SBAC approves airport study

Efforts by United States Senator Harrison Schmitt to conduct a study to determine if an airport can be located on Fort Stanton mesa were endorsed Thursday by the Sierra Blanca Airport Commission (SBAC).

A letter from C. R. Melugin Jr., regional director of the Federal Aviation Administration, to Senator Schmitt, prompted SBAC members to propose some changes in the scope of the study. Melugin's letter said, "It has been our contention during this entire controversy that the airport and the range research can coexist on Fort Stanton (mesa) without significant adverse impact on the research. If this can be verified in the initial stage of the study, it would not be necessary to proceed with the evaluation of the importance of the research, because it could continue substantially unchanged."

Melugin's recommendation on the study was that it evaluate the "specific contribution" of agricultural research being conducted by New Mexico State University (NMSU) on the mesa, on acreage leased by the Bureau of Land Management. The study, Melugin said, could "evaluate the feasibility of modifying affected research activities in order to accommodate the airport development and operation and minimize the effect on the research."

Melugin added that the study should determine whether the airport and the research operation could coexist. Fred Heckman, SBAC chairman, said Melugin "summarized what have been our feelings all along," with Lincoln County SBAC member Ben Hall agreeing.

"I don't think anyone on the commission wants to kick NMSU off the mesa," Hall said. He also said that SBAC should have a "higher authority" support SBAC's contention that the airport and NMSU's experiments could coexist on the mesa.

Heckman said "as long as the study is impartially and professionally performed," that SBAC would abide by the study's findings.

Though the Senate Appropriations Committee has endorsed Schmitt's proposal of a study of the mesa, no funds have been allocated for this purpose.

Following the commission's approval of the study proposed by Schmitt, Lincoln County commission chairman T. P. "Cotton" McKnight protested the exclusion of Carrizozo from SBAC membership.

McKnight termed the act of keeping Carrizozo off SBAC "a slap in the face to Lincoln County."

At a recent county commission meeting McKnight made a motion that the county cease to support SBAC if Carrizozo wasn't accepted as a member. The motion was lost due to lack of a second.

McKnight said to the SBAC members that Carrizozo's taxpayers would help pay for the airport, should it be constructed. "You're going to need their support," he said.

Lincoln County, Capitan and Ruidoso Downs, as members of SBAC, have approved accepting Carrizozo as a SBAC member. Ruidoso has turned the application down and the Mescalero Apache Tribe, the fifth member of the commission, has not acted on Carrizozo's request.

In replying to McKnight's request that Heckman, as SBAC chairman and Ruidoso's representative on the commission, should take action to obtain Ruidoso's approval of Carrizozo as a commission member, Heckman said, "We (SBAC) don't make policy. We have no authority, no power, no influence," over the Ruidoso trustees.

Norman Wheeler, representing Ruidoso Downs on SBAC, said that Carrizozo, at the time SBAC was formed, displayed no interest in being a member of the commission.

McKnight then criticized the commission on their meeting schedule. "Speaking of showing interest," he said, "this is the first meeting you've had in five months," adding that the commission was supposed to meet monthly.

Heckman said that there had been no commission meetings because the "seat of action" on locating an airport on the mesa had been in Washington, D. C., for the past several months.

The commission then voted to hold monthly SBAC meetings, regularly scheduled on the first Thursday of the month, at 2 p.m.

ComFIRE eyeing role of Fire Prevention Officer

Thursday's Committee for Insuring Ruidoso's Environment (ComFIRE) meeting consisted mostly of discussion concerning the job description of the newly-created position of Fire Prevention Officer.

One of the main questions about the position is to whom the person would be responsible. Suggestions included ComFIRE and the village council. However, Herb Brunell, ComFIRE chairman, stated that the committee's original purpose was to "work itself out of a job," and that ComFIRE should not be in charge of the new officer.

According to the rough draft of job duties prepared by the committee, the Fire Prevention Officer would need to enforce local and state fire codes; would need to have motivation and provide education along with coordinating the "Red Flag Alert" on the village level.

Most of the ComFIRE members agreed the person would need to have some form of enforcement power — possibly to the point of issuing citations, or sending letters of warning, when a violation has been detected, as suggested by Jim Hine, village manager.

It was even suggested that the person in the new position may be able to take over the duties as village fire marshal, currently held by Derald Waltrip, head of the Ruidoso Volunteer Fire Department.

Members agreed the Fire Prevention Officer's position shouldn't be too clearly defined so whoever takes the position can develop it and define it. As it would be impossible to hire anyone before November 1, it was decided to bring a revised job description to the November 19 meeting for further discussion.

In other business, Hine said he will find some people to put up the remaining street sign indicators. These indicators will be used in the case of a "Red Flag Alert."

ComFIRE members also mentioned that zero clearance fireplaces are one of the main causes of fires, but are allowed by the building code. Members agreed it is a code that should be outlawed.

Vote tomorrow on beer, wine, for restaurants

Tomorrow is election day in Ruidoso, with voters to approve, or disapprove, the issuance of beer and wine licenses to restaurants in the village.

According to village clerk Laurie Durham, the question on the ballot will read: "Shall restaurant licenses for the sale of beer and wine be approved within the municipality of Ruidoso, New Mexico?"

A single polling place, the Ruidoso Public Library, will be used for all precincts. Polls will be open from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Only registered voters who reside within the village limits are entitled to vote in this special election.

Care Center schedules Rock 'n Roll Jamboree

A Rock 'n Roll Jamboree is in the planning stages by members of the Ruidoso Care Center Auxiliary. Sponsored by the American Heart Association, Care Center residents will rock in their rocking chairs or roll in their wheel chairs for four hours to raise money for the association.

Scheduled for October 17, the event will kick off at 9 a.m., and last until noon. Tentative plans are to provide a hot air balloon for rides over the Care Center with proceeds going to the Heart Association. If those running the balloon are able to appear, rides will run from approximately 8-9 a.m.

Heart Association representative Susan Pearson, Las Cruces, said the money raised goes to such things as literature used in the education of children in ways to prevent heart disease, cardio pulmonary resuscitation (CPR) training, research and techniques.

Auxiliary members plan to ask other organizations to donate baked goods for a bake sale to coincide with the jamboree. Members are also asking anyone with an extra rocking chair who would like to donate it for the day to contact Ruth at the Care Center.

In the fund drive for a van for the Care Center, $565 has been raised so far according to Debbie Garcia, Social Care Director. Members discussed the possibility of getting federal funds, but Nancy Walizer explained this process could take as long as two years and even then, the funds are not guaranteed. Members decided to explore new angles in purchasing a new van.

Also discussed at Thursday's meeting was wrapping up the patio project. Three lights were donated to help illuminate the area in the evenings, while the auxiliary will provide the electricity needed to run them. A list, enumerating any additional items needed for the patio, is to be drawn up and submitted at the auxiliary's October 15 meeting.

A new vice-president and secretary were added to the board of directors. Romeo Klein was voted as vice-president while Nancy Walizer will act as the secretary. Tony Apodaca was accepted as a new member of the auxiliary.

Students planning film documentary of Ruidoso

With a donation of a 35mm camera, the gifted students at White Mountain Middle School will be able to document the history, present growth and future of Ruidoso.

According to Marti, in charge of the gifted student program, the donation of the camera from Timber Trails Photography will kick off the visual documentation project her class would like to put together.

"We'd like to find people to interview to find out things about the past," Marti said. The students want to find out any interesting or funny stories that will help show people what Ruidoso was like in the past and then cover aspects of the present.

"Present information is important for the future as there are changes to be done," Marti said. For example, Marti pointed out such recent changes as the new city hall and changes in building material in this area.

With the addition of the camera, students will put together slide shows and film strips. The children will do the interviewing themselves, but would appreciate anyone contacting the school who may have some past knowledge of the community.

According to Marti, the project is for the students as well as the community.

Kenny Brunell, Herb Brunell, donator and owner of Timber Trails Photography, Scott Thornton, Carl Lueras and Marti, instructor in charge of the gifted student program and the documentary project.

TWO OF THE EXCHANGE STUDENTS put on a "wiggle" as action for the costume party got underway Saturday evening in the Presbyterian Church parlor. Pictures of the party and roller skating appear on page two.

Rotary hosts students from many nations

Ruidoso Rotarians played host to 30 students from 19 nations over the weekend. The students, in New Mexico under the Rotarian Youth Exchange Program, will attend high schools in several cities in the state during the 1981-1982 term of school.

The weekend activities included an orientation meeting of the exchange students and their counselors Friday evening. Saturday was devoted to roller skating, visiting the Arabian Horse Show, hill climbing, paddle boating at the Inn of the Mountain Gods and visiting scenic areas.

Saturday evening the students enjoyed a costume party and disco dancing.

All returned to their host families Sunday morning.

FLAMES QUICKLY ENGULFED the old barns and stable area at Ruidoso Downs Race Track Saturday, as members of the Ruidoso Volunteer Fire Department supervised the burning. The entire stable area will be burned and Ruidoso-Sunland will rebuild all facilities in time for the beginning of the 1982 meeting at Ruidoso Downs.

Exchange students enjoyed Rotary sponsored roller skating, costume party

THE RUIDOSO ROTARY CLUB sponsored the visitation of students from 19 foreign nations over the weekend, under the Rotarian Youth Exchange Program. The students will be attending schools in New Mexico during the coming year. RUIDOSO'S MIKE DOUGLAS tackles Dexter's Jamie McDaniel in first quarter action of Friday night's game. The Warriors won the contest 23-6 to raise their record to 3-0 on the year. Ruidoso travels to Jal Friday night in search of its fourth victory.

Warriors win easily, Neal injured

When you're ranked number one in the state any team you play is going to point for you and Ruidoso High School's football team found that out Friday night.

The Warriors had to struggle to take a 23-6 victory over host Dexter in building their record to 3-0. But the win came slow and hard and Ruidoso paid a big price for winning the contest.

Scott Neal, who had been switched from tailback to quarterback for the game in place of injured Billy Woodul, broke his hand late in the contest and his immediate status is doubtful.

"He'll have a cast on for at least two weeks but he still might be able to play. We won't know until some time this week," said Warrior head coach Darrel Stierwalt.

Neal's injury will affect the Warriors no matter how long he is out. The speedy senior scored a touchdown against Dexter to raise his season total to six.

But it was Neal's arm which put the Warriors on the board first. With 9:35 left in the opening quarter the Ruidoso quarterback hit tight end Darrin Smith on the right sideline and the senior ran in for the score. Lon Nunley kicked the extra point and Ruidoso led 7-0.

Neal scored his only touchdown of the contest midway through the second quarter and Nunley again kicked the extra point for a 14-0 Warrior advantage. The score culminated a 60 yard Warrior drive.

There was no more scoring until the third quarter when sophomores Robert Swanner and Craig Carson trapped Demon quarterback Tony Urban in the end zone for a safety. Thus the Warriors were up 16-0 with 5:01 left in the period.

However on the next Warrior possession Dexter almost turned the game around.

On fourth down from their own 30 the Warriors tried to punt the ball but it was blocked and Dexter's Jamie McDaniel fell on the ball in the end zone for a touchdown. The Demons tried to run for the two point conversion but the Warriors held and kept a 16-6 advantage.

Demon tried and recovered an onside kick and things started to look gloomy for the Warriors. However, Ruidoso's John Montoya recovered a fumble on the Warrior 40 and the Demons were turned back.

The Warriors put some icing on the cake when Grady Williamson, who was switched from flanker to tailback, rambled 39 yards for a touchdown with 10:03 left in the final period. Nunley put the final point on the scoreboard with his extra point kick.

In all Ruidoso dominated the contest statistics-wise. The Warriors rolled up 309 yards total offense to just 92 for the losers. Most of Ruidoso's yardage came on the ground as it rolled up 215 yards rushing. Neal completed five of 13 passes for 94 yards.

Defensively, Swanner, Carson, Montoya, Nunley and 255 pound tackle Ron Bell all stood out for the winners.

But despite the impressive statistics

Bowling league

starts tomorrow

The Ruidoso Ladies Tuesday Morning Bowling League will start its season at 8:45 a.m., tomorrow in the Holiday Bowl.

Anyone interested in bowling should go to the bowling alley tomorrow morning for possible openings on the teams. For further information call Elaine Garrity at 338-4535.

Stierwalt was far from satisfied.

"We didn't play well offensively or defensively," he said. "But Dexter has a pretty good team, better than Estancia."

Ruidoso routed Estancia 41-6 in the season opener and came back to beat Socorro 21-12 the next week.

The only other injury the Warriors suffered was defensive end Jack Holland's damaged knee. It's not believed to be serious.

Ruidoso travels to Jal next Friday night. Game time is 7:30.

While youth sports in Ruidoso got off to a rousing start Saturday there's still a struggle to get a local women's soccer program going.

Carla Grover, who coaches the under-12 Strikers in the youth soccer program thinks more women might come out in the next month.

"We had a scrimmage last Sunday (September 13) and about 12 women showed up," she said. "So we scrimmaged with some of the guys. We usually have a nice Indian summer during the last part of September and October so we think some women might come out soon."

A team consists of around 12 players so the league needs considerably more women out for the sport.

The problems of getting people out for soccer teams isn't limited to women. The prospects of an adult men's soccer team getting started in the area are not very good, either.

Soccer is an active sport which almost anyone can learn to play so it's a bit surprising that more people have not turned out for adult's soccer teams.

Possibly the main reason that soccer has not been able to catch on with the adult population that much is that the sport in the United States did not start rising in popularity until the late 1980's when the North American Soccer League came into being.

Thus the under-20 years of age population has grown up with soccer, causing the surge of interest in the sport among the younger set.

But since the majority of the over-25 population in this country wasn't exposed to soccer that much at an early age the interest just isn't there.

The welterweight championship fight between Sugar Ray Leonard and Tommy Hearns has brought renewed interest in boxing and the lower weight classes in particular.

For years the sport has been dominated by the heavyweight division and the saga of Muhammad Ali. Little attention was given to the lower weight classes until after the 1976 Olympics when Leonard turned professional.

Now Leonard is the glamor star of the sport and the heavyweight division has slumped into the background.

In a way the lower weight classes grabbing the spotlight is fitting because the best, most agile boxers seem to be in those divisions. Most heavyweight fights in the recent past have either been mismatches or a slow, boring affair between mediocre fighters.

Pound for pound Sugar Ray is the best fighter around. In any weight division.

Turning to football, the use of polls to determine which college team is the best in the country is a fruitless and inaccurate exercise.

Georgia was declared national champion last season when it went undefeated and beat Notre Dame in the Sugar Bowl. However, most of its wins were by close margins and, to be frank about it, I doubt if the Bulldogs could have beaten Michigan, USC or UCLA on their best days.

The only clear way to decide the national champion is to have a complete playoff system. If other sports can have playoffs for the national title then football, the biggest revenue making sport, can have playoffs too.

Ruidoso jvs play Roswell

Ruidoso High School's junior varsity football team will play Roswell High School at 3:30 p.m., today in Roswell.

The contest will be played at DeBremmond Stadium. The game was originally scheduled for last Thursday night at Ruidoso but heavy rains forced postponement of the contest and a change of sites.

Ruidoso has a 1-0 record on the season, defeating Carrizozo 16-6 September 12 in Ruidoso.

White Mountain loses opener to Mt. View

White Mountain School's football team opened its season Saturday night against a powerful Mountain View of Roswell team, probably one of the top middle school teams in the state.

The result was a 50-6 Mountain View win at Ruidoso High School but White Mountain coach Terry Wharton wasn't surprised.

"The same thing happens every year," he said. "They are a big school and physical. But I was proud of our guys for the way they played in the first half."

Mountain View held a 22-0 lead at halftime but the Braves drove several times into the visitors' territory.

White Mountain hit the scoreboard for the only time with 6:7 left in the third quarter when halfback Oscar Torres swept around end for 30 yards and the touch-down.

The visitors came back to add 28 more points, including a couple on long runs in the last three minutes of the contest.

Torres and Mark Williamson, who ran especially well in the first half, highlighted the Brave attack. The White Mountain offensive and defensive lines held their own most of the time against their larger opponents. Mountain View had three or four players who weighed around 200 pounds apiece.

White Mountain hosts Capitan at 6 p.m., Thursday.

DON DENNY of the Strikers (6) battles for the ball with a Tornado player in a youth soccer under-12 match Saturday at White Mountain School. The Strikers defeated the Tornados 5-1.

In an under-eight match the Cobras and United fought to a 3-3 tie. All the soccer games each weekend are played at White Mountain School.

Warrior spikers win again

Ruidoso High School's varsity volleyball team raised its record to 2-0 Saturday with a 14-10, 15-9 win over host Cloudcroft. One junior varsity fell in two sets.

LL season begins

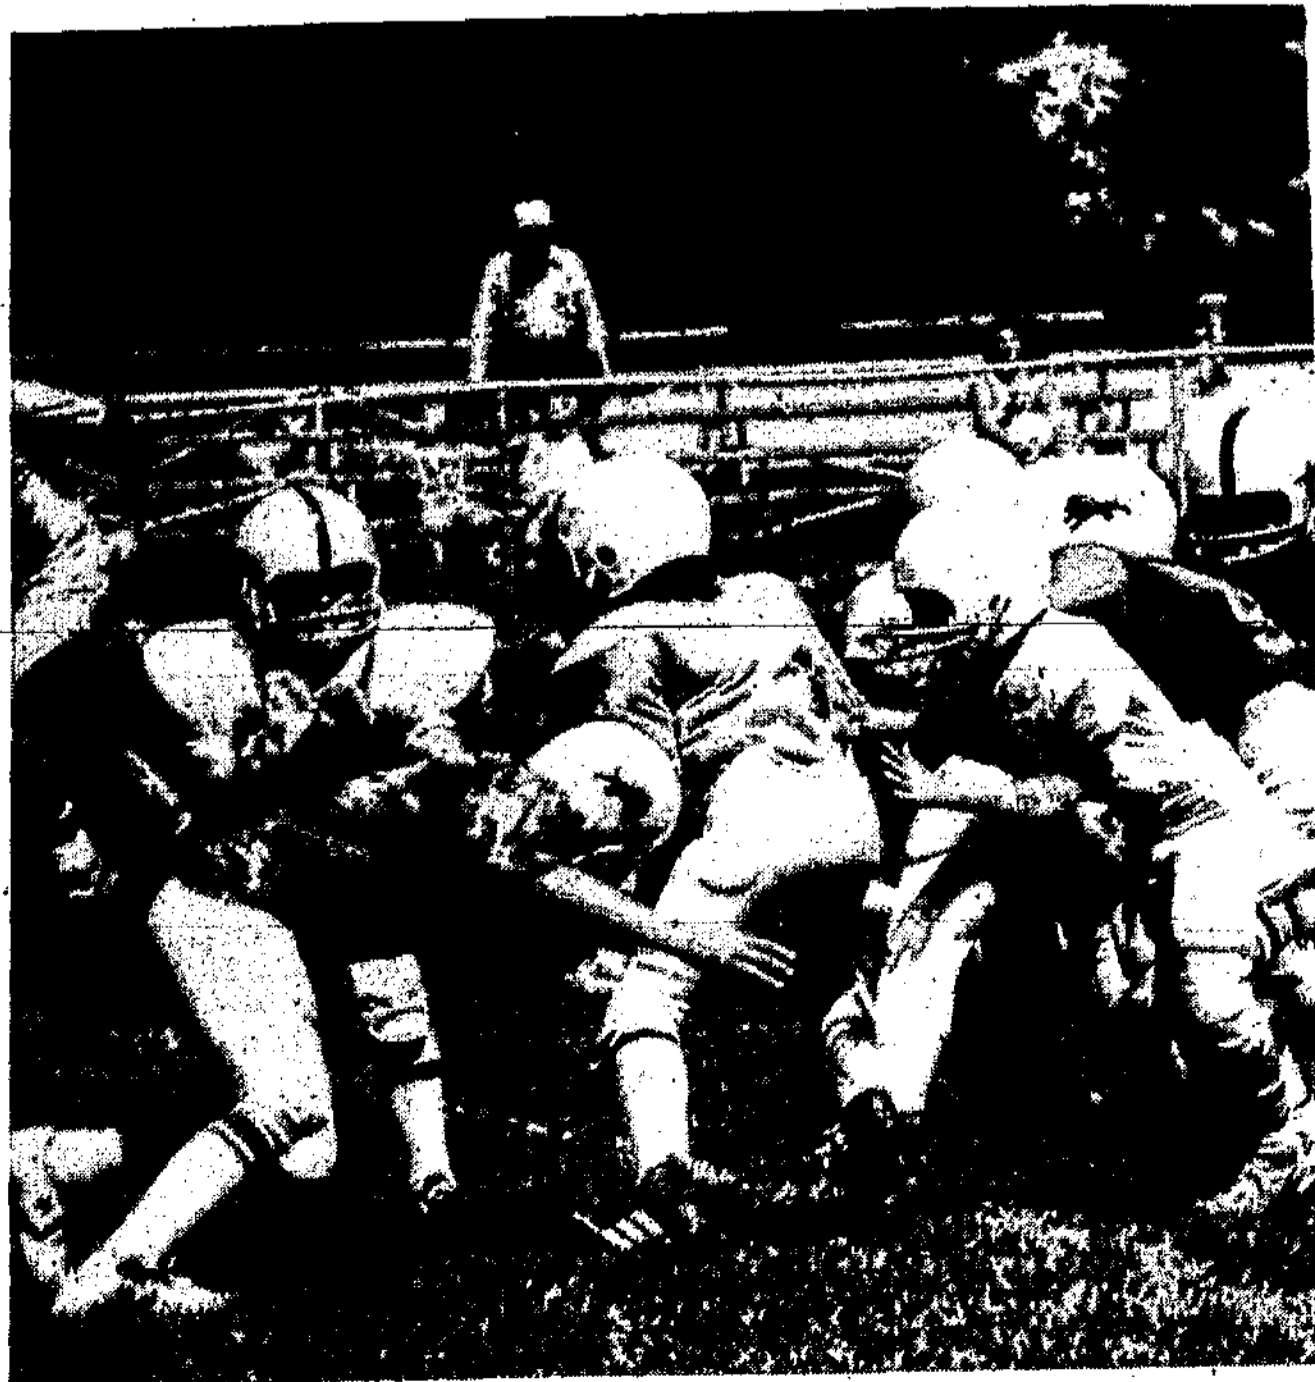

The Ruidoso Little League football season opened Saturday with three games. In the eight-nine year old contest the Lions shutout the Hornets 19-0. 10-12 play saw the Steelers top the Cowboys 18-12 and the Colts blast the Bears 30-0.

Next Saturday's games will be played at Mescalero Stadium.

Ruidoso coach Sergio Castanon praised his team's effort. "I think we played better than we did against Carrizozo in the opening match," he said. "Laurie Mora did an outstanding job of setting and Karen Boone was consistently good as usual. Lisa Williams came off the bench and did a fine job."

The Warriors travel to Tularosa for a 6 p.m. match tomorrow.

MATHER MERRICK of the Hornets (center) is tackled by a Lion player in Little League football action Saturday at Ruidoso High School. The Lions played strong defense in blanketing the Hornets 18-0 in their season-opener.

TASTY DISPLAY — Once again exotically shaped vegetables with exotic names fill the display booths of the "B" Square Ranch and Agricultural Research Experimental Farm at the 1981 Centennial New Mexico State Fair. Tommy Bolack, co-owner and co-manager of the sprawling Bolack Ranch near Farmington, is seen arranging some of his creations such as Lemon Cucumber, Turk's Turban Squash, Birdhouse Gourd, and Icicle Radish. Former Governor Tom Bolack is also co-owner and co-manager of the San Juan Valley enterprise. (State Fair Photo by Farwest).

Bolack produce at State Fair

"Someday somebody's gonna get hungry," says six foot eight-inch Tommy Bolack, co-owner and manager of the "B" Square Ranch and Agricultural Research Experimental Farm near Farmington.

Crammed into the booths in the Agriculture Building on the fairgrounds are impressive samples of the kind of vegetables, fruits, and even flowers that the "B" Square Ranch produces.

But if anyone in the State of New Mexico does get hungry, it won't be Tommy's fault or that of his father, former Governor Tom Bolack.

"We try to encourage people to make good use of the soil. It's important. We don't feel sub-dividers and developers should come in and take over what could be rich farm land."

And the Bolacks are extraordinary examples of hard-working dedicated farmers who follow the advice which they have tacked over their display booth at the New Mexico State Fair. "For Land's Sake Keep It Productive."

To go with the amazingly exotic shapes and colors are some very exotic names like the orange and green streaked double-decker "Turk's Turban Squash," the luscious red "Sunray Tomato," the "Icicle Radish," the "Lemon Cucumber" and the very trickily designed green "Birdhouse Gourd."

"That's a Gourdskin," Tommy says, "a cross between a gourd and pumpkin. It looks like a pumpkin that needs wart surgery." He points out another in the display.

"That's a Hungarian crossed Mammoth gourd. It weighs 115 pounds and the meat part is 4" thick."

Tommy, a graduate in Electrical Engineering from New Mexico State University, is the moving force behind the many experimental programs at the ranch. He has also arranged the vegetable display booth for the past eight years. This year required four days of preparation at the ranch, then a complex move in a semi-trailer truck to Albuquerque, and an additional ten hours of actual work in arranging the shiny oil-brushed fruit and vegetables. Ethel Brynie arranged the flower display for the Bolacks.

There is a patent pending on the small bright Orange Cayenne peppers. "They're green except on maturity and then they turn orange. We've already sent the seeds on to Burpee and they're under trial. Besides the bright orange color which is unusual, they're more prolific, have more chiles on them."

"Everything takes work," the ambitions and creative farmer/rancher from the San Juan River Valley said. "We do selective pruning and pruning. We baby everything. But the biggest proof of hard work is that nobody can grow something in their garden. It may not be perfect or the very best, but anybody can do it."

"We quit competing at the fair in 1984. We were really defeating our purpose because what we wanted to do was encourage people to do a lot of gardening, and then we took home all the ribbons. So now we match all the first place cash premiums on non-surplus agricultural products and the county booths. We also give our own "B" Square Ranch ribbon."

Tommy said he has no real secrets about his extraordinary vegetables and fruits and other products. He said he just plants "close together and plays around a lot." For his "main line" he uses new pure seed each year and says that some of the hybrid seed just won't cross so they "have to plant a little extra."

"With old seeds the germination usually goes down, however, some old Aztec beans that were found in Indian ruins, and some corn that was kept dry for 700 years still does the job."

Former Governor Tom Bolack has turned most of the ranch management over to his son, but he still maintains a watchful and interested eye over every aspect of the huge Bolack enterprise.

The Bolack booth and displays are located in the center of the U-shaped Agriculture Building on the fairgrounds. Both the former Governor and his son, Tommy, are usually available for answering questions about the amazing success of their experimental farming.

The Centennial New Mexico State Fair — The Biggest Show in New Mexico — continues through September 27.

A MAN-MADE ARCH of corrugated metal spans the Rio Ruidoso at Riverside Drive. A new bridge is under construction at the site. The project is expected to be completed by Friday, weather permitting, according to the job foreman. Kent Nowlin Construction of Albuquerque is doing the work.

Police activities

September 11 — Continental Telephone Company reported the theft of a spare tire from a company vehicle at 2701 Suddeth Drive.

September 12 — Vandalism at window, screen and glass door, possibly from BBs, was reported at the Charlie Boedeker house at 106 Old Lincoln Road.

September 14 — Debbie Looten reported the theft of a Sansui 100 watt stereo receiver, silver and wood grain in color.

September 16 — The Hock Shop, 2807 Suddeth Drive, reported a front window broken with a beer bottle.

Court Report

Appearing before Magistrate Jim Wheeler recently, on charges listed and action taken, were:

John Ward, Ruidoso, charged with criminal damage to property, resisting or obstructing an officer and possession of a controlled substance. Fined $1,000 (paid $200 plus court costs) and sentenced to 364 days in jail. All but two days of sentence suspended on condition of probation to the Magistrate Judge.

Cynthia Watson, Ruidoso, charged with embezzlement. Bound over to District Court.

William G. Pounds, Kerrville, Texas, charged with larceny and burglary. Case dismissed without prejudice, no complaining witnesses.

DANNIE STORM

"The Last Rose of Summer"
Somehow today, September seventeen, with summer in its full glory, and yet with touches here and there of autumn's royal colors — somehow a line or two comes to mind of that immortal troubador of the Irish race, Thomas Moore:
"Tis the last rose of Summer
All her lovely companions
Are faded and gone.
How it is that the Irish can blend sadness with joy in their songs and poems so as to make the very sadness happy, I do not know.

There is something of this in this very day. Since early morning all the green world was filled with fog; and now in mid afternoon, the fog is floating and drifting in little thin clouds over the hills and meadows of every shade of emerald green, with the sun shining through, as if the mountain world were smiling through its tears. Up the vale the thunder mumbles, muffled as it echoes through the silver clouds of mist. Indeed you would think you were in Ireland itself.

The Eve Of Autumn
This is leading up to telling you that when this message reaches you we will be in the last day of summer. Here in the vale there is hardly any hint of the glorious season of summer being ready to leave us. The oak brush is without a touch of autumn color, and the river trees are dressed in their deepest green. The meadows too, in their mid-summer glowing green.

And yet all along the way the purple and gold of fall are out in purest colors ready for the entrance into the world of The King of Seasons.
There are several varieties of wild Four O'clocks, and there is one kind that is especially colorful this year after the good rains. Its usual height if three feet. And this year the plants are six feet high and more, and the blossoms — half way between deep crimson and purple — are unusually large this year, and so thick as to be almost a solid mass of color. Right next to these is the pride and joy of the American autumn time — the inspiration of our early New England poets — the New England Aster. The pure purple daisy on the tall plant. And it's companion of the New England states, the aptly named goldenrod. Completing the welcoming flower picture are many another gold and purple bloom including the wild verbena beloved native of desert and mountain, and the sunflower, tallest of the flowers.

"Indian Summer"
Dear to the heart of all America is the season of Indian Summer, that little season between seasons — after the first hard frost, when all the leaves turn color, and there is a dreamy mellow sunny time beneath a rich, pure blue sky, with just a little enchanting mist to give the land a many-colored glow — or purple mountains, and lavender valleys, and foot hills lightly touched with pink and light crimson.

Since early childhood I have loved this season, and often wondered from where came the name "Indian Summer."
The best explanation was recently given by Mrs. Liz Taylor Montes. She said that season is so called because it is a sort of signal time — a spell of idyllic mild days before the winter, in which the Indians prepared for their winter home.

This brings to mind many a colorful picture. In the northern states where the Indians spent the winter snug in their teepees and lodges, you can see them drying their wild plums, berries and countless other wild food; gathering the corn, pumpkins and squash from their fields; bringing in wood for their fires, and many other preparations to spend the snowy winter in comfort and content.
What a sight it must have been to have seen our friends and neighbors, the Apache Indians, in the Indian Summer season, busy on the slopes of their "Sacred Mountain" with the quaking aspen, shining gold and white on high; and the oak all bronze, and the mountain maple crimson — gathering the purple choke cherries, pinon nuts, and countless other food of Mother Earth, to go with their supplies of dried venison.

And then to see them, men, women and children walking in that soft-stepping gait that leaves the miles behind so quickly — all through the gold and purple mountains, down through the foot hills to the warm and sunny desert, to spend the winter, and return once again in mid summer to the cool mountains, fragrant with the welcoming incense of pine and fir, and the fragrance of the wild rose.

Favorite Days Ahead
So now we are into our favorite days, and have not seen "The Last Rose of Summer". For truly, summer reaches on into the early fall here in the Land of the Pinon and Pine.

So let us send up a prayer of thanks to The Good Lord for bringing us through such a splendid summer and onto the threshold of glorious autumn.

The Silver Lining

Rena Croissant
Ruidoso Pioneer
Is Called Home

After more than one hundred years of blessed life here among us, Rena Croissant, one of the earliest of those who came to Ruidoso for the summer, was called home by Our Lord, on September seven from her home in Las Cruces.

Services were held in Roswell, in which city she had been a resident for fifty three years, on September eleven. She had moved to Las Cruces in 1963 to be with her son, Lynn W. Croissant.

The former Lena Ogilvie, was born in 1880, Wisconsin, December twenty-seven. She came with her husband, Lynn Sylvester Croissant, to Roswell in 1910. Also arriving at the same time were her parents.
Mr. Croissant modestly called himself "a carpenter" yet he was capable of constructing a building from the foundation to the roof.

He built some of the very first cabins in Ruidoso, more than three hundred in all, including the Ruidoso Lodge, the first place in Ruidoso to serve meals.
The Croissants built their cabin in 1921, and were regular summer residents for many years after. Mrs. Croissant used to come to Ruidoso every year until the last few years of her life.

A Great Friend
Of Shady Logan
Mrs. Croissant and I became acquainted some years ago, and we used to meet at the Aspenade parade, where she met Shady Logan, the little Storm Ranch Dog. Little Shady was very fond of Rena, and would begin looking anxiously all up and down the parade route, and would be very happy when we found Mrs. Croissant and her son, Lynn.

Last year on December twenty seven, Rena celebrated her one hundredth birthday in Las Cruces — a memorable occasion attended by many friends and loved ones who brought her presents of flowers, of which she is greatly fond, and other gifts — and extended to her every tribute and appreciation.

ones who brought her presents of flowers, of which she is greatly fond, and other gifts — and extended to her every tribute and appreciation.

Mrs. B. F. Jenness
A Close Friend

On September fourteen, Mrs. B. F. Jenness called up to tell me that she and her husband, the late Dr. B. F. Jenness were close friends of the Croissants, and that Dr. Jenness had built his cabin — or rather had it built by Mr. Croissant, right next to the Croissant cabin in 1922.

Dr. Jenness contributed historical articles to The Ruidoso News, including one about the 1941 Flood, for Editor Vic Lamb.
Mrs. Jenness has been a close friend and companion of Rena, journeying from her home in El Paso, to be with Rena at every Christmas.

One of the many great blessings in Rena's life has been her son, Lynn, a devoted and worthy child always.
Rena has brought untold happiness into the world during her more than a century among us, and we all take comfort in knowing she is safe and happy among many loved ones in Heaven, with our Lord.

Nick M. Prudencio
One of the first men I met when I first came to Lincoln County was Nick Prudencio, eldest of the six Prudencio brothers, born and raised in San Patricio.
He was a ranch worker and farmer, and could tell many stories of the early days, being acquainted with all the old timers of this area.

Born July twenty-five, 1907, in San Patricio, Nick moved to Roswell some time in the 1930's where he worked as a construction worker. Later he moved to Glendale, Arizona, where he was called home by Our Lord September six.

Services were held in Roswell, on September eleven. He is survived by five brothers: Robert Prudencio, San Patricio; Martin Prudencio, Roswell; Claudio Prudencio, Hagerman; Valentin Prudencio, Lovington; and Trine Prudencio of Roswell.
Also two sisters: Betty Bates of Roswell; and Arcenia Acosta of Artesia.

Our prayers go out for the loved ones and friends of Nick Prudencio, and we all take comfort in knowing he is safe and happy with Our Lord in Heaven.

Inside The Capitol

by Fred McCaffrey

SANTA FE — Ah, well, nobody said writing a column would make a man popular.

Besides, if you're gonna dish it out, you have to take it.

So we won't try to get your pity up by pointing out that the missive Brad Hays, mpre-or-less chairman of the state Democratic party, sent to all editors who subscribe to this column came pretty close to reflecting on the legitimacy of McCaffrey's ancestry.

We even understand why a supporter of Jeff Bingaman, when asked how the campaign is going, could snap back, "Fine, if Fred would just get off his back."

We probably deserve those lumps, considering the ones we have given out. But we do think the letter from Dale Danielson, lay spokesman for some Baptist congregations in liquor and other matters, may have been just a little tougher than it needed be.

It seemed to lack something in the way of Christian charity, to put this whole thing on a theological basis.

Take this passage, for example:

"McCaffrey is in the pocket of the liquor industry. He's 'wet' enough to make the Augustin Plains seem like the middle of Elephant Butte Lake. That's why he hates Les Houston."

Gosh, fella, that's pretty heavy.

McCaffrey "in the pocket" of the liquor industry?

Would you be prepared to prove that?

And whose "pocket" are you in? Don't "drys" have pockets, as well as "wets"?

And McCaffrey hating Les Houston? when did that start? Are you aware Houston and McCaffrey find one another faintly amusing, speak to one another often by telephone, and bear no animus one for the other? If you don't believe that, ask Houston — in stead of the poor sources you had for the charges in your bombastic and pretentious letter.

By then this man who believes that what he calls "the old Liquor Establishment Monopoly" is "the single greatest source of political evil in our State" was really rolling.

He went on to say:

"It's a shame to see your paper and your readers blemished by McCaffrey's malignant stories. I used to think McCaffrey was a crusading reformer. But I was disillusioned when I got on the scene to find he was a muck-raker, smear-artist, and fabricator."

Alas, alackaday.

One minute a "crusading reformer" and the other all those evil things the letter writer suddenly perceived this column to be.

Just shows you how you go downhill when you take a position which opposes one held by the self-righteous, who know in their hearts that all those who disagree with them are intrinsically evil.

Look, Mr. Danielson. Politics is bad enough without those of you who clothe yourselves in virtue (though you generally demonstrate little of that toward your foes) coming up here and trying to tell the rest of the world that we must live by your moral principles whether we espouse them or not.

This writer will say again what he has said before.

You and other serious religious people were used during the last Legislature by some persons who hoped to advance their own political careers by manipulating you.

They won. You lost.

Rage all you want now; that will change very little.

You will watch the counties and cities of New Mexico voting one by one to allow more and more outlets for the Demon Rum.

It must make you feel wonderful, believing what you believe, to know that you have been an unwitting but major part of that change for the worse.

The greatest source of political evil in our State, as you call it, did not take a fall this year, due to your actions and those of Senator Houston and Jim Baca.

It just changed its spots and expanded its area of operation — and you made that possible.

No wonder you wish to lash out at those around you and find somebody else (McCaffrey) to blame.

Letters to the Editor

Dear editor,

Many people helped make the Ruidoso Gymnastics Association Benefit Auction a tremendous success. I would like to take this opportunity to publicly thank the following artists for their generous donations: Mark Bagby, Anne Brunnell, Betsy Chisum, Lincoln Fox, Evert Furrey, Peter Hurd, Sareta Fenton, Mimi Jungbluth, Bruce McEllyea, Dave McGary, Linda Miller, Gary Myers, Johnny Okrasinski, Janie and Jerry Perry, Gordon Snidow, Charles Sawyer, and Ted Robertson. The kindness of these fine artists helped us to more than realize our needed financial goal.

A special debt of gratitude goes to Jim and DeAnn Wooldridge for all their time and talents, and to Sonya Smith for her assistance and the use of Smith Ltd. Gallery.

The cooperation of so many of our local galleries was overwhelming, and I would like to recognize the following people: Don and Mary Parsons of Artisans Shop and Gallery, Jon Denny of International Galleries, Sunny Stallings of Bear Claw Gallery, Danny Fenton of Fenton's Gallery, Evert Furrey of Old Adobe Patio Gallery, Margaret Gaddy of McLeans, and Herb Brunnell of Timber Trail Photography. I must also thank the McClellans of Ruidoso Printing and Ruidoso Quik Print for all they did to help us.

Words cannot express how very grateful the Ruidoso Gymnastics Association is to all of these people. Your help is making it possible for us to build one of the finest gymnastic programs in the state.

Jeanie Whitwam
President
Ruidoso Gymnastic Assoc.

Dear editor:

I am concerned about our little town of Ruidoso Downs. Our streets are terrible. The weeds are so high at the corners that it is dangerous to enter onto the street, because you can't see.

I think it is terrible to pay out $300 a month to the three police to control dogs when nothing is done about them. The police know the owners of these big dogs don't have pens for the dogs and never have. The dogs use other peoples' yards to go to the bathroom. They also dump over trashcans. The $300 paid to the police could be used on the streets or to cut weeds.

I know we have restrictions on what can be done and what can't. But nothing is enforced. The police should be ashamed to accept the money when they do nothing. If it was taken care of like it ought to be, Ruidoso Downs would be a nicer, cleaner place to live.

IRANIAN MELODRAMA

What a bittersweet irony it is that the Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini now seeks the extradition of Abolhassan Bani-Sadr from France. The two once were in exile there, plotting the revolutionary overthrow of the Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi. Today it has come full circle: Khomeini presides over a shaky Islamic Republic in Iran, and the man who became the nation's first elected president is in Paris planning counter-revolution.

Interest in this is heightened for Americans because of their long and agonized preoccupation with Iran during the period of the hostage crisis. Even were this not the case, the events that led to the present situation would have an extraordinary fascination. These events are the stuff of melodrama.

The democratically chosen President Bani-Sadr had long been engaged in a power struggle with religious fundamentalists. When the war with Iraq broke out, he took personal charge of the armed forces, and his involvement in this active role played a big part in enabling the fundamentalists to gain the ascendancy. In time they became powerful enough to have him ousted by the Majlis and declared an enemy of the revolution.

At this point the deposed head of state went underground. Whether or not one can believe his claim to have remained hidden "in the heart of Tehran" for six weeks, the fact is that he was not detected. And then finally, having shaved off his trademark moustache and perhaps donned a woman's dress, he slipped aboard an Iranian Air Force jet piloted by the shah's one-time personal pilot and made the precarious flight to France.

What next? As long as Bani-Sadr is reasonably discreet about engaging in political activities, the French seem likely to continue assuring him political asylum. Even under such constraint, he should be able to forment some degree of unrest back home. And while the possibilities of his mounting a successful counter-revolution are slim, the present government's weakness offers a chance that he and others with whom he has thrown in his lot can bring it off. — Alamogordo Daily News

We believe Governor King has more pressing matters to cope with than redistricting the state to provide for a third congressional seat — if New Mexico qualifies for the additional Congressman, based on the official 1980 census.

For instances:

— The question has been raised by Representative John Mershon, Democrat Lincoln-Otero, that state offices may be overstaffed. Mershon said results of a recent study show New Mexico is substantially above the national average for the number of public employees at state and local government levels.

— The Legislative Finance Committee is considering a pay raise of 8.3 percent for state employees. This increase would amount to $27.8 million during fiscal 1982-1983.

— There's still the matter of the state penitentiary. Recent news reports indicate that the problems there are far from solved and that there is agitation to put the facility under federal control.

Those three questions alone, it seems to us, are vastly more important to the state than redistricting — at least at the moment.

Naturally politicians, who aspire to a congressional seat, are interested in redistricting. Political futures are at stake.

Which reminds us that Governor King is indeed a politician — in every sense of the word. — CD

RONNIE'S OFF AGAIN

Ronnie ... that's President Reagan ... is off again ... 'cause he's champing at the bit to postpone cost-of-living increases in Social Security payments ... as "blood, sweat and tears" budget cuts.

While his motives in cutting the budget ... and laboring to get the federal budget balanced in 1984 ... something Our Jimmy was working on without much success ... are admirable ... it seems that the cuts could come in the direction of reducing the number of pork barrel projects ... designed mainly to insure the re-election of the Senator or Congressman obtaining them.

As to Ronnie's "blood, sweat and tears" approach, it certainly appears as though he doesn't appreciate the fact that many of those depending upon Social Security for their existence probably "sweat blood" and shed many tears during the years they were qualifying for Social Security payments prior to retirement.

The folks who are going to suffer from delaying cost-of-living increases in their monthly checks are the ones ... over a period of many years ... who supported this government ... and without their tax payments, the government would long ago have ceased to exist.

Yup ... it'd be mighty nice if that "blood, sweat and tears" premise to reduce spending would be directed to those who have many years of "blood, sweat and tears" ahead of them ... 'cause they're the ones who'll have many years to adjust ... to plan for retirement ... to get along as best they can, while they work ... and pay taxes ... and by voting, get the attention of the Congressmen and Senators that it's the workers who should be entitled ... in their twilight years ... to adequate compensation ... under Social Security ... and that this promise, made to the people when the program was instituted ... over which the people really had no voice ... be perpetuated.

'Course Ronnie ain't gonna be dependent upon Social Security payments for his victuals ... or jelly beans ... but it'd be nice if he'd think just a little bit about those persons who are,

ATTAWAY, ROTARIANS

Thanks to Rotary International ... and thanks to the Ruidoso Rotary ... an example of promoting international understanding occurred here over the weekend.

What happened was ... the local Rotarians up and dug down into their jeans to bring about 75 International Exchange Students ... who are in New Mexico attending high school the coming year under the exchange student program ... as well as a bunch of New Mexico kids who studied abroad last year ... here for a big fun weekend ... including a spaghetti supper ... and roller skating ... and sight seeing ... and all kinds of things to give them an insight into how life is lived in Harmony Valley.

Now ... it wasn't any Tower of Babel ... but that don't mean it couldn't be a been ... especially if'n some of our visitors from foreign nations got all excited and started gabbling ... as opposed to babbling ... in their native tongues ... which would have, possibly, contributed considerably to a situation bordering upon consternation ... or so it do seem could have been a possibility.

When you get to considering ... presuming that's the case now and again ... how the United States is viewed by folks as don't live as we do ... this action by the Rotarians'll serve to indoctrinate a few youngsters about how life is lived here ... which, seen with their own eyes, they can compare to their pre-conceived notions ... and perhaps leave Harmony Valley a little more enlightened.

Now the tab for this project just has to be considerable ... so all of us who has been supporting the Rotary's enchilada feeds can sort of stick out our chest a little bit ... 'cause it's from us'n that they've got the wherewithal to undertake this weekend of entertaining those foreign students ... which, in a way, has just gotta be considered as a humanitarian gesture. Congratulations, Rotarians, you're a fine bunch.

BRIEF BIT: Just doesn't seem to be any way that the will of the majority is reflected in extensive television coverage of 150 demonstrators ... CD

Blowing into Auto-Intoximeter may bring grief to drinking drivers

BY TIM PALMER
Staff Writer/Photographer

Persons who mix drinking and driving may find themselves blowing into a sophisticated machine which could help convict them in a court of law.

The device, called an Auto-Intoximeter, is used by several area law enforcement agencies. Sixteen officers from various agencies took part in a one day training course last week in Ruidoso on operation of the machine September 16.

"They are really

foolproof to operate," said Albert Fugere of the state Department of Health and Environment, who administered the course. He pointed out that the presence of any factor which could affect the test result causes the "Auto-I" to shut down automatically.

The machines cost $3,000 each. According to Fugere, their high cost is offset by a much lower cost per test than the balloon or blood sample methods of determining alcohol levels.

Another advantage of the auto-Intoximeter cited by Fugere is the short time it takes to get a reading. Results are shown in digital readout and printout form in a matter of minutes, he said.

The machines have been in use in the state for three years, said Fugere, and have gained ready acceptance in the courts.

"The findings of the Auto-I in an individual case are virtually incontestable," said Administrative Officer Jim Alston of the Ruidoso Police Department. In two years of use in Ruidoso, he added, the machines have given "excellent results."

Personnel representing departments from Ruidoso, Ruidoso Downs, Alamogordo, Capitán Carrizozo, and Lincoln County were certified to operate the Auto-Intoximeter after completing the course.

SILVER BELT BUCKLE won by John Black is inscribed: World Champion Sheep Shearer, 1980, John Black.

John Black sheared a sheep in a remarkable time of five seconds to claim world's sheep shearing title

BY JEAN PATTERSON
Staff Writer

Many people feel they are good at what they do, but few ever achieve the recognition of being the best in the world.

Current Ruidoso resident John Black, however, is the best, is proud of it and will tell you so, too.

Last March, the Cherokee Indian traveled to Australia to claim the title of the World Champion Sheep Shearer.

Breaking all previous records and finishing a full 25 seconds ahead of the second place winner, Black tied the sheep and sheared it in 5 seconds before an international crowd who expected little from the small, slow-moving man.

"There were people from all over; New York and overseas," Black said. "They told me 'don't try, you'll never make it.'"

Black admitted to being somewhat intimidated by some of the upperclass audience and their attitudes.

After his victory, though, Black said he was proud of himself and glad the white people had given him the chance. "I felt really good when I won. It was a dream come true," black said. "I was proud of myself and proud to be a Cherokee."

Black began his sheep shearing career as a boy in Muskogee, Oklahoma, where he first picked wool then moved up to shearing.

"I sheared for a living to support my great-grandma," he said.

His shearing profession took Black to Texas and through New Mexico, including a brief stay in Hondo. During his 25 years of trimming the wool, Black found time to meet and marry Juanita, a native of Carrizozo. The two have three sons and not a sheep-shearer among them.

Although Black said he knew he was good at his job all along, it was the contest promoters who got in touch with him to compete for titles. Before attending the world championship competition in Australia, Black first had to defend his title in the national competition in Butte, Montana.

Black has many trophies in his collection, but the silver and turquoise belt buckle labeled: "World Champion, Sheep Shearer, John Black" is his ultimate honor.

Of course, the $75,000 that goes along with the title helps add to the glamour, too.

With the money, Black and his wife built the home they've always wanted in Muskogee.

Black still shears for a living and makes his permanent residence in Muskogee. During his off-season, however, Black is a carpenter in Ruidoso. Usually he is back in Oklahoma by this time of the year, but because of an injury to his right arm, caused when a 2" x 6" fell on his shoulder three months ago, he is staying in Ruidoso until the injury heals.

"I tell my doctor that he is doctoring the best sheep-shearer in the world. He is a very good doctor," Black said.

In order to retain his world title, Black will have to attend the next world championship competition in two years. If anyone comes close to breaking Black's time, Black will have to be tested again to defend his title.

However, he doesn't seem to find that threat very likely. "I'd do it again," Black said. "Next time I'll be better." He admitted that he felt bad when the defending champion lost his title. The man said because his entire family was there and the man cried over his loss.

Black feels a great love for all people who supported him in his efforts. "I love the people of Ruidoso. I love all people all over the world — they love me."

JOHN BLACK, recounting the experience of becoming the World Champion Sheep Shearer by shearing a sheep in five seconds.

Copper

...it keeps hanging around

That's one of the great things about copper...it hangs around for centuries, always there where you need it.

You see, copper is indestructible! From old, worn-out items containing copper, the metal can be salvaged... melted and re-cast as something new, like a component for a space craft, for example.

It's possible that the wiring in your home...parts of your automobile, radio or television set...contain particles of copper mined 50 centuries ago in Egypt!

And, it's possible that copper mined today from Chino's Santa Rita open pit mine in Grant County will be used in the deep reaches of outer space centuries from now in the development of new civilizations.

Copper...it always has been...and always will be... the world's most useful metal.

"Strangers and tourists welcome to unexcelled accommodations. The table is kept furnished with all the Delicacies and Substantials of the season."

Come visit and relax — take some time to see old Lincoln Town The Way It Was.

Eleanor Paul & Richard Watts are your hosts.

Danny Kaye will conduct the New York Philharmonic

Danny Kaye, a man of a thousand talents and one of America's most celebrated entertainers, will conduct a gala Pension Fund Benefit performance of the New York Philharmonic on Wednesday, September 23, to be telecast live on the award-winning series, "Live From Lincoln Center." The televised concert, originating from the stage of Avery Fisher Hall at Lincoln Center, will be seen over PBS.

Perhaps the only conductor in the world who cannot read a note of music, Danny Kaye has been conducting orchestra benefits for over 25 years and has helped raise over $5 million for orchestra musicians' pension funds.

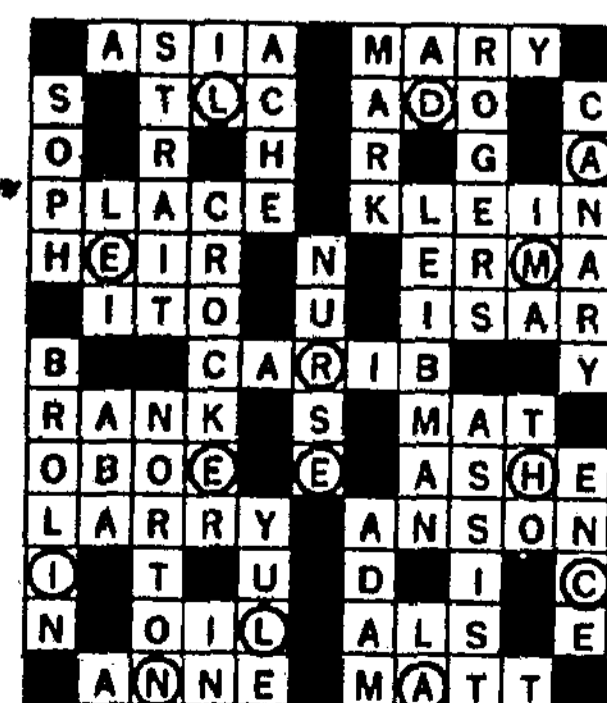

Mr. Kaye began his conducting career in 1954 when, as a joke, he agreed to conduct a Philadelphia Orchestra benefit. The event was an enormous success and invitations soon followed from symphony orchestras around the world.

"It may start out formal," Mr. Kaye says about his forthcoming concert, "but it won't stay that way. We play the music straight—no slopping through it—but what comes between the numbers, well, it's not serious. I love the symphony and have the greatest respect for it, but I think a little clowning removes some of the secrecy and solemnity that has grown up around serious music. I don't think I have permanently damaged any orchestra." However, he generally breaks a dozen or more batons per concert.

Zubin Mehta, Music Director of the New York Philharmonic, who will introduce Mr. Kaye at the concert and will conduct part of the program, has great respect for Danny Kaye as a conductor. "Danny and I have been friends for many years," the maestro recently said. "I have great admiration for him, not only as a friend, but as one of the supremely gifted entertainers of our time."

Television Schedule For The Week Of Sept. 21 Through Sept. 27

through channels

by Joey Sasso

CONFIDENTIAL REPORT: Although he is a wealthy man and one of the most successful entertainers in show business, Danny Thomas states this does not make him a totally happy man. "Oh, I guess I'm reasonably happy," Thomas explained, "all things considered. But I think the happiest time of my life was when I was working in night clubs in Chicago for $50-a-week." Thomas said he never got into show business just to make money, and he feels his decision to be an entertainer was like a calling, like the ministry. "I was happiest doing three shows a night and four on Saturday for that $50 salary," he said. "Came the day the boss gave me a $10 raise I thought I had died and gone to heaven." ... It doesn't appear that Phil Donahue will ever have the traditional father-in-law trouble with Danny Thomas. Danny thinks Donahue is a prince of a fellow. "I was on Phil's show twice before he even met Marlo," Danny said the other night at Chasen's. "I was on his show when he was still taping it in Dayton, Ohio. Phil asked me what the local people could do to help St. Jude's and I told them all to each send a dollar to me. In one week I got $41,000, thanks to the Dayton people and Phil."

TV BACKSTAGE: Farrah Fawcett and Lee Majors are healing the torn emotions from the bitter battle that erupted when their marriage broke up. Not only are Lee and Farrah talking again—several times a week—but they've teamed up for the premiere show of Lee's new TV series, "The Fall Guy." Although Farrah is still dating macho actor Ryan O'Neal, her friendship with Lee has blossomed so beautifully that Hollywood friends are even predicting they might eventually patch up their marital problems. In fact, Farrah insists she is still very much Mrs. Majors because only their legal separation—and not their final divorce—has gone through. And Lee believes that his estranged wife's fling with O'Neal will soon be over. "It will end in a row one day because of his short temper," Lee says. "She's beginning to see through him."

TV CLOSEUP: Broadway Joe Namath's girl, TV star Randi Oakes, says she likes Namath because he's terrific and that he likes her because she's terrific. Asked why Namath spends so much time in her company, she told Our magazine that it's "because I'm terrific. We had a good time together. We had lots of the same interests. Our lives seemed to fit together well at the time. I was modeling in New York then, and I could be kind of transient. Traveling with him wasn't too hard. I didn't have to give up my career and fight him on those issues. And then, if I spent time with him, I could always go back and make some money here or in Europe and cover myself. Our lifestyles were very conducive to being together. Plus, he's terrific." ... As negotiations continued to determine whether Erik Estrada will return to "CHiPs," former Olympic medalist Bruce Jenner has started work as a guest star on the NBC-TV series. Jenner, who will portray a new motorcycle officer in the California Highway Patrol, was listed as a "special guest star" or "guest performer"—but may appear on six shows or more. Estrada appeared in four shows before the writers' strike halted production, and now he and MGM studios have filed suits against each other.
