

Street vendors may face new regulations

Street vendors who do a weekend or one day business in Ruidoso without observing gross receipts tax regulations and village ordinances may be faced with stiffer regulations soon, if retail merchants and village planning officers can agree on a new set of guidelines for such businesses.

Village officials have been asked to rewrite the Planning and Zoning (P&Z) ordinances so permanent businesses will be protected, with provisions for "weekenders" who "arrive in town Friday night and leave Monday morning," according to zoning officer John Cupp.

Cupp said the present ordinance is written so that it becomes illegal for anyone to have anything outside, including sidewalk sales, Christmas tree sales or new cars.

Cupp said the ordinance was re-adopted two weeks ago, but could probably be rewritten to satisfy the needs of everyone involved.

Meeting Friday with members of P&Z and the Retail Merchants Committee of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce, Cupp said the key is to determine "what you can tolerate or not tolerate with street vendors."

P&Z Chairman Mike Waldron said criteria needs to be established "for enforcement purposes," and a fee should be charged for a license "that would help defray the cost of hiring someone to enforce the ordinance."

Both groups will meet for workshops and hold another joint meeting June 15 at the Chamber, 8:30 a.m., to submit suggestions to village attorney Lee Huckstep.

Expected to be addressed are the following points:

- A provision for a permanent shop owner to have one to two day sidewalk sales.

- Possibility of zoning a specific area strictly for a "farmer's market" and limit every vendor to that area.

- Guidelines so pedestrian and road traffic would not be a problem.

- Registration so vendors would be required to pay a gross receipts tax and provide minimal liability insurance.

Villages' trustees to meet

Ruidoso Downs trustees will meet at 7 tonight at the municipal building.

Major agenda items include requests for a go-cart track, a recreational vehicle park, and a lot division; preparations for the 1981-82 budget; and final inspection release on the municipal sewer system.

The Ruidoso trustees will meet at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday in the Ruidoso Public Library.

Agenda items include reports on opening of bids for a rear-loading garbage truck and on the sale of $170,000 in General Obligation garbage collection bonds and action on ordinances covering Business Registration, creating a Lodger's Tax Advisory Board and making it unlawful to resist an animal control officer.

Wednesday Coffee Cart

The Wednesday Coffee Cart, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce so the public can meet Chamber officers and directors, will be from 9-10:30 a.m., at:

Ruling asked in District Attorney race

Third District Judge Garnett Burks, Las Cruces, Friday promised a ruling in the contested election for District Attorney, Twelfth Judicial District, within ten days.

The two contenders, Steve Sanders and James Weldon, each maintain they are the winner of the general election last November, with each charging vote counting irregularities. One election tally gave Weldon the win by 140 votes, another had Sanders winning by 289 votes.

The outcome, apparently, will depend upon Weldon's write-in votes as Weldon, Col. Weldon or J. J. Weldon, which were in conflict with stipulations laid down by Secretary of State Shirley Hooper for acceptable write-in variations prior to the election.

Altrusans scheduling CPR course

A cardio pulmonary resuscitation (CPR) instructor course will be offered in Ruidoso in late June, sponsored by the Altrusa Club of Ruidoso.

Only those trained to perform CPR are eligible to become instructors, according to Altrusan Jeanie Whitwam.

"We hope to train enough CPR instructors to have a CPR course going on all the time," Whitwam said. "It is the goal of the Altrusa Club's health committee to train as many people in the community in CPR techniques as we possibly can."

Those interested in taking the instructor course should call Whitwam at 257-2539. A date for the course will be announced.

Police suspect arsonists tried to burn bank

The Criminal Investigation Division (CID) of the Ruidoso Police Department is investigating a case of suspected arson, after police and fire fighters extinguished a fire on the roof of Ruidoso State Bank Saturday.

The fire was reported about 4 a.m., Saturday, and a CID spokesman said a beer bottle filled with "some sort of accelerant" was found on the roof.

Quick action by the police and fire fighters kept damage to a minimum, the spokesman said. The evidence was sent to the New Mexico State Crime Lab in Santa Fe for further analysis.

County commissioners meet Tuesday

Lincoln County commissioners will meet at 10 a.m., Tuesday in the courthouse in Carrizozo. The meeting will serve as a public hearing for proposed use of general revenue sharing funds in the county's 1981-82 budget.

Other major agenda items include the state Highway Department's school bus route improvement program and purchase of aggregate chips from the state Highway Department.

Easily Smashed takes win

Easily Smashed fought off a wilting attack from Runnin Barre and pulled out a head victory in Sunday's seventh running of the Kansas Derby at Ruidoso Downs.

The Kansas Derby, the first stop on the Triple Crown journey for three-year-olds, offered a gross purse of $224,470. The victory slice amounted to $76,909.

Easily Smashed, who performed in the 400 yard Derby as a 2-1 favorite, is owned by the partnership of Carol Childs, William Leach and Sue May of Ft. Stockton, Texas. Leach also trains the colt. The pilot is Jackie Martin.

The winning time of 20.09 seconds was a considerable improvement over Easy Jet's top qualifying time of 20.34. The qualifying trials, however, were run under extremely windy conditions. The conditions for Sunday's Derby finale were perfect. It was a clear, sunny afternoon, with only a slight, occasional breeze.

Although Easily Smashed qualified 10th best, Ruidoso patrons figured he was still the one to beat, and made him the choice in the finale. His big selling point was a two length win in the trials, plus the top money line of close to $160,000.

Fans who centered their mutual attentions on Easily Smashed in the Kansas Derby collected $6, $3.60, $3. The son of Easy Jet came out of the Derby with a perfect 1981 record of three-for-three. Last year, he compiled outstanding marks of 9-2-0 from 13 outings.

Runnin Barre, ridden by Steve Treasure for Robert and Juanita Ballenger of Paoli, Oklahoma, banked $35,158 for his runner-up effort. The tote returns were $3.80 and $3.40. Easy Jet, owned by Louie Allen of Allen, Texas, mustered a brisk charge in the final stages but had to settle for third, a neck behind Runnin Barre. The show price was $4. Easy Jet carried odds of better than 9-1. The third place paycheck amounted to $18,018.

Easily Smashed got off to a strong get away from the rail slot and quickly assumed command. Mighty Pass Em, Easy Jet and Moon Chicks quickly got into some tight quarters from the number 2, 3 and 4 posts. Runnin Barre broke a bit sluggishly and bore in a bit.

Easily Smashed was clearly in charge

ANOTHER SMASHING WIN — Easily Smashed (on the rail) holds off Runnin Barre for a head win in the finale of the $224,470 Kansas Quarter Horse Derby at Ruidoso Downs Sunday.

when he was about 100 yards away from the gate, although some arguments were delivered by Native Tea, a 15-1 longshot. Just when things appeared to be in the bag for Easily Smashed, Runnin Barre shifted into high gear on the far outside. She pieced together a tremendous charge and appeared ready ready to nail Easily Smashed when she ran out of ground.

For Easily Smashed, the win was his first major victory since his conquest of the $250,388 Sun Country Futurity at Sunland Park in the spring of 1980.

Here's how the also-rans checked in for Sunday's Kansas Derby: 4th — Ooh Lala Lala, earning $9,448; 5th — Native Tea, $8,569; 6th — Moses Lad, $8,350; 7th — Mighty Pass Em, $8,130; 8th — El Rey Burner, $7,910; 9th — Pajaro Chico, $7,690; 10th — Moon Chicks, $7,471.

Rockay, a filly owned by Orville W. Paty of San Angelo, Texas, squeezed out a nose win in Saturday's $32,082 Consolation of the Kansas Quarter Horse Derby.

The winning share amounted to $6,783, which pushed Rockay's career money line up to $68,855. In 1979, Rockay was purchased in the All-American Yearling Sale at Ruidoso for $18,500.

The Derby Consolation was a tooth-and-nail struggle from start to finish. Rockay, running as a 6-5 favorite, broke alertly but had to move for all she was worth in order to retain a slim advantage.

At the midway point of the 400 yard dash, she appeared ready to take charge, but A Smooth Bug, a 9-5 shot, dogged her down to the wire and nearly snared the lead on the final jump or two.

The Consolation was clocked in 20.63 (against a headwind), which was a bit off Rockay's third best qualifying time of 20.58. Richard Bickel was in the saddle. Fans who supported Rockay collected totalisator returns of $4.40, $2.80, $2.60. The daughter of Rocket Wrangler now holds a perfect 1981 record of two-for-two. Last year, her record of 1-4-2 was compiled from 10 starts.

A Smooth Bug, ridden by Jackie Martin for Marvin Barnes of Ada, Oklahoma, earned $4,748 for his heads up second. The payoffs: $3.80, $3.20. Croupier, who made up considerable ground in the final stages, finished third and banked $3,517. The show price was $3.80. Croupier is owned by James Keng of Giddings, Texas.

The remaining order of finish: 4th — Mighty Duck, 5th — Angles Dancer, 6th — Dancing Okie, 7th — Talent Pass, 8th — Tiny Hempen, 9th — Miss Easy Six.

Saturday's agenda also spotlighted the first running of the Barlaris Stakes at 5 1/2 furlongs, and jockey Bickel excelled in that one, also. Bickel turned in a first rate job aboard the high flying mare, Ruffast. After sinking her teeth into a fiery pace, Ruffast shook off her foes in the stretch and coasted in with a length lead.

Ruffast was timed in 1:09 1/5 seconds, which was a bit off the seasonal mark of 1:08 3/5, established two races earlier by Ghost Light. A $2 win ticket of Ruffast was worth $4.40. She earned $3,582 out of the gross purse of $5,970.

HONORING THE GOOD DOCTOR — Dr. W. D. (Willie) Horton, who put in 33 years as track physician at Ruidoso Downs, was honored over the weekend. A crowd of friends, colleagues, former patients and well-wishers crowded into the winner's circle. Dr. Horton is at center, holding the blanket, with Mrs. Horton at his right. Finlay MacGillivray (white hat), Ruidoso Downs general manager, is holding the other end of the blanket. Dr. Horton set up his Ruidoso practice in 1947, and for many years he was the only physician in Lincoln County.

ComFIRE to distribute evacuation route maps

Herb Brunell is looking for volunteers to help clean out his basement.

That's not quite the whole story. The Committee for Insuring Ruidoso's Environment (ComFIRE) appealed to the public Thursday for help in distributing emergency evacuation maps, "stacks" of which are now stored in chairman Brunell's basement.

Printing of the maps was a 1979 ComFIRE project, and designates routes to be used in the event of forest fire or other disaster. Four separate maps are available, depicting different sections of the village—Upper Canyon, Gateway, White Mountain and Alto.

Since they were printed, the maps have been distributed through local business people and a door-to-door campaign conducted largely by Emil Klemm.

The committee agreed that Klemm's campaign was the most effective, but since he has moved away from Ruidoso, distribution has slowed considerably.

Any organization or individual interested in helping to distribute the maps should contact Brunell or other ComFIRE members.

The committee discussed a variety of other items at their Thursday meeting. Member Rich Seeley volunteered to check into the status of the Rotary Club's street sign project. He reported Friday that the project is well underway, with some 250 signs already installed.

ComFIRE members are sponsoring a project in conjunction with the signing program, placing evacuation route markers on appropriate street signs.

Seeley also reported Friday that village manager Jim Hine had advised him that the trustees would be considering establishment of a "fire prevention officer" in their upcoming budget deliberations.

In other business, ComFIRE members: —Requested that new member Dave Bervin check into the availability of additional flags for Red Flag Fire Alerts, through the state Forestry Division.

Bervin, 25, is district fire management officer with the state Forestry Division. A native of North Dakota, Bervin has spent most of his life in the Southwest, and was formerly employed with an Oregon environmental consulting firm. Bervin said he is an avid outdoorsman and his primary career interest is natural resource conservation and development.

—Agreed to offer programs on fire prevention to local organizations, including the Homebuilder's Association.

—Praised the "strong public participation" in recent Red Flag Fire Alerts, and reminded individuals to "take down the flags at night."

DAVE BERVIN, with the State Forestry, Capitan, is ComFIRE's newest member.

"Best of Times," at Commencement exercises Friday night. All three have been awarded music scholarships for the fall, 1981 term.

Old Lincoln renovation plans aired Thursday

BY GWYNETH JONES
Staff Writer

The town of Lincoln as a "microcosm of the Western experience," will be the underlying principal behind the Museum of New Mexico's plans to make renovations and create new interpretive displays at the Lincoln State Monument.

At a meeting in the old courthouse Thursday, plans for the innovations were outlined by Dr. Michael Warner, who is in the final stages of a year-long planning study for the Museum's Monuments Division.

The state agencies had applied for a grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities (NEH) of $188,000 to finance the work, but Warner advised the group of citizens that the request had been turned down.

He said the grant request would be resubmitted, but added he is also performing a survey of other possible funding sources.

An advisory group of Lincoln residents, representing the Lincoln Historical Review Board, the Heritage Trust, Pageant Corporation and other interested parties, has been formed to work with Warner in the final planning stage.

Warner's plans call for a three-year, three-phase system of implementation and will encompass physical and archaeological aspects, he said.

The old courthouse would become an orientation center, Warner said. The downstairs rooms would be devoted primarily to informing the visitor about the general history of the town and region. Interpretive displays would include more extensive information about history of the town and region.

Those displays would include combinations of artifacts with effective graphic presentations, incorporating newspaper clippings, historic documents and historic photographs, he said.

With the idea of Lincoln as a microcosm, yet with characteristics and history which also make it unique, Warner developed an interpretive plan dealing with three major areas — land, people, and general history.

The exhibits dealing with land will describe the area geographically and geologically, in an effort to show "what attracted people to settle here," Warner said.

They will also address the types and utilization of resources. Artifacts, photographs and possibly slide shows will be designed to show the importance of water to the area.

Another room in the courthouse would be designed to explain the folklore and social history of the peoples who inhabited the area in the past and present, including exhibits on myths, literature and artwork.

Other exhibits would deal with the economic utilization of the land, including mining, farming, ranching and cottage industries.

The exhibits would widen the historical scope of the museum to include "more than just the Billy the Kid era," Warner said. Displays would trace Lincoln's history from those days through the early 1900's to the present and would attempt to answer such questions as "why Lincoln survived and White Oaks died" and how the town's interesting historical flavor has been preserved, he said.

The old schoolhouse, constructed by the Works Progress Administration and having less historical value than the other buildings, would be used for a community center, small public library, and to provide public restrooms, Warner said. During the first phase of work, the school building would also be utilized as an area for staff members to fabricate exhibits and store materials.

Other plans included restoration of the Watson House to early 20th century condition, with one room restored as an apothecary; general repairs and maintenance of the Tunstall store; and an archaeological excavation of the McSweeney home site.

Durable metal signs, incorporating photographs, would be installed at all the state properties, he added. Written brochures, possibly with the "Lincoln Independent" newspaper masthead, would also be provided to visitors.

Several Lincoln residents objected to some points of the plan.

Lynda Sanchez said she felt "modern exhibits would look out of place in a neat old building like this." She said the use of plexi-glass exhibit cases would "be a desecration" of the courthouse.

Advisory board member Nora Henn also objected to the plan to make the courthouse the orientation center.

"If you turn it totally into interpretive displays, then why bother? You might as well tear it down and build something modern," Henn said. She suggested that the schoolhouse would be a better choice for an orientation center.

She added that the building itself was a "museum piece," and that the rooms "could speak for themselves much more eloquently than the displays."

Warner said he "can't go along with using this building (courthouse) as an orientation center," when the schoolhouse would be the "natural place" for such a facility.

"I really think this building is so unique, and has a feeling that might be lost by having exhibits put in here which are not of the same type we have now," Henn said.

Warner said he too was "concerned with preserving the integrity of the building," and that changes and compromises in the plans could be worked out later, with the help of the advisory board.

Other citizens suggested that the board could also be helpful in coordinating renovation and restoration efforts by the state and the Heritage Trust.

Museum director Jean Webber also attended the meeting, and advised the group that the state is working diligently to facilitate reopening of the Worley Hotel. Webber said she planned to conduct interviews for prospective lessees during the weekend, and expected the hotel to open by late June.

NARROW CONSOLATION WIN — Rockay, win in the consolation of the Kansas Derby at running as a solid favorite, pulls out a narrow Ruidoso Downs Saturday.

KANSAS DERBY PRESENTATION — Dorothy Dillard (left), Ruidoso Downs Nominations Secretary, handed out the victory hardware following Easily Smashed's win in the Kansas

Derby Sunday. The owner's ornament was collected by Sue May (second from left), Carol Childs and William Leach. Also on hand was the winning pilot, Jackie Martin.

Ranger District on Lincoln National Forest, presented Tate with a certificate of achievement. The contest was co-sponsored locally by the Forest Service and the Ruidoso Garden Club.

Smokey's poster winners named

Winners of the Smokey Bear coloring contest at Nob Hill Elementary School were announced this week.

The children were presented with ribbons and received hugs from Smokey himself in ceremonies at the school Thursday.

Representatives of the Forest Service accompanied Smokey to the ceremony and also honored Kerry Tate for taking first place in the national Smokey Bear Environmental Poster Contest.

First, second and third place winners are listed below in that order, according to teacher and grade.

Tate/Cannella kindergarten, Kerry Hanshaw, Amy Smith and Kerith Johnson.

Tate/Cannella kindergarten, Cicelee Makowski, Aimee Reynolds and Mark Davis.

Clarke Kindergarten, Dana Rossi, Isaac Baca and Katie Graham.

Clarke kindergarten, afternoon, Jason McMullen, Zenda Kanseah and Marky Jordan.

Lathan, first grade, Becky Benson, Neely Schwab and Amy Wishard.

Higgins, first grade, Melissa Rooney, Laura Edwards, with Brandi Stevens and Donnie Klein tied for third.

Jones, first grade, John Ross Salcido, Gaylen Chavez, with Matthew McCall and Mannie Guardiola tied for third.

Cabot, first grade, B. J. Gonzales, Kathi

Brault and Lisa Montoya. Hickerson, first grade, Blythe Misner, Lesley James and Billy Hawkins.

Skellett, second grade, Corey Lynn, Robert Chavez and Missy Jo Gosdin tied for second, and Sabrina Burt.

Farrington, second grade, Jimmy Romero, Chris Volquardsen with Jeanna McCall and Cynthia Chavez tied for third. Godley, second grade, Stephen Berg, Jenny Schneider and Russell Bell.

Vinsant, second grade, Rebecca Portillo, Laurence McClellan with Lori Swalander and Esteban Estrada tied for third.

Porter, second grade, Crissy West, Ethan Funston and Kristie Waldron.

Garden Club's plans underway

"Wildflowers", pressing and using them to create gifts, was the topic of the program presented to the Ruidoso Garden Club by Mrs. Fern Bingham at their meeting May 19 at the Ruidoso Library.

Members discussed plans for the Plant Sale to be held June 8, behind the library, with proceeds from this sale to go to the Ruidoso Care Center for their patio project.

President Sally Avery announced the membership drive is underway and said those interested in joining the local club are invited to attend the meetings held the third Tuesday of each month.

Other summer activities discussed included plantings at the hospital and library, annual Home and Garden Tour, and the Flower Show held each year in August. This year the show will honor the Cultural Arts of Ruidoso — focussing on the Symphony, Library and photographic arts.

Refreshments were served by hostesses Bea Adams, Orby Neatherlin and Isabel Rigby.

Beta Sigma Phi installs officers

Pat Mulholland was installed as president of the Gamma Rho Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority in ceremonies held at the Barbara Kizer home Monday.

Other officers installed included Wilma Sandoval, vice president; Ann Garner, treasurer; Jeannie Culbertson, recording secretary; Joan Bailey, corresponding secretary; Teresa Batley, extension officer; and Kathy Hrinek, international officer.

The group also approved awarding a $100 scholarship to a Ruidoso High School graduate.

Daughters of the King to convene

The annual Diocesan Assembly of Daughters of the King, an order for women in Episcopal Church, is scheduled June 12 and 13 at the Church of the Holy Faith, Santa Fe.

In addition to regular business, a Diocesan chaplain and secretary treasurer will be elected.

Assembly speakers include the Reverend Charles DeVries, diocesan chaplain and Dr. Myra Ellen Jenkins, former assistant New Mexico state archivist and Assembly member, and the Reverend Paul Saunders, Canon to the Ordinary for the diocese.

Reservations for the meeting, as well as requests for housing in private homes, are to be submitted by June 1 to Mrs. Henry Muth, Route 7, Box 127 R, Santa Fe, New Mexico 87501.

Social hour and registration will be from 4-6 p.m., June 12.

Focus on Small Business

by E. Maine Shafer

Dear Mr. Shafer:

Is there any guide to sources of assistance for inventors and innovators in developing and marketing products and services?

Yes, there is. About a year ago, the Small Business Administration published "Ideas Into Dollars."

Purpose of this publication is to assist SBA field personnel with their counseling duties and to direct the inventor/innovator to private organizations, government agencies and publications which offer technical information and expertise and often financial assistance.

The guide is slanted toward providing developmental and marketing assistance to inventors who have specific ideas about improving an existing device or developing a new one. The guide also can be used to find technical/financial help in pursuing the continued development of a research-oriented idea — or related to some aspect of scientific inquiry.

My office at 5000 Marble NE, Albuquerque, New Mexico (766-3588) can provide copies of the guide and also be helpful in providing data on organizations which provide assistance to inventors/innovators, including both federal and state governments and non-governmental sources such as university and private research centers, venture capital companies, invention brokers/consultants and inventors' associations.

My office also can tell you about selected publications and articles of interest to inventors that are available from the federal government, professional journals and current literature.

Warrior spring football practice ends; prospects good

BY GREG STEPHENS
Sports Writer

The Ruidoso High football squad will feature a new look offense geared to a more explosive passing game next fall, according to head coach Darrel Stierwalt. Spring drills ended last week, and because of state rules, coaches cannot supervise their players until fall practice commences. So as his "kids" set up their own schedules in the weight room, Stierwalt sat down to review his team's progress during spring workouts, and to take an optimistic glance at the season ahead.

"I'm a strong believer in fitting your offense to the personnel available," said Stierwalt as he diagrammed plays on his office blackboard. "Last year we had a real strong backfield and Scott Neal at quarterback. Scotty did an excellent job of running the option, so we ran out of the wishbone. He gave a lot of people trouble whenever he got a chance to run with the ball, and I decided that we ought to try to give it to him more next year.

"Well, our backup quarterback last year, Billy Woodul, who was just a sophomore, has really improved. Billy is an extremely dedicated athlete, he's worked hard in the weightroom, and he's gained a nice soft touch over his shorter passes.

Passing Clinic at Silver City

If you're an aspiring Dan Fouts or Terry Bradshaw, then you might want to check out the First Annual Mustang Passing Clinic. That's a football camp which will be held at Western New Mexico University (WNMU) during the week of July 12-17.

Steve Fickert, head coach at WNMU, came from Wayne State in Detroit, where he compiled a 20-7 record before taking over the reins of the Mustang program. He said that the camp would emphasize drills to improve fundamentals in all areas of the passing game.

"The camp is for sophomores through seniors," said Fickert. "We'll emphasize skills for quarterbacks, receivers, and defensive backs and will feature the 'sprint out attack'."

The program costs $120, or $80 for "day-campers."

For more information, call WNMU Continuing Education, (505) 538-6311.

Men's slowpitch league meeting

The Ruidoso Men's Slowpitch League will meet Wednesday at 7 p.m., at the public library. Members will finalize teams and schedules, and discuss league rules and sponsor fees. Prospective sponsors, coaches, and players are encouraged to attend.

A seal deal

A campaign to collect "fun and fitness" seals is still being carried on at local school offices.

The director of the drive, Jeanie Whitman, said the seals are printed on all Post cereals, Awake orange juice, and Log Cabin syrup. They will be exchanged for athletic equipment to be used by the school system. The drive ends June 30.

Whitman said it takes nearly 600 points to get a soccer ball and "we need all the seals we can get."

"We've got a couple of good receivers — Pete Garcia at split end, who didn't play last year, and Grady Williamson, who's got a fine pair of hands.

"So we're going to run a Wing T offense with Grady in the slot and Scotty at halfback. I got to take a look at it over at the University of Texas, and I think it'll work real well for us.

"So what we'll be doing is the passing game, the option, a quick dive series, and a trap play. We've got two guards — Darius Red and Byron Wright — that are quick as cats, and I'm sure Scotty will be getting some good yardage off the trap."

As the new cheerleaders practiced their yells in the gym next door, Stierwalt reflected on the transitions graduation had caused. "We lost some valuable players — Russ Flor and Ricky Dennis at running back, Mike Dale — who was probably the best blocking tight end the school's ever had, and our punter Gene Reeves," he said. "But one thing about spring practice that encouraged me is that the younger players were not only stronger, they remembered all the plays real well. We've got Chris Lopez and Lon Nunley coming up in the backfield, and Don Nunley will probably be our tight end."

Stierwalt said that on defense, the linebackers were his biggest asset. Lon Nunley, who his coach believes is major college material, is an all-state candidate at middle linebacker. Darius Red was all-district and will return at outside linebacker, as will Byron Wright.

"We'll have to run more boys both ways than last year," said Stierwalt. "Four of our offensive linemen will also play defense, and Nel and Williamson are going to go both ways in the backfield. Hopefully some of our sophomores will come along so we can substitute more, but right now it looks like six or eight will be doing double duty."

Even at eight in the morning, the sound of grunts and the clang of metal had been coming from the weight room. "These kids are working hard," he said. "I've given them footballs to use for the summer and access to the iron. Some of them will be going to Barry Switzer's (Oklahoma) football camp, and some of the backs to a passing clinic in California. We're not going to have as much depth as last year (when the Warriors were 7-3), but the program is jelling and I think our record ought to improve. I'm looking forward to it."

Sierra Swim and Racquet Club tennis schedule

Ruidoso's only private tennis and racquetball club has announced its schedule of tennis tournaments open to the public.

The Sierra Swim and Racquet Club (SS&RC) has undergone four changes of ownership in as many years. But manager Grant Collins said that he feels the problems the club experienced as a result of these rapid transitions are a thing of the past. The present management, he said, has a commitment to make the facility the finest sports and recreation center in the southwest.

Tennis pro Alex Dorato has scheduled a full summer of tennis activities, which are divided equally between those designed for club members only, and open tournaments. Dorato was an assistant to last year's tennis pro at the club, Dave Bryant, and took over the reins of the program after Bryant moved to Corpus Christi, Texas.

Getting things underway will be the Sierra Blanca Junior Open May 30-June 1. Age bracket cutoffs will be at 12, 14, 18 and 19 years. United States Tennis Association cards, which may be obtained at the tourney, will be checked. Costs are $6 per single event and $8 per double team, and trophies will be awarded.

Junior Ski Club meeting May 25

The Ruidoso Junior Racer Ski Club will hold an organizational meeting May 25th at 7:30 p.m., at the Ruidoso Public Library. All members and parents who are interested in joining the club next year are urged to attend. The club will be reorganizing and planning for the 1981-82 ski season. Officers will also be elected.

The Ruidoso News

Wilderness Wisdom with Wayne Calloway

"Anyone who regularly follows this column has probably gathered that I am a long time fan of canoeing. For more than twenty years I have ridden them across waters throughout the eastern states, and these have been among the most pleasant of my leisure hours. Those who have close association with canoes know about these tranquil hours very well, but a majority of power boaters don't.

Now don't get the idea I'm against power boating, because I also enjoy a fair share of time with them. It's just that power boats and canoes aren't used to accomplish the same end. If the trip calls for covering long expanses of water in minimum time, a canoe would hardly be a wise choice. On the other hand, one wouldn't choose a power boat to quietly invade a wilderness shallow in search of wildlife. Even if it could be done, the mood would be all wrong.

Canoeing, and this includes kayaking, is enjoying a resurgence in popularity. This may be due in part to the energy crunch. Then too, I think there is a growing desire among many to get back to basics. The canoe types of boats are among the oldest forms of water transportation, and they have obviously stood the test of time well.

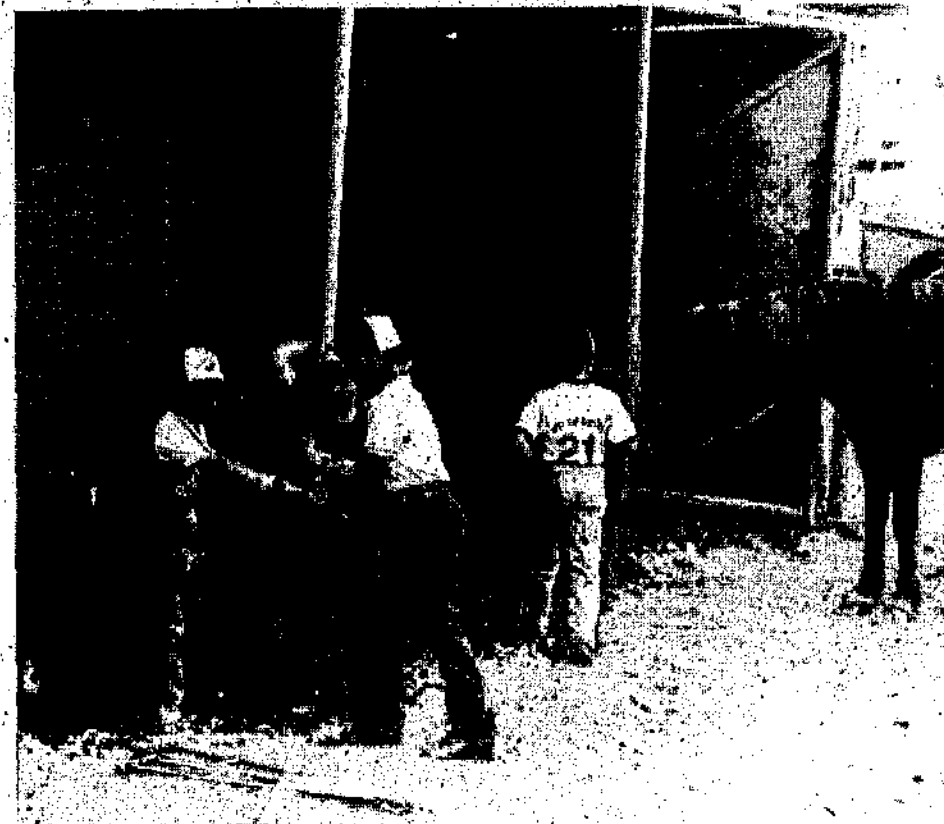

There are a number of reasons why canoeing retains its popularity. Not the least is the comparative low cost to get outfitted. Used canoes can often be had for little more than the cost of an overnight trip. Considering the durability and long life of modern canoe materials, even a new one is extremely low in per year cost. Besides this basic attraction, canoeing is good exercise, costs nothing to participate, and does not contribute to air or water pollution. Almost anyone can quickly learn to safely propel one, and the rewards are significant.

If all this sounds like a pitch to indoctrinate more people to the sport, then I've got the point across. Send questions to: Wilderness Wisdom, Post Office Box 237, Pittsville, Maryland 21650.

PROSPECTIVE BUYERS for lots in White Mountain Estates, Unit 5, were camped at the entrance to White Mountain Development Company's sales office Saturday morning. Some kept their vigil for 48 hours, so as to be among the first in line when the sale began at 9 a.m., Sunday.

BY 8:30 SUNDAY MORNING parking space was at a premium at White Mountain Development Company, as 106 lots in White Mountain Estates.

Unit 5, were to be opened up for sale at 9. The option sale offer attracted more than 130 prospective buyers.

Lot buyers patient lot

Prospective lot buyers proved to be a patient lot, to grab up lots in White Mountain Estate, Unit 5, as some actually squatted in front of White Mountain Development Company's sales office for 48 hours prior to the opening of the first-come, first-served, option sale beginning at 9 a.m., Sunday.

First on the scene was Ed Flood, Amarillo, Texas, who laid claim to being first in line for the sale by establishing his priority at 8 a.m., Friday. Others followed suit Friday morning, complete with sleeping bags and camping set ups, to insure being among the first to get in on the option action.

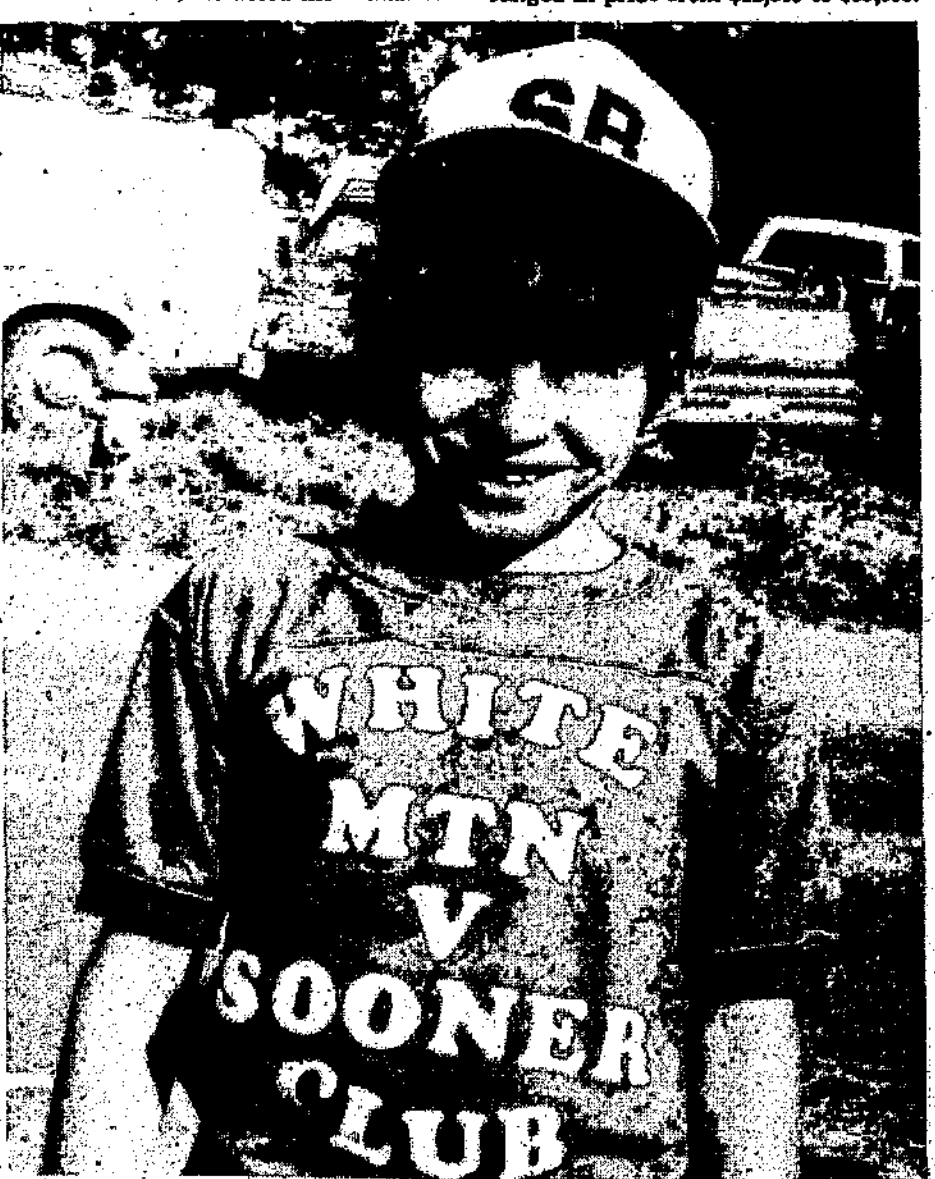

The event, with 106 lots offered in the new subdivision, attracted more than 130 advance requests to obtain the building lots.

"We were offering some of the most scenic building sites obtainable in Ruidoso," said Bill McCarty, secretary and general manager of White Mountain Estates. "Some of the buyers indicated interest in buying up to six lots, other merely wanted a choice building site. There are some who, I believe, are merely interested in the lots as an investment."

"Whatever the reason, it's obvious that residential development in Ruidoso isn't about to stop."

McCarty said that all of the lots are for single family dwellings and that they ranged in price from $12,000 to $35,000.

ENTREPRENEUR Phillip Wright, 11, Ruidoso, as an agent for McAshen/Saylor, was on duty for 32 hours at White Mountain Development Company, talking up lots sales to anyone looking like a good prospect. Adding to his enthusiasm was his "commission" of $25 for every lot he had a hand in the purchase of. At 8:30 Sunday morning he was anticipating getting his cut on from six to eight lots, "maybe more," which accounts, in no small measure, for his cheerful outlook on life.

SANTA FE — Sorry if you're tired hating about the New Mexico State Penitentiary.

You have every right to be. But if you're impatient, don't blame that on the media.

All we do is report what's going on there; we don't cause it.

But have you taken time to study that report given the federal courts last week by the compliance officer studying how our state keeps its word?

Here's how he graded our performance at doing what we promised to do when we signed a federal consent decree about care we would provide for our prisoners:

— On ten issues of how we promised to staff and train wardens for the penitentiary, we got zero. We did not do a single thing we swore we would.

That was our biggest failure, though it is probably the most important topic the report covered.

— Out of 67 items we agreed to in the so-called "Duran order" which governs the custody of maximum security prisoners (the very things our penal officials keep implying they are giving their major attention to), we failed on 50, and seven could not be evaluated. That leaves our performance in this regard a plus ten, or a dismal 14 percent.

— In the area of inmate classification, which the leaders in our state government have been assuring us they were working on since major escapes at the pen long before the rioting last February, we were not okay on 34 of 46 items.

Do you find all that a little too hard on our state officials?

If so, you may want to note that the State of New Mexico signed this agreement specifying its future performance without duress. It had months to study and discuss the items it was agreeing to. It wanted full credit for its courage and far-sightedness at the time it told federal Judge Santiago Campos that it intended to do all these things.

What it neglected, after all that bragging, was to do them.

All this on evidence of a Charles Cron, a monitor who is objective and outside the New Mexico system.

He had nothing to gain or lose by trimming his report to prevailing winds in our state, as have all others who have so far told us what was going on inside the pen (e.g., the Governor, the Attorney General and the staff of the Corrections Department).

It turns out we can't even comply with our own promises on correspondence to and from prisoners, on how inmates spend their time, or on how and what prisoners eat.

What did our people think they were doing when they signed that consent decree? Did they imagine that by affixing their signatures they were ending questions about our penitentiary and the way it is run?

In truth, all they did was make it possible for such questions to be endlessly asked — by the men who brought the suit the consent decree ended, by those who were also associated with it and by the government of the United States.

Those questions will go on being asked until New Mexico demonstrates, as it clearly has not to date, that it is capable of keeping its word.

That's no small matter. A state that will lie in this instance will likely do so in any other — a most discouraging conclusion.

Letters to the Editor

Dear editor:

I am writing to applaud the community effort which resulted in the delightful production of "Oz." The talent displayed by the cast was impressive, but that talent would have had no showcase had it not been for the dedicated volunteers who gave up literally all of their free time in the effort: Jean Steinbrecher, who generously shared her considerable skill and experience as director, Maggie Hawthorne, Sandy and Mike Gladden, Danny Flores, Phyllis Benham, and many others.

For the community, such an enterprise is a source of pleasure and entertainment.

ON ALIEN STUDIES

A study commission appointed by President Carter to give him recommendations on the problem of illegal immigration has concluded its task.

The report, filed recently, comes too late to help Carter make up his mind on the subject. And it would be easy for President Reagan to pigeonhole the report, because the study commission was deeply divided on its recommendations.

But the new president has appointed a new study group. It is composed of four cabinet officers. It will review the Carter commission report.

So study piles upon study, and report on report. And the flouting of this country's immigration laws continues, frustrating law enforcement officers, exposing illegal aliens to exploitation and complicating our relationship with the Republic of Mexico.

What is needed is not further study but responsible action. The Reagan administration should make up its mind quickly on the course it intends to follow. It then should move decisively to convince the Congress of the need for action.

It seems to us that a reasonable solution would:

- Create some kind of legal "guest worker" plan acceptable both to American employers, mostly farmers, and to the Mexican government.

- Penalize American employers who hire illegal aliens.

- Provide legal workers with a secure identification system that would protect them and also protect the law-abiding employer.

- Grant immunity and legalize the status of aliens now living in this country illegally who have established themselves as law-abiding, self-supporting members of our society. — News-Bulletin, Belen

We congratulate the Museum of New Mexico on their plans to develop Old Lincoln Town into one of the state's outstanding historical attractions.

Museum director Jean Weber and historian Mike Warner are directing their efforts toward obtaining funding to restore several buildings to their original condition, and to develop a theater, community center and public library in the schoolhouse.

Warner is proposing that the Lincoln courthouse be transformed into a visitor center, featuring "interpretive" exhibits depicting the geological and geographical history of the region, setting up a folklore display relating the activities of the Hispanics, Anglos and Indians and their contributions to the Lincoln area as well as a display showing how the land was used prior to, and following, the Billy the Kid and Lincoln County War era.

We trust Warner's ideas for changing the Lincoln courthouse into a visitor center do not include removal of the bullet holes in the wall that were left in the wake of the Kid's last escape from confinement, disrupting the court room upstairs, or removal of any memorabilia that is the Kid's heritage.

Whether the Kid was saint or sinner is of no import. The fact that he gained notoriety in Lincoln County a hundred years ago, becoming one of the county's, and state's, most famous citizens is one that must be perpetuated.

We favor any development that will enhance Old Lincoln Town as a tourist attraction, but not at the cost of eliminating any of the remembrances of the Kid. — CD

SINS OF THE FATHERS

The book of Exodus relates the wrath of a "jealous God, visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children unto the third and fourth generation ..."

In Texas, however, it is the state legislature that has declared that the offspring of illegal aliens must be penalized for the sins of their fathers. Under Texas law, no state funds may be expended to educate illegal alien children.

The law has been overturned in federal courts, but has been appealed to the U. S. Supreme Court. The case will be heard next year.

In the 18,000-student district where the issue is being tested, only about 40 children have been determined to be in the country illegally.

New York and California are among the states which have refused to penalize children by ensuring that the misery attendant to their status be perpetuated by denying them an education. For the youngsters' sake, we hope that the Supreme Court displays a similar compassion — a compassion guaranteed by constitutional concern for equal protection for all. — News-Bulletin, Belen

JUSTICE?

Abbie Hoffman was caught selling $36,000 worth of a dangerous drug, cocaine, in 1973. He was allowed to go free on bail and jumped bail and hid out from law enforcement officers until last year.

Then he surrendered amid a mass of reporters and acclaim from his friends of a feather, posing almost as a hero. He was later sentenced to three years — the maximum when he was arrested was fifteen — but he can go free after only one year.

When he reported to begin his sentence in late April, he again joked and wisecracked and posed as a hero. A mass of misquoting reporters again crowded around to write about his thoughts and words. No remorse. No subdued shame was evident.

But what about a Christian, especially a black or Chicano, caught selling hard drugs? Any such heroes among them? — The News, Santa Rosa

SLOW MAIL GRIPE

Joe Skeen's learning that being a Congressman doesn't mean he gets any priority delivery of his mail ... In fact, just last week, he up and complained that there was a backlog of three weeks mail ... just piling up and not getting delivered ... 'cause the Postal Service employees just ain't getting the stuff worked.

Now such delivery tactics ain't being looked kindly upon by Skeen ... and it's likely, if some of his more seasoned cohorts in the hallowed halls of Congress are likewise plagued, that the person charged with getting that mail delivered on time ... without snow, rain, mud or gloom of night ... but just volume ... had best get to figuring out how to get the mail to the Representatives and Senators in jig time ... at least a day after they get their gloms on it.

Not that those stalwarts awaiting their mail are entitled to special treatment ... but, if'n Joe Blow constituent just happens to have a matter of priority ... and that mail don't get delivered until after the priority passes ... somebody's gonna hear about it ... possibly including the joker who thinks 18 cents ain't enough for first class postage ... and figures it oughta be 20 or 25 cents ... 'cause the more revenue the Postal Service has, the better the service'll be ... so this guy's been allowing as how ... but, if'n it ain't the case, then there might be another case coming up ... such as the Congress taking matters into their own hands ... and when Congress was running the mail, things was different ... stamps was three cents ... gradually hiked up to six ... then a dime ... then Congress got tired of taking the heat for poor mail service and washed their hands of it.

Howsoever ... way things are going ... maybe they should sorta ease back into control ... set the rules ... and let the Postmaster General worry about conformance ... at the price of his job ... in which event, it do seem reasonable to assume that letters to the Congress wouldn't be piled up for three weeks ... or at least that do seem logical.

Now slow delivery of mail through the Ruidoso post office isn't any problem ... especially when it comes to locally mailed window envelopes.

SHAKEY PETE'S PIQUED

The other afternoon ... just as the heat of the day was dissipating into the cool of the evening ... a transition I was preparing to welcome in a local ice tea parlor ... along comes Shakey Pete ... sorta meandering as though he was thinkin' ... which is, as I've said before, a cause for concern when it's you as he's bearin' down on ... and he was, plainly, all het up ... and ready to cool down ... so ready, in fact, he ups and orders me an ice tea to keep him company whilst he was quaffing his ... a circumstance causing me to believe he was piqued ... a condition, after his first quaff, he promptly confirmed ... and, by jinkies, considering Shakey was rolling a chunk of ice across his tongue as he spoke ... it sure sounded something like piqued.

"You know," he said, "about the only action I can find is out at the track ... where you can get odds, but no points." ... I couldn't wait to see what had him itching ... but had to, until I'd ordered a refill of that refreshing ice tea ... 'cause Shakey don't talk too freely on just one ice tea ... kind of a habit of his ... especially if'n he ain't buying.

"To get to the point," Shakey quaffed deeply, kinda rolled his eyes around, then got to the point. "You know, I'm a sportin' man ... I likes my sportin' propositions ... and I've been trying to get a stroke a hole off Bill Budens ... a five point give in horseshoes from Mike Hernandez ... that's Senior ... and he's quite a horseshoe tosser ... why no one'll even give me any points on Little League ball games ... downright disgustin' ... that's what it is."

Then Shakey grew kinda somber ... frowned ... stared into his ice tea like it was evaporating faster'n he was quaffing it ... which'd be no mean feat ... then he says ... "But I found a feller who was only too willing to give me some points ... 'twas Judge Nunnally ... he gimme six this morning, plus $40 ... for speedin' on Sudderth ... and I couldn't talk him into giving me three points back ... You know, I don't think the judge likes speeders much."

UNM sponsoring study of Mexico's government

As a United States Senator and as a University of New Mexico (UNM) political science professor, Fred Harris has had a continuing interest in relations between the United States and Mexico.

This summer, with the aid of a Fulbright scholarship he was just awarded, Harris will travel through Mexico in a camper and study the relationship of Mexican states to the nation's central government. "A lot of times when politicians make public comments about Mexico they always say that the United States and Mexico have a lot in common," Harris said. "But Mexico is very different from America. Ethnically, Mexico has a greater sense of Indianness than the United States; there is more centralized authority in their federal system; their economy is based on more government planning and ownership; and historically Mexico has a very different experience than the United States."

But despite the differences, he said, it is to the advantage of both the United States and Mexico that each country be politically stable and economically strong. "As a senator and as a private citizen, I have been making regular visits to Mexico for a number of years," Harris said. "Most recently, during the summer of 1980, I spent six weeks in Mexico studying Spanish, doing research and conducting interviews with high level Mexican officials including President Jose Lopez Portillo."

Harris began studying Spanish two years ago at UNM and attended an intensive language school last summer. He has lectured at the Universidad Nacional Autonoma de Mexico and the Colegio de Mexico in Mexico City. He will also lecture this summer during his three month Fulbright grant period.

"My wife LaDonna and I will travel in a camper to the states of Morelos, Guerrero, Oaxaca, Chiapas, Campeche, Veracruz, Nuevo Leon and Chihuahua," he said. "In each state I'll interview the state governor and other officials along with local news people, professors and ordinary citizens." He plans to write several scholarly papers and a book on Mexico as a result of his summer research.

"Mexico is very important to the United States because it is a large country that shares a 3,000 mile border with us, because it is our third most important trade partner, the fourth largest producer of oil and because a great number of United States citizens are of Mexican ancestry," Harris said.

Mexican and American relations have been strained over numerous issues such as illegal aliens and oil in recent years, he said, but communication and cooperation between the two nations must improve to help guarantee the future strength of both nations.

Last semester Harris offered a UNM course on United States and Mexican relations which he will teach again in the spring of 1982. Also at UNM Harris has taught an introduction to American government and courses on the legislative process, political parties and elections, Native Americans and government, American political economy and the politics of Mexico.

Harris is the author of five books and the editor of another. His latest book, "America's Democracy," was published last year by Scott-Foresman Publishers. It is a widely adopted introductory United States government text for colleges and universities. Currently he is co-authoring another text on the American legislative process with UNM political science Professor Paul Bahr.

Harris was a United States Senator from Oklahoma from 1964 to 1972. In 1976 he was an unsuccessful candidate for the Democratic nomination for president.

Westerners elected to top jobs in National Wildlife Federation

Five westerners were elected as officers and directors of the National Wildlife Federation (NWF) at the concluding session of NWF's 49th Annual Meeting in Norfolk, Virginia.

C. Clifton Young, of Reno, Nevada, was elected president of the NWF, the nation's largest citizens conservation group. Young, who succeeds Dr. Fred Scroggin of Dry Ridge, Kentucky, represented Nevada in the United States House of Representatives from 1953 to 1967, served in the Nevada state Senate from 1967 to 1980, and has been a member of the NWF's Board of Directors since 1969. He is a 1943 graduate of the University of Nevada and received his law degree from the Harvard Law School in 1949.

Ernest E. Day, of Boise, Idaho, was elected a vice president of the NWF. Day is a past president of the Idaho Wildlife Federation, an NWF affiliate, and served on the NWF's Board of Directors as a regional director from 1967 to 1976. He received the Idaho governor's Conservationist of the Year award in 1976 and received a Department of Interior Conservation Service Award in 1978. A 1941 graduate of the University of Idaho, Day is a realtor in Boise.

Cecil D. Andrus, also of Boise, was elected to the NWF Board of Directors as a director-at-large. The former Secretary of the Interior led the Carter Administration's fight to secure Congressional passage of the Alaska Lands Bill, which placed 104 million of Alaska's 385-million acres under federal protection while allowing for development of timber, oil, and other minerals. Andrus served as the governor of Idaho from 1971 to 1977 and was a member of the Idaho state Senate from 1961 to 1966 and from 1969 to 1970.

Ervin G. Kretschmer, of Albuquerque, was elected as an NWF regional director representing Arizona, Colorado, New Mexico, and Utah. A retired Federal Aviation Administration official, Kretschmer is a member of the Board of the New Mexico Wildlife Federation, an NWF affiliate, the American Wildlife Education Foundation, and the New Mexico Public Land Coalition. He served as president of the Albuquerque Wildlife Federation from 1971 to 1972 and of the National Field Archery Association from 1973 to 1976. A 1940 graduate of the Kansas City Technical Institute, Missouri, Kretschmer holds one of three Honorary Life Memberships awarded by the New Mexico Wildlife Federation since its inception in 1914.

Rudolph J. H. Schafer of Sacramento, California, was elected as a regional director representing California, Guam, Hawaii, and Nevada. In 1971 Schafer was appointed by President Nixon to serve on the National Advisory Council on Environmental Education, which he did until 1975. He is founder and past president of the Western Regional Environmental Education Council, past president and current board member of the National Alliance for Environmental Education, and a past president and representative of the California Natural Resources Federation, an NWF affiliate. A graduate of the University of Southern California with an M.S. in Education Administration, Schafer is director of the California Department of Education's Energy/Environmental Education Program.

The NWF Annual Meeting was attended by delegates from 53 states and territories who adopted 41 resolutions guiding Federation policy for the coming year. Included were two which called upon the 97th Congress to reauthorize the Clean Air Act and the Clean Water Act without any amendments that would lower present air and water quality standards.

Scientists to study Agent Orange's effects

A team of scientists at the University of California at Los Angeles (UCLA) will design a study by which the Veterans Administration (VA) will attempt to determine what—if any—medical effects result from human exposure to Agent Orange, a defoliant used during the fighting in South Vietnam.

VA announced the award of a $114,288 contract under which Drs. Gary Spivey and Roger Detels of UCLA's School of Public Health will direct the design of the epidemiological study.

The work of the UCLA team then will be evaluated by experts from the National Academy of Sciences-National Research Council, Congressional Office of Technological Assessment, the Interagency Work Group to Study the Possible Long-term Health Effects of Phenoxy Herbicides and Contaminants and the VA's Advisory Committee on Health-related Effects of Herbicides.

Agent Orange has been a health concern among a number of veterans since allegations were raised several years ago that exposure to it had resulted in a variety of maladies ranging from headaches to cancer and birth defects. To date, no definite medical link has been established that would substantiate these claims.

The epidemiological study was mandated by Congress in December 1976 and VA issued a request for proposals to design it in March of 1980. Legal objections raised by an advocacy organization called the National Veterans Law Center delayed award of the design contract for the study until last May 1.

Dr. Spivey, the chief investigator on the study, is associate professor of epidemiology at the UCLA School of Public Health and the other team leader, Dr. Detels, is dean of that school.

Hearings scheduled on State Park regulations

The New Mexico State Park and Recreation Division will hold two public hearings in Santa Fe on June 2 to discuss proposed changes and additions to New Mexico's state park and boating regulations.

In addition to the hearing already scheduled for Tuesday, June 2, at 1 p.m., in room 337 of the State Capitol Building, a second meeting has been set for 7 p.m., on June 2 in the City Council Chambers of the Santa Fe Municipal Building, 200 Lincoln Avenue in Santa Fe.

Proposed changes and new regulations to be discussed at the hearing include establishment of watercraft noise-performance standards; safety requirements for wind surfers and sail boarders; use of a warning flag when a waterskier has fallen; designation of state park quiet hours; and a new policy governing property abandoned in state parks.

Also under discussion will be the possibility of reevaluating the current "no wake" designation of Heron Lake to allow waterskiing in the northwest quadrant of the lake.

Further information regarding state park regulation changes may be obtained from the New Mexico State Park and Recreation Division, Post Office Box 1147, Santa Fe, New Mexico 87503, (505) 827-2726.

Mountain trail ride set

The best view in New Mexico, according to historian Marc Simmons, is to be seen from the 10,000 foot high Crest Trail that runs between Nogal and Sierra Blanca peaks and overlooks the Tularosa Basin to the west. The best way to catch that view is from horseback as a member of the Second Annual John Chisum Trailride.

With more than a touch of pride in the rich history of southern New Mexico, the Roswell Chamber of Commerce Convention and Visitors Bureau has recreated the trail experiences of the old west. William Bonney, Pat Garrett, the Murphy-Dolan gang and Chisum, the cattle king, were important parts of the land covered on this venture into the past.

Set for July 28 — August 2, the trailride will kick off with that favorite of western traditions, a get-acquainted barbecue on July 28 at the South Springs Ranch, six miles south of Roswell. A hundred years ago this spread belonged to Chisum, and his jingle-bob-eared cattle grazed nearby.

The next morning, the trailride group will head out to a working ranch to watch cowboys in action and try their hands at roping before lunch and the trip to the campground in the proposed Capitan Wilderness area. The next few days will be spent in the rugged high country out of touch with present day civilization.

To make the ride a true vacation, there will be an outfitter to pack all equipment and horsefeed, a cook for all meals, and a wrangler to help with the animals. Riders will carry only canteens, rain gear and trail snacks. The average day's ride will be fifteen miles — fast enough for the expert horseman, but not too tough for the amateur.

Participants may bring a favorite horse, which must be shod. No stallions can be allowed. Hay and oats will be furnished beginning the first night. For the maximum enjoyment and safety of everyone, horses should be well conditioned, gentle and well mannered. If you wish, we will rent a mountain-trained horse for you. Discounts will be given to riders who bring their own horses.

From the first night barbecue until the final breakfast, there will be plenty of good, wholesome chow, including steaks and Mexican food. Participants can expect full breakfasts, lunch on the lower trails, and dinner over an open fire.

Sleeping will be in tents, but since this is a wilderness experience, there will be no cots. It is advised that riders bring air mattresses or small foam mattresses with their bedrolls.

Trailboss for the ride is Tommy Fowler, a member of the International Trailriders Association Board of Directors. Tommy and his mule "Buck" are a surefooted combination with a lot of miles behind them. Roswell assistant city manager Ralph Fresquez will arrange first day activities at the ranch and add his expertise along the trails.

Members of the first John Chisum Ride, held last summer, have written the Chamber their fond memories of the breathtaking trails, warm conversations among the riders at dusk, the chill of the mountain streams while bathing, and the smiles, tender behinds, and great camaraderie developed by shared experiences. Several plan to be back this year.

The second Annual John Chisum Trailride will be limited to 25 riders. Families are welcome, but no children under 16 unless accompanied by a parent. Cost of the ride is $275 per rider, including a nonrefundable $50 deposit. Reservations are already starting to come in for the ride and will be accepted on a first-come, first-served basis. For a free John Chisum Trailride brochure, contact Sheri Gibbins at the Roswell Chamber of Commerce, Post Office Drawer 70, Roswell, New Mexico 88201 or call (505) 623-5685.

UNM schedules conference on addictive drug behaviors

The addictive behaviors — alcoholism, drug abuse, smoking and obesity — will be the focus of an international conference sponsored by the University of New Mexico (UNM), in the fall.

The Grand Canyon International Conference on the Treatment of Addictive Behaviors to be held at Grand Canyon, Arizona, November 17-20 is a project of UNM's department of psychology, College of Pharmacy and Bureau of Conferences and Institutes.

Dr. William R. Miller, professor of psychology at UNM, is program chairman. He said the conference is intended to be interdisciplinary in focus with content directly relevant to physicians, psychologists, social workers, nurses, counselors and pharmacologists working in the field of addictive behaviors.

Miller said presentations at the conclave will convey practical knowledge and skills through a variety of formats including invited addresses by prominent researchers in the addictive behaviors who will provide an overview of current research findings and their implications and applications in treatment.

There also will be practitioner workshops designed to teach therapeutic procedures, contributed presentations that describe addictive behaviors and poster sessions which will allow presentation of multiple papers simultaneously and permit participants to engage authors in individual discussion about their work.

Miller, who directs UNM's Alcohol Research and Treatment Project, has developed and evaluated treatment methods for early-stage problem drinkers. He has published four books including a recent work entitled "The Addictive Behaviors."

Additional information on the conference, on deadlines for submission of papers and conference registration is available from Miller or from the Bureau of Conferences and Institutes, a component of the UNM Division of Continuing Education.

Focus on Small Business

by E. Maine Shafer

Dear Mr. Shafer:

I understand that the United States Small Business Administration, is an effort to cut red tape and speed guaranteed business loan proceeds to businesses, has worked out a better system with some banks. What is this system?

It's called the Lenders Certification Program. Under it, certain financial institutions can make a number of final — and I emphasize the word, final — decisions on the processing, administration and liquidation of small business loans made by banks and then guaranteed by SBA.

This type of action is possible through a 1980 law that empowers SBA to streamline its guaranteed loan procedures by delegating limited decision authority to selected, qualified financial institutions. SBA had followed such procedures with 250 banks on a pilot basis; the 1980 law officially authorized the program.

To speed up service to small business, SBA is establishing three levels of private sector lending partners:

- Regular participating lenders, either banks or non-bank lenders that have executed a guaranty agreement with SBA but are involved in relatively few loans;
- Certified lenders, relatively active banks or non-bank lenders that have signed the standard guaranty agreements with SBA. These include lenders that participated in SBA's pilot 250-bank certification program.
- Preferred lenders, highly active and reliable lending partners that have performed satisfactorily in the Certified Lenders Program.

If you need help in finding one of these institutions, please call my office at 766-3588. A list of participating lenders can be made available to you.

SALUTE TO CHAMBER MEMBERS

This is a regular feature in the Monday edition of this newspaper to introduce the members of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce.

RUIDOSO TRAILER PARK, located at 416 Sudderth at Paradise Canyon, is owned and operated by Clem and Mary Clutter. Mr. Clutter is pictured with his assistant, granddaughter, Larrieanne Rose. Open year around, the trailer park has 35 spaces featuring complete hookups, for rent by the night, week or year. Four permanent trailers, three houses and one apartment are also available on the site, which is adjacent to the Rio Ruidoso. The Clutters purchased the business in 1964 and became permanent residents in 1972. They are longtime members of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce. The Clutters also offer firewood for sale and they sell registered poodle puppies. For information, call (505) 257-2925.

THE ARTISAN'S SHOP AND GALLERY, located at 2342 Sudderth, is owned by Don and Mary Parsons, pictured. They purchased the business in 1980 and have been members of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce for four years. The shop carries originals and prints by Mimi Jungbluth and Peter Hurd, signed limited edition prints by Gordon Snidow and R. C. Gorman and Penni Anne Cross, Ignatius Palmer, Steve Edwards, Lois Carson, Peggy

Carroll, Gary Gore, Dave Brown, John Flores, Bill Johnstone and Brandijon are among the artists represented in the gallery. The Artisan's shop also carries a complete selection of art supplies. Custom framing is available, and customers may choose from more than 300 moldings. Readymade frames are also featured, and they carry a small line of gift items. # GOING Strong

by Gerry Johnson

A Star Still Shines

The show goes on for John Fortna, former New York City actor, opera singer and sometimes stage manager.

The show, however, is no longer the Broadway stage or an opera in the Big Apple. It is a day long radio program specially created by Fortna for older people in Eugene, Oregon.

Sixty-seven year old Fortna has turned his attention and considerable talents to KRVM, a school district radio station where he researches, writes and produces a program called "Time and Changes."

Fortna's involvement in the project came about when he enrolled in the Senior Community Service Project, a program of the National Council on the Aging which seeks to match older people with jobs and meaningful work in their community.

The "match" ignited and Fortna now works 20 hours a week at KRVM. When the station was advised by the Federal Communications Commission that it must broadcast six days a week rather than five, John Fortna was asked to assist with the additional programming.

At his suggestion "Time and Changes" was born. The program, which is a potpourri of entertainment, information important to its audience and a discussion of current issues, airs from 10:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. one day a week. Opening with "Radio's Golden Past," a syndicated program of radio shows of yesteryear, the program evokes nostalgia and fan mail from both the older and the younger audience.

Guests are interviewed on subjects of special interest to older people, after which Fortna hosts a highly popular roundtable discussion of current events and issues.

He is justifiably proud of his final program segment, "Remembering." It's actually a series of 25 programs which focuses on the history of the 1925-50 years, one year at a time.

"Remembering" takes a look at major events of the year and features the lives and works of composers and entertainers of that time. These segments, rich in history, are being maintained by the station and the school district for re-use.

"Remembering" is a fine example of what the programming is all about. Fortna says, "It has been well received by the older audience which enjoys reliving this history as well as by the young who benefit from a look at the evolution of our culture."

Of his radio work, Fortna says "I love the job, it makes me want to get up in the morning."

But his work at KRVM is only part time. In his other job, which he says, "allows me to sing for my supper," he is a special envoy for the Pacific Continental Bank. As a representative of the company's unique "Seniorities" program, Fortna visits senior centers and nursing homes to advise the people who cannot travel to the bank of its services and amenities.

His presentations are usually enlivened by a song or two. Since he's bonded, he can and often does handle actual banking transactions for the clients.

Tiring of New York in 1976, Fortna moved to Eugene on the advice of friends. "It is heaven, the greatest thing I have ever done," he says with gusto.

He has made the city a real home and has immersed himself in its civic and cultural life.

When the Eugene opera was founded in 1977, Fortna lent his baritone voice to its opening performance, "Carmen," and later to the "Barber of Seville," "Rigoletto" and the more obscure "Gianni Schicchi" by Puccini.

He started singing at the age of six, but was really encouraged to pursue a musical career by a high school teacher in Piper City, Illinois. "I sang in everything," he says of those days.

When he enlisted in the Air Force in World War II, it was his musical talent (he also plays piano and organ) which prompted an enjoyable service "gig" as an assistant to a chaplain.

After the war he completed his studies at the American Conservatory in Chicago and immediately sought his career in New York where he spent 28 artistic years.

In his "spare" time, Fortna narrates commercials for radio and television and teaches voice control to aspiring public speakers and singers.

JUST A STEP OR TWO off the beaten paths, there's tranquility in Ruidoso

BY DANIEL AGNEW STORM

We Wish Jewell Russell A Speedy Recovery
Mrs. Jewell Russell has returned from Las Cruces, where she has been spending the winter, to her native Ruidoso Valley. She has been a little under the weather and on May twenty-first I dropped by to visit her in the hospital. Jewell was cheerful and uplifting as always, and is on the road to recovery.

She is a native of the Ruidoso Valley, the granddaughter of the late and beloved pioneer couple, George and Phoebe Coe. Along with her husband, Ralph, she has been a valued friend of the Storm family since first we came here.

We all pray that this well-beloved lady will soon be restored to good health. "Our Most Valuable Resource"

Once again it is time to congratulate the graduates of Ruidoso High School and their teachers, and parents and all who helped them to reach this milestone along life's pathway — and to rejoice along with them.

This is being sent to you on May the twenty-first. So by the time it reaches you, the graduation ceremonies will be over, and the graduates "on their way rejoicing," as the old Episcopal hymn goes.

Of late years we have been hearing much about our resources — our water, air, timber, oil, land and the others — and how we must conserve, guard and nurture them. This is all too true with each passing year.

This is also the case in what has been truthfully called "Our Greatest Resource," meaning, of course, our children and youth.

Therefore it is a great boost to our morale, and a source of immeasurable gratitude to see such a fine group of graduates, and to realize that they have had the unceasing devotion of dedicated teachers, and the faithful help and guidance and prayers, of loving parents.

and staunch friends. Throughout my life I have had nightmares. One is that I have somehow gotten onto a narrow and slippery trail in the mountains, and am about to fall off the cliff. Another is that the day for a final exam is at hand, and suddenly I realize I have not been to class all year. Then there is one where somebody comes running at the last minute and tells me I have to make a speech to a graduating class. This one wakes me up in a cold sweat; for, great though the honor is, I am stunned by the feeling that the task is beyond me. I feel that the graduates are more fit to tell me something than I am them.

And yet, in the strange way that the world sometimes goes, I have been giving little vest-pocket graduation speeches in these messages, for many years.

"Stay As Sweet As You Are"

A bunch of philosophers one time were discussing young people, and brought up the old saying that "The Good Die Young." One of the wise men said that this was just backwards that "The Young Die Good." Meaning of course, that young people have not had time to fall into the pit-falls and traps that lurk along life's way.

Another great thinker said, "The great man is he who does not lose his child's heart."

Back somewhere I remember a song that was popular,

"Stay as sweet as you are."

Don't let a thing ever change you . . .

This is a good message for the Ruidoso High School graduates. Always remain the fine people you are today and you will always win all the way.

We thank the teachers, parents and friends of the graduates. And we congratulate Cathy Jones and her splendid young class mates, and we wish them every success and all God's blessings.

Three Cheers For Dad Williams

Dad Williams gave us a scare there for a while, and now he has bounced back like the true champion he has always been.

Dad is the classic type of the devoted teacher-coach, and friend that brings lasting good into the lives of the pupils. We thank God he has regained his health, and we ask him and his dedicated teachers, coaches, and administrators to keep up the good work. A bouquet also goes to Dave Parks, and the rest of the school board.

MONDAY

(ABC) MONDAY NIGHT MOVIE; 9:00 PM E.D.T., P.D.T. - 8:00 PM C.D.T., M.D.T.

"The Jericho Mile" (1979) Peter Strauss, Roger E. Mosley. While serving a life sentence for a crime that torments him, a man works at becoming the world's fastest miler and wins a chance to compete for a place on the Olympic team—a chance that could be his first lap in a race for freedom. (R)

WEDNESDAY

(CBS) DRAMA SPECIAL: 8:00 PM E.D.T., P.D.T. - 7:00 PM C.D.T., M.D.T.

"Guyana Tragedy: The Story of Jim Jones". (1980) Powers Boothe, Ned Beatty. The drama tells of Jim Jones' life from his childhood in Indiana when his sense of a personal divine mission was developed, through his early ministry, marked by controversy because of his strong stand for social justice; his emergence as a political force because of his commitment and the devotion of his followers; the responsibilities and temptations he faced as his power grew; the changes they brought to his leadership and the tragic effects of these changes. ## 1983 in the spotlight

George Balanchine revives "The Spellbound Child" for TV

Since its debut at the Theatre de Monte Carlo in 1925, "The Spellbound Child/L'Enfant et les Sortilèges" has been inextricably linked to George Balanchine. At the time, he was just 21 years old, collaborating with the formidable talents of composer Maurice Ravel and poet/novelist/librettist Colette. Twenty-one years later, Balanchine brought the production to America, and in 1975, he revived it for the New York City Ballet's Ravel festival. But Balanchine was never completely satisfied with any of the productions; he found the theater was too real for this lyrical fantasy.

Now, in a landmark undertaking, George Balanchine and collaborator Kermit Love have reconceived "The Spellbound Child," this time for television. It will air on Great Performances' "Dance in America" series on Monday, May 25 over PBS.

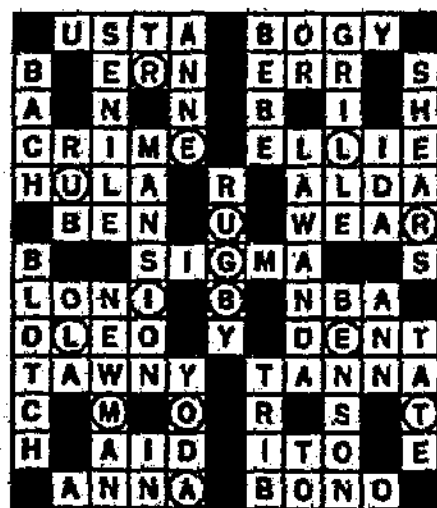

"The Spellbound Child" is the story of a young boy's journey into an uncontrollable fantasy world. As played by newcomer Christopher Byars, the child resents his mother's directive to do homework. In defiance, he sticks his tongue out—and is promptly ordered to his room.

Frustrated and enraged, the boy destroys everything within reach. Magically, the spirit of his tantrum infuses the mangled remains of his belongings. The Armchair (Bryant Young) comes to life, threatening to swallow him up; the Teapot and Teacup (Mel Tomlinson and Susan Freedman) rise up and dance their own dance; Fire (Karin von Aroldingen) plays dangerous tricks and his favorite storybook Princess (Karen Hunt) scolds him for leaving her from the only world she knew.

A black singing cat leads the boy into an eerily beautiful garden inhabited by giant insects and outsized frogs, none too happy with their human visitor. The boy encounters many creatures—the dragonfly whose mate the Boy has pinned to the wall, the tree suffering wounds the boy has carved in it, the Squirrel the Boy has caged and more. These are quarrelsome animals, eager to fight the boy and each other. Suddenly, a small squirrel, injured in the fray, cries out in pain. The boy bandages the wound (see photo) and his compassion startles the other creatures, who in an effort to make amends, carry the boy back to his 'nest' . . . and to his mother.

Television Schedule For The Week Of May 25 through May 31

through channels

by Joey Sasso

CONFIDENTIAL REPORT Beverlee Dean, the psychic, claims she was secretly paid for two years to pick hit shows for ABC-TV. But, she adds, the man who gave her the job, network president Fred Pierce, refused to renew her contract when rumors about her work began to spread. "I'm hearing there's big trouble over this," Dean told me from Las Vegas, where she's "hiding out" after running away from the story. "I never wanted that in a million years. I wish I knew that they couldn't have any more of me. But I'm thinking my heart that they had always wanted me as a psychic instead of a creative consultant, and I was getting out." Dean says Pierce offered her $1.5 million a year, up to $30,000 the second year, after she did psychic readings for him and ABC executive Tony Thomopoulos in 1977. "At the time I'd been doing everything at ABC from secretaries to vice presidents," says Dean, a former Chicago newspaper reporter who came to California in 1974 hoping to break into TV. "But I didn't want to do any more readings."

TV BACKSTAGE Charlene Tilton credits the Bible, her mother and her "Dallas" family with helping her overcome the heartbreak that has shadowed her ever since she was born. "Life hasn't been easy at all," she says. "You could go so far as to say I've had it rough, very rough. And, you know, it's been that way from the beginning." Her father abandoned the family before Charlene even had a chance to know him. "I never knew him, that's true," she says. "He dumped us only a couple of months after I was born." Life without a father left Charlene with deep emotional scars, especially when it came to relating to other men. "I had to face all sorts of personal difficulties, and had so much to overcome in my life. I grew up with the notion that men couldn't be trusted." Industry sources report Alan Alda of "M*A*S*H" gets $5.6 million a year for his acting, directing and writing skills. Carroll O'Connor of "Archie Bunker's Place" gets a reported $5.3 million yearly for his starring role and job as script consultant.

TOULOUSE Just when it looked like men's tennis might continue to be dominated by just a handful of big name stars, a lot of the pack have become a significant number of young new faces to threaten the leaders on the Volvo Grand Prix circuit. The number four player on the Volvo Grand Prix tour is 20-year-old Yannick Noah of France, who won his first tournament in Richmond, Virginia, earlier this year, joining Nah in the Volvo top 15 are two American newcomers, 18-year-old Sammy Giammalva of Houston, Texas, and 21-year-old Mel Purcell of Murray, Kentucky. Other rising stars among the top 30 players on the Volvo Grand Prix circuit are Thierry Tulasne, 17, of France, 21-year-old Fritz Buehning of Short Hills, New Jersey, and 24-year-old Gianni Occhipello of Italy. The 1981 Volvo Grand Prix circuit features more than 90 tournaments in some 30 countries around the world. The top eight point finishers at the end of the season qualify for the $400,000 Volvo Masters in Madison Square Garden next January.
