JIM LOWRANCE was named Jaycee of the Year for 1980 by the Jaycees of Ruidoso. Lowrance earned the title because of his participation in the service organization, serving as charter president, attending a legislative workshop and coaching a Little League baseball team this year. Lowrance has won numerous state awards, including two for competitive events, parliamentary procedure and energy conservation, and during his term as president, the Jaycees built a crow's nest for Ruidoso High School's football field.

Gates will open for the Ninth Annual Ruidoso Art Festival Friday at 5 p.m., at the high school parking lot. More than 100 artists from the Southwest will be showing their original arts and crafts under five large circus tents.

Festival hours are 5-10 p.m., Friday, 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., Saturday and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Sunday.

Many artists are returning to the festival, but many are new and will show photography, oil, watercolor and acrylic paintings, pottery, jewelry, fabric craft, copper etching, caricature and silhouette artists, stained glass, scratchboard, pen and ink drawings, enamel painting, batiks, pottery, ceramic and metal sculptures, post office boxes made of wood, wooden toys, sand paintings, wood carvings and board sculptures.

THE TOP 25 ARTISTS showing at the festival will be selected by a panel of five artists who will judge booths Friday afternoon. Each of the top artists will be recognized by a blue ribbon placed prominently in their booth. The top artist will receive a purple "Best of Show" ribbon and will be exempt from booth fees at the 1981 festival. Top 25 artists will be exempt from being juried at next year's show.

Visitors to the festival will also have an opportunity to purchase Gordon Sndow's print, "Eyin' The Catch Hand," which was the poster for the first Ruidoso Summer Festival incorporated series of symphony orchestra performances held here in June.

Food booths will be operated by seven area service organizations. Ruidoso Gymnastics Academy will offer baked potatoes with sour cream and butter; Mesalero Rehabilitation Center will sell Indian fry bread; the Ruidoso High School Band will have cold drinks and sno cones; the Altrusa Club of Ruidoso will feature fresh fruit and home baked pastries, Lincoln County Humane Society will offer popcorn and ice cream, Beta Sigma Phi Sorority will serve hot dogs, nachos and burritos, and the Ruidoso Elks Lodge will have hamburgers and French fries.

SEVERAL ENTERTAINMENT programs have been added to the show for the first time this year. One of the major attractions will be performances Saturday and Sunday by the Flatland Bluegrass Band of Lubbock, Texas.

The band features traditional, folk and bluegrass music in three and four part harmony. They have been featured with the Lubbock Symphony Orchestra and have shared the stage with the Midland-

TENTS WERE IN PLACE by Wednesday afternoon for the upcoming Ruidoso Art Festival. The festival will open Friday, 5-10 p.m., and reopen Saturday from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Hours Sunday are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

World's Championship Quarter Horse Classic Sunday

Special to The Ruidoso News

So far this year, Streakin Six hasn't lived up to all the promises he gave as a two-year-old in 1980.

As a matter of fact, his current campaign is something of a disappointment — if not a failure. Certainly, the colt is still adept at making money, but his 1980 money line of $22,721 pales in comparison to the $260,051 he brought home as a two-year-old.

But Streakin Six gets a chance to put his three-year-old campaign in high gear when he goes to the post as the likely favorite — against older competition — in Sunday's 12th running of the World's Championship Quarter Horse Classic at Ruidoso Downs. The 440 yard split offers a total purse of $146,094 and hands the winner $72,047.

If Streakin Six manages to bag the Classic, he'll pick up tremendous momentum toward his primary objective — next month's $1.5 million All-American Derby.

Streakin Six, now owned by B. F. Phillips Jr., of Frisco, Texas, stirred up shock waves last summer when he raced as a 7-5 favorite in the $500,100 Rainbow Futurity and held off the onrushing Sages Belle Star by a nose. The victory purse amounted to $173,285.

Later in the summer, Streakin Six turned in the fourth best qualifying time for the All-American Futurity and increased his career record to four wins and two seconds from six starts. On Labor Day, the betting public took a fancy to Streakin Six and made him a 3-2 favorite in the All-American finale. But Streakin Six was unable to withstand a furious attack by Pie In The Sky on the far outside and had to settle for second, 1 1/2 lengths off the lead. But it was no disgrace to finish second. The runnerup purse amounted to $177,500.

But since getting defeated in the All-American Futurity, it seems Streakin Six's star has declined. He kicked off his three-year-old season May 10, but had to accept defeat as a 1-9 favorite in the trials for the $222,150 Kansas Derby.

Streakin Six managed to travel fast enough in defeat (he ran second) to qualify for the Kansas finale. In that one, he was made a 5-2 shot, and came in third behind Jaimie Jay and Denim N Diamonds.

Next came a neck win in the trials for the Rainbow Derby, but Streakin Six's clocking didn't get him in the finale. He had to take the fifth best time in the consolation, then declined the issue.

In last week's Classic trials, Streakin Six went off as a 1-2 favorite and slammed home with a big two length lead. He also checked in with the third best qualifying time.

Ruidoso fans are likely to be impressed by the colt's big money line, and they're likely to reason he's now getting back in form. Thus, it would be no surprise if he took up his familiar role of people's choice. Danny Cardoza rides the powerful son of Easy Six.

Here's the way the field looks from the standpoint of qualifying times: Washita Ted, 22.29; Chicks Charge Bar, 22.30; Streakin Six, 22.40; Alamos Feature, 22.43; Dickey's Fireman, 22.46; My Old Gal Nancy, 22.47; Oh Shiny, 22.49; Kennys Sam, 22.50; Salutations, 22.52; Acceptable, 22.52.

Washita Ted, the top qualifier, came through with a strong half length win in the trials. But the colt has banked only $3,338 this year.

Chicks Charge Bar, a supplemental nominee at a cost of $2,500, looked extremely impressive in the trials. He swept under the wire with a 1 1/4 length lead. His 1980 record is a convincing four wins from five starts, good for $27,652.

Alamos Feature also turned in a strong performance in the trials, hitting the tape with a half-length lead at 80 cents on the dollar. He's earned $11,833 thus far this year.

Dickey's Fireman was one of the big winners of 1979, bagging the $1,027,200 All-American Derby as a 14-1 outsider. The winner's purse came out to a round $359,520. In the process, Dickey's Fireman defeated Moon Lark, the 1978 All-American Futurity winner.

Dickey's Fireman finished up his 1979 season with a record of 4-3-2 from 14 starts, earning $406,175. But he's been taking his lumps so far this season. The gelding came alive in last week's trials, sweeping to a half length win in the fifth best qualifying time.

Sunday's 12 race program gets going at the usual 1 p.m.

HE CAN STREAK—Streakin Six, a colt who's already earned over $380,000, looms as a fast gun in the $146,094 World's Championship Classic at Ruidoso Downs Sunday. Danny Cardoza is the pilot. Last summer, Streakin Six won the Rainbow Futurity at Ruidoso, then finished second as the favorite in the All-American Futurity. The Classic covers 440 yards.

SHINING BRIGHTLY—Oh Shiny, a winner of nearly $82,000 so far, goes after a victory purse of $73,047 in Sunday's renewal of the World's Championship Classic at Ruidoso Downs. The 440 yard split carries a gross purse of $146,094. Oh Shiny is ridden by Steve Fuller.

Care Center's heart drive exceeds $1,100

A six hour fund drive held Saturday at Ruidoso Care Center (RCC) for the American Heart Association, netted more than $1,100 in donations from individuals and businesses in Ruidoso, according to Ivan Westergaard, administrator.

Westergaard said $300 was raised in exchange for a ride in a hot air balloon which was transported from Albuquerque for the occasion. Westergaard said RCC residents raised another $200 in pledges for rocking in rocking chairs and rolling in wheelchairs for three hours. They also sold several craft items, which added to the pot.

Ruidoso State Bank matched all money collected at the fund raiser, with a $500 donation, Westergaard said. "This was perhaps the key to meeting our goal of $1,000," he said. Westergaard said Security Bank gave $100 to push the tally up to $1,100. He said all pledges are still not in so the final figure will be still higher.

The Jayceets of Ruidoso sold coffee and baked goods throughout the event and donated another $25 to the cause.

"We had a nice crowd with people wandering in and out during the six hours," Westergaard said. He said an "endurance award" was given to Harold Arthur, and RCC resident, who wheeled around the recreation room continuously for three hours.

Live entertainment was arranged by Teddi Sullivan, a local performer, who sat at the piano and belted out vocals. Other entertainers included Janey Brennan, a singer who accompanied herself on the guitar; Jim Graves, a singer/guitarist; Sam Baker, who played his style of "barroom piano" music;

Jeannene Karalans, who did flute solos; and Rio Champs, a five piece band now performing locally.

IT TOOK SOME COAXING to entice Prospero Barela to enjoy the thrill of his first hot air balloon ride Saturday morning. Barela, a resident of Ruidoso Care Center, is shown with RCC employee Mary Stewart.

ROCKING TO RAISE MONEY for the American Heart Association at Ruidoso Care Center Saturday morning was Rosa Hannah, center resident. The "Rock and Roll" jamboree raised more than $1,000 in heart donations.

TEDDI SULLIVAN POUNDED out toe-tapping songs, and belted out many jazz and Dixieland vocals, as a breather from her local performances, to help the Ruidoso Care Center's Heart Association drive Saturday.

Odessa Symphony Orchestra.

The Flatland Bluegrass Band has performed at bluegrass festivals in Glen Rose and Kerrville, Texas, and Hugo, Cement and Duncan, Oklahoma. They have been commended in many newspapers and have appeared on radio and television programs and commercials. Their first album was released last year.

The band will perform at 10:30 a.m. and 8 p.m., Saturday and at 10:30 a.m. and 2 p.m., Sunday.

ALSO SCHEDULED is the Ruidoso Gymnastics Academy (RGA), giving exhibitions of beginning and intermediate classes at 5:30 p.m., Friday. They will include advanced and beginning teams exhibitions Saturday, and will feature top gymnasts from Las Cruces, Hobbs, Albuquerque, Alamogordo and Lubbock, Texas. Saturday's RGA schedule is 12 noon, 3 p.m., and 6 p.m.

All RGA performances will be intertwined with magic acts staged by RGA coach Blake Starr. RGA will perform Sunday at 12 noon and 3:45 p.m.

Pantomime artists will be featured in a short program Sunday at 3 p.m., but will also mingle with the crowd.

Religious folk singers Karen Lafferty and Danny Racher will be featured at 8:30 and 8 p.m., Friday. Gospel Seed, a religious singing group, will perform at 5 p.m., Friday to complete the entertainment schedule.

DAVE WILSON, chairman of the Art Festival Committee, said a series of regional ads will run in some New Mexico newspapers this week to announce the Festival. He added that local publicity was expanded this year, with the addition of two street banners, placed at the dip in midtown and near the "Y" in east Ruidoso.

The temporary branch of Ruidoso State Bank will again operate on festival grounds for the convenience of artists and buyers who may want to use charge cards and cash checks.

EVERYONE IN THE community is invited to attend a coffee for the artists Saturday morning from 8-10 a.m., at the Bear Claw Gallery and framing Company. Sponsors of the coffee include, besides the Bear Claw, Western Office Equipment, Big T Family Restaurant, Security Bank, Stagecoach Motel, Hughes Body Shop, Jack's Kerr-McGee, First Christian Church, Barnett Carpets; Sierra Blanca Motors, Artistic Beauty

Salon, Gibson's Discount, Sierra Development Company, Bennett's, The Woodshed, Village Hardware, Ski Welt Sports and White Mountain Abstract Company.

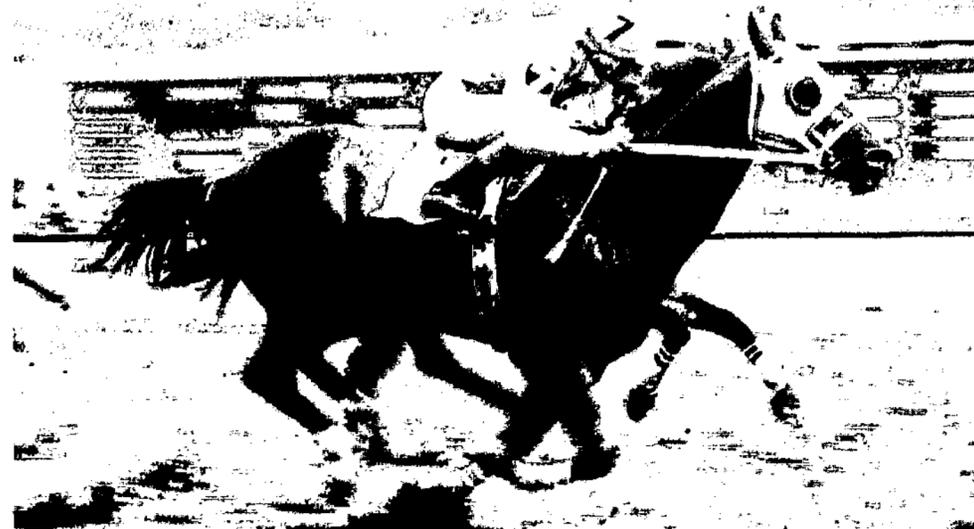

ARTISTS WILL BE special guests at a private reception at the Inn of the Mountain Gods Saturday evening sponsored by Madre's, Smith Lida Gallery, Crucis Art Studio, Armadillo Stained Glass, The Artisan's Shop and Gallery, Parson's Travel Agency and Ruidoso State Bank.

Security during the show is being provided by the Lincoln County Mounted Patrol, who will provide 24 hour surveillance of the grounds.

Admission to the festival is $1.50 for adults. Children 16 and under are admitted free if accompanied by an adult, and one ticket is good all three days of the festival.

CALL THE FIREMAN—Dickeys Fireman, the gelding who won last summer's $1,027,200 All-American Derby at Ruidoso Downs, could be a tough customer in the $146,094 World's Championship Classic Sunday. The gelding, ridden by Don Knight, hung up the fifth best qualifying time last week while winning by a half length.

FEATURE PERFORMER—Alamitos Feature shapes up as a key contender in the $146,094 World's Championship Classic at Ruidoso Downs on Sunday. In last week's trials, he zipped home an easy winner as an odds-on favorite. A victory Sunday will be worth $73,047. Gary Oliver does the riding.

Three full moon programs set at White Sands Monument

Gazing over a seemingly endless sea of white sand dunes silvered by a full moon is one of the most unusual experiences found in the Southwest. Fascinating guest speakers at special programs round out the experience. White Sands National Monument will have its July Full Moon Nights on July 27, 28 and 29. The programs begin at 8:45 in the picnic area and the dunes area will be open until midnight.

Dr. William Cornell, a prominent geologist from El Paso will give a slide presentation on Sunday, July 27. He calls this program "Continental Drift" or "How America Really Got Where It Is Today." A good look at a globe reveals that the continents fit together like a jigsaw puzzle. Dr. Cornell will cover this engrossing subject, little understood by most people. Dr. Cornell is on the University of Texas, El Paso (UTEP) geology staff and is also a well-known paleontologist. He has his bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Rhode Island and his PhD from the University of California, Los Angeles.

Vernon Brook, a well known archeologist from El Paso, will present his program on Monday, July 28. This slide presentation is entitled "Graven Images, Personal Adornments and Burial Practices of the Tularosa-Hueco Prehistorians." These people fashioned a multitude of animal, bird, fish, reptile and human figures. Necklaces, bracelets and other personal adornments were made from shell, mother of pearl and turquoise. Burial practices suggest that there were certain taboos practiced when people died. Brook has a BA in education from Texas Christian University, Dallas and a master's from Texas Western College (UTEP). He has specialized in the prehistoric cultures that inhabited the Tularosa-Hueco Basin for 20 years.

The final day of July's full moon programs, July 29, features Dr. Jack Drummond, an astronomer from New Mexico State University (NMSU). His program is entitled "The Planets Tonight." Recent discoveries uncovered by space probes have excited scientists and laymen alike and have ignited a new interest in our solar system. Dr. Drummond has his BS degree from the University of Virginia and masters and PhD from New Mexico State University. He works at the Physical Sciences Laboratory at NMSU.

Suggestions to silence noisy plumbing systems

Does your plumbing system talk back? In other words, does it chatter, whistle, knock or bang when water is running or when you suddenly turn it off.

If so, a few simple plumbing changes or minor repairs may be all that is necessary to hush it up.

Chattering or whistling are the most common faucet noises, said Charles Hohn, Extension agricultural engineer for New Mexico State University. "With the common compression type faucet, the usual problem is either a loose, worn or corroded faucet stem and washer assembly."

To stop the noise, tighten or replace the faucet seat washer if it shows signs of roughness and wear. If the stem moves up and down, the threads are worn and the entire stem should be replaced.

Probably the most common plumbing noise is water hammer, Hohn said. This banging in the pipes is caused by suddenly stopping the flow of rapidly moving water. This shock wave causes the pipes to vibrate against pipe supports and the walls.

Water pipes which are adjacent to masonry walls are also common sources of noisy water hammers. To remedy the situation, install wood anchored to the concrete with screw-in expansion connectors, then anchor the pipe securely to the wood blocks.

Eliminate water hammer noise by tightly anchoring the pipe nearest the faucet to the wall.

Specialist offers hiking safety tip

Don't let a pleasant summer afternoon hike end up a disaster, said Steve Madsen, Extension safety specialist for New Mexico State University. Madsen offers a number of suggestions to help you hike safely.

- Never start a hike in bad weather.
- When planning a hike, allow enough time to make the return trip in daylight.
- Rest often on a climbing hike.
- Resist the temptation to explore any caves you come across.
- Don't try to hold branches for a hiker behind you. They may snap back and hurt the hiker.
- Look out for roots, trailing vines, fallen branches or loose stones which could cause a fall.
- Be extra careful to keep a firm footing when carrying a pack. Otherwise it may swing and throw you off balance.
- Avoid wild animals, especially when they appear friendly. It is not natural for a wild animal to be friendly to humans.
- Don't build a fire anywhere other than designated campgrounds. This is illegal in most states. Instead carry a little stove.

Local liquor outlets fined

Two Ruidoso liquor outlets fined recently for violations were Pizza Hut, $250, selling to minors and allowing minors to consume on licensed premises and Navajo Spirits, $150, selling to a minor.

Rickey cited in car mishap

Curtis E. Rickey, 25, Ruidoso, was slightly injured early Tuesday morning in a one car accident on Paradise Canyon Road at Hart Avenue.

Rickey apparently lost control of the vehicle while rounding a turn and ran off the roadway with the vehicle on its side. Police reports indicated he was cited for reckless driving and driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

Rickey was treated and released from Ruidoso Hondo Valley Hospital.

Fiddlers' Contest at State Fair

Persons who want to fiddle around at the New Mexico State Fair this year can do so, and if they're good, they just might win a nice cash prize for their talents.

At least that's the intent behind a brand new Fiddlers' Contest to be held at the fair this year.

The two day competition, open to anyone from age one on up, will be held in the fair's Opera House September 19 and 20. A total of $1,375 in cash premiums has been earmarked for the contest, which is hoped to be an annual event at the fair.

There are six divisions of the competition, for various age groups. They are: ages 1 through 10; 11 through 14; 15-17; 18-25; 26-55; and 56 and over.

All of the six divisions will compete Friday afternoon, September 19, and then on Saturday, those placing contestants from age 15 and up will vie in the Grand Champion Contest.

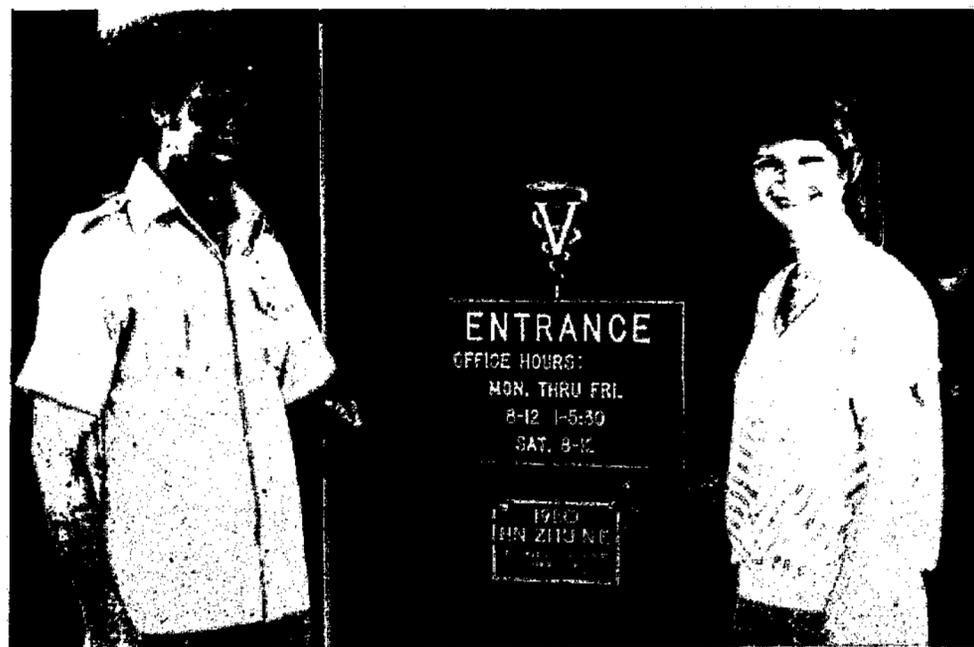

Trophies and cash prizes will be awarded to winners in the top four categories.

Interest in the competition will be heightened by the fact that "Hee Haw" fiddle star Jana Jae will be appearing at the fair's rodeo on the same days as the contest. She has been invited to be a special guest at the contest.

The entry deadline for the competition is 12 noon Friday, September 19. There is an entry fee attached to all entries for contestants 15 years old and up.

Full details and entry forms may be obtained by contacting the Entry Department, New Mexico State Fair, Post Office Box 8546, Albuquerque, New Mexico 87106.

THE FIRST WINNER of the Hn'zhu'ne Award, to be given annually by the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce for the most improved storefront, is Lynn Willard, D. V. M., pictured with Chamber president Sheila Harris, who presented the award this week. Willard said the award will be placed on the front door of his office.

Bennett's Shur-Sav expanding

Construction started Wednesday on a 4,908 square foot addition to Bennett's Shur-Sav Supermarket on Mechem Drive.

The new facility, general manager Ted Bennett said, will provide an additional 3,800 square feet of merchandise display and retail sales area, expanding the present service area to 10,090 square feet. The storage and work area in the addition will occupy 7,570 feet of the building's total area of 17,660 square feet. Bennett said that the new parking area will be designed for 93 vehicles.

Scheduled for completion in January, 1981, the enlarged store will feature: — 68 feet of five deck frozen food display, — 36 feet of delicatessen service, — 48 feet of self service dairy counters, — 90 feet of self service produce display, — 32 feet of full service meat department, — 84 feet of self service meat counters, — 758 feet of staple grocery shelves, — 64 feet of health and beauty aids, and — 64 feet of household items display.

"We will have six checkout counters in the new building," Bennett said, "and will employ the latest in electronic equipment to provide faster, better checkout service."

Bennett also said the new structure will feature "a complete heat recovery system, using the heat generated by refrigeration to heat and cool the new store. The building will be completely energy efficient."

The architect for the building is Stanley J. French, the general contractor is Service Contractors and financing is through Security Bank, "all Ruidoso firms," Bennett said.

WMSR seeks medical pack lost in search

White Mountain Search and Rescue (WMSR) team is searching again—seeking the assistance of the public in locating a green medical backpack.

The pack has been missing since the group's last search, which took place in the Capitan Mountains over the Fourth of July weekend.

Anyone with information on the whereabouts of the pack may contact Herb Brunell, Dave Travis, the Ruidoso Police Department or write P. O. Box 2342, Ruidoso, 88345.

Downs okays sale of G. O. sewer bonds

At a special meeting Monday night, Ruidoso Downs trustees gave unanimous approval to an ordinance providing for the sale of $500,000 in general obligation bonds to provide for construction of a sewer system for the village.

The trustees had approved the ordinance previously, but were required by law to take second action on the matter. Construction is slated to begin August 4.

Forest fire danger has lessened

Fairly general rains throughout the Lincoln National Forest have reduced the danger of a forest fire to the point where restrictions on campfires, smoking and the use of chain saws can be lifted, according to Forest Supervisor, James R. Abbott.

Abbott said extremely dry conditions on June 4 and July 2, necessitated imposing restrictions on fire, smoking and woods operations throughout the Forest. The restrictions were officially lifted at 9 a.m., July 22.

While the restrictions are off on campfires, smoking and the use of chain saws, Abbott reminded National Forest visitors, all of the usual rules are still in force. Fireworks are prohibited, as always, fuelwood cutters must have permits, and chain saws must have working spark arresters.

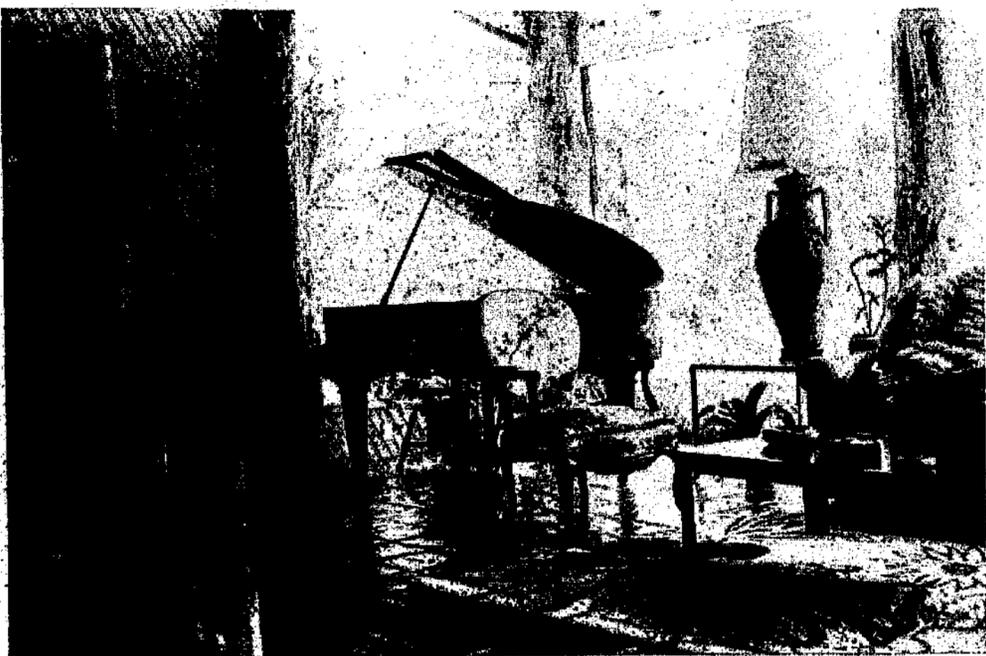

He urged campers to continue to be extra careful of smoking and their campfires.

Local woman, aliens faced charges here

Sandra Salas, 18, Ruidoso Downs, was arrested by Ruidoso police Tuesday, allegedly in possession of a vehicle belonging to Juan Montoya of Ruidoso.

She was charged with receiving stolen property. Following a first appearance before magistrate Jim Wheeler, she was released on her own recognizance.

Four illegal aliens were also arrested Tuesday by officers of the Criminal Investigation Division (CID). A CID spokesman said the four were found in possession of property allegedly stolen from Nob Hill Restaurant. All were transported back to Mexico.

SUNLIGHT pours into this room in the W. A. Anderson home, one of five featured in the Ruidoso Garden Club's tour of homes August 3.

Tickets are $3 per person and are available from any Garden Club member, at Madre's or the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce.

Garden Club home tour planned

A home and garden tour of five distinctive houses in the Ruidoso area will be held August 3, 2-6 p.m. The tour is sponsored by the Ruidoso Garden Club, with Ellen Miller and Jeanie Whitman as co-chairpersons.

The home of Ruidoso Mayor Lloyd L. Davis Jr., the W. A. Anderson home, the Dantonio home in Rancho Ruidoso, Martin Rose's home and R. Woodall's home in Alto, will be featured.

A list of "drive by" gardens will be given on the maps which are distributed when tickets are purchased. Tickets are available at Madre's, the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce, and from members of the Garden Club.

Tickets are $3 per person and transportation is available for those desiring it.

Evans Rotary exchange student to the Philippines

Tricia Evans, Ruidoso, will leave August 2 to spend one year in the Philippines, as an exchange student sponsored by the Ruidoso Rotary.

Her first hosts will be Ray and Edan Villena of Zamboanga, where she will attend a private school at the 11th grade level.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charley Onay, she has completed her sophomore year at Ruidoso High School. She has been a member of the volley ball team and track squad, secretary of the Rodeo Club, active in 4-H and is a member of the Order of Rainbow.

Marantha Mountain Ministries presents Friday eve concert

Marantha Mountain Ministries presents the second in a series of concerts Friday night at 7:30 in the Ruidoso High School gymnasium.

Featured artists will be Gospel Seed and Karen Lafferty. Lafferty, a local resident, will be sharing experiences she had during her travels throughout Europe and the United States.

Gospel Seed, a contemporary musical duo has been singing together since 1974 and have an album out. They have traveled extensively including appearances on the 700 Club and the PTL Club.

Both acts will also be featured during the Ruidoso Art Festival Friday evening and will sing at Camp Sierra Blanca Saturday at 9:30 a.m.

Camp Meeting successful

The 1980 Ranchmen's Camp Meeting on Nogal Mesa attracted 1,190 registered guests with a total of 522 camps on the grounds, publicity director Dorothy Guck has announced.

Food expenses totaled $5,700, Guck said, with "donations being generous enough to cover all expenses."

Officers reelected during the business meeting were Walt Wilson, LaMoyné Peters, Scott Shafer, Bob Shafer, Johnson Stearns and Opal Peters.

Another Cowboy Camp Meeting is scheduled July 24-27 at Mesa Redonda, south of Tucumcari, Guck said.

Library adds reference books

The reference section of Ruidoso Public Library (RPL) will soon contain many new books and some updated versions of previous publications, according to Marian Elzi, head librarian.

Elzi said the Friends of the Library donated $500 to help update the reference shelves and noted the major purchase made with that money was a 14 volume McGraw-Hill publication of The Encyclopedia of World Biography.

The set offers essays of about 800 words about famous, deceased figures. The scope is universal and includes famous men and women of all periods and from all countries.

All fields of study are also represented in the biography, with all articles written by scholars and stress commentary and evaluation as well as facts. The 5,000 biographical sketches are valuable to students as well as for reference work.

Also included in the volumes is 6,000 portraits, maps and illustrations which Elzi said "will make it a valuable basic reference tool."

Other volumes which will be purchased with Friends' money include: American People's Almanac by David Wallechinski and Irving Wallace; The Book of Lists by Wallechinski, Wallace and Amy Wallace; Facts about the Presidents, by Joseph N. Kane; Famous First Facts, also by Kane; and Borland's Illustrated Medical Dictionary by Saunders.

Elzi said she "tried to keep the requested books in mind" when ordering the new volumes. "We get lots of requests for a good medical dictionary, for example," she said.

She said all of the Friends' purchases were taken from a list of books needed by RPL for basic reference uses. "I hope we can start building a skeleton reference library which would be useful," Elzi said. Although she expects the purchase of reference books to take up to three years, "over a period of time, we will have a good shelving of references."

Elzi obtained a list of basic reference books from the New Mexico State Library, which showed that Ruidoso's library has most of the books listed. Elzi expended some budgeted money to purchase books the library lacked. Those books include the following:

—Encyclopedia of Associations by Gale, a guide to national and international non-profit organizations and a guide to organizations that can provide free information on specific subjects.

—Information Please Almanac 1979 by Viking contains an annual compilation of facts which supplements the World Almanac. It also includes descriptive articles on the year's developments in certain fields and a list of major events of the past year.

—A Manual of Style by the University of Chicago Press, explains the parts of a book, manuscript preparation, rights and permissions, punctuation, spelling abbreviations, bibliographies, footnotes and other information. This book is useful to students writing term papers.

—The New Mexico Constitution, a free publication which contains the complete text of the New Mexico constitution with the changes passed during the last Legislative session.

—New Mexico Statistical Abstract shows tables of statistical information on the state, such as population, economy, education, labor and so on.

—Occupational Outlook Handbook, 1980-81 edition gives a description of career fields, information on the job market and salary ranges, and organizations to contact for further information.

Elzi said a new set of World Book Encyclopedias will arrive soon. The most current issue of those volumes now in the library dates back to the late 1950's.

Elzi said library patrons who enjoy fiction works may want to take advantage of a new McNaughton series. Elzi said this series consists of a core group of 100 books, and each month, ten books which are not circulating well are returned for ten new books. "This revolving collection," Elzi said, "gives the library a chance to offer books which are popular without having to invest $15 or $20 in a new book that sits on the shelves after a few interested people have read it."

Elzi placed the first 100 books on the shelves last week and added that she tried to choose "as wide a variety as possible." She said the library will continue to purchase new books as before, but said the McNaughton Plan will offer many more books for the money.

Entertainment Saturday at Fish Market

This week's featured entertainment at the Fish Market Coffee House will be Barry Martin and Lisa Powell, both appearing Saturday at 7 p.m.

Martin travels the coffee house circuit regularly and makes guitars in his own shop in El Paso, Texas.

Powell is a former resident of Ruidoso and is now a student at McMurry College in Abilene, Texas. She features original compositions and is currently touring Texas with a Spanish children's choir.

The Fish Market will be closed Friday night.

Duplicate bridge here twice weekly

Ruidoso's Duplicate Bridge Club meets at the Adult Recreation Center at 7:30 p.m., Wednesdays and Saturdays.

All local and visiting bridge players are invited to attend. The center is located behind the Ruidoso Public Library.

Flower Show here August 19-20

Plans were announced this week for the 10th Annual Standard Flower Show, sponsored by the Ruidoso Garden Club, at the Ruidoso Public Library multi purpose room August 19 and 20.

All categories will be duplicated from past shows, including horticulture, design, sponsored group and educational division, with various subdivisions under each main heading.

Show chairman is Marti Yoder, who said there will be no admission charge for viewing the show, and the public is invited to exhibit any live plants they have in their flower and vegetable gardens.

One of the most popular divisions is horticulture, which includes fresh vegetables grown in gardens in the area.

Theme for this year's show is "Take it E's-Z" and the show is sponsored by Ruidoso State Bank.

A complete list of rules and categories for exhibits will be published in The News.

Madeline Murray, Marti Yoder, Mary Ann Jennings, Sibyl Riddle and Ann Abbott. The flower show is August 19 and 20 at Ruidoso Public Library.

A FLEA MARKET will be conducted Friday and Saturday, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., in the parking lot at St. Eleanor's Catholic Church. Some of the guild members completing final arrangements for the event Tuesday evening were, from the left, Josephine Sanchez, Mary Ann Jennings, Yvonne Seelbach, Katie Klein, Leona LaRue, Carol Tam and Lois Hollis.

Leo Payman estate donates $25,333 to Cancer Society

A donation of $25,333 has been made to the New Mexico American Cancer Society (ACS) by a former resident of Lincoln County, the late Leo J. Payman.

According to District Executive Director Glenda Williams, Payman named the ACS in his will "for its general purposes all (or stated fraction or percentage) of the rest, residue and remainder of my estate, both real or personal."

Williams said the amount could not be credited to the East Lincoln Chapter because it would make a goal unattainable in future crusades.

Round Table Club met at Capitan

Secret Pal gifts were distributed among the members of the Capitan Round Table Club at a luncheon meeting held July 17 at the home of Winnifred Cozzens.

The noon meal, served outside in the Cozzens' yard, consisted of charbroiled hamburgers, salads, vegetables and melon, served on tables decorated with red and blue checkered cloths and floral arrangements of red, white and blue. In honor of Mary Dean's birthday, ice cream and cake completed the menu.

Guests at the meeting included Jane Cozzens of Alamogordo and Marilyn Cozzens of Santa Clara, California; Geraldine McClung of San Jose, California; Emma Jean Hall and Gladys Pew.

Bessie Cummins suggested that the club observe "Proverb Day" at the next Round Table meeting, to be held at the home of Etha Merrell.

How to handle tensions and frustrations

"Tensions and frustrations are a common part of almost everything we do," said Leo Yates, Extension family life specialist for New Mexico State University. "Dealing with them in a logical and objective manner will mean the difference between facing difficult situations realistically or being emotionally overcome by them." Tension producing situations happen every day. It may be an unexpected bill, an unwelcome guest, an argument, an unexpected job change or even a "cliff-hanging" moving on television. "One of the main tension producers we encounter, however, is frustration of our goal directed efforts and our reaction to opposition," Yates said.

Tension can play a positive role in our well being. The problem occurs when tensions tend to dominate the situation, or when there is so much tension or stress that we can no longer use good judgment, the specialist said.

There are some positive ways to relieve tension. Start by looking for the cause of the tension. Try to determine why you are bothered by the situation.

Another way to deal with it is to discuss it with a trusted friend who might give you some insight into the situation. Another is to "escape" from the situation for awhile. Taking some time for recreation can also help to "let off steam" and give you a new lease on the situation. Also, try to take one thing at a time.

Learn how to handle anger. It is a natural emotion and becomes a problem only when it is unreasoned anger or becomes a habit. Anger needs a release. Bottling it up only heightens its explosive potential.

Doing something for others can shift your attention from a bad situation and help you deal with tension. When people are tired, hungry or feel bad, they tend to under or overreact.

When these "home remedies" fail however, perhaps the situation calls for professional help. This is important to remember when you're unable to handle feelings either about ourselves or the tensions that affect everyday living patterns, Yates said.

Cree Meadows tourney scheduled August 4-7

LEROY GOOCH, Ruidoso High School golf coach, accepts the Cree Meadows Invitational Golf tournament championship trophy last August from Cree Meadows professional Bob Hickson. Gooch returns to defend his title in this year's tournament, slated August 4-7.

The 32nd Annual Cree Meadows Invitational Golf Tournament will be August 4-7 this year, and as of Wednesday, 120 golfers had entered.

Last year's tourney, won by Ruidoso High School golf coach Leroy Gooch, had 128 players, or eight flights of 16 golfers each. This year's contest had originally been planned for 160 golfers, but according to Cree Meadows professional Bob Hickson, there just isn't enough room for everyone.

"We just don't have the facilities to host a tournament that size," Hickson said. Consequently, the number of entries was cut back to that of last year — 128 golfers.

The match play tourney — one of the very few match play tournaments left in New Mexico — will be played over three days and 54 holes. The tourney actually begins with a scramble open to all players Sunday afternoon, August 3. Tee time is 1 p.m. Entry fee is $10, Hickson said, which includes cart.

Forty five golfers will compete for 32 slots in the championship and first flights on Monday, teeing off at 1 p.m. All other flights will be paired by handicaps.

Unfortunately, the course isn't in the best shape it's been, Hickson noted, due to the recent lack of rain.

"But it's still playable," he said. "The greens are in nice shape, and the grass is starting to turn green in the fairways. But it's still pretty dry. We're pouring all the water we can out there, it's just not enough."

Regardless, the field of golfers already entered promises some excellent golf, Hickson said.

"There's going to be some good golf shot out there, you can bet on it," he said.

Defending champion Gooch returns to lead the field, as does Jake Broyles, the 1977 and 1978 champion. Also playing will be Dan Wimberly, who won the recent Alto Lakes Snowcapper Tournament and who also knocked Broyles out of contention for the Cree Meadows title last year; Snowcapper runnerup Doug Bass and Ken Means; former champion Tommy Hornbuckle, who recently placed fifth in the state men's amateur tournament in El Paso; Mark Saxton, who finished fourth in last year's championship flight; and several other top finishers from last year's tourney.

Not coming back is Carlton Blewett, who lost to Gooch in almost total darkness on the 19th hole in last year's tournament.

"We've got a pretty good field," Hickson said. "It'll be an open game. We've got players coming in from Texas, and some from Carlsbad. It's going to be a good tournament."

Also returning — for his 32nd consecutive tourney — is Charlie Edwards, who hasn't missed playing in this tournament since its inception.

Flights will tee off at either 8 a.m. or 1:30 p.m., each day, Hickson said, depending on the flight.

Prizes for the tourney include tee prizes for each player, and a closest to the pin and long drive contest will be featured in the tourney's second day of play.

Merchandise certificates, with a minimum of $500 allotted to each flight, will be awarded to all flight winners, runnerup and consolation finishers.

Social activities scheduled include a cocktail party Monday at 7 p.m., and a steak dinner and dance for all contestants and their wives Tuesday night.

Entry fee is $60, and only eight spots remain open. All entries must be in by August 1, and can be mailed to Hickson, care of Cree Meadows Country Club, Box 2274, Ruidoso, 88345, or by calling 257-5698 or 257-2212.

Gymnasts participate in clinic

Twenty gymnasts from Hobbs and Ruidoso took part in a compulsory routines clinic here last weekend, according to Ruidoso gymnastics coach Blake Starr.

Starr and Tom and Karen Salb from the Mactolek School of Dance in Hobbs conducted the clinic, which was designed to teach advanced team gymnasts the new United States Gymnastics Federation compulsory routines.

"The new routines are extremely complex," Starr said, "and utilize quite a few dance moves and techniques than they have in the past. We're getting away from emphasis on tumbling skills and techniques and more into dance."

The Salbs have just started their first year of competitive gymnastics in their program, Starr said, so it was a learning experience for the coaches as well as the students.

"I think the gymnasts picked everything up real well," he said. "We got a lot of work accomplished and are learning the compulsories very well in preparation for upcoming competition."

In other activities, Starr and his gymnasts have been preparing for the Ruidoso Art Festival, which kicks off this weekend.

A variety of exhibitions will be performed, Starr said, and gymnasts from beginner to advanced will be participating. Also, Starr will be performing magic during the exhibitions, "and some of it is woven right into the gymnastics," he said.

Performances are 5:30 p.m., Friday; noon, 3 p.m., and 6 p.m., Saturday; and noon and 3:45 p.m., Sunday. All performances will be in the Ruidoso High School parking lot.

HELPING TEACH a recent compulsory routines clinic at Ruidoso Gymnastics Academy (RGA) were Karen and Tom Salb from the Mactolek School of Dance in Hobbs. New compulsory routines, established by the United States Gymnastics Federation, place heavy emphasis on dance moves, said RGA coach Blake Starr.

Fishing law suggestions needed soon

Okay, all you fishermen, get your pencils and paper out because it's your turn again. The New Mexico Department of Game and Fish wants your written recommendations by July 25, 1980, concerning the fishing regulations for the 1981-82 license year.

Address your letters to New Mexico Department of Game and Fish, 413 North Virginia, Roswell, 88201.

The Department has altered this year's approach in soliciting recommendations. In the past, public input meetings were scheduled in most of the major cities in the state.

Poor attendance at those meetings, however, led to the development of the system being used this year, that is, a statewide appeal of written comments and suggestions.

But four public meetings, one in each quarter of the state, will be held.

At each of these meetings, written recommendations from their respective areas will be read aloud to provoke discussion. Of course, any last minute suggestions will be accepted as well.

The meeting for the Southeast Area will be held in Roswell July 29, 1980, at the Pioneer Savings and Trust meeting room, 7:30 p.m.

The Game and Fish Department will consider all recommendations received, with valid data and biological feasibility leading to the final decisions.

The Department's finalized recommendations will then be presented to the State Game Commission, along with minutes of each public meeting and copies of any written input received. Then, at a later date, the Commission will hold a public meeting to set forth the 1981-82 fishing regulations.

Again, put down in writing those ideas you have and get them to the Roswell office by July 25. Next, plan on attending the Roswell meeting July 29, 7:30 p.m., at the Pioneer Savings and Trust meeting room to hear and discuss all area recommendations.

Sportin' Life

... a column of opinion ...

by
Mark Bagby

Some thoughts and observations on the 1980 Summer Olympic Games in Moscow, compiled from wire stories and network news items:

The Soviets built their Olympic Village to accommodate 12,500 athletes and officials, and as of Monday, still had room for 4,156 athletes ... 5,923 athletes representing 81 countries are attending the Games, but at the 1976 Games in Montreal, there were 6,512 athletes representing 87 countries.

Thirty five countries, including the United States, Japan, Canada and West Germany, are boycotting these Games, and 30 other countries chose to stay away for other reasons ... those 65 countries represent 49 percent of the medals awarded in Montreal ...

Sports hurt most by the boycott — swimming, basketball, track and field, gymnastics and equestrian events ... Russia's Sergei Fesenko, a world class 200 meter butterfly stroke swimmer, was going to retire after these Games — but not now. He won the gold medal in that event, but decided he wanted a chance to compete against Mike Bruner of Mesa, Arizona, the world record holder. So now he's going to wait until 1984 ... The Soviets are charging the United States' Big Three Networks — ABC, NBC AND CBS — $1 million to use Russia's television facilities, so the networks are taping things with their own equipment and then flying the tapes to Frankfurt, West Germany, for transmission via satellite.

I saw a CBS broadcast the other night, and it showed an American crew filming security guards outside the Olympic stadium, after it had been warned to film only inside the stadium. The crew was arrested and warned to film only inside the stadium. So the final shot of their report? The outside of the stadium ...

Soviet television got sneaky in its coverage of the Games ... thirteen countries entered the stadium carrying not their nation's flag, but rather the Olympic flag ... you never saw it on Soviet television though ... and the Russians also did not get to see Dave Patterson of Howard, Ohio, unfurl an American flag in the stadium ...

The official position of the Soviet Union, of course, is the boycott has not been successful ... and it keeps issuing statements to that effect. Of course, after you've said it once, you have to keep saying it to believe it ...

Women's gymnastics are in the news again, as Nadia Comaneci of Romania again scored a 10 and three 9.95s in competition. (So Derek she ain't, but if they say she's a 10, who am I to argue?) Astoundingly, she was tied for first place with Natalia Shaposhnikova of the Soviet Union, who also scored a 10 and three 9.95s. Nadia's 10 came in the balance beam, and Natalia's came in the vault.

Five members of the Afghanistan team — they're at the root of all this, you know and, ironically, was the first squad to enter the stadium — have reportedly approached the Western press and said they want to defect to the United States. The head of the 24 athlete squad denies the rumor ...

Several still photographers and a television crew reportedly were detained and had film taken from them Monday, the Associated Press said in a wire story ... and Yasser Arafat, head of the Palestine Liberation Organization, said Monday there would definitely be no danger of a terrorist attack like the one in Munich in 1972 ... and the Israelis are boycotting the Games anyway, so who is there to terrorize?

Already?
I keep hearing about training camps and all that sort of thing for professional football. I can't believe it's time for that already.

Jeez, it was only a few short months ago that Pittsburg beat Los Angeles to claim the title of world champions. And now they're starting up again.

Where does the time go?

British Open Closes
(First, a gripe — why is it the British Open when they play it in Scotland?)

So, Tommy Watson won the British Open, closely followed by Lee Trevino. Lee said later, "Coming in second to the best in the world — there's nothing wrong with that." I'll drink to that.

I thought Jack Nicklaus had a pretty decent shot at it, but that turned out to be wrong-o.

The most interesting part of the tourney — to me — was a story I saw about how much it cost each golfer to go overseas to play. Jack Nicklaus said something like, "This is going to sound crazy, because I make a lot of money, but it's getting to the point where I can't afford this."

We grumble about our 11 to 15 percent inflation rate here — but in Europe, it's apparently much higher, and in Scotland, for instance, the annual yearly income is about $4,000.

Tom Watson took his whole family with him, and lodging and what not cost him nearly $10,000, he said.

Heck no wonder he won the tournament — he had to, just to break even.

Played against Satchel Paige, Harlem Globetrotters

Ira Bogard has fond memories of athletics 40 years ago

BY MARK BAGBY
Sports Editor

Ira Bogard looks like he would have made a great jockey with his five foot, seven inch frame — and today, at age 65, he tips the scales at a mere 140 pounds. But about 40 years ago, he was a basketball star, once scoring 30 points in 15 minutes, while playing injured, holding a six foot three inch All-American scoreless, and playing on a squad that beat the Harlem Globetrotters — twice. Bogard, who now resides in Ruidoso Downs, also played baseball and was offered a chance to play with the Pittsburgh Pirates and faced pitchers from "the last of the spitballers," Burley Grimes to Dizzy Dean and Satchel Paige. Meanwhile, he was a doubles champion in tennis, and played football and, in track, ran the 440 yard dash. Not bad for a fat little kid for Logan,

New Mexico. "When I was about eight years old," he recalls, "I was the chubbiest little fellow you ever saw." Somewhere along the line, Mother Nature took over and Bogard slimmed down. Eventually, he grew to his present height of five foot seven and a weight of 120 pounds — not overpowering size even for the 1930s. But size isn't what counts, says Bogard. "It's heart," he said. "If you've got the desire, and you're willing to make the sacrifice, you can do anything. "I tried to go to University of New Mexico, and Eastern New Mexico, but I was too small for them. Then Stu heard about me." "Stu" is Stu Clark, former head coach at New Mexico Normal, (now New Mexico Highlands in Las Vegas). He had a great influence on Bogard's athletic career and his life.

"He was an unbelievable man and a great coach. To show what kind of guy he was, we were in an AAU (Amateur Athletic Union) tournament in Denver one time, and the AAU paid our expenses until you got knocked out of the tournament. He paid for us to stay in Denver so we could see the rest of the tournament." It was Clark who persuaded Bogard to come to New Mexico Normal. "We didn't have scholarships in those days," Bogard said. The year was 1936, and the United States was just starting to pick itself out of the Depression. Athletic recruiting as we know it today didn't exist. "He told us we were going to work, and we did," Bogard said. "It wasn't easy, but he picked only guys from New Mexico to play. We had fine athletes here, he said, all you had to do was coach 'em." "You know, I was around Stu a lot, and I never once heard him criticize an official, or question a call, or swear. And he always gave everybody a chance. You had to make the team every year, and even if you were four inches tall, he'd give you the same chance he gave everyone." The first time Bogard went out for basketball, one of the other hopefuls asked him if he was the water boy. Gales of laughter greeted the announcement he was out to make the team.

"Always give 100 percent. Anything less is cheating your opponent, and it's cheating yourself."

But it wasn't long before "Dynamite" Ira Bogard was wearing jersey number three and playing forward for New Mexico Normal. "The other players called me 'Dynamite,' I guess because I was always shooting my mouth off," he said with a laugh. "When we'd get behind or something, I'd start chewing the other guys out, and they'd stand there and listen to me. Nobody hit me, I guess because I was so small."

Bogard almost didn't go to college — he had been playing baseball and was good enough to get an offer from the Pittsburgh Pirates. But a couple of friends talked him out of it and told him to finish college instead. "And I haven't regretted a minute of it," he adds.

During his baseball career, he had the luck to attend a baseball camp in Hot Springs, Arkansas, run by pitchers Dizzy Dean and Burley Grimes.

"Dizzy was a pretty fair country pitcher, and Burley was the last of the great spitballers," he said. "You haven't lived until you have someone throw a ball at you with all that old slippery elm juice flinging off the ball. You can see it coming right at you. It's nasty."

But his fondest baseball memories come from facing the great Satchel Paige.

"Satchel Paige is without question the greatest pitcher who ever touched a baseball," he said. "When he let that ball loose, it looked like an aspirin was coming at you. He was just incredible, and no matter what they ever say about him, he never threw a ball at anyone in his life. If someone closed off the plate with their body, he'd throw it in such a way it was still a strike, but miss the batter."

Bogard enjoyed playing baseball, but basketball was his main sport.

"The game has changed a lot since I played," he said. "I still keep up with it, but it's a lot different from what it was when I played."

So are college athletics. Road trips weren't made in airplanes, or even chartered buses. The 10 member team was loaded into two cars owned by players' parents, and a third car carried coaches and equipment.

No one was on scholarship, and most of the players had to work their way through school.

"I remember — I may get in trouble for this — the cafeteria wouldn't serve on Sundays, and none of us had any money to eat on some Sundays. So at the Saturday night meal, we'd all stuff food in our shirts."

Bogard played very well against the all-black team and the Globetrotters' souvenir program for several years carried a story about "the midget" who had such good games against the team. But the Globetrotters had a laugh on Bogard.

"I was so small, they didn't make uniforms that fit me just right," he said. "The pants had a belt with them, and the belt went through loops around the top. Well, the only way I could get mine to fit was to keep pulling the loops around and cinch up the belt until the shorts were snug."

"During the game, a guard named King — he was an All-American out of Boston before he joined the 'Trotters — kept tugging at my pants, or that's what I thought he was doing. Actually, he was pulling those loops back around, until finally he had me with only one left, and it was holding my trousers up."

"And then — I'll never forget this — I had the ball, and he got hold of that last loop, and my pants went down around my knees. The dressing room wasn't very far away, and I just dribbled the ball off the court into the dressing room. I've never been so embarrassed in my whole life."

Generally, Bogard had no reason to ever be embarrassed about his basketball ability. Once, in a game with Kansas Wesleyan, he came off the bench to lead his team to victory, scoring 30 points in 15 minutes.

"I had been injured the previous week, and Stu wouldn't let you play if you were injured. I kept hugging him to let me play, but he wouldn't let me in."

"Then we were down — I think it was 15 points — and I guess in sheer desperation he let me in."

"Typically, Bogard takes little credit for scoring the 30 points. "If it hadn't been for (center Woodrow) Hutchinson, I could never have done it," he said. "He's responsible for probably 20 of those points. He kept clearing the I'd get slices of bread, and someone else would get boiled eggs, and someone would get cheese, or whatever, and then we'd take it back to our rooms and put it all together and share it on Sunday."

Just getting through a regular day was no easy task. "I had a job to pay my way through school," Bogard said. "I was the night clerk at the Old Town Motel in Vegas. I worked from midnight to six in the morning, and then I had two hours before my first class at 8 o'clock. Then I had classes all day."

"After classes, we had practice, and then I'd stay and help clean out the gym. And then we had to study."

Such a schedule didn't allow much time for sleep. "I used to take catnaps between classes, and after a while, you learn to make the most of two hours of sleep. I've often wondered how I ever made it, but I graduated in three years."

Keeping grades up was no problem — coach Clark kept a watchful eye on each student's grades and demanded travel time to away games be spent studying.

"He was of the opinion that a trip was a privilege — most of the student body wasn't getting to go, so we had to be top students," Bogard said. "I guess it paid off — none of us dropped out, and all of us graduated from college."

Clark was "something else," Bogard said. "He took a bunch of boys and made us into men. Every person should have a chance to play for such a coach."

But Bogard admits that might be impossible today.

"I don't think it's really possible for those days to ever come back. We used to look forward to playing — every Friday and Saturday was a big deal. We were fierce enemies on the court, but once the game was over, we'd throw our arms around the guys from the other team and be the best of friends. We'd get dates for each other and then everyone would meet at the dance after the game. That doesn't happen much anymore."

Modern college athletics have practically been ruined by the scholarship system, said Bogard.

"Money ruined everything," he said. "When they pay your room board, tuition, books, laundry, give you $50 a month and a Mercedes-Benz, it stops being fun — it's a job, and you better produce."

"The money might be nice — we have better athletes now, and more coaches. But I don't think it's as much fun as it used to be. When it ceased to be a game and started being a business, and when they started buying athletes, I think they lost something."

Without question, Bogard looks back on the "good ol' days" as just that.

"Man, it was fun," he said. "What a great bunch of guys I played with and against. We had fun out there. A lot of that came from Stu. He made it fun, and he used to tell us there were no losses, that in the end they all added up to wins."

The record shows they weren't all wins, but Bogard was on the winning side in his share of games — including a three game series with the Harlem Globetrotters.

"They had to be the nicest guys we ever played," he said. "They loved us and we loved them. I remember when they came to play us. They had played in Tucumcari, and when they got out to us, they didn't have any uniforms. Someone in Tucumcari had stolen them."

"We only had two sets of uniforms for us, one color for home and another for away, but Stu gave them our away set, that's the kind of guy he was. But the 'Trotters were great, I remember we drubbed them 46-21, I think it was, and they still joked and clowned around on there."

Bogard played very well against the all-black team and the Globetrotters' souvenir program for several years carried a story about "the midget" who had such good games against the team. But the Globetrotters had a laugh on Bogard.

"I was so small, they didn't make uniforms that fit me just right," he said. "The pants had a belt with them, and the belt went through loops around the top. Well, the only way I could get mine to fit was to keep pulling the loops around and cinch up the belt until the shorts were snug."

"Typically, Bogard takes little credit for scoring the 30 points. "If it hadn't been for (center Woodrow) Hutchinson, I could never have done it," he said. "He's responsible for probably 20 of those points. He kept clearing the boards for me, and the rest was easy. Anybody can put the ball in the basket."

Hutchinson and he were extremely close, and roomed together in school. A six foot, six inch center, Hutchinson is now listed in the National Basketball Hall of Fame, and Bogard says, "He is the best ball player I ever saw, and he could have made any team, even today. Whatever success I had on the court I owe to the Lord — and to Hutch."

But Bogard could hold his own. Before a game with the House of David, an All American named Arnie Denim lifted Bogard over his head and carried him around the court. In jesting retaliation, Bogard told Denim the All-American would go scoreless that night.

Denim didn't score a point. "His game was just off," he said. "After the game, Arnie came over and told me to grow a beard and join the House of David."

Sometime, Bogard decided to try tennis and played doubles with Bobby Hunter, who was an inch shorter than Bogard. Nicknamed "The Midgets," they finished as New Mexico champions.

"He was the tennis player, I just held the racket," he said.

All good things must come to an end, and in 1939, Bogard graduated. He took a coaching-teaching position at Moriarty and produced two fine basketball teams, with only 31 boys in the school, losing in the state tournament to eventual champions St. Michael's and Santa Fe. Then World War II came along, and after a tour of service, Bogard returned to New Mexico and a teaching job at Portales.

He taught school for 35 years.

"Teaching, and maybe the ministry, is the most rewarding profession I know of," he said. "It gives you a chance to be an artist, an engineer, a doctor — all those things. A good teacher is somebody who loves someone else's kids. And I was lucky to have really good students."

Eventually, he retired and he and his wife moved to Ruidoso Downs after visiting the area for many years.

Today, Bogard doesn't look like he's 65 years old. His hair is dark, with hardly a touch of gray. He's trim, thanks to riding a stationary bicycle five miles a day. He plays an occasional game of tennis, and has a 12 to 15 golf handicap and is entered in the upcoming Cree Meadows Invitational Tournament. Last year, he finished in the runnerup position in the sixth flight.

"I like to keep active," he said, in an understatement.

And if he had it to do all over again, he'd do it the same way.

"Stu once told me, 'No matter what the score, always give your best, always put out 100 percent. Anything less isn't fair to your opponent. It's cheating him and it's cheating yourself. If you aren't willing to give me 100 percent, check your suit in and let someone who will give it have a chance.'"

Ira Bogard has been giving 100 percent for a long time, and chances are he'll keep doing just that.

WOULD YOU BELIEVE this man is 65 years old? Ira Bogard recently celebrated a birthday, notching him at "retirement" age. Forty years ago he was a basketball star, and now he keeps in shape by riding a stationary bicycle about five miles a day.

Real Estate

By Realtor Mike Walizer
DEVON DEVELOPMENT, INC.

EXCLUSIVE RIGHT TO SELL.
When listing your home with a Realtor to sell, there are a variety of arrangements you can make. But if you are seriously intent on selling your home within a reasonable time and at the price you are asking, it would pay to consider making an "exclusive right to sell" agreement.

This gives the Realtor the right to his commission if he actually sells your home during the listing period, or if another Realtor sells it, or if you sell it yourself.

Under these conditions, the Realtor will have the added incentive and protection to go all-out in heavily advertising your home and showing it to prospects. He will not be afraid of bringing it to the attention of other Realtors who may have qualified prospects. As a rule, Realtors are willing to cooperate and share the single commission. That gives you the advantage of having several Realtors make a determined effort to sell your home.

Firewood dealers to travel farther for harvest

New Mexico harvests more wood per capita than any other state in the union. In the past five years alone, harvesting has increased 100 percent. It is not surprising then to find that the National Forest Service may have to restrict free-use harvesting.

Those who will be most affected by this restriction are urban residents who until recently could cut firewood free of charge at any of the five national forests in New Mexico. When their access is cut off, consumers will have to turn to commercial dealers for firewood.

Because of the increased dependency on dealers, New Mexico State University (NMSU) researchers have compiled a report which gives present and potential firewood dealers a better understanding of the economics of commercial harvesting. Consumers can also refer to the report for information on the energy efficiency of different types of firewood and wood burning units.

Dr. James R. Gray and Mary Eray, agricultural economists with NMSU's Agricultural Experiment Station, surveyed dealers throughout the state to find out the kinds of wood harvested, their sale price and the distance the dealer traveled to harvest. All figures are from the 1977-78 season. They also asked the dealers to estimate 1980-81 harvest patterns under future market conditions.

They found that 80 percent of the dealers were in the firewood business on a part time basis. Gray attributes this to the seasonal nature of harvesting and to the low capital investment required to start a business. An $8,000 investment in a truck and chain saw will put a dealer in business, Gray said.

More than 40 percent of the harvested wood was delivered to consumers' homes. Delivered fuelwood costs an average $54.72 a cord with piñon pine bringing the highest price at $58.44. Ponderosa pine was the lowest priced at $51.25 a cord. From harvest location to home delivery, the dealers traveled an average 111 miles round trip.

The break even price for one cord of wood was $21 to $40 for 37 percent of the dealers, $20 or less for 22 percent of the dealers and more than $60 for 10 percent of the dealers. The break even price is the point at which the dealer begins to make a return. He uses the return to pay labor and investment costs. The remaining amount is his profit.

Dealers responding to the survey on energy consumption, harvested an average 57 cords of wood during the 1977-78 season. At 1978 gasoline prices (80 cents a gallon), it took them $5.16 for 8.6 gallons of gasoline to harvest one cord of wood. Adjusted for 1980 gasoline prices, that figure would jump to $10.32 a cord, Gray said.

Keeping in mind the increase in both gasoline prices and consumer demand for firewood, Gray asked dealers to estimate their harvest rate under future market conditions.

The dealers reported that if in the 1980-81 season, cost, price and supply conditions remained at 1977-78 levels, they would increase harvest by 42 percent. If however, supplies declined and costs increased, nine dealers said they would go out of business while others expected to harvest less wood.

The major factor affecting future harvest was hauling distance. The dealers said that if they had to travel twice the distance, or 222 miles, to harvest wood, they would cut their harvest rate in half. Based on increased demand alone, the dealers planned to harvest 38 percent more wood in 1980-81.

The researchers also estimated the energy efficiency of wood-burning stoves and fireplaces. They did this by figuring the average efficiency of the burning unit minus the amount of total energy used by dealers in harvesting and hauling the firewood. A burning unit rating of 5.5 percent would be energy efficient. Fireplaces without heat saving equipment had zero or less than zero efficiency. This could be raised to 21 to 24 percent with the addition of grates with blowers, metal fire boxes and glass doors, Gray said.

Even the least efficient wood-burning stove had a 40 to 50 percent efficiency rating with airtight models reaching 65 percent.

Persons wanting more information can obtain Research Report 416 from their county Extension agent or by writing the Bulletin Office, Box 3A1, New Mexico State University, Las Cruces, New Mexico 88003.

Columbus schedules geothermal ceremony

The State of New Mexico's program of geothermal exploration along the Mexican border will be inaugurated August 8 in a 3 p.m. ceremony at Columbus. Dignitaries from both sides of the border will participate in the ceremony within 100 yards of the international boundary at the Columbus industrial park.

The site is the location of one of 32 test wells to be drilled as part of the geothermal exploration program. Sponsors are New Mexico State University (NMSU) and the Southwest New Mexico Council of Governments. Funding is from the New Mexico Energy and Minerals Department (EMD) through the New Mexico Energy Institute at NMSU. Principal Investigator is geophysicist Dr. Chandler Swanberg, NMSU. Geophysical studies at the site by Swanberg and other researchers indicate the presence of a geothermal anomaly. The state exploration program is designed to determine the extent and potential for commercial development.

Participants in the program inaugural will include a Mexican commercial development.

Participants in the program inaugural will include a Mexican delegation led by Sr. Jorge Lona Valenzuela, director of Mexican customs for the Chihuahua-New Mexico border. The American group will include Larry Kehoe, secretary of state's EMD, David King, secretary of the New Mexico Department of Finance and Administration, Dr. Gerald Thomas, president of NMSU and Dr. Bill Harrison, executive director of the Southwest New Mexico Council of Governments.

State Fair photography competition has changed

Some major changes in the photography competitions at the New Mexico State Fair — including the addition of a new youth contest — have been announced.

The International Pictorial Print Salon, long a feature of fair competition, has been eliminated and replaced with a professional exhibit.

Additionally, a schedule of cash premiums — totaling $850 — has been started for winners of the department sections.

In the new professional section, a $50 first prize is offered in each of five categories — portraits, commercial, wedding scenic and miscellaneous.

The print competitions for amateurs and youths and the color transparency sections each will have a prize schedule of $4 for first place, $3 for second and $2 for third.

Far West Photography of Albuquerque, operated by Dick and Nikki Skrondahl, has volunteered to award a $10 cash prize to each of the junior winners in seven areas. Far West has been the fair's official photographers for some 23 years.

All photo entries this year are limited to New Mexico residents. Deadline for all entries is Tuesday, September 2.

Full details and entry information may be obtained by contacting the Entry Department, New Mexico State Fair, Post Office Box 6546, Albuquerque, New Mexico 87192.

The 43rd annual New Mexico State Fair — The Biggest Show in New Mexico — will be held in Albuquerque September 10 through 21, with the 17 day racing meet and quality horse shows starting September 5.

I-n-s-i-d-e the Outdoors

by Gary Dollahan

The automobile has come a long way since Henry Ford's Model T's. Changes have been great through the years, and just about every design imaginable has at least been tried in a working model.

Some of the more recent changes have been somewhat ironic. For example, the once highly desired large, gas drinking autos showed speedometer readings of 100 miles per gallon or more, while the less desired, small, fuel efficient cars could only register 80 miles per hour or so.

Today, the high mileage "little cars" show speedometer readings of 100 miles per hour and more, while the big gas guzzlers indicate the lower readings. Nevertheless, the maximum legal speed limit nationwide is 55, which brings me to a recent thought.

While driving to Alamogordo this past week I became intrigued with a number of near misses with various species of wildlife in the Hondo Valley area, primarily squirrels and doves. It appeared the dove had just enough speed to dodge a vehicle moving at 55 (at least all of them on this particular day did). I began to wonder about what effect, if any, the reduction of speed limits from 70 to 55 has made on car-wildlife collisions.

I began to pay closer attention to road kills I encountered, mainly identifying the species. Obviously, the most common casualties were those species most active at night, namely skunks and rabbits, and the most numerous encounters — birds. Occasional porcupine or deer carcasses were spotted.

I took it upon myself to do a little research on road kills, hoping to find some correlation between numbers and speeds, but it turned out to be a futile attempt.

I was able to find only one national compilation concerning wildlife road fatalities, and it was old. The source was the American Automobile Association, the year about 1963, and the findings were over a million wild creatures are killed on the nation's highways each day. Considering more roads and more vehicles today, it's probably safe to assume this figure has increased.

I contacted the Wildlife Management Institute, the National Wildlife Federation, and AAA with the hopes of finding a similar study since initiation of the 55 speed limit. However, no luck.

The Fred Bear Sports Club conducted a national study in 1974 of deer killed on the highways. Over 148,000 were reported to have actually been picked up by wardens and highway department personnel. Needless to say, this can only be a small portion, perhaps a quarter, or maybe a half of those not reported and those that were hit but wandered off to die. Pennsylvania alone showed 29,915 deer killed on its roads in 1975.

Similar statistics were once kept by the New Mexico State Highway Department, but are no longer. However, I did find that 687 accidents in New Mexico in 1979 were reported to have been animal caused (includes domestic animals). Two years prior to this, 634 accidents occurred in the same column. Maybe this decline could be related to the stricter enforcement of the speed limit.

Unfortunately, no figures were obtained prior to the 55 limit.

Although most wildlife road kills are unavoidable, some precautions can be taken. Be particularly alert when driving the sunrise and sunset hours and at night as these are usually the active times for all wildlife species. Also, pay attention to road signs indicating deer areas, or other wildlife usage areas and hazards.

A variety of wildlife species take advantage of the green vegetation found along highway edges. If a number of wildlife is being seen, slow down. It also seems ironic to me that just as autos cause the most accident fatalities among humans, they may do so for wildlife, too. Perhaps, country singer Jerry Reed says it best in a verse of one of his songs, "Lord, Mr. Ford what have you done?"

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE OF ADOPTION OF ORDINANCE
The Board of Trustees of the Village of Ruidoso Downs, New Mexico, hereby gives notice of the adoption of its Ordinance No. 80-4 dated July 1, 1980, the title and a general summary of the subject matter being as follows:

AN ORDINANCE AUTHORIZING AND EMPOWERING THE ISSUANCE OF GENERAL OBLIGATION, NEGOTIABLE, COUPON, INTEREST BEARING BONDS OF THE VILLAGE OF RUIDOSO DOWNS, NEW MEXICO, FOR ACQUIRING AND CONSTRUCTING A SANITARY SEWER SYSTEM, PRESCRIBING THE FORM OF AND OTHER PROVISIONS CONCERNING SAID BONDS; PROVIDING FOR THE EXECUTION THEREOF; PROVIDING FOR THE LEVY AND COLLECTION OF GENERAL AD VALOREM TAXES FOR THE PAYING OF THE PRINCIPAL OF SAID BONDS AND THE INTEREST THEREON; PRESCRIBING OTHER DETAILS IN CONNECTION WITH SAID BONDS AND TAXES; RATIFYING ACTION TAKEN TOWARD ACCOMPLISHING SAID PURPOSES AND ISSUING SAID BONDS THEREFOR.

The aforesaid recite, among other matters that at a special election held in the Village of Ruidoso Downs, New Mexico, on July 18, 1979, the Village has been authorized by the electors to issue general obligation bonds in the total amount of $500,000, the amount of such bonds has heretofore been issued; and recite that after due notice and public bidding on July 1, 1980, the Village accepted the best bid for its General Obligation Sewer Bonds, Series July 1, 1980, in the amount of $500,000, which was submitted by Beutcher & Company of Denver, Colorado, which is for par, accrued interest and a premium of $1.00; and recite that such Ordinance ratifies, approves and confirms the purchase of the bonds selected by the Village on July 1, 1980.

Section 1 ratifies, approves and confirms the prior action of the Board of Trustees and the officers of the Village in connection with the bonds including their acceptance of the proposals for the purchase of the bonds.

Section 2 authorizes the issuance of the general obligation bonds and details in connection therewith including among others, that the bonds shall be dated July 1, 1980, and shall be payable January 1, 1981 and semiannually thereafter on July 1 and January 1 in each year, and mature serially on July 1 in the years designated below and payable at the Ruidoso State Bank, Ruidoso, New Mexico. The bonds in the amount of $300,000 are to be issued for the purpose of acquiring and constructing a sanitary sewer system for the Village, and shall bear interest at varying per annum rates of 8.00%, and mature serially on July 1 at follows: $15,000 in 1981 through 1984, inclusive; $20,000 in 1985 through 1988, inclusive; $25,000 in 1989 through 1990, inclusive; $30,000 in 1991; $40,000 in 1992 through 1993, inclusive; $45,000 in 1994 through 1995, inclusive; and $30,000 in 1996.

Sections 3 through 6 prescribe the method of and detail concerning execution of the bonds and coupons, provide that the bonds shall be fully negotiable and shall constitute the general obligations of the Village, to the payment of which the full faith and credit of the Village is pledged, and prescribe bonds, coupon and legal opinion certificate forms.

Sections 7 through 12 provide for delivery of the bonds and application of the proceeds (including provision for separate bank accounts); provide for sources of payment of principal and interest on the bonds, including the annual levy and collection of taxes, the general fund and other available funds; impose upon the Board of Trustees the duty to effectuate the provisions of the ordinance with reference to the levy, collection and application of such taxes; provide that bond proceeds may be invested (but providing that such proceeds shall not be invested so as to result in any obligations of the Village becoming arbitrage bonds or losing federal tax exemption) and authorize and direct the officers of the Village to take all actions necessary or appropriate to effectuate the provisions of the ordinance.

Section 13 makes the ordinance irrevocable until the principal of and interest on the bonds shall have been duly paid, satisfied and discharged.

Sections 14 and 15 are a repealer clause and a severability clause, respectively.

Sections 16 and 17 provide for execution and the effective date of the ordinance, and provide for this publication.

COPIES OF THIS ORDINANCE ARE ON FILE IN THE OFFICE OF THE VILLAGE CLERK AT THE MUNICIPAL BUILDING, HIGHWAY 70, RUIDOSO DOWNS, NEW MEXICO, AND ARE AVAILABLE FOR INSPECTION DURING REGULAR OFFICE HOURS. THIS NOTICE ALSO CONSTITUTES COMPLIANCE WITH THE REQUIREMENTS OF 44 CFR 101.118.

WITNESS my hand and the seal of the Village of Ruidoso Downs, New Mexico, this 21st day of July, 1980.

CAMELOT MOUNTAIN RUIDOSO

PROGRESS REPORT ON "THE MOUNTAIN"

For some time now, Ruidosans have known of the construction of a thousand acre, planned development called "Camelot Mountain." Situated within Village limits, the vast area of 7400' Dude Mesa is bounded by Hwy. 37 on the north and Hwy. 70 on the south and east. From the wooded mesa atop "THE MOUNTAIN" is a view of the Lake at the Inn of the Mountain Gods, Sierra Blanca, and the village of Ruidoso. This panorama is like nothing you have ever seen in Ruidoso.

Completion of the extensive utilities project and road paving is now scheduled for the end of October. Travel on "THE MOUNTAIN" could be hazardous, and we ask your cooperation in checking with the Camelot Mountain Office behind the Theater any day of the week. We invite those who are interested in the condominiums under construction, single-family homes, restricted lots, R-2 and C-1 acreage tracts to stop by for additional information.

GET THIS YEAR'S LINDAL
AT LAST YEAR'S PRICE.

If you've been waiting and waiting for the new home market to take a turn counter to inflation, bless your patience. Because if you buy a custom design or any one of the 60 different Lindal Cedar Homes before July 31, you can pick it up for the exact same price we offered in Spring of 1979. In addition to our price roll back, we're offering 50% off on all energy saving options. Which, if you're counting dollars, could add up to a savings of $5,000. Our only other requirement in this offer is that you take delivery on your new 1980 Lindal before September 15. That's it. With inflation, there won't be a better time to move than right now.

The Silver Lining
BY DANIEL AGNEW STORM

Sportsmanship World-Wide
Back through our history our presidents have left us sayings to remember them by. George Washington left us many messages including, "In God We Trust." Abraham Lincoln said, "With malice toward none and charity for all." And "This nation under God." Harry Truman said, "The buck stops here."

This nation and the world will remember the words of Franklin D. Roosevelt: "We have nothing to fear but fear itself." John Kennedy struck a responsive chord in us when he said: "Think not what your country can do for you; think what you can do for your country."

The last few days I am thinking of one of our greatest and most beloved presidents, Theodore Roosevelt, affectionately known as "Teddy."

Teddy Roosevelt is widely remembered for saying: "Walk softly and carry a big stick."

However, especially lately, I have been remembering something else he said: "This world will not be a very good place for any of us until it is a pretty good place for all of us."

The Olympic Games
As I write you this message, Tuesday, July 23, the Olympic games are going on in Moscow.

From earliest times the Olympic games have been a great force for world-wide understanding, and therefore world brotherhood. You cannot take part in a hard and clearly fought contest without forming a bond of respect and admiration for the other contestants. Athletes of the Olympic year by year had grown to cherish their common humanity — to realize we are all inhabitants of this earth with much the same joys and sorrows, the same despair and hopes, the same desire for a better world.

The Russians are good people; they are folks like us. The Russian athletes are fine athletes, good physical specimens and determined competitors.

However in the breath and spirit of all athletics the Russian athletes were not as experienced as they might be. I remember watching on TV the Olympics of several years back. A remarkable Russian distance runner had won a race. Instead of quietly walking off the track and putting on his sweat clothes, he went prancing and gesturing all around the track, waving and gesturing to the crowd. Yes, the Russian athletes had a lot to learn about sportsmanship.

But the important thing is that through the years they were learning.

The Golden Opportunity
The Russians had a great opportunity, perhaps one of the most golden in their history. This could have been the greatest Olympics of all time. The opportunity to advance human understanding, through the magic of sportsmanship, was almost unimaginable.

And yet by breaking the rules of world-wide sportsmanship, the Russian leaders turned their back upon this golden opportunity, hurting themselves more than anyone. There was no alternative for our country other than to stay away from the games.

The Russian leaders know better than anyone else that a dark and dismal cloud hovers over the Olympic games in Moscow.

The silver lining in this cloud is that the Russian leaders may have learned a lesson.

Let us look forward now to the Olympics of 1964 in Los Angeles where we will have a chance to give athletic sportsmanship a "new birth of freedom."

Let us more than ever hold fast to our hearts the cherished ideal sportsmanship, on the athletic field and in our daily lives. And let us carry forward the great goal of world-wide sportsmanship, and make Teddy Roosevelt up in Heaven happy by making this world not only "a pretty good place for all of us" but what it should and must be: a great and blessed place for us all.

SANTA FE—A classic dilemma: Should a state keep one of its facilities operating because it makes jobs in its community, or shut it down when it no longer fills a discernible need?

Right now the question applies to Carrie Tingley Hospital in Truth or Consequences, which has always had a couple of other dilemmas built into its mode of existence.

First of all, it was founded when the nation had a President stricken with polio, which the whole country was mobilized to fight in every way possible. (If you think the March of Dimes is something new, you should have seen it when Eddie Cantor ran it.) Science has pretty well beaten that disease, for which we should all be thankful—but that left the state with a much less useful hospital on its hands.

Besides, that hospital was in a town originally called Hot Springs, where it was spared many of the temptations of the great outside world.

To hospital administrators, that meant it didn't get unlicensed, so nobody was likely to strike for higher wages, as they might at most other hospitals in the state's system. But eventually it also meant we couldn't find a ranking member of the medical profession to live there and head its staff.

Orthopedic physicians, after all, (with their wives) can pick and choose where they like to live and flourish, and literally none show any desire to reside in T or C. (No offense to that fine small community; we are not making personal judgments, but only relating the facts.) "Call me back if you ever move to Albuquerque," is what those of sufficient medical sophistication to run the place say, "and I'd like to be considered."

So plans seem to be developing in that direction—which will hurt Sierra county in its pocketbook and cause many to cry out that the Big City is hogging things again.

But the Legislature is faced with this question: What else is there to do?

One day last week the hospital had more than a hundred employees and not a single resident patient—hardly a justifiable position for a facility being operated with the people's money.

Oh, they're having one of those famous studies made, of the kind all state agencies apparently love so much. But you can be reasonably certain, even before the results are in, that it will recommend the construction of a minimum facility in connection with a major hospital somewhere in the state, so the two can share kitchens and purchasing power and things of that kind. Further, you can almost be sure that when all the studies are done, the new Carrie Tingley will be a permanent part of the University of New Mexico-Bernalillo County Medical Center.

That's what will make the best sense, so even if some are offended, it's the way the state should go. Chairman John Mershon of the Legislative Finance Committee implied that most strongly when questioning the administrator of the hospital last week.

So you can expect the Department of Health and Environment to come before the 1881 Legislature to ask for money to build a new Carrie Tingley, while the Department of Commerce and Industry tries to find a buyer or renter for the present facility, preferably one who will also produce some good paying jobs for Truth or Consequences.

Maybe we'll even have a happy ending here.

Letters to the Editor

Dear editor:

This letter will be a great shock to some people.

In January 1979 when I retired from the Chamber of Commerce there was an "appreciation fund" set up in my honor at the Security Bank, also $100 a month for 12 months retirement pay. These funds I never used until recently.

I am very grateful to Al & Esther Junge, Joan Bailey, Ed Jungbluth executive director of the Chamber of Commerce, for working so hard on this "Appreciation Fund."

This June 4 thru June 18, I made a European trip. I traveled 2,128 miles on a tour through Germany, Austria, and Switzerland. I also attended the "Passion Play" in Oberammergau, Germany.

I will never be sorry I waited so long to choose to use this fund or write this letter because this trip was a wonderful and most enjoyable experience.

My deep appreciation and many thanks to Al & Esther Junge, Joan Bailey, Ed Jungbluth and everyone who so graciously contributed to this fund and made this European trip possible.

reasoned with and appeased is the merest moonshine; its light is romantic and transient and gives no warmth. To permit an invasion of sovereign American soil and its occupation by foreign militants and to retaliate by calling the aggressor names is degrading. But when the names are really not even very deprecatory and are only whispered it becomes more than I can bear.

It is vital to our continued credibility and even our existence that we deliver an ultimatum to the Iranian Government and the Ayatollah Khomeini couched in such language that they must understand to LET MY PEOPLE GO! or face utter annihilation!

There has been a blatant, intentional act of war. Let us act accordingly or drag forth the Americans responsible for the failure to act and try them for TREASON!

PROBLEMS AT PEN

The state legislature and state officials from Gov. Bruce King on down apparently learned little from the violence that racked the state penitentiary in February.

While the state admittedly faces problems in rebuilding the facility, there are no indications at all that the policies involved in running the penitentiary have changed or that the internal problems that haunted the facility before have been eliminated.

Attorney General Jeff Bingaman's recently released report on "The Penitentiary, The Riot and The Aftermath" is well done and shows the amount of work he and his staff have put into the problems. The second report, due by the end of this year, will have the Ag's conclusions and recommendations concerning the penitentiary.

From all indications, that report will have some good advice for state officials on how to run a good penitentiary. To avoid future penitentiary problems, the state had better start listening to some of these people. — The Rio Grande Sun, Espanola

JORDAN IS NEEDED

It remains unclear whether Vernon Jordan was the victim of an impulsive crime or a planned attempt on his life, whether it involved one assailant or more than one, and whether the attack was linked to Jordan's prominence as a national director of the Urban League and a spokesman for black Americans.

The possibility that the shooting may have federal dimensions justified the entry of the FBI into the case. The parallel investigations by federal and Fort Wayne authorities should assure that the utmost is being done to clarify the circumstances of the crime and bring those responsible to justice.

It will open an old wound on the national conscience if this was an assassination attempt motivated by Jordan's role as a civil rights leader. Americans would like to believe that racially motivated violence like that which brought down Martin Luther King in 1968 belongs to the past.

Officials of the Urban League and other black leaders around the country have been cautious and responsible in their reaction to a most distressing turn of events. So have residents of black communities where Jordan has come to symbolize the aspirations which the Urban League is striving to fulfill.

Jordan is the very antithesis of the kind of blind and irrational racism that an attack on his life suggests. He has been among the healers and peacemakers in the effort to keep whites and blacks working together to eliminate racism in our society. The good news from Fort Wayne is that he stands a good chance of recovery. He is needed.

editorial

The annual Ruidoso Art Festival, featuring more than 100 artists, displaying in 96 booths, opens Friday at 5 p.m. in the high school parking lot.

If the weather is favorable, it will be an outstanding festival. If the weather is inclement, being the displays are under canvas, it will be an outstanding festival.

This is the ninth consecutive year the Chamber of Commerce has sponsored the Art Festival. From its humble beginning, when perhaps less than professional artists displayed their wares, this Festival has grown to the point where each artist is highly regarded by other artists.

This accomplishment of selectivity speaks well for those Chamber members charged with the awesome task of awarding booth space to but 96 artists. Countless aspiring artists were turned away because their work did not meet the strict criteria of excellence that the Chamber committee insists upon.

The goal of the Chamber is to make the Ruidoso Art Festival one of the finest in the Southwest. This is the year that they have met that goal in that every artist and artisan has successfully shown elsewhere on previous occasions — and submitted proof of these successes prior to being accepted by the Chamber.

We congratulate the Chamber, and the Art Festival committee, for bringing to Ruidoso an outstanding group of artists, secure in the knowledge that they will have to apologize to no one for the quality of work that will be on exhibit.

At the rate this production is growing, within a few years Ruidoso might become known as the "Home of the World's Richest Art Festival." — CD

I PICKED A WINNER

Me'n several thousand fans at Ruidoso Downs Race Track Sunday shrewdly picked Mighty Deck Three to win the Rainbow Futurity.

As to my systematically picking the winner out of the ten racing horses ... it wasn't easy ... being's I didn't consult The Form ... the tip sheets ... or listen to those in the know who knew Mighty Deck Three would win ... 'cause he's a real fast running horse.

Further ... I wasn't hampered nuff by the tote board odds ... 'cause I was paid off at nine-to-one ... which ain't bad at all ... at least for a fellow which don't know a quarter horse from a thoroughbred ... by looking.

It happened this way ... my picking the winner ... there was this office pool ... see ... and I picked No. 4 outta the hat ... when there were but three numbers left ... and my gambling instinct told me that picking one winner out of three numbers was good odds ... especially, after the picking was over ... those ar had picked the other numbers told me I'd picked the winner ... and, by jinkies, good ol' boy Mighty Deck Three didn't even have to exert himself none at all to win that race ... that let me win at odds of 9-to-1 ... go ahead you $2 winning ticket holders ... eat your hearts out.

ON DEMING'S DUCK RACE

Nope ... I wasn't foolin' you none ... there's duck racing at Deming ... beginning August 24 ... at 1 p.m., ... in Court House Park ... without anyone worrying if some of the semi-permanent guests of the county will be able to file suit that the goings on had them all going quackers.

So ... get that speedy duck practicing ... the course is 18 feet ... and you can whoop and holler and bellow and stomp atop the runway all you want ... to urge your dashing duck to greater speed ... but you don't touch ... 'cause that's automatic disqualification ... and with $1,000 up for grabs as prize money ... you can tell this is a real McCoy duck race ... even if it hasn't as yet been sanctioned by Ducks Unlimited.

As to why the race ain't being held on Labor Day ... the explanation given by Harold Couland ... assistant publisher/ editor of the Deming Headlight ... "We didn't want the World's Richest Duck Race keeping thousands of fans away from Ruidoso and the World's Richest Horse Race."

PLENTY OF WATER

'Tother day ... more or less by accident ... whilst quaffing a cooling glass of ice tea ... after the heat of the day dictated such a libation ... as the cool of the evening was approaching ... perchance I shared a few moments of stimulating conversation with Shaky Pete ... which always makes my day.

This time ... however ... when a refill was in order ... I was a mite flabbergasted when Shaky didn't outfumble me ... which immediately aroused my suspicion ... a suspicion allayed only by the absolute fact that a glass of ice tea is always delicious ... no matter who buys.

After the third sip of the second ice tea, Shaky up and done hit me with his plan to "make a whole bunch outta this water shortage," which is plaguing Harmony Valley. What Shaky's up to ... see ... is to get an exclusive franchise on bottled spring water ... to serve Harmony Valley ... 'cause he don't want no one dying of thirst 'cause there ain't no fountains for ice tea. I congratulated Shaky on his foresight ... and promised I'd not mention his next enterprise to a soul ... after he promised me he'd get my spring water for me wholesale ... and I'll drink an ice tea to that.

ON DETROIT'S CAR WOES

In no way can I shed too many tears over the problems Detroit's car magnates is having ... 'cause it was them as disdained to read the hand writing on the wall ... some years back ... as the American public was bound and determined to drive smaller cars ... not to save gas money ... at that time ... but because John Q. Public could buy a foreign car ... with all the amenities of Detroit's luxury models ... and save a bundle.

So now ... being's they realize the American auto buyer's out to save a nickle ... they're hollering for Uncle Sam to control imports of foreign cars ... whilst they frantically try to tool up to catch up to the foreigners ... and make cars that people'll buy ... and making sounds like it'd be really the thing to do ... as they did before ... to "Buy American." Which we'll probably do ... as soon as the American product is just as good ... no?

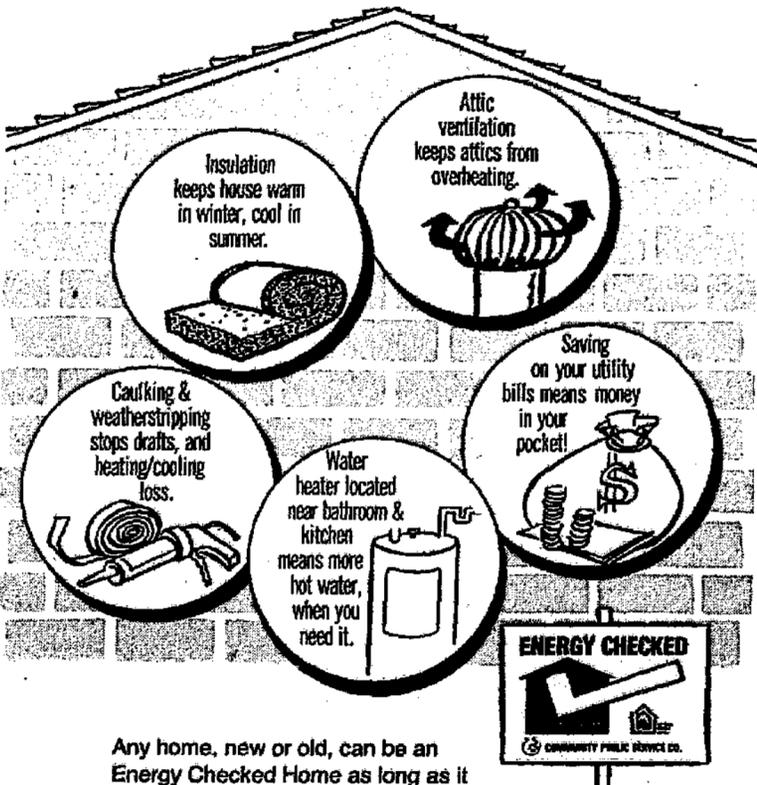

BRIEF BIT: Do conserve water ... if for no other reason than the thought of having to settle for dehydrated ice tea is most nauseating ... CD

How Mighty Deck Three won the Rainbow Futurity

MIGHTY DECK THREE began moving to the front, with Six Fols apparently matching him stride for stride.

TINY GAY BUG eased ahead of Six Fols, as Clever Bug and Heza Bunny were running hard, neck and neck.

THERE WAS NO LONGER any doubt that the winner of the Rainbow Futurity was to be speedster Mighty Deck Three.

JET VIEW RESPONDED to urging by jockey Roy Brooks to pick up the pace with nothing but open space ahead.

SINNFUL SOUL SEEMED to be moving up on Tiny Gay Bug as jockey Darrell Blevins applied some encouragement.

CLEVER BUG STARTED pulling even with Jet View, as Mighty Deck Three maintained his comfortable lead.

JOCKEY JERRY BURGESS took a quick peek at the field at Mighty Deck Three seemingly playfully flicked his tail.

SIX FOLS WAS MAKING a race of it for second, running even with Tiny Gay Bug, Jet View and Clever Bug.

TAKING THE VICTORY was Mighty Deck Three, with Clever Bug second, Jet View third and Tiny Gay Bug fourth.

Con artist operating

Ernest Montano is a man of many names, faces and places.

To simply say that the 42-year-old Montano is one of the most wanted men in New Mexico really doesn't do this slick con man justice.

Suffice to say that if your community hasn't been bilked by one of Montano's bad checks or con scams, don't worry because odds are that he'll be along any day now.

Montano is wanted on a variety of criminal charges in cities as big as Albuquerque and as small as Melrose and from Raton to Clovis.

This week the State Crime Stoppers Commission and the Tucumcari Crime Stoppers Program are offering up to $1,000 for information leading to the capture of Montano.

Montano is described as a white male, 5-8, 170 pounds, with brown eyes and brown hair. And he has unbelievable gull.

Take for example his latest scam. This one happened a couple of weeks ago in Melrose. Using the alias John Lewis Gordez, Montano walked into a general store in Melrose, said he was a close personal friend of one of the town's ministers and proceeded to write more than $400 in bad checks.

Just a day earlier, he bilked a Clovis automobile dealer out of 1978 Pontiac Grand Prix. Montano identified himself as a Texas preacher and wrote a phony bank draft for several thousand dollars from the Citizens State Bank in Springer. Problem was, there is no Citizens State Bank in Springer. The Grand Prix, white with a red interior and bearing temporary license A-260028, still is missing.

Not that the Clovis car dealer or the Melrose merchant should feel too badly about being suckered into a phony deal. Two merchants in Tucumcari also were bilked out of several thousand dollars by a man believed to be Montano.

Worley Mills reported that a man matching Montano's description got to them for $200 in cash June 14. The owner of the business, Vic Worley, said a man who stated he was soliciting prizes for the "Trail Blazers 4-H Club" wrote a bad check for $200 and some merchandise. The bad check was a counter check issued by the First National Bank of Las Vegas and was returned to the victim marked "No Account."

The same day the Crossroads Western Wear Store in Tucumcari was victimized for $110 in bad checks from the same man, who used the alias David Lowell of Taos. Lowell seemed to match the description of John Lewis Gordez and Ernest Montano.

Police are sure it was the same man. The same scam was used on the Western Wear Store—the offender identifying himself as representing the "Trail Blazers 4-H Club of Roy."

The checks were written on the Western Bank of Roy. When Tucumcari law enforcement officials contacted an officer of Western Bank in Roy he told them that more than $9,000 in bad checks had been written by a man allegedly representing the Trail Blazers 4-H Club.

This week the State Crime Stoppers Commission would like to blaze a trail for Montano—right to jail. Anyone having any information about his current whereabouts is asked to call the Commission at its toll-free number, 1-800-432-6933.

Or citizens with knowledge about Montano's location can call the Las Vegas Crime Stoppers Program at 425-8284; Tucumcari Crime Stoppers at 461-3507; Raton Crime Stoppers at 445-8222; or Springer Crime Stoppers at 463-2404. In all cases, callers will be eligible for the $1,000 reward and are not required to identify themselves.

The State Crime Stoppers Commission and the 34 local Crime Stoppers programs in New Mexico also offer cash rewards for information leading to the solution of other major crimes.

Walter Rawley's faith reflected in artistic endeavors

Walter Rawley, a sculptor working primarily in wood and bronze, operates Crucis Art Bronze Foundry at his home on Sudderth Drive in Ruidoso, where he casts his own work and the work of a few other artists, all close friends.

Recently, he began doing bronze castings of pine cones, most of which he picks up in his yard, and in that regard, he likes to joke about "working with the best artist—God."

But Rawley's faith—and its reflection in his work—is no joke. Involvement in the church was what led to his involvement in the arts, which in turn provided the impetus for the move from the "high-pressure" world of general contracting in Dallas, Texas, into the growing arts community of Ruidoso.

Rawley had "used tools" all his life, but never pursued artistic endeavors until the early 1960's. The Rawleys were members of a "little suburban Episcopal church" and he volunteered to help the priest with some decorative carvings for the church interior, mostly "variations of the cross form."

He was sincerely surprised at this first evidence of his talent.

"When I picked up that first piece of wood, I was amazed at what came out. It was as if I had nothing to do with," the final creation, he said.

In 1968, when a new church—"which we could barely afford to build,"—was under construction, Rawley's talents were in demand again. He and the priest designed a 17-foot Celtic cross for the church, and the artist figured out how to make it simulate carved stone.

The following year, a Methodist church commissioned him to do another large cross. Other churches followed suit. Rawley now gets several calls a year, requesting crosses in various materials. It is the church crosses for which he is most widely known—and that's the way he wants it.

His crosses now adorn a number of churches, including a Lutheran church in Plano, Texas, and a Catholic church in New Orleans, Louisiana. He created processional crosses for St. Clements in El Paso, Texas, and has been requested to design another for their garden area. Another design—for the planned St. Francis on the Hill church, also in El Paso—is "on hold," until construction begins.

In Ruidoso, Rawley's work may be seen in crosses at the Episcopal Church of the Holy Mount (where he also carved the church signs), at the First Christian Church and the all-faiths chapel at Ruidoso-Hondo Valley Hospital.

In addition to his religious faith, there are a number of factors involved in making crosses which keep his imagination stimulated.

"The design is the most important part" of the total creative process, Rawley said. In every cross, his primary goal is to make sure the design is related to both the architecture of the building and the denominational traditions or disciplines. "If such a balance is not achieved, you've done more harm than good," he said.

Working as a general contractor had given Rawley "some conception of the correlation of the style of a piece with the architecture," he said, and he applied that knowledge to his newfound interest. Research into the basic doctrines and practices of a particular church is usually required.

The use of varied materials is also challenging. He has done numerous studies of the "geometric stylization of the cruciform," and "there seems to be no end," to the possible variations in style and form, he said. In addition to the large crosses, he has also used cross designs in silver and gold jewelry and other small decorative pieces.

The fashioning of the large cross for the New Orleans church was particularly interesting because of the historical significance of the wood beams. They had been part of a plantation which had stood in ruin for 200 years.

The beams themselves revealed "hundreds of rings," indicating the antiquity of the tree used for the beams, which were undoubtedly cut with slave labor, he said. Converting the wood to "an altogether new function" was especially satisfying to Rawley.

The historical significance of the cross form has also "struck home" as he works. While making the 17-foot cross for the Dallas Methodist church, he was surprised to find himself thinking, "this is big enough to put a man on."

In between the commissions for crosses, he finds that his foundry operation is also "a more palatable or interesting way to make a living than being a contractor."

He became interested in the bronze casting process because he felt it might be a faster way of producing his works than wood carving—a misconception, he now admits. The Rawleys moved to Ruidoso in 1973, after "we got all the kids through school."

Rawley became friendly with local sculptor Tom Knapp, and ran Knapp's foundry for three years before venturing into his own business. A gallery and gift shop on the same premises is the outlet for his work, and that of other artists.

The casting of bronze works involves making a number of molds and a ceramic investment, from which the finished bronze is formed. At that point, the piece is "half completed," he said, since someone, "preferably the artist," must hand finish the piece by "redetailing" and "controlled corrosion of the surface to achieve the color or patina."

The Rawleys frequently make an "open house informal party" of the bronze pouring stage of his work, at which friends pitch in with the work and other interested persons may observe the process.

Rawley likes doing business "on a personal basis," he said. "Artists like to be in close touch with the work being produced." Since he performs most of the foundry work himself, "with just a little part-time help," he is able to eliminate the problems involved in the "chain of command" present in larger operations.

"Since I'm limited in the amount of work I can do," he said, "I can limit the business to a few pretty nice people." And of those people, Rawley said, "I either like them or their work—sometimes I don't know which."

In Ruidoso, Rawley seems to have found a setting in which to pursue his art in just the manner he finds most satisfactory.

"I don't want a big factory-type operation," he said. "After Dallas, I've had all the big organization and impersonal business I can stand."

WALTER RAWLEY of Ruidoso is best known for crosses, many of which may be found in churches in Texas and Ruidoso.

Photos and text by Gwyneth Jones

AFTER CASTING the works of other artists for several years, Rawley tried his hand at sculpture. The bronze bear above is one example of the results.

BRONZED pine cones

GEOMETRIC STUDIES, using the cross form, comprise the majority of Rawley's works.

THE CROSS FORM has also found its way into Rawley's silver and gold jewelry.

SMOOTHING THE SURFACE of his sculpture of a ram's head, Rawley uses a grinding tool. The patina of bronze is achieved through "controlled corrosion" of the surface.

"When I picked up that first piece of wood, I was amazed at what came out. It was as if I had nothing to do with it."

YOUR ENTERTAINMENT AND DINING GUIDE

Jockey/Trainer of the week

BY MIKE MAGDA
Joe Martinez won six races to claim Jockey of the Week honors and move into the overall lead in the standings. The young pilot won two races Thursday and two Saturday to go along with solo victories Friday and Sunday in wrapping up the title.

Driskill and James McArthur but gained the title with a better show record. It was the third Jockey of the Week title for Martinez this summer. He has consistently been in the top 10 and reached the number one spot once earlier in the summer.

Martinez now has 35 victories on the season, two more than Richard Bickel who had lead for seven of the last eight weeks. The only time Bickel was in second was when Martinez noosed ahead for one week. Martinez had one more win over the weekend than Wayne Buehrer, who has 11 wins in the last 10 race days. In the beginning of the meeting, Buehrer had only two victories in the first 31 race days.

BY MIKE MAGDA

BOLD EGO WAS EXPECTED to be shipped back to Ruidoso Sunday night following his third place finish in the $158,650 Hollywood Park Juvenile Championship Saturday. Owned by the Double B Ranch of Anthony, Bold Ego had the lead for all but the final 1/16th mile of the six furlong sprint for two-year-olds. In the stretch he was passed by Loma Malad, who won by two lengths over Motivty. Bold Ego was one-half length back as an 8-1 pick. He returned $5.40 to show. Bold Ego's splits were 21 2/5, 44 2/5 and 57 1/5. The winning time for Loma Malad was 1:10. John Cushing was aboard the Clifford Lambert trained colt, who is eligible to enter the Ruidoso Thoroughbred Futurity trials next month.

BABY HOLD ON, a $46,000 All-American Sale purchase in 1979, finished second in the $820,000 Skool Dash For Cash Futurity at Los Alamitos over the weekend. Ettago Chickie was the winner and now has collected over $500,000 in her career. Baby Hold On was ridden by local rider Willie Lovell. Jerry Nicodemus was also out in California and rode My Kids Trouble, the Sun Country Futurity third-place finisher, to a fifth place. Both will be traveling back to New Mexico to compete in the All-American Futurity trials.

RUIDOSO'S HIGH-FLYING mutual pace continues on course toward a record season. After 41 race days, the total handle stands at $18,074,078 for a daily average of $440,831. Last year at this time, the total (in 43 race days) was $18,209,844, the daily average was $423,485 and the pre-race average was $31,947. The current daily average is up 4.09 percent and the current pre-race average is ahead a stunning 8.38 percent.

WASHITA TED SET the fastest qualifying time for the $146,094 World's Championship Quarter Horse Classic in trials held Friday. The bay colt, who was purchased for $8,000 in the 1978 All-American Sale, covered the 440 yards in 22.29 seconds while winning his trial heat. Trainer Hugh L. Tucker qualified two to the finale, which will be run July 27. Tucker is also a part-owner in both horses, Oh Shiny and Acceptable.

HERE IS A LIST of the qualifiers: Washita Ted, 22.29; Chicks Charger Bar, 22.30; Streakin Six, 22.40; Alamitos Feature, 22.43; Dickey's Fireman, 22.46; My Old Gal Nancy, 22.47; Oh Shiny, 22.49; Kenys Sam, 22.50; Salutations, 22.52; and Acceptable, 22.52.

STREAKIN SIX and Dickey's Fireman were standout stars from last summer. Streakin Six won the Rainbow Futurity and placed second in the All-American Futurity. He recently took third in the Kansas Derby. After winning the All-American Derby last summer, Dickey's Fireman traveled to the West Coast where he was winless in eight starts. He won his trial heat at just under 3-1 odds to return to his regular form. Alamitos Feature is a three time stakes winner at La Mesa this summer. Acceptable recently won the Top Deck Stakes at Ruidoso.

HAPPY IRISHMAN and his younger half sister were winners over the weekend. Happy Irishman has now earned over $71,000 in his career. Happy Irishman is by Dancing Dervish out of the Nantallah mare, Irish Note. Irish Eyes, a bay filly by Alrude, broke her maiden Thursday in the first race with Joe Martinez up. Both are owned by Carlos E. Alexander of Lovington, and trained by Cecil Crabtree. Irish Eyes has the potential of her older brother as she placed third in the Futurity Prep Stakes earlier in the summer.

SCOUT N ROON, a colt sold for $67,000 in the 1979 All-American Sale, made his first start Thursday and won by a half length at just over even money. Scout N Roon, by Scout Leader out of Je Roon, is a full brother to $113,000 winner, Madam President. Jack Wallace was aboard the R. D. Hay trained two-year-old. He is owned by R. C. and Suzanne N. Jones of Tatum.

THE SEASON IS STILL without an official deadheat for win but it was hard to separate the runners over the weekend. There were three deadheats for second, including two Saturday. The first happened in the sixth race Thursday when Mark O The Moon and Go To The Bank hit the wire at the same time. In Saturday's first race, Penny A Card and Tyers Deal were on the wire together while Public Affair and Dot Dot Dot Dash were locked together in the eighth race. There have now been five deadheats for second. The only deadheat for first was nullified when one of the horses was disqualified for interference.

NICKEY WILSON made his first appearance back on the track after sitting out three weeks due to a spill. Wilson rode Mr Straw Bug to the winner's circle Saturday, then piloted Clever Bug to a second in the Rainbow Futurity. Wilson was in a spill in the first round of the Rainbow trials when his mount, Duchess Bug, hit the rail and flipped over, throwing Wilson to the ground.

MIGHTY DECK THREE set a seasonal record time of 19.94 seconds over 400 yards in winning the Rainbow Futurity Sunday. The old record was 20.02 seconds set by Jaimie Jay when she won the Kansas Derby.

SETS FAST PACE—Joe Martinez bagged six winners over the weekend to grab the Jockey-of-the-Week crown at Ruidoso Downs.

AFTER 41 RACE DAYS and 522 races the current handle at Ruidoso Downs is $18,074,078; daily wagering average $440,831 and wagering per race $34,625. Last year after 43 race days and 570 races, the handle was $18,209,844, daily wagering average $423,485 and wagering per race $31,947. The current daily average is up 4.09 percent and the wagering per race up 8.38 percent over 1979.

YOUR ENTERTAINMENT AND DINING GUIDE

TRASH HEAPS like this are cropping up all over Ruidoso, on privately owned land and in ditches. Village officials announced last week they plan to press charges against anyone dumping anything on the piles, and will assess fines up to $300, plus a possible jail sentence.

Bill Thomas — a man on the go

BY MIKE MAGDA

Bill Thomas sums it best when he says, "It doesn't cost anything to say hello."

Over the past 21 years, Thomas has said "hello" to thousands of patrons visiting Ruidoso Downs and Sunland Park. His big, wide smile is as familiar at the two southern New Mexico race tracks as the racing itself. His duties are numerous, but Thomas enjoys his work simply because of the people he is involved with.

"I enjoy working with people here," said Thomas, who hails from Alliquippa, Pennsylvania. "I've met some of the finest people from all over the country and even from Australia and Mexico. There's nothing else I would rather do."

Thomas' official title is Director of Public Relations. His duties include winner's circle presentations, accommodating VIP guests, helping the press with local reservations, and handling any other chore in which his personality can be utilized.

Thomas grew up with helping the public in mind. His family was in the restaurant business, and Thomas and his brother moved to Artesia in 1946 to run two operations. The warm, clean Southwest air hooked Thomas to New Mexico and after selling his business in 1969, Thomas went to work in the Ruidoso Downs Jockey Club.

Working for Ruidoso Downs in the summer and traveling back to Pennsylvania in the winter became Thomas' routine for the next five years. He was then promoted to assistant general manager of the Jockey Club in 1964, a position he held until 1970.

Along with his promotion in the Jockey Club, Thomas accepted a full time position at Sunland Park as an administrative assistant.

In 1970 Thomas stepped down from his duties at the Jockey Club to work full time for the Ruidoso Downs management.

Over those 21 years, Thomas witnessed the growth of the race track and viewed some of the greatest races and horses. "The most fantastic race I ever saw concerned Jet Deck in a trial race. Coming out of the gates, his jockey, Charlie Smith, couldn't get his foot into the stirrup and just hung on Jet Deck's neck. With Charlie holding on for dear life, Jet Deck just missed winning by inches," Thomas said. "Jet Deck was the greatest horse I've ever seen run here."

Aside from all the great races, Thomas' most memorable moment at the race track came in 1978 when he was asked to play a bit part in the movie, "Casey's Shadow." Thomas played the part of the clerk of scales and checked the weight of the jockeys before the race.

"I had a lot of fun working with all the people involved in the movie. People like Walter Matthau and Alexis Smith," Thomas said. "But it seems I didn't enjoy it as much as the people who knew me and came up to me to talk about it after the movie was showing."

For Thomas, the first 21 years may only be the beginning for him in the racing industry.

"I can say I've seen Ruidoso Downs and Sunland Park grow to what it is now. In the future it will be twice as great as it is now," Thomas said. "I wouldn't know what to do now without racing since it has been part of my life for so many years. And I've enjoyed it all."

BILL THOMAS, Director of Public Relations at Ruidoso Downs and Sunland Park, has been associated with the two race tracks the past 21 years. His credo, which has endeared him to countless thousands of horse racing fans, is: "It doesn't cost anything to say hello."

GEORGE HAILE of Capitan has shown his wooden belt buckles mounted into brass casings at previous shows. He will share a booth with ANN WEINREICH of Albuquerque, who's weavings were available at last year's show. Weinreich shows weavings, tapestry, wall hangings, pillows and some clothing, all constructed on a four-harness floor loom using mohair hand spun naturally dyed fibers.

JOHN TRACY II does realistic watercolors, etchings, and also features etching from realistic landscapes and printed from a copper or zinc plate. Tracy is from Mountain View, Oklahoma, and is returning for the fifth year to the Ruidoso show.

SHARON TAYLOR of Corrales exhibits hand built and wheel thrown pottery. Most work is glazed in high fire lead-free glazes with some smoke-fired using hard woods to achieve colors. She has shown here three previous years and will exhibit functional and non functional pottery.

Originally designed and handcrafted denim wrap skirts and totes will be shown by BETH HUBER of Anson, Texas. She uses her machine to demonstrate and personalize items purchased from her.

BOB HEINAN of Larkspur, Colorado, will show wheel thrown, slab built and hand built pottery. Many of his pieces are hand carved or trimmed with hand decoration. His work is distinctive in that only lead free glazes formulated in his studio are used.

AL POTTER of La Luz, also works in wheel thrown pottery, stoneware and porcelain. Items he'll show include functional and decorative pieces using a wide variety of colors and decorative techniques. He comes to Ruidoso for the first time this year, but has a number of shows on his circuit, including the New Mexico Arts and Crafts Fair, held in Albuquerque.

ANN R. O'NEAL of Lovington makes hand crocheted stuffed toys, dolls, animals, pillows and afghans. She uses only washable non-allergic materials and all can be safely handled by a small child.

J. EDWARD BARKER AND DONNA DUDLEY [BARKER] of Wellington, Kansas, will share a booth featuring stoneware pottery and bronze, clay and welded steel sculptures. The couple have shown in Ruidoso the past two years.

JANE MONIER of Tucson, Arizona, shows scenic watercolors. Her work is included in many private collections throughout the United States, Canada and Mexico.

Originally handcrafted toys will be shown by the fifth year by Ruidoso craftsman PAUL CROWN.

SUSAN HAFEN CARLSON of Santa Fe will show gold and silver jewelry. Her work is made using lost wax casting in 14 karat plumb gold and sterling silver. She will also show fabricated gold and silver earrings.

FRED AND ROSE KNAPP of Fredericksburg, Texas, design and create original hand puppets. All are hand-sewn and have been shown in Ruidoso six years.

Stained glass and leaded glass windows will be shown again this year by RICKY SHERMAN of La Luz. His work ranked in the Top 25 category last year.

Woodcrafts, including burned, carved and decorated wood items will be featured in DAN AND PEG O'LEARY's booth. The couple will sell knife racks, clocks, mirrors, peg racks and shelves.

ROBERT HUTCHINSON of Corrales, showing ceramic sculpture porcelain, stoneware, glazed and painted, will participate in the Ruidoso show for the first time this year. He features figurines with various glazes and many sizes.

BOB COOPER of Santa Fe will show copper and brass metal sculptures based upon Southwestern themes.

Leathercraft work in halters, vests and hair ties will be displayed by MOLLY EVETTS. All items are hand cut, sewn, glued and laced using natural leathers and first quality leathers. Wood beads, bone glass, tile or brass are used to ornament her work.

DONNA BOLAND of Ilfeld, New Mexico, uses horseshoe nails, bent with hand tools and wrapped with electronic wire, to fashion necklaces, earrings and key chains. Her work is hung on adjustable leather straps. The craft is an old one, passed down from person to person, originally from the Gypsies, she said.

SUZY STEWART of Houston, Texas, captures wild animals on canvas with watercolors and ink. Her favorite subjects are wildlife of India and North America.

Wooden items of all kinds will be shown by JACK AND RUTH HARVEY of Albuquerque. Their large and small offerings are turned on a wood lathe, hand sanded and sometimes stained, then rubbed to bring out the beauty of the wood. They'll show everything from a set of canisters to small novelty items.

DON HENSLEY of Brownfield, Texas, will create copper and brass decorative items. His work is custom made, including leaf arrangements suitable for fireplace decorations, but he'll also show cotton plants, maize and sunflower plants, windmills, oil derricks and butterflies, mounted on wood bases.

BEN AND VIOLA CHAVEZ of Albuquerque fashion handtooled leather crafts on latigo cowhide. All patterns are original design and old Indian head nickels are used to design belt buckles.

Classic quilt patterns using patchwork and quilt designs which are collectibles will be shown for the eighth year by LORENA G. MEDINGER of El Paso. Her work displays the methods used in vintage and museum pieces, handquilted on frames or hoops using authentic cottons available today.

Transparent and opaque watercolors will be shown by MICHAEL C. McCULLOUGH of Amarillo, Texas, who returns for his sixth art fair in this village.

GARNETT AND DAVID HUTCHINSON of Corrales offer functional stoneware including mugs, casseroles and pitchers with carved and painted designs. Special works are produced in ochre porcelain, white porcelain and stoneware embellished with carved and sculpted additions.

China painter ERALD L. GROSS of Muleshoe, Texas, returns for the seventh year of the Ruidoso show. Gross' china painted plates, bowls, jewelry and glass lamps are fired up to four times to achieve the desired effect.

Preserved flowers arranged in shadow box framing are the works of EDNA GOODRICH of Albuquerque, who has shown at six previous Ruidoso fairs. Her work is glass encased and arranged on butchered wood with butterflies encased in plexiglass cubes.

ED KRUSE III of Albuquerque features raised bronze and silver hollowware and jewelry using all types of metals including gold, bronze, brass, copper and steel in a number of different ways. Kruse shows buckles, bracelets, pins, earrings, key chains, rings and pitchers and vases.

Authentic brass combination post office doors are used to make post office box banks, the work of JIM BARRY of Austin, Texas. He will show in Ruidoso for the first time this year but has exhibited his unusual work in many Texas arts shows in the past.

PATRICK TRUJILLO has drawn ink caricatures at the Ruidoso show ever since 1972. His work has been accepted at many shows, including the Mardi Gras in New Orleans. Trujillo is from Albuquerque.

JUHREE BASSETT of El Paso will show woodburnings. She is a returning artist.

Hand woven circular Indian mandalas and woven weed pouches are the work of JEANINE TERRY of Tempe, Arizona. She uses all natural fibers to design the wall hangings.

WES SPEIR of Llano, Texas, has participated in every Ruidoso show since 1972. He shows oil paintings and bronze sculptures and has served on the Artist Standards Committee.

MARTHA GOWEN of Cloudcroft is another returning artist, and features wet on wet watercolors and wax and dye batiks. She has been in the Ruidoso show four years.

MARY A. PADILLA of Santa Fe shows brass jewelry and some sterling silver pieces. Her method is to take sheets of brass which is used to cut designs, and all work is polished to finish it. She has shown here three years.

Raggedy Ann and Andy dolls will be made available by SYLVIA HOWARD of El Paso, Texas. Other textiles offered in her booth include stuffed toys, crocheted items, and other hand made ornamental items.

JOHANNA AND WILL DE MAY feature wheel thrown functional pottery in stoneware and porcelain. All items are gas fired with a variety of decorating techniques. They will sell casseroles, lamps, teapots, plates and mugs. The couple are from Albuquerque.

BUD McCAULEY of Amarillo, Texas, is an oil and watercolor painter, who features serious art as well as cowboy cartoons in his work. He showed at Ruidoso for the first time last year.

Scratchboard artist MIKE ALLENDER of Austin, Texas, returns with his original works and some prints. He was named one of the Top 25 artists in the 1979 show and served on the Standards Committee last year.

Welded metal sculpture will be shown by MIKE GOWEN of Cloudcroft. He has shown in four previous shows.

Etchings in copper by GLORIA WOOD of Albuquerque will again be shown in Ruidoso this year, as in 1978. She uses copper laminated to fiberglass, which is etched with acid, sealed with acrylic and baked. She has displayed works at a number of shows in New Mexico, Colorado and Texas.

JAN POTTER is an oil, pastel and watercolor painter who features southwestern scenes and portraits in her works. She also paints animals and has shown here once before.

Indians are the subject for ROBERT PARKER, who shows his originals and limited edition prints of Indian dancers. He also shows sculptures of Indian dancers.

SUZY STEWART and TOM DIECKOW of Houston, Texas, will share a booth displaying pen and ink with watercolors and acrylic on canvas. The couple will show limited edition prints and originals of animals, many of which they have had personal contact with.

DAN STOFFER of Albuquerque shows transparent watercolors of Southwestern landscapes. He has shown at Ruidoso two years and was selected one of the Top 25 artists in the 1979 show.

Copper also plays a major role in the work of CATHERINE BEAN of San Jose, who creates copper foiled stained glass, both flat and three dimensional items. Antique glass is used in the works, which employ the technique once reserved for Tiffany lamps. The method involves wrapping the glass in copper strips and binding the two together with molten solder, allowing for "three-dimensional work and more intricate designs," than the usual leaded stained glass.

AUSTIN L. SPRAY of Austin, Texas, will return to the Ruidoso art festival for the fourth year, showing his welded bronze belt buckles, bracelets, rings and neck pieces. Spray uses a welding torch to create each unique piece. No casting is used, and the artist does most of his own stone cutting of gems which adorn some of the works.

LESLIE AND BECKY ZAUF'S leather creations, familiar to Ruidoso shoppers of The Attic and the Anderson Collection, will be featured at the art festival for the fifth consecutive year. The Zaufs use a variety of materials with the leather and have been designing original patterns for the leatherwork and executing their ideas since the mid-1980's.

Handcrafted wood items will be shown by KENNY PARKER and MARY BURLESON of Capitan. They construct mirrors, breadboards, shaving mirrors, folding stools, and furniture from exotic foreign and domestic woods. They will also show stained glass windows and pressed flower arrangements using German glass with Tiffany joinery.

BILL BLACKFORD AND SUZANNE CLIFTON of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, show indoor and outdoor wall reliefs, fountains and garden sculpture using coloring and patination of brass, bronze, copper and chrome plated steel.

LOIS McLANE of Tucson, Arizona, is a scrimshaw artist, using hand engraved ivory inlaid into hand made wooden boxes and belt buckles. Her booth will also have ivory jewelry, powderhorns and collectors' pieces.

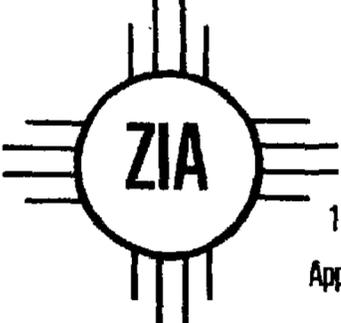

Oil paintings on wood will be shown by BILLIE BILLINGTON of Plainview, Texas. She antiques the wood for a rustic look and paints scenes directly onto the wood. She also shows rub-outs in Hlex frames and oil paintings on aspen wood.

JERRIBUSH is an Albuquerque artist who designs leather wall hangings using chips of turquoise, beads and feathers for traditional accents to her authentic designs. She showed in Ruidoso last year for the first time.

Pen and ink wildlife drawings rendered in full color will be shown by MOLLIE JONES of Flint, Texas. Her work is individually hand tinted, signed and numbered.

MARILY GRUNTMEIR of Santa Fe returns to the Festival with her batiks, made with the wax resist dye process on cotton fabric. Her favorite subjects are nature scenes.

MARY SELFRIDGE of Amarillo, Texas, will show realistic western and wildlife watercolor and oil paintings. She returns for her second Ruidoso show, after being among the Top 25 last year.

High fired, wheel thrown pottery will be shown by KEITH ROSSEAU of Roswell. His functional pottery pieces will include planters, cups, tumblers, vases, bowls and casseroles.

Sculpture in stone, metal and terra cotta, along with high fire stoneware pottery will be shown by BETTY and FRED VANCE of San Antonio, Texas. Although they are newcomers to the Ruidoso festival, their creations have been exhibited in Arizona and Texas, in fairs and gallery shows.

BILL BOGGS of St. David, Arizona, will display woodcrafts, including belt buckles, bolo ties, desk sets and wall ornaments at the Ruidoso festival. He said his works begin with a small block of wood onto which are glued cross sections of different types of tree limbs, bushes and cactus. Some are accented with turquoise chips or nuggets.

JANET PUGH showed her silver jewelry in Ruidoso at the first art festival, and she'll return this year. Veteran festival-goers will remember her for her wire and cast silver jewelry, incorporating antique stones and pieces of antique jewelry in her designs. Pugh is beginning to exhibit her work regionally once again after a residence of five years in Germany, where her work took first and second prizes in a European contest. She is currently living and working in Corrales.

DANNY GAMBLE, of Canyon, Texas, has shown in every Ruidoso fair, and has served on the Artist Standards Committee in the past. His medium is watercolor.

FULLMER and VIRGINIA REED return with their sculptures on old wood. They have shown at Ruidoso six years and their work features plants, animals and birds sculptured by hand directly onto old boards. The three-dimensional effect is achieved through use of a clay-like substance and all figures are painted with acrylic paints.

Batik, framed under glass, will be exhibited by JAN MANSURE of Albuquerque. She uses the traditional batik method of brushing wax onto cotton or silk fabric before dyeing. The familiar "crackle effect," is carefully controlled by Mansure to enhance the picture. Many of her batiks are realistic and stylized South-western motifs.

JENICE AND WALLY KOHLER of Kerrville, Texas, will be showing their mesquite wood lamp bases in Ruidoso for the first time. The Kohlers create the lamp bases by shaping the mesquite logs on a lathe, then sanding, oiling and wiring the bases. The work has been exhibited in a number of shows in California, Arizona and Texas.

KAY WHITAKER'S unique dimensional (repousse) decoupage work, shown in Ruidoso in 1976 and 1977, will be featured again this year. A Roswell-based artist, Whitaker perfected her own technique over the past 12 years, which involves intricate cut-outs which are stretched and filled to obtain a dimensional effect.

From Camp Verde, Arizona, PAUL HAWKINS and SUSAN ZALKIND will be exhibiting functional sculpture in stone and wood. Chosen to be among the top 25 at least year's festival, the couple creates carved, laminated, incised and inlaid bowls, pipes and containers from California alabaster.

LAEL CONNELL of Garland, Texas, is an oil and pastel artist showing paintings reminiscent of the Norman Rockwell days. She will also display Western scenes. Two Alamogordo artists, FRAN Sand paintings on leather mounted in frames are the work of KAY McINTOSH of Albuquerque. Her work will be seen for the first time ever at the Ruidoso Art Festival.

ODELL AND JEANNE GRANT will be making their third consecutive appearance at the festival this year, exhibiting their woodcrafts, which are primarily for the enjoyment of children. The hand made and hand painted items are "durable and reasonably priced," said the Grants. They range from light switch covers and clothes hangers to chairs and rocking horses. The couple lives in Austin, Texas.

KEN PAYTON of Corona will also show pottery — but it will be the wheel thrown variety of stoneware and porcelain. He also participated in the 1979 Ruidoso Art Festival.

KATHY TRAVIS POWERS will return to the Ruidoso Festival with her pastels and charcoal drawings and oil and acrylic paintings. Her works are based on her attendance at Pueblo ceremonials and she also does many still life paintings of Indian pottery. She is a resident of Santa Fe.

One of the top 25 artists at the 1979 show was BOB FELSON of Pecos, Texas, who will again be displaying his hand thrown ceramic stoneware.

JEANETTE M. WINGO, of Alamogordo, uses a palette knife exclusively in her oil paintings, using the Ala Prima technique. Although a newcomer to the Ruidoso festival, she has exhibited in several shows in her home city.

Round woven wall hangings are the craft of KATHY PALMER of El Paso, another newcomer to the Ruidoso festival. Her weavings are executed on old items such as drawers, barrel rings, saws, and so on. She has exhibited in El Paso and Las Cruces areas and in a number of Texas fairs.

SANDY HARTLEY is a newcomer to the festival this year, with macrame curtains, some formed around stained glass. Hartley also creates other macrame items, including chairs and lamps, as well as crocheted dolls, mosaic shelves from beans and hand sewn quilts. Her work has been exhibited in several Florida shows. She is now a resident of Ruidoso Downs.

RICHARD KORCZYNSKI of Victoria, Texas specializes in photographs of a nostalgic nature, showing isolated views of common things that most people "don't stop to really see." His works deal primarily with Texas and southwestern subjects.

BRUCE McELYA of Ruidoso will be displaying his photographic works, primarily landscape photography in black and white and color, at this year's festival.

Copper enamel plaques and boxes will be exhibited by SUSAN MCGRAW of El Paso. Most of her works are decorated with enamel powder adhered to oil and fired in layers, mixed powders which are combined in a paste and fired, or details scratched into powders for each color.

Acrylic paintings on suede leather by ERVIN JOHNSON of Albuquerque, who displayed works here in 1977 and 1979. His paintings are of authentic Indian pottery, and most of his models are museum pieces from the 1800-1920 time period.

Clothing by MARSHALL BACIGALUPI of Norman, Oklahoma will be featured for the second time at this year's festival. His garments are originally designed, hand sewn and handpainted with brushes and dyes or batik.

The almost lost art of silhouette cutting will again be executed by PAUL HOYTE of Truth or Consequences. Only a handful of silhouette artists still practice the craft in this country, and Hoyte has been exhibiting his work at craft fairs since 1936.

Watercolor is the medium used by PAUL J. LEFEVRE of Alamogordo, and rural life of the south and midwest are the usual subjects, including landscapes and still lifes. He participated in the Ruidoso festival in 1978 and 1979.

Picture opportunities abound here

Few areas of New Mexico — indeed, the United States — offer as many opportunities for memorable, rewarding pictures as does Ruidoso.

There are pine covered mountains, splendid sunsets and sunrises, the silent beauty of the desert is but a few miles away; there's wildlife, including deer, elk and bear, and flowers and streams; there are old cowboys with grizzled faces, and winning horses with their owners; incredible architecture and log cabins.

The possibilities are endless.

And a photographer doesn't need exotic special equipment to produce really memorable pictures. Even a point and shoot, fixed focus f/11 Instamatic will produce good shots if you give it a chance.

For the more advanced photographer, an array of lenses, filters and a variety of films will help you capture that prize-winning shot you'll want to hang on your wall.

Here are some tips:

For some really splendid views, take a drive up Sierra Blanca "Ski Run Road," also known as State Highway 532. The road has several turnouts along its length, and some incredible panoramas await you.

A polarizing filter is a great help here if you're using color or black and white — if black and white, take along a red filter too, which will help cut atmospheric haze. For color, you might try an 85 B filter, which will help cut some of the blueness out of your shots.

Another good opportunity is Skyline Picnic Ground, which is accessible from the Ski Run Road. It will take you into some astounding wilderness, and you'll have a good view of the Capitan Mountains, the only mountain range in the United States that runs east to west. A hike from the picnic grounds into the trees around the area will produce some good pictures of dead and dying trees. A rotting tree has some splendid color, and a good fast color film is what you need — an ASA of 200 works just fine, and a tripod isn't a bad idea. You might try, if you can, going up on a cloudy day after a rain. The color is then beautifully saturated and tight closeups, concentrating on the color, will accentuate Nature's beauty.

Black and white doesn't work as well for such shots. Concentrate on form, and the interplay of light and shade. But experiment — don't be afraid to try for the fear of failure.

One of the best things about Ruidoso is the way everyday things can produce great pictures.

For instance, about sunset, take a look over at Sierra Blanca. The sun drops right behind it. If you have an adjustable camera, expose for the sky. If not, shoot anyway. You might try using a flash too. Although it won't make any difference as far as lighting is concerned, it will slow your shutter speed and saturate the colors for really beautiful sunset scenes.

If you're shooting pictures in the woods around Ruidoso with an Instamatic camera, use a flash. The trees block more light than you might think. If you have an adjustable camera, no problem, but ASA 400 film might be required.

For really good shots of the Rio Ruidoso,

Taos and Santa Fe have long shared the cultural spotlight in New Mexico. Some cynical souls would say that southern New Mexico (which surely begins just below Interstate 40) has been regarded as a sort of sprawling stepchild/souvenir stand; a physically and culturally "deserted" area.

But even as this image has grown in the minds of some of our northern neighbors, the arts have quietly flourished here.

With this growth in the awareness of the arts has come growth in the arts and crafts trade. Galleries have proliferated slowly and handcrafted gift items now probably outnumber their manufactured cousins in the shops lining Ruidoso's streets.

A partial listing of some of the galleries and shops where art and craft items may be purchased follows:

ARMADILLO STAINED GLASS studio, owned by Jerry and Janey Perry, located at 2839 Sudderth, upstairs, just across and slightly east of the telephone company. Stained glass by the Perrys, who create everything from large church windows, residential and business pieces to small "sun-catching" gift items. They also give private lessons in and sell necessary supplies for their craft. Also on display: paintings and etchings by Tom Knapp.

White Mountain Pottery by Tim Weirwille, jewelry by John West, and Rod Markham's watercolors and pen and ink drawings.

THE ARTISAN SHOP, owned by Don and Mary Parsons, located at 2342 Sudderth in midtown. Original paintings and prints by Peter Hurd, Mimi Jungbluth, Dave Brown, Jim Hall and other local artists; prints by Gordon Snidow. Also offers a complete line of artist's supplies, custom framing and large selection of ready-made frames. Open Monday through Saturday.

THE BEAR CLAW GALLERY, located at 332 Sudderth, with the Bear Claw II in Ski West Center, owned by Mary Meyers. Featured are original paintings by Gary Meyers, Bill Owen, Walt Gonska and Dee Dee Litrell, with lithos by Gordon Snidow. The Bear Claw II offers small prints by well known artists.

SHOP OF THE BLUE GEM AND ART GALLERY, owned by Dorothy Davis and managed by Pat Seymour, located at 2208 Sudderth. Works by Theda Ray, Roland Rose, Nancy Louvier, Robert Beckner, Jim Thomas and Justin Wells, plus Indian rugs and jewelry.

BUCKHORN ENTERPRISES, located midway between Fox Cave and Glencoe, a studio gallery featuring the work of bronze sculptor Tom Knapp and watercolors of Dorothy Bell Knapp. The studio includes a foundry where the bronzes are cast.

CRUCIS ART BRONZE AND THE FOUNDRY GALLERY, located on Sudderth drive across from the swimming pool, owned by Walter and June Rawley and D. J. Skraggs. Rawley does bronze castings in the foundry, but specializes in woodcarving of church crosses and other items using the cross motif. Antiques, gifts, jewelry and handcrafts also on sale at the gallery.

DAVE WILSON'S CAMERA SHOP, located in midtown, is the only photo speciality shop in the county. Includes a small gallery featuring Wilson's photography and a separate studio which provides photographic services for artists.

D'OROS GALLERY, located in the Holiday Inn, and D'OROS GIFTS, at K-Bob's in the Villa Inn, are owned by Hazel Haynesworth. At the Galleria, fine gold and silver jewelry, art works in several media and antique items are featured. The gift shop offers less expensive art works, craft items and primitives. Special one artist shows each weekend in August at the Galleria.

INTERNATIONAL GALLERIES, INCORPORATED, opening during August at a location in the Four Seasons Mall, midtown, will act as the exclusive outlet for the bronzes of Lincoln Fox, and will be managed by Jon Denny. Grand opening date to be announced soon.

MADRE'S, owned by Ellen Miller, located at 2205 Sudderth. Stained glass by Doug Franklin, original paintings and prints by Bud Biggs, Brad Noble and James Haney. Hand woven and crocheted clothing; leather vests; wall hangings, sculpture, other handmade items.

THE OLD LINCOLN GALLERY, a cooperative gallery, featuring work of Lincoln resident/artists. (Lincoln town is located on Highway 380 east of Capitan.) Paintings by Walter Henn, jewelry by John West, photography by Ed Raventon, wood carvings by Kevin Wolff, bronzes by Glen Dennis. Also stained glass and antiques offered by Ann Buffington.

SMITH LIMITED GALLERY, owned by Lawson and Sonya Smith, located at 662 Sudderth, features originals and limited edition prints by Peter Hurd, NAAWS; Western artists Ralph Johnson, AICA; James Haney, C. W. Buchanan and Amada M. Pena Jr. Also, sculpture by Lawson Smith, AIFA; and Mary Ann Gerber. A selection of pottery also available.

ZIA ART AND FRAME CENTER, owned by I. V. and Miriam Payne, located at 1212 Mechem, art work on consignment including works of Howard Suttle, Eleanor Robertson, I. V. Payne. Also art supplies frames and gift items.

Handmade crafts are ubiquitous in Ruidoso—a few of the craft outlets are listed below:

THE ASPEN TREE, located in midtown at 2340 Sudderth, owned by Alden and Jane Deyo. Sole outlet for Devlin pottery, woodcarvings by Ben Ortega, John Stoumbis tiles, Bill Lewis sand candles, Pat Lilly jewelry, Weirville's White Mountain Pottery, wood sculpture by J. Vincent Fitzgeralds, Aspen leaf jewelry, sand paintings, ceramic animals by the Carvajales brothers of Uruguay, leathercraft, windbells, much more.

THE ATTIC, in midtown, carries a variety of handcrafts, including leatherwork and fabric crafts.

HAPPY HANDS, next to the Radio Shack on Sudderth, offers full line of hobby and craft supplies. Free classes in acrylic painting on mirrors, oil painting on glass, dried flower arranging, needlecraft, macrame, fabric painting and weaving. Owned by Mildred Dorman.

JACKALOPE SQUARE offers a variety of imported and local handcrafted items, including rugs, hangings, fabric crafts. Located at 1301 Sudderth Drive, owned by Mike and Janet LaBreaque. Many other gift items, also.

MOUNTAIN WOOD CRAFTSMEN, located on Highway 380 in Capitan, displays wood crafts, weaving, stained glass, jewelry and more, all by local artists.

THE ROADRUNNER, owned by Archer and Flodie Wilson, next to Dave Wilson's Camera Shop, midtown on Sudderth Drive. Almost all handcrafted items, including works by artists displaying in this year's Ruidoso Art Festival; hand mirrors by Frank Abel; oil paintings by Billie Billington, leatherwork and buckles by Ben and Viola Chavez, watercolors and batik by Martha Gowen, metal sculpture by Mike Bowen, children's woodcrafts by Jeanne and O'Dell Grant, copper enamels by Jean Longman, woodcrafts by Dan and Peg O'Leary and wire sculpture by La Netta Walker.

THE STORE NEXT DOOR, located in Adobe Plaza, owned by Ruby and Tom Trost, featuring his handcrafted wood mirrors, toys, signs (commercial and residential) and furniture. Also Raggedy Ann and other handmade dolls, original paintings, photographs, wall hangings, weaving, jewelry, beads, tiles and antique jars.

WOOD 'N' STUFF, located in Four Seasons Mall. Wood craft items of all kinds.

Indian crafts are available at a number of locations throughout the Ruidoso area. Some of these include Bennett's INDIAN SHOP, on Highway 70 West, CHINO'S at the Inn of the Mountain Gods, KIVA gifts and THUNDER RIVER SHEEPSKIN in midtown.

Entertainment highlighting Art Festival

Gymnastics, music and magic lead the roster of entertainment planned for this year's Art Festival.

Although full details are not yet set, students of Ruidoso Gymnastics Academy will perform six separate exhibitions over the three day Festival.

Friday the gymnasts will perform but once, according to coach Blake Starr. The 45 minute performance begins at 5:30 p.m.

There are three performances Saturday, at noon, 3 p.m., and 6 p.m. Starr is also an accomplished magician, and he will be performing magic during all the exhibitions. Also, the famed Merlin, a wizard from the time of King Arthur, will make one of his very few public appearances at 3 p.m., Saturday.

Two exhibitions are slated for Sunday, at noon and 3:45 p.m. The exhibitions will feature beginning, intermediate and advanced gymnasts.

Originally, a top trampolinist was also scheduled to perform, but he had to cancel due to another commitment, Starr said.

But top gymnasts from Las Cruces, Hobbs, Albuquerque, Alamogordo and Lubbock, Texas, will share the stage with the Ruidoso gymnasts, Starr said.

Also providing entertainment will be the Flatland Bluegrass Band of Lubbock, performing Saturday and Sunday.

The band plays traditional, folk and bluegrass music in three and four part harmony. It has performed at bluegrass festivals in Glen Rose and Kerrville, Texas, and Hugo, Cement and Duncan, Oklahoma. The band has been featured with the Lubbock Symphony Orchestra and the Midland-Odessa Symphony Orchestra.

The Flatland Bluegrass Band also released its first album last year.

Religious folk singers Karen Lafferty and Janey Brennand will perform Friday and Saturday, and pantomime artists from Alamogordo will put on a short presentation.

All the entertainment programs have been scheduled to avoid conflict with all the art showings, and the entertainment has also been planned to distribute it fairly, equally over the three days.

Billy the Kid 'lives' at Old Lincoln

Billy the Kid — the name immortalized by countless movies, television shows, songs, books, plays — and the Billy the Kid pageant at Lincoln, New Mexico.

Almost an annual event since 1940, the pageant — a re-enactment of the Kid's escape from the Lincoln County Courthouse in April, 1881 — will be August 1-3 this year, and the Kid will again escape — four times.

William Bonney, as a young man from New York, came West, where he went to work for one faction in the famed Lincoln County War, which was the basis of the John Wayne movie, "Chisum."

Bonney, who was later nicknamed the Kid, became embroiled in the range war, and eventually became a hunted outlaw. He surrendered himself to New Mexico Governor Lew Wallace (who later wrote "Ben Hur") to testify in a murder trial.

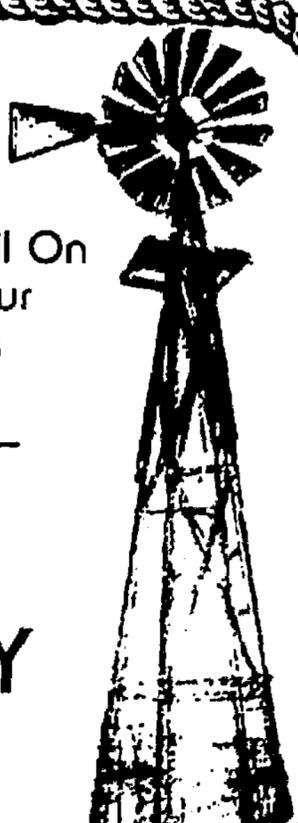

But the Kid was doublecrossed and sent to the Lincoln Courthouse, which doubled as a jail. There he escaped, killing two deputies in the process.

A few short months later — July — he was hunted down and killed by Sheriff Pat Garrett.

The commemoration of those events is just one aspect of Old Lincoln Days, which also includes a Pony Express Race, a parade, a fiddler's contest and an arts and crafts fair.

The pageant began in 1940, and Billy was played by a young local artist named Peter Hurd. World War II cancelled the next few performances, but the Kid returned in the late 40s, under the direction of the Lincoln Historical Society.

In the late 50s, the current pageant grounds were purchased by the historical group, said Betty Shrecengost, whose family has been involved with the pageant for many years.

In fact, her son Bill has played Billy the Kid the past several years, and he returns this year to play the infamous outlaw.

Also back in the cast is Dan Storm, who plays Buckshot Roberts. Other characters include John Chisum, Tunstall, McSween, Murphy and Dolan, all prominent figures in the Lincoln County War. All the characters are played by local residents.

The actual courthouse, which still stands, is now a museum concerned with the Lincoln County War, Billy the Kid and the Old West. The pageant takes place in an outdoor arena next to the courthouse.

Four performances are scheduled this year — Friday, August 1, at 8:30; Saturday, August 2, 8:30; and two on Sunday, 3:30 and 8:30.

The arts and crafts fair runs two days, from 9 a.m. to 6:30 p.m., Saturday and Sunday. Local artists will display their crafts at the fair, which attracts numerous people each year.

Another feature is the Pony Express Race, which begins Saturday morning at 8. Riders compete to carry authentic United States Mail from White Oaks to Lincoln, which takes about two hours. The riders will be honored at a breakfast in White Oaks before the race, served by the White Oaks Historical Society.

The mail is genuine, and carries an official post mark signifying it was carried by Pony Express. Usually, about 2,000 letters are carried each year.

To have a letter sent, it should be at the Carrizozo post office by 5 p.m., July 31, along with 50 cents to cover costs of the special mailing.

Winners in the race have the purse divided among the first three, and this year's prizes were donated by Roswell merchants.

The fiddler's contest is at 1:30 p.m.,

Saturday, and all fiddlers who feel they can resin their bows and play a foot-tappin' tune should register at the pageant grounds before competition begins.

The parade is set at 1:30 Sunday and begins at the east end of Lincoln. Anyone interested in entering the parade should contact Sue Graham, Box 63, Lincoln, New Mexico, 88338.

Other activities planned include turtle races, balloon rides and food and soft drink booths, and a barbecued sparerib luncheon will be served on the lawn of the Wortley Hotel, another historic structure in Lincoln.

Whether or not one stays for all the activities in Lincoln, a trip to this historic village is well worth the time and effort.

Artists vying for title of 'Best of Show'

For the second consecutive year, the Ruidoso Art Festival will feature a competition among the artists, to determine the Top 25 and the "Best of Show" booths.

The competition will be judged by the Standards Committee, selected by the artists from among their own members. Chairman of this year's committee will be Mike McCullough, a watercolor painter from Amarillo, Texas.

Committee members will include Martha Gowen, Cloudcroft, a watercolorist and batik artist; Al Potter of La Luz, a pottery exhibitor; Richard Korczynski of Victoria, Texas, a photographer; and Donna Lee of Portland, Texas, who shows decorative painting.

THE STANDARDS COMMITTEE is responsible for judging the artists' compliance with the rules and regulations of the Festival, making sure artists are showing the works for which they were accepted and that all works comply with Festival regulations which require all works to be original.

Ribbons will be placed on artists' booths Friday just prior to opening the show. The committee will also be scoring the quality and originality of each artist's work.

Top 25 artists will receive, in addition to the ribbon, exemption from being juried for the 1981 Ruidoso Art Festival.

BEST BOOTH at the show will be selected based upon the quality of the display and quality of the work. The "Best of Show" will be exempt from 1981 booth fees.

Not only will this competition help to encourage the display of quality works, it will provide Festival goers with a guide to the best works in the show.

Visitors to the show will, when they see booths adorned with ribbons, know that those artists were chosen by their peers as having produced work of superior quality and originality.

Summer Festival was successful

Based on the success of the first annual Ruidoso Summer Festival, "Ruidoso, New Mexico," and "the cultural arts" will never again be thought of as mutually exclusive terms.

The music festival, featuring the Fort Worth Symphony, was held June 4-10 this year, after a board of directors was formed in February. With a collective (almost superhuman effort) the board managed to raise nearly $100,000 in three months, to bring the symphony to Ruidoso for a microcosmic "season."

The 1960 festival, board chairwoman Ann Denton said, was "an overwhelming success," exceeding the expectations even of those who were most enthusiastic about the event from the outset. "We were thrilled with the reaction," she added.

With an entire year available for the planning of next year's festival, the board members are confident that their success will be even greater in 1961.

The dates of the 1961 Ruidoso Summer Festival have already been set — June 2-9, with an extra day of concert activity added to this year's agenda. Contract negotiations are already underway with several "big name" performers, and the board is counting on obtaining the services of a six piece Dixieland band, composed of Fort Worth orchestra members and other musicians. Fort Worth conductor John Giordano, playing the saxophone, will be a featured guest artist at one evening performance, Denton said.

This year's concert series included three regular evening performances, with guest artists including Cho Liang Lin on the violin, Pepe Romero on classical guitar, and Victor Borge, with his inimitable piano/humor routines. All three artists were enthusiastically received, and the Borge concert was a sellout, attended by more than 1,000 persons.

The evening performances were held at the Ruidoso Downs Race Track Sales Arena, which was transformed through the talent of interior decorators into a unique concert hall. The arena is the probable site of next year's evening performances, also.

An early-evening concert, geared to the younger set, was also held in the sales arena. Associate conductor James Simpson Miller led the orchestra in a number which explained the various sounds of the orchestra by singling out and adding the different instruments to produce a total composition. Another featured selection was Prokofev's Peter and the Wolf, narrated by Giordano.

Free concerts at area parks and picnic grounds proved to be increasingly popular with the Ruidoso residents and visitors. "Many businesses even closed their doors so that employees could attend," Denton said. "The enthusiasm grew by leaps and bounds with each performance."

One concert at noon, Friday June 6 at Two Rivers Park enabled working people to spend their lunch hour relaxing and listening to classical waltzes and other selections. Several hundred persons attended that concert, and the turnout for the free afternoon concerts on the weekend following were even greater. Estimates were made indicating that about 800 attended the final afternoon concert at Cedar Creek picnic area, despite threatening weather.

Financing and publicizing of this year's festival may be a bit simpler, thanks to the additional time and increased interest of Ruidosians and classical music aficionados in neighboring cities and in Texas. Seed money, earned through last year's ticket sales, will be helpful, and the village of Ruidoso has applied on behalf of the festival board, for grant monies available from the New Mexico Department of Development.

Lodger's Tax funds, which are garnered from lodging accommodations within the city limits, have been committed to the festival as matching funds for the grant.

More information about the 1961 Ruidoso Summer Festival will be publicized in The Ruidoso News, or may be obtained by contacting Ruidoso Summer Festival, Box 1338, Ruidoso, New Mexico, 88345.

Variety of good food at Art Festival

An expanded food booth section will offer visitors to the Ruidoso Art Festival more and better food than ever, according to Dave Wilson, festival chairman.

Eight service and non-profit organizations will feature food geared to complement the festive atmosphere the outdoor festival provides. That all American favorite, hamburgers and French fries, will be served all three days by the Elks Club of Ruidoso.

There will also be several offerings which represent the cultures of the Southwest, however. The Mesalero Rehabilitation Center will serve fry bread with honey.

The Southwestern favorites of nachos and burritos will be the main attractions at a booth sponsored by Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, who will also sell hot dogs. Corny dogs and chips will be sold by the Sertoma Club of Ruidoso.

For the vegetarians in the crowd, Ruidoso Gymnastics Academy will offer hot baked potatoes with sour cream and lots of butter. The Altrusa Club will provide a variety of fresh fruits, homemade cookies and brownies.

Cold drinks and sno cones will be served by the Ruidoso High School Band Boosters, and snackers can enjoy popcorn and ice cream provided by the Humane Society of Lincoln County.

The Art Festival Committee has monitored the progress of food booths in the hopes of providing more variety than in years past, yet "quality food items" which will suit the budget of the festival visitor, Wilson said.

Chamber sponsors art show

The 1980 Ruidoso Art Festival is the ninth in a line of increasingly popular art shows sponsored by the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce.

It had its beginnings in 1972 at School House Park with 92 artists participating. The show grew to 120 booths in only two years and remained at that level until 1977.

The show was primarily a fund raising event for the Chamber and was produced and managed by a concessionaire.

In 1978, the festival was produced entirely by the Chamber of Commerce through a volunteer committee. The number of booths was reduced to 100 and an effort was made to accept only artists and craftsmen of outstanding ability.

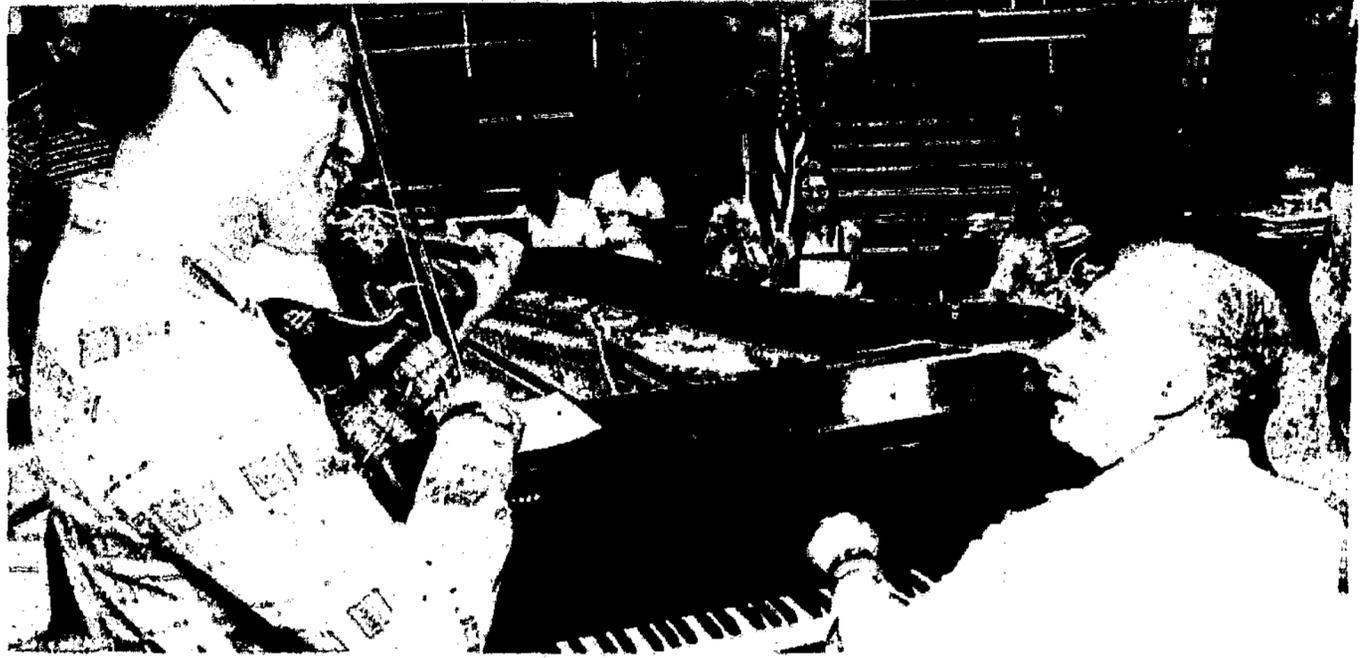

The volunteer committee also shifted the emphasis from fund raising to the development of a quality cultural event. The vast potential as a cultural center that Ruidoso has is only now being realized, with the start of a summer music festival featuring the Fort Worth Symphony in June, followed by the Art Festival in July.

Last year's show, which was strictly juried, drew many applicants to fill the 96 booths. It was housed for the first time under five circus tents and moved to the Ruidoso High School parking lot to provide a larger parking area and ease congestion on Sudderth.

The show was termed one of the most successful in the history of the art fair, according to chairman of the committee, Dave Wilson.

He said the all weather exhibiting space, a new public address system, addition of food booths and ongoing entertainment, have all given the Ruidoso festival its own identity.

Wilson said applicants to exhibit in this year's show were of finest quality and decisions were tough to make. He said a long waiting list of quality artists has finally given Ruidoso's show the name it hopes to keep in future years.

VICTOR BORGE and violinist Sin-Tung Chiu hammed it up at the Summer Festival.

Artists exhibiting at C-C Festival

MARTHA KELLAR of La Luz, an on-the-spot pencil and pastel portrait artist, will be exhibiting in Ruidoso for the first time. Her pencil portraits are done in 20-25 minutes, and pastel portraits take about twice that length of time. Executed on pastel paper, the pastel portraits resemble oil paintings.

Contemporary acrylic paintings on both glass mirrors and canvas will be exhibited by DONNA LEE of Portland, Texas. Subjects of the paintings are generally bright florals or children's motifs. She also exhibited in the 1979 Ruidoso Art Festival.

JEANIE LEWIS of Conroe, Texas, an oil painter of landscapes, florals and children. She uses a brush and the less traditional method of using a palette knife to apply the paint. Her work has been featured in shows throughout the Southwest.

JEAN LONGMAN of Alpine, Texas, constructs wall crosses, wall ornaments, jewelry and other items from copper and enamel. Most of her work has a "Spanish feeling." Longman's work is available at the Roadrunner in Ruidoso, and she has participated in shows in Houston, Austin, Lubbock, San Antonio and Midland, Texas.

KATHY MORROW, of Las Cruces will be displaying scratchboard paintings, some with pen and ink, at the Ruidoso festival this year. She has displayed at the cloudfcroft Octoberfest, and shows in El Paso and elsewhere.

LISA EMMETT of El Paso, Texas, will display oil paintings of colorful western scenes, horses and landscapes. Some of her favorite subjects are aspen and pine trees, and snowcapped mountains. She uses the palette knife primarily, smoothing the painting with a brush. Her work has been exhibited in New Mexico, Texas, Colorado and Arizona.

GAYLE NELSON of Tucson, Arizona, will be showing her paintings of oil relics, barns and houses. Her technique, using oils, is realistic, and the work is executed on masonite board coated with gesso. Art lovers in Arizona have seen her work displayed in 14 shows in the last two years.

LANETTA WALKER of El Paso will be displaying her wire sculptures once again at the Ruidoso Art Festival. The twisted steel wire sculptures of trees and desert scenes are finished in a gold color and mounted on rock or manzanita wood. In addition to her three past Ruidoso festivals, her work has been displayed at Tucson and Roswell art fairs.

JAN POTTER of Gallup will exhibit paintings in oil, watercolor and pastel over watercolor. Portraits of "Southwestern types," and children are a speciality, but she also paints horses. She has exhibited her paintings and jewelry in Ruidoso in 1976 and 1977.

IRENE IZELL of Lubbock, Texas, will be exhibiting her wildlife paintings featuring mostly southwestern wildlife. Her works are done with pastel and watercolor combinations and finished in acrylics. Izell has participated in shows in Texas and has had several private showings of her works at businesses and galleries in Texas.

FRANK AND VESTA ABEL of Santa Fe will show hardwood handmirrors, scrimshaw on ivory and rubber stamps with original designs.

LINDA R. POND, of Los Alamos again will be displaying her paintings, using enamel on copper. She uses small sifters to apply the powdered enamels onto the copper base; then she fires the works in a kiln for several minutes. Pond is a familiar face at the Ruidoso Art Festival, having participated every year since 1976, as well as showing her work in other festivals in New Mexico and Texas.

find a tripod and put your camera atop it. Then use a slow shutter speed (1/60th or slower) for a really great effect. The water moves faster than your shutter and blurs into a wild, rushing white mass.

An extension tube set, or a bellows, or a set of diopters or a macro focusing zoom lens will help you get some closeups of the flowers and insects around Ruidoso. Here's a tip — take a piece of aluminum foil, or a white card, with you, and use it to reflect light back into the subject for better modeling. Just figure out where the shadow is, and then hold the card underneath. You can see the reflected light — move the card to achieve the best modeling. And if you're using a bellows, don't forget to figure the bellows factor.

It rains frequently during the summer here, often accompanied by terrific lightning displays. Those are easy to capture with an adjustable camera. Try using a normal lens, set the camera on a tripod, focus at infinity, point it where the lightning seems to be, and push down the shutter release on the blub setting, usually marked "B."

For a lense opening, try 1/8 with ASA 400, 5.6 with 200, 4 with 100, 2.8 with 64 and 2 with 25, and you might try bracketing your shots. Incidentally, if you get one charge of lightning on your shot, don't close the shutter yet — try getting more on the same frame for a really excellent shot.

Here are some places almost guaranteed to produce good pictures — Bontio Lake; Old Lincoln; Highway 70 from Hondo to Tularosa; Cloudcroft, and Highway 24; and Ruidoso's Upper Canyon. Of course, this is merely a representative list, and as noted earlier, there are pictures awaiting you no matter where you go. Happy shooting!

Enjoy a breathtaking scenic drive

Should you, perchance, have fulfilled your wishes and desires for art through visiting the Art Festival and, perchance, you've come up with a hankering to see more of these gorgeous Sacramento Mountains — by all means take a scenic drive, with your camera at the ready, plenty of film at hand, and your binoculars out of the case.

On a Saturday or Sunday, drive up Ski Run Road — State Highway 532. The turnoff is just a few miles north of Ruidoso on Highway 37. Ski Run Road will take you to Sierra Blanca Ski Resort — a 12 mile run off Highway 37. A small portion of the road is still being blacktopped, but you will experience no difficulty in making the round trip. The views are spectacular, with a new one cropping up around each hairpin turn or at the peak of each rise. At the designated turnoffs, do stop to look at the panoramic view — at one, you can see the White Sands. Perchance, if the ski lift is operating, you might want to ride it to the Gazebo — the view is truly worth it. The skiing season is from Thanksgiving to Easter Sunday; with some of the finest skiing you'll find anywhere — just in case you might want to return to bust a few moguls.

Another awe inspiring junket is to drive north on Highway 37 to Angus, where you turn west on 37, continuing to Bonita Lake. This area is one of the most peaceful and soul resting in these mountains. Coming back from Bonita Lake, take the turn north through Nogal — the scenery you'll encounter until you reach Highway 380 will provide you with unlimited photographic possibilities — to say nothing of conversational fodder beyond your greatest expectations.

A most interesting trip is to head north from Ruidoso on Highway 37, continue on to Capitan on Highway 48, then, after taking in the Smokey Bear Museum and State Park, head east on Highway 380 to Old Lincoln Town, the stomping grounds of the legendary gunman of the Old West — Billy the Kid. Tour the museums in Old Lincoln for memorabilia viewing of one of the tumultuous episodes of this area — the Lincoln County War. For a change of pace, continue east on 380 to the junction with Highway 70 at Hondo and return, heading west, to Ruidoso. The valley view is tremendous.

You can also head southerly out of Ruidoso on Highway 70, to the Mescalero Apache Reservation, which will be a rewarding experience, offering magnificent scenery.

Should you decide to devote a day to pleasant motoring and spectacular viewing, take Highway 24, off Highway 70, just north of Mescalero, and head for the high country that is Cloudcroft. You'll find that frequent stops will be made, just to "look at all those trees, all those mountains." You'll find Cloudcroft interesting, quaint and relaxing. From Cloudcroft, the side trips available include a run east on 82 to Mayhill; to the west on 82 to High Rolls and Mountain Park; or southerly to Sunspot, where the observatory is open for your inspection. Should you head west out of Cloudcroft on 82, you'll see some memorable scenery — including passing through a tunnel — that'll lead out of the mountains into the desert, north of Alamogordo. Turn north on Highway 54/70 to pass through Tularosa, where you continue back to Ruidoso, through the Mescalero Apache homelands, to Ruidoso.

These drives will give you an introduction to the beauties that are Sacramento Mountains — and just might whet your appetites for some "four wheeling" over the Forest trails. Such an excursion will really introduce you to the wilderness — with a map of Lincoln National Forest, obtainable at Smokey Bear Ranger District Office, an absolute necessity.

These off-the-road drives, on bumpy, rocky, twisting Forest Service roads — actually they are trails leading into the back country — can be most rewarding. You'll find a peace and quiet that will enchant you. There are myriads of areas remaining just as they were when this area was the domain of the Mescalero Apaches, before the intrusion of the white man. To get "back to nature" take a drive into the back country.

Whatever drive you choose, be prepared for unusual and truly beautiful scenery — and do take along plenty of film as fodder for your camera.

After you've taken a drive, you'll understand why Ruidoso is laying claim to being one of the most enchanted parts of The Land of Enchantment that is New Mexico.

Chamber of Commerce active

The Ruidoso Art Festival is one of many events sponsored yearly by the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce, which now claims 442 members.

The Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce, which now claims 442 members. The Art Festival Committee is one of the subcommittees within the Chamber which works all year planning and promoting the many activities which provide entertainment to tourists and residents alike.

One of the strongest subcommittees has been the Retail Merchants, who provide support services for the Aspencade Motorcycle Convention held each October in Ruidoso, and sponsor a "Fun Day in the Park" the Sunday following Aspencade.

This committee has successfully sponsored a vigorous Christmas lighting program in the village the past two years. Last year's holiday season was marked by the placement of permanent Christmas trees at the "Y" in Ruidoso, a cooperative effort of the committee, the United States Forest Service and the village of Ruidoso.

Two of the Chamber's most popular get-togethers each year are the "Cadillac Party" and a "Jeep Party" which provide operating funds for the organization. The Cadillac Party, August 20 this year, will be held at the Inn of the Mountain Gods and offers ticketholders an evening of excellent entertainment.

Chamber-sponsored meetings with legislators are held at least once a year to allow residents to express concerns to their lawmakers. The next such meeting is tentatively planned for January.

Tour beautiful Ruidoso .....

Once you've toured the 98 booths at the 1980 Art Festival, just for a breather, while making up your mind as to what you really like in the way of art on display, perhaps a short tour of Ruidoso would be most rewarding.

Such a tour also might be conducive to collecting your thoughts about the displays in the booths, with your night seeing expedition being a soothing, pleasing respite from the hustle and bustle of the Art Festival.

As you drive through these mountainous roads that weave their way through canyons and atop mesas, just in the event you become a little confused as to which way to turn, don't panic — just keep driving down hill, even if it means — retracing your path from a cul de sac to continue going down hill because, eventually, all roads lead into Sudderth or Mechem Drives and instantly you're back in familiar terrain. In other words, you can't possibly get lost anywhere in Ruidoso — for very long.

For openers, drive to the "Y" on Sudderth, just about anyone you ask will tell you how to find the "Y". From the "Y" head west on Sudderth, with everyone in the car looking at the variety of businesses lining the street on both sides — except the driver. The driver will find plenty to keep involved in, just doing the driving.

By counting the stoplights from your point of origin, when you reach the third, you're at the Sudderth/Mechem Drive intersection.

Turn north onto Mechem and continue your drive through the business section, which stretches on for several miles. As you make your progress, keep an eye peeled on roads turning off on either side, look for signs directing you to subdivisions. These roads will take you through beautiful housing developments, pointing out the quality of life enjoyed by the owners of these homes.

The roads in, and leading to, these subdivisions wind seemingly aimlessly, up and down, around and about, but at every peak, at every turn, a new view awaits, as do the lovely homes to ogle on the side hills and mesa tops.

Should you choose to drive as far as Angus on Highway 37, you'll have been exposed to many breathtaking views and viewed many beautiful homes.

As you return to Ruidoso, follow the signs to the residential areas. Many are very secluded. Many are easily accessible and located to provide not only a view, but direct routes into Ruidoso.

Once you get back to the Mechem/Sudderth stoplight, head west into the Upper Canyon. It's a short drive to the Mescalero Apache Indian Reservation line, beyond which point you are not to travel. Be adventuresome as you drive through the Upper Canyon, follow some of the roads, many of which are little more than trails, to visit beautiful residential areas.

Ask directions to Hull Road. As you drive along this blacktopped street, keep looking up and ahead to see some of the newest residential developments in the village. Continue up Hull to Gavilan Canyon Road and enjoy the scenery — and the residential areas. Don't be fearful of following any road leading up a mountain side as you'll encounter no difficulties and you'll find these side road excursions most rewarding.

Then there's the area know as Indian Hills, another called Pinecliff — residential areas abound in the mountains. As you travel through them, you'll understand why Ruidoso is the place where people choose to live. A quick glimpse through the telephone directory will let you know you're in a true melting pot of nationalities — with residents coming here from every state and many foreign countries.

On your travels you'll observe those residential areas built surrounding golf courses and tennis courts. These home owners enjoy the membership benefits offered by that particular development.

You'll soon notice there are no "blocks to drive around." The road through Ruidoso, Highway 37, runs through the valley, with the feeder roads heading, helter-skelter, up the mountains — leading you to adventure as you really explore Ruidoso's residential areas.

Whether you drive around the village for only an hour or two, or spend a half day, or more on your tour, you will remember it as one of the most rewarding activities of your visit to Ruidoso, The Playground of the Great Southwest, offering a variety of year around entertainment that'll boggle your mind.
