

Romero first guest artist in concert series

Pepe Romero, classical guitarist and member of the internationally celebrated Romero's Quartet, will appear at the opening performance of the Ruidoso Summer Festival, June 2 at the Ruidoso Downs Sales Arena.

PEPE ROMERO

Romero, who began musical studies at the age of three with his father, Celedonio Romero, has been called "one of the most exciting classical guitarists before the concert going public."

Of a solo concert, the Washington Evening Star said he "electrified the audience. He is a superb technician. The individual movement of his right hand fingers produces a clean, strong attack on every note. It's something to see, but you can only see it in slow passages. The rest of the time it is hopeless — like trying to watch the wing beats of a hummingbird."

Romero was also a hit at the first annual Ruidoso Summer Festival, with a seemingly effortless performance of Rodrigo's Fantasia para un Gentil Hombre and Concerto de Engrigis.

He was called back for several encores, including a closing number which he improvised for the occasion.

European critics have also responded enthusiastically to Romero, with a Madrid critic calling him "one of the greatest masters the guitar has ever known."

The Stuttgarter Nachrichten said he was "one of the greatest virtuosos, thrilling. A performance in Berlin inspired the Morgenpost to report that following his performance, "the ovation was unbounded," and East of Budapest said his playing showed "absolute technical security and perfection of lively sound."

Romero gave his first public recital at the age of ten, and his appearances since have included performances in solos, duos with brothers Celin or Angel or with both brothers and father as the Romeros Quartet. He has performed with orchestras of Cleveland, Philadelphia, Boston, New York, Los Angeles, Washington, San Antonio, Houston and many others.

Among the eminent conductors with whom he has collaborated have been Eugene Ormandy, Antonio Janigro, Neville Marriner, Arthur Fiedler, Andre Kostelanetz, Izler Solomon, Rafael Frubeck de Burgos and Victor Allesandro. Romero is also known as a world premier artist. He offered the first performance of the Paul Chlara "Guitar Concerto," commissioned by and performed with the Los Angeles Chamber Orchestra in April, 1976.

He also performed the world premier of Father De Madina's "Concierto Flamenco," composed for and dedicated to the artist. Along with other family members, he has participated in world premiers of de Madina's "Concierto Vasco," Rodrigo's "Concierto Andaluz" and Morton Bould's "Troubadour Music."

Following his first performance with the Spanish National Orchestra with Moshe Alshman conducting, composer Federico Moreno-Torroba was moved to dedicate his "Concierto de Castilla," to Romero.

Ticket information for the concert series of the Ruidoso Summer Festival, June 2-9, is available through P. O. Box 1338, Ruidoso, 88345; at the Festival office in the Ruidoso Chamber of Commerce building, or by calling (505) 257-5103.

Police seeking vandals damaging local cemetery

Ruidoso Chief of Police Dick Swenor advised The News Wednesday that, "during the past four or five days," instances of vandalism of graves at Forest Lawn Cemetery have been reported to his department.

"I personally investigated the complaints," Swenor said, "and found that someone, riding either motorcycles or all-terrain type vehicles, had actually rode through/over numerous graves.

"I have instructed my personnel to 'stick it to' anyone desecrating graves or the cemetery."

Swenor also said the police "are making every effort to learn the identity of these vandals."

DECA in nation's top eight

Ruidoso's Distributive Education Clubs of America (DECA) Pepsi Learn and Earn project has, for the fourth straight year, placed in the top eight in the nation.

Eddie Parker, DECA sponsor, said he received notification Tuesday that the Pepsi project survived initial eliminations. Announcement of the winner of the contest will be made at the final awards ceremony during the national Career Development Conference (CDC) June 17 in Anaheim, California.

New Mexico's top project will compete with those from Florida, Georgia, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Oklahoma and Wyoming.

The local chapter placed eighth in 1978 and second in the nation in 1979. Last year, the chapter's Pepsi project was sixth.

"Over the years, we have accumulated 50 shares of Pepsi Cola stock, valued at $1,750. In addition to that, Pepsi has paid for one student to attend the conference for every year we placed in the top eight," Parker said.

Parker said Mike Clarke and Lou Ann Wilson, co-chairpersons on the project, will attend a special Pepsi sponsored breakfast one morning during the CDC. They will also be recognized during the awards ceremony since the project is in the top eight.

"We are, as always, very excited to even be in the top eight. We have survived state elimination and now we are at least eighth in the United States. Each year, it's still a surprise an still an honor," Parker said.

The project details the mechanics involved in sponsoring a seafood sale and offering several incentives to students to pre-sell orders, and to customers, by offering credit card purchasing.

"I really feel we have learned more from this project than any we've ever prepared. We took the money we earned to help purchase a computer, which we used to prepare our project. It printed out a wealth of information useful in analyzing the success and profit margin of the project," Parker said.

WINNER'S PURSE $260,522.55 FOR 350 YARD DASH

Kansas Futurity Sunday

BY MARK GORDON

Special Effort, who stunned Ruidoso Downs observers with his rapid qualifying trial run, heads the field for Sunday's $787,350 Kansas Futurity at Ruidoso Downs.

The 350 yard chase, matching the 10 fastest qualifiers from the May 14-15 trial races, is the first leg of the Triple Crown for two-year-old quarter horses.

It will carry the richest purse in the history of the event, with the winner receiving $260,522.55. That represents an amazing increase of more than $94,000 from the $166,333 winner's share paid to Clever Bug, who won the 1980 Kansas Futurity.

Overall, the gross purse will be a staggering $282,850 increase from last year's gross purse of $504,500.

Special Effort, meanwhile, appears to be in the best position to annex that $260,522 after his brilliant trial run. He was clocked in 17:90 while scoring an easy 4 1/4 length win in the third division.

That time was the fastest 350 yard run at Ruidoso Downs since Holme Maid zipped to a 17:72 on June 8, 1979. It was also one of the swiftest 350 yard readings by a two-year-old in recent Ruidoso Downs history.

Owned by Allen Taylor and Inken Willis of Beaville, Texas, the Raise Your Glass colt is trained by Johnie A. Goodman and was ridden by W. R. Hunt in the May 14 trial.

Prior to his trial victory, Special Effort won his debut at La Bahia Downs in Gollad, Texas. He has earned $1,343 on two career wins.

The entrant with the largest bankroll is Greybon, an Ichibon colt owned by Sandra Fox, D. E. Hare, M. E. Johnson and Era Pittman of Albany, Texas.

Greybon, the sixth fastest qualifier with an 18:58 timing, has earned $114,495 on three wins and one second in four outings. His biggest paycheck was the $112,103.35 he earned with his head triumph in the Sun Country Futurity on April 26 at Sunland Park.

Greybon is trained by Jack Brooks and was ridden by Jackie Martin, Ruidoso Downs' leading rider, in the trials.

Ponti Bar, a Ponti colt, had the second fastest qualifying time of 18:12 with his two length victory in the 15th division.

Ponti Bar has five wins and two thirds in seven career outings and earnings of $12,826 for owner Jack A. Henning of Ruidoso, Texas. He's trained by H. C. Werner Jr., and was ridden by Willie Lovell in the trials.

Trainers Jack Brooks and J. C. Wiley each have two entrants in the 31st running of the Kansas Futurity. Brooks has Greybon and High Handed, a Hemen colt owned by Billy Gene Smith of Albuquerque. High Handed was the fifth fastest qualifier with an 18:20 reading.

Wiley, meanwhile, has Bar Roulocks, the seventh fastest entrant (18:60) and Reed About Masked, the ninth fastest qualifier with an 18:53 time.

The 10 entrants and their qualifying times include Special Effort (17:90); Ponti Bar (18:12); Nosy Request (18:14); Navco Moon (18:19); High Handed (18:20); Greybon (18:58); Bar Roulocks (18:60); Yeller Fuel (18:62); Reed About Masked (18:63) and Go For Bugs (18:63).

Racing begins this week on Friday with the $59,458.60 second consolation of the Kansas Futurity. The winner will earn $7,588.80. The Mighty Lady and Easy Diamond Jim with 18:34 trial times, are the fastest qualifiers.

Saturday's highlights include the Kansas Futurity's first consolation with a purse of $114,233.10 and the Master Salls Handicap.

The first consolation will pay the winner $17,211.70. Howard Lee (18:26) and Mitos Money Maker (18:30) were the fastest qualifiers from the May 14-15 trial races.

The Master Salls Handicap, named for one of the finest horses ever to compete at Ruidoso Downs, will be at 870 yards for three-year-old and older horses. The purse will be $7,500-added.

Each day will feature a 12 race card. Post time will be the usual 1 p.m.

Fern Sawyer on state racing commission

Fern Sawyer of Nogal was appointed Wednesday to the State Racing Commission by Governor Bruce King. She will fill the unexpired term of Gavin Maloof, who resigned.

Sawyer is a native New Mexican and has been a rancher all her life. She is actively involved in rodeo and is a former world champion cowgirl. She is also listed in the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame.

Sawyer had served on the state Fair Board for more than 10 years beginning in the mid-1960's.

County denies SBAC funding

BY GWYNETH JONES Staff Writer

The Sierra Blanca Airport Commission (SBAC) won't be receiving any funding from Lincoln County for the 1981-82 fiscal year.

During a preliminary budget hearing, the commissioners, including SBAC member Ben Hall, agreed that no funding would be included in the budget, citing violation of the joint-powers agreement under which the board was created.

The violations, according to the commissioners, included a failure to submit quarterly reports to the county, which administers the SBAC's treasury, and failure to hold monthly meetings, as stipulated in the joint powers agreement.

County manager Bill Billingsley added that the SBAC had made no funding requests for the coming year.

The commissioners also turned down a funding request from Bill Payne on behalf of the town of Carrizozo and Lincoln County Arriba, the non-profit organization which has taken over the management of the Carrizozo Recreation Area and golf BAD GUYS and Good Guys have apparently joined forces to obtain the highly valued potential members list for the upcoming Chamber of Commerce membership drive. An unidentified person, left, attributes his presence in the above photo to "darkroom trickery." Bad Guy Larry Langford openly admitted that he broke the combination on the safe but was surprised when he opened the door. See story for details.

It's shenanigans vs. ethics in C-C's membership drive

There appears to be no end to the deceitful activities connected with the upcoming Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce membership drive, scheduled for June 10.

Both team leaders, Good Guy Etain Shrdlu and Bad Guy Larry Langford, have informed The News that they were misled by Chamber president Richard Sandoval.

"Richard told me the potential members list was at Ruidoso State Bank (RSB), so I was going after it," Langford said. It was a long hard road to finally get into the safe without being detected by one of the tellers or bank guards, but I got there, with help from a felon."

The leader of the Good Guys said this information was not entirely true. "I don't want the potential members list until June 10. I intend to win this year's contest fair and square. As I said, I've had to keep a sharp eye on Langford just to keep him out of mischief," he said.

The so-called Good Guy added that he, too, had been informed that the valuable list was being housed at RSB for safekeeping. "I'm sure the photograph you have was just some sort of darkroom magic. That is definitely not me in that photograph," he said. "I mean, it is me, but I wasn't there."

Langford said he did manage to open the safe and found only quarters. "That's right. Sandoval said that list was in there, but it wasn't — I just found hundreds of quarters."

The Good Guy said he knew the list wasn't at RSB. "I know they put it at Security Bank this year; they told me. Being an honest, clean cut, All-American kind of guy, they knew I wouldn't try anything underhanded to get the list."

Sandoval, who claims he is impartial in the ongoing battle, said the list is safely housed at Security Bank "because we wanted to throw the Bad Guys off the trail. 'Now that the secret's out, however, we'll probably have to double the guard at the bank in order to provide adequate protection for our list,'" he added.

Sandoval announced Wednesday that Langford has found an assistant, Wayne Savage, who will be at the helm next year, when Langford relinquishes his Bad Guy hat. The Good Guys also have an assistant leader, but The News did not bother to discover who it was.

"It really doesn't matter who their team members, or leaders, or assistants, are anyway," Langford said. "We'll always have more tricks up our sleeves to beat them."

Chamber executive director Ed Jungbluth said that "no matter how this battle ends, the Chamber will come out the winner." He said the 1980 membership drive netted nearly 190 new members. "We'd like to have half that many join this year, at least," he said.

Jungbluth said the Chamber has grown to over 400 members and is now able to offer a large number of services to the community.

"We offer our members various services, including responses to the numerous telephone calls, letters and walk-in visitors to the Chamber each day," he said.

In addition, the Chamber stages the Ruidoso Art Festival, July 24-26 this year, "which will feature about 100 of the finest artists in the Southwest. We think we'll present the best art show anywhere in the state this year," he said.

The Chamber assists in organizing Aspenade Motorcycle Convention activities, and oversees the annual Aspenade parade.

The Retail Merchants Committee of the Chamber enters its third year as the most active subcommittee within the organization. Activities sponsored by that group include annual Christmas lighting contests and a cooperative effort with local governing bodies to light a village Christmas tree.

They also sponsor a highly successful Easter egg hunt each April and "Fun Days in the Park" are highlighted by beard growing contests and Easter hat contests. "We have many other fun activities going on all year; the more Chamber members we have, the better and more frequent will be our programs and services," Jungbluth said.

"If you're not a Chamber member, you may as well get ready for us to call on you June 10. Our ultimate goal is to get every business in Ruidoso signed up as a Chamber member," Jungbluth said.

School budget set at $4.2 million

Legislation concerning public schools in New Mexico, passed during the 1981 session, and tentative approval of the 1981-82 budget for the Ruidoso Independent School system, highlighted the Board of Education and the Department of Public Schools Finance (PSF) budget hearing Wednesday morning.

Next year's budget of $4,243,716, includes a 19.2 percent increase in certified staff salaries, and a 16 percent across the board increase for non-certified personnel, ranking Ruidoso's professional staff third in the state.

Ruidoso teachers will draw an average salary of $22,184, attributed to experience and education earned, according to Rebecca Delgado, deputy director of PSF of who reviewed the budget.

Delgado said salaries and benefits make up about 65 percent of the budget, and noted that teachers statewide are receiving an average 12.6 percent salary/benefits increase next fiscal year.

The highest increase comes from J-1, with a hefty 26.6 percent increase, with teachers drawing an average $24,000. Delgado said Grants is lowest, with teachers earning an average $16,269 next year.

The figures given are based upon 61 budgets received from the 89 school districts in New Mexico.

Other major local expenditures will come in plant improvements as a result of approval of a two mill levy for three years. Superintendent of Schools Pat Vallant said the board of education "is considering an expenditure of $6,000 to build four more classrooms at White Mountain Elementary School, using the present commons area for new classrooms."

Also budgeted are one additional librarian for the middle school, another custodian to be shared by both White Mountain schools and a part time speech therapist for special education.

Audio visual equipment will be added to the inventory of teaching materials next year, with $9,000 budgeted for those items.

Overall, the budget was increased to account for increased allowances from the state for each full time student attending Ruidoso's schools.

The funding formula was changed from $1,250 to $2,217 for the 1981-82 school year. This formula is based upon a complicated schedule for each full time student, dependent upon the class rank, and does not include special education funding, Vallant said.

Ruidoso's cut of state matching money for the two mill levy passed in February will also be higher than originally anticipated. Ruidoso will receive $161,000 per year for three years in revenue from the mill levy; revenues were originally pegged at $105,000 per year.

Delgado said the legislature appropriated $10 million for the state's Emergency Capital Outlay Committee (ECOC) for next year.

Ruidoso will seek at least $2 million from the ECOC this summer, to be used to build the first phase of a new high school.

Delgado added that overall, the legislature increased funding to public schools by 26.8 percent this year. In several bills, public schools were appropriated up to $497 million, depending on federal actions.

Delgado said the amount of funding the state provides will depend upon the final budget adopted by the federal government.

Delgado said the interest rate for bonds was increased to ten percent "and it could be higher if a good case were presented to Public School Finance."

The law will affect Ruidoso's district when $2,250,000 in bonds will go on the market to finance the new high school.

Delgado outlined several other pieces of legislation and noted that complete copies of all legislation affecting public schools is on file at the central office.

"We feel pretty good about our representation in Santa Fe," Delgado said. "I would, on behalf of Public School Finance, like to express my gratitude to the legislature for their continued support of public schools."

Board president Dave Parks also expressed thanks to the legislature.

Final approval of the budget will come sometime between July 1 and September 1, after PSF has reviewed all budgets in Santa Fe.

Jet trainer crashed near Riverside

A T-38 jet trainer from Holloman Air Force Base crashed about 12:40 p.m. Tuesday a half mile north of Highway 70 at Riverside.

The pilot, Gregory N. Carmon, 30, parachuted from the plane before the crash and was reportedly uninjured, but was taken to the Holloman base hospital by a passing motorist for examination. He is a member of the 485th Tactical Fighter Squadron.

State Police, Lincoln County Sheriff's officers Ruidoso Criminal Investigator Dave Pfeiffer and the Ruidoso Ambulance responded to the report of the downed aircraft.

Air Force officials are investigating the cause of the crash.

Downs' officials decry public apathy to village

Mayor Norman Wheeler, and trustees Bob Power and Harold Mansell of Ruidoso Downs Monday chided the residents of the village for "lack of interest" in municipal government.

The trustees expressed dismay over their inability to find anyone willing to serve on the board, since the April 14 resignation of Don Rlerson.

Several persons have been approached by council members, but none has agreed to serve, they said.

Power called the situation "ridiculous," and added, "I'm getting tired of looking at Harold."

"I feel like we've just got two or three people running the village and that's not right," Power said.

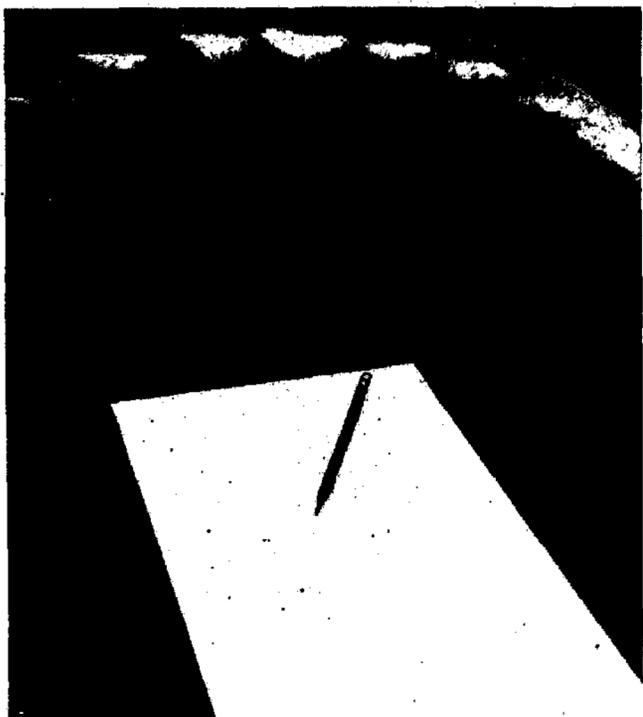

"People just don't seem to take an active interest in the village," Wheeler said.

In addition to the vacancy on the village board of trustees, the town's Planning and Zoning Commission (P&Z) held its last meeting one year ago, because of vacancies on that body.

"A good solid P&Z," Wheeler could handle preliminary action on new businesses and developments, rather than having that responsibility fall to the trustees.

The replacement on the village board would be subject to approval by the other members. Rlerson's term will expire in March, 1982.

Any resident of the village of Ruidoso Downs who would be interested in serving on either board should contact the mayor, one of the trustees or village clerk Virginia Spall.

AN EMPTY CHAIR and unused agenda at the Ruidoso Downs municipal building is causing concern to the mayor and other elected officials. A vacancy has existed on the board of trustees for more than a month, and several persons are needed to serve on a Planning and Zoning Commission.

Monday fires doused quickly

Two fires Monday, attributed to fireplace ashes, caused minor damage to an open meadow and a village garbage compactor truck.

Ruidoso Volunteer Fire Chief Butch Jacobs said the Ruidoso Fire Department and Forest Service responded to a call at 3:30 p.m., on Lower Terrace Drive, where a fire cleared a 50 by 50 foot area, causing no other damage.

Another fire at 505 Second Street an hour later caused little damage to a city dump truck when fireplace ashes were transferred from a dumpster to the truck, catching trash inside the truck on fire, Jacobs said.

Governmental offices closed this Friday

City, county and state government offices will be closed Friday in observance of Memorial Day.

The Ruidoso and Ruidoso Downs municipal buildings, Lincoln County courthouse, and offices of the Motor Vehicle Division and Environmental Improvement Division will resume normal working hours on Monday, May 31.

Area post offices and the Captain municipal office will remain open on Friday, as will law enforcement offices.

Lisawyer convicted on drug charge

James Lisawyer, 20, Boulder, Colorado, was convicted Tuesday in Carrizozo magistrate court, of possession of a controlled substance, to wit, hashish, in connection with his arrest March 13 in Ruidoso Downs. The charge is a misdemeanor.

Lisawyer was sentenced to 364 days in jail and fined $500. Judge S. M. Ortiz said the balance of his jail sentence would be suspended upon his extradition to Colorado, where he is wanted for first degree assault.

new deputy to the staff.

Sanchez said the deputy was needed because of additional animal control duties, and the need to relieve the present staff for holidays and vacations. He added that the office is also handling additional complaints, particularly burglaries in the Alto area and that deputies also handle "almost all accidents between Alto and Capitan."

The commissioners also agreed to provide funds for the sheriff to purchase a new copy machine for the Ruidoso substation, but turned down a request for shotguns for the deputies to carry as backup weapons in their vehicles.

The commissioners also agreed to rejoin the New Mexico Association of counties (NMAC) despite their feeling that the dues schedule is unfair.

McKnight said he would go along with joining the NMAC "to see if we can change the rules next year."

Billingsley advised the commissioners that Lincoln County pays only $500 less in dues than Otero County, although Otero's property valuation is $10 million higher. Dues are supposed to be based on property taxes, he said.

In other business, the commissioners: — Agreed to fund a part time position for a county ambulance coordinator, on the condition that the new coordinator, "watch transfers from the Ruidoso hospital very closely," McKnight said. He said the county loses money on every transfer, and that non-emergency transfers should stop immediately.

— Agreed to resubmit a priorities list for the School Bus Route Improvement Program, to the state Highway Department, at their request.

— Voted to purchase a quantity of aggregate chips as road building material, from the state Highway Department, for $481.

— Heard funding requests from the county Extension Department, the Soil Conservation Service on behalf of local Soil and Water Conservation districts, the county Counseling Center and District Attorney's office.

— Discussed the hiring of a new doctor for Carrizozo with Bill Hamberg of St. Joseph's Hospital, which administers the Carrizozo Health Center. They expressed approval of the agreement with the new doctor that his moving expenses (up to $4,000) would be paid on the condition that he remain in Carrizozo for at least one year, as per his contract with the National Health Corps.

— Agreed to provide funds to fence the county's new parking lot.

Payne gave the commissioners an update on action of the new organization.

The group is selling golf memberships for $150, and is soliciting donors of all amounts from individuals and businesses.

He said the group needs to raise $100,000 per year, over and above the amount received in green fees and rentals. Memberships and donations, he added, "will fall far short" of that figure.

Commissioner John Allen Hightower said he would like to see the group "come up with some plan to cut expenses," and compared Payne's request to "driving a new Cadillac in to pick up a welfare check."

Commission chairman Cotton McKnight said he "couldn't see how you could spend that much," on the golf course, but Payne pointed out that the facilities also include a Little League ball park, lake and picnic grounds.

Hightower said he felt the $150 membership figure was low, and added, "I feel like you're cutting the rate to them and asking me to pick up the rest — and I don't like it."

Hightower also volunteered to purchase a membership, but said he would not favor using any county property tax money for the facility.

Commissioner Ben Hall agreed that funding the facility would create a bad precedent, and "there'd be no end to what we could subsidize off the taxpayers. I don't think we ought to even get started."

Payne said his organization was moving on the assumption that the facility was of benefit to the entire county — not just Carrizozo. He added that expenses would be reduced eventually, but if the cuts began immediately, "it will make it that much harder to raise money."

If the facility were to deteriorate, "fewer and fewer people will be willing to come over from Ruidoso to play golf," he said. "If we start to cut back now, we're just about defeated before we start."

After Payne left the meeting, the commissioners softened their stand somewhat, and indicated that if a budget showing some cost cuts were to be presented, they might consider a small amount of funding from Revenue Sharing funds.

Hightower stipulated again, however, that "no county property tax money" should be used to finance the facility.

In other budget deliberations, the commissioners met with sheriff Ernest Sanchez, and approved the addition of a

Downs trustees may approve go-cart facility

Requests for the establishment of new businesses — a go-kart track and recreational vehicle park — were the primary focus of Monday's meeting of Ruidoso Downs trustees.

The trustees granted a variance to Cowboy Scrimshire for reopening of a go-kart track, but added a number of conditions to the agreement.

The variance had been sought because the track would violate a regulation that such facilities be located "at least 100 feet from a public way," and "1,000 feet from any dwelling." Two houses fall within the 1,000 feet distance, and the track will border the Highway 70 right of way.

The trustees instructed Scrimshire to obtain releases from owners of the two houses and stipulated that their approval of the track would stand, only if it "doesn't conflict with state laws or regulations."

Scrimshire said he would not open the track late in the evening, and that if complaints were received, he would "just shut it down" for the day.

Barbara Schollocker also met with the trustees to advise them of her plans to install a recreational vehicle park on property located behind the Mitchell Motel.

She said the park would accommodate 100 vehicles and would be serviced by a private well, septic system and garbage collection. Electrical hookups would also be furnished, she said.

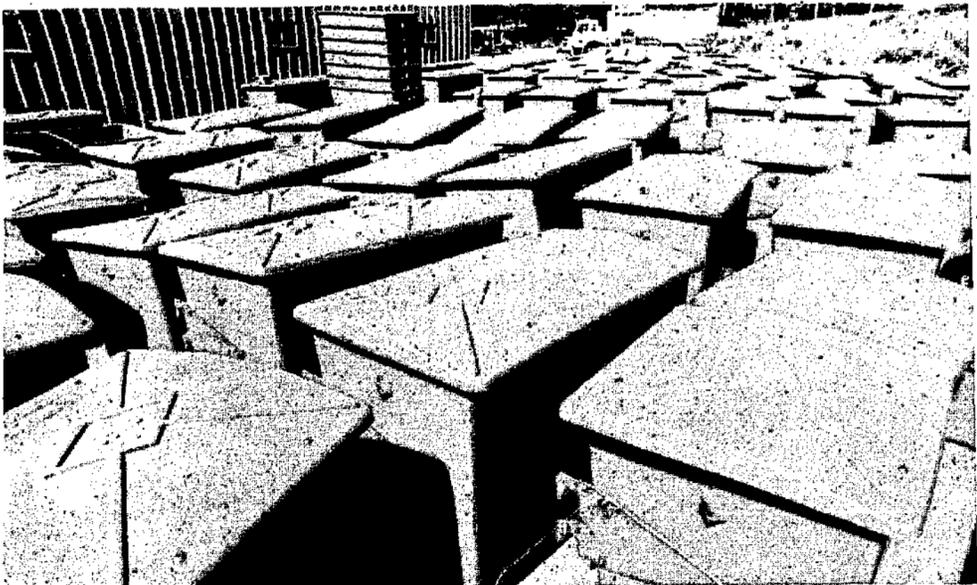

The trustees advised Schollocker to return at the next meeting with a complete plan showing the layout and specifications of the park, for further consideration.

In other business, the trustees: — Granted approval to Jim Thompson to divide a lot in Palo Verde Townsite. — Signed a final inspection release for the new Downs sewer system.

Lincoln man faces livestock theft charge

John Tomas of Lincoln was bound over to District Court Wednesday on charges of theft of livestock.

Charges against Tomas were filed within the last two weeks, according to the Lincoln County Sheriff's Office, the charges stemmed from incidents in January, sheriff Ernest Sanchez said.

A SEA OF DUMPSTERS appeared recently behind the village of Ruidoso's maintenance building. More than 300 dumpsters have been received so far, of a total of 500 which were purchased with funds made available through the March general obligation bond, solid waste disposal department. The dumpsters are to be distributed throughout the village on an "as needed" basis.

Greater Fort Worth Youth Symphony Orchestra coming

The Ruidoso Summer Festival committee was notified this morning that the Greater Fort Worth Youth Symphony Orchestra, whose music director is John Giordano, director of the Texas Little Symphony, will appear in concert here Friday, June 5.

The Youth Symphony has raised enough money to pay their expenses to Ruidoso for the week of the music festival.

The orchestra will, at their own expense, present a concert in the Cedar Creek park area at noon June 5.

Summer Festival members are urging everyone to attend this free concert, an unexpected addition to the eight-day series of concerts to be performed by the Texas Little Symphony.

Patch wearers greeters for motorcyclists

An original patch, designed by Aspenade Motorcycle Convention organizer TIL Thompson, will be made available to some "highly visible" business persons in Ruidoso to be worn during that week of festivities in October.

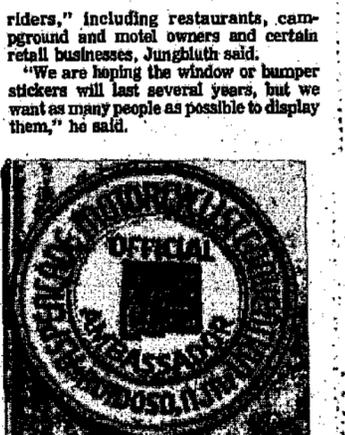

Thompson, working with the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce, designed the patch to "let the cyclists know that we are glad they're here and we're behind TIL's effort all the way," Ed Jungbluth, Chamber executive director, said.

The Chamber has ordered 5,000 window stickers which are copies of the patch design, which will be available free of charge.

"This is just one more way that we can reinforce what we've said all along — that the motorcycles are a vital part of the Ruidoso economy and we are glad they choose to come to Ruidoso year after year," Richard Sandoval, Chamber president, said.

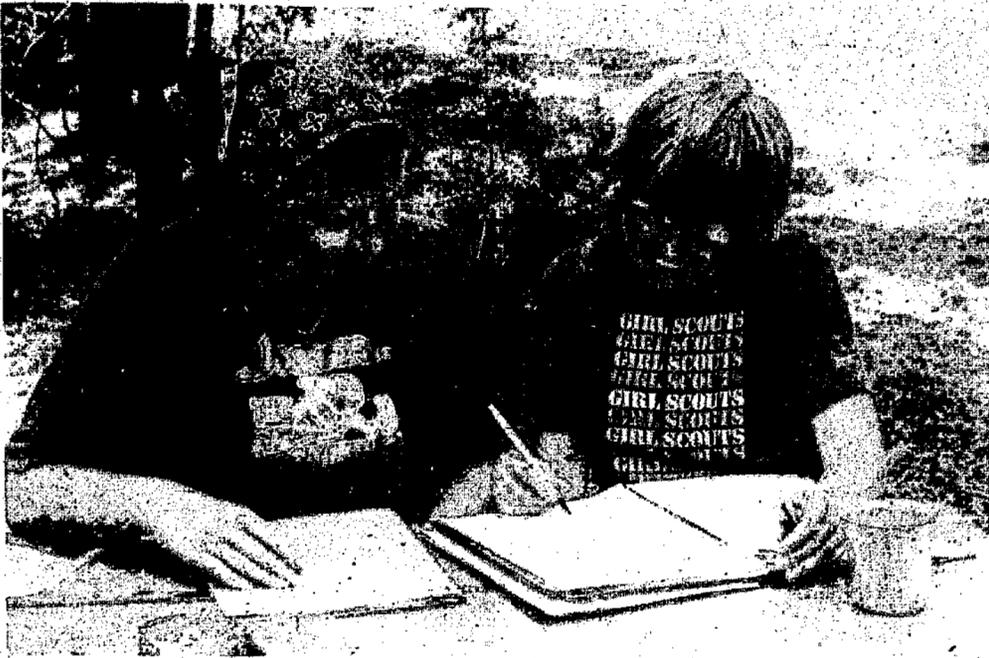

"TIL does a wonderful job with the motorcycle convention and parade and it's been so well publicized that our Aspenade parade has the biggest audience of any parade in the state now," Sandoval added.

The cloth patches will be made available through the Chamber to "businesses that receive a lot of traffic from the motorcycle

PEOPLE

MAKING PLANS for the first annual Zia Council Ruidoso Day Camp for Girl Scouts are camp director Kathy Segal, left, and Justine Hudson, Zia Council director, both of Alamogordo. The Ruidoso day camp will be at Two Rivers Park June 15-19 for Girl Scouts of all ages.

Girl Scout Day Camp set here

Thirty-one girls will participate in the first Zia Girl Scout Day Camp in Ruidoso June 15-19, at Two Rivers Park. Three units of Brownies, Junior Girl Scouts and Cadettes, will participate in "the next best thing to going off to camp for a week," according to Jane Deyo, Zia Council representative. Deyo said the girls will have an opportunity to earn several badges, polish their outdoor skills, do some outdoor cooking and gain a greater appreciation of nature. Field trips to various local areas of interest will sharpen the girls' awareness of "what there is in Ruidoso and how they can enjoy it," Deyo said. Camp director is Kathy Segal of Alamogordo, who will assist leaders Mona Ridgeway, Anita Halbrooks and Cora Sweeney in preparing each day's schedule.

Also involved in the planning is Justine Hudson, Zia Council district advisor, of Alamogordo. Although registration is closed, Deyo said day camp will become an annual activity of the local scouting program. "This will give those who missed the deadline this year the opportunity to plan ahead for next year's camp," she said.

Girls trying out for McDonald's All American High School Band

Lara Ratliff and Kathy Kiser, both entering their senior year at Ruidoso High School, have been selected to try out for the McDonald's All American High School Band. Both girls may be asked to submit an audition tape for eliminations later, according to Danny Flores, band director.

"There will be about 25 students from all over New Mexico trying out for this band. Only two will be chosen to represent the state," Flores said. Flores said winners will be announced October 1. If selected to participate, both girls will receive all-expense paid trips to the Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade in New York City in November, and the Rose Bowl Parade in Pasadena, California, in January, 1982.

"The McDonald's band marches in both these parades every year," Flores said. Ratliff plays the clarinet and Kiser is a first chair flute in the Ruidoso band.

 2 Tsp. salt
 2 Tbsp. butter
 1½ Cup Minute Rice
 1 — 8½ Oz. sliced pineapple
 1 green pepper diced
 ¼ Cup catsup
 Combine milk, bread crumbs, beef, egg, ¼ cup onion and salt. Form into 20 meat balls. Brown in butter in large skillet. Add rice and remaining onion. Stir until rice is gently browned. Drain pineapple. Measure syrup, add water to make 1½ cup. Cut pineapple into wedges. Add liquid, pineapple to other ingredients. Bring to boil, simmer 5 minutes.

FRUIT CAKE PIE
 ½ C. chopped pecans
 ½ C. chopped dates
 ½ C. candied cherries, chopped
 ¼ C. chopped candied pineapple
 6 T. butter
 ½ C. brown sugar, packed
 3 eggs, beaten
 ½ C. karo
 ¼ tsp. ginger
 ¼ tsp. nutmeg
 ¼ tsp. cloves
 Dash of salt
 ¼ C. candied cherries, halved
 ¼ C. pecans
 Combine pecans, dates, chopped candied fruit. Sprinkle over 10" pastry shell. Cream butter and sugar until fluffy. Add eggs, syrup, spices and salt. Beat until well blended. Pour into pie shell. Decorate with cherry halves and pecans. Bake at 350 degrees, 40 to 45 minutes.

The Silver Lining

BY DANIEL AGNEW STORM

Floods Down In Austin

I always worry about brother Mark down in Houston because I am always hearing about the hurricanes, tidal waves, heavy rains, and all kinds of high water with alligators hitching rides along the flooded highways.

However I never worry about brother Lynn as far as floods go, because he has had ample experience with all kinds of high water and has long ago learned to stay on the high ground. So I was not too much worried even though his shopping center is on Shoal Creek.

Who would think little old Shoal Creek, that runs only a trickle of water, would bring flood water up to the traffic lights in downtown Austin, one of the most beautiful cities in the world? The city is built on hills well out of reach of the Colorado River, which can go on a rampage once in a while.

This brings back memories of the days when we used to drive back to Austin for the winter in September in the 1917 Velle (which Lynn still has, a priceless antique, and family treasure.)

We would come to one bridge and find the water six feet over it, or the bridge washed out. We would have to detour miles around only to find our way blocked by floods again. We became well acquainted with West Texas on those trips.

Our prayers go up for the loved ones of those who were called Home by Our Lord, in the flood.

A Lesson In All Things

The lesson in the Austin tragedy is this: no matter how dry any kind of stream bed may be, or how little drainage it may encompass, there is always the danger of flood water. A sudden cloud-burst may move in without warning, dropping six, seven, eight inches of water in a matter of minutes. The drier the land, the faster the water comes charging down.

One thing to remember is that some of the biggest floods come at a time that is not supposed to be "The Rainy Season".

So remember, be always on the look-out any time you are in a stream bed or dry canyon with any amount of drainage at all.

This is being written on May twenty six, and the clouds are building up all around. The thermometer went up to eighty six today, a sign of moisture moving in. We welcome the rain always, and yet we must always be on the watch for floods.

Coe Family Reunion

I have just received word for Bonita City Lou that the Coe family reunion will be held at Mayhill on June twenty. From all we can hear this will be a very large get-together, as descendants of the pioneer Coe's gather from near and distant places.

The Coe's did valuable work in the early days to build a foundation for making New Mexico one of the best places to live in the world. And their descendants are carrying on the good work.

We will have a little more about this Coe Reunion a little later.

Traditional Memorial Day

The traditional Memorial Day falls on May thirty, so remember to fly the flag and say a prayer for our men who fell in battle for Our Country; and let us pray that the tragedy of war may be gone from the face of the Earth.

Thanks for everything and God Bless You.

Gross Receipts Tax to remain at 4.5 percent

The Ruidoso trustees Tuesday evening scheduled implementation of action to retain the present Gross Receipts Tax locally at its present 4.5 percent.

The State of New Mexico, village clerk Jim Hine advised the trustees, "has set the state tax at four percent, while permitting the village to add the half cent the state will not be collecting, thus leaving the tax at its present 4.5 percent." This action will be effective January 1, 1982.

The trustees will incorporate this tax procedure in the final budget hearing slated for the June 10 meeting.

The June 10 date, for the next meeting, was set to avoid conflict with the final performance of the Ruidoso Summer Festival, which several trustees said they expected to attend.

HINE REPORTED the sale of $170,000 in General Obligation bonds to Ruidoso State Bank and Security Bank of Ruidoso Tuesday afternoon. In a joint bid, both banks submitted an interest rate of 7.99994 percent. The money will pay for trucks and equipment to be used by the Solid Waste Disposal Department. The sale was approved by the unanimous adoption of Ordinance 81-8.

In other business, the trustees: — Were advised by Hine that construction of a main sewer line from Gavilan Canyon down Meander Drive to tie into Paradise Canyon Road would begin Friday.

— Took action to implement a Business Registration Ordinance, to comply with state law effective July 1, repealing the present ordinance on Occupation Licenses. A uniform fee, with the trustees considering a flat $25 at present, will be incorporated into the new ordinance.

— Were advised by Lodger's Tax Committee chairman Ed Hyman that the organization's budget for the coming year is pegged at $69,750, for promotional expenses.

— Accepted the bid of Border Machinery, El Paso, Texas, in the amount of $39,200 for a rear loading garage pickup truck. — Named John Moore, Ruidoso, as architect for the renovation of the present village hall into a new police, jail and judicial complex.

— Were advised by trustee George White that Eagle Creek Water Association has gained approval from the New Mexico Water Source Division for the drilling of an experimental well, to a depth of 1,500 feet, by the village on association owned land. — Accepted a bid of $40,694.25 from West Ford, El Paso, for a new truck for the village Street Department.

— Were advised by village Zoning Enforcement Officer John Cupp that he will meet with representatives from retail establishments June 1 to draft an ordinance governing street vendors.

— Instructed Chief of Police Dick Swenor to meet with operators of alarm systems in the village to develop a system of charging for answering false alarms and to establish a service charge for monitoring the alarms by the police department.

— Adopted Ordinance 81-5 creating a Lodger's Tax Advisory Board; as an amendment to Chapter 4, article 4, of the present ordinance, which, in effect, continues the present Lodger's Tax Committee. Trustees White and trustee Benny Coulston voted aye, trustees Sherman Atwood and Frank Sawyer voted no; with mayor Lloyd L. Davis Jr., casting an aye vote to break the tie to adopt the ordinance.

— Adopted Ordinance 81-6 making it unlawful to resist the Animal Control Officer.

— Adopted Ordinance 81-7, pertaining to morals, setting a fine or $300, 90 days in jail, or both, for conviction on charges of indecent exposure.

— Approved designating Friday as a municipal holiday in observance of Memorial Day.

— Adjourned the regular meeting to go into executive session to discuss matters concerning litigation.

Damages suit filed in 1979 plane crash

The widow of a pilot who lost his life in an airplane crash near the Ruidoso Municipal Airport in 1979, has filed suit in district court, seeking more than $3 million in damages from the aircraft manufacturer, an airplane maintenance company, the village of Ruidoso and a number of airport employees.

Judith Ann Howard, widow of Charles R. "Ron" Howard, was joined in the suit by her son, James Howard, Alan Paul Morel, both of whom were passengers in the plane, and Howard's employer, CATV Incorporated. The suit was filed May 26, almost two years to the day following the crash.

Named as defendants in the suit are Teledyne Continental Motors Aircraft Products Division, a division of Teledyne Industries, a wholly owned subsidiary of Teledyne Incorporated; Bellanca Aircraft Corporation; Jerry Waits, David Hatch; Steven Perry; Timothy M. Morris; Richard O. Williams; Gary G. McSwain; Jeffrey D. Elliott and the village of Ruidoso.

Two million dollars is being sought by Judith Howard as the "worth of the continued life of Charles R. Howard at the time of his death based on his age, life expectancy, health, habits, future earning capacity and providing of future household services."

The younger Howard and Morel are seeking $500,000 each, based on the suit's claim that both "sustained severe personal injuries (and) have in the past and will in the future experience pain, suffering, anguish and anxiety; have incurred and will in the future suffer the inability to engage in normal family, social, recreational and wage earning activities."

CATV is seeking $50,000 for the loss of their aircraft.

The suit charges that Teledyne, supplier of the engine in the aircraft and Bellanca, supplier of the aircraft, "negligently and carelessly supplied the engine and aircraft."

It also claims that "inadequate operation of the air induction system component parts of the engine and oil contamination caused loss of power and the resulting crash of the aircraft shortly after it had taken off from the Ruidoso Municipal Airport."

Prior to the crash, the suit charges, "defendant Waits was owner and operator of an airplane service and maintenance business in Hill City, Kansas." According to the document, he and employee Hatch were "negligent in failing to properly perform maintenance service on the aircraft, including the air induction system of the engine and negligently . . . failed to properly inspect for and discover defective and unsafe conditions in the aircraft and engine which proximately caused the death of Charles R. Howard," and injuries to Howard and Morel.

The suit also claims negligence on the part of Perry, Morris, Williams, Elliott and McSwain who "prior to the day of the crash, serviced the aircraft in the course of their employment with the Municipal Airport . . . and failed to properly service and maintain the engine and inspect for dangers in the engine, including an improperly seated oil cap, which proximately caused the death of Charles R. Howard," and injuries to the other two men.

Bobby Moffat's Techniques Soccer Camp' in July

BY GREG STEPHENS
Sports Writer

The second annual Bobby Moffat Techniques Soccer Camp will be held at White Mountain Middle School July 5-10.

Moffat is a native of Portsmouth, England. He was a star in his own right in Britain before jumping to the newly formed North American Soccer League (NASL) in 1978. He had eight goals and three assists in his rookie season for the Dallas Tornados. In 1971, Moffat was a key figure as Dallas won its only NASL championship. In the semifinal match against Rochester, he scored the winning goal after 58 minutes of overtime — the longest match in league history.

Since his retirement in 1977, Moffat has remained actively involved with soccer, as a coach, writer and promoter. He wrote, directed, and starred in "The Soccer Locker," a show that ran for two years on Channel 11 in Dallas. He owns the "Happy Jock" — a sporting good store for soccer nuts in the Dallas area. And he's written two books — the "Basic Soccer Guide" and the soon-to-be-published "Intermediate Soccer Guide."

In addition, Moffat is coach and director of the Flame Soccer Club in Dallas and spends his summers running soccer clinics for youngsters in West Texas and New Mexico.

As you can see, the man is a total nut about the game. "I make a living from soccer," Moffat said, "so it's nice to be able to put back into the sport what I've taken out of it."

During his playing career, Moffat achieved widespread recognition for playing every position except goalie. This versatility has been an invaluable asset in the soccer camps he runs for young people.

"The support for Bobby's clinics in the Dallas area is just unbelievable," said Butch Grantham, who is director of Ruidoso's Sertoma Soccer League. "And the enthusiasm seems to be spreading out this way. We had a television crew here from Roswell last summer. They shot footage the first day of camp on Monday and came back for a followup on Friday."

They told us that the improvement they had witnessed in the kids' play in that short time was really impressive."

Grantham met Moffat in Dallas through a mutual friend — Bob Ridley of the North Dallas Chamber of Commerce Soccer Association. Grantham was playing semi-pro soccer in the Dallas area at the time. He became friends with Moffat and worked out often with the Tornado team.

Grantham moved to Ruidoso in 1975. A number of parents approached him with the idea of starting a soccer league. Grantham began holding afternoon clinics at the middle and elementary schools. Parents and sponsors showed their support by raising $3,000 for expenses when the league was just an idea.

"I told Bobby what we were up to, and he came out here in the fall of 1979 when we were ready to get the league rolling," said Grantham this week. "He held a one-day clinic to show the kids some basic skills. There were about 120 playing that fall and we've got close to 200 now."

Word of Moffat's summer camp here in 1980 got around, and this year he will be running two shows at once. Moffat and his staff of eight (including Grantham) will operate a morning clinic in Alamogordo, then drive to Ruidoso for a 2-8 afternoon session.

"This was one of only two weeks Bobby had open when we booked the camp last summer," said Grantham. "Soon after leaving Ruidoso, he's going with the top players from the Flame Soccer Club on their annual tour of England. They'll be playing British all star teams. We were invited to send a boy along, but since this is only the second year of our program, we'll probably wait another year to let them improve."

To give an idea of the rapid growth of soccer's popularity, Grantham noted that when the New Mexico branch of the national soccer association formed four years ago, it listed only 90 members. There are 8,000 now.

"Of course this is football country, and soccer's never going to replace it here," said Grantham. "But I think they'll be on a par someday. One advantage it has is the nominal equipment costs. Also, the kids get to play more. In our under eight division, every boy has to play at least two of four quarters. In the twelve and sixteen year divisions, the coaches are on an honor system to play everyone as close to half the game as possible."

The camp costs $50 per child, and will provide T-shirts, insurance, films, first aid, certificates, and all facilities. Parents are expected to bring one ball per child, water, and the balance of the tuition. (A $10 deposit is required with the application).

Applications are available at Morgan Mountain Sports. For further information, call Butch Grantham days at 257-5061.

BOBBY MOFFAT, who will direct youth soccer camps in Ruidoso and Alamogordo this summer.

Boy's soccer league regular season ends

The Ruidoso Sertoma Soccer League completed its regular season play last Saturday. The top two finishers in each of the three age divisions will face each other this Saturday, May 30, for the championship.

The final standings were:
Under eight division
United 8-0-1
Cobras 4-3
Bandits 3-3-1
Celtics 0-7

United and the Cobras, who were last year's champions, will go at each other at 10:30 a.m., on the White Mountain Middle School (WMMS) playing field.

Wilderness Wisdom with Wayne Calloway

Tip From Reader — Weekend woodcutters are flocking to the woods nowadays in an effort to slash their home heating bill. As a member of this flock I've sometimes wasted enough time to load a truck just looking for axes, cant hooks, and other implements that were left laying just a few minutes before. It's unreal how these tools blend in with the leafy forest floor. After a while, I finally got wise and painted the handles of the tools with a fluorescent orange. A spray can works great for this purpose. Since then it has been much easier to locate an axe that was dropped on the leaves.

This idea can be carried over to camping tools and accessories that tends to fade out of sight in the woods. If you don't care to paint them, fluorescent tape can be wrapped on them just as effectively. Strips of such tape can be affixed to tent ropes to prevent tripping over them at night. The beam of a flashlight will readily reflect a warning signal. A little imagination will reveal other practical uses for such tape when camping. George S., Kentucky

Dear Wayne — When one reads an article or advertisement about fishing lines such as Stren, Trilene, or Sigma they declare that line is best, and that the pro's use it. Well, my question is, which is really best? Mike V., Pennsylvania

Little League Roundup

Security Bank posted two wins to run its unblemished record to 6-0 in Little League action this week.

Monday night Coach Ronny Taylor's team had another close call with Ruidoso State Bank. They trailed 4-3 going into the last inning before scoring four runs to keep their 74 game winning streak intact. Tom Luther picked up the win in relief.

Wednesday night's rematch with the Elks proved to be an anticlimax after last week's barnburner. Russell Easter put the Elks ahead for the only time in the top of the first when he poked a two-run homer. But he didn't get much support from his teammates as a rash of Elks errors led to a six-run inning for Security in the second.

Women's soccer league registration

Registration for the Ruidoso Women's Soccer League will run Thursday through Saturday at Morgan Mountain Sports. A $5 fee will go towards payment of certified referees.

Ralph Anaya, who is coordinating the league, said that women 18 years and up are sought, with or without experience. "We had girls as young as 18 and as old as 40 last year," said Anaya. "But we only had two teams and they got a little tired of playing each other. We've got four sponsors this year and are hoping to get enough players for three or four teams. Then we'll try to send the league champion or an all-star team to play in some area towns."

For more information, call Ralph Anaya at 257-5516.

BUTTERFLY PAUSES for brief rest, perhaps to smell the nectar of spring

ALA CAPE KENNEDY — Page Hubbard's seventh grade science students at White Mountain Mid School built the nine foot rocket they were attaching to the launching pad rod Wednesday morning. Though the liftoff was perfect, one of the three commercial rocket motors, fueled with solid propellant, didn't fire.

Adding to this problem, the parachute, to return it to the ground, failed to open properly. Undaunted, the students salvaged the slightly damaged rocket and repaired to the science room where they began preparations for a second, and hopefully, successful launch, flight and recovery operation.

What's happening here?

The Ruidoso News will periodically picture commercial and residential construction in progress to present current development in New Mexico's fastest growing resort community, Ruidoso.

THIS NEW 1,500 square foot building is located next to Timber Trail Photography and will house a gift boutique. It is being constructed by John Von Rosenberg Construction Company and targeted completion is mid July. Owned by Wayne Morefield, the boutique will be designed after a similar shop in Carlsbad.

Real Estate Facts

a public service of the
Ruidoso Board of Realtors

Some real estate forecasters believe that cooperative housing will experience the same boom in the 1980s as condominiums did in the 1970s.

Tom Stitt, executive director of the National Association of Housing Cooperatives, contends that cooperatives offer the only affordable option for many buyers.

Briefly defined, a cooperative is a form of ownership where a buyer purchases a "share" in a building in an amount that entitles him to live in one of the building's units. The buyer does not acquire his own mortgage, but assumes a proportionate share of the blanket mortgage that finances the entire building. Likewise, he shares in the tax breaks. This arrangement accommodates a wider range of incomes than other forms of financing.

A co-op is managed by a corporation, staffed by shareholders (occupants) within the building. Each shareholder receives one vote in the workings of the corporation, regardless of the size of the unit.

There are three types of co-ops. In market resale co-ops, shares are purchased and sold at prices dictated by whatever the market will bear. In per resale co-ops, shares are bought and sold for a fixed price regardless of inflation. Lastly, in controlled resale or limited equity cooperatives, the amount of appreciation allowed per share is tied to the federal consumer price index or some other barometer, thereby insuring that resale prices remain affordable.

Many experts point to controlled resale cooperatives as holding the most promise for the future since the entry cost is low. An example would be a cooperative in Reston, Virginia, where the initial investment is approximately $3,000 and the monthly carrying costs are between $500 and $700.

The development or conversion of rental housing into co-ops has been greatly encouraged by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board which, in 1978, began allowing member savings and loan associations to treat co-op loans as real estate loans. Likewise, the Federal National Mortgage Association (Fannie Mae), the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corp. (Freddie Mac) and federally chartered credit unions now can buy co-op loans in the secondary market, thereby increasing their appeal with lenders.

The home improvement industry is booming this year. Soaring interest rates have forced many buyers to postpone a move and opt for sprucing up their present quarters.

Likewise, many homeowners are tackling home improvement projects themselves rather than hiring professionals in order to save from 30 to 50 percent in costs.

But whether you hire a professional or do-it-yourself, there are certain things you should keep in mind if you're remodeling with an eye to enhancing your home's resale value, according to the Ruidoso Board of Realtors.

First, you can't expect a dollar-for-dollar return on every improvement you make. Some improvements have a high percentage of recovery cost; others only have nominal value on resale of the home.

Second, it's possible to over-improve property in terms of the value of neighboring homes. Should your improvement mean that the home is worth far more than other homes in the neighborhood, it would be difficult to gain that new value in the sale of the home.

One dollar spent on remodeling adds only about 50 cents to the resale price of a house, according to a home improvement survey conducted in the mid-1970s. Some improvements add nothing at all.

While modernizing a kitchen or bathroom is almost certain to reap maximum return in real value, such outdoor improvements as adding storm windows, aluminum siding or new stingsies offer little return.

Before remodeling, you and your family should decide what repairs are imperative and what improvements are merely desirable. Keep in mind that what seems a necessary improvement to you may not seem so to the family that might one day buy your home.

And above all, the most important factor in the sale price of a home is the quality of the neighborhood. If the average price of a home in your neighborhood is $70,000 and your house cost $85,000, you may recover most of a $5,000 remodeling project. But a $10,000 improvement venture might price you out of the market for homes in that neighborhood.

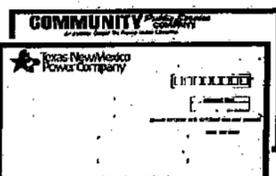

Before remodeling as well as before putting your house up for sale, why not consult a Realtor? A Realtor is your best source of market information on neighborhood growth patterns, current housing trends and features that make a home saleable.

FOR SALE TO PAY INHERITANCE TAX

COULD THIS HAPPEN TO YOU? YES, IF NO THOUGHT IS GIVEN TO CAREFUL ESTATE PLANNING!!

It is our pleasure to announce a six-month educational series on Estate Planning continuing June 2 at 9:00 p.m. on PBS, KENW-TV, Channel 3. We will be bringing together a team of professional estate planners, consisting of an estate planning attorney, an accountant, a trust officer, and ourselves as life insurance consultants, to inform you of the advantages of estate planning. There will be special guest appearances of an IRS agent and a probate judge.

The series will hypothetically present a typical estate comparing the benefits of a properly planned estate versus the catastrophic effects of little or no planning.

Tune in to the Don Criss, "YOU SHOULD KNOW" show, and take advantage of this valuable free information, which could avoid a forced sale of your estate to pay your inheritance taxes.

Focus on Small Business

by E. Maine Shafer

I am interested in developing a better marketing concept for my small firm. Any suggestions?

One of the greatest needs of small business managers is to understand and develop marketing programs for their products and services. Small businesses survive only through satisfied customers and the "marketing concept" helps managers to focus their efforts on identifying and satisfying customer needs — at a profit.

A marketing concept rests on two principals:

— All company policies and activities should be aimed at satisfying customer needs.

— Profitable sales volume is a better company goal than maximum sales volume.

To use a marketing concept, a small business should:

— Determine the needs of its customers through market research.

— Analyze its competitive advantages through marketing strategy.

— Select specific markets to serve through target marketing.

— Determine how to satisfy those needs through a market mix.

The U.S. Small Business Administration has prepared a booklet, "Marketing for Small Business," SBB No. 69. In addition to getting help from my office located at 5000 Marble, N.E. Suite 320, Albuquerque, New Mexico 87110, you can get this booklet, free of charge, by writing SBA, P.O. Box 19424, Fort Worth, Texas 76119, or by calling toll-free 800/433-7212 (in Texas, call 800/792-8901).

DECISION FOR NEWLYWEDS
Congratulations! You're engaged to be married. Decision time is coming. Shall the first den of your dreams be a cozy apartment or a comfortable home, large enough to house your projected number of offsprings?

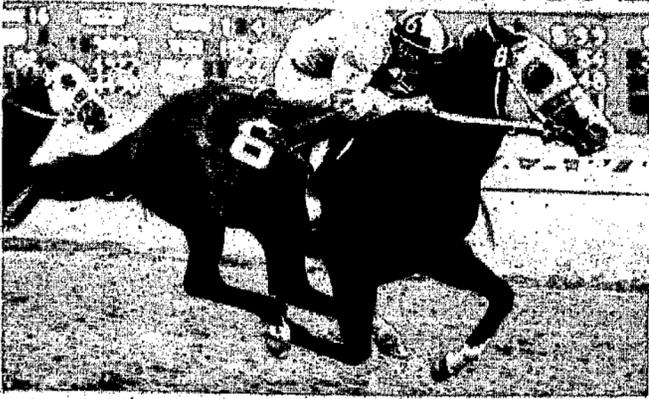

Stop and reflect these alternatives. Apartment rents are climbing as available space lessens. On top of this, the monthly rent checks represent money that is gone forever. On the other hand, mortgage payments are a form of forced savings and actually build an equity for you. Also you can probably look forward to a profit when you eventually sell.

One other consideration is the cost of household moves each time you stairstep to larger quarters. This expense could conceivably cost you every penny you thought you were saving by paying less for smaller quarters.

Either way you decide — have a happy honeymoon!

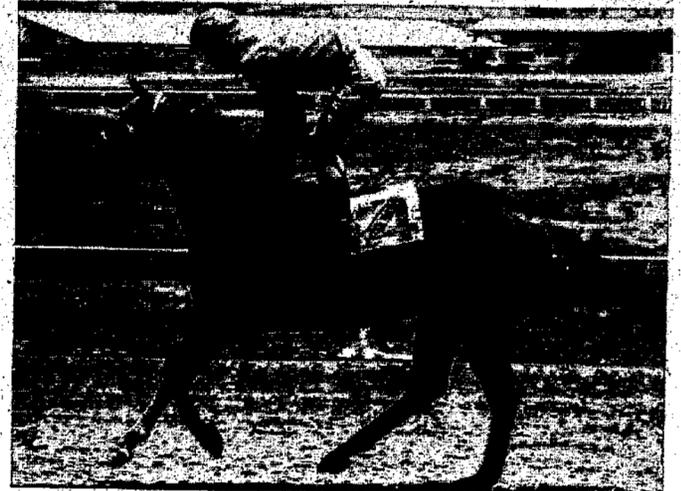

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at DEVON DEVELOPMENT, INC., 2984 Sudderth Drive, Box 1940, Ruidoso, Phone: 257-5511. We're here to help!

KEY KANSAS CANDIDATE — The likely favorite in the 31st running of the Kansas Futurity at Ruidoso Downs on Sunday is the impressive colt, Graybon. He's already earned $114,495. A victory in the Kansas Futurity is worth a stunning $260,522 out of a remarkable gross purse of $787,350. The 350 yard Kansas Futurity is the first leg of the Triple Crown for two-year-old quarter horses.

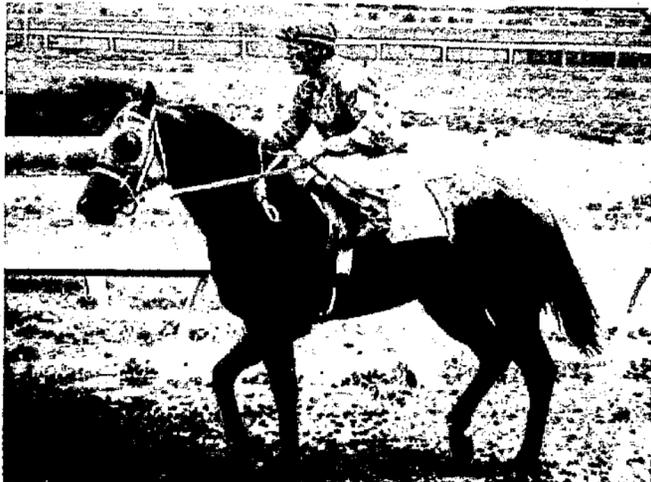

IT TAKES A SPECIAL EFFORT — Special Effort looks like a fast gun in the finale of the $787,350 Kansas Quarter Horse Futurity at Ruidoso Downs on Sunday. In last week's trials, the colt boomed in with a commanding 4 1/4 length lead. W. R. Hunt is the jockey. A win in the Kansas Futurity is worth $260,522.

KANSAS FUTURITY HOPEFUL — The field for Sunday's $787,350 Kansas Futurity includes Bar Roulucks, a gelding owned by Hubert and Karen Vestal of Houston, Texas. Bar Roulucks has earned less than $5,000 so far. A win on Sunday would be worth over a quarter-million dollars. The Kansas Futurity covers 350 yards.

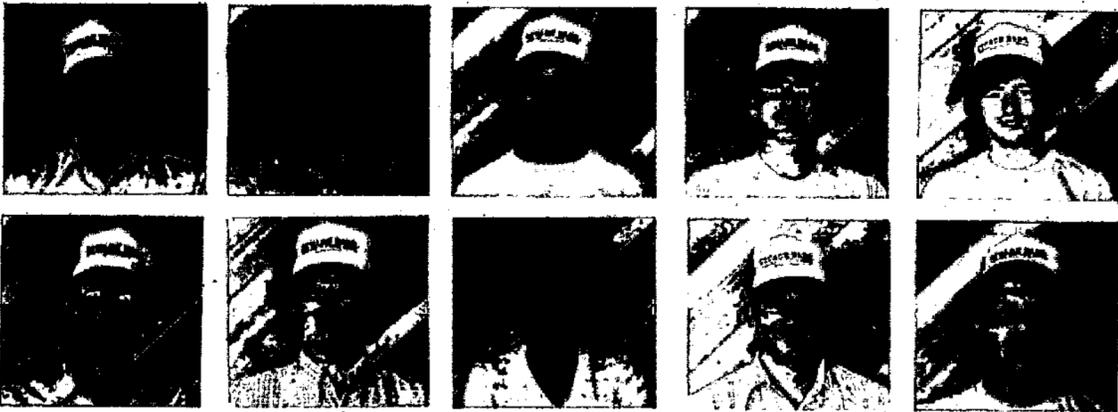

A COLT WITH WINNING WAYS — Pontl Bar, a colt who's already won five out of seven career starts, carries his sparkling record into Sunday's $787,350 Kansas Futurity at Ruidoso Downs. Two weeks ago, Pontl Bar won his qualifying trial by an easy two lengths. Willie Lovell is the rider.

A COLT WITH HIGH HANDED WAYS — Albuquerque sentiments will be riding on High Handed in Sunday's finale of the $787,350 Kansas Futurity at Ruidoso Downs. High Handed is the property of Billy Gene Smith, an Albuquerque businessman. So far, High Handed has been out twice and scored one win. Jackle Martin (above) rode him in the Kansas trials.

KANSAS FUTURITY CONTENDER — Navco Moon, a colt who's won four out of six career starts, goes after a victory purse of over $260,000 in the finale of the Kansas Quarter Horse Futurity at Ruidoso Downs on Sunday. Jimmie Hunt is the jockey.

Jockey brothers vying for Kansas Futurity win

BY MARK GORDON
 Jimmie Hunt would like nothing better than to follow in his brother's footsteps. A year ago, Bill Hunt, captured Ruidoso Downs' $1,431,850 All-American Derby riding Native Gambler, then won the $1,280,000 All-American Futurity on Higheasterjet. Now Jimmie would like to earn some of those huge paychecks.

"Oh, sure—I would. You bet, I'd like to keep it in the family," said Jimmie, the 19-year-old younger brother of Bill, 26. "But if I don't win, I'd just as soon he did."

Bill will ride Special Effort, the fastest qualifier, in Sunday's Kansas Futurity, the first leg of the Triple Crown for two-year-old quarter horses. Jimmie will steer Navco Moon, the fourth fastest qualifier, in this, 350-yard dash at Ruidoso Downs. This year's gross purse for the Kansas Futurity will be the richest in the event's 31 runnings. The total purse of $787,350 will provide the winner $280,522.55.

It is believed to be the first time brothers have ridden in the Kansas Futurity—but that doesn't bother Jimmie.

"I've ridden against him lots of times," he said. "I usually ask him where he finished after the race. You don't think about where one another is during a race. We always talk about it afterwards."

Jimmie's agent, Ron Stewart, explains the relationship between the two riders. "There's no animosity between the two," said the veteran jockey agent. "They both pull for each other. If one doesn't win, they look to see where the other finished."

While riding in the most lucrative event he has ever been in, Jimmie Hunt will be the youngest rider in the Kansas Futurity field.

"It doesn't bother me that I'm the youngest. I'm glad to be in a race like this," the brown-haired youngster said. "Navco Moon is an easy colt to handle. I think I have a good shot at it. You need a little luck, too."

"In a race like that with 10 good horses, you can't make a mistake and expect to win."

His brother's mount, Special Effort, zipped to a 17:90 clocking in his 350-yard trial heat on May 14. That was the fastest time in recent years for a two-year-old quarter horse and also the fastest at Ruidoso Downs since Holme Maid recorded a 17:72 on June 8, 1976.

Navco Moon, turned in an 18:19 effort by scoring a nose win the seventh trial division on May 14. It was Jimmie's first time aboard and hit the colt's record to four triumphs in six outings.

He's earned $4,003 for owner and trainer Charles E. Mitchell of Mobile, Alabama. He said both brothers wanted a riding career since their father, Willis, was a standout rider. Willis, ironically, won two Kansas Futurities, scoring with Palleo Pete in 1954 and Roma Charge in 1966.

"I kind of always wanted to ride. Bill did, too. My dad for sure is what got us interested. We were at the races all the time," Jimmie said.

Now that Willis is a trainer at Ruidoso Downs, Jimmie rides his mounts. He also rides for Clifford Lambert and J. B. Montgomery while Bill rides almost exclusively for trainer John Goodman.

Bill has ridden a world champion quarter horse each year he has been associated with Goodman.

"Bill rode for dad before I started riding. Now I'm riding dad's horses, but he's done real well for John Goodman. I hope I can do good, too," Jimmie said.

Stewart, however, notes that comparisons between the two brothers are done mainly by the racing public.

"The two brothers hardly ever compare each other. It's the racing public that continues to compare the two. Bill is a proven rider, but seven years older than Jimmie. But when you compare Jimmie to a high caliber rider like Bill, it's a big accomplishment for Jimmie," Stewart said.

The Eureka, Kansas, rider, who began his career riding quarter horses at Parr Meadows in 1979 in New York State, annexed his biggest career win in early November at Sunland Park.

He steered Miss Classyqua to a nose win the $140,299 All-American Sale Futurity. The winner's share was $70,149.

With the Kansas Futurity's winner's share more than three times that amount, Jimmie Hunt would like to win another prestigious race.

After all, if it's good enough for one Hunt to win a major race, it's good enough for the other.

AIMING AT BIG MONEY — Reed About Masked, a gelding owned by Hubert Vestal of Houston, Texas, is one of 10 finalists in the $787,350 Kansas Futurity at Ruidoso Downs on Sunday. So far, Reed About Masked is 4-0-0 from six outings. Robert Chesson is the pilot.

Inside The Capitol

by Fred McCaffrey

SANTA FE — It's tough to make predictions in a column which must be written several days before it appears, but we'll take a shot at a couple.

We think the two members on the state's new liquor control board who are allowed as members of the industry will be George Theodore of Ernie's in Santa Fe and Gary Tomada of the Silver Spur in Gallup. Tomada is also president of the retail liquor dealers' association.

Jim Baca, boss of the liquor operation, was at one time considering appointing only one industry representative to the five person board.

Reportedly, he said, when asked why not two, that he could count. What he meant was that two members from the same group would have to "convert" only one other member and they could run the operation.

Though Theodore and Tomada both serve or sell liquor, they are hardly cohorts of one another. They approach liquor problems from very different angles.

Theodore has for years pushed for a beer and wine license. Though he broke down last year and leased a full license for his eating establishment, he is not a license holder.

Tomada, on the other hand, was the prime opponent of the Houston liquor law during hearings at all stages this year. He represents all those who own their licenses, who make up a different constituency from Theodore's.

And as this was written it seemed safe to predict that Dolores Lee, Santa Fe city council member, would be named to replace Eileen Grevey Clifford on the Public Service Commission.

That decision has strung out longer than

Governor King meant it to, which suggests that some of his original proposals broke down.

There was at one stage some suggestion that he might name his executive assistant, Linda Kehoe, as a temporary appointee, but that ran into complications.

As of now, Mrs. Lee looks like the one for the job.

And it's time to say something here about Sammy Fields' flag fund.

Sammy wants bigger flags at the state Capitol.

Who is this Texan to be telling us what to do with our flagpoles, you ask?

Well, he's a good hearted lobbyist, among other things, who spends most of his time in New Mexico looking out for the interests of El Paso Natural Gas.

He says when he sees a big American flag, or a big New Mexico flag, for that matter, flying in the spring breeze, he gets all clutched up.

The small flags we see on the staffs on both east and west malls of the Capitol apparently don't make him feel the least bit sentimental.

So he's started collecting money to buy the state some flags that will impress people.

Headquarters of fund raising campaign is the B-R, a restaurant adjacent to the capitol building. (No free advertising here.)

If you'd like to see flags that will stir some patriotism, send or bring your money by.

Sammy, patriot that he is, won't steal a dime of it. It will all go for bigger and better flags — which, by the way, turn out to cost a lot of money. Be generous, therefore; you'll be glad you did.

Letters to the Editor

Dear editor:

The first annual Memorial Day picnic sponsored by the Vietnam Veterans of Lincoln County was a success beyond our wildest expectations. We wish to thank the more than 400 people who came out to show their support for the vets and donate to the Las Piedras Boxing Team.

I could probably fill this page trying to thank everyone who made this event possible but will only highlight a few individuals whose generosity and effort made the picnic a success.

We owe Bill McCarty a debt of gratitude for the donation of his land.

General F. E. Miles of the New Mexico National Guard, Colonel Ed Baca and Sergeant Major Garcia who sent us a shooting gallery manned by two dedicated men, Sergeant First Class Jose Flores and Staff Sergeant Raymond Espinoza.

Lincoln County "REACT" for providing their mobile kitchen.

Kenny Daniel and the All Stars who knocked the socks off everybody with their music.

Pat Loomis and his crew from Ruidoso Boxing Team, Joe Jenkins from Capitán, and the members of the Las Piedras Boxing Team who put on an outstanding boxing card.

Tom Smith of the Icarus Sport Parachute Club and especially Ralph Rush who donated and piloted his plane.

The families of Dawny and Juan Sanchez whose horses kept the kids riding the range all day, and the wives, whose chill was the "hot" item on the menu.

The "Mongees" (ya'll know who you are) who set the concessions up, served everyone and showed their respect for the land by returning the next day to police the entire area.

Once again, thank you one and all for your talent, time and labor. The wheels are already in motion for next year.

Letters to the Editor

Dear editor:

This information is primarily for those of you that are totally unaware! Yes, totally in the dark concerning the outrageous price of (and lack of) housing in the Ruidoso area. The common people, God must have loved them because he made so many of them (just tell someone they are common and see how fast they slap you down), are financially unable to buy or rent any type of dwelling in or near the Ruidoso area.

Sure the price of food, clothing, utilities, etc., are a little high here. You can scrimp and save and manage to live with that. After all Ruidoso is a nice quiet, small, sleepy and peaceful little village. Not much in the way of industry or entertainment, excellent for retirement, etc. Retired people can sometimes work and afford to live here. But, what about your service station attendants, maids, grocery clerks, bank employees, firemen, police officers and many, many others! Maybe, just maybe, they are not of retirement age, thank God, and are young, vibrant and starting. Are they supposed to live in tents? How, just tell me how you can have a take home pay of $600 per month and pay rent of $500 per month, pay utilities of $200 per month, including such luxuries as a telephone, cable, etc., pay for food, doctor bills, dental bills, clothing, gasoline, insurance, furniture/appliance payments, car payment, etc.?

I recently talked to two different persons trying to find a place to rent and when they advised the prospective renters that they would be year around renters, they hung up on them.

Of course if mum-mum or da-da have lots of money you might be given $10,000 to pay down on a house. That might make your payments approximately $450-$500 per month, plus utilities.

Let's take, for example, a local police officer or deputy or bank employee salary:

$750 per month (family of 4)
-200 per month deductions (benefits)
$550 take home pay
Let's say, the wife cannot work, as she has two children. Child care costs $40 per week per child — $320 per month. Not really feasible for her to work is it? This is what has to come out of that $550 per month.

House payment	$400
Utilities	150
Insurance (car/house)	25
Doctor and dental bills	25
Food (for 4 people)	150
Car Payment	55
Clothing (for 4 people)	25
Furniture payment	20
Gasoline	10

Well, if your calculator adds up like mine this is impossible. It adds up to $860 per month, no extras allowed!

So maybe they try to find a lot where you can put a mobile home? An affordable lot with few restrictions! The mobile salesman will even settle for a measly 10 percent down, and your payments on the lot are just a paltry $40 per month, and your septic tank, lot leveling, etc., just come to $3,000 and your payments are only $290 per month for so many years, and your utilities are almost reasonable. Well, news to you buddy, it still don't add up.

So you decide you really like your job, the people you work with, so you will try living in Capitán or Alamogordo and just commute, raise a few vegetables, enjoy the lower housing costs, sell your gas guzzler and go in debt again. I'm almost sure the price of gasoline will go down just any day!! You really enjoy the warmer weather, your gas bill eats you alive and you only miss work five days because you can't make it due to the road conditions. Ah, ain't life great?

You know everyone has to live somewhere! You want the services offered by the everyday workers. You need police protection, crime suppression, etc. You want someone to sack your groceries, wait on you when you eat out, etc. But there is just no place for these people to live in Ruidoso. Something just isn't right. Of course, some people, not working rotating shifts, can moonlight. But that's pretty rough on the kids, especially if there is only one parent! There is just something wrong here! Why don't you try to feed a family of four for $150 per month? It really isn't any fun to try to raise two children in a camp trailer but I know some people that are doing it. For most people though it is easier to just live in the big city with the bright lights and good entertainment, etc. Maybe Ruidoso doesn't have to worry about a population explosion. Builders don't want to build houses for under $100,000. Not profitable to them. Of course if you bought your house in Ruidoso 10-15 years ago, your children are grown and not living at home, your car, furniture and appliances are paid for, you have a retirement check, savings and/or social security, maybe a part time job, maybe you think you are living in paradise!!!

Just call a few local realtors and ask how many homes they have on the market for a family of four with a take home pay of $500 per month. Believe me they will LAUGH in your face! Just look for something decent to rent at a price you can afford. Again they will think you are completely daffy. Realtors, realtors, what have you done! If you can't rent and you can't buy just what do you do!

Maybe our wage scale is just not compatible with our cost of living and housing for the Ruidoso area or visa versa. Everybody has to live somewhere!

The quirk existing in the process of designating national holidays, to insure everyone of a long weekend, is resulting in two Memorial Day weekends in New Mexico this year.

We just finished observing Memorial Day weekend, with Monday being a holiday.

State, county and city offices were open Monday. Banks and similar institutions were closed.

Saturday is the traditional Memorial Day.

State, county and city offices will be closed Friday.

We've pretty well adjusted to the idea of moving holidays back, or ahead, a day or two to give us three day weekends on national holidays. And we see nothing wrong with this concept.

We can't help wondering, though, with the state officially observing Saturday as Memorial Day, and closing Friday to give governmental employees that long weekend, if a lot of confusion couldn't have been avoided by Governor King proclaiming last weekend as Memorial Day weekend in New Mexico.

One way of looking at this situation, though, is that Governor King's track record indicates that eliminating confusion isn't one of his strong points.

INDY WINNER PIQUED

Marlo Andretti, winner of the Indy 500, was, news reports indicate, a little piqued ... and bitter ... about not getting in on all of the hoopla the race winner enjoys as his just due ... but the $262,424 he's supposed to get one of these days should take part of the sour taste out of his mouth.

Then there's Bobby Unser ... he enjoyed the victory celebration immediately following the race ... then came the blow, he'd pulled a no-no in passing cars on a yellow flag ... with the consolation being he's No. 2 ... and should pick up $168,874 for the effort ... which just can't be considered small consolation.

THE OLD SWITCHEROO

Reginald Walker's turnabout ... he was supposed to testify against Van Robinson in the Phil Chacon slaying in the Duke City ... in deciding he'd claim he and Robinson had no part in the murder and the robbery of a shoe store last September ... must have some of the prosecutors feeling as though they've been chomping on green persimmons.

According to news reports, Walker was agreeable to anything the prosecution proposed ... whilst he was ensconced behind bars ... as long as anything he agreed to would get him out ... free as a bird.

So ... Walker appeared before District Judge Joseph Baca ... and then came his surprise stand ... he wasn't about to testify in the case ... and the judge does up and slapped a contempt of court rap on him ... which just could have Walker back behind bars ... which could have him chomping at the bit to make another deal ... 'cause he must suffer from claustrophobia.

All I know about this whole deal is what I've read in the papers ... but it seems as though the DA's laddie bucks didn't get all the loose ends tied up in their deal with Walker ... which do tend to leave Walker as the king pin ... for the nonce.

Anyhow ... supposedly ... under the great American system of justice ... people are innocent until proven guilty ... and Walker must figure contempt of court is a small potatoes deal, compared to the trouble he's busily trying to talk himself out of.

LOTSAS VISITORS

If you toiled up and down Sudderth over the Memorial Day weekend, you know traffic was harrier than seventeen shaggy baboons.

Seems there was just whole herds of folks as flocked into Harmony Valley for the long holiday ... 'cause they figured they'd escape the hustle/bustle of city traffic by coming to our quaint, sleepy, quiet little mountain village. Whatcha bet some of the more timid drivers suffered an attack of the screaming heebie jeebies ... possibly stemming from the shrieks of fright ... and alarm ... uttered by the car's navigator.

Friday/Saturday/Sunday nights about the only thing you could find a parking space for on Sudderth was a bicycle ... maybe a small one. Gadzooks, there was more action than you'd find in a cage full of monkeys in a cage that'd harbored a flea circus before the monkeys was put in.

But all that traffic was certainly something of a change from what wasn't chattering up the streets during the winter ... and it's a cinch some of 'em left stacks of that long green in town at other places than the track ... and, if last weekend was any indication ... the drought ... businesswise ... sorta succumbed to the deluge of money brought by our welcome visitors.

And last weekend just might be the harbinger of weekends of lotsa traffic to come ... 'cause there's a glut of all ... which means there's gotta be lotsa gas ... and it do seem as though there was lotsa folks as could buy gas to get from where they was to here ... and there was an abundance of license plates other than Texas, Oklahoma, Colorado and Arizona ... including more'n a sprinkle of plates from Mexico.

So, it looks as though it's going to be another season of defensive driving for us as calls Harmony Valley home ... 'cause we gotta watch a little out ... 'cause our visitors ain't used to not having no blocks to drive around ... and making U-turns in the middle of the street ... and seeing folks back outta driveways into a lane of traffic. Do take due care.

Jockey/Trainer of the week

BY MARK GORDON

Powered by three winners on Sunday, Jackie Martin continued to pull away in the Ruidoso Downs jockey standings after four weeks of racing.

The 25-year-old rider, recognized as one of the leaders among quarter horse riders, also won the weekend's biggest prize. He guided Easily Smashed to a head victory in the $224,740 Kansas Derby.

Martin has 20 wins with 15 seconds and 6 thirds from 62 mounts for a remarkable winning percentage of .322.

Runnerup Richard Bickel enjoyed a fine weekend as he guided four winners to easily annex second place. He has nine triumphs, five seconds and four thirds from 69 mounts.

Veteran rider Willie Lovell is third with six wins, five seconds and nine thirds.

Stuart Dolphus, apprentice rider Billy Byers, Robert Chesson, Ramon Apodaca, Leroy Coombs, Louie Gomez and Steve Harris complete the top ten.

Jack Dube continues to lead the trainer standings. He has seven victories, three seconds and three thirds from 22 mounts. That's a superb winning percentage of .318.

William F. Leach is second with six wins, seven seconds and three thirds. He trained Kansas Derby winner Easily Smashed.

Jack Brooks, Billy Hughes, Gerald Marr, Harold E. Nolen, H. C. Werner Jr., Paul L. Walters, J. C. Wiley, Clifford Lambert and Doyle Roberts round out the trainer standings.

Ruidoso Downs Hoofbeats

best with a rapid 1:08 3/5 clocking.

DR. W. D. [WILLIE] HORTON, who put in 33 years as track physician at Ruidoso Downs, was honored over the weekend. Saturday's seventh race was billed in his honor, and numerous friends, former patients and colleagues crowded into the Winner's circle. Dr. Horton moved to Ruidoso in 1947, established his practice, and also became the track physician.

RUIDOSO DOWNS WENT INTO BUSINESS IN 1947, (known back then as Hollywood Park). During his early years in Ruidoso, Dr. Horton was the only physician in Lincoln County. The epitome of the old-time country doctor, he became one of the most respected — and appreciated — members of the Ruidoso community. He recently retired.

SATURDAY'S HEADLINER, the first running of the Barlaris Stakes, recalled the memory of the late thoroughbred speed champ who excelled at the mountain course about 10 years ago. Barlaris won 19 races in his career, 14 of them at Ruidoso. His Ruidoso efforts included the track record for 5 1/2 furlongs (1:05 1/5), which is the distance of the Barlaris Stakes. Barlaris was owned jointly by Rip Russell of El Paso, Texas, and J. R. Adams of Raton. Russell made the trophy presentation for Saturday's Barlaris Stakes.

APPRENTICE REBECCA Thompson became the first woman jockey to post a win this season at Ruidoso Downs. She guided L. R. French Jr.'s Aspen Ridge to an 8 1/2 length win in Friday's featured tenth race. It was a popular verdict as the four-year-old Riva Ridge gelding was a $5.40 favorite.

VETERAN RUIDOSO DOWNS trainer Quinn Hill died at his home in Kanawa, Oklahoma, Friday. A moment of silence was observed during Saturday's program for the long time conditioner.

RICHARD BICKEL RODE back-to-back stakes winners on Saturday's card. He steered Orville W. Paty's Rocky to a nose win in the $32,082 Kansas Derby Consolation for three-year-old quarter horses. The filly was a $4.40 favorite. Bickel then tallied in the thoroughbred feature, guiding Jay C. Childer's Ruffast to a one length triumph in the $5,970 Barlaris Stakes at 5 1/2 furlongs. The five-year-old mare also paid $4.40 to win.

GHOST LIGHT, six-year-old mare, returned to her winning ways with a 3/4 length win in Saturday's eighth race, a 5 1/2 furlong allowance scamper. Trained by Bob Arnett and ridden by Vickie Smallwood, Ghost Light set a seasonal APPRENTICE JOCKEY Frank Martinez tallied his first win on a recognized race track when he guided Red Zip Man to a head win in Sunday's fourth race. The 18-year-old rider from El Paso rode three horses at Sunland Park and then scored on his fourth mount, Red Zip Man. "I didn't have any trouble at all. It feels different to win," he said. The three-year-old gelding is owned by Daryl Gardner of Denver City, Texas, and trained by Jerry L. Henson. He paid $11.80 for running the six furlongs in 1:18 4/5.

IN STEWARDS' RULINGS:
— Trainers Brooks D. Claridge, Johnnie A. Goodman (twice), Cecil Payton, Jackie F. Reamy, R. Frank Thompson, H. C. Werner Jr., and Bobby D. Willis were each fined $50 for entering a horse without an owner's license being registered with the New Mexico State Racing Commission.
— Assistant trainer Edwin C. Mueller was fined $50 for a display of temper in front of the winner's circle on May 16.
— Groom Kerri Aldridge, owner Chris A. Ferguson, jockey Jackie Martin, jockey Jesus M. Torquinto and trainer Paul Walters were each fined $10 for illegal parking.

FOUR HORSES SET or tied seasonal fastest times on Sunday's program. Racket Back, ridden by Alex Baldrillier Jr., raced to a :48 reading for winning the fifth race at four furlongs. That tied Sunny's Rounder for the season's high. Honken Henry, ridden by Stuart Dolphus, was clocked in 1:15 1/5 for winning the eighth race at six furlongs. That tied That's Class for the season's best. Special Hank set a season's best 870 yard clocking when he did a 47-31 in the ninth race. Easily Smashed set a season's best time of 20.09, for winning the Kansas Derby, at 400 yards in the 10th race.

MAGIC GOLD MINE, owned by Ron Saunders of Lebanon, Indiana, has arrived at Ruidoso Downs. The filly won the $28,101 Blue Ribbon Downs Futurity at Blue Ribbon Downs in Sallisaw, Oklahoma, on March 14. She turned in the fastest qualifying time with a 16.79 for the 300 yard course. That tied the track record. In winning the 300 yard finale, she roared to a 16.63 clocking, snapping the previous record of 16.68. She was ridden by Ruidoso Downs regular jockey Carl White, and is a possible candidate for the lucrative Rainbow and All-American Futurities at Ruidoso Downs later this summer. She's trained by Leo Craighead.

Glover D. wins Memorial 'cap

Glover D. established himself as the leading three-year-old thoroughbred now in action at Ruidoso Downs with a length win in Monday's renewal of the Memorial Day Handicap.

The gelding, ridden by Richard Bickel, had to come from far off the pace in the 5 1/2 furlong sprint and simply overpowered his competition.
During the backstretch run, he was well off the lead, perhaps as much as 10 lengths out of contention. Even as the field was well into the backstretch, Glover D. looked like a beaten horse.

The gelding responded to hurried urging from jockey Bickel and began to accelerate — only to find himself running into tight quarters. Bickel stepped on the brakes to avoid a catastrophe, and Glover D.'s chances appeared to go up in smoke.

But the gelding had plenty of run left in him. When Bickel found clear sailing on the outside, he stepped on the gas once again, and Glover D. catapulted into the lead as if he'd been shot out of a cannon.
He made up terrain with remarkable, long-reaching strides, and found himself dueling for the lead at the top of the stretch. Mr. Powder River, the 7-1 shot who set most of the pace, had to toss in the towel at this point.

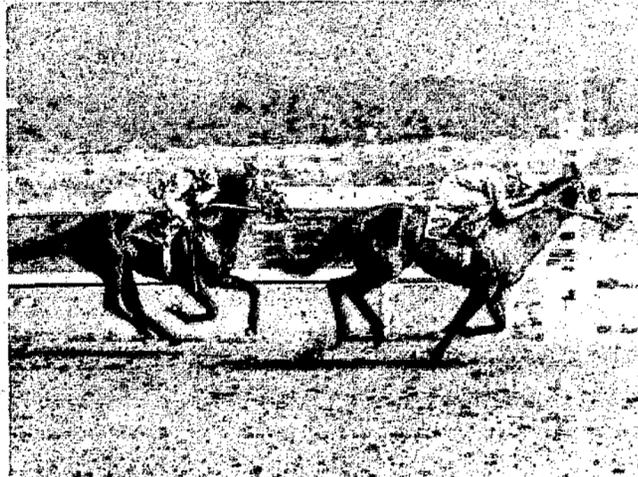

Glover D. zoomed into the lead, only to find himself threatened by the brisk stretch run of Fill Mackis Cup. The latter, packing odds of 6-1, came booming out of eighth place. But Glover D. neutralized that attack with another burst of power and hit the wire a length in front.

Glover D., who now holds two straight impressive Ruidoso wins (he copped his seasonal debut a week ago by 4 1/2 lengths), is owned by Jay Childers of Borger, Texas. He toted the top load of 122 pounds. J. Doyal Roberts does the training.

The Memorial Day champ earned $4,200 out of a $7,100 gross purse and hiked his 1981 earnings to $36,578. His current record stands at 4-3-0 from nine starts. Fans who made him a 3-5 choice in the Memorial Day Handicap reaped meager betting returns of $3.40, $2.60, $2.20.

Fill Mackis Cup, piloted by Gilbert Villescas at 118 pounds, earned $1,582 and served up mutual prices of $5.20 and $3.20. Mr. Powder River, handled by Leroy Coombs at 117, finished third — three lengths behind Fill Mackis Cup. The show payoff was $2.80.

Ruidoso Downs action resumes on Friday at 1 p.m. The upcoming weekend is topped by Sunday's finale of the $787,350 Kansas Futurity at 360 yards.

MEMORIAL DAY WINNER — Glover D. glides across the Ruidoso Downs finish line with a length lead in the $7,100 Memorial Day Handicap at 5 1/2 furlongs. Richard Bickel is at the controls.

ART, DINING AND ENTERTAINMENT GUIDE

I-n-s-i-d-e the Outdoors

by Gary Dollahan

A couple of weeks ago I made mention of the fact that a good way of obtaining fishing information is to check with other anglers on the lake as to their success. However, you can't just approach another fisherman and ask him, "how and where" he is catching his fish and expect to get any pertinent information in return. Instead, this form of information seeking is an art in itself, no less difficult than trying to get a wary brown trout to take a hook carefully concealed in a worm.

You must present the "bait" carefully, and then be prepared to set the hook at exactly the correct moment. If you do all of this properly, you will have the angler begging to tell you "how and where" he caught his fish.

First of all, you must place your "victim" in one of two general categories: (1) trout fisherman (fishes for any or all species of trout), or (2) bass fisherman (fishes primarily for bass, but will resort to crappie, catfish, walleye, etc.).

Now, if your victim falls into the trout category, your chore is an easy one. The trout fisherman is usually a true gentleman, and when shown a genuine interest by you, he typically will take you by your hand and show you step by step how to catch a trout.

On the other hand, the angler in the bass category is a very complex individual that often has to be handled with kid gloves in order to acquire any valid information.

These individuals are of a very competitive nature. As you approach one to seek information, you must quickly evaluate the individual, his attitude, and his fishing tackle. Watch to see if he hides any rods that might have a "secret" lure tied on.

A casual, "Hello, have you caught 'em all?" is a good start. His response will dictate your next move.

If he's a grouch that mumbles a greeting and holds up a few fingers indicating his success, you might as well move on 'cause this type won't break. Likewise, if the individual grumbles and holds up one particular finger, don't stop to chatter on how he caught the one fish. Move on.

However, if you get a warm greeting in return, move on to step 2. Ask him what he is fishing for, if he has fished this lake before, and what type of structure he has been fishing (note: be sure and use the word structure several times as this word really excites a bass fisherman).

Then, proceed to tell him where you're from, how long you've been coming to this lake, about the big fish you lost last year, etc. While you're bending his ear, tear his fishing tackle apart with your eyes and scan the boat (or shoreline) for stringers, fish baskets, etc.

Pay particular attention to the baits, or lures on the end of the rods. If he did hide a rod as you approached, try to locate it and determine the bait.

A word of warning, if you see spinnerbaits hanging from all the rods, the fisherman has a crazed look and is foaming from the mouth while mumbling "stickups" and brush, be careful.

Spinnerbait fishermen are a wild breed, usually descendants from East Texas fishermen where lakes are virtually flooded forests. These people are from the old school of thought that bass grow on trees, and they have literally beat down the great forests of Toledo Bend and Lake Livingston with their spinnerbaits.

A number of these fishermen have moved to New Mexico and that is why our lakes have very few stickups left in them.

To rid yourself of these warmints, step back and tell them you saw a stickup about a mile or so up the lake. They'll disappear as if by magic.

If there are no spinnerbaits on the rods, your conversation by now should let you know if your victim will provide the desired information. If he starts asking you about your success, move on.

It is extremely important that your prey doesn't know you have been skunked and are totally frustrated. Instead, maintain your composure and compliment him on the nice stringer of fish he has. Tell him how he HAS to be the best worm (substitute crank bait or whatever else you think he is using here) fisherman you have ever met.

If his eyes come aglow and he settles back into his deluxe fishing chair and props his feet up, set the hook 'cause you got him.

You will now not have to ask another question because you're fixing to find out how, when, and where he caught the fish. You'll find out that he learned his technique because his wife has a brother whose sister has a best friend that has an uncle that fished with Bill Dance when he was a kid. And, you'll probably find out that next year he is going to quit his job and fish the pro circuit. But, at least now you'll have all your information you needed on where and how to catch your fish.

However, should you approach a boat with a husband and wife in it and a large stringer of fish tied on the side, and your greeting gets a warm response only from the wife, better move on. The wife caught all the fish.

She's not going to be able to tell you much more than that she caught them on the "cute little thing" tied on the end of her line, and that this is her first fishing trip. And, the only advice the husband would have for you is to mind your own business.

CHARLES TERRY

Appearing At the Chaparral Lounge
June 1 Through June 7

CHARLES TERRY, a native Texan, is one of the most diverse young singing sensations in the Country & Western music field today. After 7 years of driving a semi-truck both cross country and in the oilfields of West Texas, he began farming. As a result of constant encouragement from family and friends, he decided to "GO FOR IT". He moved to Lubbock and recorded his 1st single "FOUR BEER BEAUTIES". The single soared to the Top 40 Charts being ranked number 17. In less than 3 weeks, it was number 14 where it stayed for over a month. This took place without a single dollar being spent for promotion. His new album "HONKIN'" is being aired enthusiastically as far as Denmark. The message is loud and clear, this is a talented young man.

CHARLES has played numerous clubs and big events in Lubbock. He has gained recognition as an entertainer in Nashville, Dallas, Ft. Worth, Houston, Amarillo, and Denver City. He has entertained at several clubs and parties in Palm Springs, CA, including an equal billing performance with the legendary Ernest Tubb.

CHARLES has performed for the:
KILL/Don Caldwell Studios West Texas Opry, Lubbock, TX • Odean Brand New Opry Country Musical, Meadow, TX • South Plains College Jamboree • New Cotton Club Golden Spur Awards of the Ranching Heritage Association • University-City Club All Western Family Night, Palm Springs, CA • Palm Springs Tennis Club • Elks Club

CHARLES has an upcoming tour of the West Coast which includes bookings in Marina Del Rey. He has recorded an album called "HONKIN'" and released a single from the album that has been promoted nationwide.

Watch your newspapers and listen to your radio for this young man! In the near future, you will be hearing and seeing a great deal more of this promising young artist.

WINNING THE KANSAS would be the seventh straight victory for Yeller Fuel. The palomino colt, out of the Oklahoma bush track circuit, carries a stunning six race win streak into the finale of the $787,350 Kansas Quarter Horse Futurity at Ruidoso Downs on Sunday. A win would be worth $260,522. Yeller Fuel is owned by Jo Ann Parker of Wilson, Oklahoma. The jockey is Mark Matlock.

Underdog Yeller Fuel Kansas Futurity threat

BY MARK GORDON

If a Hollywood script writer ever wanted an underdog horse, Yeller Fuel would certainly fit the qualifications.

Take these underdog qualities:

— The two-year-old colt is a palomino, a member of racing's tiniest minority.

— His owner is hardly a member of the racing's wealthy elite from a major metropolitan area.

— He is the only horse his owners possess.

— He ran six times on the Oklahoma non-pari-mutuel circuit.

— Now he qualified for a race with a gross purse of $787,350.

That's exactly the underdog Yeller Fuel is for owners Jo Ann and Bill Parker of Wilson, Oklahoma, trainer Charles Drake and jockey Mark Matlock.

And the Tinsel Town script designers couldn't ask for a bigger underdog in the May 31 finale of the Kansas Futurity, the first leg of the Triple Crown for two-year-old quarter horses.

"I guess you could say it's a mom and pop operation," said Matlock, a 21-year-old veteran of 11 years' riding experience. "It's the only horse they have. You could say they're in love with him."

"They're (the Parkers) about the best owners you could have. They treat you well and they care so much about their horse."

Yeller Fuel won five of six races in Oklahoma, including two futurities at Midway Downs in Stroud. In fact, the Parkers used part of his winnings from those two futurities to pay Yeller Fuel's transportation expenses to Ruidoso Downs.

When Yeller Fuel arrived at Ruidoso Downs, he was entered in the 20th trial division at 350 yards for the Kansas Futurity. It was his first trip on a pari-mutuel track and also the farthest he had ever run.

"He left the gate real good and went to the front early," Matlock said. "Reed About Masked got about a half length lead. I just stayed after him and he kept his legs pumping. It was the first time we saw what kind of distance he could run. He always had been in real short races before."

Yeller Fuel rallied for a nose decision in 18.62, the eighth fastest qualifying time for the 350 yard Kansas Futurity.

Nevertheless, Matlock still feels Yeller Fuel has a chance in the Kansas Futurity, despite seven horses with faster times.

"I think he's got a shot," said Matlock, who is riding at Ruidoso Downs for the second year. "He may not be the fastest horse, but he may have the most heart. He's gotten better every out. He tries hard, he's honest."

While a win or even a good showing would add prestige to the Oklahoma Fuel colt, it would also help Matlock's career.

The Muldrow, Oklahoma, native has ridden on the Oklahoma circuit as well as Tioga Park and Parr Meadows on the east coast. He's also ridden in the Blue Ribbon Downs Futurity at Blue Ribbon Downs in Sallisaw, Oklahoma.

But he's never competed in a prestigious national event such as the Kansas Futurity, which offers the winner $250,522.

"A lot of people know me, but I've never had a chance to ride in a race like this," Matlock said. "It would really help me. It's quite a bit different here. It's much tougher."

Still, Yeller Fuel has won more races than any of his nine foes. He's taken six of seven outings for earnings of $20,527.

"He's no trouble at all to ride," Matlock said. "He's been an honest, good horse ever since I broke him at Blue Ribbon Downs. His speciality is to get out in front. So far, he's stayed out in front in almost all his races."

Now, couldn't all that add up to make a dream come true for underdogs?

How Easily Smashed ran, and won, the Kansas Derby May 24

1 OUT OF THE GATE El Rey Burner and Easy Joni Jet found crowded running conditions

5 ALONG THE RAILS Easily Smashed and Runnin Barre had good running room

2 RUNNING ON THE same turf were Easy Joni Jet and Moon Chicks

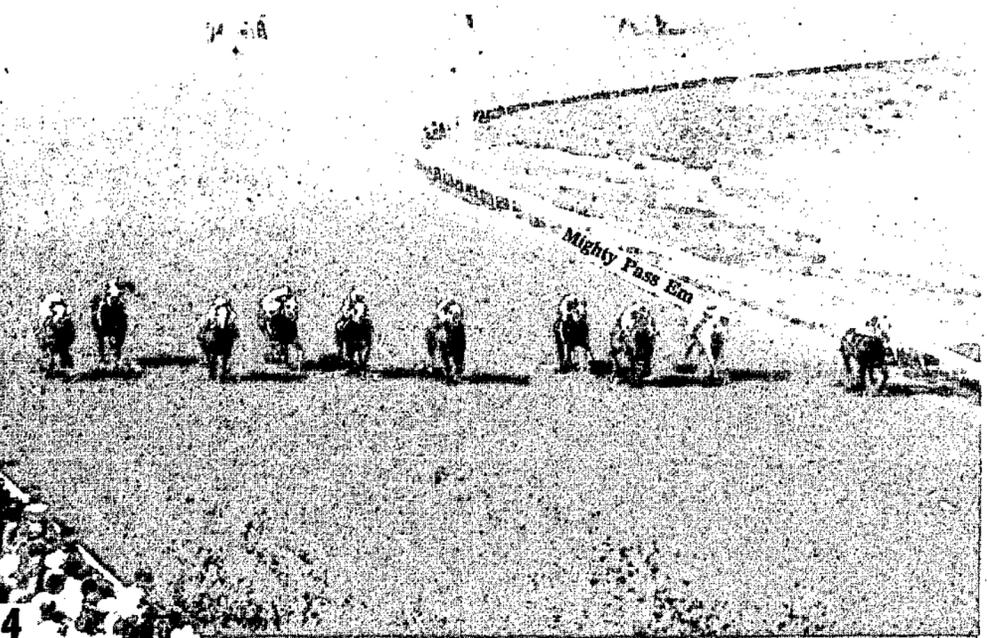

6 A TOUCH OF THE WHIP caused Easy Joni Jet to stretch out and run hard

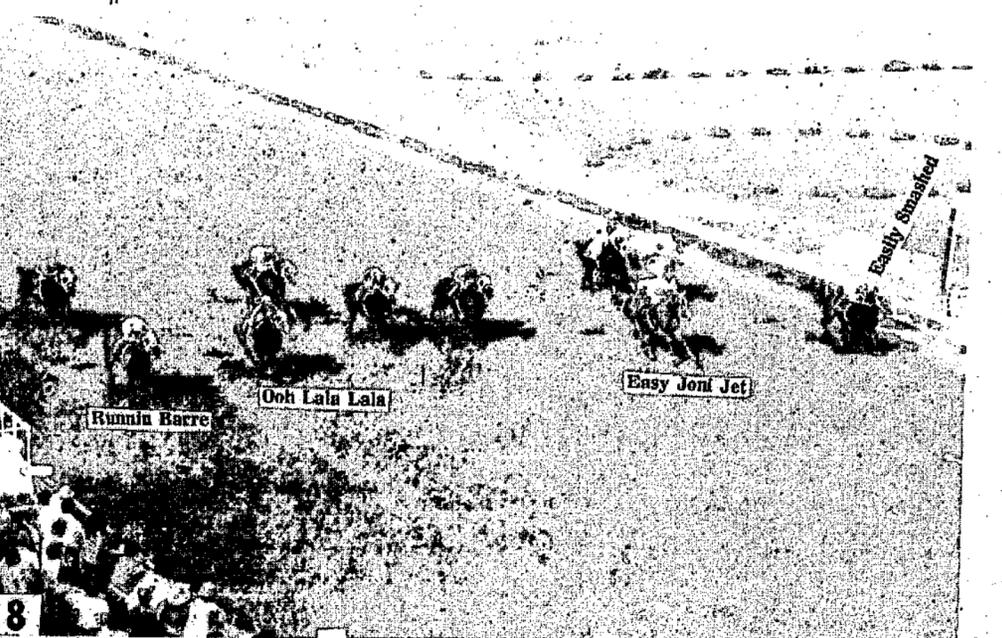

3 RUNNING HARD and even were Easily Smashed, Runnin Barre and Easy Joni Jet

7 OOH LALA LALA came dashing toward the finish line, moving a little late

4 MIGHTY PASS EM seemed to be picking up steam and beginning to move out

8 FINISHING in order: Easily Smashed, Runnin Barre, Easy Joni Jet, Ooh Lala Lala

Wilderness Wisdom with Wayne Calloway

Dear Wayne — I enjoy the outdoors very much and have been reading outdoors stories and articles for years. I participate in fishing, hunting, canoeing, hiking and camping. The idea of being able to write about those things one enjoys seems very exciting. I can't imagine a better vocation. Perhaps this is not the proper place to ask for such advice, but how does one go about getting into writing? How are such articles marketed and how much are they worth? I appreciate any advice. Joseph F., New Mexico

Dear Joseph — You're probably right with the idea that I may not be the one to ask. I have enough trouble with self-discipline, so I would probably be a poor advisor, I will, however, make a few comments.

The idea of seeing one's own writing published has, I suppose, some glamorous appeal. Well, lay the glamorous attraction aside for a moment. Writing is hard work for most people. The right words don't come easy, and self-discipline can be a problem. Sometimes the well runs dry. There will often be occasions when there is ample opportunity to turn out hundreds of words but the mood isn't right and the thought process slips a gear. Terrific ideas dance through the mind when you are busily engaged in another activity, only to have vanished when you have opportunity to write them down. The best ideas come just as the wife calls you to dinner. Or when your children need help with homework. You may stare blankly at the typewriter for hours, and the minute you lay your head on the pillow ideas fill your head out of spite.

Consider, too, that the more time you spend writing, the less you have available to spend doing the very things you write about. You may work into a position of having to meet deadlines. Can you sit at a typewriter when the fish are practically jumping in your pal's boat, or when a slight snow cover makes tracking deer a cinch? Sometimes you must.

I won't tackle your question about getting into writing or selling the product because scores of good books have been written on the subject. I suggest you check out a few from the library.

Remember this. In order to write, and keep writing, you must have a burning desire to do so. A passing fancy won't carry you through. Writing is a very lonely ordeal. You must go it alone. Unless you are unusually gifted it will be hard work.

On the other side, writing is very gratifying. It is an opportunity to express, to share, and to influence.

And I love it.

Los Lunas hit-run driver sought

It is said that happiness and tragedy are on both sides of the same coin. On April 15, of this year, Marie Jaramillo, her husband Raymond, and her daughter Laura, were celebrating Marie's birthday, and she and Raymond's anniversary at Leo's Pub in Los Lunas where Marie worked. As the evening progressed, Marie and Raymond got into an argument, and at about 9 p.m., Marie decided that she and Laura would walk home. By about 9:15 p.m., the coin had completely turned, and tragedy struck.

An off duty Bernalillo County Sheriff's deputy was driving home on highway 85, just south of Los Lunas, when he saw little eight-year-old Laura frantically trying to flag down passing motorists. As he pulled over, she cried hysterically, "my mom's been hit, my mom's been hit."

Los Lunas police investigators have more of the story.

Marie Jaramillo, age 37, was struck and killed by a hit and run driver, as she walked along southbound highway 85, just south of Los Lunas with her daughter, Laura. Evidence at the scene indicates that the vehicle was a medium blue metallic color, and should have damage to the right front headlight, parking light, and fender. The radio antenna, a sectioned type, was completely broken off. There may also have been a white plastic license plate size message on the right front of the vehicle. Officers believe the driver stopped a short distance from the scene, stopped a short distance from the scene, returned, and then left a second time.

This week, the State Crime Stoppers Commission and the Eastern Valencia County Crime Stoppers program are offering a $1,000 reward for information leading to the identity of the driver of the hit and run vehicle. Mrs. Jaramillo's father is offering an additional $500 reward. Anyone having information should call the Commission at its toll-free number, 1-800-432-6933, or the Eastern Valencia County Crime Stoppers program at 885-7700. Callers do not have to reveal their identities, even to collect the reward.

A Crime Stoppers tip to the Alamogordo program this week led to the capture of a bank robber in Arizona. The youthful robber "cased" several business establishments in Alamogordo before deciding to try the Security Bank and Trust at Security Center Mall. He escaped with an undetermined amount of cash, but thanks to quick action by police and Crime Stoppers, his travels were cut short.

Mora County Crime Stoppers this week has authorized a $1,000 reward to be paid for information which led to the discovery of the bodies of three murder victims near Wagon Mound. More than a week-long search had been called off due to lack of leads when State Police received the information leading to the bodies.

Crime Stoppers programs throughout New Mexico have been involved in fund raising activities this month to keep their reward funds to an acceptable level. Citizens and business, civic and fraternal organizations have been tremendous in their financial support of the Crime Stoppers programs.

Focus on Small Business

by E. Maine Shafer

Can you tell me if a bibliography has been compiled on training and development for employees of small businesses?

Yes, there has. It's called SBB No. 88, "Training for Small Business," and it's available free by writing SBA, P.O. Box 15424, Fort Worth, Texas 76119, or by calling toll-free 800/433-7212 (in Texas, call 800/792-8901).

Training today represents an overall annual expenditure of between $30 and $40 billion.

There is a constant and growing need to develop new employee knowledge and skills at all levels. New employees need orientation and must learn specific job duties. Sometimes they need remedial basic education to become job productive.

In addition, all employees need to know how to do their job better or to learn new jobs. There are many advantages for the small business owner in training employees. Business owners have a good picture of their overall business operation and can more accurately determine the skills an employee needs to improve performance. Such a close relationship allows the owner a better opportunity to assess the training needs of each employee — just what performance each employee needs to improve productivity and what his or her present capabilities are.

Once the assessment has been made, there are all sorts of training materials available for small businesses. Publishers, government agencies, trade and professional associations, colleges and universities, local school systems, consultants of ever kind, private schools, service companies and labor unions all offer a wide range of books, training packages, seminars, workshops, courses, films and teaching for employment development.

Real Estate Facts

a public service of the
Ruidoso Board of Realtors

Remember Proposition 13? It was the tax-cutting measure approved by California citizens that reduced the property tax rate across the state to one percent of assessed value, rolled back assessed values to their 1975-76 levels and limited increases in assessments to two percent per year.

When passed two and one-half years ago, its supporters declared salvation for taxpayers. Opponents predicted disaster. To explore what actually has happened, the Economics and Research Division of the National Association of Realtors recently conducted a study to determine the impact of Proposition 13.

The study first polled Realtors and builders throughout California for their impressions of the effects on real estate. A cross section of California residents also were interviewed for their perceptions of the post-referendum effects.

The general public also offered a positive evaluation by indicating a willingness to vote for the measure again. More than one half of the respondents indicated they would vote for Proposition 13 if it were on the ballot today.

Specifically, the survey found that local governments in California have adopted many new and different methods for recovering the tax revenue lost with Proposition 13. For instance, more than three out of four respondents stated that local governments in their area have increased existing fees on real estate in response to the slashes in property taxes.

Not all lost revenue has been recovered and local government budgets have been cut somewhat. In many instances, the state has stepped in and shared its large budget surplus to offset losses at the local level.

Public services have been reduced only marginally, reported the real estate professionals. Those services included education, libraries, and parks and recreation. Police and fire protection, health and hospitals and welfare have not declined at all.

Real estate specialists generally agree that Proposition 13 has not adversely affected the real estate industry to any great extent. Likewise, a majority of industry respondents believed that Proposition 13 has not changed real estate prices either.

It is the general impression of California residents that Proposition 13 indeed has reduced the tax burden in the state. Nearly one-third believe that taxes have been reduced a great deal with another third noting a smaller reduction in overall taxation. However, the measure has had little or no success in reducing government spending. This perceived shortcoming was a significant factor in the passage one and one-half years later of Proposition 4, which limits increases in state and local government budgets.

The study concluded that the disastrous consequences predicted in some quarters have not materialized and the benefits to date outweigh the disadvantages. However, the willingness of the state to use its large revenue surplus to aid local government obviously makes the California experience a unique one. Additional time must pass before it is possible to fully evaluate all aspects of Proposition 13 and its impact on the California economy.
