NO. 95 IN OUR 35TH YEAR

RUIDOSO, LINCOLN COUNTY, NEW MEXICO 88345

THURSDAY, APRIL 9, 1981

RUIDOSO'S 'ELK OF THE YEAR' — Tommy Hall, left, received his pin as Elk of the Year, the highest award a lodge can bestow on a member, Tuesday evening, during installation of officers ceremonies, from immediate past Exalted Ruler Jerry Story. The award was presented for services rendered by Hall during 1980-81 to, Story said, "contribute to making our Elks Lodge one of the most active in the state."

SENDING 28 STUDENTS TO NATIONAL CONFERENCE

Local DECA state's best

Ruidoso High School's Distributive Education Clubs of America (DECA) students have topped all previous records at state competition, sweeping the awards and qualifying 28 students to attend the National Career Development Conference (CDC) in Anaheim, California, June 14-17.

In addition, the DECA Chapter's Pepsi Learn and Earn project will represent the state at national competition for the fifth straight year.

"I was overwhelmed by our performance," Eddie Parker, DECA sponsor, said. "We have always done well at the state conference, but we never dreamed we'd be taking nearly half the New Mexico delegation to the national conference."

New Mexico is entitled to send 61 delegates to the CDC and in the past, Ruidoso has qualified up to 22. This year, Parker said, Ruidoso could end up taking up to 30 students, if students at other schools cancel. "We have many students who were on the verge of qualifying, so we may end up taking even more."

The Pepsi project has yielded notoriety for Ruidoso's DECA chapter in past years, with the 1979 project earning second in the nation. Ruidoso has placed in the top eight every year, and Parker hopes this year will be no different.

"We will be doing some polishing of the project before we send it to the national Pepsi Cola office in Purchase, New York," Parker said. "We have to have it there by May 15, and sometime after that, we will be notified of our national rank."

Voting delegates to the national meeting include Ruidoso students Tammy McCulley, Tina Killen, Dawn Osbourn, Sam Mize, Tracy Dorrell, Andy Romero, Ken Bradley, Lou Ann Wilson, Russell Isaacs, Trinna Schafer, Lara Ratliff and Carrie Cothrun.

State competition proved a disappointment for most other schools in New Mexico, with Portales High qualifying 15 national delegates, ranking second behind Ruidoso.

The remaining 20 delegates were spread among all other New Mexico high schools, including Artesia with six, Cibola with four, West Mesa with three and five other schools with one apiece.

Other chapter level projects garnered national delegates for Rio Grande High School, anti-shoplifting; Santa Fe Vot-Tech, creative marketing; Portales, civic consciousness; and free enterprise, Raton and Carlsbad.

"Overall, we are really proud of ourselves. When you think there were over 1,000 students from 35 high schools in the state competing, we feel we did extremely well. We expected to qualify at least 15 students, but we never dreamed we could plan to take 28 students to nationals."

Lodger's Tax Committee sets $69,750 budget motorcycle convention; and the 1981 ski season.

The Ruidoso Lodger's Tax Committee (LTC) Wednesday gave approval to a tentative budget of $69,750 for the July, 1981 through June, 1982 fiscal year, based on a projected income of about $75,000.

The allocations, which are subject to approval by the Ruidoso village trustees, includes a figure of $9,750 for promotional and advertising costs incurred through the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce.

The Chamber funds will be used to finance:

—Parttime office help for weekends during the summer.

—Postage expanded in mailing informational literature in response to requests to the Chamber.

—Reproduction costs on mimeographed sheets, for such items as community profiles, restaurant, real estate and lodging lists, camping, art gallery and ski shop information.

—A weekly tourist inquiry list provided to lodgers, ski shops and realtors.

—Advertising spent locally to welcome tourists and provide information on special events.

The Chamber had originally submitted a request for $10,323.50, but the LTC members agreed to cut that back to the lower figure.

In doing so, members said they felt the lower figure would provide sufficient funding for advertising and promotional efforts comparable to this year's program, while providing enough extra monies to account for inflation.

The overall LTC budget also includes promotion to the July Ruidoso Art Festival, including regional newspaper ads.

The overall LTC budget also calls for funds to promote or advertise the Ruidoso Art Festival, the 1981 Aspencade, including horse shows, mule races and Chamber executive director Ed Jungbluth said about 25 percent of the total ski season promotional funds would be used for advertising in Mexico.

Other Lodger's Tax funds will be used to promote the Ruidoso Summer Festival, administrative costs of 10 percent of the total tax collected, plus $12,500 for "debt service" on the new Village administrative building.

While deliberating on the Chamber's proposed expenditures, the LTC also considered an alternate proposal submitted by the Ruidoso Lodger's Association.

The lodgers had included a few more events in their budget, including funds for extra police protection during Aspencade, a higher figure than the Chamber had suggested for advertising of the ski season, ($23,000 as opposed to $20,000) and possible expenditures for promotion of a Christian artists meeting and membership in Sun Country, a regional promotion.

However, after comparing the two proposals, the LTC members agreed that all of the major items were accounted for on the Chamber's list. Other items, such as Sun Country and the christian meeting, be presented in separate requests as plans are finalized, the committee agreed.

Committee members also questioned the recent action by village trustees to appoint Clark Carpenter, owner of Dan Dee Cabins, as a new LTC member to replace resigned Ollie Cuddy.

LTC chairman Ed Hyman said, according to state law, the five member board is to be composed of two representatives of the lodging industry, two in directly tourist-related work and

C-C merchants name Langford; Easter egg hunt plans ready

Larry Langford Monday was elected chairman of the retail Merchants Committee (RMC) of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce, to succeed Richard Sandoval, who assumes duties May 1 as president of the Chamber.

Langford has been a member of the RMC since it was organized 2 1/2 years ago, and commended Sandoval for his work as chairman.

Shawna Holly, high school representative on the committee was also welcomed as a new member.

The RMC heard comments from Brian Ballew, who is affiliated with Check-Rite in Roswell, and is establishing a guaranteed check program here.

In finalizing plans for the upcoming Easter egg hunt and fun day in the park April 18, members were encouraged to attend "egg boiling" sessions at the Ruidoso Elks Lodge Monday and Wednesday nights, with local Scout troops scheduled to color all 200 dozen hard boiled

In addition, the RMC will hide 125 prize eggs and several dozen candy eggs at Cedar Creek Picnic Area. Festivities are scheduled to begin at 1 p.m., with children divided into three age groups: 0-3, 5-7 and 8-11.

"Immediately following the egg hunt, we will be selling hot dogs at very reasonable prices, and we'll also feature children's games, live music and the ever popular egg toss competition," Ed Jungbluth, Chamber executive director, said.

Another highlight of the afternoon will be the judging of the Easter hat contest, with prizes donated by local merchants.

Providing prizes for the hat contest are Smith Limited Gallery, $25 gift certificate, Gambles, $20 gift certificate, Village Hardware, ironstone china set, Gibson's, set of flatware, Brunell's, $25 gift certificate, $15 gift certificate from Glinger's Fashions.

Village attorney, credit letter ok'd

All four Ruidoso trustees, with mayor Lloyd L. Davis Jr., presiding, approved the appointment of Lee Huckstep as village attorney and accepted a letter of credit to insure paving in two developments at Camelot during Monday's special meeting.

Action on Davis' recommendation of Huckstep to succeed Ron Harris, who resigned as village attorney, was deferred at the regular March 31 meeting until the full board could act. With trustee Sherman Atwood making the motion to approve, and second by trustee Benny Coulston, with trustees Frank Sayner and George White also voting yes, the approval was unanimous.

Huckstep's retainer will be $675 per month, to include rendering opinions and attending meetings of the trustees. Additional compensation will be paid for legal work and court cases.

By unanimous vote, after motion by White and second by Sayner, the trustees accepted an irrevocable letter of credit from Continental National Bank, El Paso, Texas, establishing $41,650 in credit for Salvador M. Vela, El Paso, to insure the paving of roadways and parking lots in Lakeview Estates Phase I and II in the Camelot development.

The letter of credit, effective through November 15, 1981, covers costs of laying up to 4,300 square feet of paving to service housing developments in Lakeview Estates Town Houses and Lakeview Estates Phase I and II, incorporating the Vista de Lago project.

In the event the paving project isn't completed by November, recourse open to the village include withholding of final approval of the plats of the developments, which would effectively prohibit sale of the properties.

A village spokesman said, however, he had been informed by the developer that the roadways and parking lots would be paved by early summer.

district workshop for area Altrusa Clubs, to be held April 24-26 at La Junta Guest Ranch. Local club members expect 150 Altrusans to attend.

111. Chavez was third with 62 and the remaining two children tied for fourth with 52 each. Farrington's class had a party this week to close the contest, and the top five readers were treated to ice cream at Big T Family Restaurant by Nob Hill principal Don Weems for their efforts.

Girls' volleyball camp scheduled here in June

Ruidoso High School will be the site of a girls volleyball camp, to be held June 15-19 by Pam Allen, volleyball coach at Roswell-Goddard High School.

The camp was approved by members of the Ruidoso Board of Education Tuesday, with the district receiving $2 per enrollee as rental on school facilities.

Allen said, in a letter to the board, that the camp would be held only during the daytime and no sleeping, shower or eating facilities would be used. She suggested a cost of $30 per student to enroll in the camp, and requested use of school facilities two weeks, if the enrollment merited a two-week camp.

Because the price "is so reasonable," Ruidoso students will not be enrolled at a lower rate, board members said. Volleyball players from Honda, Capitan, Cloudcroft, Carrizozo and Ruidoso are expected to comprise the enrollment, Allen said.

THE BOARD also approved contracts for all certified and non-certified staff, with non operational staff to be hired subject to budgetary limitations. Bus contracts were also renewed.

A letter discussing problems in the heating system at White Mountain Middle School (WMMS) was read and discussed, with board members agreeing to work with an Albuquerque contractor, Ray Wilcox of Air Conditioning Systems, to tune-up the controls and heating system.

Initial investigation and tune-up costs were pegged at $4,000, with local maintenance personnel also due to receive training in general upkeep of the heating system.

Problems cited in the system included non-operational time clocks, damaged outside air sensors, overheating in the gymnasium, boiler failure, control air compression failure and operational problems with the safety devices in the ceiling.

The board also: — Approved a ten-day extension on the completion of the portable building at Nob Hill Elementary, and approved the $17 a yard carpet that has already been installed.

— Heard that Nob Hill Elementary had 98.1 percent participation from parents at the recent teacher's conferences and 99.1 percent at White Mountain Elementary. Board members and principals commended teachers, parents, and employers for "making the conferences such a success."

— Approved hiring Billie Jean Kiser as an aide for the handicapped bus and Trudy Brooks as a regular bus driver.

— Approved the resignations of Terri Flores, secretary at Nob Hill, and Thomas

Lang, high school science and math teacher.

— Took no action on land acquisition for possible location of a new high school.

— Called for bids on roof repairs on all school buildings that have not already been repaired.

— Approved the school calendar for the 1981-82 school year.

— Approved the following transfers: $500 from supplies and materials to travel; $1,160 from transportation insurance to special education aide for school bus; $890 from improvement of land to purchase of land survey cost; $4,000 from improvement of land to building construction on portable building; and $13,306 from equipment to building construction.

— Heard that sale of Texas property, donated to the school by Don Driver, former resident, is nearly completed, pending location of property corners and signing of final papers.

— Called a special meeting April 14 at 7:30 p.m., at the central office, to open bids on instructional supplies.

History Club students to Washington, D. C.

Cathy Jones, Connie Howard, Gayle Travis, Doug Schmidt and Ezell Clarke have earned approximately $850 each to finance the educational trip, Carol Hubbard said.

The main part of the tour will be a visit to the Smithsonian Institute, where the group will spend three to five days. Hubbard said several evenings will be spent at the Institute at concerts and lectures.

The club also plans to spend "the first clear day at the D. C. zoo," Hubbard said. "We expect that to take most of the day. Then the second clear day will be spent on a boat ride to Mount Vernon, and a day there."

Thanks to Congressman Joe Skeen, Hubbard said, "We have tickets to visit the White House Friday. He also aided us in getting tickets to sit in the gallery at the House of Representatives, and tour the Pentagon and the Library of Congress."

Hubbard said students will attend church in the two main cathedrals the two Sundays they will be in the capital city, at Saint John's Cathedral and the National Cathedral.

A trip to the Kennedy Center will highlight one evening, when the group will decide which of four live performances they will attend.

"And, of course, we'll want to visit Ford's Theater, which is a museum in the daytime and a theater at night," Hubbard said.

The club will be staying at the Best Western Midtown Inn and will use taxi service for most transportation.

"We want to thank Roma's Restaurant for selling us pizza at a 10 percent discount so we could sell it here at school to earn some of our expense money," Hubbard said.

She also thanked Judith Howard, a parent who donated many items for two garage sales held to raise money, "and all those parents who made brownies and muffins so we could raise the rest of the money for hotel rooms," Hubbard added. The club will return April 21.

one at-large member.

"The problem is that we don't really know if Carpenter will represent a third lodging establishment," Hyman said.

Member Al Junge, also a lodger, said he felt the law was established to insure that the committee would not be "over-powered" by any particular group.

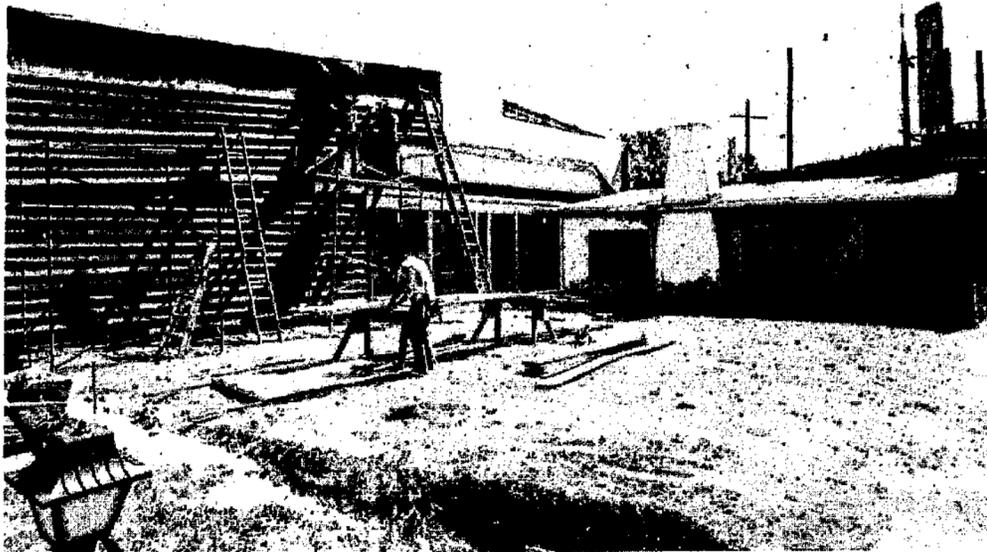

The committee members agreed to check into the legality of Carpenter's membership before the next meeting, set for May 13.

Carpenter was absent from the meeting, because of a family illness.

In other business, the committee tabled a request for funding of an advertisement in The Ruidoso News. The advertisement would "carry a greeting to tourists from village elected officials and employees in a special issue marking the beginning of racing season, with LTC members, according to chairman Hyman, suggesting the village pay for the advertising.

What's happening here?

The Ruidoso News will periodically picture commercial and residential construction in progress to present current development in New Mexico's fastest growing resort community, Ruidoso.

SIVAGE ELECTRIC is expanding into this new building, located at 1500 Sudderth Drive. The new 1,500 square foot showroom will open about May 1 with a complete selection of lighting fixtures, electrical supplies, a wide variety of ceiling fans and light bulbs, including appliance bulbs. Construction, by David Sivage of Empire Construction, Alamogordo, began in January.

Parker said. The competition involved interviews with judges, written tests, which concentrated on math and curriculums dealing with DECA principles, and a test for each occupational area students competed in, Parker said.

Students will immediately begin fund raising efforts to earn about $5,000 to finance their trip. Parker said one of the most successful projects, a seafood sale, will be held in Ruidoso Memorial Day weekend. "We have received our brochures and can begin taking telephone orders. We will distribute the flyers around town next week," he added.

Parker said students are planning a ten-day trip to California, with stops planned at the San Diego Zoo, several locales in the Los Angeles area, and a drive to San Simeon to visit the Hearst Castle.

"Even with these extra tours we are planning, we don't expect our major expenses to exceed $5,000," Parker said, adding that costs will be low because the chapter will use the school's activity bus to make the trip.

Students qualifying and the areas they will compete in on the national level include: McCulley, Dolores Rue and Kayla Payne, Pepsi project; Shawna Holly, food marketing, written test; Steven Pletsch, general merchandise, written test; Killen, apparel and accessories, written exam; Susan Hirschfeld, finance and credit, written exam;

Osborn, food marketing, owner manager; Corinne Almager, food marketing, owner manager; Bill Uihlein, food marketing, master employee; Christi Mount, food marketing, master employee; Connie Turner, food service, owner manager; Mize, food service, master employee;

Kim Langston, food service, master employee; Dorrell, apparel and accessories, master employee; Joanne Herrera, apparel and accessories, master employee; Bonnie McClendon, apparel and accessories, master employee; Eva Johnson, general merchandise, master employee;

Romero, general merchandise, master employee; Bradley and Mike Atwood, pet/lawn, master employee; Mike Clarke and Wilson, advertising services, master employee; Isaacs and Connie Rue, finance and credit, master employee. Sam Pirelli will serve as a delegate at large.

at the behest of the United States State Department.

Dr. Paul Jonas will scrutinize the five-year economic plan of Kenya as well as that country's economic integration on his forthcoming trip.

During UNM's winter break he addressed the 50-member Organization of African States on the topic of "Problems of Economic Integration in West Africa." He also delivered lectures in Tanzania, Mali, Guinea and Senegal.

Jonas spent the spring semester of 1980 in Dakar, Senegal, as an associate of the University of Dakar and the planning commission of the Republic of Senegal. He supervised Ph. D. dissertations at the university and helped draft Senegal's Five-Year Economic Plan.

A member of the UNM faculty since 1968, Jonas is widely published in the fields of economic development, growth and comparative systems. He holds doctorates in economics from the University of Technical and Economic Sciences, Budapest, and from Columbia University.

Born in Hungary in 1922, Jonas faced political repression during his student years in Budapest and became a member of the anti-Nazi underground. He was captured by the Gestapo in 1944 and was imprisoned until the end of World War II.

In 1945 he was elected president of the Hungarian Student Federation and later was arrested by the Communist secret police. He was held without trial for five years in one of the most notorious forced labor camps of the Gulag.

Amnesty for Jonas came in 1953 after the death of Joseph Stalin. Caught up in the early struggles of the ill-fated Hungarian Revolution of 1956, he was forced to leave Hungary and to resettle in the United States.

PEOPLE

Rose/Wilson vows recited

Karen Grace Rose and Joseph Phillip Wilson were married February 28 at 7:30 p.m., in a formal ceremony at Saint Eleanor's Catholic church with Father Justin Monerjek officiating.

The bride, a 1980 graduate of Ruidoso High School, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin A. Rose of Ruidoso. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Gene Wilson of Alto.

Lou Ann Wilson, organist, accompanied Carlene Wadley as she sang "Sunrise, Sunset," and "The Lord's Prayer" at the benediction.

The altar was decorated with two spiral candelabra and greenery.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was dressed in a formal length gown of imported silk with an empire waistline, trimmed with chantilly lace, sweeping into a chapel train.

Her fingertip veil of silk illusion fell from a bandeau trimmed with seed pearls. She carried a silk bouquet of white rosebuds and blue carnations enhanced with babies breath.

Robyn Rose, cousin of the bride, of Midland, Texas, served as maid of honor. She was attired in a formal length gown of light blue with tiny white flowers and carried a bouquet of blue and white carnations.

John Wilson, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. He, along with ushers Marty Rose, brother of the bride, and Pat Wilson, brother of the bridegroom, were attired in powder blue tuxedos with white shirts.

The bride's parents hosted a reception in their home following the wedding. White daisies with blue and white carnations encircled the base of an all-white, heart-shaped wedding cake, topped with a small basket of daisies and carnations. The punch bowl was also surrounded with flowers. Silver candelabra held white candles to complete the bride's table.

Guests from out of town included Mary Wilson, Margaret, Denise and Kenny Lowe and Treicia Sanders, all of Alamogordo; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hambusch of Carlsbad; Sharon Price and Scooter of Carlsbad; Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Williams of Odessa, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Rose, Dee and Matthew of Midland, Texas; Mrs. Robert Hall and Mrs. Martel Martin, both of Roswell.

The couple are making their home in Ruidoso where Wilson is employed with Townley Plumbing.

A BOOK FAIR was held at Ruidoso High School this week, with students offered a huge variety of books at ten percent off the list price. For each book purchased, the school library will receive ten percent which will be used to buy new paperbacks. The fair was held "to promote reading in the school system and so far we've sold about 250 books," librarian Judy Waldron, said Wednesday. Pictured selecting books are Matt Rogers, left and Russ Pior, right. The fair, held in cooperation with The Aspen Tree, ends today.

Area women win Zia Award for writers

Three area women, authors Eve Bell, Nora Henn and Lynda Sanchez, have won the Zia Award, as the writers doing the most to promote New Mexico during the past year.

The award features the emblem of the state's Zia Indians, and is the design featured on the state flag.

The New Mexico Press Women make the award annually, with the presentation to be made Saturday during convention activities in Grants.

The women won the honor for the book, Indeh, An Apache Odyssey; "in which Eve Bell was assisted in writing by Nora Henn and Lynda Sanchez, both of Lincoln, authors in their own right."

The three were nominated for the award by Mary Thompson, a staff member on the Historical Journal of Eastern New Mexico University, Portales.

Downs Baptist Church sets film Sunday

An hour-long film, "Wake Up America, We're All Hostages," will be shown Sunday at 6 p.m., at the First Baptist Church, Ruidoso Downs.

The film was originally produced by the James Robison Evangelistic Association for a televised format and has been aired in major cities throughout the nation.

Included among those from whom statements for the film were drawn are Alexander Solzhenitsyn, Bill Bright of Campus Crusade for Christ, Jerry Falwell of the "Old Time Gospel Hour," and Pat Robertson of the Christian Broadcasting Network's "700 Club."

Scenes show the effects caused by inflation, energy problems, events in Iran, Afghanistan and Cambodia, and the influence of drugs, political corruption and humanism.

Wedding date announced

Mary Beth Schumacher and John Millett, both of Fort Worth, Texas, will exchange wedding vows May 15 at the Holy Family Church in Fort Worth.

The bride elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schumacher of Fort Worth, who also have a home in the Upper Canyon, Ruidoso. Millett is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Millett of Fort Worth.

She is a 1974 graduate of Nolan High School, Fort Worth, and holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Home Economics from Colorado State University in 1978, where she was a member of Phi Beta Phi. She is a production assistant at Tetra Pak Petroleum and is attending Texas Christian University.

He is a 1972 graduate of Western Hills High School, Fort Worth, and holds a Master of Engineering in Structural Engineering from the University of Texas. He is a structural engineer with Albert S. Komatsu Architects.

Holy Week services at 12:10 daily

Holy Week will be observed in Ruidoso by members of the Ruidoso Ministerial Alliance, who will hold worship services at 12:10 each weekday at the First United Methodist Church.

Monday, services will be led by The Reverend Charles Spooner with The Reverend Dale McCleskey speaking on "Promising Without Doing," based upon Matthew 21: 28-30.

Tuesday's service will be led by Ruth McGuire with The Reverend Don McNamara delivering the message, "Rendering Dues to Government and God," taken from Matthew 22: 15-22.

Jay Graves will lead Wednesday services, with The Reverend E. W. Campbell giving the message, "Parable of Talents," taken from Matthew 25: 14-30.

The Reverend Ken Cole will speak Thursday on "Behold, The Hour," based upon Matthew 26: 39-45. The service will be led by Roger Posey.

Jerry Mauldin will lead Friday's service, with The Reverend Ed Reimer speaking on "He Cannot Save Himself," based upon Matthew 27: 39-44.

Services will be over by 12:35 so those attending can also attend sandwich luncheon in the fellowship hall. A donation of $2 per person will be requested for lunch, and a free will offering will be accepted following each service.

"Everything will be finished by 1 p.m., for those who have to get back to work," McGuire said. "We are hoping a lot of business people can take time to come to our services during Holy Week."

Counselor/teacher named to serve at Arts Camp

Georgenne Williams of Dallas, Texas, will be a counselor and teacher of the hearing impaired at the Inspiration Corporation Fine Arts Camp this summer in Ruidoso.

Williams, a graduate of the Southwestern Assembly of God College, is a teacher at Samuel High School, Dallas.

She has toured with Brand New Touch and Divine Touch, sign language singing organizations, and has counseled hearing impaired children in camps throughout Louisiana.

While in Ruidoso, Williams will make her home with the Ralph Bellon family. Inspiration Corporation is beginning its fourth year in which the camp has worked with over 200 young people from Ruidoso, California, Texas, Indiana, Germany, South Africa and England.

The camp offers all forms of music, drama and other fine arts "in a moral environment," to junior high, high school and college students. Recreational activities, including swimming, horseback riding and concerts are also provided.

The corporation is run by a board of local Christian business people, including Ralph Bellon, Janice Bellon, Naja Shuder, Judge James Wheeler, Rochelle Fox, JoAnn Anderson, Tim Wadley and Carlene Wadley.

More information may be obtained by calling 378-8234 or 257-2111.

Fort Stanton scheduling Walk-A-Thon April 29

The handicapped will take a walk for the handicapped April 29.

In what is probably the first event of this kind, students at Fort Stanton Hospital and Training School will participate in a Walk-a-thon for Cystic Fibrosis victims.

Walk-a-thon chairperson Jeanne Chubertson said Wednesday that those participating will range from mildly to severely and profoundly retarded.

Rather than soliciting pledges for miles walked, organizers of the walk will be asking for outright donations, she said. The students will walk "until they get tired," or a five mile route near Fort Stanton, and will be served a picnic lunch along the way.

Anyone desiring more information or to make a donation should contact Culbertson at Fort Stanton, 354-2211.

A ROCKING BOARD, which will be used in physical therapy in the Ruidoso school system, was recently constructed by high school sophomore Don Gwyn, right above. It is being used by White Mountain Middle School students, including Tina Dacy, center, to help her establish balance and strengthen upper back muscles. Also pictured is special education aide Esther Espinosa, who has assisted physical therapy students in their progress.

Game Department suggests joint turkey-fishing trip

Sportsmen planning to take a few days for spring turkey hunting will find some areas of the state excellent for a combined fishing-hunting trip.

Spring turkey hunting will open April 11 and continue through April 28 — generally statewide — and April 11 to May 10 in Units 55 and 57 in the Cimarron-Raton area.

Hunters considering a little fishing along with the turkey trek may want to consider areas of the state which offer fishing within close proximity of prime turkey habitat. Quemado, Snow and Wall lakes and Lake Roberts, all trout lakes in southwestern New Mexico, and Bonito Lake near Ruidoso, are among those waters, according to Jack Herring, of the Game Management Division, Department of Game and Fish.

Recent reports indicate fishing at Snow Lake is excellent from the bank using fireballs and cheese, and from boats using z-rays and Super Duper lures. Fishing at Quemado Lake is also good around the dam and boat docks using cheese on the bottom and rooster-tail spinners.

For stream fishermen, a number of rivers fork through prime turkey habitat. The Pecos Wilderness offers trout fishing expected to improve as weather continues to warm. Reports on streams in the Lincoln National Forest near Ruidoso indicate good trout fishing using a variety of baits, including floating cheese and salmon eggs, worms and prepared baits.

Fishing is good for German browns on the lower Cimarron River in game management Unit 55 using Panther Martin lures and Mepps spinners and at eagle Nest Lake using cheese, fireballs and corn or trolling with Panther Martin lures.

Anglers 12 years of age and over must have a 1981-82 fishing license and a trout water validation or trout stamp in any of these waters or other designated trout waters. Daily bag limit is 16 trout, not to include more than eight rainbow, cutthroat or salmon, singly or in the aggregate of the three. Possession limit is 32 trout, not to include more than 16 rainbow, cutthroat or salmon, singly or in the aggregate of the three. Bag limit for unlicensed fishermen under 12 years of age is one-half the limits permitted licensed fishermen, except during the special kokanee season.

Anglers will also find good to excellent fishing at a number of trout and warm waters statewide within about an hour's drive of turkey habitat.

Herring said prospects for successful turkey hunting are good to excellent in "almost any turkey area in the state" this year. "We've had moist springs the last couple of years, and this one is starting to look better despite the dry winter. And the turkey populations have been increasing in the last few years."

Hunters planning turkey-fishing trips in Unit 55, are reminded that landowner permission is required there, as on all private lands. The Barker Wildlife Area and the Cimarron Canyon area within Unit 55 are Department of Game and Fish properties where landowner permission is not required.

Turkey hunters must have a current special season turkey license. After taking and tagging the first turkey, a hunter may obtain a second spring turkey tag, valid only in Units 55 and 57, by applying at the department's Raton office and presenting his current special season turkey license.

Buy limit during the spring turkey hunt is one turkey with a beard that extends at least two inches beyond the feathers of the breast.

NOTICE AVAILABILITY OF ENVIRONMENTAL ASSESSMENT AND ENVIRONMENTAL HEARING OPPORTUNITY U. S. HIGHWAY 70 Mescalero Apache Indian Reservation Section OTERO COUNTY, NEW MEXICO

The New Mexico State Highway Department is planning to improve U. S. Highway 70 to a four-lane facility from the western boundary of the Reservation to the eastern boundary, a distance of approximately 18 miles. This is part of an overall program to improve U. S. 70 from Las Cruces to Clovis, New Mexico.

An environmental assessment evaluating the alternatives of "no project" and improving the roadway to four lanes has been prepared by the State Highway Department. It concludes that there will be no significant adverse environmental impact if the project is constructed as planned. A copy of the environmental assessment and preliminary design plans are available for review and comment at the following locations:

New Mexico State Highway Department
General Office
Environmental Section — Room 104
1120 Cerrillos Road
Santa Fe, New Mexico
505/983-0134

No public hearings are planned unless requested. Any interested citizen may request that a public hearing be conducted to discuss the design features and social, economic, and environmental impacts of the proposed project on the area residents and the traveling public. Anyone desiring a hearing should send a written request to the Public Involvement Co-ordinator, New Mexico State Highway Department, P. O. Box 1149, Room 104, Santa Fe, New Mexico 87503, on or before April 20, 1981. If any request is received, a public hearing will be scheduled and adequately publicized to inform the public of the date and location of the hearing.

If no request or significant comments are received, the State Highway Department will request that the Federal Highway Administration make a "Finding of No Significant Impact" (FONSI). Upon approval, a final design of roadway will be accomplished and construction scheduled.

Anyone desiring to comment should send the comments to the New Mexico State Highway Department, attention, Thomas S. Scanlon, Jr., Environmental Program Manager, Environmental Section, P. O. Box 1149, Santa Fe, New Mexico 87503 on or before thirty (30) days from this publication date. Additional information may be obtained by calling Toll Free 1-800-432-4289.

Inside The Capitol

by Fred McCaffrey

SANTA FE — Some readers like the columns where you let the big boys have a couple in the chops, written in a kind of damn-the-torpedoes glow, which let the chips fall where they may.

Others prefer a little more urbanity. "Why be so tough?" they say. "We all have to get along with one another in this world."

Truth to tell, some subjects lend themselves to one kind of treatment and some to another.

Today it's all sweetness and light, moonlight and roses, as we say a few kind words about the job Pete Domenici is doing in Washington.

Admittedly, Pete is a personal friend, though that hasn't done him much good when it seemed time for us to slap his hands.

In this case, we're looking at the job he has done getting the Reagan budget cuts through his own committee and through the Senate.

Both those steps were tough challenges, and Pete met them successfully.

One thing those actions prove is how much he has learned about using the legislative process. He had no such skill when he arrived in Washington, and his work in this instance, less than eight years later, was masterful.

It's perfectly clear that if the Reagan program is going to have a chance it must be accepted by the country pretty much intact. What's more, it has to move rapidly, as any major surgical procedure should.

Domenici made both of those points possible in the Senate, where he could count a little after passage that "the United States Senate has come to its senses for the first time in years."

Nobody really approves in specific detail of every one of these cuts; it is doubtful if Domenici does himself.

But it is quite clear that the time has come for this kind of courageous action. It inflicts hurts, as any budget cut inevitably does, and there are assorted cries of pain, some justified and most merely from self-interest. But this or something very like it had to be done, and it's good that our boy Pete was a big and important part of it.

Next at bat, of course, is the House.

It's doubtful if that body will go as far as the Senate Budget Committee did. Tip O'Neill has been quoted as saying, "We're not going to let them tear asunder the programs we've built over the years," and O'Neill's party has the majority in the House of Representatives.

But part of Domenici's skill was in cutting to a level even below what the President asked for. That leaves some room for negotiation when the days of the conference committee arrive.

It looks now as though Reagan, with the help of men like Domenici, may get something like 90 percent of what he asked for. That's a phenomenal record. You'd have to go back to the first hundred days of Franklin Roosevelt to find any action like it.

As a footnote to the above, it might be worth noting that the Democrats in the Senate have seemed remarkably inept since they went into the minority. There's nobody there who knows how to operate as a minority party, while the Republicans have shown a skill one might not have expected.

These have got to be exciting times for our senior Senator from New Mexico, whose spirit burgeons when there is challenge, activity and attention.

We wish him well of these action-packed days.

Sense & Nonsense

U.S. Sen. Pete Domenici

President Reagan's week began in near-tragedy, but it ended in victory when the United States Senate approved the first phase of his budget package, instructing Senate committees to cut approximately $36 billion off the 1982 budget proposed by President Carter.

Although numerous amendments were proposed on the Senate floor, it was obvious that the message has gotten to most Senators — Republicans and Democrats alike — that the people want a change in the federal government.

World of the shooting in downtown Washington interrupted debate on the budget reconciliation resolution — I was on the floor debating when the news came — but the President's strong recovery meant that Senators went back to work determined to keep working for the President's program.

The Senate vote is a significant victory, but it is only the first step in a complicated process that involves much more committee work, floor passage of another resolution, and agreement with the United States House before we can say we have the economic recovery package well underway. Debate so far has dealt only with the changes in spending proposed by Reagan. Discussion of his tax package will come this week, first in the Budget Committee, then on the Senate floor in late April.

So far, I'm encouraged. Senate Republicans are sticking together, and Democratic Senators are finding it hard to argue too loudly with the President's mandate.

New Mexicans have been very supportive, both of the President and of my efforts in the Senate. Although some of my mail says, "Cut the budget, but save my program," the overwhelming majority supports the entire package.

Examples:
From Grants: "For the sake of our nation's economic stability, please support President Reagan's harsh, but necessary budget cuts."

From Silver City: "These changes are the first positive steps to be taken in several years to encourage long range economic growth and productivity improvements that will fight inflation and improve the quality of life for all Americans."

Again from Silver City: "As a small businessman in New Mexico we were pleased to learn that you took the initiative by introducing Senate Concurrent Resolution 9... We all agree on this first vital step."

And hundreds of postcards from all over the state that read: "I am 100 percent behind the tax and federal spending cut legislation President Reagan has proposed."

I've been impressed with the number of senior citizens who have written, telling me that although it is difficult for them to get by on a limited income, they support changes in the Social Security system to hold down federal spending.

A number of New Mexico newspapers have editorialized in favor of the spending package, pointing out that although there is no painless way to reduce federal spending, the deficit must be controlled if we are to also control inflation.

For the next few months, my job here in the Senate will center around this crucial budget struggle. After eight years of watching the federal budget grow out of control, I know how important this package of budget restraint is. It's good to know that New Mexicans know it too, and are giving their support to this difficult effort.

Keep the cards and letters coming!

Congressman Joe Skeen

reports from Washington

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The nation's Capitol is an exciting place, but not as exciting in years as during this time in our history.

The government of this nation is moving rapidly into an era described as a "New Beginning."

The compelling need for a new direction has become painfully clear to most Americans and the mood in Washington is one of eagerness to get on with the business of putting this nation back on the right track.

President Reagan is determined to do the job he feels the people of this country elected him to do. He has not retreated or sidestepped from his goal of reducing inflation, high interest rates, high unemployment and over-regulation by government. He feels that America must become, once again, the most productive nation on Earth.

At the same time, the President is keenly aware of the plight of the helpless and truly needy of this country. He is as strongly devoted to their assistance as anyone who has held this position and he knows that to give real aid to anyone, we must make this nation's economy strong and stable. He has brought together an administration of qualified people with fresh and exciting ideas to do just that.

The plans and programs of this new administration are not without sacrifice for all of us. However, I am excited and gratified by the indication from a majority of the public that this nation is ready and willing to endure some pain so long as these programs are implemented in a fair and decisive manner. America is ready to end the era of over spending and over regulation by the government and to begin controlling the cancer of inflation.

Of course, there is great effort under way to organize opposition to the administration's proposals. A great deal of publicity is given to the possibility of increasing the burden of the poor. Most of the information is erroneous and deliberately speculative. I think we should give the President a chance and realize that emotionally inspired criticism should be recognized for what it is. We must see what effect these programs and changes will have. As least they can't be as disastrous as the ideas we have been following so doggedly for the past several decades.

I am excited about the attitude of this Congress. At long last there seems to be a willingness on the part of most members, regardless of party, to help by taking the responsibility of action. To understand that we have not found all of the answers to our problems, but to lend ourselves to trying new ideas and moving in the right direction rather than compounding problems with old and faulty remedies.

Yes, I'm excited about being in Washington and being the representative of New Mexico people who have joined with other Americans to accomplish what has to be done. Together we can change things. We've known we could all along.

editorial

Following the attempted assassination of President Ronald Reagan the in-fighting among the White House staff, that had been simmering on the back burner, erupted.

Perhaps the term in-fighting should be termed back-biting.

In any event, it seems inconceivable that Secretary of State Al Haig panicked under those circumstances, as some of those among the White House staff elite have been suggesting.

It must be considered that Haig is probably one of the most respected Americans in power today, by many of the heads, and power molders, of foreign nations.

We suggest that perhaps it is the power struggle in Reagan's administration that is resulting in the actions being taken, probably by underlings, to discredit Haig.

In view of the world situation, and Russia's recent actions in moving a peaceful, at the moment, show of strength into Poland, as well as other spots in the world, that Haig, with his military background, can truly serve this nation as Secretary of State.

It doesn't appear as though Haig lost his cool under pressure. As to his visibly shaken reaction to Reagan's being shot, that doesn't seem to be anything other than could be expected.

In time Reagan will ferret out the truth as to what happened March 30 at the White House, and we feel that his actions and reactions will be just. — CD

MIRACLES DO HAPPEN

Whilst quaffing an ice tea just the other day with Shakey Pete, I was amazed to learn that he's actually been reading the papers after the shooting of President Reagan and the three other men... and, by jinkies, Shakey done up and come a cropper of some pertinent opinions on the subject... proving that miracles do happen.

"It's this way," Shakey said, "I remember once that John Kennedy said something like, 'All it takes is one person willing to trade his life for mine,' for him to get put away... and that's how it happened."

Shakey kinda shook the ice cubes in his smelted glass... and in fit time for him, got us a refill... with him actually reaching into his pocket to satisfy the monetary demands of the occasion.

After a small sip, Shakey continued... carrying on about how all this business of shooting the president was a buncha foolishness... but that it didn't seem as though there was really much anybody can do about preventing a president getting shot... short of keeping them hid, so's not to become a target for some crackpot. "Now that'd be no way for us to treat our president," Shakey opined, "cause we're used to having him out amongst us... kinda building up our confidence in him... and that's how it should be."

Then Shakey got with his topic... "We gotta maybe see to it that the president wears protective clothing... that he's scooted in and out of danger spots... maybe with lotta real tall secret service fellows surrounding him... so's he ain't no open target... though I can't see as anyone can stop anybody if'n they're bound and determined to get the president." Now that's quite a speech for Shakey.

Shakey allowed as how he didn't think outlawing handguns was the answer... maybe a few more controls on buying them... but that the main thing would be to give the president a little less exposure. "You know, by jinkies," Shakey said, "but I do get carried away with ideas whilst quaffing an ice tea... maybe I should go to Washington and give them secret service fellows the benefit of my thinkin'... no?"

ON STREET PAVING

Few days back... mostly because Congressman Joe Skeen's still been in office a matter of days... he did up and announce the awarding of nine grants in New Mexico... from the Department of Housing and Urban Development... which is a status quo deale for Congressmen as are intending to run for reelection.

Now one of those items on that list of grants was mighty interesting... $500,000 to Mesilla for the paving of dirt streets... so, let's hear it for Mesilla... where soon the folks there'll hear the screech of hot tires spinning on pavement... 'steadda howl of tires as is screaming to get a stuck car outta a sloppy rut.

In that connection, though, we'd sure recommend that Joe get down to them HUD folks and kinda hint around to them that Ruidoso could use a few hundred thousand bucks... 'cause we's got about 40 miles of roads as could really stand paving... with out and out grant funds... no?

SKIING TIME'S ENDING

Guess... 'cording to Roy Parker, the boss man at Sierra Blanca Ski Resort... the skiing's due to end Sunday next... probably because the snow's getting so thin on the slopes that those as is hitting the slopes ain't finding too much snow 'twixt their rears and the slopes.

Now it's been not too good a year for skiing... though there's been just enough of a flurry of activity to keep a little action going... which is better'n no action at all.

But there's the happy thought that Parker'll get equipment put into use next fall... when the frost gets on the pumpkin time comes... and get man-made snow all over the mountain before November dawns... and keep it there until Easter falls... which'd give skiers all the skiing they'd want in one season... and keep smiles on all the folks faces in Harmony Valley as appreciates the skiing season... and we sure hope Roy's ideas come to pass... and fill the passes with snow... 'cause snow on the mountain helps keep water in our faucets.

ART, DINING AND ENTERTAINMENT GUIDE

Webb is first woman to capture jockey title

BY MARK GORDON
It didn't take Harla Webb long to discover her chosen profession. "Before I could even talk, my parents would take me to the races and my heart would pound away when I saw the horses run," said the blonde 18-year-old jockeyette. "When I was real little, I used to pretend I was riding horses."
Although she's not pretending to ride horses any more, she still gets the same enthusiasm from riding real horses as she did when it was make believe.
Now, however, she's doing quite well. Well enough, in fact, that for her efforts last week, she was named Sunland Park's Jockey-of-the-Week, the first woman ever to gain that honor.
"I always want to do my best and stay out of trouble and not cause any trouble," she said. "It's not that hard to do if you watch what you're doing."
Through March 31, she had the second highest winning percentage of any rider in the top ten rankings. Ranked ninth, Webb has 26 wins, 15 seconds and 15 thirds in 156 mounts for a .167 average.
"It's easier to get mounts now that I'm doing better. The main thing is you have to prove yourself to everybody else," she said.
Born in Roswell, she attended high school in Ruidoso. She became a groom at age 14 and was soon on her way. Her father, Harlan, still makes saddles and worked briefly as a trainer.

Perhaps her biggest fan, however, is trainer Johnnie Jamison.
"She's a smart rider. She does exactly as I tell her," said the veteran trainer. "She's the first one on the track and the last one off. She gets on at about 5:45 a.m., and doesn't leave until 10:30," he said.
After morning workouts, Jamison said she goes to break colts for El Paso area surgeon, Dr. Leopoldo Villarreal at his farm in Canutillo.
Jamison liked what he saw when she was a groom and galloping horses.
"She started riding for me at Santa Fe (Downs) two years ago. She kept getting better and better. She's done a real good job," he said.
Webb broke her maiden on Kibro, who also won his next out after that.
This season at Sunland, Webb has won 22 of her 28 races riding for Jamison. She's scored three wins aboard each of three horses — Native Dandy, Goldelle and Texas.
Her other wins have come for trainer Charlie Allison (two) and one apiece for Frank Cappellucci and Bill Hill.
"I get along with him (Jamison) real well. He's like a dad to me," she said. "He puts me on a lot of good horses and that's what helps."
Despite her success, Webb noted the difficulty of breaking into a profession long dominated by men.

"I think it's still hard to get mounts. People say we (women) can't handle horses as well as a man. In some cases, maybe it is a little harder for a girl," she added.
She is still an apprentice rider, carrying a five pound riding allowance.
Able to carry between 109 and 112 pounds, Webb said she has never had any weight problems. "I eat too much," she said.

Following the close of Sunland in early May, Webb said she will accompany the Jamison stable to Santa Fe Downs for the summer and then will ride at the State Fair in Albuquerque during September.
"I hope to ride for as long as I can," she said. "It's a lot tougher than I thought it would be. But I've been lucky. I haven't been hurt or in any trouble. I hope it stays that way."

ART, DINING AND ENTERTAINMENT GUIDE

Mister Te Jay derby winner

Mister Te Jay outgunned the heavily-favored Mighty Deck Three and grabbed a lasso-thin victory in Sunday's 10th running of the West Texas Derby at Sunland Park.

The 400 yard thriller offered a gross purse of $96,029 and put $49,014 in the winner's account.

Despite having set the top qualifying time a week earlier (19.58 seconds), Mister Te Jay had to take a backseat in the West Texas Derby wagering. Much of the betting bucks wound up on Mighty Deck Three, the awesome three-year-old who left the starting gate as a 1-2 favorite.

But the Derby turned out to be a replay of last summer's All-American Futurity at Ruidoso Downs. Mighty Deck Three, as he did on Labor Day, broke sluggishly, found his sea legs at the midway point, then closed with a furious onslaught. In the All-American Futurity, he lost to Higheasterjet by a whisker. In the West Texas Derby, Mighty Deck Three met his match in the plucky Mister Te Jay.

The latter, ridden by Roy Brooks for Virginia Stratton of Fairland, Oklahoma, turned in a magnificent performance. He got out of the West Texas Derby starting gate like a rifle shot and stayed in control all the way.

The colt's only problems came about when he began drifting away from the inside rail. He wound up in the middle of the track, but his wayward course — thanks to his early zip — didn't bother any of his adversaries.

Mighty Deck Three took dead aim on Mister Te Jay throughout the second half of the race but couldn't snare the lead. Mister Te Jay fought back brilliantly. In the final stride, Mighty Deck Three trimmed away another chunk of terrain. But the stewards, after taking a lengthy look at the photo finish picture, gave the win to Mister Te Jay. Only an inch or so separated the top two finishers.

Sunland Park Hoofbeats

BY MARK GORDON
SELF SPARKLING may not be the most expensive horse on the Sunland Park grounds, but he certainly has a remarkable winning streak. The five-year-old gelding scored a head victory in Saturday's featured race for his sixth straight triumph. Owned by Wood Craig of Suncray, Texas, and Johnnie L. Jamison of El Paso, Texas, Self Sparkling started his streak with a neck win against $5,500 claimers. He followed that with a head win against $7,500 animals, a neck verdict against $7,000 runners, a length and one half victory against $9,500 stock and a length and three quarters win against allowance competition on March 21. His win Saturday was against $12,500 claimers. He was ridden by apprentice Harla Webb, who tallied her third straight win on him. He's trained by Jamison. Surprisingly, Saturday's race was the first of the six he was public choice. He paid $6.60 as a 2.30-1 favorite.

IN THAT SAME RACE, A. D. Bowen claimed Joe Humphrey, a four-year-old gelding, for $12,500. Joe Humphrey's new trainer will be Cecil Crabtree. That reportedly was the highest priced claimer to change hands during the current Sunland Park campaign. As a 5-2 second-favorite, Joe Humphrey ran eighth.

THE SUNLAND PARK board of stewards has suspended trainer Billy Rex Hardy following a report from the official State Chemist that the post-race test from the horse Karen's Jet proved positive for the drug Clindril (Sulindac). In addition, all horses owned or trained by him are denied entry pending transfer to a trainer or trainers approved by the stewards. Karen's Jet will be reinstated upon a written report from an official track veterinarian that it is capable of racing without medication. The case has been referred to the New Mexico State Racing Commission. Karen's Jet won the first consolation of the West Texas Futurity on March 29 at Sunland. The purse money is being withheld pending further order by the commission. This ruling does not affect the pari-mutuel payouts.

IN OTHER stewards' rulings:
— Jockey David Shoemaker was fined $50 for failure to control his mount, Karen's Jet, in the West Texas Futurity Consolation.
— Trainer Gene Teferdiller was fined $25 for entering an ineligible horse.

ASPEN RIDGE RACED to a three quarter length win in Saturday's ninth race, a 5 1/2 furlong dash for $6,500 claimers. It was the four-year-old gelding's fourth win with two seconds in eight starts this year. He is a son of Riva Ridge, who won the 1972 Kentucky Derby and Belmont Stakes and might have won a Triple Crown if the Preakness course had not been wet. Following his father's style, Aspen Ridge enjoys running on the front end.

FAVORITE PLAYERS certainly had reason to smile after Saturday's races. The last eight public choices scored wins — certainly a rare event. The figure was actually nine if Man O Lark's co-win is counted since he dead-heated for victory in the fourth. The eight "sole winners" included Livemup ($4.80) in the fifth, Platoon Star ($3.60) in the sixth, Gyro Jet ($4.60) in the seventh, Printer's Devil ($7.00) in the eighth, Aspen Ridge ($5.20) in the ninth, Self Sparkling ($6.60) in the tenth, Lark's Victory ($7.20) in the eleventh and Jolie Rallie ($3.60) in the twelfth.

CONDITION BOOKS are now available for the Ruidoso Downs meet. Flanked by a multi-colored cover, the books, written by Racing Secretary Donald Rausch cover the first 10 days of the 70-day meet which starts on May 9. Highlights of the first book include the Kansas Derby Trials on May 10, The Inaugural on May 10, Kansas Futurity Trials on May 14-15, the Go Together Stakes on May 16, the Mr. Jet Moore Stakes on May 17, the Bartaris Stakes and Kansas Derby Consolation on May 23, the $225,000 estimated Kansas Derby on May 24 and the memorial Day Handicap on May 25.

ABLE TABLE PROVED the value of perseverance when he mapped a long dry spell by winning the 12th race on Friday. The 10-year-old gelding tallied a one-length verdict, breaking a string of 23 straight races without a win. The Avocator gelding's last win before Friday occurred on October 21, 1979, at Sunland when he captured a mile chase for $5,000 claimers. Trained by W. L. Mooring, Able Table is owned by James H. Powell and David L. Powell of Seymour, Texas. He was ridden by Marie Irigaray.

JOSE MEL, who was owned by Lanny Z.

Roberts of Lamasa, Texas, won his third straight race by taking the seventh Friday at six furlongs. He was trained by Coy Hendrix and was ridden by Betty Harless. After the race, Conrad A. Rountree claimed Jose Mel for $2,500. It was the second straight race Jose Mel has been claimed.

JOCKEY RICHARD BICKEL scored a riding triple on Sunday. He tallied aboard Bill Gene Smith's High Handed ($7.00) in the fourth, Game Racing Stables' First Away ($5.40 in the fifth and on Robert G. and Lois Ritchie's Ind's Pacific ($3.20) in the eleventh.

IN SUNDAY'S seventh race, Special Hank zipped to a 1:03 4/5 clocking over the 5 1/2 furlongs. That was the best reading for that distance this season. It was still one-fifth seconds off the Sunland record of 1:02 3/5 set by Bottle A on April 23, 1972. Special Hank, a four-year-old gelding, is owned by Lowell F. Hankins of Rocksprings, Texas, trained by George H. Cosper Jr., and was ridden by Figueroa. He has won three of five tests this season with one second.

SUNLAND ENJOYED another "million-dollar" weekend (the second in a row). Total wagering for the three day period reached $1,010,274, thanks in large part to Sunday's $413,820. The latter figure represented the second best handle of the season and the fifth best in Sunland History. There's little doubt the current meeting will be the best ever; by a wide margin. The current daily wagering average is up to $274,185, a gain of 7.32 percent over the average a year ago.

THE LEADING POST positions over the weekend were the Nos. 8 and 8. Each produced six winners. The seasonal totals: No. 1 — 112 wins, No. 2 — 122, No. 3 — 99, No. 4 — 93, No. 5 — 87, No. 6 — 85, No. 7 — 79, No. 8 — 68, No. 9 — 60, No. 10 — 48, No. 11 — 0, No. 12 — 0.

TWO MUST BE the magic number for Malicious Rick. When the six-year-old gelding scored a two and one-quarter length victory in Saturday's second race, it gave him a 1981 record of two wins, two seconds and two thirds in nine outings. He is owned by Carl F. Gollhar and E. Leonard May of Tularosa. Trained by May, he is ridden by John Baca.

Earned income credit

Taxpayers whose income was less than $10,000 in 1980 may be eligible for a earned income tax credit up to $500 if they maintained a household in the United States for the entire year for themselves and at least one child.

To qualify for the credit, married taxpayers are required to file a joint return and their child must be a dependent. For an individual filing as head of the household, an unmarried child need not be a dependent but a married child must be a dependent.

The amount of the credit for those eligible is 10 percent of the first $5,000 of earned income for a maximum credit of $500. Any amount over $6,000, whether adjusted gross income or earned income, is reduced by 12 1/2 percent. The credit is therefore eliminated if either adjusted gross income or earned income equals or exceeds $10,000.

Earned income includes wages, salaries, tips and other employee compensation as well as net earnings from self-employment. It also includes the housing allowance or rental value of a parsonage received by a minister, in addition to disability pensions. Earned income does not include interest, dividends or unemployment compensation which must be included in whole or in part in computing adjusted gross income. Examples of the credit:

1. A qualifying taxpayer has an adjusted gross income of $4,800, all from wages earned. His earned income credit is $480 (10 percent of $4,800).

2. A qualifying taxpayer has an adjusted gross income of $7,800, all from wages earned. His earned income credit is $275 (10 percent of $5,000 minus 12 1/2 percent of $1,800).

3. If the same taxpayer in Example 2 received $2,200 of interest income in addition to his wages of $7,800, his adjusted gross income is $10,000. His earned income credit is zero (10 percent of $5,000 minus 12 1/2 percent of $4,000).

The earned income credit varies from other credits in that it is refundable. Even if a taxpayer has no tax due, he will still receive a refund of the credit. For example, a taxpayer who has a credit of $250 and has no tax due will receive a refund of $250. If the taxpayer has a credit of $250 and had $100 tax due, he will receive a refund of $150.

To claim the credit individuals must file a tax return, either the short form (1040A) or the long form (1040). The instructions for either form provide a worksheet and instructions. Both forms may be picked up at your local post office, bank, or IRS office.

DIG THIS — Dr. J. Watching the spade work is Major General Alan A. Nord, left, commanding general of WSMR, and Vincent Boudreau, right, chief of HEL at the range.

I-n-s-i-d-e the Outdoors

by Gary Dollahon

It certainly isn't too early to think about the special spring gobbler hunt coming up in a couple of weeks.

What with the weather being like it has been this winter, there is no telling what techniques will work best. But, let's look at the turkey, exploring some of his habits and life history.

New Mexico is home of two subspecies of wild turkey, the Merriam's turkey and the Rio Grande turkey. Merriam's is by far the most common. Large birds, the turkeys may stand three to four feet tall when alert and weigh anywhere from 12 to 25 pounds, with the average for males or "toms" being about 16 pounds.

The coloration of the tom turkey during the spring mating season is indeed a sight to behold. His head and upper neck, bare of feathers, are very brightly colored, either red or blue, depending on whether he is gobbling or not. When the tom is displaying for a hen, he spreads his tail feathers into a large fan shape, drops his wing tips to the ground and performs a strutting "dance."

Throughout the "dance," he pauses and gobbles to draw attention to himself. This display, which is prevalent during the spring gobbler hunt, is truly one of the most treasured sights in nature.

The male turkey has a tuft of modified feathers, much like coarse hair, hanging from his breast referred to as a beard. Females may occasionally possess a similar beard, so this is not an accurate determination of sex.

The beard may reach a length of ten inches. For the spring turkey hunt, a legal turkey is one with a beard that extends at least two inches beyond the breast feathers.

least two inches beyond the breast feathers.

Turkeys normally travel in flocks and spend most of their waking time on the ground. They rely many times on their ability to run to and through escape cover and only fly with swift and powerful bursts of flight for short distances. At night they roost, as a flock, in a tall tree that has many horizontal branches. Turkeys have excellent eyesight and are an extremely wary birds.

The heaviest feeding times are early in the morning and shortly before sunset. Turkeys normally must visit water once to twice a day, especially during dry seasons. This fact may be more prevalent this year because of the light snowfall we have received. Also because of this, areas open to turkey hunting may be limited if the United States Forest Service deems the fire danger is too high.

Turkeys eat everything from acorns, seeds, nuts, fruits of juniper and dogwood, any type of grain, seed of pines and grasses, fresh green blades of grass and buds of trees in summer, insects, frogs, salamanders, lizards and snakes. A large gobbler, it is reported, may eat up to a pound of food at a meal.

For those of you who plan on hunting, and for those of you who don't, I hope this information has been both informative and interesting. So many times we fail to learn some of the habits of the animals we're interested in, and thus we're never lucky enough to even see them. It definitely behooves us to take the time to read and learn a little bit about the animals that inhabit the world around us.

HOME-OFFICE DEDUCTION

If you use one room of your home as an office, make sure that you are taking advantage of the tax break that is entitled to you. How much of your home office expenses can be taken as a business expense depends on the size of the room in relation to the rest of the house.

For example, if the house has 1,600 square feet of space and the office measures 10x18 feet (or 180 square feet), you are allowed 18% of the total running costs of the house's light, heat, repairs, painting, and other maintenance, depreciation, taxes and so on.

But, remember that the room must be used exclusively for business use; preferably as a main place of business, or show that the room was necessary to see clients or patients. Also, expenses cannot exceed the income earned from the business.

Also, if you have any valuable equipment in your home office, don't assume that it will be covered by your regular homeowners insurance policy. You'll need a special floater to protect against loss.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at DEVON DEVELOPMENT, INC., 2904 Sudderth Drive, Box 1840, Ruidoso. Phone: 257-5511. We're here to help!

Wilderness Wisdom

with Wayne Calloway

Dear Wayne — For the life of me, I can't understand how hunters can justify their wanton slaughter of innocent animals. These animals have families and feel pain just as we do. Yet, hunters will say they feel no guilt. Can they say they aren't satisfying their own ego desires at the expense of our natural resources? I think not.

The time of the hunter is nearing its end, and rest assured I will do everything I can to hasten that end. I don't really expect you will give my letter equal time, since I'm aware that you can't understand the logic of the issue, but at least you know how many of us feel. Am M., New Jersey

Dear Ann — I have given your letter "equal time", as you say, and I couldn't agree with you less. From what you say, you have elevated the animal kingdom to a level equal to humans. Well, such a status can only be achieved in the world of fantasy. Would you suggest that a raccoon suffers the same anguish and traumas as your own child, and is therefore, worthy of equal consideration? I hardly think you would agree to such a concession.

Since you hold all animal life sacred, I can only assume you allow free run to the mouse that happens to invade your home. I also surmise you might carefully remove and release the tick that infests your pet rather than sentence it to a cruel death underfoot. Or is it that you are referring to only certain animals? Maybe only the ones which are often portrayed in fantasies as being almost human, such as deer, squirrels, raccoons, and bears. What is the fairness in picking only favorites as equals? Is it because they are cute and cuddly?

What does it mean to you that thousands of animals daily fall victim to other animals? And that nature itself weeds out thousands daily? Is it that you are upset with nature's scheme, and plan to improve or alter it?

If you feed your pet processed food, you had best not consider what animals gave up life to provide it food. One last question. You are quick to contribute words, but do you equally contribute your time and money toward better wildlife management?

CREATIVITY takes a fair amount of concentration, or so it appears, as kindergarteners Michelle Morris, left and Frankie Candalaria, right, put the final touches on their cushions.

PARENT VOLUNTEER Amy Chavez provided her sewing machine so children in kindergarten could make cushions. Chavez provided some guidance as children sewed up the seams. Pictured completing step two of his project is Nathan Garratt.

PUTTING IN the stuffing taught children coordination, when they made pillows in kindergarten recently. Stuffing pillows are Dana Rossi and Nathan Garratt (back to camera).

CLEANING UP THE MESS was one of the most distasteful jobs in making cushions in the kindergarten classroom, as Stephanie McCall, standing, found out. She was assisted in getting the stuffing off her clothes by Katie Graham (back to camera).

Pride comes hard in kindergarten classrooms

Pride is one of those qualities you can't really touch or write down, but something you recognize when you see it.

In kindergarten, pride is learned quickly and the concept is reinforced, since, according to Webster, it is "justifiable self-respect."

Eva Clarke, one of three Nob Hill Elementary kindergarten teachers, said promoting self respect is an important part of the "growing years."

One project children in her classroom completed recently was an exercise in learning as well as "a way of making them proud of their accomplishments."

With the help of a parent volunteer, Amy Chavez, Clarke's students made cushions. Actually, they're more like small pillows, but each is as individual as its owner.

Sounds like fun, but along with that, children learned several things, Clarke said. "It taught them that there was lots of cooperation and patience involved. Also when they sewed the pillows, it helped with coordination skills. When they drew on the cushions, their creativity was apparent."

Clarke said the project was messy but one that is "just part of an ordinary day as a teacher." She said she approaches the days in the classroom "with a really positive attitude. You can't worry about how you look or how you feel. You just have to come in here knowing that it's going to be a good day."

Oh, about pride. Clarke, who has raised her own family, said developing self confidence is an important part of a child's growth. "They were proud of themselves that they could sew the pillows, and stuff them, with very little supervision."

She said the children "are also proud to have something they can take home and show their parents."

As a teacher, Clarke has the philosophy that "each child is an individual and I treat them as if they were my own kids. I love every one of them, and I just treat them like I wanted my own kids to be treated by their teachers."

Clarke said she feels most comfortable in kindergarten because "you can do so many fun things with the kids that are still teaching them so many skills that you really can't do as they get older."

That's why they did the pillow project, she said, which just happened to be like a "fun day."

Eleven Hospitals in One...

Ruidoso-Hondo Valley Hospital is now a member of Southwest Community Health Services and pools its resources and abilities with ten other New Mexico hospitals. As an affiliate of Southwest Community Health Services, we have access to the combined services available within the system: hospital department consultants, physician and nurse recruiting, consolidated purchasing power, less expensive liability insurance, management experience, systemwide quality assurance programs, continual updating of medical techniques as well as many other benefits. More importantly, we are able to obtain help in providing and financing those services that benefit our community most.

Participation in Southwest Community Health Services began when Ruidoso-Hondo Valley Hospital became an affiliate of Presbyterian Hospital Center in 1972. Since 1970 hospitals in Albuquerque, Belen, Artesia, Ruidoso, Socorro, Gallup, Clovis, Espanola, Tucumcari, and Lovington have joined the system through purchase, management contract or lease. In addition to hospitals, the system sponsors rural clinics, an ambulance service, a health maintenance organization, home health care services, an insurance company, and participates in two national shared service organizations.

The system name needed to be changed to more accurately reflect what we had become — a group of Southwestern communities joined together to provide necessary health services. Through this change, the local advisory board will become a board of trustees with responsibility to operate our hospital for the good of this community. We will also have representation on the overall board of Southwest Community Health Services, giving us a voice in the direction of hospital care throughout the system.

The people of Ruidoso-our tradition of hard work and Southwest Community Health those goals.

Southwest Community Health Services

Watch out for repair crews.

Your utility company is working consistently to keep a ready supply of electricity at your fingertips, yet sometimes maintenance and repair of electric lines are necessary. When a repair crew is working in your neighborhood, pay attention to warning signs — they're there for your safety. Slow down when approaching the work site in your car, and if on foot, walk clear of the area. Repair crews may be a slight inconvenience now, but in the long run, they mean a dependable electric supply — when you need it.

State's farm and ranch families estate-plan poor

Poor John is dead, lying in his bed. Now the government owns half his spread. (Anon.) Benjamin Franklin once wrote that nothing in this world is certain except death and taxes. One is had enough, but when death and the tax man both show up at poor John's door, it's too much.

Poor John, it seems, didn't realize how inflation and his hard work had increased the value of his farm. But no problem, his wife will inherit it all, right?

Wrong. An agricultural economist with New Mexico State University's Agricultural Experiment Station estimates that taxes and administrative costs can gobble up one-third to one-half the value of an inherited estate.

"Most people don't like to think about dying, and so they put off any kind of estate planning," said Dr. William Capener. "Besides, what happens after they die doesn't affect them now, so they just go on about their business."

Capener said although there are many "how-to" articles on estate planning, no one has asked the "real live folks" what they want. Also, there is no real information on the effects of federal and state tax laws on southwestern farms and ranches.

To fill this gap, Capener has compiled an estate planning study of farm and ranch families in New Mexico. The families, 59 in all, represent different types of agricultural enterprises in Chaves, Curry, Dona Ana, Luna and Quay counties.

One of the objectives of his study was to learn what these families expected to gain from estate planning. The two goals mentioned most often were to provide financial security for the surviving spouse and to reduce taxes. To Capener's surprise, keeping the farm or ranch in the family ranked third.

He speculates that the third-place showing reflects the changing nature of farm life. "By the time the parents are ready to pass the farm to the children, they have built other careers for themselves," he said. Unless the family operation is large, it cannot support the children until time to transfer the estate to the next generation. Even then, estate taxes may reduce the size of the estate to an undesirable size.

Although financial security for the spouse and keeping the farm in the family were listed as important, 42 percent of the families did not even have a will. Nearly half of these wills were outdated. This means that, upon their deaths, the families would have no say in who would inherit the estate or how it would be administered.

Why haven't more farmers and ranchers done estate planning? Capener said many factors account for the neglect. Property owners may not realize that their assets have increased so much that death taxes will have to be paid. Inflation and increased property values have pushed medium-sized farms into a higher tax bracket.

For example, if, in 1970, a New Mexico farmer or rancher had assets worth $100,000 and that value increased 9.3 percent a year, the assets would be worth $243,000 in 1980 and $592,111 by 1990.

Other reasons for lack of planning are more personal. Making out a will forces people to think about death, an uncomfortable thought for most. Also, because estate planning has little to do with day-to-day operations, it is easy to postpone.

When the survey families did seek estate planning information, they turned most often to agricultural magazines, mostly to keep abreast of new federal estate tax laws.

When they sought professional advice, 64 percent of the families contacted a lawyer. The second part of Capener's study was an analysis of a typical estate transfer. Transfer costs include federal and state death taxes plus administration charges.

In the analysis, he assumed that the husband would die in 1981 and that the property value would remain unchanged until the death of the wife, 10 or more years later.

Under these conditions, the taxable estate after the wife's death averaged $140,300 for the group of smallest estates. The average transfer cost for this group averaged $21,022.

The average taxable estate for the group of largest estates was $1,055,005 with transfer costs averaging $825,773, or 55 percent of the total assets.

These transfer costs often must be paid shortly after death. Other debts also may come due at this time. The way most heirs pay the transfer costs is to convert assets such as stocks and bonds, machinery and livestock to cash. Others may be able to borrow the money. In some cases this may not be enough.

For example, the liquid assets, including life insurance and bank accounts, of the group of estates with the largest amount of total assets fell short of the transfer costs by $341,873.

If farm and ranch families want to reduce taxes — and 78 percent said they did — then they must make better use of estate planning tools, according to Capener. To learn how to use these tools, he suggests they seek the advice of professional estate planning experts such as lawyers, accountants and bankers.

"The farmer or rancher must decide if he wants some say in what happens to his estate. If he doesn't, the state will determine what happens to his property," Capener said.

Capener's study is in "Transfer Costs of New Mexico Farm and Ranch Family Estates," Bulletin 677. It may be obtained from the county Extension agent or by writing the Bulletin Office, Box 341, New Mexico State University, Las Cruces, New Mexico 88003.

A look at the older you

If you want to know what you will be like when you are 65 or 82, take a good look at what you are now.

"People generally do not change their lifestyles drastically when they get old. They tend to live the kind of life they have always lived," said Leo Yates, Extension family life specialist for New Mexico State University. People who are active and happy when young generally remain active and happy as they age. Depressed, anxious, or bored and dissatisfied older people often expressed these behavior traits earlier in life.

A University of California study found that persons most content in old age were those who had several interests and activities. For example, women who made their families the centers of their lives and had not developed outside activities were reported to be the least satisfied in old age.

Women who had held jobs or led active social lives generally were happier in old age and better able to cope with the loss of husbands and children leaving home.

The answer to successful aging is not in collecting a list of activities but in keeping an open mind and preserving the capability to be experimental with yourself. The key is flexibility in all spheres of life, both in the way you work and in the way you deal with your family and friends, Yates said.

Big changes in store for small towns

The energy crisis will drastically affect many small New Mexican towns, said Bob Coppedge, Extension economist for New Mexico State University.

The most apparent changes will happen in small towns facing sudden population growth due to the development of near-by energy resources. "These boom towns may have diverted attention from many more small towns who will not feel rapid growth, yet who want to survive as communities. Although these towns will not grow rapidly, they will not escape the driving forces of change in the next two decades," Coppedge said.

Tough problems must be solved. "Someone must decide who owns the coal, oil, uranium and copper — the state or the nation," Coppedge said. "The answer will have major consequences on the social and economic development of communities and people in New Mexico."

The economist outlines the other major problems associated with growth. "How can we cope with this rapid growth of small towns? Who should help the towns of 2,000 or 5,000 handle the influx of thousands of workers?" he said. "In 20 years, when some of the resources will be gone, whose responsibility is it to help the town die?"

Coppedge said that while most people want economic growth, they may differ on what kind of growth is needed. "What about when the resources are gone? What about those many small towns that will not share in the boom?" Coppedge said.

One school of thought says the price we extract from the other states for our energy should include some permanent growth for the small town. Others seriously wonder if small towns are worth saving. "These questions are going to be answered in the next few years. Hopefully, we will like the answer," Coppedge said.

Real Estate Facts

a public service of the Ruidoso Board of Realtors

Barriers to affordable housing vary by region but are rooted in excessive government regulations at all levels, according to the Ruidoso Board of Realtors.

A recent survey by the National Association of Realtors showed that local government regulations, policies and taxes act as barriers to an adequate supply of affordable housing in a community.

Four out of every 10 Realtors surveyed nationwide regard environmental regulations, property taxes and no-growth or slow-growth policies as being serious problems in their area. Delays in the issuing of permits, limitations on mobile homes, moratoria on condominium conversions and rent control also were cited.

There was substantial variation across the country in the degree to which local government regulations were perceived to be problems. The most pressing problem in the Pacific states, for example, was environmental regulations, while property taxes were considered to be serious barriers in the Northeast and North Central states.

In some Northeastern states and the District of Columbia, moratoria on condominium conversions and rent control were deemed serious as well. In the Mountain states, however, limitations on mobile homes were regarded as the most pressing issue.

"Continued government over-regulation will have devastating effects on private property rights in our nation if left unchecked," the survey concluded. The survey highlights problem areas which could have serious ramifications for years to come. The Ruidoso Board of Realtors suggested that the problems resulting from excessive government regulation can be solved when citizens are made aware of the issues and take steps to participate in their local government processes.
