Chino disavows knowledge of gaming story

Mescalero Tribal President Wendell Chino Tuesday, when questioned by a News reporter, disavowed any knowledge of the source of a published article stating the tribe is planning to start casino gambling on the reservation.

"You'd better bug the people who publish the paper," Chino said when asked about the story. "I don't know where they got it."

The report appeared in The Cloudcroft Journal, a weekly publication apparently started about a month ago.

In its October 31 issue, The Journal stated that a Las Vegas type operation will begin on the Mescalero Apache Reservation within 24 months. The article also stated that the paper "has exclusively learned that negotiations for the purchase of gambling equipment is (sic) underway

None of the allegations in The Journal's story were attributed to a source.

The News checked with village hall, and several businesses in Cloudcroft, and none of the persons questioned about The Journal knew where the paper is published or where its offices are located. One lady provided The News with an El Paso, Texas, telephone number which she said was listed in The Journal to place advertising. The News has repeatedly called this number but no one has answered.

Power outage set at Downs tomorrow

Electric service to Ruidoso Downs customers living east of the Circle K store will be disrupted from 3-4:40 p.m., Friday, a Texas-New Mexico Power Company spokesman said Wednesday.

Repairs to the transmission lines will be made during that time.

P & Z meeting November 2

The Ruidoso Planning and Zoning Commission will meet at 9:30 a.m., November 2, in the Village Administrative Center.

Agenda items include:

- Correction of error in the minutes of September 2 public hearing on Elmer Pirelli's request for rezoning of Lot 10, Block 8, Town and Country Estates.
- Replat of Lot 79, Block B, of Sleepy Hollow for Laverne Walkup.
- Replat of Lots 93 and 94, Block 1, Ponderosa Heights Unit 5 (replat into one lot) for Gary Meyers.

Girl Scout fund drive scheduled

JANE DEYO AND KIM PICKETT are co-chairmen of the 1981 Girl Scout fund drive, November 2-6, to help fund a Girl Scout program for Ruidoso, Ruidoso Downs and Capitan.

TEN TO 12 PERCENT MAXIMUM

Street grades established

BY TIM PALMER
Staff Writer

Ruidoso trustees dealt with several matters pertaining to future development in the village — including street grades, replats and rezoning requests — at their regular meeting Tuesday night.

Passage of Resolution 81-16, amending maximum allowable grades on collector streets from 14 percent to ten percent and on local streets from 14 percent to 12 percent, came after considerable discussion and comments from interested parties.

Trustee Benny Coulston stated that he had some difficulty with the proposed resolution. "There's not a subdivision I'm aware of... that they have not had to go to a 14 percent grade," said Coulston, adding that such grades were sometimes necessary to reach attractive property.

Coulston noted that grades exceeding 20 percent already exist in Ruidoso. He expressed concern that a further limitation on grades of new roads could drive land prices up.

Fire Marshal Derald Waltrip stated that the problem the Fire Department faces with steep grades is ice. "Anything over ten percent, on the right type ice you can't pull it," he said.

"We have a different outlook on this thing than you do," Waltrip told the trustees. "We're looking strictly at fire protection."

The possibility of acquiring special equipment, such as four wheel drive and self-sanding units, was mentioned but Waltrip indicated that the ability of a large pumper unit to reach the site of a fire is crucial.

"If you can't get a big truck up there, you're not doing any good," Waltrip said.

The fire marshal mentioned the village's fire insurance rating as another factor to consider. "Now we've got a very good fire

"WE'RE EXTREMELY PLEASED to be meeting in this room." With those words, Mayor Lloyd Davis Jr., opened the first meeting of the village trustees Tuesday at the new Administrative Center auditorium. The room

rating — couldn't be better," Waltrip said.

But he pointed out that the rating, based on a yearly fire loss of less than $100,000, could change with the loss of one expensive home.

Planning and Zoning Commission member John Schuller also spoke in favor of the resolution, noting that garbage trucks and other service vehicles also have to contend with steep grades.

Coulston withdrew an amendment he had proposed earlier which would have left leeway in the resolution when it was pointed out to him that granting of variances is allowable by action of the trustees.

The resolution passed with trustees George White, Sherman Atwood and Frank Sayner voting "aye" while Coulston abstained. Mayor Lloyd Davis Jr., was recorded as "in favor."

An expression of concern by Atwood over replats and rezoning requests led the trustees to instruct the village attorney to draw up ordinances governing the two areas.

According to Atwood's motion, the replat ordinance will prohibit division of lots of less than one acre, within the present village limits with the smallest division of a lot being half an acre.

Atwood cited "speculation at the expense of neighbors" as the reason for the ordinance.

Regarding requests for rezoning, Atwood said, "It should be put on the backs of the men sitting at this table."

Presently, the Planning and Zoning

Commission rules on such requests. Under the new ordinance, the commission will make recommendations, but final rulings will be left to the trustees.

The subject of the lease on the village swimming pool was also discussed at the meeting. White, who had earlier read sections of the minutes of the executive session October 13 at which the lease was discussed, moved that the village demand immediate payment of $2,333 owed to the village by the lessee, Ralph Rush.

Village attorney Lee Huckstep stated that Rush had been given until November 15 to reply to a previous letter requesting payment and that the letter must be honored.

Downs okays fire radios

The Ruidoso Downs trustees Tuesday evening spent nearly two hours discussing a proposed radio communications system to serve the Volunteer Fire Department.

The discussion centered on determining if it was feasible for the village to spend nearly $10,000 on the system, and to obtain the exact cost of installation, including labor.

"I think we need more discussion on this radio equipment. We need more studying to see if spending that money will do us

Capitan okays beer and wine for restaurants

Capitan voters Tuesday, by a margin of 81-22, approved the issuance of beer and wine licenses to restaurants, according to Leon Eggleston, Village clerk-treasurer.

The approval will allow any full service restaurant in Capitan to be licensed to serve beer and wine with meals.

good," said trustee Bob Power.

"In order to have the firemen available, we need this paging system so we can get hold of these people. On the last four out of five fires, there were no actual firemen at the scene. The fires were put out by members of the police department and the water department," said Police Chief Ray Garner.

The proposed system includes an indoor repeater, receiver, transmitter, duplexer, antenna, a 60 foot free standing tower, transmission lines and six pagers. The individual pagers would be issued to Volunteer Fire Department members so the fire chief could call them immediately in the event of a fire.

Rick Volquardsen, owner of Lincoln Communications, the company handling the proposed system, explained the advantages of the unit and presented a breakdown on equipment prices and labor costs.

"I'm not arguing if the system is good, bad or indifferent, but I don't know other expenses," said trustee Harrold Mansell.

Volquardsen guaranteed he would not charge in excess of $1,200 for labor to install the tower and equipment. Mayor pro tem Lois Beavers requested Volquardsen put his agreement in writing before the trustees approve purchasing the system.

In addition, the trustees requested a written agreement with the Village of Ruidoso be drawn up, stating that Ruidoso Downs has permission to install the system's tower on a Ruidoso water tank.

Trustees did approve increasing the budget to accommodate the expense of the new system, after all agreements are completed.

Board members tabled, until the November 9 meeting, Ordinance 81-7 concerning renewal of Continental Telephone Company's franchise contract. The 25 year franchise expires this year.

Also tabled was a review of a mobile home proposal, pending revisions in the ordinance regulating this type of home.

Bids were opened on two vehicles. Accepted by the board was a $75 bid for a 1963 one and one-half ton flatbed truck, and a $215 bid for a 1964 Dodge one-half ton pickup.

Virginia Spall, village clerk, asked the trustees to consider purchasing a new copier for office use. The office is using a loaner model while the original machine is being repaired. The approximate cost of the new machine is $1,695, Spall said.

The trustees took no action on Mansell's suggestion that the village consider the purchase of monitoring equipment to determine incoming and outgoing flow through the Regional Wastewater System. Mansell said, in his opinion, such equipment would help the village determine individual sewer charges more accurately.

Halloween activities planned

A series of gala events will highlight the Halloween festivities in Ruidoso Friday and Saturday.

A Halloween party, for those with entries in the pumpkin carving contest, will be held Friday at Ruidoso State Bank, main branch from 2-4 p.m.

White Mountain Elementary School will spend Friday afternoon from 12:30-3:30 operating a carnival. Teachers and students will be in costume while the teachers will man the booths.

Also on Friday afternoon at 1:30, Mimi Jungbluth, local artist, will be in hand to judge costumes at the Ruidoso Care Center. Residents will be judged on originality in face make-up and hats while staff members will be judged on a full costume.

The Nob Hill School carnival, with spook house, is scheduled for Saturday from 4:30-7:30 p.m.

White Mountain Middle School will start their festivities with a carnival from 6-7 p.m., with booths sponsored by the student council. Students will then run a spook house from 7-7:30 p.m., followed by a students' dance from 7:30-10 in the gym.

HALLOWEEN is nearly upon us, and petite Tricia Williamson is all set to carve her jack-o'-lantern — she just has to choose a pumpkin. The pumpkins were grown by Tricia's grandmother, Pauline Jarvis.

White then amended his motion to the November 15 date and it passed unanimously.

In other business, the trustees:

- Instructed the village manager and village attorney to determine the village's moral and legal position regarding a $7,800 cost overrun on auditorium seats for the administrative center.

- Heard a report from the village attorney on the non-profit corporation to acquire water rights for the village. Articles of incorporation and bylaws have been prepared, said Huckstep, and the search for five persons to serve on the corporation board should begin soon.

- Heard a report from street superintendent Jack LaMay on paving work. LaMay was instructed to call for bids on a striping machine, and to meet with the village manager and attorney on the possibility of purchasing a replacement hot mix plant for the village.

- Were asked by a representative of the Boy Scouts about which parts of town would most benefit from a cleanup drive.

- Approved the use of the Senior Citizens van by the Ruidoso Care Center three to four times per week.

- Approved a recommendation by village manager Jim Hine that the village not employ a planner under a federal grant and instead prepare its own comprehensive plan.

- Were advised by assistant village manager Frank Potter of a 10 a.m., November 4, meeting of state Highway Department representatives and village officials at the Administrative Center.

- Were told by Hine that the animal control officer has had difficulty obtaining liability insurance required by his contract.

- Instructed the building inspector Don Hendricks and village administrators to work out a problem regarding performance of inspections in Ruidoso Downs by Hendricks.

- Approved a rezoning from residential to commercial of Lot 10, Block 8 in Town and Country Estates for Elmer Pirelli.

Solar energy use seminar at Las Cruces

Cold nights remind us that winter will soon be here and that our heating bills will increase. There is something that you can do to obtain information that can help you make energy and dollar saving decisions.

The New Mexico Solar Energy Institute at New Mexico State University (NMSU) and the El Paso Electric Company — Mesilla Valley District, have teamed up to present an "Introduction to Residential Uses of Solar Energy" workshop at the Holiday Inn de Las Cruces November 7. A $10 fee will be charged to help defray expenses.

The program will include information about energy conservation, energy audits, energy conscious siting and design, energy consumer economics and tax credits, active solar space heating and domestic hot water, passive solar space heating and hot water, segments on photovoltaics and wind energy for residential use, information resources and a question and answer period.

To obtain a registration form or for further information contact Sue Mummia, Information Specialist, New Mexico Solar Energy Institute at New Mexico State University, Post Office Box 3 SOL, Las Cruces, New Mexico, 88003 or call (505) 646-4112, or in Las Cruces, you can pick up registration forms at Room 117, Engineering Complex, NMSU or at the El Paso Electric Company — Mesilla Valley District office, 201 North Water.

Pair of red wolves in St. Louis

The United States Fish and Wildlife Service (FWS) has announced that the Wild Canid Survival and Research Center in St. Louis, Missouri, received a pair of highly endangered red wolves on October 20. The Center is now the third site to be used for captive breeding and behavioral studies of the red wolf.

The wolves were air freighted from the Service's captive breeding center at the Point Defiance Zoo in Tacoma, Washington. The center presently has 42 red wolves; a mated pair was sent to the Audubon Zoological Garden in New Orleans last November.

The wolves at St. Louis are being held in a large secluded pen built with the assistance of the Missouri Department of Conservation at the Center's wolf sanctuary, located at Washington University's Tyson Research Center. The Wild Canid Survival and Research Center, under the direction of Martin Perkins, also holds a pair of equally endangered Mexican wolves that produced a litter of four pups on May 20, 1981.

The red wolf once roamed the southeastern United States from central Texas to central Missouri and eastward to the Atlantic Ocean. A remnant population of under 50 wolves existed near the Gulf coast on the Texas-Louisiana border, but was threatened with cross breeding with the much more abundant and adaptable coyote. Faced with an increasing human population, changes in land use, and predator control activities, the wolf declined rapidly since the early 1900's. Individual wolves became isolated and coyotes moved into their range. Interbreeding with the coyote led to a "hybrid swarm" which invaded the final

Pair arrested following high speed chase

Two persons from Albuquerque were apprehended near Carrizozo Monday after a high speed chase that involved units from four law enforcement agencies.

Jose Rascon, 19, and Maria Martinez, 20, were hospitalized in Ruidoso after their vehicle, driven by Rascon, turned over on a curve on Highway 380 ten miles west of Carrizozo. The car, a 1980 TransAm reported stolen out of Texas, was traveling at 115 miles per hour when it crashed, according to the sheriff's office.

Units from the Sheriff's Department, New Mexico State Police and Carrizozo Police were in pursuit of the car when it crashed, a sheriff's spokesman said.

The following account of the incident was gleaned from a report released by the sheriff's office.

The episode began when Captain Police received a call Monday afternoon that a suspect had left Jerry's Quick Stop in Hondo without paying for gasoline. A roadblock was set up at Captain but the suspects' vehicle did not stop.

A second roadblock was set up by a sheriff's deputy at the Nogal turnoff eight miles east of Carrizozo. Again the car failed to stop, and the deputy pursued it.

Carrizozo police and sheriff's deputies set up a third roadblock just east of Carrizozo, this time with units parked on the highway. According to the sheriff's report, the suspects' vehicle ran off the pavement to avoid the roadblock and sped on through Carrizozo, crossing the Highway 380/54 intersection at an estimated 85 to 90 miles per hour.

At this time, a State Police unit joined the chase. The speeding vehicle went out of control at Red Hill and the suspects were taken into custody by sheriff's deputies.

The distance from the scene of the alleged offense at Hondo, to the site of the crash at Red Hill, was estimated to be 55 miles. The time from the first call at 3:48 p.m., to the time of the capture at 4:30 was 44 minutes.

Rascon remained hospitalized at Ruidoso-Hondo Valley Hospital Thursday with fractures and lacerations. His condition was not considered serious, a hospital spokesman said.

Martinez was treated for minor lacerations and released Tuesday. She was being held in the county jail under $1,000 bond Wednesday, charged with accomplice to a crime.

Charges against Rascon are pending, according to the sheriff's office. Rascon was found to have an outstanding warrant from Vega, Texas, for car theft and two warrants from Albuquerque for parole violation, a sheriff's spokesman said.

Domenici bill would solve forest boundary disputes

Senator Pete Domenici last week introduced Charlene Ward, Alamogordo, before the subcommittee on Forestry, Water Resources and Environment, as she testified on behalf of S.703, the Lincoln Forest Boundary Bill, which Domenici introduced last March.

Domenici's bill would allow the settlement of land disputes at the local level in setting up a procedure by which the forest service could transfer small land tracts to private adjacent land owners.

Ward is a member of the steering committee of Otero County land owners who requested the aid of Domenici in introducing legislation to deal with this problem, and is a member of the New Mexico Land and Titlement Association.

"While this bill applies directly to landowners in Otero County whose private land borders the Lincoln National Forest, it is national in scope," Domenici said.

"Early faulty surveys by federal agencies, as well as the use of new technology such as laser surveying have created a problem for land owners adjacent to federal land. These private land owners have discovered that land once theirs is now part of the national forest.

"Under current federal law, these disputes are very hard to work out and involve either private relief bills through congress or actual court suits.

"Nationwide, there are over 50,000 disputes over boundaries and these numbers grow every day as the federal government resurveys its lands.

"This legislation would correct this inequity by setting up the procedure with the forest service to transfer small land tracts under 10 acres to adjacent private land owners with claims. Currently the forest service does not have this authority.

"This bill would affect more than just the Lincoln National Forest, if passed. It would set the precedent by which other land disputes, such as this in which private land owners border resurveyed federal land, could be settled."

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest R. Blood feted on sixtieth wedding anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest R. Blood Saturday afternoon celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary at an open house at their Alto ranch, hosted by their daughters, Alice Lindsey of Denton, Texas, and Jo Nell Lindsey of Portales.

Attending were approximately seventy relatives and friends, including ten guests who attended the wedding of Ernest Blood and Nora Hightower, October 23, 1921, in a building formerly located on Highway 37, across from where High Country Lodge now stands, which served as both church and school for the Alto community at that time.

One of the messages of congratulations received by the Bloods was from President and Mrs. Reagan.

Mrs. Blood, a lifelong Alto resident, was born on the banks of the Bonito, at the home of her maternal grandparents, who had settled the Alto ranch where the Bloods now live, in 1880.

Mr. Blood moved to New Mexico in 1914, from Corsicana, Texas.

After their marriage, the Bloods farmed and operated a dairy serving the Ruidoso area from 1942 until their retirement, about 12 years ago.

Presiding at the guest book was the couple's only granddaughter, Sue Lewis of Normal, Illinois.

At a table decorated with a floral arrangement of pink and white baby roses and baby's breath, Teresa Coe, Verna Adams and Yvonne Lanelli served guests punch and a white cake decorated with pink roses, shaped as interlocking wedding rings, bearing the inscription, "Ernest-Nora, 1921-1981."

The floral theme of pink and white baby roses and baby's breath was also carried out in the corsages of Mrs. Blood and the hostesses and in Mr. Blood's boutonniere.

Assisting with courtesies were Marjorie Hightower, Alto; Terri Lindsey of Fort Worth, Texas, and Bill Adams of Capitan.

Guests at the Saturday afternoon reception included: Evelyn H. Lazarus, California; Della Hale, Denver, Colorado; Sue Lewis, Normal, Illinois; Hope Akers, Corsicana, Texas, a grade school classmate of Mr. Blood's; John and Margaret White, Del City, Texas; Alice Lindsey, Denton, Texas; Stanley and Loretta Hightower and family and Amelia Johnstone, El Paso, Texas; Jim and Terri Lindsey, Fort Worth, Texas; Nellie Harrington, Alamogordo; Lester and Yvonne Lanelli, Colleen Wilson, Mike and Karen Hernandez and family, Betty Bonham, Glen O. Hinkle and Marjorie Hightower, Alto; Gil and Chloe Peters, Angus; Vera Jones, Bingham; Lula Runnels, Bonito; Lula Anderson, Verna and Bill Adams, Zona H. Cresap, Zenobia Donohoe and sister Evelyn, Reba L. Barber, Herbert Lee and Alice Traylor, Capitan; Albert Lindamood, Carrizozo; Melvin Coe, Cloudcroft; Hope Akers and Sybil Akers, Hatch; Louise Runnels, La Luz; Charlie and Mabel Pfingston and Cora LaMay Dutton, Nogal; Troy and Jo Nell Brooks and Russell Brooks, Portales; A. ## New teacher

Cindy Geyer joined the faculty of White Mountain Elementary School three weeks ago, as a fourth grade teacher, to relieve an overcrowded teacher.

Originally from Terre Haute, Indiana, Geyer earned her Bachelor of Science Degree from the University of Idaho in elementary education, where she met her husband, Ron Geyer, biology teacher and junior varsity football coach at Ruidoso High School.

She taught grades two, four, five, six, seven and eight during the past three years in El Paso, Texas.

The Geyers moved to Ruidoso in August.

Mitchell heads county Democrats

Gary Mitchell, Ruidoso lawyer, was elected Lincoln County chairman of the Democratic party at the county convention Tuesday night, succeeding Charlotte Jarratt.

GARY MITCHELL

Representatives from all but two precincts were on hand to nominate and elect the new executive board for the county.

Serving as vice-chairperson will be Jean Patterson, also of Ruidoso. Leon Eggleston of Capitan was elected secretary, succeeding Coletta Elliot while R. C. Nunez retained his position of treasurer.

In Mitchell's opening remarks as new chairman, he thanked Jarratt for her past two years of service to the county and asked the general assembly for their support.

The state convention is November 7 in Albuquerque.

Neal/Owen vows exchanged

Patricia Lynne Neal, Ruidoso, and Phillip Guy Owens, Roswell, exchanged wedding vows September 27, in a double ring ceremony in the Ruidoso First Christian Church performed by the Reverend Ken Cole, pastor.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Richard Hall, Ruidoso, and Doyle Neal, Truth or Consequences and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip H. Owen of Roswell.

The church was decorated in mums, gladiolas, carnations, baby's breath and greenery with background greenery and white dahlias.

Nancy Behken, Portales, sang "Through the Eyes of Love", and was joined by Mark Dunn, Roswell, to sing, "My Endless Love." The accompanist was Jane Watt of Portales.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore shoulder cap sleeves over a crystal pleated gown with alencon lace accented with pearls and sequins, with sweetheart neckline modified with a Queen Ann neck and a chapel length train. Her fingertip length veil was lace trimmed and her headpiece was of alencon lace with pearls and sequins.

The bride's something old was a pearl necklace; something new, pearl earrings; something borrowed, a white Bible from Gayla Pearson; she wore a blue sashet attached to her garter and her flowers were white carnations, baby's breath and greenery.

Mrs. Tommie Neal of Bovina, Texas, sister-in-law of the bride, was Matron of Honor. She wore a deep teal blue crystal pleated gown, with jacket.

The bridesmaids were Carol Thorpe and Dana Ross of Portales, and Susan Owen, Roswell, sister of the bridegroom. Their gowns were identical to that worn by the Matron of Honor.

Best Man was Billy Baker, Los Alamos. Groomsmen were Duppy Williams, Gary Yoder, cousin of the bridegroom, and Scott Neal, brother of the bride. The ushers were Tim Owen, brother of the bridegroom, Clifton Neal, brother of the bride, and David Baker and Craig Llesure.

The bride's mother wore a crystal pleated gown of apricot, beige and light yellow, with a silk arrangement of beige and apricot orchids.

The bridegroom's mother wore a mocha colored crystal pleated gown with a crystal pleated jacket, with a silk arrangement of beige and cream orchids.

A reception followed the ceremony in the Texas Club which was decorated with white carnations, teal blue and brown carnations, baby's breath, white mums and dahlias. LeAnn Blocker served the cake, Trish Boatright was at the punch bowl, Rae Jean Thompson handled the guest book and Kimberly Richards attended the gift table.

Following a honeymoon to Cloudcroft and Fort Worth and Dallas, Texas, the couple are at home at 112 Third Street, Apartment 24, Roswell.

The bride, who attended Eastern New Mexico University, is employed at Security National Bank. The bridegroom is a 1979 graduate of Eastern New Mexico University, with a masters of finance degree.

Garage sale ordinance changed rules

Persons who are planning to have garage sales should be aware of a new village ordinance regarding the sales, village Planning and Zoning Officer John Cupp said Friday.

According to Ordinance 81-17, which took effect last month, the following conditions for garage sales must be met: —A permit must be obtained from the village clerk. Cost of the permit is five dollars.

—Duration of the sales is a maximum of three consecutive days.

—Only personal, used items may be sold.

—Signs are allowed at the residence only.

—No more than three sales per year may take place at any one residence.

TICKETS FOR CHRISTMAS bazaar and dinner, November 14, at the First Christian Church, are on sale by Christian Women's Fellowship (CWF)

Yule bazaar and dinner planned

A planning committee of the Christian Women's Fellowship (CWF), of the First Christian Church, met Tuesday at the home of Diane Coulston to begin the accumulation of handcrafted items and to distribute tickets for the second annual CWF Christmas bazaar and dinner, scheduled for Saturday, November 14, at the First Christian Church.

There is no charge for the bazaar, which the church women will operate from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., Coulston said. Tickets for the turkey and dressing dinner, which will be served from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m., are $4.50 for adults and $3.00 for children under 12, and may be purchased from any CWF member or at the door, she said. To satisfy those with a sweet tooth, a dessert of home made doughnuts and Louisiana coffee will be served, Coulston said.

Craft items available at the bazaar will include Christmas decorations and ornaments, baked goods, plants, hand crafted clothing, pillows and afghans and many specialty items, Coulston said.

The Mesalero Apache Tribe will have a table of crafts at the bazaar, Coulston said, as will Ruidoso Care Center. Proceeds from the CWF Center crafts will go toward the purchase of more craft materials for the center, Emmadair Jones, CWF member, said.

Committee seeking pioneers to honor

Members of the Pioneer Appreciation Committee Monday established a "loose criteria" for commemorating area pioneers who have contributed to the growth of Ruidoso, in a way as yet to be decided, sometime this coming year.

In their second meeting, in the Chamber of Commerce offices Monday afternoon, the committee decided the person or persons to be honored "do not necessarily have to be residing in the Ruidoso area at this time."

The group also began the process of singling out the names of persons who qualify for the honor, coming up with a pool of over forty names.

In addition, committee member George White said, "if anyone knows of somebody who ought to be considered, for heaven's sake, pick up the phone and call one of us."

Nominations will be accepted by any of the following committee members: Richard Sandoval, committee chairman and Chamber president, 257-7341; Billie Clarke, 257-7303 or 257-2141; George White, 257-4322 and Ed Jungbluth, Chamber executive director, 257-7295.

Items to be considered at the November meeting of the group are funding and the setting of a date for the ceremonies.

SPORTS

Around Sports

with Gary Brown

This has been a strange National Football League season.

Only Philadelphia among the traditional NFL powers has been consistent this year and even the Eagles have struggled of late.

Still, Philadelphia has the best record in the league (7-1) and has shown an ability to come from behind. So they're number one in my personal poll again this week.

Kansas City keeps on rolling. The Chiefs now lead the American Conference Western Division and showed a lot of maturity by rallying to beat Oakland after being 17 points behind Sunday. Put the Chiefs second.

Dallas is third. The Cowboys have rallied after their stunning loss to San Francisco and have won two straight. They didn't play well against Miami but still won, the mark of a good team.

Buffalo is fourth by the barest of margins. The Bills pulled within half a game of Miami by beating Denver in the last few seconds Sunday. The Bills defeated Miami easily in their one encounter this season.

Miami and San Francisco are tied for fifth. The Dolphins gave Dallas all it could handle and their defense, although a bit shaky against the Cowboys, is improving. The 49ers are the surprise of the league. They've defeated Dallas and Los Angeles and have a two game lead in the National Conference Western Division. When they acquired defensive end Fred Dean from San Diego they may have earned themselves a spot in the playoffs.

San Diego and Denver are the top honorable mention teams. A local Charger fan pointed out that SD had beaten the Chiefs in an earlier encounter. I had said they didn't. He's right but the Chargers' dismal loss to doormat Chicago Sunday knocks them out of the top five. If they don't improve their defense they won't make the playoffs.

Denver has lost the last two games but the Broncos are still one of the best defensive teams around and they are just one game off the AFC's Western Division lead. The key to the remainder of the Denver season will probably be how well quarterback Craig Morton stands up against the pass rush. At 38 he may not have many years, or even months left.

There are several teams listed right behind Denver and San Diego. Cincinnati, Pittsburgh, Minnesota, Atlanta and Los Angeles all have good clubs and will have to be reckoned with.

It's still a long season and no division race is under the control of any one team. San Francisco is the only division leader with a two game lead and the 49ers are still too young to rate as a solid favorite in their division.

The football game between the University of New Mexico and New Mexico State Saturday night in Las Cruces was a classic example of how teams get up for their big rivalry.

Few neutral observers gave NMS a chance but the Aggies came out and gave the Lobos all they could handle before falling 17-13 in the last few minutes.

Although UNM had a solid advantage in the statistical category, the Aggies made their yardage when it counted and pushed the Lobos to their limit.

The Aggies, now 2-5 on the year, should be a competitive ball club the rest of the season in the Missouri Valley Conference. UNM has a tougher time of it in the strong West Coast Athletic Conference but should still be able to win at least one more game. The Lobos are 3-5 this season and another win would surpass their victory total of last season.

Strikers top Alamogordo 6-1

The under-16-year-old Strikers struck a blow for youth soccer in the Ruidoso area by dumping host Alamogordo 6-1 Sunday afternoon.

Fansio Olvera led the winners' attack with three goals while Jason Bigham, Ryan Brown and Bart Bower each added single goals. Goalie Harry Ensor had at least "20 saves in the second half," according to coach Danny Sanchez.

"It was a real team effort," Sanchez said of the victory.

Hot Ruidoso hosts T or C griders

After putting it all together against Deming last week Ruidoso High School's football team must find a way to keep its momentum up for the last two weeks of the regular season.

The effort starts when the Warriors meet the visiting Truth or Consequences (T or C) team tomorrow night.

The Warriors came through with probably their best all-around performance of the year in belting Deming 42-20 last week to stay one game behind district 3-AAA leader Silver City. Ruidoso, 2-1 in district and 7-1 overall, has to beat T or C tomorrow and Silver City (SC) next week to clinch a berth in the state playoffs.

Technically Ruidoso can lose one of the remaining contests and still make the playoffs. That's not likely, however, as the Warriors are currently tied with Tularosa and the Wildcats beat Ruidoso 13-0 two weeks ago. If two teams tie for second place the team that won the game between the two of them advances to the playoffs.

"The best thing to do for us is to win our last two games," said Ruidoso head coach Darrel Stierwalt in a bit of an understatement. "We have to win our games and hope Silver City beats Tularosa this week."

If Tularosa defeats SC while the Warriors top T or C it would create a confusing situation for the last week of the regular season. If Tularosa beats winless Cobre while the Warriors defeat SC the Wildcats would be the champs while Ruidoso would get the second-place playoff berth.

But first things first. The Warriors are healthy for the T or C game and plan to go with the same starting lineup on both offense and defense that they had against Deming.

"We'll probably go with Scott Neal at quarterback again for the first part of the game," said Stierwalt. "Once we get the running game going Scott will switch to tailback and Billy Woodul will come in at quarterback."

The Warriors displayed their most balanced running attack of the season against Deming, rolling up 221 yards. Neal had 73 yards and junior Pete Garcia added 70 to lead the Warriors. Grady Williamson added 55, Lon Nunley 42 and Chris Lopez 31.

If Ruidoso can equal that output against the Tigers it should pick up a win.

"We think we can move the ball on them," said Stierwalt. "They've got good personnel but we think we've got better players. But they're still a tough, solid well-coached ball club."

Ruidoso's offensive line played extremely well against Deming. Nunley, David Swalander and Ken Bradley lead a solid group that has gradually improved throughout the season despite tougher competition and injuries.

T or C is 1-2 in district competition and 3-4 overall. One of the non-district losses was a 35-14 defeat at the hands of Socorro, a team Ruidoso defeated 21-12.

However, the Tigers gave Tularosa all it could handle before losing 7-6 last week. T or C fumbled twice inside the Tularosa 10 yard line or it might well have won the game.

"They've got some good backs and a sound, good-sized offensive line," said Stierwalt. "Their top player is probably Gilbert Zamora, a tackle-guard who weighs 193 pounds and is a strong kid."

Zamora leads an offensive line that averages 180 pounds a man. Darwin

Sullivan is the quarterback, and at 175 pounds, has a strong arm.

But Karl Strickland is probably the top Tiger offensive threat. A 165 pound running back, he has plenty of hard running ability and good speed.

But if Ruidoso's defense can play as heads up ball as it did last week it should be able to stop the Tigers. The Warriors intercepted four Deming passes and recovered four fumbles.

Linebacker Darliah Rad recovered three of those fumbles and played an outstanding all around game. The rest of the linebacking corps: Kyle Plack, Byron Wright and Nunley also did well. Deming could only gain 42 yards rushing and most of its 190 yards passing came in the fourth quarter when Ruidoso was in a prevent defense and was playing with its reserves.

NOTES—Ruidoso moved from sixth to fourth in the Associated Press state AAA poll this week. Portales was top ranked and St. Pius was rated second.

AL MCCHESNEY (right) takes up a fighting pose with Las Piedras Boxing Team coach Steve Zlotnicki. McChesney has been a college boxing coach, official and referee for 10 years. Before that he was an amateur boxer in high school and college. He plans on holding a clinic on boxing next month.

Official hopes to build boxing in Ruidoso

Alan McChesney is a man with a mission.

The West Chester, Pennsylvania, native has been involved with boxing most of his life and would like to see the sport gain popularity in Ruidoso and the whole state of New Mexico.

McChesney, who was a standout amateur boxer in the late 1940's and has had extensive experience as a college coach and boxing official, has established a branch of his architectural firm, McChesney Associates, in Ruidoso.

And he wants to spend a lot of time with the local youth boxing program, the Las Piedras Boxing Team (LPBT), sponsored by the local branch of the Vietnam Veterans of America and coached by Lucky Mulqueen, Steve Zlotnicki and Frank Crawley.

"I want to have an officiating clinic that would help everyone involved with the sport, kids, coaches and officials," McChesney said. "This clinic would be mainly designed to teach the rules of boxing to would-be officials but all young boxers and coaches would also be invited."

McChesney feels that officiating at boxing matches across the country could be improved and that is one of the reasons he's planning the clinic.

"If the kids (boxers) can train for six months for a fight, there's no reason why an official should not be at his absolute peak for six minutes," McChesney said. "Officials and refs work hard. However, the kids are improving. So should the officials, the kids deserve it."

McChesney started his boxing career in 1946 as a member of the Swarthmore, Pennsylvania, Boxing Club. He competed for three years and had an amateur record of 17-0. He participated on the Penn State boxing team from 1950 to 1954 and had a sparkling 19-1 record.

After a tour as an officer in the Navy he established his architectural career but kept his interest in boxing alive. He was president and co-founder of the National Collegiate Boxing Association (NCBA) from 1975 to the present and was also secretary and co-founder of the Eastern Collegiate Boxing Association (ECBA) from 1973 to the present. He was mentor to several outstanding boxers while he was coach of the West Chester State College team from 1972 to 1980.

One of them is Jimmy Clark, who is from Pennsylvania and is now a promising professional heavyweight.

"I coached him at West Chester State," McChesney said of Clark. "He was the 1977 Golden Gloves heavyweight champion in the open division and knocked out Igor Vysotsky of the Soviet Union in the United States-Soviet match in 1975."

Now Clark is 9-0 on the professional level and at 6-3, 220 pounds, has potential. He also has a bachelor's degree in criminology and is making $35,000 a year helping teenagers.

"That's the best thing," said McChesney. "If it hadn't been for boxing he would never have gotten a degree."

McChesney also had nine years of experience as a referee and judge for the NCBA, ECBA, Amateur Athletic Association Union, Golden Gloves of America and other organizations.

So now he brings his experience to the Ruidoso area where the LPBT is growing in its second year of existence.

required." Above all, McChesney is concerned with how the young kids in the ring turn out in life.

"We're trying to make officiating better so kids can get a break in the ring," he said. "But we're more concerned that they do well in life. As long as they can get motivated by boxing to somewhere along in life get more education that's the main thing."

"I really don't care that much how they do in the ring as long as they succeed in life."

Hot Tots ski training to start Tuesday

Dryland training for the Hot Tots ski program begins Tuesday at the old ski run in Cedar Creek, behind the Smokey Bear Ranger Station.

The Hot Tot skiing program is beginning its third year and is open to children ages four to seven, according to Cathy Allen, coach.

A special ski package is covered by the enrollment fee including passes to the ski areas, lessons all season, gymnastic lessons once a week and races on Saturdays with trophies and prizes.

For more information on cost and location of the dryland training, contact Allen at 378-4023 — 257-2943.

Snow-making improvements at Sierra Blanca ski resort delayed a year

Plans to improve the snow making process at Sierra Blanca Ski Resort have been delayed until the 1982-83 skiing season, according to manager Roy Parker.

"We had hoped to finish this project for this ski season," Parker said. "However we weren't able to find water until just a few weeks ago. We had to drill three holes before we found it. We only tested it October 23."

Currently the snow machines at Sierra Blanca can only make enough snow to cover Chairs 3 and 5, which are for beginners and novices. There're not enough machines to make snow for Chair 4, which is for more advanced skiers.

The resort has six snow machines now and hopes to have 15 to 20 for next season. That would be enough to make snow for all three chairs.

"We'll be using the same type of equipment for next season but in bigger quantity," said Parker. "Even though we found water the problem is installing pipes and a storage tank. We will probably have to build at least four to five miles of pipes. Getting the machines isn't the big problem."

Snow machines make snow by breaking water up into small particles and freezing it into snow.

"We will work on each chair area at one time before proceeding to the next one to make snow," Parker said. "With the new machine we hope to be able to take care of Chair 4 which is for the intermediate skiers."

The project is also a costly one according to Parker.

"It only cost around $15,000 to drill for the water," he said. "However, the entire project will probably run at least $500,000 or $600,000. The installation of the pipes and storage tank is the big cost and very time consuming."

The project has been in the planning stages since the spring of 1980 and an extra summer is needed because of the amount of work that has to be done.

Sierra Blanca also has plans to build another ski chair. The new one would be called Apache Bowl Chair 6 and would go to an elevation of 11,500 feet, 100 feet above the current level of the Gondola lift. Plans are for it to be completed next season, along with the extra snow machine system.

Despite the problems, Parker is optimistic that Sierra Blanca will enjoy a good season this year.

"Last year was one of the worst we've had in the 17 years I've been here," he said. "We also had bad years in 1967 and 1971."

"We've never had two bad seasons in a row since I've been here although it's not impossible for that to happen. Usually things are pretty good here. We average about 200,000 to 225,000 tickets a season."

Parker also said that there isn't a need to make snow every season.

"Usually in a 10 year span you have to make an extensive amount of snow about two seasons," he said. "You may also have to make a limited or moderate amount of snow two or three other seasons. So at the most you're looking at making snow just half of the seasons within that 10 year span."

Around three inches of snow fell on the resort area last week, which is about average for this time of year according to Parker.

"We're expecting to open the resort for skiing around Thanksgiving," he said. "We can't tell for sure but that's about the usual time we open it."

SIERRA BLANCA Ski Resort will be using these machines to make snow this season. Resort manager Roy Parker is hoping to increase the number of machines from six at present to 15 or 20 next season. Snow is made by turning water into tiny particles and freezing them. The ski season is scheduled to start around Thanksgiving.

THIS WELL, foreground, was dug to provide water for the snow machines. It was tested last week but there is too much work left to get the whole system ready for the extra machines this winter. Resort officials are hopeful the system can be ready for next season. The estimated cost of the project will run around $500,000 $600,000.

JERRY JACOBS is the new owner of Hospital Pharmacy and Ruidoso Drug. He's from Albuquerque where he graduated from pharmacy school and worked in pharmacies for 15 years.

CM hosts scramble tourney

Cree Meadows Country Club will be the site of an 18 hole mixed scramble golf tournament Sunday afternoon.

The tournament is scheduled to begin at noon. People who are interested in participating can sign up, by 10 a.m., at the pro shop.

Winners will receive certificates.

Cree Meadows is also staging a four-some flag tournament Turkey Shoot on November 22, with a noon sign up deadline. Golfers will be allowed to combine a score of 71 plus handicap.

Youth sports on tap

There are plenty of activities besides varsity football involving Ruidoso area youths this weekend.

Tonight the Ruidoso junior varsity hosts Goddard in a season-ending contest. The game begins at 6. The White Mountain Middle School team concludes its season at Carrizozo with a 3:00 contest this afternoon.

Saturday the Ruidoso High School volleyball squad travels to Coire for a doubleheader with the host school and Silver City. The first match should start at 1 p.m.

Also on Saturday, the Ruidoso-Sertoma Soccer Association holds its last regular season matches at White Mountain Middle School. Action begins at 9 a.m. The soccer playoffs begin next weekend.

CUBMASTER, JIMMY GOODWIN, assisted by "good witch" (and wife), Janet, present achievement awards to Pack 95 Cub and Webelos Scouts at Monday pack meeting.

Cub Scout Pack 95 held awards ceremony

Members of Cub Scout Pack 95 received achievement awards in ceremonies Monday evening at First Christian Church, with Cubmaster Jimmy Goodwin making the presentations to more than 20 Cub and Webelos Scouts.

Halloween jack-o-lanterns, representing the three different levels of achievement earned by pack members this month, decorated the awards table.

Bobcat awards were handed out to Den I Cubs, Neil Harris, Bryan Farus, Shane Barnett, Shane Gateley and Michael Hays, and to Den II Cubs, Darrell Guinn, Michael Chavez, Vincent Chavez, David Stiles, Mitchell Brooks and Chris Volquardsen. Webelos Activity awards were presented to Shayne Paquin, Peter Gabel, Eric Collins, Dusty Skelett, Jesse Foster and Conrad Streeter.

A film on the father-son Council Camporee, held October 10 and 11, at Baca Campground, was shown and narrated by Goodwin—with participation by the Scouts. "A boy must go on a father-son campout with his dad to earn the highest Cub Scout award—the Arrow of Light," Coni Foster, committee member said Tuesday.

The pack also saw film footage on the Conquistador Council Pushmobile runoff, held last Sunday in Roswell. Pack 59's eight man relay team came in first with their pushmobile over all nine-year-olds in the council.

"We came home with many, many blue and red ribbons and trophies," Foster said. The pushmobiles, she said, were built using the "ingenuity of den leaders, the boys and other resource materials."

and Shane Gateley. And, not pictured, Michael Hays and Cody Willard. In back row are Moms and Cubmaster, Jimmy Goodwin.

Drawing is big challenge to Mid-School's art students

White Mountain Middle School art students are learning to draw.

They're also learning to tackle the task by combining psychology and philosophy.

With the aid of the book, "Drawing on the Right Side of the Brain," written by Betty Edwards, art instructor Betty Day is learning to draw along with the class.

"The book teaches you how to draw. It sets up a method for anybody," Day said. Before this fall, Day's art classes had focused on sculpture, pottery, batik and sand paintings, because Day said she really didn't know how to draw or how to teach it.

"I'm learning right along with the kids. It's just thrilling me," Day said. In the method of learning presented in the book, a study is made of the functions of each part of the brain.

"The students were bored at first—there's so much reading. But you have to work your way into it," Day said.

The left side of the brain controls verbal and rational functions, as the logical half. The right side, however, is the side that is more non-verbal and imaginary. This is the part that is used in day dreaming.

"By the time a child reaches age 10 or 12, academics become important. Day dreaming is looked upon as something a student shouldn't do," Day said.

She admitted that it is reading, writing and arithmetic that gets more attention than art, so that is why the left side of the brain is used so dominantly.

Through various stages, the students learn to quiet the left side of the brain until they can concentrate on using only the right side, requiring silence and intense concentration.

When awakening the right side of the brain, the students are encouraged to relax as much as possible and concentrate only on images and feeling what they want to draw. Once in awhile, however, the students get so relaxed, they have been known to fall asleep in class, according to Day.

Each of Day's approximately 45 art students keeps a file of drawings so they may gauge their improvement. The first exercise was to draw a picture of their hand. Since beginning the class, the students have drawn their hand three times, each time showing improvement gained through what they have learned.

Drawing a figure upside down is another exercise designed to let the student feel the lines, rather than let the left side of the brain dominate and try-to-rationally figure out what the hand is drawing. Next, the students will be drawing chairs and eventually will work up to drawing a self-portrait, looking at their paper 10 percent of the time and into a mirror 90 percent of the time.

"The book is not a text, but it is a unique teacher's aid," Day said. "I would advise anyone who teaches drawing to read it completely through, so they can learn, too."

A HANDS DOWN IMPROVEMENT in drawing skills is displayed in these two pictures. The hand on the left was drawn at the beginning of school while the second one was produced last week. Both drawings are the product of Dalton Hamilton, a mid-school art student in Betty Day's class.

Christmas tree cutting only for personal use

The Lincoln National Forest Christmas tree cutting program will begin soon with trees available only to individuals or organizations on a personal use basis. No commercial Christmas tree permits are being issued this year.

The program will be conducted similar to the one of last year. To cut a Christmas tree on the Forest, one must have a permit. Permits cost $3 and can be obtained by mailing a completed application, together with a check or money order to the Lincoln National Forest Supervisor's Office in Alamogordo. For added convenience, individuals may drop their completed application in a box in the lobby of the Supervisor's Office. Permits will be issued on a strict "first-come, first served" basis.

Forest Supervisor James Abbott said that a total of 8,800 trees will be sold this year, with each ranger district on the Forest having an allotment of trees. The Smokey Bear District at Ruidoso will have 1,500 trees in an area south of Glencoe. The Cloudcroft District will have 1,800 trees in three cutting areas. The Mayhill District will have 850 trees in an area north of Mayhill. Two areas in the Guadalupe Mountains on the Guadalupe District will have 2,850 trees available. Of the trees on the Cloudcroft District, 1,200 will be fir and pine, and the rest will be either pinyon or juniper.

Christmas tree permit applications will be available by October 30 at all Lincoln National Forest offices. Chambers of Commerce in numerous southeastern New Mexico and west Texas communities will be helping in the distribution program. They are Alamogordo, Las Cruces, Clovis, Portales, Roswell, Artesia, Lovington, Hobbs, Jal, and in Texas, El Paso, Midland, Odessa, and Lubbock. They will be available in post offices at Tularosa, Holloman, Loving and Carrizozo. The J. C. Penny Stores in El Paso and Las Cruces have also offered to assist in the distribution of Christmas tree permit applications. Processing of the permits will begin on November 9, and trees may be cut as the permits are received.

Damage to the forest caused by tree cutters in years past is of serious concern to the Forest Service. By "damage" is meant such things as large trees cut and "topped" for Christmas trees, stumps left too high, trees cut and then abandoned, and littering the forest.

"Those individuals who violate the few simple rules of our Christmas tree program are jeopardizing the future of the program for everyone," Abbott said. These rules are printed on the application form. Christmas tree cutters are asked to do their best to help the Forest Service promote good forest management.

"If the Christmas tree program is to continue, it will be because the participants care enough to make the program an asset, rather than a liability," Abbott said.

Digging up a Christmas tree is permitted. Groups may obtain a permit to cut a Christmas tree. Instructions for applying for a permit will be found on the application form. Trees taken under a group permit cannot be resold.

The Dreamer

BY DANNIE STORM

Indian Summer Begins
On My Birthday Eve

Here on October twenty-seven, as I look out on a mountain Indian Summer day, my heart overflows with gratefulness and joy, as I remember that seventy-two years ago my mother thanked God that all the months of prayers were answered—that I had arrived to see the light of day safe and sound.

And these prayers from Heaven still guide and protect me to this very day and hour, for the prayers of our mothers are with us always.

The light of day. This time of year these words have a special meaning for us. For Mother Earth speaks fondly to us at this season; and the sun casts its golden benediction down, making the very air rejoice in calm content.

After an unusually warm October, early in the morning of the twenty-sixth all the world was covered with frost. Not a heavy frost, but it came in the very darkest time of the moon, so that its power was very strong.

(The old timers used to talk about a White Frost and a Black Frost. If the moon is full, then the frost will be white. And the other way around. The black frost is the one with the freezing power.)

Therefore that day, we were in a different world. By mid morning the oak brush had turned its more delicate colors of lemon yellow, light crimson, and orange. The oaks along the river shone bronze and orange gold.

The walnut leaves were all fallen, or drifting in the air, or riding like hosts of tiny boats on the sparkling river. When the weather turns cold gradually, the walnut leaves have time to turn their light yellow, but on such years as this when the frost comes late and suddenly, the trees drop their leaves.

A Summer-like day

Today, the twenty-seventh, the air is still and there is the lightest cloud cover over some of the sky, and the temperature is an even eighty. There is a wonderful smell in the air of mature leaf aroma, mingled with the balm of pinon cones and cedar berries.

From the orchards the flavor of the very ripe apples floats to you on the warm light breeze.

The leaves send little echoes of their colors every where in the air, so that all the mountain world is glowing with many mingled shades of gold and purple, and crimson, and light pink and airy blue.

All in the hills and vales and meadows, there is a message that all is well, with better days ahead.

Many Kind Messages

It is always a pleasure to send someone in person who has been sending you kind words about the Silver Lining and The Dreamer.

On Friday, October twenty-three, at the home of Ken and Mary Lois Green, I had a grand visit with Mary Lois' aunt and uncle from Dallas, Lois and Leo Norton. This is a wonderfully charming couple, and it was a great birthday gift to become acquainted with these great folks. Also at the visit was Mary Lois' mother, Nell Zimmerman from Carlsbad. It was delightful to visit with Nell again.

I received a birthday card from my cousins, Marquerite and Claud Stevens of Escondido, California—something always more than welcome.

Claud and Marguerite had just returned from the fiftieth reunion of Claud's World War I Balloon Corps, in Omaha, Nebraska. Another beautiful card came from Mrs. Pat Delhot with the message, "Every sunrise is a message from God, and every sunset, His signature." And her charming daughter Jenny, who blends her angelic voice with that of her mother in the choir at the Church of the Holy Mount, sent a cheerful card featuring an antique car of a hundred or so years ago.

And as always through the years, here came a card from Floyd Haaks and Helga "The Nordic Queen." The card featured robins, squirrels, rabbits, raccoons, and other little creatures all in happy celebration.

And from Las Cruces came a greeting from the one and only Jewell Bonnell, long time friend of the Storm Family.

On Sunday, Judy and Wayne Kasuboski and children came up from Roswell with a grand birthday cake.

And Richard and Marilyn Lysack sent up a gift and card, also from Roswell. Willard and Althea Brownson, of Roswell, sent a card and bottle of ginger ale.

And other folks all sent many a blessing and message. Thanks and God Bless all of you for this, and many other birthday blessings.

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE
PROPERTY TAXPAYERS
Notice is hereby given that this year's property taxes will become due on Nov. 30, 1981 and delinquent on Dec. 31, 1981. These taxes may be paid in full before Dec. 31, of this year, or in two installments, (second half due April 5, 1982 and delinquent May 5, 1982).
Pursuant to Sec. 72-31-50 of the New Mexico property tax code a minimum penalty of $5.00 or one percent per month must be charged on delinquent taxes. Also pursuant to Sec. 72-31-43 one percent per month interest must be collected.
Failure to receive a tax billing is not sufficient cause to enable the late charge to be waived.
If you have any questions about your tax billing, please contact the Lincoln County Treasurer's office, at 248-2623.

Located 2.7 Miles East Of The "Y" On Highway 70

TWO BEDROOM MOBILE set up in mobile park is really nice! $3,000 down, owner financing on balance.

WE DARE YOU TO COMPARE. We have a 3 bedroom, 2 bath, doublewide with over 1,900 square feet that we feel compares with many homes listed in the $80,000 bracket, yet this home can be purchased for $59,000. It is located on a large 110'x170' lot that goes from street to street. Both streets are paved. All city utilities. Large living room with fireplace, large utility room with lots of storage, two heating systems and much more. It doesn't cost much to look and you may be glad you did.

VALLEY ACREAGE. This 4 acre tract has a home, barns, 100+ apple and pear trees (not to mention the other various types of fruit trees) and is priced at $130,000.00. Perfect for keeping your favorite horse or great for small truck farm.

LARGE RIVER LOT. 229 feet of river frontage makes this large 1.6 acre lot something special. Has a horse barn with storage area for feed, is close in yet out of the city limits. Priced reasonably for river property.

Inside The Capitol

by Fred McCaffrey

SANTA FE—Why are we suddenly seeing all these people who apparently want to be lieutenant governor of New Mexico?

It's a boring job, with little constitutional base. All the Constitution of the State of New Mexico says about this obscure position is that:

—It exists;
—It is exempt from the provision about all other members of the executive department that the incumbent should "during his or her term of office, reside and keep the public records, books, papers and seals of office at the seat of government" (translation: lieutenant governors are not required to be in Santa Fe all year long);

—If the occupant of the office dies during his or her tenure, there is no obligation to name a substitute;

—he or she gets to be governor if the occupant of that job dies during his or her incumbency;

—If an elected governor turns out not to qualify, the lieutenant governor is to act as governor till that problem is settled;

—when the governor is absent from the state, the lieutenant governor gets to fill the vacancy; and —the lieutenant governor gets to preside over the Senate, but only is allowed to vote in cases where the Senators are tied.

What's so great about that job?

It isn't much, and over the years not many have lusted for it unless they thought it might lead to bigger and better things. But then came Bob Mondragon.

This is going to be a little embarrassing to say. Mondragon, being duly elected lieutenant governor, didn't really have anything else to do.

For him, the post was not just a part-time job, as the Constitution, as quoted above, clearly meant it to be.

So Bob became the state's first full-time lieutenant governor.

He and his unlikely partner, Governor Bruce King, seemed to be agreed on that: Mondragon got a full-time job if he kept his mouth shut and didn't embarrass anybody.

The Constitution?

Forget it. If the Democrats said we could have a full-time, nothing-else-to-do lieutenant governor, that's what the state would have.

If you have the votes, you can do what you want.

So suddenly, without the problem of going in there and amending the state's Constitution, we just changed things. A lieutenant governor now gets to decide whether he or she wants the job to be full-time or part-time.

How nice!

What do we citizens get to do? We get to pay a full-time salary or a part-time salary, as ordered.

Do we get to choose which? Don't be silly. The incumbent tells us which we will provide.

Does the Constitution matter? Not if the Democratic legislative majority (most of whom do not even like Bob Mondragon) say this is how it will be done.

You gotta watch those minor offices the Constitution mentions.

If you don't, who knows what will happen to them?

In this case at least it is clear that it is no longer the Constitution which will rule. It is what is most convenient at this moment for the party in power.

King and Mondragon have always been a most unlikely pair. But King needed the hippie votes Mondragon, the guitar-player, might bring in. Because of that, the post of lieutenant governor got to be a new and unconstitutional job.

Sense & Nonsense

U.S. Sen. Pete Domenici

The Senate recently restored the Social Security Minimum benefit, putting to rest, at least for the time being the controversy surrounding this issue. Many had made this a partisan, political issue, and our legislation, which allowed for interfund borrowing between the three Social Security trust funds and reallocation of payroll taxes to ensure the short-term solvency of all three funds, was the best "quick fix" solution to a very difficult question.

One statement made by Social Security contributors is that the government is obligated to keep its promise and pay out benefits to those who qualify. They paid their money in faithfully over the years and expect to receive what the government promised them back when the program started. While we fulfilled the promise on a short-term basis for today's recipients with this legislation, we still have failed to address the long-term solvency problems. Many working men and women, who are today paying the largest Social Security taxes ever, do not believe we will fulfill that promise when they reach the age of retirement.

They point to two facts. First, Congress and past Administrations have paid only lip service to this problem and have passed nothing but "quick fix" legislation to put off the problem for the next Congress and the next Administration. Second, fraud and abuse is today so rampant in the Social Security system that it may never be solvent.

This Congress and this Administration is doing something about those two problems however. A commission has been set up by President Reagan, with representatives from the Administration, the Senate, and the House, to find a non-partisan solution to the problem. It is a critical problem and they will propose their solutions as soon as possible, to allow Congress the time to draw up and pass the necessary legislation, not very many years down the road, but in the very near future.

And we are doing something about the waste, fraud, and mismanagement in the Social Security system. My amendment to the Social Security Minimum Benefit Restoration Bill orders the Social Security Administration to present plans within 90 days to eliminate the payment of Social Security to recipients who have died. This one abuse, due simply to lax administration and poor management, is costing Social Security contributors at least $60 million a year.

I was shocked by this one example of managerial laxity. A recent investigation by the Social Security Administration, in which they used Medicare lists as a cross-reference since recipients must renew their membership in it every year, discovered more than 8,000 cases of dead recipients still receiving Social Security checks. This does not even take into account the thousands of overseas recipients who cannot be traced because they do not qualify for Medicare.

These Social Security checks were cashed by relatives of the dead recipient or in some cases by unscrupulous Social Security employees, who simply used the money for themselves. The Social Security Administration also learned that even when a family notified their local office that a recipient had died, the names were never dropped from the rolls.

We can never hope to make the system solvent if we cannot clean up even this simple kind of waste and mismanagement. I am sure everyone is in agreement, both contributors and recipients alike, that only those who qualify for those benefits should receive them. It is unfair to the Social Security contributors and recipients if these abuses continue.

I have urged the Secretary of Health and Human Services Richard Schweiker to move quickly toward correcting these problems, while we continue to find a long-term solution to Social Security solvency. The sooner we get this accomplished the sooner we can make Social Security a fiscally solvent and trusted institution for today's and tomorrow's recipients.

Letters to the Editor

Dear editor:

This letter is in response to the gentleman who recently wrote concerning physicians and dentists here in Ruidoso. He suggested that there was a lack of family practice physicians and general dentists, and further that one could expect a lengthy wait from those who are here. I am a new general dentist here in town and have been here for about two months; the gentleman must not have surveyed my office, for there is not a long wait for appointments. I would also like to attempt to clear an error which was made in the local phone book. In the yellow pages, my practice is listed as "Limited to Orthodontics". This is incorrect because it should have read "General Dentistry".

Vincent Straley, D.D.S.

Yours and Ours

editorial

Some Ruidoso Village Trustees continue to approach their jobs with a lack of respect for the community's citizens who elected them.

Twice last week the Trustees met behind closed doors while they discussed public business and the spending of public money. Neither meeting met state law criteria that allow closed meetings.

The first session had to do with problems at the swimming pool which was leased by the Village to Sierra Enterprises, Inc. last spring. The second session dealt further with pool problems and with the possible purchase of Ruidoso Natural Gas Co. Let's look at both these subjects:

The lease on the swimming pool is a matter of public record. It was published before acceptance and approved and signed in an open meeting. The terms and conditions required of both parties, including various penalties in event of default or breach, are outlined specifically in that public document.

There is absolutely no reason to discuss the swimming pool lease in secret session other than to protect friends from possible embarrassment, a provision which the state legislature didn't write into the present meetings law.

The franchise agreement with Ruidoso Natural Gas Co., has a "right of first offer" provision for the Village. The agreement is a matter of public record.

There is no reason to debate in secret whether the Village is interested in such a purchase. There is no reason to hire in secret a person to conduct a survey about the purchase of the gas company. If the Trustees wish to make a specific offer, the law allows them to discuss that in a closed meeting.

George White is the only Trustee who refused to keep the silliness of last week's closed meetings secret. He feels that the other Trustees are way out of line in discussing our business in secret. We agree with Mr. White.

Additionally, the trustees are getting poor political advice from the Village Attorney. The News has a copy of a letter from the Village Attorney to the Mayor and all the trustees in which the attorney suggests that Sierra Enterprises, the swimming pool operator, may not have met certain contractual obligations to the city. The attorney suggests that those matters be discussed "in executive session under the topic of 'Threatened Litigation'."

The only thing to be gained by following such advice is a new set of Trustees after the next Municipal Election. —kg

KIND OF A SHAME

School House Park ... Sunday, last ... for the Chamber of Commerce sponsored Fun Day in the Park ... wasn't exactly overrun with joy-makers.

This is kind of a shame ... a crying shame, even ... 'cause a lot of planning ... to say naught of cash outlay for those 25-cent hotdogs ... was involved in this annual fall family day.

The Dixieland music was great ... fact is, it was a good jam session ... and all concerned did their thing ... and toe tapping ... finger snapping ... and clapping music it was.

As to the kids ... and the races and tug-of-war ... they were exuberant ... and judging from reactions, they all had a ball ... even those as didn't glow onto a first place blue ribbon ... why, even as the park darkened ... being's the sun was on Mountain Standard Time ... about 4 p.m., ... one boy was bemoaning the fact they weren't holding the sack races ... I didn't ask him if'n he'd been practicing.

Biggest thing ... apparently ... judging from some comments that were being voiced ... was it was too cold ... too late ... and possibly those factors contributed ... and smaller than hoped for attendance.

'Course, we can't exactly fault the Chamber ... 'cause it's been a busy fall since the horses quit running ... lotsa attractions ... some folks been vacationing ... and, after all, even the planners of Fun Day in the Park were entitled to grab themselves a breathing spell, after all the fall action as has been going on.

Didn't seem to be any hot dog eaters ... though ... as was especially disturbed ... 'cause a lot of 'em was snarled down ... and, apparently, no blistered fingers from cooking their own resulted ... and that's just gotta be great ... but there's plenty of weiners left over for a roast ... if'n someone can figure how, why, when and where to have a hotdog shindig.

So ... maybe ... next time fall rolls around ... there'll be another Fun Day in the Park ... maybe like the day after the Aspenade parade ... or a Sunday or so after Labor Day ... 'cause it's a great outing as the Chamber plans ... and such a family fun day no family can get no cheaper nowhere.

HOBGOBLINS A COMIN'

Gird yourselves ... 'cause comes Saturday ... as darkness pervades Harmony Valley ... strange, weird, fearsome, toothsome creatures will be afoot ... on the streets ... seeking goodies to sate the appetite of their sweet tooth ... and even suggesting that there'll be consequences ... if'n no treats are shortly forthcoming ... which'll shiver your timbers.

It'll be Halloween eve ... and there'll be lotsa little guys out ... armed with a sturdy sack ... and probably paying more attention to where they're going next to make their plea ... than to the route which they'll be traversing.

Now ... this is where vehicle drivers come in ... 'cause, at times, these future parents of goody-hunting hobgoblins, is a mite hard to spot ... and we hope every driver will watch a little more out than usual ... 'cause we don't need to have any of these little guys getting hurt.

Halloween! Ah, yes, Halloween. Back when I was a tad ... and that's six decades ago ... Halloween was indeed a time for mischief ... and 'tweren't the present "trick or treat" ... 'cause there was back in the days of Chic Sales ... and involved the tipping over of this convenience ... and there was turpentine cats, which caused their tails to wind in unusual patterns ... and buggies torn down and erected atop the schoolhouse ... even a Model T or three likewise wound up atop a roof ... and the morn after Halloween eve the playground at the school looked like it was operated by a used farm machinery dealer ... then there was the cows, after being treated to mucho castor oil, as wound up on the third story of some buildings ... and there were other carryings on ... and all the perpetrators toiled diligently, their pranks to perform ... and profusely did they sweat ... and they worked up blisters ... and sore muscles ... but it was all fun ... causing a lot of people a lot of misery ... until came the morning after ... and then it wasn't nearly as much fun getting all the evidence of that mischief forthrightly removed.

BRIEF HIT: Tain't nothing like good old Mountain Standard Time to darken things up sooner so's the night's activities can begin faster ... CD

Outdoor lighting:

Protection for your property.

You can't beat bright outdoor lighting for an added measure of security for your home or business property. Well lighted property is less subject to vandalism, and discourages unwanted intruders. And, well lighted walkways, stairways, loading docks and parking areas mean there's less chance of accidents. Leased floodlighting for businesses, and the Nite-Liter for homes, come on automatically at dusk, and turn off at dawn. Both give more light per watt than conventional incandescent lighting, so you save money. To get outdoor lighting for your home or business, just give us a call.

Sunland Park Hoofbeats

BY MARK GORDON

ONLY TWO $2 SHOW tickets were sold on Ronnie's Renegade who ran third in Friday's first race at five and one-half furlongs. Those tickets were each worth $118.60, the highest show price for a $2 ticket in the history of Sunland Park. Only $4 of the total show pool of $1,406 was bet on the three-year-old Gaelic Christian filly. The previous record show price was $116.20 on Sea Nymph Go on December 12, 1973. Ronnie's Renegade was ridden by Salustio Burgos with odds of $166.40-1, the longest-price horse on Friday's program. She's owned by Ronnie R. Meador of Lamesa, Texas, and is trained by Billy D. Harper.

FRIDAY'S MUTUEL HANDLE of $207,778 was better than every Friday's mutuel handle during last season's fall session at Sunland Park except one. The only Friday a year ago during the fall with a greater wagering was a $227,273 on November 28.

TEN RIDERS EACH tallied one victory in Saturday's program. The only jockey gaining two triumphs was Louie Figueroa. He won aboard Khaled's Battle ($7.60) in the eighth and on favored Bare Blade ($6.60) in the twelfth. Riders each tallying a win included Harla Webb, Victor Escobar, Francisco Gonzalez, Vickie Smallwood, Salustio Burgos, Kevin Scholl, Louie Gomez, John Cushing, Willie Lovell and apprentice Brent Overton.

EASY ZIPPER MADE an impressive return to the races by running second to My Kids Trouble in Saturday's featured Savannah Swinger Distance Series No. 1. The three-year-old Easy Request filly had been away from the races since running fifth on July 23 at Los Alamitos near Los Angeles, California. Ridden by regular rider Mike Charles, she finished second.

just a half-length back in the 350 yard chase. Easy Zipper, who won last fall's $139,226 Sunland Park Fall Quarter Horse Futurity, was named Sunland Park's fall best two-year-old quarter horse filly and best two-year-old quarter horse. This year, she has won five of eight races, with one second, for earnings of $45,876. She's owned by Jerry and Peggy Stone of Lolita, Texas, and is trained by Doug McMullen.

IN STEWARD'S RULINGS: — The horse, Nashville Wind, who finished second on October 18 has been disqualified from all purse money because it failed to meet the screening rule. The purse was redistributed as follows: Victory's Image (1st); Zee's Turn (2nd); Honky King (3rd); Indli's Angel (4th) and Speedy Lu Two (5th).

— The jockey license issued to Albino C. Valenzuela Jr., was cancelled without prejudice. He was issued a trainer's license.

— The jockey license issued to Jack Allen Brown Jr., was cancelled without prejudice. He has been issued an owner's and trainer's license.

THE SEASON'S LARGEST daily double occurred Sunday when Ridan Chic and Trigger combined for a $430.40 payoff. Ridan Chic, a $13.50-1 outsider won the first race at five and one-half furlongs. The winning numbers were 1-10.

MASKEO ROCKET became the first two-time winner at the Sunland Park meeting. The two-year-old Maskeo Lad colt won his Shue Fly Stakes trial race last weekend with the fastest clocking of the 10 entrants, a 20.08. He won the $23,210 Shue Fly Stakes on Sunday at 400 yards with a brilliant 19.97 ending. As the second favorite, he returned $5.40 to win. He was ridden by veteran jockey Larry Byers. He's trained by Clifton Dean and owned by Sam F. Henderson of Odessa, Texas.

AFTER FIVE RACE DAYS, the total handle for the 1981-82 season stands at $1,572,553, which amounts to a daily average of $314,511. At this point a year ago, four race days had been run for a total handle of $1,108,150 and a $278,537 average. The current figure is a gain of 13.73 percent. The per-race average currently stands at $28,209, which also is a gain of 13.73 percent over last year's comparable figure.

EIGHT WINNERS came out of the No. 8 post over the weekend to set the pace in that category. From a seasonal standpoint, No. 3 is tops with 11 winners. Here's a complete seasonal breakdown: No. 1—7 wins, No. 2—7, No. 3—11, No. 4—3, No. 5—7, No. 6—10, No. 7—8, No. 8—7, No. 9—2, No. 10—6, No. 11—6, No. 12—0.

Arts group elects officers

The New Mexico Arts Commission, meeting October 28, in Santa Fe, elected and installed officers for the coming year. The chairman of the Arts Commission is Mrs. Consuelo S. Thompson of Espanola, who was appointed by Governor Bruce King to a three year term in 1979.

Mrs. Rona Rosequist of Taos was reelected vice-chairman of the Commission for the second consecutive year. She is chairman of the Funding Policy Committee, and a member of the Lone Range Planning and the Community Development Committees. She and her husband are owners of the Mission Gallery, Taos.

Mrs. Concha Ortiz y Pino de Kleven of Albuquerque was elected recording secretary of the Commission. She had previously served in this capacity in 1980. Mrs. de Kleven is chairman of the Awards Committee and is a member of the Long Range Planning Committee.

David M. Salzman of La Cueva was reelected Member-at-Large for the second time. Salzman, a rancher, served in the New Mexico House of Representatives from 1968 through 1978, and was Majority Leader from 1971 through 1978. He is chairman of the Commission's Long Range Planning Committee.

Professor Edward P. Vega of Albuquerque, former chairman, will continue to serve on the Commission's executive committee, and also is a member of its Awards Committee. He is the chairman of the Fine Arts Department, University of Albuquerque.
