Mules, Hunter/Jumpers have great weekend

Mules behaved predictably

"WHAT DO I THINK OF MULE AUCTIONS?" Well, if you ask me, I think it's just an excuse for them muleskinners and us mules to get together and jawbone.

Outside of the first race of the 1981 mule meeting at Ruidoso Downs, the mules didn't do the unpredictable and, outside of getting tired in the longer races and quitting, they mostly performed to the best of their abilities.

The first race, chariots, saw Jo and Jim, driven by Bill Ward of Lincoln, take the first turn on the track, to head the wrong way. It took Ward a while to get their attention, turn around, and cross the finish line to claim fourth money.

Only two jockeys sustained injuries requiring brief emergency treatment at Ruidoso Hondo Valley Hospital. Rolland Ramos was thrown from his mule Friday and kicked in the arm area by the hind legs of his mount. Saturday Dave Mello's mule, Killer Sam, crashed into the fence in a four furlong race, pinning Mello against the guard rail. Mello was sitting up on the stretcher when he was loaded into the ambulance.

H. O. T. Jerry was named Mule-of-the-Meet, winning all three of his starts and the most races of any entered.

LeRoy Coombs, with eight wins, earned Jockey-of-the-Meet honors and Greg LeClair saddled five winners to be named Trainer-of-the-Meet.

Early Bird, owned by Ed and Marion Hyman, won the Three-Year-Old and Older 220 yard dash Saturday, after Huckleberry Finn was disqualified by the stewards for interference. He came back Sunday to win the Four-Year-Old Classic, with a $1,000 added purse, going away. Early Bird sort of lagged behind during the early going in this 350 yard dash, but jockey LeRoy Coombs got him to open up during the last 50 yards to win in a driving finish.

Sunday's attendance figures were not available to The News, but Friday's paid attendance topped 700 and Saturday more than 1,800 paid to watch the races. "It was a very successful meet," Ed Hyman, president of the sponsoring Ruidoso Downs Mule Skinners, said. "We didn't have any special problems come up, all of the races were run well, and accidents were at a minimum."

"The success of this meeting, plus the excellent cooperation we enjoyed from all of the mule people, is most encouraging. We now feel positive that the Mule Skinners will be able to build this meeting into the finest in the country, and that's what we intend to do."

Race results appear on page two.

Villages' trustees to meet

The Ruidoso Downs trustees will meet at 7 tonight in Municipal Hall.

Agenda items include a request by Cablevision of Lincoln County to increase rates, discussion on a franchise for Continental Telephone Company, action on a resolution to increase the budget for radio communications and action to sell a flatbed and pickup truck owned by the village.

Ruidoso trustees will hear a report on the sale of $1.5 million in general obligation bonds at its regular meeting, 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, October 13 at the Ruidoso Public Library.

Opening of bids on the bond issue will take place at 1:30 p.m., Tuesday, also at the library. Sale of the bonds, which was approved by voters in a special election earlier this year, will provide revenue for street work, renovation of the police, courts and jail building, and a new fire substation or stations, according to village manager Jim Hine.

Other agenda items include: — Ordinance 81-20, annexation of approximately 279 acres of land in the area of First Christian Church.

— Ordinance 81-21, amending the definition of mobile home and building.

— Discussion of beer and wine license fees for restaurants.

— Recommendation from Mayor Lloyd L. Davis Jr., on two persons to serve on the Planning and Zoning Commission.

— Report from Hine on the prospective candidates for the position of village planner.

The following Planning and Zoning items are also slated for action:

— Request for setback variance for a house in Holiday Acres, C. C. Miller.

— Replat of Lot 8, Block 9 at Cree Meadows, Tom Battey.

— Conditional use request for plumbing shop at Airport Tracts, Tut Shaw.

— Lakeview Estates final plat, Tim Collins.

— Replat of Parcel 2, Tract A at Flume Canyon, Wally Hjalmsquist.

— Request for sewer and driveway easement through village property in Wingfield Homestead, Frankie Wheeler.

— Replat of Lot 32, Block 12, at Cree Meadows Country Club, Sierra Engineering.

School board meets Tuesday

Ruidoso's Board of Education meeting is scheduled for Tuesday night at 7:30 at White Mountain Middle School Media Center.

Agenda items include: — Approval of checks and fund transfers.

— Call for bids on a portable classroom building for the Middle School and for fleet insurance.

— Authorization of Superintendent Pat Vaillant as the official representative for the filing of Public Law 81-874 application for the school year 1981-1982.

— Superintendent's report on enrollment and investments.

Lodgers' tour open to public

Area residents are invited to join the Lodger's Association at their noon luncheon, October 13, at Holiday House, and, afterward, to board the city bus with association members, for a tour of three motels, two condominiums, and two cabin properties, to view some of the accommodations offered by the local lodging industry, Clark Carpenter, association president, said Friday.

Village trustee, Benny Coulston, will address the luncheon audience, Carpenter said.

Horse course designer judged Hunter/Jumpers

She is considered to be one of the country's top course designers in the equestrian world as well as an accomplished horsewoman.

Chrystine W. Jones served as both course designer and judge at the Second Annual Hunter-Jumper Show at Ruidoso Downs this weekend.

Based out of Gladstone, New Jersey, Jones is director of the United States Equestrian Team training center there.

A former member of the team herself, Jones holds many awards for her expertise and says she has ridden in every type of horse events.

"I've been a judge for many years. Fourteen to be exact," said Jones. "I have designed courses for events in the United States, Canada, Australia and the Bahamas. I haven't been to Europe yet, but I hope to."

As a free-lancer in the course designing area, Jones says she'll go just about anywhere to set up courses.

As part of her director responsibilities, she emphasizes education at the training center. Recently, however, the program has widened its scope and now she travels to different areas to share some of the knowledge with riders in such places as California and Wisconsin.

"We'd like to expand with more training across the country," Jones said. "In this way, it is easier for Jones' staff to see prospective riders for the team."

"We've recently gotten into talent scouting, like they do in the 'big leagues.'"

Then we can invite these riders to attend the training center," Jones said.

Immediately following the Grand Prix competition Sunday, Jones said she was going home to Gladstone to start working with the indoor equestrian team.

CYNTHIA JONES IS IN her element in the horse ring. As Director of the United States Equestrian Team, she is also a free lance course designer and events judge and performed these duties at the second annual hunter-jumper show at Ruidoso Downs.

Arizona rider wins $5,000 Hunter/Jumper Grand Prix

A small but congenial crowd of spectators watched as scarlet and black coated riders wearing hunt caps, competed for cash, trophies and ribbons, on the final day of the second annual Ruidoso-Hondo Valley Hospital Charity Horse Show, Sunday afternoon, in the meadow just inside Ruidoso Downs Race Track. Profits from the show go to Ruidoso-Hondo Valley Hospital (RHVH).

Tim Herrick of Phoenix, Arizona, riding "French Leave," was the winner of the $5,000 purse, in the Grand Prix of Ruidoso, the final event of the 1981 Hunter/Jumper Show.

Natalie Nabb, 17, of Nogales, Arizona, riding "Lion in Winter," won the Champion Junior Working Hunter Class, for 17 and Under, sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Lewis of Ruidoso; and the $1,500 Furr's Hunter Derby, sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Waddell of Lubbock, Texas.

The attendance for this year's Hunter/Jumper show "was four or five times last year's attendance," Ken Moore, RHVH administrator said.

Except for clouds and wind on Sunday, which increased the chill factor, keeping some spectators at home, hunter/jumper enthusiasts enjoyed a weekend of mostly sunny weather — unlike the rainy, muddy conditions which marred last year's event, Moore said.

"Boy, am I glad it didn't rain," Jerry Dougherty, show manager, said.

Don Leslie of the El Paso, Texas, based Ditch Riders International, who sponsored the show, echoed Dougherty's sentiments. "We're just glad the weather held out," he said. Leslie, who co-chaired the show with Winnie Lewis of Ruidoso, said he was "looking forward to next year."

Moore said thanks were owed to Carl Franzer of Safeway Stores, to Dortha Trimball of Win, Place and Show, to the Ruidoso Gymnastic Association, to the Pink Ladies of the RHVH Auxiliary for "their concession work and the arts and crafts show," and to Dr. Paul Whitman, for their help with the show.

Reporter learns mules don't come from mules

BY TIM PALMER
Staff Writer/Photographer

A fellow can learn a lot about mules just by hanging around with them, especially since muleskinners are nice folks who like to talk about their hinnys, jennys and jacks.

Muleskinners weekend started Thursday with a mule auction in the barn area of Ruidoso Downs race track. My education began when a man led what sure looked to me like a horse into the auction ring.

The auctioneer must have agreed. "She sure don't look like a jack to me," he said. But then a little mule colt trotted out and tagged along behind the horse.

As it turned out, the man was offering both momma (a horse) and colt (a mule) for sale. To a city boy who didn't know that mules come from horses and donkeys, and not from mules, it was fortunate to find a friendly muleskinner to explain it all.

Mules come about, Lisa Magee of Kerrville, Texas, told me, when a female donkey (jennet or "jenny") is bred to a male horse (I did know what a stallion is!), or when a female horse (mare) is bred to a male donkey (jack). I was glad to get all of that straight, let me tell you.

"You can have a mule out of any kind of horse plus different kinds of jacks," said Diania Plumlee of Gainesville, Texas. This brought some interesting possibilities to mind. I wondered if there has ever been a Budweiser Clydesdale mule.

Plumlee had other interesting facts to tell, like mules not being able to breed because they have an odd number of chromosomes — 63, and George Washington being the originator of the American Mammoth Jack breed, thanks to the gift of a Spanish jack from the king of Spain.

Bob Pitts had brought a pair of small mules to the sale. He told me that they were out of a Shetland mare. I mentioned to him that people didn't seem to be doing much buying that day.

"People that got money ain't mule oriented," he said. And for the rest, "Twelve-dollar oats and 20 percent money have kinda taken the enjoyment out of it."

Pitts makes his living trading in mules, and he also breaks and trains them. Three of the eight mules he brought were to compete in the races, which he called "a good advertisement."

Plumlee, who has been in the business for four years, believes that the mule industry is just starting to grow. "Each year, there is more and more interest in it," she said.

She noted that owners of thoroughbred and running quarter horse mares are becoming more inclined to breed their mares to jacks, and cited the rising cost of quarter horse breeding fees as one reason. The result is good racing mule stock.

"I think people are liking the diversification also," Plumlee said.

It occurred to me to ask Diana what makes mules different from horses, behavior wise. "If their security is in danger, they do what comes natural," she said. "That's when people call 'em stubborn.'"

I wondered if that meant that mules are smarter than horses. "They are definitely smarter than horses in general," she said.

According to the muleskinners I was talking with, mules also develop more respect for people. "Any little kind of mistreatment, they sure remember," said one. "But if you don't discipline them, they remember what they can get away with."

Well, by the time I left the sale, I was determined to own a mule. Maybe not just yet (our landlord says 'no pets'), but the nice folks from Gainesville said they'd bring me one next year.

Fun Day in the Park scheduled October 25

Fun Day in the Park, a semi-annual program sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, is scheduled for October 25, with the action to begin at 2 p.m., in School House Park.

"This special afternoon," Chamber executive director Ed Jungbluth said, "is to give people the chance to participate in a symbolic fall wind down. It is for local people, and families, to get together, play some silly games, listen to some good music, and just generally have a super time."

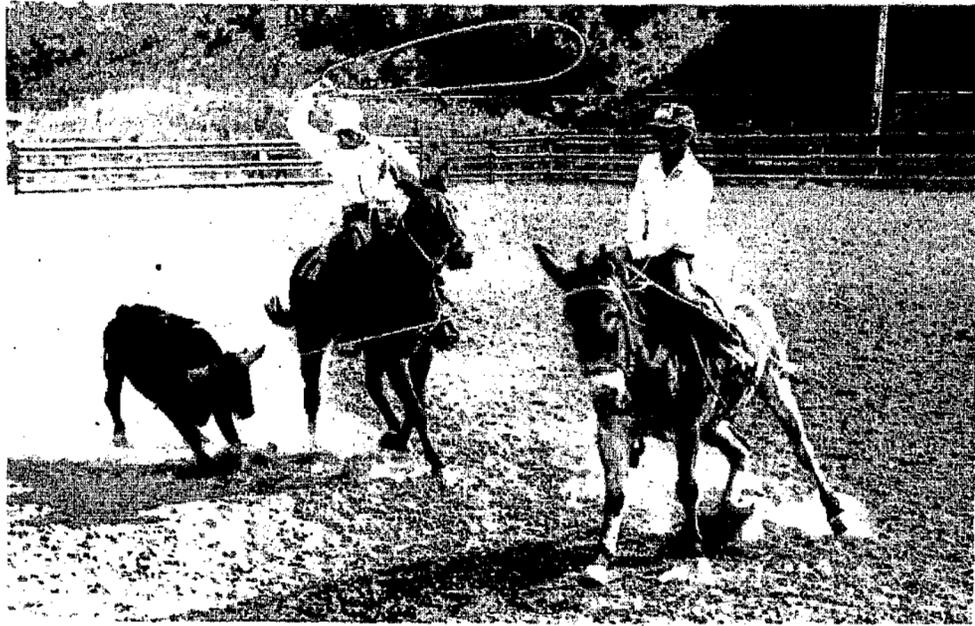

Jungbluth said that games for youngsters include tag, sack and three-legged races, "with ribbons for all winners and those playing." Adults will enter the egg throwing contest, a tug-of-war and other events.

The Chamber will provide hot dogs at cost, 25 cents, with everyone to cook their own over fireplaces that will be ready for use throughout the afternoon.

"This is a real fun afternoon," Jungbluth said, "one that has been growing in popularity each time we put it on, and your Chamber directors are urging everyone in this area to plan to come to School House Park that Sunday afternoon and have an enjoyable outing."

Jungbluth said the Chamber "is inviting volunteer help," to organize the games, dispense the hotdogs and "generally be available to step in and help in any of the events."

Sunland's purses hiked

BY MARK GORDON

In banking as in horse racing, money can make the difference.

"Our purse increase has to help us," said Sunland Park Racing Secretary Donald Rausch, who begins his second season at the west El Paso, Texas, track. "The way horse racing is going across New Mexico, I look for El Paso to really, really grow."

When Sunland starts its 64-day horse race meet October 17, horsemen will be running for higher purses than ever before. All levels will reflect an increase, from maiden races to handicaps.

The minimum purse has been hiked from $1,500 to a Sunland record $1,800. An additional $1,500 has been added to each handicap and stake race, hiking those events to at least $5,000-added purse.

"We've added 17 new stakes, 15 for thoroughbreds and two for quarter horses," Rausch said. "We'll have a stakes or handicap every weekend at Sunland and each is at least $5,000-added."

"Because of our purse increase, we've drawn horses from California and Louisiana that we've never had before," he said. "The Shue Fly Stakes is now a $5,000-added race and it drew 55 nominees. That's double what we've ever had before."

Rausch is hoping the significant purse increase will keep the runners competing in February and March. In past years, horsemen have given their animals a rest those two months in preparation for the summer meetings.

"So many are resting then, that I don't quite get the caliber of handicap fields until the end of March," he said. "The purse increase has to help. When they can run for at least $5,000-added, it's going to keep those better horses in training. Now you can afford to keep a horse in training with the bigger purses. Money is the name of the game."

Rausch is in the process of accommodating horsemen who have applied for 1,500 stall spaces.

"I'm trying to help everybody out. I'll try to work in everybody over the next 15 to 20 days," he said. "There's a lot of turn-over now. Some horses are being turned out or rested. A few owners will decide they don't want to run. I'll make a decision soon so we can try to get everyone in."

Obstacles appear easy for rider, horse, in Hunter/Jumper events

One graceful, fluid movement puts horse and rider over the obstacle. With an apparent ease, the horse collects himself to prepare for a signal from his rider to let loose and sail over the next obstacle.

But what may look like ease is actually a culmination of experience, practice, determination and dedication, as evidenced in last weekend's Second Annual Hunter/Jumper Show, sponsored by the Ruidoso-Hondo Valley Hospital.

Shutting out all surrounding distractions, it's just horse and rider as one unit, working with a fierce concentration against time and competition. One can feel the triumph of a graceful, fault-free jump as well as the disappointment and even anger in a misjudged attempt that results in knocking a bar off of the fence.

The horse snorts in disgust, rider looks behind, as if trying to assess the mistake and then horse and rider brace themselves; rider holds the over anxious horse back, but releases the pent up energy at just the precise moment.

The pair sail effortlessly over the fence, the horse kicks out his hind legs just moments after the fence is cleared, the rider smiles in relief and triumph, the horse prances in pleased conceit.

Sweat gleams off of the burnished coat of the horse as well as from the rider's brow. It wasn't so easy, after all.

While two-year-old thoroughbreds have always held center stage at Sunland Park, Rausch is hoping to accelerate the program so three-year-old and older thoroughbreds receive some outstanding races just as the two-year-olds do.

In past years, the Riley Allison Futurity, which traditionally closes the Sunland Park season, has been the only race of significance for thoroughbreds. That's what Rausch hopes to alter.

"We want to build up for entire stakes program for thoroughbreds so a trainer can come to El Paso and truly make a good living with his horses. We'll have the best thoroughbred racing we've ever had this season."

A total of 14 new stakes and handicaps has been added to the Sunland schedule for three-year-old and older thoroughbreds. The Dona Ana Handicap has been written exclusively for three-year-old New Mexico-breds.

"Our new purses and added stakes prove that we want people with good horses to run at Sunland Park. I believe the people of El Paso deserve to see good horses run," Rausch said.

"We've had horsemen who have run with us for years and years for low purses. Now they'll be able to run for bigger purses. They deserve a chance at that."

Among the new stakes expected to do well at Sunland is the Flying M Ranch Stakes from Carencro, Louisiana. Trained by Dawn Melek, the stable will have 12 horses. The horses have competed at such Louisiana tracks as Evangeline Downs in Lafayette and Delta Downs in Vinton.

Rausch cited perennial New Mexico leading trainers Clifford Lambert and Bob Arnett. Each has been assigned 35 stalls.

"Cliff Lambert and Bob Arnett are always among the top three trainers. They help fill races. They run their horses and people with big stables who run horses are always welcome," Rausch said.

Lambert, who recently won the trainer's title with 13 wins at the New Mexico State Fair meeting at Albuquerque, will have the services of son, Casey, 16. He won the jockeys' title at Albuquerque, thus becoming the first father-son combination to accomplish that feat at the State Fair meet.

Lambert's main handicap threat will be Double B Express, who won the E. T. Springer Memorial Handicap at Albuquerque as well as the Ruidoso Sprint Championship this summer at Ruidoso Downs.

Downs.

Lambert will also have Capi's First, a sprinting threat; Special Special; Black At The Wire and Big Bad Tune, a two-year-old speedster, who captured the A. C. Kemp Memorial Handicap at the State Fair.

Arnett, meanwhile, will have Native Gypsy, a consistent quarter horse, as well as several outstanding thoroughbreds. His thoroughbred leaders include Plucky Husky, winner of last spring's $251,230 Riley Allison Futurity at Sunland Park; Pride of Loom and My Going Jesse, both stakes winners and Ghost Light, a successful mare.

Another veteran Sunland Park trainer, William F. Leach, who finished second in the Ruidoso Downs' standings this summer, will have three outstanding runners. Easily Smashed, winner of the $224,749 Kansas Derby at Ruidoso Downs in May, will head Leach's quarter horses.

Fill Macks Cup, a stakes winner this summer at Ruidoso Downs; and Pierre The True, one of the area's top 870 yard specialists, combine to give Leach a solid punch in any category.

Three trainers who competed at this summer's Downs at Santa Fe race meet are scheduled to have potent stables at Sunland Park.

Frank Cappellucci, who tied for leading trainer honors at Santa Fe, will have 18 horses. His older horses are paced by stakes winners Regal Holiday and Missy's Partner. Canek Canek, who won this year's Santa Fe Futurity, heads his two-year-old runners. Jolly Pappa will headline his claiming entrants.

Jim Curry will bring a balanced stable headed by the consistent Bet On Me, one of the better allowance runners in recent years at Sunland Park. He will also have Mr. A's Dream.

Johnie Jamison, ninth in last year's Sunland trainer standings, will have 18 horses. His standouts include Texah, Native Dandy, Goldelle, Jackie's Turn and Brooks Prize, one of the area's finest 870 yard runners.

Sunland will only race Saturday and Sunday the first weekend and then will follow a Friday-through-Sunday routine throughout the season which ends May 2. The only exception will be a special Monday program on February 15.

Post time will be 12:30 p.m., from opening day through February 15. Starting February 19 until the season closes, post time will be 1 p.m.

Local group promoting political poll

A political poll is being conducted by Ruidosolans for Voter Participation, with member Terry Coe said, "poll forms in the businesses in Ruidoso."

The poll has suggestions for the offices of mayor, and two seats on the village trustees, that will be on the March 9, 1982, village election ballot.

In addition to the form contains space for people to list five projects they would like to see implemented in Ruidoso during the coming four years.

Coe said the group is planning to set up locations for voter registration, at dates to be announced. "We want to get every eligible voter registered," Coe said.

Ivy elected vice president of T-NMPC

Woody Ivy, New Mexico Division Manager of Texas-New Mexico Power Company, was named as vice president of the firm earlier this month. He succeeds the late Ray Dean in both positions.

Ivy, a 36-year employee of the company, transferred to New Mexico from Pecos, Texas, where he was Western Division Manager.

With his wife, Pats, Ivy is stationed in Silver City in the New Mexico Division office.

Calvary troop plans Bonita Lake bivouac

Bravo Troop 7/17 Calvary, Sixth Calvary Brigade, Fort Hood, Texas, will bivouac at Bonita Lake's Alamogordo City Park October 15-21.

Captain Steve Stiles of Bravo Troop has announced that 85 servicemen, with a number of helicopters and vehicles, will participate in the bivouac.

An Open House will be held October 16 from 1-4:30 p.m. "We'll have a static display of helicopters," Stiles said, "and of different vehicles and trucks used by the Calvary."

One of the activities will include, Stiles said, "practicing high altitude flying," with the helicopters.

VA changes regulations on student pay

A change in Veterans Administration (VA) regulations now allows students to apply for advance payment of educational assistance allowance checks after enrollment breaks of more than 30 days if the student is not otherwise eligible for payment for the interval.

Previously there must have been a full calendar month break between terms — for example, the whole month of August, noted Joe Cardova, director, Albuquerque VA Regional Office.

Seedling applications available

Applications for New Mexico Division of Forestry's Tree Seedling Program are now available according to Raymond R. Gallegos, State Forester. Each year the Division provides seedlings to landowners at reasonable costs.

Two varieties of seedlings are available: containerized conifer and bareroot deciduous. This year the coniferous species available are: Arizona cypress, Afghanistan pine, Austrian pine, Colorado blue spruce, Douglas-fir, Ponderosa Pine, Scotch pine and white fir. Deciduous species available are: green ash, skunk-bush sumac, Lombardy poplar, Russian olive, native plum, narrowleaf cottonwood and hackberry.

To qualify for the program, participants must own at least two acres of land, use the trees for conservation purposes; such as windbreaks, reforestation, erosion control or Christmas tree plantations, and buy a minimum of 100 seedlings.

Costs for containerized species run $42.00 per 98 trees, and deciduous seedlings are $23.00 for 100.

To obtain applications write to Department of Natural Resources, Forestry Division, Post Office Box 1267, Santa Fe, New Mexico 87504, or call 827-3182.

Yule trees may be cut on forest

The Lincoln National Forest will again this year sell Christmas trees to individuals for their personal use. A total of 6,850 trees will be available for cutting in seven areas of the forest.

Permits will sell for $3.00 and will entitle the holder to a tree up to 10 feet in height. Applications for a permit will be available about the end of October. The application brochure will detail the location of the cutting areas and the species available.

Openings available in Parenting Course

Some openings are still available for the nine-week Systematic Training for Effective Parenting course he will teach, beginning October 14, from 7 to 8:30 p.m., in the teacher's workroom at White Mountain Elementary School, Bill Grimes, Lincoln County Counseling Center, said Friday.

The cost for the course, including the manual, is $15 for single persons, and $20 for couples, Grimes said.

Specific objectives of the program, as outlined by Grimes, are:

- learn practical theory of human behavior;
 - learn ways to establish more effective relations with their children;
 - learn how to use encouragement properly;
 - develop skills for listening, resolving conflicts and exploring alternatives;
 - improve communication between yourself and your children;
 - learn an approach to discipline, called "natural and logical consequences" and
 - learn how to conduct effective family meetings.
- Grimes said the method he will teach "does require parents to change their own behavior."

"It takes lots of guts — but that is the only way the program works."

Using the "natural consequence" approach to discipline, Grimes said, a family, instead of waiting dinner for a child who is late, and yelling or nagging him when he does arrive, might finish their meal and leave the table. Sitting down, alone, to a cold plate, is an effective "natural consequence" method of disciplining the child, he said.

The "logical consequence" approach "usually allows the child a choice," Grimes said, instead of parents arbitrarily deciding for their child.

And do the "natural" and "logical" consequence approaches to discipline really work?

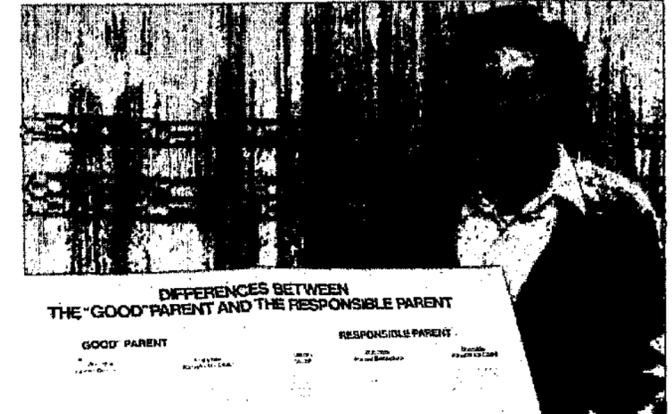

"Nothing works every time," Grimes said.

He will help parents learn the process, he said. They must decide which method will work best in a given situation.

The El Paso, Texas, native jumped at the chance to return to this area, from a fourteen-year teaching stint in California, "partially because I was tired of teaching," partially because I was tired of teaching."

Grimes, who was a high school English teacher, said his counseling job gives him the opportunity "to return to one of my two great loves — psychology." (The other is literature.)

Anyone interested in registering for the course can call Grimes at the Counseling Center, 257-5838, or Karen Tillman at White Mountain School, 257-4674.

Pediatric intensive care unit open in Albuquerque

The children's intensive care unit at the University of New Mexico Hospital/Bernalillo County Medical Center (UNMH/BCMC) has officially reopened after six weeks of remodeling and expansion work.

The 12-bed ward is the largest pediatric intensive care unit in the state and is equipped to treat children recovering from open heart surgery, infectious diseases and other life threatening conditions.

Dr. Leland Fan, director of the unit, said the ward receives two-thirds of its patients from outside Bernalillo County.

About $100,000 worth of new patient monitoring equipment is scheduled for delivery to the unit in the near future. Other additions include three new isolation units that will increase the hospital's ability to deal with highly contagious diseases, said Fan.

He said the isolation units have become available at a good time because the approach of winter always brings on an increase in contagious respiratory infections among children.

Patients in the unit are attended by UNMH/BCMC specialists in chest surgery, pediatric surgery and children's internal medicine. At least one doctor is present in the unit 24 hours a day.

UNM graduate Derek Matteucci designed the new pediatric intensive care unit while he was a senior student working in the Design and Planning Assistance Center in the UNM School of Architecture and Planning.

About half the ward is designed to care for exceptionally ill children, and the other half takes cases that are serious, but not necessarily life-threatening on a minute-to-minute basis. Each section has its own nurses' station.

Becky McKernan, R.N., who supervises nursing on the unit, said a critically ill patient is assigned one nurse per shift, who cares only for that child. No nurse on the unit has more than two patients to attend at any time, McKernan said.

"Sometimes you'll have a really terrible case when a patient is on a ventilator for a whole month, and everything that can possibly go wrong with his health goes wrong. Yet a few months later on a visiting day, he'll come walking down the hall with mom and dad to drop in and see you."

Accommodations for parents are also part of the unit. Space permitting, as many as four patients at once can have a parent spending nights in a small dormitory just outside the ward's entrance.

"When you're taking care of a child, you're also taking care of the parents," said Fan. "We keep the visiting hours very flexible. Often the nurses try to involve parents in the child's treatment. They can help out by bathing the child or just by being available for hand-holding."

To lighten the general atmosphere, the unit is painted in light, glossy colors and decorated with Walt Disney cartoon figures.

Mountaintops gymnasts finish third

Showing marked improvement, the Ruidoso Mountaintops gymnastics team finished third in a four-way meet Saturday at the Ruidoso Gymnastics Academy (RGA).
 Heights YMCA of Albuquerque won the meet with a fine 97.6 score. The Los Alamos Sunburst tallied 84 points for second and the Mountaintops scored 89.7 points. Gallup only had one girl entered and was not eligible for team competition. Although no Mountaintops' athlete finished first in any event the local club had some strong performances.
 Amy Thornton finished fifth in all-around competition with a 31.0 total and Angela Jones was sixth with a 30.5 score. Amy Richardson didn't place but her 26.6 total was 3.8 points above her effort against Santa Fe last week.

The state meet qualifying mark for all-around is 32.0 and Mountaintops' coach John Eberle is confident both Thornton and Jones will make the standard.
 "I expect them to hit 32.0 when we have our next meet November 7 (the Ruidoso Gymnastics Academy Invitational) because they have improved greatly," Eberle said.
 Individual competition saw Thornton take third in the vault (8.0) and third in the balance beam (7.8). Jones was sixth in the floor exercise with a 8.1 total. Jones also recorded a fine 7.5 in the bars despite the fact she failed to place.
 Kyra Taylor of Heights was the all-around winner with an excellent 32.8 score. Taylor won the beam (8.6) and the floor exercise (8.8).
 "I was really pleased with the way the meet turned out," Eberle said. "It was good experience for our kids. We scored over 10 more points than we did against Santa Fe."

 The RGA Invitational will feature some of the best teams in New Mexico and Texas. Albuquerque Gym School, which won the state title nine straight years before finishing second last year is entered. El Paso Academy of Gym, which recently defeated Albuquerque Gym School, is also entered. Other top teams scheduled to compete are Amarillo Gym School, Hamilton Gym of Lubbock, Texas, West Texas Gym of Midland, Texas and Alamogordo. Alamogordo was third in the state last year.
 The state meet will be held February 20 in Albuquerque.

Offense sparkles as Ruidoso tops Cobre

Ruidoso High School's football team got its offensive machine moving in high gear again just in time.

The Warriors opened district 3-AAA action Friday night with a convincing 20-6 victory over host Cobre, rolling up 311 yards total offense.

And the biggest part of that offensive barrage was tailback Scott Neal's 24 carries for 156 yards on the ground. Neal, who missed two weeks with a broken index finger, came back Friday night to play his finest game of the season. He scored two of the Warrior touchdowns and game the Cobre defenders fits.

Ruidoso led all the way in the game but it wasn't until Neal ran four yards for a touchdown with 4:13 remaining in the game that the Warriors had it locked up.

Cobre, now 1-5 overall and 0-1 in district action, had narrowed Ruidoso's margin to 14-6 late in the third quarter on a 16 yard pass from junior quarterback Jerry Herd to Wenses Rivera. Rivera took the ball behind two Warrior defenders just inside the end zone.

But the Warriors started a 60 yard drive midway through the final quarter that culminated with Neal's touchdown run and Ruidoso had its sixth victory of the season against no losses. Neal had set up his own touchdown, carrying the ball three times for 25 yards in the drive.

The Warriors, currently ranked second in the Associated Press state AAA poll behind Artesia, jumped off to a 7-0 lead on their second possession of the contest.

Getting the ball on its own 23 after a punt Ruidoso marched 77 yards in 11 plays with Neal sprinting up the middle for eight yards and the touchdown with 4:07 left in the opening quarter.

Quarterback Billy Woodul sparkled in the scoring drive, connecting with junior flanker Grady Williamson twice for 32 yards. Fullback Cris Lopez added a 14 yard run in the march.

Lon Nunley, who was again brilliant both ways for the winners, kicked the extra point and the Warriors held a 7-0 margin.

The Indians got a good return on the ensuing kickoff and started off at their own 41. However, three plays later Nunley intercepted a Herd pass, ending the only decent field position Cobre had in the first half.

Ruidoso added its second touchdown in the third quarter on a 60 yard drive which took up almost half the period.

Again getting good running from Neal and Nunley and receiving some outstanding blocking, the Warriors moved to the Indian 16. From there Nunley blasted eight yards to the eight and on the next play powered straight over the goal line with 5:03 left in the quarter. He kicked the extra point and the Warriors led 14-0.

Cobre scored on its next series, the first time since the second game of the season that the Warrior defense had been scored upon. But the Ruidoso defense dug in after that and the Warriors' undefeated record stayed intact.

Ruidoso gained 233 yards on the ground, a majority of it coming on Neal's runs. Woodul completed five of 16 passes for 79 yards for his best yardage total since the second game of the season.

Cobre gained 129 yards total offense, 96 passing and 43 running. Herd could hit on just nine of 27 attempts and had one interception. The Warriors had 18 first downs to eight for the losers.

Ruidoso head coach Darrel Stierwalt was naturally pleased with his team's win.

"Oh yes, we're making improvements," he said. "We were much better prepared for this game than for the NMMI game

(the 7-0 win over New Mexico Military Institute last week) and, of course, it helped to have Neal back."

Stierwalt also praised the offensive line for its blocking, which generally gave Neal, Nunley and Lopez plenty of room to ramble for yardage. Center David Swalander had a fine game as did split end Darin Smith, end-defensive back Don Nunley and linebacker Kyle Flack.

NOTES — Lon Nunley narrowly missed a 42 yard field goal attempt late in the first half. In other 3-AAA games defending champion Silver City blanked T or C 12-0 and Deming upset Tularosa 13-7. Tularosa will host the Warriors next Friday.

Top-ranked Artesia nipped 4-A power Goddard 19-13 in the last few seconds as Eric McCaleb picked up a blocked field goal attempt and ran it in from five yards out for the winning touchdown.

While the youth soccer program in Ruidoso is enjoying a good amount of popularity this fall the women's fall soccer league program is apparently out of the picture.

"It's sort of down and out," said Carla Glover, president of the league and secretary of the youth soccer program. "We had it last spring but not enough people showed up to get it started this fall. We'd hold workouts each week and ended up having to play with the men and some kids in informal practices."

Both the men and women had programs last spring. There were just two women's teams and they played each other every week. About 15 women were on each team.

With winter fast on its way both adult leagues will have to wait until next April to begin play again.

Many areas of the country, particularly California and Texas, have active soccer programs for adults. The problem in some areas is that many adults aren't that familiar with the sport, having been brought up on a ration of football and baseball.

These adults may never have the taste for soccer that their kids do. However, soccer is an easy sport to play for just plain recreational fun and that alone should be enough to attract numerous adults to play.

Soccer teams do not need a great number of players to form decent sized squads. A dozen players a team is really enough. Most recreation-style soccer is low key anyway.

It will be interesting to see how the adult leagues do next spring in Ruidoso.

Well, Bobby Unser of Albuquerque has officially reclaimed his first place finish in the 1961 Indianapolis 500.

Unser, who was originally disqualified for passing another driver after a pit stop, was leading in the race at the time so the disqualification should never have taken place.

But the real crime of the whole affair was the fact that it took almost five months to decide the final placing. It was unfair to Unser, runner-up Mario Andretti and racing fans everywhere.

Auto racing is the most popular spectator sport in the country, drawing more fans annually than even horse racing. That something like the 500 race could occur, and in the most important race of the year, is a discredit to the sport.

Hopefully next year's Indy 500 won't have this kind of controversy attached to it. Another one like the 1981 affair and the whole sport of auto racing could take a big drop in popularity.

Regardless of how the major league baseball playoffs come out, the 1981 season can be counted as an almost complete loss.

Despite the fact that the split season probably added excitement for many teams who weren't going anywhere in the first half there was a lot of injustice involved too.

The Cincinnati Reds and the St. Louis Cardinals had the best overall records in the National League Western and Eastern divisions, respectively. However, neither of these teams made the playoffs because they finished second in both halves of the season.

While I favor the split season concept as a new addition to baseball tradition starting next season, it wasn't a completely clear measure of which team was the best in each division this year.

Teams which had gathered momentum and were catching the early leaders (the Reds were gaining on the Dodgers as the strike began) had to start all over again. Cincinnati has been the most consistent winner in the National League Western Division over the past 10 years, winning five division titles, three pennants and two World Series championships. The Reds had the best record in all baseball for the entire 1981 season.

If the split season concept is used again next season (it's not likely) the teams will have a better idea of where they stand to begin with. May the best team win.

Parking plan set for Tularosa game

A big crowd is expected for next Friday's football game between Ruidoso and Tularosa at the latter's field.

Therefore officials of both schools are requesting that Ruidoso fans park where they normally do for the basketball games to insure enough parking space.

LL grid results

The Colts continued their winning ways in Ruidoso Little League football action Saturday, dumping the Broncos 40-6. The winners are now 5-0 and have scored 196 points while giving up just 20.

In another 10-12 year old game the Steelers belted the Cowboys 22-8 to raise their record to 4-1. Eight-nine year old action saw the Lions defeat the Hornets 16-0. The Lions are now 3-0-1 while the Hornets are 0-3-1.

Next Saturday the playoffs begin. The Colts will play the Cowboys while the Steelers take on the Broncos. All games will be played at the Ruidoso High School field.

Braves nip Tularosa, 14-12

Big plays were the key as the White Mountain Middle School football team edged arch rival Tularosa 14-12 Thursday night at Ruidoso High School.

It was the first time the Braves had beaten Tularosa in three years and the game literally wasn't over until the last few seconds.

That was when White Mountain's Jeff Slatton intercepted a Tularosa pass with 18 seconds left near the Brave goal line and returned it 15 yards running the clock out.

Tularosa had driven from its own 40 to the White Mountain 17 in less than three minutes.

The visitors took a 6-0 lead in the first quarter, but the Braves took advantage of an interception to set up their first score with less than four minutes left in the first half.

After the interception on the Tularosa 33, Oscar Torres sprinted around end 33 yards for the tying touchdown with 3:47 remaining. Quarterback Mark Langston then kept the ball and rolled into the end zone for the two-point conversion to give White Mountain an 8-6 advantage at halftime.

The Braves took a 14-6 lead with 3:40 left in the third quarter when Mike Williamson ran 35 yards on a sweep. The two-point conversion run failed and Tularosa was still within striking distance.

The visitors scored their second touchdown midway through the final quarter after a steady drive but the critical two-point conversion run was stopped by the Brave's defensive line.

White Mountain head coach Terry Wharton was happy about the victory but had mixed feelings about his team's performance.

"We didn't play all that well," he said. "We were a little bit keyed up and nervous because this is our big game. Capitan beat Tularosa 22-18 last week but these guys (Tularosa) came back and got up for us."

White Mountain travels to Roswell Wednesday for a game with Sierra at 3:30 p.m. The Braves lost to Mountain View, another Roswell school, 50-6 in the first game of the season. Sierra is supposed to be better than Mountain View.

Las Piedras boxing team reorganizing

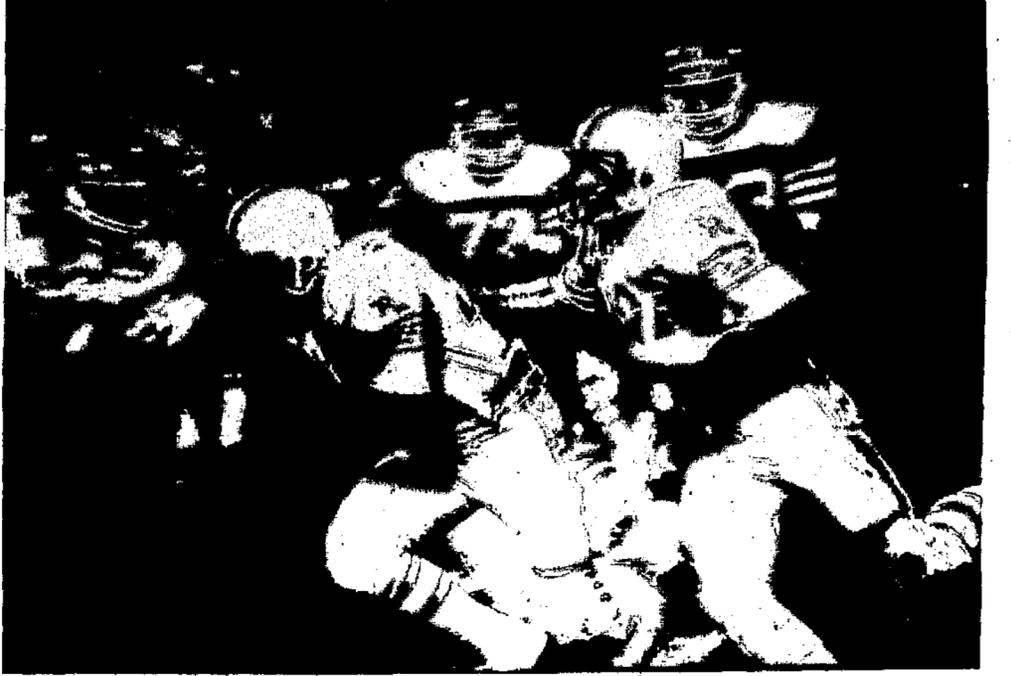

The Las Piedras boxing team will reorganize Tuesday at 5 p.m. in the old Dial Electric warehouse behind Sierra Automotive, at the junction of Sudderth and Mechem Drives, director Lucky Mulqueen has announced.

"We're planning two divisions," Mulqueen said, "15 and under for juniors, and 16 and over in the open. I'm inviting all adults that would be interested in working with this boxing program to attend this meeting."

Mulqueen said that architect Alan McChesney, who is moving from Pennsylvania to Ruidoso, will be one of the coaches. McChesney compiled a 17-0 record as an amateur with the Swarthmore, Pennsylvania, Boxing Club, a 19-1 record as a collegiate boxer in Penn State and a 3-0 record as an amateur in Naples, Italy.

He has been a referee, judge and tournament director of boxing championships since 1974, and coached eight championship teams, besides being named as Coach of the Year in 1976, for managing six individuals national champions.

"With McChesney coaching our boxing team," Mulqueen said, "we should develop fast and I hope to arrange boxing cards with several towns in this area."

RUIDOSO'S SCOTT NEAL (right) follows the blocking of a teammate during the Warrior game with host Cobre Friday night. Neal ran for 156 yards and two touchdowns as Ruidoso won 20-6 in the district 3-AAA opener. The Warriors are now 6-0 overall on the season.

Ruidoso junior varsity tops Goddard

Ruidoso High School's junior varsity football team plays tough against the big schools.

The Warriors tied 4-A power Roswell 0-0 earlier in the season and Thursday night took an impressive 28-20 victory over host Goddard of Roswell. Ruidoso is now 2-2-1 for the season.

In Thursday night's game Goddard took a 14-0 advantage in the first quarter but the Warriors came back to tie the contest at 14-14 by halftime.

Kerwin Lester scored the first Ruidoso touchdown on a two-yard dive early in the second quarter. Cyrus Simmons added the second score on a five yard run around end. Both touchdowns culminated long drives.

However, the hosts took the opening kickoff of the second half and drove straight down the field to take a 20-14 advantage.

But the Warriors were not to be denied. Simmons added another touchdown on a two yard run early in the final quarter and he completed a 16 yard pass to Chris Wynn to give the Warriors the lead with 5:30 remaining. Simmons ran the two point conversion in to give the Warriors their final margin of 28-20.

Goddard tried to come back but the Warriors stopped the Rockets at the 50 and ran the clock out.

Coach Jim Ramsay was full of praise for his players.

"We played a lot better than we have been playing," he said. "It was by far our best offensive show of the year."

Ramsay praised offensive linemen Kim Jameson, Chris Woodul (recently converted from quarterback) and Bobby Dominguez for their fine blocking. He also liked the play of Cisco Bob, who came in for Lester when the latter hurt his knee. Cornerback David Landrum intercepted three passes and recovered two fumbles to spark the alert Warrior defense.

Ruidoso will play Roswell for a second time when it hosts the Coyotes at 6 p.m., Thursday.

Ruidoso spikers split district doubleheader

Ruidoso High School's girls' volleyball team split a pair of matches with visiting Cobre and Silver City Saturday afternoon.

The host Warriors fell to Cobre, in three sets. Ruidoso lost the first set, 11-15 but came back to win the second one, 16-14. The Warriors led 12-7 in the final set but the Indians scored eight straight points to win 15-12.

The second match with Silver City had a better outcome for the hosts. The Warriors won handily in two sets, 15-12, 15-6 and are now 1-2 in district 3-AAA competition.

Ruidoso's junior varsity lost both matches. The junior Warriors fell to Cobre 11-15, 12-15 and then were defeated by Silver City, 8-15, 4-15.

Warrior coach Sergio Castanon had mixed feelings about the two matches but was pleased with his team's progress.

"Against Cobre in the third set we kind of drew back on our shots and didn't play as well as we're capable of," he said. "However, against Silver City we played our best match of the season. No one player stood out. We worked well as a team and didn't make any mistakes."

Ruidoso hosts powerful Tularosa at 6 p.m., tomorrow. Tularosa won the district last year and is strong again this season.

Still Castanon is confident.

"We're improving rapidly. We're ready for them," he said.

Soccer results

The Strikers and Celtics battled to a 1-1 tie in Ruidoso-Sertoma youth soccer under-18 action yesterday afternoon. The Strikers had only nine players suited up for the game against 11 for the Celtic.

In under-16 action Saturday the Celtic fell to a powerful Roadrunners of Las Cruces squad, 9-0. Most of the Roadrunner players have played soccer for eight or nine years.

Under-eight play Saturday saw the Bandits topple the Celtic 7-1 and United beat the Cobras 4-3.

THE SPIDER

During Mark Twain's days as a newspaperman, he was editor of a small Missouri paper. One day he received a letter from a subscriber, stating that he had found a spider in his paper, and asked if this was an omen of good or bad luck. Twain replied: "Finding a spider in your paper is neither good nor bad luck. The spider was merely looking over our paper to see which merchant was not advertising so that he could go to that store, spin his web across the door, and lead a life of undisturbed peace ever afterward."

THE RUIDOSO NEWS
will keep the spider away from your door.

The Dreamer

BY DANNIE STORM

Second Summer
Today, on October eight, after several rainy and cloudy days with enough cold in the evening to make a fire in the fireplace very welcome — after late fall days with almost a touch of winter, today the sun is out with a warm west wind blowing from the desert just over the mountain, you would think it to be summer time.

Indeed it seems like a little second summer in early fall. Early summer and mid-summer flowers have finished their blooming and formed their seed pods. And now today you can see these plants have sent out little late blooms — something exceedingly rare. This is quite striking on the stalks on those crimson trumpets, the Rocky Mountain Gilla.

All the summer birds are out singing, and bees are humming around the blooms. And still hardly any sign of turning among the patches of oak brush on the hills to the south.

The river, running crystal clear, murmurs a thousand water-tunes as it runs over its rocks and falls — and these liquid notes of the winding stream blend with the voice of the west wind singing through the trees.

Rose Colored Glasses and Other Colors Too

Some years back there used to be a popular song that went:

"I'm looking at the world
Through rose-colored glasses
Everything is rosy now."

This is the time of year when Mother Earth joins with the heavens in bringing a certain special enchantment to the mountain land. The sun is getting into just the right slant from the sky, that with the very slight mist in the air, you can see hills in the mid-distance, and the upper ends of canyons and glens — and many spots in between, touched with a pink glow (not at sunrise or sunset, but right in mid day).

These are the "Rose Colored Glasses" of the autumn time, brought before our eyes by the magic of the sun and shadow, and the light mists and hazes that do not appear to our sight close at hand. When you are up on a high place and can look at distant mountains and many valleys, canyons, and mesas and foot hills in between — then you can see and feel the wonder of these gentle colors in the air.

A famous columnist "James Kilpatrick" last year painted a wonderful autumn wood picture of his home country of Virginia.

He told of a "time of tinted glass pictures in the hills" and "Cathedral archways lit by the glow of the autumn leaves in the forests."

Around the White Mountain and over around the Capitans, and any place where you can see at a great or little distance, at certain times of the day — often mid-morning, and mid-afternoon — your eyesight will be drawn to these airy patches of color mantling hills and filling the canyons like thin curtains or veils — what you might call tinted air, hovering all through the mountain land in rose, lilac and light purple, adding their special cheer to the autumn mountain splendor.

Birthday of

Liz Taylor Montes

Among the many October birthday folks we must mention Mrs. Liz Taylor Montes, born October thirteen, some few years ago in Lincoln, to Mr. and Mrs. Ray Taylor.

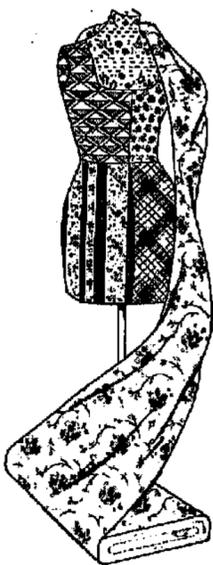

Because she is an "October's Child" and also because she gave an interesting account of the history of Indian Summer, and also because of her very sunny nature, we might call her "The Indian Summer Kid." We wish Liz many happy returns of the day and all God's blessings.

GOING INTO THE STRETCH, the rider coaxes the horse over the fence. With careful control and the right amount of urging, clearing this jump presents little problems.

A LOOK OF SERIOUS determination crosses the face of this rider as he concentrates on this jump, yet looks ahead to the next obstacle.

Inside The Capitol

by Fred McCaffrey

SANTA FE—Even the most casual of SAINTANCES feels free to touch you on the arm and say, "Ah, McCaffrey, relax. You're too tough on everybody."

Too tough? This column, written on the day Anwar Sadat of Egypt was mowed down by machine guns, asks a simple question: When you are making judgments of those who tell us they concern themselves with the common weal, can you be too tough?

The problem with the modern world, one might well say, is that most of us have been too intellectually flabby, too understanding, too easy to forgive. We aren't tough enough.

Instead of searching for those who might make legitimate and sound rulers, for instance, those of us in democracies have been too lazy to hunt for them.

We prefer entertainment to discomfort. Example: A local radio station, after covering Sadat's murder for some time, closed off the word from the network to play music. Their first selection: "Love Potion No. 9."

Now, nobody needs to hear "Love Potion No. 9."

It, frankly, has nothing to say to anyone's mind. Information about what is happening in the real world — as distinct from that unreal and totally out-of-touch one in which recordings of popular music are made — is, on the other hand, necessary.

We need to know what is happening in the real world in which we live.

To have coverage of the Sadat tragedy cut off so that a television network can carry "General Hospital" and thus not offend all those millions who narcotize themselves on this kind of trash every day is a tragedy.

It is the same kind of tragedy which allows those of us blessed with the inestimable favor of having a choice about our own form of government to choose instead of those who merit the job as our rulers those who are stupid.

It is the kind of tragedy which allows us to act stupidly by ourselves, by choosing what is less worthy but more entertaining over what might require us to do something human — i.e., use our God-given intelligence.

What is sad about it is that those of us who are free are not condemned for making superficial judgments.

In a world in which terrorism, of the right and of the left, can run rampant, killing as it chooses, how can anybody say, "You take things too seriously. You're too tough on everybody?"

In such a world, it is frivolity, not seriousness, which is superficial and reprehensible.

Where the survival of the human race is at stake, as it is today, once man has created bombs which can end it, how can "too serious" be a serious charge?

And there's Ronald Reagan, reading words somebody else wrote for him, telling us "volunteerism" should take up the slack the federal government has laid down in caring for the poor and the needy.

Does this man — who has been neither poor nor needy for many years, and who gives the appearance of one who does not seek out the company of either of those groups — understand that all the volunteerism practiced in America in the year before he took office would have to be increased by 140 percent to fill up the gap he and his advisors have created? That isn't very likely to happen.

Or did he, after reading that statement, just go upstairs at the White House to have a good nap?

'PASS-FAIL' OUT

The auto industry continues to grump, from time to time, about federal auto test crashes at 35 miles per hour though the law requires meeting only a 30-mph crash standard. The rule may be changed in response to pressure, though it shouldn't be; testing at higher speed is a greater assurance to the public.

Meanwhile, another significant change has been made. The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, abandoning the "pass-fail" rating, will merely publish test data and an explanation of them. The presumption is that this will allow consumers to evaluate the figures on their own. Unfortunately, there is some reason to think this may be more confusing than beneficial. The pass-fail rating, however imperfect, was a real help to prospective buyers. — Alamogordo Daily News

RIE IN RUSSIA

Life in Russia is enough to drive a comrade to drink, if only he could afford it.

It's a lucky thing most Russians don't own cars, because the price of gasoline is going up to about $2 a gallon. The average Russian's $229-a-month income doesn't allow much joy-riding.

If Ivan does own a car and he's brooding about the increase in gas prices, he won't get ahead by trying to drown his sorrows. The price of vodka is going to about $8 a pint.

Things could always get worse, and they most likely will. Amid rumors that the price of bread and other basic foods would also be going up, the commissars put out the official word that this is a dirty, rotten, filthy capitalist lie.

The price of food will NOT be going up. The only catch is, there's a food shortage and there's not enough to eat. — News-Bulletin, Belen editorial

In view of opposition to President Reagan's desire to reduce outlays of public funds to support the indigent, perhaps the time is now for the Congress to consider instituting another Public Works Administration (WPA) era.

During Franklin D. Roosevelt's first term of office, when bread lines were a way of life for millions, he devised WPA. Under this project workers built highways, water and sewer systems, and other improvements that improved the quality of life for Americans faced with coping with the "dust bowl," the depression and lack of employment.

True, the $44 per month that WPA workers drew would not suffice today. However, if a determination was made on those able bodied persons currently enjoying the benefits of public funds, and they were required to work to receive government doles, it's possible the cost to the taxpayer, for supporting indigents who choose not to work, could be lowered. In addition, these same recipients of public funds would be contributing something towards boosting the nation's economy.

If getting something for nothing is becoming the American way of life, then this trend should be immediately reversed.

If those who are able to work were required to work to draw government subsistence, then the problem of unemployment would be greatly reduced.

In fact, those persons now living a life of virtual ease, with sufficient to eat, just could decide to try and improve their lot in life by finding employment that would pay them better, and benefit society as a whole.

There's a tale in the Bible, regarding workers in vineyards, that those who worked could eat.

We can't see anything wrong with people earning their way. —CD

Letters to the Editor

Dear editor: Again this year, but to an even greater extent than in the past, the Ruidoso Police Department received a lot of citizen support and cooperation with our preparations and work during the Appenecade weekend. I would like to take this opportunity to thank those individuals and groups for this assistance, time and food donations. It is indeed gratifying to know the community appreciates the long hours the local, state, county and Mounted Patrol volunteer law enforcement officers put in.

Thank you one and all — your efforts have not gone unnoticed.

GLOBAL WAR COMING?

Following the slaying of Egyptian President Anwar Sadat there's been talk ... in some circles ... of impending global war.

Balderdash!
 We don't think the oil moguls want to risk losing the millions in revenues they are presently enjoying ... 'cause they must realize that they must keep the golden goose laying eggs.

It isn't likely that the Arabs would relish an all out war ... with the winner to gain all the chips ... against the Jews. The PLO doesn't want to risk losing everything. The Libyans can't be looking forward to the possibility of being annihilated.

True, greed could enter the picture ... as could malice ... likewise, envy ... in which case there ain't no crystal ball to forecast what someone might decide to do.

It appears as though those over in the Middle East who are doing the most crowing are acting like a Banty rooster ... all noise and nothing to back it up.

Now, huffing one's feathers ... and huffing, puffing and bluffing ... is one thing ... getting down to the nitty-gritty of waging war is quite another. It do seem as though it's likely offensives will be limited to who can shout the loudest ... and to heck with the sticks and stones.

This isn't to mean that America shouldn't be prepared ... if we're going to have to bluff our way through this mess, we'd best be able to prove we ain't bluffing ... even if'n we are.

Course, as one wag put it, after Sadat's death ... it doesn't pay to be the head of a government these days.

However, it doesn't seem likely that any of the seemingly belligerent countries in the Middle East are about to start an all out war ... mostly because they'd be all pooted out after the first pop ... and this'd take away all the fun out of being in a position to raise Cain ... and be a thorn in the side of someone ... or something ... which'd take all the joy out of living.

Or so it do seem as of the nonce ... possibly, even, of two nonces.

SHAKY ON POLITICS

'Twas ice tea time Thursday ... just after the mules'd quit being sold at Ruidoso Downs ... that I, unfortunately, encountered Shakey Pete ... bound, as was I, for a moment's quiet meditation, over a glass of ice tea.

Hardly had I become ensconced on a comfortable seat ... across the table from Shakey ... when he let loose with a blast against politicians in general.

"There's so many guys running for governor, as is casting their ships upon the waters, that we're just about to run out of waters for casting." "Why, it's downright ... what's holding up that waitress? ... ridiculous. Ain't no way a dozen or so ... maybe a dozen and a half ... guys or gals, can finance a pre-convention campaign ... 'cause there just ain't enough bucks to go around."

The waitress came ... served us our ice tea ... hovered as she awaited payment ... which I outfumbled Shakey for ... which made my day.

After quaffing ... not deeply ... for Shakey, that is ... he proceeded to pursue his pet peeve of the moment.

"Now Old Bruce ain't done much this time around ... but as much as he did last time out," Shakey said. "And I can't imagine anyone thinking he's big enough to solve all our problems ... and not get shot down ... 'cause methinks Bruce is in a position to get shot down ... 'cause there ain't no way no one can come up with a solution to our problems ... even if all these guys as is running for governor is claiming they has."

Shakey paused ... looked into the bottom of his glass ... looked at me ... kinda pathetic like ... kinda thirsty like ... and I got the hint.

"Why take a simple thing like the new Official New Mexico Blue Book," Shakey said ... "why Shirley Hooper ... she's our Secretary of State ... is in such a state that the book is for 1979-1980 ... and if'n she's that far behind the times, where do you think that leaves Bruce?"

And the way I see it ... it leaves us waiting about 15 months for no more Bruce.

BRIEF BIT: Shouldn't be too much longer before we learn that Reagan's either gone on a diet, or purchased a wardrobe of larger britches ... CD

Transforming blocks of ice into centerpieces is an art that requires a very delicate touch

BY JEAN PATTERSON
Staff Writer/Photographer

Sea horses out of ice, swans out of sugar and turtles out of dough are only a few of the things Gunter Schillalies creates.

Pastry chef at the Inn of the Mountain Gods, Schillalies took time off to perform his ice-carving prowess at White Mountain Schools Thursday.

The other chef, who did all the ice carving, left the Inn. They asked me 'Can you try?' so I tried. My first carving was a heart because it was the easiest," Schillalies said. However, getting both halves of the heart exactly the same is really quite difficult.

Originally from East Germany, Schillalies learned the pastry business when he was 14 years old. His family, who were all in the gardening business, then moved to West Germany.

"I took one of those tests that say what career you should go into and it said things like connoisseur, watch-maker and bakery work. Before that I wanted to be a butcher," Schillalies said.

Schillalies then attended school for four years to learn the bakery-pastry art. When he first moved to the United States, he worked in a bakery in St. Paul, Minnesota, learning the basics of American baking.

"I've worked at the Inn for three years. Before that, I worked in Pennsylvania and before that, in Delaware," Schillalies said.

As pastry chef at the Inn, Schillalies is required to create centerpieces for conventions and receptions scheduled there. A swan made entirely of sugar is one of his famous creations, as is a basket carved of ice, filled with fruits.

"The basket of ice is difficult to carve because everything must be balanced," Schillalies said.

When his ice sea horse is used for a centerpiece, trays of oysters, shrimp and seafood are usually placed around it.

Schillalies also does some work for private parties, such as carving a horse's head of ice for a centerpiece for one customer.

"When I first get the ice (transported from a company in Roswell), it is very hard. I have to wait an hour or two to begin working on it.

"Using a chain saw to start the carving helps," Schillalies said. After the initial basic shape is cut into the ice, he then selects tools from his $600 set to begin chiseling and shaping the form.

"I've broken two ice blocks this year. If it is too early and too frozen to begin working on it, it explodes into a million pieces when I hit it with the chisel," Schillalies said.

He then displayed several cuts on his hand, resulting from injuries sustained during episodes such as those.

Most of Schillalies' ice carvings take about an hour to complete. He then puts it in the freezer overnight so when it is removed to be placed on the table, it is "crisp and hard and snowy white," said Schillalies. For special effects, a hole is sometimes cut into the base of the carving and a colored flashlight is inserted, giving the entire carving a translucent quality.

While ice carving is one of the things Schillalies does well, his main occupation is centered on making cake decorations and bread dough formations. Some of his dough art is shaped to look like baskets, turtles and even rabbits, complete with background trees.

While at home, however, cooking duties are shared between Schillalies and his wife, Rosanne. They admit that there is not much baking done at home.

"People are amazed when they see me at the grocery store, buying a plain white loaf of bread," Rosanne said.

With his artistic creations, Schillalies has won several trophies and plaques. At a Chef's Association competition in Albuquerque, he has won first prize for the last two years.

"But the only money I've ever won though, was for a third place in a contest in Cleveland once," Schillalies said.

EARN 12.14% TAX FREE
 Our All Savers Certificate will pay you 12.14%* tax free! Depending on your tax bracket, it could be the highest yield you've ever earned. Using the chart you can see the rate of taxable interest you'd have to earn in order to equal 12.14% after taxes. You'll be able to earn up to a maximum lifetime amount of $2,000 tax-free...$1,000 on an individual return.

ONLY $100 IS REQUIRED
 As little as $100 in an All Savers Certificate will earn 12.14% in only one year. Nowhere else can less than $500 earn that kind of interest on just a one year term.

IT'S FULLY INSURED
 No worry about the safety of your funds. The All Savers Certificate is insured by the F.S.L.I.C.

IF YOUR FAMILY INCOME IS:	YOUR TAX BRACKET PROBABLY IS:	THE INTEREST RATE YOU'D HAVE TO RECEIVE TO EARN 12.14% AFTER FEDERAL INCOME TAX IS:

$35,000	40%	20.23%
$25,000	30%	17.34%
$20,000	25%	16.19%
$10,000 OR LESS	18%	14.80%

*12.14% rate can only be obtained if interest is left on deposit until maturity.
 Figures shown are approximate and are based on 1981 tax tables. Interest rate of 12.14% is equal to 70% of average investment yield on one year U.S. Treasury Bill as of the most recent auction date.

CONFIDENTIAL REPORT: Readers don't like sex, violence and foul language on television and movie screens. A recent poll shows that readers are offended by the lack of morality on the screen and want it cleaned up in a hurry. Your letters run five to one in favor of firmer censorship. "The people who make these filthy movies could not care less about what it's doing to young people today," wrote Thelma Kroupa of Traverse City, Mich. "By all means, censor them!" "There's far too much swearing to suit me, even with TV censorship," wrote Elsie Lukenbach of Muscatine, Iowa. "Some of the worst offenders got the highest ratings, too." "Who needs that garbage in their homes?" wrote Mike Irving of Boise, Idaho. "We need a return to morality and God!" "Let's see more wholesome TV shows like the 'Waltons' and 'Little House on the Prairie,'" wrote Martha Rayl of Kokomo, Ind. "I wish some of these filthy soap operas would be edited, too." Wilma York of Warren, Ohio, watches very little TV these days. "I don't like nudity and sex in these movies," she explained. "If people have a right to see dirty movies," wrote Delores Curl of Minneapolis, Minn. "I have a right to see clean movies." "I'm a red-blooded all-American lady and I resent such showings," wrote Alice Balko of Conroe, Texas. "Why not make movies our children can watch?" "Who is it making our pictures in America?" asked a housewife with three children from Okeechobee, Fla. "I can't let my kids watch even the censored stuff!" "I'm no prude and think passion is fine," wrote Mrs. Howard Mead of Alhndrum, Ohio, "but let's leave a little to the imagination." But other readers disagreed. "If you don't want to watch it, turn it off or don't buy a ticket. The small screen and the big screen are simply reflections of mankind," wrote Robert J. Dean, Jr. of Versailles, Kentucky.

TV BACKSTAGE Macho TV superstar Erik Estrada has been hit with an avalanche of big offers since Hollywood heard that he'd run into contractual difficulties for the "CHiPs" series. We have learned that the NBC star has already been wooed by the rival CBS network for two different projects—one including an astronomical $100,000 week for his own new series. Erik has also been asked to star in several different new movies planned for production over the next 12 months. Ironically, Erik will literally double his millionaire status as a result of the feud. He'll hold onto his 25 percent ownership in "CHiPs" while benefiting from other projects. Meanwhile, former colleague Larry Wilcox vows: "I'll happily stay with the show forever."

TV CLOSEUP Judy Stewart, President of People Resources, is direct, creative and involved. Her creativity thrives on a diversity of challenges, so she accepts the offer of a group of young entrepreneurs to create the concept for and to direct the marketing of a new business enterprise geared to the highly specialized needs of the burgeoning market of single people in the United States. For Judy Stewart, People Resources is the "answer to those specialized and very unique needs." She is now being booked to appear on local and national TV talk shows.
