MOORE EXPLAINS PURPOSE, REASONS

Health care levy sought

BY GWYNETH JONES
Staff Writer/Photographer

A group of local business and community leaders met Thursday with Ruidoso Hondo Valley Hospital administrator Ken Moore to discuss promotion of the mill levy issue which has been proposed to benefit health care in the county. The 2.9 mill levy will go before voters in the general election.

Moore asked the group to carry the message to the public through personal contact and presentations before civic groups in the next week. He also reviewed the planned expansions and acquisition of equipment which would be made possible by the levy.

The term "mill levy" refers to a tax in the amount of one dollar for every $1,000 of taxable value. The tax is not based on a home's market value, Moore said.

At present, homes are being assessed for taxation at about one half their market value, he said. The taxable value of a home—the figures on which the proposed tax would be based—is, in turn, about one third of the assessed value. For example, a home with a market value of $30,000 would have an assessed value of $15,000, and a taxable value of $7,500. Under a 2.9 mill levy, the total tax paid would be $14.50 annually.

However, Moore pointed out that during the first year of the levy, Lincoln County taxpayers would actually see a decrease in their tax bills.

The tax reduction will result because Governor Bruce King vetoed 2.85 mills previously levied by the state. County residents are already paying a three-fourths mill levy which would be discontinued, resulting in a tax reduction during the first year of the levy.

Proceeds from the proposed levy would be split between the Ruidoso Hospital, which would receive 1.9 mills and the Carrizozo Health Center, which would get the remaining one mill. Ruidoso's share would amount to about $800,000 over the four year period, Moore said.

The Carrizozo group hopes to use their funding to provide for basic medical services and possibly to attract a full time physician to serve that area of the county.

Moore called the levy a "critical step" for the Ruidoso hospital, which he said was "at a turning point in growth and expansion." Although occupancy of the hospital is at capacity during the summer months, the lack of patients during the "off seasons" results in a tremendous loss of revenue.

He said the decision to be made by voters on November 4 actually would determine "who will be denied health care" in the future, because cost of such services is slowly but constantly rising. A major reason for the rise is non-payment of medical bills, which is sometimes influenced by a widespread belief that "fine medical care is a basic American right," he said. The cost of health services is also affected by general inflation, the increase in the number of elderly patients, the fact that new medical technology is more expensive and many other factors, Moore said.

About $500,000 of the funds which would be made available after passage of the levy would be used for the new medical equipment, Moore said. The equipment would include the following:

—A Gamma camera, which uses radio isotopes to trace circulatory problems.

—A portable X-ray machine, which will be needed for expansion of the orthopedic services.

—An ophthalmic microscope, which would give the capability for delicate eye surgery.

—A traction table.

—An ultra sound machine for the obstetrics and gynecology department, which allows a doctor to see the position and size of the unborn child and stress present in the uterus, which eliminates the need for surgery in many cases, Moore said.

The remainder of the funds would be used to expand storage space; relocate the business office to a more suitable location; provide for additional staff and office space where necessary; and to renovate areas used for respiratory and physical therapy, x-rays and laboratory work, Moore said.

Physical expansions and renovations to the building would also include a new roof, resurfacing of the parking areas and plumbing improvements.

Should the mill levy fail to pass, Moore said, the local hospital will "be unable to make major improvements in the hospital to meet the community's needs."

"Instead of continuing the growth in medical services we have experienced in the past, we will be unable to respond to the community's desire for increased medical specialty services," Moore said.

Specialists the hospital would like to recruit include an orthopedic doctor, an obstetrician/gynecologist, internal medicine specialist and possibly an ophthalmologist.

Moore also presented figures to show that the hospital is contributing about six million dollars annually to the county's economy.

"We feel like a $24 million return on $800,000 over the next four years is a good investment," Moore said.

Committee working on community center plan

A steering committee to study the feasibility of building a community center or convention complex in the Ruidoso area met Thursday to organize.

The committee will be a subcommittee of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce and will be chaired by Katherine Finley, with JoAnn Butler and Jeannie Whitman as vice chairpersons.

Other committee members include Donna Willard, Dorothy Faye Kimsey, Clark Carpenter, Larry Langford, Richard Sandoval and Benny Coulston. Ex-officio members include Chamber executive director Ed Jungbluth, Chamber president Sheila Harris, and Harvey Foster.

The group is investigating the acquisition of land, and hopes to locate property with a minimum of 50 usable acres on which to build. Although one site is under consideration, the committee will not select a site for several months.

Another meeting will take place in two weeks to study specifications for the center, including size, capacity, parking and functions which could take place there.

DA opening office here

Steve Sanders, District Attorney for Lincoln and Otero counties, is opening an office in Ruidoso with a reception Wednesday from 10:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m.

The branch office will be located in the sheriff's quarters, downstairs and in the rear of the Four Seasons Mall on Sudderth.

Sanders said he plans on maintaining 9 a.m.-5 p.m., office hours Monday through Friday. "I'll usually be in Ruidoso on Fridays," he said, "with attorneys Jay Rosenthal and Mark Shoemith alternating on the other days of the week."

Scouts launch used toy drive

Boy Scout Troop 59, Ruidoso, has launched a used toy drive, with all toys collected to be put in repair and delivered to needy children this Christmas.

The Scouts will collect the donated toys at the Ruidoso Elks Lodge on Saturday, November 1, 8, 15 and 22, from 10 a.m.-2 p.m.

"This is a community service project for our Boy Scouts," Scoutmaster Rudy Flack said, "to help make this a Merry Christmas for children who might not otherwise receive toys this year."

"Any and all toys will be gladly accepted for children of all ages."

RUBBERIZED ASPHALT is being used to seal cracks on Sudderth Drive in Ruidoso. The crew performing the work on contract for the state Highway Department expects to be in this area for about two weeks, while the patching effort is completed.

Sudderth's cracks filled

A rubberized asphalt material being laid on Sudderth to stop cracks in the road, is being applied by a contracted crew for the New Mexico Highway Department (NMHD). The work will be completed in two weeks.

The cracks are being cleaned out with a blower and filled with the asphalt, which is liquid when laid, and dries within 20 minutes to 1 1/2 hours, depending on the temperature.

"It works like an expansion joint," Mark Dismuke, foreman on the job, said. "Otherwise, when moisture gets in the cracks and the temperatures change so often, they would eventually destroy the road."

"This way the road will be able to move," he said. Dismuke said the material has been in use three years and has been used successfully in other parts of New Mexico to prevent road deterioration. Dismuke said the money to do the repairs will come from NMHD maintenance funds and the measure "will seal the cracks," so that if an overlay is ever placed on the road "the cracks won't go through the overlay."

Approximate cost of the project has been pegged at $30,000, according to Worth Snelser, district maintenance engineer. However, he said exact cost will "depend on how extensive the cracks are," adding that "most of the work will be concentrated in the downtown area."

Candidates state positions

A group of candidates for county and state offices attended a public political forum Thursday evening to answer questions by local residents. The forum was sponsored by the Friends of the Ruidoso Library.

Following introductory remarks by each of the candidates present, they fielded questions which focused on the duties of the various offices, what changes the prospective officials would make if elected, and other matters of general interest to area residents.

The first questions were directed to candidates for county sheriff, Bill Elliott, and the incumbent, Ernest Sanchez.

Sanchez was asked the amount of the present department budget, and whether raises were planned for deputies, and what other changes were planned for the budget.

Sanchez said he did not know the exact budget figure, but another candidate, current county commissioner Ben Hall answered that the total was about $354,000. The sheriff said the commission had already approved a 15 to 30 percent raise for his deputies and employees for this fiscal year, with deputies' salaries now ranging from $960 to $1,014 per month. He said he hoped to hire an additional deputy next year.

Elliott was asked whether he could improve the sheriff's department and how; as well as his specific reasons for seeking the office.

Elliott said he wished to point out that the current budget was much higher than when he held that office. Improvements to be made, he said, would be "giving the people the service they deserve—they're the boss."

As to his reasons for running, he said "I have no axe to grind. I've enjoyed being sheriff and have no doubt I can handle the job."

Elliott added jokingly, that in the past, "I ran against Ernest and beat him, and he ran against me and beat me—it's my turn to win."

Al Junge of Ruidoso questioned Sanchez's statements that he had returned $13,000 from his department budget to the general fund his first six months in office, and $15,000 during his next year of service. Junge asked whether this meant the budget was misfigured or perhaps that the money wasn't spent judiciously.

Sanchez said, "I figure this is the taxpayers' money, and I'm not going to spend it all whether we need to or not. It was a savings to the taxpayer."

Elliott responded to charges by Sanchez that he had overspent his budget by saying that when he took over, many of the office vehicles had been driven "over 100,000 miles" and had to be replaced. He added that radio equipment was, at that time, antiquated. The acquisition of six police vehicles and five new radios caused the overspending of his budget, he said. "If you think the money was squandered, you're wrong," he said.

Junge also asked how Elliott managed to collect on 90 percent of all hot checks issued in the county during his term. Elliott said "we weren't a collection agency," but that he had designed a form which allowed his department to take jurisdiction on worthless checks over $500.

Tom McNeill of Ruidoso asked why the surpluses in the sheriff's office were not converted to raises for officers, since Sanchez had indicated earlier that he had had some difficulty recruiting and retaining good deputies because of salary deficiencies.

Sanchez and Hall explained that only five percent of any line item in the budget could be transferred to another use, meaning that most of the surplus had to be turned back into the general fund.

Republican candidate for assessor, Julia Samora, answered a question regarding qualifications of an assessor and why "taxes in Ruidoso are so much higher than those in the rest of the county."

Samora said an assessor must maintain correct values on properties and uphold the property tax code of New Mexico. That code, she said, dictates that market values are set by actual sales of comparable property. She added that bond issues approved by Ruidoso voters caused the higher taxes here.

Democratic candidate for treasurer, Martha Guevara, was asked what the treasurer's job entailed and the amount of the budget of the fiscal year.

She said she was unsure of the exact budget figure, but that the office required collection of all property taxes and distribution of the proceeds to the various government entities; making investments of county monies within the county and keeping of the books.

Ben Hall responded to a related question regarding the amount of interest earned by such invested county monies and the use of the earnings.

He said the county was required to keep nine twelfths of the budgeted funds on hand at all times, since all the county revenues were not received at the start of the fiscal year. County investments are "short term," until the money is needed, Hall said.

Candidates for county clerk, Jane McSwane, incumbent Republican and Mike Gray, Democrat, were asked the qualifications of a clerk and changes needed in the office.

McSwane said by law, a high school diploma was required for the job, but that "you can't go out and acquire the skills needed—you have to have experience through working in the office. Until you actually get in and do it, you don't fully understand," the duties involved, she said.

Changes made during her recent administration included beginning a project to place county records on microfiche system, which she said will eventually save the county "$800 to $900 per month." She added that a project planned for next year was computerization of voter registration rolls.

Gray said he saw problems with the microfiche system, since those records begin to fade "after 20 years," meaning "we could have no copies" of important legal documents after that time. He added he would like to see an increase in the number of voter registrars, to make registration easier for those who "can't get to the clerk's office during normal office hours."

Gray said many people had told him they would not register to vote because they would then be eligible for jury duty. He said he would rather see jury selections made from property tax rolls.

Hall responded to questions about financial duties of the county commissioners and their jurisdiction over liquor licenses. He is the incumbent commissioner, a Republican.

He said the county commissioners are responsible for keeping track of the various departmental budgets, working in cooperation with the various department heads. On liquor licenses, the county only has jurisdiction over transfers in ownership or location, Hall said.

Democratic commissioner candidate Jim Woodriddle was asked "what is your platform, your priorities for the county and do you think you can upgrade the sheriff's department?"

Woodriddle said he believed the department had had a problem in the past with two people from the same family being employed there.

"My platform is, I'm going to be active," he added. Changes needed, he said, were primarily in the area of efficiency. As an example, he said a flood damaged bridge on Gavilan Canyon road should have been replaced with a different type of structure.

Howell slams Lee on debate issue

Following a public political forum for county and state candidates Thursday, senatorial hopeful Wilton Howell, Ruidoso Friday challenged his opponent, Republican Charlie Lee of Alamogordo, to "debate me on the issues."

Howell charged that Lee had been invited to several public forums sponsored by the Lincoln County Christian Action Coalition and the Friends of the Library, but that Lee did not attend, saying he was "too busy."

In Alamogordo, Howell said, the local chapter of National Organization of Women (NOW) invited both candidates to speak about "six weeks ago."

Both he and Lee accepted the invitation, Howell said, but recently, Lee advised the NOW chapter that "his calendar was completely full, and he had no time to debate."

In addition, Howell said, "Three different radio stations in Alamogordo have scheduled both of us on call-in programs to answer questions. Now Charlie refuses to go on live broadcasts with me."

Howell said he had hand-delivered a letter to Lee's campaign treasurer Wayne Stewart challenging Lee to a confrontation. "We've received no response at all," to that letter, he said.

"I feel that when a person has chosen to run for a public office as important as the senate, you owe it to the people to put yourself before the public and answer their questions," Howell said.

"This is an office of the people—not an office of one person. When I vote for someone, I want to know the views and attitudes of that person, and whether they have the capability of working with the people," Howell added.

"My feeling is, if he won't show up to solicit your vote, he probably won't show up to represent you," Howell said.

department needed more employees. "They're good men, but they have too much to cover," he said.

Steve Sanders, unopposed candidate for district attorney, outlined some of his plans for that office. Sanders was recently appointed to the district attorney's position by the governor, after the resignation of Frank Wilson.

He said his office was instituting a policy of "no plea bargaining," and that office hours are being expanded. He said he hoped to place an attorney or para-legal in each of the major communities in the county for at least a half day each week.

The incumbent Republican candidate for state representative, John Bigbee was asked his "attendance record and priorities for this session." He said his attendance record was good, with the only absences caused by his legislative committee meetings.

Priorities named by Bigbee included "some changes in the school funding formula to benefit smaller schools," and changes to prevent "non-student loitering" around schools.

Bigbee added that taxes would be "a major problem" and he hoped that a major tax reform bill vetoed in the last session could be amended slightly and approved this time. Highways were another priority mentioned.

He expressed opposition to New Mexico's compliance with Public Law 94-

142, which makes available federal funds for special education programs. New Mexico is the only state in the union which has refused to accept those funds.

He said the decision to accept the funds would have to come from the State school board. He said the funds could not be channeled "through our funding formula," according to the federal regulations, even though, "our funding formula is one of the best."

Bigbee said the "$4 million involved" was "a drop in the bucket," anyway, since New Mexico already spends "a half a billion dollars" in education. Acceptance of the funds, he added, would presume that the four million was needed and that "Washington knows better how to run our education system."

"I think we know how to do it better than they do," he said.

Asked whether he supported the efforts of the Sierra Blanca Airport Commission, he said he had toured the sites and felt there was a feasible site "between Site A and Site B, on a ridge just south of Site A."

The only problem with that site, he said, was that the crosswind runway situation would not be as good. New Mexico State University, Bigbee said, would be willing to help Ruidoso get that site.

Bigbee said he felt the airport commission had proposed a facility which is "more than the people of Lincoln County would be willing to finance. I don't think it's necessary to plan such a grandiose airport to have a safe one," he said.

Bigbee said he also favored a new alignment of Ski Run Road, since it would be less costly than a reconstruction of the old road and would be a safer, shorter route to the ski areas.

Democratic senatorial candidate Wilton Howell said he also favored "taking a good look" at a new alignment for the road. "I think it's a necessity to keep a good road to the ski run. This county is paying its way, and I think it's time Lincoln County is considered as part of the state."

Questioned on his views on liquor law reform, Howell said brown bag laws are being made a "hot issue" by Jim Baca, head of Alcoholic Beverage Control for the state. Baca is beginning to enforce the laws, which prohibit the carrying of liquor into establishments with no liquor license, Howell said.

He added that the state legislature should examine the actions of states with similar liquor laws as well as "what happened (in those states) when the system was overhauled." Although fees for liquor licenses are high, Howell said, persons who have made a larger investment in a license might be inclined to violate liquor restrictions and thus endanger their licenses. Issuing of additional beer and wine licenses should be taken into consideration, Howell said. A referendum on liquor law reform might be advisable, he added.

On the same subject, Bigbee said a radical change in liquor laws was not possible. Reforms would have to be "phased in," he said. He said he would favor additional beer and wine licenses.

Following the forum, Howell told The News he disagreed with Bigbee's stand on acceptance of federal funds for special education.

"This is money which we have paid into the federal government," Howell said. He said refusal of the funds was like saying, "We have plenty of water here, let's let El Paso take all the water they want."

"How can the other 49 states all be wrong on this?" Howell asked. He added that rejecting the funds "is an injustice to our communities and our children." Over the past four years, he said the state had "missed out on" 12 to 13 million dollars.

He also expressed a different view of the proposed airport, saying that a new and safe facility was needed, whether it be "at Site A, Site B or in Carrizozo." He added he felt that engineering experts, rather than New Mexico State University officials, should make the decision on a location.

Yule tree lighting set

The Christmas holiday season will officially begin in Ruidoso November 29 when the Retail Merchants Committee (RMC) of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce will light the village Christmas tree.

Working in cooperation with the village of Ruidoso and the United States Forest Service, preparations for the event will begin in mid November with the cutting of a large tree to be placed at the "Y" in east Ruidoso. Richard Sandoval, chairman of the RMC, said the village will cut the tree, which will be selected from Lincoln National Forest by forest officials.

"We are going to sponsor a Christmas lighting contest for businesses and residences this year, also," Sandoval said.

This effort will "encourage merchants and homeowners to decorate for the holidays," he said. Rules and prizes will be announced following the next RMC meeting November 3.

Sandoval said that of the five trees that were planted at the "Y" none survived, so this year, more trees will be planted in the spring. "We will probably do some landscaping at the Y working with the village, and plans to plant Christmas trees and aspens. Forest officials said they have a better chance for survival if we plant in the spring," Sandoval said.

Villages' trustees to meet

The Ruidoso Downs trustees will meet at 7:30 tonight at the municipal building.

Major agenda items include awarding of a bid for village insurance, a water improvement grant request and a report from trustee Don Rierson on sanitation procedures.

Ruidoso's trustees will meet at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday in the Ruidoso Public Library.

Agenda items include a report on the United States Highway 70 corridor study, the resignation of Ab Gunter from the Eagle Creek Inter-community Water Users Association and Christmas decorations in the village.

A Bunch of Nice Guys Finish First

A few years ago a smart-alec, saying came out and made the rounds of the athletic world, and was picked up by people in all walks of life: "Nice Guys Finish Last." No one really took this phrase seriously since it runs against all our American traditions in athletics and also everyday life.

Anyhow this cynical jingle was recently knocked for a loop by a group of young gentlemen of whom we are extremely proud, namely the Ruidoso football team. We are proud also of Doyle Howell, the athletic director, head coach Darrel Stierwalt, and all the other coaches. A big bouquet is also handed to the Ruidoso community for their loyal and faithful support. And we must not forget the sports editor of the Ruidoso News, Mark Bagby (Granland Rice Jr.).

The Warriors bounced back from the 1979 season and played brilliant ball this season. They have brought into play many of the great fundamentals of athletics among which are: calmness under fire, coolness in the emergency, alertness to the opportunity, dedication to the rules of training, loyalty to the team, and most of all, splendid sportsmanship.

Right now on this blue and gold October day I am thinking of the beloved poet and novelist, Sir Walter Scott. It has never ceased to be a marvel to me that Scott could write his great narrative poems, some stretching into book length, all perfect in expression rhyme, rapidly as he could move the pen, never looking back or rewriting a single line.

Scott was a great sports fan, and although born slightly crippled in one foot, became an outstanding athlete.

One day, near his native Edinburgh, Scotland, he was present in the crowd at a game of soccer. (Soccer is called "football" by the British, while our football is called "American Rules.")

It was raw weather, and the game was about to begin, when one of the officials spotted Scott in the crowd and asked him to write a word or two in verse for the teams.

Scott, a great mixer, at home anywhere among all kinds of people, smilingly took out pencil and paper and wrote as fast as he could move the pencil right "off the top of his head":

"Then up, lads, and to it
Though foul be the weather.
And if by chance you should happen to fall.

There are worse things in life
Than a thumble on heather.
And life is itself but a game of foot-ball."
So don't let anybody tell you that nice guys finish last. Nice guys, in the true sense of the word, finish first every time. Again, Ruidoso Warriors, we are all proud of you.

Teddy Roosevelt's Birthday

This message is written on the twenty-third of October, and other Indian Summer day with an October sky of blue and the leaves turning every color of the rainbow, and even the grass on the mountain meadows is a tapestry of crimson, gold and orange.

This will reach you on October twenty-seven, the birthday of one of our greatest and most beloved presidents, Theodore Roosevelt, affectionately known throughout the nation and the world as "Teddy."

At this glorious Indian Summer season let us re-awaken in ourselves our American traditions exemplified and upheld by this great American who said:

"This world will not be a very good place for any of us until it is a pretty good place for all of us."

We remember Teddy as the builder of the Panama Canal, one of the greatest projects for world development in the history of the world.

Among the American ideals handed down by our forefathers and upheld by Teddy Roosevelt are:

Love of liberty, love of our country, readiness to defend our native land, cherishing of the American family, and reverence for all life, including the life of the unborn child.

A message from Jack Frost

Dear friends in Lincoln County,
I have tried to bring you as many Indian summer days as I can this season and am coloring up the leaves more gradually than usual.

I had a little visit with the Ridge Runner the other day, and he was telling me how grateful he is at the approach of his birthday, October twenty-seven (today) for all the great kindness of you people and folks everywhere, and then he choked up and I thought he was going to break down with emotion. Then he showed me some wonderful cards he had received from that dear lady, Mrs. Effie Mehlhop of Dexter and Ruidoso, and that wonderful lady, Mrs. Aileen Steed, mother of Mrs. A. E. Nash of Ruidoso.

And I wish to thank all of you for your great kindness to the Ridge Runner through the years. He is grateful I know for his untold number of blessings he constantly receives from our Lord, among which is the privilege of reaching you through his "Dreamer" and "Silver Lining."

On my own behalf I wish to say, with all the sincerity at my command, that I appreciate you Lincoln County folks for your appreciation of whatever weather we up at the North Pole are able to bring you. Of course there's the old saying,

"Rough weather is better than no weather at all."

I hope to be seeing you through the fall and winter and until then I beg to remain, every the same,

Your humble and obedient servant,

Library schedules film on Renaissance music

A film entitled "Music in the Art of the Renaissance" will be shown twice November 12 at Ruidoso Public Library in the multi-purpose room.

The film examines the large role music played in Renaissance art. It shows how the moods created by the new harmonic melodies are reflected in the graphic arts, how frequently instruments and musicians are depicted in paintings, how music is used in Shakespeare's plays and how music and art reflect the new humanistic philosophy of the era.

Both showings will be November 12, the first at 2 p.m., and the second at 7 p.m., and admission is free.

The 30-minute film is part of a multimedia exhibition prepared to introduce the public to the Folger Library exhibition of Shakespeare memorabilia, which includes rare books, manuscripts, art works and other items never before permitted outside the library.

The exhibitions will be on display at six major museums in the United States through September, 1981. The items discussed in the film are on display at the Dallas, Texas, Museum of Fine Arts, until January 4, 1981.

Marian Elzi, head librarian, said the film is the first of a series that will be shown as they become available.

Round Table meeting held

The October meeting of the Capitan Round Table was held at the home of Marie Edgar, with Willa and Preston Stone and twins Lroy and Tracy as guests.

The hostess served sliced ham and the birthday cake was in honor of Winifred Cozzens.

Alice Traylor, Harriet McGinnis and Cozzens were named to the nominating committee to propose officers for the coming year.

Rosebud gifts were exchanged and McGinnis won the door prize.

The time and place of the November meeting will be announced.

Jacque Haddix on horticulture forum

Jacque Haddix, Ruidoso, has become a member of the New Mexico State University Horticulture Forum.

The forum is a student organization promoting interest in horticulture and providing updated information concerning developments in the field to interested persons.

Weekly plant sales and occasional plant "extravaganzas" have been some of the projects sponsored by the forum.

Haddix, the daughter of Andrew and Maxine Haddix, is a senior majoring in horticulture.

LEROY— Child of the Month

Leroy is Child of the Month

This has been a hard time for Leroy. He is 12 years old and had been living with the same foster family since infancy. Recently his foster mother died and now Leroy is living in another home with another family. He knows that he is free to be adopted and is looking at yet another change in his life with some fear, although he realizes that he needs a real family and the love and security they will provide.

Somewhat studious looking, with dark hair and almost black eyes that shine out from behind his horn rimmed glasses, Leroy is in fact a good student, receiving many achievement awards throughout his school career. He is in the seventh grade now and has hopes of going on to college and becoming a journalist. But Leroy also likes to play sports with his friends, mainly basketball and football. His all time favorite hobby, one which he shared with his foster mother, is cooking; he can whip up a zesty spaghetti sauce in no time. Those who work with Leroy mention that he is an interesting youngster to be with—that he is outgoing, inquisitive, friendly. And Leroy is also a serious young man, devoted to his Catholic faith, an altar boy on Sundays.

Actually, there is nothing unusual about Leroy. He is a good looking, nice young man who generally does his household chores without too much prodding, who is getting into stereo music and monopoly like so many of his friends. The unusual aspect of Leroy is that he has never really known the permanence of a real family. The death of his foster mother probably emphasized his vulnerability. He is now receiving counseling to help him with his grief. Meanwhile, he awaits, as he had for a number of years now, an adoptive family.

There are many youngsters in New Mexico like Leroy. Many of them are older children who deserve at least a few years of the love and support which having a real family can mean. Both single and married people are now adoptive parents for children like Leroy. Those who would like to know more about adoption in New Mexico, or about Leroy in particular, can contact Susan Washam in Alamogordo at 437-0030.

'Crib death' symposium scheduled in Roswell

Health providers and people in the helping professions will gather in Roswell Thursday, November 6, for a symposium on sudden infant death syndrome (SIDS) — the mysterious "crib death" that kills one in every 350 babies.

The symposium, scheduled for the staff room of St. Mary's Hospital, is designed for people whose work is likely to bring them into contact with SIDS cases. These include doctors, nurses, clergy, police, fire fighters, emergency medical workers, social workers, funeral directors, health educators, mental health workers and counselors.

The half-day program will run from 1-5 p.m. It is part of a cooperative effort by the office of the medical investigator, the University of New Mexico (UNM) School of Medicine, the New Mexico chapter of the National Sudden Infant Death Syndrome Foundation, the health offices of Chaves and Eddy counties, St. Mary's Hospital, Eastern New Mexico Medical Center, the New Mexico Medical Society, the New Mexico Nurses' Association and the New Mexico Board of Thanatopractice.

Speakers will be Beverly White, program director for the New Mexico SIDS project; Dr. Warren McKelvey, pediatrician; Dr. Robert H. Gervais, psychiatrist; Gerald Whitener, deputy medical investigator; and Harriet Gerardo, founder of the New Mexico chapter of the National SIDS Foundation.

The office of the medical investigator has requested that symposium participants receive continuing education credits from New Mexico Category IV required continuing medical education, the New Mexico Medical Society, the New Mexico Nurses' Association and the New Mexico Board of Thanatopractice.

In Roswell, as in 45 other New Mexico communities, a volunteer nurse counselor is available to respond to SIDS cases. When the medical investigator's office receives confirmation of a SIDS death, it cooperates with the local nurse counselor to assure counseling is available to families who want it. The Roswell volunteer coordinator is public health nurse Loretta Cassell.

Further information is available from Cassell in the Chaves County Field Health Office, 622-2000; White at the office of the medical investigator in Albuquerque (toll free) 1-800-432-6742, and local coordinators.

Little/Cargile wedding set

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Little of Ruidoso have announced the engagement of their daughter Kandle to Mickey Cargile of Odessa, Texas.

December 6 in Ruidoso's First Christian Church, with the Reverend Ken Cole officiating.

Cargile is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Cargile of Odessa.

Cargile, a 1980 University of Texas graduate, is employed by International Galleries. Miss Little is employed by Ruidoso State Bank.

NOW, HERE'S A SMALL STORY — These fourth graders at White Mountain Elementary School were challenged by their teachers, Kathy Weems, and Nan Wierwille, to see how many times they could write the word "small" on a 1 1/2 by three inch slip of paper. The results were astounding — the teachers thought — because these four students managed a lot of "smalls", maybe even enough to set a record for the Guinness Book of Records. Pictured with their numbers of "smalls" are, from left, Dax Mitchell, Tisha Sanchez, Mark Reynolds and Kasey Taylor.

THEY'RE DOING IT AGAIN! PRISON FELLOWSHIP IN RUIDOSO BUILDING BRIDGES!

Bringing men and women out of prison to disciple them in their Christian faith was the first... and remains the primary focus of Prison Fellowship. Since its inception, Prison Fellowship has brought hundreds of inmates from over thirty Federal penitentiaries... and now State facilities... for a time of intensive leadership and Bible training.

These "In-Community Seminars" have had a tremendous impact on the participants and their institutions and made a significant contribution to the fellowship of Christians behind bars. One warden attested to the fact that his facility's attendance at both Protestant and Catholic services had doubled. The "Washington Seminar" was the original concept that led Chuck Colson and a handful of friends, U. S. Senator Harold Hughes foremost among them, to form Prison Fellowship. Only five days after his release from confinement after Watergate, Colson was back visiting inmate friends... and brothers in Christ. In June of 1975, the U. S. Bureau of Prisons approved a proposal by Sen. Hughes and Chuck Colson for the "Washington Seminars", the forerunner of what we are now doing in the New Mexico area. During their stay in Ruidoso and Alamogordo, screened and selected inmates from the Santa Fe and Sierra Blanca facilities will enjoy the teaching of an outstanding and dedicated Chaplain, Marcial Felan. An intensive curriculum includes Bible study, leadership training, counseling, discussions, and strengthening human relations. In addition, inmates will be able to visit with local groups and individuals as noted on the schedule below. These sessions have resulted in inmate redirection and growth, community awareness, legislative reform, and many other positive aspects. You have the opportunity to see and hear the testimonies of these lives... this is an open invitation to our community to become more aware and enjoy a most interesting fellowship. Here the inmates make some friendships that will endure for a lifetime and know for themselves that there are people who care and would appreciate knowing them as productive, positive, Christian community citizens.

As the inmates minister and are ministered unto, they are given the opportunity to share with our community their own Christian experiences, to bear witness to the Lord's freeing them from the consequences of their sin. FREEDOM... freedom from guilt, from the past, from bondage to sinful behavior, and freedom even from much of the depressing brutality of incarceration... this is the joy to which community seminar participants have borne eloquent testimony.

This is only one of the ministries of Prison Fellowship; there are several other practical community ministries... knowing and assisting families of those incarcerated and the sharing of the experiences of ex-inmates and counseling with the youth of their home communities... Hear for yourself... you'll have an interesting, thought-provoking time.

If you know of someone who would accept assistance, needs support and friendship, or would like to volunteer to work in the redirection of lives and lower the incidence of repeat-offenders, or if you would like to know more of what Prison Fellowship is all about, please check the schedule and attend any or all public functions.

If you are having some problem of your own or someone you care about is having a problem with which they will accept assistance and practical help, we urge you to call either of the following volunteers: Dan Bryant, (257-2202) or Ruth Gardner (257-7645 or 257-2923).

Thank you, Ruidoso, for your assistance and your prayers.
THANK YOU FOR HELPING US BUILD BRIDGES.

Benway rushes for 186 yards, scores twice

Warriors whip Deming Wildcats, 34-0

BY MARK BAGBY
Sports Editor

The Ruidoso Warriors got a pair of touchdowns and 186 yards rushing out of Steve Benway, in coasting to an easy 34-0 win over Deming's winless Wildcats Friday in Deming.

The win, Ruidoso's seventh in a row and second consecutive shutout, count in district standings, and catapult the Warriors into sole possession of the top spot in 3AAA with a 3-0 record, 7-1 overall. Deming is 0-8 and 0-3 in district.

Surprisingly, Warrior head coach Darrel Stierwalt wasn't overly pleased with the win, despite the shutout.

"We didn't play with a whole lot of consistency," he said. "We didn't have any really good drives. We never really got untracked."

"I guess if you win 34-0, you had to do something right, but I didn't feel we played as well as we should. I'm glad it's over and out of the way."

The Warriors garnered 13 points in the first quarter, seven in the second and 14 in the final period, meanwhile racking up 430 yards total offense.

Deming's statistics weren't overly impressive, notching only 135 yards on the ground and 75 yards in the air. But Deming did have three long drives end on turnovers, interceptions by Benway and Don Nunley and a fumble recovery by Scott Neal.

"Defensively, we played well enough to win," Stierwalt said. "We let them drive the ball on us quite a bit around midfield, but we seemed to tighten up around the end zone. Slim (Willis, Deming coach) told me that was the best they moved the ball all season, but we played 29 different people on defense."

The Warriors established defensive domination early, stopping Deming on its opening possession and forcing a punt.

It didn't take long for the Warriors to establish offensive domination either. On the second play of the Warriors' possession, reserve halfback Steve Pietsch took a pitchout and sprinted 71 yards for a score, with 8:04 left in the first period.

It was the fourth touchdown in seven carries this season by Pietsch, who had over 90 yards on the night.

"I was real pleased by the way Steve handled himself," Stierwalt said. Pietsch replaced a banged up Ricky Dennis, who sat out most of the game nursing season long ailments.

Leroy Ramirez' point after kick was spoiled by a high snap from center, so the Warriors led 6-0.

On their next possession, Benway took a pitch and went 63 yards for a score, with 33 seconds left in the first stanza. Ramirez was true on the kick and the Warriors held a commanding 13-0 lead.

The Warriors had less success moving the ball in the second period, but Deming was able to move it behind the passing of Wildcat quarterback Edward Flores and the running of John Reyes.

But a fairly long drive by the Wildcats was ended when Benway nabbed an errant aerial in the end zone. Ruidoso promptly went to work, and Neal found Mike Dale alone in the end zone for a 33 yard scoring play, the only one of seven first half passes the Warriors completed.

"We had a rough night passing," Stierwalt said. "We couldn't seem to hang on to it. Pietsch missed a touchdown pass, Dale missed a couple of passes and Benway dropped one. The passes were there, but the kids were talking about glare from the lights. It was a pretty well lit stadium, but we got to catch those things."

Neal went three for 12 on the evening, for 80 yards.

Following Ramirez' point after attempt, the Warriors led 20-0, a lead Ruidoso held at intermission.

The third quarter was a scoreless defensive struggle, but Ruidoso did begin one of its longer marches of the game in the third quarter, taking over at the Warrior 29.

Big plays in the nine play, 71 yard march were an 18 yard run by Russ Flor, a 15 yard run by Neal, a 13 yarder by Benway and a 14 yard pass from Neal to Dale.

On the first play of the fourth quarter,

WHOOPS — Warrior quarterback Scott Neal is hemmed in on just about all sides by Deming Wildcats during Friday's 34-0 win. Neal didn't get free on this play, but he did rush for good yardage the rest of the game and fired his fourth touchdown strike of the year.

Volleyballers lose to T or C

Ruidoso's lady Warrior volleyballers discovered turnout is fair play Saturday afternoon in Truth or Consequences.

The lasses defeated T or C here earlier in the week, but Saturday fell to the lady Tigers in two games, 0-15, 8-15.

The junior varsity girls lost in three games, 16-14, 1-15, 1-15. "Needless to say," coach Margie Andrus said, "they were a lot tougher on their home court."

"We didn't play that badly in the second game, but we've got to stop using the first game to warm up in."

The lady Warriors suffered their second shutout of the season in the first game. A Ruidoso point was scored in the game, but it was nullified on an illegal service rotation.

"If we need an excuse, we had the game scheduled as 2 p.m.," she said. "But they had us down for 5. We finally got to play at 4:30, but it shouldn't have made any difference."

The lasses did rebound in the second game to score eight points, but it was far too little, too late. Gleda Bob and Patricia Cardenas tallied three each for the Warriors, and Karen Boone and Cathy Jones each added one.

The loss dropped Ruidoso to 7-7 on the season and 2-6 in district.

The junior varsity played an incredible first game against their Tiger counterparts, forcing the game into extra points before prevailing, 16-14.

Lisa Williams was high scorer with seven, followed by Mary Cadena with five, Kristy Dunlap with two, and Claudia Branum and Lillian Lopez tallied one each.

That's exactly what the Warriors got in the final two games as well, one each from Lopez and Branum.

The loss drops the junior varsity record to 1-10.

Next action for the lady Warriors will be Saturday, in a district doubleheader against Silver City and Cobre there.

Braves fall to Tularosa, 6-0

The White Mountain Middle School Braves finished their 1980 season Wednesday afternoon with a 6-0 loss to Tularosa.

The loss topped a winless season for the Braves, but coach Terry Wharton was pleased with his troops' performances.

"We played really well," he said. "Both teams played way above their abilities, and if not for one mistake, it would have been 0-0."

That "one mistake" occurred in the first period, when Tularosa scored on a 35 yard sweep.

The Braves did tie the game later — or rather, thought they had, when White Mountain's Michael Williamson scored on a play almost identical to the Tularosa scoring play.

But a clipping penalty brought it back. "There was no question about it either," Wharton said. "We clipped."

He added, "It sure hurts to lose that way, but that's how it turns out sometimes, I guess."

The Braves finish the 1980 season with a 0-4 record.

... a column of opinion ...

STEVE BENWAY

Well, it's finally over. The World Series, I mean.

I still haven't decided if I'm pleased with the outcome.

I must admit, after some of the plays the Phillies made, I began wondering if it was possible for them to lose the Series. I mean, when that ball popped out of Boone's glove and Pete Rose nonchalantly grabbed it — I decided right then the Series was virtually over. (As it was the ninth inning of game six, with Philly ahead of the Royals 4-1, I was correct.)

So we had the Whiz Kids in 1950 — and the year of 1980 was the year of the Comeback Gang. How many times did Kansas City jump out to a lead only to have Philly sneak up on 'em?

Them's the breaks, I guess. The only thing I want to know — is — last year both the baseball and football world champions came from the western half of Pennsylvania (Pittsburgh, that is, to those unfamiliar with the geography of William Penn's home territory).

Will this year's football and baseball champs be from the eastern half, since Philadelphia is over there and they already have the baseball champions, and a pretty good football team to boot?

Is Pennsylvania trying to take over the world of professional sports?

Does anybody care?

Congrats

Late well wishes and felicitations to Sergio Castanon (he coaches girls' basketball and track at Ruidoso High School) and his lovely wife Jeanne, who are now the proud parents of a daughter, Brynn Renee, born October 12.

Let me clarify that — they are now the parents of two daughters — Kara Ann being the other — but Brynn Renee is the newest addition to the Castanon household.

All right, way to go and all that. Ain't I sentimental?

Ain't it the truth? I was reading an article about football games that had been either cancelled, forfeited or otherwise postponed.

Some of them are hilarious. Like last year's Clayton-Questa game for the district title. Both teams were ready to play at Clayton, by golly, except there was one problem — the New Mexico Activities Association forgot to secure the services of any officials.

So, the game was rescheduled, and the Questa bus left Questa on its way to Clayton — only problem this time was a flood had washed out an all important bridge on the way. So that one was cancelled.

They did finally get to play, by the way ...

Then there was Navajo Mission, which, somehow, won its district title with a 1-7 record. They were slated to play Tatum, in the first round of playoffs, but they didn't have the money in their budget to play the game. So they forfeited.

Then there was Corona and Capitan. Corona didn't field what you'd call a big team — in fact, they brought 11 kids to Capitan.

At halftime, Capitan had rolled up a 51-0 lead, and Corona had lost three players in the first half. So, they just changed clothes and smuck out to the bus, leaving the Capitan players to wonder where their opponents were.

There are always games you wonder why they keep playing — like, for instance, Ruidoso's biggest win ever was in 1968, when poor ol' Dexter was the victim of an 88-0 clobbering-pasting-shellacking-massacre.

You got to give a team credit for even staying on the field during a game like that.

Maybe all football leagues should adopt the old six man football rule — if a team gets ahead by 42 points, the game ends.

Saves a lot of injuries, and in six man football, you can't afford too many anyway.

Already? I know, I know, it's the middle of football season, but basketball is right around the corner.

A lot of Warrior hopefuls have started running in preparation for their season opener, and they're starting basketball practices soon at White Mountain Middle School.

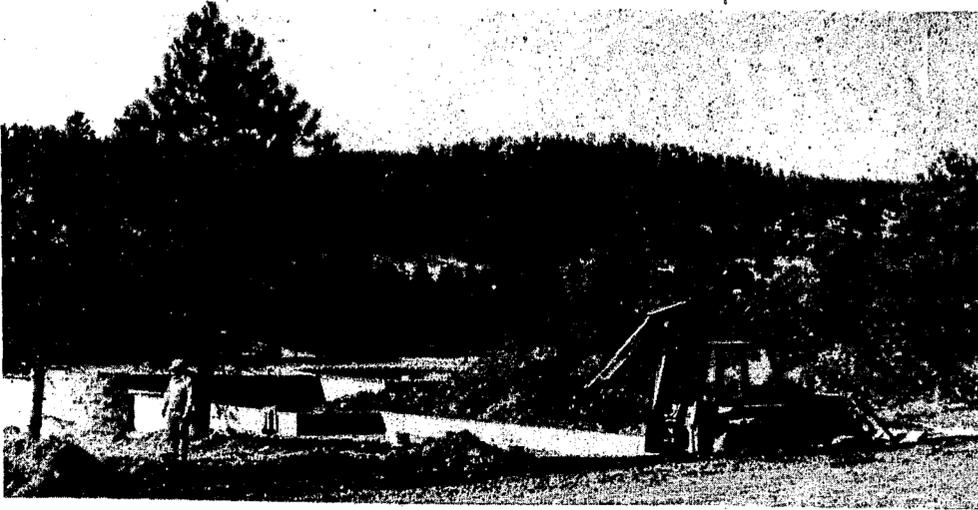

Dean Hood will be coaching the Braves this year, replacing Terry Wharton. Terry felt it in his best interests to hold off this year, since his wife is going to have a baby soon.

I can appreciate his dilemma. It was about this time a year ago I was trying to cover basketball games while waiting for Dee to go into labor just any second.

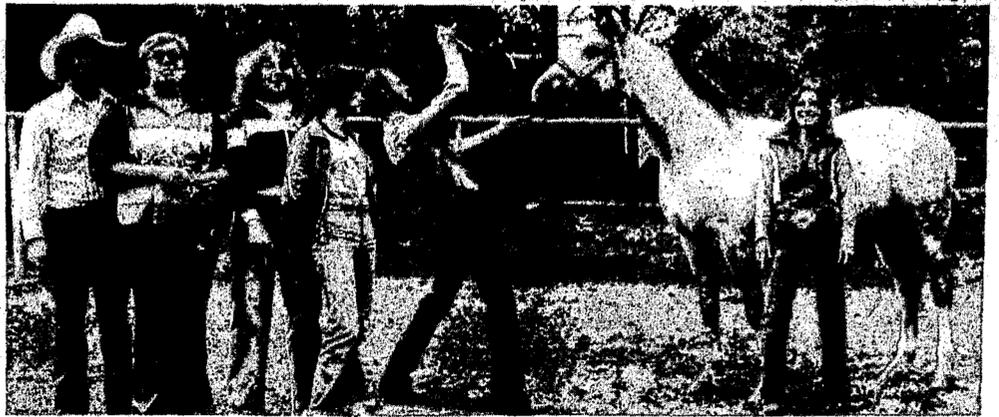

Believe me, it's a little hard to concentrate on the game at hand when you think you can become a father between halves.

Heaven forbid it should interrupt the game!

WORK CONTINUES to be on schedule at the site of the new village hall, according to foreman Jim Courson, Carlsbad. Courson said the foundation is completed and work begins today to start backfill, plumbing, electrical wiring and pouring a concrete slab.

Pior slammed over for the score. With Ramirez' kick, the Warriors led 26-0.

Deming came right back with several big plays and found themselves inside the Warrior 10. On first and goal, Reyes fumbled into the end zone, where an alert Scott Neal pounced on the ball, killing the drive.

The Warriors took possession of the ball at their 20, and proceeded to march 80 yards for a score, the big plays being a 44 yard run by Benway, and a 33 yard pass reception by Benway.

It took the Warriors four plays to score from the three, as Benway got the call with 5:33 left in the game. He scored from a yard out on fourth down for a 33-0 lead.

Ramirez kicked his fourth extra point of the night for the final 34-0 margin.

The game, however, was not over, and Deming moved the ball well into Warrior territory. With but a few seconds left, however, Don Nunley intercepted a Flores pass to kill the drive.

"We sure didn't play error free football," Stierwalt said. "But I guess we played well enough to win. Our defense played with aggressiveness, and I was pleased with that. Byron Wright and Lon Nunley probably had their best games of the season on defense."

"Before the game, I was really worried about us being mentally prepared, but I guess we were ready enough."

The Warriors should have no problem getting up for Truth or Consequences, whom the Warriors play there this Friday. Stierwalt describes the game as a "grudge match."

"I'm sure they'll be ready for us, and we will have to play good football to win," he said. "From all indications they should have beaten Tularosa."

While the Warriors were plastering Deming, Tularosa came from behind to defeat T or C 23-13, virtually eliminating T or C from the district crown race. The Tigers earlier lost to Silver City, thus dropping them to 1-2 in district play.

"We're looking forward to playing them," he said. "I think it's going to be a close one. They're a very basic, very fundamentally sound ball club."

"This is an important game for us and we have to win it. We can't afford a loss. It looks like maybe we could, but I don't think so. Our last two games are very important."

Currently, Ruidoso leads the 3AAA standings with a 3-0 conference mark, 7-1 overall. Silver City is next with a 2-0 district record, 5-2 overall. Tularosa is next, 2-1 in district and 5-3 overall. T or C is 1-2 in district, 5-2 overall.

Cobre and Deming sport identical 0-3 records, 0-3 in district. Silver City lost to El Paso Hanks Friday night, 20-12, and Cobre fell to Lordsburg, 20-18.

Lincoln County commissioners meet Tuesday

Lincoln County commissioners will meet at 10 a.m., Tuesday at the courthouse in Carrizozo.

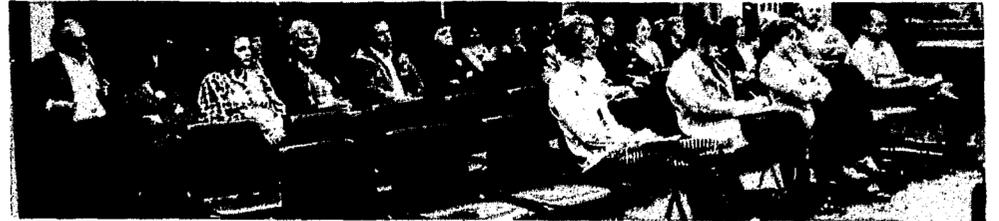

Agenda items include a public hearing on a proposed mobile home ordinance for the village of Nogal, a hearing on a proposed animal control ordinance; a request for a variance for the use of septic tanks in Deer Park Woods, Unit 6 and a request from Carrizozo citizens for membership on the Sierra Blanca Airport Commission.

Fund drive for Tularosa man

A fund drive to defray hospital expenses has been launched in Tularosa for Mark Wimberly, who suffered serious head injuries in a July helicopter crash.

Wimberly continues to be hospitalized at Providence Hospital, El Paso, Texas. He has not regained consciousness, but it is reported he is showing signs of response by slight movement of his arms and legs and trying to talk.

Contributions may be made to the Mark Wimberly Fund at Security Bank and Trust, Tularosa, New Mexico 88352.

ATTENDANCE wasn't overflowing at the political forum sponsored by the Friends of the Ruidoso Public Library. About 40 persons heard state and county candidates state their qualifications and views on the issues at the Thursday night forum.

Three fires over weekend

Three fires were reported this weekend in Ruidoso but none caused extensive damage, according to Forest Service and Ruidoso Fire Department officials.

A fire Saturday at 9 a.m., on 203 Rim Road was apparently caused by an electrical short. Ruidoso volunteers responded.

A fire at 4:30 p.m., Saturday at Brady Canyon and Ponderosa Streets damaged a wood pile and tree. Forest officer Steve Makowski said the fire occurred in a fill area and someone apparently dumped warm fireplace ashes into the fill, igniting the pile. Forest Service and village crews responded.

A fire caused minor damage to cabinet work in a residence behind the Midtown 7-11 Sunday at 12:17 p.m. Butch Jacobs, fire chief, said the owner was apparently lighting a furnace that over-ignited. Ruidoso volunteers responded.

Makowski said that with freezing temperatures, "the grass has been killed and is drying out." He said the fall fire season is here, and urged caution from everyone. "During the fall dryout, before we get moisture, and with high winds, fire danger is increased."

Camp escapee walks back in

Henry Bob Martin, also known as Monty Lewis Pettite, a resident of Camp Sierra Blanca (CSB) Adult Rehabilitation Center, was reported missing from that minimum security facility Saturday when he failed to return from a work release program in Ruidoso, according to district attorney Steve Sanders. According to CSB officials, Martin returned to the camp about 2:30 p.m., Sunday. He was taken to the Lincoln County Jail, where he was being held Monday morning for security reasons. No charges have been filed in the case.

Rapist escapes

The judge was playing "Up the Lazy River" for William Raymond Chavez, but his 20-year-old convicted robber and rapist had another tune in mind — something like "So Long, It's Been Good to Know You." Chavez was being transported from the New Mexico State Penitentiary back to Quay County for resentencing on the Auto Theft charge, when he asked his guard if he could use a restroom. The guard, Quay County Sheriff's Deputy Newell Edwards, stopped at a small service station on I-25 about 20 miles west of Las Vegas, and Chavez performed his rendition of "Hit the Road Jack." Despite being handcuffed to what is called a "belly chain," Chavez was able to outrun the guard. An extensive search by State Police and local law enforcement personnel failed to produce the escapee. This week the State Crime Stoppers Commission is offering a $1,000 reward for information leading to the recapture of Chavez.

SANTA FE — When a newspaper publisher and a columnist arrive at the mutual conclusion that we have done something wrong, and we then admit it publicly, that's news.

Exactly that happened at the meeting of the New Mexico Press Association in Santa Fe when publisher Jim Green of the Artesia Press pointed out how much noise we in the media have made about the difficulty of voting by the write-in method. "It turns out it's not all that difficult," he said. "Maybe we ought to be telling that side of the story, especially in the southern Congressional district, where lots of people may want to go that route."

He's right, of course. Despite all the noise we have made, the write-in process isn't all that difficult. For one thing, the Secretary of State is going to make sure everybody who wants to vote that way has ample opportunity to do so.

This year, possibly for the first time, every machine will be supplied with one item essential for write-in voting — a ballpoint pen. (If your machine isn't so supplied, raise hell.)

Also, as an additional innovation, the machine will now carry instructions on voting by this method in both English and Spanish, as will the sample ballot posted in your polling place. If you have doubts or hesitations, study this material carefully.

And don't hesitate to ask. In a conversation with Mary Skeen (like any wife, a tad more practical than her husband), this writer agreed that many people in this world are too proud to admit they don't know things they think they should know. That doesn't apply to write-in voting; most of us have never had much reason to know how to do it. This year we may, so we're entitled to be ignorant, and to have that ignorance cured by the polling officials.

If you truly need help, it's legal to ask for somebody to come into the booth with you to help you vote. Don't let the unusualness of your request keep you from exercising that privilege. After all, this is a unique year in New Mexico politics.

Here's all you really need to know about write-in voting.

When you enter the booth, look for the number above the name of the office for which you wish to cast this kind of ballot. For Congress, for instance, the number is two.

At the top of the machine, you will find a series of slots, set at a slight angle, with a sliding cover over each. Match the number of the office for which you want to write in a candidate — let's say, two — with the number on the slot. Push up the cover (it slides easily), write in the first and last name of the person for whom you wish to vote, and pull the cover back down. Then go about the rest of your voting in the normal manner.

That's all there really is to it — and we predict lots of people will come out of the booth smiling happily at how they managed to do this, thus beating the system, which is frankly stacked in favor of those who get their names on the ballot.

One final word. If, let's say, you are voting write-in in that second Congressional district race, the two names you might want to remember are respectively "Joseph R. Skeen" and Dorothy Rannels." That isn't too difficult, now is it?

Letters to the Editor

Dear editor:

Recently you had a piece in the paper about "How much is a million?"

I got to thinking about what you stated. I work with Boy Scouts and I asked them that same question.

We recycle practically everything to earn some money: newsprint, old car batteries, aluminum cans, magazines.

When we camped out in Lincoln National Forest August 15 and again October 4-5, we noticed millions of those little aluminum tabs thrown down on the ground. We decided (the whole troop) to see if we could determine just how many of those tabs make a million. We picked up 1,000 of them on camp sites alone.

We would like to continue to collect them next year and see if we can bring you a million and dump them on the sidewalk before The Ruidoso News office. Maybe you could take a picture of the Scouts with the million metal tabs.

Sense & Nonsense

U.S. Sen. Pete Domenici

There has been a revival of sorts, among some government employees and politicians, on the tradition of "trick or treating" from door to door on Halloween. Not only is it a pleasant way to spend an autumn evening, but if you happen to be up for re-election, it's a good way to shake a few hands and pick up a couple of votes before Election Day.

It seems like everybody is getting into the spirit of the occasion this year. I was able to find out by making a few phone calls what some of my colleagues in the political arena are going to wear when they begin their door to door treks on October 31st, so I thought I would pass this information along to you in case one of these trick or treaters knocks on your door.

Since this is a Presidential election year, all three presidential candidates decided that Halloween was critical to them because a good costume on Halloween could swing the substantial numbers of undecided voters in their favor with the election just four days away.

President Carter, on the advice of Hamilton Jordan and Robert Straus, decided to toughen his image in front of the American people and will therefore be costumed as John Wayne's version of Rooster Cogburn. Of course, Rosalyn, his wife, will be dressed as Rooster Cogburn's sidekick, the preaching widow Katherine Hepburn. Walter "Fritz" Mondale will accompany them as John Wayne's horse.

Ronald Reagan, on the other hand, needed no help with his costume and will be going as that Notre Dame legend, George Gipp, better known in football lore as the Gipper. Reagan has no trouble with the costume, having worn it several times, but there may be a bit of trouble casting George Bush as the Fighting Irish Coach Knute Rockne. Campaign aides are now working with Bush to overcome this obstacle.

John Anderson, the Independent candidate for president, is going out dressed as Orville Reddenbacher, the popcorn magnate, hoping that his campaign will capture some of the popularity of Orville's golden kernels. Also, Anderson looks like him anyway, so money was saved in an otherwise financially troubled campaign.

Even the President's cabinet is getting into the act and three of them have combined their resources in a re-enactment of the fabled three monkeys. Defense Secretary Harold Brown sees no evil, Secretary of Agriculture, Bob Bergland hears no evil, and Secretary of the Interior Cecil Andrus speaks no evil.

New Mexico politicians are not about to be left behind in this nationwide trend. My Senate colleague, and head of Americans for Change, Harrison "Jack" Schmitt, will be going from door to door dressed as Yoda, the diminutive surrealistic space creature from the popular movie, "The Empire Strikes Back." This costume draws attention to Jack's space achievements as an astronaut and was the only costume a Senator of his stature could fit into.

Governor Bruce King, stumping for votes for the Carter campaign, is also participating in the Halloween festivities. The state Democratic Central Committee, aware of the strength of King's empire in the state of New Mexico, and especially in the Second Congressional District, has voted to dress up the governor as the emperor in the Hans Christian Anderson fairy tale. Governor King is looking forward to wearing his new clothes around the neighborhood on Halloween.

If one of these trick or treaters happens to come to your door, please be kind to them and give them a piece of candy or an apple, or some chewing gum. After all, whether they have been campaigning for office or running the affairs of state or the nation, they deserve a break at least once a year.

As for me, it was suggested that I go out on Halloween dressed as the "Italian Stallion" Rocky Balboa. The thought of walking about on a crisp autumn evening clad only in boxing shorts, however, was not my idea of fun, so I decided to stick to my old favorite. I'll be going from door to door on October 31 costumed as Superman, fighting for truth, justice, and the American Way.

Letters to the Editor

Dear editor,

On behalf of the junior class at Ruidoso High School, I would like to thank the manager of Safeway and Ted Bennett from Bennett's supermarket for donating ice to the junior class during the bake and Coke sale at the Aspencade Parade. Without their help it would not have been a successful project. We thank you once again.

Sincerely,
Secretary of Junior Class
Kerrie Prophet

editorial

If your schedule calls for you to be away from your voting precinct November 4, then Thursday, October 30, is a very important day in your life because that's the last day for a voter to apply in person at the county clerk's office for an absentee ballot.

Bear in mind that absentee ballots may be cast in person in the office of the county clerk, in the courthouse in Carrizozo, until 5 p.m., October 30.

Every vote is important in every election, more so than usual this election, because:

- It's a presidential election year.
- A Second District congressman is to be elected.
- There's a contest for five county offices.
- A new District 39 Senator is to be elected.
- A District 50 Representative is to be elected.

Should you plan on going to the polls to cast your ballot election day, then, no matter how busy your schedule, you should be able to take the necessary few minutes to vote sometime between 8 a.m. and 7 p.m., which is when the polls will be open November 4.

It's unlikely, but still possible, that New Mexico's vote could decide the presidential election. However, Second District voters must name a new Representative in Congress and Lincoln County voters should be most interested in who the District 39 Senator and the District 50 Representative will be.

At the county level there are contests for county commissioner, clerk, treasurer, assessor and sheriff.

Your vote is important, make certain that it is cast. — CD

THAT ESSAY CONTEST

The Ruidoso News' essay contest has a deadline of December 1... with entrants having 1,000 words to discuss the theme: A Free Press Safeguards My Freedom.

The theme pertains to the First Amendment to the United States Constitution... the one establishing freedom of religion, speech and press... and the right to assemble peaceably as well as petition the Government for redress of grievances.

Now that's a whole bunch of rights... rights as many people in the world haven't had... don't have... and more than likely never will have... rights we take for granted... and don't spend a lot of time expounding on.

Yup... you can wager the family heirlooms on the fact that a lot of people in this world would gladly part with their eye teeth... maybe one arm... for the rights we enjoy under the First Amendment... so write about it from your viewpoint as to what that amendment means to you personally.

OUR JIMMY'S WITH IT

It's painfully clear that Our Jimmy's accepting the fact that he's in trouble in his bid for a second term in the Oval Office... and he's unleashing his big guns... and, brother, is he being loud.

But you gotta say this for the peanut farmer... he's not running into the bushes and hiding... he's getting with it on the hustings... shouting and carrying on... picking on Ronnie Baby... claiming that Reagan's the road to rack and ruin... and all such things... which he ain't seemed to have backed up with many facts... but then, Our Jimmy's not one to become concerned about facts... they just tend to cloud the issues for politicians fighting the good fight for their political lives... which Our Jimmy sure do seem to be doing... no?

The way Our Jimmy's carrying on, and all... it'll sure be an amazing development if'n he comes up with something astounding when he gets around to debating Reagan tomorrow night... but you can wager that there'll be plenty of verbal brickbats flying... with possibly more emanating from Our Jimmy's chair than from Ronnie Baby's... 'cause, in these hotly contested political races... when one guy figures he's kinda behind, he runs off at the mouth to catch up... no?

CHOICE FOR PRESIDENT ?

You know, it ain't just Our Jimmy and Ronnie Baby as is running for president... 'cause there's John Anderson, who, it seems, ain't running too hot... exceptin' maybe under the collar... which ain't helpin' his cause none.

And, in case you ain't interested in none of the above... and you're also an "ABC"... that's an "Anybody But Carter" voter... then you does have some other choices... Like, would you believe, four other guys are on the ballot.

Those other four aspirants include... Benjamin C. Bubar of the Statesman Party... Andrew Pulley of the Socialist Workers' Party... Ed Clark of the Libertarian Party... and lastly Barry Commoner of the Citizens' Party... and none of the above, it seems, is accomplishing more than just having the fun of getting out and heckling Our Jimmy and Ronnie Baby... and maybe the voters.

These last four guys... ain't no gals runnin' for president this time... must not have really come out to New Mexico and campaigned real hard like... 'cause there isn't any of their literature lying around... and none of 'em... so far as I know... has been in the state doing any kind of lying at all. Must be kinda frustrating for these four... being relegated to also rans before they even get into the running... why that could be downright discouraging.

DAVID KING'S ISSUES

Just on the offhand chance that you've maybe caught some of David King's statements decrying the fact that his write-in opponents are spending more time... and lotsa coin of the realm... talking about how to cast a write-in vote, than on the issues... is a situation having David just some alarmed.

What David's uncle ain't as per yet got across to him is that there's just one issue in the campaign for Congressman, District 2... and that issue is David King... ain't no other... 'cause all three... that's Joe and Dorothy and David... is pretty much in agreement as to what's gotta be done to benefit the Second Congressional District... and that's why David is the issue.

'Course there's this much about David being the issue... at least there's an issue... and there really ain't been no issues at all the last ten years.

BRIEF BIT: Way things seem to be going in Congress... what with third party talk... shouldn't be long before there's enough ABCAMERS to form one... CD

THE IDEA of designing a meditation garden at Forest Lawn Cemetery was that of Corinne Montgomery, left, and Neta Winniford, right. The ladies, working with Billie Clarke, chairperson of the Cemetery Committee, have completed the first planting of flowers at the garden.

A MEDITATION GARDEN was installed at the entrance to Forest Lawn Cemetery this summer and bloomed in June for the first time. More annual flowers will be placed next spring to add color and maintain year round beauty.

Garden added to Forest Lawn

BY CHARLOTTE FELLERS
Staff Writer/Photographer

A meditation garden has been partially completed at Forest Lawn Cemetery in Ruidoso, a project undertaken by several volunteers in cooperation with the Cemetery Board.

The garden is located just inside the entrance to Forest Lawn and was the idea of Corinne Montgomery and Neta Winniford, who have worked since April to develop the formerly natural environment into a garden which will "accept the permanent beauty and blend in with the rustic beauty and natural charm of the cemetery," Montgomery said.

Many annual flowers were planted so colors would be noticed in the first fall, Montgomery said. Additional flower bulbs were also planted and soil added and fertilized. Montgomery said over 350 plants were placed and most survived.

"Watering became a problem with the long spell of dry weather early in the summer, and almost semi-weekly spraying defeated the grasshoppers," she said.

Flowers started blooming in mid-summer and a T shaped walkway was built, edged in redwood and filled with bark. The garden was completed in early September when a birdbath and two concrete benches were added.

Plans call for 200 tulip bulbs to be set out in early November. Other flowers in the garden include asters, snapdragons, red dahlias, gladiolus, cushion mums, greenery and ground cover.

Montgomery noted that assistance was received from Billie Clarke, chairperson for the Cemetery Committee, many friends who provided plants and materials and one person from out of state who provided a memorial sign which is placed at the garden.

"Not enough can be said for those generous persons who have contributed so much to our effort and we appreciate their help tremendously. The garden is, and will continue to be, a lovely spot when you first turn in through the gates. It is a source of pride to all who have had an active part in making it possible," Montgomery said.

A MEMORIAL SIGN was placed at the Meditation Garden at Forest Lawn Cemetery by an out-of-state donor.

SOLO LIFT OFF — The two solo pilots of the United States Air Force Aerial Demonstration Team, the "Thunderbirds," do a formation takeoff from their home base, Nellis Air Force Base, Nevada. Lead Solo is Captain R. D. Evans of Osceola, Arkansas, with Captain Sonny Childers, Hartselle, Alabama, flying number 6. The team will appear at Holloman Air Force Base on November 1. The 30 minute air show follows a precision 20 minute ground ceremony before takeoff and is the highlight of the base's annual Open House. The public is invited to attend the Open House from 11 a.m. until 5 p.m. There is no admission charge. (United States Air Force Photo)

CHRISTMAS TREE DAMAGE — Lincoln National Forest officials are worried about the damage done to the forest each year by Christmas Tree cutters. Some examples are shown here by Cloudcroft timber staff officer Bill Wilson. They include the large tree in the foreground, cut and topped, with the rest of the tree left to become a fire hazard, and stumps left too tall (they should be shorter than the lowest live limb on the tree next to Wilson and on the right). The tall stumps will grow into deformed trees which will eventually have to be cut down anyway, and because they do not decay properly, they become harbors for insects and diseases.

SIERRA LANDSCAPING, which is owned by Mack Rice and Ralph Romero, opened for business in June and joined the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce at that time. Romero is pictured above with members of his crew, Lalo, Jerry and Francisco. The firm offers back hoe and brush hog service, yard work, sod and topsoil work, stone work, and also installs driveways and patios. The focus of their work is "not only good looks," but also control of erosion. Laying of sod is possible year round, Romero said, and is especially successful during the fall, when the grass will divert most of its energy to producing roots. For more information, contact Romero at 378-4278.

Profile

Bombeck lampoons her experience

For Erma Bombeck, Housewife-at-Large on ABC-TV's 'Good Morning America,' the dreams of the every-day housewife are more than just dreams—for her, they are the source of national fame as a writer of a syndicated newspaper column, 'At Wit's End,' which appears three times weekly in nearly 700 newspapers.

As a real-life housewife with a husband and three children, Ms. Bombeck knows whereof she writes. In her droll style, she reports on the dreams (and the realities) of housewives across the country, and she manages to find silver linings in even the darkest of clouds.

On 'Good Morning America,' the ABC-TV informative and entertaining early morning program, Ms. Bombeck brings her wit and humor to national television audiences on a regular basis.

Ms. Bombeck began her career as a cub reporter for the Dayton Journal Herald, where she spent five years assigned to the women's department.

After taking a leave of absence to raise her children, Ms. Bombeck returned to writing as a reporter for the Kettering-Oakwood Times. A year later, she rejoined the Journal Herald with her material appearing on the editorial pages. Within three weeks, her column was brought to the attention of a syndicate.

Her sixth and most recent book, 'Aunt Erma's Cope Book,' was a best seller, as were her previous books, 'If Life Is a Bowl of Cherries—What Am I Doing in The Pits?', 'At Wit's End,' 'Just Wait Till You Have Children of Your Own,' 'I Lost Everything in the Post-Natal Depression,' and 'The Grass is Always Greener Over the Septic Tank.'

A graduate of the University of Dayton, Ms., Bombeck is a member of Theta Sigma Phi and Sigma Delta Chi, the professional journalism society. She is also the recipient of the Headliner Award (1969), and has won the coveted Mark Twain Award, which is presented annually to the nation's top humorist.

She resides in Paradise Valley, Arizona.

CONFIDENTIAL REPORT: Looks like everybody is trying to cash in on the success of CBS-TV's 'Dallas.' But the producers of the ABC oil drama 'Dynasty' say that doesn't apply to them. "I know people will say we're a copy of 'Dallas,'" says Norma Herron, an associate of producer Aaron Spelling. "But that's not true. There're just a lot of similarities. That's all." Those 'similarities' include an oil-rich family—the Carringtons, a spoiled brat daughter, a gay son, divorces and lots of love affairs. In fact, aside from living in Denver instead of Texas, the only thing the Carringtons seem to be missing is a shooting—but it's still early in the season. Spelling, producer of 'Charlie's Angels,' 'Hart to Hart' and 'Vegas,' has already spent a small fortune putting the family together, including $2 million just on the pilot. To compete with Larry ('J.R.') Hagman, Linda ('Sue Ellen') Gray and the rest of the Ewing clan on CBS, Spelling has come up with an all-star cast.

CONSUMER NEWS WIRE: 'Little House on the Prairie' star Michael Landon and his wife Lynn are talking about a reconciliation. They are still living apart, but Lynn told me "The lines of communication are now open." In an exclusive interview, Lynn said that she and Michael are now "on peaceful terms and we're certainly talking about getting back together." The split in their 20 year old marriage came in June when Michael left the family's plush home in Beverly Hills, California, to live with 19-year-old Cindy Clerico, a make-up assistant on his TV series. In a short statement at that time Landon, who is 43, said: "I have moved out. Lynn and the kids are taking a vacation in Spain. This is our way of trying to work out our problems. We are not talking about divorce."

TV CLOSEUP: Catch A Rising Star... Anno-Marie Murray, the delicious Canadian singer-poet who's touring the northeast with her lilting songs about the homeland and the heart, is unquestionably the freshest new talent of the season. When I asked Anne-Marie why I felt both soothed and excited by her singing, she explained that her simple themes "draw people into a more tranquil world which feeds their inner spirit and revitalizes them." Through her love laments, her ballads about the sea, and the wonderful Tara songs from Ireland, this piquant lass from Newfoundland utterly mesmerizes her audiences. Watch for her on TV and look for her soon-to-be-released book and cassette titled Portraits in Words and Songs. She'll warm your heart and soul... Johnny Carson's kid brother, Dick, hopes hosting a new TV comedy, 'People to People,' will get him a guest shot on his brother's 'Tonight' show, of which he was once the director. Before leaving 'Tonight,' he did sit down with his big brother. "Johnny said, 'You know, it's the hardest thing to interview my brother. How's Mom?' 'I don't know,' he said. 'You never call her.'"
