Arrests in Malooly death expected soon

The investigation into the death of Richard "Pat" Malooly, resulting from a beating administered early Friday morning, "is continuing," a Ruidoso Criminal Investigation Division spokesman said Wednesday, "and we expect to arrest the suspects within a week."

Malooly was discovered, lying unconscious near the entrance to his Woodland Ridge apartment, about 6 a.m., Friday. He was taken to the Eastern New Mexico Medical Center, Roswell, where he underwent surgery prior to his death about midnight that day.

The spokesman also said, "There was no evidence of physical (forced) entry into the apartment and apparently nothing was taken. The front room was a shambles. Apparently the victim was awakened and left his bedroom to answer the door."

The spokesman said Wednesday that the death instrument "is unknown" and that the Albuquerque School of Medicine's "medical investigator conducted extensive research" on the body and "that his report has not been released."

Malooly, 22, was the operator of the Carpet Tree in Ruidoso and had been a resident about one year.

DECA holding seafood sale this weekend

The Trans-Alaska seafood truck will be in Ruidoso Friday-Sunday to deliver seafood to local residents ordering it from the Distributive Education Clubs of America (DECA) Chapter.

The truck will be parked at Gibson's from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m., all three days. DECA sponsor Eddie Parker said seafood can be purchased on a walk-up basis. He said about 300 pounds of seafood was pre-sold, but ordered much more. "We are anticipating a lot of walk-up sales," he said.

Seafood available include three types of salmon, halibut, walleye, red snapper, cod, ling cod, Alaska snow crab, scallops, four types of shrimp, extra large lobster tails and seafood batter mix.

The total price of each order will be determined when the order is picked up.

Parker said. He added that prices listed on order blanks are subject to change. Order blanks are available at Gibson's, Ruidoso State Bank, Security Bank, KRRR Radio, White's Auto, The Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce, Cablevision of Lincoln County and post offices in Ruidoso, Ruidoso Downs and Hollywood.

Village maps due

Members of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce board of directors decided Wednesday not to get into the village map publishing business—instead they will endorse a map published by Barron Publications, Lubbock, Texas, provided it is accurate and available soon.

The board contracted with Glen Pike, Community Publications, more than a year ago, to have that company print a map of Ruidoso for distribution to tourists, to be completed by July, 1979. When Pike did not deliver, many alternatives were examined, and now, with summer 1980 almost over, the Chamber and most businesses have distributed nearly every map available.

Chamber executive director Ed Jungbluth said the Chamber has been distributing a map printed by Barron for several months. He said the map is not as accurate as Pike's map, but said it "was better than nothing."

Now, the Chamber will endorse Barron's publication, scrapping another plan they considered a month ago to try and obtain copyright to Pike's map, which was updated last summer with assistance from the village.

Jungbluth said the publishing company which actually has the map in possession, Steck-Warlick of Dallas, Texas, will not release the map until $1,484 is paid them for preparatory costs such as building pages and color separations.

Jungbluth said an additional $8,000 would have to be paid Ruidoso Printing Company, who turned in the lowest bid for the map publication, in order to finally receive 20,000 maps to distribute.

Board members considered several means of producing Pike's map in order to give consideration to some advertisers who paid in advance for their ads, thinking that since the Chamber endorsed the map, it would eventually be printed.

However, Jungbluth said "the bigger percentage of (advertisers) who paid Glen Pike are now in class action suits against him" to get their money back.

Although most board members recognize that Barron's village map is traditionally less accurate than Pike's, "he does deliver. He's by every so often to give you more maps," Benny Coulston said.

Board president Shiela Harris said the maps will be available in October and the Chamber will have to bear no costs. She said 20,000 maps will be ordered initially.

The board approved an expenditure of $500 from the Art Festival proceeds to be paid the Ruidoso Gymnastics Association.

Jungbluth said the expenditure was justified because "we agreed that proceeds from the Art Festival could be used by groups deserving of money" that would promote the arts in Ruidoso, which was one of the goals of the directors, once the Art Festival became self sufficient.

The directors also:

— Heard a report on Aspencade plans. Beta Sigma Phi Sorority has agreed to sponsor a queen contest, and prize winners will be tagged before the parade so parade watchers will know which entries won prizes.

— Officially endorsed the Arabian Horse Show, to be held in Ruidoso Downs September 21 and 22.

— Decided to pursue printing a list of contractors and other businesses which are open or available for various services on weekends, to better accommodate weekend visitors.

— Learned that the Chamber will probably have to pay $400-$500 to Ruidoso Independent Schools to cover cost differential for seal coating the high school parking lot. The job was delayed a year because the downs used for the art festival had to be replaced.

Jaycees membership drive set

The Ruidoso Jaycees will conduct their annual membership drive Saturday, with a goal of doubling their ranks, according to Gary James, Jaycees president.

He said present Jaycee members will be visiting businesses in Ruidoso and talking to young men 18-35 years old "to tell them about Jaycees to get them to join. The main objective of our club is to build leadership," James said.

New members will be invited to attend an orientation meeting Saturday night at 8:30 p.m., in the Gold Room of the Holiday House Restaurant. Refreshments will be served.

James outlined some goals the Jaycees have set for the next year, and listed some ongoing projects the service organization sponsors, including:

— Fund raisers throughout the year for the Muscular Dystrophy Association. James said the Jaycees will have road stands set up at the "Y" in east Ruidoso Sunday to encourage donations for that charity cause. "The Jayceettes will help with this and other MDA projects throughout the year," James said.

— Cutting of one cord of wood each month during the winter, which is given to an elderly person, or needy family, to use for heating or cooking.

— Sponsorship of a Little League baseball team.

— Taking an active part in the Arabian

NO. 29 IN OUR 35TH YEAR

RUIDOSO, LINCOLN COUNTY, NEW MEXICO 88345

THURSDAY, AUGUST 21, 1980

GROSS PURSE: $1,431,850; WINNER'S SLICE: $501,147

A-A Derby slated Sunday

The richest purse in the history of either quarter horse or thoroughbred racing will be split up in Sunday's seventh running of the All-American Derby at Ruidoso Downs.

The gross purse is a mind boggling $1,431,850. This includes the $289,050 which goes on the line in the Consolation.

The amount to be dished up in the finale alone is $1,222,800.

First place will be worth a colossal $501,147.

A vast viewing audience will be tuned into the 440 yard thriller, via a one hour telecast which goes out to some 51 market areas in 19 states. Included in the network are such major markets as Los Angeles, San Francisco, San Diego, Dallas-Ft. Worth, Denver, Oklahoma City, Chicago, St. Louis and Philadelphia.

Ten eager and well primed three-year-olds will be zeroing in on the vast treasure chest connected to the Derby. Indicative of the talent in the classic is the fact the 10 finalists hold career earnings of $1,362,612.

The Derby winner will automatically become one of the biggest money makers in quarter horse history.

If the winner happens to be Pie In The Sky, that means the sport will have its first "millionaire." Pie In The Sky holds a bankroll of $544,162, thanks mainly to his win in last summer's All-American Futurity.

If he bags first place in Sunday's Derby, his career total will balloon up to

Race on TV

Racing fans who can't get out to the track Sunday won't have any trouble finding the All-American Derby on their TV sets.

The one hour show, created by Gahlberg Television Productions of St. Charles, Illinois, gets underway at 3:30 p.m.

The signal will reach the Ruidoso area via KOB-TV in Albuquerque, KBIM-TV in Roswell, KTSM-TV in El Paso and WGN-TV in Chicago.

$1,045,309—putting him well ahead of Moon Lark's current pacesetter total of $859,356.

A win by Pie In The Sky would have other key ramifications. For example, he'd become the first horse in history to win both the All-American Futurity and Derby—thus grabbing a strong claim to quarter horse immortality. His potential value as a stallion would zoom to dizzy heights.

Besides all that, the colt would have the satisfaction of staging a remarkable comeback since his Futurity win. So far this season, he's pretty much fizzled out, earning only $22,744. In his first three starts of the season, he looked overweight and sluggish. But the colt was sleek and ready in last week's trials, when he poured it on in the final strides to win by a head as an odds-on favorite.

More importantly, he chalked up the fourth fastest qualifying time.

Jerry Burgess, one of the top quarter horse pilots in the business, replaced Danny Carodoza as Pie In The Sky's driver in the trials. Undoubtedly, trainer Leo Wood will call on Burgess for Sunday's dramatic finale.

The irony is that Pie In The Sky, despite his impressive background, isn't likely to get away as the wagering favorite. Jaimie Jay, the hotshot invader from Colorado Springs, Colorado, seems well poised to take that role.

Here's a profile of the Derby field from the standpoint of qualifying times:

— Jaimie Jay, 22.40 seconds. The filly won her trial heat by a commanding 3 1/4 lengths. She's owned by W. E. Mueller of Colorado Springs. Career earnings: $199,722. Main credits: first in the $222,150 Kansas Derby, second in the $560,180 Rainbow Derby.

— Afternoon Surprise, 22.42. She won her trial heat by a neck. The filly is owned by Ben and Leighann McCutchn of Dallas, Texas. Career earnings: $122,273. Main credits: fourth in the All-American Futurity and fourth in the Raton Derby.

MIDLAND CONTENDER—Sages Belle Star, a filly owned by J. H. Crouch Jr., of Midland Texas, faces the toughest task of her career in Sunday's grand finale of the $1,431,850 All-American Derby at Ruidoso Downs. Sages Belle Star earned nearly $180,000 last year, but her current money line is only $4,744. Gary Sumpter rides Sages Belle Star.

Lodgers backing ski promotion

The Ruidoso Lodgers Association (RLA) learned Monday that money has been requested from the Lodger's Tax fund to pay costs of having the Sierra Blanca Ski Report publicized more widely in key markets this winter, according to Ed Jungbluth, executive director for the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce.

Jungbluth said part of the money the Chamber receives for promotional purposes every year from the Lodger's Tax fund will be set aside to make two calls a week to give weather and skiing conditions at Ruidoso's two ski areas.

The Lodger's Tax Committee (LTC) approved the allocation to the Chamber, an $8,500 expenditure, but it must be approved by the Ruidoso trustees to become effective, RLA chairman Mike Radziewicz said.

He urged all RLA members to attend Tuesday's trustee meeting and support the proposal. "If the village trustees do not pass it, everything we've worked for will go down the drain," Nancy Radziewicz said.

The $8,500 budget, in addition to providing a ski update twice a week, also covers postage, mimeographed information and sheets of inquiries which are mailed to lodgers each week by the Chamber.

Lodgers also learned that the LTC is looking at doing more advertising in new markets, including Arizona and Louisiana. They may want to place advertising in periodicals such as Texas Monthly, Southern Living and Arizona Highways, so they can reach a larger audience, Jungbluth said.

Clark Carpenter said the RLA members should consider "what we can do" to speed the process of expansion plans at Sierra Blanca Ski Resort. He said the area "is at capacity now" and while many groups and individuals recognize the need to press for expansion, no one has taken the initiative. "Somebody needs to get on this subject," he said. Lodgers were encouraged to "give it some thought," but no action was taken.

The association also: — Learned that Tim Thompson, organizer of the Aspencade Motorcycle Convention, has received support from lodgers in the area of trophy sales and in obtaining $2,500 for advertising from the LTC.

— Asked Jungbluth to make two copies of all complaints the Chamber receives about lodgers, with one copy sent to the lodging establishment and one sent to the RLA.

— Collected donations for the mule races purse money, which entitles all supporters mention in the program with a notation that they supported the 1980 Mule Races.

Denny quits WMSR post

Jon Denny, president of White Mountain Search and Rescue (WMSR) submitted his resignation from that position at the regular meeting Tuesday night. Denny resigned the position in order to devote more time to business concerns.

The task of finding a replacement for Denny, and also the filling of a vacancy in the vice-presidential spot was referred to the organization's board of directors.

Members of the team were also advised of the recent arrival of a portable generator, to be used by the team in the field.

WMSR secretary Herb Brunell said the generator will be helpful in operating lights during night searches and recharging of batteries to keep radio equipment functional.

The group has scheduled a training session and family picnic for this Sunday, beginning at 3:30 p.m., at Cedar Creek.

County fair opens Friday

Final entries are being accepted today, and Lincoln County Fair action will get underway Friday morning.

The Fair Building is scheduled to open at 8 a.m., Friday for viewing of the inside exhibits, which will include arts and crafts, fruits, vegetables, clothing, 4-H projects of every description, horticulture entries and foods.

Showing and judging of livestock entered by county youngsters, mostly 4-H members, will begin at 9 a.m., Friday and continue throughout the day. The fair building will close at 6 p.m., Friday.

On Saturday, activities will get an early start with a pet show set for 8 a.m., followed by the special lead class at 9:30 and awarding of trophies at 9:45.

The Junior Livestock sale is set for 10:15 a.m., Saturday. At this event, individuals and businesses will have the opportunity to bid on highest placed animals at the fair.

Those who do not wish to purchase an animal may make other donations to the sale to benefit the youngsters. More information about donations may be obtained by calling the county Extension Department, Carrizozo, 648-2311. Sale organizers said the exhibitors traditionally use the proceeds to finance next year's livestock project or their college educations.

Two performances of the Lincoln County Junior rodeo also are scheduled in conjunction with the fair. The rodeos, held in the Captain fairgrounds arena, will begin at 7 p.m., Friday and Saturday.

Village water has improved

Recent rains have, a village spokesman said, "improved the quality of water and it has cleared considerably the past few days."

The runoff has raised the level in Alto reservoir, "about a foot," the spokesman said "though we need a lot more rain before the reservoir, and our water reserves, will be back to normal."

Cady's trial October 14

Gerald Cady, formerly of Alto, will face federal drug charges in a trial slated October 14 in San Angelo, Texas.

State and federal officials charge that Cady piloted a private plane across the United States-Mexico border April 21 and landed at an airstrip about 18 miles from Sonora, Texas. The plane's cargo of about 1,000 pounds of marijuana was seized and held as evidence, said Bill Mason, an assistant district attorney of Ozona, Texas.

Indicted with Cady, now of Arizona, on three counts each of possession of marijuana, importation of marijuana and conspiracy were Phillip Goodman of El Paso, Texas, and Clay Melton of Austin, Texas.

The three are free under $20,000 surety bonds posted June 6.

State charges on possession of marijuana over four ounces, Mason said, could result in a maximum sentence of 10 years.

Cady was airport manager and base operator of the Municipal Airport at Artesta six years.

Aspencade parade theme announced

The theme of this year's Aspencade parade, scheduled for October 4, will be "Winter Wonderland," according to the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the event.

Floats and other entries by civic groups, businesses, groups of businesses, bands, antique car clubs and so on are now being accepted at the Chamber office.

A-A Derby slated Sunday

— Denim N Diamonds, 22.43. The filly boomed to a 3 1/2 length win her trial heat as a heavy favorite. She's owned by R. D. Hubbard of Wichita, Kansas. In 1978, she was purchased in the All-American Yearling Sale for $32,000. Career earnings: $156,978. Main credits: third in the Rainbow Derby, second in the Kansas Derby, sixth in the All-American Futurity and sixth in the Rainbow Futurity.

— Pie In The Sky, 22.46. The son of Easy Jet won his trial heat by a head as an odds on favorite. He's owned by Dan and Jolene Urschel of Canadian, Texas. Career earnings: $544,162. Main credits: won the 1979 All-American Futurity (earning $440,000); qualified for the finale of the $560,180 Rainbow Derby (but ran seventh).

— Pea Jay Jet, 22.47. The filly won her trial heat by a head at 20-1, but her critics may insist her trial, the last of 13 races, was run on a fast drying track. She's owned by Melvin Karr and Stan Fansher of Lubbock, Texas. Career earnings: $2,573. Main credits: none.

— Native Gambler, 22.47. The gelding, owned by Gary J. Benton of Lubbock, Texas, finished second by a neck to Afternoon Surprise. A bargain basement gelding, Native Gambler was purchased in the 1978 All-American Sale for only $8,500. His supporters feel he's rapidly getting into peak form, so he could wear the mantle of main outsider in the Derby. Career earnings: $31,125. Main credits: second best qualifying time for the $560,180 Rainbow Derby, then a fourth at 7-1 in the finale (earning $23,872).

— Sages Belle Star, 22.49. The filly, owned by J. H. Crouch of Midland, Texas, finished second by a head to Pie In The Sky in the trials. She was a top star in 1979, but her current campaign has been a disappointment. Main credits: third fastest qualifying time for the 1979 Rainbow Futurity, then a nose second in the finale at 9-5 (earning $79,216); second fastest time for the 1979 All-American Futurity, then a disheartening fifth in the finale (earning $46,250).

— Chicks Charger Bar, 22.50. The colt boomed home with a tremendous 2 1/2 length lead in the trials as an odds on favorite. He's owned by Bobby, Pete Perez Sr., and Pete Perez Jr., of Grand Prairie, Texas. Career earnings: $65,095. Main credits: third fastest qualifying time for the recent $560,180 Rainbow Derby (he ran fifth in the finale, earning $21,620); second fastest qualifying time for the $148,095 World's Championship Classic (he ran third in the finale, earning $21,622); second fastest qualifying time for the $148,095 World's Championship Classic (he ran third in the finale at 8-2, missing by only a half-length and earning $14,609).

— Truck N Stuff, 22.50. The colt, owned by D. C. O'Guinn of Magnolia, Texas, finished second in the trials, a head behind Pea Jay Jet. Career earnings: $4,984. Main credits: none.

— Charge It Papa, 22.68. The son of Roma Charge was purchased in the All-American Sale for only $5,200. He won his Derby trial by a head at 3-2 odds. He's been keeping fast company, but can't seem to get that big win. Career earnings: $51,550. Main credits: sixth at 32-1 in last summer's Kansas Futurity (after setting the fourth best qualifying time); he made the finale of the recent Kansas Derby, but ran eighth at 46-1; he took a length win at 7 1/2-1 in the $81,058 Rainbow Derby Consolation.

Here's the way the finale purse of $1,222,799 will be split up: $501,147 for first; $229,096 for second; $117,411 for third; $61,569 for fourth; $55,842 for fifth; $54,510 for sixth; $52,978 for seventh; $51,548 for eighth; $50,114 for ninth; $48,582 for 10th.

Due to the telecast requirements, the All-American Derby will go as the eighth race on the 12 race program. First post is the regular 1 p.m.

THE RICH GET RICHER—Pie In The Sky, the colt who won last summer's $1,280,000 All-American Futurity at Ruidoso Downs, looms as a major contender in the finale of the $1,431,850 All-American Derby Sunday.

LONGSHOT HOPE—Pea Jay Jet, a filly who's made a meager $1,836 this year, gets the chance of a lifetime in Sunday's finale of the $1,431,850 All-American Derby at Ruidoso Downs. Last week, the filly ran an extraordinary race and chalked up the fifth best qualifying time. She's owned by Melvin Karr and Stan Fansher of Lubbock, Texas.

IT'S NO SURPRISE—Afternoon Surprise chalked up the second fastest time and looms as a fast gun in Sunday's All-American Derby at Ruidoso Downs. Richard Bickel is the rider. So far, Afternoon Surprise has earned over $120,000. She's owned by Ben and Leighann McCutchin of Dallas, Texas.

Eckert benefit Saturday

An auction to benefit Harry Eckert is scheduled Saturday, beginning at 10 a.m., at the Ruidoso Elks Lodge, Highway 70 west.

"As a result of a car accident about 15 years ago," said Bill Budens, Past Exalted Ruler of the Ruidoso lodge, "Harry is suffering from spinal deterioration and is confined to a wheel chair in his home where he is completely immobilized."

Eckert, a former long time employee of The Ruidoso News, is a Life Member of the Ruidoso Elks and was one of the state's outstanding Cerebral Palsy chairmen for the order.

"Any useable items will be accepted for this benefit auction," said chairman Bud Allen said, "and donations may be brought to the Elks Lodge beginning at 9 a.m., Saturday."

Auctioneers volunteering their services include Fred Hughston, Jim Wilson and Johnnie Goodman, Allen said, "with the Elks charging only a five percent service charge."

The auction is to be held on the parking lot, weather permitting.

All-American Futurity trials running Friday

BY MIKE MAGDA

Pass Em Jet Star is a colt with a solid winning tradition behind him. His sire is the quick thoroughbred Pass 'Em Up and his maternal grandsire is 1963 World Champion Jet Deck. Coupled with this promising breeding, Pass Em Jet Star's owners have made winning a routing in their specialty—professional football.

Mel Blount and Joe Greene, two of the defensive mainstays for the four-time Super Bowl champion Pittsburgh Steelers, are making their rookie debut into quarter horse racing this season with Pass Em Jet Star. And the big brown colt is vying for first team honors by qualifying in Friday's time trials to the $1,200,000 All-American Futurity.

Pass Em Jet Star was one of 114 head who survived the elimination trials held August 7 and 8. A total of 379 two-year-old quarter horses ran in the 440 yard trials with the top three finishers from each of the 33 divisions advancing to the time trials. There the 10 fastest horses will move onto the Labor Day million dollar finale. Three consolations are also scheduled for the 11th through 40th fastest horses.

The All-American Futurity is the third jewel in the juvenile Triple Crown for quarter horses. The winner's share is $440,000. There were just under 2,000 original nominations made in January 1979 to the nationally televised All-American, which is the industry's most prestigious race.

Pass Em Jet Star's half length victory in the elimination trials was the first of his short career. He did win an allowance outing at La Bahia Downs near Gollad, Texas, but was disqualified to fifth for interference. His only other two outings have come at Rollie White Downs where he was third in a trial heat and later finished fourth in a futurity finale.

Blount and Greene picked up Pass Em

Jet Star last year as a yearling in a private transaction. Blount had been involved in quarter horses on a show and performance level from his Georgia farm. Some time last summer he met a mutual friend of Doug McMullen, an active quarter horse owner from Palacios, Texas. After a series of inquiries and telephone calls, McMullen found a colt for the Steeler duo to purchase.

"I recommended him basically on his breeding," McMullen said. "I don't think he's a world beater, but he's still a pretty darn nice horse."

Blount and Greene bought Pass Em Jet Star sight unseen, but made the 10 o'clock news the first time they eyed the colt. When the Stealers flew into Houston, Texas, for a conference game last fall, McMullen and trainer Johnnie Goodman drove Pass Em Jet Star by van from Manor Downs to the team's hotel. There he paraded in front of his new owners and well as a host of television crews.

Goodman broke the colt at his training grounds. Unlike the steel curtain toughness of his owners, Pass Em Jet Star has had injury problems.

"He snubbed the first time I worked him out of the gates but he proved to me then he was a damn nice horse," said Goodman, who won over $85,000 with another Pass 'Em Up colt, Pass Em West. "He also snubbed at Gollad, but he pulled up pretty good after his last trial here."

"He's an honest colt. He'll hook it tough if he gets the chance. And he should have a good three-year-old career."

McMullen trained Pass Em Jet Star in the Texas bush tracks while Goodman was stabled at Ruidoso over the summer. "I think Mel and Joe are pretty excited about their colt. I'm sure if he does well this summer, they will think about buying more horses in the future," McMullen said.

Pass Em Jet Star was lightly regarded in the All-American elimination trials as the public gave him 6-1 odds. But jockey Billy Hunt rallied his colt in the middle of the track for a driving half length victory. It was the first time Pass Em Jet Star had traveled over 350 yards.

This year the Stealers are shooting for their third consecutive Super Bowl title and the fifth in the last six years. Greene was the nucleus for the famed steel curtain front line when he was a first round draft selection from North Texas State. The 10 time All-Pro defensive tackle recently won a Glop award for his touching performance in a Coca-Cola commercial.

Blount is an 11 year veteran from Southern University. The four time All-Pro cornerback was named the team's Most Valuable Player in 1976. He is currently fourth in the NFL in pass interceptions among active players.

A victory in the time trials and a possible appearance Labor Day for Pass Em Jet Star can only keep the winning tradition intact.

Four arrested following brawl

Four men were arrested by Ruidoso Police early Wednesday morning following a fight which took place outside The Wimmer's Circle.

All available police officers were dispatched to the scene, and when some of the participants allegedly began fighting with the officers, the ambulance crew was sent as a backup to those already on the scene.

Among those arrested was Terry Morris, 32, Oklahoma, who was charged with assault and battery on a police officer, interfering with an officer, and disorderly conduct. He was released later Wednesday on $1,500 bond.

Others arrested included Ruben Rivera, 25, El Paso, who was charged with disorderly conduct and interfering with an officer; and Leroy Sharp, 40, and Richard Chisum Chambers, 39, addresses unknown, who were charged with disorderly conduct. Rivera was released on $300 bond, while Sharp and Chambers were released on a bond of $100 each.

All-American yearling sale starts Monday

BY DICK ALWAN

The finest collection of quarter horse yearlings goes on the auction block in the 19th annual All-American Select Yearling Sale at Ruidoso Downs Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Just under 800 head, a sale record, have been cataloged to the three day sale, which is part of All-American Week at Ruidoso Downs.

Last year's sale broke every record when 610 head were sold for $8,800,300 for an average of $11,622. It was the 13th consecutive year the total sales surpassed the previous year's mark.

Each session will begin at 11 a.m., in the All-American Sales Arena located just off the backstretch on the track grounds. The auctioneers will be Bill Tackett, Keith Babb and Gordon Hannagan. Tom Hammond is the announcer. Tackett and Hammond are regulars at the prestigious Keeneland selected yearling sale at Lexington, Kentucky.

All of the yearlings (foals of 1979) are eligible to run in the 1981 $1,530,000 All-American Futurity, the $1,000,000 All-American Derby in 1982 and the $700,000 (est.) All-American Gold Cup in 1983. Also, each yearling is eligible to the 1981 $200,000 (est.) All-American Sale Futurity at Sunland Park.

Anne and B. F. Phillips Jr., of Frisco, Texas, were the largest consignors to the sale with 18 head, including four sired by Dash For Cash. Last year Dash For Cash was the leading stallion at the sale with his offspring selling for an average of $58,278. Included in his nine yearlings, which were from the World Champion's first crop, was the high seller, Shake It To Em, a filly out of Country Mama purchased for $190,000. This year Dash For Cash will have 17 yearlings consigned.

Another leading consignor is H. C. Lewis of Lubbock, Texas, with 13 head. The 440 Ranch, of Krum, Texas, and Walton Cox of Lubbock follow with 11 head each.

"Some of the finest bred horses ever have been cataloged to this year's sale," said Sales Manager Richard Thompson. "There are yearlings out of champion mares and offspring from mares who have produced champions."

This year's sale features eight yearlings out of mares who have earned over $100,000 each—including three American Quarter Horse Association champions. There are also 19 yearlings out of mares who have produced $100,000 winners. Six of those mares have produced champions.

The stallion index for this year's sale includes 56 yearlings from World Champion and all time leading sire, Easy Jet. His get last year earned over $1.9 million, more than twice as much as his nearest foe, Easy Jet, winner of the 1969 All-American Futurity, is the sire of two more All-American champions, Easy Date and Pie In The Sky. The cumulative earnings of his starters is over $9.6 million.

Other well known stallions indexed to the sale include the thoroughbred Azure Te with 31, Bugs Alive in 75 with 29, Hennen (TB) with 28, My Easy Credit with 21 and Dash For Cash with 17. Last year 28 Azure Te yearlings brought a record $865,400 in total sales for an average of $30,943.

Four of the offspring from the $100,000-plus mares are by Easy Jet. One of the most impressive is Hip No. 679, a sorrel filly who is the first foal from two-time champion She's Precious. Winner of over $242,000, She's Precious was named Champion Aged Horse and Champion Aged Mare in 1976. Her first yearling is named Do As She Does and was consigned by Dan and Jolene Urschel.

Bar None Doll, Champion Three-Year-

Old Filly in 1968 and Champion Aged Mare the following year, has a bay colt by Flaming Jet with Hip No. 58. He was consigned by Bert R. Coats. Chick Called Sue, a winner of $288,712 and Champion Two-Year-Old Filly of 1975, produced her first yearling, a brown colt by Pass 'Em Up (TB) who will wear Hip No. 128.

Other impressive race mares who have yearlings up for sale include Bobby's Angel, an All-American runner whose yearling is by Dash For Cash; Diamond Chicklet, winner of $152,875; Double Knit, winner of $117,151; Duplicate Eld, winner of $105,869; and Shearwright, winner of $108,884. Yearlings from Diamond Chicklet, Double Knit and Shearwright are by Easy Jet while Mango Jet is the sire of Duplicate Eld's yearling.

Six of the yearlings consigned to the sale are out of mares who have produced champions. One of the top colts is Hip No. 283, a son of Pass 'Em Up out of Go Galla Go, who produced 1970 All-American winner Rocket Wrangler. Also selling is a brown colt by Elevation (TB) out of Miss Jelly Roll, who produced 1979 All-American winner Pie In The Sky. Miss Jelly Roll was recently purchased for a record $1.1 million.

Other hip numbers to watch include 350, a bay colt by World Champion Tiny's Gay out of Key Deck, who produced $217,923 winner Top Rocket; No. 777, a full sister to Champion Three-Year-Old Colt Easy Move; No. 378, a full sister to Champion Two-Year-Old Colt Megahertz; and No. 54, a half sister to Champion Gelding Flight 109 by Easy Jet.

Numerous other offspring from the families that produced Denim N Diamonds, Jet View, Hot Idea, Moon Lark, Baby Hold On, Miss Louton, Streakin Six, Fols Native, Easy Azures and Ms Jenny are also assigned to the sale.

The All-American Sale began in a parking lot tent in 1962 with only 68 head going through for an average price of $3,132. It grew steadily through the following years but the turning point came in 1970 when 228 head were sold for $1,142,200—a 41 percent increase in the number sold and a solid 69 percent in the total sales.

Mr. Kid Charge, winner of the 1971 All-American Futurity, became the first big money winner to be purchased in the Sale. He went for less than $5,000. Hot Idea, winner of the 1977 All-American, was purchased for $4,000.

PEOPLE

ELIZABETH ARDEN COSMETICS has selected Ruidoso as a test area for its new "Millenium" line of facial products, and Arden representative Laura Stroup gave training to four Ruidoso salesladies at Don's Pharmacy last week.

'Amnesty Week' set at library

Ruidoso Public Library will have "Amnesty Week" September 1-7 and be closed September 8-13 "to take inventory of the collection," Marian Elzi, head librarian, said.

Elzi said the purpose of having Amnesty Week right before inventory "is to give people who might have forgotten to return a book and may have large fines, to return the book, no questions asked."

She said no fines for overdue books would be assessed during Amnesty Week in hopes that "we can get back some of the $20,000 worth of missing books we have cataloged."

Elzi said the library staff has been working on an inventory "when they have a spare minute" during library hours, but added that "it takes so long to get done that by the time we could get it completed, the first part of the inventory would be outdated."

Elzi said the staff will also "weed some of the collection, straighten the shelves, pull out books that need to go to the bindery and generally clean up the library."

Although school will be in session, Elzi said, "we hope we aren't going to interfere with students who need to use the library — that's why we're doing the inventory early in the school year."

Elzi said books which are due September 8-13 can be left in the book depository just outside the front door of the library, and people are welcome to call the library at 237-4335 for renewals.

Jean Howden to Germany under Rotary's program

JEAN HOWDEN

Jean Marie Howden, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Howden, leaves today from Dallas, Texas, for a year's stay in Arzberg, West Germany, as a participant in the Rotary Exchange program.

Howden will arrive in Frankfurt, where she will be met by the Dr. Carl Schumann family, with whom she will live the next three months. Over the course of her year's visit, Howden will live with four families and will attend school in Germany, where, she said, "it's more like a junior college here, so I'll have to study hard."

Howden said she knows how to speak some German and understands it fairly well. She learned the second language from a German youth, who spent several weeks in the Howden home on a private exchange this summer.

Howden said she has learned that she will be taking many side trips to other European countries and will go cross country skiing. "The family wrote and asked if I could bring ski clothing." She said she's never cross country skied before "but I'm really looking forward to learning." She has downhill skied eight years.

Her first home will be located only ten miles from the East Germany border and seven miles from Czechoslovakia. Her home will be near the "porcelain capital of Germany" and she's looking forward to visiting the factories there.

Howden plans to make many speeches and has packed a large supply of brochures and information about Ruidoso and surrounding communities. She also has slides of the different seasons in the area and will show those to her host Rotary organization, and others in the community.

"I think it'll be a real experience. I'll still miss my friends but I'll meet some new ones," she said.

TV program featured artist Snidow

Artist Gordon Snidow of Ruidoso was featured recently in a segment of the Western Outdoorsman television program, which airs on Albuquerque's KOAT Saturday afternoons.

The show, which is broadcast in 17 states, featured Snidow on a fishing trip at Vermejo Park in northern New Mexico. In other segments of the show, the crew followed Snidow as he conducted research for his paintings at a cattle ranch and as he worked on a painting at his Ruidoso studio.

Snidow said he found the filming experience "very interesting and enjoyable," although, "it's always scary when you're doing something like that for the first time."

The show was sponsored by Coors Brewing Company, which also has featured Snidow paintings in their advertising programs. The artist said he felt he was chosen because of his past association with the company and the fact that he has been portraying the life of the contemporary cowboy for the past 25 years.

Entertainment this week at the Fish Market Coffee House will be Barry Martin of El Paso, Texas. Martin is a singer/guitarist who performs his original music. He owns and operates a guitar shop in El Paso.

He has also toured the southwest with the Messiah Band, an El Paso group, for several years.

The Coffee House, located on Highway 37, will open Saturday at 7 p.m., and will be closed Friday night.

This year fall fashions are at their finest. Tailoring and fine fabrics are being seen in beautiful wools with classic details.

The main forecast is leaning toward pleated or flared skirts in tweeds, plaids and solids with a matching or contrasting lined blazer over a soft simply styled blouse. Pants are becoming softer while tailored as well — one or two pleats to make a trouser effect — simply belted.

The colors are varied and exciting in heather tones of forest green, cranberry, aubergine, silver grey, plum and the always classic camel.

We at A Place in The Sun have always felt that quality is remembered long after the price is forgotten. We maintain a policy of moderately priced items of the finest quality.

We invite you to come by and see the newest looks for fall 1980. We think you will agree — fashions are very exciting this year.

Following first week of full contact

Warrior gridsters feeling numerous aches, pains

BY MARK BAGBY
Sports Editor

The Ruidoso Warriors have almost finished their first week of practicing in pads, and bumps, bruises and other physical ailments are the result.

"We're all bruised up," head coach Darrel Stierwalt said during a Wednesday morning practice. "We've got knots and bumps, the sort of stuff you expect after banging around in pads."

Some, however, were not so expected. Offensive lineman Curt Temple sat out Wednesday morning's practice because of a cracked vertebra in his spine he received in a car wreck, and probable starting halfback Ricky Dennis may have a mild concussion.

Also, defensive stalwart Byron Wright is nursing a sore leg and ace quarterback Scott Neal is having mysterious attacks of indigestion.

"But we really don't have any real injuries," Stierwalt said. "I expect them all to be back soon. It takes a while to get used to the contact, and pads slow you down for a while. Overall, we're in good shape."

The Warriors are performing in pads almost exactly the way Stierwalt expected them to.

"Some have been a real surprise," he said. "Some of our younger players are a lot better than I thought they would be. There haven't been any real unpleasant surprises. We've got some hitters."

The defense has gotten additional work this week, according to defensive coordinator Ronny Maskew, and so far has performed admirably.

"The defense looks pretty good," he said. "We have the capabilities of being a better defensive team than last year."

"Some of our linemen and linebackers — Robert Langston, Chris Lopez, Lon Nunley, Yon Rue, Curt Temple, Mike Dale and Byron Wright — they're all doing extremely well, and our secondary is doing very well. We've got two complete secondaries, and they're going to be fighting for positions."

"Tuesday we had probably the best defensive practice we've had," Maskew said. "We put in a new defense, and the kids picked up what they were supposed to pick up real quick. That's encouraging."

Team offensive practice Tuesday wasn't so encouraging, Stierwalt said.

"We worked team offense quite a bit, and our trap series, and belly series, those gave us some problems," he said. "I guess we just haven't worked them enough. We looked ragged Tuesday."

But, he added, the Warriors are generally doing fine.

"We've got an awful lot of our offense in, our passing game is looking good and our receivers are catching the ball," he said. "I think our problem was just being tired from Monday's workout. Pads wear you out."

Not only are the Warriors working out in full gear twice a day, but following practice are wind sprints, and then quite often the players must run from three quarters of a mile to a full mile.

And if that isn't enough, the distance runs — which the players do on a quarter mile track — are timed, and each player must run his laps in a certain time.

If he doesn't make it, he gets to run more laps.

"We love this track," Stierwalt said, "and the players hate it. But I guarantee you one thing, we are going to be in shape. What good does it do us to learn all these plays and then not have the gas to run 'em?"

Workouts are still extremely strenuous for the Warriors, and the freshmen and newcomers are beginning a series of extra one hour practices to help familiarize them with the system, Stierwalt said.

"We aren't punishing them," he said. "We are trying to make better football players out of them. We want to win, our players want to win, and it takes a lot of work."

"We've got a great bunch out here this year. They're real coachable. It seemed like sometimes last year, you'd try to explain something, and if you didn't get it, they'd just kind of shrug and give you a blank stare."

"Not this bunch. They pick it up real quick, and if they don't, they ask, and if they still don't get it, they ask again, and if we have to, we draw it on the chalkboard in the dressing room."

"They've put up with a lot of hard workouts and conditioning, but I guarantee you I'll all pay off."

Sportin' Life

... a column of opinion ...

by

Mark Bagby

The story behind Houston Astros' pitcher J. R. Richard has bothered me a great deal.

Or rather, the reason he had a stroke bothers me.

For those who haven't heard, let me tell you what happened: J. R. was a top pitcher with the Astros, but he was complaining about a pain in his arm. Everybody thought he was a goldbrick, a shirker. "Shrug it off, J. R.," they told him.

Meanwhile, his salary demands were looking a bit exorbitant, and everyone in Houston thought he was faking. He kept taking himself out of games because his arm was sore. Sandy Koufax pitched no-hitters with a sore arm, and Roberto Clemente hit .317 with a bad back, so why can't J. R. forget the pain? "He's doing it to get them to meet his salary demands," was the consensus opinion.

He tried — doctors looked at his arm, said it's okay, there's nothing wrong with you, J. R. But still he took himself out of games, and J. R. Richard was as popular in Houston as J. R. Ewing is in Dallas.

But then, there was nothing wrong with Jimmy Piersall or Lou Gehrig either — and in Gehrig's case, he went four for 21 before they decided something was wrong.

Richard had to collapse in the locker room before they knew something was wrong.

Fitching a baseball almost killed him. The doctors looked at his arm — nothing wrong with that. It was a stroke, in his chest, not his arm. He pulled himself from the game because he didn't feel well. If he had pitched another inning, he would have been dead, doctors said, and there wouldn't have been anything anyone could have done about it either.

Coaches in general tell their players to ignore pain. But first, we have to recognize there are two types of pain — there is the pain of sore muscles, the pain of doing something you don't want to do, the pain that comes from the resentment of having to follow orders: ("Just one more wind sprint," or "Circle the bases again," or "Ten more reps, gentlemen.") That kind of pain.

Then there's real pain — that's spelled P-A-I-N, and it's nature's way of saying something is wrong with you. Put on the brakes, baby, take it easy and find out what the problem is.

The main problem is when coaches forget there is real pain, and it doesn't have to come from a collision between a 220 pound linebacker and a 180 pound halfback. It can come from illness, or a hereditary defect. It can be from something nobody has any control over.

I think coaches tend to forget there is real pain because, on the whole, athletes tend to be the laziest people in the world. It's funny, but finely tuned athletes, even the best in the world, can't stand to do the work they need to do to be the best in the world.

Athletes, in other words, tend toward goldbricking and shirking their duty. So coaches, whose job it is to make athletes do their duty, have to ride their backs and keep them from goldbricking, "for their own good."

Hence, we have cases like Jimmy Piersall, who had a mental illness ("more discipline" was the cure for his problem), and most people felt like Casey Stengel. "Crazy?" Stengel said. "He ain't crazy. He don't run to third base when he gets a hit, does he?"

Nothing was wrong with Lou Gehrig, either ... or J. R. Richard.

Sometimes I wonder if we ever learn — or if we're just lucky enough to have few cases, and those are far between.

Galen Farrington, take note

If long distance bike riding appeals to you (and your legs can pedal over two mountain passes), Budweiser's Third Annual Enchanted Circle-Wheeler Peak Century Tour in September may be just what you're looking for.

Beginning in Red River, New Mexico, (elevation 8,750 feet), the 100 mile tour proceeds mostly downhill for the first 40 miles, passing Taos and swinging east to Palo Flechado Pass (elevation 9,101 feet) on United States Highway 64, to Angel Fire and Eagle Nest, and topping out on Bobcat Pass (elevation 9,820 feet) on the downhill (Thank God) run back to Red River.

Your director John Miller is looking for more than 200 riders to make the trip, and advance reservations are way ahead of 1979's ride, Miller said.

Last year, 176 riders from four states signed up for the 3-7 hour ride that circles Wheeler Peak, New Mexico's highest point.

Activities begin Saturday, September 6, with some riding events in Red River, including a slow ride contest and the Bobcat Pass Time Trials, designed to get riders in shape for Sunday's long ride.

Trophies and other awards will be presented Saturday afternoon at a Budweiser-sponsored party.

"We want to emphasize this is a fun tour, not racing," Miller said. "Anyone can enter." But those under 18 must have parents' permission, he added.

For a registration form, write Bike Tour, Box 688, Red River, New Mexico 87550, or call (505) 764-2386. The ride begins at 8 a.m., Sunday, September 7.

All I want to know is whether Eric Helden is riding in it or not.

Alto Ladies tourney in progress

The Alto Ladies Golf Association championship tournament tied off Wednesday morning at Alto Lakes Country Club, with about 30 ladies taking part.

The three day tournament consists of two 18 hole flights and one nine hole flight.

Preliminary rounds will end Thursday, and finals will be played Friday afternoon. A Consolation play, known as the "Never Give Up" flight, will be Friday morning.

Gun Club opening new shooting range

The Ruidoso Gun Club is currently preparing its new 23 acre shooting range for various weapons.

The range, the old landfill site on Hale Lake Road (near Biscuit Hill Restaurant), replaces the club's old range adjoining Cedar Creek Campground.

The club gave up that range in January, 1979, due to the number of people in the area. Leaving that range wasn't easy for the club, which chartered itself in 1946 and is registered with the National Rifle Association.

Finding a new range was about as difficult, since there aren't too many locations in the area with flat surfaces of up to 500 meters, but finally, the Hale Lake Road location was chosen.

Applications were submitted to the United States Forest Service, and after a year and a half of environmental impact statements, surveys and various studies, the club was granted a lease.

Shooting benches, 22 caliber silhouette brackets, 100 meter and 200 meter target brackets have already been completed and may be used at any time by club members.

Big bore silhouettes will soon be set up, and a gravelled parking area and a chain link fence are planned, in addition to restroom facilities.

Also planned are a combat pistol range, trap and skeet ranges and a concrete bunker for storage of equipment.

Volleyball practice is August 26

Lady Warrior volleyball practice begins August 26 at 4 p.m., in the high school gymnasium, head coach Margie Andrus has announced.

All high school girls interested in trying out for the squad should attend the first practice with necessary athletic gear, and should be ready to play, she said.

The internationally acclaimed Gran Folklorico de Mexico is one of three headliners booked for the 14th annual Spanish Heritage Show at the 1980 New Mexico State Fair in Albuquerque. Fair Manager Bill Humphries said, "This is one of the really great dance companies around today and we're very happy to have them lined up for the fair." The 1980 Spanish Show will be held in Tingley Coliseum Wednesday night, September 10, starting at 8. There is no rodeo with the two hour show. Other headliners include singer David Salazar and the Latin touring group of the famed Up With People troupe. Gran Folklorico, winner of first prize in the World Folklore Festival in Yugoslavia, has a company of 35 dancers, singers and musicians. The new edition of the show, which is recognized by the Department of Culture of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of Mexico, includes a number of new dances and a ton of costumes representing 18 contrasting regions of Mexico.

Native songs, dances and costumes from throughout Mexico, backed by mariachi, marimba and jarocho bands, is a revelation of Mexican culture of the past and present as well as being exciting entertainment. The Gran Folklorico has given performances all over the world. There are plenty of good seats still available for the 14th annual Spanish Heritage Show, although the fair manager urges fans not to wait too long to obtain good choices.

SMOKE ALARMS
Every one's talking about something that's sweeping the country and being featured in newspapers, magazines, and on radio and television. To look at one, a person might wonder what the excitement is all about, because it's rather small and unobtrusive. But fire protection and public safety officials are hoping every dwelling will have one or more installed. It's called a smoke alarm, and it offers a measure of protection out of all proportion to its low cost, efficiency, and ease of installation. Considered the best form of fire warning for a family, a smoke alarm "discovers" a fire in its earliest stages. Smoke will be evident from a fire much sooner than heat, and will trigger the alarm waking sleeping occupants. Two types of alarms are available. One is called the ionization detector and the other the photoelectric detector. Information on which to use and where to install them can be obtained from fire protection groups, fire departments, and consumer organizations. So join the rest of the country in a massive effort to reduce injuries and fatalities from fires. Install smoke detectors in YOUR home! ## Home dried herbs, vegetables fresher

Drying is an old way of saving food that's come back in style, said Mae Martha Johnson, Extension food and nutrition specialist for New Mexico State University. Getting the food ready to dry is about the same as for canning or freezing — wash, peel and slice. Drying preserves by removing enough of the moisture to prevent growth of microorganisms. Blanching with either steam or water inactivates the enzymes in most vegetables and helps save the food's color and flavor. Onions, mushrooms and green peppers can be dried without treatment. For other vegetables, use blanching times for freezing.

For steam blanching you will need a large kettle with a wire basket or a colander to hold the vegetables above the boiling water. Put 2 or 3 inches of water in the kettle and bring it to a boil. Place the basket with no more than 2 inches of vegetables in the kettle above the boiling water. Cover the kettle tightly until the vegetables are limp or wilted. Immerse them in ice water to cool them quickly. Then spread them on paper towels to remove the excess moisture. For water blanching, fill a kettle with enough water to cover the vegetables. Add the vegetables in small amounts so that the water does not stop boiling. Blanch only about one pound at a time.

Reuse the water for several batches of the same vegetable. Closely time the blanching. Cool the vegetables by immersing them in ice water and spread them on paper towels to absorb the moisture. These vegetables can be dried in a home oven, in a dehydrator or under the sun. The drying process takes from a few hours to several days, depending on the vegetable and drying process. After the vegetables are dry, put them in a heavy plastic bag. Seal it tightly and put in the refrigerator for one day. If the vegetables are limp or moist, they need more drying. Pack the dried vegetables in glass jars or coffee cans lined with plastic bags. Seal the container tightly to protect the food from air and moisture. Store them in a cool, dry place. If you use glass jars, make sure the storage place is also dark. Light will cause loss of color and deterioration. Label and date the packages. Examine the packages regularly for signs of moisture. Under optimum storage conditions, dried foods will keep for one year. However, most are better if used within six months.

Thermostat ALERT

STOP wasting

energy, start saving money by raising your thermostat to 78. Most folks will be comfortable at 78; and will really welcome the savings that come from using less electricity. For example, by increasing your thermostat setting from 72° to 78°, your air conditioning can cost up to 50% less!

- To keep your home comfortable at 78; take these energy-saving steps:
- (1) Insulate and ventilate your attic to shield your home from outside heat and help prevent heat build-up.
  - (2) Apply caulking and install weatherstripping around doors and windows to seal cracks and lock in cool air.

Follow these suggestions and take the extra load off your air conditioner. Stop wasting energy. Raise your thermostat today and see lower electric bills in the future!

Pot Plants From Kitchen Scraps
The Children Can Grow

Every day, the kitchen waste-bin contains food scraps that can be grown into attractive plants. For example, the sprouting tops of fresh carrots, beetroots, parsnips and other root vegetables can form eye-catching foliage. So kids, of any age, just look around the kitchen and use your imagination. There are many things that will flourish on the window sill if given a chance.

A pineapple top grown in the same way forms an exotic houseplant, and it might one day flower and produce fruit of its own. The pineapple plant is very handsome, with long fleshy leaves arching out from the center. It is quite easy to grow from the sprouting top of a fresh pineapple. Slice the top off the fruit, leaving about an inch of fruit attached. Trim away the flesh to the hard, stringy part in the center. Leave it to dry for two or three days; this helps to prevent rotting.

Remove the bottom leaves, and plant the pineapple in a damp, sandy potting mix in a 5 inch pot. If necessary support it with sticks, and keep it in a light, warm place. Do not keep the soil too wet, but spray with water regularly. If you are lucky, it will develop roots and can then be treated like any other houseplant. Water and feed it regularly. It is not likely to produce fruit of its own, however you will have a pretty pot plant.

It is very easy to grow a delightfully ferny foliage plant from a carrot top. Cut the top inch from a large, fresh carrot. Stand it, cut end down, in a saucer of water, and keep it in full light. Keep the water level topped up, and the carrot will soon sprout. Exactly the same treatment can be given to the top of a beetroot, parsnip or turnip. Beetroot leaves are particularly attractive: a glossy rich green with prominent red veins.

Both potatoes and sweet potatoes can be grown if they are placed whole on a jar of water so that the bottom just touches the water. Choose an untreated "seed" potato if possible, the one with plenty of "eyes." If necessary use a cardboard collar to support it in the jar with the eyes at the top. With a sweet potato, put narrow-end down. Potatoes need cool, dark conditions to sprout; sweet potatoes prefer light and warmth. Roots will first grow, then shoots. Cut off all but one or two shoots if you want a lot of decorative top growth. This can grow to a length of several feet, and (like bean shoots) can be trained around a window frame. If you want to grow potatoes to eat you should plant them in a large pot.

If you have any questions about growing kitchen plants just write to me. Also, I would appreciate hearing from you on "how your garden grew" and perhaps you could send me some good growing hints.

Wilderness Wisdom with Wayne Calloway

Dear Wayne — I am an amateur photographer with ambitions of becoming a professional, although I'll admit I have much to learn. I have, however, accumulated a substantial amount of photography gear and it has created a transporting problem. I presently use a vinyl camera case, but I'm very dissatisfied with it because it doesn't offer the protection to the equipment or the organization I feel necessary.

I haven't been able to find one that offers the options I want. Could you suggest where I might find one? Jody L., Indiana
Dear Jody — The selection of a camera bag is pretty much a personal thing and is dependent upon the type of photography you normally practice. And, of course, how rough your equipment will be treated. I can't imagine why you aren't able to find one that fits your needs. Almost any camera shop with any stock at all should offer several choices.

I was recently thumbing through the Sears Camera and Photographic Supplies Catalog and noticed that it offers more than a dozen camera cases, including a sturdy aluminum model. This catalog can be ordered (at no charge) from the regular Sears catalog, or it can be picked up at a retail store. This is not an endorsement that Sears products are better than others, and I'm sure other mail order suppliers offer comparable values. It is intended as an idea of the sources available.

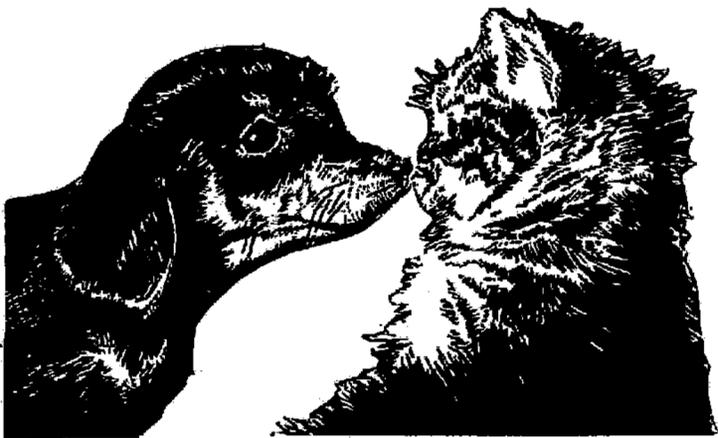

A TRIP around the world is the "thing" Shirley Neuhaus would like most, which she expressed in this exhibit of a calendula which won a first place ribbon in the Ruidoso Garden Club's flower show.

Focus on Small Business

by E. Maine Shafer

Dear Mr. Shafer: There appears to be more bad check-passing during today's trying economic conditions. Any suggestions? Winning the battle of wits against worthless check-passers is mostly a matter of knowledge and vigilance. You simply have to know what you're up against, pass the information on to your employees, and be constantly on guard when accepting checks.

You are likely to get six different kinds of checks: personal, two-party, payroll, Government, blank, counter, and traveler. Some customers may offer money orders. You and your employees should be familiar with each, and you should have a policy on cashing them.

A check carries several key items such as name and location of the bank, date, amount (in figures and spelled out), and signature. Close examination of such key items can sometimes tip you off to a worthless check. Use extra care in examining a check that is not drawn on a local bank and require the best type of identification. Examine the date for accuracy of day, month, and year. Watch out for checks more than 30 days old, and be sure that the numerical amount agrees with the written amount. Take special care in accepting a two-party personal check. Personal checks should be for the exact amount of the purchase. Also set a limit on the amount of the check, depending on the amount of your average sale.

After you are satisfied that the check is okay, the question is: "Is the person the right person?" Require identification - usually two pieces. Some useful identifications are current automobile operator licenses; automobile registration cards; shopping plates; government passes; ID cards issued by the armed services; police departments and companies that carry a photo description and a signature. Unless they are presented along with a current automobile operator license, it is not advisable to accept such card items as social security, business, club, library, unsigned credit, voter's registration, or bank books, work permits, letters or birth certificates.

The Small Business Administration issues a handy publication, Outwitting Bad Check-Passers, under its Small Marketers Aids. This publication is available from your local SBA office at 5000 Marble, N.E., Albuquerque, New Mexico, 87110.

Wilderness Wisdom

with Wayne Calloway

Dear Wayne - Given the fact that our national parks are being subjected to heavier use each year from more people, with more leisure time, will we eventually damage or destroy the environment of these areas which we try so hard to preserve? It would seem shameful to destroy our natural wonders through affection. Yet, if we arrive at a point where we, or our children, cannot freely enjoy them by visiting, of what value will they then be? Ellen J., Wisconsin or to a bystander. Many of these allege that the firearm did not have adequate safety devices built into it. Does this indicate that even the major manufacturers are giving the safety of their product a backseat nowadays? Glenn T., Ohio

Dear Glenn - No, I don't see it that way. In fact, I would say the opposite is true. More effort is being made to make firearms safer.

While it's true that some accidents occur when a firearm performs differently than its designers intend, by and large, most accidents result from human error. Many cases clearly show a lack of good judgement and common sense. Regardless of the number of safeties built into a firearm, some people will still shoot themselves, or someone else. It is impossible to "bullet proof" any dangerous device and still make it workable.

Perhaps the most disturbing fact is that courts sometimes rule against firearm manufacturers when the evidence clearly indicates a total lack of safe handling by the user. The resulting suits cause manufacturing prices to spiral ever upward. And guess who ultimately picks up the tab?

Dear Ellen - We have already arrived at a point where some national park administrators have found it necessary to curtail or limit auto access to certain areas within their parks. This results when careful and continuous monitoring indicates that vehicular traffic in a given area is indeed adversely affecting the plant and animal life to a degree that cannot be tolerated.

Given the fact that our national parks are outstanding examples of professional management, involving extensive budgets and highly trained personnel, I believe we need not worry that the integrity of the parks will be protected. Are we likely to see the time when visitations to the parks will be a thing of the past? I don't think so. At worst, it may be necessary to limit or schedule visitations to some, but I think people will still be afforded a reasonable opportunity to experience firsthand the beauty of our parks.

TIP FROM HEADER - The users of down filled sleeping bags don't need to be convinced of their excellent insulating ability, but there are a few things a new owner of such a bag should ponder.

A down bag offers a relatively poor insulating value when the down is crushed or matted together. Additionally, high humidity or body perspiration can cause the down to mold unless the bag is properly dried, and mold or mildew is bad news for sure. Down filling has escalated in price considerably, just as everything else has, and a good quality down bag now represents a substantial investment, so it makes good sense to prolong the life of your investment.

As soon as possible after an outing, fluff up and dry the bag in a clothes dryer set on low heat. The addition of a tennis shoe into the dryer will help fluff the bag quicker and more effectively. Your bag will then be ready to provide maximum efficiency during its next use. Joe R., Vermont

Our national parks are designated such because they are outstanding areas of natural beauty. They are the best we have. We simply cannot let them become otherwise.

Dear Wayne - In recent years there seems to have been an unusually large number of lawsuits filed against firearm manufacturers involving accidental discharges resulting in injury to the user

Inside The Capitol

by Fred McCaffrey

SANTA FE - Loyalty is a funny thing, but most politically oriented folks still value it very highly.

That's why they react sharply when somebody like Dorothy Runnels supports the presidential candidate from the opposition party, as she did with Barry Goldwater in the 1964 election.

Mrs. Runnels tries to tough it out now and say, "I am my own person, and I get to do whatever I want." But most people see that action in terms of one fact: Mrs. Runnels' husband had served in the State Senate and in the Congress of the United States under the banner of the Democratic party. They tend to feel that lays a moral obligation on members of his family to show loyalty to those who have been loyal to him.

And they wonder: If she voted for Goldwater, where does she stand on Reagan?

Tough question, and maybe ungalant to be bringing it up so soon after her husband's death.

But then she did inject herself into politics during this mourning period by announcing that she wanted to succeed Harold in Washington.

The funny thing is that any of us can vote for anybody we want to support without that fact being known. The voting booth is one of the most totally private places in the world; even in the confession booth or the bedroom, both bastions of privacy, someone else is present when the privacy is most desired.

What gets people in trouble is blabbing about how they plan to vote or have voted in the past.

Roberto Mondragon once blurted out at a campaign rally that he had voted for Richard Milhouse Nixon in 1968, a fact none of us would have known if he hadn't been so unwise as to tell us. After we talked taked at Bob for not having supported that happy liberal, Hubert Horatio Humphrey, we went on to remember that Bob himself had been asking Democrats in his legislative district to support him while he cast his vote for a Republican.

Dear Abby, who advises married folks that it isn't obligatory for them to confess all to their mates, would probably agree that politicians would be wiser sometimes to button their lips.

Former Senator Gene McCarthy has always had a somewhat jaundiced view of politicians, even while he ran his own abortive campaigns for the presidency.

As you can well imagine, he found this summer's silly season, with two political conventions and the Olympics in Moscow, good material for a few hollow laughs.

Reagan, he remarked after the two political parties had convened, was busy stealing the Democratic platform of 1932 for his own use; while Teddy Kennedy, whom many Democrats found too frighteningly liberal, was only about as far out in front as the Democratic platform of 1936.

That led us to go back and look up those two platforms.

It turns out the 1932 one would be much too liberal for Reagan ever to stomach. Perhaps 1932 was the year the Senator had in mind.

The 1936 one has a beautiful paragraph in which the Democratic party is taking credit for having stopped deflation in America. If ending deflation is a virtue - and right now it looks to most of us like considerable of a vice - how come those platform-writers in New York didn't hop on that as another of the accomplishments of their party today?

You missed a good chance there, fellows.

Letters to the Editor

Dear editor:

URGENT! I would like to claim equal newspaper space in rebuttal to your opinions expressed in the editorial of 8/14/80. Your readers should be given ample time prior to August 23rd, to consider my comments on your appeal to urge appointment of Dorothy Runnels to replace the late Congressman Harold Runnels.

I wonder if it is an illusion to expect honesty and true interest in the welfare of our New Mexico citizenry from a politician, or is it that the FIVE terms, ten years, served by Runnels has created that disillusionment? With hope, a new face and family could again give us pride and faith in the completion of this term of office of Congressman.

Do the voting citizens know where Dorothy Runnel's true interests lie? Do you or do they have any personal knowledge of her principles and ideals or are they influenced by often misguided eloquence of speeches and newspaper articles? Are the people in this state going to support her simply on the sadness and pity of her personal loss? Before writing any letters of support for her ask yourselves these questions!

I feel Mrs. Runnels has only self-serving objectives in her request for appointment to office. Unfortunately, I think her ways and means of achievement in her dealings with working men and women of this state could be questioned. Is she fair and just? Should we not examine the possibility that moral standards and ideals are the make up of any person and will remain so, either in or out of public office?

One more thought, why are there now so many people interested and willing to take up the leadership of this office when for so many long years few, if any, sought his office or opposed his ballot during election years? What were they afraid of? Is it only, now, they have the courage to speak out? Surely in this democratic system this is a strange and ominous note!

Our government is our democratic way of life and two years of government under the leadership of the wrong Congressman can be greatly injurious to the hard working people of our beautiful state of New Mexico.

Lindsay Rusler, very concerned businesswoman

Dear editor:

I have moved to Alto in June and will be living here all year. As a member of the New Mexico Mountain Club in Albuquerque, I am anxious to find people who are interested in hiking the trails in this area.

Perhaps we could get a branch of the club started in this area. Interested persons could call me at 336-4224.

EQUALITY VIGILANCE

It was 25 years ago that Rosa Parks of Montgomery, Ala., gave sharp impetus to the civil rights movement when she refused to give up her bus seat to a white man. Her refusal to be a docile "good nigger" and go to the back of the bus had much to do with ending segregated seating throughout the country.

A generation of young Americans has grown up since that time. Those now in their 20s may find it hard to understand how it was a quarter of a century ago. Segregated bus seating was only one of the pervasive insults to blacks; in many places they could not sit at lunch counters patronized by whites, or drink at public water fountains or go into public restrooms used by whites.

The intervening period has seen a burgeoning of law to bring a halt to these and other discriminatory practices. There is still discrimination, but in the 25-year perspective it can be seen that conditions have markedly improved. Though it may not seem so, in light of recent events in Miami and other cities, there can be no doubt that so far as overt discrimination is concerned things are substantially better now.

Even so, it is of great importance that those who support the concept of equality not slacken their efforts to achieve it. Mrs. Parks said it well at a National Dental Association ceremony honoring her for her part in the struggle.

Noting that the fight for equal rights must continue, she said to her fellow blacks: "If we give up we'll find ourselves slipping back into what we suffered in the past. We can't permit that to happen. There's too much at stake to fall to be eternally vigilant." That goes for all Americans of good will no matter what their racial or ethnic origins may be. - Alamogordo Daily News

INDIAN ARTS/CRAFTS

The Indian Arts and Crafts Board, United States Department of the Interior, Washington, D.C. 20240... dispenses free booklets on where to obtain what in the way of Indian arts and crafts.

Heading the list of suppliers is Oklahoma, with 27 outlets... then there's New Mexico with 17... Arizona with 18... which makes us'n here in The Land of Enchantment No. 2... but only by a hair... but, considering everything... that's a pretty good ranking... and certainly speaks well for our state's Indian artists and craftsmen... yes?

NOISY MUDDY WATERS

The showers of late have turned our Noisy Waters... which we do call the Rio Ruidoso... into noisy muddy waters... but, if it keeps on raining on the watershed... soon the water'll clear... and fill our reservoir... to toss nothing of our taps with cool, clear, unsmelly water... and there really ain't nothing much more than that that most everyone here in Harmony Valley wants... and yesterday'd be just fine for it to happen.

POLITICAL INACTIVITY

Lotsa folks hereabouts were certainly doing a lot of talking about the convention the Democrats were fighting at... and kinda enjoyin' what happened... and secretly wishin' that more had.

And then there's all the activity about the Congressional seat held by Harold Runnels... and lotsa folks as wants it... and plenty more with opinions as to who should get it... but it do look as though the voter'll have a say... with there being those as is wishin' they wouldn't have.

But it's here on the county level where it seems as though there's not much going on... and you hardly hear any comments at all about the upcoming races... the outcome of which might, or might not, effect us a great deal.

Sure be nice... In the wake of non-surprises at the presidential level... to have the county candidates get out... and get to swingin' on their opponent... and get folks all excited... and all... and just maybe we can have a real barn burner of a general election for county candidates... and not lose much sleep over who gets to be our next president... no?

OUR JIMMY'S THINKIN'

Our Jimmy mighta set around on his duff... being misled about things by his advisors who misled him... but he's shrugged that all off... and you can risk your next mortgage payment that he's doing plenty of thinkin' about what he should be doin'... if'n he wants to get a second chance at being our president... and seems it's his last chance to give it a try.

What he's figurin', see... is that the solid South'll go solid for him... and that the industrial states'll see the wisdom of going along with him, based on the promises he'll be making... and that he'll do right well down Texas way... and that he can get enough electoral college votes from 13 or 14 states... to carry him through... and forget about the rest of the country's voters... with that kinda thinkin' maybe gettin' him in trouble.

But... he do look on the bright side of things... 'cause he sees no reason to pay no never mind to the dark clouds cloudin' up his political horizon... 'cause that'd be a defeatist attitude... which, by Jinkies, he ain't got.

RONNIE'S RIP-ROARING

Now it's becoming increasingly clear that Ronnie's gonna get in there swingin'... 'cause he's thinkin' that, as favorable as the polls is, that it's depending on the polls as has got some politicos in trouble... and he figures he's got problems of his own... trying to convince them there heavy electoral vote states that Our Jimmy's not doin' right by them... and, judgin' from some of the things labor/mining men has been saying... Ronnie might not have much convincin' to get done... to convince them.

Sure be interestin' watchin'... as Our Jimmy looses both barrels on Ronnie... if'n Ronnie acts as though he's duckin' the blasts... or if'n he just acts that way... but it's for sure that Our Jimmy's gonna know that Ronnie's not gunning for bear... he wants Our Jimmy's hide.

But Ronnie's got one plus sorta cooking on the back burner... 'cause there's some of the Democrats as ain't all that pleased with Our Jimmy... which might cause Ronnie to worry that Anderson'll wind up with their votes.

BRIEF BIT: Cheer up... after the next two weekends of horse racing it'll only be eight short months until the 1981 meeting gets underway... CD

Gran Quivira Cultural Heritage Festival schedule August 31

The Gran Quivira Cultural Heritage Festival will be presented August 31 at Gran Quivira National Monument, 28 miles south of Mountainair on Highway 14. "The public is invited to attend this free cultural happening," acting superintendent Thomas Carroll said, "to enjoy a day of quality family entertainment."

Activities in the massive ruins of the Pueblo de las Humanas, at the Monument, begin at 9 a.m., and conclude with a 4 p.m. Mass in the 1659 Franciscan church of San Buenaventura.

The program includes:

— Dance of the Mountain Gods by the Mescalero Apaches, the Towan Indian Dance club of Jemez Pueblo, the Paganote Deer Dancers, the San Juan Pueblo dancers and the Many Tribes Indian Dancers from Isleta Pueblo.

— The Ballet Folklorico de Albuquerque performing dances from Jalisco and the Huasteca regions along with Nortenos; the Mariachi Tenampa's three hour program; music by Ray Garcia's Band and pinatas for children's games.

— Craft demonstrations from 9 a.m.-4 p.m.

Group performances will be continuous from the central part of the ruins and at the pueblo.

"This year's program is being presented as a part of the tricentennial celebration of the 1680 Pueblo Revolt," Carroll said, "and commemorates over 300 years of cultural change and continuity after the abandonment of Gran Quivira in the early 1670's."

YCC program 'successful'

A Youth Conservation Corps (YCC) unit based on Smokey Bear Ranger District, Lincoln National Forest, ended its eight week program August 8 and was termed a "successful year," by crew leader Dean Hood and crew director Bob Palko.

The program, designed to give youths 15-18 a chance for summer employment while learning conservation practices, enjoyed its third year of existence with 12 crew members completing a number of tasks, Hood said.

Ten miles of trail maintenance on hiking and horse trails, as well as in some wilderness areas, was completed. Pedestrian log bridges were built at South Fork campground, worn trails were maintained with soil erosion breaks and then resceded, and general cleanup of forest areas was also done, Hood said.

A three day project completed in the Jicarilla Mountains provided a wildlife spring in an area where water is usually scarce, Palko said. An existing spring was dammed to form a pond and a pipe was laid in the dam to run water from the dam into a wildlife trough. The entire area was fenced to keep cattle out, but allows wildlife to jump the fence to find water, he said.

Barrier posts were erected around South Fork Campground, Cedar Creek picnic area and Three Rivers Campground. "The purpose of these is to keep vehicular traffic out of unauthorized areas," Hood said.

An overnight trip composed part of the environmental awareness portion of the program. The youths are required to have ten hours per week in sessions which make them aware of the importance of conservation and related topics.

The first day of the excursion included a trip to Gran Quivira Indian ruins north of Carrizozo, a settlement, Hood said, dating back to the 1100-1200's. After a campout at 10,500 feet in the Magdalena Mountains, the YCC visited Langmuir lightning research center operated by the New Mexico Institute of Technology. It gave the youths a look at radar studies, helium filled balloon experiments and other research projects which are conducted at the center through the rainy seasons, Hood said. He added that the Forest Service also helps operate Langmuir.

The House of Old Things in Ancho provided another side trip for the YCC the first day of the camping trip, Hood said. It is the home of many photographs, clippings and memorabilia dating to the early 1800's. The history of Lincoln County and some forest history comprise most of the subject matter, he said.

The Forest Service anticipates continuation of the YCC program next summer, with 12 members in the Smokey Bear crew expected. Hood said only one, at most, will be a returning crew member. "According to regulations, we can rehire one tenth of the total crew the following year," he said.

State's employment, unemployment up, labor force report indicates

Both population and employment increased significantly in New Mexico during 1979, with 26,000 residents and about 17,000 nonagricultural jobs added during the year, New Mexico Employment Security Department Secretary Eric P. Serna has announced. Unemployment increased to 8.6 percent in 1979 from 5.6 percent a year earlier.

These figures come from the 1980 edition of the New Mexico Annual Planning Report, recently published by the department's Research and Statistics section.

"The state's population now stands at 1,241,000 and total employment at about 500,000, including 460,000 salaried nonagricultural jobs," Serna said. "This is a continuation of significant population and employment changes that have taken place throughout the 1970s."

For the decade of the 1970s, the New Mexico population increased by 222,900 people, almost 22 percent and almost three times the national average growth rate. The increase was unequally divided between a natural increase of births over deaths of 130,000 and a net immigration of 94,000.

The state's civilian labor force changed in three major areas between 1970 and 1978: first, it increased by 53 percent, more than twice the national rate of 21 percent; second, the number of women in the force increased by 74 percent and they increased their percentage of the labor force by five percent, from 36 percent in 1970 to 41 percent in 1978; and third, the number of people under the age of 25 in the labor force increased by 63,100 or 89 percent.

The civilian labor force growth of 162,500 people was due to both the rapidly increasing population and the increasing percentage of the population seeking work. The number of New Mexicans not confined to institutions and 16 years of age or older grew by 194,600, or 28 percent. Concurrently, the percentage of the population seeking employment, the labor force participation rate, went from 52 percent in 1970 to 63 percent in 1978.

"Demographic changes will have an impact on the future occupational and industrial labor force of the state," Serna said. The number of youths aged from five to 17 declined by 16,000, from 30.5 percent of the New Mexico population in 1970 to 23.7 percent in 1979. This is a group with traditionally high unemployment, and its smaller size will result in some slight improvement in the overall unemployment rate during the 1980s. This reduction will negatively affect jobs in secondary and higher education. In the same decade, the numbers of the under five age group increased by 15,000, or 16.4 percent, in contrast to the national decline of 8.8 percent. A possible impact of this change may be a strengthening of employment in elementary education here in the early 1980s.

The population older than 65 continued to grow, increasing by 39,000 or 54.8 percent, the sharpest change in an age group and twice the national rate of 23.5 percent. Industries serving this population, such as medical clinics and retirement homes, should experience increased demand.

Based on these figures and other information, economic growth will remain strong in some sectors, but will exhibit weaknesses in other areas during fiscal year 1981. Figures indicate New Mexico will fare better in economic growth and unemployment than the rest of the country during a recession because of an industrial makeup with a small heavy manufacturing sector and large government and services groups.

Mining employment will continue to increase in most mineral areas and will indirectly support growth across several industries. A number of manufacturing companies are planning major expansion. Heavy construction for industrial development will be strong, and a home building recovery should be underway during the year. Tourism is expected to be off, especially in rural areas, due to high gas prices. Government agencies will restrict hiring due to sharply higher operating costs and diminishing revenues.

"The unemployment rate will probably increase moderately as the labor force increases, led by such groups as immigrants from other states, school graduates, and working women, exceeds employment growth," Serna said. "Many rural areas may remain unable to provide sufficient jobs for their residents."

Among occupations likely to offer the best employment prospects in the next year are mining, maintenance (appliance, auto, auto body, diesel, television), data processing (data entry, programmer, systems analyst), office work (accountant), industrial (assemblers, benchwork, metal trades), clerical-skilled (medical transcriptionists, secretary, typist), engineering (civil, electrical, mechanical), food services (cook, waiter/waitress), health services (nurse), construction (electrician, plumber), and sales. Good training and previous experience will probably be important factors in getting a job in these fields.

Despite economic growth, poverty and underemployment remain major problems in the state, concentrated in rural areas and among minority groups. More than one in seven New Mexico families had less than a poverty-level income in 1975, the latest year for which figures are available. This represents the second highest rate in the country. Employment Security Department statisticians estimated about 150,000 people are now eligible for CETA manpower programs due to unemployment, underemployment, or poverty criteria.

Secretary Serna noted a number of problems continue to act as barriers to employment. These include lack of suitable job opportunities, inadequate education or experience, poor transportation, failing health, age, lack of child care facilities, limited knowledge of the job market, and discrimination. These factors are often interrelated.

Gary Myers — a professional "artist of the West"

In Ruidoso (and other parts of the Southwest) the mention of the name Gary Myers brings to mind the designation "western artist." But Myers himself refuses to be "pigeonholed" in such a category.

A close look at his background and accomplishments reveals a varied career which also defies such neat categorization. Born and raised in Oklahoma, Myers said he was always keenly interested in art, but during his high school years, he had decided on a career as an architect. As it turned out, he lost a scholarship in that field, a development he now views as a positive factor. On impulse, he decided to enroll in Oklahoma State University's art school instead.

Myers became a student instructor of art classes there in 1962, and three years later was promoted to head of the art school, a position he held for two years.

He left the university for a stint in the army, and later joined two other artists in a freelance design and illustration studio in Oklahoma City. His next career move was into a position as art director for the Lowe-Runkel advertising agency in the same city. In that capacity, he designed and executed illustrations for books and educational materials.

His next career move was to a position as art director for an advertising agency, with duties ranging from commercial illustration and design to directing television commercials.

As he was "moving up" in the field of commercial art and polishing his technical skills, he painted a few works, primarily for his own diversion, he said. And eventually, the desire to devote more time to "fine art" as opposed to "fine communication pieces," won out.

Myers and his wife, Mary, began looking around for a place to relocate, seeking an environment which would be beneficial for raising their two daughters, Vicki and Carle, and conducive to his career, as well.

Encouraged by two other local artists, Tom and Dorothy Knapp, the Myers family chose Ruidoso as their new home in 1975. The children were young enough to adjust easily to a new locale, and Ruidoso happened to be situated "in the heart of the Southwest—which is my subject matter," he said.

And besides, "It's just a beautiful place to live and work."

He began "painting seriously" at that time, exploring different styles and entering as many shows as he could. The difference between his commercial art career and his present endeavors is difficult to explain, he said.

His painting now require "the same degree of skill and ability," but they are "applied in a different way," he said. Yet, if it hadn't been for those experiences in education, design and illustration, he would not have had the "confidence to break away" from the commercial art world.

During his five years residence in Ruidoso, Myers said, he has developed a style which has become recognizable, and his success has freed him to paint his favorite subjects. He now does about 12 to 15 paintings and at least one bronze sculpture per year.

His paintings and other works are displayed in Ruidoso at the two locations of Bearclaw Gallery, which are owned and operated by Mary Myers; at Trailside Galleries in Scottsdale, Arizona, and Jackson Hole, Wyoming; and at the Oklahoma Art Center in Oklahoma City.

His works are shown extensively in Texas, and he has exhibited in group shows at the Cowboy Hall of Fame. He has also provided several cover paintings for such magazines as the American Quarter Horse Journal and Quarter Racing.

Although the majority of his paintings reflect "contemporary New Mexico ranch life," and the lives of Southwestern Indians, he still shies away from the "western artist" label.

Western artists as a group, he said, have only their subject matter in common. "I'm involved in painting things of the West, but I don't consider myself a western artist," he said. "I'm an artist regardless of what I'm painting." If it weren't for the availability of "western" subject matter in the state, "I'd be painting something else," he added. "Not only to succeed financially, but to grow as an artist."

Myers' watercolors are inspired by the "clear lucid light of New Mexico," and he tends to concentrate on "the human element" in many of his works.

Still, he doesn't limit himself strictly in his subject matter or methods. He is in the process of making studies for a series of oil landscapes which will depict familiar scenes of the area, but he also engages in field studies aimed at capturing the human element of ranch life throughout the state.

Myers said he is "enjoying the style of painting" in which he is currently involved, emphasizing color values and contrasts. He also enjoys the travel necessitated by his work, and the freedom to deviate from the normal "8 to 5" schedule of many professions.

When not working on location, he paints in the studio located on a hill behind his home, and "I might work two hours at a time—or all night."

The freedom from such schedules may have a few drawbacks though. On first meeting him, people may ask what he does, and "when I say, 'I'm an artist,' they say, 'Oh. But what do you do for a living?'" And at least once, a neighbor child asked, "why Vicki's daddy doesn't go to work" like other fathers.

The image of artists as professionals, Myers feels, also was hurt by the "non-objective and non-realistic" art of the "1950's and 60's." One of his goals is to make the general public more aware of the fact that "artists make as much of a contribution to society as any other profession."

When he's not pursuing his career, Myers can be found with guitar in hand, "jamming," country and western style, with a group of other artists and teachers of the area. He particularly enjoys his association with other artists, who provide support for one another by discussing business trends and common problems—or by forgetting those problems for a while by sharing a Willie Nelson song.

"For years, New Mexico has been a mecca for artists—northern New Mexico as a general rule," he said. "But now Ruidoso is beginning to attract more artists and people interested in art. I'm happy to be a part of it."

Myers would also like to see an organization of artists in the area, and "an annual show featuring Ruidoso artists would be nice," he added.

His future plans include more paintings, a sculpture of a "pioneer type ranch mother," the series of Ruidoso area landscapes and generally continuing to "practice my art the way I want, without having to conform to be accepted."

Public acceptance of his work, which has been growing over the past five years of "serious painting," seems likely to continue also.

As Myers said, "my career is really just beginning."

Photos and text by Gwyneth Jones

COLOR VALUES AND CONTRASTS are a primary concern in Myers' watercolor paintings. Above, he works on a portrait of a Texas rancher.

SOUTHWESTERN SUBJECTS are the primary elements of Myers' paintings. An Indian ceremonial singer, "The In-Between Man," is the subject of the limited edition print pictured above.

"WORKIN' AND WISHIN' FOR RAIN," an original watercolor by Gary Myers, captures a dusty moment in the life of working cowboys. The artist's works are displayed locally at the two locations of the Bearclaw Gallery.

"Artists make as much of a contribution to society as any other profession."

GARY MYERS abandoned a highly successful commercial art career in Oklahoma City to pursue "serious painting" in Ruidoso—"the heart of the Southwest."

Trainer William F. Leach saddled all of Uriegas' winners to earn his third Trainer of the Week title this summer.

Bickel had one winner Thursday, two Friday and a solo win Saturday to roll up his seasonal total to 40. His victories Friday came during the All-American Derby trials and Bickel qualified Afternoon Surprise to the million dollar finale. His other winner, Wakeup Lil Suzy, will run in the Consolation.

One of Bickel's tie breaking second place finishes came in the Ruidoso Thoroughbred Derby on 14-1 longshot Farmer County Kid.

Leach's horses won the 11th race Thursday, then captured the second, third and 11th races Saturday. Two of his winners Saturday, Fill Mackis Cup and Real Feather Bed, qualified for the Ruidoso Thoroughbred Futurity.

In the overall trainer standings, Leach moved three steps closer to the leader, Bob E. Arnett who had only one win over the weekend. Arnett leads with 29 wins while Leach has 25. Shirley A. Montgomery follows with 19 wins. There are five trainers who round out the standings with 15 victories each.

Joe Martinez, who scored three wins over the weekend, continues to lead the overall jockey standings. He has 50 while Jackie Martin has 41 wins. Bickel follows with 40.

Racing at Ruidoso Downs enters its next-to-last weekend today and offers a full schedule of quarter horse and thoroughbred racing. A 6 1/2 furlong feature for three-year-olds heads up Thursday's card while trials for the $1,280,000 All-American Futurity will be held Friday. Over 110 head, including Clever Bug, Mighty Deck Three, Six Fols, Easily Smashed, Easy Joni Jet, Jet View, My Kids Trouble, Mystic Eye, Shake It To Em and Tiny Gay Bug will be in action.

Saturday's agenda is filled by the $16,000-added Ruidoso Sprint Championship over six furlongs. Also set is the $209,050 All-American Derby Consolation. Streakin Six and Wakeup Lil Suzy are the top contenders.

The weekend pinnacle is the $1,222,789 All-American Derby over 440 yards. A blue ribbon field of three-year-olds, including Denim N Diamonds, Jaimie Jay, Pie In The Sky, Sages Belle Star and Afternoon Surprise will be in action. First place money is a record $501,147.

Ruidoso Downs Hoofbeats

BY MIKE MAGDA

ONE OF THE TIGHTEST fields ever assembled for an All-American Derby was determined Thursday in time trials for the three-year-old classic. The fastest qualifier was Jaimie Jay, who covered the 440 yard distance in 22.40 seconds. But the ninth fastest horse, Truck N Stuff, was only 10 hundredths of a second behind. Over 120 head competed in the trials, hoping for a spot in the August 24 grand finale, which carries a purse of $1,222,789. The gross purse of the All-American Derby is $1,431,830, which makes it the richest quarter horse or thoroughbred race in the world. A purse of $209,050 will be distributed in the August 23 Consolation.

JAIMIE JAY WON the 12th division in a time of 22.40 seconds to earn the top qualifying honors. The daughter of Jim J. won her heat by almost four lengths with Jackie Martin aboard. Jaimie Jay is the leading money winner this year in the field with $168,072. Her biggest victory came in the Kansas Derby and she placed second in the Rainbow Derby. Jaimie Jay is owned by W. E. Mueller of Colorado Springs, Colorado, and trained by Robert L. Gilbert.

HERE ARE THE REMAINING qualifiers and their times: Afternoon Surprise, owned by Ben and Leighann McCutchin of Dallas, Texas, 22.42; Denim N Diamonds, owned by R. D. Hubbard of Wichita, Kansas, 22.43; Pie In The Sky, owned by Dan and Jolene Urschel of Canadian, Texas, 22.45; Pea Jay Jet, owned by Melvin R. Karr and Stan Fancher of Lubbock, Texas, 22.47; Native Gambler, owned by Gary J. Benton of Lubbock, Texas, 22.47; Sages Belle Star, owned by J. H. Crouch Jr., of Midland, Texas, 22.49; Chicks Charger Bar, owned by Bobby and Pete Perez Sr., and Pete Perez Jr., of Grand Prairie, Texas, 22.50; Truck N Stuff, owned by D. C. O'Guin of Magnolia, Texas, 22.50; Charge It Papa, owned by James Keng of Giddings, Texas, 22.58.

THREE OF THE QUALIFIERS were purchased in the 1978 All-American Select Yearling Sale. They include Denim N Diamonds for $32,000; Native Gambler for $8,500 and Charge It Papa for $6,200. The last place horse in the Derby is assured of $48,682. The total earnings of the field is $1,362,512. Heading up the list is Pie In The Sky with $544,162. A victory in the Derby would make Pie In The Sky the first quarter horse ever to earn over a million dollars. Jackie Martin was the only jockey to qualify two horses to the final. He was on Charge It Papa also. There are four horses in the finale who qualified for the All-American Futurity last year. They include Pie In The Sky, Sages Belle Star, Afternoon Surprise and Denim N Diamonds. There has never been a winner of both the Futurity and Derby. Five fillies, including the top three qualifiers four colts and one gelding will be in the finale. Jaimie Jay and Denim N Diamonds were the two betting favorites of the day. Each went off at 1-3. Chicks Charger Bar was a 2-3 favorite and Pie In The Sky went off at 4-5 for the only odds-on-favorites to qualify. The Derby will be regionally televised by Gahlberg Productions.

QUALIFYING FOR THE Consolation were Blmasea, 22.69; Cee Lady Bar, 22.69; Wakeup Lil Suzy, 22.71; Mr Quickness, 22.73; Streakin Six, 22.74; Chautos Junler, 22.78; Oh Bar Oh, 22.78; Mito Moon, 22.78; Doc Phantom, 22.79; and The Smooth Lady, 22.80. Bubba Cascio saddled two qualifiers in Streakin Six and Mito Moon. Both were ridden by Danny Cardoza.

JOCKEY CHARLES MUELLER was excused from all his mounts Sunday after suffering a cracked collarbone in Saturday's 10th race. Mueller's mount, Restyle, went down before the finish line, throwing Mueller to the ground. He got up under his own power, but was later taken to a hospital for X-rays. Mueller had been the hottest rider on the grounds, winning Jockey of the Week honors three of the last five weeks. Restyle was not injured.

RACES HONORING a World Champion motocross rider and Miss New Mexico were run over the weekend. Teresa Anderson, a 21-year-old senior at New Mexico State University, was recognized in Saturday's ninth race. She will be competing in the Miss America pageant next month in Atlantic City. Sunday's ninth race saluted Brother Martinez, a 15-year-old sophomore at Coronado High School in El Paso. He recently won the Yamaha World Mini Championship in the 83 cc division. He also captured the Gold Cup for his accumulation of points throughout four divisions. Other personalities with races named for them include Bob Howell of San Antonio Light and Bob Howell of KCBQ-TV in Lubbock.

POCKET COIN, the 1978 Thoroughbred of the Meet for Ruidoso Downs, will stand at Fairweather Farms near Navasota, Texas, J. L. Perkins announced. Pocket Coin had stood in New Mexico for his first year of breeding and is expected to have a full book at Fairweather Farms. Pocket Coin won four stakes in the 1978 meeting and ended his career with earnings over $280,000.

THERE WILL BE ONE less horse running in the All-American Futurity time trials Friday. St. Rain Bar, winner of the 12th race August 7 during the elimination trials, received a positive test for illegal medication from the State Racing chemist. The urine test proved positive for Carboaine, or a derivative thereof. Trainer Jeffrey A. Chambers was suspended and his case referred to the New Mexico State Racing Commission by the Ruidoso Downs stewards after the test report was received. St. Rain Bar was one of 114 head who qualified for the time trials. A ruling to determine the eligibility of the fourth place horse in St. Rain Bar's trial, Feel Free, will be made during the week. Under the format of the elimination trials, the top three horses from each trial moved to the time trials.

IN STEWARDS' RULINGS:
 - Jockey Charles Felix Hoffman was suspended seven calendar days for careless riding in the fifth race August 16.
 - Jockey Wilfredo A. Sanguines was suspended three racing days for careless riding in the 12th race August 9.
 - Jockey Pedro Benitez was suspended three racing days for careless riding in the 12th race August 10.
 - Jockey Jesse A. Martinez was fined $50 for illegal use of the whip in the post parade August 9.

- Jockey agent Terry A. Morris was fined $50 for failure to conduct business in a proper manner.
 - Jockey Jackie D. Martin was fined $50 for failure to have control of his mount.
 - Jockey Lawrence Byers was fined $50 for failure to maintain a straight course.
 - Trainer Jesse A. Valdez was fined $50 for failure to bring the horse, Pickalick, to the paddock for the eighth race August 14.
 - Trainer Thomas J. Mackenzie was fined $50 for entering a horse without first obtaining an owner's license.
 - Groom Carolyn Joy Davis, jockey Nickey J. Wilson, trainer Jerry D. Williams, concession employee Richard Simons and trainer Thomas J. Mackenzie were fined $10 each for illegal parking.

TRIALS FOR THE $100,000 Ruidoso Thoroughbred Futurity were held Saturday and the field was finalized Sunday after a shake. The winners of the six trials automatically advanced with a draw between the runnerups to determine final field. Jockey Henry Uriegas and trainer William F. Leach each qualified two to the final. Charlie Mueller and Richard Bickel were also aboard two qualifiers.

DARK CASTLE WON the first division by 8 1/2 lengths while Fill Mackis Cup captured the second by 5 1/2 lengths. Point Venture won the third division by 3 1/2 lengths over Refresh, who later drew in. Blue Gazi was 1 1/2 lengths ahead of No Manners in the fourth division while Dynamic Sentesa was only a nose ahead of the highly regarded Dutch Luck in the fifth division. Real Feather Bed and Apalachee Nell rounded out the field in the sixth division when Real Feather Bed won by one half length. The finals of the Ruidoso Thoroughbred Futurity will be held August 31.

TOTAL HANDLE for the weekend was $2,245,742, which boils down to a daily average of $561,435. On the same four-day weekend last year, the handle was $1,810,196 for an average of $452,549. The current weekend handle was a gain of 24.06 percent over the comparable weekend of 1979. The big weekend swelled the seasonal average up to $474,978, a gain of 8.7 percent over the $436,958 at this point last summer. The current trend points solidly to a final daily average of better than a half million dollars, which would be, by far, the best in the track's 34 year history. Over the weekend, Ruidoso patrons wagered a remarkable $45,631 per race. The seasonal per race average stands at $37,138, and that's a gain of 12.07 percent over the per race average at this time a year ago.

The luck of the buy sometimes results in A-A Futurity entries

BY DICK ALWAN

Sloan Pool has been racing horses at Ruidoso Downs for 30 years, and he never gave much thought to any of those big money futurities or derbies.

"I've had mostly claiming horses," he said. "I had no idea of ever getting into a futurity, especially here at Ruidoso Downs."

Owning race horses, Pool said, was mostly a pleasant way to pass the summer. When he's not at his seat in the All-American Turf Club, he's tending to his 20,000-acre layout at San Saba, Texas, about 110 miles northwest of San Antonio. His business is ranching — cattle and goats. (The goats produce angora wool, just what you need for an expensive suit.)

But after 30 years of going along just for the ride, Sloan Pool is now up to his eyeballs in all the tension and exhilaration of blue chip racing at Ruidoso Downs.

The story began last summer when Pool and his longtime pal, Charles Edwards (formerly, the maestro of Edwards Ford of Lancaster, Texas), happened by the All-American Sale at Ruidoso. Pool and Edwards had been kicking around the idea of picking up a few cheap yearlings. In fact, the idea had been in Edwards' head for about five years — mostly due to the urging of Bubba Werner, the hotshot quarter horse trainer at Ruidoso Downs.

Werner and Edwards had done a lot of deer hunting on Pool's layout in San Saba, and that exercise evidently gave Werner enough time to bend Edwards' ear — so far as taking the plunge into quarter horse racing.

So Pool and Edwards were lolling about at the All-American Sale last summer, when Jeff Chambers, another trainer who knows what it's all about, came up and asked whether they'd like to get in on four head he'd just bought. The deal was this: if Pool and Edwards would give Chambers what he paid for the horses, Chambers would like to do the training for them.

Pool and Edwards mulled it over, and figured what the heck. The price for four head was only $18,000 apiece. As Pool put it, "We don't need to get too involved in the first year."

But if there's any one reason why Pool took the jump without much urging it was the fact the four yearlings included Quick Wrangler, a son of All-American Futurity winner, Rocket Wrangler. The colt's mama is Quick Peek. Pool said: "I remembered seeing her run at Ruidoso a few years ago — Bill Leach had her, I think. She had some leg problem, but I was impressed by the way she ran."

The price on Quick Wrangler was only $4,700. As anyone around Ruidoso now knows, Quick Wrangler was a diamond in the rough. The colt recently won the $261,095 Firecracker Futurity at Delta Downs in Louisiana. His bankroll is now up to nearly $110,000, and Pool has been fielding phone calls from all over the country. A lot of folks are interested in buying the colt, but Pool tells them: "We won't even think about selling, not until we get a chance to run in the All-American Futurity."

When backed into a corner and forced to put a price on the colt, Pool comes up with a half-million dollars. But, as an aside, and with that quick-breaking Texas smile, he tells you: "I'm sure he's worth at least $400,000. He's got a whole lot of breeding value, especially down in Louisiana."

When you go from a $4,700 yearling purchase to a colt worth around $400,000, that's like changing a sow's ear into a silk purse — overnight. "It's happened so fast, it's hard to realize what it's all about," Pool said. "It's like a dream."

Earlier this month, Quick Wrangler finished second to Sinful Soul in the first round elimination trials for the All-American Futurity. A second was good enough to make the qualifying cut. So Quick Wrangler is now poised for his next date with destiny. It comes up Friday. He'll be part of a 114 head battalion of two-year-olds fighting it out in 13 trial races.

In order to make the great showdown in the sky Labor Day, a hopeful needs to chalk up one of Friday's 10 fastest 440 yard clockings. Quick Wrangler, with his penchant for making money, seems to stand a reasonable chance. His record is five wins, a second and a third from eight starts.

And that doesn't include the yearling races he had a hand in last winter. Those came in the bush track circuit in Texas. In December, for example, Quick Wrangler finished second by a nose to Its A Bird and collected $6,000. Obviously, that was enough to get Pool and Edwards pretty worked up. It also sent their new found hopes soaring. After turning two years old, Quick Wrangler ran in the trials for the Coors Futurity at Del Rio, and set the fastest qualifying time, but took fifth in the finale (he earned some $8,700).

Next came a try in the Alamo Futurity at Del Rio, but he finished fifth, once again. But the colt came into his own at Delta Downs, winning the Firecracker by a neck at 7-1. First place was worth $91,363.

A very timely display on energy from the United States Government will be on display this year at the New Mexico State Fair in Albuquerque.

A wide variety of energy sources — wind, solar, fusion, hydroelectric, biomass and geothermal — are all detailed in the traveling exhibition which will be making its first appearance at the New Mexico fair.

Titled simply "Energy," the display is housed in two 50-foot trailers with more than 25 exhibits about the critical energy issue.

The exhibition, to be on display all 12 days of the 1980 fair, is operated for the Department of Energy by Oak Ridge Associated Universities of Tennessee.

Turtle meat importers indicted

In the largest case in United States history involving the smuggling of sea turtle products, a Federal grand jury in Miami recently indicted four men and six corporations for illegally importing 45 tons of meat from endangered sea turtles into this country.

A 13-count indictment charges the defendants with conspiracy, transporting sea turtle meat with fraudulent documents, or importing turtle meat in violation of the Endangered Species Act and the Convention on International Trade in Endangered Species (CITES).

United States Fish and Wildlife Service officials estimate that about 7,000 endangered Pacific (olive) Ridley sea turtles from Mexico had to be slaughtered to obtain the 88,572 pounds of meat tips, chunks, and filets that were illegally imported into Miami International Airport between January 1978 and June 1979.

The indictments, following an 18 month investigation by government wildlife and customs agents, are part of a larger Federal crackdown by five agencies aimed at curbing the booming illegal trade in endangered species products in the United States.

In addition to the Interior Department's Fish and Wildlife Service, the other agencies participating in the overall effort include the National Marine Fisheries Service in the Department of Commerce, the Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service in the Department of Agriculture, the United States Customs Service in the Department of the Treasury, and the Department of Justice.

The action in Miami follows the return of a 12-count indictment of two seafood companies and their owners by a Federal grand jury in Brownsville, Texas, July 29.

The related case charges the illegal receipt and sale of over eight tons of Pacific Ridley meat and names individuals and companies in Brownsville and Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, as defendants. About 1,300 Ridley turtles were slaughtered to obtain the meat in this case, the Fish and Wildlife Service has estimated.

In the Miami indictments, two Mexican nationals, Antonio Suarez Gutierrez and Juan Alsinia Ramirez, and three Mexican companies, PIOSA (Pescuaria Industrial De Oaxaca Sociedad Anonima), Meximex, and Meximtrade, were named.

According to the indictments, Suarez owned and operated PIOSA, located in Oaxaca, Mexico, and obtained large quantities of sea turtle meat from the southwestern beaches of Mexico. He later transported the meat to Mexico City, where Alsinia, director and chief operating officer of Meximex and Meximtrade, obtained fraudulent documents used to import the turtle meat into the United States, the indictment charges.

American citizens and companies indicted were Rogelio Alejandro, of Miami, and the company of which he is president, Flanic Trading Company, of Hialeah, Florida; Enrique Espeleta, of Miami; Jacmel Enterprises, of Hialeah; and B & B World Enterprises, of Miami. Espeleta, president and director of Jacmel, is also secretary and director of Flanic, and secretary of B & B World Enterprises.

Except for B & B World Enterprises, all of these individuals and companies were involved in a conspiracy, the indictment charges. According to it, the defendants agreed to use the term "chunked turtle meat - Dermatmys mawii" on the various customs entry documents accompanying the shipments. Dermatmys mawii is a Mexican freshwater species of turtle whose importation into the United States at present is legal.

It is a violation of the Endangered Species Act to import any type of sea turtle products, including meat, into the United States. This country banned all imports of sea turtle products in 1978. The breeding colonies of the Ridley turtle on the Pacific coast of Mexico and the Gulf of California were listed as endangered in 1978. Elsewhere, the species is listed as threatened.

The adult Pacific Ridley weighs an average of 85 pounds and yields about 12 pounds of meat per animal. The meat, oil, and eggs of this species are in high demand, the prized meat going into the restaurant market and the eggs used in cooking and eaten as a male aphrodisiac. In addition, the hides of the Ridley can be tanned and fashioned into shoes, handbags, and belts.

Collectively, the four species of sea turtle most heavily exploited for illegal trade (green, hawksbill, Atlantic Ridley, and Pacific Ridley) represent the most profitable wild animal on the international market today. Raw tortoiseshell, for example, now exceeds the prices paid for elephant ivory. Over 50 percent of a sea turtle - meat, shell, skin, and oil - is marketable in some form.

Criminal violations of the Endangered Species Act carry a maximum fine of $20,000 and a jail sentence of up to 1 year. Criminal violations of customs law carry a maximum fine of $10,000 and a jail sentence of up to 5 years.

Thinkin in Lincoln

By Mary Ellen Payne Extension Home Economist

The keys to successful home canning are reliable directions, correct equipment and high quality foods.

Your canning directions tell you what jars, lids and processing methods to use for various foods. If you don't have recently published instructions, call the Lincoln County Extension Office, 649-2311 for a current publication.

Directions should point out that low-acid vegetables, meats and combination foods must be processed in a steam pressure canner. Fruits, tomatoes and pickled vegetables use a boiling water bath.

Since processing times may vary for raw or hot packs, read the instructions carefully. Increased canner pressure is required at altitudes over a thousand feet.

It is foolish to waste high quality food by neglecting to read directions properly. Chile is a low-acid vegetable which can be safely canned only in a pressure canner. You must also cover the chile in the jars with boiling water.

Chile for canning should be freshly picked, firm and unbruised. To remove the skin, pierce the chile to allow the steam to escape and roast it in a 450 degree Fahrenheit oven, or boil it until the skin is evenly blistered. Remove the skin, stem and seeds.

Pack peeled chile loosely into hot jars, leaving a one inch head space. Adjust lids and process in a pressure canner. Half pints should be processed for 30 minutes and pints for 35 minutes. Never can chile in jars larger than one pint.

You need an International temperature of 240 degrees F. to destroy all botulism organisms. At sea level, this temperature is reached at 10 pounds of pressure in a pressure canner.

At higher elevations, add one pound of pressure for every 2,000 feet above sea level. In Lincoln County, use 13 pounds of pressure in the Carrizozo, Capitan, and Hondo area. Use 14 pounds of pressure in the Ruidoso area.

COUNTY FAIR entries last year included the week in Capitan, with exhibits and competition vegetable specimens being admired above, by set for Friday and Saturday, two local youngsters. The annual fair opens this
