontation there is a good guy and a bad guy.

Which would be a fine position, if it were true.

Let's take a recent example of developments in New Mexico in which, when things are added up at the end of the affair, you'd be hard put to it to find a good guy anywhere.

This particular instance involves some of our state's really big folks, so hold on to your hat. By calling attention to their faults, this column will not make a single friend in the seats of power.

Dramatis personae: Public Service Company of New Mexico, along with the Albuquerque Journal, and accompanied by certain minor characters who shall be mentioned later.

Act I: The state's largest daily newspaper commissions Gene Ward, its Santa Fe bureau man who studies energy problems, to do a series of stories on public utilities in New Mexico.

The brass at the paper find Ward's series too soft and assign Fritz Thompson to toughen it up a little. The series as it runs is plenty tough — accusing most sellers of electricity, whether investor-owned or co-ops, of a variety of more or less vague bad intentions, almost all of which rebound to the fiscal detriment of their customers.

(Postscript to Act I: Ward is given 90-day notice by the Journal and begins to hunt another job.)

Act II: Officials at Public Service Company of New Mexico are amazed at the series when it runs. They thought, they say, everything would be friendly and above-board when they gave those devastating interviews, which the Journal quoted to their ultimate embarrassment.

Public relations people at the utility firm, far too late for any effective response, churn out a series of full-page ads, which they then ironically pay the Journal and other papers to carry as their response to the series.

(Postscript to Act II: It is difficult to prove that anyone except Journal staffers read the original expose series. It is impossible to find anyone who will swear that he or she read the full text of the ads, cost of which could have supported Gene Ward, fired by the Journal, for three and three-quarters years.)

Act III: Public Service Company, enchanted by a response to the Journal series written by Mark Acuff in his paper, the New Mexico Independent, buys 5,300 subscriptions to the Acuff paper, one for each of its stockholders.

Someone, in a bar or somewhere else, brags about this major coup, which pays Acuff something over $25,000 for copies of a paper which says it prints 7,500 copies a week. (That, as Acuff will admit in his good moments, is a lot more than it sells.) Acuff is in high clover until the Associated Press, which serves the Albuquerque Journal and is indeed office in its building, blows the whistle on the independent situation.

(Postscript to Act III: By this time, almost everyone — including, without doubt, Jerry Crawford of the Journal, Jerry Felt of Public Service Company and Mary Beth Acuff of the Independent — wishes the whole bloody problem had never arisen. Each would be willing to go back to the old symbiotic relationship — "You enjoy hating me, and I'll enjoy hating you" — if only a return to the past were in order. All by now have discovered that such a state of affairs is impossible.)

A sad story, and, as we said, one in which nobody turns out to be the victor or the good guy.

Letters to the Editor

Dear editor:

VILLAGE STREETS PLAGUED WITH POTHOLES.

In the not too distant future the above headline will probably appear in our local paper.

A short time ago Hull Road was resurfaced by oil penetration and the resulting job was excellent. But it did not last long — driving from Cree Meadows on Hull toward the new Christian Church cuts have been made across the road in order to install utilities. The road deterioration sets in — the cuts are filled — then filled again and again — and as of today the road, once perfect, is bumpy and on the way to a general repair — what a shame and waste of time and money.

I bring up this point as yesterday we reached a milestone in Ruidoso in our street department. Using the newly acquired laydown machine a new road was laid on Carrizo near Sudderth Drive. Jack La May, at the controls, did a great job in laying down what appeared to be a new 3 to 4 inch surface. There was no dust — no gravel — just hot asphalt laid and then rolled — a perfect road but, for how long? This road would last for years without so much as one pothole except for one thing — if a cut is made to install a utility or for any other reason then water will seep beneath the pavement — and — then the trouble begins — so, what is the answer? The village should review the existing laws regarding street cuts — and if the laws need some teeth in them they should be amended. The issuance of a permit to cut thru and across a new street paved with the laydown machine should be highly restricted and only done after all other alternatives are considered.

I live on a street which was done by a laydown machine some 15 years ago. The street surface is excellent and we have just one problem — there are several old cuts which the village has filled many times — they are still bumpy and will be there forever.

The basic problem with a street cut is that it is impossible to repave the cut area in such a way as to put the street back into its original condition — once a street is cut from my point of view — it is ruined — permanently.

VALUE ADDED TAX?

Representative Al Ullman of Oregon, the chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, has apparently proposed a new tax for you to pay. He calls it a Value Added Tax (VAT).

Ullman's courage is to be applauded for introducing legislation for VAT while up for re-election in a state that abhors sales taxes.

Value added tax is nothing more than a hidden national sales tax that you, the consumer, will pay when you buy a new car, television, or other products.

The manufacturer will pay the direct tax at each step of the production with the total tax passed on to you when you make the purchase.

People like Ullman want it this way so you and other consumers won't realize how much tax you are actually paying.

Ullman is pushing the VAT scheme as the solution to our government's revenue problems and the answer to financing the Social Security system. The adoption of the VAT would be the most radical change in our taxation systems for many years.

The VAT is a politician's dream come true. With it Washington could raise taxes whenever needed. And the consumer, who is already used to paying a little more for goods anyway, would never know it.

Because the tax is shifted to the retail price of items, the shock of large deductions from the paycheck would be softened.

Ullman apparently believes that by hiding the tax in the purchase price he can fund all his big-government schemes without a tax-payer's revolt and, unfortunately, for us he is probably right. Having Congressional Committees controlled by liberal Democrats has resulted in some of the most outrageous legislation in our nation's history.

If you've had enough of deficit spending and big government, bureaucratic waste and inefficiency, then there's something you can do.

Write your Congressman Manuel Lujan, Jr. and Harold L. Runnels, and Senators Pete V. Domenici and Harrison "Jack" Schmitt. Tell them you are going to draw the line here and now! DeBaca County News

We think President Carter's eight day junket to Europe, to meet with leaders of other powers to discuss political and diplomatic issues, and convince them that Carter is a leader of international stature, will find his words falling on deaf ears.

This premise is based on the president's list of non-accomplishment:

— No Israel-Egyptian peace. No end to Russia's incursion into Afghanistan. No freedom for the Americans held hostage in Iran. Being duped by Castro into accepting undesirables as refugees.

— Unemployment in the United States is rising. The recession is raging unabated. The balance of trade pendulum still swings outward. Lack of cohesion within the Democratic party.

— Leaders of large and small nations are publicly questioning Carter's leadership qualities.

We're not saying that President Carter hasn't made an honest effort to solve these, and other problems plaguing him.

We are saying that his list of achievements, nationally and internationally, will not provide the clout to convince others of his leadership stature.

We think that President Carter would have benefitted more by spending eight days snorkeling off the coast of Bermuda, then he'll gain from his fishing expedition in Europe. —CD

TAIL PULLING TALE

Seems that Ed and Marian Hyman ... whom, as you know, mind the store at KRRR ... if'n they ain't watchin' mule races somewhere ... have this fleet of foot racing mule ... answers to the unlikely name of Early Bird ... if'n he's of a mind to ... which he seldom is ... and if'n you call him ... and he sidles up towards you with his tail end kinda loose like ... it's your move ... and fast ... 'cause he kicks accurately ... with either hind foot ... both, if'n he's really up and downright out of sorts.

Anyhow ... Ed and Marian was up Durango way a spell back ... trying to find some mule race fans as was thinking Early Bird couldn't win a race ... sneaky pair ... Ed and Marian. Came gate opening time and someone reached out and grabbed Early Bird by the tail ... and give a right smart yank ... taking Early Bird's mind off'n racing ... and causing him to kinda bump the ground with his nose ... but he ups and recovers ... starts chasing the pack ... and, by jinkies, he comes in third ... woulda won if'n there'd been another 30 yards ... way I hear tell.

Anyhow ... Early Bird's now a sore-tailed mule ... and he keeps a close eye on what's going on behind him ... and folks as is wanting to take a peek at him is well advised to approach him from the front ... warily ... 'cause he can bit as hard as a mule can kick ... and thus endeth this tear jerking tale about a sore tailed mule who wouldn't really pull your leg if'n he could about how he don't cotton to no chute hands pulling his tail.

ON SPREADING JOY

Our Jimmy ... whilst romping around Europe, is bound to have his ego bruised, 'cause some of the heads of state don't figure Our Jimmy's any great shakes as a head of state. Therefore, it'll behoove Our Jimmy, while having audience with Pope John Paul II ... to regale the Pope with all of Our Jimmy's problems ... which'll leave His Holiness feeling as though he ain't got a problem in the world ... which could lead to a buncha smiling Cardinals running around the Vatican ... and that just couldn't be all bad.

SOME GOT PROBLEMS

If'n you've been readin' the papers lately, you knows there's lotta folks with lotta problems ... with some for instances being ...

Alamogordo's going to dump three million gallons of water down a draw ... or someplace ... which'll keep the pollywogs happy ... all because after a hot day ... when the cool of the evening came ... a buncha folks ... as was partying beside some reservoirs ... up and went skinny dipping ... which polluted the water ... which'll be dumped ... and keep pollywogs happy ... and the city dads wonderin' where they're gonna find a loose three million gallons of water.

Governor Bruce King's having himself a time ... fendin' off questions being asked him about how things is going at the state pen ... and Brucey Baby don't cotton to folks asking him questions he can't ... or don't want to ... answer. Maybe his ribs could save himself some trouble ... and check into the results of the rehab programs of the pre-riot era ... by turning loose all cons as ain't murderers, rapists or doers of similar dastardly deeds ... just to see if'n conditions inside the pen's so bad that all them loosed upon society'd see to it they never got back inside the big house. Why, that'd solve most of the overcrowding problems ... save the taxpayers millions ... and give them pen men time to pen some pen reports that might say something.

Then there's them folks as lives near Mount St. Helens ... out Washington way ... why there's so much volcanic ash in the air ... not to mention the water ... that it ain't hardly safe to take a breath of air whilst pausing between swigs of water ... and Alamogordo thinks they has problems with water just 'cause a few skinny dippers takes a cooling plunge in the city's water supply.

Why things is so bad other places, that it's just about paradise here in Harmony Valley ... which should be kept as the biggest secret in America.

Missouri Man in Auto Racing For 65 Years

In some respects, 78-year-old Aut Swenson, of Springfield, Missouri, was ahead of his time: He promoted a motorcycle jump from one state to another before Evil Kneivel was even on roller skates, and he recognized the mass appeal of Ronald Reagan long before Hollywood or the Republicans took notice.

Born in Minnesota, Swenson has been involved with racing, both participating and promoting, since he was a teenager. Winning a race in a car he built while in high school convinced Swenson that racing would be a part of his future.

"The race took about 15 minutes," Swenson recalled for a writer from The National Council on the Aging, "and I won $35. That was darned good pay for 15 minutes work. Of course, what I didn't figure in was the year it took me to build the car."

Racing had such a hold on the University of Minnesota to devote all of his time to driving and later, promoting.

"Even when I became a promoter there were times I had to drive," Swenson said. "One day I had to drive in every race because we didn't have enough drivers to make up the field. Another time I had to learn how to ride a motorcycle so I could compete in those races."

In 1925, Swenson put together an auto racing and thrill show, but couldn't make a go of it. Alex Sloan, one of the top racing promoters of that era offered Swenson his old job back as a publicity man.

After World War II, when Swenson taught Army pilot trainees, he went back to the thrill show circuit, ultimately opening his own Swenson's Thrillcade based in Springfield.

In 1967, Swenson got out of the thrill show business and got involved in real estate. He and his wife, Justine, are still developing an exclusive subdivision as well as managing a large apartment complex.

Reminded of his early discovery of Ronald Reagan, Swenson replied with a chuckle, "In Iowa I met a young sports announcer who I thought had a great deal of personal appeal. I wanted to use him to present a trophy at the Iowa State Fair because he had such a great following there."

"He was known as 'Dutch' Reagan then," Swenson continued. "I don't think anyone knew his first name."

Although his real estate ventures take most of his time these days, Swenson occasionally books demolition derbies and auto races at various fairs.

"I'm still quite active in fair activities," Swenson said. "Fairs, auto thrill shows and racing are all really show business and once you get a taste of it you never really get out."

IN CALIFORNIA, more than 4,000 dentists participate in a program sponsored by the California Dental Association (CDA) to provide older persons dental care at reduced fees.

Participating dentists in the "Senior-Dent" program will reduce their fees for persons over 65 who have no private dental insurance and who are not eligible for the state program, Dental-Cal. Persons with household income over $12,000 a year are ineligible for the program.

Dentists who participate in the program have agreed to reduce fees by at least 15 percent. Participation is voluntary and dentists receive no financial support from state or federal government. California residents can contact the California Dental Association at (800) 262-1754 for more information.

A RECENT study by the Commission on Pension Policy suggests that the country's pension structure may be severely tested by changes in the age distribution.

Between now and the year 2035, the number of people 65 and older may increase more than 120 percent, while the 18-65 work force, which will have to support retirees, is expected to rise just 6 percent. This, coupled with increasing longevity and the trend toward earlier retirement, may lead future generations to reconsider the level of pension income approved by today's generation for its own retirement.

State's tree farmers in pine tree project

Tree farmers from Lincoln, Santa Fe, Rio Arriba, Mora, Bernalillo, San Miguel, Taos, Guadalupe, Sandoval and Valencia counties transplanted many pine trees this spring. This is part of a project sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service's Small Farm Task Force and the Mora Research Center, said Esteban Herrera, Extension horticulturist for New Mexico State University (NMSU).

The project involves planting three different species — white fir, blue spruce and Scotch pine. Some cooperators are planting a total of 150 trees and others are planting 750 trees. As it would be done commercially, the project calls for sequential plantings. The same amount of trees will be planted yearly during the next six years with the same cooperators, approximately 8,000 pine trees per year. NMSU Cooperative Extension Service and NMSU researchers will be giving technical assistance to these growers year around so they can make the right decisions on those cultural practices needed to grow pine trees successfully.

"These types of demonstrations will certainly help the pine tree grower to better manage his operation. It will also give other interested growers in the vicinity a chance to know more about these types of operations which definitely could be another source of income to farmers," Herrera said.

The Small Farm Task Force is a group formed by county agents and leading growers from the northern counties in New Mexico. Their purpose is to develop agricultural projects that will be feasible and economically convenient for small farmers. Technical assistance is constantly being given to farmers by subject matter specialists and through other demonstrations currently underway.

Wilderness Wisdom

with Wayne Calloway

Dear Wayne — Not so many seasons ago I began bass fishing, and now I'm more hooked than most of the fish I seek. The time has come when I now believe I can't survive another season without a bass boat. The problem is, there are just too many choices. There are big ones, little ones, flat bottoms, tri-hulls, infinite engine sizes, trolling motors or paddles, depth finders, and so on. How can any novice make a decision with such variety!

I realize there may be no easy or definitive answer to the question, but what might you consider an ideal bass rig? Ross F., Virginia

Dear Ross — You're right, aside from a few basics, what you choose is pretty much a matter of personal choice. First off, let's look at the extremes. The simplest rig might be a cartop aluminum boat, such as a johnboat 12 to 14 feet in length, pushed by a very low horsepower outboard motor, equipped with a paddle, life preserver, and a cement block anchor. An elaborate rig might consist of a sleek fiberglass boat equipped with fishing chairs, steering console, depth finder, compass, built-in bait boxes, and all of which is powered by a high-horsepower outboard. And these are only the basics for such a boat. The luxuries go on and on.

The simplest rig will cost only a few hundred dollars and require little of your time, while the fully equipped deluxe rig will cost several thousand, and probably cost you some fishing time keeping all accessories in working order. Most bass rigs fall somewhere between the two extremes.

Careful consideration must be given to the type of fishing you will normally pursue. River, lake, bay, or back-water shallows. The simplest rig will serve very well in sheltered waters that contain shallow runs, but it will be out of place on a wind tossed lake.

Personally, I've always believed some of the elaborate bass rigs I have seen darting across the lakes were quite overdone, and I've supposed their owners enjoyed speeding from cove to cove much more than they liked to fish. Canoes and prams are excellent bass boats within their element, and I'm quite certain more bass have been pulled into them than into the fancy floaters.

The key is to tailor your rig to the area you will fish most. And of course, your budget will likely have some bearing on your choice. The accessories you choose is up to you. I do think, however, that an inexpensive electric trolling motor is a good investment for most bass fishing. But bear in mind that most people go beyond what is necessary.

I-n-s-i-d-e the Outdoors

by Gary Dollahon

Lead shot — steel shot: pros and cons. The controversy has raged for much of the last decade. Information has emerged on both sides of the issue, some of it factual and some not. Let's look at the problem and what may come of it.

Evidence has been gathered, both here in New Mexico and throughout the United States, that lead shot does present a serious threat to our waterfowl resource. Basically what happens is lead pellets are swallowed by waterfowl as the feed in ponds. The shot collects in the gizzard where it is converted into a soluble form and absorbed into the bloodstream. Lead in the bloodstream causes a lack of oxygen supply to the various tissues. It interferes with the body's ability to break down glucose and other carbohydrates, which leads to weight loss. It interferes with the production of hemoglobin which can cause anemia.

This imbalance in the makeup of the blood hampers the functioning of the liver and heart, and can cause damage to those organs. All of this weakens the birds, and they refuse to eat or seek cover, lose the ability to walk and fly and eventually are eaten by a predator or die.

How prevalent is this problem? It has been widely accepted in the past that the problem exists in heavily hunted areas, especially in the midwest and east. Estimates have been made that as many as two million waterfowl per year die throughout the United States due to lead poisoning and the possible side effect of that poisoning. Some of the side effects, due possibly because of the weakened condition are avian cholera and botulism, which are especially prevalent when the birds are crowded together and under any kind of stress, such as from migration or lack of adequate food supply.

What is the New Mexico Department of Game and Fish doing in response to the collection of the preceding information? The department is considering the institution of a steel shot regulation, effective this fall, for water fowl hunting in the La Joya - Bernardo refuges area.

In regards to this there will be a public input meeting in Albuquerque Thursday, June 19, at the department's meeting room, 6511 Domingo Road, N.E. at 7 p. m. Information will be presented concerning the effects of lead shot in waterfowl with special emphasis on the research that the department has been conducting on the lead shot problem. The La Joya - Bernardo areas are being affected because of the high concentration of hunters in those areas.

There will also be information presented on the ballistics of steel shot and the effects of steel shot on shotgun barrels.

It is expected many questions will arise and not everybody will agree. This is a controversial issue but the New Mexico Department of Game and Fish feels the steps we are proposing are necessary to the proper and correct management of our waterfowl resource.

If there are any questions concerning this subject, please contact the department and attend the public meeting. If you are unable to attend, written comments will be accepted until June 26, 1980. Send written comments to New Mexico Department of Game and Fish, State Capitol, Santa Fe, New Mexico 87503.

SALUTE TO CHAMBER MEMBERS

This is a regular feature in the Monday edition of this newspaper to introduce the members of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce

LAKESIDE CORPORATION owns and manages Alto Village and Alto Lake Golf and Country Club. The corporation, according to sole stockholder M. H. "Don" Blaugrund, pictured, will be turned over ownership and operation of the club and course to lot owners as of December 31, 1980. Construction began in 1965, and Alto Village now consists of over 200 homes, townhouses and condominiums. At least two new subdivisions in the area will be opening this summer, which means, "we are not sold out," Blaugrund said. Information about lots may be obtained by calling 336-4333, the Alto Village office, from 8 a.m., to 5 p.m., (or later) daily. The main entrance to Alto Village is located .4 miles north of the ski area turnoff on Highway 37. Blaugrund is a longtime member of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce.

SCHLOTZKY'S, located in Pinetree square at Sudderth and Mechem Drives, is owned by Jimmy and Janet Goodwin, pictured. They opened the sandwich shop in early May and became members of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce in June. Schlotzsky's features "Just one sandwich - It's that good," which is a blend of three meats and three melted cheeses, with lettuce, tomatoes and other ingredients served warm. Schlotzskys began with the invention of their famous bun, which is baked fresh daily at their own shop bakery. All-ham and all-cheese Schlotzskys are also available. Shop hours are 10:30 a.m., to 9 p.m., Sunday through Thursday and 10:30 a.m. to 10:30 p.m., Fridays and Saturdays.

PBS in the spotlight

Paul Jacobs and the Nuclear Gang

"Paul Jacobs and the Nuclear Gang," the Emmy Award-winning documentary film that called public attention to the long-range deadly effects of low-level radiation and the alleged attempts by U.S. government agencies to keep this information from the American people over the past 25 years, will be nationally televised over PBS Friday, June 27, as the season's final program in the NON FICTION TELEVISION series.

The documentary focuses on the investigative reporting of the late Paul Jacobs, a lifetime social and political activist. Jacobs investigated the possibility of a cover-up story about latent low-level radiation effects from 1957 until his death in January, 1978, one month after he was filmed for this documentary. His death has been attributed to a form of lung cancer believed to have been contracted when low-level radiation infiltrated his lungs during his investigation.

Jacobs' involvement began in 1957. He went to several small towns in southern Utah and northern Arizona to substantiate reports that people in those areas had been exposed to radioactive fallout from various atomic test explosions in nearby Nevada.

Jacobs continued to pursue the story through the years. He returned to Utah and Arizona in 1971 and filmed more interviews there. It was evident to him that the incidence of various types of cancer, including leukemia, was much higher there than in other areas, and that most of these cases had developed after the nuclear tests.

The one-hour film, produced with a grant from the Independent Documentary Fund, administered by The Television Laboratory at WNET/New York, has won numerous honors, including a 1978 Emmy Award for Outstanding Program Achievement.

TELE Pulse

by Steve K. Walz

Every week this column reviews the merits or demerits of a network series, miniseries, movie or special. More importantly though, we'd like you, the viewer, to get involved with the column by sending in your opinion about a certain show so we can register your tele-pulse. We'll pass on some of the more interesting comments to the network honchos in New York.

VEGA$

In case you haven't heard, ABC has renewed its popular detective series 'Vega$' for a third season starting in September.

'Vega$', which headlines former college grid star Robert Urich as detective Dan Tanna, has always had the fortune of following 'Charlie's Angels' on Wednesday nights, guaranteeing the program a sizeable audience. But knowing Robert Urich, a very hard working actor and potentially one of Hollywood's bankable big screen stars, would rather see 'Vega$' stand up on its own two feet without the benefit of a 'hammock.'

Urich told me a year ago that the long days and sometimes shallow scripting had taxed his patience. You see, 'Vega$' is one of the few network shows that is filmed entirely on location, which made his gripes legitimate.

But the show has consistently been successful with basically the same formula. Detective Tanna uses his charm and good looks to snare 'Vega$' criminal element, and despite working in this high-voltage atmosphere, he pursues a quiet private life.

Tanna's supporting cast also adds to the shows attractiveness. Gorgeous Phyllis Davis, who portrays Tanna's Girl Friday and former 'Vega$' chorus girl provides Dan with some all important contacts. Tony Curtis makes an occasional appearance as a wealthy casino owner who keeps Dan on a retainer and on his toes. Bart Braverman, a.k.a. Binzer, a reformed criminal who also lends his assistance to Dan, reminds one of Jeff Goldblum from 'Ten Speed and Brown Shoe.' Last, but not least, is the new cast member Greg 'Mission Impossible' Morris, who as 'Vega$' police Lieutenant Nelson acts as Dan's confidante.

With that kind of supporting cast and a helpful serving of top name guest-stars 'Vega$' should continue to have a successful run on ABC.

Next week this column will detail which network shows have been renewed and which programs have been axed from the schedule.

Send your comments to Tele-Pulse, c/o TV Compulog, P.O. Box 123, Lyndhurst, N.J. 07071.

JAKE'S WAY

'Jake's Way,' centering on a sheriff dedicated to the enforcement of law and order in a large rural county near San Antonio, Texas, starring Robert Fuller and Slim Pickens (pictured), will be broadcast FRIDAY, JUNE 28 on CBS-TV.

Jake Rudd (Fuller) heads the Fox County Sheriff's Office consisting of two young deputies, easygoing Dogg (Steve McNaughton) and hard-boiled Dude (Ben Lemmon), along with a pretty dispatcher, Christina O'Toole (Lisa LeMole). Jake's sidekick and predecessor is Sam Hargis (Pickens), a crusty 'old world' lawman who is often at odds with the younger Jake as to how justice should be meted out.

THE WHITE PAPER

'If Japan Can... Why Can't We?', an NBC White Paper examining the slow growth of American productivity and why it must be increased, will be presented on NBC-TV, TUESDAY, JUNE 24.

The broadcast, anchored and written by NBC News correspondent Lloyd Dobyns (pictured), will study the problems of American productivity and what is being done to improve it. "What makes the Japanese so interesting," Dobyns says, "is that they can show us what's wrong with the system in this country."

CONFIDENTIAL REPORT J R the deliciously rotten head of the Ewing clan on CBS-TV's 'Dallas,' may be the most hated man on the tube. But Larry Hagman loves him — and so do a lot of women viewers. "It's not often an actor gets to sleep with all the ladies, make all the money and stab his brother in the back every week," says Hagman, 48, who stars as the evil Ewing. "Look, what's so bad about J. R.? He's just a good ole boy trying to make a billion dollars the only way he knows how. That way includes packing his wife off to a sanitarium, sharing her sister's bed, double crossing his brother and beating people out of their money. But the women love the rotten b-----." Hagman insists. "You wouldn't believe the mail I get — or rather the mail J. R. gets. Women send their measurements, their pictures and even tell me what they'd like me to do to them. It's incredible. What is it about this complete b----- I play that women like? I have to think that women, at least some of them, simply like a b----- and that some enjoy being abused. Maybe it's basically because women don't respect a man they can control. They'll take a man, change him into whatever image they want in a husband and then they'll cast him off like an old sock. It's the man they can't control who fascinates them."

CONSUMER NEWS WIRE Stop smoking. Lose weight. Here's how. The Damon and Grace Program, in existence for ten years, has gained considerable recognition and acclaim for its effective technique and positive results. Independent surveys by affiliates of the American Lung Association show the Damon and Grace Program to be three to four times more effective than other programs undertaken by the association. Conceived and developed by Damon and Grace Reinbold, the inexpensive programs for weight loss and smoking control are now conducted in major cities and suburban centers throughout the United States. The Reinbolds have helped Olympic contenders, film stars, Broadway actors, football and basketball players, models, golfers, bowlers and jockeys.

TV CLOSEUP TV tycoons are getting smaller and smaller. Little Gary Coleman of 'Diff'rent Strokes' has his own production company and is now moving to 20th Century Fox to make films and TV shows. Vegas' star Bob Ulrich can pull off all sorts of dodges as private eye Dan Tanna on the show. But not in real life, buster. He parked in a cops-only zone while filming across from the Las Vegas Police Department — and he couldn't talk his way out of a $25 ticket! Emmy-winner Anthony Hopkins will play Paul of Tarsus, the Apostle to the Gentiles, in a two-part drama special, 'The Acts of Peter and Paul,' which starts production this summer in Greece for CBS-TV. Cheryl Ladd refuses to blame the pressures of 'Charlie's Angels' for the breakup of her marriage. If the relationship had been strong, true and right, it would have withstood it, the star says. As for her recent ABC-TV interview with Barbara Walters, Cheryl lumes, "It was murder. I wasn't too pleased with some of the questions." TV model Cheryl Tiegs is in hot water with all-American moms. She blurted out that she thought children with working mothers were more independent and responsible.
