the Iranians have held 50 Americans hostage. The ultimatum to the Ayatollah Khomeini must be the written words: "Let my people go."

THE CLEVER ONE — Clever Bug, winner of the $504,500 Kansas Futurity earlier in the Ruidoso Downs season, faces the toughest assignment of his young career on Sunday. He tackles the sensational Mighty Deck Three in the finale of the $587,500 Rainbow Futurity. Clever Bug is the richest of the Rainbow finalists with winnings of almost $200,000.

HE'S MIGHTY FAST — Mighty Deck Three carries a perfect record of six wins from six starts into Sunday's finale of the $587,500 Rainbow Futurity at Ruidoso Downs. The winner's slice of the second leg of the Triple Crown amounts to $203,875. Mighty Deck Three, who's set blazing track records in Kansas, is owned by Dan and Jolene Urschel of Canadian, Texas. Jerry Burgess is the pilot.

RAINBOW HOPEFUL — Last summer, Mystic Eye went for $6,000 in the All-American Yearling Sale at Ruidoso Downs. He's already earned over fifty grand, and he'll be chasing another big pot when he goes in Sunday's finale of the $587,500 Rainbow Futurity. The colt is ridden by Stuart Dolphus for Jerry and Mary Lou Haerber of Rocksprings, Texas.

A GREAT VIEW — Jet View, a colt who went for $12,500 in last summer's All-American Yearling Sale at Ruidoso Downs, is in the field for Sunday's Rainbow Futurity. The colt, owned by Dr. Jack Brooks and George Gage of Arlington, Texas, had already earned $94,848. Roy Brooks is the rider.

NO. 19 IN OUR 35TH YEAR

RUIDOSO, LINCOLN COUNTY, NEW MEXICO 88345

THURSDAY, JULY 17, 1980

Rainbow Futurity Sunday

By all rights, Clever Bug is the towering two-year-old of the current Ruidoso Downs season, the ostensible favorite in Sunday's 17th running of the 400 yard Rainbow Futurity.

The middle jewel in quarter horse racing's Triple Crown for two-year-olds packs a total purse of $587,500 and hands the winner a plump paycheck of $203,875.

It'll be the richest version of the Rainbow Futurity, by a wide margin. This year's purse will top last year's previous record high by an amazing $87,400.

When it comes time to decide the Rainbow favorite, it would seem logical to hand the honor to the brilliant Clever Bug.

Ruidoso needs water — White

Ruidoso trustee George White has, he advised The News Tuesday, "been making a study of Ruidoso's water problems," and said he "is offering some possible solutions to ease them."

White said he is offering the following solutions which could be implemented to ease the water shortage in Ruidoso:

— Purchase of additional transferable water rights. "If anyone has water rights for sale, that Ruidoso could use, please notify village officials immediately," he said.

— Construction of a raw water reservoir (not dam) in the Upper Canyon that would be hydrologically compatible with the existing Alto Lake.

Lincoln County Commissioners spent much of their Tuesday meeting shaking their heads over the bureaucratic entanglements of state government.

being requested. Aware of the existing statute, the commissioners debated the matter among themselves and eventually agreed to go along with the request, even though they felt it was unnecessary.

littering would be a petty misdemeanor, as it is under state law; violators would go "to the same court;" and fines collected would go to the state anyway.

A good balance of artists, varied entertainment, quality food and better facilities have combined to make the Ninth Annual Ruidoso Art Festival, July 25-27, a potentially successful venture, according to members of the Art Festival Committee (AFC) of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce. Meeting Monday, the AFC announced some welcome changes in this year's festival, including the addition of several entertainment programs to the show.

Care Center balloon rides Saturday

An opportunity to ride in a hot air balloon basket will be available to all Ruidosians Saturday morning when residents of Ruidoso Care Center (RCC) will work to raise money for the American Heart Association (AHA) in their first "Rock and Roll Jamboree."

At 9 a.m., the RCC residents will rock in rocking chairs and roll in wheelchairs to earn pledges which will be turned over to the AHA. Teddi Sullivan, who entertains at a local night club, will provide musical entertainment throughout the jamboree.

Ivan Westergaard, administrator at RCC, said Wednesday that balloon rides are "going fast." He said several have telephoned their reservations and expects many more "walk ins" Saturday.

Westergaard said the jamboree will also give people a chance to tour RCC's facilities, if they missed the open house in February.

Downs tables new water lines

The Ruidoso Downs trustees Monday evening postponed action on installation of new water lines for Los Lomas Subdivision after opening bids on the project.

Bidders on the project were Barney Rue Sand and Gravel, $7,952.50 and Bill McCarty Construction, $14,352.48.

The trustees also tabled, until the July 28 meeting, action to secure an $18,000 interest free loan from the state, to complete the water project. The trustees have received approval of a grant of $18,000 for this project.

village property by the Hayes building was tabled. Hayes was advised by the trustees that village attorney Dick Parsons would be consulted by the board prior to taking any action on the matter.

IT WAS A PRETTY PRODUCTIVE day for Jaekie Rhodes of Richardson, Texas. Here for his 40th wedding anniversary, Rhodes was fishing in the Innsbrook Village pond Wednesday when he latched onto this eight pound channel catfish. The monster had broken his line twice earlier, but the third time Rhodes was able to get it out of the water — not by reeling, he just grabbed the rod and ran, dragging the fish up the bank. He was using bacon for bait, and planned to eat his catch for dinner. There's another fish of similar proportions in the pond, Rhodes maintained, but only residents at Innsbrook Village may fish in the pond.

RLA. He said the Chamber has formed a Lodger's Committee, which is an arm of the Chamber, which would be similar in scope to the RLA. It has seven members, many of whom are also members of the RLA. The RLA also heard a request from Ed Hyman, president of the Ruidoso Downs Mulekinnners Association, who asked each lodger to donate $20 to build up purse money for the mule races September 26-28. Hyman said he felt lodgers would derive great benefit from the weekend activities, which also include a hunter-jumper class horse show and a chili cookoff. He said last year's purses for the mule races were donated by business people in the area and said "we didn't get one single donation from the lodgers." Hyman offered to compile a list of lodgers donating money for the purse, and mail it with other information to all those planning to attend the weekend's activities. He said the advertisement could probably offer lodgers "one of the busiest weekends of the season." While most lodgers felt $20 each was nominal, some felt the amount donated should be proportionate to the size of each establishment. Each lodger will be encouraged to attend the next Lodger's Tax Committee meeting and request $1,000 to be given to the mule race purse money. The RLA also: —Decided to request that $2,000 be paid from Lodger's Tax monies to purchase trophies for the Aspenade Motorcycle Convention. —Heard a report on activities of the Lodger's Tax Committee, and that money left over at the end of this fiscal year was placed into a certificate of deposit rather than returned to the general fund for the village of Ruidoso. —Asked all lodgers to use the telephone chain and leave off "no vacancy" signs so they can more effectively assist visitors in finding lodging.

breadwinner in the Rainbow field. His winnings, in fact, are more than twice that of any other finalist. With all these gilt edged credentials, it would almost be a foregone conclusion that Clever Bug will step onto the Rainbow turf as an omnibus favorite. But that might not be the case. Ironically, Clever Bug may have to take a back-seat in the betting to the sensational invader from Kansas bush track circuit, Mighty Deck Three. It's been a long while—if ever at all—since a midseason import from the non pari-mutuel circuit has made such a deep impression on the Ruidoso racing establishment. Mighty Deck Three chalked up amazing speed records while winning a pair of futurities at Eureka Downs in Kansas. Along the way, he set a speed rating of 105 for 330 yards, then a staggering 115 at the same distance, and later, a 101 at 350. In the midst of this blazing success, he was purchased by Dan and Jolene Urschel of Canadian, Texas. The Urschels are the owners of Pie In The Sky, the winner of the 1979 All-American Futurity at Ruidoso. When Mighty Deck Three shipped to Ruidoso last month for his mountain debut, his reputation preceded him like a shock wave. The fans made him a tremendous 1-5 favorite in his first round elimination trial for the Rainbow Futurity, and Mighty Deck Three stomped his opposition into the ground. He won by 6 1/2 lengths, which surely amounts to the fattest victory margin in quarter horse racing at Ruidoso this summer. In the final qualifying round for the Rainbow, Mighty Deck Three came out swinging once again and streaked to a 3/4 length win as another topheavy favorite (10 cents on the dollar). In the process, he hung up the top qualifying time of 20.13 seconds. So Mighty Deck Three makes his first appearance against big-name competition Sunday, most likely as the people's choice. He'll carry with him a spottless career record of six wins from six starts, and a money line of $40,560. If Mighty Deck Three manages to gobble up the Rainbow, he'll become a prime object of speculation in regard to the All-American Futurity, waiting just around the corner. Here's a quick profile of the Rainbow Field, from the standpoint of qualifying times: Mighty Deck Three, 20.13; Heza Bunny, 20.30; Mystic Eye, 20.35; Clever Bug, 20.40; Tiny Gay Bug, 20.43; Midland Native, 20.44; Six Fols, 20.48; Sinful Soul, 20.49; Ooh Lala Lala, 20.50; Jet View, 20.50. Here's how the 10 finalist rate, so far as earnings are concerned: Clever Bug, $197,838; Jet View, $94,848; Mystic Eye, $50,411; Mighty Deck Three, $40,560; Heza Bunny, $17,024; Ooh Lala Lala, $16,770; Tiny Gay Bug, $4,033; Midland Native, $3,018; Six Fols, $1,602; Sinful Soul, $1,592. For some of the contenders, the Rainbow shapes up as a high risk financial gamble which is paying off. Four were made supplemental nominees at a cost of $3,000 June 1. (All together, there were 53 such nominees on that date.) The four are Mighty Deck Three, Clever Bug, Tiny Gay Bug and Ooh Lala Lala. Another sort of financial investment will be paying off for three contenders. Mystic Eye was purchased in the 1979 All-American Sale at Ruidoso Downs for a paltry $6,000 (roughly half the average sale price). Ooh Lala Lala went for $20,600, Jet View, who now looms as one of the year's truly great bargain horses, was picked up in the sale for $12,500. The jockeys who figure to be in the heat of the firestorm on Sunday are Jerry Burgess, the veteran who'll pilot Mighty Deck Three, and Nicky Wilson, who'll be back to guide Clever Bug. Wilson, Clever Bug's regular pilot, was injured in a recent spill, so Roy Brooks took over for the gelding's last spin and guided him to that fourth best qualifying time. Wilson's injuries have been mending on schedule, so he'll most likely be back in the saddle when Clever Bug steps into the Rainbow starting gate Sunday. Jet View, the winner of the $187,231 West Texas Futurity at Sunland Park (he earned $82,348), managed to get into the Rainbow finale by the skin of his teeth. He deadlocked Rusty Rocketta for the bottom qualifying berth at 20.50 seconds, then made the grade on the luck of the draw. The total Rainbow purse of $587,500 includes a five grand breeding award and $65,045 for Saturday's Consolation. While the winner collects a heady $203,875, there'll be ample reward for second ($83,200), third ($47,765) and fourth ($25,047). The payoffs divide down to $19,805 for last. Once again, the Rainbow Futurity will be televised live in a one hour show blanketing the Western states and several eastern markets. The telecast, produced by Gahberg Television Productions of St. Charles, Illinois, will include such familiar personalities as Dave Johnson, Tom Dawson and Bob Dudlich.

supply water for the treatment plant serving that area. — Additional raw water storage compatible with the ten million gallon storage facilities at the Gavilan Treatment Plant. — Drilling of a well in the Gavilan Canyon area and having assurance that the same could be put to beneficial use. — Rework the Upper Canyon Flank where it could manufacture more treated water and provide additional storage tanks to hold same. — Encourage the Eagle Creek Water Users Association to search for additional water to transport through water mains to Captain and Alto Lake for treatment and distribution to the respective beneficiaries. This project could be financed by issuing revenue bonds. "Any ideas our citizens and property owners might have, to provide more water, will be welcome," White said. "We need your input. One thing is for sure — living in the arid Southwest, we will never have water to waste. "Possibly if we change our thinking in terms of size of reservoirs, as compared to the proposed Eagle Creek Dam which was to have held more than one billion gallons of water when filled, to smaller and more strategically placed reservoirs, we could save money by not having to meet all kinds of regulatory agency requirements." White said he had some suggestions on "methods of financing" and for "solving the crisis situation which the village is facing in the next few years," including the following: — No annexation to the village, and no new subdivision, until Ruidoso's water situation is corrected by completing the necessary projects or measures. — Place restrictions on new water taps and raise the fee to help pay for revenue bonds that could pay for the corrective projects. — Teach conservation of water through the simple economics of raising the price of water. — Consider the native Southwest type of yards, i.e., trees and little or no grass. — As pointed out at the last council meeting by a local citizen, have a general obligation water bond question answered by the voters: Do you want more growth and less water, or more water and less growth? "I am available," White said, "to discuss our water problems."

anyway," referring to the state law. He added, "I thought it was dumb the day we did it," and having to rescind it is "just as dumb." The commissioners also received a contract, ready for signing, which provides for county use of the Fort Stanton Sanitary Landfill, located on state lands. The lease agreement, which has been under the scrutiny of the state Department of Public Lands, was effective September 8, 1979, and is due to expire on the same date this year — less than seven weeks away. During the past year, the county has been utilizing the landfill as usual. McKnight inquired facetiously, "What would happen if we sent it back and said,

"We don't want to lease it this year, but we'll take a lease for next year?" After toying momentarily with that possibility, the commission proceeded to sign the agreement. In other business, the commission: — Referred to the county Planning and Zoning Commission a request and petition by Noyal residents to ban the future installation of mobile homes within the township. — Approved a lease-purchase of a microfilm system for the county clerk's office, for preservation of county records. — Accepted the bid of Amco of Albuquerque of $3,960 for culvert pipe. — Accepted the bid of Fidelity Insurance Company of $12,865 for liability insurance for the county. — Approved a number of budget resolutions, for bookkeeping purposes. — Granted an easement to the village of Captain to install water pipes, provided the pipe is laid a minimum of 18 inches under the ground surface, 30 feet from the center line of roadways, in the bar ditch or beyond, and the county is relieved of responsibility for accidents in which the line might be damaged by county road equipment. — Approved the county's annual physical inventory report. — Approved a cooperative agreement with the Department of Interior Division of Animal Damage Control, which channels funds to area ranches for predator eradication.

Jungbluth said he contacted one trustee, who recommended the Chamber directors submit a written budget requesting the money and give itemized expenditures for each month. The executive board will submit a budget which could be considered at the next trustees' meeting. Directors also: — Heard that ski brochures will be available by mid-August for distribution. — Heard that the executive board chose not to ask the Lodger's Tax Committee for funds to purchase trophies for the Aspenade Motorcycle Convention, on behalf of TH Thompson. Richard Sandoval said the committee "didn't feel this was proper use of Lodger's Tax money because the money was available elsewhere." He said the board pledged their support of the convention. — Directed Jungbluth to write letters to service clubs in a final effort to develop a community calendar, using the Chamber office as an information center.

— Approved an expenditure of $56 to allow Jungbluth and his wife to attend the dinner portion of the Cadillac Party August 21. Jungbluth said 14 tickets are left for the fund raiser. — Approved the appointment of Gary and Melinda Hall to the Retail Merchants Committee, and accepted the progress report on the Art Festival. — Heard a report on the formation of a Lodger's Committee, with seven members, organizing this week. Regular meetings will be the first or second Tuesday of each month at 2 p.m.

through the three days. Chamber executive director Ed Jungbluth said restrooms located in the foyer of the high school gym will be available instead of porta-toilets, which were used in past years. Top 25 artists will be selected by the Artist Standards Committee and the top artist will receive free entry into the 1981 Festival. Jungbluth said higher quality ribbons have been received to place on the top booths and each artist and artist's helpers will be given identification ribbons this year. Artists will be guests at two coffees sponsored by some businesses in the community Saturday and Sunday mornings. The Saturday morning coffee, at the Bear Claw Gallery and Framing Company, will be sponsored by Western Office Equipment, Big T Family Restaurant, Security Bank, Stagecoach Motel, Hughes Body Shop, Jack's Kerr-McGee, First Christian Church, Barnett Carpets; Sierra Blanca Motors, Artistic Beauty Salon, Gibson's Discount, Sierra Development Company, Bennett's, The Woodshed, Village Hardware, Ski West Sports, the Bear Claw Gallery and White Mountain Abstract Company. Sunday's coffee will be held at the Artisan's Shop with Don and Mary Parsons hosting. Both coffees are from 8 to 10 a.m., and the public is invited to meet the artists. Tie-downs for placement of the five circus tents used to house the artists' booths are in the ground. The tie-downs were damaged in last year's show and many had to be replaced, but Jungbluth said they appeared to be more sturdy this year. The Lincoln County Mounted Patrol will provide 24 hour security service and manpower will be twice what it was last year, according to John Cupp, Patrol member. Food booths will be set up on festival grounds to provide Southwestern dishes including burritos, nachos and fry bread, with hamburgers, French fries, hot dogs, corny dogs, popcorn, ice cream, fresh fruit, homemade cookies and baked potatoes also available. Admission to the Festival is $1.50 with children 16 and under admitted free if accompanied by an adult. One ticket will be good for all three days admission, Dave Wilson, AFC chairman said.

Bell/Durham vows exchanged

Rebecca Bell and Teddy David Durham, both of Ruidoso, were married in a garden ceremony June 7 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Lofland of Lubbock, Texas, aunt and uncle of the bride.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Bell of Lovington. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Durham of Ruidoso.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony was The Reverend Elton Wyatt, with recorded selections by John Stewart played throughout.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length wedding gown of white satin organza featuring a high Victorian neckline and a deep "v" yoke neck, edged in Venice lace.

Appliques accented the empire waistline, and lace edged the three-tiered short butterfly sleeves. The slightly gathered A-line skirt featured a deep ruffle at the hemline which was accented with lace, and flowed into a full chapel length train.

The bride's hairpiece was a bridal wreath. She carried out the tradition of wearing something old, a diamond necklace, something borrowed, diamond earrings, and pennies minted the year of her birth in her shoe.

The bride made all bouquets and corsages worn by the wedding party. She carried a bouquet of white gardenias and peach colored feathered carnations to complete her outfit.

Matron of honor was Elizabeth Moore, of Georgetown, Texas, sister of the bride, who was attired in a light blue mid length dress of sheer cotton. She carried a basket of blue and peach flowers.

The bridegroom was attired in a brown tweed suit and wore a boutonniere of peach roses. Serving as best man was the bridegroom's father, Johnny Durham, who wore a blue suit accented with a similar boutonniere. Usher was Mark The mother of the bride chose a peach chiffon crepe street length dress for her daughter's wedding. The bridegroom's mother selected a light blue and peach floral silk midlength dress. Both wore corsages of peach and blue silk roses.

A reception followed in the garden immediately after the wedding. The angel food wedding cake was served from a bride's table covered with white linen cloth, featuring a centerpiece of salmon gladiolus and feathered carnations. Silver and crystal appointments complimented the linen cloth.

The bridegroom's table featured wood and pottery decor with a centerpiece basket filled with a cascade of fruit. Hostesses were sisters of the couple, Elizabeth Moore, Cindy and Cheryl Durham and Judy Embree.

The couple took a wedding trip to White River Lake, east of Lubbock, and are at home in Ruidoso where he is employed at Sierra Blanca Motors and she is a lab technician for the village of Ruidoso.

The bride was honored at a shower in Ruidoso June 2 with Kelly Alexander, Mary Hull, Cindy and Cheryl Durham serving as hostesses. A reception was held for the couple June 11 at the Texas Club and the bride was guest at a shower in Lovington July 12.

Director at Carrizozo center

Jenny Kelly of Albuquerque assumed duties July 1 as director of the New Horizons Developmental Center in Carrizozo, a training facility for the mentally retarded.

Kelly said she is excited about "the potential here," the community involvement with New Horizons and the possibility of establishing a group home for the mentally retarded at the facility. She added she was glad to see that the New Horizons board of directors is such a "concerned" group.

Living in Carrizozo also appeals to the new director. "It's a beautiful area—a nice part of New Mexico. It's got a lot of things going for it that the big cities don't," she said. The lack of "noise, crime and pollution," is a definite advantage, she said.

Kelly first became interested in working with the developmentally disabled while teaching remedial reading in Ohio. She was asked to tutor a six-year-old boy who was a victim of cerebral palsy and was assumed to be mentally retarded.

The child was unable to talk, read or even stand erect, Kelly said, adding, "the first time I saw him, I couldn't believe anyone could help him. It was a pretty helpless little boy."

Eventually, she agreed to work with the boy. The first obstacle she said was setting up some sort of communication. The boy had some control of his left leg, Kelly said, so they worked out a series of signals in which the boy would tap with his foot to indicate "yes" and "no." Once the system was established, Kelly was able to ask questions and receive answers and soon discovered "he was a very intelligent little boy, but he was being held captive in his body."

She went on to develop techniques and methods, using flash cards and other techniques. Kelly worked with the boy for a year and "thoroughly enjoyed the job," she said.

At that point, "I realized that there were others in similar positions who needed help and for whom there were no facilities."

A native of Ohio, Kelly holds a bachelor's degree in education from Akron University, Akron, Ohio, and a master's in counseling from Western New Mexico University, Silver City.

Her experience includes three years at the Cambridge Developmental Center in Cambridge, Ohio, training all professional and para-professional staff members for two years, and acting as director during the third year. During her directorship, she was responsible for supervision of the staff in writing and implementation of self-help and living skills programs for the 180 clients.

She also worked for the Southwestern New Mexico Services to the Handicapped as a teacher and vocational counselor, and has experience as a college instructor.

Roberts honored as 20-year postal employee

THE ONLY TWO postmasters Ruidoso Downs ever had were at the post office Wednesday to honor Shirlene Roberts, right, who has been a postal service employee 20 years. She is pictured with Dorothy Parnell, who retired from the government's employ in 1975 and now resides in Ruidoso Downs.

Shirlene Roberts, postmaster of the Ruidoso Downs Post Office, was honored Wednesday for 20 years of employment as a Postal Service employee.

Refreshments were served all day at the post office, and former postmaster of the Ruidoso Downs branch, Dorothy Parnell, was on hand to recall the history of the Downs post office.

Parnell worked with Roberts 16 of her 20 years of employment, and said the post office had her as its first postmaster when it opened in 1947. The office was then located where the Chaparral Drilling Company now stands.

Parnell said the Postal Service then built their first office, a cinder block structure, near the Continental Telephone work station. "That was supposed to last 20 years but we outgrew it in eight years," Parnell said.

She said that once the race track opened and the community changed its name from Greentree to Ruidoso Downs, growth was inevitable.

The building now housing the Downs post office was built and is once again on the verge of being used to capacity, according to Roberts. "We still have a few boxes, but not too many." She said that if growth continues along the same lines, the Postal Service may remodel the Downs office to make room for new boxes.

Roberts said she thinks "once the (Regional Wastewater) sewer goes in, we'll grow like everything."

Roberts said she never expected to work for the government 20 years, but added "I love the job and I never regretted it."

ROGER POSEY has been named the minister of music at the First Baptist Church in Ruidoso. Posey is employed in the construction business but has served as youth and music director at a church in Morton, Texas, and in a Colorado church. He and his wife Sheryl have three children. Posey plans to develop the youth and adult choirs at the church and will work with youth groups.

The Plant Corner by Sally Black

This column is devoted to growing healthy indoor plants. Address questions to: Sally Black, The Ruidoso News, Box 128, Ruidoso, New Mexico 88345.

Probably the one thing that worries people most about indoor plants is not when to fertilize or bathe them, but what to do with them when the family is off on a vacation and there is no one to watch after their watering needs. The ideal solution is to have a mutual aid pact with a neighbor who will take care of your plants while you are away, in return for the same service on your part. If you cannot get a plant sitter, however, there are several ways you can help your plants to tend themselves. With a small plant, simply water it, cover it with a clear plastic food bag, tuck the bag under the bottom of the pot and set the bagged plant out of direct sun; if properly done, the water will recycle as in a terrarium, condensing on the inside of the plastic and running down where it can be taken up through the drainage hole. Larger plants, or a group of several plants, can be covered in similar fashion with a large clear plastic garment bag for the dry cleaner's; if a single large plant is potted in a container without drainage holes, tie the open end of the bag loosely around the stem of the plant instead of folding it under the bottom; that way moisture running down the inside of the plastic will drip into the soil of the pot.

Plants as well as people seem to like vacations, and after a long winter indoors they often benefit from a summer on the porch or terrace. If you move your plants outside, however, you would be wise to follow a few basic rules, first, do not move them out until all danger of a late spring frost has passed. Second, when safe weather does arrive, put them in deep shade for a week or more. The reason for this precaution is that their foliage, tender because it is developed under weak indoor light, can be easily burned by the much higher light levels outdoors. After a couple of weeks, when the plants have had a chance to adjust to the outdoor environment, you can move them to a more permanent summer location, but even the light loving types should still be kept only in partial sunlight or dappled shade. Third, keep the plants out of windy spots where they will quickly dry out and where their tender foliage can be whipped and damaged. To prevent clay pots from drying too quickly, they can be double potted in decorative urns lined with damp sphagnum moss. Fourth, bring your plants indoors again in early fall, well before the first expected frost forms and at a time when temperatures outside are virtually the same as temperatures within; waiting any longer may force them to adjust too quickly from a cool environment to a heated one and you may lose a few plants.

Good luck to you and your plants while on vacation. (Ref. The Time-Life Encyclopedia Of Gardening)

Beer not allowed at White Mountain ballfield

The athletic fields near White Mountain Middle School were loaned to various groups in Ruidoso with the stipulation that no alcoholic beverages — including beer — be allowed on the fields, said White Mountain principal Sid Miller.

But not everyone seems to know that, he added, or if they do, they've chosen to ignore it.

"I'm sorry this situation has arisen," he said. "I wish we didn't have to ask people not to drink out there. But it is a state law and it is our wish that no liquor of any kind be allowed out there."

To that end, Miller has contacted the Ruidoso Police Department and it has agreed to patrol the fields regularly and enforce the law.

"We'd like to keep it at only warnings," he said. "I don't know exactly what penalty they could put in, but I suppose they could remove the people from the field."

Miller said, however, that consistent abuse by any person or group would probably result in the abolishment of that person or group from the fields.

"We've got more recreation out there than ever before," he said, "and really, outside of a couple of incidents, everyone has cooperated real well. But the drinking must stop."

The large athletic fields were upgraded recently for various sports, including mens' and womens' softball, Little League baseball and soccer.

Access to the fields is by a central road system, as opposed to the original "catch as catch can" arrangement.

"People have been really good about staying on those roads," Miller said, and parking, which was a problem at one time, seems to have also been solved.

Not all the problems, however, have been ironed out, Miller said.

"We've been having some trouble with motorbikes coming across the fields, and some people rode horses through a softball game not too long ago," he said. "I don't think we'll have any more trouble with the horses, but motorbikes are still a problem. We're going to ask the police to try to keep them out."

But the main problem has been beer. "Listen, I hate to sound like this, because I realize folks are just having a good time," he said, "but we all agreed in January not to allow beer out there, and we haven't been enforcing it. Things have gotten out of hand, so we've got to crack down. It'll be hard to enforce it, but we're going to try."

Snowcapper tournament in progress, 'going well'

Things "are going real well" after the first two days in the seventh annual "Snowcapper" member-guest golf tournament at Alto Lakes Golf and Country Club, according to club pro Jeff Chapman. "It's the biggest one we've ever had," Chapman added. Eighty golfers in four flights competed in a mixed scramble Tuesday, but actual tourney play began Wednesday.

Leaders after Wednesday's round include Dan Wimberly and John Cottam in A flight, Bill Hirschfeld and George Middleton in B flight, Joe Melton and Noel Sikes in C flight and Frank Sawyer and John Petty in D flight.

Scores don't make a whole lot of sense at this stage in the tourney, Chapman said, because it's being played under a complex quota system.

"The course is in real good shape after the rain we've been getting," he said. "Ten days ago, it wasn't so good. But it greened up real well."

The golfers, who have come from all over the country are enjoying themselves immensely, Chapman said.

"We're really getting them through the course in a hurry," he said. Two flights tee off each day, he said, one in the morning and one in the afternoon.

There are numerous prizes to be awarded — a hole in one on number five is worth a car, as is a hole in one on number 11. The cars, a Chevrolet Citation and a Ford Mustang, were donated by Sierra Blanca Motors and Gene Brock Ford.

Other prizes include watches for closest to the pin on certain holes.

In addition to the prizes, numerous activities are slated for those attending, including a day at Ruidoso Race Track, a style show and luncheon and an awards banquet.

Final play in the tournament is Friday afternoon, followed by the awards banquet.

Pirates victorious — by forfeit

Ruidoso's American Legion baseball team, the Pirates, won its first two games of the season last weekend — mainly because opponent Los Lunas forfeited.

"They never showed up," coach Vince Collins said. The no-show brings the Pirate record to 2-0. "That's better than 0-12," he added.

But Collins was disappointed by Los Lunas' non-appearance.

"I think we might have beaten them," Collins said. "I heard from the other teams they weren't real good, so I think we had a good chance."

This Sunday — provided they show up — a team from Carlsbad will play a doubleheader here against the Pirates. Collins said he isn't sure they will show up either, but hopes they do.

"I think we'll do all right," he said, although Carlsbad did finish up the school year as the second best AAAA baseball team in the state.

"But we're playing real consistent, real steady, so who knows? It's our last game, and we'd like to play. I hope they show."

The game — if it takes place — will be played on the Pecos League field near White Mountain Middle School Sunday at 1 p.m.

Gymnastics school holding clinic

A clinic to teach new compulsory routines will be held at Ruidoso Gymnastics Academy starting Friday.

Ruidoso gymnastics coach Blake Starr and Tom and Karen Sob from the Macielek School of Dance in Hobbs will conduct the clinic for team gymnasts.

The clinic concludes Sunday.

Antelope, bighorn license application deadline near

Deadline for applying for antelope and bighorn sheep licenses is 5 p.m., July 23, when the applications must be in to the Santa Fe or area offices of the Department of Game and Fish, according to Mike Valencia, Special Licenses Section.

Applications should be submitted on Form R and contain full information, including hunt codes, applicants' names, addresses and signatures, license and application fees. The forms and big game proclamations are available from more than 300 license vendors throughout the state and from the Game and Fish Department offices in Santa Fe, Albuquerque, Raton, Las Cruces and Roswell.

Application may be made in person at any department office, Valencia said, but mailed applications should be sent directly to Santa Fe. The licenses will be allotted by public drawing August 6 in the department's Santa Fe office.

Up to 5,000 public licenses will be given for the A-2 antelope hunt August 23-25 in the northeast, the A-3 hunt in the southeast September 27-28 and the A-4 hunt in the southwest September 27-28. Firearms and bows are legal weapons for those hunts.

Bag limit is one fork-horned buck antelope with horns longer than the ears. A few either sex horns may be set depending on the results of the summer antelope survey.

As many as 200 licenses are available for the A-6 muzzel loader hunt September 28-29 in the Orogrande area. Bag limit is one fork-horned buck.

Anyone, resident or nonresident, may apply for the above hunts except those who held New Mexico antelope licenses of any kind in 1979.

Sportin' Life

... a column of opinion ...

by

Mark Bagby

Ernest Romo of Rancho de Tsos, New Mexico apparently is one of those fellas who didn't know when to quit.

He was in Colorado, fishing with some friends. The Colorado Department of Game and Fish, on a routine check, discovered Romo had 226 fish over the limit.

And that was after they allowed him 154 he said he caught legally.

Consequently, he was fined $2,225 for the extra fish, believed to be the largest single person fine ever assessed in Colorado, according to the Associated Press story this tidbit came from. Unfortunately, it didn't list what kind of fish he caught, or even more importantly, just where he caught all those fish. Nuts.

But one wildlife official didn't take it too seriously. In fact, he almost offered Romo a job.

"I'd like to keep him around here for when those yahoos come in saying they can't catch fish here," he said.

Tennis, anyone?

Had a pretty good time watching the Ruidoso Tennis Classic Sunday. Pro tennis is fun to watch, and I get a kick out of watching it.

Even with the sunburn that accompanied it.

Paul Whitman sure had fun — he was across the way, shouting out "Love-40" and "Serve was out," that kind of thing. After a little while, somebody got even with him.

There he was, sitting up on his little perch, when a gust of wind came up and this big umbrella, which had been providing some shade, went blink! Right on the old noggin. Hls.

Paul was all right, from all indications, and the match was allowed to continue with no interruption.

The tournament got a lot of coverage around the area. KBIM television in Roswell came up and did a story on it, and yours truly gave info to United Press International. Also, the tourney got a two page spread in a magazine called "Tournament Times," which is published in Santa Fe and carries all sorts of information on tournaments around the state, the country and even the world. (They had astory on the French Open in that issue.)

Congratulations to Dave Bryant and crew on a job well done, and here's to the 1981 Ruidoso Tennis Classic.

Pro volleyball?

A valiant try at providing the western half of the country with professional volleyball seems to have died.

The International Volleyball Association (IVA), as it was known, even had a franchise in Albuquerque, called the Lasers.

Denver, Salt Lake City, Tucson, Santa Barbara, San Jose and Albuquerque were the remaining teams, and Seattle died at the very start of the season.

Now Santa Barbara, San Jose and Albuquerque have all died by the wayside.

Salt Lake, Tucson and Denver were holding the league together by paying some of the travel expenses for the other teams. Part of the problem, apparently, was Don Sammis, owner of the Salt Lake City Stingars.

He was going to buy the entire league, but he would also have to buy three teams in the process, and he didn't want to own the league and four teams.

Among the horror stories, Albuquerque couldn't pay its players and had to have other teams pay its travel expenses. The players were receiving cash advances from the gate for what they got. And, to top things off, the team could no longer pay rent to play anywhere.

It seems the team's doom was sealed by the delay of Duke City investors to put any money into the team. They were still puzzling over who was going to own the league.

In San Jose, the team folded but didn't tell anyone. The league found out through reading the newspapers, and then found new owners so the team wasn't under water forever.

Brings to mind memories of the old World Football League. It was almost as inert as this outfit. The IVA seems to be doomed forever. But then, on the other hand, it's questionable as to how many folks would come out and watch a volleyball game, in this country anyway.

Who cares?

The 1980 Olympic Games in Moscow are underway. And nobody seems to care. Including me.

I keep reading stories about propaganda being passed at the Games, and Muscovites being urged to ignore all foreigners, "because they have been trained to start heated political debates."

I keep reading all this mess and disbelieving it. No wonder we can't get politics out of the Olympics.

Patrolman Jarvis suing village over demotion

Robert Jarvis of the Ruidoso Police Department, has filed suit in district court against the department and the village of Ruidoso, asking reinstatement of his former rank of sergeant and accompanying pay raises.

In the suit, filed in District Court June 26, Jarvis alleges that his demotion to patrolman was "not effected through proper procedures and was unwarranted, which amounts to breach of contract."

The suit further states that the valid reasons for demotion are "incompetence, neglect of duty, violation of a published rule of conduct, malfeasance in office or conduct unbecoming an officer." Jarvis was not "charged, accused or guilty," of such charges, the suit holds.

Jarvis is asking $2,000 in damages, reinstatement of a $50 per month pay raise, and all other pay raises applicable, court costs and attorney's fees.

Ruidoso-Sunland facing suit in horse's death

The owner of a racehorse which died in an early morning fire at the Ruidoso Downs racetrack last summer has filed suit against Ruidoso-Sunland Incorporated in connection with that incident.

Floyd H. Jones, owner of the racehorse "Too Tall Jones," has asked for $250,000 in damages plus court costs, stating that the defendant, "allowed certain doors in the stable to remain locked in violation of the defendant's own rules and regulations, and despite being notified by the plaintiff or his agents that the doors were locked and requests," that the situation be rectified.

The suit also states that the area had improper fire fighting equipment available to horse owners, had "a duty to keep the doors open," and "knew or should have known that fires are a constant threat in racetrack areas."

Jones charged that the death of the horse was a "direct and proximate result of the negligence of the defendant, in one or more of the particulars stated," in the suit, filed in District Court June 30.

Five other racehorses also died in the August 9, 1979 fire.

Foresters to measure trees in this area

Don't be alarmed if you see a band of foresters tramping through your nearby forest, with intent to measure the trees. They are just the timber inventory personnel from the New Mexico Division of State Forestry.

The inventory is being conducted on all state and private lands in Socorro, Grant, Sierra, Lincoln, Otero, Union and Harding counties. It is the first general accounting of timber resources on this type of ownership.

The inventory started in New Mexico in 1970 and we hope to complete the first cycle of this inventory this year.

This type of inventory is termed non-destructive. The inventory team will just be taking measurements of diameter, height and age for a statistical analysis.

It is a general inventory. The measurements taken will not provide volume information for individual property. It will only be done on a county basis. The resource points are selected randomly by a computer. There will be no information tied to name or property. The classification is done by stand only.

The inventory team is asking for private landowner's cooperation, if a random point is selected on their property. However, if problems arise, another point can be selected.

The inventory is being conducted during July, August and September. If you have any questions, please contact Terry Wildermuth at the Division's Santa Fe office, at 827-3182.

The majority of artists exhibiting are residents of the Lincoln County area and will be offering their works for sale. The show is open to the public at no charge.

Baker, Capitan, Bill Budens, Rich Seeley and John Anderson, all of Ruidoso, and Stark. Budens was elected president of the group, with Bill Taylor as Secretary-treasurer.

The Silver Lining

BY DANTEL AGNEW STORM

Grover Lewallen
It was good to see so many at the services Saturday morning, July twelve, in Ruidoso of our well-loved young friend, Grover Richard Lewallen, who was called home by Our Lord, July nine.

A very comforting and inspiring service was conducted by Father Delbert Achuff, Episcopal minister of the church in Lincoln County.

Grover was born in Ruidoso, June 18, 1900, of a prominent Ruidoso family, and attended Ruidoso High School, where he was very popular and played football and was a star high jumper in track and field.

On November three, 1977, he was married to Jackie Tully, member of a prominent Lincoln County family.

When his father, Grover Lewallen was called home by Our Lord on March five, 1978, he left school to operate his father's heavy equipment business in Ruidoso.

As heavy equipment owner and operator he was a hard and skillful worker and made many friends by his helpful and sunny nature.

He was always a good and faithful son, brother, husband and father. His grandmother, Mrs. Mary Kelly, often told of how grateful she was to have a grandson like Lewallen, so faithful, helpful and true.

Besides his grandmother, Mrs. Kelly, he is survived by his other grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Redmann of Ruidoso; his mother, Sue Lewallen of Ruidoso; two sisters, Diana Lewallen of Ruidoso, and Debbie Shadowens of Joshua, Texas.

Also surviving are his wife, Jackie and daughter Mandi.

Grover will be kindly remembered always by his many friends and loved ones and we all take comfort in knowing that our dear young friend is safe and happy with Our Lord in Heaven.

The Welcome Rain
This is being sent to you on July fourteen, and as you look out at the mountain world it begins to look like itself. The mountain fields have changed by magic from the burnt amber color of the drought to the green color of July, all in a day.

Yesterday, in the afternoon of the thirteenth, Mother Nature put on a Fourth of July celebration with lightning of all colors and explosions of thunder of every tone and loudness. This was followed by a beautiful rain straight out of the west, a silvery benediction blessing the dry world as it advanced down the vale. Then, away in the night you could hear the thunder approaching from the northeast, and soon the pattering and splashing fell delightfully on you half-dreaming, listening as the cool shower washed the world outside. The smell of the cool pure rain came in through the window, bringing you a sense of wellbeing and deep gratitude, and a great sense of peace and contentment. You rejoiced along with the thirsty creatures of Mother Earth who were drinking in the shower of life falling in the night sky.

Then today, July fourteen, the best rain of the year came down the valley, sounding its joyful cannons through the sky, signalling its advance — taking its time so as to soak up as much of the thirsty hills and vales as it could.

Just at high noon, the vale was all swimming in the shining sky water which fell just fast enough to be well soaked up by the grateful ground. Now in late afternoon you see the magic of July — the clear blue sky decorated by white fragments and billows of clouds smiling down upon the world suddenly turned green.

Let us thank God for the rain and all our many blessings.

CAMELOT MOUNTAIN RUIDOSO

PROGRESS REPORT ON "THE MOUNTAIN"

For some time now, Ruidosans have known of the construction of a thousand acre, planned development called "Camelot Mountain." Situated within Village limits, the vast area of 7400' Dude Mesa is bounded by Hwy. 37 on the north and Hwy. 70 on the south and east. From the wooded mesa atop "THE MOUNTAIN" is a view of the Lake at the Inn of the Mountain Gods, Sierra Blanca, and the village of Ruidoso. This panorama is like nothing you have ever seen in Ruidoso.

Completion of the extensive utilities project and road paving is now scheduled for the end of October. Travel on "THE MOUNTAIN" could be hazardous, and we ask your cooperation in checking with the Camelot Mountain Office behind the Theater any day of the week. We invite those who are interested in the condominiums under construction, single-family homes, restricted lots, R-2 and C-1 acreage tracts to stop by for additional information.

MOVE NOW. GET THIS YEAR'S LINDAL AT LAST YEAR'S PRICE.

If you've been waiting and waiting for the new home market to take a turn counter to inflation, bless your patience. Because if you buy a custom design or any one of the 60 different Lindal Cedar Homes before July 31, you can pick it up for the exact same price we offered in Spring of 1979. In addition to our price roll back, we're offering 50% off on all energy saving options. Which, if you're counting dollars, could add up to a savings of $5,000.
Our only other requirement in this offer is that you take delivery on your new 1980 Lindal before September 15. That's it. With inflation, there won't be a better time to move than right now.

Letters to the Editor

Dear editor:

I am not trying to start an argument about Israel—just trying to get something on record that might help those people that believe we are dealing from the top of the deck when we read what Washington puts out on the Middle East.

On March 1, the Security Council of the UN unanimously passed a resolution demanding that Israel dismantle the settlements on the West Bank and Gaza Strip. The United States voted in favor of the resolution, and then two days later disavowed its vote, claiming that it had been cast erroneously because of communications that failed from the White House to our delegation in the UN.

Washington claimed that all references to the internationalization of Jerusalem should have been deleted from the text. This is a very strange statement when we examine points five and six of the UN resolution which were not to be deleted by the White House.

(5) "The Security Council determines that all measures taken by Israel to change the physical character, demographic composition, institutional structure or status of the Palestinian and other Arab territories occupied since 1967, including JERUSALEM (Caps are mine) or any part thereof, have no legal validity, and that Israel's policies and practices of settling parts of its population and new immigrants in those territories, constitute a flagrant violation of the Fourth Geneva Convention relative to the protection of civilian persons in time of war and also a comprehensive, just and lasting peace in the Middle East.

(6) "The Security Council strongly deplores the continuation and persistence of Israel in pursuing these policies and practices and calls upon the government and people of Israel to rescind these measures to dismantle the existing settlements, and in particular to cease on an urgent basis the establishment and construction and planning of settlements in the Arab territories occupied since 1967 including JERUSALEM." (Caps are mine)

Our government says their vote was an error, but only 12 days later our State Department, responding to the Israeli government's expansion into northern Jerusalem for a Jewish housing development, stated it deplored the Israeli action. Our government emphasized the need to "avoid any unilateral action that might threaten peace talks."

Washington referred to the area in question as "occupied" because it was a part of Jerusalem that had been added to the city by Israel in the 1967 war. Israel takes the position, and has consistently rejected the term "occupied territory" for any part of Jerusalem or the West Bank. The Begin government regards the land as "liberated" by Israel, and historically part of the land of Israel.

Our newspapers ran headlines "Israel Seizes Arab Land in Jerusalem." However, to my knowledge none of the papers stated that:

- (1) Not a single Arab was displaced. In fact, only eight Arab-owned houses sit on the 1,000 acres in question.
- (2) Most of the land involved is barren and very rocky.
- (3) One-third of the land expropriated is Jewish-owned. (A fact that has not been reported.)
- (4) Those whose land has been expropriated have been offered a choice between cash compensation or alternate land.

In reading the NEAR EAST REPORT of March 19, 1960 I found the following:

"Every government takes privately owned land for public projects. In 1979, for example, 4,900 Americans were displaced by federal highway construction alone; a disproportionate number of them displaced were from minorities. In the 1960's, the city of Chicago displaced thousands of residents to build a new campus of the University of Illinois. These lands expropriations did cause legitimate local controversies. But, only in the case of Israel do legitimate protestors from abroad join voices with those who use their protests as one more argument that Israel has no right to exist."

Israel is becoming more isolated every day in the Middle East. Western Nations, along with the United States are gradually shifting, bowing to the economic pressure of the Middle East oil-rich countries, settling for expediency rather than standing by their word—that Israel has a right to exist and live in peace.

Dear editor:

I would greatly appreciate your printing this letter to let the staff of Ruidoso Hospital know how much they are appreciated. My recent stay in the hospital was made almost "nice" by the super attention and care shown by each person that had to put up with me.

Above all of this, the food was very good. My compliments and love to Ken and all of his fine staff.

For years Yellowstone National Park has been pleading with visitors to not feed the bears.

Bears are wild animals, possessed of tremendous strength.

A bear can break into a house as easily as it can lift the lid of a dumpster or smash a garbage can.

Bears, apparently due to drought conditions in the mountains, are coming into Ruidoso in search of food.

A hungry bear is not one to be taken lightly.

Residents of the Upper Canyon and adjacent areas, where bears are now roaming freely, would be well advised to not feed the bears.

If a hungry bear smells food, such as might be left on a kitchen table, that bear, more than likely, will enter the home to eat.

A hungry bear, in your home, can cause a lot of damage. There is also a possibility, if the bear feels cornered by humans, that that bear could attack.

There is no reason to panic.

Follow common sense rules on disposal of garbage, don't leave food in the open and above all, don't leave food scraps out for the bears to feed on because you like to watch them and think they are cute.

As uninvited house guests, bears are most undesirable. — CD

SANTA FE — Sorry that White House Conference on Families our New Mexico delegation went to in Los Angeles last week didn't go off so well. But then, it probably wasn't such a good idea to hold the gathering in the first place.

We'd bet most New Mexicans would like nothing more than to see the federal government keep its cotton-pickin' hands off our families, now and forever.

"Government intervention in families," as a matter of fact, was one of the subjects our New Mexico people went out there to discuss. We hope they made the above point crystal clear.

Just to let you see how get-togethers like this one shape up, here are the other nine topics our state representatives were instructed in: abortion, education and parenting, family crises and violence, tax policies and economics, care of the elderly, traditional family values, child care and day care, sex education, and equal opportunity — women's issues.

That list makes clear one of the basic problems: With the exception of a couple of them, the conference could have spent four days just working out definitions those present could agree upon. (The last one they could have spent the rest of the year on.)

The other problem, as we tried to make clear when we had the temerity to address ourselves to this same subject once before, was put more suavely than the way we expressed it by Dr. George Goldstein, secretary for health and environment and co-chairman of the New Mexico delegation. He talked about "polarization" and "seeing things in black and white" and "inflexibility."

What that means is that about 80 percent of those who show up to talk about abortions or the Equal Rights Amendment, just to choose two topics on our state's list, have their minds made up, apparently inflexibly, as Dr. Goldstein would put it. Put them in a room together, and you do not get discussion; you get what might be referred to as Three Mile Island II.

Which is okay. Everybody has a right to make up his or her mind on any topic, and even to go around trying to convince others of that particular viewpoint.

But nobody has the right to muscle anybody else.

This writer, not at all the heretofore some of Phyllis Schaffly's girls would make us out to be, happens to hold the outmoded philosophical belief that moral principles are absolute.

What we don't hold with is letting some Carrie Nation-type lady with a hatpin tell us, "You're going to do this my way — or else."

We love nothing better than a good debate and sweet persuasion. What we can't stand is large halls full of milling-about delegates, all talking-talking-talking, with nobody listening, on topics that are so broad and so vague that discussing them is, for all practical purposes, totally meaningless.

This whole effort should have been called off two years ago, after the task force assigned to plan it admitted they couldn't define "family."

If you don't know what it is, whatever you say about it isn't going to mean very much — which is just about the reason the Los Angeles conference to which we sent our people turned out to be something of a waste of time.

(Remarks on the mean-spirited Mr. McCaffrey may be addressed to the Letters to the Editor column of the paper in which you read these words.)

DEMING'S DUCK DASHES

In the event you've been training your special 20-foot-dash-duck for those Deming duck dashes ... offering $1,000 in prizes ... which ain't bad at the per foot rate ... best you increase your dashing duck's training tempo ... 'cause the ducks'll race Sunday, August 24 ... 'stead of when they were supposed to ... so ... get your dash duck in one hand ... your $5 entry in the other ... and hie away to Deming ... to watch your racing duck dash away ... and, dash it all, you could be in a position to one day dine on a dashing duck, in dashing style, that had the dashing style to dash its way to sizeable hunk of that $1,000 in prize money ... bearing in mind that no mere waddling duck is likely to win any duck dashes ... no?

OUR JIMMY'S NO HERO

Political pundits are indicating that the Democratic Party is less than solidly united ... also, that Our Jimmy's popularity is ... and some pundits are quoting the polls ... still on the wane ... as wanes the setting sun ... or the waning moon wanes after waxing full.

Ergo, it does seem to follow ... if'n one of Our Jimmy's goals is to have the Democrats solidly united behind the nominee to emerge from the national convention in August ... that perhaps he should not hold the delegates committed to him on the first ballot ... and give them free rein to indulge their whims and fancies on that first ballot ... which'd throw the convention wide open ... with the emerging Democratic standard bearer at least representing the will of the convention ... which, in essence, purports to be the will of the people ... which is non-sensical.

Anyhow ... it does now appear that one of Our Jimmy's major concerns is that his term will be labeled as lackluster by historians ... a fate, which in his opinion'd overshadow having a blight befall his peasants.

On the thumbband side, however, if'n Our Jimmy's so all-fired sure he's got the nomination wrapped up ... if'n he throw that nomination up for grabs ... and the delegates'd make him the nominee ... he'd most certainly benefit from the strength of the Democrats united behind him ... which just might give him the clout to defeat Reagan ... and trounce Anderson ... yes?

SEN. JACK GOT ACTION

A United States Senator ... even junior senators ... once they gets their dander up ... can up and get action from the Department of the Treasury ... as witness Senator Jack Schmitt's recent victory after tangling with treasury medal strikers about when gold medals ... authorized by Congress ... would be struck for presentation to the crew of the "Double Eagle 2" ... for piloting that balloon across the ocean wide to land in France.

Seems the senator became irked at the run around he was encountering from treasury medal strikers ... indicating many moons'd pass ere the medals were struck ... a delay the senator allowed as how was unreasonable.

So ... the senator did lean on Treasury Secretary Miller ... 'causing Miller to quit leaning on his desk and lean on his medal strikers ... 'cause the medals hadn't been struck ... and let it be said these medal strikers ain't about to strike ... 'cause they don't wanna get struck from the rolls of medal strikers as long as their medals to be struck ... besides these medal strikers is struck with the financial gains to be realized if'n they retires as medal strikers in the good graces of the treasury.

The upshot being ... Senator Jack is now figuring that are long ... maybe before month's end ... the medals will be struck to present to Maxie Anderson, Ben Abruzzo and Larry Newman ... which'll help keep the recipients happy ... and Senator Jack happy ... and Secretary Miller happy ... and with all those guys happy ... who cares if'n the medal strikers are unhappy?

BILLY'S DOIN' A-OK

Even if Billy Beer couldn't keep its head for the nation's suds guzzlers, Billy Carter's not going to have to ask his brother to intervene on his behalf to get him on welfare ... 'cause it's been said that Billy's picked up $20,000 from Libyans this year ... which could be more'n he coulda realized from harvesting goobers. Maybe Our Jimmy should ask Billy how he does it ... 'cause what Billy's getting from the Arabs ain't the shaft that Our Jimmy's getting ... yes?

BRIEF BIT: If you watched the GOP convention on the tube Monday evening ... and if it didn't put you to sleep ... better you see your doctor about the bad case of insomnia you're suffering from ... CD

Acid additions can increase plant yield

Researchers have found that when sulfuric acid and phosphate fertilizers are added to calcareous soils in combination, they significantly increase plant yields phosphorus tissue content.

Dr. George O'Connor, an agronomist with New Mexico State University's (NMSU) Agricultural Experiment Station, said that although reactions of phosphorus in calcareous soils have been studied before, few of those studies were conducted using phosphorus fertilizer and sulfuric acid in combination.

The researchers began the greenhouse study by measuring the effects of three fertilizer forms on plant yield. They found that plants fertilized with glycerophosphate tended to yield higher and to have greater phosphorus content than those fertilized with inorganic phosphorus forms.

Knowing that, they then studied the effects of different sulfuric acid rates on neutralizing the soil's calcium carbonate content. They found that lowering the content 12.5 percent releases phosphorus from its insoluble form making it available to the plant. "Higher rates of acid continued to release phosphorus but such rates are uneconomical and may lead to salinity and toxicity problems," O'Connor said.

The effects of acid additions on soil receiving no phosphorus fertilizer significantly increased plant yield and phosphorus significantly increased plant yield and phosphorus uptake compared with control plants which received no acid additions, according to O'Connor. The source of phosphorus in this case could be residual phosphorus left in the soil after years of phosphorus fertilization. "The soil had inactivated this phosphorus and the acid addition simply released it from that state," O'Connor said.

"Our results confirm earlier studies on the beneficial role acid can play in affecting nutrient availability in calcareous soil," he said.

When combined, the acid additions and phosphorus fertilizer resulted in maximum yields and maximum phosphorus tissue content.

O'Connor was assisted by Mike Essington, an NMSU soils major who did the study as his senior research problem. O'Connor said that by assisting in the research, Essington was able to use what he had learned in chemistry, statistics, agronomy, soils and entomology.

Persons wanting information on the study can obtain Agricultural Experiment Station Research Report 417 from their county Extension agent or by writing the Bulletin Office, Box 3A1, New Mexico State University, Las Cruces, New Mexico 88003.

I-n-s-i-d-e the Outdoors

by Gary Dollahon

"Oh my gosh, some of the fishermen have caught that awful disease some of the deer hunters had last big game season."

The disease has no name, but it is apparently caused by the nasty germ, Complainin'-itis. This germ seems to thrive on those individuals that call themselves sportsmen, but really don't know what the word sportsman means.

The typical symptoms are hot tempers, flashes of doubtfulness, flurries of griping and complaining terms. The treatment for this illness is still unknown, but a good dose of sportsmanship taken with each hunting or fishing trip can help reduce suffering.

Now, let me explain what all of this is about.

It seems my article in which I made casual mention of some waters to fish and some species of fish which could be caught in them prompted some people to try them. However, I guess my casual mention was interpreted as a guarantee to catch fish.

I wish our department could make such a promise to all license buyers, but needless to say, we can't. In fact, all we can guarantee a license buyer is he will have the privilege to fish.

Just as most deer hunters realize they may or may not bag a deer, most fishermen accept the fact they may or may not catch fish. If they do have a good day on the lake and catch some fish — great. If not — so what, they realize the fish just weren't biting today and they begin to plan their next fishing trip.

Yet, I guess there will always be those people who feel that they have paid their dues and should be able to easily reap the harvest. Fortunately, hunting and fishing do not work this way and never will. Even the most skilled angler can't catch a fish that doesn't want to bite.

Sport is the name of the game. So, if you are lucky enough to catch some fish you should consider it as a bonus instead of using it as a measure of success.

Anyway, overall fishing looks to be pretty good. Several limits of trout were taken out of Bonto Lake on opening day. The catfish at Bitter Lakes were a little more sluggish in getting started, but some of the anglers were catching a few. Oh yes, again for you non-believers who didn't catch any fish at Bitter Lakes, 7,876 catfish were divided among Lakes five, seven and fifteen on March 18.

Regardless of how your first fishing trip of the new license year ended up, don't make it your last. One guarantee I can make is you won't catch any fish if you don't go fishing.

And maybe, just maybe, some day you'll find the fish biting so fast you will feel like you really got your license money's worth.

Of course, in a situation like that, you will probably have about as much luck in carefully threading your bait on your hook as you do in getting your key in the locked front door when the phone is ringing.

Researchers saying helmets prevent motorcycle deaths

During the three years that New Mexico motorcyclists were required to wear helmets, the number of fatalities suffered by cyclists for every 1,000 registered owners was cut by more than one third, according to figures prepared by the University of New Mexico Division of Government Research.

The figures were prepared as part of a report to the New Mexico Transportation Department Traffic Safety Bureau.

The report indicates that for the period of June 1972 through May 1974, prior to enactment of the helmet law, there were 71 fatalities as a result of motorcycle accidents in New Mexico. This amounted to approximately 1.1 fatalities per year for every 1,000 registered cyclists. During the period from June 1974 through May 1977, when the helmet law was in effect, there were 50 fatalities, or about 0.71 deaths per year for every 1,000 registered cyclists.

From June 1977 through May 1980, after the helmet law had been repealed, fatalities reach 137, or about 1.1 per year for every 1,000 registered cyclists.

During the years when the law was not in effect, both before its enactment and after its repeal, only about one third of all the fatally injured motorcyclists in the state had been wearing helmets at the time of death.

Focus on Small Business

by E. Maine Shafer

Dear Mr. Shafer,

"As owner of a small business I find it a pain-in-the-neck to try and locate the right person in a government agency to help me with a particular problem. Is there such a thing as a really good telephone directory around?"

You bet there is. And you don't have to hire a Washington representative to do your leg work for you, because this directory, fresh off the press, is designed to help small business people identify quickly the proper government agency and the person to contact.

The directory is called "Small Business Guide to Government," and is published by the Small Business Administration's (SBA) Office of Advocacy, Washington, D. C. 20416.

The directory contains key listings of small business contacts in Congress, as well as in Federal, state and local government agencies. The guide also lists the various services which are available to you through the Small Business Administration and tells you how to contact SBA's Regional and District offices for advice and information.

It will even give you the correct salutatory address for writing your Congress-person; tell you how to go about getting a business loan, a publication, or what-you-have-to-do to be placed on a government contract bidding list.

This directory is no panacea for dealing with government — merely a start in the often lengthy telephoning and inquiry process. But there's additional help that a small business can get when it has problems with the activities or policies of a Federal Government agency. Help is available by writing or calling the SBA Office of Advocacy in Washington (202/653/6579), or by contacting SBA Regional Advocates in 10 principal Federal-Center cities. If you need help in reaching any of these people who can service your needs, call my office, Small Business Administration, 5000 Marble, N.E., Albuquerque, New Mexico, 87110; telephone: 766-3574.

Wilderness Wisdom

with Wayne Calloway

TIP FROM READER— In these days of ever expanding civilization it would seem difficult to become lost for very long in most areas. Even in our more remote regions, man has made his mark with fair regularity. This fact may be well to remember if you should become lost without a compass. Power lines and telephone lines crisscross the countryside, and following these in either direction will lead to civilization. An obvious fact you would think, but sometimes the obvious is difficult to recognize. The distance you cover by following such a line may not always be short but it is certainly a better choice than wandering around aimlessly.

Streams and rivers are also usually worthwhile courses to follow if you are disoriented. Following a small stream or creek downstream is apt to eventually lead to civilization. This should be of no surprise because for centuries man has chosen to settle near bodies of water for the many obvious advantages.

Perhaps the moral is that these and several other obvious landmarks can often mean the difference between being totally lost and temporarily disoriented. Tom K., Vermont

Dear Wayne — I have a .22 caliber revolver which I have owned for many years. It has been virtually trouble free until recently. Twice now, a piece of bullet appears to have hit the edge of the barrel next to the cylinder. The last time, bits of lead splattered from between the barrel and cylinder and left welts on my fingers. It appears that the bullet is not quite aligning with the bore, and I'm afraid to shoot the pistol anymore. What might be the trouble? Alan C., Montana

Dear Alan — The most probable cause is that the cogs on the cylinder which rotate it are worn. The lever that engages these cogs may also be worn. Either would cause the cylinder to be slightly off center of the bore at times.

This situation can be very dangerous, and very damaging to the revolver frame. Take it to a gunsmith to be checked out.

Send questions to Wilderness Wisdom, Post Office Box 237, Pittsville, Maryland 21850.

Use proper equipment for hiking safety

If you are thinking about hiking as an inexpensive way to keep in shape and have fun, you're on the right track, said Steve Madsen, Extension health specialist at New Mexico State University. But don't spoil the fun and end up with costly medical bills by setting off on a hike unprepared.

Your first consideration should be proper shoes or boots. They should cover the ankle and should be strong. They should fit perfectly and be well broken in. A hike is no place for new shoes, Madsen said. Don't forget that sock fit is important, too. Woolen socks are best because wool absorbs perspiration and holds its shape.

Clothing should be comfortable and should not bind any part of the body. Strenuous movement is difficult in tight clothing and may cause chafing. Remember, dress to suit the weather, Madsen said.

Depending on the length and type of hike you plan, some additional equipment may be in order. A compass, sharp knife, matches in a waterproof case, a first aid kit, a canteen of fresh water, a flashlight and some easy to carry, nutritious foods are all possibilities.

When climbing is involved, bring along a strong, light rope as an extra precaution.

BABYSITTING is not a full time task at Ruidoso Care Center, but Harriet Chico, above, enjoys the company of a three-week-old baby belonging to one of the RCC employees.

SEWING is done by many of the residents of Ruidoso Care Center on a regular basis each week. Above Marthalene Treas prepares to sew something for her room.

A DONATION of more than $100 worth of greenware has provided Ruidoso Care Center residents with many hours of enjoyment painting and firing the ceramic items. Above, Marjorie Lester concentrates on placing finishing touches on a fruit design.

Ruidoso Care Center offering various activities to keep residents active

In its first five months of operation, Ruidoso Care Center (RCC) has maintained a population of about 30, according to Ivan Westergaard, administrator.

He said many more than 30 people have resided at RCC since February, but at least 10 have been dismissed "because they got well." The attrition rate is helped by the fact that several people are always in the process of being admitted.

Westergaard said he is pleased with the progress of RCC. "We have some very good volunteers involved in crafts and games and some help with receptionists work on weekends. We are still really pleased about the support we've gotten from the community and the interest which has continued," Westergaard said.

Two pianos and a pool table have been placed at RCC for the enjoyment of residents, and a relatively new program, "Dine-A-Friend," gives residents an opportunity to eat at various restaurants in the village once a month.

The accompanying photographs exemplify activities planned for residents on a daily basis.

IT WON'T BE LONG before Ruidoso Care Center grounds will have flowers blooming all around the area. Above, from left, Prospero Barela, Jesus Olivas and Pedro Franco are planting seeds which will later be replanted outside.

EXERCISES are performed every morning at Ruidoso Care Center for any resident interested in staying in shape. The exercises can be per-

REALITY ORIENTATION is visible throughout the halls of Ruidoso Care Center, giving residents gentle reminders of the day of the week and other facts. Above, these reminders are shown in English and Spanish, and will soon be written in the Apache language, so all residents will benefit from this therapy.

JESUS OLIVAS, left, and George Martine, right, engage in a friendly game of pool at Ruidoso Care Center. The pool table was donated two months ago to provide more recreational options for the center's residents.

Jockey/Trainer of the week

BY MIKE MAGDA

Charles Mueller, who has been riding at Santa Fe most of the summer, welcomed himself back to Ruidoso Downs by earning Jockey of the Week honors over the weekend. The popular helmsman scored six victories but had to break a tie with hot riding Pedro Benitez with a better place record.

Gerald E. Marr ran away with the Trainer of the Week honors, saddling four winners over the weekend. The impressive tally moved him into the top 10 for the first time this summer.

Mueller made his first appearance at Ruidoso this summer over the July 4 weekend but did not win any races. He started the past weekend by capturing a pair of races on Thursday and Friday, including the feature race aboard Black At The Wire Friday. Mueller then added solo victories Saturday and Sunday to round out his record.

Benitez also won six races but Mueller had four runnerup finishes. Benitez had just two second place finishes.

Marr won a pair of races Friday, then added solo wins the following two days. He moved into ninth spot in the overall standings with his performance.

Richard Bickel continues to lead the overall jockey standings. Despite only one victory over the weekend, Bickel held the top spot with 32 wins. He is followed by Joe Martinez with 29 and Jackie Martin with 28.

Benitez moved from 10th to seventh with his tally. Jack Wallace also returned to the top 10 after winning three races. He is now 10th with a total of 15.

Bob E. Arnett remained the overall leader in the trainer standings for the fifth straight week. He holds a two race lead over William F. Leach with 19 wins.

Racing at Ruidoso continues today and extends through Sunday. Trials for the World's Championship Quarter Horse Classic will be run Friday. The $85,045 Rainbow Futurity Consolation is set for Saturday.

The weekend highlight is Sunday with the finale of the $528,500 Rainbow Futurity. Mighty Deck Three, the undefeated gelding, will try and upset Kansas Futurity winner, Clever Bug, in the 400 yard classic.

First post each day is 1 p.m.

THREE GRADUATES FROM the 1979 All-American Select Yearling Sale qualified for the finals of the $821,350 Skool Dash For Cash Futurity at Los Alamitos. The trials were held July 19 over 400 yards. Baby Hold On, the runnerup in the Kansas Futurity, set the third fastest time with a 20.03 second clocking. The daughter of Dash For Cash was purchased for $48,000. Soul Long, a $75,000 purchase, set the ninth fastest time in 20.22 seconds while Shake It To Em, the record seller at $190,000, rounded out the field with a time of 20.23 seconds.

THE FASTEST QUALIFIER to the Dash For Cash, where the winner collects $300,713, was Ettago Chickie. The winner of the Kindergarten Futurity, Ettago Chickie, was timed in 19.99 seconds. My Kids Trouble, the colt who ran third in the Sun Country Futurity at Sunland Park last spring, made the finals with a 20.18 clocking. After the $587,500 Rainbow Futurity is run July 20, there will have been 11 sale horses to have qualified for the four major quarter horse futurities this summer. One qualified for the Kindergarten Futurity at Los Alamitos earlier while four ran in the Kansas Futurity at Ruidoso Downs. There are three sale horses in the upcoming Rainbow. This year's All-American Sale will be held August 23-27.

BOLD EGO, the undefeated colt who captured the Riley Allison Futurity and Kindergarten Futurity this year, was shipped to the West Coast last Tuesday, according to trainer Clifford Lambert. Bold Ego was supplemented to the Hollywood Park Juvenile Stakes, a $100,000-added race for two-year-olds over six furlongs. John Cushing, Bold Ego's regular rider, will fly out to guide the son of Bold Tactics July 19. In 1972, Bold Liz won the Riley Allison Futurity and later captured the Juvenile Stakes.

RUIDOSO DOWNS' high flying business trend has now pushed the daily wagering average up to a stunning $430,473 and kept the track steadily on course toward its most successful season in history. Last year at this point, the average stood at $411,517. The current figure is a gain of 4.61 percent. Even more impressive is the per race average of $33,602 from 474 races this far. Last year at this point, 518 races were in the books for an average of $30,983. The current per race average is up 8.45 percent. If the current break trend continues, the 1980 meeting will easily surpass last year's final daily average of $474,045 — the best ever at the mountain course.

JOCKEY A. C. VALENZUELA remained in the Ruidoso-Hondo Hospital over the weekend after he was injured in a spill Friday. Valenzuela's mount, Cowboy Loving, stumbled and threw Valenzuela off. A trailing horse apparently kicked Valenzuela, since he suffered facial injuries. Jockey Jay Lewis was thrown also when his mount, Foggy's Reward, was tripped up. Lewis was taken to the hospital but released and he later rode that day.

JOCKEY CARLOS RIVAS was back in the saddle again after recovering from injuries suffered in a spill during a late May workout. In the first three days of his return, Rivas lit the board five times. Safulio Burgos, sidelined after a morning workout spill three weeks ago, also started up again last weekend. Jockey Danny Summerow may be back in action next week. When entries were taken Sunday for Thursday's races, Summerow was named on four horses.

JOCKEY CHARLES MUELLER, who had been riding at Santa Fe this summer, is now at Ruidoso and won five races over the first three days of last weekend. Mueller had accepted a few mounts over the July 1 holidays and placed second three times. But he rolled in two winners Thursday and two Friday to welcome himself back. Last year Mueller was the fifth leading rider at the meet and was the overall champion in 1978.

MR. TINY OH WON his fourth race of the meeting Sunday, continuing his brilliant rise through the claiming ranks. The four-year-old gelding won a $2,500 race at Sunland Park in late April and has since won four of his last five starts at Ruidoso. He scored victories against $3,000, $5,000 and $6,500 foes before taking second three weeks ago. His latest victory was against $8,500 claimers. Jimmie Hunt rides for his father, trainer Willie Hunt.

THE FINAL PAYMENT for the 1980 All-American Futurity came due June 15, and Nominations Secretary Dorothy Dillard reports that 688 horses are now eligible to enter trials. There were 641 horses whose owners made the final $500 payment. There were seven prepaids and 32 penalty payments of $10,000 each to round out the total. In January, 1979, there were 1,965 original nominations plus the seven prepaids. Entries for the All-American will be taken August 3 and the final entry fee of $750 will be due by then. Last year at this time there were 828, including 19 penalty payments, eligible for the trials. Dillard also reported that exactly 2,000 horses are eligible for the 1981 All-American after the third payment of $150 was due June 15. The next payment of $250 is due October 15.

MOON DIAL SIX continued his impressive streak of lighting the board last Friday. The brown eight-year-old gelding won the sixth race, a 400 yard test for $3,500 claimers, to move his streak to eight. The stretch started in mid February when he took second by a neck to $5,000 foes at Sunland Park. He has since won three, placed second two more times and taken third twice. Gary Sumpter was aboard the Bob Arnett trained gelding when he won his last out.

IN STEWARDS' RULINGS: Jockey Jose A. Martinez and Juan Artega were fined $100 each for participating in an altercation in the paddock after the 12th race July 5.

Jockeys Albino C. Valenzuela Jr., and Ramon Apodaca were fined $50 each for participating in an altercation in the jockey room after the 10th race July 10. Jockey Valenzuela was also fined $50 for participating in an earlier altercation in the jockey room.

Jockey Keith Asmussen was fined $50 for failure to maintain a straight course while aboard Gold Hunter II in the seventh race July 4.

Jockey Keith Moon was fined $50 for failure to have control of his mount, Storms Jet Deck, leaving the starting gate in the ninth race July 4.

Jockey Jose A. Martinez was suspended three racing days, July 10 through 12, for careless riding while aboard See Amisado, resulting in his mount being disqualified from first to third in the 11th race July 5.

Jockey Kevin G. Scholl was suspended three racing days, July 10 through 12, for careless riding while aboard Fentless Bull, resulting in his mount being disqualified from second and placed eighth in the 11th race July 5.

Jockey agents Winifred E. (Mickey) Byers and William F. Hayhurst were fined $25 each for being in a restricted area after the 10th race July 6.

The horse Tammy's Act, who finished sixth in the 10th race July 10, was found to be ineligible and disqualified from all purse money.

Concessions employee Deborah A. Richardson was fined $10 for speeding in the stable area.

Groom John N. White and pony girl Leslie J. Coffman were fined $10 each for illegal parking.

Trainer Thomas A. Riley was fined $25 for working unlicensed personnel.

Cash Asmussen earns ranking as top jockey

BY DICK ALWAN

Marilyn Asmussen, who's trained some fast quarter horses at Ruidoso Downs in recent years' started the current meeting with 38 head and a lot of high hopes.

But things haven't turned out as expected. "It's discouraging," she admits. "Our hopes were so high when we came up to Ruidoso this season. But some of our young horses didn't run well in the Kansas trials, some we sent back to the ranch, we came up with a few cripples, and some went sore. One filly developed hairline cracks in a cannon bone. If we didn't have any bad luck this season, we wouldn't have any luck at all."

From the way things are going, the chances are Marilyn's stable won't be enjoying that glory of two summers ago, when she launched Vespero to victory the $445,800 Rainbow Futurity at Ruidoso.

But Lady Luck hasn't given the entire Asmussen clan the cold shoulder. Far from it. Ask Marilyn about her 10-year-old son, Cash, and her quick-smiling face, as pretty as ever, lights up radiantly.

The story of Cash Asmussen, who rode his first horse at Sunland Park as a 10-year-old and became a winner right off the bat, is emerging as one of the great racing stories in recent years.

From a track savvy youngster in the Texas flatlands, Cash hustled himself into big time racing. Here Goldstein, the East Coast writer for The Daily Racing Form, likened Asmussen's high-speed career to that of Steve Cauthen. Goldstein recently wrote: "Asmussen's feats are hardly surprising to those who watched his development in the past year. He was the 10th leading money winning rider in the nation last year, his mounts collecting $3,973,491. He was on 236 winners from 1,644 mounts, and he also handled 244 horses who finished second and another 221 who came in third."

The youngster, while still 16, rode in the Kentucky Derby. (He finished fourth aboard the longshot, Celebrity King.) Last year, Cash was handed the distinguished Eclipse Award as the nation's top apprentice.

The Asmussen Express has kept on rolling. At this writing, he's in second place in national standings, so far as money won by his mounts. The total is over $3 million. (Which means he's already made himself a couple hundred grand, so far in 1980.) Cash is also the leading rider in New York, in terms of races and money won, and he's also New York's leading rider from the standpoint of stakes races won (taking into account stakes with a purse value of $50,000-added and up.)

"What's made Cash so unique is the fact he's never had a big stable pushing him," Marilyn says. "He's never had one big horse to make his reputation on. He works and keeps on working. When I think about what he's done, it amazes me. I don't think Cash himself realizes what he's accomplished."

Frequently, Cash will send his mom and pop (His father is Ruidoso jockey Keith Asmussen) a video cassette of a certain race. Marilyn says: "We'll look at this race, and it'll seem Cash will be riding a good second. But he'll suddenly pick up his mount, switch sticks, and win the race. He has such tremendous drive to be the best."

A few weeks ago, Cash took a few days off and flew out to Ruidoso for a quick family get-together. Obviously, this wasn't a time of just laying around watching the pine trees. Marilyn and Keith were busy training and racing, and Cash pitched right in. One morning, Keith, Cash, and Cash's younger brother, Steve, were busy working horses out of the gate, and Marilyn observed what an odd, and wonderful sight it was, to watch the three men in her life breaking out of the starting gate at the same time.

So how does Cash Asmussen, a youngster from Del Rio, Texas, make such an extraordinary jump from the bush track flatlands into the top of the big league heap? As you might expect, Cash had decided to be a jockey from the time he could stand up. He had his first pony at the age of two, and he started riding on the Texas bush tracks at 12, once winning four races in one day at Brady. "I couldn't wait for my 16th birthday so I could turn pro," he once recalled.

That 16th birthday came on April 15, 1978, and he rode Pirate Island to victory at Sunland Park. He won four more races at Sunland that spring, then it was time to move east.

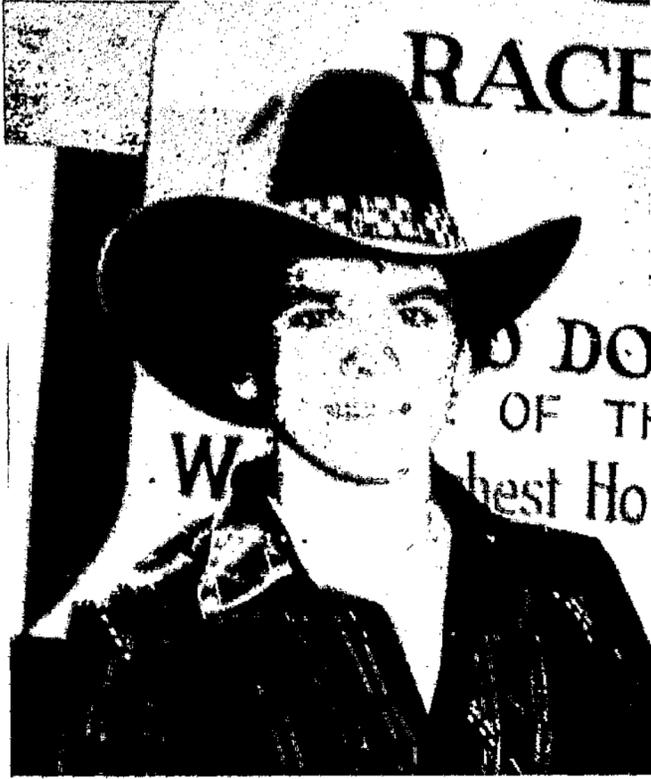

A year earlier, Keith had helped pave the way by taking Cash to New York, where he galloped some horses, got to pal around with Steve Cauthen, and generally cemented some strong contacts. Keith was close friends with some top trainers — such as Chuck Tallferro. When Keith brought his son around, the general reaction was: "Well, if you say he can ride, he can ride."

After that brief campaign at Sunland Park in the spring of '78, Cash left for New York, and was taken in hand by Tallferro. Chuck waited for the right opportunity, put Cash on Hey Babe, and Cash had his first New York victory in his first out. Best of all, he made an impressive debut.

From that point on, it's been a roller-coaster to the top.

CASH ASMUSSEN

AND THAT WAS THAT — That's Raney sweeps under the Ruidoso Downs wire with a narrow lead over Easy Dame (on the rail) in the $7,500

Zia Stakes at 400 yards. Steve Fuller was up. That's Raney collected $4,500. He raced as the people's choice.

Jockey/Trainer of the week

BY MIKE MAGDA

Charles Mueller, who has been riding at Santa Fe most of the summer, welcomed himself back to Ruidoso Downs by earning Jockey of the Week honors over the weekend. The popular holmsman scored six victories but had to break a tie with hot riding Pedro Benitez with a better place record.

Gerald E. Marr ran away with the Trainer of the Week honors, saddling four winners over the weekend. The impressive tally moved him into the top 10 for the first time this summer.

Mueller made his first appearance at Ruidoso this summer over the July 4 weekend but did not win any races. He started the past weekend by capturing a pair of races on Thursday and Friday, including the feature race aboard Black At The Wire Friday. Mueller then added solo victories Saturday and Sunday to round-out his record.

Benitez also won six races but Mueller had four runnerup finishes. Benitez had just two second place finishes.

Marr won a pair of races Friday, then added solo wins the following two days. He moved into ninth spot in the overall standings with his performance.

Richard Bickel continues to lead the overall jockey standings. Despite only one victory over the weekend, Bickel held the top spot with 32 wins. He is followed by Joe Martinez with 29 and Jackie Martin with 28.

Benitez moved from 10th to seventh with his tally. Jack Wallace also returned to the top 10 after winning three races. He is now 10th with a total of 15.

Bob E. Arnett remained the overall leader in the trainer standings for the fifth straight week. He holds a two race lead over William F. Leach with 19 wins.

Racing at Ruidoso continues today and extends through Sunday. Trials for the World's Championship Quarter Horse Classic will be run Friday. The $85,045 Rainbow Futurity Consolation is set for Saturday.

The weekend highlight is Sunday with the finale of the $587,500 Rainbow Futurity. Mighty Deck Three, the undefeated gelding, will try and upset Kansas Futurity winner, Clever Bug, in the 400 yard classic.

THREE GRADUATES FROM the 1979 All-American Select Yearling Sale qualified for the finals of the $21,350 Skool Dash For Cash Futurity at Los Alamos. The trials were held July 10 over 400 yards. Baby Hold On, the runnerup in the Kansas Futurity, set the third fastest time with a 20.03 second clocking. The daughter of Dash For Cash was purchased for $45,000. Soul Long, a $75,000 purchase, set the ninth fastest time in 20.23 seconds while Shake It To Em, the record seller at $150,000, rounded out the field with a time of 20.23 seconds.

THE FASTEST QUALIFIER to the Dash For Cash, where the winner collects $300,713, was Eitago Chickie. The winner of the Kindergarten Futurity, Eitago Chickie, was timed in 19.59 seconds. My Kids Trouble, the colt who ran third in the Sun Country Futurity at Sunland Park last spring, made the finals with a 20.18 clocking. After the $587,500 Rainbow Futurity is run July 20, there will have been 11 sale horses to have qualified for the four major quarter horse futurities this summer. One qualified for the Kindergarten Futurity at Los Alamos earlier while four ran in the Kansas Futurity at Ruidoso Downs. There are three sale horses in the upcoming Rainbow. This year's All-American Sale will be held August 23-27.

BOLD EGO, the undefeated colt who captured the Riley Allison Futurity and Kindergarten Futurity this year, was shipped to the West Coast last Tuesday, according to trainer Clifford Lambert. Bold Ego was supplemented to the Hollywood Park Juvenile Stakes, a $100,000-added race for two-year-olds over six furlongs. John Cushing, Bold Ego's regular rider, will fly out to guide the son of Bold Tactics July 19. In 1972, Bold Liz won the Riley Allison Futurity and later captured the Juvenile Stakes.

RUIDOSO DOWNS' high flying business trend has now pushed the daily wagering average up to a stunning $430,473 and kept the track steadily on course toward its most successful season in history. Last year at this point, the average stood at $411,517. The current figure is a gain of 4.61 percent. Even more impressive is the per race average of $33,602 from 474 races thus far. Last year at this point, 518 races were in the books for an average of $30,983. The current per race average is up 8.45 percent. If the current brisk trend continues, the 1980 meeting will easily surpass last year's final daily average of $474,045 — the best ever at the mountain course.

JOCKEY A. C. VALENZUELA remained in the Ruidoso-Hondo Hospital over the weekend after he was injured in a spill Friday. Valenzuela's mount, Cowboy Loving, stumbled and threw Valenzuela off. A trailing horse apparently kicked Valenzuela, since he suffered facial injuries. Jockey Jay Lewis was thrown also when his mount, Foggy's Reward, was tripped up. Lewis was taken to the hospital but released and he later rode that day.

JOCKEY CARLOS RIVAS was back in the saddle again after recovering from injuries suffered in a spill during a late May workout. In the first three days of his return, Rivas lit the board five times. Salustio Burgos, sidelined after a morning workout spill three weeks ago, also started up again last weekend. Jockey Danny Summerow may be back in action next week. When entries were taken Sunday for Thursday's races, Summerow was named on four horses.

JOCKEY CHARLES MUELLER, who had been riding at Santa Fe this summer, is now at Ruidoso and won five races over the first three days of last weekend. Mueller had accepted a few mounts over the July 1 holidays and placed second three times. But he rolled in two winners Thursday and two Friday to welcome himself back. Last year Mueller was the fifth leading rider at the meet and was the overall champion in 1978.

MR. TINY OH WON his fourth race of the meeting Sunday, continuing his brilliant rise through the claiming ranks. The four-year-old gelding won a $2,500 race at Sunland Park in late April and has since won four of his last five starts at Ruidoso. He scored victories against $3,000, $5,000 and $8,500 foes before taking second three weeks ago. His latest victory was against $8,500 claimers. Jimmie Hunt rides for his father, trainer Willie Hunt.

THE FINAL PAYMENT for the 1980 All-American Futurity came due June 15, and Nominations Secretary Dorothy Dillard reports that 680 horses are now eligible to enter trials. There were 641 horses whose owners made the final $500 payment. There were seven prepaid and 32 penalty payments of $10,000 each to round out the total. In January, 1979, there were 1,985 original nominations plus the seven prepaid. Entries for the All-American will be taken August 3 and the final entry fee of $750 will be due by then. Last year at this time there were 620, including 19 penalty payments, eligible for the trials. Dillard also reported that exactly 2,000 horses are eligible for the 1981 All-American after the third payment of $150 was due June 15. The next payment of $250 is due October 15.

MOON DIAL SIX continued his impressive streak of lighting the board last Friday. The brown eight-year-old gelding won the sixth race, a 400 yard test for $8,500 claimers, to move his streak to eight. The stretch started in mid February when he took second by a neck to $5,000 foes at Sunland Park. He has since won three, placed second two more times and taken third twice. Gary Sumpter was aboard the Bob Arnett trained gelding when he won his last out.

Cash Asmussen earns ranking as top jockey

BY DICK ALWAN

Marilyn Asmussen, who's trained some fast quarter horses at Ruidoso Downs in recent years' started the current meeting with 36 head and a lot of high hopes.

But things haven't turned out as expected. "It's discouraging," she admits. "Our hopes were so high when we came up to Ruidoso this season. But some of our young horses didn't run well in the Kansas trials, some we sent back to the ranch, we came up with a few cripples, and some went sore. One filly developed hairline cracks in a cannon bone. If we didn't have any had luck this season, we wouldn't have any luck at all."

From the way things are going, the chances are Marilyn's stable won't be enjoying that glory of two summers ago, when she launched Vespero to victory the $448,800 Rainbow Futurity at Ruidoso.

But Lady Luck hasn't given the entire Asmussen clan the cold shoulder. Far from it. Ask Marilyn about her 16-year-old son, Cash, and her quick-smiling face, as pretty as ever, lights up radiantly.

The story of Cash Asmussen, who rode his first horse at Sunland Park as a 15-year-old and became a winner right off the bat, is emerging as one of the great racing stories in recent years.

From a track savvy youngster in the Texas flatlands, Cash hustled himself into big time racing. Here Goldstein, the East Coast writer for The Daily Racing Form, likened Asmussen's high-speed career to that of Steve Cauthen. Goldstein recently wrote: "Asmussen's feats are hardly surprising to those who watched his development in the past year. He was the 10th leading money winning rider in the nation last year, his mounts collecting $3,973,491. He was on 236 winners from 1,844 mounts, and he also handled 244 horses who finished second and another 221 who came in third."

The youngster, while still 16, rode in the Kentucky Derby. (He finished fourth aboard the longshot, Celebrity King.) Last year, Cash was handed the distinguished Eclipse Award as the nation's top apprentice.

The Asmussen Express has kept on rolling. At this writing, he's in second place in national standings, so far as money won by his mounts. The total is over $3 million. (Which means he's already made himself a couple hundred grand, so far in 1980.) Cash is also the leading rider in New York, in terms of races and money won, and he's also New York's leading rider from the standpoint of stakes races won (taking into account stakes with a purse value of $50,000-added and up.)

"What's made Cash so unique is the fact he's never had a big stable pushing him," Marilyn says. "He's never had one big horse to make his reputation on. He works and keeps on working. When I think about what he's done, it amazes me. I don't think Cash himself realizes what he's accomplished."

Frequently, Cash will send his mom and pop (his father is Ruidoso jockey Keith Asmussen) a video cassette of a certain race. Marilyn says: "We'll look at this race, and it'll seem Cash will be riding a good second. But he'll suddenly pick up his mount, switch sticks, and win the race. He has such tremendous drive to be the best."

A few weeks ago, Cash took a few days off and flew out to Ruidoso for a quick family get-together. Obviously, this wasn't a time of just laying around watching the pine trees. Marilyn and Keith were busy training and racing, and Cash pitched right in. One morning, Keith, Cash, and Cash's younger brother, Steve, were busy working horses out of the gate, and Marilyn observed what an odd, and wonderful sight it was, to watch the three men in her life breaking out of the starting gate at the same time.

So how does Cash Asmussen, a youngster from Del Rio, Texas, make such an extraordinary jump from the bush track flatlands into the top of the big league heap? As you might expect, Cash had decided to be a jockey from the time he could stand up. He had his first pony at the age of two, and he started riding on the Texas bush tracks at 12, once winning four races in one day at Brady. "I couldn't wait for my 16th birthday so I could turn pro," he once recalled.

That 16th birthday came on April 15, 1978, and he rode Pirate Island to victory at Sunland Park. He won four more races at Sunland that spring, then it was time to move east.

A year earlier, Keith had helped pave the way by taking Cash to New York, where he galloped some horses, got to pal around with Steve Cauthen, and generally cemented some strong contacts. Keith was close friends with some top trainers — such as Chuck Tallferro. When Keith brought his son around, the general reaction was: "Well, if you say he can ride, he can ride."

After that brief campaign at Sunland Park in the spring of '78, Cash left for New York, and was taken in hand by Tallferro. Chuck waited for the right opportunity, put Cash on Hey Babe, and Cash had his first New York victory in his first out. Best of all, he made an impressive debut.

From that point on, it's been a roller-coaster to the top.

Zia Stakes at 400 yards. Steve Fuller was up. That's Raney collected $4,500. He raced as the people's choice.

State grasshopper alert issued

A grasshopper alert has been issued across the state and planes will soon be in the process of spraying to control economically-damaging populations of grasshoppers before they can destroy productive rangelands.

The action is being taken as a result of predictions that this year could be one of the worst years since the early 1930s for grasshopper infestations. Ranchers are urged to be prepared to treat when the outbreak occurs, says the USDA Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS).

Last year under the USDA's largest cooperative rangeland grasshopper control program, 7.2 million acres were treated. Many ranchers and landowners, however, were caught unprepared for the outbreak and thus they were unable to make proper arrangements to have their rangeland treated in time.

The USDA's initial survey of adult grasshopper infestation this past summer indicates the strong possibility of heavy economic damage on 32.2 million acres in 17 Western states. The states in the USDA's grasshopper forecast include: Arizona, California, Colorado, Idaho, Kansas, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Mexico, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Dakota, Texas, Utah, Washington as well as Wyoming.

Most entomologists agree that the severe outbreak of grasshoppers is related to temperature and rainfall conditions. During cool and rainy weather, grass is usually abundant and grasshopper consumption can be tolerated. On the other hand, hot, dry weather may reduce forage growth and cause grasshoppers to develop more rapidly and consume vegetation at a faster rate. A light population (5-7 grasshoppers per square yard) on two acres can consume as much as a cow. During severe outbreaks, grasshoppers may number 30-60 per square yard and cattle have to be moved to uninfested areas or sold early.

To date, chemical control has been the only effective and economical means of controlling severe outbreaks of grasshoppers. The primary insecticides being recommended for the grasshopper spray program include the organophosphate Malathion and SEVIN (carbaryl). Both of these insecticides were chosen due to their relatively low mammalian toxicity, lack of environmental persistence and efficacy.

Ranchers are urged to contact their local county agent or the nearest APHIS office immediately for more information on the Cooperative Rangeland Grasshopper Control Program.
