HIGHWAY PERSONNEL TO MEET WITH TRUSTEES

Road sign airing Tuesday

Worth Smelser, district engineer, and Hank Smith, traffic services for the Roswell office of the New Mexico Highway Department (NMHD), will attend the Tuesday meeting of the Ruidoso trustees to discuss alleged violations of highway right-of-way (ROW) regulations.

The meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m., at Ruidoso Public Library.

The discussion will focus on encroachments of highway ROW's by commercial and other signs. According to NMHD officials, Ruidoso is alleged to be one of the district's worst offenders of ROW encroachment.

Once identified, violators will be notified by the NMHD, and given ten days to relocate their signs. Those signs which are not relocated within that time will be removed and disposed of by highway maintenance personnel. Sign owners will then be assessed a fee to cover costs of removal.

Smelser told The News this week that he made the decision to send letters announcing enforcement of ROW regulations on November 3, following a "discussion between me and Buddy Hewett in late spring." Hewett is now chief administrator of the NMHD.

Smelser told The News, "the enforcement is district wide," and said he and Smith are meeting with trustees to seek their endorsement of the program.

A list of alleged violations of the sign law will be presented to the trustees by Smelser, who said that at least 35 to 40 violators have been identified, mostly in the Gateway area.

SBAC to seek mesa airport site

Members of the Sierra Blanca Airport Commission (SBAC) met Thursday, in Ruidoso, with administrative aides of Senator Pete Domenici and Harrison "Jack" Schmitt, as well as Grant Reel of the State Planning Office, to discuss their plans to obtain land on Fort Stanton mesa for a regional airport.

Attending the meeting to seek that information were Betty King, aide to Schmitt and Poe Corn, Domenici's aide, both of Roswell.

Commissioners meet Tuesday

Lincoln County commissioners will meet at 10 a.m., Tuesday at the courthouse in Carrizozo.

Major agenda items include opening of bids on dental x-ray equipment for the Carrizozo Health Center, a water/sewer/garbage franchise right-of-way for Rancho Ruidoso, a public hearing on the proposed animal control ordinance, a discussion of road conditions in Loma Estates with Drs. Dobbs and Hume, and a proposed schedule of commission meetings for 1981.

The commissioners will also consider budget increases to accept funds for school bus route improvements, ambulance operating expenses and hauling and placement of gravel on area roads.

Lincoln County manager Bill Billingsley advised the commission that a new state Bureau of Land Management (BLM) director has been named. He is Bill Lusher, former associate state BLM director for Colorado. The application for land must be made to the BLM, which controls the mesa acreage. The original application was rejected by the BLM, and an appeal of that decision was turned down by the BLM's governing agency, the Department of the Interior.

The group also discussed some aspects of economic benefits which would be

BUSINESS SIGNS which allegedly encroach on highway right-of-ways will be discussed at the village trustees meeting Tuesday night. Officials of the state Highway Department have identified 35 to 40 violators in the Ruidoso area, most along this section of Sudderth Drive in Gateway.

RUIDOSO FIRE CHIEF Butch Jacobs really got into the swing of things during Thursday's grass and brush fire on Carrizo Canyon Road. Here he beats out a small flame with his jacket. Jacobs supervised the efforts of 30 men in the firefighting effort.

Grass-brush fire quickly extinguished

A grass and brush fire Thursday, on Carrizo Canyon Road, burned over about two acres before being brought under control by fire fighters in about 30 minutes.

The fire was reported at about 12:45 p.m., just northeast of Rainbow Lake, burning in a draw on the west slope of the mountain, headed in the direction of Camelot.

A Forest Service spokesman said the fire was "caused by something hot, possibly dropping out of a power line transformer. A broken insulator could have been the cause, but we won't know until Community Public Service completes their investigation."

The only structural loss in the fire was a well house, though there was some fire damage to a vacant residence in the area.

Efforts to control the fire were hampered by difficulty in getting water to the scene. At one point winds threatened to fan the fire out of control, but the 25 to 30 men on the scene managed to contain it.

Answering the call were Ruidoso and Ruidoso Downs fire trucks and firemen, along with a Forest Service fire truck and personnel.

There were no injuries sustained in the fire, though some of the firemen reported smoke inhalation problems and bruises caused by slipping on wet rocks on the mountain.

County P&Z considering reorganizing

Members of the Lincoln County Planning and Zoning (P&Z) Commission met Thursday night with Ruidoso P&Z chairman Mike Waldron to discuss extraterritorial planning.

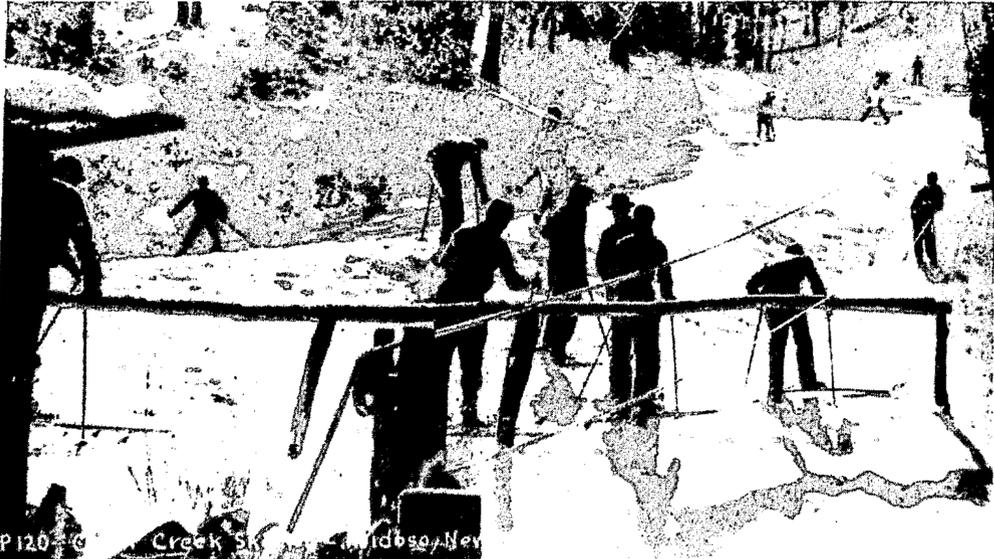

The village's planning authority extends three miles beyond the village limits, while its zoning authority extends one mile.

The group discussed the formation of a joint city-county P&Z advisory board, consisting of three members of each P&Z board. The suggestion was that all extraterritorial planning and zoning matters would be channeled through that board. Chairmanship would be rotated from the village to the county on an annual basis.

The proposal would require a joint powers agreement between the village and county, and possibly the approval of the state attorney general, according to county manager Bill Billingsley.

The county P&Z commission also heard reports on two proposed subdivisions — Tanbar Townhomes and Deer Park Valley. They instructed subdividers to proceed with preliminary platting, subject to final approval by the board.

OLD PHOTOGRAPHS OF RUIDOSO are being sought by Cece Sudderth, at village hall, to be framed for permanent display in the new Administrative Building, currently under construction. Photographs will be copied, if the owner desires to retain the original. Persons willing to contribute to this historical display are asked to leave photos with Sudderth. This photograph, date unknown, was taken at Cedar Creek Ski Run, with the present ski facilities springing from this inauspicious beginning.

Ski Report

Sierra Blanca: Four inches of new snow had fallen at the resort as of press time with heavy snowfall continuing. Currently, the beginner slopes are the only ones open, with skiing rated as good. Other trails will be opened as sufficient snowfall accumulates.

Eagle Creek: Eagle Creek also has four inches of new snow atop its 12 inch base, with conditions rated as good. Four runs are open — the Dude and Tintah, both beginner runs, and Lower Box and Boot Hill, intermediate runs.

For updated ski reports, call Sierra Blanca, 257-9001, or Eagle Creek, 336-4211.

Villages' trustees to meet

The Ruidoso Downs trustees will meet at 7 tonight in the municipal building. Agenda items include investigation of a possible candidate for building inspector and a report from Bob Power on the Red Man Club water situation.

The Ruidoso trustees will meet at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday in the Ruidoso Public Library.

The main agenda item will be presentation of information by state Highway Department officials from Roswell, pertaining to possible encroachments on the right-of-way on Highways 37 and 70 in the Ruidoso and Ruidoso Downs area.

The trustees will also consider an plan for the inspection of new construction in Ruidoso Downs by Ruidoso building inspector John Ernde and action on the final plat for Pinon Park, Phase 1.

Yule lighting contest open to all comers

No entries have been received at the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce for the residential Christmas lighting contest, according to Ed Jungbluth, Chamber executive director.

Any resident is welcome to enter the contest with judging beginning December 20. "There is no entry fee; we are asking that you enter so we can get directions to your home," Jungbluth said. Entry deadline is Wednesday.

He said first, second and third place awards will be given to the three best displays, with plaques presented December 22.

"We have so much natural beauty here; we are encouraging everyone to make the most of it," Jungbluth said.

COMMERCIAL LIGHTING contest entries will close today Jungbluth said. He said those already entered include Benny Coulston and Associates, A Place in the Sun, Ruidoso Gift and Fireplace, Nottingham's Deli and Catering, Gibson's Discount, Village Hardware, West Winds Lodge, D & J Services and Woolridge Real Estate, The Roadrunner, Ruidoso Drug and Starlite Cabins.

Jungbluth said commercial entries will be judged beginning December 12 with prizes awarded December 15. "We will give plaques to all winners that will have color photographs of the lighting display on them," Jungbluth said.

In addition, the first place commercial entry will be given a traveling trophy they can display in their business for a year.

"Entry is free and we encourage everyone to sign up at the Chamber office," Jungbluth said.

Chamber hours are 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., weekdays, and the telephone number is 257-7395.

School board meets Tuesday

The Ruidoso Board of Education will meet Tuesday at Nob Hill Cafeteria at 7:30 p.m.

Agenda items include approval of transferring Eva Clarke to Nob Hill Elementary to become kindergarten teacher, replacement of Clarke as third grade teacher, progress report on building plans and roof repairs at White Mountain Elementary School and a review of the election calendar.

DECA taking seafood orders

Orders are still being taken for seafood in the fund raising project for the Distributive Education Clubs of America (DECA) chapter, according to sponsor Eddie Parker.

A Trans-Alaska seafood truck will arrive in Ruidoso December 12 and 13 to deliver fresh frozen seafood, with the DECA chapter receiving 40 cents for every pound of seafood they pre-sell.

The chapter will take orders by telephone until Friday, at 257-7324, or 378-4884. Seafood available includes Alaska king and snow crab, extra large lobster tails, small jumbo, extra large jumbo and breaded fantail shrimp (all precooked), pink salmon steaks, silver salmon steaks, whole pink and silver salmon, center cut halibut steaks, walleye, red snapper and cod filets, ling cod steaks and seafood batter mix.

Payment is made when seafood is picked up. Master Charge and Visa cards will be accepted, as well as personal checks, Parker said. "People should be aware that we will probably give slower service if they use a credit card because we will be required to run an authorization code on every credit card," Parker said.

He said students will receive 20 cents per pound for every walk-up order, adding that "we can actually double our profit margin if you'll just call us ahead of time."

Parker said all seafood is guaranteed and "if you order one thing and want something else, feel free to change your mind when you pick up the seafood. We can certainly do that."

Seafood can be picked up at Gibson's parking lot between 10 a.m. and 6 p.m., Friday and Saturday.

Smelser said that Ruidoso is not being "singled out" for the enforcement measure, but that action is being taken in this area first. "We've got to start somewhere," he said.

The News contacted mayors and/or village administrators in the district cited by the NMHD as potential problem areas, but only one reported any contact with NMHD officials regarding the ROW issue.

Walter Gerrells, mayor of Carlsbad, said he had received a memo stating that the department would enforce the ROW laws "outside the municipal limits" and suggesting that the city do the same inside those limits.

Asked what might have been the basis of Gerrell's information, Smelser said he had "no idea."

The primary reason given for sign removal, according to Douglas Ditto, district maintenance engineer, is to prevent obstruction of drivers' view. Signs will be removed regardless of whether or not they pose an obvious safety or traffic hazard.

Ditto added that part of the blame for the sign problem should be placed on the NMHD, which he said in some cases, may have failed to adequately inform the public of the ROW locations.

Catherine Hine receives Navy Commendation Medal

NAVY LIEUTENANT CATHERINE HINE

Lieutenant Catherine Elizabeth Hine, United States Navy, recently received a Naval Commendation Medal in honor of her "meritorious achievement while serving as an instructor at the Officer Indoctrination School, Naval Education and Training Center, Newport, Rhode Island, from August 1977 to July 1980."

A citation received with the medal praised Hine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hine of Ruidoso, for her "superior performance during this period," which "contributed immeasurably to the overall success of" the school.

"Through exceptional leadership," the citation stated, "she was directly responsible for the development of hundreds of newly-commissioned students into responsible, competent staff corps officers."

The citation was issued to Hine at the Naval Reserve Officer Training Corps unit at the University of New Mexico, where she is currently stationed. The document signed by K. L. Shugart, Rear Admiral, United States Navy, Chief of Naval Education and Training, stated: Hine's "expert management techniques and high level of efficiency," along with her "tireless efforts and in-depth research resulted in a comprehensive curriculum revision which substantially increased instructional effectiveness in the naval subjects taught."

Yule meeting Wednesday at Woman's Club

The Ruidoso Federated Woman's Club will have their Christmas meeting at 2 p.m., Wednesday at the club building with a program of Christmas carols and origins of Christmas traditions of various lands. A board meeting at 1 p.m., will be followed by the regular meeting at 1:30. Refreshments will be served by Tillie Daubs, with Mrs. W. E. Duncan in charge of the program.

Eastern Star meets Thursday

Members of the Order of the Eastern Star will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m., at the OES hall. A gift exchange will be held following the meeting and women are to bring a suitable gift for ladies, with all men asked to provide a man's gift.

Living tree may be tax deduction

What may look like a Douglas fir is really a tax deduction dressed up like a Christmas tree. "If you want a Christmas tree that has many benefits, buy a live tree," said Dr. Fred Widmoyer, a horticulturist with New Mexico State University's Agricultural Experiment Station.

He explained that after the tinsel comes off, the live tree can be donated to a school, a park or the Boy Scouts for landscaping. Because the tree is donated to a non-profit organization it is tax deductible.

The live tree also can be a special gift for a new family member. The pleasure of watching the child and the tree "grow up together" will be a happy reminder of that first Christmas.

"First, select a tree adaptable to your area," he said. The local nursery can recommend a suitable tree from a wide range of evergreens available. The choices include the Douglas fir, pinyon pine, Afghanistan pine and ponderosa pine.

When you bring your tree home, thoroughly water the container of soil. Then let it drain for at least a day before bringing it into the house.

Widmoyer said because the tree is heavy and its container often leaky, special care is necessary to prevent damage. Choose a sturdy location, preferably on the floor, and cover the area with plastic before bringing the tree inside.

The live tree can be decorated as any other tree, although miniature blinking lights should be used to prevent needle burn.

Once the tree is inside it should be watered sparingly. "A few ice cubes every other day works best if the house isn't hotter than 70 degrees Fahrenheit," he said. The live tree shouldn't be kept inside for more than 10 days. A longer time will dry out the tree and make it less adaptable when it is moved back outdoors.

Plant the tree as soon as possible after Christmas. In southern New Mexico, the tree can be planted with little soil preparation.

In colder climates, however, dig a planting hole early and fill it with straw to prevent the soil from freezing. Store the removed soil in a dry, warmer location until planting time.

After planting, mulch around the tree base to prevent frost damage and water loss. Larger trees may need staking until they become firmly rooted. Water thoroughly every two weeks.

Cream 1/2 cup oleo. Gradually add 1/4 cup sugar. Cream well. Blend in 1 square sweetened chocolate, melted and cooled. Add 1 teaspoon vanilla. Add two eggs, one at a time, beating 5 minutes after each addition. Turn into cooled baked 9 inch pie shell. (Pecan crust is very good) Before serving, top with whipped sweetened cream.

JO'S FROZEN SALAD

1 1/4 cups sugar
1 med. can crushed pineapple and juice
1 small jar maraschino cherries and juice
4 bananas, mashed
8 ozs. sour cream
2 cups Cool Whip
1 cup chopped nuts
Mix all ingredients together and freeze. Take out of freezer, and slice a few minutes before serving. This is enough for eight servings.

Local women on junket in Pacific

Edna Falls and Inez Killebrew are currently at Osaka/Kyoto, Japan, as part of a trip to various ports in the Pacific Ocean.

They participated in, Falls said in a letter to The News, "a 'family reunion' of friends and supporters of the Foundation for Christian Living led by Dr. Norman Vincent Peale," in Honolulu, Hawaii.

The ladies, following 15 days of travel in Japan, plan to return to Ruidoso December 18.

Falls also said, of their stay in Hawaii, "Inez' friends must remember to ask her to tell her fish stories, because she went deep sea fishing. I can't tell you what she caught, so you'll just have to wait to find out."

VA offering help to older veterans

A new Veterans Administration (VA) publication, "Veterans Benefits for Older Americans," is available through regional offices and veterans service organizations in New Mexico.

The free pamphlet highlights eligibility for VA medical care, compensation and pension programs, and burial benefits. It includes a quick reference inventory for listing a veteran's VA file number and other information for use in case of an emergency, said Joe Cordova, Albuquerque VA Regional Office director.

The pamphlet is another in a series of steps VA is taking to meet the needs of the aging veteran population.

According to VA statistics, some three million veterans are 65 years of age or older. By 1985 that number is expected to be five million. By 1990 it will be over seven million.

VA is also developing videotape cassettes to explain VA benefits to elderly beneficiaries. Early next year the tapes will be made available to senior citizens groups and veterans organizations, Cordova said.

To receive the pamphlet, write, visit or telephone the Albuquerque VA Regional Office toll free 474-3361 in the Albuquerque area and 1-800-432-4853 elsewhere in New Mexico.

Women's Ministry held Yule party

The Women's Ministry of the Gateway Assembly of God Church and their spouses celebrated their annual Christmas party Thursday at the home of Ethel and Grady Walton of Ruidoso. GI loan guarantee applications fall

Applications for GI home-loan guarantees in New Mexico fell by one third last fiscal year compared with the previous year, said Ray Corkran, Veterans Administration loan guaranty officer for the state. During the same 12-month period ending last September 30, the number of GI home-loan guarantees approved by the office's loan guaranty division dropped by about a quarter, he added.

Corkran also said that, compared to the previous year, fiscal 1980 guaranteed home-loan defaults increased by a quarter, property acquisitions nearly doubled, mobile home-loan applications dropped about 40 percent and the average GI home loan involved in a VA guarantee jumped by more than $2,000.

"The decrease in GI-loan activity in fiscal 1980 as compared with 1979 was primarily attributable to the increase in purchase prices of homes and higher financing costs — placing home ownership out of reach for more potential buyers," Corkran said. "Loan volume this fiscal year will depend upon those same factors."

Corkran said that the increases in requests for certificates of eligibility, restoration of loan-guarantee entitlement and releases of liability reflect a continuing strong interest in GI home-loan guarantees by prospective homeowners in New Mexico.

He noted that the GI loan-guarantee default rate in New Mexico of 2.75 percent, is the second lowest in the nation. Lowest is Rhode Island with 1.63 percent. He added that the VA New Mexico foreclosure rate of 0.08 percent is less than that for conventional loans. Conventional is 0.16 and FHA is 3.92.

He added that Mortgage Banking Association figures show that only 13 VA-guaranteed loans in New Mexico resulted in foreclosures during the past two years.

Corkran said that about 85 percent of the loan applications at his loan guaranty division are for single-family dwellings, as they were the previous year. But the average home loan backed by a VA guarantee in New Mexico last fiscal year was for $58,025, compared to the previous year's $55,950.

VA loan-guarantee figures for fiscal 1980 (with 1979 in brackets): GI home-loan applications, 1,927 (2,752); GI home-loan applications approved, 1,743 (2,270); mobile-home applications, 152 (265); guaranteed-loan defaults, 361 (292); portfolio-loan defaults, 434 (501); property acquisitions, 8 (5); direct-loan applications, 2 (8); claims paid mortgagors, 18 (11); subdivision approvals, 62 (54); and condemnation approvals, 0 (0).

Warriors thrash Demons

BY MARK BAGBY
Sports Editor

Rout. Shellacking. Slaughter. Massacre. Use whatever words you will, they all apply to Saturday night's 90-42 destruction of the Dexter Demons by the Ruidoso Warriors.

It was incredible, as the Warriors notched near impossible scores like 28-1 early in the second quarter.

The win, which upped the Warriors' record at 2-1, is understandably the biggest of third year Warrior mentor Barry Nelson's coaching career.

"Everybody had a good night," he said. "I told the team before the game that if we couldn't beat Dexter, we were in big trouble. I don't have any disappointments."

The mis-matchup allowed Nelson to clear his bench and his players gained considerable game experience.

"I was really pleased with the way we ran our offense. Our defense didn't clear the boards as well as I was hoping for, but I guess we did okay."

That is an understatement. Dexter was unable to get the ball across midcourt much of the night, thanks to the ball stealing capabilities of Scott Neal and Gary Jones.

When the Demons did get a shot off, it seldom went in and then Bill Richardson or Glenn Ryan would rebound.

"I hope we play this way all the time," he said. "I don't care whether you're playing a good or bad team, you have to play your best. I'm glad we played as well as we did. We've been sort of hesitant on offense, but we finally showed some aggressiveness and went to the basket."

"On offense what we try to do is get the open shot and then take it. We hadn't been doing that all the time, but I think we've started doing it."

Ryan and Richardson each scored 20 points to lead the way, with Neal hitting 14, Jones had 12, Gene Reeves and Russ Veronda each had eight, and Wade Wilson, Kyle Schautee, Steve Sluder and Don Nunley had two each to round out the scoring.

"I was happy with the way the reserves came off the bench and scored a lot of points," Nelson said. "Everybody we have is capable of scoring a lot of points, if we just relax and do it."

Next on the slate is AAAA school Roswell Goddard, and Nelson is ready and waiting for Friday's game, to be played here.

"I don't know anything about them, really," he said. "I'm going to try to find out something about them this week. It should be a pretty good game."

The game might feature the return of 6-4 center Rodney Thomason, who last year led the team in scoring and rebounding, but has missed the first three games this season due to illness.

Thomason is supposed to return to practice today and could possibly play against Goddard.

"It'll be nice to have Rodney back," Nelson said, even though the Warriors have been playing exceptionally well without him.

"It's helped us to play without him," Nelson said. "We've gained a lot of confidence by playing and winning without him."

"But you still miss a player of his caliber when he's not in there. I think our rebounding will be stronger, although Bill did a better job Saturday than he had been doing."

"We expect a big crowd for the game, and we're going to need a lot of support. I expect Goddard to be tough, and we'll have to play good ball to win."

MAKING LIFE DIFFICULT for Dexter's Ed Rodriguez are Ruidoso's Bill Richardson (42) and Matt Roberts. The Warriors made life in general rather difficult for the Demons en route to a 90-42 clobbering.

Lady Warriors capture fourth place in tourney

Ruidoso's lady Warriors opened their 1980-81 season Thursday in the first round of the Weed tournament, and their 43-28 win over Cloudcroft equalled all of last year's wins.

But things seemed a little more familiar in the second and third rounds of the tourney, as they lost to Jal, 66-55, and to Weed, 52-28.

Coch Sergio Castanon, however, is extremely proud of his troops.

"I'm looking forward to the rest of our games," he said. "We're running our offense pretty well and our press looked good. We'll keep improving as we play."

The lasses finished fourth in the seven team tourney, losing to second place finisher Jal and third place finisher Weed. In fact, Ruidoso came close to coming in third.

The lady Warriors were down to Weed by only one point, 22-21, at the end of the first half. But a bad case of cold shooting afflicted the lasses during intermission as they put only one point on the board during the third period, and only six in the last quarter.

"That was our biggest problem," he said. "We played good second halves against Cloudcroft and Jal and a good first half against Weed. If we'd have played a whole game, we'd have done better."

The lady Warriors rode the talents of Lisa Shaw and Kody Taylor to their fourth place finish, and those two ladies were named to the all tournament team.

Taylor led the scoring in the win over Cloudcroft with 19, followed by Shaw with 10, Tami Shaw with six, and Sheri Dennis and Gleda Bob with four each rounded out the scoring.

Shaw copped scoring honors against Jal with 23, followed by Taylor with 13, Patsy Almaguer with seven, Sheri Dennis with four, Kathy Kiser and Brigid Almaguer with two apiece and Robin Rhodes with one.

Dennis was the high scorer against Weed with seven, followed by Patsy Almaguer with six, Shaw with five, Taylor and Jan Huey with four apiece and Kiser with two.

The lady Warriors now have a week off before their next matchup, a Saturday game with district foe Cohe here.

"Our offense is in pretty good shape," Castanon said. "We'll work on defense this week and start getting ready for the rest of the season. I'm looking forward to the rest of our games. The girls are excited about playing and so am I."

Warrior JV wins, loses

If you had told Warrior junior varsity coach Vince Collins two weeks ago his inexperienced squad would be 2-2 at this point in the season, he would probably have laughed and promptly called the nearest looney bin to have you incarcerated.

But that's how his Warriors stand at this point — 2-2, and only two points away from being 3-1.

"Man, I'm really glad to see us playing as well as we are," Collins said. "We're doing a whole lot better than I thought we could've."

Saturday night the Warriors more or less crushed Dexter's junior varsity by a 48-36 count, but Friday night was the game Collins really wanted — a 45-43 loss to Roswell High's sophomore squad.

Roswell won in the final second of the game, as a shot put up exactly as the buzzer sounded went in to give Roswell the victory.

"It was awful," he said. "We had a four point lead with 1:37 left and had just gotten the rebound and I called time out to remind them to take no shot other than a layup."

The Warriors never got the ball past midcourt, though, and wound up losing by two.

"But we played well," he said. "We looked good, we played under control. The biggest problem we had was 34 turnovers. Those killed us."

Tim Enjady was the high scorer for the Warriors with 10, followed by Russ Veronda with nine, Kyle Schautee with eight, Bobby Knox and Grady Williamson with six each and Don Nunley and Marc Delhotal with two apiece.

The Warriors got back on the winning track with a fairly easy win over Dexter here Saturday, and Collins was pleased — with reservations.

"I am concerned with the way we let down toward the end," he said. "I should be ecstatic over a 12 point win, but the way we let down bothers me."

Enjady was again the high scorer with 12, followed by Veronda with 10, Steve Sluder with seven, Delhotal with five, Schautee and Nunley with four each, Knox and Williamson with three apiece and Sam Mize chipped in a free throw to finish the scoring.

Sportin' Life

by Mark Bagby

It would appear there's a lot of turmoil in the sporting world as of late.

For instance: Roberto Duran calls it quits in the middle of the eighth round, bringing cries of a rigged fight; University of Texas at El Paso keeps its 5-41 head coach but "reassigns" its athletic director; University of New Mexico gets placed on probation due to all that stuff last year they were caught for (has it been a year? Wow!); Dick Nolan is fired from the 0-13 New Orleans Saints; George Rogers, coach is accused of making deals with professional scouts; et cetera, et cetera.

Well, I've decided it's time to fan the flames myself.

After having been to the other football stadiums in district JAAA, I have decided Ruidoso's Warrior Stadium is — how shall I put this? — not exactly up to standards.

As a matter of fact, it stinks. Now, let me explain why I feel this way. My first gripe is with the turf. Yes, it just had an irrigation system put into the center of the field. That's all fine and dandy.

But the ground is about as soft as concrete and players tend to get hurt more easily when they hit the turf. It may seem crazy to say this, but a padded floor is nicer to land on than is a parking lot.

Plus, if you think about it, a 200 pound tackle slamming you into a pillow will hurt less than the same gargantuan sandwiching you between his body and a marble slab. Simple physics. (But I don't think Isaac Newton would have put it that way. Ah well, what does he know? He's dead.)

Another gripe I have with the field is its shape. Your typical, normal field is supposed to be 120 yards long (including end zones) and 53 yards wide.

I would hazard a guess and say Warrior field is 53 yards wide on the west end and probably about 50 on the east end. And then the goalposts on the back line of the east end aren't squared off to the field.

Then there's the state rule that any fences or barriers must be at least five yards from any part of the field. The fence on the east end is approximately, oh, I'd say a foot from the northeast corner.

If you ever get a receiver to run a flag pattern over there, you can scratch one receiver off your roster.

We mustn't forget the west end of the field, though. The west end is the one with the rising side. I swear the back of the end zone is three feet higher than the ground at the goal line. And how about that big old pine tree in the middle of the goal post?

Now that's just for the players. The fans have problems of their own. For one thing, there is not enough seating, and there are always numerous people on foot, standing around the field, simply because there's nowhere to sit. Visitors don't have a whole lot of space to park their posteriors, either.

The press box does not exactly enable spotters, statisticians, film crews and sports editors to view the field with the greatest of ease, and more than once I've had to darn near break my neck to watch any of the action on the east end of the field.

The lighting facilities are not too good. The light output is adequate, although fields like Deming's and Truth or Consequences make you feel like you're watching a game during the day. And they don't have obtrusive light poles blocking your view and posing a threat to players who run out of bounds.

Compared to the other schools in the district, the Warriors' facility is sub-standard, and "laughingstock" might not be too strong a term.

I am not advocating a policy of "keeping up with the Joneses." Yet, the field, compared to other AAA schools' is extremely poor.

But that field, by anyone's standards, is grossly inadequate for football or any other game. I guess if you lost enough grass, you could skate on it, but I wouldn't want to play football on it.

So, now the question is, if the field is poor, what to do about it? There has been talk of raising money to refurbish the stadium and the field.

While I feel the goal is admirable, I would suggest it is somewhat misdirected. Warrior Stadium has little, if any, room for correcting the dimensions of the field, and there is not much room for more seating.

The only conceivable way to really restructure that field would almost have to involve a major excavation into the hillside on the south side of the field, which would mean a total destruction of the existing stands. (That might not be too bad an idea.)

The other alternative would be to build a new field completely away from the current structure, on the land near White Mountain Middle School. There is considerable land for expansion there, and a truly nice facility could be built, quite probably for not a whole lot more than it would cost to rebuild the current stadium. Then the old field could be used as a practice field.

If anything is done to the field, it must be done now, before next season. If anyone has any ideas, let the school board know about them. And it will take more than verbal support to get something done. It's going to take money. Lots of it.

Whether or not anything is done to upgrade Ruidoso's football field for next season remains to be seen.

But here's hoping action is initiated — like real soon.

District 1A all star grid teams selected

Carrizozo High School and Capitan High School placed six and four players respectively on the first team offensive and defensive squads in the all district 1A selections announced recently.

Carrizozo's Jon Paul Ventura and Moises Sambrano made the first team defense. Johnnie Herrera, Chris Ventura, Larry Beltran and Ralph Delgado were first team offensive picks.

Capitan's James Hurch, Deke LaMay and Tracy Maxwell, made the first team offense; with Johnny LaMay and Deke LaMay, chosen for the first team defense. Reserve, which beat Capitan in the state championship game, dominated the picks with eight first teamers.

Other local players who made second team or honorable mention rosters include: Second team offense, Danny Fifer, Capitan; David Rooks, Capitan; Johnny LaMay, Capitan; Norvell Carpenter, Capitan;

Second team defense, Joe Curtiss, Carrizozo; Norvell Carpenter, Capitan; Tracy Maxwell, Capitan; Todd Lindsay, Carrizozo; David Rooks, Capitan;

Honorable mention offense, Jon Paul Ventura, Carrizozo; Reuben Chavez, Capitan; Bob Ward, Capitan; Jon Wolff, Capitan;

A TROPHY, held above by Phillip Strom, left, and Tracey Burton, officers of the local chapter of National Association of Homebuilders, represents the highest enrollment in the state of new members for 1979. All are licensed building contractors. Strom said early projections indicate the chapter will retain the trophy for 1980. The trophy is on display at the meeting room of the Texas Club.

NEW OWNERS of The Fireplace Center are Ben and Laura Casey, pictured, who took over the business November 1. They moved to Ruidoso from Albuquerque and have three children, Kelly, 10, Kevin 13, and Alan, 14. The couple plan to begin stocking solar hot water heaters at The Fireplace Center and will continue to carry Majestic, Ashley and Earth Stoves, in addition to accessories. The Fireplace Center is located in Gateway Center.

The Dreamer

BY DANNIE STORM

"Our Lord And Saviour Draweth Nigh"

This is being sent to you on a sunny day in mid afternoon on December four. The temperature is sixty-four outside with a light west wind singing down the vale. The snow is almost every bid faded from the shadows of the pinon and cedar on the hillsides out to the south. The Snow Birds, those little messengers of winter, are nowhere to be seen. They must be taking an afternoon nap on this summer-like day. The scrub jays and blue birds are flying about feeding and drinking from their fountains, which are the "Metates" or Indian grain grinding stones around the yard. Some of the birds are even taking a bath, splashing the water around so that there are rainbow colors flashing in the bright afternoon sun. And yet you can feel the Christmas spirit in the air everywhere as the birthday of our Infant Saviour draws nearer day by day. And the spirit of the Christ Child abides more closely with us each day as we advance closer to the blessed day.

Christmas Decorations Of Mother Earth

Good Mother Earth is, little by little, decorating herself up for Christmas. The cedar berries are taking on their blue-purple color and the silvery berries of the blue juniper are shining on the gently waving branches. Then there is the algerita bush. Gone are the red berries of summer, yet the leaves, much resembling the holly (its first cousin) are sending you a Christmas message from all along the way. All these things make a New Mexico mountain touch to wreathes that you can form with any of the evergreens: pine, pinon, cedar, douglass fir, spruce and all the rest.

A special New Mexico Christmas decoration is made from the seed pods of our state flower, the yucca. You may take the yucca stalk with the seed pods at the top and place it upright in a container full of sand. Then paint the seed pods different colors — Christmas red and green or gold and silver. Mistletoe adds its bit to the Christmas and New Year's season. We are lucky in having two kinds in this area. Down where the cottonwoods grow we see the mistletoe with the white berries. This is the traditional mistletoe of our forefathers across the water. Then there is the Western Mistletoe that grows on the cedar trees here in the foot hills and mountain land. This is very colorful with bright pink berries.

By the way, the birds eat the mistletoe. However it is not good for people. So remember keep the mistletoe out of the reach of children.

The Manger Scenes

One of the Christmas features dear to the heart of the Southwest and New Mexico are the manger scenes or as the Spanish call them "Nacimientos" or (Scenes of the Infant Christ).

Here the Christ Child is seen in company with Mary, his mother, Joseph, and all the animals of the stable, not forgetting the rooster who announced the birth of the infant Jesus by calling, "Cristo nacio!" (Christ is born.)

These manger scenes are of infinite variety and charm, and we will go into them next time or so.

The Dreamer Dreams Not In Vain

Sometimes I feel that I am "The Lucky Dreamer." So many of my dreams have come true, all through my life. Pretty soon I'll tell you about a few recent ones.

Always remember this: the Good Lord gave us our immortal life which is the greatest dream come true of all. And all through our life we receive blessings much greater than our fondest dreams.

Let us draw ever closer in love and thankfulness as the birthday of our Lord and Saviour draws ever near.

Mary has a little land.

Everywhere that Mary went, she saw that real estate was a sound investment. So, she used a little leverage to get started and bought some of her own. Now she has a tax shelter and a hedge against inflation. Later on, she could exchange her property and watch her little land grow into a big estate. Her CENTURY 21 Investment Specialist can help. He's in touch with over 7,500 CENTURY 21 offices across North America. Mary can invest in anything from apartment complexes to farms. Across the street. Or across the country. A CENTURY 21 Investment Specialist can help you too. Call now and find out how you can get... a little land that's sure to grow.

Inside The Capitol

by Fred McCaffrey

SANTA FE — What blooms in this capital city just before Christmas isn't mistletoe. It's leaks.

Leaks, in this usage, are carefully tailored bits of information sneaked to reporters—e.g., by a "birdie" calling Ernie Mills.

They're not just a favor to news-starved writers during a time of little overt political action. They're also a way of causing what you want to happen.

Take the organization of the two houses of the Legislature for the coming lawmaking session. You can get a leak an hour on that topic.

If the Albuquerque Tribune has a story one night saying "inside sources" claim the Democrats in the House, who split into two parts last time a Speaker had to be elected, are getting back together, the Albuquerque Journal will have another anonymous story the next morning denying it.

Both are leaks, each used to cause somebody to react and take some specific action. We'd prefer to make it in this none-to-elegant trade without being manipulated by some ambitious pol to get his chestnuts out of the fire. To do that, we'll come right out and tell you what we think is going to happen, without benefit of anybody's planted stories.

The loyalist Democrats—that is, the ones who did not join with the Republicans to organize the House last time—will reunite with their dissident colleagues of the same party. After all, what else can they reasonably do? If they continue and stay out of the coalition, they sink and will be impotent for another session; if they give in and take their medicine, they can get at least some partial power back.

House members won't caucus till some time after this column runs, but that's what we're betting will be the outcome.

On the Senate side, we're going with Mike Alarid to be elected majority leader, probably 14-8 in the Democratic voting. Tom Rutherford, we'll say here now, will be elected majority whip by at least that wide a margin.

That will be a blow to Les Houston, who wants to be majority leader as part of his campaign to be elected governor in 1982.

Houston's strategy, of course, took a severe bodyblow last Saturday when the interim liquor-law committee barely approved his "Houston plan" by a one-vote margin. He wouldn't have had that if Adele Hundley had gotten back from the Dallas Cowboys game in time to vote against it. She assures us she would have been opposed if voting. (That's not a leak; it's just a statement.)

Those particular moves will also be something of a shock to Senator Ike Smalley, senior member of that body, who still likes to exercise considerable control by appearing to exercise none. He's not for Alarid and he's not for Rutherford, both of whom are from Albuquerque, which rural representatives regard with the affection once earned by Sodom and Gomorrah.

The problem Smalley faces is that there are 14 new members in the Senate this year, to a mere 12 in the House. (Usually it's the other way round.) Those newcomers don't always have respect for their elders so deeply ingrained as long-time members. That makes them unpredictable.

There you have the way things look to us, without benefit of birdcalls or stories planted here to flower later. Stick around to see how wrong we are.

CRIME OF CENTURY

The talk is that the Reagan administration will push for immediately adding $20 billion to the military budget. This may be more than a Carter administration would have sought, but that is of relatively small importance. The central point is that there is reason to think we are in for a massive increase in military spending, no matter who heads the government.

Such an increase is widely perceived in Washington as the proper response to the expansion of the Soviet Union's armed forces. The conventional wisdom, in Congress and at high levels in the executive branch, is that more and more weapons are essential in these nerve-racking times. This view, the theme of the Pentagon's hard sell, has gained general acceptance among our leadership and the populace it represents.

General acceptance or no, it is folly to suppose that security depends on ever-expanding overkill. Two underlying notions that more destructive power increases deterrence, and that a nuclear war is winnable collapse on analysis. And there is another important point to consider before plunging headlong into an even more intensive arms race. With something on the order of a trillion-dollar defense outlay planned over the next five years, we face the very real danger of severely undermining the national economy.

Lately we have been regaled with the seductive thought that a nuclear war need not be Armageddon—that there could be a "limited" nuclear combat. That strikes us as nonsense. Does anyone suppose that, once the missiles start flying, the embolled superpowers would long hold back the full fury of their nuclear arsenals? The history of war argues persuasively against that.

that. Nuclear war would all but destroy the civilized world. Even regions that escaped the immediate cataclysm of the bombs and missiles would suffer long-lasting horrors brought about by radiation from the holocaust. Safety does not lie in adding to overkill capacity. As we are reminded by Seymour Melman, national co-chairman of SANE, there is a better way. "In 1962," Melman writes, "the superpowers separately detailed plans for agreed, inspected reversal of the arms race. The proposals were never negotiated. Our government does not employ a single person with responsibility for thinking about reversing the arms race. The establishment's refusal even to try for this alternative may go down as the crime of the century, if there is anyone around to know it." — Alamogordo Daily News.

editorial

Tomorrow at 7:30 p.m., the Ruidoso trustees will meet in regular session in the Ruidoso Public Library.

Property owners along Highways 37 and 70, especially those with signs that may be encroaching on the right-of-way, should attend.

State Highway Department representatives are scheduled to be on the agenda, ostensibly to explain the reasons behind the department's current drive to remove advertising/business signs from the right-of-way.

The department has stated that the owners of the signs must bear the moving cost. As we understand it, if the department removes the signs, the owners will have to pay the cost, plus having the signs confiscated by the department for disposal. Mildly put, this action could tend to provoke sign owners.

The department has stated the law, in effect the past 14 years, has not been enforced. Therefore, it would appear that the blame for signs located on the right-of-way rests mostly with the department — not the sign owners.

Statewide, the removal of signs from the right-of-way could cost owners hundreds of thousands, perhaps millions, of dollars.

It strikes us that this isn't fair — because the department chose to ignore the law, on sign location, for 14 years.

The department has suggested that driving safety is one reason for this sudden move — without producing statistics to prove that the signs are a major contributing factor to traffic accidents.

We believe the highway department, in bearing the responsibility for this problem, should be amenable to developing a solution that wouldn't be as disruptive as wholesale and immediate clearance of signs, many of which have been located on the right-of-way for many years.

Sign owners, apparently, won't have a thing to lose by asking. — CD

Stuph & Junk

... by Cale Dickey

JOE'S EATING APLENTY

Joe Skeen, the man who has a name sufficiently easy to spell that he won election as United States Representative in a write-in campaign, has sure been "living high on the hog" in Washington, D.C., the past two weeks.

Seems Congressman-elect Skeen is now in the midst of two solid weeks of nightly receptions/dinners... with the thought behind all of these eating meetings being that Joe'll learn his way around. Probably will, too, if'n he can keep track of where the toothpicks are.

Come Thursday, Joe and all the new Congressmen will draw for office space... and before you ask, no, Joe never laid no claims to being an artist.

Anyway, it's nice knowing that Joe, whilst gaining his initial indoctrination into how things are done in Washington, won't have to be concerned with wasting away from a lack of victuals.

Can't help wondering if'n any of those lavish menus including mutton... New Mexico raised mutton... even if'n it's not from the Skeen Ranch... which'd probably give Joe his first conflict of interest deale... even if'n he was innocent... so best, perhaps, he doesn't get his feet wet before he's sworn in... which might be a necessary first step before getting sworn at... no?

THOSE FIGHTING POLES

All those unionized, strike-threatening, Soviet-baiting Poles just might be reading the handwriting on the wall soon... and it'll be in Russian.

From all indications, the Soviets ain't taking kindly to the actions of the Poles... in striking and making wage demands... and other demands... which isn't the way... according to the Soviets... that good Communists should be acting... 'cause it ain't good for production... nor the Soviets' morale... possibly more of the latter than the former.

Anyway... it's probably a reasonably safe even money wager that the Soviets'll do just as they sees fit... to bring those malingering Poles back into line... regardless of what anyone, anywhere, thinks... 'cause it's just about a proven fact that when it comes to toe stomping, the high mucky-muck Soviets will settle only for being the stompers... they don't like being the stompees... and, by jinkies, to date they seem to be getting by with it.

BIG HOME SNAFU

Outside of, possibly, David King... New Mexico State University president Gerald Thomas could have been the state's most frustrated man Wednesday.

His problem is moving into his new $337,000 home... which he possibly ain't got too much in the way of personal funds invested in... which is ready for occupancy... but Thomas can't move in, 'cause the Oil Conservation Commission was saying he can't... something to do with where the waste water from the home's geothermal heating system's going to be dumped.

Seems the commission doesn't want the system's water dumped onto the desert... which someone at the university said is no problem, 'cause they're going to dump it into a storage tank... which could leave as a question, what'll they do when the tank gets full?

Anyway... if'n shedding a tear for someone's who's frustrated 'cause his free $337,000 home's sitting empty, Thomas is the man for whom you should immediately put your crying towel to use.

ON YOUR CHRISTMAS GIFTS

A wee bit of idle conjecture can lead to a list of presents that'd have President-elect Reagan ecstatic over finding under his tree Christmas morning... some Fr instances... House Speaker Tip O'Neill in the palm of his hand... the hostages home free, with no strings attached, from Iran... the Russians pulling in their horns... an offer from Mexico to sell us all of their oil production... a peace offering from the Red Chinese... a pledge from the House Democrats to speedily pass his tax reduction programs.

A few other presents could include... settlement of the troubles in the Middle East... a price cut in crude from the oil cartel... Castro offering a plan to return to peaceful trade with us... an offer from foreign countries to buy more than enough American products to have us showing a big profit in the balance of trade... a promise from the unions to not make any wage demand for the next four years.

Why any two of these'd have Reagan really believing there's a Santa Claus.

BRIEF BIT: If you think prohibiting the sale of foreign cars in this country'd make American made cars sell for less money, you're a dreamer. — CD

BLM's advisory council named new officers at Roswell meeting

The newly elected chairman of the United States Bureau of Land Management's (BLM) Roswell District Advisory Council said one of the BLM's major goals should be to make sure members of the public have their "say-so" in matters affecting the use of federal public lands in southeastern New Mexico. The 10-member citizens' group advises the BLM regarding resource management planning and programs for federal public lands in Chaves, Guadalupe, Quay, Curry, De Baca, Roosevelt, Lincoln, Eddy and Lea counties in New Mexico and for federal minerals in Texas.

J. R. "Jim" Walls, 1102 W. Ural Drive, Carlsbad, was elected chairman and George W. Mitchell, 3002 La Jolla, Roswell, was elected vice-chairman at the advisory council's meeting December 2 at the BLM's Roswell office. Walls is general manager of the Mississippi Chemical Corporation's potash mine in Carlsbad and represents non-renewable resources (mining and oil and gas) on the council. Mitchell is president of Pioneer Savings and Trust in Roswell and represents renewable resources (ranching and agriculture). One of the main topics of the 5-hour meeting was the BLM's public involvement plan for the planning process. The agency has begun work on a resource management plan for federal public lands in the Roswell resource area (Chaves, Lincoln, Roosevelt, Curry, DeBaca, Guadalupe and Quay counties). The resource management plan will give the BLM guidelines for managing oil and gas development, livestock grazing, recreation, mining and other activities.

Walls said that people should get involved in this planning process as soon as possible since the plan will affect every individual who uses or has an interest in federal public lands in the area.

"We must get the public interested early," he said. "From the beginning the BLM needs to be up front about what direction the planning may take."

BLM officials at the advisory council meeting said the actual writing of the planning document for the BLM's Roswell resource area won't be completed until about 1986, but public involvement in gathering information and discussing issues will begin immediately.

"Right now we're developing work schedules for the planning effort and devising ways to keep the public involved in the process," said the BLM's Roswell district manager, James "Smokey" O'Connor. "Beginning this spring we'll be asking members of the public to help us identify important resource issues we must address in the document."

O'Connor said anyone wishing to know how they can participate in the planning process should contact the BLM offices in Roswell and Carlsbad or speak to members of the advisory council.

Other council members are: Glicerio "Rod" Rodriguez (non-renewable resources), Roswell; Bill Lee (renewable resources) and Natalie Orand (public-at-large), Lovington; Senator Joseph Gant (elected government), Jack H. Hunt (recreation) and Thomas B. Thornton (wildlife), all of Carlsbad; and Carlton Laman (transportation/rights-of-way), El Paso, Texas. The member representing environmental preservation resigned her position when she moved out of the area. A new nominee is being forwarded to the Secretary of the Interior for approval.

Winter weeds harmful to alfalfa

The weeds that cause alfalfa growers the largest losses in yield and quality are the winter annual mustards, said Tom Kerby, Extension cotton and weed control specialist at New Mexico State University. These weeds begin growth in the fall and resume growth in the spring before alfalfa, Kerby said.

A good method to control these weeds is to apply a herbicide while established alfalfa is either semi-dormant or dormant. Active ingredients of Karmex at 1.2 pounds, Sencor at 0.4 pounds or Sinbar at 0.4 pounds per acre have all given good results when applied in early December. This is the low label rate for these herbicides.

"If a grower waits until February to use them, the higher label rate will be required to achieve the same control. This will double the expense of weed control," Kerby said.

If Sencor is applied in the spring, it can cause alfalfa plants to turn yellow temporarily. Sencor also has a 28-day grazing restriction from the date of application, Kerby said.

All three of these herbicides give good control of annual grasses, and many broadleaves, including the troublesome winter mustards. Other herbicides can offer control, but not as easily or completely as Karmex, Sencor or Sinbar.

Dinoseb (Dow or Sinox General) and 2,4-DB (Butozone or Butyro) can be used post-emergence to the weed. To be thoroughly effective, both must be applied on days when the air temperature is above 60 degrees Fahrenheit.

"If the days following application are cooler than this, it doesn't seem to decrease the control," Kerby said. Season-long weed control with either herbicide will probably require an application in the fall and another one in the spring, he said.

Dinoseb is not selective; therefore, it can only be applied while alfalfa is dormant or between cuttings. Its use is also limited by the six-weeks grazing restriction on the label.

Broadleaf weeds are controlled with 2,4-DB while grassy weeds are not killed. "The herbicide does a good job on London rocket, the mustard with large lobed leaves, but does not give 100 percent control of filxweed or tansy mustard, those mustards with much smaller, compressed leaves," Kerby said.

The ester formulation of 2,4-DB is probably twice as effective as the amine form, but volatility can be a problem Kerby said. This herbicide also has a 30-day grazing restriction, he pointed out.

The herbicides mentioned above are for use on alfalfa stands at least one year old. Other information on herbicides for use in seeding alfalfa, or for seedling alfalfa, can be obtained from the 1980 Chemical Weed Control Guide 400 A-15. This publication is available from your county Extension agent.

"Individual herbicide labels should always be read for additional information, and precautionary statements should be carefully observed," Kerby said.

Crime Stoppers seek commemorative letters

The building in Gallina had been named the "Richard C. Gomez Gymnasium," honoring a State Policeman who was killed in the line of duty earlier this year.

Now there are no letters commemorating the gymnasium. Someone stole them.

This week the State Crime Stoppers Commission is offering a $500 reward for information leading to the location of the theft or the recovery of all the letters.

State Police reports indicate the aluminum letters each were 12 inches high and were in "helvetica" style. They were believed stolen the evening of October 10.

Four empty Miller beer bottles were found at the scene and police believe they were left behind by the offenders, since a maintenance man cleans the area daily. They have been sent to the State Crime Laboratory for fingerprint processing.

Several area police officers said they felt the theft of the letters was a personal affront, not only to the memory of Richard Gomez but to all law enforcement. They indicated they were not taking the case lightly or treating it as a prank.

Gomez was shot and killed April 17 during a traffic stop near Gallina.

Anyone having any information about the case is asked to call the State Crime Stoppers Commission at its toll free number, 1-800-432-4933. Callers do not have to reveal their identities.

Other crimes being highlighted this week by Crime Stoppers programs around New Mexico include:

— An arson to the Heights Elementary School in Alamosordo November 12. The offenders caused about $2,000 worth of damages to the school after gaining entry around 12:53 a.m. The Otero County Crime Stoppers Program number is 437-2000. A $500 reward is being offered. Since starting their program only a few months ago, Otero County Crime Stoppers has helped solve eight crimes.

— The February 6 burglary of a residence in Milan. More than $1,000 worth of old silver coins was taken by the offenders. A $250 reward is being offered. The Uranium County Crime Stoppers number is 287-3400. The program has helped solve three cases and recover $2,100 worth of stolen property since its inception.

— A $20,000 residential burglary in Las Cruces. The large cache of sterling silver items was stolen from a residence in the 700 block on Conway between October 24-25. Dona Ana County Crime Stoppers, which has solved 69 cases and recovered $137,286 worth of stolen property, is offering a $500 reward for information solving the case. Their number is 528-9000.

— The November 3 armed robbery of a Santa Fe K-Mart store. A lone gunman, described as six feet tall, 180 pounds, with blond hair, blue eyes and a moustache, entered the K-Mart on St. Michael's Drive about 2:50 p.m., and showed the checkout clerk a gun. The unmasked robber escaped with an undetermined amount of money. A $1,000 reward is being offered by Santa Fe Crime Stoppers, which has helped solve 206 major crimes and recover $565,180 worth of stolen property since it began operation in 1977. Their number is 988-5555.

— A vandalism to the cable television tower supplying the Clovis area with its TV coverage. More than 30 bullets were fired into the tower's reflector during the month of October. Damage was estimated at $5,500. Curry County Crime Stoppers, at 763-7000, is offering a $500 reward. The Clovis-based program has helped solve five cases and has assisted in the recovery of $11,650 in stolen property since it started earlier this year.

— Thefts of firewood and Christmas trees in Mora County. Liberal rewards will be paid to persons with information on illegal cutting of trees on public and private property during December. Callers can use the State Crime Stoppers Commission's toll-free number, 1-800-432-4933. Mora County Crime Stoppers, in operation 10 months, has helped solve six cases and recover $3,000 worth of stolen property.

— An arson of a 1966 Cadillac in Tucumcari. The car was parked in front of the Pow Wow Lounge on the night of October 4 and apparently was ignited by a lit cigarette, which had been thrown through the windshield after it had been shattered by the offenders. A $300 reward is being offered. Tucumcari Crime Stoppers, at 461-3507, has been responsible for the solution of 41 crimes and the recovery of $112,631 worth of stolen property and narcotics since it began in October, 1979.

The State Crime Stoppers Commission and the 33 local Crime Stoppers programs in New Mexico also pay cash rewards for information leading to the solution of other major crimes in addition to the "Crime of the Week."

To date, more than 2,550 major crimes have been solved and $2.6 million worth of stolen property and narcotics recovered with the help of calls to Crime Stoppers programs throughout New Mexico.

SALUTE TO CHAMBER MEMBERS

This is a regular feature in the Monday edition of this newspaper to introduce the members of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce

STARLITE CABINS is operated by Richard and Shau-a Cui, who moved to Ruidoso six years ago and joined the Chamber in 1976. Starlite Cabins has one large unit that sleeps up to 18 people and six smaller units that sleep four people each. The business features a large yard area with some playground equipment, and all cabins in the family run operation feature fireplaces and kitchenettes. Pictured are Shaula and daughter Ginny, who with her sisters, Anne, Betsy and Cathy, help run the business. The telephone number at Starlite is 257-2255.

THE WILD SNAIL, located on Suddeth Drive in midtown, under the upside down sign, is owned by Bill and Carol Thomas and managed by Sandra Pieters. (Carol Thomas and Pieters are pictured with friends, above.) The shop handles Hallmark cards and gifts, party goods such as invitations and plates, stationery and jewelry. Currently, they are featuring a line of keepsake ornaments for Christmas, as well as boxed Christmas cards. They also do imprinting. The Wild Snail became a member of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce shortly after opening for business in February, 1980. Business hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., Monday through Saturday, and Sundays from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., through Christmas.

A CHRISTMAS WITHOUT SNOW

Emmy Award winner Michael Learned and Oscar winner John Houseman (pictured) star in 'A Christmas Without Snow', a new motion picture-for-television about a group of choir members of varying backgrounds, circumstances and vocal abilities who struggle under the leadership of a perfectionist director to present Handel's 'Messiah'. The drama will be broadcast as a special movie presentation, TUESDAY, DECEMBER 9 on CBS-TV.

Melding the group into a coordinated choral unit is the job of the new choir director, the strict Ephraim Adams (Houseman). Adams believes that the singing of fine music demands hard work and dedication and he expects his assembly of voices to strive for a professional level for their Christmas performance.

PBS in the spotlight

'Sesame Street' adds characters

Counting 'Countess Dahling Von Dahling,' whose addition inevitably adds up to rain, and reporter 'Warren Wolf,' the only TV newsman with braces on his teeth, lead a host of lovable new Muppet characters who have made their debuts on 'Sesame Street,' now in its 12th season on PBS.

The series that continues to top all ratings among preschool audiences returns with two new Emmys to its credit, including an award as outstanding children's informational or instructional series.

Continuing its goal of preparing youngsters for a successful transition from home to school, 'Sesame Street' once again will expand its curriculum goals for the new season.

In addition to its traditional pre-reading, counting and pre-science instruction, the series includes for the first time messages on traffic safety and material to make its young viewers more familiar with some of the print symbols they will encounter in school workbooks and tests. Underlining, circling, folding, crossing out and following arrows are some of the symbols that will be introduced.

Helping children to recognize the abilities and special needs of their handicapped friends is a continuing aim of the show. Violinist Itzhak Perlman, a polio victim, will be a featured guest during the season, and once again mentally and physically handicapped youngsters will be part of the regular activities on the street, as they have been since 1975.

Teaching through fun

As always, 'Sesame Street's' teaching will be blended with entertainment. Many of its learning messages for the 12th season will come through the antics of new Muppet characters who will add to the fun provided by old favorites like Big Bird (above, with Mr. Snuffleupagus), Oscar the Grouch, The Count, Bert and Ernie.

CONFIDENTIAL REPORT: "Situation comedies on television these days are pitiful and dwell too much on sex," says Jackie Gleason, star of the old 'Honeymooners' series. "Everything is sexual innuendo," Gleason told me. Another problem with comedies, Gleason says, "is a lack of good characters. If you're doing a situation comedy, you have to have the people like you. That's what is probably wrong with the sit-coms today. There's no one you can really feel you want to like." Attractive Mary Linda Ralphie, who left Llanview in 'One Life to Live' as Faith Kipling, has just arrived in Oakdale on 'As the World Turns.' She's playing Lyla Montgomery's sister Maggie Crawford, a bright young lawyer from a prestigious firm... If you find yourself low around the holidays, which most people do, a sure-fire pick-me-up is a song and a story by Anne-Marie Murray. 'Portraits in Words and Song' soothes like good brandy or French chocolate, depending on your mood. This Canadian chanteuse made a powerful impression on Boston and will be coming into New York this month for major television and radio appearances. Try not to miss her!

CONSUMER NEWS WIRE: It looks like a beautiful new season on ABC TV with lovelies making their debuts in new series. Priscilla Presley has been starring for months in 'Those Amazing Animals' but the long Hollywood strike forced other TV newcomers like Tanya Roberts and Ann Jillian to wait in the wings. Now Tanya is at last getting her big chance to prove that she can help 'Charlie's Angels' fly high again, and Ann is joining other high-class waitresses in the new show, 'It's A Living.' ABC has come up with the novel idea of introducing network newcomers to TV fans by producing a series of glamorous posters. Tanya and Ann, who has been acting since she was 10, have a string of TV credits to their names and Priscilla does not seem like such a newcomer. 'Those Amazing Animals' is her first show but now the budding actress, with the famous name plus a sexy new image, declares, "I would like a career in films."

TV CLOSEUP: Remember Wednesday, the beautiful little dark haired daughter of Morticia and Gomez, on the outlandishly ghoulish 'The Addams Family' television series of 1964? Lisa Loring, who was only six when the series started, has blossomed into an attractive and very feminine young woman with a lot of living packed into her 22 years. "I grew up in the business," says Lisa, who's currently portraying Cricket Montgomery on 'As the World Turns,' "so I became tough by learning a lot of things the hard way." You might have recognized Paul Falzone, the latest addition to the cast of 'All My Children.' Paul, who plays little Charlie's guidance counselor Dr. Jim Jefferson, was the former roommate of Tom Hughes on 'As the World Turns.' He later quit the show to do a movie and was replaced by his real-life roommate Gary Sandy who now stars as Andy on 'WKRP in Cincinnati.' Pamela Blair, currently on 'Search for Tomorrow' as Dr. Taper's nurse, Della Amory, was in the original cast of Broadway's 'A Chorus Line.'
