COMMISSION GRANTS STATE LAND ACCESS

County roads remain open

BY GREG STEPHENS
Staff Writer

The Lincoln County Commissioners voted Tuesday to deny a motion by several ranchers to close county roads running through their land north of the Capitan Mountains.

The motion did not pass without a struggle, as chairman Thomas P. "Cotton" McKnight argued strenuously in favor of allowing the roads to be closed. McKnight pointed out that the roads had not been maintained in 10 years, and that the commissioners would not have the money for maintenance in the future.

But commissioners Ben L. Hall and John A. Hightower voted against closure, arguing that it enabled the ranchers to deny the public access to state lands.

The roads in question were County Road A-049 from the Corn house south and east to the intersection of A-048; A-048 south from the intersection with A-049 to its intersection with A-047, and A-046 from the Marley Ranch headquarters to the Shank Ranch headquarters.

Individuals signing the petition included

Carroll Shanks, Robert, Bill, Mark and Laurelea Marley and Dick Corn.

Ruben Gonzalez of the New Mexico Fish and Game Department spoke against closure of the roads at the meeting.

"We respect the owner and rancher, but wildlife belongs to the people," he said.

"We've got nine million acres of public land in New Mexico, and only 60 percent of it is usable. The rest is 'landlocked' by private land. If you close these roads, the result will be that the only hunters allowed in will be those that the private owners decide to let in."

Hall noted that in such landlocked sections, ranchers were already charging fees of $500 and up to Texas hunters for access. "Now I probably won't ever even see this land," Hall said, "but as a citizen, I feel that if I should decide to go up there, I ought to have the right. I'd hate to see New Mexico reach a point like in Texas where the only available hunting is on private land, and the owners can charge what they want."

McKnight said that he believed the ranchers were more concerned with actual and potential damage to the land and livestock than with charging right-of-way fees.

But it was Hall's argument which prevailed. "These things tend to snowball," he said. "We've probably already closed some roads we shouldn't have. But if these roads survived 10 years without maintenance, I don't see why they can't continue to be used in the same way for another 10 years."

In other business, the commissioners: — Accepted a $16,000 bid from V. C. Ribble of Albuquerque for a used portable asphalt tank and moved to increase the budget by $16,000 to cover this expenditure.

— Agreed orally to provide maintenance to the road leading to the Pine Lodge Association next January.

— Designated two new Carrizozo polling places: the new fire station, moved from the old fire station; the high school, moved from the coop.

— Signed a cooperative school bus route agreement with the State Highway Department, valued at $46,000.

— Approved a $6,000 budget increase for predatory animal control.

— Passed a resolution for a budget increase to cover the prior year's bills coming in after the 1980-81 fiscal year's deadline.

— Approved a budget increase for the Road Department for the Fort Stanton Road Co-op and school bus route agreement.

— Approved a request from Roswell Communications to share the building and tower at Capitan Summit.

— Approved a request from Ruidoso-Fort Stanton Animal Control to use the county frequency for communications.

— Granted a request from Ruidoso Arabian Horse Association to use the county's standby ambulance for their show.

— Approved certification of the annual inventory.

— Invited Ken Moore of the Ruidoso/Hondo Valley Hospital to undertake a study to determine the feasibility of transferring direction of the Carrizozo Health Center from Saint Joseph's Hospital of Albuquerque to the Ruidoso Hospital.

SOME OF THE EQUIPMENT the state Highway Department has located adjacent to Eagle Creek, on Ski Run Road, preparatory to resurfacing operations on the road leading to Sierra Blanca Ski Resort, due to begin early next week.

Ski Run Road repaving slated to begin soon

The state Highway Department will begin repaving New Mexico Highway 532 (Ski Run Road) leading to the Sierra Blanca Ski Resort, on or about August 24. Weather permitting, the repaving should be completed in about five weeks, department project manager Gilbert Agular said.

For several weeks, the contractor has been crushing and stockpiling materials for the job. Armstrong Construction Company of Roswell is doing the work under a $614,384 contract awarded at the road agency's June 26 bid letting. The contract requires that all work be completed by October 15.

The road extends west for approximately 12.5 miles from Alto to the ski area. While paving is in progress, nine miles of the road above Eagle Creek Lodge will be closed to traffic, Agular said.

A parking lot at Windy Point will also be repaved. Culvert pipe will be installed to improve drainage on the upper end of the road.

July building permits top $1.7 million

The Village of Ruidoso issued $1,743,020 in building permits for the month of July. This marks the second month in a row that building permits have fallen under $2 million after the record setting pace of March-May when permits averaged almost $2.3 million monthly.

July's figure compares to totals of $1,331,600 in July 1980 and $1,743,320 last month.

Permits are based on an estimated cost of $20 a square foot.

July permits are listed below by subdivision or location, type of construction, and estimated cost of construction.

— Airport West, Unit 4, Single Family Dwelling (SFD) Addition, $31,760.

— Section 36, Commercial Barn, $201,600.

Few tickets remaining for Cadillac Party

As of noon Wednesday only 15 tickets were available for the August 25 Cadillac Party at the Chamber of Commerce office.

The event, at Jerry Dale's, includes a cocktail hour then dinner at 7:30 p.m., followed by dancing. Tickets are $175 per couple.

The dinner menu will feature a seafood table, with boiled shrimp and crab legs served with remoulade and cocktail sauce. A choice of salads and appetizers will be available, including guacamole mold with tostados, sherried pate and melba toast, fresh fruits in kirsch, marinated vegetables and gaspacho.

The entrees include tenderloin au poivre, with pastry fleurons and burgundy au jus; chicken breasts with savory orange sauce; leg of lamb or veal piccata.

Giant mushroom caps filled with dilled peas, galette lyonnaise, glazed baby carrots and almond rice round out the menu.

Desserts to be offered include tortes, cheesecake tarts, mini cream puffs and eclairs and chocolate dipped strawberries.

Petitions in businesses on phone service

Petitions have been distributed to most Ruidoso businesses and the two banks, for signatures of persons with complaints to register about local telephone service.

The petitions read: "We the undersigned have been and are presently dissatisfied with the telephone service and the apparent lack of planning for growth in the Ruidoso area by the Continental Telephone System. With this in mind we cannot presently support any rate increases."

Local school's outlay funding state's highest

The $1,259,851 in Capital Outlay funds that the Ruidoso School District (RSD) received from the State Department of Finance and Administration last week was the highest amount awarded to any of the state's 31 applicants, high school principal Tom Hansen reported to the Ruidoso Board of Education (BOE) Tuesday night.

The RSD had requested $2,000,000 to be applied to the Phase I construction of the new high school. The state funded about 60 percent of the request. According to Hansen, most school districts received closer to 20 percent of their requests.

"There were 31 applications for $52.7 million, and only $9,590,000 was awarded," Hansen said. "27 districts were eligible and only 17 received money. Ruidoso was the only first-time applicant of the 31 school districts. We didn't get the total amount, but I believe that we did an excellent job in getting the 60 percent. The people who put together the request are to be commended."

The money awarded to the RSD represented over 13 percent of the total monies awarded.

Hansen said that the $740,000 which was denied had been earmarked for sidewalks, playing fields, and remodeling of the existing physical plant.

The criterion used by the Capital Outlay Committee in distributing the money covered several areas, Hansen said, including whether or not the district had a long range administrative plan, if they had done a cost effective analysis of energy conservation measures taken, and the area's industrial growth potential. "It was obvious that the state realized that Ruidoso was experiencing the kind of growth which would not enable it to meet its own educational needs," he said.

Hansen also told BOE members that he believed the Department of Finance and Administration had given its "implied approval" for the RSD's Phase II and III building plans, which would depend on state assistance.

In other action, the BOE: — Approved budget changes for the final 1981-82 budget, and a new bus contract.

Budget additions included: Indian Education Title IV, $22,111; Cafeteria, $155,500; Building Construction, $2,250,000; Capital Improvements SB9, $161,149; Capital Outlay, $1,259,851.

The total contract for the 10 buses and drivers is $251,825, up from $204,591 last year. The difference is accounted for by the tenth bus, which picks up handicapped children. It ran only 45 days last year, but was budgeted for the entire 1981-82 fiscal year.

— Accepted the resignation of Olla

McConachie (Special Education, high school), who is moving to Roswell; approved the hiring of Ron Geyer (Biology and coaching, high school); Clayton Allen (Special Education, mid school); Susan Day (Title I Reading Aide, White Mountain Elementary School); subject to budgetary limitations; Karen Covington and Pat Mulholland, Title I Reading Aides, Nob Hill Elementary School.

— Approved lunch program agreement and price increases: Children from 75 to 90 cents per lunch; reduced rates for children with partial needs to 40 cents; milk to 20 cents; adult meals to $1.50.

— Approved substitute pay increases: uncertified substitutes from $23 to $26 per day, and certified substitutes from $26 to $30.

Hernandez and Sivage winners in cancer drive's chili cookoff

The Lincoln County Chapter of the American Cancer Society's current fund drive benefited by some $600 Tuesday evening as Mike Hernandez claimed first place, and a commemorative silver platter, for winning the chili cookoff at Jerry Dale's.

Wayne Sivage's batch of chili earned him second place and a silver platter.

The concluding event in this year's cancer drive, Ken Moore, drive chairman, said will be a bull riding contest at Jerry Dale's August 26. "We're confident this event will raise the more than $1,000 we need to reach this year's drive goal of $4,000," Moore said.

There will be four categories in the bull riding contest — men's advanced and amateur, and women's advanced and amateur. Entrants pay a fee of $5, and all four winners will receive a trophy belt buckle.

The fun begins at 9 p.m., with the Clay Mac Band providing dance music. The normal cover charge of $2 will be raised to $3, with half of it going to the fund drive.

Entry blanks for the contest are available at the Ruidoso Hondo Valley Hospital or at Cousins'.

Downs okays action on flood insurance plan

Flood insurance, under the federal Flood Insurance Administration (FIA), may be available to Ruidoso Downs residents within a year.

At a public hearing Wednesday, village officials were presented a plan, to provide flood insurance to anyone in Ruidoso Downs, by Diane Leatherwood of the Federal Emergency Management Agency, Denton, Texas.

"Action will start in three to four weeks," Leatherwood said. "The procedures will be published in The Ruidoso News, setting forth the time schedules for hearings, protests and preparing an ordinance," to put the flood insurance plan into effect.

Leatherwood said that flood insurance is available now at a rate of 25 cents for each $100 coverage up to $35,000, putting the annual premium for this maximum coverage, through federal subsidy, at $87.50. Additional coverage up to $185,000 may be added to the federal plan, though this insurance is sold at actuarial rates.

Once the flood insurance plan is in effect, the cost of subsidized insurance will vary according to the location, and elevation, of the buildings insured, Leatherwood said.

A copy of the Preliminary Flood Insurance Study, explaining the FIA plan, is on file in the office of village clerk Virginia Spall.

RECENT HEAVY RAINS on the Eagle Creek watershed have resulted in this heavy flow of water into Alto Reservoir, which is now slowly building up a reserve supply. See pictures of the reservoir and the gushing Rio Ruidoso on page seven.

Storytelling effective tool to activate a child's imagination

BY GREG STEPHENS
Staff Writer/Photographer

"I'm on kind of a campaign against kids sitting in front of a TV with no one to tell them stories," says Santa Fe storyteller Joe Hayes. "Kids learn so much more from storytelling than from TV that there's just no comparison. Because storytelling is a mutual process — it takes the imagination of the listener to finish creating what the storyteller has suggested."

Hayes was in Ruidoso last weekend for the library's "Fun Fair" — which concluded a summer of activities sponsored by the library for Ruidoso children. Before an hour-long storytelling session with the kids Saturday afternoon, Hayes spent four hours in the morning conducting a storytelling workshop.

Hayes and this writer were the only males present of the approximately fifteen people who paid $5 to attend the workshop. Most were teachers who had already used storytelling as an educational device, or mothers who wanted to learn better techniques for telling stories to their children.

"I've been making a living as a storyteller for about the last two years now, and by request for the last six years," Hayes told the workshop. "Before that, I just lied a lot."

"Because I had always been good at making things up, storytelling had been in the back of my mind for some time. I got to thinking about it one day in the library and realized that there just wasn't anyone going around telling stories to the kids anymore, that they were only getting stories from TV. So I pulled out some books on storytelling and learned a couple of tales that day, then went out and cornered a couple of kids to try them out on. I've been at it ever since."

According to Hayes, the idea that telling stories is just for kids is a recent assumption — and an erroneous one. "Storytelling's not just for kids — there's a kid inside of everyone. I've seen very few people that can't get carried away by a story once they open up."

Some of Hayes' interest in storytelling comes from a background in English literature, and from teaching it to teenagers.

He was born near Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, but moved to Benson, Arizona, at the age of 12 when his mother got a teaching job there.

He received a B.A. in English Literature from the University of Arizona, and thereafter taught several years at Sunnyside High School in Tucson, Arizona. Then better pay lured him to a job with a mineral exploration company, which included a six month stint in Spain.

"But when I got back to the states, I wanted to be around people again, so I started looking for a teaching job in the Southwest. What turned up was a position at Los Alamos High School teaching English. I got started with storytelling then, and since I speak Spanish, a number of jobs began to turn up in Northern New Mexico telling "cuentos" to Spanish-speaking children."

Hayes says that he has more than enough work to make a decent living now doing the one thing he likes best — telling stories.

"I have to try to limit myself to four days a week, when I spend a full day at a school, working at all different levels. More than that, you get pretty burnt out. It's demanding work — both physically and mentally. I find that my voice gets quite hoarse after a day's work."

HAYES LIKES TO START workshops with a story about the Hassidic Jews in Poland. They had certain rituals to get the Lord's attention during times of crisis. But as time went on, the rabbis forgot the ritual, piece by piece. In telling the story, Hayes' voice goes from a booming prayer in the forest, full of mystery, to that of a quavering voiced rabbi in a temple, who raises his hands feebly to the ceiling and makes up a story to the Lord as an excuse for why he has forgotten the ritual.

Someone finally asks the Lord why he made people with such bad memories. He is told, "the Lord made people to listen to their stories."

"You can almost define a religion by the stories the people tell," said Hayes. "Storytelling has been especially popular for the peoples undergoing oppression or a time of great stress. I think that's why the Jews make such good storytellers, and it may also have something to do with why storytelling is enjoying a revival in the United States — we've been worried about the economy and all."

Hayes said that his experiences with New Mexico Indians have shown him that they are much more aware of the magic of storytelling than are Anglo Americans.

"The Navajos believe that the more stories you know, the longer you'll live; that each story adds power to a person. Therefore you don't give a story away lightly. I had one Navajo woman in my class who went through a long struggle about whether or not to share a family story. She finally did, but afterwards she went through a lot of guilt, because it was like she had given away a family heirloom."

Much of the focus of Hayes' workshop was directed to the educational function of storytelling. He noted that the Latin original of education — ex decare — means "to lead out of", and that storytelling is supposed not only to entertain, but to help "lead out" a child's imagination.

One participant in the workshop — assistant librarian Ingrid Schmitz — said that in working with children during story hours, she had seen how TV has destroyed much of that creative capacity. "You see in trying to get kids to tell a story that they don't know how to create out of themselves — especially the older ones. They have had images in front of them all the time so that they can't imagine things — while we just had the radio, which makes you picture the story."

"I DON'T BELIEVE that the old stories were necessarily meant to be read forever as printed," said Hayes. "When the Brothers Grimm set down their tales, they were a living, changing tradition. But they've been frozen in print for all this time. I certainly have nothing against recreating these tales to suit your own children."

"I call storytelling a 'gift of attention'. Because an adult's attention is always a gift to a child. If you're using a book, there's always a little bit of something in between you. With storytelling, you have to use the hands and eye contact."

The workshop included a number of examples of using visual aids in a story — such as folding a single sheet of paper so that it is transformed from a rain hat to a fireman's hat to a boat to a lifejacket.

Hayes also gave instructions about the specific storytelling requirements of different age levels. "I like to work with children with a certain age group — but lots of times you get thrown in with kids of all ages. Then you have to try for a scattergun effect. The general rule is that a story has a bottom age limit but no top limit."

"Up to about first grade kids are limited by how much they can understand and how long their attention span is. You have to use a lot of repetition with very little plot."

"Second and third graders love animal stories, especially when they're tricky, and that trickiness isn't understood by one of the story's characters. The kids get great satisfaction in predicting the outcome and in seeing that prediction come true."

"Fourth graders are getting close to puberty, so things like courtship seem mysterious. They like fairytales. With fifth graders, you can start telling tall tales. You have to be sure they're old enough to know you're telling them a windy. Otherwise it just confuses them. Tall tales are also good for the kind of grown men who think storytelling is for the birds. Lots of times a tall tale will get them to crack a smile and then they'll decide stories are all right."

Hayes said that junior high schoolers were about the toughest group to work with. "They tend to be pretty skeptical at first. 'What's this, a storyteller?' But if you catch them good the first period, then they'll spread the word and the whole school will be excited about it. They also tend to be uncomfortable with fairy tales until they see that the others are digging it."

Hayes offered some simple advice for prospective storytellers: "Learn it by heart rather than memory. Once you get involved with a story, it begins to teach itself to you."

1 "SO THE LITTLE BOY took the piece of paper . . ."

2 "HE DISCOVERED he had a fireman's hat."

3 "AND THEN HE PUT HIS HAT ON . . ."

4 "AND WHEN HE GOT THROUGH, he had a lifejacket!"

STORYTELLER JOE HAYES kept Ruidoso children enchanted for an hour during Saturday afternoon's "Fun Fair."

Merritt/Hindi nuptials set

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald L. Merritt, Yeso, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Jackie Shawn, to Jamil Hindi, son of Mr. and Mrs. Brahmam Hindi of Duran. She is a graduate of Corona High School and he is a graduate of Vaughn High School.

The bride-elect is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Watkins of Ruidoso and Roswell.

The marriage will take place at the Ruidoso First Christian Church, September 12, at 7 in the evening. Friends of the families are invited.

JACKIE MERRITT

MRS. WAYNE DuBOSE

Godwin/DuBose vows spoken

Kenna Godwin became the bride of Wayne DuBose during a double ring ceremony held Friday, August 14, at 8 p.m., in the First Baptist Church sanctuary, Brownfield, Texas.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth B. Godwin of Tulla, Texas. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Truman A. DuBose of Ruidoso.

The couple's musical selections for the ceremony included "Sunrise, Sunset" sung by Sheryl and Roger Posey of Ruidoso, cousins of the groom, "Songbird" sung by Sylvia Alaniz of Brownfield, "Evergreen" sung by the bridegroom to his bride, and "The Lord's Prayer" sung by Mrs. Posey.

The bride, presented in marriage by her father, chose a formal length gown fashioned of candlelight chiffon.

Serving as Matron of Honor was Mrs. Diana Schwede of Lubbock, Texas, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids included Jimmie Bishop of Brownfield, Mary Denys of Fort Worth, Texas, Sharon Mellroy of Austin, Texas, and Patrice Simpson of Tulla. Each of the bridal attendants wore floor length dresses designed by Lustre Glo.

Gary McIlroy of Austin, cousin of the bridegroom, served as best man. Groomsman included Justin Awbrey, Charles Campbell and Brent Hogue of Brownfield and Gary Schwede of Lubbock, brother-in-law of the bride.

The rehearsal was held in the Activities Building of the church.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the bridegroom's parents on Thursday evening August 13.

Following the ceremony and reception the couple left for a honeymoon to Mazatlan, Mexico.

The bride is employed as a teacher at Brownfield Middle School and the bridegroom is self-employed as owner and operator of Flowers Etc.

The couple will make their home in Brownfield.

EXACTLY HOW TO PUT the finishing touches on this flower arrangement was the point of discussion among the members of the Ruidoso Garden Club, prior to Tuesday's meeting. The complete final arrangements for the club's "Symphony of Flowers" show, in the Ruidoso

Flower show opens Tuesday

"Symphony of Flowers," the 11th Annual Standard Flower Show, sponsored by the Ruidoso Garden Club in cooperation with the Ruidoso State Bank, will be held next Tuesday and Wednesday in the Ruidoso Public Library.

Entries will be received between 7 and 10 a.m., Tuesday, followed by judging. The show will then be open to public viewing from 3-8 p.m., and on Wednesday from 10 a.m., to 4 p.m.

The show is open to all amateur gardeners and information on entering is available by calling chairman Shirley Neuhaus at 378-4563.

School needs for Kindergarten, 1st, 2nd, grades

Students entering the following classes in the Ruidoso school are to bring the items listed below on opening day, September 1: KINDERGARTEN, one box basic eight crayons only, scissors, two large, husky, primary pencils, small bottle of Elmer's Glue, one supply or cigar box and one box of Kleenex.

FIRST GRADE, one box basic eight crayons, four No. 2 pencils, medium size bottle Elmer's Glue, one hard rubber eraser, one pair of sharp pointed scissors (left handed if needed), one large box Kleenex, one blank cassette tape. School supply boxes will not be needed.

SECOND GRADE, one box basic eight crayons, four No. 2 pencils, one pair sharp pointed scissors (left handed if needed), one large bottle Elmer's Glue, one hard rubber eraser, one school or cigar box, one large box Kleenex. Other supplies may be requested by the teachers.

Meeting set for parents of high school students

An information sharing meeting for parents of all students to be enrolled in Ruidoso High School this fall will be held at 7:30 p.m., August 25, in the high school library.

The session will be conducted by counselor James Sanchez and principal Tom Hansen.

Topics to be covered include enrollment procedures, courses of study, graduation requirements and testing programs. A question and answer period will follow the presentations.

"School officials are anxious to see a large number of parents at this meeting because concerns regarding a child's opportunities, problems and progress can be addressed in an informal setting without embarrassment," Hansen said.

"Many of the questions people might want to ask will be presented by others."

Musical scheduled Friday at Gateway Assembly of God

The "Touch of Paradise" ensemble, with John Short, youth and music pastor of Paradise Hills Christian Center, Phoenix, Arizona, will appear in a free concert Friday at 7:30 p.m., in the Gateway Assembly of God.

The group will present the musical "Believer," by Dallas Holmes, pastor Ed Rimer said.

High school registration hours set

Registration for students attending Ruidoso High School this fall will be September 1, on the following schedule:

9 a.m., Seniors
10:30 a.m., Juniors
1 p.m., Sophomores
2:30 p.m., Freshmen who did not attend White Mountain Middle School last year.

All students graduating from the eighth grade at White Mountain Middle School last year are pre-registered as freshmen in Ruidoso High School and are not to report September 1. These students are to attend first period classes beginning at 9 a.m., September 2.

73-Year-Old Woman Is Booked Solid

Last July, Ione Hickey of Vallejo, California had a day off. In August, she remembers two days she had to herself when she wasn't teaching classes in first aid and cardio-pulmonary resuscitation (CPR) classes all over Solano County.

"I'm pretty booked up," Hickey understated her case to a writer from The National Council on the Aging. Originally from Texas, the 73-year-old has been booked up most of her life. When Hickey was 11, her family moved to the state of Washington. Two years later, at the age of 13, she left home and has been on her own ever since.

"I've worked at many, many things," Hickey recalled. "The first thing I did was work in the wheat fields of Oregon for a year. Then I worked in a restaurant—I've done just about everything there is to do in a restaurant except scrub floors. I worked in restaurants up and down the coast."

Hickey went home for a while and lived with her mother, who was a nurse, while she took nurse's training. Before she finished the course, she left home again, moving to another town where she worked in a cannery and a restaurant.

"That's the only regret I have in my life," Hickey said. "That I didn't finish my nurse's training."

When she was 27 she married a career navy man and had the first of their two sons when she was 43.

"I think a lot of my independence comes from being married to a serviceman," she said. "He was away at sea so much, that I had to stand on my own two feet a great deal of the time."

Hickey's interest in nursing led her to volunteer work for the Red Cross, which she's been doing for over 50 years, and her position as first aid chairwoman for Solano County.

"I've been teaching first aid since the 30s," she said, "and the subject matter hasn't changed a great deal. There have been changes in artificial respiration, the control of bleeding and the way burns are treated, but first aid is still essentially what you can accomplish with a minimum of supplies in an emergency."

When CPR was introduced on the West Coast about 20 years ago, Hickey was in the first class sponsored by the Heart Association.

"When the Red Cross adopted the technique I took over and organized it," she said. "I've been teaching first aid and CPR ever since."

On her rare days off, Hickey finds time for several service organizations and bowls on Monday nights. Last year her son tried to get her to water ski, but Hickey politely declined, explaining, "I didn't think it would be wise."

A person foolish enough to suggest a less taxing pace to Hickey, is liable to get an earful.

"I'll take it easy when I can't walk anymore," she said. "My mother was 90 when she died. I'm going to try to match her record."

SAVINGS AND LOAN associations have been authorized by Congress to develop reverse annuity mortgages (RAM). These would provide periodic payments to homeowners based on the equity in their homes. They would be of special benefit to older homeowners with small incomes and no way of tapping the increased value of their homes to supplement their incomes. RAMs would provide payment to homeowners either directly from the lender or through purchase of an annuity from an insurance company. Under either plan, the homeowner would remain in his or her home and receive a specified monthly payment. The payments would end and the loan be due either on a specific date or upon the death of the homeowner.

A UNIQUE feature of the new federal age discrimination regulations is the use of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service to review claims of discrimination and resolve them within 60-90 days. No other civil rights program makes use of such third-party mediation. The demand for the quick resolution was made in recognition of the unusual importance of time to the elderly.

MR. AND MRS. RICHARD EDMONDSON

Baca/Edmondson vows said

Gail Alene Baca, Tularosa, and Richard Grimes Edmondson of Holloman Air Force Base, exchanged wedding vows at 11 a.m., July 18 in St. Eleanor's Catholic Church, Ruidoso, with the Reverend Robert J. Smith officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred W. Baca of Ruidoso Downs and the bridegroom the son of Mrs. Paula G. Wilkerson of Cropwell, Alabama, and Arthur L. Edmondson of Steele, Alabama.

The church was decorated with yellow and peach roses, carnations, white and yellow daisies and yellow ribbon.

Music included the traditional wedding march with Mike Hurst singing, "We've Only Just Begun," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage, for the formal, double ring ceremony by her parents, wore a white satin and sheer silk floor length gown with lace overlay, seed pearls and silver veil beads, a three foot long train, and a veil with full length lace overlay with pearls and beads attached.

Her something old was a gold ring from her parents, her gown was new, something borrowed was a necklace from her mother and she wore the traditional blue garter. She carried a bouquet of peach roses and buds and baby's breath.

Matrons of Honor were Mrs. Judy Flores, Ruidoso, wearing a yellow satin floor length gown with pearls on the bodice, and Mrs. James Arnold, La Mesa, wearing a green satin floor length gown with pearls on the bodice.

Bridesmaids were Lynette Salcido, Tularosa, and Monica Baca and Ruth Wardlaw of Ruidoso Downs, wearing peach satin floor length gowns with sheer bodice and seed pearls.

The Best Man was Tom Wilkerson of Cropwell, Alabama, the bridegroom's stepfather. Groomsman was James Arnold of La Mesa and the usher was David Salcido of Tularosa.

The flower girl was Elizabeth Evans of Tularosa and the ring bearer was Jason Flores of Ruidoso.

The bride's mother wore a pink silk floor length gown with a sheer covered long cape and carried yellow carnations. The bridegroom's mother wore a blue silk floor length gown with sheer cape and carried yellow carnations.

A reception, following the ceremony, was held at the Holiday Inn, Ruidoso. The centerpiece on the bridal table was a three tiered wedding cake, decorated with yellow carnations and peach roses, topped with the traditional bride and bridegroom, a gift from Mrs. Janet Bodine. Hostesses at the reception were Ruth Wardlaw, Monica Baca and Lynette Salcido.

Following a wedding trip to various points in New Mexico, the couple are at home in Tularosa.

The bride, a graduate of Tularosa High School, attended New Mexico State University and is employed by the Mescalero Apache Tribe. The bridegroom, a graduate of Vestavia Hill High School in Alabama, is stationed at Holloman Air Force Base.

Around Sports

with Gary Brown

Mildred Muse has been a very busy woman. At 54, she has 19 grandchildren and one great grandchild. And she also plays softball for the Half & Half team in the Ruidoso Women's Softball League. "It's really good. The sport grows on you," Muse said Monday night before the final regular season game against the Captain Rebels. "It's good exercise and I got to play with the kids."

You might say Half & Half is a family affair. Mildred has five daughters on the team. They include Marie, Lois, Kaye, Sabrina and Cheryl.

Mildred's husband, Albert, is a sponsor as is her brother Ben Hall. Mildred's son by a previous marriage, Richard Pine, is an assistant coach. Head coach Tom Reynolds is a son-in-law as is scorekeeper Pappy Coons.

With all these family members it's not surprising that Half & Half was a close-knit group and won the league championship.

Mildred never played softball before last season. "Last year I just sort of practiced a little bit with the girls and then this season I've played on the team," she said. "I told them I would just fill in whenever they needed me. I haven't played in every game but I've been with the team in every one."

Mildred has shown her versatility by playing at several positions, whatever the team needed at that particular time.

With that kind of unselfish attitude it's no wonder Half & Half won the softball title.

Dallas's weaknesses in the defensive backfield should be balanced out by the overwhelming pass rush it gets from the likes of Randy White, "Too Tall" Jones and Harvey Martin. However, unless the pass defense improves the Cowboys might not make it to the Super Bowl XVI next January.

However, defensive back problems have been commonplace among National Football Conference teams the past 10 years.

Probably the two main reasons that the American Football Conference has dominated the NFL the past 10 years is that the AFC has had superior quarterbacks and defensive backs.

The reason for this is relatively simple. In the mid-1960's when the old American Football League was struggling to catch up with the established NFL it was forced to resort to more wide open offenses. While the NFL was dominated by conservative, run-oriented teams like Green Bay and Minnesota the AFC began to show pass-oriented offenses with the likes of Oakland and Kansas City.

After the New York Jets stunned Baltimore in Super Bowl III behind Joe Namath's brilliant play the writing was on the wall. The next year Hank Stram's creative offense led Kansas City over Minnesota in the fourth Super Bowl and the AFC has dominated play since then.

While the AFC was drafting highly rated quarterbacks it also went for top notch defensive backs in order to defend against the passing games its teams were beginning to develop.

Oakland's "Soul Patrol" defensive backfield led by Willie Brown was the first outstanding secondary of the 1970's. The Raiders and the other top level AFC teams have all had top defensive backfields since then.

On the other hand the better teams in the NFC have not been blessed with that many outstanding defensive backs. Last season only Los Angeles had a top level, experienced defensive backfield among NFC playoff teams. Atlanta's secondary weaknesses allowed Dallas to come back and beat them in the NFC semi-finals.

Philadelphia's defensive backfield was good enough to get the Eagles into the playoffs and Super Bowl but Jim Plunkett had a field day passing on it in the "big one."

Thus, Dallas and the rest of the NFC teams won't achieve parity with the AFC until their passing offenses and defenses catch up.

Large field expected for keg tourney

About 70 to 75 bowlers are expected for the West Texas-New Mexico Masters Bowling Association Tournament when it is held tomorrow through Sunday at the Holiday Bowl.

"We've already had at least 45 bowlers sign up and generally the bowlers don't sign up until the end of the week," said Jack Kennedy, tournament manager.

Handicap will be 68 2/3 percent of 200 for men and 75 percent for women, based on the individual bowler's highest 1980-81 average. Bowlers must have at least a 170 average to compete.

Both masters and amateurs will compete in the tournament.

Competition begins at 8 p.m., tomorrow with a masters-amateur round. Another masters-amateur round follows at 8. Saturday morning a masters squad competes at 10. More masters-amateur competition follows at 1 p.m., 2:45 and 4:30. The second masters squad plays at 8 p.m. Saturday.

Sunday morning the field is narrowed to half with four games being played. From that group the top eight bowlers will vie off at 11:30 or 12 for the title.

About 10 percent of the bowlers should win money prizes. The tournament is being sponsored by several businesses in Ruidoso.

Blues, No Names play for crown

The Blues and No Names will play for the Ruidoso Men's Fast-pitch Softball League title at 7:30 tonight at Ruidoso Downs.

A five-run sixth inning gave the Blues a 13-8 victory over the No Names last night and forced an extra game. The No Names had been unbeaten in playoff competition while the Blues had lost one game.

Paul Walters was the winning pitcher. Scott Schrader belted a grand slam home run in the sixth to highlight the win.

Ruidoso spikers begin practice

Ruidoso High School's girls' volleyball team will open practice at 10 a.m., Monday in the Warrior gym.

First-year coach Sergio Costantini is hoping about 35 girls will try out for the squad.

"We have most of our players from last year returning," he said. "I could use one or two good new players out. We're hopeful that our players from last year's B team improve a lot."

Some of the top returnees from last year's squad include Karen Boone, Patricia Cardenas, Cyd Wright, Laurie Morel, Cody Taylor and Claudia Brennan. Boone is an excellent offensive threat and was one of the Warriors' top scorers last season.

Ruidoso, which finished at 7-10 last year, will open the 1981 season with a home match against Carrizozo September 15.

Inn holds second distance run

The Inn of the Mountain Gods will hold its second annual nine-mile cross-country run September 5.

Starting point for the race will be a quarter of a mile below the Cloudercroft turn off (Highway 24) on Highway 70. The finish line will be at the Inn of the Mountain Gods.

There will be six age divisions for both men and women ranging from nine-and-under to 49-and-over. Trophies will be awarded for the first 10 finishers in the overall competition. The first three finishers in each division will receive medals while the first five in each

Woodul shows punting skills

Now in the second week of practice Ruidoso High School's football team is going over the more particular points of the game.

"We've been going into our kicking game quite a bit," said head coach Darrel Stierwalt. "We've been practicing quite a bit on our punt and extra-point kicking."

Billy Woodul, who will probably be the first-string quarterback this season, is currently the leading candidate for punter.

"He's (Woodul) just done an outstanding job all around in practice," said Stierwalt.

Several players have been trying out for place-kicker. All-District linebacker Lon Nunley has done a good job as well as Travis Cochise and Scott Neal, Stierwalt said.

The team, which is practicing in pads this week, is also going over punt and kickoff returns.

But Stierwalt has been most pleased with the players' ability to hit.

"We do have some players who like to hit you," he said. "They really like contact."

"The way we've been conditioning our players we should be in better shape than any team we play this season."

Stierwalt has also been pleased with the way his quarterbacks and receivers have been working together.

"They've really done a good job catching and passing the ball," he said. "Our passing game should be much improved this season. We should run around 60 percent of the time and pass the other 40 percent."

The squad has now grown to 64 players and Stierwalt likes those numbers.

"We should have around 32 to 35 players on the varsity," he said. "Probably a few more players who might not get much playing time on the varsity will eventually drop down to the junior varsity."

Several of the Warrior players who were on vacation or elsewhere have joined the camp.

Ken Bradley, at 5-11, and 185 pounds, one of the biggest linemen on the team, has returned as has Dave Swalander. Stierwalt says Swalander is one of the most versatile players on the team.

"He can play almost any position in the line," Stierwalt said of Swalander. "He played a lot last season at guard but can also go at center and tackle."

While they don't have much of a chance to play on the varsity Stierwalt has also been impressed with several freshmen.

"Tommy Crow has looked good at both quarterback and linebacker," Stierwalt said. "Justin Smith has been a real hitter at linebacker. He took on Nunley in a practice rush the other day and didn't veer at all. Sicco Bob has been impressive at defensive back."

Ruidoso will host a scrimmage a week from today against Portales and Cathedral of El Paso, Texas. The opening game is against Estancia in Ruidoso September 4.

"They had a pretty fair team last year," said Stierwalt of the Estancia squad the Warriors beat 36-12. "But I don't know how many players they have returning this season."

Friday meeting for jr. gridders

It's important for boys interested in playing football at White Mountain Middle School to attend tomorrow's information meeting at the school gym.

The meeting, which will begin at 6 p.m., will also allow boys who haven't signed up to do so. At 7 a bus will take the youths to Ruidoso High School for physicals. Any boy who doesn't have a physical at the high school must get one on his own.

Practice begins Monday at White Mountain Middle School. There will be one practice from 4 to 6 p.m., daily until the season begins.

Camping conditions

very wet in forest

Daily rains on Lincoln National Forest this past week have given trees, and growing plants a long cool drink to take them into the fall season. The Sacramento Mountains are having cool nights, with temperatures into the low 50's. Campers are enjoying the warmth of campfires in the evenings. The forest is wet and muddy, but visitors are out for their last trips before school starts.

The Smokey Bear District at Ruidoso has had over three inches of rain this week, and the grand total for August is over seven inches. Bonito Lake and streams are full, and fishing pressure is heavy. State Highway 532, past the turnout to Eagle Creek Recreation Area on the Mesalero Apache Indian Reservation, will be closed for three to four weeks for resurfacing; therefore, Oak Creek Campground and the gondola at Sierra Blanca Ski area have been closed. Secondary roads are slick and muddy.

South Fork Campground is receiving heavy use. Bears have been seen raiding dumpsters, so campers are asked to keep their food put away. Trails in the White Mountain Wilderness are muddy. Hikers should beware of lightning storms. All fuelwood areas are open, but check with the ranger district office for current conditions. There will be a 22 rifle match at the Ruidoso Gun Club in Palo Verde Canyon on September 6. The public is welcome. Call Charles Moore at 378-4603 evenings for information.

Cloudcroft District has received over two inches of rain during the past week, with showers every day. All camp and picnic areas are open and receiving moderate to heavy use on weekends, and light use during the week. Secondary roads are muddy, and there is a problem with rocks falling onto the road west of Cloudcroft on Highway 82. Trails are muddy and all fuelwood areas are closed.

The Guadalupe Ranger District reports that there have been moderate to heavy afternoon thunderstorms in and around Carlsbad also. Roads are wet in some places, but in good condition. Some road work is continuing on State Highway 137, leading to the district. Sitting Bull Falls Picnic Area is receiving heavy use, especially on weekends. Rattlesnakes are out because of the humidity; and visitors should be aware of possible flash flooding in low-lying areas. Trail conditions are good. Fuelwood areas are open, but may be wet.

The Mayhill District has had almost two inches of rain, and have closed their fuelwood areas until weather conditions improve. James Canyon Campground is receiving heavy use. Roads are muddy, and fishing is poor.

Great Plains Program noting 25th anniversary

Area Soil and Water Conservation Districts, with the Soil Conservation Service, will observe the 25th anniversary of the Department of Agriculture's Great Plains Conservation Program (GPCP) August 28 at the Lincoln County Fair Grounds, Capitan.

The program, beginning at 10 a.m., will be emceed by Congressman Joe Skeen and will feature talks by legislators and ranchers who have participated in GPCP's conservation practices.

A free barbecue will be served at noon.

Persons planning to attend are being asked to call the Soil Conservation office in Carrizozo 648-2941 or Capitan 354-2220 before August 26.

I-n-s-i-d-e the Outdoors

by Gary Dollahan

The State Game Commission set squirrel, grouse, and early migratory bird seasons Friday, July 24, increasing the bag and possession limit on mourning and white-winged doves.

Seasons for mourning and white-winged dove are September 1-30 and November 21-December 20 statewide. Bag and possession limits have been raised to 12 doves per day and 24 in possession — singly or in the aggregate of both species.

Season on blue-winged, green-winged and cinnamon-teal in the Central Flyway portion of the state only (east of the Continental Divide, excluding the Jicarilla Apache Indian Reservation) will be September 12-20. Teal hunting will also be open during that time on the La Joya State Game Refuge and a portion of the Bernardo State Game Refuge south of United States 60. Shooting hours are sunrise to sunset; bag limit is four per day, eight in possession, singly or in the aggregate of the three species.

By regulation, teal hunters are restricted to use of shot shells loaded only with steel shot while hunting in La Joya and Bernardo refuges and the area between the refuges.

Only fully feathered wing or the head of any teal must remain attached to the bird until the bird has arrived at the personal abode of the possessor or at a commercial preservation facility.

Band-tailed pigeon season is October 3-22 south of United States 60 from the Arizona state line to Socorro and west of 1-25 from Socorro to the Texas state line. In the remainder of the state, the season will be September 1-28. Bag limit is five per day, 10 in possession.

Band-tailed pigeon hunters must have in possession both a valid game bird license and a special band-tailed pigeon hunting permit, issued free at Department of Game and Fish offices in Santa Fe, Albuquerque, Roswell, Raton and Las Cruces. Written requests for permits should be mailed to the Santa Fe office with name, address, and current bird-hunting license number.

The commission set the season on grouse and squirrel in northern units, GS-1, for September 1-October 4, with no grouse hunting permitted in Unit 9 — the Mount Taylor area — of that area. Hunting for grouse-and-squirrel-in-GS-2; the south-west, will be permitted October 3-22.

Season on chickaree squirrel in Squirrel Area S-3, the Sacramento Mountains, is September 1-October 4.

Grouse limits are three grouse per day, six in possession. Squirrel limits are five per day, 10 in possession.

Shooting hours are one-half hour before sunrise to sunset for band-tailed pigeon, mourning and white-winged doves, grouse and squirrel.

Teals, band-tailed pigeons, mourning and white winged doves may be taken only with a shotgun or bow (except cross-bow) and arrows.

Grouse and squirrel may be taken with any firearm except fully automatic firearms and with any bow and arrow except a cross-bow. Only soft nose or hollow point bullets may be used. Full-jacketed or steel-jacketed bullets are illegal.

Dogs may be used in hunting teal, pigeons, doves, grouse and squirrel. Teal, pigeons and doves may be taken from a blind or with use of artificial decoys.

Information sheets with hunt areas and season dates will soon be available from any Department of Game and Fish office or from any of approximately 350 vendors statewide.

BY DANIEL AGNEW STORM

Edith Coe Rigby Day
Several things came together just right to make my visit to the dedication of the Edith Coe Rigby Memorial Patio a special blessing.

On that day, the fifteenth, I had been waiting for my brother Mark and his wife Ferne, from Houston. They arrived about mid afternoon, so that we finally made it up to the Care Center just as the festivities were over.

Just the same, Edith, who was already in her room, arranged for us all to go out and have supper in the patio. We sat around the round table under the large umbrella and had a grand visit.

Mark, who has always been one of Edith's favorites, told of the old days when he used to ride his horse, "Chaps," from the place here up to the Navajo Lodge to the dances, accompanied by Joe on "Buttermilk" and Lynn on "Socks".

Edith's daughter, Betty Lou Latham, and her granddaughter Teddie Latham, made the visit especially pleasant by bringing plates of good vittas and coffee and milk.

Mark presented Edith with a print of one of his most widely appreciated paintings, "One Dark and Stormy Day" taken from the song "Ghost Riders in the Sky."

This was my first visit to the Care Center and it was a delight to see that it is such a fine place: a great credit to this area, and a true home for the elderly.

I was especially pleased to see the Mescalero ladies and gentleman eating supper along with the rest. And we all send up a sincere vote of thanks to the many Mescalero Apaches who helped make the day something to be fondly remembered always.

Mark made the acquaintance of an Indian artist, Mr. Hosetosevit, and a young Mescalero lady, Miss Big Rope. He presented a signed print to Miss Big Rope.

The Patio in the Pines
With their singing branches reaching over into the roomy patio, the pine trees are a true emblem of all the charm of our mountain homeland. The folks can be out here in this beautiful spot near the sky in the flowery spring, the balmy summer, the colorful fall and the warmer days of the snowy winter.

We are all grateful to the many who responded to Edith's call and did so much to make this splendid feature a dream come true. This response is a tribute to the high standing Edith has among us and the fond place she will ever hold in our hearts.

Her life of service continues even while she is in a wheel chair. And this is a great inspiration to all of us - to keep on, doing our best.

So now we all are grateful that Edith has seen her dream come true, a lasting gift that will bring happiness to countless people through the years.

America's most memorable literature has tended to occur on its fringes and frontiers. The firsthand experience of an untamed wilderness, or of two cultures forced into conflict, has provided a consistent means of stretching the literary imagination beyond the norm. The awareness of the story and setting provide a vitality that is often lost once the frontiers are conquered, and writers begin to confine themselves to the habits of city folk.

American writers began with their impressions of the East Coast Indians, as in Cooper's Leatherstocking novels. When the Indians were subdued, the more adventurous looked to other frontiers: Melville to the sea, and later writers such as Jack London to the opening frontiers of the West.

With frontiers disappearing, the best 20th century American writers concerned themselves with subtleties. But recent American fiction, dominated by New York publishing houses, has become increasingly divorced from any sense of place. As urban America becomes increasingly homogenized, our storytelling suffers accordingly.

An exception is the Southwest, where the frontier is an ongoing reality. Here are three cultures which still retain much of their separate traditions. And there are still vast expanses of unsettled land.

Desert regions have always produced more than their share of visionaries, and the singular beauty of the Southwest's arid regions has helped to create a literature more closely tied to the land than in any other part of America.

"In the dry places, men begin to dream," wrote the novelist Wright Morris. "Where the rivers run sand, there is something in a man that begins to flow."

With cultural change occurring at a dizzying pace, it appears that the literature of the Southwest may only now be approaching its heyday. The four books reviewed here make a good sampler of the flowering of this tradition.

"THE CENTRAL EPISODE in American history, the settling of the frontier, is still happening in the Southwest of the 1980's" writes Max Apple in his introduction to the anthology, 'Southwestern Fiction'. "The new Southwesterners, like their predecessors in American history, seek the open territories because the frontier is not a line of demarcation but a condition of hopefulness."

If open territory and frontier values are the common denominator of the Southwest, then the choice of Apple as editor is somewhat questionable. He teaches at Rice University in Houston, and four of the stories he includes are located in the Houston area, with characters that have little or no conception of the "open spaces". In Apple's own story, "My Real Estate", the only connection to the land the characters have is an obsession with selling and buying it.

Nine of the stories are set in Texas and eight in New Mexico. Viewed either as entertainment or art, the best stories take place in a rural setting.

I would point out three in particular: a very funny story by Carolyn Gaborn called "My Brother is a Cowboy" about an over-protective Texas cowpoke who refuses to let his sister be a "modern girl"; C. W. Smith's "The Plantation Club", about two boys in a small southern New Mexico town who discover racial injustice through a fascination with jazz music, and "Lullaby" by the Laguna writer Leslie Marmon Silko, which is an elegy about an Indian woman whose children are taken away by whites.

Silko, who is now 33, is best known for her novel "Ceremony." The hero of that novel, like Silko herself, is of mixed blood. The tensions of allegiances between two often irreconcilable cultures, in Silko's hands, helped to produce what is probably the most memorable piece of American Indian fiction.

Her new book "Storyteller" explores many of the same themes: the conflict between the Indians' belief in the sanctity of the natural world versus the white man's belief in material progress. But as the title indicates, the book is more specifically about the process of storytelling, as practiced by the Laguna people Silko knew. It contains a number of her previously published short stories, pieces of narrative poetry taken from

"Ceremony" and other sources, and reminiscences on how her people practiced storytelling.

Telling stories formed the very backbone of the traditional people's lives. Silko remembers a grandmother drying quickly after being taken to live with a daughter in Albuquerque. She had spent most of her time telling stories to her grandchildren and taking care of her flowers.

"She might have lived without watering morning glories and without kids running through her kitchen but she did not last long without someone to talk to," Silko writes.

The title story, "Storyteller", is set in Alaska, where Silko spent time as an artist-in-residence. It graphically portrays how Native Americans use storytelling as a means of adapting themselves to the seasonal rhythms of nature.

My own favorite is "Coyote Holds a Full House in his Hand," a trickster story full of a delightful humor often missing from Silko's other work. I heard the author read this piece in Tucson, Arizona, and it kept the audience in stitches.

Silko's work also appears in Hobson's anthology "The Remembered Earth". But if the tone of "Storyteller" is gentle remembrance, there is an undertone of militance and hostility in "The Remembered Earth".

This surfaces even in Silko's contributions. In an essay "An Old-Time Indian Attack" which addresses white writers who presume to use an Indian viewpoint, Silko writes: "at best, the Anglo-American is a guest on this continent; and at worst, the United States of America is founded upon stolen land."

This book was originally published in 1978 by Red Earth Press of Albuquerque. The present edition is essentially the same, except for the exclusion of the poet Dwayne Niatum. Indian writers from all over the nation are represented, but most of them come from the Southwest. (Hobson actually classifies Oklahoma as part of the Southeast).

The reason for much of the anger seems to be that most of the work was collected in the early 1970's, a period of intense activism among Indians. Much of the poetry is concerned with self-definition, and as the title indicates, with remembrance of the land.

"We are the land," writes the Laguna poet Paula Gunn Allen. "To the best of my understanding, that is the fundamental idea imbedded in Native American life and culture in the Southwest. More than remembered, the Earth is the mind of the people as we are the mind of the Earth... it is this primary point that is made in the fiction and poetry of the Native American writers of the Southwest."

Since the Indians' relationship to the land is religious, and since much of this book involves a redefinition of that relationship, much of the non-fiction talks of the land in a general sense. In the words of a traditional poem, "The wind and the thunder/ They are the same everywhere/ What does it matter, then/ If I die here in a strange land."

But in the fiction, the Indian writers represented here show a sensitivity to the rhythms of nature and their effect of humans that is rarely equalled in American literature. In this sense, Silko and the Kiowa novelist N. Scott Momaday are without peer.

A Southwestern novelist squarely outside either the Indian, Hispanic or cowboy literary traditions is Edward Abbey. Best known for his books "Desert Solitaire" and "Monkey Wrench Gang", Abbey's is a solitary voice crying in the wilderness about the destructiveness of technological "progress." He uses slapstick humor and fantasies about destroying symbols of progress such as dams to underscore his point.

So it's a surprise to find in "Black Sun" a sensual, bittersweet love story.

"Like most honest novels, it is partly autobiographical; mostly invention, and entirely true. I wrote this book in four weeks, hacking away on a borrowed typewriter, at night, after work, in a strange place in summer," he says in the preface.

The novel concerns a love affair between a "fire lookout" near the Grand Canyon and an "American Princess." Abbey writes about both love and the beauties of the Southwest with a lyricism not often present in his more famous works.

"Black Sun" was originally published by Simon and Schuster in 1971, and was reprinted, with a new introduction by the author, by Capra Press this summer.

Note: "The Remembered Earth", "Storyteller" and "Southwestern Fiction" are available at Aspen Tree Books.

A-A Derby trials Friday

A total of 114 three-year-olds will compete in Friday's 12 trial races for the $1 million All-American Derby at Ruidoso Downs.

There will be six races with nine horses and six heats with 10 horses seeking spots in the August 30 finale. The winner of that 440 yard dash will earn $360,000 while the others will collect healthy checks including $34,000 for a last place finish.

The Derby consolation will be run on August 28 with the winner earning $30,000 from the purse of $145,000.

The All-American Derby is the third and final leg of the Triple Crown for three-year-old quarter horses. The $1 million purse makes it the country's richest race for three-year-old quarter horses.

Both winners of the first two Triple Crown events are entered.

Easily Smashed, who annexed the $24,740 Kansas Derby on May 24, will face nine foes in Friday's second trial race. Higheasterjet, who captured the $596,890 Rainbow Derby on July 5, will meet eight opponents in the fourth race.

Easily Smashed has won five of six races this season with one third. His third came in the Rainbow Derby, when he experienced traffic problems leaving the gate, yet was beaten only a half-length.

The Easy Jet colt has earned $132,849 this season for owners Carol Childs, William F. Leach and Sue May of Ft. Stockton, Texas.

Trained by Leach, he will be ridden by regular rider Jacky Martin.

Higheasterjet won last season's $1,280,000 All-American Futurity and ranks fifth on this season's quarter horse money winners with $212,027.

The Pine's Easter Jet gelding is undefeated in three starts this season for owner G. D. Highsmith, Trainer Johnnie Goodman and jockey W. R. Hunt.

Higheasterjet ranks fourth on the all-time list of quarter horse money winners with career earnings of $658,282. He's won 7 of 11 career appearances and ranks as one of the standouts in quarter horse history.

Other prominent entrants in Friday's trials include Jet View, who has earned more than $130,000 this season, in the first heat; Rule The Deck, who has earned berths in the World's Championship Classic and Rainbow Derby, in the second race; Luck's Gay Chic, who was a close second in the World's Championship Classic, in the fourth race, and Baby Hold On, one of the area's swiftest fillies, in the eighth.

The 10 fastest entrants earn All-American Derby positions. The next 10 fastest runners gain entrance to the Consolation.

Racing continues Saturday with trial races for the Ruidoso Thoroughbred Futurity. The chases for two-year-olds will be at six furlongs.

The Futurity, the richest race at Ruidoso Downs for thoroughbreds, will be run on September 6. The purse is an estimated $125,000.

Sunday's highlight will be the Ruidoso Thoroughbred Derby at one mile. The winner will collect $11,284 from the total purse of $22,569.

Post time for each day's 12-race program will be 1 p.m.

Thoroughbred Derby Sunday

BY MARK GORDON

Glover D. and Fill Mackis Cup, disappointments in last Saturday's trial races, are seeking revenge when they meet eight foes in Sunday's Ruidoso Thoroughbred Derby at Ruidoso Downs.

The mile event has a purse of $22,569 with the winner earning $11,284. The race is restricted to three-year-olds.

In last Saturday's two trial heats, horses needed only to finish among the top five to earn a berth in the Derby. Glover D. finished fourth in the second trial and Fill Mackis Cup was third in the first event. Still, they are clearly the two overwhelming favorites.

Glover D. has been the dominating three-year-old this season at Ruidoso Downs.

The Valid Appeal gelding has won five races this year at Ruidoso Downs with one second. Among his victories were the Memorial Day Handicap, the Aspen Stakes and three allowance races.

Glover D. finished second in the Peter Hurd Handicap to Mr. Powder River while carrying the season's heaviest impost of 127 pounds.

Before arriving at Ruidoso Downs, Glover D. won two allowance races with one second at Oaklawn Park in Hot Springs, Arkansas.

Overall this season, Glover D. has seven triumphs with four seconds in 14 outings. He's earned $65,533 for owner Jay C. Childers-of-Borger, Texas.

Trained by J. Doyal Roberts, he has been ridden throughout the summer by Richard Bleckel.

Although he has finished behind Glover D. on three occasions this summer, Fill Mackis Cup has still accumulated an impressive record.

The Halse A Native gelding has four wins, including an easy four length tally in the Norgor Derby over six furlongs on June 27. Following that effort, he went to La Mesa Park in Raton, to compete in the Land of Enchantment Derby, the feature event for three-year-olds at the northern New Mexico track.

After a six and one-half length win in a trial race, he ran fifth in the Derby, unable to handle the sloppy going.

But he has twice been a threat to Glover D. He ran second, beaten one length, in the Memorial Day Handicap at six furlongs and was second, just one and one-fourth lengths back in a seven furlong allowance chase on August 8.

Overall this season, Fill Mackis Cup has four triumphs with two seconds and one third in nine appearances. He's collected $31,113 for owner Mack Yates of Cherokee, Texas.

The two trial race winners also merit consideration.

Esposo De Raja made a bold move through the stretch to post a one and one-fourth length win in the first division race, under a fine ride by Don Howard.

The Raja Baba colt has two wins with one second in nine outings this year. He's earned $3,156 for Louis Brooks of Sweetwater, Texas. His trainer is Clifford Lambert.

Round Table Top, a lightly-raced Secondary Market colt, scored a one length verdict in the second trial race.

He's only raced four times in his career, compiling two wins. Round Table Top has earned $3,004 for owner Herbert L. Turner of Winston Salem, North Carolina.

Here's the lineup for the Ruidoso Thoroughbred Derby with finishes in the trial races: Esposo De Raja (first in first division); Special Belle (second in first division); Fill Mackis Cup (third in first division); Clinkinman (fourth in first division); Arrow Missile (fifth in first division); Round Table Top (first in second division); Dark Castle (second in second division); Dragon's Lady (third in second division); Glover D. (fourth in second division) and Reddy Rampart (fifth in second division).

The Ruidoso Thoroughbred Derby will be the 10th race on a 12-race program. Post time will be the usual 1 p.m.

DERBY OUTSIDERS — Round Table Top (left) and Esposo De Raja (right) haven't accomplished much this year, but the two suddenly loom as key outsiders in the $22,569 Ruidoso Downs Thoroughbred Derby on Sunday. In last week's trials, under sloppy conditions, the two banged out surprise wins over the mile course. Round Table Top scored a length win under Joe Martinez. Esposo De Raja made a bold move through the stretch to win by one and one fourth lengths.

Inside The Capitol

by Fred McCaffrey

SANTA FE — Most major news stories are fraught with emotion.

To get to the essence, you have to pare away that blah-and-boorah and look only at facts.

For example: If you have taken an oath not to strike against the government of the United States, you shouldn't strike against the government of the United States, even if you happen to be a put-upon air-traffic controller.

Isn't that more or less what that situation is all about?

Even the big stories — the kind which will affect the world for years to come — can be treated in that manner, by paring them down to their essences.

That's what Dr. Donald Kerr, honcho at Los Alamos National Laboratories, tried to do with the story of the neutron bomb here in Santa Fe last week.

What follows is not to be taken as plea for that peculiar manner of killing people. It is only an effort to transcribe what a dispassionate scientist says dispassionately.

And, as prelude and postlude, there are the words of Norris Bradbury, Kerr's predecessor as boss at Los Alamos: "We work on nuclear weapons to buy time for the statesmen to make them unnecessary."

The bomb we are now assembling (the parts had all been produced while J. Carter was our president) is a suppressed-yield device. That means it is a bomb of the kind with which the world has become acquainted, except that the prompt radiation it produces is enhanced, and the blast and thermal effects are held down.

Our decision to assemble it is based on these facts: The Soviets have in the last few years deployed in Europe 40,000 to 50,000 new tanks, leaving us and our NATO allies at a disadvantage of four or five for them to one for us.

The economy of our combined nations cannot stand the rush to parity — that is, one tank of ours for every one of theirs.

What we do have, however, is technological power — the knowledge of how to achieve parity by deploying a certain and drastic kind of weapon.

That weapon is the neutron bomb.

So, by the act of announcing that it will be assembled in the United States and can be in Europe in a matter of hours, we have achieved in one swoop a balance with the Russians' tanks.

Their reaction, in Pravda and other places, makes it clear they know this is so.

Can such a stand-off — their tanks on one side and our neutron bomb on the other — profit the world?

Well, it is a stand-off — the Soviets' atomic and hydrogen bombs on one side and ours on another — which appears to have spared the nations of a world from a major conflict in which we would all be destroyed for the last 36 years.

Not a pleasant prospect — but, as Don Kerr presents it, a pretty realistic one: the war-making capacities of the world stripped down to their essences and facing one another eyeball to eyeball.

What we seem to lack, if that quote from Norris Bradbury up above means anything, is statesmen.

While our technical people are facing the technical people of the potential enemy, where are those who will wheel and deal until all our bombs become unnecessary?

Technology? We have that; they have that.

Wisdom? That seems to be in short supply.

If you want to say a prayer tonight, that might not be a bad thing to ask for.

Letters to the Editor

Dear editor:

The staff of the Ruidoso Hondo Valley Hospital would like to express sincere appreciation to the citizens of this community, as well as to race track visitors, for their overwhelming response of the urgent and critical request for blood donors on August 8, 1981.

We would especially like to thank those individuals who came to the rescue by donating "the gift of life". Special thanks also need to be extended to Dr. Don Simms, the track physician, Marianne Atchison, the track nurse, and all the staff at the track who helped locate potential donors. Additional thanks go the KRRR radio station and to Cablevision for making public announcements on our behalf. Our appreciation is most sincerely extended to any others who may have assisted in ways that have not been brought to our attention.

The compassionate concern expressed by so many members of the community of Ruidoso that weekend saved the life of one of our patients. Our hospital's day-to-day goal is to save lives. We need, welcome, and sincerely acknowledge the help and support of this wonderful community. Our best wishes for good health are extended to all, and thanks again for your continued backing over the last years.

OIL RESERVE — PLUS

Any inclination to poo-poo Frank Zarb's forecast of $18-a-gallon gasoline by the turn of the century comes up against his earlier success with the crystal ball. The opinion of one who said in the mid-'70s that gas would hit a dollar a gallon by 1980 must be heard with some respect.

Zarb, a New York investment banker who was federal energy administrator under Nixon and Ford, did not merely sound the alarm. He urged the government to get ready by pushing harder to create an adequate strategic oil reserve, to be paid for with a surcharge on gasoline at the pump.

Probably this would be sensible. But stockpiling would, at best, simply put off the evil day. The situation requires a more complex response.

In addition to maintaining an oil reserve, the United States ought to undertake a many-faceted program which would involve both intensive conservation efforts and the vigorous development of alternative energy sources. A big oil reserve, however necessary, is only a partial answer to the problems we face. — Alamogordo Daily News

POLAND AND POPE

The suspicion is being voiced by some in Washington, including some political columnists, that the shooting of the pope must have had, in some way, its genesis in the communist intelligence world.

There is no evidence to prove this, just as there was little to indicate that the shooting of the two Kennedys had anything to do with communist intrigue and plotting.

Yet the pope's visit to Poland fueled the fires of opposition to the Communist Party there, and greatly strengthened Solidary — a movement reportedly composed mostly of church-goers. The pope was doing more to combat the one-party regime in Poland than any other one man. He was the perfect target for anyone who felt the party threatened by events in Poland.

The same thing can be said about the attempted assassination of Ronald Reagan. Here was a man preparing to greatly strengthen United States defenses. He was likely to be president for eight years and he was a strong anti-communist leader with great popular appeal.

Yet there is no evidence to link the Communist Party with the young American who shot the president whatsoever. Thus jumping to conclusions could be very misleading but the suspicion is there, especially concerning the pope. That is all it is at the moment, suspicion. — The News, Santa Rosa

The village trustees are considering a proposal, by Boyle Engineering, to spend $16 million over a period of years to improve Ruidoso's water supply.

In addition to treatment, pumping and transmission facilities, the project would include increasing the capacity of Alto Reservoir and construction of a 1,000 acre foot dam in Grindstone Canyon.

This plan would provide water to Black Forest, Kingswood Reservoir, Skyland and Gateway, and drastically reduce the present demands being made on Alto Reservoir and the new treatment plant there.

This means that there would be more treated water available in those areas now served by Alto Reservoir. The new system would also utilize Hollywood Well water more effectively than without it.

The methods of financing this project would involve the issuance of General Obligation as well as Revenue bonds. Under this type of bonding, the burden on tax payers would be less and the users of water would be paying on an equitable basis. This, it seems, is fair to everyone.

We commend the trustees for appropriating $19,000 for core drilling in Grindstone Canyon, to determine if it's feasible to build a dam there, and we wish to give them every encouragement to proceed with the plans to provide the water Ruidoso is going to need in the future. — CD

House too hot?

Lower bills, stay cool... Here's how!

Summer heat making your house unbearable? You can keep your house cool, and still have reasonable electric bills, by taking a few steps to make your home energy efficient. First, make sure you have enough insulation in your attic, by meeting the R-value requirements for your area. Next, seal all cracks around doors and windows with caulking and weatherstripping. Keep your air conditioning thermostat setting at 78 degrees, using fans to circulate air. Clean or change your air conditioning filter once a month. Lower bills, stay cool . . .

with wise energy management.

BANKS, BROOKS BOOBOO

How it was possible for me to write: Banks and have it come out Brooks, must've been easy . . . 'cause that's what happened when The News reported that Mrs. George Banks, 101 Eagle Drive, appeared before the Ruidoso trustees at their last meeting . . . a real booboo.

Seems Mrs. George Brooks read where she'd been at that meeting . . . complaining about a situation that was unsightly to her . . . and 'tweren't she . . . but 'twas Mrs. George Banks as was complaining.

Mrs. Banks has a view of the Go Cart track . . . whatever . . . operated below her residence . . . and it's a view she's taking a dim view of . . . and she was after the village duds to see if something could be done to improve her view . . . 'cause from her point of view . . . a vantage point above the view she doesn't like . . . she figures the operator should maybe do something about it . . . that's her view.

Thus is explained the booboo . . . getting Brooks instead of Banks . . . which anyone knows is no connection . . . and it wasn't the banks of babbling brooks as was being talked about . . . so hope this clears up the mistake.

VOTER PARTY PLANNED

I don't have any details yet . . . but there's a move afoot to hold a big voter registration party . . . picnic . . . right here in Harmony Valley . . . September 28 . . . which should be a relatively quiet Saturday . . . exceptin' for where the picnic's taking place.

'Guess there's gonna be horseshoe games . . . and other activities . . . and refreshments . . . the whole nine yards . . . purpose being to get Ruidoso's eligible voters registered to go vote . . . which makes sense.

Part of this plan is to get every voter registered . . . so there can be a real voter turnout next March . . . when it comes time to elect a mayor . . . and two trustees . . . with the picnic planners figuring the more voters as can vote in that village election . . . the more as will probably go to the polls . . . with another thought being, that the more people vote, the more the will of the people'll be expressed. Which, when you ponder on it, do seem to make considerable sense.

Ergo, why not have a picnic when you register to vote?

CONFERENCE CENTER SET

The Mescalero Apache Tribe, by jinkles, is up and gonna provide a convention center at their posh Inn of the Mountain Gods . . . and it's gonna have accommodations for 600 convention delegates . . . including a banquet kitchen . . . so they can enjoy sustenance to fortify them for the rigors of long convention proceedings.

If I got my figures correct . . . and according to Congressman Joe Skeen, who provided them . . . seems the tribe has been awarded a $31,300 public works grant . . . bringing total funding through the Economic Development Administration of the United States Department of Commerce to $3,401,300 . . . and that's getting so close to $3.5 million that the facility should turn out to be an excellent one.

Don't know when the tribe figures on having this center open . . . but it'll solve finding a place where 600 can convene . . . with a big, cool lake right handy in case some of those convening get all hot and bothered . . . and gets told to go jump in the lake.

And now that accommodations for 600 is forthcoming . . . those as is thinking along the lines of meeting facilities for one, two, three thousand . . . or more . . . can keep on with the planning . . . and why not?

LOTS OF CARS

Since weren't many speeding tickets handed out on Sudderth from 10 a.m., to 12:30 p.m., Saturday and Sunday . . . 'cause there were so many cars on the street there weren't no way anyone could get up over 10 miles per hour . . . which did tend, also, to reduce the tendency to rush into fender benders.

Why the traffic was so heavy that it took Shakey Pete more'n 30 minutes to wend his way from the side of the street he was on to finally gain access to his favorite ice tea parlor across the street . . . a record that Shakey's hoping don't get broken over the Labor Day weekend.

But Shakey took it in stride . . . even said his tea was much better quaffing so much later than it'd have been sooner.

BRIEF BIT: Maybe the unemployed air controllers can get out from under this country by getting jobs in countries favoring them . . . CD

Jockey/Trainer of the week

BY MARK GORDON
Jacky Martin and Johnie Goodman, off impressive showings in the All-American Futurity trials, have earned jockey and trainer honors for the 15th week of horse racing at Ruidoso Downs.

Martin, who won five races during Thursday's Futurity elimination trials, rode nine winners over the weekend to further solidify his stranglehold on the top spot in the jockey standings.

He has 55 wins, 33 victories better than runnerup Richard Bickel. Martin also has 55 seconds and 35 shows from his 256 mounts. That's a fine winning percentage of .254.

Bickel has 32 triumphs with 25 seconds and 35 thirds from his 205 riding assignments. That's a winning percentage of .156.

Other top ten riders include W. R. Hunt, Leroy Coombs, Joe Martinez, Willie Lovell, Stuart Dolphus, Steve Harris, Pedro Benitez and Vickie Smallwood.

In the trainer standings, Johnie Goodman has replaced William F. Leach as the leading conditioner.

Goodman saddled four winners during Friday's All-American trial heats, and also sent two winners postward on both Thursday's and Saturday's program to give him eight winners for the weekend.

Goodman also has five seconds and seven thirds from his 99 mounts. His winning percentage is an excellent .323.

Leach, who has been the leader for most of the season, dropped to second with 31 victories, 18 seconds and 14 thirds from 180 mounts. His winning percentage is .183.

Other top ten trainers include Jack Brooks, J. Doyal Roberts, Bob Arnett, Clifford Lambert, Harold E. Nolen, Gerald Marr, C. Dwayne Gilbreath and Marilyn Asmussen.

Only three weekends remain in this season's 70 day campaign.

Racing resumes today with 12 races. The feature will be a six furlong dash for three-year-olds running for a $10,000 claiming price.

Friday's highlights include trial races for the All-American Derby, which has an estimated purse of $1 million. The 10 fastest qualifiers from the trial heats will earn berths in the country's richest race for three-year-old quarter horses.

The Derby, the final leg of the Triple Crown for three-year-olds, will be run August 30 at 440 yards.

The Ruidoso Thoroughbred Futurity, with an estimated purse of $125,000, will be contested September 6.

Sunday's feature event will be the Ruidoso Thoroughbred Derby at one mile. Glover D. and Fill Mackis Cup top the field seeking a purse of $22,558. The winner will earn $11,284.

A-A Quarter Horse Yearling Sale could break all existing records

BY DICK ALWAN

Over the past month, workers have been erecting long rows of barns in the sloping hillside above the backstretch at Ruidoso Downs.

If you didn't know what was going on, you'd think a bivouac area was being assembled for weekend maneuvers of the local National Guard. The area certainly suggests a military campground.

But this activity is the ground work for the All-American Quarter Horse Yearling Sale, a kind of industry showplace and outdoor bazaar. The best and near-best among yearlings tend to keep company in those temporary stalls.

The All-American Sale is the best, the biggest, the most imposing assembly of quarter horse yearlings. It's become an industry focal point. You can stamp yourself as a sportsman, a horse connoisseur, a person of fine taste — simply by picking up a sale catalogue and carrying it about. A notebook and pencil enhance the image.

But there's no substitute for penciled notations on key pages throughout the book. Obviously, an annotated catalogue implies you know what you're doing. Which is far from the case, so far as this writer is concerned. But like everyone else in these parts, this reporter will have a catalogue in hand, and will be prepared to discuss the breeding of this one and that when the sale gets underway at 10 a.m., on Monday, August 31. (Sessions also begin at 10 a.m., on Tuesday-Wednesday, September 1-2, and at 7 p.m., on Thursday, September 3. That Thursday session is a new wrinkle, since a record number of yearlings — 964 — was entered in the sale.)

The scope of the All-American Sale has been expanding in remarkable style. In the first edition in 1962, 68 head were sold for $212,950, producing an average price of $3,132. Last year, 742 yearlings changed hands for $11,023,300, or an average price of $14,860.

This year, the sale is so big the catalogue has been expanded to two volumes.

Given the current skyward trend of yearlings and racehorses in general, it's not going off the deep end to project this year's sale-topping price at around $400,000. (Last year, it was $277,000.) Even with so many head entered, this reporter feels an average price of about $20,000 is likely.

So what about the yearlings themselves? Which will the buyers be bickering over? This writer doesn't mean to tout anybody on a yearling — since he has a hard enough time doping out a 3-6 shot — but the following are some of his favorites:

No. 892. A filly called Lear Twenty Five. She's a possible sale topper. She's by the super stallion, Easy Jet, and she's out of the thoroughbred mare, Find A Buyer. The compelling point is the fact Find A Buyer is the mare who gave the world Dash For Cash, a five star champ on the track and now a stallion who occupies hallowed ground in the minds of most buyers. So color Lear Twenty Five red and give her five carefully scribbled pencil checks.

No. 828. A filly called Diamonds On Ice, she's by Dash For Cash. Even better, she's out of Dee Mount, which makes her a half sister to Dashing. The latter has earned over $425,000 so far, thanks mainly to her win in the recent $1,075,000 Skoal Dash For Cash Futurity on the West Coast.

We might as well inject a key point in this writer's breeding theory: the mare counts more heavily than the stallion — with the ratio being something like three-to-one. So when you have a mare who sports top breeding, or has won in stakes competition, these are signals which shine brightly.

No. 804. This is an unnamed filly by Easy Jet out of Craigs Love. Astute students of breeding will be attracted to Craigs Love, whose speed exploits include the world record for four and a half furlongs. Also: she was an iron-legged runner who raced nearly 100 times in her career. Although she hasn't produced a stakes winner as of yet, she's come up with a string of money makers. Another key point: she passed muster and is to be bred to the great national champ, Secretariat (according to our sources).

No. 814. King Of The Dance. This is a sorrel colt by Dash For Cash out of Queen's Queen. Key point: Dancer's Queen previously produced Queen For Cash, a winner of $116,029. This one ought to suit a lot of buyers.

No. 41. St. Vespero, a colt by St. Bar out of I Think So, a breeding combination which packs firewater. Previously, I Think So produced Vespero, who's made some $400,000, and has been tearing them up in California.

No. 720. The colt, Insuborta Pass, is by Insubordination (a thoroughbred stakes winner of $382,515). Even better, perhaps, is his mama, Biffy Pass, who won Ruidoso's Rainbow Derby in 1978 while en route to career earnings of $269,374.

No. 304. A colt by Easy Jet out of More Mink, this one is called Uncorked. Easy Jet needs no endorsement. A key point: Uncorked's mama is More Mink, and More Mink produced the superb filly, Mink And Wine, a multi-stakes winner who finished second in Sunland Park's high gloss Riley Allison Thoroughbred Futurity. The maternal line on Uncorked is well sprinkled with "black type" (sale catalogue lingo meaning "stakes winner").

No. 844. This brown colt, fathered by Rocket Wrangler and carried by Donna My Dear, is named Summer Stock. Rocket Wrangler has two significant deeds: he won the All-American Futurity and he sired Dash For Cash. Donna My Dear is a thoroughbred who raced with moderate distinction in the Southwest.

No. 701. Baby Barbs Bug. She's a half sister to two current top-of-the-heap two-year-olds at Ruidoso: Dr. Depot and Mitos Money Maker.

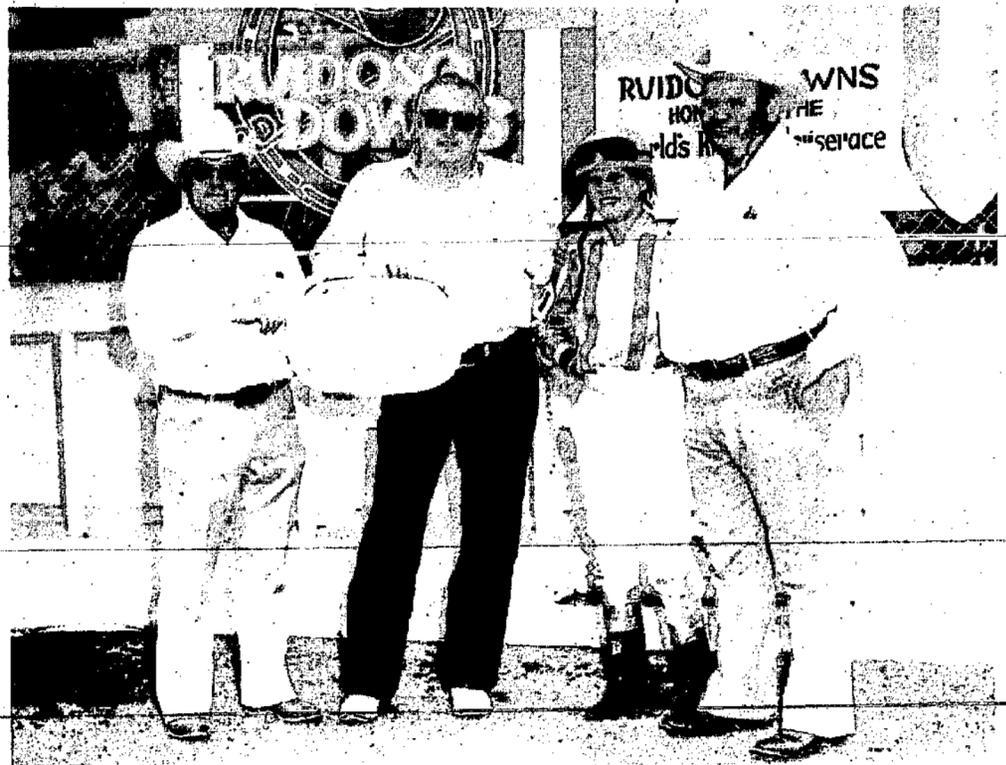

No. 667. Lucks Gay Wrangler. This colt is by What Luck, and has solid pedigree connections with Lucks Gay Chick, a front row colt now at Ruidoso, and the brilliant runner of 1974, Tiny's Gay.

No. 837. Easter Chicklet. This filly is by Easy Jet out of Diamond Chicklet, and the latter piled up winnings of $152,857. A filly with the same breeding went for $105,000 in last year's sale.

No. 349. This unnamed filly by Ichibon out of Orphan Song was consigned by the country western singer, Jody Miller. The filly is a full sister to Song Of My Heart, who earned $123,636.

No. 675. Miss Afore Jet. She's out of Afore Te, and Afore Te is a sister to the All-American winner Hot Idea.

Anyway, all this is only a cross-section of the horses lured into the All-American Sale. There are many other potential big-sellers. They're easy to find. All you have to do is start thumbing through the thousand or so pages in the All-American catalogue.

Johnny Rodriguez at State Fair

One of the most popular stars ever to headline the New Mexico State Fair is coming back again this year.

Johnny Rodriguez, the first Hispanic to hit it big in country music, will be in the spotlight at the Tingley Coliseum All-Star Rodeo the first weekend, Saturday and Sunday, September 19-21.

Johnny, who won't be 30 years old until December, achieved his first major record success at age 21 with the hit single "Pass Me By". That was followed by a string of single disks that each jumped into the Number One spot on the charts.

Over the past ten years, he's recorded more than dozen albums and some 25 top singles.

Rodriguez, a native of Sabinal, Texas — State Fair art entry deadline August 29

New Mexico State Fair officials today issued a reminder to the state's artists that the deadline for entering this year's competition is coming up shortly.

The fair's Fine Arts Gallery will be open to receive entries on Friday, August 28, and Saturday, August 29. Entries for both the professional and amateur shows close at 5 p.m., on August 29.

Curt Walters of Sedona, Arizona, is one of ten children of a working family — was early influenced by a combination of Mexican, country and rock music. He put his first band together at the age of 18 and at age 20 headed for Nashville.

His music is a blend of all those strains and makes him a very popular performer.

total of the show this year which has a judge of the offering of $875.

The show is limited to residents of New Mexico who are 18 years of age or older. Each artist is limited to two works.

The show is juried.

Further details and entry forms for all competitions at the New Mexico State Fair may be obtained from the fair's Entry Office, which is open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m., to 5 p.m.

Ruidoso Downs Hoofbeats

BY MARK GORDON

A HALF INTEREST in the outstanding three-year-old Bold Ego has been purchased by Dan and Jolene Urschel of Canadian, Texas. The other half-interest in the New Mexico-bred remains with J. D. Barton and Dr. Joe Kidd of El Paso, Texas. According to Carlos Salazar of the Albuquerque Tribune, the plan is to race Bold Ego this year and next year and then retire him to stand at stud at the Urschel's ranch. The Urschels also have the 1979 All-American Futurity winner Pie In The Sky standing at their ranch. Bold Ego, winner of the 1980 Riley Allison Futurity at Sunland Park, has a career record of 10 victories with one second and one third in 15 outings. His career winnings stand at $422,626. Bold Ego's finest performance this year may have been a strong second to Pleasant Colony in the Preakness Stakes, the middle jewel of the Triple Crown. Bold Ego is now at the Meadowslands preparing for three sprint stakes at Belmont Park later this fall.

SPECIAL EFFORT, the top two-year-old quarter horse thus far in the Ruidoso Downs season, drew the heaviest fan support this summer at the mutual windows during Thursday's elimination races for the All-American Futurity. A total of $62,363 was wagered on the Kansas and Rainbow Futurity winner causing minus points in the win, place and show divisions. The $5,758 bet to win on Special Effort from the total win pool of $7,356 caused a minus pool of $355.42. The $8,165 bet to place on Special Effort of the total pool of $8,645 caused a minus pool of $287.83. The show pool of $50,460 on Special Effort from the total pool of $55,166 created a minus show pool of $11,744.02. Special Effort, as expected, sped to a five and three fourth length victory in his elimination heat.

WAGERING on Saturday's Big Q set a seasonal high. The total finished up at $92,634. The previous high was set at $79,766 on Saturday, July 4. Other hefty big Q pools this season: $75,500 on Saturday, August 1; $75,168 on Sunday, July 5; $73,140 on Sunday, July 26.

ICHI JO, a promising two-year-old Ichibon colt, broke down after winning his elimination heat during Thursday's All-American Futurity trials. Ichi Jo had earned more than $146,000 this season while winning three races with one second and two thirds in eight outings. His biggest triumph was a nose decision in the prestigious Bay Meadows Futurity in early May at the San Francisco-area track. The colt had to be destroyed.

FANS WHO ATTENDED Thursday's program had an opportunity to have this season's smallest and largest quiniela payoffs. The combination of The Heat Is On and Dashing in the 14th race produced a paltry payoff of $2.40. The combination of True Selector and Scarlet Wrangler in the 17th race produced a $923.80 payoff.

JOCKEY JACKY MARTIN, who holds a commanding lead in the Ruidoso Downs jockey standings, tallied five victories on Thursday's card. He won aboard Greybon ($2.40) in the third, Texas Viking ($4.00) in the eighth, The Heat Is On ($4.00) in the 14th, Summer Encounter ($2.80) in the 16th and Mighty Thought ($3.60) in the 20th.

OWNER L. V. BELL of Wichita, Kansas, and trainer Paul L. Walters combined to win both ends of Friday's daily double races. Jerry Burgess rode Overide ($28.50) in the first event while Harley Crosby guided Classy Native ($32.50) in the second race. It was the first time this season a trainer and owner combined for both halves of the daily double.

TRAINER Johnie Goodman and jockey W. R. Hunt teamed to win four races during Friday's All-American Futurity elimination trail races. They won with Seventy One South ($2.80) in the third, Sams Irish Rebel ($10.00) in the 16th, Crash Pad ($5.00) in the 18th and with French Jeans ($3.60) in the 20th.

IN STEWARDS' RULINGS:

The horse, Sandy Igazi, who finished second in the fourth race on June 26, has been disqualified from all purse monies due to a positive test. The purse is redistributed as follows: 1st — Western Skies; 2nd — Pototsi Tom; 3rd — Littlebitoflaw; 4th — Bet On Red; 5th — Foggy Fate; 6th — South's Pride.

The horse, Easy Jed, winner of the 15th race on July 3, has been disqualified from all purse monies due to a positive test. The purse is redistributed as follows: 1st — Easy Follow; 2nd — Mighty Creek Deck; 3rd — No Novalty; 4th — Miasie Powered; 5th — Nobodys Holme; 6th — Catch Me Folks.

Jockey Keith Asmussen has been suspended three racing days (August 21-23) for careless riding while astride his mount, Native Crystal, resulting in disqualification from fifth to seventh during the 14th race on August 14.

Jockey John Baca has been suspended three racing days (August 21-23) for careless riding while astride his mount, Royal Pinjara, resulting in disqualification from first to third during the 12th race on August 15.

Jockey Rudy Bustamante was fined $100 for failure to have control of his mount, Little Glass Oak, away from the starting gate resulting in being disqualified from fifth and placed eighth during the ninth race on August 14.

Trainers Johnie Goodman, Elmer L. Little, Charles W. Lyles, Douglas L. McMullen, William E. Masler and Blaine Schvanessakt were each fined $50 for entering a horse without an owners' license being registered with the New Mexico Racing Commission.

THANKS TO EXPANDED 22-race programs on Thursday and Friday, plus Saturday's booming handle of $852,157, the handle over the weekend averaged a thumping $783,041. (The total for the four days topped $3 million.)

State Fair Queen runnerup last year contesting again

A girl who came close to winning the title of New Mexico State Fair Queen last fall is trying again this year — and she's the first candidate to enter the competition. Arlene Iglio of Alameda was named first attendant to queen Debby Madera at the crowning at the end of the 1980 exposition last September.

Representing Bernalillo County, the 18-year-old Arlene is a 1981 graduate of Cibola High School. She's now a freshman studying business administration at Albuquerque's Technical Vocational Institute.

The daughter of Anthony and Arlene Iglio of (10042 Los Cansados Road) Alameda, the brown-eyed and brown-haired contestant is sponsored by the Bernalillo County Sheriff's Office.

She's active in a number of horse organizations and was named to Who's Who Among American High School Students.

Arlene has been rodeoing for the past four years and rides a quarter horse named "Talk About Luck".

Candidates for New Mexico State Fair Queen must be single girls between the ages of 16 and 21, and permanent residents of the county they represent.

Contenders are judged 60 percent on horsemanship and 40 percent on personality, in a series of competitions during the annual exposition.

The new queen, who'll succeed Debby Madera of Jal, will be crowned in ceremonies planned just prior to the start of the All-Star Rodeo Finals in Tingley Coliseum on Saturday night, September 26.

Deadline for entries in the 1981 queen contest is Wednesday, September 16.

July killings unsolved

Walking alone under the stars can be a beautiful experience.

But, it can also be fatal. Leo Jim had been at a party at the home of some relatives near Shiprock early in the evening of July 24. No one is quite sure when the 58-year-old Jim left the party, but at about 1:45 a.m., shots were heard about a half mile from where the party was still going on. A vehicle was seen leaving the area, but in the darkness no description could be given. When police arrived at the scene, they found Leo Jim's body, and the bodies of two young Indian women. All had been shot with a large-caliber handgun. Grace Williams, 17 years old, of Canyoncito, and Evelyn Johnson, 14, of Crystal, were friends, and had been seen together in Gallup early that same evening, a Friday night. Police have not yet determined how the girls arrived at the location just southwest of Shiprock, or the reason for their deaths. They do speculate, however, that Leo Jim may have wandered onto the scene, and by doing so, became a victim himself.

This week, the State Crime Stoppers Commission is offering $1,000 for information leading to arrest and indictment of the person or persons responsible for this crime. San Juan County Crime Stoppers is also offering a substantial reward in this case. Anyone having information should call the State Crime Stoppers Commission at its toll-free number, 1-800-432-6933, or San Juan County Crime Stoppers at 334-2023. Callers do not have to give their names, even to collect the reward.

Auto theft has become more and more of a problem throughout the country, and New Mexico is no exception. Whether it is for joy riding, fraudulent insurance claims, or as a business, the courts are beginning to take a harder stand against auto thieves.

Curry Crime Stoppers are looking for two individuals who took advantage of a moment's carelessness. The owner of a light blue 4-door Mercury Comet, New Mexico license number DRW-900, was only going to be at Cook's Truck Stop for a few minutes. He left the keys in the vehicle and went inside. Witnesses saw two white males get in the car and drive away. One was described as being about 16 years old, with blonde shoulder length hair, wearing a dark shirt and blue jeans. The second offender was about 38 years old, with dark hair, and wearing a light tan shirt. Curry Crime Stoppers is offering a $150 reward for information leading to the arrest of the two offenders in this case. Callers do not have to give their names when calling Crime Stoppers at 763-7000.

In Roswell, three new Ford pickups were stolen at one time from the lot of Durban Ford, 623 North Main Street. Taken in the theft were a silver 1981 Ford F-100, a blue 1981 Ford F-150, and a silver and blue metallic 1981 Ford F-150. None of the vehicles had license plates and were valued at more than $30,000. Roswell Crime Stoppers has posted a $800 reward for information leading to the solution of this crime, and they can be reached at 623-9000.

The State Crime Stoppers Commission also pays cash rewards for information leading to the solution of auto thefts, or the recovery of stolen vehicles. Anyone having this type of information should call the Commission at its toll-free number, 1-800-432-6933.

VA handles vets' headstones

"Although the Veterans Administration (VA) has had jurisdiction over national cemeteries for more than eight years, the Army still receives about 50 requests a week for headstones," said Joe Cordova, Albuquerque VA Regional Office director. The problem appears to center on small funeral homes using outdated Army forms or, in some cases, using proper VA forms but mailing them to the Army address of nearly a decade ago.

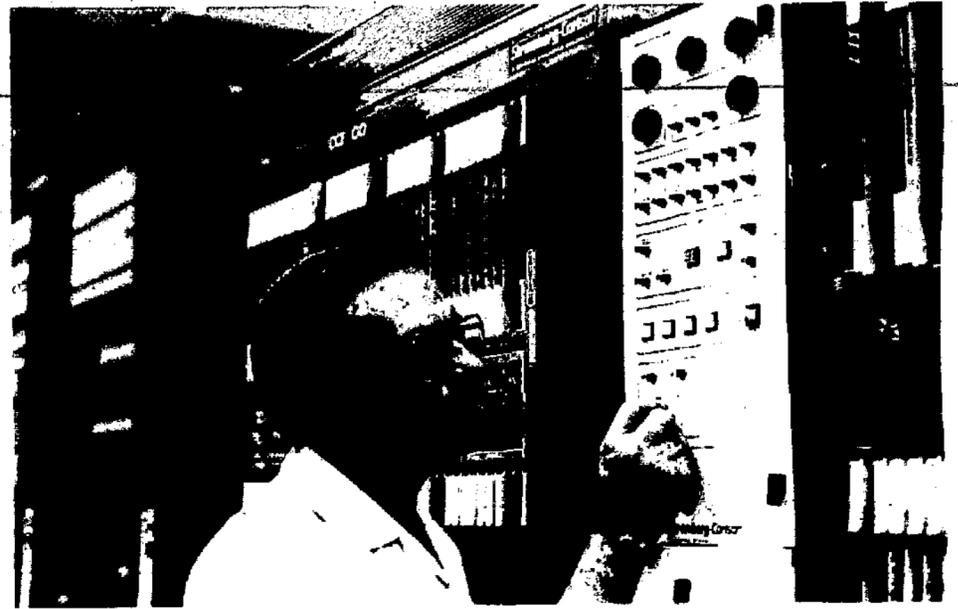

Cordova said all applications for headstones or grave markers should be sent to: Director, Monument Service, Department of Memorial Affairs, Veterans Administration, Washington, D. C. 20420.

A headstone or grave marker is available for any deceased veteran of wartime or peacetime service (other than for training) who was discharged under conditions other than dishonorable and is buried in a private cemetery.

Further information is available by telephoning the Albuquerque VA Regional Office toll free 474-3861 in the Albuquerque area and 1-800-432-6933 elsewhere in New Mexico.

CLOUDS HUNG ABOVE the mountains near Alamogordo, and clung to the valley floor, a scene captured by News photographer Greg Stephens one recent, dreary, day.

Network Systems Technician George Sisson checks out Continental Telephone's new digital electronic switch in Ruidoso.

$800,000 problem solver

THE PROBLEM

Because of unprecedented population growth in the Ruidoso area, the demand for telephone records has broken all historical records. More people have been asking for more kinds of services from Continental Telephone than ever before.

THE SOLUTION

As a first step in solving the problem, we've invested $500,000 in a new Stromberg Carlson digital electronic switch. It's housed in a new building in the White Mountain Drive area. Total cost of the project, including related cable, lines and other equipment, is more than $800,000.

BENEFITS FOR YOU

Nearly 500 Ruidoso area telephone customers gained access to the new equipment on August 15. If you're one of those customers, four new calling services — never before offered in this area — will be available at slight additional monthly cost. The services are call forwarding, call waiting, Touch-Tone calling, and three-way calling.

NEW FEATURES

Call forwarding lets you have your telephone calls forwarded to another telephone when you leave home. Incoming calls are automatically sent to a second number which you select. Call waiting gives you an audible signal when you're on the telephone and another call comes in. You can put the first call on hold and take the second call. When you're finished with the second call, you can go back to the first. Or you can alternate between the two. Touch-tone calling lets you use modern, speed telephone equipment to place calls by touching numbered keys instead of dialing. With three-way calling, you can include a third party at another number in an existing two-way conversation.

DIFFERENCES YOU'LL NOTICE

If you're in the area served by the new equipment, you have been assigned a new telephone number with a 258 prefix. Your name and new number are listed in a directory supplement which was mailed to all telephone customers in this area on August 10. You'll notice that your dial tone sounds different.

All customers in this area will notice a difference on calls from one telephone exchange to another. When you dial a number outside your exchange, there is a brief pause followed by pulsing sounds as the new electronic equipment processes your call.

SOUND OF THE FUTURE

Those differences you hear when you call are the sound of tomorrow. Digital electronic switching equipment is a product of the space age. It's based upon solid-state technology. It means a future of faster, more reliable telecommunications for you than ever before.

Lightweight - Smooth

Rounded bottom - No flange

Indented (curved in)

A magnet will not stick to the side of the can.

Many say "all-aluminum" on the can. All have rounded bottoms with no separate bottom piece.

All-aluminum beverage cans are lightweight and smooth to the touch. When they're empty, you can easily crush them with your foot. And when the cans are crushed, you can carry 3 times as many in the same space.

I-n-s-i-d-e the Outdoors

by Gary Dollahan

It was November 18, 1979, two men were riding in their pickup truck along a rough rocky road. Both of the men had their .30-30 repeating rifles loaded and leaning against the seat between them with the muzzles pointing upwards. The men were looking for deer, but instead they found tragedy.

Their truck hit a large rock on the right side of the road, jolting the rifles to the side of the driver and causing his rifle to discharge. The bullet struck the victim in the abdomen and he died two hours later at a hospital. He was 23.

This incident was the most recent hunting fatality that has occurred in New Mexico. And, like most hunting accidents, it could have easily been avoided.

In fact, sad but true, it was truly a "typical" firearm accident. That is, it happened during daylight hours, on a clear day, within three feet, and involved a vehicle.

Let me explain. First, it has been determined that most hunting accidents occur in bright light and sparse cover where vision is not a factor. Second, that carrying a loaded firearm in an automobile causes about 75 percent of the fatal and 28 percent of the non-fatal firearm accidents. Third, that about 84 percent of firearm accident fatalities occur at under ten yards, and of those, about half occur within three feet.

So, these facts should tell us that carelessness is the real issue in most firearm-related accidents.

That reason, and the fact that those persons under 18 years of age are involved in almost fifty percent of all firearm-related accidents, is why New Mexico adopted a Hunter Training program which directs its effort toward the young people.

In New Mexico, it is state law that anyone under 18 years of age must first pass an approved hunter safety course before he can shoot a firearm on his own or hunt with a firearm. Proof of having passed such a course is required by anyone under 18 years of age upon purchase of a New Mexico hunting license.

The New Mexico Hunter Safety Training Course is an excellent one, thanks to the many volunteer instructors that teach the course.

These instructors utilize handbooks, filmstrips, and films to cover such topics as, "Hunting Traditions and Ethics, The Hunter and Conservation, 'You' the Hunter and Safety, Firearms and Ammunition, Fundamentals of Rifle and Shotgun Shooting, and Safe Gun Handling."

Other topics of instruction include archery, survival, basic first aid, black powder and muzzleloading, vision and the hunter, and field care of game.

Even though the program is directed toward the young people, their parents and other interested persons are not only welcome, but are encouraged to attend.

In fact, according to John Davis, New Mexico Game and Fish State Hunter Training Coordinator, the course should be taken by anyone that lives in or works around a firearm environment.

"It's a good course for a family to take together, and it's a help to the nonshooter who lives in a home where firearms are present. It replaces fear, in some such cases, with knowledge and respect," Davis said.

Students wishing to enroll in a Hunter Training class should do so now, by contacting your local Hunter Training instructors, game warden, or Area Office in Roswell.

Presently, 29 of the 50 states have a mandatory Hunter Training Program. All the states have a designated agency responsible for teaching safe hunting methods and promoting important conservation practices.

New Mexico's program has been recognized as being in the "top ten" on a regular basis.

NATURE'S RUGGED BEAUTY awaits the enterprising photographer venturing into Ruidoso's forested slopes.

Samples of public school texts available for public review

Samples of textbooks and other material submitted for state adoption in the subject areas of art, music and mathematics, kindergarten through grade 12, are available for public review at six regional evaluation centers at the following locations: Educational Resource Center, ENMU, Portales; Learning Resources Center, NMHU, Las Vegas; Curriculum Material Center, Library, Branson Hall, NMSU, Las Cruces; Learning Resources Center-Library, San Juan College, Farmington; Tireman Library, College of Education, UNM, Albuquerque; and Curriculum Center, Miller Library, WNMU, Silver City.

Evaluation forms are available at these centers and anyone who wishes to do so may review the material, prepare an evaluation and send it to the Instructional Material Division, State Department of Education, Santa Fe, New Mexico 87503. Any evaluations received prior to September 1 will be turned over to the evaluation advisory committee which will meet the week of September 7 to prepare recommendations for State Board of Education action. Abstracts containing these recommendations will be mailed to local school districts and the regional evaluation centers by September 30.

An open hearing before the Instructional Material Subcommittee of the State Board of Education will be held on October 29. Anyone wishing to speak at that hearing in opposition to or support of a particular book must file a written request with the Instructional Material Division by October 12, giving specific reasons for such a request. Forms for filing will be available in the school districts, regional centers and the Instructional Material Division.

The State Board of Education will meet on November 9 to hear the report of the Instructional Material Subcommittee and adopt books and related material that will be used for the next six years in New Mexico schools.

For additional information, contact: Jean R. Padilla, Director, Instructional Material Division, State Department of Education, Santa Fe, New Mexico 87503, telephone: 827-2875.

Vets' clothing allowance due

Disabled veterans entitled to an annual clothing allowance from the Veterans Administration can expect to receive their checks about September 1, said Joe Cordova, director, Denver VA Regional Office.

The clothing allowance this year is $274.00. Eligible veterans are those who — because of a service-connected disability — wear prosthetic devices or use wheelchairs.

Application deadline for receipt of the 1981 clothing allowance is next August 31.

Cordova stressed. Those veterans who aren't receiving that benefit on a recurring basis must file annually with the VA. Such veterans could include those who recently have established eligibility for the clothing benefit or military retirees who haven't waived their retired pay in order to receive VA compensation.

Those with questions concerning clothing allowance eligibility may telephone the Albuquerque VA Regional Office toll free 474-3361 in the Albuquerque area and 1-800-432-6853 elsewhere in New Mexico.

Forest fire loss small

Forest Service firefighters were expecting a lot of fires this year and they got what they expected. The Forest Service's Southwestern Region announced today that there were 23 percent more fires this year than last year and 15 percent more than the five year average.

Only a few months back all indications pointed to an explosive fire season. "We were in critical condition," said Jim Hickman, Regional Aviation and Fire Management director. "We were short on people and it was the driest it had been in about 30 years."

While the budget for firefighting was not reduced, it was not increased to offset inflation either. The region would have to make do with fewer people and less equipment. And they did — quite nicely.

Hickman said the figures speak for themselves. There were 1,948 fires in Arizona and New Mexico national forests from January to July 31 this year compared to 1,533 last year and an average of 1,672 over the past five years during the same period.

Yet, only 6,301 acres burned this year compared to 37,908 acres last year and an average of 41,158 acres over the past five years. Hickman called it "unbelievable."

Someone did something right. Hickman said the credit belongs to many. "The firefighters were really putting out. They were absolutely killing themselves."

One example of their hard work and dedication, Hickman said, was members of the Southwestern Forest Fire Fighters, or SWFF crews as they are commonly called. "SWFF crews normally work in teams of 20 people. This year we had to break them up into threes and four man crews. They had extra work and they did fine," Hickman said.

The SWFF crews are neither part time nor full time employees, getting paid only for the time they fight fires. Yet, Hickman said, their dedication and performance matched the Forest Service regulars and Hot Shot and Helitack crews, crack teams of experienced firefighters.

"Cooperation also had a lot to do with it," Hickman said. "The states of Arizona and New Mexico, Bureau of Land Management, Bureau of Indian Affairs and National Park Service people played a very important part. We all cooperated to make everything work." The states and federal agencies work together to help each other fight fires, he explained.

Members of the cooperative did most of the fire suppression with little outside help. However, the regular Forest Service contingent of 25 smokejumpers from Missoula, Montgomery, stationed at the Gila National Forest from May 15 to July 15, was augmented by an additional 40 smokejumpers during June. Several Forest Service fire dispatchers from other Forest Service regions were also a tremendous help, he said.

While the cooperation of the states and federal agencies was part of a planned attack on fires, the unexpected early rains were not. Hickman said they were fortunate to receive rain at a time when rain is usually scarce, taking a huge load off the firefighters. Another factor that helped firefighters, Hickman said, was the public's increased fire awareness. "The news media did a good job of getting the word out that it was tinder dry out there and the public must have listened. They were very careful and it was a big help."

Although a potentially bad fire season has, for the most part, been averted, the danger has not completely passed. However, Hickman said he believed the worst is over. "The fire season may continue and get bad again, but I don't think so."

For the tired firefighters it's not over yet. Southwestern Region personnel, 12 Hot Shot crews and 16 SWFF crews from Arizona and New Mexico, almost 600 people, were helping to fight fires in Nevada, California and Utah, where, Hickman said, "It may just be beginning."

Six Peloncillo bighorn rams died in mountains

Six of the desert bighorn rams released in late June in the Peloncillo Mountains of southwestern New Mexico by the Department of Game and Fish have died, possibly of pneumonia, according to Andrew Sandoval, bighorn research specialist for the department. One lamb, unaccounted for, is presumed dead, he said.

The dead rams comprise 60 percent of the 10 rams released June 28, along with 10 ewes and eight lambs.

Tissue samples taken from some of the dead sheep, necropsied at the site, strongly indicate the cause of death to be pneumonia, Sandoval said, but Veterinary Services Laboratory in Albuquerque, where the samples were sent, is expected to make a determination of the cause of death later this week.

Source of the infection is undetermined, Sandoval said, but the rams' susceptibility may have been increased by stress factors, including adapting to the new environment in the Peloncillos and heavier-than-normal precipitation in the area.

The rams had been reared at the department's Red Rock Experimental Wildlife Station near Lordsburg and transferred to the release site to supplement a new herd which included the 10 ewes and eight lambs.

Though the deaths have been confined to the rams segment of the herd, the infection could spread by contact to the ewes and lambs during rutting season — which should have started in July when the ewes should have come into their estrous cycles, Sandoval said. One ewe is showing symptoms of disease, he added.

He said the ewes may be less susceptible to the infection, however, since they have been adapting to the area since last November in a 40 acre paddock near the release site.

A New Mexico State University graduate student monitoring the sheep, Amy Elenowitz, has reported that the rams have shown little interest in courting the ewes, however.

"The fact that the rams have shown little interest in the ewes may be further indication that they have been under extreme stress," Sandoval said.

Sandoval said the ewes are in at least two groups within a mile and a half of the release site. The rams have been segregated into two groups remaining within about two miles of the release site, though some reportedly have ventured as far as three miles from the release site.

Sandoval said there is no feasible way to treat the sheep for the infection. Inoculating them by rifle from a helicopter could increase the stress and result in more deaths.

"If the rams make it through the next couple of weeks, they'll be okay," Sandoval said, but they may have some permanent damage to their lungs.
