

WHEEE! This gentleman and his daughter seem to be having a blast on the slopes at Eagle Creek Ski Area. The resort, though it hasn't been doing record business, isn't exactly hurting either, according to manager Paul Southwick.

Census figures show area is truly growing

Preliminary figures, released in January by the Bureau of the Census, show Lincoln, Chaves and Otero counties enjoyed a steady growth during the past decade.

RUIDOSO, LINCOLN COUNTY, NEW MEXICO 88345

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 9, 1981

Well drilling starts today

The drilling of a new well, near the site of the present Hollywood Well, was scheduled Friday to begin this morning.

This is the first in a series of wells, and other action, to improve Ruidoso's water supply, planned by the village trustees.

Tom Brazier, La Luz, will drill the well to a depth of 100 feet. Local officials are hopeful this new Hollywood Well will produce in the vicinity of 400 to 500 gallons per minute, when it is fully developed.

Also, officials hope that the quality of water from the new well will be better than from the old well.

If the new well produces satisfactorily, the village will then install a new blending plant, to mix the Hollywood Well water with water from the Eagle Creek.

Preliminary estimates on the cost of the blending plant have been pegged at about $350,000, though this figure is subject to change when bids on the plant will be opened here Tuesday afternoon.

At the present time, the village trustees have authorized the drilling of two test wells, one near the Chamber of Commerce building, the other in Gavilan Canyon, near Water Treatment Plant Number Two.

Also in the planning stage is the construction of another holding pond, on village property, below Alto Lake, the village's sole reservoir.

The village trustees can take further action on the water problem in about two weeks, upon receipt of a water rights report that is being compiled by Boyle Engineering.

The village must, if the wells to be drilled produce the quantities of water needed to bolster the present supply, gain additional water rights through negotiations with the owners of the rights.

Commission delays action on new airport

The Sierra Blanca Airport Commission (SBAC) agreed Thursday to forestall action to acquire land on Fort Stanton Mesa, pending filling of politically appointed offices which would affect the group's effort.

Although the offices of Secretary of Interior and state Bureau of Land Management director have been filled, appointments are still to be made, for undersecretary and other administrative positions, SBAC chairman Fred Heckman reported.

The group also received a summarization of "differences," particularly in terms of costs, of the two proposed sites for the planned regional airport.

SBAC member Ben Hall commented that the expense involved in building the airport would be "almost equal at the two sites, if it weren't for the land costs," at Site A.

The commission's preferred Site B consists of land controlled by the BLM, while Site A, is made up of state, BLM and privately owned land.

The commission was also advised that all entities except the Mescalero Apache Tribe and Ruidoso have accepted Carrizozo's request for representation on SBAC.

Ruidoso and Downs trustees set meetings

Ruidoso Downs trustees will meet at 7 tonight at the municipal building. Agenda items include requests for use of the All American Park baseball fields by the Men's Softball League and the Ruidoso Slowpitch League, and discussions of the flood insurance ordinance and procedure for sewer tap installation.

The Ruidoso trustees will meet at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, in the Ruidoso Public Library.

The agenda includes:

- Report on opening of bids on East Ruidoso Blending Project, for water treatment.
- Request for an additional $50,000 from General Obligation Sewer Bond funds to reinstate the interceptor line from Cedar Creek Road, down Meander Drive, across the Rio Ruidoso on Gavilan Canyon, to the present sewage treatment plant.
- Action on a request from Carrizozo for membership on the Sierra Blanca Airport Commission.

— Report on water well drilling plans.

— Action on the final plat on West Winds Condominiums.

— Appeals hearing on a Planning and Zoning Commission (P&Z) denial on rezoning from Residential-1 to Residential-3, the following: Lots 557 and 558, Skyland Addition, owned by Danny Garcia; and Lots 1, 14 and 15, Block 9, Midway Townsite, owned by Virgil Reynolds.

— Receiving a rate increase proposal from Cablevision of Lincoln County.

— Referrals from P&Z on: Final plat Highway Condominiums, Lot 7, Block 5, White Mountain Estates, Unit 4; Master Plan and Final Plat, Fox Hollow Condos, Phase 1, Lot 4, Block 3, White Mountain Estates, Unit 4; and, Final Plat, Racquet Court Condos, Phase 2, Lots 7 and 8, Block 4, White Mountain Estates, Unit 4.

Snow making machines make Eagle Creek skiing excellent

BY MARK BAGBY
Staff Writer/Photographer

The 1980-81 ski season at Eagle Creek ski area has been a "frustrating success" for manager Paul Southwick.

It's been a success because the area has been able to make considerable amounts of snow when Mother Nature hasn't, Southwick said.

"We've probably got only three inches of packed, compressed natural snow," he said. "Probably 99 percent of our 20 inch base is man made snow. It's satisfying to know we could operate as well as we have with what we've been able to make."

But it's been frustrating because there aren't as many people on the slopes as Southwick would like.

"I'd like to have more skiers here, sure," he said. "Our snow is good, but we aren't getting as many people here as I'd like. We can always use more."

Areas like Eagle Creek which depend on machine made snow tend to carry a negative connotation, Southwick said, adding he thinks the reason most people feel that way is because the areas don't have as many runs or very deep snow, compared to other ski areas.

"When people go to an area with five or six feet of natural snow, they have more area to ski on, for one thing," he said, "and it's usually deeper than what we have. There's a difference."

But, Southwick contends, there's no better snow for skiing than machine made.

"It's more consistent in texture than natural snow," he said. "It's made the same way each time and it's really better than natural snow."

The area has almost doubled the amount of snow it manufactured in 1979-80, and gained a lot of experience in the art of snow manufacturing.

"We learned not to make it at marginal temperatures," he said, "and we learned to groom the snow daily, and to use only extremely clean water when we make it. That's made a big difference in the quality of our snow."

Snow cannot be made until the temperature is at 25 degrees or less, according to maintenance head John Ducept. But the snowmaking crew at Eagle Creek has been waiting until at least 20 degrees and sometimes cooler to make snow.

The area manufactures snow from about 8 p.m. to 6 a.m., nightly when it's cold enough. With their snowmaking machines, Southwick said, Eagle Creek's crew can lay six inches of snow over three acres of land.

"We use about 200 gallons of water a minute," he said, adding the machines can blow about 400 gallons a minute maximum, "but only about once a month or so," he said with a laugh.

Of the area's 11 trails, four are open to beginners and intermediate level skiers. Chisum Trail, on the top of the mountain, is open for experts only.

Currently, Southwick said, the area

Ski Report

Sierra Blanca: The resort received eight inches of new snow Sunday night, and at press time snow was still falling. Chairs three, four and five are all open, and the Lincoln Chair is open to midway. Conditions are rated good to excellent, and chairs are required to reach the resort.

Eagle Creek: no report available at press time.

For updated ski reports, call Sierra Blanca, 257-9001, or Eagle Creek, 336-4211.

THE INTERMEDIATE SLOPES at Eagle Creek, Boot Hill and Box Canyon, offer some fine skiing for those who have some experience and feel up to the challenge. This fellow seems to be having a fine time.

attracts about 100 skiers on a weekday and about 200 on Saturdays or Sundays. Most are beginners or novices.

The ski school is in full operation, he said, with approximately 20 instructors available. Three of them are bilingual, and he hopes to have more Spanish speaking instructors next year.

Plans for next year include adding runs and planting grass on the slopes to facilitate grass skiing in the summer, and Southwick said the area will increase its snowmaking capabilities by three times, anticipating 600 gallons a minute.

The snowmaking machines next year will be both air-water (which are currently used) and airless machines.

"We hope to increase our runs next year," he said. A number of trees directly adjacent to the chairlift will be removed, he said, and the slope cleared. That would allow considerably more skiers on the slopes than there are now, he said. The chairlift has a capacity of 1,600 skiers per hour, he said, so the area is already equipped to carry the increased load to the top of the mountain.

"Business has been good," Southwick said, "but not great. If we had had just a little more snow, there's no telling how much business we could have done. The town has been very supportive in our efforts and we've done what we can."

"But we've done all right and I think next year will be even better."

Commissioners meet Tuesday

The Lincoln County commissioners will meet at 10 a.m., Tuesday in chamber rooms in the courthouse in Carrizozo.

Agenda items include opening of bids on fleet insurance, in kind match commitment on a federal Emergency Medical System grants, a resolution on a budget increase, request by New Horizons to renovate a residence for a men's group home and the annual reports of the County Extension Agent by Mary Ellen Payne and Barry Herd.

Anaya 'campaigns' here

BY GWYNETH JONES
Staff Writer/Photographer

"At a time in history when the country is crying out for energy sources, it doesn't make sense that although New Mexico is rich in energy and human resources, we're among the poorest in per capita income," unofficial gubernatorial candidate Tony Anaya told a group of Ruidosoans Thursday. Anaya spoke at a luncheon sponsored by local business people.

Anaya said part of the reason for this problem was the fact that New Mexico has never had a "comprehensive energy package," which would consider the requirements of the tourism industry and economic needs of the population.

He added that a "lack of strong, positive leadership in Santa Fe," had contributed to the problem by allowing "the energy companies to manage — or mismanage — our resources," leaving New Mexico with "little to show" in terms of economic benefits.

Anaya said he had organized a task force to study such problems in the state, and that he would be prepared to present a specific energy package based on their findings, within the next few months.

Anaya said current legislators seem to be engaged in a contest to determine who could return more funds to the state, but added, "I don't feel we have a tax surplus."

Rather than "returning $25 to everyone in the state," Anaya said he would advocate providing services where they are needed, or allocating funds to improve schools and other public facilities.

During a question and answer period following his presentation, Anaya addressed such questions as right to work, the water problem, proposed airport, the criminal justice system, liquor law reform, and out of state investment of state funds.

Anaya said he would not support a right to work bill unless he could be convinced it would greatly enhance the economic well being of the state and individual workers. But he added he felt right to work was a "false issue," since only ten percent of New Mexico's workers are unionized.

Importing of water — possibly from the Mississippi River watershed — may provide the answer to the state's water problems, Anaya said.

He said he would lend "undying support" to replacement of the Ruidoso airport with a new facility, adding that "if the governor wanted to, he could have you a decision on an airport tomorrow."

"I recognize that you do need an airport — the only question is how large it should be," Anaya said.

He said the present administration "hasn't done as much as they should be doing," about the state penitentiary system. More emphasis should be given rehabilitation, he said. He said he was a proponent of strict law and order, but "you've got to think about what's going to happen to these people once they get out."

He suggested job training as a partial solution to the problem, since "all we're doing now is making a bunch of animals out of people," and "if they weren't professional criminals when they went in they will be when they come out."

Anaya said the problems with Camp

Sierra Blanca were partially caused by lack of a "viable classification system." He agreed with members of the audience that state corrections employees have been unwilling to recognize that a problem exists.

Liquor license transferability should be eliminated, Anaya said, and license fees should be reduced. But he added the state had "some moral obligation to keep them (present license holders) from going bankrupt," should he license prices be slashed.

Anaya also agreed that changes should be made in use of the state's permanent fund, and said funds now invested in out-of-state bonds possibly could be used to develop industries within the state.

Asked whether he would support legalized gambling, Anaya said he could not, "in any way shape or form," because of resulting corruption.

If elected, Anaya said he would be governor of the entire state, and not just to those who supported him. He said he had come under criticism during his term as attorney general after he directed a number of prosecutions in areas which had supported him heavily.

"I won't forget about you," he said.

The Dreamer

BY DANNIE STORM

Manuelita Sanchez

Our prayers go up for the friends and loved ones of our dear friend, Manuelita S. Sanchez, who was called home by Our Lord on February the first. Services, under the direction of Father Bernard Loughrey, were held at St. Jude's Church in San Patricio and St. Francis De Paula Church in Tularosa, and at the Tularosa Cemetery Tuesday, February third.

A life-long resident of Lincoln County, Manuelita was born December seven, 1900, in Pico, in the Hondo Valley.

With her husband, Solomon Sanchez, Manuelita raised a fine family. For a while they lived here on this place in the early days. Their sons, Luvin and Larry, have told me that they remember living here when they were young boys.

Manuelita was a true pioneer Christian lady, well beloved by all who knew her. We all take comfort in knowing she is happy with Our Lord in Heaven.

Winter's Mid-Point

This is being sent to you on February five, just about the mid-point of winter — when we remember that winter begins around the twentieth of December and ends near the twentieth of March. Already you can notice that the days are a little longer. The sun sets the pines ablaze on sunrise mountain out in front of the house quite a bit earlier already; and the sunset, the gloaming, the twilight, and the dusk arrive a little later up the vale to the west.

There is an old saying: "When the days begin to lengthen, the cold begins to strengthen." This is borne out by the fact that our coldest days, year in and year out, reach us in January. This time the coldest day was on February the second, Ground

Hog's Day; after an unusually warm January. The temperature got down to three in Ruidoso; and fourteen here at the place. The sky was blue and the weather sunny, but the north wind brought us a little greeting from the snowy blizzards that blew suddenly into all the Rocky Mountain country and the Middle West.

February's Hopeful Mood

Although we are right in the middle of winter, yet the month of February has a mood all its own of looking forward, of the sense of things getting ready to turn for the best, of fair expectations, and hope.

As the old timers used to say, "We are already moving closer to grass." Each day is a little longer, with the sunshine gradually getting the upper hand. There is just the faintest sense of hurry in the land, that February is a brief little month full of changes, all bringing us ever closer to flowery spring, although heavy snows may move in at any time, oftentimes bringing little snowy crowns to the earliest blooms.

Looking forward to Lincoln's Birthday, Valentine's Day, and Washington's Birthday — so many landmarks of the year — our hearts are lightened and the pride of life cheers our soul.

Day by day, the faint colors of the world's slow awakening are everywhere. The willows along the stream turn to a burnt orange; the apple trees turn a bright maroon hue; and the giant willow trees turn their golden color which signals the eagerness of the first of the leaves to show forth.

And yet none of the growing things are near the point of danger from the cold. Everything is ready to welcome the snow, knowing that the late snow is ever so welcome to good Mother Earth.

February speak to us in a cheerful voice all its own, urging us to enjoy each day to the full, and look forward always with hope and faith, and always to give thanks to God for our blessings.

Police activities

February 1 — Mike Malls, Ruidoso, reported the theft of a High Lift Handyman Jack from his pickup truck. The jack is valued at $43.

February 2 — Donald Nickerson, Wingfield and Clover Drive, reported the theft of a maroon, multi-striped blanket and some food from his residence. The value of items taken is placed at $75.

February 2 — Karen Brown, Ruidoso, reported the theft of a Ladies' Timex watch, gold colored, with Twist-A-Flex band, from her room in Ruidoso Hondo Valley Hospital. The watch is valued at $40.

Sunday fire destroys home

A home under construction in the Kingswood Subdivision was destroyed by a fire reported at 2:05 Sunday morning. The house was owned by John Belt.

The home, located at Fourth and Bench Streets, was "completely destroyed," according to fire chief Butch Jacobs. Ruidoso volunteers "and the Forest Service responded, with Ruidoso Downs volunteers on stand by "at the bottom of the hill," Jacobs said.

The blaze was doused by 5:30 a.m., Jacobs said. No cause has yet been found.

Altrusa Club sponsors educational opportunity

A little-known service program sponsored by the Altrusa Club of Ruidoso has provided an opportunity for at least three Ruidoso women to continue their educations.

The program was created to meet needs of local people and modeled after a "continuing education" program sponsored by Altrusa International.

"I think the reason we don't have more people apply for these funds is because not that many people really know about them," Donna Willard, Altrusa Club president, said.

One program offers the chance to return to school in a vocational program, which must be completed within a year after funds are received. "The person must be on the job one year after we give them money," Ann Wilson, Altrusa member, said.

This program, Founder's Fund Vocational Aid (FFVA), provides funds only for vocational course work. Another Altrusa-sponsored scholarship program, Grants In Aid (GIA), is designed to help women from other countries who are studying in the United States.

When local resident Vicki Hall sought help from the Altrusa Club, she said she did not plan to pursue a vocational program, but hopes to eventually earn an accounting or banking management degree.

"Because Vicki did not fit into the FFVA program, we didn't want to deny her the opportunity to continue her education," Willard said.

Last year, Hall applied for tuition anyway, and the club granted her money from their own treasury. "This way, we can meet a local need," Willard said.

As a result, Hall is winding up her freshman year of college and will continue taking college credit courses offered through the University of New Mexico's correspondence program, and those offered locally, if they apply to her degree. "I do appreciate it — it was like a dream come true for me. I always think of my children and my family life first, so at this time in my life, when money wasn't available for my education, I felt it was a wonderful opportunity," Hall said.

She added that she won't quit until she earns her degree. "It will take time, but I am determined to finish," Hall said. "I'm sure it will be easier after all my children are in school."

Hall's oldest is now in kindergarten, where Hall is a volunteer parent one day a week.

"We're very anxious to help people like Vicki — even if they don't qualify for an FFVA program or GIA funds, we will do whatever we can to help those who may need it. Of course, we don't have unlimited funds for the program, but we will consider everyone's request individually," Willard said.

To date, no one has taken advantage of the FFVA or GIA programs, under local sponsorship, but two other women besides Hall, Karen Foster and Jann Hickerson, have received funds to continue post-graduate work.

"The programs were designed to encourage people to re-enter the job market, and we try to help as many women as we can, since they are most likely to be in that situation," Willard said.

She added that men are welcome to apply for funds, and women don't have to be Altrusa members to qualify for the programs.

VICKI HALL, right, accepts a check which will be used to further her education, from Altrusa Club of Ruidoso President Donna Willard, left. Hall was the recipient of funds in a special service program sponsored by Altrusans, which assists people in furthering their educations or re-entering the job market.

Woman's Club meets Wednesday Barron/Reed nuptials set

The Ruidoso Federated Woman's Club will meet Wednesday at the Club House. Mrs. Ed Vickers will have a board meeting at 1 p.m., the business meeting starts at 1:30 and the program will begin at 2.

Hostesses for February are Mrs. Winona James, Mrs. Lou Hodge, Mrs. Patti Hayden, Mrs. Era Jackson, Mrs. Beulah Shaffer, Mrs. Inez Killebrew, and Mrs. Mary Munn.

Mrs. Fred Pfingston will give a review from the American Heritage Collection of Famous Women in Early American History. As the pioneers made their way west in their covered wagons, those women who were sturdy in body and soul made a valuable contribution to the settlement of the land beyond the Mississippi River. However there were many women who also played an important role in the development and taming of the lands east of the Mississippi.

Guests are cordially invited to attend this meeting for there are so many "Great Ladies" of our American Heritage that would prove interesting listening to all.

Mrs. Pfingston is a retired teacher, having taught in Capitan for many years. She was active in the educational organizations on local, state and national levels, and was honored by being selected Outstanding Teacher of the Year. She is a member of Eta chapter of Alpha Delta Kappa, Honorary Teachers' Sorority, and has served faithfully in many other clubs and organizations in Lincoln County.

Holly Volquardsen Barron and Terry Michael Reed will exchange wedding vows, Saturday, February 14, at two o'clock in the afternoon, at the First Christian Church on Gavilan Canyon Road.

Friends of the couple are invited to attend the ceremony.

RUIDOSO'S WADE TORRES (bottom) is in a bad way, thanks to New Mexico Military's Gilbert Chaves. Torres lost to Chaves 18-3, but the Warriors won the meet, 37-30. Ruidoso, however, lost Thursday night in Roswell, 32-26, to drop their 1980-81 record to 4-2.

Wrestlers lose at Roswell

Even though it was "the best we've wrestled all year," the Ruidoso Warriors came up short at Roswell Thursday, 32-26, dropping their record to 4-2 on the year.

Coach Gerald Ames, however, was convinced his kids did better than they have in any of their previous five meets.

"Listen, when the Roswell wrestlers are jumping up and down because they beat Ruidoso, you know we're doing okay," he said. The Warriors have defeated Roswell twice this year and Ames was figuring to make it three in a row. Unfortunately, it didn't quite work out that way.

"It was a good meet," he said. "It was exciting and we had about as many fans there as they did. We did our best, we just fell a little bit short."

As usual, it came down to the final match. With the score tied at 26-26, heavyweight Ezell Clarke was pinned for six Coyote points and that was the match and meet.

"I really think we lost it because we had to forfeit the 185 pound bracket," Ames said. "Right now we didn't have anyone who could beat Rocky Rodriguez, Roswell's 185 pounder. So we forfeited that match and that six points was the difference."

The Warriors combined three pins, two decisions and a tie for their points, and but for a point or two in a couple of matches, nearly won the meet.

Doug Schmidt, Ruidoso's 119 pounder, 128 pound Tony Rue and Keith Sullivan at 132 pounds all won by pins over their opponents. David Swalander at 145 pounds won a 9-7 decision on a penalty point and an escape in the third period.

Ray Montes, Ruidoso's 105 pounder, decided his opponent 10-3. Scott Ciraulo at 167 pounds finished his match in an 11-11 tie.

At 98 pounds, Chuck Schmidt narrowly lost a 9-8 decision in the third period, and Wade Torres lost the 135 pound bracket, 5-2. Von Rue was pinned in the 155 pound match, and 112 pounder Henry Rue nearly avoided being pinned but was nailed in the third period with only 27 seconds remaining in the match.

"We squirmed, but we just didn't have enough," Ames said. "We've been winning our meets by just a couple of points, so I guess it just finally caught up with us."

The squad is idle until this weekend, when they face three consecutive district opponents, all on the road.

Deming is first this Friday, followed by Cobre and Silver City on Saturday.

Sportin' Life

by Mark Bagby

Harold Smith knows all about taking the money and running.

Harold Smith, for the uninformed, is the fellow who was arranging boxing matches for Muhammad Ali Professional Sports, and had a late February shindig all lined up.

Then, poof! He, shall we say, absconded with about 23.1 million bucks and disappeared.

Now here's where it gets interesting.

Mr. Smith claimed in a phone interview he "knows too much" about something, the nature of which he wouldn't divulge, and someone kidnapped his four-year-old son a year ago, and that's why he wanted out of the fight game. He's fearing for his life.

I've heard of severance pay, but $23.1 million? Come on, Harold, isn't that a bit much? And heck, the future of Muhammad Ali's sports promotion outfit is in serious jeopardy.

What this will do — almost inevitably — is hurt boxing. Boxing started out as a fine and noble sport as practiced by people like Jack Dempsey, John L. Sullivan and James J. Corbett, or so an authority like Dan Storm tells me.

(Sidelight: If you ever can corral Dan for a few minutes, ask him about boxing. The man has stories that'll amaze you.)

Then, boxing started becoming a problem because organized crime got into it. Stories of rigged fights, "take a dive in the second round, Louie, or else" type thing, became widely known.

(And how many movies have you seen along those lines, huh? There's a lot.)

Boxing was sort of a low grade sport for a while, and was really falling on its face. Nobody really cared about it until a young cocky kid named Cassius Clay punched his way out of Louisville and put boxing back on its feet.

He later changed his name to Muhammad Ali, and became the greatest pugilist the world has ever known. Someone his size was supposed to be slow — but he moved like a bantamweight. But with the speed he had, he shouldn't have been able to hit so hard. But he did.

He really did float like a butterfly and sting like a bee. And he was a showman, a showboat really, who entertained his audience before he even got in the ring.

And he always delivered what he promised. Depending on your opinion, he was so obnoxious you couldn't stand him, or he was so hilarious you loved him. I have never met a person who was neutral on Muhammad Ali. You either love him or hate him.

Anyway, he put a lot of money and his name into a sports promotion outfit, designed to advance the cause of all sports, but boxing in particular, to keep the sport's good name and do something for the sport.

Now some half baked flunky takes his money and splits. They oughta hang the guy up by his toenails, flog him with a whip and pull out his beard hairs one by one.

And then they oughta get nasty.

It oughta be against the law.

Ohmigod, they're gonna use Earl Campbell as a receiver.

Do you realize what that means? New Houston Oiler coach Ed Biles said he's going to have Earl going out for passes next year.

Can you imagine what that means for some poor 180 pound, 6 foot tall defensive back? Trying to tackle big bad Earl? One on one?

Arghh.

Biles also said he's going to get Kenny Stabler to lift weights in hopes he'll regain some of his throwing prowess.

So if the Snake can regain his form and zip the ball a little bit, and Earl the Pearl is going one on one against defensive backs as well as he crashes through the line . . .

I'm glad I'm not playing defense in the National Football League.

You got to give Biles credit though. He's a believer in fair play.

I mean, if you're gonna use Earl Campbell as a receiver, it's only fair you notify the guys he'll be playing against.

Gives 'em time to get more life insurance and a burial plot.

Warriors beat Tularosa, but stumble at Deming

BY MARK BAGBY
Sports Editor

The Ruidoso Warrior cagers put themselves in the District 3AAA driver's seat Friday night with a 48-42 win over Tularosa there Friday, upping their league record to a commanding 4-0.

But then they suffered a flat tire Saturday in Deming, falling by a 51-45 count.

The loss gave Ruidoso its first district loss against four slashes in the win column, and according to coach Barry Nelson, the loss was due to some extremely poor shooting.

"I don't know what's wrong with us," Nelson said. "We're missing everything. It's not just the 10 and 12 footers, but even like the two footers right under the basket. There's not a whole lot we can do if we can't put it in the basket."

The Warriors have been shooting dimly lately, and but for a bit of luck, the same thing almost happened at Tularosa. In fact, the Warriors were down 14-2 at the end of the first period, and it took some doing to come out on top.

Nelson said he felt defense won it for the Warriors as they stopped Tularosa scoring leader Bill Turner.

"That probably won the game for us," he said. "We held him to 12 points (well below his 30 points per game average). Bill Richardson did a great job on him."

"But if we had been hitting the way we can, I don't think it would have been a contest. At times we look good, real good, and we shoot well. But at other times, well . . . I don't know what to do about it."

And it just went from bad to worse at Deming as the Warriors connected on a miserable 17 of 59 field goals tries.

But Nelson blames the loss on himself.

"It was a case of bad coaching on my part," he said. "We got behind and I got anxious and changed the game plan. I shouldn't have. We didn't settle down and play like we should've. We tried to run with them."

"That was my decision and it was my mistake."

The Warriors had a shot at winning it and trailed by only three points with just under two minutes remaining, but couldn't contain the Wildcats.

Rodney Thomason was high scorer against Tularosa with 18, closely followed by Glenn Ryan with 15, Gary Jones with 11, Bill Richardson with five and Scott Neal with one.

Ryan claimed scoring honors against Deming with 17, Thomason had 16, Jones had eight, Neal had four, Richardson had two and Gene Reeves also had two.

Warrior fans still have something to cheer about, though — the Warriors are still in first place in the district and possess an overall 11-5 record.

Next up is Roswell High here Tuesday evening. The Warriors lost to the AAAA school there in the first game of the season, and Nelson is hopeful his squad will pull itself out of its slump.

"I keep thinking," he said, "that sooner or later we have to have a good game."

Lady Warriors falter at Deming

Basketball season for Ruidoso's lady Warriors has been so far, a case of "almost but not quite."

Saturday was no exception as the lasses lost to Deming 42-40, to drop their overall record to 6-10 and 1-6 in loop play.

Coach Sergio Castanon was not overly pleased with his team's performance.

"I can't put them down because Deming played pretty good ball," he said, "but we played bad. Not as bad as we did at Tularosa, but bad. And then we got beat by only two points."

It was that way the whole game. With the exception of the third quarter, the lady Warriors trailed by just a couple of points most of the game.

The third quarter was, however, the key. At the end of that stanza, they were behind by six, 29-23.

"We're in a rut right now," Castanon said. "We play in spurts. Something's missing, but I'm not sure what it is. Concentration or intensity or something."

Kody Taylor led the scoring with 12, followed by Brigid Almager with seven, Lisa Shaw with six, Jan Huey and Claudia Brannum with five each, Patsy Almager with three and Tami Shaw with two.

"We've got to win some of the rest of our games," he said. Next up is Cobre there Friday, one of the tougher teams in the league.

Junior varsity loses

The Ruidoso Warrior junior varsity boys' basketball squad discovered the meaning of the word "disappointment" Friday night in Tularosa.

Though they played what coach Vince Collins termed "our best game of the season," the lads lost, 59-52.

"I'm disappointed we lost," Castanon said, "but that's the most intense we've played all year."

In fact, the Warriors had it won with about two minutes to go. Ahead 52-48, leading scorer Tim Enjady fouled out after contributing 16 points to the cause.

Enjady's departure seemed to make a difference, as the Wildcats scored 11 points to zero for the Warriors.

"I wasn't displeased — the game was exciting, and we gave it everything we had," he said.

Collins noted the Warriors shot miserably from the free throw line, connecting on but 12 of 33 charity tosses.

"If we had just shot 75 percent from the free throw line, we'd have won it," he said. The squad gets a break from district play here Tuesday night, hosting Roswell's junior varsity in a 5:30 game.

Inside The Capitol

by Fred McCaffrey

SANTA FE — Did you see all that big disturbance early last week on Channel 4 about how things were at the state pen one year ago?

Do you know what that was all about? Money.

Whenever you see the commercial television stations doing their daring exposes, supported by much on-the-air and in-the-newspaper promotion, you know rating weeks are on.

And ratings mean money. You remember that KOAT-TV hired Dick Knipping away from KOAT-TV, paying him beaucoup dollars to make the move.

Imagine their disappointment when his presence on Channel 4 failed to generate enough extra revenue to pay his high cost.

Survey after survey, those ratings have failed to justify that expensive decision. As a result, some higher-ups could be looking for new jobs.

It's time, therefore, for the big play — but it has to be made while the "sweeps" surveys are going on.

Even if nothing happened at all in New Mexico this week, the TV stations would be trumpeting away as though they were covering the second coming of Christ. They have to, you see.

They have to get "the numbers" in the ratings, because those numbers govern what they can charge for advertising in and around the news block until the next surveys are made.

Larger audiences — no matter how you have to hype things to get them — mean better ratings. Better ratings mean more dough. And more dough means those big shots get to keep those jobs.

Hence we got a kind of shameless milking of Adolph Saenz, former Secretary of Corrections, who could be suspected of being something of a sorehead since Bruce King more or less fired him.

All this, of course, is presented as though it were some masterpiece of investigative reporting — something of a laugh in a medium which allows its reporters a maximum of 90 seconds in which to tell their stories once they have found them.

So Saenz, who has told most of us he was writing a book on the topic of the pen and didn't want to give anything away, gets used by the station.

Mary Ingersoll does an interview with him, cuts it up into snippets and deals it out to us a little bit at a time.

Meanwhile, the Governor of New Mexico hears what Dolph Saenz has to say, loses his temper — and allows himself to be used in turn by the station as he denies what he has been accused of.

All in the interest of higher ratings and more money, not in the interest of revealing the truth or accomplishing anything worthwhile.

KOB-TV ought to be ashamed of itself. So let's have a happier note.

Dr. George Goldstein, boss of Health and Environment, says there aren't enough good things to say about John Hernandez, NMSU prof who may be head of the feds' Environmental Protection Agency by the time you read this column.

"Even if he weren't one of our own boys," Goldstein says, "he would be an outstanding appointment. New Mexico will be honored — and protected — if he gets the job."

Letters to the Editor

Dear editor:

With your permission let me try to explain one more time that our recreational area is not in dire straits for want of water.

Some 25 years ago Eagle Creek waters were transferred back to this watershed. Some 4,000 acre feet of them ... the Decree says. That is almost 3 1/2 times as much as Bonito Dam holds.

Some years passed after the waters were put back here and our State Engineer warned the village officials that they must build some storage or they might lose the rights to the use of those waters. They did build some storage, about 240 acre feet.

In the meantime we have increased our year around population to some 8,000 residents. 240 acre feet is roughly 80,000,000 gallons of water. If the usage falls in the neighborhood of two million gallons per day it appears the present dam holds a 40 day supply if it all had to come out of there.

In other words if our use is 730 million gallons per annum (2x365) then we should be out of water about 8 times a year, or could be. How come a crisis only arises once in a while? Even now? Because this small pond that only holds 240 acre feet fills again and again and again.

It should be clear by this time that unless we want to have a crisis every time a dry spell hits us of over 40 days, then we need another small pond. And even if it holds only 500 acre feet, if the above figures are correct perhaps we could supply another 18,000 persons, giving us a total population of 24,000 people. Ridiculous you say? We just got through doing it with 240 acre feet of storage. It seems kind of silly to plan a 3,200 acre feet dam when you can use up your 4,000 acre feet with one 240 acre feet dam plus another 500 acre feet dam, and not be any drier than we have been in the past. In the next decade Bonito Dam will be back in this watershed and when that is used up, perhaps some of our experts will wake up to the fact that there are many times our down stream friends would like us to impound some flood waters during the year to ease their flood problems and then we could add some more small ponds to meet the needs.

FOR THE CHILDREN

Most of the chatter about the 1980 census so far has dealt with the political implications of the shift of population from the Northwest to the Sun Belt and the West. But the Census Bureau not only tells us where people are living but something about how they live, and there is sobering news about changes in the condition of the American family.

The number of one-parent families in our population has increased tenfold during the last decade. Ten years ago, one out of 10 families had only a single parent as a result of divorce, death, or births outside of marriage. Today the figure is one out of five. Fully one-half of black families are maintained by a single parent. The number of children living with mothers who never married now exceeds the number of children who have lost a parent through death. The census can provide these statistics, but we must look elsewhere for signs of the impact on our society. It is not difficult to find a link between the breakdown of the traditional family and rising welfare costs or the incidence of juvenile crime. But there are also more subtle effects, and a recent study by the Charles F. Kettering Foundation and the National Association of Elementary School Principals sheds some light on one of them.

The study covered 18,000 students in 26 elementary and high schools in 14 states, a cross-section ranging from inner-cities to small towns and rural areas. The conclusion is inescapable that one-parent children on the whole do not do as well in school.

Thirty percent of children from two-parent families were ranked as high achievers, compared to 17 percent of those from one-parent families. Looking at it the other way, 40 percent of the one-parent children ranked as low achievers, while only 24 percent of two-parent children were in that category.

Further, children from one-parent families were absent more often than those from two-parent families and were more likely to be late to school, truant or in disciplinary trouble.

These findings are a challenge to educators, whose approach to teaching may be based on false assumptions about the degree of support and encouragement children are receiving at home. With instability in the family, the Kettering study pointed out, school may be "the most important part of the child's life that stays relatively constant."

Psychologists will argue that the one-parent family should not be viewed with blanket disapproval — that failing marriages held together "for the sake of the children" can do more harm than good. They make the point that where parents are concerned, quality is more important than quantity, and there is no reason why a conscientious single parent cannot maintain a stable and supportive family life.

True, but there is no denying that the sexual revolution, more liberal attitudes toward divorce, and other changes in moral and social attitudes affecting the family can handicap a child in school and on into adult life. While the Kettering study was conducted at the behest of educators who must deal with learning and disciplinary problems connected with the one-parent family, its message is for parents — together or separated — and for our society as a whole. — News-Bulletin, Belen editorial

At times Lincoln County's elected officials convey the impression that they think Capitan, Ruidoso and Ruidoso Downs are asking for a lion's share of county services.

A quick glance at the 1980 preliminary census figures show that these three communities are justified in requesting as much assistance from the county as they can obtain.

The population figures for the villages and towns in the county show that Ruidoso increased by 2,086, Capitan by 330, Ruidoso Downs by 170, Carrizozo by 94, while Corona lost 29, in the past 10 years.

During the 1970s, housing units increased by 3,408 in Ruidoso, by 196 in Capitan, 282 in Ruidoso Downs, by 75 in Carrizozo, while Corona lost two.

Capitan, Ruidoso Downs and Ruidoso are the communities that are growing, with these three paying the lion's share of taxes to the county.

Knowing where the growth is, and that it is this growth that is keeping county government healthier financially than it would be without it, is it unreasonable for these three communities to demand more services?

The more growth Capitan, Ruidoso Downs and Ruidoso enjoy, the more money these three entities will produce for the county, enabling the officials to provide improved services.

In our opinion, the priorities are clear for the county commissioners to act on. We trust they will encourage development in the communities that are literally the geese that are laying the golden eggs. — CD

KID'S TOMBSTONE GONE

The one hundred pound tombstone, marking the grave of Billy the Kid, was taken from behind a chain link fence at Fort Sumner February 1 ... and authorities are hoping ... maybe against hope ... that the theft was perpetrated by pranksters ... and that the headstone will be found ... and/or returned to its rightful place ... like soon, real soon.

Folks at Fort Sumner are hoping that this theft isn't the work of history buffs ... who might have a tendency to kinda want to hang onto their ill gotten gains ... but, being's the headstone was purloined before ... and duly recovered ... and put back in place ... they're hoping for the same this time around ... like, maybe, as all of us are.

Yup, sure funny what makes some folks tick ... like up in North and South Dakota a few years back ... folks there was all excited over where the bones of Sitting Bull were buried ... and they kept totin' the old chief's bones back and forth across the state line ... burying 'em, and having 'em dug up again ... without no one knowin' for sure that the bones they were diggin up, carting off and burying again even were those of Sitting Bull.

Sure hope that once again visitors will be able to look at that headstone and read: "Billy the Kid: Born Nov. 23, 1859; Killed July 14, 1881. The boy bandit king. He died as he lived."

And may those gravestone robbers drop that 100 pound stone right smack dab atop their aching corns ... 'cause that kind of ground corn they are certainly entitled to ... and, maybe, if'n it smarted enough, they'd smarten up, and get the Kid's gravestone back to Fort Sumner for ogling.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, DOC

Today marks another milestone for Dr. Ron Annala ... the gregarious Finn who hasn't as yet wrapped himself around a tree whilst sking ... but, way I hear tell, the way he skis, the possibility exists ... and it'd serve him right if'n he had to put the cast on his own leg ... no?

Anyhow ... come St. Orho's Day ... March 16 ... in honor of the saint that chased the grasshoppers out of Finland ... sons ago ... if you see doc chanting at a water pond at first light that day ... he's only chasing grasshoppers.

NEW PRISONS. MAYBE

State Corrections Secretary Roger Crist has the undivided attention of those as are concerned about having a prison that'll keep the prisoners from rioting ... and setting it afire ... and carrying on by killing other cons.

What Crist said that was attention grabbing was ... he could build a 750-bed prison, right from scratch, for $59.1 million ... which'd be better, and not cost as much as fixing the old one over ... besides, for another $23.2 million he could build a new 300-bed maximum security prison ... and a 400-bed close security prison for $23.3 million ... and no one would have to worry about the problems connected with fixing the old one.

Add those figures up and you get $110.6 million ... which is a bundle ... and that's just to have a place to house the baddies ... and you gotta pay for their bed and found extra ... but if'n it costs less to build new prisons ... than fixin' old ones over ... and the new ones'd be a lot cheaper to operate and maintain ... why we might be able to spend ourselves into some real savings.

The sad part about all this is ... the state could build 110 miles of dandy fine road for that kinda loot ... which we ain't gonna get to enjoy, 'cause all those cons that'll be in the new 'pen got sent over the road.

Hopefully, the new facilities will be fire proof, riot proof, fool proof ... and just uncomfortable enough to keep it from being a Taj Mahal.

PROGRESS IS COMING

The school district patrons up and spoke their piece last Tuesday ... when they okayed that two mill levy to help fix up dilapidation in some of our schools ... and bully for all you good guys/gals as voted it in.

That'll clear the way for a sizeable school bond vote later this spring ... and if that's voted in ... and we ain't got no more bonding capacity ... but lay plans for new school buildings on the State Capital Outlay Committee ... then there's a good chance of getting a few million bucks ... absolutely for free ... in dribbles of a million or so at a time ... so's our kids'll have a dandy fine school for learning in ... and I guess they're entitled to that chance.

BRIEF BIT: Can't help wondering if it's possible for the US to show the USSR enough bad will that they'll eventually get around to showing us some good will ... CD

Mrs. S. W. Stout

Mrs. Samuel W. (Satie) Stout, longtime Ruidoso and Ruidoso Downs resident, died Sunday in Alamogordo.

Mrs. Stout was born May 27, 1893, and she and her husband delivered ice to the area for many years, before opening a grocery store in Ruidoso Downs. Her husband died in 1968.

She is survived by five children, 16 grandchildren, 18 great-grandchildren and seven great-great-grandchildren, including daughter Mrs. Paul Brown of Ruidoso and grandchildren Herb Brunell of Ruidoso and Karen Lafferty of Ruidoso Downs.

Funeral services will be 11 a.m., Tuesday, at the Hamilton Mortuary in Alamogordo.

Brian Donathan

Graveside services for Brian Douglas Donathan, 16, will be Thursday at 11 a.m., in Forest Lawn Cemetery.

Mr. Donathan, of Bull Head City, Arizona, was born in Ruidoso May 20, 1964. He died in a February 6 accident in Arizona.

He was the son of Ben and Glenda Donathan, former Ruidosians.

He is survived by his parents; his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Jasper of Grandberry, Texas; his paternal grandmother, Arlie Donathan of Bull Head City; and a brother, Bret.

The Reverend E. W. Campbell will officiate at the services.

Horace Hatcher

Horace Hatcher, 72, Mexia, Texas, former employee of Sinclair Pipeline Company, died January 23 in a Mexia hospital.

Services were held January 25 in the First Presbyterian Church of Mexia with the Reverend Richard Young officiating. Burial was in the Mexia Cemetery.

Mr. Hatcher was born November 25, 1908, in Mexia, where he lived much of his life. He was a member of the Mexia Odd Fellows Lodge.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Naucle Hatcher of Mexia; a brother, J. R. Hatcher of Ruidoso; two sisters, Mrs. George Young and Mrs. R. H. Oldham, of Texas, and a nephew, Emory Hatcher of Ruidoso.

School vote canvassed

Members of the Ruidoso Board of Education canvassed Tuesday's election results in a special noon meeting Thursday.

A two mill levy, which will provide $315,000 over a three-year period, passed by a five to one margin, with 555 voting for and 103 voting against the proposal.

Money generated by the mill levy will be used to make emergency improvements to all district school buildings.

In the race for a Board of Education seat, incumbent C. L. "Bones" Wright received 411 votes, to 184 for Ron Harris and 84 for Richard C. Hall. Don Swalander, running unopposed for re-election, received 501 votes.

A total of 691 votes, including four absentee ballots were cast. The total is said, by election officials, to be the highest cast in a local school election.

The next regular board meeting will be Tuesday at 7:30 p.m., in the administration building. The agenda will include a joint presentation by Rembert Alley, Alley-Connell and Associates of Roswell, and the school building committee, on proposed building programs.

CONFIDENTIAL REPORT: Cathy Lee Crosby is used to watching daring stunt men flirt with death on 'That's Incredible.' But the stunning star thinks it's even more incredible that millions of American youths flirt with death every day by experimenting with deadly drugs. In an effort to battle this terrible problem, Cathy Lee has devoted her life to wiping out drug abuse. She's the leader of a growing band of celebrities who are spreading the word to kids that drugs are killers. "I feel I must encourage young people not to become involved with drugs," Cathy Lee told me from her home in Los Angeles. "They destroy your body, and I believe a healthy body is the most important thing a person can have. My health means more to me than anything, even my career." Cathy Lee is a tireless worker for Narconon, a leading anti-drug organization based in Los Angeles. She travels all over America to educate teenagers on the hazards of drug abuse, says Narconon director Mario Davis. "The kids really look up to her, so they listen hard to what she has to say," Davis told me. "She has devoted hundreds of hours to our work, and she always helps out whenever she can." Cathy Lee's anti-drug crusade has taken her to prisons, churches, youth clubs and anywhere else she can warn kids that drugs aren't the answer to anything.

TV BACKSTAGE: NBC's eyes are on 'Texas,' the large-scale soap opera which didn't exactly ignite the airwaves when it premiered not too long ago. However, new soap operas generally take time before enticing audiences to break their viewing habits and sample the new 'story' in town. 'Texas' has improved recently and a good deal of the credit must go to the interesting bad guys and gals on the show, particularly Clipper Blake, the arch villain who is currently up to his Stetson in shady deals and assassination plots. Clipper is played by handsome Scott Stevensen, and he's enjoying the menu of menace the writers have been serving up. Stevensen, who hails from Salt Lake City, Utah, began his career by playing heroes, and was bored by always winning the girl and walking the straight and narrow. "I was always playing those dogooders," he said. "You know, the young hero who has right on his side. The villains were never offered to me. Finally, 'Texas' came along and changed all that. It's really more fun to play a person no self-respecting girl would take home to meet Mama."
