ELECTION TOMORROW

Large turnout expected

Political observers at Ruidoso's Administrative Center are anticipating a record turnout in Tuesday's municipal election, with some estimates running as high as 1,064 ballots to be cast, which would be an all time high.

The village minutes show that 953 voters turned out in the 1978 election in which incumbent mayor Lloyd L. Davis Jr., defeated John Cupp for mayor and incumbent trustees Sherman Atwood and Frank Sawyer defeated Jim Wooldridge, Tom Loudon and Wayne Dacy for council seats.

In the 1980 election a total of 984 votes were cast, with a field of 13 running for trustee.

Electing in 1980 were incumbent trustees George White and Benny Coulston, with others in the field including Don Dale, Jim Wooldridge, Bill Streeter, Charlotte Jarrett, Andy Rue, Ed Jungbluth, Bob Livingston, Bill Karn, Elmer Pirelli, Bucky Morrison and Ab Gunter.

Due to many residents who live within a voting precinct but actually reside outside the village limits, pegging the number of eligible voters is, village manager Jim Hine said, "an impossibility."

Hine said, "If I had to make an estimate on the number of people who can vote Tuesday, I'd have to guess there would be about 1,400 who could go to the polls. However that's just a guess, as we can't go by the precinct count of voters used in the primary and general elections."

In Ruidoso, in addition to candidates, the question to authorize the village trustees to negotiate with Ruidoso Natural Gas Company for purchase of the utility by the village is on the ballot.

Candidates for a four year term as mayor in Ruidoso are incumbent Lloyd L. Davis Jr., and incumbent trustee George White. Candidates for a four year term as trustee are incumbents Sherman Atwood and Frank Sawyer, and challengers Terry Coe, Al Junge, Romeo Klein, Mike Morris, Jerry Shaw and Bill Streeter.

Incumbent Municipal Judge Sam Nunnally is unopposed for another four year term.

The polls, for all precincts, will be open from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m., in the multi-purpose room of the Ruidoso Public Library.

Election judges are Helen Brown, Mary Wooldridge and Ruth Wimberly, with Edith Beall and Earline Phillips as alternates. The clerks are Myra Taylor, Elnora Jorren and Emadair Jones, with Marjorie Hine and Dorothy Dillard as alternates.

Voting for the office of mayor in Ruidoso are incumbent Norman Wheeler, with Bob Power, "Boots" Nelson and J. C. Day Jr., as challengers. Seeking the two positions as village trustee are incumbent Lois D. Beavers, with Jake Harris and Lee Boyles as challengers. Fred Bernard is unopposed as a candidate for municipal judge. All terms are for four years.

The election judge will be Martha Eucher, with Juanita L. Burke and Pat Watkins as clerks and Mrs. Elmon Randolph as alternate.

The polls will be open from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m., in the Municipal Building.

In Capitan, incumbent mayor Don Stark is being challenged by Richard Coons, Vernon Beavers and Alfred Montes. For the two positions on the council, candidates are Harold Shelby, Benny Coker, Frank Miller, Sharon Horton and Madison Cook. All terms are for four years.

The election judge will be Margaret Rench, with Barbara Sanchez, Pat Schear and Helen Bray as clerks. Jessie Herd is alternate clerk.

The polls will be open from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m., in the Lincoln County Fair Building.

RUDY FLACK

Rudy Flack receives Silver Beaver award

Rudy Flack of Ruidoso was awarded the Silver Beaver Award, the highest award a Scout volunteer can receive, at a presentation Saturday in Roswell at the Boy Scout Council Banquet.

Flack joined the Scouts in 1948 as a Cub Scout. In 1958, he became an Eagle Scout, and from then until 1960, he served as assistant Scoutmaster and Post Advisor.

Flack served in scouting as Counselor of eligibility, merit badge counselor and assistant scoutmaster from 1959 to 1979.

He had basic Scouters training as well as Wood Badge training during the summer of 1981. Flack has taught Scouters basic training and is on the Wood Badge staff for the course being offered in April.

Other scouting awards that Flack has earned are: the Arrow of Light, 1950; the Religious Award, 1956; the Explorer Silver award, 1957; the Scouters Training award, 1979; the Order of the Arrow, 1980; the District Award of Merit, 1980; the Boy Scouts Wood Badge, 1981; the Brotherhood of Order of the Arrow, 1981; and the Arrowhead Honor Award, 1981.

Flack has also worked with Scouting in this council as Unit Commissioner, Assistant Scoutmaster for the National Jamboree and Order of the Arrow fall fellowship and chapter advisor.

Flack has lived in Ruidoso since September, 1978. He is married and has two sons. He is a member of the Presbyterian Church and is the office manager for Coulston and Associates, Realtors.

Flack said that his Ruidoso Boy Scout Troop 59 won the Deshurely Camping Award for the area Boy Scout Council by having the most scouts at Camp Philmont at the National Jamboree, and at the summer camp at Camp Wehinahpay and the Aquatic Base in Carlsbad on the Pecos River.

Flack also said that at Saturday's banquet, four scouts from his troop were recognized as Eagle Scouts, more than any other troop in the area. He also received a plaque from the scouts in his troop thanking Flack for all he has done for them.

Exciting season planned at track

Ruidoso Downs Race Track's 1982 horse racing schedule, which begins May 8, promises to be the most exciting and profitable in the track's 35-year history.

The 77-day schedule will begin with the Kansas Derby trials for three-year-olds and conclude with the 24th edition of the All-American Futurity September 6.

The 1982 Futurity will have a total purse of $2,530,000, over $1 million more than last year. The winner's purse will be $1 million.

Last year's winner's purse was $528,000.

Last year's total handle was $40,080,694, the largest ever. According to Ruidoso-Downs Incorporated general manager Linley MacGillivray, there's no reason to think the figure won't be surpassed this season.

"The total handle has gone up every year since I know of," MacGillivray said. "Ruidoso is a growing area and a popular tourist town. Also quarter-horse racing is big in New Mexico and Ruidoso in particular."

Besides the All-American Futurity there are several other races on the schedule that should have large total purses. The All-American Derby, which will be on August 29, will have an approximate total purse of $1 million. The All-American Gold Cup, scheduled on August 22, should also have a total purse of around $1 million.

The Kansas Futurity, scheduled for May 30, should have an approximate purse of $750,000. The Rainbow Futurity, scheduled for July 25, and the Rainbow Derby, scheduled for July 4, are expected to have total purses of around $600,000 and $575,000, respectively.

Other races that should have large purses include the World Championship Quarter Horse Classic, the Rainbow Silver Cup, the Rainbow Thoroughbred Futurity and the Norgor Thoroughbred Futurity. All are expected to have total purses of at least $100,000.

Ruidoso Downs is currently undergoing extensive remodeling and seating changes that should help increase attendance at the track. The track is expected to have a seating capacity in excess of 5,000 this season.

Last year the attendance for the season was 334,516, an average of 4,779 per day. With the increase in seating capacity, there's an excellent chance those figures will be topped.

WADE TORRES (top) of Ruidoso High School wrestles in the championship consolation 145 pound match in the state AAA-AA wrestling tournament in Los Lunas Saturday. Torres lost this match but still finished fourth in the state, the best of nine Ruidoso athletes entered in the competition. See story on page five.

Suit against gas company investigated

The News has investigated trustee candidate Al Junge's statement in Thursday's issue, "I've also just learned that there is a suit pending against the gas company in the amount of approximately one quarter of a million dollars and I am curious as to why this was not brought out in the feasibility report," in reference to the question on tomorrow's municipal election ballot to authorize the village trustees to open negotiations for the purchase of Ruidoso Natural Gas Company.

In the December 3, 1981, issue of The News, the following notice was published, under Court Report for the 12th Judicial District: "Lawson and Sonya Smith ask for $50,675.17 compensatory damages and $200,000 punitive and/or exemplary damages from Ruidoso Natural Gas Company, Inc. Complaint for damages due to negligence was filed November 23 with charges that mobile home and recreational vehicle space was lost with installation of pipeline."

Howard Sleeper, Ruidoso Gas Company manager, said to The News Friday morning, "No service (notice of action on the lawsuit) of any kind has been made."

Ski report

Sierra Blanca-Undisturbed snow depth midway on the mountain is 57 inches. Surface conditions are hard-packed in the morning and softening through the afternoon. Skiing conditions are good and all lifts and trails are open.

Eagle Creek-Average snow depth is 10 to 15 inches. Lower Boot Hill and the beginners' slopes are open. Skiing conditions are good in the morning and fair in the afternoon.

Garner quits as Downs' police chief

Ruidoso Downs Police Chief Ray Garner presented his resignation to Mayor Norman Wheeler February 22, effective March 5.

Garner has accepted a position with the State Police Criminal Investigative Division, based in Albuquerque.

Garner, who has been police chief in Ruidoso Downs for three years, said, "It has been a very interesting job. I feel I've accomplished several things. In the last 12 months, over 47 narcotic arrests have been made by the department and a number of other felony arrests, such as burglary and larceny. I feel I've managed to upgrade the department somewhat by implementing single units and adding an additional person to the department."

When asked about his new position, Garner said, "I'm very excited about it." Sergeant Carl DuCep, who has been with the Ruidoso Downs Police Department for eight months, has been named by the mayor as Garner's successor, pending confirmation by the board of trustees.

DuCep, from St. Louis, Missouri, has a 15 year background in law enforcement and a college education. "He came extremely highly recommended by (his previous) department," Garner said. "In fact, they wanted him back."

It is uncertain when final approval of Garner's resignation and confirmation of DuCep's appointment as the new police chief will be made by the trustees, as two of the trustees are on vacation and trustee Don Shaver has resigned, according to Garner.

FINAL PLANS for phase one of the new high school were presented at a special school board meeting Friday. The completed structure will be the largest building in Ruidoso and is being planned to hold a maximum of 1,200 students.

High school plans finalized

Final plans for the first phase of building for the new high school were presented today at a special school board meeting by Steve Strain, representing Alley-Cannell Associates, architects for the new school.

Strain presented plans for the first and second floors, with the second floor being on ground level. He said they have studied every detail closely in working on the plans. "We looked at things like materials, surface qualities, door swings and furniture layout," he said.

The second floor of the building will feature a commons area, which Strain said will serve as "the crossroads of the entire school." Plans for this area include vaulted ceilings, banquet windows and a street mall effect. "It is a very large room, 77 feet from wall to wall," Strain said.

Plans for the school incorporate space for a maximum of 1,200 students, in terms of locker space, according to Strain. "We're actually building for 750, though," said Tom Hansen, high school principal.

"We have left room for expansion after predicting future growth," Strain said.

The color scheme of the building will be in earth tones, Strain reported. "We intend to do a complete color chart showing every color selection we can think of that we are going to have to coordinate," said Strain.

"The total complex will scale nice and will set with the land very nice," he said.

"We are very involved in this project, very excited about it."

Strain reported that the architects plan to issue the drawings to contractors on March 26, and the school board will open bids April 27, tentatively.

School board president Dave Parks was concerned that contractors be given sufficient time to study the plans before submitting bids.

"We're planning on living in this building for about 40 years, so we're making sure it's as right as can be," Hansen said.

Strain said that the new high school will be the largest building in Ruidoso when it is completed.

Billingsley discusses county

Lincoln County Manager Truman A. "Bill" Billingsley recently discussed developments in several "priority" areas during an interview about the state of the county.

Concerning roads, Billingsley said that the county has received approval for paving of the Fort Stanton Road, an approximately $200,000 project, which should be completed in the spring.

Also, the county is currently completing a $46,000 school bus road improvement project, Billingsley reported.

For next fiscal year, beginning July 1, 1982, the county has submitted an application for a cooperative agreement with the State Highway Department for approximately $214,000 worth of paving and will spend $107,000 on school bus route improvements.

Billingsley added that the additional revenue being received on subdivision road assessment "has enabled the county road department to more extensively maintain subdivisions."

Concerning ambulance service, Billingsley reported that the county has just received word of approval for a $6,200 federal grant to be applied toward the purchase of a new ambulance for the Lincoln County Ambulance Service.

The new vehicle will be assigned to Capitan to replace its present ambulance. Billingsley said that with the addition of the new ambulance, the county will have one stationed in Honda, Alto, Capitan, Carrizosa and Corona, with all of the vehicles meeting current specification requirements.

Concerning the county courthouse sub-office to be created in Ruidoso, Billingsley said it should be completed in December of this year.

The suboffice will be located just west of the Ruidoso Municipal Airport, on airport grounds.

The building will house a public health office, with a full-time public health nurse and a clerk, and a sheriff's substation, in which the district attorney and juvenile probation officer will be quartered.

LINCOLN COUNTY MANAGER Truman A. "Bill" Billingsley addresses current developments in some of the priority areas of the county in a recent interview concerning the state of Lincoln County.

man, Care Center volunteer said the dinner to raise funds for the center's van was very successful as almost $700 was taken in.

Trustees meeting today

A special meeting of the Ruidoso trustees will be held at 3:30 this afternoon, at the Administrative Center, to set the date for the special election on the question of an $8 million water bond election.

Means heads Mule Skinners

Melvin Means was elected president of the Ruidoso Downs Mule Skinners at the organization's annual meeting Friday evening.

Named with Means were Mike Hernandez Sr., vice president and Wilma Webb, secretary-treasurer.

Directors elected include Dave McMath, Albert Richardson, Briscoe West, Pete Wood, J. B. Rogers, Ed Hyman, Elwood Gradine, and from Carlsbad, Wayne Brazel and Ernest Gard.

The 1981 mule racing card is tentatively set for October 8-10 at Ruidoso Downs Race Track.

Plans are also underway for the annual trail ride, tentatively scheduled early in May. Details on this event will be announced.

No recalled salmon sold in Ruidoso

None of the seven and three-quarter ounce cans of salmon, coded "K13" in the middle of a designation line, suspected of containing botulism, were sold in the Ruidoso Safeway Store, manager Karl Franzer advised The News this morning.

Billingsley said that there are plans for an office for an administrative person who will have a computer terminal available to use for providing answers to routine questions regarding records and tax matters.

"It is anticipated that these county services will be made considerably more convenient to a great number of people in the Ruidoso area," Billingsley said.

Concerning the federal government's effect on the county budget, Billingsley said that the state legislature was very uncooperative.

"They took no action to increase revenue for the counties, and if payment in lieu of taxes and general revenue sharing funds are reduced or eliminated, programs such as ambulance service, senior citizens programs, library programs and similar programs will be curtailed or totally eliminated," he said.

"The state legislature has taken no action to provide assistance to counties as compensation for the services mandated by law upon the counties, such as health offices, courtrooms and office space for judicial personnel," said Billingsley.

The federal government owns 36 percent of the land in Lincoln County, and 10 percent of the land belongs to the state, Billingsley reported, so if the payment in lieu of taxes and general revenue sharing programs are reduced or eliminated, and the state takes no action to replace revenues, the county will suffer.

Animal Control has new number

The Ruidoso Fort Stanton Animal Control office, Ruidoso, has a new phone number: 257-2027, Jack Sniadecki, Animal Control Officer, announced Friday.

"This new number," he said, "will relieve the police department from handling animal control calls and will enable me to provide faster service."

MLS announces GRI class

Greg Masters of the Multiple Listing Service committee of the Board of Realtors recently announced that a Graduate Realtor Institute (GRI) class will be given April 5 through 8 at the Ruidoso Holiday Inn.

At least 25 people are needed to enroll for the class, said Masters. He said that the course is designed to broaden one's real estate knowledge and that credit hours may be applied for a broker's license later. Masters said that the course is designed to make all Ruidoso Realtors more professional.

REPRESENTING RESTAURANT owners at Thursday's career awareness day at the high school was Victor Alonzo, who, with the help of visual aids, discussed the aspects of running a restaurant with students interested in such a career.

Various professions described to students

by BARBY GRANT
Staff Writer

The second annual career awareness day, sponsored by the Altrusa Club, was held at Ruidoso High School Thursday, February 25. Representatives from various occupations spent the morning speaking to groups of students about their particular field.

All ninth and 11th grade students attended the presentations of representatives from three different occupations which they were interested in learning about.

Following the presentations, the Altrusa members provided a luncheon for the speakers and distributed critique sheets.

According to Linda Skellett, chairman of the project, the completed critique sheets provided Altrusa with a lot of new ideas which may be implemented next year.

The critiques "did not have one negative comment about the students," said Sandy Gladden, high school diagnostician, who worked with Altrusa in coordinating the project.

Gladden also said that "generally the students reacted very favorably to it. They enjoyed being able to participate in several of the presentations, she said."

Most of the speakers at the career conference were local, including Al Chesney and Rex Skellett, architect and draftsman; Tim Collins, surveyor; Ted Bennett and Wayne Dacy, engineers; John Howden, general contractor; Pete Van Winkle, plumber; Wayne Savage, electrician, and Jerry Pope, heavy equipment operator—all representing the construction field.

Representing the field of business were Benny Coulston, real estate; Wayne McGuffin, banking; Andree Cohen, secretarial/clerical; Ron Hemphill, accounting; Herb Brunell, retail sales and Victor Alonzo, restaurant. The health field was represented by Dr. Paul Whitman, physician; Kathy Boyer, nurse; Joe Nagera, x-ray technician; Dr. Joe Tam, dentist; Dr. Lynn Willard, veterinarian; Rob Steinmetz, physical therapist; Don Swalander, pharmacist and Chris Schneider, lab technician.

Eddie Crane represented cosmetologists for the technology field. Marge Vallejos from New Horizons represented vocational guidance. The agricultural field was represented by Steve Makowski, forestry, and Randy Isler, fish and game.

Representing social services were Ron Harris, lawyer; Dave Pfeffer and Bob Kenney, policemen; Nellie Jones, Mickie McGuire and Phyllis Benham, teachers; Gene Wright and Ron Maskew, coaches.

Artisans were represented by Tim Wierwille, potter; Gary Myers, painter, and Tim Wishard, goldsmith. Cale Dickey represented journalism.

Several representatives from state universities and the military services were also present as speakers at the conference.

Linda Skellett said the career conference "is a community effort by many different people."

"The Altrusa Club and all those who worked on it, the staff at school, take great pride in presenting it and feel it is one of our most significant projects, in that it enables students to be exposed to different occupational areas. We feel it has good potential for continuing to grow and to benefit all areas, including students and speakers," Skellett said.

"It was a pleasure to work on because I feel we fulfilled a community need."

Patrol dogs are Jack Miller's business

by WILL TURBOW
Staff Writer

RUIDOSO POLICE DOG, DUKE, looks rather pleased with himself after fending off an agitator in a practice exercise. Duke is not the only one pleased with his work. The entire Police Department says Duke is doing a great job and it has accepted him as one of the gang.

Jack Miller knows and understands dogs. That's his business. Miller is the owner of Orion Guard and Patrol Dogs, where he trains personal protection dogs for police and security work.

Miller said that a man and a dog make an extremely effective team that can work together to back each other up. "A dog is a very good weapon that is hard to beat. A dog with a handler is even harder to beat," he said.

Miller said that as a teenager, he was always involved with animals. He said that he started out to earn his degree as a veterinarian when he entered Pennsylvania State University. However, after having the opportunity to work closely with dogs, Miller said that he became attracted to the field of dog training instead.

After spending four years at Penn State, where he studied animal behavior and received his degree in animal reproduction and genetics, he went to Albuquerque. There he spent another year at the Aztec School of Canine Training learning canine behavior modification and training dogs for protection work.

Around a year ago, the 24-year-old Miller moved back to his native Slippery Rock, Pennsylvania, and set up Orion Guard and Patrol Dogs. There his business thrived, he said, but after delivering Duke, a German Shepherd, to the Ruidoso Police Department in September, he decided to move the main branch of Orion Guard and Patrol Dogs to Capitlan. He has been living there with his wife, Dana, since December.

Miller said that he moved here because the weather allows him to train his dogs outdoors year-round. "Otherwise, I might miss three to four months of training back there (Pennsylvania)," he said.

Miller also said that protection dogs are more accepted in the western United States than in the east. "Dogs have been used for this type of work out here for a long time. There's more acceptance of personal patrol dogs out here than out east," he said. There are also more trainers out here, said Miller, although he added that attack dogs are slowly becoming more accepted back east.

Miller said that a woman who studied under him in Pennsylvania still maintains a branch office of Orion Guard and Patrol Dogs in the Pittsburgh area. He said that she operates the kennel for a select clientele that needs and uses attack and patrol dogs in that part of the country.

In training a dog for security or police work, Miller said that he is involved with behavior modification. "We modify a dog's territorial behavior. We teach a dog to look at humans as territorial invaders and to defend that territory," said Miller.

Miller explained that his method of behavior modification training is different than other methods of dog training, such as classical conditioning or the Schutzhund method. Classical conditioning is involved with obedience work, such as sitting, kneeling, fetching, etc., where a certain action is associated with a command. The Schutzhund method is a German philosophy of dog behavior that is used for sport overseas, according to Miller.

He said that obedience work cannot be placed on the same level as attack work. With obedience training, he pointed out, a dog goes through a certain program, and if a dog does not meet the expectations of a trainer employing these other methods, then that dog may be scrapped from the program.

"That's not so in our work. We study an animal's behavior and instincts, and we work with the motivation behind a certain behavior that we want to bring out and then reinforce it," said Miller.

He added that every one of the dogs he trains is trained differently. "We don't have a set program. Our dogs are custom tailored to fit the exact situation," he said. An aggressive dog may go through the training period quickly, but a shy dog can still be worked on and turned into a good attack dog, Miller noted.

He said that since dogs were domesticated centuries ago, they can be taught the aggressive behavior needed in attack work. A true wild dog can't be trained for attack work, according to Miller. "Once we establish humans as territorial invaders, we can work on utilizing their (dogs') instinctive aggression," he said.

Miller said that a dog's aggressive behavior should never have to be retrained if behavior modification is used. He said that, using other dog training methods, remedial work may have to be performed since a dog's learned abilities will fade if not used regularly. The aggressive behavior brought about by a selfmotivating drive in the dog will not fade, said Miller.

The method of behavior modification, said Miller, puts a dog through four phases of training.

Miller explained that in the first phase of training, a dog's critical zone, alert zone and reaction zones are established. A dog is conditioned to respond aggressively to certain actions of a potential opponent. Miller said that in this first phase, the behavior that is developed is "appetitive," which means that the dog wants to behave in an aggressive manner so intensely and desire are naturally developed.

The second phase further increases the intensity and desire to perform the behavior. Miller noted. The dog is also taught how to fight and win a fight, he said.

In phase three, Miller said, the dog will learn the finer points of combat with human opponents. The dog will learn to use its enormous speed advantage, how to defend itself from an opponent's offensive weapon, to attack on command as well as on provocation and to defend an area assigned to it, said Miller.

Miller stated that a dog is technically classified as finished with training after phase three, but that phase four makes a dog more reliable. This last phase is designed to further the generalization, but at the same time, to teach the animal to discriminate and apply the appropriate responses to the appropriate stimuli.

Miller said that in each phase, there are various levels which teach the dogs specific actions. He said that most dogs go through six levels and that levels above that are extensions of past training, but with more complicated activities, such as tracking, building searches, drug work and jumping through windows.

"If someone has a dog that they want trained, we'll train it," said Miller, adding that he evaluates dogs for free. Training is usually started after the dog has matured, anywhere from a year to 18 months.

The majority of dogs that Miller uses are ordinary dogs off the street, he said. If a police department or security agency wants a high quality, registered dog, then such a dog can be easily located, said Miller. Almost any breed can be used for patrol or attack work, he noted, as long as the dog weighs more than 60 pounds.

"We will not put a bad dog on the street. If a dog isn't 100 percent reliable in my opinion, then I won't let him go, and we stand by our dogs later," said Miller.

Miller said that it generally takes 10 to 16 weeks to train a personal protection dog, but it may be longer depending on the individual animal. Patrol dogs for specialized police work may take anywhere from 20 to 24 weeks, he said.

It costs about $2,500 to train a personal protection dog, around $4,000 for a police patrol dog and between $9,000 and $12,000 for a dog doing drug work, said Miller. These costs go toward paying for the dogs' housing and food, training fees, agitator fees, insurance, equipment costs and travel, which Miller said is probably the biggest expense.

Miller also helps animal control officer Jack Sniadecki at the Ruidoso-Fort Stanton Animal Control Facility. As kennelmaster, Miller maintains the kennel and the dogs which are brought in. Miller said that once a day, he goes to the kennel to feed and water the dogs as well as to do some training, but he said he doesn't do any major attack work.

He said that the dogs taken to the kennel are usually picked up off the street and that they are often beaten, hungry, neglected dogs, much like runaway children.

"I'm trying to place more of these dogs into better homes to make them more secure and steady," said Miller. He said that if the kennel is not crowded and he has a good dog, then he'll keep it until it can be placed in a nice home.

From judging a dog's behavior, Miller said that he can tell what dog will work with what people. He sometimes spots a dog at the kennel which has the potential to make it as a security or police dog.

"All you have to do is give dogs with pent-up aggression the right training so that they can focus it," said Miller.

He said that these dogs then become worth a lot of money and are assured of getting good homes. "It gives a dog a function, and keeps one more dog from being put to sleep," Miller said.

Miller has eight dogs of his own in various levels of training, of which he said there is a constant turnover. People sometimes say that it's cruel to modify the behavior of the dogs, said Miller, but "the dogs love to be trained. They have a great time."

He added that the dogs differentiate between their home life and work. They're not killers at home, but ordinary pets, said Miller.

THE NEW VAN arrived at the Ruidoso Care Center last Friday. The donation of a lift for the van by Mrs. E.D. Rooney in memory of her late husband made the purchase of this van possible by freeing funds which would have to have been used to buy the lift. Showing off the new van is Care Center director Betty Mills, Auxiliary board members Tony Apodaca and T.D. Gartman and Blackie Arthur, in wheelchair, who will be one of the people to benefit most from the van and its lift.

Care Center Auxiliary purchases van

by WILL TURBOW
Staff Writer

Residents of the Ruidoso Care Center will now have a beautiful new van at their disposal. Care Center Auxiliary board members T.D. Gartman and Tony Apodaca said they issued a check for $11,220 for the van and drove it back to Ruidoso from Roswell on Friday.

Care Center Auxiliary Board chairman

Charles Spooner said the lift for the van has been donated by Mrs. E.D. Rooney and her sons in memory of Pat Rooney who recently passed away. Spooner said the lift donated was a more expensive van than the one available at the present time.

Spooner said that the van the board had previously ordered was a 1978 model and would have been a five-year-old van when it arrived.

The van can accommodate 12 passengers and the seats may be folded to allow residents in wheelchairs to ride aboard. The van is equipped with air conditioning to make travel more comfortable for residents in the summer months and also has an AM-FM radio, said Apodaca.

Apodaca also said that the lift is currently in Ruidoso and will be installed free of charge sometime early this week. He said that with the almost $700 raised at last week's enchilada dinner and the $1500 for the lift saved by the Rooney donation, the Auxiliary board "will come out alright."

Conservation district meets Thursday

The Upper Honda Soil and Water Conservation District meets at 7 this Thursday evening, March 4th, in the Soil Conservation Service (SCS) in Capitán. The Board of Supervisors invites everyone to attend these meetings and lend input. Meetings are held the first Thursday of each month at 7 p.m. in the SCS office.

Present supervisors are Clem Weindorf, Chairman; Howard Shanks, Vice-Chairman; Ernest McDaniel, Secretary-Treasurer; Jack Johnson, Ben Sanchez, Jim Peebles and Bert Plingston, members. Further information may be obtained by calling the SCS office, 1-345-2220.

Elsie Johnson celebrates birthday

by WILL TURBOW
Staff Writer

The red carpet was laid out by the staff of the Inn of the Mountain Gods Friday in honor of Elsie Johnson's 85th birthday. Elsie, looking at least 20 years younger than her 85 years, came to Ruidoso for the first time in 30 years to visit the log cabin in which she and her family spent many memorable years.

Elsie was born February 28, 1897, in Chicago, Illinois, and grew up in neighboring Riverside, Illinois. She wanted to teach music, and she trained at the Columbia School of Music in Chicago in the mid 1910s.

In 1917, an opening for a music teacher became available in Clovis, New Mexico. "I wanted to see cowboys and Indians. My mother couldn't get over it, but my brother just whooped it up," said Elsie.

She said that the president of the Santa Fe Railway, E.P. Ripley, knew her father, who was a watchmaker. Ripley told her dad to let her go, and that he would stop by to visit her, see that she was all right and report back to him, which Elsie said Ripley did.

Later, Elsie married Byrle Johnson of Clovis, a mortician, and she sang and played piano at funerals. Elsie's father-in-law, I.C. Johnson, built a log cabin by hand in 1932 in the area above where the traffic circle is today.

Looking about Ruidoso, Elsie said, "This is progress. We didn't live here year round." She said that from mid-May to late August, she and her three children, her father-in-law and, on the weekends, her husband, spent the days at the cabin. It was a five-hour drive to Ruidoso from Clovis back then, and sometimes they spent the night in Roswell to break the long drive up, said Elsie.

Elsie said the kids spent the time riding horses, hiking in the mountains, fishing with their hands, picking cherries at High Rolls and visiting with the few other people who were here. "My son would go down and visit Peter Burd. We also sent him down to the Post Office, which was on the other side of the street, to get the town news," said Elsie. Everybody was in bed by 9 p.m., she added.

Elsie said Ruidoso seems to be a thriving town that has become civilized. "Look at these garbage cans outside the doors, and we used to have to walk all the way down to the spring to get drinking water and carry it back up here in two pails so that it would balance," said Elsie.

She also mentioned the cistern that caught rain water. That water, she said, was used for the outside shower. The water was dumped onto a person so they could rinse off, she explained.

Elsie has three children. Her son, Dale Johnson, is a lawyer in Lubbock, Texas. Her daughter, Joyce Stalker, is the supervisor of surgical nurses at High Plains Hospital in Clovis, and her other daughter, Doris Harrison, is married to retired Air Force Colonel Tom Harrison, who works for Sandia Laboratories in Albuquerque.

"WHAT ROYAL TREATMENT!" exclaimed Elsie Johnson as Tommy Morrell, of the Inn of the Mountain Gods, first presented her with flowers and then a birthday cake. Elsie celebrated her 85th birthday this past weekend. It was the first time in 30 years that Elsie has been in Ruidoso. She came to visit the cabin that her father-in-law built in 1932.

Utility assistance extended

The Low Income Home Energy Assistance Program, a federally funded state program designed to help low income families with their utility bills during the winter months, has been extended through March this year, according to Angela Cecilia Schmidt, part-time data clerk for Lincoln County.

The program was originally planned to end in February, Schmidt said. Applications for utility assistance will be accepted at the following locations during the times listed.

—Ruidoso, at the adult recreation center each Monday in March from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

—Carrizozo, at the Zia Senior Citizen Center, each Tuesday and Wednesday in March from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

—Capitan, at Capitan Elementary School boardroom, Tuesday, March 2, from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Schmidt emphasized that applicants should bring official proof of income for all members in their household, such as copies of checks, check stubs, W-2 forms, or letters of approval. Applicants should also bring heating bills, paid or unpaid, when they apply for assistance.

Thrift shop open Wednesday

The new hospital auxiliary thrift shop, located in Village Center, just east of T Bird Lumber Company at the "Y", will open Wednesday, March 3 at 9 a.m.

Summer hours at the Thrift Shop will be 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Wednesday through Saturday.

All donations of clothing, furniture or miscellaneous items are welcome at the shop.

Restaurant managers honored

Bob and Margaret Cates, owners and managers of the Sonic Drive in Restaurant in Ruidoso, were honored at the recent regional Sonic convention in Las Cruces.

The Cates received one of five awards for outstanding management given to Sonic restaurant operators from New Mexico, Texas and Arizona.

STATE WRESTLING TOURNAMENT

Torres' fourth place tops Warrior effort

RONALD BELL (left) of Ruidoso High School's wrestling team goes eye to eye with Roy Shorter of Aztec in a consolation semi-final heavyweight match at the state AAA-AA tournament in Los Lunas Saturday. Bell lost the match 3-0 but still finished among the top six wrestlers in his weight division.

Gary Brown
Sports Writer

An old nemesis prevented Ruidoso High School's Wade Torres from a chance at a first-place medal in the state AAA-AA wrestling championships Friday and Saturday at Los Lunas High School.

Torres finished fourth in the 145 pound division for the top placing in the Warriors' nine-man team in the tournament.

However, the powerful senior would have done even better if it hadn't been for Pat Quinlan of New Mexico Military Institute (NMMI).

Quinlan defeated Torres twice, once in the second round Friday and again in the third-place match Saturday afternoon. The NMMI wrestler had already beaten Torres several times this season.

Besides Torres, four other Warrior matmen advanced into the second day of competition. They included Ray Montes (142 pounds), Don Gwyn (155 pounds), Henry Rue (119 pounds) and heavyweight Ronald Bell.

However, Torres came through with the finest performance of the Ruidoso wrestlers.

Torres opened up the competition Friday morning by pinning Clarence Garcia of Taos. He then faced Quinlan and was pinned in the first period.

Torres was not licked, however. He came back to decision Marc Dressler of St. Mark's 3-0 Friday afternoon and then pinned Garcia again Saturday morning.

In the last Saturday morning match, Torres fought a tough match with Anthony Casado and took an 8-4 decision. The Warrior matman only led 5-4 entering the third period but added three points while blanking Casado.

However, Quinlan was Torres' opponent for the third-place match and the NMMI wrestler won out again. Still Torres was able to hold off from being pinned and lost 10-2.

Bell came the closest of the other Warrior matmen to making the consolation finals. The Ruidoso heavyweight lost a tight 3-0 decision to Pat Shorter of Aztec in the consolation semi-finals Saturday morning. Had Bell won that match he would have had a chance at third or fourth place.

Bell started the competition Friday with a 9-6 decision over Tom Martinez of Taos. The Warrior senior then lost to 3-AAA district rival Roman Pacheco of Deming 3-2 in a close match.

In the last Friday match, Bell easily defeated Don Martinez of St. Marks 16-2. Saturday Bell beat Milford Beclim of Kirtland-Central 9-6 before losing to Shorter.

Montes started out well but ran into some tough competition Saturday morning and was eliminated from further action.

The Warrior athlete won his first match Friday by edging Craig Hadley of Aztec 11-10. He then took an easy decision over Don Martinez of St. Marks 17-2.

However, Montes lost his last two matches, a pin by Mike Alencio of Bloomfield and a pin by John Luna of Silver City, to lose any chance of gaining a spot in the consolation finals.

Rue, just a junior, won his first match by defeating Colso Ortiz of Taos 10-5. He then defeated Albert Sandoval of Tucumcari 9-2.

Saturday Rue lost to David Thowson of Albuquerque Academy 7-1 and Felix Trujillo of St. Marks 11-2 to be eliminated from the competition.

Gwyn, who has been bothered by a broken hand the past two weeks, still wrestled well enough to make it to Saturday's competition.

He lost his first match to Mark Tones of St. Marks 8-0 but came back to beat Ruben Flores of Robertson of Las Vegas 6-4. The Warrior athlete was eliminated when he was pinned by Richard Kovacs of Bloomfield Saturday.

The Warriors finished 10th in the team competition with 28.5 points.

Other Warrior athletes who competed in the tournament but were eliminated on the first day were Doug Schmidt (126 pounds), Scott Ciraulo (187 pounds), Gary Burgess (185 pounds) and Jim Askev (132 pounds).

Schmidt was the only Warrior wrestler to win a district 3-AAA championship. However, he was bothered in the state tournament by facial cuts suffered when he was injured in a fight at the Warrior-Wildcat girls' basketball game Tuesday night.

The Ruidoso senior lost his opening match to Curtis Collipen 11-7.

Ciraulo and Burgess, both sophomores, lost two matches Friday and were eliminated.

Askev, a senior, lost his opening match Friday to Glenn Romero of Taos by a 5-0 score. He then had a bye in the next round but was eliminated when he lost to Grant Hallery of Silver City 3-1 Friday night.

Warrior head coach Gerald Ames had mixed feelings about his team's performance.

"We had five guys qualify for Saturday's competition," he said. "However, I was hoping we'd do better. I was hoping Doug (Schmidt) would do better but his injuries were bothering him too much."

Torres was fairly pleased with his fourth-place performance but felt he could have done better.

"My shoulder (he pulled a ligament in his shoulder last month) bothered me a little," he said.

Last season the Warriors sent just six men to the state tournament. However, one of them, Robert Langston, took a third-place medal.

This year no wrestler from any of the 3-AAA district schools qualified for the championship finals.

10-11, Mikki Roller, 4, Kasey Taylor, 2; boys 10-11, Cliff Sears, 9, Craig Sears, 3; boys 12-13, Kirk Taylor, 13, Lance Willard, 9.

WHAT ABOUT OUR YOUTH?

I am George P. White, Candidate for Mayor. One of our greatest assets is our youth and it is my firm belief that we in Ruidoso should so plan our Village workings so that the youth, as they grow and become full fledged participating citizens, will have a beautiful and prosperous village in which to work and play. I am concerned about our young people and will do everything in my power to bring about recreation facilities to serve our young people. What about youth planning sessions to help direct our thoughts?

The Ruidoso News

SPORTS

Around Sports

with Gary Brown

It looks like the New Mexico State University (NMSU) basketball team could have a good shot at a post-season tournament bid.

The Aggies, currently 9-6 in Missouri Valley Conference (MVC) action and 16-10 overall, will get a home advantage in the first round of the conference tournament tomorrow.

If NMSU wins the tournament crown or finishes second, a National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) berth would probably be forthcoming. Even if the Aggies don't make the NCAA, a bid to the National Invitational Tournament (NIT) in New York is not out of the question.

The Aggies played perhaps their best game of the season last week when they defeated Drake on its home court 68-55. That victory and a loss by Drake to Indiana State earned NMSU its first home-court edge in the conference playoffs in two seasons.

Whether or not the Aggies can keep their winning ways going after this season remains to be seen. Jamie Pena, who was the only NMSU player to be named to the District 5 all-star team, is a senior. Several other Aggie players will also graduate this year.

In the northern end of the state, the University of New Mexico (UNM) is still struggling in the Western Athletic Conference (WAC).

UNM is playing less than .500 ball in conference action and can't seem to get over the hump against excellent teams like Wyoming and San Diego State (SDS).

The Lobos are usually tough on their home court but mediocre on the road. Even at home UNM can have problems, as witness its one-sided loss to San Diego State over a week ago on the Lobo court.

The Lobos still need a big man in the middle to help turn their program around. Against SDS they had problems on the boards.

To be competitive in major college basketball today, a team needs a center who is at least 6-9 or 6-10. UNM's tallest starter is only 6-8 and you can't dominate the boards with centers of that height.

The Lobos are still rebuilding from the Norm Ellenberger days and it may take at least two more years before UNM can be a conference title contender again.

UNM is ineligible for post-season action this season but next year it will be eligible. Most of the UNM team will return next season so Lobo followers can look forward to some improvement if not an immediate title contender from their team.

The Lobos play in a tough conference. Even with traditional powerhouse Brigham Young University (BYU) having an off-season, Wyoming, SDS and Texas El Paso (UTEP) have played outstanding basketball this season.

In the next couple of seasons BYU should improve and that would make the conference even tougher. The Lobos will have to recruit some excellent prospects to be really competitive in the conference race. However, just one or two "blue-chip" players should help them obtain that goal.

While the National Football League (NFL) saw many traditional powerhouses fall from their high perches in 1981, the National Basketball Association (NBA) is still dominated by long-time powerhouses this season.

Boston and Philadelphia, two teams which have been near or at the top of the league for 25 years, are staging a two-team race for the Eastern Conference Atlantic Division title.

Milwaukee, which has come on strong in the last several seasons, is running away with the Central Division crown.

In the Western Conference, Los Angeles and Seattle, which won the NBA titles in 1980 and 1979, respectively, are holding off the rest of the teams in the Pacific Division.

San Antonio holds a comfortable lead in the Midwest Division and may be the surprise team of the league this season. Houston, which gave Boston all it could handle in the NBA Finals last season, is a distant second to San Antonio.

Other than San Antonio, however, it's pretty much business as usual in the NBA. Perhaps the NBA needs teams like San Diego and Cleveland, both mired in the bottom of their respective divisions, to raise up and shock the field.

That would probably help increase attendance in the league and certainly give it parity.

PLAYS WILDCATS TOMORROW

Ruidoso tops Tularosa, falls to Cobre

Ruidoso High School's varsity boys' basketball team will try to make it three straight over Tularosa when it travels to the Wildcats' gym tomorrow night for the first game of the district 3-AAA tournament.

The Warriors, who defeated Tularosa at the Ruidoso gym last month, topped the Wildcats again Friday night at Tularosa with a 59-54 overtime decision. Saturday night the Warriors lost to host Cobre 64-56.

As a result of the weekend split, Ruidoso and Tularosa tied for fourth place in the district standings, both teams having 4-6 records. However, Tularosa won a coin flip Saturday night to earn the home berth.

Despite the fact Tularosa has the home court advantage, the Warriors have a good chance of winning the game if they play the way they did against the Wildcats Friday night.

Ruidoso jumped off to a 14-6 advantage in the first quarter after neither team had scored in the first two minutes of the game.

Pete Garcia, who scored 16 points for the contest, opened the scoring with a jump shot and Ruidoso took a 2-0 advantage.

The Warriors built their lead up steadily in the opening period using one of their best fast breaks of the season.

In the second quarter, Ruidoso built its lead to nine points several times before taking a 20-21 advantage into the locker room at halftime.

The Warriors held onto the lead throughout the third period and kept an eight-point lead (43-35) going into the final quarter.

Then a sudden flurry by Tularosa almost cost the Warriors the game.

The hosts scored nine straight points on some hot shooting and a couple of steals to take a 44-43 advantage with six minutes remaining in the contest.

From then on the game was a donnybrook.

Garcia hit a bucket and Bill Richardson, sank two free throws to give the Warriors a 47-46 edge with 4:50 left.

The edge went back and forth until the score was tied at 50-50 with 30 seconds remaining and Tularosa had possession of the ball.

The Wildcats stalled for a last basket but a short jumper went off the rim with one second remaining and the game went into overtime.

Ruidoso had little trouble in dominating the overtime period.

Richardson, who led all scorers with 18 points, sank two free throws to give Ruidoso a 52-50 advantage with 2:43 remaining in the period.

The Warriors put up five more points while the hosts scored four to hold a 57-54 advantage with less than 20 seconds remaining in the game.

Richardson was again fouled and sank both charity shots to give the Warriors their final margin of 59-54.

Chris Cerny, Tularosa's 6-4 center, led his team in scoring with 17 points.

Against Cobre, the Warriors had a cold first quarter and that eventually cost them the game.

The Indians ran up a 20-4 advantage in the opening period before Ruidoso settled down in the second quarter.

The Warriors outscored the hosts 14-10 in the second period to close the gap to 30-18 at halftime.

However, Cobre got hot again in the third quarter, outscoring the Warriors 21-15 for a 51-33 advantage at the third quarter break.

The Warriors, who got balanced scoring in this game, had one of their best shooting quarters of the season in the final period, scoring 23 points to 13 for the victors.

Richardson led the Warriors' scoring with 14 points and Steve Sluder added 13. Scott Neal scored 12 points and Garcia added 10 for Ruidoso.

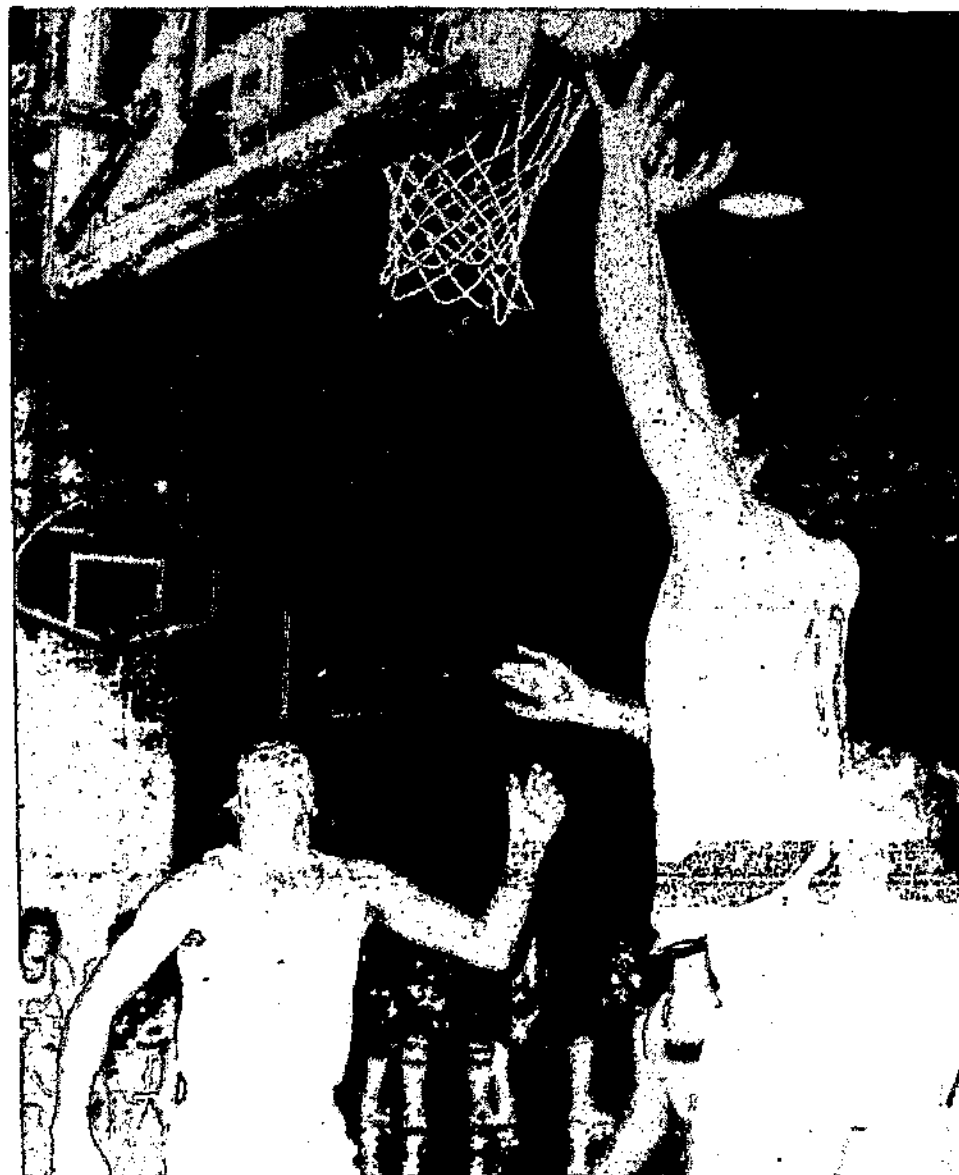

"We shot poorly in the opening quarter, about three for 11," said Warrior head coach Barry Nelson about the Cobre contest. "We always seem to have problems when we play in the Cobre gym."

"We played well against Tularosa. If we play Tuesday like we did Friday night we have a definite chance to win."

While Ruidoso and Tularosa battle it out tomorrow night, Silver City will host winless Truth or Consequences (T or C). Cobre and Silver City tied for second place but the Indians won a coin flip over the Colts and earned the second-place bye.

If Silver City beats T or C as it is expected to, it will host the winner of the Ruidoso-Tularosa game Thursday night. The winner of that game will meet Cobre Friday night at the Indian gym with the victor of that encounter playing round-robin champion Deming Saturday night for the district championship.

The top two teams in the district will compete in the state tournament in Albuquerque March 11-13.

and Delhotal, a 6-0 guard, are both seniors. Ruidoso opens the district tournament tomorrow night at Tularosa. The game starts at 7:30 p.m.

Lopez named to all-district squad

Lillian Lopez of Ruidoso High School's girls' basketball team has been named to the all-district 3-AAA squad.

Lopez, only a sophomore, averaged 10 points a game and was also an outstanding defensive player.

"She had a lot of hustle and played good all-around defense," Warrior head coach Sergio Castanon said of his 5-5 guard.

Lopez was a consistent scorer and tallied 17 points in a losing cause against Carrizozo.

Center Jan Huey, a 5-11 athlete, was named to the district honorable mention team. Huey, who will also return to the Warriors next season, was a strong rebounder and showed much improvement over the course of the season.

State Bank leads youth cage standings

With two weeks left in the regular season, Ruidoso State Bank leads the Ruidoso-Sertoma Little League basketball standings with an 8-2 record.

Jerry's Quick Stop and Clark's Refrigeration are tied for second place with 7-3 records. Pioneer Savings and Gibson's follow with 5-5 marks, and Noskers and Ranch House Restaurant each have 3-7 records. Roundhouse Realty is in last place with a 2-8 mark.

There are three games tonight with the first one starting at 8 p.m. All the contests are played in the White Mountain Middle School gym. There will be two games tomorrow night and three Thursday night.

RIVERA STANDOUT IN LOSSES

Warrior junior varsity drops two

The Ruidoso High School boys' junior varsity basketball team ended its season on an unhappy note over the weekend, losing to Tularosa and Cobre.

The Warriors, who finished the season with a 1-18 record, lost to host Tularosa 60-47 Friday night, and then fell to a hot-shooting Cobre club 70-39 Saturday night on the winners' court.

Against Tularosa the Warriors stayed even with the Wildcats for one quarter, the score being tied 10-10 at the end of the first period.

However, the host gradually pulled away from the Warriors for the victory.

Gilbert Rivera led the Warriors with 16 points and freshman Tommy Crow added 10, a seasonal high for him. Jessie Reynolds scored six points as did Cyrus Simmons, and Dion Lopez added three points.

Ruidoso went up against one of the best teams in the district in Cobre.

The Warriors were down 10-0 in the opening period before getting their offense going in the second period.

Rivera, who has come on strong lately, played a fine all-around game for the Warriors.

Many of the junior varsity players are freshmen, so Ruidoso was generally up against older players when it competed against other teams this season.

"We've got several players who can help the varsity squad next season," said coach Ron Geyer. "Simmons and Rivera especially have strong chances of doing well. Some of the other players like Kenny Espinoza, Virgil Reynolds, Jessie Reynolds and Chris Wynn could also do well."

Freshmen like Tommy Crow, Stanley

Sluder, Dion Lopez and Pat Pearson also have a shot at the varsity.

The only non-senior Warrior player who played on the varsity regularly the last part of the season was guard Paul Jaramillo, a junior.

Do you earn a living in Ruidoso?

Maybe you're a construction worker. A dressmaker. A truck driver. A business professional. Whichever you are, it sure is nice to receive a paycheck. Some people in other parts of the state and country are not so lucky. They live in areas of sagging economies.

The Ruidoso tax base is up 42% in the last five years. This money feeds the village economy and is the basis for the economy which provides your paycheck. Our taxes have provided a new high school, hospital improvements, more doctors, road paving (more in the last 4 years than in our history) a new city hall, new sewer complex, and a new water treatment plant.

We have generated a controlled growth economy and provided jobs. Can you imagine not having a job?

Very simply, there are people running for office who have stated they are against growth- and have voted against growth.

Our present mayor believes we cannot stop growth, but WE CAN CONTROL GROWTH. He is right.

We must preserve our economy.

We must retain the leadership of men like Lloyd Davis.

Let's re-elect Lloyd Davis, Mayor

The Dreamer

BY DANNIE STORM

Warren Carpenter
It was good to see so many friends and loved ones at the services held Wednesday, February 24, at The Ruidoso Downs Baptist church and at Forest Lawn cemetery for long time friend Warren Carpenter, who was called home by Our Lord on February 21.
Born in Arkansas 70 years ago, Warren spent the greater part of his life here among us, helping to see his home community of Ruidoso Downs develop and thrive into national prominence.
In loving tribute to Warren, several selections of choral singing and piano music were given, along with comforting messages from the pulpit by the Reverend Mr. McCleskey.
Warren was a good friend and neighbor, ever cheerful and kind in helping anyone in need. He will be kindly remembered always by his many friends. And we all take comfort in knowing he is safe and happy with Our Lord in Heaven.
Winter Makes A New Beginning
After a spring interlude during which several early shrubs bloomed forth in the valleys, and the apricot buds began to swell and turn pink—comes charging suddenly out of the North a blast of snow, sleet, freezing rain and freezing fog, an avalanche through the sky covering the land deep in a paralyzing layer of Arctic chill.
Today, February 26, it is a day of low hanging mist with tiny frozen drops falling, resembling miniature flakes of glass. And all the vale is held in winter's iron grip.
A very cheerful day, because it betokens a late and flowery spring, a moist season, and a grand year ahead.
Jack Frost Runs for Office
Dear Friends in Lincoln County:
This will be my first offense, in running for public office. (Perhaps this is not as humorous as may appear.)
There are several problems here in my home town of North Pole City, for one thing we have a growth problem on account of the salubrious nature of our climate. Many were, attracted here on account of the peace and quiet and the good climate. (Our winters are seldom much lower than ninety below. And oftentimes our summers will go as high as fifteen

Inside The Capitol

by Fred McCaffrey

SANTA FE — Aubrey Dunn has discovered a great irony.

El Paso, which wants to suck up New Mexico's water for its own use, forbids its water utility to sell to anyone outside Texas.

It's okay for us to provide for them, those El Paso folks seem to say, but don't look to them to provide for anybody else.

How totally human! — i.e., short-sighted, inconsistent and butt-headed.

Dunn, whose campaign seems now to have ceased moving at a snail's pace, hired an independent engineering firm to study the Texas water situation.

He came up with some interesting facts. Item: El Paso, which cries that it needs our water desperately, has done little or nothing to conserve the water it has.

Just take minimum usage.

El Paso users stay at a low-level charge of $5.05 per month till they have used 7500 gallons of water, while most New Mexico cities put the cut-off point for the minimum charge at 3000 gallons.

All that does is encourage excessive use of water in El Paso.

Item: El Paso lets big users of water pay less per gallon for what they use, while that system has been abandoned for years in most New Mexico towns.

Las Cruces, just across the line from El Paso, for example, charges progressively higher rates the more water a customer uses.

That discourages heavy users; the El Paso system just encourages them.

Item: El Paso just plain doesn't charge enough for the water it sells.

It says it wants 80 billion gallons a year from New Mexico.

But if it sold that water at the rates it presently charges, the yield to the utility would be only $41.6 million.

The same quantity of water in Santa Fe would be sold for $194.4 million, and in Los Alamos for $221.6 million.

That's just one more way of making sure El Paso customers use more water, not less.

Dunn summarizes his position in a tough statement, which sounds like the Big Aub who used to rule the State Senate with an iron hand: "El Paso doesn't need the water they're trying to steal from us. If they really need water, they would show it by revamping their water use policies and their water rate structure to encourage conservation, not waste."

The corollary argument Dunn develops from the facts above, that Texas utilities are conspiring to get New Mexico water so they can run a slurry line down from Wyoming to bring them coal, may not be so convincing to everyone.

Maybe he's right on that, and maybe he isn't.

It's just that the evidence so far developed makes that conclusion merely speculative.

Whatever the reason for the El Paso water suit, however, everyone in New Mexico agrees we should go everything we can to frustrate it.

If we lose this one, we're in for severe times ahead.

In dry country, you defend your water as vigorously as you do your soil.

Letters to the Editor

Dear editor:

Is the Mafia protection racket operating in Ruidoso? It must be. Do you have a better explanation as to why we are blessed with much higher gasoline prices than Roswell, Tularosa and Alamogordo? Why is the cheapest regular gas here in Ruidoso $1.31 per gallon and only $1.19 per gallon in Alamogordo—a mere fifty miles away? I can only imagine the Mafia has blockaded all roads leading into our little village. Long sleek limousines are blocking the highway. These cars contain well dressed men in business suits that stop all trucks carrying gasoline into Ruidoso and demand a heavy toll from the drivers. This must be the reason we are paying much more for our gas than our neighbors.

We are much closer to the Texas refineries, so extra transportation couldn't be the reason. Do the wholesale gasoline suppliers have some kind of a vendetta against the local distributors thereby charging them more per gallon, which in turn they pass on to us? Maybe it's our own fault. I remember when I first came to live in Ruidoso 15 years ago and our gasoline was higher than our neighbors then, as it is now. I guess we must meekly submit to their high cost of gasoline since we live in a tourist town, but it seems quite unfair to penalize the non tourist low income families that reside here year around and in actuality buy more gasoline in the long run from our local gas stations. What this all boils down to is that I'd like to hear a reasonable explanation regarding this "price prejudice" towards the Ruidoso motorists. I personally think it's the old adage "Never give a sucker an even break".

On the National level I am also curious why at this time of a large surplus oil glut this nation has why no reduction in oil, and gasoline prices? Why is that cheap by product kerosene so high. Kerosene is more expensive than gasoline. Since I can remember kerosene has been less than half the price of gasoline. Could it be that more low income families have to depend on kerosene to keep themselves and their children warm? Maybe the rich big shots in Washington and their partners the big oil companies should adopt the old adage I mentioned before, but slightly change it to — "never give the poor an even break".

Wally Hesse

Dear editor:

This is Ruidoso

A big thank you goes out to two electricians from Dial Electric Company of Ruidoso. They had been called out to Chef Gregson's home for a routine electrical check. On being told of a cat who had been trapped 15 feet up a pine tree for almost two days with seemingly no way for it to get down, Bill promptly climbed the tree and dropped it to the safety of an open jacket being held by the other electrician, Ron. Bill then had the painful and dangerous job of getting down the tree, scraping his hands and knees and tearing his clothing.

This is why Ruidoso is so special to us—there are so many people here like Bill and Ron who would take the time from their day to do a little kindness. What a nice place to live, work and raise a family. This is why Ruidoso will always be "HOME" to us.

ERA IN EXTREMIS

Prior to a federal judge's ruling, which will be touched upon below, this was the status of the Equal Rights Amendment: it had, at best, only a minimal chance of ratification by the extended deadline of June 30, 1982, and even staunch ERA backers acknowledged that some sort of political miracle would be required to boost the number of ratifying states from the present 35 to the required 38.

That already sufficiently dismal picture has worsened, now. The above-mentioned district judge held that Congress violated the Constitution when it extended the previously set ratification deadline three years ago. The decision also says that states can, if they choose, rescind their votes to ratify a proposed amendment; this means that the reversal by five states (out of the total of 35) is viable.

Should this ruling be sustained on appeal, it will sound the death knell for the ERA. That is by no means a foregone conclusion, however.

One important factor involved in this dispute is the right of Congress to conduct its business as it sees fit. The judge in Boise, Idaho, maintains that Congress had no right to extend its original seven-year ratification period. On appeal it will be argued — and this may well carry the day — that the courts have no business interfering with congressional procedures. We shall see.

Sense & Nonsense

U.S. Sen. Pete Domenici

President Theodore Roosevelt in the early 1900s called for the federal government to get involved with the reclamation of arid land through irrigation projects. The result of his efforts was the 1902 Reclamation Act, which provided homes and opportunities for farming for millions of Americans.

But reclamation projects became more than just an opportunity for small farmers to irrigate their crops. In the 17 western states where they exist, water stored in these areas provided flood protection, recreational benefits and power generation for families in nearby communities who have never set foot on a farm. For the states and local communities, it was a source of income and constant reassurance that our nation would be provided with a supply of food the year round at a reasonable cost to the consumer. The cost of these reclamation projects was a small price to pay considering the benefits received from them.

But even the best of laws need some reform over the years, and this law is no exception, especially after 80 years of existence. The easy question regarding farm size and residency, which were readily answered in 1902, no longer work today. What we must do is examine the intent of the law, and make sure that the statutes enforcing its intent apply to today's realities and not yesterday's regulations.

The 160-acre limitation is one area that needs to be reformed in the Act. Originally written into law to encourage the small farmer to irrigate and raise crops, it has now, in many cases, been the major reason why a family farm goes broke. Reclamation farmers such as those in New Mexico may need more acreage to produce the income that will allow our family farms to stay in business. Since by law a family can irrigate no more than 160 acres (a spouse can also own 160 acres thus bringing totals in their case to 320 acres) from the reclamation project, they can suffer from low farm income and are thus forced in many cases to work outside jobs to supplement their meager return.

This is not what President Roosevelt intended for his law to become. His intent was to preserve the family farm. We need to modernize the law so that thousands of farmers, not only in New Mexico, but throughout the West, can go about their business of doing what they do best—farming. The criteria set should be one that takes into consideration not just some arbitrary number of acres, but real needs based on such measurable items as soil characteristics, crop adaptability, costs of crop production and length of growing season.

One example of where this has worked very well is at Elephant Butte, the largest reclamation project in the state. This project, which had more than paid back its obligation to the federal government for construction, was granted an exemption by the Secretary of the Interior in 1979 from the outdated law. The family farms there could stay in business, obtain more irrigated acreage, and preserve their only livelihood. It was a good example of how reforming the law to fit in with modern realities could fulfill the intent of the law. I will work to ensure that whatever reforms are made in the 1902 law will not affect what has already been proved as a good solution to their local problems.

Despite this successful example, we in Congress realize that special exemptions are not enough to correct this widespread problem. Reform legislation introduced in the House is now being marked up for presentation to the floor for a vote and the Senate bill, which I cosponsored, should also be marked up in the not too distant future. The Reclamation Reform Act should come before the floors of both houses of Congress in the next few months and I am hopeful that a bill addressing this problem will be passed this year.

It is the duty of this Congress to reform the Act to preserve the family farms on reclamation projects. It is more than just in their best interest, but ours as well. As President Theodore Roosevelt said years ago in introducing this first measure to Congress, "Our people as a whole will profit, for successful homemaking is but another name for the upbuilding of the nation."

editorial

It is our suggestion that Ruidoso voters carefully read the answers given by candidates for mayor and trustee in Tuesday's election, published last Monday and Thursday in The News.

The next four years could be crucial in deciding Ruidoso's future.

Millions of dollars, all from taxes, may be spent to provide water, streets and sewer expansion and in solving our parking/traffic problems.

By carefully reviewing each candidate's answer to the questions asked, the voters will have the opportunity to determine which candidate's opinions most closely conform to theirs.

Also, the voter can assess which candidate is offering solutions, which may be practical, or may not, to Ruidoso's growth problems.

We feel that it is the commitment the candidate is making to serve Ruidoso, to the best of that candidate's ability, that should most influence the voter in this election.

It is our opinion that Ruidoso's future hangs in the balance, and that the actions of the governing body over the next four years will determine that future.

Growth will provide jobs, keep the economy booming, and make possible, in time, installation of services the people have been demanding.

To have a voice in deciding Ruidoso's future, vote in tomorrow's election. Your future may be hanging in the balance. — CD

ON LOCAL POLITICS

Yup ... tomorrow's decision day for Harmony Valley voters ... 'cause there's a mayor and two trustees to be elected ... and there's been more action, of late, by the candidates than you can shake a stick at.

Now there's a reason for some of this action ... 'cause George White's seeking to be mayor ... 'cause he wants to unseat Mayor Davis ... but if'n George loses the race for mayor ... he's still gonna be in the thick of things, 'cause he'll just continue as trustee ... being's a holdover and not up for reelection to that post.

The other holdover is Benny Coulston ... and he's sitting this election out ... 'cause he ain't running for, or from, anything ... 'cause he's got two more years to hold down his council seat.

Now ... if'n Lloyd Leslie wins, he keeps right on being our mayor ... if'n he loses, George takes over, and Davis'll be sitting back on the sidelines, watching things as they go.

And if'n George is our next mayor, then there'll be things happening to get a successor to sit in his council seat ... which could live things up a mite ... 'cause there might be a lot of interest develop in grabbing that chair.

In the trustee race ... there's incumbents Atwood and Sayner, as is running for reelection ... with Klein, Shaw, Streeter, Morris, Junge and Coe in the race to unseat them two incumbents ... and, way I hear tell, the challengers is gettin' out and challenging ... which is good ... 'cause it just might result in lotsa folks going to the polls tomorrow ... which is as it should be.

Now ... some of the issues in this election has been aired in The News ... with answers by all candidates ... and there was that open forum last week where all candidates fielded questions ... exceptin' Coe, who wasn't there ... about all the things of concern to locals ... and, by jinkies, a voter should have no trouble, now, deciding who to vote for ... 'cause there's just gotta be candidates to think along the lines as some voters like ... and likewise those as don't ... so talk about freedom of choice ... why the Russians, Chinese and Cubans should have it so good.

Anyhow ... if'n all Harmony Valley folks'll take the trouble to vote tomorrow ... why there'll be a record turnout ... and when as is elected'll have a fair idea of what the folks as elected them wants ... based on what the candidates have been saying ... and ain't that the great American way of political life?

AN OLDIE THOUGHT

Naturally, over the years, you've read the following comments ... probably often ... but, the country being in the shape it's in ... and the world in the shape it's in ... nothing like getting a fresh slant on things by being served up old things, sorta warmed over.

Socialism: You have two cows. The government takes one and gives it to your neighbor.

Communism: You have two cows. The government takes both and gives you the milk.

Fascism: You have two cows. The government takes both and sells you the milk.

Nazism: You have two cows. The government takes both and shoots you.

New Dealism: You have two cows. The government buys both, shoots one, milks one, and throws away the milk.

Capitalism: You have two cows. You sell one and buy a bull.

Who says the American way of life's all bad?

ON ELIGIBLE VOTERS

Didja you notice that Shirley Hooper ... our Secretary of State ... released figures last week as shows the Republicans is gaining on the Democrats ... with 323,958 Dems registered ... and 162,108 GOPers ... which breaks down to mean the GOPers ain't outnumbered two to one no more ... 'cause that don't mean there's gonna be no GOP landslide ... but it do mean that the Dems is losing a little ground ... which'll have those stalwarts ... maybe ... taking a peek at their hole card to try and determine what gives.

Then there was 33,039 independents ... and 2,756 minor-party voters listed, as of last week ... which ain't quite enough to join the GOPers and trounce the Dems ... though in a tough general election race ... with the chips down ... which is the only time the independents can vote ... they just could be a real potent factor.

At this juncture, what with this being the year to elect a governor ... New Mexicans have until April 20 to get registered to vote in the June 1 primary ... and that deadline's not all that far away ... and, by jinkies, if'n you'd like to get your two cents in ... in the primary election ... then the thing to do is get registered ... it don't cost nothing ... and no one's at the door to make you pay to vote ... so you really can't complain that there's nothin' that's for free in the Land of Enchantment ... so register ... you got nothin' to lose.

BRIEF BIT: If winter's your bag, best you get to enjoying it ... 'cause come March 20 it'll be spring ... in case you needed your day spoiled ... 'T)

WHAT IS HAPPENING TO OUR BEAUTIFUL VILLAGE?

Actually, we're getting along quite nicely, thank you. A new high school, better hospital facilities, more roads paved in the last four years than in our history, new city hall, new sewer complex and new water treatment plant.

In fact, our economy is doing better than other communities in the state. It's a snowball effect. People come to Ruidoso to ski, enjoy the races, dine, shop and live. This stimulates orderly housing and building construction which provides jobs which provide a flow of money within our village economy. It has worked well during the past four years.

Village Trustee Frank Sayner believes we cannot stop growth,

BUT WE CAN CONTROL IT.

His leadership is important to Ruidoso, particularly since there are those running for office who totally oppose growth. They have said so publicly and have consistently voted against growth. We can't have the entire village be retired; we wouldn't have a village.

DIRECTIONS FOR VOTING

1. Move the Red Handle completely to the Right ("tilt the ball rings). This closes curtain and unlocks the machine for voting.
2. If you desire to vote for a question turn down the pointer over the word "FOR" under the question.
If you desire to vote against a question turn down the pointer over the word "AGAINST" under the question.
3. Turn down a voting pointer over each candidate's name you wish to vote.

4. To "Write In" a Candidate for any office, make sure all voting pointers for that office are up. Then, near the top of the machine, push up the slide bearing the numeral corresponding to the office, and write in the name of your choice for that office.
5. Move the Red Handle completely to the Left. This records your vote, clears the machine and then opens the curtain. No one outside the machine can tell how you have voted.

IMPORTANT: You can make as many changes as you desire while the red lever is to the right. The machine is designed so you cannot "ruin" down more than the proper number of voting pointers for each office, so you cannot spoil your ballot by voting for too many candidates. BUT YOU MUST NOT LOITER. The Voting Machine Act of New Mexico allows each elector a maximum of three and one-half (3 1/2) minutes in which to vote. Vote promptly and leave the machine so the elector following you may have his turn.

DIRECCIONES PARA VOTAR

1. Mueva el mango Rojo Para la Derecha completamente hasta que suene el timbre. Esto cierra la cortina y abre la maquina para votar.
2. Si usted desea votar una cuestion ponga el indicador sobre la palabra "For" bajo esa cuestion.
Si usted desea votar contra una cuestion entonces ponga el indicador sobre la palabra "La Contra" bajo la cuestion.
3. Vuelva el botoncillo para votar para abajo sobre el nombre de cada candidato por quien Ud. desea votar en esta posicion.

4. Para "Vote In" a Candidato para cualquier puesto, asegure que todos los punteros estan para arriba, luego cerca el curdine de la maquina, apresure para arriba el rastreador que lleva los numeros correspondientes al puesto, y escriba el nombre de su candidato.
5. Mueva el Mango Rojo completamente a la izquierda. Esto registra su voto, cierra la maquina, y entonces abre la cortina. Nadie afuera de la maquina puede saber como ha votado.

Importante: Puede hacer cuantos cambios quiera mientras el boton rojo este en la posicion completamente a la derecha. La maquina esta arreglada de tal manera para que no pueda bajar mas que el propio numero de botones para cada puesto. No puede hacer a perder su boleto votando por muchos candidatos. PERO NO DEBE MALGASTAR EL TIEMPO. La ley de la maquina de votar en Nuevo Mexico permite a cada elector un maximo de tres minutos y medio para votar. Vote pronto y deje la maquina para que el elector siguiente pueda tomar su turno.

Investigate escrow before signing mortgage

Whenever a loan is made, there's always the risk the money will not be repaid. In supplying a mortgage, banks, savings and loans, and other financial institutions protect themselves by requiring escrow.

If you're applying for a mortgage, says the New Mexico Society of Certified Public Accountants, inquire about escrow funds before signing an agreement. Be sure you know what the escrow fund is for, when deposits are due, if they earn interest and when the account is debited.

By definition, escrow is a document or fund held by a third party and delivered upon completion of an agreement. If you have an escrow account for a mortgage, the money is probably set aside to pay property taxes. That fund assures the lender that taxes will be paid if you go broke or declare bankruptcy. It insures the bank against losing both the loan fund and the collateral to replace them.

Not all banks and savings and loans pay interest on escrow. So Certified Public Accountants (CPAs) advise checking your state banking commission (about local regulations) and individual banks and savings and loans before you open an escrow account. If there is a state law requiring interest payments to depositors, see where the highest rates are available.

If there isn't a law, check if your money can earn interest anyway. In Louisiana, for instance, most mortgage lenders don't pay interest. In Indiana, however, some financial institutions do, even though it isn't required.

In states, such as New York, where interest payments are required, the rates may be as low as two or three percent, although in California they may hit five percent. In other states mortgage lenders are required to match passbook rates. Regulations might differ for savings banks and commercial banks.

The difference can be important, CPAs note, depending on when the escrow account is debited and credited. The amount of money, of course, correlates to the taxes you pay. But a larger difference is whether you pay all your taxes through the bank, your account being credited and debited periodically; or if the bank holds one tax payment until your mortgage is paid off.

For example, even at three percent interest, $300 for one quarter's payments yields $9 for the first year it is held. If the mortgage holder required escrow until the mortgage is paid, the interest could be substantial. The money is then either applied to the last tax payment or subtracted from the last mortgage installment.

On the other hand, if your account is credited monthly and debited each quarter, your earnings will be lower. On the same $300, you might earn only $4 in interest for the year. If an entire quarterly payment is held for three months, the interest would be $2.25 per quarter.

CPAs say there is no set amount of money you can plan for escrow until you know your taxes. Usually the required monies equal one property tax payment, monthly or quarterly, although they sometimes include casualty insurance or assessment costs. So if your taxes are $2,400 yearly, your escrow amount would be $200 or $600 if taxes were paid quarterly. Any interest you earn on this money is taxable.

Some consumers regard escrow accounts similar to withholding. CPAs note: it's money automatically set aside to pay taxes in the future. And, like withholding, CPAs say, you may be better off using an escrow account only if it's required by your mortgage holder. If you budget for taxes and keep these funds in a liquid investment, you can earn interest on your tax money until it's due. But if you have to open an escrow account, the interest will, in almost all cases, be lower.

Whether or not a bank or savings and loan requires an escrow account is up to the bank's discretion. Bankers argue that money they make from escrow barely takes care of administrative costs. Any interest they are required to pay, as low as it is, might represent a large portion of their own profit. In fact, when states instituted requirements for interest payments, some banks withdrew the requirements for escrow accounts.

It's interesting to note, however, that some public utilities are also required to pay interest on deposits demanded from certain customers. In most cases, this interest rate is higher — in some places as high as 15 percent.

A PAUSE FOR REFLECTION...

by NORMAN D. WHEELER
Candidate For Mayor of Ruidoso Downs

As this campaign in our two villages is drawing to its close, this is a good time for all of us to pause for a moment and reflect on the advice given to Al Smith, four time governor of New York State, early in his political career. It was invaluable advice for a candidate running for public office then and it is now, more than ever.

It was this:

1. Never make a promise you can't keep.
2. Never be afraid to own up to a mistake when you make one.
3. Never get a swelled head at your own importance.
4. Tell the truth.

This is advice for every candidate to keep at hand for reflection throughout his campaign and even more important to keep at hand throughout his tenure in public office. For that matter, it's pretty practical advice for all of us, isn't it?

Let's reflect on these words as we reflect on our final choices on election day for our public officials. And let's all get out and vote and make this the best turn-out yet in our two villages.

Mythological creatures origin may have basis in fact

Sedgewick Archives

The Mermaid

Ever wonder about the origins of the weird creatures that haunted your childhood dreams — the dragons, mermaids, and godzillas of mythology and monster lore?

Well, those beast weren't necessarily spun out of whole cloth, according to the current issue of International Wildlife magazine. Chances are some of them were inspired by real live animals "viewed" rarely, incompletely, or by untrained and imaginative eyes," says the bimonthly publication of the National Wildlife Federation (NWF).

This theory is being explored by scientists meeting in Washington, D. C., this month to found the International Society of Cryptozoology and to try to establish which of the "fantastic" creatures have some basis in fact, the magazine reports.

Among the mythological creatures International Wildlife examines are these:

The Basilisk: Legend has it that the deadly basilisk, a serpent with a spotted crest and sometimes with wings, could kill on sight. That is, any creature foolish enough to look at the basilisk faced instant death. Only one animal escaped this creature's terror — a small, weasel-like animal with the power to kill the serpent.

Based mostly n this last fact, cryptozoologists believe that the basilisk actually was derived from embellished descriptions of the hooded cobra. The cobra can also be zapped by a small, weasel-like animal — the mongoose.

The Griffin: If you've ever read Alice in Wonderland, you know the griffin, a flying lion with the head and wings of an eagle. With a little imagination, says International Wildlife, a real bird, the lammergeier of Central Asia, could have inspired the myth of the griffin. The lammergeier, a bird of prey with a 10-foot wing span, is also known as the "bearded vulture," because of the tuft of bristles under its bill.

To observers from below, says the NWF report, the lammergeier's tawny-colored underside and its mane-like beard could have evoked images of lions. What's more, the range of the real bird matches the range of the mythical creature: North Africa, Central Asia and Southern Europe.

The Mermaid: Even Christopher Columbus helped propagate the myth of the mermaid. On one of his voyages, he reported seeing three mermaids rise out of the sea. But they "were not so beautiful as they are represented," he wrote.

Today, cryptozoologists think mermaids were the product of optical illusions that make dumpy walruses a-mile-or-two away look like svelter, towering mermaids. It happens when an atmospheric temperature inversion approaches the surface of the sea, according to a report by scientists at the University of Manitoba.

The Unicorn: This proud, powerful and gentle horse, famous in medieval stories for the magical powers of the single horn centered on its head, could have been inspired by the one-horned rhinoceros or by the nar-whal, a small whale with a long, ivory protrusion similar to the unicorn's.

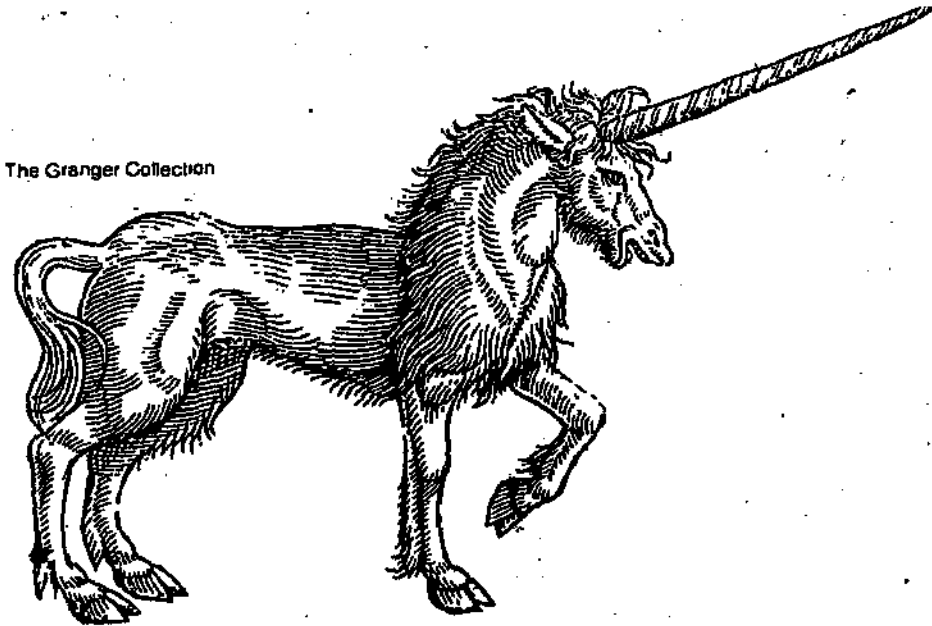

But after a biologist at the University of Maine "created" a modern unicorn, some specialists began to wonder whether a true unicorn had really lived. Franklin Dave transplanted two horns on a day-old bull calf to the center of its head, forcing the growing horns to fuse into one central protrusion. Endowed with a horn that gave it more thrusting power than two horns, this "experimental" unicorn, soon became king of the herd.

Dave noted that the transplant technique has been around since the days of unicorns.

Service contracts a hedge against repair bills

After buying expensive appliances, consumers are often angry when confronted with high repair bills. Service contracts offer insurance against these bills. But before you sign a binding contract, the New Mexico Society of Certified Public Accountants advises you to decide if your repair bills really warrant insurance.

A service contract guarantees repairs for a period of time in exchange for a premium. It's similar to buying a warranty. You can buy contracts from a manufacturer or any of about 40,000 independent contractors, dealers and appliance repair shops. What the contract covers, how long it's valid, whom you buy from and the age of your appliances all figure in the cost of the contract.

Not all contracts are the same. Some cover only parts; others include only labor. If you feel that high repair bills are caused by labor costs, you might need a contract that pays for labor. Manufacturer contracts generally cover labor costs, but some independents do not. The difference in contract price could be $20 or $50, but that savings could be cancelled by labor costs that add $12 to $40 per hour. Both labor costs and contract prices vary across the country.

Some contracts allow more service calls than others. In a "preferred" contract your free calls are limited and each additional call could cost you about $10. Others stipulate that all calls are free, after a deductible of anywhere from $25 to $75.

Complete coverage means all parts and labor costs are insured. This isn't always true. Auto contracts might not cover the brakes, or the electrical system. You can buy a service contract for only the television picture tube.

Contract prices depend on the age of your appliance. For the second year of your television's life, a contract might cost $80, for the third year, the price could increase to $120. If your appliance isn't currently under contract and is more than a year old, you might be required to pay $25 or $30 for an initial service call, inspection and possible repairs. The older the appliance, the more costly the contract. But once your appliance gets to a certain age, you can't buy contracts because the probability of repairs is too high.

Keep in mind that most appliances are virtually trouble-free for the first two or three years, the period contractors like most to cover.

If you decide to buy a service contract, don't buy while your appliance is still under warranty. Even if you buy future coverage for the appliance, the contractor has the loan of your money during that year.

Make sure your contract provides for in-home service or compensation for pick-up and delivery expenses. If it's a contract for a car, inquire whether you can have the repair done at a local shop, and whether towing charges are provided for. With a refrigerator, look for a contract that pays food spoilage. Investigate what parts are used—if they're the same make as the original or different.

When you buy from an independent contractor, find out what the company's history is and if they do their own repairs or sell contracts to others. There are no enforceable state or federal regulations concerning the amount of assets such a company needs. So, if the company goes broke, you could lose your premium and any claim for service.

In spite of the cost and the overestimated price of repair, previous experience might convince you to buy a service contract. But since you can't predict when you'll need insurance, compare the cost and services of different contracts before you sign.

Fruit and shrub disease preventable

Home gardeners can avoid plant disease in fruit and ornamental shrubs if advance planning is used. Control of plant diseases is based on prevention before damage is done to the plant.

The first step in avoiding plant disease problems in home plantings is to select disease resistant varieties, according to Emory Shannon, Extension plant pathologist at New Mexico State University.

"Disease resistance information is usually listed on the tag that comes with a tree or shrub," Shannon said.

Root knot nematodes can become a severe problem in peach trees, but extensive damage can be avoided if resistant peach varieties are planted. One of the best ways to begin is ask the nurseryman for varieties graded to nematode resistant root stock, Shannon said.

Nematodes are microscopic worms that feed on roots of susceptible plants. They interfere with the normal uptake of nutrients and water from the soil," Shannon said.

Chemicals such as D-D and Telone can be applied to the soil before planting fruit trees such as peaches, but there are no chemicals that can be used around trees already infected with nematodes, he said.

"Cherry trees are plagued with many virus diseases, but most of these diseases can be avoided if virus free trees are selected and planted," he said.

Some nurseries now offer cherry trees that are certified virus free. These trees will be slightly more expensive, but they provide good insurance against viruses.

Another important practice is to inspect all nursery stock for crown gall as soon as plants are received. Small bumps or knots at the crown area, and on the roots, is an indication that crown gall is present. Shannon said such plants should be returned to the nursery.

The home gardener also has to select a good planting site.

"Never plant fruit trees in poorly drained soils. Trees with wet feet soon die of collar root caused by water loving fungi," Shannon said. "Wet soils also contribute to severe chlorosis, a lack of green color in the leaves."

If at all possible, never plant a new tree or shrub in the planting hole where another shrub or tree has died.

"If it's necessary to use that particular location, remove the infected soil and replace it with soil from a disease-free area. An extra precaution would be to treat the soil with Vapam," Shannon said.

The Silver Lining

BY DANIEL AGNEW STORM

Pat Rooney

At this writing (high noon February 23) services are planned at Forest Lawn Cemetery for Pat Hull Rooney, who was called Home by Our Lord on February 20.

Pat was born May 15, 1940, in Roswell of a prominent pioneer Ruidoso family, and lived almost all his life in this city.

I have known the boy all his life, and have never known a fellow more widely beloved by all who knew him.

From early childhood he was a good will ambassador for Ruidoso.

Years ago, when Pat was about five or six years old, my brother Lynn was in Ruidoso. He came home and told me:

"Up in town I met a little fellow dressed as a cowboy who told me in a very grownup way some things I wanted to know about the village. And he went on to tell me a whole lot about the interesting features of all the surrounding country."

Of course this was Pat Rooney.

So I thought, Pat moved to the Rooney home by the river, just up the way from me here. And I went by to see him shortly after he arrived. He had the same winning smile and sunshiny greeting. Even in his wheel chair he retained his great power to cheer and uplift you.

Pat's mother, Marie Hull Rooney, was a special friend of our mother, and was a great standby in singing hymns in church at Saint Anne Chapel while our mother played the organ.

Our father, a great giver of Christmas presents, always looked forward to going up to Bernard and Marie Rooney's gift store—where they always rolled out the red carpet for Dad and treated him as their own father.

One of our most beloved citizens, Pat will be treasured always in our hearts and we rejoice that he is safe and happy with Our Lord in Heaven.

The Return of Ralph Dunlap

Just in the midst of writing you this message rings the telephone, and the cheery voice of Rosalie Dunlap tells me that a surprise retirement party will be held 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, February 27, at the Carrizozo Country Club for Ralph Dunlap, who is retiring after 32 years as a county agent, 26 of them as agent for Lincoln County.

Ralph and Rosalie spent two years in Tunisia, North Africa, where Ralph was advisor to the government on sheep raising. Since his return, he has been over the state as county agent at large, filling in here and there and teaching county agents.

We are glad to hear that the Dunlaps are settling in Lincoln County where the good they have done is beyond all measure. They are going to rebuild their home over in the Bonito Valley just at the entrance of Salazar Canyon. We congratulate Ralph on his distinguished career and on his looking forward to many happy days here among us.

A Few More February Birthdays

We know that there is something special about being born in the birthday month, so with great little February drawing to a close, we might mention a few more February birthdays.

A few days before February 6, I went into the Hollywood Post Office to mail a birthday card to Ronald Reagan, whose birthday is the sixth.

"That is my birthday too," said Mrs. Jeanne Ham with her usual million-dollar smile, which always lights up the place and makes it a pleasure to stop by the Hollywood station.

Jeanne was born a few years ago on February 6 in Tipton, Oklahoma (the friendly state) to a pioneer family. In those days they called it Oklahoma Territory, or Indian Territory. Jeanne said her grandfather made the famous "run" in the Cherokee strip. This is one of the most picturesque events in the history of the West. So Jeanne is a true Daughter of the Pioneers and a great favorite here in Lincoln County. We wish Jeanne many happy returns of the day and all God's Blessings.

This message will reach you on the eve of the birthday of Mrs. Ray Reed, the former Virgie Jane Alkman, born February 26, 1922, in Wellington, Texas, up in the big ranch country.

It is always great to stop by the Ray Reed service station in Ruidoso Downs, a center of friendship and good cheer. Virgie is widely beloved all over Lincoln County, and her ringing laughter and Texas smile are her well-known trade marks.

She is typical daughter of pioneer Texans and fits beautifully into the Land of the Pinon and Pine.

We wish Virgie many happy returns of the day and all God's blessings.

On February 22 Edward "Ted" Kennedy celebrated his fiftieth birthday.

Though born to wealth and fame, Ted has had much sorrow in his life. His eldest brother fell in World War II. And brothers John and Robert died from the assassin's bullet. One of his sons suffered from bone cancer and had to have a leg amputated.

Last of his mother's sons, Ted kept on trying his best to serve his fellow man the best he knows how. We wish Senator Kennedy many happy returns of the day and all God's blessings.

On February 28, at the close of the birthday month, falls the birthday of our brother, Joe (Joseph Duffield Storm), born February 28 1913, in Denver, Colorado, in the home of his maternal grandparents: John Calvin Kennedy and Catherine Cannon Kennedy. During February, Joe's spirit from Heaven is fondly close, bringing a blessing all through The Birthday Month.

MELVIN H. "BOOTS" NELSON

I have been a resident of Lincoln Co. since 1929.

My home has been in Ruidoso Downs since 1960.

My four children have attended the Ruidoso schools.

I went into the Armed Services in 1939. I was honorably discharged as a D.A.V. in 1945.

Since then, I have resided in the Ruidoso Downs area.

It is my belief that anyone seeking public office should reveal his background.

- Where he was born
- Where he was raised
- Details of his education
- What his business was before coming here
- His service record; details of his discharge

There are three good reasons for not having a service record.

1. Religious reasons
2. 4F or physical or mental ability
3. Undesirable

I think we should have this information about any man who would like to hold public office in our community.

Realizing the financial condition of the Village, from the condition of the streets and the lack of the Village in assuming responsibility in other areas, I would return the Mayor's salary to the Village.

I believe that we all should have had the same privilege as the Mayor in obtaining a sewer connection.

I Thank You.

LLOYD L. DAVIS, JR.

March 1, 1982

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Ruidoso,

I know our economy at present is good. This is partly good fortune and partly hard work on the part of many Ruidoso residents. I am very pleased that we enjoy these healthy economic conditions and good growth.

I pledge to you that I will continue to do my very best to insure the continuance of these conditions.

I will surely appreciate your support and most important your vote for me, Lloyd L. Davis, Jr., for Mayor.

Thank you,
Lloyd

Utility costs can be kept in line

Have your monthly bills for gas, electricity, water, oil and telephone services been climbing at a rate faster than you've budgeted for? From 1976 to 1981 those costs on a national average rose 79 percent. Nonetheless, there are steps you can take to help you cope with those increases, says the New Mexico Society of Certified Public Accountants. With proper planning, you can manage your monthly utility bills just as you manage other household expenses.

—What rate do you pay for utilities?

Utilities have a set rate for certain amount of usage, but rates are not always the same. For example, phone rates are high during daytime, and lower at night. Electricity costs, if air conditioning is involved, rise sharply during summer months.

—What is estimated billing?

Estimated billing stabilizes your monthly gas and electric payments by averaging bills over an entire year. This helps you sidestep seasonal highs. However, don't confuse this with estimates made when the meter reader can't gain access to your meter. Those estimates might be based on recent usage which could be higher than your current use. Remember, if a utility finds it necessary to estimate your bill more than three consecutive times, you might be subject to a penalty fee of as much as $25.

—What other fees should you check?

If you pay a flat telephone service fee, find out what portion of it covers rental of equipment. If you buy your own phone, you might save money in the long run, but it's wise to check first. In New York, for instance, the monthly "service and equipment" fee includes rental of the access line, inside wiring, and telephone. In its unlimited service plan (not including tax), the company charges $5.94 for rental of the exchange access line, $1.63 for the inside wiring, and $1.77 for the phone. So, owning your own phone would save you only $1.77 a month.

—How will the American Telephone and Telegraph (AT&T) reorganization affect your phone bill?

This is a good time to review all the charges on your telephone bill because the billing system may change. It's possible that you will get separate phone bills: one for local service, one for long distance service, another for equipment rental. According to Paula Horii of AT&T, details related to separating the parent company from its operating units and the impact on billing procedures will be ironed out and announced in the next six months.

In the meantime, ask your phone company representative to explain what your rental and local service charges cover. Do you know how much you pay for a call to the same town, and to the next town or county? The boundaries of local service could change, according to telephone company officials. Local areas will be established by state regulatory bodies, and for a number of reasons local service rates are expected to increase.

On the plus side, the federal excise tax on telephone service was reduced on January 1 from two to one percent and will phase out altogether by 1985.

—Should you be collecting more interest on your deposit?

If you paid a deposit in order to get phone or utility service, the interest on this deposit may have risen in your state. In New York, it increased from 11 to 15 percent this year. Check with your utility company or your state public service commission to find out. Most utility companies will return your deposit with interest after a year by deducting it from your bill.

—How can you cut costs?

The best way to cut costs, and keep your payments stable, is to monitor your use of utilities. Try to be more efficient. Electricity, for example, is billed in kilowatt-hours: watts multiplied by hours used, divided by 1,000. Let's say you had five 100-watt lightbulbs in your home that could be replaced by 60-watt bulbs. You're paying for an extra 40 watts for each hour you use each bulb. If you use each bulb for two hours nightly, you're spending an extra $2.16 monthly (based on the average U.S. rate for electricity).

On the plus side, the federal excise tax on telephone service was reduced on January 1 from two to one percent and will phase out altogether by 1985.

—Should you be collecting more interest on your deposit?

If you paid a deposit in order to get phone or utility service, the interest on this deposit may have risen in your state. In New York, it increased from 11 to 15 percent this year. Check with your utility company or your state public service commission to find out. Most utility companies will return your deposit with interest after a year by deducting it from your bill.

From time to time, questions come in about some of our most majestic wild owl: geese. Most just want to know more about them, some want to be able to hunt them more effectively. We'll try to shed some light on a few of the questions.

Are Canada geese better table fare than their relatives, snow geese? In areas where both species are present, most hunters will concentrate their efforts on Canadas, and many will pay little or no attention to snows. So, snow geese don't rank high enough in some circles to be seriously considered as trophies. As table fare, some say Canadas are far better; others believe there is little or no difference. I think it depends mostly upon the diets of birds, but in general, I can't say one is "better" than the other. A little different, perhaps, but that's all.

Do Canada geese and snow geese sometimes fly together? I don't think so. I have seen them in very close proximity at times, even circling the same small field at the same time, but they have always kept their identity as separate species. Sometimes, when a large flock of one species is down in a field, the other species will sit down in their midst. Even though it seems they are closely mingled in the field, usually there is some small separation by species. Even this display of compatibility is not usually seen until food supplies become more scarce and concentrated.

Are snow geese easier to decoy than Canada geese? Most hunters will say yes. Canadas seem more adept at finding flaws in your blind or decoy set. Snows can often be decoyed by using patches of white cloth or plastic that is draped over corn stubble. White bleach bottles have also been used successfully. Every hunter, however, knows well that there is little certainty in goose hunting. Some days they seem to fall out of the sky into a decoy set as if attracted by a magnet, while at other times the same set cannot be made to attract even a lone goose. But then, that's what makes it interesting and challenging.

Focus on Small Business

by E. Maine Shafer

Dear Mr. Shafer: Has anyone ever done any research on how bosses act when they are not in the office?

Yes. One recent survey taken by polling 825 chief executives (308 of whom were from large companies, 309 from medium-sized and 208 from small companies), shows that while bosses may order things done at the office, they generally don't mind doing things themselves outside the work place.

They take their turn at grocery shopping, writing the checks to pay family bills, running errands and doing other household chores. Most don't believe in flaunting their economic status. Most drive themselves to and from the office, don't use private planes for personal travel, often take short vacations and don't wear tailor-made suits.

Here are some things the bosses do themselves, as found in the Wall Street Journal and Gallup survey:

	Large Firms 78%	Medium Firms 94%	Small Firms 93%
Drive to work
Buy suits off rack	59	68	75
Take family car in for repair	55	63	80
Sometimes shop at discount stores	54	63	62
Sometimes do grocery shopping	49	47	45
Write checks to pay household bills	35	45
Shop regularly by phone or mail	23	20	15

Symphony to highlight dedication

A special performance by the New Mexico Symphony Orchestra will highlight a four-day dedication fiesta for the new Macey Center at the New Mexico Institute of Mining and Technology.

Other events planned for the March 11-14 celebration include a performance by "Play Around Shakespeare," a traveling professional troupe from Washington, D.C.; a nostalgic concert by the Mr. Jack Daniel's Original Silver Cornet Band; and a special performance by the New Mexico Tech Chamber Orchestra.

Yoshimi Takeda will conduct the New Mexico Symphony Orchestra at 3:30 p.m., March 14.

The performance will feature guest violinist Nina Beilina, playing "Violin Concerto No. 2" by Sergei Prokofiev. Ms. Beilina, who emigrated from the Soviet Union in 1977, has played in Carnegie Hall, with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, the Santa Cecilia Orchestra in Rome, and with many other major orchestras.

A "New York Times" reviewer called her a "superior musician and an artist whose musical personality is every bit as stimulating as her virtuosity."

The New Mexico Symphony Orchestra also will perform "Symphony No. 3 ('Scottish') by Felix Mendelssohn and 'New England Triptych' by William Schuman. In a completely different type of concert, the Jack Daniel's group will revive music from turn-of-the-century small town America when it appears on the Macey Center stage at 8 p.m., March 12.

The band was first organized in 1892 in Lynchburg, Tennessee, by Jack Daniel, better known for his sour mash whiskey. It played for parades, holidays, picnics, and at local concerts. With the onset of radio, movies, and other forms of entertainment, however, the band disappeared along with thousands of other similar groups across the country.

But in the early 1970s, Dave Fulmer, an actor, musician, and historian, discovered an old photograph of the original band and decided to revive both the music and spirit of the times. Dressed in appropriate costumes, the musicians, now from Nashville instead of Lynchburg, play old favorites such as "A Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight," "Shenandoah," "For Me and My Gal," "Camptown Races," "By the Light of the Silvery Moon," and the "Charleston."

Prior to the Jack Daniel's performance, the New Mexico Tech Jazz Band will play a few of its own favorites in the lobby of the Macey Center.

A concert by the New Mexico Tech Chamber Orchestra will initiate dedication festivities at 8 p.m., March 11. The orchestra will be directed by Michael Iatauro, who also has written a "Prelude for Chamber Orchestra" especially for the opening of the Macey Center. There will be no charge for this concert.

Iatauro, New Mexico Tech Fine Arts and Music Department chairman, also will conduct the orchestra in "Brandenburg Concerto No. 4" by Johann Sebastian Bach and "Exultate, Jubilate" by Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart. The guest artist will be soprano Ann Launey, a professor of voice at New Mexico State University in Las Cruces.

At 8 p.m., March 13, the cast of "Play Around Shakespeare" will bring the words of the famous playwright to life.

"Play Around Shakespeare" was first introduced to help young people understand why today, after 450 years, William Shakespeare's works are still performed to the delight of audiences worldwide. The cast's lively, humorous style soon attracted adults, even those who never before enjoyed Shakespeare.

The company is composed of five professional actors from Washington, D.C. and is directed by Shakespearean comedian and dramatic actor David Cromwell. The company is currently performing at the Prince George's Public Playhouse and is scheduled for a month-long engagement at the Smithsonian Institution's Discovery Theater following its Socorro performance.

Other Elizabethan-style entertainment is being planned in conjunction with the Shakespeare performance. In the afternoon, the Society for Creative Anachronism will demonstrate jousting with swords, axes, and maces outside the Macey Center. Contests, conducted in armor, are supervised by a master of arms, who stops the encounter when one contestant falls or loses his weapon.

Madrigal singers and instrumentalists playing recorders, krumphorns, and viola da gamba, will perform from 7 to 8 p.m. A juggler and magicians also will add to the atmosphere.

For more information phone (505) 835-5699 or write to Campus Box 3075, New Mexico Tech, Socorro 87801.

VOTERS OF RUIDOSO

TOMORROW IS A VERY IMPORTANT DAY!

PLEASE EXERCISE YOUR RIGHT TO VOTE.

MOST FREQUENT QUESTIONS I HAVE BEEN ASKED DURING THE CAMPAIGN:

1. What Should The Council Do About Water?

ANSWER:

The trustees must act immediately to bring a specific water bond issue to a vote by the voters. This bond question must be spelled out so that the voters know, prior to the election, that any and all money will be expended only for the specific new dam — treatment plants — storage facilities.

2. What Can Be Done About Our Traffic?

ANSWER: This is a two-fold problem & solution.

1st — Highway 37 going through our village; Any solution must be found in conjunction with the State Highway Department. A delegation of the Village Trustees must go to Santa Fe and sit down with the department and work out solutions and alternatives for diverting traffic beginning at the "Y". The Highway Department expends all monies now on the "Priority Basis" and we must make our problems known in Santa Fe where these decisions are made.

2nd — Local intersections and connector streets; The council must see that a joint study is made by our Street Department and Police Department immediately. All problem areas must be identified. This may require the Village to purchase its own traffic counting machine. This will also be of help in identifying unsafe bus stops for our school children. Striping of our streets must begin as soon as the weather permits.

3. What About Ruidoso's Future Growth

ANSWERS:

In all honesty, we probably do not have any control over who or how many people come to Ruidoso — either for a vacation place or a permanent residence. It is not government's role to decide who comes to Ruidoso. Government's local role is to provide those city services necessary for all its people. These services include; adequate streets, sanitation, police protection, fire protection and an adequate water supply to meet whatever the needs of all its tax payers and visitors may be.

4. Do You Think There Are Too Many Condominiums?

ANSWER:

No candidate for any public office, who truly believes in our free enterprise system, should be able to answer this question. The one thing that has made this the greatest free country in the world is keeping government out of the market place. When people stop buying condominiums, then we have enough. We will have enough residential subdivisions when people stop buying lots. Strange as it may seem there is actually a shortage at present for a decent building lot.

Mr. Businessman: Is Ruidoso's economy important to you?

We sometimes take for granted many of the things that make living in Ruidoso worthwhile. In other parts of the country, and even in other parts of New Mexico, people are having a difficult time making ends meet.

We are a little more fortunate to live in a community with a stronger economy. Perhaps your business is not doing as well as you'd like. Perhaps it's doing better. In either case, you'll probably agree that if our economy does not continue to grow, it will begin to die.

We believe in the American "free enterprise" system and, as such, growth is bound to occur within that system. We cannot stop growth in Ruidoso, BUT WE CAN CONTROL IT.

Under the leadership of Mayor Lloyd Davis, our tax base has risen 42% in the last five years.

Mr. Businessman, if you ask yourself where your customers come from, you must realize that they come from the orderly growth policies of leaders like Lloyd Davis. That customer in your store or that person eating in your restaurant is very likely a construction worker, or a truck driver. They have money to spend in your business because they have jobs in Ruidoso - jobs in building, housing, roads, etc.

We believe it would be a mistake to elect those whose public record is totally against growth - the backbone of our economy and the source of your customers.

For the sake of our village, our economy, and your business, re-elect
Lloyd Davis, Mayor

Dining - Dancing - Entertainment

COUSINS' RESTAURANT AND PACKAGE STORE KELLEY'S SALOON JERRY DALE'S

3 Miles North on Highway 37
Phone 257-2950

An evening at Cousins' is a unique experience offering a wide range of entertainment.

Dining in the restaurant, "Ruidoso's oldest and most recommended," is a pleasure with courtesy and service just a part of their outstanding offer. Menu selections include great steaks, seafood and all your favorites along with specialty items.

Kelley's Saloon offers "spirits, sports and games," with special bar prices during early and late happy hours.

Jerry Dale's Dance Hall and Saloon is Cousins' newest addition and features Ruidoso's only bucking bull. And you can dance to live country western music Wednesday through Sunday on the "largest dance floor in the southwest."

DIXIE CREAM DONUT SHOP

"Mouth Watering Delights"

Located Across From
The Telephone Office
Phone 257-5535

Dixie Cream Donut Shop offers the most taste tempting delights available in the Ruidoso area. From blueberry donuts, cream filled eclairs, to scrumptious cinnamon rolls, every bite is mouth watering.

Call in ahead of time for parties and order cakes or large orders prepared to your specifications. The Dixie Cream Donut Shop opens early early for your convenience, so come by soon and enjoy all their variations of goodies.

We are closed Tuesdays and at noon other days.

HOLIDAY INN CHISHOLM TRAIL RESTAURANT AND MON JEAN LOUNGE

Highway 70 At The "Y"
Phone 378-4051

The Chisholm Trail Restaurant in the new Holiday Inn features a complete menu for breakfast, lunch or dinner and they are open daily at 7 a.m.

They feature daily lunch and evening specialties too! Selections from the wine list complement your dinner or choose one of the special after dinner drinks. The Mon Jean Lounge features live entertainment for your dancing and listening pleasure.

Complete facilities for banquets, meetings, wedding receptions, etc. are also available at the Holiday Inn and arrangements may be made by contacting the sales director.

SONNY'S BAR-B-CUE AND STEAK PIT

"Ruidoso's Original Since 1974"
Midtown Ruidoso
Phone 257-5457

Sonny's Bar-b-cue and Steak Pit in midtown Ruidoso has been the area's favorite for fine steaks, delicious bar-b-cue and all the fixin's since 1974 and a new addition, "the bottomless bean pot," is fast becoming a major attraction.

Catering service is also available and they feature special meals and special prices.

LILLIE'S RESTAURANT

"Everything is Cooked
In Lillie's Kitchen"
Midtown Ruidoso
Phone 257-9455

Enjoy a touch of old Mexico in midtown Ruidoso! Lillie's Restaurant will give you the real south of the border feeling from the Spanish decor to the delicious homemade Mexican food.

Open year around from 11 a.m. until 10 p.m., Lillie's specializes in superb service and a menu that features Guadalajara green chili con queso, enchiladas and tacos along with sandwiches and steaks.

OLE TACO

319 Sudderth
257-5040

Ben and Luz Chavez prepare all their delicious Mexican food fresh daily in the kitchen at Ole Taco. Crystal Gayle has completed her first Australian concert tour, with appearances in Sydney, Brisbane, Adelaide and Melbourne. Her newest Columbia single is "You Never Gave Up on Me," a track from her LP "Hollywood/Tennessee."

Nashville-based Jim Owens Entertainment will produce five two-hour prime-time TV specials on country music for syndication this year. The entire package is called "Country Comes Alive" and has a budget of more than $5 million. The first special will be "The Second Annual Music City News Top Country Hits," to be televised live on March 3 from the Grand Ole Opry House.

Other productions include "The 16th Annual Music City

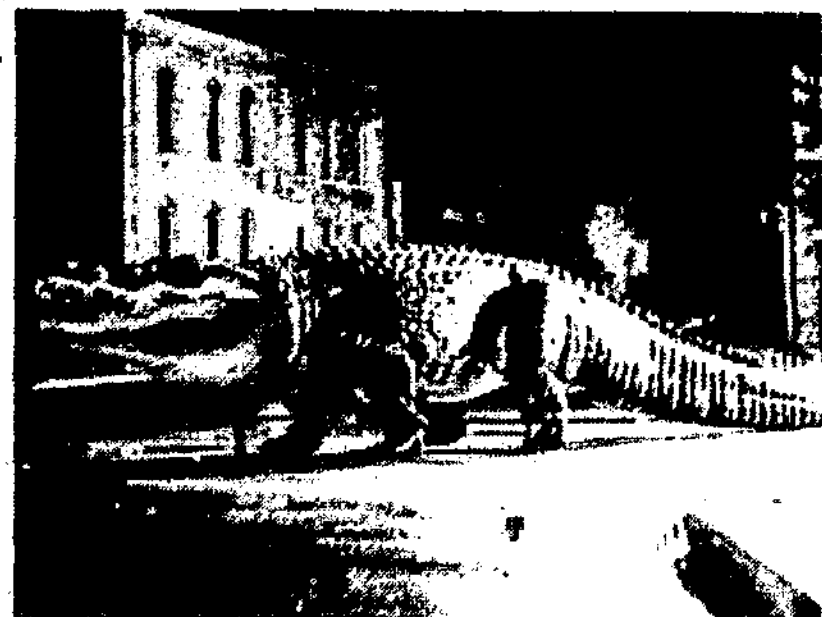

News, Country Awards," broadcast live from the Grand Ole Opry House on June 7; "Texas and Tennessee — A Musical Affair"; "Conway Twitty — Delta King"; and "A Tribute To."

Waylon Jennings' "Greatest Hits" album has been on the best-selling LP charts since its release in March 1979, and late last year it passed the 3 million mark in sales. Two of the LP's tracks, "Amanda" and "I've Always Been Crazy," charted as No. 1 singles during consecutive weeks. Two other No. 1 hits, "Good Hearted Woman" and "Luckenbach, Texas" are also on the LP.

Waylon's "I've Always Been Crazy" album was the first Nashville-oriented LP to debut at No. 1 on the country charts and ship gold. In addition to his triple-platinum "Greatest Hits" LP, Waylon now has one double platinum, four platinum and eight gold LPs. Not bad for a country boy who still needs a haircut.

His newest album project, "Black on Black," is his first solo effort in almost two years and marks a return to what could be called "true country music" with the special Jennings sound. The LP features Jennings' version of Johnny Cash's "Folsom Prison Blues," "Honky Tonk Blues" and a Willie Nelson-Waylon duet, "Just to Satisfy You."
